SUMMARY ANALYSIS

Section 800.04, F.S., provides criminal penalties for various lewd and lascivious offenses committed upon or in the presence of a person less than 16 years of age. These offenses, which range from life felonies to third degree felonies, include:

- Lewd or lascivious battery;
- Lewd or lascivious molestation;
- Lewd or lascivious conduct; and
- Lewd or lascivious exhibition.

Section 95.11, F.S., sets forth statutes of limitation for commencing civil actions. Currently, a civil claim for a violation of s. 800.04, F.S., must commence within four years from the date when the cause of action accrues

Similarly, s. 775.15, F.S., sets forth the following general statutes of limitation for commencing criminal prosecutions:

- For a capital felony, a life felony, or a felony resulting in death, there is no time limitation;
- For a first degree felony, there is a four-year limitation; and
- For any other felony, there is a three-year limitation.

Currently, the general time limitations described above apply to violations of s. 800.04, F.S., but may be extended or their onset delayed in specified circumstances (e.g., if DNA evidence establishes the identity of the accused).

The bill amends ss. 95.11 and 775.15, F.S., to remove the statutes of limitation for civil and criminal actions relating to a lewd or lascivious offense where the victim was under 16. The bill applies the new statutes of limitation to all actions except those which would have been time barred on or before October 1, 2014.

The Criminal Justice Impact Conference met January 30, 2014 and found the prison bed impact of the bill was indeterminate. However, the bill may have a negative prison bed impact in that it allows prosecutions for violations of s. 800.04, F.S., to be commenced at any time.

The bill is effective October 1, 2014.

Statute of Limitations

Background

Statutes of limitations sets forth time limitations, or “statutes of limitations,” for commencing criminal prosecutions and civil actions. In State v. Hickman,<sup>10</sup> the court explained that:

Statutes of Limitation are construed as being acts of grace, and as a surrendering by the sovereign of its right to prosecute or of its right to prosecute at its discretion, and they are considered as equivalent to acts of amnesty. Such statutes are founded on the liberal theory that prosecutions should not be allowed to ferment endlessly in the files of the government to explode only after witnesses and proofs necessary to the protection of accused have by sheer lapse of time passed beyond availability. They serve, not only to bar prosecutions on aged and untrustworthy evidence, but also to cut off prosecution for crimes a reasonable time after completion, when no further danger to society is contemplated from the criminal activity.

Similarly, in State v. Garofalo, the court found that “[t]he sole purpose of a statute of limitations in a criminal context is to prevent the State from hampering defense preparation by delaying prosecution until a point in time when its evidence is stale and defense witnesses have died, disappeared or otherwise become unavailable.”<sup>11</sup>

Civil Cases

Section 95.11, F.S., sets forth statutes of limitation for commencing civil actions in Florida, which range from 30 days to 20 years. The time for commencing civil actions starts to run from the time the cause of action accrues, which occurs when the last element constituting the cause of action occurs.<sup>12</sup>

Currently, a civil claim for a violation of s. 800.04, F.S., must commence within four years from the date when the cause of action accrues.<sup>13</sup>

Criminal Cases

Section 775.15, F.S., sets forth statutes of limitation for commencing criminal prosecutions. For example:

- For a capital felony, a life felony, or a felony resulting in death, there is no time limitation;
- For a first degree felony, there is a four-year limitation; and
- For any other felony, there is a three-year limitation.

The general time limitations described above currently apply to the lewd and lascivious offenses in s. 800.04, F.S. However, these limitations may be extended or their onset delayed in specified circumstances. For example:

- A prosecution for a lewd or lascivious offense under s. 800.04, F.S., committed between July 1, 2004 and June 30, 2006, may be commenced within 1 year after the date on which the identity of the accused is established, or should have been established by the exercise of due diligence, through the analysis of DNA evidence, if a sufficient portion of the evidence collected at the time of the original investigation and tested for DNA is preserved and available for testing by the accused.<sup>14</sup>

- A prosecution for a lewd or lascivious offense under s. 800.04, F.S., committed on or after July 1, 2006, may be commenced at any time after the date on which the identity of the accused is established, or should have been established by the exercise of due diligence, through the analysis of DNA evidence, if a sufficient portion of the evidence collected at the time of the original investigation and tested for DNA is preserved and available for testing by the accused.<sup>15</sup>

It should also be noted that for violations of s. 800.04, F.S., the applicable period of limitation does not begin to run until the victim has reached the age of 18 or the violation is reported to a law enforcement agency or other governmental agency, whichever occurs earlier (generally, the time for prosecution of a criminal case starts to run on the day after the offense is committed).<sup>16</sup>

Effect of the Bill

The bill amends s. 95.11, F.S., to provide that there is no time limitation for a civil cause of action of a violation of s. 800.04, F.S., involving a victim under the age of 16 at the time of the offense. The bill applies to all actions except those which would have been time barred on or before October 1, 2014.

The bill amends s. 775.15, F.S., to provide there is no time limitation for the criminal prosecution of a violation of s. 800.04, F.S., involving a victim under the age of 16 at the time of the offense. The bill applies to all offenses except those offenses barred by prosecution on or before October 1, 2014.
