b. What activities and services will be provided to meet the intended purpose of these funds?

Strategic hiring of key faculty trained in the classical model of education to work directly with students in their first-year seminar courses. K12 Classical teachers receive professional development through Summer Trainings, Colloquia & Saturday Seminars. K12 classical summer camps for scholars and public lectures.

c. What direct services will be provided to citizens by the appropriation project?

Full-time faculty teaching First Year Seminar course students. The development of a retention model based on the classical model of education. Workshops, conferences, public lectures, and guest scholars. Additionally the Institute will provide academic fellowship & mentoring opportunities to students engaged in scholarly studies and provide training to K-12 classical teachers statewide.

d. Who is the target population served by this project? How many individuals are expected to be served?

College Students, Faculty, and K-12 Classical School Teachers. Approximately 2,000 individuals annually.

e. What is the expected benefit or outcome of this project? What is the methodology by which this outcome will be measured?

Enrich Cultural Experience - Through the FYS course, students learn about the value and responsibilities of citizenship in a diverse democracy. Consistent with the classical model of education, students will read about political philosophy and the history of science, or explore the cultural meanings of business and entertainment. Flagler students are living in the Oldest City in the United States. Measurement - Course evaluations will help us evaluate the impact on our students' cultural experience. Additionally, we will evaluate the level of our student's community engagement.
 Improve Quality of Education - First year students will benefit from having Full-time faculty trained in the Classical model of education teaching their first year seminar courses.

f. What are the suggested penalties that the contracting agency may consider in addition to its standard penalties for failing to meet deliverables or performance measures provided for the contract?

Standard contract penalties are sufficient.
