The FCRM is designed to produce a statewide museum, beginning with innovative and interactive virtual components, that will educate students and the general public on the lives/legacies of Florida's civil rights and educational pioneers, regardless of race, color, creed, or national origin. Funding will also be used to develop a statewide consortium of libraries and community centers which will provide educational information to students, residents, tourists, and researchers worldwide.

b. What activities and services will be provided to meet the intended purpose of these funds?

Museum staff will conduct research and present historical contributions of various civil rights and educational pioneers. Educational material produced will adhere to sunshine state standards and contribute to tourism and cultural enhancement.

c. What direct services will be provided to citizens by the appropriation project?

The establishment and maintenance of a repository of documents, publications, photographs, and artifacts, which will highlight those whose civil rights and educational contributions are significant to Florida. There will also be a database available for online research, as well as onsite use. Services will be provided through info sessions, conferences, workshops, exhibits and virtual sessions.
