1. Project Title Family Trauma Training for Youth in Both Juvenile Justice and Child Welfare

2. Senate Sponsor Tom Wright

3. Date of Request 02/22/2023

4. Project/Program Description

There is lack of family trauma training for counselors to effectively treat the entire family that is traumatized, not just the child. This program seeks to also actively involve parents in the juvenile's treatment. Public safety is at severe risk when a juvenile returns home to the same unchanged family. In addition, there is no family trauma training for both children and teenagers who are considered "crossover youth" or in both the child welfare and juvenile justice systems at the same time. To address this problem, Family Systems Trauma (FST) Model from the nationally recognized evidence-based Parenting with Love and Limits (PLL) model will be used to train and supervise counselors at Brevard C.A.R.E.S. to serve both juveniles and those juveniles who are crossover youth. This is a demonstration project with measurable outcomes that include increased parent involvement, changes in PTSD (post-traumatic stress disorder) and lower recidivism.
