ARTICLE VII

FINANCE AND TAXATION

SECTION 1. Taxation; appropriations; state expenses; ~~state revenue limitation.~~—

(a) No tax shall be levied except in pursuance of law. No state ad valorem taxes shall be levied upon real estate or tangible personal property. All other forms of taxation shall be preempted to the state except as provided by general law.

(b) Motor vehicles, boats, airplanes, trailers, trailer coaches and mobile homes, as defined by law, shall be subject to a license tax for their operation in the amounts and for the purposes prescribed by law, but shall not be subject to ad valorem taxes.

(c) No money shall be drawn from the treasury except in pursuance of appropriation made by law.

(d) Provision shall be made by law for raising sufficient revenue to defray the expenses of the state for each fiscal period.

~~(e) Except as provided herein, state revenues collected for any fiscal year shall be limited to state revenues allowed under this subsection for the prior fiscal year plus an adjustment for growth. As used in this subsection, "growth" means an amount equal to the average annual rate of growth in Florida personal income over the most recent twenty quarters times the state revenues allowed under this subsection for the prior fiscal year. For the 1995-1996 fiscal year, the state revenues allowed under this subsection for the prior fiscal year shall equal the state revenues collected for the 1994-1995 fiscal year. Florida personal income shall be determined by the legislature, from information available from the United States Department of Commerce or its successor on the first day of February prior to the beginning of the fiscal year. State revenues collected for any fiscal year in excess of this limitation shall be transferred to the budget stabilization fund until the fund reaches the maximum balance specified in Section 19(g) of Article III, and thereafter shall be refunded to taxpayers as provided by general law. State revenues allowed under this subsection for any fiscal year may be increased by a two-thirds vote of the membership of each house of the legislature in a separate bill that contains no other subject and that sets forth the dollar amount by which the state revenues allowed will be increased. The vote may not be taken less than seventy-two hours after the third reading of the bill. For purposes of this subsection, "state revenues"~~

~~means taxes, fees, licenses, and charges for services imposed by the legislature on individuals, businesses, or agencies outside state government. However, "state revenues" does not include: revenues that are necessary to meet the requirements set forth in documents authorizing the issuance of bonds by the state; revenues that are used to provide matching funds for the federal Medicaid program with the exception of the revenues used to support the Public Medical Assistance Trust Fund or its successor program and with the exception of state matching funds used to fund elective expansions made after July 1, 1994; proceeds from the state lottery returned as prizes; receipts of the Florida Hurricane Catastrophe Fund; balances carried forward from prior fiscal years; taxes, licenses, fees, and charges for services imposed by local, regional, or school district governing bodies; or revenue from taxes, licenses, fees, and charges for services required to be imposed by any amendment or revision to this constitution after July 1, 1994. An adjustment to the revenue limitation shall be made by general law to reflect the fiscal impact of transfers of responsibility for the funding of governmental functions between the state and other levels of government. The legislature shall, by general law, prescribe procedures necessary to administer this subsection.~~

SECTION 19. State revenue limitation.—

(a) STATE REVENUE LIMITATION.—Except as provided in this section, state revenues collected in any fiscal year are limited as follows:

(1) For the 2014-2015 fiscal year, state revenues are limited to an amount equal to the state revenues collected during the 2013-2014 fiscal year multiplied by the sum of the adjustment for growth plus four one-hundredths.

(2) For the 2015-2016 fiscal year, state revenues are limited to an amount equal to the state revenue limitation for fiscal year 2014-2015 multiplied by the sum of the adjustment for growth plus three one-hundredths.

(3) For the 2016-2017 fiscal year, state revenues are limited to an amount equal to the state revenue limitation for fiscal year 2015-2016 multiplied by the sum of the adjustment for growth plus two one-hundredths.

(4) For the 2017-2018 fiscal year, state revenues are limited to an amount equal to the state revenue limitation for fiscal year 2016-2017 multiplied by the sum of the adjustment for growth plus one one-hundredth.

(5) For the 2018-2019 fiscal year and thereafter, state revenues are limited to an amount equal to the state revenue limitation for the previous fiscal year multiplied by the adjustment for growth.

(6) The adjustment for growth for a fiscal year shall be determined by March 1 preceding the fiscal year using the latest information available. Once the adjustment for growth is determined for a fiscal year, it may not be changed based on revisions to the information used to make the determination.

(b) REVENUES IN EXCESS OF THE LIMITATION.—State revenues collected in any fiscal year in excess of the revenue limitation shall be transferred to the budget stabilization fund until the fund reaches the maximum balance specified in Section 19(g) of Article III, and thereafter shall be used for the support and maintenance of public schools by reducing the minimum financial effort required from school districts for participation in a state-funded education finance program, or, if the minimum financial effort is no longer required, returned to taxpayers as provided by general law.

(c) AUTHORITY OF THE LEGISLATURE TO INCREASE THE REVENUE LIMITATION.—

(1) The state revenue limitation for any fiscal year may be increased by a two-thirds vote of the membership of each house of the legislature. Unless otherwise provided by the bill increasing the revenue limitation, the increased revenue limitation enacted under this paragraph shall be used to determine the revenue limitation for future fiscal years.

(2) The state revenue limitation for any one fiscal year may be increased by a three-fifths vote of the membership of each house of the legislature. Increases to the revenue limitation enacted under this paragraph must be disregarded when determining the revenue limitation in subsequent fiscal years.

(3) A bill increasing the revenue limitation may not contain any other subject and must set forth the dollar amount by which the state revenue limitation will be increased. The vote may not be taken less than seventy-two hours after the third reading in either house of the legislature of the bill in the form that will be presented to the governor.

(d) AUTHORITY OF THE ELECTORS TO INCREASE THE REVENUE LIMITATION.—The legislature may propose an increase in the state revenue limitation pursuant to a concurrent resolution enacted by a three-fifths vote of the membership of each house. The proposed increase shall be submitted to the electors at the next general election held more than ninety days after the resolution is filed with the custodian of state records. However, the legislature may submit the proposed increase at an earlier special election held more than ninety days after it is filed with the custodian of state records pursuant to a law enacted by the affirmative vote of three-fourths of the membership of each house of the legislature. The resolution must set forth the dollar amount by which the state revenue limitation will be increased. Unless otherwise provided in the resolution, the increased revenue limitation shall be used to determine the revenue limitation for future fiscal years. The proposed increase shall take effect if it is approved by a vote of at least 60 percent of the electors voting on the matter.

(e) REVENUE LIMIT ADJUSTMENT BY THE LEGISLATURE.—The legislature shall provide by general law for adjustments to the state revenue limitation to reflect:

(1) The fiscal impact of transfers of responsibility for the funding of governmental functions between the state and other levels of government occurring after May 6, 2011; or

(2) The fiscal impact of a new federal mandate.

(f) GENERAL LAW IMPLEMENTATION.—The legislature shall, by general law, prescribe procedures necessary to administer this section.

(g) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section, the term:

(1) "Adjustment for growth" means an amount equal to the average for the previous five years of the product of the inflation factor and the population factor.

(2) "Inflation factor" means an amount equal to one plus the percent change in the calendar year annual average of the Consumer Price Index. The term "Consumer Price Index" means the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers, U.S. city average (not seasonally adjusted, current base for all items), as published by the United States Department of Labor. In the event the index ceases to exist, the legislature shall determine the successor index by general law.

(3) "Population factor" means an amount equal to one plus the percent change in population of the state as of April 1 compared to April 1 of the prior year. For purposes of calculating the annual rate of change in population, the state's official population estimates shall be used.

(4) "State revenues" means taxes, fees, licenses, fines, and charges for services imposed by the legislature on individuals, businesses, or agencies outside state government. However, the term "state revenues" does not include: revenues that are necessary to meet the requirements set forth in documents authorizing the issuance of bonds by the state for bonds issued before July 1, 2012; revenues that are used to provide matching funds for the federal Medicaid program with the exception of the revenues used to support the Public Medical Assistance Trust Fund or its successor program and with the exception of state matching funds used to fund optional expansions made after July 1, 1994; proceeds from the state lottery returned as prizes; receipts of the Florida Hurricane Catastrophe Fund and Citizens Property Insurance Corporation; receipts of public universities and colleges; balances carried forward from prior fiscal years; taxes, fees, licenses, fines, and charges for services imposed by local, regional, or school district governing bodies; or revenue from taxes, fees, licenses, fines, and charges for services authorized by any amendment or revision to this constitution after May 6, 2011.

SECTION 32. State revenue limitation.—The amendment to Section 1 and the creation of Section 19 of Article VII, revising the state revenue limitation, and this section take effect upon approval by the electors and apply beginning in the 2014-2015 state fiscal year.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the following statement be placed on the ballot:

ARTICLE VII, SECTIONS 1 and 19

ARTICLE XII, SECTION 32

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

STATE GOVERNMENT REVENUE LIMITATION.—This proposed amendment to the State Constitution replaces the existing state revenue limitation based on Florida personal income growth with a new state revenue limitation based on inflation and population changes. Under the amendment, state revenues, as defined in the amendment, collected in excess of the revenue limitation must be deposited into the budget stabilization fund until the fund reaches its maximum balance, and thereafter shall be used for the support and maintenance of public schools by reducing the minimum financial effort required from school districts for participation in a state-funded education finance program, or, if the minimum financial effort is no longer required, returned to the taxpayers. The Legislature may increase the state revenue limitation through a bill approved by a super majority vote of each house of the Legislature. The Legislature may also submit a proposed increase in the state revenue limitation to the voters. The Legislature must implement this proposed amendment by general law. The amendment will take effect upon approval by the electors and will first apply to the 2014-2015 state fiscal year.

CS for SM 214—A memorial to the Congress of the United States, urging Congress to support the tax-relief provisions of H.R. 5699 and S. 3934, initiated in the 111th Congress, or similar legislation, relating to the Deepwater Horizon Oil Spill of 2010.

WHEREAS, on April 20, 2010, an explosion occurred on the Deepwater Horizon oil drilling platform, allowing millions of gallons of crude oil to contaminate the waters of the Gulf of Mexico and the beaches and coastline of Florida, and

WHEREAS, the oil spill forced the closure of many areas of the Gulf of Mexico to commercial fishing, creating financial hardship for Floridians engaged in fishing and the related industries of seafood processing, seafood packaging, and the wholesale and retail sales of seafood, and

WHEREAS, the oil spill forced the closure of many miles of pristine, white, sandy public beaches in Florida, depositing tar balls and oily sheen on the beaches and threatening tidal marshes and bays elsewhere in Florida, and

WHEREAS, closure of the beaches and Gulf waters created financial hardships for the state’s hospitality industry, particularly in Northwest

Florida, during its most profitable time of the year, NOW, THEREFORE,

Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

That certain provisions of H.R. 5699 and S. 3934, initiated in the 111th Congress, or similar legislation, which address tax relief for affected businesses and individuals and which would be most beneficial to Floridians should be approved by Congress. These provisions are: exempting from federal taxation as income any insurance payouts arising from the oil spill and payments for damages attributable to the oil spill under s. 1002 of the Oil Pollution Act of 1990, 33 U.S.C. 2702, which were reinvested in the Oil Spill Recovery Zone; recognizing any taxpayer who has a qualified oil-spill loss as eligible to use the federal 5-year net operating loss carryback for federal tax purposes; exempting from federal taxation the housing stipends paid to persons who are employed in the cleanup efforts, and awarding a tax credit to employers who paid the stipends; awarding an Employee Retention Tax Credit to qualified employers in the affected Gulf Coast area; waiving the tax penalty on early withdrawals of certain retirement plans if the proceeds are used as specified; relaxing the cap on federal deductions for charitable contributions dedicated to the cleanup efforts; and awarding a Work Opportunity Tax Credit for the hiring of qualified recovery zone employees.

WHEREAS, there was an explosion at the Deepwater Horizon oil rig the night of April 20, 2010, and

WHEREAS, the explosion caused hundreds of millions of gallons of oil to spill into the Gulf of Mexico and wash up on the coastlines of the five Gulf Coast states, and

WHEREAS, this man-made disaster has spoiled Florida's coastline and waterways and devastated its fishing and tourism industries, and

WHEREAS, this man-made disaster has directly resulted in the loss of jobs and business for Floridians, and

WHEREAS, in June 2010, a preliminary study by the University of Central Florida predicted job losses of 195,000 and spending losses of $10.9 billion if Florida's 23 counties along the Gulf Coast lose 50 percent of their tourism and leisure jobs and spending, and

WHEREAS, that preliminary study also predicted job losses of 39,000 and spending losses of $2 billion if those same counties lose 10 percent of their tourism and leisure jobs and spending, and

WHEREAS, under the Oil Pollution Act of 1990 and other applicable laws, BP has been designated as a responsible party and is accountable for processing and paying all costs and applicable damages incurred by individuals, businesses, the state, and local governments as a result of the disaster, and

WHEREAS, in late August, a neutral fund administrator took over claims for costs and damages incurred as a result of the oil discharges due to the Deepwater Horizon oil disaster through the Gulf Coast Claims Facility, to be paid from an escrow account to which BP has agreed to contribute $20 billion over a 4-year period, and

WHEREAS, the Gulf Coast Claims Facility evaluates claims for removal and clean-up costs, damage to real or personal property, lost earnings or profits, loss of subsistence use of natural resources, or physical injury or death, and

WHEREAS, the Internal Revenue Service has determined that claims paid for lost wages, income, and profits, as well as claims paid for certain property damage, are subject to federal income tax, NOW, THEREFORE,

Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

That the Legislature requests the United States Congress to enact legislation that:

(1) Exempts from federal income tax those claim payments made to individuals and businesses as a result of the Deepwater Horizon oil disaster for:

- (a) Lost wages, income, and profits; and
- (b) Property damage.

(2) Allows fishing- and tourism-related businesses to carry back their net operating losses from the oil disaster for an additional 3 taxable years.

SM 218—A memorial to the Congress of the United States, urging Congress to dedicate penalties collected from parties responsible for the Deepwater Horizon oil disaster to repairing the environmental and economic damage caused by the disaster.

WHEREAS, on the night of April 20, 2010, there was an explosion at the Deepwater Horizon oil rig which caused at least 170 million gallons of oil to spill into the Gulf of Mexico over the course of several months and wash up onto the coastlines of the five Gulf states, and

WHEREAS, this man-made disaster spoiled portions of Florida's coastline and waterways and devastated its fishing and tourism industries, and

WHEREAS, this man-made disaster has directly resulted in the loss of jobs and business for Floridians, and

WHEREAS, a preliminary study by the University of Central Florida predicted job losses of 195,000 and spending losses of $10.9 billion if Florida's 23 counties along the Gulf Coast lose 50 percent of their tourism and leisure jobs and spending, and

WHEREAS, that preliminary study also predicted job losses of 39,000 and spending losses of $2 billion if those same counties lose 10 percent of their tourism and leisure jobs and spending, and

WHEREAS, despite clean-up efforts, oil remains buried in the sand on the Gulf states' coastlines and in the waters offshore, and

WHEREAS, the amount of oil remaining in the Gulf waters is still unknown and some researchers have discovered oil below the sea's surface, including on the ocean floor, and

WHEREAS, although seafood caught off of Florida's coast is safe to eat and approximately 90 percent of the fishing closures in federal waters have been lifted, the long-term effect on the Gulf's sea life is still unknown, and

WHEREAS, under current law, any civil penalties recovered pursuant to the Clean Water Act must be deposited into the Oil Spill Liability Trust Fund to be used for clean-up and response efforts for future oil spills, and

WHEREAS, United States Secretary of the Navy, Ray Mabus, recommended that Congress dedicate a significant portion of any civil penalties recovered under the Clean Water Act to providing assistance for the region where the damage from the disaster occurred, NOW, THEREFORE,

Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

That the Legislature requests the United States Congress to enact legislation that permits any civil penalties recovered under the Clean Water Act due to the Deepwater Horizon oil disaster to be distributed in the following manner:

- (1) Deposited into a newly created Gulf Coast Recovery Fund, which is managed by a Gulf Coast Recovery Council and used to provide assistance for long-term environmental and economic recovery in the Gulf;
- (2) Directed to the five Gulf states to enable each state to pursue its own recovery efforts; and
- (3) Deposited into the Oil Spill Liability Trust Fund for future recovery efforts.

WHEREAS, there was an explosion at the Deepwater Horizon oil rig the night of April 20, 2010, and

WHEREAS, the explosion caused hundreds of millions of gallons of oil to spill into the Gulf of Mexico and wash up on the coastlines of the five Gulf states, and

WHEREAS, this man-made disaster has spoiled Florida’s coastline and waterways and devastated its fishing and tourism industries, and

WHEREAS, this man-made disaster has directly resulted in the loss of jobs for Floridians, and

WHEREAS, many of these individuals were self-employed or independent contractors, and as such do not qualify for unemployment compensation benefits, and

WHEREAS, the federal Disaster Unemployment Assistance Program benefits individuals who become unemployed only as a direct result of a disaster declared by the President of the United States pursuant to the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Act of 1974, and assistance paid under the act may be invoked only for natural disasters, NOW, THEREFORE,

Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

That the Legislature requests the United States Congress to enact legislation that creates an Oil Spill Unemployment Assistance Program to provide income assistance to individuals who are unemployed as a result of a spill of national significance and who are not entitled to any other unemployment compensation, the cost of which shall be borne by responsible parties under the Oil Pollution Act.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by Monsignor Thomas Skindeleski, St. Vincent Ferrer Church, Delray Beach:

Blessed are you, mighty God of the universe. You have made us in your image and likeness, with great love and care. You are wonderful, and are the consolation of many hearts. We thank you for the many blessings and gifts you have poured forth on us in this great state of Florida.

Today, we call upon you once again, as we begin this legislative session. We seek your aid in using our collective wisdom as we deliberate the issues that truly affect the lives of our people. Grant us your wisdom to use wisely the talents with which you have blessed us. Open our minds to better understand the needs of those who have chosen us to serve them. Teach us how to craft laws that will better the lives of millions of people who are counting on our efforts to serve them well.

Let justice and peace be foremost in our minds as we endeavor to legislate in ways that will benefit the lives of our people. Direct our efforts to preserve the life and liberty of the most vulnerable members of our society.

Help us to be respectful in our attitudes toward each other, to be diligent in our work, courteous in our speech, and humbly aware of your presence when we debate those issues that affect our people. Encourage us in our struggle to be examples of integrity, honesty and trust. Guard our minds and hearts from the power of any evildoers, especially those who would tempt us to stray from your direction.

Watch over and protect us and our families from all harm, especially when we are apart. And as we pray for ourselves and our families, we ask you to look after the men and women of our state who are serving abroad in our armed forces. Return them safely as soon as possible to their loved ones.

Grant us a sense of serious purpose in our work, so that we may not take our responsibilities lightly; but, balance it with a sense of humor, so that we may not take ourselves too seriously.

Finally, gracious God, look upon the poor with compassion and mercy, and give them an abundance of your blessings in their time of need. May all of our actions reflect your goodness to us, and may we, in turn, reflect it toward those who have need of that goodness. All of this, we ask of you, mighty God, who guides and governs all of us. Amen.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by Pastor David McMullen, Athena Baptist Church, Perry:

Father and almighty God, I come to you this morning with a thankful heart, a grateful heart, and a blessed heart. Thankful, Lord, because you have given us love, joy and peace. Grateful to you, because we can come boldly to the throne of grace to obtain mercy and find grace to help in time of need. It is indeed a time of need for our nation and our state. Lord, I also come with a blessed heart, because of your unconditional love for all mankind.

I now come to you on behalf of this legislative body, a body that has many issues to face, so I ask you, almighty God, to grant them with wisdom to discern right and wrong; courage to stand and speak for what is right and against what is wrong; and a discerning spirit to know the difference. Bless these Senators, administrative staff and all of their families. I ask you in closing, to forgive us, Lord, where we have failed to honor you. This I pray in the name that is above every name. Amen.

SPECIAL GUESTS

President Haridopolos introduced Sir Nigel Sheinwald, British Ambassador to the United States, who was present in the chamber. The Ambassador was invited to the Secretary’s rostrum, where he addressed the Senate.

Sir Nigel Sheinwald: Thank you, Mr President, for your kind introduction and thank you to the Florida Senate for hosting me today. It is a great pleasure to be here in Florida, and an honour to be able to address this body.

With some trepidation, I begin by noting that we are approaching the 250th anniversary of British rule in Florida. Needless to say, it is extraordinary how far our relationship with this State has progressed. Britain retains a strong and positive interest in Florida, not least the 400,000 UK nationals who in one way or another call this State home—given the excellent reputation of the British weather, I can’t imagine why.

Florida remained loyal to the Crown during the American War of Independence, no doubt thanks in no small part to the garrisoning of some 10,000 British troops here. This military presence continues, in a more co-operative context. Today we are proud to be the US’ closest ally. In 2010, we had eight Royal Navy ships in Florida ports, including our latest Type 45 destroyer. There is also a large UK contingent at the US Central Command in Tampa.

The wider transatlantic partnership remains strong and broad. There is much US/UK ingenuity and collaboration to speak of, but today I will focus my remarks in three areas:

First, I want to talk about the UK’s defence strategy and how we, the UK, will remain the US’ partner of choice in ensuring our mutual and wider global security.

Then I will move on to the UK economy and the decisive steps we’ve taken to restore confidence in our public finances; and leverage the private sector to rebuild our infrastructure and generate growth.

I want to conclude by reflecting on the importance of trade and our economic relationships and some of the risks we must work together to avoid.

UK DEFENCE

In the world today, power is more diffuse, the cast of international players is larger, the enemy is less easy to target, and solutions to global challenges require the involvement of not just more countries, but a wider range of actors than has historically been the case.

This was the background for our Strategic Defence and Security Review, which we conducted last autumn. The challenge was to modernize our armed forces and defence capabilities to meet 21st century challenges, at a time of budgetary pressure. We will have to make some painful savings, such as ending our presence in Germany and reducing our tanks, artillery and fast jets. But throughout, we defended three fundamental commitments:

—to protect our mission in Afghanistan, where we are by far the largest troop contributor after the US;

—to opt for future strategic capabilities rather than short term fixes; and

—to ensure that we emerge in 2020 with a coherent defence capability.

We're investing in key areas of future significance and UK expertise, such as our special forces and $1 billion for cyber capabilities.

We will continue to have the 4th largest defence budget in the world, and we will stay at or above the 2% GDP target for NATO defence budgets, one of only six Allies to do so. We will remain, as Secretary Clinton said, America's most capable military ally. We intend to stay globally involved and active, bringing our experience and global assets to bear on the problems of today and tomorrow; and ready to stand up for, and where necessary make sacrifices for, our shared values.

We will co-operate even more closely with allies—for effectiveness, but also savings. This applies above all to our closest partner, the US. Last September, we were delighted to see the US Congress ratify the UK-US Defence Trade Co-operation Treaty—something the British Embassy had partnered on with British and American business for several years. This treaty will increase the effectiveness of our joint military operations around the world, and will create more opportunities for US/UK defence trade.

UK ECONOMY

Let me talk more generally about the UK economy. To remain strong abroad, we must ensure strength at home.

The situation facing the newly-elected British Coalition Government last May was extremely serious. The financial crisis had hit all developed countries hard. The UK economy had contracted by over 6% and our debt had risen substantially.

Last year the UK Government was borrowing one in four pounds it was spending. That meant paying more in interest on debt than we were investing in our schools across England. It did not make sense and it was not sustainable.

The Coalition Government therefore drove through ambitious austerity measures. As our Chancellor said, "Fiscal consolidation is not an alternative to growth, but the basis for the confidence that will generate and make growth sustainable."

The public spending reductions and tax increases we announced last autumn will take the deficit from 11% of GDP in 2010 to 1% in 2015. This is deeply painful in the near term, but a bold and necessary adjustment. As a result trade and inward investment are on the rebound, the economy is forecast to expand this year, and the UK's AAA bond rating is secure.

THE BUSINESS ENVIRONMENT

The UK is committed to private sector-led growth. That means new investment in clean, efficient infrastructure. It means protecting our high tech research and science base from spending cuts. It means a focus on simplifying tax and regulations to create the incentives for entrepreneurs to innovate and flourish.

These are not vague promises. Corporate tax will decrease from 28% to 24% by 2014, the lowest in the G7. We are going further, by applying a lower rate of 10% on profits from newly commercialized patents. We are also cutting nearly 200 regulatory bodies and agencies. We mean it when we say Britain is open for business.

The UK government will partner with the private sector to create a more efficient and high-tech economy. Public Private Partnerships or PPP, have been instrumental in driving investment in the UK. In nearly 20 years, we've used this useful procurement tool for over 900 projects, worth about 100 billion dollars. Our professional services firms have helped develop infrastructure more efficiently and rapidly than if the public sector had developed it alone.

Last October we published a national infrastructure plan setting out how we would invest over 300 billion dollars over the next 5 years in energy, communications, transport, waste and water. We're planning a programme of new nuclear facilities. We're pushing forward with offshore wind, which alone will offer over 150 billion dollars in procurement opportunities. We're going ahead with a 25 billion dollars cross rail project, providing a new route across London and North-South high speed rail in the future. Like so many of our previous projects, these projects will reduce the commitment from the public sector by leveraging investment by the private sector, whose share is expected to reach nearly 70%.

IMPORTANCE OF UK-US ECONOMIC RELATIONS

Whilst we concentrate on returning to a sound footing at home, we're looking to energise our key trading relationships.

The US and Europe comprise over half the world's GDP with close to five trillion dollars of business conducted annually. Our economies are more deeply integrated than any other regions. Of course the world is changing. Economic power is moving eastward. Recent events in the Middle East also show some of our strengths. We share common values as well as flexibility, openness, a spirit of entrepreneurship and a commitment to the rule of law. Openness and innovation are key and these are American and British strengths.

Our two nations possess one of the most substantial trade and investment relationships in the world. We remain each other's single largest investors. Around a million jobs in each country depend on the others' companies. At nearly half a trillion dollars, the UK's stock of investment in the US is over 500 times China's investment in the US.

The strength of our relationship stems from several factors—often absent with the emerging economies.

First, there is our level of competitiveness and skills. The US and UK continue to compete at the top of the value chain. One of our strengths is in services, which make up 70% of our economies. There is also advanced manufacturing and engineering, which we rightly continue to invest heavily in.

Second, we both value our skilled workforce. The UK for its part is doubling its apprenticeships, to 75,000.

Third, there is our shared culture of research and innovation. The top ten universities in the world are either in the US or the UK. This translates into world-leading research and collaboration, including here in Florida. Just last year, the Manchester University Business School, the only UK business school accredited to teach in the US, established a campus in Miami.

Altogether, more than 5,000 UK university staff members have research links to the US and 3,500 US research students are working in the UK. With just 5% of the world's population, we account for over 50% of scientific citations and 39% of global research funding. UK/US collaborations account for fully 26 Nobel prizes.

In 1996, Sir Harry Kroto, a British chemist and current faculty member of Florida State University here in Tallahassee, was one of three recipients of the Nobel Prize in Chemistry. In 2010 alone, eight of the nine Nobel science winners were from US or UK institutions.

UK-FLORIDA RELATIONSHIP

These are just some of our shared strengths. This dynamism is felt right here in Florida. We're both trade-dependent economies—the UK an island nation and Florida, surrounded on three sides by water. Florida's exports to the UK last year totalled one billion dollars. Florida is an attractive location for UK companies looking to expand. Just as we offer a gateway to Europe, you offer a gateway to Latin America. Miami, for example, is the second largest banking centre in the US and therefore home to the Latin American regional banking operations of such British firms as HSBC, Lloyds, Standard Chartered and Barclays.

But British investment in this State extends beyond just banking. Today, 44,000 Floridians depend on UK investment for their jobs in a wide range of industries and we're building on this relationship. Last July, UK Trade & Investment, Britain's inward investment agency, signed an MOU with Space Florida to promote commercial space opportunities between Florida's and the UK's aerospace and commercial space industries. Next week, we're leading a UK trade mission to the Space Coast.

We can go even further. Earlier I mentioned the importance of PPP to UK economic development. Last year the Lord Mayor of London hosted a PPP roundtable in Miami, and we are now planning a PPP delegation to visit Georgia and Florida in the next quarter. We look forward to sharing our expertise in how private sector investment can spur efficient infrastructure development at home and offer investment opportunities overseas. About 40% of investors in UK infrastructure are foreign-owned.

IMPORTANCE OF OPEN MARKETS

Trade, investment and therefore jobs can only flourish, however, if we keep our markets open. It is essential that we allow trade to flow freely and avoid erecting barriers.

A quarter of UK jobs are linked to overseas business. Over a quarter of UK GDP comes from exports. We know the global free trade benefits British consumers and our businesses.

Those free trade arguments hold true locally too. More than one-eighth of all manufacturing workers in Florida depend on exports for their jobs.

Both the British and US Governments say that exports are a key pillar of recovery. But imports are just as critical. You can't have an export strategy unless others are willing to import. Today's global supply chains are such that domestic manufacturers rely on inputs from around the world. Imports are part of the simple, elegant organizing principle—the market economy—that makes free trade work. In an open global economy we cannot try to make everything. Rather we should focus on our strengths.

The same goes for inward investment. We should encourage companies to invest abroad. That's what successful firms do. Studies show that as they expand internationally, they tend to increase investment and hiring in their home market. Many British-owned companies have been in the US for over a century. They provide American jobs, pay American taxes, and support American communities.

But the strength of the global economy will not just hinge on the direction of the transatlantic partnership. International trade also plays an important role. In the last 18 years, global trade has roughly quadrupled, from around 3 trillion dollars to over 12 trillion dollars, thanks to a series of international deals to lower tariffs.

Today, I challenge you to find one policy on the table that will do more to drive your local economy than completing the current multilateral trade round—the Doha Development Round, which started in 2001. It would be worth 170 billion dollars a year to the global economy, liberalising world trade in manufactured goods, bringing cuts in agricultural subsidies, opening up services markets, and simplifying trade procedures.

The British Embassy in Washington published a study last month which showed that the US share of a deal could be worth almost 38 billion dollars a year, and create over 390,000 net new jobs. Florida's share would be 2.9 billion dollars and nearly 27,000 net jobs—far more than any FTA could provide. We can't keep going around in circles for another 10 years, which is why my Prime Minister said in January that 2011 is the make or break year for Doha.

Now I have talked a lot about opportunity, and not so much about risk. It is not always easy to keep markets open, especially in and after a recession.

I hope that Florida will continue to resist protectionist measures and remain committed to maintaining openness. It is the only way we'll thrive together in what has become an increasingly complex and competitive global economy.

CONCLUSION

Erecting barriers can be quickly and irreparably self-defeating. Sheltering domestic enterprises won't protect workers or help economic growth in the long run. In fact, it will have the opposite effect.

Let me conclude by saying that I'm confident in the UK-US relationship and its influential role in the world. I'm also confident that the UK and Florida relationship will grow stronger still. Our political institutions, such as this Senate, have a central role to play in promoting our essential values, keeping trade open and free, and encouraging the international links which will forge success in this global century. Thank you very much.

SM 484—A memorial to the Congress of the United States, urging Congress to oppose any effort to impose new discriminatory taxes that would significantly limit the use of reinsurance provided by companies located outside the United States.

WHEREAS, reinsurance plays a vital role in managing and spreading risk for companies in nearly all segments of the insurance business, and

WHEREAS, as a means of managing capital, all large insurers make use of “affiliated” reinsurance purchased from companies within the same group, and

WHEREAS, such affiliated reinsurance serves a valid and important risk-transfer purpose that provides significant additional primary insurance capacity, particularly in areas such as crop, windstorm, general, liability, products liability, and aircraft insurance, and

WHEREAS, insurance groups that are not based in the United States currently pay taxes on reinsurance transactions which are functionally equivalent to the taxes paid by United States-based insurance groups, and

WHEREAS, a major study from the economic research and consulting firm, The Brattle Group, concluded that policies intended to reduce the use of affiliated reinsurance by companies whose headquarters are located outside the United States would result in a 20 percent reduction in the supply of reinsurance and a significant increase in the price of primary insurance for consumers and businesses, and

WHEREAS, such taxation would significantly limit the ability of many insurers to manage their capital and, thus, undermine the international risk-management practices at the heart of international reinsurance markets, and

WHEREAS, a broad coalition of industry, consumer, and free-market groups have spoken out against discriminatory taxation of offshore affiliated reinsurance, NOW, THEREFORE,

The following prayer was offered by Lieutenant Colonel Kendric Conway, the 101st Air Operation Group, Florida Air National Guard. Chaplain Conway has over 24 years of service and has been deployed in support of numerous overseas operations:

Heavenly Father, we are so grateful and we are so thankful that you are a source in whom we have our faith, hope, and love. We gather in your name. We are gathering because we have a great heritage. We enjoy these great freedoms. You are our salvation. Our nation is great because of your presence in our lives and we say, "Thank you."

We thank you for watching over our country and for keeping us safe. May every one of us honor you and revere you. We ask, Father, that you continue to implant in our hearts a steadfast purpose to work as one and to stand together for freedom, justice and peace. We pray for our President, Vice President, Cabinet, Congress, Supreme Court, Governor, and Legislators. Safeguard their lives and protect them from every evil. For it is in wisdom and your divine understanding that they may lead us and guide us. Give them power and strength. Lord, we are so grateful for the men and women of our armed forces who serve this country who are devoted to making our lives better, and to protecting freedom. May we never forget their sacrifices, and the challenges that they face. Thank you, Lord. Challenge us today to continue to make our state better. Challenge us today, O Lord, with new courage, boldness, and new ideas. Bless each leader and his or her team that we may come together. Thank you, Lord, for this Senate who is taking us into the twenty-first century. For it is in your holy name we completely trust and pray. Amen.

SM 358—A memorial to the Congress of the United States, urging Congress to honor the provisions of the Constitution of the United States and United States Supreme Court case law which limit the scope and exercise of federal power.

WHEREAS, the Tenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States proclaims: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people," and

WHEREAS, the Tenth Amendment defines the scope of federal power as being that specifically granted by the Constitution of the United States and no more, and

WHEREAS, the limitation of power contained in the Tenth Amendment established the foundational principle that the Federal Government was created by the states specifically to be an agent of the states, and yet currently the states are demonstrably treated as agents of the Federal Government, and

WHEREAS, many federal laws are in direct violation of the Tenth Amendment, and

WHEREAS, the Tenth Amendment ensures that we, the people of the United States of America and each sovereign state in the Union of States, now have, and have always had, rights the Federal Government may not usurp, and

WHEREAS, Article IV, Section 4 of the Constitution of the United States begins: "The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a Republican Form of Government," and the Ninth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States declares: "The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people," and

WHEREAS, the United States Supreme Court ruled in New York v. United States, 112 S. Ct. 2408 (1992), that Congress does not have the authority to simply commandeer the states' legislative processes by compelling the states to enact and enforce federal regulatory programs, and

WHEREAS, a number of proposals from previous administrations and some proposals now pending from the present administration and from Congress may further violate the Constitution of the United States, NOW, THEREFORE,

Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

That the Legislature claims sovereignty under the Tenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States over all powers not otherwise enumerated and granted to the Federal Government by the Constitution of the United States.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this memorial serves as a notice and a demand to the Federal Government, as our agent, to cease and desist, effective immediately, from issuing mandates that are beyond the scope of these constitutionally delegated powers.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that all compulsory federal legislation that directs states to comply under threat of civil or criminal penalties or sanctions or requires states to pass legislation or lose federal funding be prohibited or repealed.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that copies of this memorial be dispatched to the President of the United States, to the President of the United States Senate, to the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, to the presiding officers of each state legislature of the United States, and to each member of the Florida delegation to the United States Congress.

Amendment 1 (288966) (with title amendment)—Between lines 95 and 96 insert:

Section 3. Subsections (1) and (8) of section 440.192, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

440.192 Procedure for resolving benefit disputes.—

(1) Any employee may, for any benefit that is ripe, due, and owing, file by certified mail, or by electronic means approved by the Deputy Chief Judge, with the Office of the Judges of Compensation Claims a petition for benefits which meets the requirements of this section and the definition of specificity in s. 440.02. An employee represented by an attorney shall file by electronic means approved by the Deputy Chief Judge. An employee not represented by an attorney may file by certified mail or by electronic means approved by the Deputy Chief Judge. The department shall inform employees of the location of the Office of the Judges of Compensation Claims and the office’s website address for purposes of filing a petition for benefits. The employee shall also serve copies of the petition for benefits by certified mail, or by electronic means approved by the Deputy Chief Judge, upon the employer and the employer’s carrier. The Deputy Chief Judge shall refer the petitions to the judges of compensation claims.

(8) Within 14 days after receipt of a petition for benefits by certified mail or by approved electronic means, the carrier must either pay the requested benefits without prejudice to its right to deny within 120 days from receipt of the petition or file a response to petition with the Office of the Judges of Compensation Claims. The response shall be filed by electronic means approved by the Deputy Chief Judge. The carrier must list all benefits requested but not paid and explain its justification for nonpayment in the response to petition. A carrier that does not deny compensability in accordance with s. 440.20(4) is deemed to have accepted the employee’s injuries as compensable, unless it can establish material facts relevant to the issue of compensability that could not have been discovered through reasonable investigation within the 120-day period. The carrier shall provide copies of the response to the filing party, employer, and claimant by certified mail or by electronic means approved by the Deputy Chief Judge.

Section 4. Subsection (1) and paragraphs (a), (c), and (e) of subsection (4) of section 440.25, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

440.25 Procedures for mediation and hearings.—

(1) Forty days after a petition for benefits is filed under s. 440.192, the judge of compensation claims shall notify the interested parties by order that a mediation conference concerning such petition has been scheduled unless the parties have notified the judge of compensation claims that a private mediation has been held or is scheduled to be held. A mediation, whether private or public, shall be held within 130 days after the filing of the petition. Such order must give the date the mediation conference is to be held. Such order may be served personally upon the interested parties or may be sent to the interested parties by mail or by electronic means approved by the Deputy Chief Judge. If multiple petitions are pending, or if additional petitions are filed after the scheduling of a mediation, the judge of compensation claims shall consolidate all petitions into one mediation. The claimant or the adjuster of the employer or carrier may, at the mediator’s discretion, attend the mediation conference by telephone or, if agreed to by the parties, other electronic means. A continuance may be granted upon the agreement of the parties or if the requesting party demonstrates to the judge of compensation claims that the reason for requesting the continuance arises from circumstances beyond the party’s control. Any order granting a continuance must set forth the date of the rescheduled mediation conference. A mediation conference may not be used solely for the purpose of mediating attorney’s fees.

(4)(a) If the parties fail to agree to written submission of pretrial stipulations, the judge of compensation claims shall conduct a live pretrial hearing. The judge of compensation claims shall give the interested parties at least 14 days’ advance notice of the pretrial hearing by mail or by electronic means approved by the Deputy Chief Judge.

(c) The judge of compensation claims shall give the interested parties at least 14 days’ advance notice of the final hearing, served upon the interested parties by mail or by electronic means approved by the Deputy Chief Judge.

(e) The order making an award or rejecting the claim, referred to in this chapter as a “compensation order,” shall set forth the findings of ultimate facts and the mandate; and the order need not include any other reason or justification for such mandate. The compensation order shall be filed in the Office of the Judges of Compensation Claims at Tallahassee. A copy of such compensation order shall be sent by mail or by electronic means approved by the Deputy Chief Judge to the parties and attorneys of record and any parties not represented by an attorney at the last known address of each, with the date of mailing noted thereon.

2. Uniform rules for use by each state agency that provide procedures for conducting public meetings, hearings, and workshops, and for taking evidence, testimony, and argument at such public meetings, hearings, and workshops, in person and by means of communications media technology. The rules shall provide that all evidence, testimony, and argument presented shall be afforded equal consideration, regardless of the method of communication. If a public meeting, hearing, or workshop is to be conducted by means of communications media technology, or if attendance may be provided by such means, the notice shall so state. The notice for public meetings, hearings, and workshops utilizing communications media technology shall state how persons interested in attending may do so and shall name locations, if any, where communications media technology facilities will be available. Nothing in this paragraph shall be construed to diminish the right to inspect public records under chapter 119. Limiting points of access to public meetings, hearings, and workshops subject to the provisions of s. 286.011 to places not normally open to the public shall be presumed to violate the right of access of the public, and any official action taken under such circumstances is void and of no effect. Other laws relating to public meetings, hearings, and workshops, including penal and remedial provisions, shall apply to public meetings, hearings, and workshops conducted by means of communications media technology, and shall be liberally construed in their application to such public meetings, hearings, and workshops. f. A statement of the specific rules or statutes that the petitioner contends require reversal or modification of the agency’s proposed action, including an explanation of how the alleged facts relate to the specific rules or statutes.

g. A statement of the relief sought by the petitioner, stating precisely the action petitioner wishes the agency to take with respect to the proposed action.

5. Uniform rules for the filing of request for administrative hearing by a respondent in agency enforcement and disciplinary actions. Such rules shall require a request to include:

(c) The petition shall be filed by electronic means with the division which shall, immediately upon filing, forward by electronic means copies to the agency whose rule is challenged, the Department of State, and the committee. Within 10 days after receiving the petition, the division director shall, if the petition complies with the requirements of paragraph (b), assign an administrative law judge who shall conduct a hearing within 30 days thereafter, unless the petition is withdrawn or a continuance is granted by agreement of the parties or for good cause shown. Evidence of good cause includes, but is not limited to, written notice of an agency's decision to modify or withdraw the proposed rule or a written notice from the chair of the committee stating that the committee will consider an objection to the rule at its next scheduled meeting. The failure of an agency to follow the applicable rulemaking procedures or requirements set forth in this chapter shall be presumed to be material; however, the agency may rebut this presumption by showing that the substantial interests of the petitioner and the fairness of the proceedings have not been impaired.

(d) Within 30 days after the hearing, the administrative law judge shall render a decision and state the reasons therefor in writing. The division shall forthwith transmit by electronic means copies of the administrative law judge's decision to the agency, the Department of State, and the committee.

On the request of any agency, the division shall assign an administrative law judge with due regard to the expertise required for the particular matter. The referring agency shall take no further action with respect to a proceeding under s. 120.57(1), except as a party litigant, as long as the division has jurisdiction over the proceeding under s. 120.57(1). Any party may request the disqualification of the administrative law judge by filing an affidavit with the division prior to the taking of evidence at a hearing, stating the grounds with particularity.

Such rules shall at least provide that:

(d)1. The agency shall provide an opportunity to resolve the protest by mutual agreement between the parties within 7 days, excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and state holidays, after receipt of a formal written protest.

2. If the subject of a protest is not resolved by mutual agreement within 7 days, excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and state holidays, after receipt of the formal written protest, and if there is no disputed issue of material fact, an informal proceeding shall be conducted pursuant to subsection (2) and applicable agency rules before a person whose qualifications have been prescribed by rules of the agency.

3. If the subject of a protest is not resolved by mutual agreement within 7 days, excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and state holidays, after receipt of the formal written protest, and if there is a disputed issue of material fact, the agency shall refer the protest to the division by elec-

If the petitioner submits an affidavit stating that the petitioner's annual income is less than 150 percent of the applicable federal poverty guideline published in the Federal Register by the United States Department of Health and Human Services, the $100 filing fee must be waived.

Section 14. Paragraph (b) of subsection (4) of section 553.73, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

553.73 Florida Building Code.—

(b) Local governments may, subject to the limitations of this section, adopt amendments to the technical provisions of the Florida Building Code which apply solely within the jurisdiction of such government and which provide for more stringent requirements than those specified in the Florida Building Code, not more than once every 6 months. A local government may adopt technical amendments that address local needs if:

1. The local governing body determines, following a public hearing which has been advertised in a newspaper of general circulation at least 10 days before the hearing, that there is a need to strengthen the requirements of the Florida Building Code. The determination must be based upon a review of local conditions by the local governing body, which review demonstrates by evidence or data that the geographical jurisdiction governed by the local governing body exhibits a local need to strengthen the Florida Building Code beyond the needs or regional variation addressed by the Florida Building Code, that the local need is addressed by the proposed local amendment, and that the amendment is no more stringent than necessary to address the local need.

2. Such additional requirements are not discriminatory against materials, products, or construction techniques of demonstrated capabilities.

3. Such additional requirements may not introduce a new subject not addressed in the Florida Building Code.

4. The enforcing agency shall make readily available, in a usable format, all amendments adopted pursuant to this section.

5. Any amendment to the Florida Building Code shall be transmitted within 30 days by the adopting local government to the commission. The commission shall maintain copies of all such amendments in a format that is usable and obtainable by the public. Local technical amendments shall not become effective until 30 days after the amendment has been received and published by the commission.

6. Any amendment to the Florida Building Code adopted by a local government pursuant to this paragraph shall be effective only until the adoption by the commission of the new edition of the Florida Building Code every third year. At such time, the commission shall review such amendment for consistency with the criteria in paragraph (9)(a) and adopt such amendment as part of the Florida Building Code or rescind the amendment. The commission shall immediately notify the respective local government of the rescission of any amendment. After receiving such notice, the respective local government may readopt the rescinded amendment pursuant to the provisions of this paragraph.

7. Each county and municipality desiring to make local technical amendments to the Florida Building Code shall by interlocal agreement establish a countywide compliance review board to review any amendment to the Florida Building Code, adopted by a local government within the county pursuant to this paragraph, that is challenged by any substantially affected party for purposes of determining the amendment's compliance with this paragraph. If challenged, the local technical amendments shall not become effective until time for filing an appeal pursuant to subparagraph 8. has expired or, if there is an appeal, until the commission issues its final order determining the adopted amendment is in compliance with this subsection.

8. If the compliance review board determines such amendment is not in compliance with this paragraph, the compliance review board shall notify such local government of the noncompliance and that the amendment is invalid and unenforceable until the local government corrects the amendment to bring it into compliance. The local government may appeal the decision of the compliance review board to the commission. If the compliance review board determines such amendment to be in compliance with this paragraph, any substantially affected party may appeal such determination to the commission. Any such appeal shall be filed with the commission within 14 days of the board's written determination. The commission shall promptly refer the appeal to the Division of Administrative Hearings by electronic means through the division's website for the assignment of an administrative law judge. The administrative law judge shall conduct the required hearing within 30 days, and shall enter a recommended order within 30 days of the conclusion of such hearing. The commission shall enter a final order within 30 days thereafter. The provisions of chapter 120 and the uniform rules of procedure shall apply to such proceedings. The local government adopting the amendment that is subject to challenge has the burden of proving that the amendment complies with this paragraph in proceedings before the compliance review board and the commission, as applicable. Actions of the commission are subject to judicial review pursuant to s. 120.68. The compliance review board shall determine whether its decisions apply to a respective local jurisdiction or apply countywide.

9. An amendment adopted under this paragraph shall include a fiscal impact statement which documents the costs and benefits of the proposed amendment. Criteria for the fiscal impact statement shall include the impact to local government relative to enforcement, the impact to property and building owners, as well as to industry, relative to the cost of compliance. The fiscal impact statement may not be used as a basis for challenging the amendment for compliance.

10. In addition to subparagraphs 7. and 9., the commission may review any amendments adopted pursuant to this subsection and make nonbinding recommendations related to compliance of such amendments with this subsection.

Section 15. Paragraph (b) of subsection (4) of section 961.03, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

961.03 Determination of status as a wrongfully incarcerated person; determination of eligibility for compensation.—

(b) If the prosecuting authority responds as set forth in paragraph (2)(b), and the court determines that the petitioner is eligible under the provisions of s. 961.04, but the prosecuting authority contests the nature, significance or effect of the evidence of actual innocence, or the facts related to the petitioner's alleged wrongful incarceration, the court shall set forth its findings and transfer the petition by electronic means through the division's website to the division for findings of fact and a recommended determination of whether the petitioner has established that he or she is a wrongfully incarcerated person who is eligible for compensation under this act.

And the title is amended as follows:

Delete lines 3-17 and insert: court and other legal documents; creating ss. 27.341 and 27.5112, F.S.; requiring each state attorney and public defender to electronically file court documents with the clerk of the court and receive court documents from the clerk of the court; defining the term "court documents"; providing legislative expectations that the state attorneys and public defenders consult with specified entities; requiring the Florida Prosecuting Attorneys Association and the Florida Public Defender Association report to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives by a specified date on the progress made to use the Florida Courts E-Portal system or the clerks'

An early lump-sum payment shall be based on the hourly wage of the employee at the time he or she begins participation in DROP. If the member elects to wait and receive a lump-sum payment upon termination of DROP and termination of employment with the employer, any accumulated leave payment made at that time may not be included in the member's retirement benefit, which was determined and fixed by law when the employee elected to participate in DROP.

3. The effective date of DROP participation and the effective date of retirement of a DROP participant shall be the first day of the month selected by the member to begin participation in DROP, provided such date is properly established, with the written confirmation of the employer, and the approval of the division, on forms required by the division.

4. If a member participant or beneficiary fails to elect a method of payment within 60 days after termination of DROP, the division shall pay a lump sum as provided in sub-sub-paragraph (I).

(I) Lump sum.—All accrued DROP benefits, plus interest, less withholding taxes remitted to the Internal Revenue Service, shall be paid to the DROP participant or surviving beneficiary.

(II) Direct rollover.—All accrued DROP benefits, plus interest, shall be paid from DROP directly to the custodian of an eligible retirement plan as defined in s. 402(c)(8)(B) of the Internal Revenue Code. However, in the case of an eligible rollover distribution to the surviving spouse of a deceased member participant, an eligible retirement plan is an individual retirement account or an individual retirement annuity as described in s. 402(c)(9) of the Internal Revenue Code.

(III) Partial lump sum.—A portion of the accrued DROP benefits shall be paid to DROP participant or surviving spouse, less withholding taxes remitted to the Internal Revenue Service, and the remaining DROP benefits must be transferred directly to the custodian of an eligible retirement plan as defined in s. 402(c)(8)(B) of the Internal Revenue Code. However, in the case of an eligible rollover distribution to the surviving spouse of a deceased member participant, an eligible retirement plan is an individual retirement account or an individual retirement annuity as described in s. 402(c)(9) of the Internal Revenue Code. 6. The retirement benefits of any DROP participant who terminates all employment relationships as provided in s. 121.021(39) but is re-employed in violation of the reemployment provisions of subsection (9) are shall be suspended during those months in which the retiree is in violation. Any retiree in violation of this subparagraph and any employer that employs or appoints such person without notifying the division of Retirement to suspend retirement benefits are jointly and severally liable for any benefits paid during the reemployment limitation period. Amendment 8 (172938) (with directory and title amendments)—Delete lines 1858-1863 and insert:

(c) Benefits payable under DROP.—

1. Effective on the date of DROP participation, the member's initial normal monthly benefit, including creditable service, optional form of payment, and average final compensation, and the effective date of retirement are fixed. The beneficiary established under the Florida Retirement System is the beneficiary eligible to receive any DROP benefits payable if the DROP participant dies before completing the period of DROP participation. If a joint annuitant predeceases the member, the member may name a beneficiary to receive accumulated DROP benefits payable. The retirement benefit, the annual cost of living adjustments provided in s. 121.101, and interest accrue monthly in the Florida Retirement System Trust Fund.

a. For members initially enrolled in the system before July 1, 2011, the interest accrues at an effective annual rate of 6.5 percent compounded monthly, on the prior month's accumulated ending balance, up to the month of termination or death, except as provided in s. 121.053(7).

b. For members initially enrolled in the system on or after July 1, 2011, the interest accrues at an effective annual rate of 2 percent compounded monthly, on the prior month's accumulated ending balance, up to the month of termination or death, except as provided in s. 121.053(7).

2. Each employee who elects to participate in DROP may elect to receive a lump-sum payment for accrued annual leave earned in accordance with agency policy upon beginning participation in DROP. The accumulated leave payment certified to the division upon commencement of DROP shall be included in the calculation of the member's average final compensation. The employee electing the lump-sum payment is not eligible to receive a second lump-sum payment upon termination, except to the extent the employee has earned additional annual leave which, combined with the original payment, does not exceed the maximum lump-sum payment allowed by the employing agency's policy or rules. An early lump-sum payment shall be based on the hourly wage of the employee at the time he or she begins participation in DROP. If the member elects to wait and receive a lump-sum payment upon termination of DROP and termination of employment with the employer, any accumulated leave payment made at that time may not be included in the member's retirement benefit, which was determined and fixed by law when the employee elected to participate in DROP.

3. The effective date of DROP participation and the effective date of retirement of a DROP participant shall be the first day of the month selected by the member to begin participation in DROP, provided such date is properly established, with the written confirmation of the employer, and the approval of the division, on forms required by the division.

4. Normal retirement benefits and any interest shall continue to accrue in DROP until the established termination date of DROP or until the member participant terminates employment or dies before prior to such date, except as provided in s. 121.053(7). Although individual DROP accounts may shall not be established, a separate accounting of each member's participant's accrued benefits under DROP shall be calculated and provided to the member participants.

5. At the conclusion of the member's participation in the participant's DROP, the division shall distribute the member's participant's total accumulated DROP benefits, subject to the following:

a. The division shall receive verification by the member's participant's employer or employers that the member participant has terminated all employment relationships as provided in s. 121.021(39).

b. The terminated DROP participant or, if deceased, the member's participant's named beneficiary, shall elect on forms provided by the division to receive payment of the DROP benefits in accordance with one of the options listed below. If a member participant or beneficiary fails to elect a method of payment within 60 days after termination of DROP, the division shall pay a lump sum as provided in sub-sub-subparagraph (I).

(I) Lump sum.—All accrued DROP benefits, plus interest, less withholding taxes remitted to the Internal Revenue Service, shall be paid to the DROP participant or surviving beneficiary.

(II) Direct rollover.—All accrued DROP benefits, plus interest, shall be paid from DROP directly to the custodian of an eligible retirement plan as defined in s. 402(c)(8)(B) of the Internal Revenue Code. However, in the case of an eligible rollover distribution to the surviving spouse of a deceased member participant, an eligible retirement plan is an individual retirement account or an individual retirement annuity as described in s. 402(c)(9) of the Internal Revenue Code.

(III) Partial lump sum.—A portion of the accrued DROP benefits shall be paid to DROP participant or surviving spouse, less withholding taxes remitted to the Internal Revenue Service, and the remaining DROP benefits must be transferred directly to the custodian of an eligible retirement plan as defined in s. 402(c)(8)(B) of the Internal Revenue Code. However, in the case of an eligible rollover distribution to the surviving spouse of a deceased member participant, an eligible retirement plan is an individual retirement account or an individual retirement annuity as described in s. 402(c)(9) of the Internal Revenue Code. The proportions must be specified by the DROP participant or surviving beneficiary.

c. The form of payment selected by the DROP participant or surviving beneficiary must comply with the minimum distribution requirements of the Internal Revenue Code.

d. A DROP participant who fails to terminate all employment relationships as provided in s. 121.021(39) shall be deemed as not retired, and the DROP election is null and void. Florida Retirement System membership shall be reestablished retroactively to the date of the commencement of DROP, and each employer with whom the member participant continues employment must pay to the Florida Retirement System Trust Fund the difference between the DROP contributions paid in paragraph (i) and the contributions required for the applicable Florida Retirement System class of membership during the period the member participated in DROP, plus 6.5 percent interest compounded annually.

6. The retirement benefits of any DROP participant who terminates all employment relationships as provided in s. 121.021(39) but is re-employed in violation of the reemployment provisions of subsection (9) are shall be suspended during those months in which the retiree is in violation. Any retiree in violation of this subparagraph and any employer that employs or appoints such person without notifying the division of Retirement to suspend retirement benefits are jointly and severally liable for any benefits paid during the reemployment limitation period. The employer must have a written statement from the retiree that he or she is not retired from a state-administered retirement system. Any retirement benefits received by a retiree while employed in violation of the reemployment limitations must be repaid to the Florida Retirement System Trust Fund, and his or her retirement benefits shall remain suspended until payment is made. Benefits suspended beyond the end of the reemployment limitation period apply toward repayment of benefits received in violation of the reemployment limitation.

7. PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by Rev. Robert W. Jakoby, Director, Pastoral Care, Baptist Health of South Florida, Miami:

Almighty God, creator of heaven and earth, we come before you with humbled hearts and a spirit of gratitude for your love, kindness, and mercy that you give to us each day. Heavenly Father, we confess in the daily struggles of living, both personal and professional, that we sometimes fail in acknowledging you and your desire to guide us.

Sovereign God, I pray this day for every member of this Senate. As these elected officials face enormous financial, moral, and ethical decisions, we ask for your direction. You already know the task they face. May they allow you to work in and through them as they work collectively to do what is best for the people of Florida.

God, give them understanding that your wisdom is far greater than human wisdom; your strength is stronger than that of any man; your insight surpasses man's finite thinking. We acknowledge your sovereignty and ask you to guide them as they face the multitude of daily issues – issues that are overwhelming to them, but are not a problem for you.

Help each Senator to know you have a plan and purpose for his or her life individually, as well as for this great State of Florida. Help each one to do what is honorable and pleasing in your sight.

Loving God, bless and protect Governor Scott, and each of the elected officials and their families from all harm.

In your precious and holy name, I pray. Amen.

PLEDGE

ADOPTION OF RESOLUTIONS

On motion by Senator Dean—

By Senator Dean—

SR 2082—A resolution recognizing Citrus High School on the occasion of its 100th anniversary celebration and congratulating the students, faculty, administration, and staff of Citrus High School on achieving and maintaining an “A” grade from the Florida Department of Education.

WHEREAS, the history of Citrus High School can be traced back to the late 1800s to a wood-frame school building in Inverness, where a teacher taught chart class to sixth grade, and

WHEREAS, construction of the first Citrus High School was authorized in 1911 and a two-story brick schoolhouse was built at a cost of $12,560 on Citrus Avenue, and

WHEREAS, while the new school building was originally intended to serve only high school students, it served the entire student population in grades 1 through 12, and

WHEREAS, in 1920, the Board of Public Instruction approved construction of a new school on the corner of Main Street and Line Avenue, which was completed in 1921 but was abandoned a short while later due to structural problems, with classes resuming in the original building, and

WHEREAS, in 1930, a new school building was completed on the site of the failed structure and the school received accreditation from the State Board of Education as a 4-year high school, and

WHEREAS, in 1985, an electrical fire destroyed most of the structure, prompting a rebuilding project that continued until 1992, and

WHEREAS, in 2008, Citrus High School received its first “A” school designation from the Department of Education and is once again designated an “A” school for the 2010-2011 school year, with a current enrollment of 1,556 students, NOW, THEREFORE,

Be It Resolved by the Senate of the State of Florida:

That we recognize Citrus High School on the occasion of its 100th anniversary celebration and congratulate the students, faculty, administration, and staff of Citrus High School on achieving and maintaining an “A” grade from the Florida Department of Education.

—was introduced out of order and read by title. On motion by Senator Dean, SR 2082 was read the second time in full and adopted.

APPEAL OF RULING ON POINT OF ORDER IN COMMITTEE

Senator Thrasher: In the Committee on Health Regulation meeting on Monday, April 4, SB 1590 by Senator Hays was left pending due to a point of order on Amendment (330054) by Senator Bennett. Senator Gaetz raised a point of order that the amendment was not germane “because it is an undue expansion of the core purpose of the bill and raises new issues and is therefore out of order.”

Senator Garcia, Chair of the Committee on Health Regulation, ruled the point well taken and the amendment out of order. Senator Bennett then appealed the ruling of the Chair to the President.

The original bill, by Senator Hays, established a process that required the Board of Medicine to issue a certificate to persons wishing to be expert witnesses in medical malpractice cases. That was the bill’s entire purpose. Its relating-to clause was “An act relating to medical malpractice actions.”

The principal substance of Senator Bennett’s amendment expanded the scope of practice for optometrists, registered nurse practitioners and certified registered nurse anesthetists. The amendment also included a title amendment that changed the bill from an “An act relating to medical malpractice actions” to “An act relating to health care.”

It has been Senate practice to apply three tests to determine whether an amendment is germane.

- Is it the same subject as the original measure?
- Is it a natural and logical expansion of the subject matter of the original proposal? and
- Does it avoid raising a new, independent issue?

Within the context of these principles, it is my conclusion that the amendment by Senator Bennett was not a natural and logical extension of the provisions in the original bill and that it introduced new subject matter, namely, the enlargement of the scope of practice of the specified medical professions.

Also, an amendment that requires a change in the “relating-to” clause of a bill’s title suggests that the substance of the bill has been materially expanded or altered in some important way beyond its original purpose.

Therefore, Mr. President, it is my recommendation that the ruling of Chair Garcia that the amendment was not germane be upheld.

The President concurred with the recommendation of Senator Thrasher, Chair of the Committee on Rules, and the Amendment (330054) was ruled out of order.

DISCLOSURE

I have an ownership interest in Caregivers, Inc., a company based in Pensacola, Florida. The company provides services to the elderly and the disabled and a minority of its revenues are derived from reimbursements from the Escambia County Council on Aging and the Florida Medicaid program. Because Caregivers, Inc. is among a class of health care providers receiving funds from such state sources, it appears to me that the company may be affected by SB 2000 which came before the full Senate for a vote on April 7, 2011.

Therefore, I believe that, because Caregivers, Inc. is a member of such class, I am required by Senate Rule 1.39 to disclose the above facts.

DISCLOSURE

I have an ownership interest in Caregivers, Inc., a company based in Pensacola, Florida. The company provides services to the elderly and the disabled and a minority of its revenues are derived from reimbursements from the Escambia County Council on Aging and the Florida Medicaid program. Because Caregivers, Inc. is among a class of health care providers receiving funds from such state sources, it appears to me that the company may be affected by SB 2146 which came before the full Senate for a vote on April 7, 2011.

Therefore, I believe that, because Caregivers, Inc. is a member of such class, I am required by Senate Rule 1.39 to disclose the above facts.

39.001 Purposes and intent; personnel standards and screening.—

(6) LEGISLATIVE INTENT FOR THE PREVENTION OF ABUSE, ABANDONMENT, AND NEGLECT OF CHILDREN.—The incidence of known child abuse, abandonment, and neglect has continued to increase increased rapidly over the past 5 years. The impact that abuse, abandonment, or neglect has on the victimized child, siblings, family structure, and inevitably on all citizens of the state has caused the Legislature to determine that the prevention of child abuse, abandonment, and neglect shall be a priority of this state. To further this end, it is the intent of the Legislature that an Office of Adoption and Child Protection be established. It is further the intent of the Legislature that Florida Prevention of Child Abuse, Abandonment and Neglect Plan: July 2010 – June 2015, be implemented and monitored by the agencies and organizations named within the plan. The Legislature finds that the plan contains low-cost and no cost cross-agency strategies adopted by the Children and Youth Cabinet. These activities are already underway and are privately and federally funded where necessary. No additional funds from the state are being requested for these activities. By February 1, 2015, the Department of Children and Family Services shall report to the Legislature whether the plan has been effective and whether it should be updated and continued.

And the title is amended as follows:

Delete lines 2-17 and insert: An act relating to the welfare of children; amending s. 39.001, F.S.; requiring certain agencies and organizations named in the Florida Prevention of Child Abuse, Abandonment and Neglect Plan: July 2010 - 2015 to implement and monitor the plan; providing legislative findings; requiring the Department of Children and Family Services to report to the Legislature; providing an effective date.
