2. The requirement that two of the science credits include a laboratory component may be waived by the district school board.

3. The one credit in physical education may be substituted with an elective credit. ~~Notwithstanding any other law to the contrary, all students enrolled in high school as of the 2012-2013 school year who earned a passing grade in Biology I or geometry before the 2013-2014 school year shall be awarded a credit in that course if the student passed the~~

1007.264 Persons with disabilities; admission to postsecondary educational institutions; substitute requirements; rules and regulations.—

(1) ~~A Any~~ student with a disability, ~~as defined in s. 1007.02(2)~~, who is otherwise eligible shall be eligible for reasonable substitution for any requirement for admission into a public postsecondary educational institution where documentation can be provided that the person’s failure to meet the admission requirement is related to the disability.

Section 69. Subsection (1) of section 1007.265, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

1007.265 Persons with disabilities; graduation, study program admission, and upper-division entry; substitute requirements; rules and regulations.—

(1) ~~A Any~~ student with a disability, ~~as defined in s. 1007.02(2)~~, in a public postsecondary educational institution shall be eligible for reasonable substitution for any requirement for graduation, for admission into a program of study, or for entry into the upper division where documentation can be provided that the person’s failure to meet the requirement is related to the disability and where failure to meet the graduation requirement or program admission requirement does not constitute a fundamental alteration in the nature of the program.

Section 70. Subsections (2) and (9) of section 1007.271, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

1007.271 Dual enrollment programs.—

(2) For the purpose of this section, an eligible secondary student is a student who is enrolled in any of grades 6 through 12 in a Florida public secondary school or in a Florida private secondary school ~~that~~ which is in compliance with s. 1002.42(2) and provides a secondary curriculum pursuant to ~~s. 1003.428 or s. 1003.4282~~. Students who are eligible for dual enrollment pursuant to this section may enroll in dual enrollment courses conducted during school hours, after school hours, and during the summer term. However, if the student is projected to graduate from high school before the scheduled completion date of a postsecondary course, the student may not register for that course through dual enrollment. The student may apply to the postsecondary institution and pay the required registration, tuition, and fees if the student meets the postsecondary institution's admissions requirements under s. 1007.263. Instructional time for dual enrollment may vary from 900 hours; however, the full-time equivalent student membership value shall be subject to the provisions in s. 1011.61(4). ~~Any~~ student enrolled as a dual enrollment student is exempt from the payment of registration, tuition, and laboratory fees. Applied academics for adult education instruction, developmental education, and other forms of precollegiate instruction, as well as physical education courses that focus on the physical execution of a skill rather than the intellectual attributes of the activity, are ineligible for inclusion in the dual enrollment program. Recreation and leisure studies courses shall be evaluated individually in the same manner as physical education courses for potential inclusion in the program.

(9) The Commissioner of Education shall appoint faculty committees representing public school, Florida College System institution, and university faculties to identify postsecondary courses that meet the high school graduation requirements of ~~s. 1003.428~~ or s. 1003.4282 and to establish the number of postsecondary semester credit hours of instruction and equivalent high school credits earned through dual enrollment pursuant to this section that are necessary to meet high school graduation requirements. Such equivalencies shall be determined solely on comparable course content and not on seat time traditionally allocated to such courses in high school. The Commissioner of Education shall recommend to the State Board of Education those postsecondary courses identified to meet high school graduation requirements, based on mastery of course outcomes, by their course numbers, and all high schools shall accept these postsecondary education courses toward meeting the requirements of ~~s. 1003.428~~ or s. 1003.4282.

Section 71. Subsections (3), (7), and (8) of section 1008.22, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

1008.22 Student assessment program for public schools.—

(3) STATEWIDE, STANDARDIZED ASSESSMENT PROGRAM.—The Commissioner of Education shall design and implement a statewide, standardized assessment program aligned to the core curricular content established in the Next Generation Sunshine State Standards. The commissioner also must develop or select and implement a common battery of assessment tools that will be used in all juvenile justice education programs in the state. These tools must accurately measure the core curricular content established in the Next Generation Sunshine State Standards. Participation in the assessment program is mandatory for all school districts and all students attending public schools, including adult students seeking a standard ~~an adult~~ high school diploma under s. 1003.4282 and students in Department of Juvenile Justice education programs, except as otherwise provided by law ~~prescribed by the commissioner~~. If a student does not participate in the assessment program, the school district must notify the student's parent and provide the parent with information regarding the implications of such non-participation. The statewide, standardized assessment program shall be designed and implemented as follows:

(a) Statewide, standardized comprehensive assessments ~~Florida Comprehensive Assessment Test (FCAT) until replaced by common core assessments~~.—The statewide, standardized FCAT Reading assessment shall be administered annually in grades 3 through 10. The statewide, standardized Writing assessment shall be administered annually at least once at the elementary, middle, and high school levels. When the Reading and Writing assessments are replaced by English Language Arts (ELA) assessments, ELA assessments shall be administered to students in grades 3 through 11. Retake opportunities for the grade 10 Reading assessment or, upon implementation, the grade 10 ELA assessment must be provided. Students taking the ELA assessments shall not take the statewide, standardized assessments in Reading or Writing. ELA assessments shall be administered online. The statewide, standardized, FCAT Mathematics assessments shall be administered annually in grades 3 through 8. Students taking a revised Mathematics assessment shall not take the discontinued assessment. The statewide, standardized, FCAT Writing shall be administered annually at least once at the elementary, middle, and high school levels; and FCAT Science assessment shall be administered annually at least once at the elementary and middle grades levels. In order to earn a standard high school diploma, a student who has not earned a passing score on the grade 10 FCAT Reading assessment or, upon implementation, the grade 10 ELA assessment must earn a passing score on the assessment retake or earn a concordant score as authorized under subsection (7) must participate in each retake of the assessment until the student earns a passing score. The commissioner shall recommend and the State Board of Education must adopt a score on both the SAT and ACT that is concordant to a passing score on grade 10 FCAT Reading that, if achieved by a student, meets the must pass requirement for grade 10 FCAT Reading.

(b) End-of-course (EOC) assessments.—EOC assessments must be statewide, standardized, and developed or approved by the Department of Education as follows:

1. Statewide, standardized EOC assessments in mathematics shall be administered according to this subparagraph. Beginning with the 2010-2011 school year, all students enrolled in Algebra I must take the Algebra I EOC assessment. Except as otherwise provided in paragraph (c) this section, beginning with students entering grade 9 in the 2011-2012 school year, a student who is enrolled in Algebra I must earn a passing score on the Algebra I EOC assessment or attain a comparative score as authorized under subsection (8) in order to earn a standard high school diploma. In order to earn a standard high school diploma, a student who has not earned a passing score on the Algebra I EOC assessment must earn a passing score on the assessment retake or a comparative score as authorized under subsection (8) must participate in each retake of the assessment until the student earns a passing score. Beginning with the 2011-2012 school year, all students enrolled in Geometry must take the Geometry EOC assessment. Middle grades students enrolled in Algebra I, ~~or~~ Geometry, or Biology I must take the statewide, standardized EOC assessment for those courses and ~~shall~~ are not ~~required to~~ take the corresponding subject and grade-level statewide, standardized assessment FCAT. When a statewide, standardized EOC assessment in Algebra II is administered, all students enrolled in Algebra II must take the EOC assessment. Pursuant to the commissioner's implementation schedule, student performance on the Algebra II EOC assessment constitutes 30 percent of a student's final course grade.

2. Statewide, standardized EOC assessments in science shall be administered according to this subparagraph. Beginning with the 2011-2012 school year, all students enrolled in Biology I must take the Biology I EOC assessment. Beginning with students entering grade 9 in the 2013-2014 school year, performance on the Biology I EOC assessment constitutes 30 percent of the student's final course grade.

3. ~~During the 2012-2013 school year, an EOC assessment in civics education shall be administered as a field test at the middle grades level.~~ Beginning with the 2013-2014 school year, each student's performance on the statewide, standardized middle grades Civics EOC assessment ~~in civics education~~ constitutes 30 percent of the student's final course grade in civics education.

4. The commissioner may select one or more nationally developed comprehensive examinations, which may include examinations for a College Board Advanced Placement course, International Baccalaureate course, or Advanced International Certificate of Education course, or industry-approved examinations to earn national industry certifications identified in the Industry Certification Funding List, for use as EOC assessments under this paragraph if the commissioner determines that the content knowledge and skills assessed by the examinations meet or exceed the grade-level expectations for the core curricular content established for the course in the Next Generation Sunshine State Standards. Use of any such examination as an EOC assessment must be approved by the state board in rule.

5. Contingent upon funding provided in the General Appropriations Act, including the appropriation of funds received through federal grants, the commissioner may establish an implementation schedule for the development and administration of additional statewide, standardized EOC assessments that must be approved by the state board, in rule. If approved by the state board, student performance on such assessments constitutes 30 percent of a student's final course grade.

6. All statewide, standardized EOC assessments must be administered online except as otherwise provided in paragraph (c).

(c) Students with disabilities; Florida Alternate Assessment.—

1. Each district school board must provide instruction to prepare students with disabilities in the core content knowledge and skills necessary for successful grade-to-grade progression and high school graduation.

2. A student with a disability, as defined in s. 1007.02 ~~1007.02(2)~~, for whom the individual education plan (IEP) team determines that the statewide, standardized assessments under this section cannot accurately measure the student's abilities, taking into consideration all allowable accommodations, shall have assessment results waived for the purpose of receiving a course grade and a standard high school diploma. Such waiver shall be designated on the student's transcript. The statement of waiver shall be limited to a statement that performance on an assessment was waived for the purpose of receiving a course grade or a standard high school diploma, as applicable.

3. The State Board of Education shall adopt rules, based upon recommendations of the commissioner, for the provision of assessment accommodations for students with disabilities and for students who have limited English proficiency.

a. Accommodations that negate the validity of a statewide, standardized assessment are not allowed during the administration of the assessment. However, instructional accommodations are allowed in the classroom if identified in a student's IEP. Students using instructional accommodations in the classroom that are not allowed on a statewide, standardized assessment may have assessment results waived if the IEP team determines that the assessment cannot accurately measure the student's abilities.

b. If a student is provided with instructional accommodations in the classroom that are not allowed as accommodations for statewide, standardized assessments, the district must inform the parent in writing and provide the parent with information regarding the impact on the student's ability to meet expected performance levels. A parent must provide signed consent for a student to receive classroom instructional accommodations that would not be available or permitted on a statewide, standardized assessment and acknowledge in writing that he or she understands the implications of such instructional accommodations.

c. If a student's IEP states that online administration of a statewide, standardized assessment will significantly impair the student's ability to perform, the assessment shall be administered in hard copy.

4. For students with significant cognitive disabilities, the Department of Education shall provide for implementation of the Florida Alternate Assessment to accurately measure the core curricular content established in the Next Generation Sunshine State Standards.

(d) Implementation schedule Common core assessments in English Language Arts (ELA) and mathematics.—

~~1.—Contingent upon funding, common core assessments in ELA shall be administered to students in grades 3 through 11. Retake opportunities for the grade 10 assessment must be provided. Students taking the ELA assessments are not required to take the assessments in FCAT Reading or FCAT Writing. Common core ELA assessments shall be administered online.~~

~~2.—Contingent upon funding, common core assessments in mathematics shall be administered to all students in grades 3 through 8, and common core assessments in Algebra I, Geometry, and Algebra II shall be administered to students enrolled in those courses. Retake opportunities must be provided for the Algebra I assessment. Students may take the common core mathematics assessments pursuant to the Credit Acceleration Program (CAP) under s. 1003.4295(3). Students taking common core assessments in mathematics are not required to take FCAT Mathematics or statewide, standardized EOC assessments in mathematics. Common core mathematics assessments shall be administered online.~~

~~1.3. The Commissioner State Board of Education shall establish and publish on the department's website adopt rules establishing an implementation schedule to transition from the statewide, standardized FCAT Reading and FCAT Writing assessments to the ELA assessments and to the revised, FCAT Mathematics assessments, including the, and Algebra I and Geometry EOC assessments to common core assessments in English Language Arts and mathematics. The schedule must take into consideration funding, sufficient field and baseline data, access to assessments, instructional alignment, and school district readiness to~~

~~administer the common core assessments online. Until the 10th grade common core ELA and Algebra I assessments become must pass assessments, students must pass 10th grade FCAT Reading and the Algebra I EOC assessment, or achieve a concordant or comparative score as authorized under this section, in order to earn a standard high school diploma under s. 1003.4292. Students taking 10th grade FCAT Reading or the Algebra I EOC assessment are not required to take the respective common core assessments.~~

2.4. The Department of Education shall publish minimum and recommended technology requirements that include specifications for hardware, software, networking, security, and broadband capacity to facilitate school district compliance with the requirement that ~~common core~~ assessments be administered online.

(e) Assessment scores and achievement levels.—

1. All statewide, standardized EOC assessments and ~~FCAT~~ Reading, ~~FCAT~~ Writing, and ~~FCAT~~ Science assessments shall use scaled scores and achievement levels. Achievement levels shall range from 1 through 5, with level 1 being the lowest achievement level, level 5 being the highest achievement level, and level 3 indicating satisfactory performance on an assessment. For purposes of the statewide, standardized FCAT Writing assessment, student achievement shall be scored using a scale of 1 through 6.

2. The state board shall designate by rule a passing score for each statewide, standardized EOC and FCAT assessment. ~~In addition, the state board shall designate a score for each statewide, standardized EOC assessment that indicates that a student is high achieving and has the potential to meet college readiness standards by the time the student graduates from high school.~~

3. If the commissioner seeks to revise a statewide, standardized assessment and the revisions require the state board to modify performance level scores, including the passing score, the commissioner shall provide a copy of the proposed scores and implementation plan to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives at least 90 days before submission to the state board for review. Until the state board adopts the modifications by rule, the commissioner shall use calculations for scoring the assessment that adjust student scores on the revised assessment for statistical equivalence to student scores on the former assessment. The state board shall adopt by rule the passing score for the revised assessment that is statistically equivalent to the passing score on the discontinued assessment for a student who is required to attain a passing score on the discontinued assessment. The commissioner may, with approval of the state board, discontinue administration of the former assessment upon the graduation, based on normal student progression, of students participating in the final regular administration of the former assessment. If the commissioner revises a statewide, standardized assessment and the revisions require the state board to modify the passing score, only students taking the assessment for the first time after the rule is adopted are affected.

(f) Assessment schedules and reporting of results.—The Commissioner of Education shall establish schedules for the administration of assessments and the reporting of student assessment results. The commissioner shall consider the observance of religious and school holidays when developing the schedule. By August 1 of each year, the commissioner shall notify each school district in writing and publish on the department's website the assessment and reporting schedules for, at a minimum, the school year following the upcoming school year. The assessment and reporting schedules must provide the earliest possible reporting of student assessment results to the school districts. Assessment results for the statewide, standardized FCAT Reading assessments, or upon implementation the ELA assessments, and FCAT Mathematics assessments, including the EOC assessments in Algebra I and Geometry, must be made available no later than the week of June 8. The administration of the statewide, standardized FCAT Writing assessment and the Florida Alternate Assessment may be no earlier than the week of March 1. School districts shall administer assessments in accordance with the schedule established by the commissioner.

(g) Prohibited activities.—A district school board shall prohibit each public school from suspending a regular program of curricula for purposes of administering practice assessments or engaging in other assessment-preparation activities for a statewide, standardized assessment. However, a district school board may authorize a public school to engage in the following assessment-preparation activities:

1. Distributing to students sample assessment books and answer keys published by the Department of Education.

2. Providing individualized instruction in assessment-taking strategies, without suspending the school's regular program of curricula, for a student who scores Level 1 or Level 2 on a prior administration of an assessment.

3. Providing individualized instruction in the content knowledge and skills assessed, without suspending the school's regular program of curricula, for a student who scores Level 1 or Level 2 on a prior administration of an assessment or a student who, through a diagnostic assessment administered by the school district, is identified as having a deficiency in the content knowledge and skills assessed.

4. Administering a practice assessment or engaging in other assessment-preparation activities that are determined necessary to familiarize students with the organization of the assessment, the format of assessment items, and the assessment directions or that are otherwise necessary for the valid and reliable administration of the assessment, as set forth in rules adopted by the State Board of Education with specific reference to this paragraph.

(h) Contracts for assessments.—The commissioner shall provide for the assessments to be developed or obtained, as appropriate, through contracts and project agreements with private vendors, public vendors, public agencies, postsecondary educational institutions, or school districts. The commissioner may enter into contracts for the continued administration of the assessments authorized and funded by the Legislature. Contracts may be initiated in 1 fiscal year and continue into the next fiscal year and may be paid from the appropriations of either or both fiscal years. The commissioner may negotiate for the sale or lease of tests, scoring protocols, test scoring services, and related materials developed pursuant to law.

(7) ~~CONCORDANT SCORES FOR 10TH GRADE FCAT READING.~~ ~~Until the state transitions to common core English Language Arts assessments,~~ The Commissioner of Education must identify scores on the SAT and ACT that if achieved satisfy the graduation requirement that a student pass the grade 10 statewide, standardized 10th grade FCAT Reading assessment or, upon implementation, the grade 10 ELA assessment. The commissioner may identify concordant scores on other assessments other than the SAT and ACT as well. If the content or scoring procedures change for the grade 10 Reading assessment or, upon implementation, the grade 10 ELA assessment ~~10th grade FCAT Reading~~, new concordant scores must be determined. If new concordant scores are not timely adopted, the last-adopted concordant scores remain in effect until such time as new scores are adopted. The state board shall adopt concordant scores in rule.

(8) ~~COMPARATIVE SCORES FOR END-OF-COURSE (EOC) ASSESSMENT ASSESSMENTS.~~—The Commissioner of Education must identify one or more comparative scores for the Algebra I EOC assessment ~~and may identify comparative scores for the other EOC assessments.~~ If the content or scoring procedures change for the EOC assessment assessments, new comparative scores must be determined. If new comparative scores are not timely adopted, the last-adopted comparative scores remain in effect until such time as new scores are adopted. The state board shall adopt comparative scores in rule.

Section 72. Paragraph (h) of subsection (2), paragraph (a) of subsection (4), paragraph (b) of subsection (6), and paragraph (b) of subsection (7) of section 1008.25, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

Students with disabilities who take the statewide, standardized participate in FCAT Reading assessment or, upon implementation, the common core English Language Arts assessment, ~~as applicable under s. 1008.22,~~ and who have an individual education plan or a Section 504 plan that reflects that the student has received intensive remediation in reading or and English Language Arts for more than 2 years but still demonstrates a deficiency and was previously retained in kindergarten, grade 1, grade 2, or grade 3.

6. Students who have received intensive remediation in reading or and English Language Arts, ~~as applicable under s. 1008.22,~~ for 2 or more years but still demonstrate a deficiency and who were previously retained in kindergarten, grade 1, grade 2, or grade 3 for a total of 2 years. Intensive instruction for students so promoted must include an altered instructional day that includes specialized diagnostic information and specific reading strategies for each student. The district school board shall assist schools and teachers to implement reading strategies that research has shown to be successful in improving reading among low-performing readers.

(7) ~~SUCCESSFUL PROGRESSION FOR RETAINED THIRD GRADE STUDENTS.~~—

(b) Each school district shall:

1. Provide third grade students who are retained under the provisions of paragraph (5)(b) with intensive instructional services and supports to remediate the identified areas of reading deficiency, including participation in the school district's summer reading camp as required under paragraph (a) and a minimum of 90 minutes of daily, uninterrupted, scientifically research-based reading instruction which includes phonemic awareness, phonics, fluency, vocabulary, and comprehension and other strategies prescribed by the school district, which may include, but are not limited to:

Each Florida College System institution that conducts developmental education and applied academics for adult education instruction in the same class section may charge a single fee for both types of instruction.

(b) Fees for continuing workforce education shall be locally determined by the district school board or Florida College System institution board of trustees. Expenditures for the continuing workforce education program provided by the Florida College System institution or school district must be fully supported by fees. Enrollments in continuing workforce education courses may not be counted for purposes of funding full-time equivalent enrollment.

(c) ~~Effective July 1, 2011,~~ For programs leading to a career certificate or an applied technology diploma, the standard tuition shall be $2.22 per

(1) For purposes of this section, the term "juvenile offender" means a person sentenced to imprisonment in the custody of the Department of Corrections for an offense committed on or after July 1, 2014, and committed before he or she attained 18 years of age.

(2)(a) A juvenile offender sentenced under s. 775.082(1)(b)1. is entitled to a review of his or her sentence after 25 years. However, a juvenile offender is not entitled to review if he or she has previously been convicted of one of the following offenses, or conspiracy to commit one of the following offenses, if the offense for which the person was previously convicted was part of a separate criminal transaction or episode than that which resulted in the sentence under s. 775.082(1)(b)1.:

2. Manslaughter;
3. Sexual battery;
4. Armed burglary;
5. Armed robbery;
6. Armed carjacking;
7. Home-invasion robbery;
8. Human trafficking for commercial sexual activity with a child under 18 years of age;
9. False imprisonment under s. 787.02(3)(a); or
10. Kidnapping.

(b) A juvenile offender sentenced to a term of more than 25 years under s. 775.082(3)(a)5.a. or s. 775.082(3)(b)2.a. is entitled to a review of his or her sentence after 25 years.

If the juvenile offender is not resentenced at the initial review hearing, he or she is eligible for one subsequent review hearing 10 years after the initial review hearing.

(3) The Department of Corrections shall notify a juvenile offender of his or her eligibility to request a sentence review hearing 18 months before the juvenile offender is entitled to a sentence review hearing under this section.

(4) A juvenile offender seeking sentence review pursuant to subsection (2) must submit an application to the court of original jurisdiction requesting that a sentence review hearing be held. The juvenile offender must submit a new application to the court of original jurisdiction to request subsequent sentence review hearings pursuant to paragraph (2)(d). (6) Upon receiving an application from an eligible juvenile offender, the court of original sentencing jurisdiction shall hold a sentence review hearing to determine whether the juvenile offender's sentence should be modified. When determining if it is appropriate to modify the juvenile offender's sentence, the court shall consider any factor it deems appropriate, including all of the following:

(a) Whether the juvenile offender demonstrates maturity and rehabilitation.

(b) Whether the juvenile offender remains at the same level of risk to society as he or she did at the time of the initial sentencing.

(c) The opinion of the victim or the victim's next of kin. The absence of the victim or the victim's next of kin from the sentence review hearing may not be a factor in the determination of the court under this section. The court shall permit the victim or victim's next of kin to be heard, in person, in writing, or by electronic means. If the victim or the victim's next of kin chooses not to participate in the hearing, the court may consider previous statements made by the victim or the victim's next of kin during the trial, initial sentencing phase, or subsequent sentencing review hearings.

(d) Whether the juvenile offender was a relatively minor participant in the criminal offense or acted under extreme duress or the domination of another person.

(e) Whether the juvenile offender has shown sincere and sustained remorse for the criminal offense.

(f) Whether the juvenile offender's age, maturity, and psychological development at the time of the offense affected his or her behavior.

(g) Whether the juvenile offender has successfully obtained a general educational development certificate or completed another educational, technical, work, vocational, or self-rehabilitation program, if such a program is available.

(h) Whether the juvenile offender was a victim of sexual, physical, or emotional abuse before he or she committed the offense.

(i) The results of any mental health assessment, risk assessment, or evaluation of the juvenile offender as to rehabilitation.

(7) If the court determines at a sentence review hearing that the juvenile offender has been rehabilitated and is reasonably believed to be fit to reenter society, the court shall modify the sentence and impose a term of probation of at least 5 years. If the court determines that the juvenile offender has not demonstrated rehabilitation or is not fit to reenter society, the court shall issue a written order stating the reasons why the sentence is not being modified.

Re: Suspension of:
CARLSON, Jeffery Dwayne

Dear President Gaetz:

The Committee on Ethics and Elections submits this final report on the matter of the suspension of Jeffrey Dwayne Carlson.

By Executive Order Number 10-260 filed with the Secretary of State on November 29, 2010, and pursuant to Article IV, Section 7(a) of the Florida Constitution, the Honorable Charlie Crist, Governor, suspended Jeffrey Dwayne Carlson as a Highlands County Commissioner alleging that Mr. Carlson committed two felonies: Boating Under the Influence Manslaughter and Vessel Homicide. Boating Under the Influence Manslaughter is a second degree felony pursuant to s. 327.35(3)(c)3.a., Florida Statutes. Vessel Homicide is a second degree felony pursuant to s. 782.071(1), Florida Statutes. On October 21, 2013, Mr. Carlson was convicted by a jury on both charges. Therefore, he is disqualified from holding office. Additionally, a successor was elected to Mr. Carlson's seat on November 6, 2012.

Based on the foregoing, I advise and recommend that the Senate take no action on the above-named suspension during the 2014 Regular Session of the Florida Legislature, and consider the matter closed.

Sincerely,
Jack Latvala, Chair

PRAYER

Reverend Tyler Fuller, Missions Pastor, First United Methodist Church, Niceville, led the Senate in prayer. Reverend Fuller is the son of Dr. Frank Fuller, Senior Policy Advisor in the Office of the Senate President.

The following prayer was offered by Reverend Fuller:

Micah 6:8

“He has shown you, O mortal, what is good.
 And what does the Lord require of you?
 To act justly and to love mercy
 and to walk humbly with your God.”

Proverbs 12:18

“The words of the reckless pierce like swords, but the tongue of the wise brings healing.”

Matthew 6:33

“But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added to you.”

Let us pray:

Lord, we invite you into our proceedings for the day, both into our common hall and into our hearts and minds as individuals. We pray you would grant each of us wisdom, courage, and grace. Give us a heart that is in tune with your will. Guide our words, empower us to speak with grace and truth. Let us each be eager to listen and slow to speak.

Turn our eyes towards justice, and keep us mindful of the overlooked and marginalized among the people we represent. Give us love for you and love for your people: friends and enemies alike. God, we acknowledge that you are with us and we ask that you would give us eyes to see and ears to hear what you are doing and where you would lead us. Amen.

PLEDGE

Senate Pages, Alex Troutt of Lutz; Austin Gonzalez of DeLand; Cecilia “Cici” Xie of Tallahassee; and Rachel Kondrk of Palatka, led the Senate in the pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States of America.

REMARKS

On motion by Senator Thrasher, the following remarks were ordered spread upon the Journal:

Senator Thrasher: Let me tell you a little history. Unfortunately, as old as I am, I have a lot of history. I think that is one of the things you guys remember. It is rumored that Sandra Host and I actually went to Florida State University undergraduate school at the same time. Now I will let you all be the judge of that. She obviously looks a lot younger than I am, but we did attend Florida State in similar eras. We didn't see each other for many years. Then I got elected to the House of Representatives and, the last two years, of course, I had the privilege of being Speaker. Sandra worked in the House of Representatives. I didn't know anything about the spouses' program. I was lucky to have Jean in Tallahassee with me during that time. She started telling me about it and all the good things the program did for spouses. The main thing that Jean told me, Mr. President, was that Sandra did not have a parking place in the House of Representatives. So you can imagine when your wife tells you that a good friend of hers doesn't have a parking place, Mr. President-to-be, we got her a parking place. I think that is the one thing she remembers me for most.

But we have had a great friendship. Sandra, like a lot of us when we left the House, came down to the Senate to work. Some of you may not be as fortunate as President Gaetz, Senator Richter, Senator Hays, and Senator Bennett, when he was here. We are fortunate enough to have our spouses here. Those who aren't fortunate enough to have their spouses here may not understand what the spouse coordinator does. I'll just give you a few examples. I'm sure Senator Richter and Senator Hays can add to it, but Sandra basically provides a home away from home for spouses who come up here. Not only the ones who come up all the time, but the ones who come up for days here and there when they can. She provides a warm, inviting place for spouses to come to be with other spouses. They have the camaraderie of knowing that there are other spouses down here in the same boat as they are in. That's a very positive thing. She is a counselor. I remember one time, when I was Speaker, I was walking back in my office, and I overheard my wife on the phone with one of our daughters. She said, "I guess if I died right now, he'd bury me after session." I know you've never been there Mr. President, but I heard from Sandra later, "You might want to spend a little more time talking to your wife about some of the things you are doing." That was great counsel, and I will never forget it.

They also have a lot of activities. They go to farms, visit master crafters at Florida State where they do beading, and all kinds of things. Vicky has led all of that activity. They go shopping, a lot of shopping, I can tell you. If you ever really want a good meal, you go up to that fifth floor spouses' lounge, and you get a good meal. Sandra is flexible. She found out that I like pigs in a blanket. Whenever I go up there, I get pigs in a blanket, which is one of my favorite foods. Senator Dean, I don't know about you but I can eat a lot of pigs in a blanket. I don't know, Mr. President, but she might start serving us bologna sandwiches if we get up there, because the President and I like bologna sandwiches. For thirty years, she has done this incredible job with grace, style, dignity, and class, and always with a smile.

I know that she and Bruce are getting ready to spend a lot of time together on the road, visiting their lovely daughters in California and Nashville, Tennessee. I know that they will be very, very happy. There is an old saying that I like, but don't necessarily apply it to me yet. "Wherever somebody goes, they bring a lot of happiness." Wherever Sandra has gone, she's brought happiness to the people she has served and so much joy to all of us. We love her and care so much about her. That plaque and the words in it came from our hearts. We care about you and Bruce. We simply wish you the very best. Godspeed.

Senator Richter: Thank you, Mr. President. Senator Thrasher, what wonderful words you just said about a wonderful, wonderful person. You did point out, before I go into my comments, our colleague, Senator Bennett. Look at him; look at the smile on his face up there. Leave it to him to be surrounded with all the women. Always figuring it out.

Members, we have term limits, you all know we have term limits here. We have term limits across the hall. Well, those term limits mean that you are here no more than eight years and you are gone, or you are switching chambers. But, as was just indicated, the spouses who come up here weren't necessarily term limited because they had Sandra Host full-term. I've had the good fortune to have Diana, my wife, come up for session and spend the weeks with me. I know all the colleagues don't have that good fortune, but I have had it. What we do in this process, what we do in this whole legislative process is we interact with one another. We try to pass good legislation. What we walk away with are memories. At the end of the day, we take home our memories. Those are good memories. Those are fond memories that we carry in our pockets or in our purses. You have those memories to reflect back on the time that we've had here in Tallahassee.

So, we only come up here maybe 90 days a year; 60 for session and 30 spread around with committee meetings. But the 90 days a year that we are here, our spouses are treated to the best memories. I know, because Diana shares her experiences with me each night. When we get home, she talks about how Sandra had us go here, and Sandra did this for us, and Sandra did that for us. Sandra took us shopping. A lot of shopping, Senator Thrasher says, but it's the memories. When we walk out of here, we're not going to remember the bills that we passed or the fights that we had. We are going to remember the friendships that we endured, that we kept, that we created and the memories that go along with those friendships. Memories do not have term limits.

You've given everybody in that balcony, and many who are not here, that couldn't make the trip to recognize you today, memories that they will cherish, that they will hold forever. Memories that have one thing in common: the beautiful, wonderful, Sandra Host.

Senator Hays: Thank you, Mr. President. My memories are not as ancient as those of Senator Thrasher, but my memories and my thanks are every bit as rich and full as those of Senator Thrasher. Sandra, many times I have said that on any given Saturday or Sunday during football season, there are 22 players in the spotlight. But those guys could never accomplish what they do without the trainers, the coaches, and all the other auxiliary people that are behind the scenes enabling them to perform at the level that they do. We are no different in this body. What we are able to do is because of people like you who so graciously and so generously give your time to help our teammates, our spouses, give us the kind of support that can only come from a spouse. You are an enabler for that, and we sincerely thank you. Bruce has been so generous to share you with us. Bruce, we thank you. It has been great to build a friendship, and as one who loves my wife very dearly, it means so much to me. All summer long this year all I heard from her is "I have got to be there during Sandra's last year." If she were not here this year, I don't know what would happen. But she is here. She loves you because of what you have been able to do for her and for all of the other spouses as a friend. She sees you interacting with them and it means so much to all of us. We just thank you, thank you, thank you so much for your generosity and your love that you share with all of them. Thank you.

Senator Stargel: Thank you, Mr. President. I bring a little different perspective to this because I actually was part of the Spouse Coalition for several years when my husband was in the House of Representatives. I got to know Sandra from that aspect of it. I can say from experience that the encouragement and the strength she gives the spouses is a whole different perspective than when we are here on the floor and are in the chaos that's going on. It is harder when you are up there and you see the chaos. You see your spouse in turmoil or see the frustration, and you don't have the full picture of what's happening.

Sandra's been around for a while working for the spouses, and she would always say, "We've seen this before" or "It will be okay tomorrow" or "These things come and go," and she kind of kept the spouses calm and tempered and focused. A lot of the things they do, along with the shopping and the field trips that I did in the Spouse program, are things that I've not had the opportunity to do as a member.

We toured the Supreme Court and saw the back working of the Supreme Court, something I've not taken the time to do, when I'm not here working. They toured other facilities around here, the Mission, and various different things. It's knowledge that I've learned from that program which I am able to bring to this part of being a member here today. It is a vital process to have that camaraderie with the other spouses when you see your husband or your wife going through this process. You know that the world is not going to end and that tomorrow will be a better day and that you can be a support for your husband or wife. I also would like to say that my husband is part of the spouse program now, and she treats the men in the spouse program with the same amount of grace and respect and encouragement as she does with the women, which is quite a treat. My husband got the opportunity to read poetry with all the women on Valentine's Day a couple years ago.

It's a gender neutral organization. Men and women can be a part of it, and she has done a fabulous job. She was a real encouragement for me when I was there and still an encouragement to me today. Thank you for all that you did.

Section 5. Section 629.271, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

629.271 Distribution of savings.—

(1) A reciprocal insurer may ~~from time to time~~ return to its subscribers any unused premiums, savings, or credits accruing to their accounts. ~~Any~~ Such distribution may ~~shall~~ not unfairly discriminate between classes of risks, or policies, or between subscribers, but ~~such~~ distribution may vary as to classes of subscribers based on ~~upon~~ the experience of such classes.

(2) In addition to the option provided in subsection (1), a domestic reciprocal insurer may, upon the prior written approval of the office, pay to its subscribers a portion of unassigned funds of up to 10 percent of surplus with distribution limited to 50 percent of net income from the previous calendar year. Such distribution may not unfairly discriminate between classes of risks, or policies, or between subscribers, but may vary as to classes of subscribers based on the experience of such classes.

Section 6. Subsections (2) through (9) of section 631.54, Florida Statutes, are renumbered as subsections (3) through (10), respectively, and a new subsection (2) is added to that section to read:

631.54 Definitions.—As used in this part, the term:

(2) "Assessment year" means the 12-month period, which may begin on the first day of any calendar quarter, whether January 1, April 1, July 1, or October 1, as specified in an order issued by the office directing insurers to pay an assessment to the association. Upon entry of the order, insurers may begin collecting assessments from policyholders for the assessment year.

Section 7. Subsections (3) and (4) of section 631.57, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

631.57 Powers and duties of the association.—

(3)(a) To the extent necessary to secure ~~the~~ funds for the respective accounts for the payment of covered claims, to pay the reasonable costs to administer ~~such accounts the same, and to the extent necessary~~ to secure ~~the~~ funds for the account specified in s. 631.55(2)(b) or to retire indebtedness, including, without limitation, the principal, redemption premium, if any, and interest on, and related costs of issuance of, bonds issued under s. 631.695 and the funding of ~~any~~ reserves and other payments required under the bond resolution or trust indenture pursuant to which such bonds have been issued, the office, upon certification of the board of directors, shall levy assessments initially estimated in the proportion that each insurer's net direct written premiums in this state in the classes protected by the account bears to the total of said net direct written premiums received in this state by all such insurers for the preceding calendar year for the kinds of insurance included within such account. Assessments shall be remitted to and administered by the board of directors in the manner specified by the approved plan and paragraph (f). Each insurer so assessed shall have at least 30 days' written notice as to the date the initial assessment payment is due and payable. Every assessment shall be ~~made as~~ a uniform percentage applicable to the net direct written premiums of each insurer in the kinds of insurance included within the account in which the assessment is made. The assessments levied against any insurer ~~may shall~~ not exceed in any one year more than 2 percent of that insurer's net direct written premiums in this state for the kinds of insurance included within such account during the calendar year next preceding the date of such assessments.

(b) If sufficient funds from such assessments, together with funds previously raised, are not available in any one year in the respective account to make all the payments or reimbursements then owing to insurers, the funds available shall be prorated and the unpaid portion ~~shall be paid as soon thereafter~~ as funds become available.

(c) The Legislature finds and declares that all assessments paid by an insurer or insurer group as a result of a levy by the office, including assessments levied pursuant to paragraph (a) and emergency assessments levied pursuant to paragraph (e), constitute advances of funds from the insurer to the association. An insurer may fully recoup such advances by applying the uniform assessment percentage levied by the office to all ~~a separate recoupment factor to the premium of~~ policies of the same kind or line as were considered by the office in determining the assessment liability of the insurer or insurer group as set forth in paragraph (f).

1. Assessments levied under subparagraph (f)1. are paid before policy surcharges are collected and result in a receivable for policy surcharges collected in the future. This amount, to the extent it is likely that it will be realized, meets the definition of an admissible asset as specified in the National Association of Insurance Commissioners' Statement of Statutory Accounting Principles No. 4. The asset shall be established and recorded separately from the liability regardless of whether it is based on a retrospective or prospective premium-based assessment. If an insurer is unable to fully recoup the amount of the assessment because of a reduction in writings or withdrawal from the market, the amount recorded as an asset shall be reduced to the amount reasonably expected to be recouped.

2. Assessments levied under subparagraph (f)2. are paid after policy surcharges are collected so that the recognition of assets is based on actual premium written offset by the obligation to the association.

(d) ~~No~~ State funds may not ~~of any kind shall~~ be allocated or paid to the ~~said~~ association or any of its accounts.

(e)1.~~a~~ In addition to assessments ~~otherwise~~ authorized in paragraph (a), and to the extent necessary to secure the funds for the account specified in s. 631.55(2)(b) for the direct payment of covered claims of insurers rendered insolvent by the effects of a hurricane and to pay the reasonable costs to administer such claims, or to retire indebtedness, including, without limitation, the principal, redemption premium, if any, and interest on, and related costs of issuance of, bonds issued under s. 631.695 and the funding of any reserves and other payments required under the bond resolution or trust indenture pursuant to which such bonds have been issued, the office, upon certification of the board of directors, shall levy emergency assessments upon insurers holding a certificate of authority. The emergency assessments payable under this paragraph by any insurer ~~may shall~~ not exceed in any single year more than 2 percent of that insurer's direct written premiums, net of refunds, in this state during the preceding calendar year for the kinds of insurance within the account specified in s. 631.55(2)(b).

~~2.b. Any~~ Emergency assessments authorized under this paragraph shall be levied by the office upon insurers referred to in subparagraph 1. sub-subparagraph a., upon certification as to the need for such assessments by the board of directors. ~~If in the event~~ the board of directors participates in the issuance of bonds in accordance with s. 631.695, emergency assessments shall be levied in each year that bonds issued under s. 631.695 and secured by such emergency assessments are outstanding, in such amounts up to such 2 percent ~~2 percent~~ limit as required in order to provide for the full and timely payment of the principal of, redemption premium, if any, and interest on, and related costs of issuance of, such bonds. The emergency assessments ~~provided for in this paragraph~~ are assigned and pledged to the municipality, county, or legal entity issuing bonds under s. 631.695 for the benefit of the holders of such bonds; in order ~~to enable such municipality, county, or legal entity~~ to provide for the payment of the principal of, redemption premium, if any, and interest on such bonds, the cost of issuance of such bonds, and the funding of any reserves and other payments required under the bond resolution or trust indenture pursuant to which such bonds have been issued, without ~~the necessity of any~~ further action by the association, the office, or any other party. ~~If to the extent~~ bonds are issued under s. 631.695 and the association determines to secure such bonds by a pledge of revenues received from the emergency assessments, such bonds, upon such pledge of revenues, shall be secured by and payable from the proceeds of such emergency assessments, and the proceeds of emergency assessments levied under this paragraph shall be remitted directly to and administered by the trustee or custodian appointed for such bonds.

3.e. Emergency assessments used to defease bonds issued under this part paragraph may be payable in a single payment or, at the option of the association, may be payable in 12 monthly installments with the first installment being due and payable at the end of the month after an emergency assessment is levied and subsequent installments being due ~~by not later than~~ the end of each succeeding month.

4.d. If emergency assessments are imposed, the report required by s. 631.695(7) ~~must shall~~ include an analysis of the revenues generated from the emergency assessments imposed under this paragraph.

5.e. If emergency assessments are imposed, the references in sub-subparagraph (1)(a)3.b. and s. 631.695(2) and (7) to assessments levied under paragraph (a) ~~must shall~~ include emergency assessments imposed under this paragraph.

6.2. If the board of directors participates in the issuance of bonds in accordance with s. 631.695, an annual assessment under this paragraph shall continue while the bonds issued with respect to which the assessment was imposed are outstanding, including any bonds the proceeds of which were used to refund bonds issued pursuant to s. 631.695, unless adequate provision has been made for the payment of the bonds in the documents authorizing the issuance of such bonds.

7.3. Emergency assessments under this paragraph are not premium and are not subject to the premium tax, to any fees, or to any commissions. An insurer is liable for all emergency assessments that the insurer collects and shall treat the failure of an insured to pay an emergency assessment as a failure to pay the premium. An insurer is not liable for uncollectible emergency assessments.

(f) ~~The recoupment factor applied to policies in accordance with paragraph (c) shall be selected by the insurer or insurer group so as to provide for the probable recoupment of both assessments levied pursuant to paragraph (a) and emergency assessments over a period of 12 months, unless the insurer or insurer group, at its option, elects to recoup the assessment over a longer period. The recoupment factor shall apply to all policies of the same kind or line as were considered by the office in determining the assessment liability of the insurer or insurer group issued or renewed during a 12 month period. If the insurer or insurer group does not collect the full amount of the assessment during one 12 month period, the insurer or insurer group may apply recalculated recoupment factors to policies issued or renewed during one or more succeeding 12 month periods. If, at the end of a 12 month period, the insurer or insurer group has collected from the combined kinds or lines of policies subject to assessment more than the total amount of the assessment paid by the insurer or insurer group, the excess amount shall be disbursed as follows:~~

1. The association, office, and insurers remitting assessments pursuant to paragraph (a) or paragraph (e) must comply with the following:

a. In the order levying an assessment, the office shall specify the actual percentage amount to be collected uniformly from all the policyholders of insurers subject to the assessment and the date on which the assessment year begins, which may not begin until 90 days after the association board certifies such an assessment.

b. Insurers shall make an initial payment to the association before the beginning of the assessment year on or before the date specified in the order of the office.

c. Insurers that have written insurance in the calendar year before the year in which the assessment is certified by the board shall make an initial payment based on the net direct written premium amount from the prior calendar year as set forth in the insurers' annual statements, multiplied by the uniform percentage of premium specified in the order issued by the office. Insurers that have not written insurance in the prior calendar year in any of the lines under the account which are being assessed, but that are writing insurance as of, or after, the date the board certifies the assessment to the office, shall pay an amount based on a good faith estimate of the amount of net direct written premium anticipated to be written in the subject lines of business for the assessment year, multiplied by the uniform percentage of premium specified in the order issued by the office.

d. Insurers shall file a reconciliation report with the association within 45 days after the end of the assessment year which indicates the amount of the initial payment to the association before the assessment year, whether such amount was based on net direct written premium contained in a prior calendar year annual statement or a good faith projection, the amount actually collected during the assessment year, and such other information contained on a form adopted by the association and provided to the insurers in advance. If the insurer collected from policyholders more than the amount initially paid, the insurer shall pay the excess amount to the association. If the insurer collected from policyholders an amount which is less than the amount initially paid to the association, the association shall credit the insurer that amount against future assessments. Such payment reconciliation report, and any payment of excess amounts collected from policyholders, shall be completed and remitted to the association within 90 days after the end of the assessment year. The association shall send a final reconciliation report on all insurers to the office within 120 days after each assessment year.

e. Insurers remitting reconciliation reports to the association under this paragraph are subject to s. 626.9541(1)(e). ~~If the excess amount does not exceed 15 percent of the total assessment paid by the insurer or insurer group, the excess amount shall be remitted to the association within 60 days after the end of the 12 month period in which the excess recoupment charges were collected.~~

2. The association may use a monthly installment method instead of the method described in sub-subparagraphs 1.b. and c. or in combination thereof based on the association's projected cash flow. If the association projects that it has cash on hand for the payment of anticipated claims in the applicable account for at least 6 months, the board may make an estimate of the assessment needed and may recommend to the office the assessment percentage that may be collected as a monthly assessment. The office may, in the order levying the assessment on insurers, specify that the assessment is due and payable monthly as the funds are collected from insureds throughout the assessment year, in which case the assessment shall be a uniform percentage of premium collected during the assessment year and shall be collected from all policyholders with policies in the classes protected by the account. All insurers shall collect the assessment without regard to whether the insurers reported premium in the year preceding the assessment. Insurers are not required to advance funds if the association and the office elect to use the monthly installment option. All funds collected shall be retained by the association for the payment of current or future claims. This subparagraph does not alter the obligation of an insurer to remit assessments levied pursuant to this subsection to the association. If the excess amount exceeds 15 percent of the total assessment paid by the insurer or insurer group, the excess amount shall be returned to the insurer's or insurer group's current policyholders by refunds or premium credits. The association shall use any remitted excess recoupment amounts to reduce future assessments.

(g) Amounts recouped pursuant to this subsection for assessments levied under paragraph (a) due to insolvencies on or after July 1, 2010, are considered premium solely for premium tax purposes and are not subject to fees or commissions. However, insurers shall treat the failure of an insured to pay a recoupment charge as a failure to pay the premium.

~~(h) At least 15 days before applying the recoupment factor to any policies, the insurer or insurer group shall file with the office a statement for informational purposes only setting forth the amount of the recoupment factor and an explanation of how the recoupment factor will be applied. Such statement shall include documentation of the assessment paid by the insurer or insurer group and the arithmetic calculations supporting the recoupment factor. The insurer or insurer group may use the recoupment factor at any time after the expiration of the 15-day period. The insurer or insurer group need submit only one informational statement for all lines of business using the same recoupment factor.~~

~~(i) No later than 90 days after the insurer or insurer group has completed the recoupment process, the insurer or insurer group shall file with the office, for information purposes only, a final accounting report documenting the recoupment. The report shall provide the amounts of assessments paid by the insurer or insurer group, the amounts and percentages recouped by year from each affected line of business, and the direct written premium subject to recoupment by year. The insurer or insurer group need submit only one report for all lines of business using the same recoupment factor.~~

(h) Assessments levied under this subsection are levied upon insurers. This subsection does not create a cause of action by a policyholder with respect to the levying of, or a policyholder's duty to pay, such assessments.

(4) The office ~~department~~ may exempt or temporarily defer any insurer from any regular or emergency assessment if the office finds that the insurer is impaired or insolvent or if an assessment would result in such insurer's financial statement reflecting an amount of capital or surplus less than the sum of the minimum amount required by any jurisdiction in which the insurer is authorized to transact insurance.

Section 8. Section 631.64, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

631.64 Recognition of assessments ~~in rates.~~—Charges or recoupments shall be separately displayed on premium statements to enable policyholders to determine the amount charged for association assessments but may not be included in rates filed and approved by the office. The rates and premiums charged for insurance policies to which this part applies may include amounts sufficient to recoup a sum equal to the amounts paid to the association by the member insurer less any amounts returned to the member insurer by the association, and such rates shall not be deemed excessive because they contain an amount reasonably calculated to recoup assessments paid by the member insurer.

Section 9. Subsection (5) of section 627.727, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

627.727 Motor vehicle insurance; uninsured and underinsured vehicle coverage; insolvent insurer protection.—

(5) Any person having a claim against an insolvent insurer as defined in s. 631.54(6) under ~~the provisions of~~ this section shall present such claim for payment to the Florida Insurance Guaranty Association only. In the event of a payment to a ~~any~~ person in settlement of a claim arising under ~~the provisions of~~ this section, the association is not subrogated or entitled to ~~any~~ recovery against the claimant's insurer. The association, however, has the rights of recovery as set forth in chapter 631 in the proceeds recoverable from the assets of the insolvent insurer.

Section 10. Subsection (1) of section 631.55, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

631.55 Creation of the association.—

(1) There is created a nonprofit corporation to be known as the "Florida Insurance Guaranty Association, Incorporated." All insurers defined as member insurers in s. 631.54(7) shall be members of the association as a condition of their authority to transact insurance in this state, and, further, as a condition of such authority, an insurer must ~~shall~~ agree to reimburse the association for all claim payments the association makes on the said insurer's behalf if such insurer is subsequently rehabilitated. The association shall perform its functions under a plan of operation established and approved under s. 631.58 and shall exercise its powers through a board of directors established under s. 631.56. The corporation shall have all those powers granted or permitted nonprofit corporations, as provided in chapter 617.

Section 11. This act shall take effect July 1, 2014.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by Sister Maureen Martin, Principal, John Paul II Catholic High School, Tallahassee:

Spirit of Justice,
 “Your integrity is implanted in everyone
 Yet in our world it is all too often set aside
 Or lost in self-absorption
 Prejudice and ugly bias, disregarded.
 The world’s continued oppression, denied.
 The indignity of the disabled, unnoticed.
 The gap between rich and poor, ignored.
 What will it take for the over-privileged
 To hear your imploring voice of justice?
 When will those with more than enough
 Turn and give attention to those with less?”
 (By Mary Lou Kownacki)

God of Silent Potency,
 “Through the work of our hands, the creativity of our minds and sensibilities of our hearts,
 You are ready at any moment
 To stir and activate our potential,
 To move our lethargy into action,
 To change despair into hopefulness,
 To soften love that has hardened
 To awaken slowly dying dreams,
 To uplift spirits caught in sadness,
 To guide the mind to clear thinking,
 To strengthen wills that are weakened,
 To free that which has been bound.”
 (By Neil Douglas-Klotz)

God of our potency, Lord of infinite compassion, help these legislators, these persons of care and courage and wisdom to be your power at work for good. Taking to heart these words of St. John Paul II: “The future is in your hearts and in your hands. God is entrusting you to the task at once difficult and uplifting of working with him in the building of the civilization of love.” Entrusting our needs to you, we say, Amen.

WHEREAS, on April 13, 2014, Bubba Watson won the 2014 Masters Tournament at Augusta National Golf Club by three shots with a score of -8, defeating Jordan Spieth and Jonas Blixt, and

Section 4. Section 825.103, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

825.103 Exploitation of an elderly person or disabled adult; penalties.—

(1) "Exploitation of an elderly person or disabled adult" means:

(a) Knowingly, ~~by deception or intimidation~~, obtaining or using, or endeavoring to obtain or use, an elderly person's or disabled adult's funds, assets, or property with the intent to temporarily or permanently deprive the elderly person or disabled adult of the use, benefit, or possession of the funds, assets, or property, or to benefit someone other than the elderly person or disabled adult, by a person who:

1. Stands in a position of trust and confidence with the elderly person or disabled adult; or
2. Has a business relationship with the elderly person or disabled adult;

(b) Obtaining or using, endeavoring to obtain or use, or conspiring with another to obtain or use an elderly person's or disabled adult's funds, assets, or property with the intent to temporarily or permanently deprive the elderly person or disabled adult of the use, benefit, or possession of the funds, assets, or property, or to benefit someone other than the elderly person or disabled adult, by a person who knows or reasonably should know that the elderly person or disabled adult lacks the capacity to consent; ~~or~~

(c) Breach of a fiduciary duty to an elderly person or disabled adult by the person's guardian, trustee who is an individual, or agent under a power of attorney which results in an unauthorized appropriation, sale, or transfer of property. An unauthorized appropriation under this paragraph occurs when the elderly person or disabled adult does not receive the reasonably equivalent financial value in goods or services, or when the fiduciary violates any of these duties:

1. For agents appointed under chapter 709:
 - a. Committing fraud in obtaining their appointments;
 - b. Abusing their powers;
 - c. Wasting, embezzling, or intentionally mismanaging the assets of the principal or beneficiary; or
 - d. Acting contrary to the principal's sole benefit or best interest; or
2. For guardians and trustees who are individuals and who are appointed under chapter 736 or chapter 744:
 - a. Committing fraud in obtaining their appointments;
 - b. Abusing their powers; or
 - c. Wasting, embezzling, or intentionally mismanaging the assets of the ward or beneficiary of the trust;

(d) Misappropriating, misusing, or transferring without authorization money belonging to an elderly person or disabled adult from an account in which the elderly person or disabled adult placed the funds, owned the funds, and was the sole contributor or payee of the funds before the misappropriation, misuse, or unauthorized transfer. This paragraph only applies to the following types of accounts:

1. Personal accounts;
2. Joint accounts created with the intent that only the elderly person or disabled adult enjoys all rights, interests, and claims to moneys deposited into such account; or
3. Convenience accounts created in accordance with s. 655.80; or value in goods or services creates a permissive presumption that the transfer was the result of exploitation.

(a) This subsection applies regardless of whether the transfer or transfers are denoted by the parties as a gift or loan, except that it does not apply to a valid loan evidenced in writing that includes definite repayment dates. However, if repayment of any such loan is in default, in whole or in part, for more than 65 days, the presumption of this subsection applies.

(b) This subsection does not apply to:

1. Persons who are in the business of making loans.
2. Bona fide charitable donations to nonprofit organizations that qualify for tax exempt status under the Internal Revenue Code.

(c) In a criminal case to which this subsection applies, if the trial is by jury, jurors shall be instructed that they may, but are not required to, draw an inference of exploitation upon proof beyond a reasonable doubt of the facts listed in this subsection. The presumption of this subsection imposes no burden of proof on the defendant.

(3)(a) If the funds, assets, or property involved in the exploitation of the elderly person or disabled adult is valued at $50,000 ~~$100,000~~ or more, the offender commits a felony of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082, s. 775.083, or s. 775.084.

(b) If the funds, assets, or property involved in the exploitation of the elderly person or disabled adult is valued at $10,000 ~~$20,000~~ or more, but less than $50,000 ~~$100,000~~, the offender commits a felony of the second degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082, s. 775.083, or s. 775.084.

(c) If the funds, assets, or property involved in the exploitation of an elderly person or disabled adult is valued at less than $10,000 ~~$20,000~~, the offender commits a felony of the third degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082, s. 775.083, or s. 775.084.

(4) If a person is charged with financial exploitation of an elderly person or disabled adult that involves the taking of or loss of property valued at more than $5,000 and property belonging to a victim is seized from the defendant pursuant to a search warrant, the court shall hold an evidentiary hearing and determine, by a preponderance of the evidence, whether the defendant unlawfully obtained the victim's property. If the court finds that the property was unlawfully obtained, the court may order it returned to the victim for restitution purposes before trial on the charge. This determination is inadmissible in evidence at trial on the charge and does not give rise to any inference that the defendant has committed an offense under this section.

Section 5. Section 943.0412, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

943.0412 Identity Theft and Fraud Grant Program.—

(1) There is created the Identity Theft and Fraud Grant Program within the department to award grants to support local law enforcement agencies in the investigation and enforcement of personal identification information theft and fraud.

Section 8. For the purpose of incorporating the amendment made by this act to section 825.103, Florida Statutes, in a reference thereto, subsection (1) of section 772.11, Florida Statutes, is reenacted to read:

772.11 Civil remedy for theft or exploitation.—

(1) Any person who proves by clear and convincing evidence that he or she has been injured in any fashion by reason of any violation of ss. 812.012-812.037 or s. 825.103(1) has a cause of action for threefold the actual damages sustained and, in any such action, is entitled to minimum damages in the amount of $200, and reasonable attorney's fees and court costs in the trial and appellate courts. Before filing an action for damages under this section, the person claiming injury must make a written demand for $200 or the treble damage amount of the person liable for damages under this section. If the person to whom a written demand is made complies with such demand within 30 days after receipt of the demand, that person shall be given a written release from further civil liability for the specific act of theft or exploitation by the person making the written demand. Any person who has a cause of action under this section may recover the damages allowed under this section from the parents or legal guardian of any unemancipated minor who lives with his or her parents or legal guardian and who is liable for damages under this section. Punitive damages may not be awarded under this section. The defendant is entitled to recover reasonable attorney's fees and court costs in the trial and appellate courts upon a finding that the claimant raised a claim that was without substantial fact or legal support. In awarding attorney's fees and costs under this section, the court may not consider the ability of the opposing party to pay such fees and costs. This section does not limit any right to recover attorney's fees or costs provided under any other law.

Section 9. (1) For the 2014-2015 fiscal year, the sum of $72,000 in recurring funds is appropriated from the General Revenue Fund to the Department of Law Enforcement for local law enforcement grants as provided in s. 943.0412, Florida Statutes, as created by this act.

(1) A member of the governing body of a special district, as defined in s. 189.012, who exercises the powers and duties of a state or a county officer, is subject to the Governor's power under s. 7(a), Art. IV of the State Constitution to suspend such officers.

(2) A member of the governing body of a special district, as defined in s. 189.012, who exercises powers and duties other than that of a state or county officer, is subject to the suspension and removal procedures under s. 112.51.

Section 5. Subsections (1), (4), and (6) of section 125.901, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

125.901 Children's services; independent special district; council; powers, duties, and functions; public records exemption.—

(1) Each county may by ordinance create an independent special district, as defined in ss. ~~189.012~~ ~~189.403(3)~~ and 200.001(8)(e), to provide funding for children's services throughout the county in accordance with this section. The boundaries of such district shall be coterminous with the boundaries of the county. The county governing body shall obtain approval, by a majority vote of those electors voting on the question, to annually levy ad valorem taxes which shall not exceed the maximum millage rate authorized by this section. Any district created pursuant to the provisions of this subsection shall be required to levy and fix millage subject to the provisions of s. 200.065. Once such millage is approved by the electorate, the district shall not be required to seek approval of the electorate in future years to levy the previously approved millage.

(a) The governing body ~~board~~ of the district shall be a council on children's services, which may also be known as a juvenile welfare board or similar name as established in the ordinance by the county governing body. Such council shall consist of 10 members, including: the superintendent of schools; a local school board member; the district administrator from the appropriate district of the Department of Children and Family Services, or his or her designee who is a member of the Senior Management Service or of the Selected Exempt Service; one member of the county governing body; and the judge assigned to juvenile cases who shall sit as a voting member of the board, except that said judge shall not vote or participate in the setting of ad valorem taxes under this section. If there is more than one judge assigned to juvenile cases in a county, the chief judge shall designate one of said juvenile judges to serve on the board. The remaining five members shall be appointed by the Governor, and shall, to the extent possible, represent the demographic diversity of the population of the county. After soliciting recommendations from the public, the county governing body shall submit to the Governor the names of at least three persons for each vacancy occurring among the five members appointed by the Governor, and the Governor shall appoint members to the council from the candidates nominated by the county governing body. The Governor shall make a selection within a 45-day period or request a new list of candidates. All members appointed by the Governor shall have been residents of the county for the previous 24-month period. Such members shall be appointed for 4-year terms, except that the length of the terms of the initial appointees shall be adjusted to stagger the terms. The Governor may remove a member for cause or upon the written petition of the county governing body. If any of the members of the council required to be appointed by the Governor under the provisions of this subsection shall resign, die, or be removed from office, the vacancy thereby created shall, as soon as practicable, be filled by appointment by the Governor, using the same method as the original appointment, and such appointment to fill a vacancy shall be for the unexpired term of the person who resigns, dies, or is removed from office.

(b) However, any county as defined in s. 125.011(1) may instead have a governing body ~~board~~ consisting of 33 members, including: the superintendent of schools; two representatives of public postsecondary education institutions located in the county; the county manager or the equivalent county officer; the district administrator from the appropriate district of the Department of Children and Family Services, or the administrator's designee who is a member of the Senior Management Service or the Selected Exempt Service; the director of the county health department or the director's designee; the state attorney for the county or the state attorney's designee; the chief judge assigned to juvenile cases, or another juvenile judge who is the chief judge's designee and who shall sit as a voting member of the board, except that the judge may not vote or participate in setting ad valorem taxes under this section; an individual who is selected by the board of the local United Way or its equivalent; a member of a locally recognized faith-based coalition, selected by that coalition; a member of the local chamber of commerce, selected by that chamber or, if more than one chamber exists within the county, a person selected by a coalition of the local chambers; a member of the early learning coalition, selected by that coalition; a representative of a labor organization or union active in the county; a member of a local alliance or coalition engaged in cross-system planning for health and social service delivery in the county, selected by that alliance or coalition; a member of the local Parent-Teachers Association/Parent-Teacher-Student Association, selected by that association; a youth representative selected by the local school system's student government; a local school board member appointed by the chair of the school board; the mayor of the county or the mayor's designee; one member of the county governing body, appointed by the chair of that body; a member of the state Legislature who represents residents of the county, selected by the chair of the local legislative delegation; an elected official representing the residents of a municipality in the county, selected by the county municipal league; and 4 members-at-large, appointed to the council by the majority of sitting council members. The remaining 7 members shall be appointed by the Governor in accordance with procedures set forth in paragraph (a), except that the Governor may remove a member for cause or upon the written petition of the council. Appointments by the Governor must, to the extent reasonably possible, represent the geographic and demographic diversity of the population of the county. Members who are appointed to the council by reason of their position are not subject to the length of terms and limits on consecutive terms as provided in this section. The remaining appointed members of the governing ~~body board~~ shall be appointed to serve 2-year terms, except that those members appointed by the Governor shall be appointed to serve 4-year terms, and the youth representative and the legislative delegate shall be appointed to serve 1-year terms. A member may be reappointed; however, a member may not serve for more than three consecutive terms. A member is eligible to be appointed again after a 2-year hiatus from the council.

(c) This subsection does not prohibit a county from exercising such power as is provided by general or special law to provide children's services or to create a special district to provide such services.

(4)(a) Any district created pursuant to this section may be dissolved by a special act of the Legislature, or the county governing body may by ordinance dissolve the district subject to the approval of the electorate.

(b)1.a. Notwithstanding paragraph (a), the governing body of the county shall submit the question of retention or dissolution of a district with voter-approved taxing authority to the electorate in the general election according to the following schedule:

(I) For a district in existence on July 1, 2010, and serving a county with a population of 400,000 or fewer persons as of that date . . . 2014.

(II) For a district in existence on July 1, 2010, and serving a county with a population of more than 400,000 but fewer than 2 million persons as of that date 2016.

(III) For a district in existence on July 1, 2010, and serving a county with a population of 2 million or more persons as of that date . . . 2020.

b. A referendum by the electorate on or after July 1, 2010, creating a new district with taxing authority may specify that the district is not subject to reauthorization or may specify the number of years for which the initial authorization shall remain effective. If the referendum does not prescribe terms of reauthorization, the governing body of the county shall submit the question of retention or dissolution of the district to the electorate in the general election 12 years after the initial authorization.

2. The governing ~~body board~~ of the district may specify, and submit to the governing body of the county no later than 9 months before the scheduled election, that the district is not subsequently subject to reauthorization or may specify the number of years for which a reauthorization under this paragraph shall remain effective. If the governing ~~body board~~ of the district makes such specification and submission, the governing body of the county shall include that information in the question submitted to the electorate. If the governing ~~body board~~ of the district does not specify and submit such information, the governing body of the county shall resubmit the question of reauthorization to the electorate every 12 years after the year prescribed in subparagraph 1. The governing ~~body board~~ of the district may recommend to the governing body of the county language for the question submitted to the electorate.

3. Nothing in this paragraph limits the authority to dissolve a district as provided under paragraph (a).

4. Nothing in this paragraph precludes the governing ~~body board~~ of a district from requesting that the governing body of the county submit the question of retention or dissolution of a district with voter-approved taxing authority to the electorate at a date earlier than the year prescribed in subparagraph 1. If the governing body of the county accepts the request and submits the question to the electorate, the governing body satisfies the requirement of that subparagraph.

If any district is dissolved pursuant to this subsection, each county must first obligate itself to assume the debts, liabilities, contracts, and outstanding obligations of the district within the total millage available to the county governing body for all county and municipal purposes as provided for under s. 9, Art. VII of the State Constitution. Any district may also be dissolved pursuant to s. ~~part VII of chapter 189 189.4042~~.

(6) Any district created pursuant to the provisions of this section shall comply with all other statutory requirements of general application which relate to the filing of any financial reports or compliance reports required under part III of chapter 218, or any other report or documentation required by law, including the requirements of ss. ~~189.08, 189.015, and 189.016 189.415, 189.417, and 189.418~~.

Section 6. Section 189.401, Florida Statutes, is transferred, renumbered as section 189.01, Florida Statutes, and amended to read:

~~189.01 189.401~~ Short title.—This chapter may be cited as the “Uniform Special District Accountability Act ~~of 1989~~.”

Section 7. Subsections (1), (6), and (7) of section 189.402, Florida Statutes, are transferred and renumbered as subsections (1), (2), and (3), respectively, of section 189.011, Florida Statutes, and present subsection (6) of that section is amended, to read:

~~189.011 189.402~~ Statement of legislative purpose and intent.—

~~(2)(6)~~ The Legislature finds that special districts serve a necessary and useful function by providing services to residents and property in the state. The Legislature finds further that special districts operate to serve a public purpose and that this is best secured by certain minimum standards of accountability designed to inform the public and appropriate ~~local~~ general-purpose ~~local~~ governments of the status and activities of special districts. It is the intent of the Legislature that this public trust be secured by requiring each independent special district in the state to register and report its financial and other activities. The Legislature further finds that failure of an independent special district to comply with the minimum disclosure requirements set forth in this chapter may result in action against officers of such district ~~body board~~.

Section 8. Subsection (2) of section 189.402, Florida Statutes, is transferred, renumbered as section 189.06, Florida Statutes, and amended to read:

~~189.06 189.402~~ ~~Legislative intent; centralized location~~ ~~Statement of legislative purpose and intent~~.—

~~(2)~~ It is the intent of the Legislature through the adoption of this chapter to have one centralized location for all legislation governing special districts and to:

~~(1)(a)~~ Improve the enforcement of statutes currently in place that help ensure the accountability of special districts to state and local governments.

~~(2)(b)~~ Improve communication and coordination between state agencies with respect to required special district reporting and state monitoring.

~~(3)(c)~~ Improve communication and coordination between special districts and other local entities with respect to ad valorem taxation, non-ad valorem assessment collection, special district elections, and local government comprehensive planning.

~~(4)(d)~~ Move toward greater uniformity in special district elections and non-ad valorem assessment collection procedures at the local level without hampering the efficiency and effectiveness of the current procedures.

(5)(e) Clarify special district definitions and creation methods in order to ensure consistent application of those definitions and creation methods across all levels of government.

(6)(f) Specify in general law the essential components of any new type of special district.

(7)(g) Specify in general law the essential components of a charter for a new special district.

(8)(h) Encourage the creation of municipal service taxing units and municipal service benefit units for providing municipal services in unincorporated areas of each county.

Section 9. Subsections (3), (4), (5), and (8) of section 189.402, Florida Statutes, are transferred, renumbered as subsections (1), (2), (3), and (4), respectively, of section 189.03, Florida Statutes, and amended to read:

189.03 189.402 Statement of legislative purpose and intent; independent special districts.—

(1)(a) The Legislature finds that:

(a) There is a need for uniform, focused, and fair procedures in state law to provide a reasonable alternative for the establishment, powers, operation, and duration of independent special districts ~~to manage and finance basic capital infrastructure, facilities, and services; and that, based upon a proper and fair determination of applicable facts, an independent special district can constitute a timely, efficient, effective, responsive, and economic way to deliver these basic services, thereby providing a means of solving the state's planning, management, and financing needs for delivery of capital infrastructure, facilities, and services in order to provide for projected growth without overburdening other governments and their taxpayers.~~

(b) It is in the public interest that any independent special district created pursuant to state law not outlive its usefulness and that the operation of such a district and the exercise by the district of its powers be consistent with applicable due process, disclosure, accountability, ethics, and government-in-the-sunshine requirements which apply both to governmental entities and to their elected and appointed officials.

~~(c) It is in the public interest that long range planning, management, and financing and long term maintenance, upkeep, and operation of basic services by independent special districts be uniform.~~

(2)(a) It is the policy of this state:

(a) That independent special districts may be used ~~are a legitimate alternative method available for use~~ by the private and public sectors, as authorized by state law, to manage, own, operate, construct, and finance basic capital infrastructure, facilities, and services.

(b) That the exercise by any independent special district of its powers, ~~as set forth by uniform general law~~ comply with all applicable ~~governmental comprehensive planning~~ laws, rules, and regulations.

(3)(a) It is the legislative intent ~~and purpose, based upon, and consistent with, its findings of fact and declarations of policy,~~ to authorize a uniform procedure by general law to create an independent special district, ~~as an alternative method to manage and finance basic capital infrastructure, facilities, and services. It is further the legislative intent and purpose~~ to provide by general law for the uniform operation, exercise of power, and procedure for termination of any such independent special district.

(4)(a) The Legislature finds and declares that:

(a) Growth and development issues transcend the boundaries and responsibilities of individual units of government, and often no single unit of government can plan or implement policies to deal with these issues without affecting other units of government.

(b) The provision of capital infrastructure, facilities, and services for the preservation and enhancement of the quality of life of the people of this state may require the creation of multicounty and multi-jurisdictional districts.

Section 10. Section 189.403, Florida Statutes, is transferred, renumbered as section 189.012, Florida Statutes, reordered, and amended to read:

189.012 189.403 Definitions.—As used in this chapter, the term:

(1) “Special district” means a ~~local~~ local unit of local government created for a ~~of~~ special purpose, as opposed to a ~~general purpose~~ general purpose, which has jurisdiction to operate ~~government~~ within a limited geographic boundary and is, created by general law, special act, local ordinance, or by rule of the Governor and Cabinet. ~~The special purpose or purposes of special districts are implemented by specialized functions and related prescribed powers. (3) “Independent special district” means a special district that is not a dependent special district as defined in subsection (2). A district that includes more than one county is an independent special district unless the district lies wholly within the boundaries of a single municipality.

(~~f~~)~~6~~. The governing body of each component independent special district shall set a time and place for one or more public hearings on the proposed elector-initiated merger plan. Each public hearing shall be held on a weekday at least 7 business days after the day the first advertisement is published on the proposed elector-initiated merger plan. The governing bodies must approve a final version of the merger plan within 60 business days after the final hearing.

(~~g~~)~~7~~. After the final public hearing, the governing bodies shall notify the supervisors of elections of the applicable counties in which district lands are located of the adoption of the resolution by each governing body. The supervisors of elections shall schedule a date for the separate referenda for each district. The referenda may be held in each district on the same day, or on different days, but no more than 20 days apart.

1.~~a~~. Notice of a referendum on the merger of the component independent special districts must be provided pursuant to the notice requirements in s. 100.342. At a minimum, the notice must include:

~~c.(HH)~~ The names of the component independent special districts to be merged and a description of their territory;

~~d.(IV)~~ The times and places at which the referendum will be held; and

~~e.(V)~~ Such other matters as may be necessary to call, provide for, and give notice of the referendum and to provide for the conduct thereof and the canvass of the returns.

~~2.b.~~ The referenda must be held in accordance with the Florida Election Code and may be held pursuant to ss. 101.6101-101.6107. All costs associated with the referenda shall be borne by the respective component independent special district.

~~3.e.~~ The ballot question in such referendum placed before the qualified electors of each component independent special district to be merged must be in substantially the following form:

“Shall ...(name of component independent special district)... and ...(name of component independent special district or districts)... be merged into ...(name of newly merged independent district)...?”

...YES

...NO”

~~5.e.~~ In any referendum held pursuant to this ~~section subsection~~, the ballots shall be counted, returns made and canvassed, and results certified in the same manner as other elections or referenda for the component independent special districts.

~~6.f.~~ The merger may not take effect unless a majority of the votes cast in each component independent special district are in favor of the merger. If one of the component independent special districts does not obtain a majority vote, the referendum fails, and merger does not take effect.

~~7.g.~~ If the merger is approved by a majority of the votes cast in each component independent special district, the merged district shall notify the Special District ~~Accountability Information~~ Program pursuant to s. ~~189.016(2) 189.418(2)~~ and the local general-purpose governments in which any part of the component independent special districts is situated pursuant to s. ~~189.016(7) 189.418(7)~~.

~~8.h.~~ If the referendum fails, the merger process under this ~~subsection paragraph~~ may not be initiated for the same purpose within 2 years after the date of the referendum.

~~(h)8.~~ Component independent special districts merged pursuant to an elector-initiated merger plan shall continue to be governed as before the merger until the effective date specified in the adopted elector-initiated merger plan.

~~(4)(d)~~ EFFECTIVE DATE.—The effective date of the merger shall be as provided in the joint merger plan or elector-initiated merger plan, as appropriate, and is not contingent upon the future act of the Legislature.

~~(a)1.~~ However, as soon as practicable, the merged independent district shall, at its own expense, submit a unified charter for the merged district to the Legislature for approval. The unified charter must make the powers of the district consistent within the merged independent district and repeal the special acts of the districts which existed before the merger.

~~(b)2.~~ Within 30 business days after the effective date of the merger, the merged independent district’s governing body, as indicated in this ~~section subsection~~, shall hold an organizational meeting to implement the provisions of the joint merger plan or elector-initiated merger plan, as appropriate.

~~(5)(e)~~ RESTRICTIONS DURING TRANSITION PERIOD.—Until the Legislature formally approves the unified charter pursuant to a special act, each component independent special district is considered a subunit of the merged independent district subject to the following restrictions:

~~(a)1.~~ During the transition period, the merged independent district is limited in its powers and financing capabilities within each subunit to those powers that existed within the boundaries of each subunit which were previously granted to the component independent special district in its existing charter before the merger. The merged independent district may not, solely by reason of the merger, increase its powers or financing capability.

~~(b)2.~~ During the transition period, the merged independent district shall exercise only the legislative authority to levy and collect revenues within the boundaries of each subunit which was previously granted to the component independent special district by its existing charter before the merger, including the authority to levy ad valorem taxes, non-ad valorem assessments, impact fees, and charges.

~~1.a.~~ The merged independent district may not, solely by reason of the merger or the legislatively approved unified charter, increase ad valorem taxes on property within the original limits of a subunit beyond the maximum millage rate approved by the electors of the component independent special district unless the electors of such subunit approve an increase at a subsequent referendum of the subunit’s electors. Each subunit may be considered a separate taxing unit.

~~2.b.~~ The merged independent district may not, solely by reason of the merger, charge non-ad valorem assessments, impact fees, or other new fees within a subunit which were not otherwise previously authorized to be charged.

~~(c)3.~~ During the transition period, each component independent special district of the merged independent district must continue to file all information and reports required under this chapter as subunits until the Legislature formally approves the unified charter pursuant to a special act.

~~(d)4.~~ The intent of this ~~part section~~ is to preserve and transfer to the merged independent district all authority that exists within each subunit and was previously granted by the Legislature and, if applicable, by referendum.

~~(6)(f)~~ EFFECT OF MERGER, GENERALLY.—On and after the effective date of the merger, the merged independent district shall be treated and considered for all purposes as one entity under the name and on the terms and conditions set forth in the joint merger plan or elector-initiated merger plan, as appropriate.

~~(a)1.~~ All rights, privileges, and franchises of each component independent special district and all assets, real and personal property, books, records, papers, seals, and equipment, as well as other things in action, belonging to each component independent special district before the merger shall be deemed as transferred to and vested in the merged independent district without further act or deed.

~~(b)2.~~ All property, rights-of-way, and other interests are as effectually the property of the merged independent district as they were of the component independent special district before the merger. The title to real estate, by deed or otherwise, under the laws of this state vested in any component independent special district before the merger may not be deemed to revert or be in any way impaired by reason of the merger.

~~(c)3.~~ The merged independent district is in all respects subject to all obligations and liabilities imposed and possesses all the rights, powers, and privileges vested by law in other similar entities.

~~(d)4.~~ Upon the effective date of the merger, the joint merger plan or elector-initiated merger plan, as appropriate, is subordinate in all respects to the contract rights of all holders of any securities or obligations of the component independent special districts outstanding at the effective date of the merger.

(e)5. The new registration of electors is not necessary as a result of the merger, but all elector registrations of the component independent special districts shall be transferred to the proper registration books of the merged independent district, and new registrations shall be made as provided by law as if no merger had taken place.

(7)(g) GOVERNING BODY OF MERGED INDEPENDENT DISTRICT.—

(a)1. From the effective date of the merger until the next general election, the governing body of the merged independent district shall be comprised of the governing body members of each component independent special district, with such members serving until the governing body members elected at the next general election take office.

(b)2. Beginning with the next general election following the effective date of merger, the governing body of the merged independent district shall be comprised of five members. The office of each governing body member shall be designated by seat, which shall be distinguished from other body member seats by an assigned numeral: 1, 2, 3, 4, or 5. The governing body members that are elected in this initial election following the merger shall serve unequal terms of 2 and 4 years in order to create staggered membership of the governing body, with:

- 1.a. Member seats 1, 3, and 5 being designated for 4-year terms; and
- 2.b. Member seats 2 and 4 being designated for 2-year terms.

(c)3. In general elections thereafter, all governing body members shall serve 4-year terms.

(8)(h) EFFECT ON EMPLOYEES.—Except as otherwise provided by law and except for those officials and employees protected by tenure of office, civil service provisions, or a collective bargaining agreement, upon the effective date of merger, all appointive offices and positions existing in all component independent special districts involved in the merger are subject to the terms of the joint merger plan or elector-initiated merger plan, as appropriate. Such plan may provide for instances in which there are duplications of positions and for other matters such as varying lengths of employee contracts, varying pay levels or benefits, different civil service regulations in the constituent entities, and differing ranks and position classifications for similar positions. For those employees who are members of a bargaining unit certified by the Public Employees Relations Commission, the requirements of chapter 447 apply.

(9)(i) EFFECT ON DEBTS, LIABILITIES, AND OBLIGATIONS.—

(a)1. All valid and lawful debts and liabilities existing against a merged independent district, or which may arise or accrue against the merged independent district, which but for merger would be valid and lawful debts or liabilities against one or more of the component independent special districts, are debts against or liabilities of the merged independent district and accordingly shall be defrayed and answered to by the merged independent district to the same extent, and no further than, the component independent special districts would have been bound if a merger had not taken place.

(b)2. The rights of creditors and all liens upon the property of any of the component independent special districts shall be preserved unimpaired. The respective component districts shall be deemed to continue in existence to preserve such rights and liens, and all debts, liabilities, and duties of any of the component districts attach to the merged independent district.

(c)3. All bonds, contracts, and obligations of the component independent special districts which exist as legal obligations are obligations of the merged independent district, and all such obligations shall be issued or entered into by and in the name of the merged independent district.

(10)(j) EFFECT ON ACTIONS AND PROCEEDINGS.—In any action or proceeding pending on the effective date of merger to which a component independent special district is a party, the merged independent district may be substituted in its place, and the action or proceeding may be prosecuted to judgment as if merger had not taken place. Suits may be brought and maintained against a merged independent district in any state court in the same manner as against any other independent special district.

(11)(k) EFFECT ON ANNEXATION.—Chapter 171 continues to apply to all annexations by a city within the component independent special districts' boundaries after merger occurs. Any moneys owed to a component independent special district pursuant to s. 171.093, or any interlocal service boundary agreement as a result of annexation predating the merger, shall be paid to the merged independent district after merger.

(12)(l) EFFECT ON MILLAGE CALCULATIONS.—The merged independent special district is authorized to continue or conclude procedures under chapter 200 on behalf of the component independent special districts. The merged independent special district shall make the calculations required by chapter 200 for each component individual special district separately.

(13)(m) DETERMINATION OF RIGHTS.—If any right, title, interest, or claim arises out of a merger or by reason thereof which is not determinable by reference to this subsection, the joint merger plan or elector-initiated merger plan, as appropriate, or otherwise under the laws of this state, the governing body of the merged independent district may provide therefor in a manner conforming to law.

(14)(n) EXEMPTION.—This ~~section~~ subsection does not apply to independent special districts whose governing bodies are elected by district landowners voting the acreage owned within the district.

(15)(o) PREEMPTION.—This ~~section~~ subsection preempts any special act to the contrary.

~~(6) INVOLUNTARY MERGER OF INDEPENDENT SPECIAL DISTRICTS.—~~

(1)(a) INDEPENDENT SPECIAL DISTRICTS CREATED BY SPECIAL ACT.—In order for the Legislature to merge an active independent special district or districts created and operating pursuant to a special act, the special act merging the active independent special district or districts must be approved at separate referenda of the impacted local governments by a majority of the resident electors or, for districts in which a majority of governing ~~body board~~ members are elected by landowners, a majority of the landowners voting in the same manner by which each independent special district's governing body is elected. The special act merging the districts must include a plan of merger that addresses transition issues such as the effective date of the merger, governance, administration, powers, pensions, and assumption of all assets and liabilities. If a local general-purpose government passes an ordinance or resolution in support of the merger of an active independent special district, the local general-purpose government must pay any expenses associated with the referendum required under this ~~subsection~~ paragraph.

(2)(b) INDEPENDENT SPECIAL DISTRICTS CREATED BY A COUNTY OR MUNICIPALITY.—A county or municipality may merge an independent special district created by the county or municipality pursuant to a referendum or any other procedure by which the independent special district was created. However, if the independent special district has ad valorem taxation powers, the same procedure required to grant the independent special district ad valorem taxation powers is required to merge the district. The political subdivisions proposing the involuntary merger of an active independent special district must pay any expenses associated with the referendum required under this ~~subsection~~ paragraph.

Actuarial valuations of chapter plans shall be conducted by the division as provided by s. 175.261(1).

(5)(3) "Compensation" or "salary" means, for noncollectively bargained service earned before July 1, 2011, or for service earned under collective bargaining agreements in place before July 1, 2011, the fixed monthly remuneration paid a firefighter. If remuneration is based on actual services rendered, as in the case of a volunteer firefighter, the term means the total cash remuneration received yearly for such services, prorated on a monthly basis. For noncollectively bargained service earned on or after July 1, 2011, or for service earned under collective bargaining agreements entered into on or after July 1, 2011, the term has the same meaning except that when calculating retirement benefits, up to 300 hours per year in overtime compensation may be included as specified in the plan or collective bargaining agreement, but payments for accrued unused sick or annual leave may not be included.

Section 6. Section 175.351, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

175.351 Municipalities and special fire control districts ~~that have their own retirement pension plans for firefighters.—For any municipality, special fire control district, local law municipality, local law special fire control district, or local law plan under this chapter, In order for a municipality or municipalities and special fire control district that has its districts with their own retirement plan pension plans for firefighters, or for firefighters and police officers if both are included, to participate in the distribution of the tax fund established under pursuant to s. 175.101, a local law plan plans must meet the minimum benefits and minimum standards set forth in this chapter, except as provided in the mutual consent provisions in paragraph (1)(g) with respect to the minimum benefits not met as of October 1, 2012.~~

(1) If a municipality has a ~~retirement pension~~ plan for firefighters, or a ~~pension plan~~ for firefighters and police officers if both are included, which in the opinion of the division meets the minimum benefits and minimum standards set forth in this chapter, the board of trustees of the pension plan ~~must, as approved by a majority of firefighters of the municipality, may:~~

~~(a) place the income from the premium tax in s. 175.101 in such pension plan for the sole and exclusive use of its firefighters, or for firefighters and police officers if both are included, where it shall become an integral part of that pension plan and shall be used to fund benefits as provided herein. Effective October 1, 2014, for noncollectively bargained service or upon entering into a collective bargaining agreement on or after July 1, 2014:~~

~~(a) The base premium tax revenues must be used to fund minimum benefits or other retirement benefits in excess of the minimum benefits as determined by the municipality or special fire control district.~~

~~(b) Of the additional premium tax revenues received which are in excess of the amount received for the 2012 calendar year, 50 percent must be used to fund minimum benefits or other retirement benefits in excess of the minimum benefits as determined by the municipality or special fire control district, and 50 percent must be placed in a defined contribution plan to fund special benefits.~~

~~(c) Additional premium tax revenues not described in paragraph (b) must be used to fund benefits that are not included in the minimum benefits. If the additional premium tax revenues subject to this paragraph exceed the full annual cost of benefits provided through the plan which are in excess of the minimum benefits, any amount in excess of the full annual cost must be used as provided in paragraph (b).~~

~~(d) Of any accumulations of additional premium tax revenues which have not been allocated to fund benefits in excess of the minimum benefits, 50 percent of the amount of the accumulations must be used to fund special benefits, and 50 percent must be applied to fund any unfunded actuarial liabilities of the plan; provided that any amount of accumulations in excess of the amount required to fund the unfunded actuarial liabilities must be used to fund special benefits to pay extra benefits to the firefighters included in that pension plan; or~~

~~(b) Place the income from the premium tax in s. 175.101 in a separate supplemental plan to pay extra benefits to firefighters, or to firefighters and police officers if included, participating in such separate supplemental plan.~~

~~(e) For a plan created after March 1, 2014, 50 percent of the insurance premium tax revenues must be used to fund defined benefit plan component benefits, with the remainder used to fund defined contribution plan component benefits.~~

~~(f) If a plan offers benefits in excess of the minimum benefits, such benefits, excluding supplemental plan benefits in effect as of September 30, 2013, may be reduced if the plan continues to meet the minimum benefits and the minimum standards set forth in this chapter. The amount of insurance premium tax revenues previously used to fund benefits in excess of minimum benefits, excluding the amount of any additional premium tax revenues distributed to a supplemental plan for calendar year 2012, before the reduction must be used as provided in paragraph (b). However, benefits in excess of the minimum benefits may not be reduced if a plan does not meet the minimum percentage amount of 2.75 percent, or greater, of the average final compensation of a full-time firefighter, as provided in s. 175.162(2)(a)1., or provides an effective benefit that is below 2.75 percent as a result of a maximum benefit limitation, as described in s. 175.162(2)(a)2.~~

~~(g) Notwithstanding paragraphs (a)-(f), the use of premium tax revenues, including any accumulations of additional premium tax revenues which have not been allocated to fund benefits in excess of the minimum benefits, may deviate from the provisions of this subsection by mutual consent of the members' collective bargaining representative or, if none, by majority consent of the firefighter members of the fund, and by consent of the municipality or special fire control district, provided that the plan continues to meet the minimum benefits and minimum standards of this chapter; however, a plan that operates pursuant to this paragraph which does not meet the minimum benefits as of October 1, 2012, may continue to provide the benefits that do not meet the minimum benefits at the same level as was provided as of October 1, 2012, and all other benefit levels must continue to meet the minimum benefits. Such mutually agreed deviation shall continue until modified or revoked by subsequent mutual consent of the members' collective bargaining representative or, if none, by a majority of the firefighter members of the fund, and the municipality or special fire control district. An existing arrangement for the use of premium tax revenues contained within a special act plan or a plan within a supplemental plan municipality is considered, as of July 1, 2014, to be a deviation for which mutual consent has been granted.~~

~~(2) The premium tax provided by this chapter shall in all cases be used in its entirety to provide retirement extra benefits to firefighters, or to firefighters and police officers if both are included. However, local law plans in effect on October 1, 1998, must comply with the minimum benefit provisions of this chapter only to the extent that additional premium tax revenues become available to incrementally fund the cost of such compliance as provided in s. 175.162(2)(a). If a plan is in compliance with such minimum benefit provisions, as subsequent additional premium tax revenues become available, they must be used to provide~~

~~extra benefits.~~ Local law plans created by special act before May 27, 1939, are deemed to comply with this chapter. ~~For the purpose of this chapter, the term:~~

Such proposed plan or proposed plan change may not be adopted without the approval of the municipality, special fire control district, or, where required permitted, the Legislature. Copies of the proposed plan or proposed plan change and the actuarial impact statement of the proposed plan or proposed plan change shall be furnished to the division before the last public hearing on the proposal is held thereon. Such statement must also indicate whether the proposed plan or proposed plan change is in compliance with s. 14, Art. X of the State Constitution and those provisions of part VII of chapter 112 which are not expressly provided in this chapter. Notwithstanding any other provision, only those local law plans created by special act of legislation before May 27, 1939, are deemed to meet the minimum benefits and minimum standards only in this chapter.

(4) Notwithstanding any other provision, with respect to any supplemental plan municipality:

(a) A local law plan and a supplemental plan may continue to use their definition of compensation or salary in existence on March 12, 1999.

(b) Section 175.061(1)(b) does not apply, and a local law plan and a supplemental plan shall continue to be administered by a board or boards of trustees numbered, constituted, and selected as the board or boards were numbered, constituted, and selected on December 1, 2000.

(5) The retirement plan setting forth the benefits and the trust agreement, if any, covering the duties and responsibilities of the trustees and the regulations of the investment of funds must be in writing, and copies made available to the participants and to the general public.

(6) In addition to the defined benefit component of the local law plan, each plan sponsor must have a defined contribution plan component within the local law plan by October 1, 2014, for noncollectively bargained service, upon entering into a collective bargaining agreement on or after July 1, 2014, or upon the creation date of a new participating plan. Depending upon the application of subsection (1), a defined contribution component may or may not receive any funding.

(7) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, a municipality or special fire control district that has implemented or proposed changes to a local law plan based on the municipality's or district's reliance on an interpretation of this chapter by the Department of Management Services on or after August 14, 2012, and before March 4, 2014, may continue the implemented changes or continue to implement proposed changes. Such reliance must be evidenced by a written collective bargaining proposal or agreement, or formal correspondence between the municipality or district and the Department of Management Services which describes the specific changes to the local law plan, with the initial proposal, agreement, or correspondence from the municipality or district dated before March 4, 2014. Changes to the local law plan which are otherwise contrary to the minimum benefits and minimum standards in this chapter may continue in effect until the earlier of October 1, 2017, or the effective date of a collective bargaining agreement that is contrary to the changes to the local law plan.

(f) If a plan offers benefits in excess of the minimum benefits, such benefits, excluding supplemental plan benefits in effect as of September 30, 2013, may be reduced if the plan continues to meet the minimum benefits and the minimum standards set forth in this chapter. The amount of insurance premium tax revenues previously used to fund benefits in excess of the minimum benefits, excluding the amount of any additional premium tax revenues distributed to a supplemental plan for calendar year 2012, before the reduction must be used as provided in paragraph (b). However, benefits in excess of the minimum benefits may not be reduced if a plan does not meet the minimum percentage amount of 2.75 percent, or greater, of the average final compensation of a police officer, as provided in s. 185.16(2)(a), or provides an effective benefit that is below 2.75 percent as a result of a maximum benefit limitation, as described in s. 185.16(2)(b).

(g) Notwithstanding paragraphs (a)-(f), the use of premium tax revenues, including any accumulations of additional premium tax revenues which have not been allocated to fund benefits in excess of the minimum benefits, may deviate from the provisions of this subsection by mutual consent of the members' collective bargaining representative or, if none, by majority consent of the police office members of the fund, and by consent of the municipality, provided that the plan continues to meet the minimum benefits and minimum standards of this chapter; however, a plan that operates pursuant to this paragraph which does not meet the minimum benefits as of October 1, 2012, may continue to provide the benefits that do not meet the minimum benefits at the same level as was provided as of October 1, 2012, and all other benefits must continue to meet the minimum benefits. Such mutually agreed deviation shall continue until modified or revoked by subsequent mutual consent of the members' collective bargaining representative or, if none, by a majority of the police office members of the fund, and the municipality. An existing arrangement for the use of premium tax revenues contained within a special act plan or a plan within a supplemental plan municipality is considered, as of July 1, 2014, to be a deviation for which mutual consent has been granted.

(2) The premium tax provided by this chapter shall ~~in all cases~~ be used in its entirety to provide retirement ~~extra~~ benefits to police officers, or to police officers and firefighters if both are included. ~~However, local law plans in effect on October 1, 1998, must comply with the minimum benefit provisions of this chapter only to the extent that additional premium tax revenues become available to incrementally fund the cost of such compliance as provided in s. 185.16(2). If a plan is in compliance with such minimum benefit provisions, as subsequent additional tax revenues become available, they shall be used to provide extra benefits. Local law plans created by special act before May 27, 1939, shall be deemed to comply with this chapter. For the purpose of this chapter, the term:~~

~~(a) "Additional premium tax revenues" means revenues received by a municipality pursuant to s. 185.10 which exceed the amount received for calendar year 1997.~~

~~(b) "Extra benefits" means benefits in addition to or greater than those provided to general employees of the municipality and in addition to those in existence for police officers on March 12, 1999.~~

(3) A retirement plan or amendment to a retirement plan may not be proposed for adoption unless the proposed plan or amendment contains an actuarial estimate of the costs involved. Such proposed plan or proposed plan change may not be adopted without the approval of the municipality or, where ~~required~~ permitted, the Legislature. Copies of the proposed plan or proposed plan change and the actuarial impact statement of the proposed plan or proposed plan change shall be furnished to the division before the last public hearing on the proposal is held ~~thereon~~. Such statement must also indicate whether the proposed plan or proposed plan change is in compliance with s. 14, Art. X of the State Constitution and those provisions of part VII of chapter 112 which are not expressly provided in this chapter. Notwithstanding any other provision, only those local law plans created by special act of legislation before May 27, 1939, are deemed to meet the minimum benefits and minimum standards only in this chapter.

(4) Notwithstanding any other provision, with respect to any supplemental plan municipality:

(a) Section 185.02(6)(a) ~~185.02(4)(a)~~ does not apply, and a local law plan and a supplemental plan may continue to use their definition of compensation or salary in existence on March 12, 1999.

(b) A local law plan and a supplemental plan must continue to be administered by a board or boards of trustees numbered, constituted, and selected as the board or boards were numbered, constituted, and selected on December 1, 2000.

~~(c) The election set forth in paragraph (1)(b) is deemed to have been made.~~

(5) The retirement plan setting forth the benefits and the trust agreement, if any, covering the duties and responsibilities of the trustees and the regulations of the investment of funds must be in writing and copies made available to the participants and to the general public.

(6) In addition to the defined benefit component of the local law plan, each plan sponsor must have a defined contribution plan component within the local law plan by October 1, 2014, for noncollectively bargained service, upon entering into a collective bargaining agreement on or after July 1, 2014, or upon the creation date of a new participating plan. Depending upon the application of subsection (1), a defined contribution component may or may not receive any funding.

(7) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, a municipality that has implemented or proposed changes to a local law plan based on the municipality's reliance on an interpretation of this chapter by the Department of Management Services on or after August 14, 2012, and before March 4, 2014, may continue the implemented changes or continue to implement proposed changes. Such reliance must be evidenced by a written collective bargaining proposal or agreement, or formal correspondence between the municipality and the Department of Management Services which describes the specific changes to the local law plan, with the initial proposal, agreement, or correspondence from the municipality dated before March 4, 2014. Changes to the local law plan which are otherwise contrary to the minimum benefits and minimum standards of this chapter may continue in effect until the earlier of October 1, 2017, or the effective date of a collective bargaining agreement that is contrary to the changes to the local law plan.

Section 1. Section 61.040, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

61.040 Application of the law of a foreign country in courts relating to matters arising out of or relating to chapters 61 and 88.—

(1) As used in this section, the term “strong public policy” means public policy of sufficient importance to outweigh the policy of protecting freedom of contract.

(2) A court may not enforce:

(a) A choice of law provision in a contract selecting the law of a foreign country which contravenes strong public policy of this state or that is unjust or unreasonable.

(3) Before enforcing a judgment or order of a court of a foreign country, a court must review the judgment or order to ensure that it complies with the rule of comity. A judgment or order of a court of a foreign country is not entitled to comity if the parties were not given adequate notice and the opportunity to be heard, the foreign court did not have original jurisdiction, or the judgment or order of the foreign court offends the public policy of this state.

(4) A contract that seeks to apply the law of a foreign country is void as against the public policy of this state if it is injurious to the interest of the public or contravenes some established interest in society.

(5) A trial court may not dismiss an action on the grounds that a satisfactory remedy may be more conveniently sought in a foreign country unless the trial court finds in accordance with the applicable rules of civil procedure and this section, that an adequate alternate forum exists.

(6) This section applies only to matters governed by or relating to chapter 61 or chapter 88.

Section 2. This act shall take effect on October 1, 2014.

RECONSIDERATION OF AMENDMENT

On motion by Senator Smith, the Senate reconsidered the vote by which engrossed Amendment 1 (153228) was adopted.

Senator Smith moved the following amendment:

Amendment 1 (153228) (with title amendment)—Delete everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. Paragraphs (b) and (c) of subsection (9) of section 440.49, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

440.49 Limitation of liability for subsequent injury through Special Disability Trust Fund.—

(9) SPECIAL DISABILITY TRUST FUND.—

(b) ~~The~~ The Special Disability Trust Fund shall be maintained by annual assessments upon ~~the~~ insurance companies writing compensation insurance in ~~this~~ the state, ~~the~~ commercial self-insurers under ss. 624.462 and 624.4621, ~~the~~ assessable mutuals as defined in s. 628.6011, and ~~the~~ self-insurers under this chapter, which assessments shall become due and must be paid quarterly at the same time and in addition to the assessments provided ~~under~~ in s. 440.51.

1. Pursuant to this paragraph, the department shall ~~estimate~~ annually ~~estimate~~ in advance the amount necessary for the administration of this subsection and the maintenance of ~~the~~ this fund ~~and shall make such assessment in the manner hereinafter provided.~~ By July 1 of each year, the department shall calculate the assessment rate, which must be based on the net premiums written by carriers and self-insurers, the amount of premiums calculated by the department for self-insured employers, the sum of the anticipated disbursements and expenses of the fund for the next calendar year, and the expected fund balance for the next calendar year. Such assessment rate shall take effect January 1 of the next calendar year. Such amount shall be prorated among insurance companies writing workers' compensation insurance in the state, self-insurers, and self-insured employers.

2. A reimbursement request that has been approved but remains unpaid as of June 30, 2014, must be paid by October 31, 2014. ~~The annual assessment shall be calculated to produce during the next calendar year an amount which, when combined with that part of the balance anticipated to be in the fund on December 31 of the current calendar year which is in excess of $100,000, is equal to the average of:~~

~~a. The sum of disbursements from the fund during the immediate past 3 calendar years, and~~

~~b. Two times the disbursements of the most recent calendar year.~~

~~e. Such assessment rate shall first apply on a calendar year basis for the period beginning January 1, 2012, and shall be included in workers' compensation rate filings approved by the office which become effective on or after January 1, 2012. The assessment rate effective January 1, 2011, shall also apply to the interim period from July 1, 2011, through December 31, 2011, and shall be included in workers' compensation rate filings, whether regular or amended, approved by the office which become effective on or after July 1, 2011. Thereafter, the annual assessment rate shall take effect January 1 of the next calendar year and shall be included in workers' compensation rate filings approved by the office which become effective on or after January 1 of the next calendar year. Assessments shall become due and be paid quarterly.~~

Such amount shall be prorated among the insurance companies writing compensation insurance in the state and the self-insurers.

~~3. The net premiums written by the companies for workers' compensation in this state and the net premium written applicable to the self-insurers in this state are the basis for computing the amount to be assessed as a percentage of net premiums. Such payments shall be made by each carrier and self-insurer to the department for the Special Disability Trust Fund in accordance with such regulations as the department prescribes.~~

3.4. The Chief Financial Officer is authorized to receive and shall credit to ~~the~~ such Special Disability Trust fund any sum or sums that may ~~at any time~~ be contributed to the state by the United States under an ~~any~~ Act of Congress, or otherwise, to which the state ~~is~~ may be or become entitled by reason of ~~any~~ payments made out of ~~the~~ such fund.

(c) Notwithstanding the ~~Special Disability Trust~~ fund assessment rate calculated pursuant to ~~paragraph (b) this section,~~ the rate assessed may ~~shall~~ not exceed 2.5 ~~4-52~~ percent.

Section 2. Subsection (1) of section 624.425, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

624.425 Agent countersignature required, property, casualty, surety insurance.—

(1) Except as stated in s. 624.426, no authorized property, casualty, or surety insurer shall assume direct liability as to a subject of insurance resident, located, or to be performed in this state unless the policy or contract of insurance is issued by or through, and is countersigned by, an agent who is regularly commissioned and licensed currently as an agent and appointed as an agent for the insurer under this code. However, the absence of a countersignature does not affect the validity of the policy or contract. If two or more authorized insurers issue a single policy of insurance against legal liability for loss or damage to person or property caused by ~~a~~ the nuclear energy hazard, or a single policy insuring against loss or damage to property by radioactive contamination, whether or not also insuring against one or more other perils that may be insured proper to insure against in this state, such policy if otherwise lawful may be countersigned on behalf of all of the insurers by a licensed and appointed agent of ~~the~~ any insurer appearing thereon. The producing agent shall receive on each policy or contract the full and usual commission allowed and paid by the insurer to its agents on business written or transacted by them for the insurer.

Section 3. Subsection (2) of section 627.902, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

627.902 Premium financing by an insurer or subsidiary.—

(2) ~~Nothing in~~ This part or ~~in~~ part XV of this chapter does not disallow ~~disallows~~ or otherwise apply ~~applies~~ to:

(a) Installment payment arrangements offered by an insurer if such arrangements do not involve the advancement of funds which would constitute financing and do not exceed the service charges provided under s. 627.901; or

(b) A discount for an ~~any~~ insured who pays the entire premium for the entire policy term at the inception of the term if the discount is found to be actuarially justified by the office and approved by the office pursuant to ~~the provisions of part 1 of this chapter.~~ Such actuarially justified and approved discount ~~may~~ shall not be deemed a component of or related to premium financing.

Section 4. Subsection (2) of section 627.94072, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

627.94072 Mandatory offers.—

(2) An insurer that offers a long-term care insurance policy, certificate, or rider in this state ~~shall~~ must offer a nonforfeiture protection provision providing reduced paid-up insurance, extended term, shortened benefit period, or ~~any~~ other ~~benefit~~ benefits approved by the office if all or part of a premium is not paid. A nonforfeiture provision may also be offered in the form of a return of premium on the death of the insured, or on the complete surrender or cancellation of the policy or contract. Nonforfeiture benefits and any additional premium for such benefits must be computed in an actuarially sound manner, using a methodology that has been filed with and approved by the office.

Section 5. Section 629.271, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

629.271 Distribution of savings.—

(1) A reciprocal insurer may ~~from time to time~~ return to its subscribers any unused premiums, savings, or credits accruing to their accounts. ~~Any~~ Such distribution may ~~shall~~ not unfairly discriminate between classes of risks, or policies, or between subscribers, but ~~such distribution~~ may vary as to classes of subscribers based ~~on~~ upon the experience of such classes.

(2) In addition to the option provided in subsection (1), a domestic reciprocal insurer may, upon the prior written approval of the office, pay to its subscribers a portion of unassigned funds of up to 10 percent of surplus with distribution limited to 50 percent of net income from the previous calendar year. Such distribution may not unfairly discriminate between classes of risks, or policies, or between subscribers, but may vary as to classes of subscribers based on the experience of such classes.

Section 6. Subsections (2) through (9) of section 631.54, Florida Statutes, are renumbered as subsections (3) through (10), respectively, and a new subsection (2) is added to that section to read:

631.54 Definitions.—As used in this part, the term:

(2) "Assessment year" means the 12-month period, which may begin on the first day of any calendar quarter, whether January 1, April 1, July 1, or October 1, as specified in an order issued by the office directing insurers to pay an assessment to the association. Upon entry of the order, insurers may begin collecting assessments from policyholders for the assessment year.

Section 7. Subsections (3) and (4) of section 631.57, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

631.57 Powers and duties of the association.—

(3)(a) To the extent necessary to secure the funds for the respective accounts for the payment of covered claims, to pay the reasonable costs to administer such accounts the same, and to the extent necessary to secure the funds for the account specified in s. 631.55(2)(b) or to retire indebtedness, including, without limitation, the principal, redemption premium, if any, and interest on, and related costs of issuance of, bonds issued under s. 631.695 and the funding of any reserves and other payments required under the bond resolution or trust indenture pursuant to which such bonds have been issued, the office, upon certification of the board of directors, shall levy assessments initially estimated in the proportion that each insurer's net direct written premiums in this state in the classes protected by the account bears to the total of said net direct written premiums received in this state by all such insurers for the preceding calendar year for the kinds of insurance included within such account. Assessments shall be remitted to and administered by the board of directors in the manner specified by the approved plan and paragraph (f). Each insurer so assessed shall have at least 30 days' written notice as to the date the initial assessment payment is due and payable. Every assessment shall be made as a uniform percentage applicable to the net direct written premiums of each insurer in the kinds of insurance included within the account in which the assessment is made. The assessments levied against any insurer may ~~shall~~ not exceed in any one year more than 2 percent of that insurer's net direct written premiums in this state for the kinds of insurance included within such account during the calendar year next preceding the date of such assessments.

(b) If sufficient funds from such assessments, together with funds previously raised, are not available in any one year in the respective account to make all the payments or reimbursements then owing to insurers, the funds available shall be prorated and the unpaid portion shall be paid as soon thereafter as funds become available.

(c) The Legislature finds and declares that all assessments paid by an insurer or insurer group as a result of a levy by the office, including assessments levied pursuant to paragraph (a) and emergency assessments levied pursuant to paragraph (e), constitute advances of funds from the insurer to the association. An insurer may fully recoup such advances by applying the uniform assessment percentage levied by the office to all a separate recoupment factor to the premium of policies of the same kind or line as were considered by the office in determining the assessment liability of the insurer or insurer group as set forth in paragraph (f).

1. Assessments levied under subparagraph (f)1. are paid before policy surcharges are collected and result in a receivable for policy surcharges collected in the future. This amount, to the extent it is likely that it will be realized, meets the definition of an admissible asset as specified in the National Association of Insurance Commissioners' Statement of Statutory Accounting Principles No. 4. The asset shall be established and recorded separately from the liability regardless of whether it is based on a retrospective or prospective premium-based assessment. If an insurer is unable to fully recoup the amount of the assessment because of a reduction in writings or withdrawal from the market, the amount recorded as an asset shall be reduced to the amount reasonably expected to be recouped.

2. Assessments levied under subparagraph (f)2. are paid after policy surcharges are collected so that the recognition of assets is based on actual premium written offset by the obligation to the association.

(d) No State funds may not of any kind shall be allocated or paid to the said association or any of its accounts.

(e)1.a. In addition to assessments otherwise authorized in paragraph (a), and to the extent necessary to secure the funds for the account specified in s. 631.55(2)(b) for the direct payment of covered claims of insurers rendered insolvent by the effects of a hurricane and to pay the reasonable costs to administer such claims, or to retire indebtedness, including, without limitation, the principal, redemption premium, if any, and interest on, and related costs of issuance of, bonds issued under s. 631.695 and the funding of any reserves and other payments required under the bond resolution or trust indenture pursuant to which such bonds have been issued, the office, upon certification of the board of directors, shall levy emergency assessments upon insurers holding a certificate of authority. The emergency assessments payable under this paragraph by any insurer may ~~shall~~ not exceed in any single year more than 2 percent of that insurer's direct written premiums, net of refunds, in this state during the preceding calendar year for the kinds of insurance within the account specified in s. 631.55(2)(b).

2.b. Any Emergency assessments authorized under this paragraph shall be levied by the office upon insurers referred to in subparagraph 1. sub-subparagraph a., upon certification as to the need for such assessments by the board of directors. If ~~In the event~~ the board of directors participates in the issuance of bonds in accordance with s. 631.695, emergency assessments shall be levied in each year that bonds issued under s. 631.695 and secured by such emergency assessments are outstanding, in such amounts up to such 2 percent ~~2 percent~~ limit as required in order to provide for the full and timely payment of the principal of, redemption premium, if any, and interest on, and related costs of issuance of, such bonds. The emergency assessments ~~provided for in this paragraph~~ are assigned and pledged to the municipality, county, or legal entity issuing bonds under s. 631.695 for the benefit of the holders of such bonds; in order to enable such municipality, county, or legal entity to provide for the payment of the principal of, redemption premium, if any, and interest on such bonds, the cost of issuance of such bonds, and the funding of any reserves and other payments required under the bond resolution or trust indenture pursuant to which such bonds have been issued, without the necessity of any further action by the association, the office, or any other party. If ~~To the extent~~ bonds are issued under s. 631.695 and the association determines to secure such bonds by a pledge of revenues received from the emergency assessments, such bonds, upon such pledge of revenues, shall be secured by and payable from the proceeds of such emergency assessments, and the proceeds of emergency assessments levied under this paragraph shall be remitted directly to and administered by the trustee or custodian appointed for such bonds.

3.e. Emergency assessments used to defease bonds issued under this part paragraph may be payable in a single payment or, at the option of the association, may be payable in 12 monthly installments with the first installment being due and payable at the end of the month after an emergency assessment is levied and subsequent installments being due by ~~not later than~~ the end of each succeeding month.

4.d. If emergency assessments are imposed, the report required by s. 631.695(7) must ~~shall~~ include an analysis of the revenues generated from the emergency assessments imposed under this paragraph.

5.e. If emergency assessments are imposed, the references in subparagraph (1)(a)3.b. and s. 631.695(2) and (7) to assessments levied under paragraph (a) must ~~shall~~ include emergency assessments imposed under this paragraph.

6.2. If the board of directors participates in the issuance of bonds in accordance with s. 631.695, an annual assessment under this paragraph shall continue while the bonds issued with respect to which the assessment was imposed are outstanding, including any bonds the proceeds of which were used to refund bonds issued pursuant to s. 631.695, unless adequate provision has been made for the payment of the bonds in the documents authorizing the issuance of such bonds.

7.3. Emergency assessments under this paragraph are not premium and are not subject to the premium tax, to any fees, or to any commissions. An insurer is liable for all emergency assessments that the insurer collects and shall treat the failure of an insured to pay an emergency assessment as a failure to pay the premium. An insurer is not liable for uncollectible emergency assessments.

(f) ~~The recoupment factor applied to policies in accordance with paragraph (c) shall be selected by the insurer or insurer group so as to provide for the probable recoupment of both assessments levied pursuant to paragraph (a) and emergency assessments over a period of 12 months, unless the insurer or insurer group, at its option, elects to recoup the assessment over a longer period. The recoupment factor shall apply to all policies of the same kind or line as were considered by the office in determining the assessment liability of the insurer or insurer group issued or renewed during a 12 month period. If the insurer or insurer group does not collect the full amount of the assessment during one 12 month period, the insurer or insurer group may apply recalculated recoupment factors to policies issued or renewed during one or more succeeding 12 month periods. If, at the end of a 12 month period, the insurer or insurer group has collected from the combined kinds or lines of policies subject to assessment more than the total amount of the~~ assessment paid by the insurer or insurer group, the excess amount shall be disbursed as follows:

1. The association, office, and insurers remitting assessments pursuant to paragraph (a) or paragraph (e) must comply with the following:

a. In the order levying an assessment, the office shall specify the actual percentage amount to be collected uniformly from all the policyholders of insurers subject to the assessment and the date on which the assessment year begins, which may not begin until 90 days after the association board certifies such an assessment.

b. Insurers shall make an initial payment to the association before the beginning of the assessment year on or before the date specified in the order of the office.

c. Insurers that have written insurance in the calendar year before the year in which the assessment is certified by the board shall make an initial payment based on the net direct written premium amount from the prior calendar year as set forth in the insurers' annual statements, multiplied by the uniform percentage of premium specified in the order issued by the office. Insurers that have not written insurance in the prior calendar year in any of the lines under the account which are being assessed, but that are writing insurance as of, or after, the date the board certifies the assessment to the office, shall pay an amount based on a good faith estimate of the amount of net direct written premium anticipated to be written in the subject lines of business for the assessment year, multiplied by the uniform percentage of premium specified in the order issued by the office.

d. Insurers shall file a reconciliation report with the association within 45 days after the end of the assessment year which indicates the amount of the initial payment to the association before the assessment year, whether such amount was based on net direct written premium contained in a prior calendar year annual statement or a good faith projection, the amount actually collected during the assessment year, and such other information contained on a form adopted by the association and provided to the insurers in advance. If the insurer collected from policyholders more than the amount initially paid, the insurer shall pay the excess amount to the association. If the insurer collected from policyholders an amount which is less than the amount initially paid to the association, the association shall credit the insurer that amount against future assessments. Such payment reconciliation report, and any payment of excess amounts collected from policyholders, shall be completed and remitted to the association within 90 days after the end of the assessment year. The association shall send a final reconciliation report on all insurers to the office within 120 days after each assessment year.

e. Insurers remitting reconciliation reports to the association under this paragraph are subject to s. 626.9541(1)(e). ~~If the excess amount does not exceed 15 percent of the total assessment paid by the insurer or insurer group, the excess amount shall be remitted to the association within 60 days after the end of the 12-month period in which the excess recoupment charges were collected.~~

2. The association may use a monthly installment method instead of the method described in sub-subparagraphs 1.b. and c. or in combination thereof based on the association's projected cash flow. If the association projects that it has cash on hand for the payment of anticipated claims in the applicable account for at least 6 months, the board may make an estimate of the assessment needed and may recommend to the office the assessment percentage that may be collected as a monthly assessment. The office may, in the order levying the assessment on insurers, specify that the assessment is due and payable monthly as the funds are collected from insureds throughout the assessment year, in which case the assessment shall be a uniform percentage of premium collected during the assessment year and shall be collected from all policyholders with policies in the classes protected by the account. All insurers shall collect the assessment without regard to whether the insurers reported premium in the year preceding the assessment. Insurers are not required to advance funds if the association and the office elect to use the monthly installment option. All funds collected shall be retained by the association for the payment of current or future claims. This subparagraph does not alter the obligation of an insurer to remit assessments levied pursuant to this subsection to the association. ~~If the excess amount exceeds 15 percent of the total assessment paid by the insurer or insurer group, the excess amount shall be returned to the insurer's or insurer group's current policyholders by~~

refunds or premium credits. The association shall use any remitted excess recoupment amounts to reduce future assessments.

(g) Amounts recouped pursuant to this subsection for assessments levied under paragraph (a) due to insolvencies on or after July 1, 2010, are considered premium solely for premium tax purposes and are not subject to fees or commissions. However, insurers shall treat the failure of an insured to pay a recoupment charge as a failure to pay the premium.

~~(h) At least 15 days before applying the recoupment factor to any policies, the insurer or insurer group shall file with the office a statement for informational purposes only setting forth the amount of the recoupment factor and an explanation of how the recoupment factor will be applied. Such statement shall include documentation of the assessment paid by the insurer or insurer group and the arithmetic calculations supporting the recoupment factor. The insurer or insurer group may use the recoupment factor at any time after the expiration of the 15-day period. The insurer or insurer group need submit only one informational statement for all lines of business using the same recoupment factor.~~

~~(i) No later than 90 days after the insurer or insurer group has completed the recoupment process, the insurer or insurer group shall file with the office, for information purposes only, a final accounting report documenting the recoupment. The report shall provide the amounts of assessments paid by the insurer or insurer group, the amounts and percentages recouped by year from each affected line of business, and the direct written premium subject to recoupment by year. The insurer or insurer group need submit only one report for all lines of business using the same recoupment factor.~~

~~(h) Assessments levied under this subsection are levied upon insurers. This subsection does not create a cause of action by a policyholder with respect to the levying of, or a policyholder's duty to pay, such assessments.~~

(4) The office ~~department~~ may exempt or temporarily defer any insurer from any regular or emergency assessment if the office finds that the insurer is impaired or insolvent or if an assessment would result in such insurer's financial statement reflecting an amount of capital or surplus less than the sum of the minimum amount required by any jurisdiction in which the insurer is authorized to transact insurance.

Section 8. Section 631.64, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

631.64 Recognition of assessments ~~in rates.~~—Charges or recoupments shall be separately displayed on premium statements to enable policyholders to determine the amount charged for association assessments but may not be included in rates filed and approved by the office. The rates and premiums charged for insurance policies to which this part applies may include amounts sufficient to recoup a sum equal to the amounts paid to the association by the member insurer less any amounts returned to the member insurer by the association, and such rates shall not be deemed excessive because they contain an amount reasonably calculated to recoup assessments paid by the member insurer.

Section 9. Subsection (5) of section 627.727, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

627.727 Motor vehicle insurance; uninsured and underinsured vehicle coverage; insolvent insurer protection.—

(5) Any person having a claim against an insolvent insurer as defined in s. 631.54(6) under the provisions of this section shall present such claim for payment to the Florida Insurance Guaranty Association only. In the event of a payment to a ~~any~~ person in settlement of a claim arising under the provisions of this section, the association is not subrogated or entitled to ~~any~~ recovery against the claimant's insurer. The association, however, has the rights of recovery as set forth in chapter 631 in the proceeds recoverable from the assets of the insolvent insurer.

Section 10. Subsection (1) of section 631.55, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

631.55 Creation of the association.—

(1) There is created a nonprofit corporation to be known as the "Florida Insurance Guaranty Association, Incorporated." All insurers defined as member insurers in s. 631.54(7) shall be members of the association as a condition of their authority to transact insurance in this state, and, further, as a condition of such authority, an insurer must ~~shall~~ agree to reimburse the association for all claim payments the association makes on ~~the said~~ insurer's behalf if such insurer is subsequently rehabilitated. The association shall perform its functions under a plan of operation established and approved under s. 631.58 and shall exercise its powers through a board of directors established under s. 631.56. The corporation shall have all those powers granted or permitted nonprofit corporations, as provided in chapter 617.

Father, as we see this session to an end, please help us do what is best for Florida's children. Let that be laid on our hearts and be the foundation upon which we build policy. Lord, let us find common ground to make decisions that will benefit our children, our grandchildren, and their children. For you, Lord, recognize that children are our future. When you said in the Book of Luke, "Let the little children come to me and do not hinder them, for the kingdom of God belongs to such as these." So, too, does the State of Florida belong to such as these.

So, God, let us not be blinded by the many priorities created by this world, but help us to see through your eyes and legislate according to the needs of your children. For the people of Florida are in need, Lord. Help us come together to meet these needs, as you have shown us to do. May we all remember the mercy that you have shown us and help us to return that mercy to those in need, starting with the least of these.

Lord, you know that it's not just us, as Senators, that look for your guidance and blessing, but also every person in this process. Please bless those that have spent time away from their families and long nights here working for our children's education, our communities' parks, and to preserve the beauty and nature that your hands have created. It is their hard work that help make those of us in this chamber do what is right. Lord, we thank the staff that you have blessed us with and their commitment to this great state.

Lord, you have blessed us with the friendship found in these Capitol halls. You have blessed us with the diversity needed to solve the problems that we face. Dear God, please give us the patience to hear each others' woes and the perseverance to do what is right by your word.

Thank you, dear God, for the freedom that you have granted us in this country to speak openly, bravely, and forthrightly about our own beliefs, so that we may hope to follow your word. Finally, dear God, we thank you for being an ever present help in the times of our need and for your standing beside us, preparing us for what is ahead. We ask that you hear our prayers. Amen.

PLEDGE

Senate Pages, Harrison Edwards of Dade City, and Sarah Cibula of Riviera Beach, led the Senate in the pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States of America.

SB 386—A bill to be entitled An act relating to the application of foreign law in courts; creating s. 61.040, F.S.; defining the term “strong public policy”; prohibiting a court from enforcing certain choice of law or forum selection contractual provisions; requiring a court to review judgments and orders of foreign courts for comity before enforcing such orders or judgments; specifying judgments and orders of foreign courts that are not entitled to comity; providing that certain contracts are void as against the public policy of this state; prohibiting a trial court from dismissing an action on the grounds that a satisfactory remedy may be more conveniently sought in a foreign country; providing an exception; providing applicability; providing an effective date.

—as amended April 25 was read the third time by title.

Pursuant to Rule 7.1(1), there being no objection, consideration of the following late-filed amendment was allowed:

Senator Simmons moved the following amendment which was adopted by two-thirds vote:

Amendment 1 (502398) (with title amendment)—Delete lines 20-59 and insert:

Section 1. Section 61.040, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

61.040 Application of the law of a foreign country in courts relating to matters arising out of or relating to chapters 61 and 88.—

(1) As used in this section, the term “strong public policy” means public policy of sufficient importance to outweigh the policy of protecting freedom of contract.

(2) A court may not enforce:

(a) A choice of law provision in a contract selecting the law of a foreign country which contravenes the strong public policy of this state or that is unjust or unreasonable.

(b) A forum selection clause in a contract that selects a forum in a foreign country if the clause is shown to be unreasonable or unjust or if strong public policy would prohibit the enforceability of the clause under the specific facts of the case.

(3) Before enforcing a judgment or order of a court of a foreign country, a court must review the judgment or order to ensure that it complies with the rule of comity. A judgment or order of a court of a foreign country is not entitled to comity if the parties were not given adequate notice and the opportunity to be heard, the foreign court did not have jurisdiction, or the judgment or order of the foreign court offends the public policy of this state. As used in this subsection, a "foreign court" or "court of a foreign country" includes any court or tribunal that has jurisdiction under the laws of that nation over the subject of matters governed by chapter 61 or chapter 88.

(4) Any attempt to apply the law of a foreign country is void if it contravenes the strong public policy of this state or if the law is unjust or unreasonable.

(5) A trial court may not dismiss an action on the grounds that a satisfactory remedy may be more conveniently sought in a foreign country unless the trial court finds in accordance with all the applicable rules of civil procedure and this section that an adequate alternate forum exists.

(6) This section applies only to matters governed by or relating to chapter 61 or chapter 88.

The purpose of this section is to codify existing case law, and that intent should guide the interpretation of this section.

And the title is amended as follows:

Delete lines 10-16 and insert: entitled to comity; providing that the attempt to apply the law of a foreign country is void under certain circumstances; prohibiting a trial court from dismissing an action on the grounds that a satisfactory remedy may be more conveniently sought in a foreign country; providing an exception; providing applicability; providing an effective date.

WHEREAS, the purpose of the courts of this state is to fairly and justly adjudicate disputes, and

WHEREAS, the common law and other court interpreted law of this state protects litigants from the application of unfair and unjust laws of foreign countries, and

WHEREAS, with respect to the enforceability of choice of law provisions, this act codifies the holdings of Mintz & Fraade P.C., v. Beta Drywall Acquisition, LLC, 59 So.3d 1173, 1176 (Fla. 4th DCA 2011); Walls v. Quick & Reilly, Inc., 824 So.2d 1016, 1018 (Fla. 5th DCA); and

WHEREAS, with respect to the enforceability of forum selection clauses, this act codifies the holdings of Manrique v. Fabbri, 493 So.2d 437, 440 (Fla. 1986) and Illinois Union Insurance Co. v. Co-Free, Inc., 128 So.3d 820 (Fla. 1st DCA 2013); and

WHEREAS, with respect to the enforceability of a judgment or order of a court of a foreign country, this act codifies the holding of Nahar v. Nahar, 656 So.2d 225, 229 (Fla. 3d DCA 1995); and

WHEREAS, with respect to the application of the law of a foreign state, this act codifies McNamara v. McNamara, 40 So.3d 78, 80 (Fla. 5th DCA 2010); and

WHEREAS, with respect to the dismissal of a case on the grounds that a satisfactory remedy may be more conveniently sought in a foreign country, this act codifies the result of Rule 1.061(a)(1), Florida Rules of Civil Procedure, NOW, THEREFORE,

On motion by Senator Hays, SB 386 as amended was passed, ordered engrossed and certified to the House. The vote on passage was:

RECOGNITION OF PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

On motion by Senator Thrasher, the following remarks were ordered spread upon the Journal:

Senator Lee: First, let me thank you, Mr. President, for the opportunity here. This is a really important time in any president's administration, and it's an opportunity to recognize both our Pro Tempore, as well as you, Sir, for the work you have done in leading our chamber. As someone who has been around here, along with Senator Thrasher and some others in a variety of different administrations, they are all different, they are all unique. They all take on the personality and the work style of the individuals that we put in charge.

When I came to the Senate two years ago, I didn't know Senator Richter. I knew he was a banker and that he had a deep interest in insurance issues. What I didn't know was that he had this extraordinary sense of humor and that he was such a delight to be around and a real gentleman. There are times, in the heat of the battle and the moments that take place here in the clash of ideas, where it's hard to be a gentleman. It's hard to maintain that sense of humor. He has done so with great distinction. I think he has been a tribute to the Senate. He has certainly been a tribute to you, Mr. President, because it is your job to make the choices, how you populate committees, and who you put in what assignments. To have a Pro Tempore who stands in such great stead as the second in command of this institution and who does so with such a grasp of policy and yet is able to maintain the levity that he does, where we take what we do seriously, but not ourselves. I know he has had a heavy lift down in the Gaming Committee, working with that industry, and has brought things down through the funnel pretty far. We are now waiting for a compact so he can finish the balance of his work. What a great leader. What a great honor it has been for me, Mr. Pro Tempore, to have an opportunity to get to know you and to get to work with you, and to be able to stand here on the floor of the Senate to have an opportunity to acknowledge your service to our state, to this administration, and to me, personally, in this Senate. I'm grateful for having had the privilege to get to know you, Sir. Thank you, Mr. President.

Senator Gardiner: Thank you, Mr. President. I had the opportunity of nominating Senator Richter for the role as our President Pro Tempore. At the time, I talked about his service, not only to this great state, but to our country and everything that he has sacrificed for his family and for his friends. At the time, we talked a lot about loyalty in the importance of the President Pro Tempore; they are your partner, they are your top lieutenant. They don't ask questions sometimes about, "Do I take the bullet?" The question is, "Yes sir, when do I need to take the bullet for the team?" Senator Richter is that individual. We have had the opportunity to serve in the House together. We've traveled this great state, we've traveled outside this state, and we have always enjoyed the opportunity for our families to get together.

As Senator Lee mentioned, Senator Richter is a banker. He is a leader, and when our President asked Senator Richter to take on the job of the Gaming Committee, it was, "Yes sir, I'm going to take the hill." In twelve months, maybe a little bit more, I think it's safe to say he could be one of the experts now on gaming. Senator Lee also talked about his personality and his style. I have enjoyed the battles, but I've enjoyed the laughs. Gaming is a perfect example. We've all had bills that changed over time or maybe got a little heavy or didn't make it to that final destination yet—no pun intended. But he always did it with a smile. He always did it with confidence. He's always done it in the best interests of this great state and this Senate.

Mr. President, you could not have had a better partner in this process. His advice and his guidance are exactly what a President needs on this journey. Senator Richter, I look forward to our journey together. We are going to have a lot of laughs but we're also going to have the opportunity to address some of the issues that you have been a leader on. It's an honor. It was an honor to nominate you, and it's been an honor to work with you in this process. Thank you for your service as our President Pro Tempore.

Senator Joyner: It has been an honor for me to have had the opportunity to work with Senator Richter for the past six years, long before he became the Pro Tempore. He is the loving husband to Diana; the proud father of Melissa, Elizabeth, and Robert; and the doting grandfather to Ian, Leah, Santiago, and Ignacio. I hope they are all watching today.

Senator Richter is a consummate gentleman in every sense of the word. A gentleman, who in the words of my father, "walks like he has somewhere to go." It has been quite a walk. For those of you who might not know Senator Richter, he came from humble beginnings. It was fortuitous that our paths crossed here in this Florida Senate where we have developed a close, collegial bond. One of the things that we share is that we both had wise fathers. My father always told me to look like I was wealthy and to walk like I had somewhere to go. Senator Richter is wealthy and always has somewhere to go. As a young man, he worked in a bank. He told us the story that he was a janitor, but his wise father said, "You have to dress for what you want to be." So the janitor packed his janitorial clothes in his briefcase and boarded a bus every morning with all of the executives of the bank. Of course, they all assumed that this young man was also a rising star in the world of finance. Only he and his father knew that he was dressing for what he wanted to be. When he got to work, he would go into the basement and change into his janitor's uniform. I tell you what, the lesson that his father taught him certainly worked for his professional pursuits.

He's a native of Pittsburgh. He moved to Florida in 1987 after graduating from the University of Pittsburgh and the Graduate School of Banking in Madison, Wisconsin. Before the path of academics, before treading along the hallowed halls of higher learning, Senator Richter first answered the call to serve his country. In 1969, at the height of the Vietnam War, Senator Richter joined the United States Army and won both the Vietnam Bronze Star as well as the Combat Infantry Badge. He continued his service with the U. S. Armed Forces from 1979 until 1981. He has been tried and tested from the battlefield to the boardroom.

In his distinguished banking career, including helping to establish the First National Bank of Florida and the First National Bank of the Gulf Coast, and along his route to the Florida Senate, patience has certainly been one of his virtues. Three children and four grandchildren are a testament to that. I cannot, in the six years that I have known him, recall any time that he has lost his composure no matter what pressures were brought upon him. President Gaetz made a very wise decision in appointing our friend, Senator Richter, to this important leadership position, which he has held with style and class.

You know, when he first embarked on his life's journey, he might not have actually known where he was headed, but he most certainly has arrived. He's a Senator and a banker. When you put those two together, it spells success every day.

To quote Ralph Waldo Emerson, "Patience and fortitude conquer all things." Senator Richter, your sense of honor and duty have never wavered, and you have served this Senate well. If not for the dreams you dreamed, if not for the experiences in life, if not for the paths you chose, if not for the providence of the Almighty, we likely would not be here recognizing you today.

As we know, the Senator prides himself on being a poet. He's often heard saying:

"If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs and blaming it on you;
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
But make allowance for their doubting too;
If you can wait and not be tired by waiting,
Or being lied about, don't deal in lies,
Or being hated, don't give way to hating,
And yet don't look too good, nor talk too wise.

If you can dream—and not make dreams your master;
If you can think—and not make thoughts your aim;
If you can meet with Triumph and Disaster
And treat those two imposters just the same;
If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken
Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools,
Or watch the things you gave your life to, broken,
And stoop and build 'em up with worn-out tools;

If you can make one heap of all your winnings
And risk it on one turn of pitch-and-toss,
And lose, and start again at your beginnings
And never breathe a word about your loss;
If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew
To serve your turn long after they are gone,
And so hold on when there is nothing in you
Except the Will which says to them: 'Hold on!'

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with Kings—nor lose the common touch,
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you, but none too much;
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run,
Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it,
And—which is more—you'll be a Man, my son!"

And that's our Senator Richter, President Pro Tempore of the Florida Senate.

Senator Smith: Mr. President, my script says I'm supposed to say something nice about Garrett Richter. The best thing I can say is he truly out-kicked his coverage in marrying Diana and getting her to stay with him all these years. If you can convince such a beautiful, intelligent, regal woman to first marry and then stay with you for many years, you've got to have something on the ball.

Senator Richter, as mentioned by Senator Gardiner, was what was known as a tunnel rat. He would go in with a pistol and climb through the tunnels during the war and look for problems and solve those problems. He's done that for a couple years in the Florida Senate. He is still doing that job. He is still taking his orders with pride and he is going to do his job, to do his duty. Mr. President, you've given him some orders and he's done his duty.

I first started working with Senator Richter closely on the Insurance Committee. To put him as the head of the insurance committee and to put Senator Fasano there beside him was an adventure. He performed those duties with dignity and performed well as the Insurance chair. I guess he did so well you put him in charge of Gaming and he still did a great job.

One thing about Senator Richter, he's always been a personable Senator. We are giving speeches like he's leaving but I'm glad he's sticking around. In this chamber, when there's turmoil and we start arguing and things get a little testy, especially when issues come up and we have disagreements, you can always count on Senator Richter coming over, shaking your hand and giving some advice on how to better deal with the situation whether he is involved in it or not. He has always performed his duty, sitting in that seat, watching what goes on on this floor, and always giving sage advice in calming the situation down. As the Pro Tempore, I think that's the epitome of what you should do.

The President is controlling the chamber and you are here controlling the floor and making sure that we all conduct ourselves in a professional manner. You've done that in a tremendous way and I look forward to you in the next two years, without the title, still doing that because you've done it masterfully and with pride. I've had so much fun with you. I look forward to two more years of fun and two more years of learning from you to always be professional in what we do on this floor. Thank you.

Senator Abruzzo: Mr. President, I just want to speak to one specific instance that I learned about your character that helped me to be a better legislator. Mr. President, when you graciously allowed me to come on the Gaming Committee late, you confirmed with Senator Richter and you called me in your office for a meeting. You didn't know where I was on Gaming legislation; you didn't know where my positioning was, so sure enough, being a member of the minority party, an opposite party, I thought I was going to go in and discuss my point-of-view on where I saw gaming.

When you brought me into your office, you explained your philosophy of where you believed that the state should head. You never asked my position at all. At the end of the meeting you said to me, "I am not going to ask your position, you vote how you want, I want you to do what you feel is best for your district." Members, I don't know where that happens in any legislative body, federal or state, throughout our nation that a chairman of a different party would bring in a minority member on a bill that could truly shift billions of dollars in policy for decades to come in our state. He didn't even want to know where I was on that position, he just wanted me to do what I felt was best for my district. I learned a lot from you that day, Mr. President, and it is a pleasure to serve with you and be a part of your committee.

Senator Benacquisto: All day, I've been running around giggling because I knew this was going to happen and the President Pro Tempore really didn't know the extent to which we would honor him this morning. My job is to give the gift. First, I'll take a moment to share what a gift you have been to us. To this body, we think the word that truly describes you is "honor." It is honor that drives your service to our country, your commitment to your family and your community as well as to the President and to each of us. Every time you go to the Senate Page Office and sit with those young, very impressionable kids, you speak to them about what it means to serve as a Senator. You stress the importance of honoring your family and your community for allowing you to be here. Your focus is based on that one word, "honor."

In you, we all have a friend. There isn't a person on this floor that couldn't recite a story about when you came to their aid, sometimes with a bottle of "something." It brought a smile but it built a friendship in a legacy that you feel on this floor today; for your commitment to us, for your commitment to this process, and for your commitment to the President.

He couldn't have picked a better person than you to have this journey with. You have honored him with your service, you have honored him with your tenacity, and you have honored him helping make sure we all do the right thing.

When you pick a gift for someone who has everything, what do you pick? You have a great family, your wife is amazing, your kids are great, your grandkids are just spectacular. Sometimes when we are in a long committee meeting, and no offense to anyone, but we pass the time looking at Senator Richter's grandkids. He is so proud. What do you get someone who has absolutely everything?

It is a measure of how fun you are and how much we love you that, when we present you with these gifts, you will know that we always want you to think of your time as the President Pro Tempore, with great reflection on how much fun you've had and how much fun you've brought to our lives. We love you.

SPECIAL PRESENTATION

Senators Benacquisto and Smith presented Senator Richter with a golf bag and personalized mirror in appreciation of his service as President Pro Tempore.

INTRODUCTION OF FORMER SENATORS

The President recognized former Senators, Steve Oelrich and Van Poole; former Senate President and Chief Financial Officer, Jeff Atwater; and former Senate President Mike Haridopolos and his wife, Dr. Stephanie Haridopolos, who were present in the chamber.

SPECIAL GUESTS

The President recognized former Speakers of the House of Representatives, Larry Cretul and Dean Cannon, who were present in the chamber.

President Gaetz: Senator Richter, my wife told me that I overcooked the fish when you and Diana came up to our beach house at Seaside. I was supplying you with bottles of Heineken and blandishments of other kinds to try to convince you to become the President Pro Tempore and to leave not just a comfort zone, where you were Chairman of Banking and Insurance Committee—that wasn't a comfort zone, that was a combat zone—to leave it and enter a different kind of place in the Senate where you would share with me responsibility for all of our mistakes and any victories we might win. My wife said I overcooked the fish, and I did. And I pride myself on being pretty good at cooking fish. The reason I did was because I was so focused on hoping that you would say yes. So will you and Diana please come back. I promise you I won't ask you to take on any combat missions, and I will try to cook the fish better. But we did make up for it with extra Heinekens.

When you think of the banker in your home town—I grew up in a small town—you think of somebody who is distinguished and upright. But you also really think of someone you trust. When you grow up in a family like mine, where money was dear, when we had it we put it in the bank, and we trusted Mr. Linkstead with our money. When my dad had to borrow money, because he was a rancher and he had to borrow it often, he had to go to Mr. Linkstead. He had to trust him because he had to lay out in front of him and bare his soul about what kind of business we expected, how the herd was doing, what the prices were like, how things were going. My father's banker was a man of great discretion, but he was also a flinty-eyed business person who always made sure that the money was safe, his money, and when we had any, our money. Trust. I trust Garrett Richter. I would leave my car keys, my bank book, and the key to my house with Garrett Richter any time.

This is a process where it is hard to function on written agreements. Garrett's bank has, as its logo, shaking hands. Just a handshake, that is its logo. In this process that is the stock and trade, that is the currency of the realm of the Florida Senate, a handshake. We don't ask people to write it down and sign every time we say, "Can I count on you on this?" "Will you help me understand this issue better?" "Will you be with me when I am up against the wall?" It is a handshake. I trust Garrett Richter's handshake. That is loyalty. Loyalty isn't some kind of blind faith that if you ask somebody to do something stupid or wrong that they will do it anyway just because you gave them a title. Loyalty is an interactive process where you ask somebody to do something, and at the same time, express and imply a question. "Do you think it is right?" "Do you think it will work?" "Do you think it will be fair?" That is the kind of relationship that Senator Richter and I have with each other. We are loyal to each other, loyal enough to say, as he has said to me many times, "I would crawl in off that window ledge, Mr. President, it is a long drop." "Let me help you."

You also want somebody who has solutions. My dad's banker had solutions. My dad would come in and have his story as good as he could polish it up, which often wasn't very good because the agriculture business and ranching business was always sort of a whiff. It was the business driven by the winds and the weather and the prices in Chicago. My dad's banker had solutions. He would say, "Well, Jerry, have you thought of this?" "What if you did that?" "What if you took on a partner?" "What if you didn't expand here, or what if you did expand there?" Garrett Richter has solutions. I have never gone to him while serving with him all of these years with a problem and he has just answered by saying, "Nope, can't do that." He has always said, "Have you thought of this?" "Is there another way?" "Would you reconsider part of your plan?" "Would you re-examine your assumptions, I think we can get there." He is a person who will always help us find our way. I guess when you are a tunnel rat as he was in Vietnam, a Ranger, you had to find your way. You had to find solutions; otherwise, you wouldn't come back. His wit and his grace mask a steely determination to do exactly what he says to you he will do. His thoughtfulness and his friendship are great treasures that all of us in this chamber will take when we leave this Senate.

My friend, the President Pro Tempore, Garrett Richter.

ADDRESS BY PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

SENATOR RICHTER PRESIDING

Senator Richter: Mr. President, today is supposed to be about you and your family. It's wonderful to see Vicky and Erin and Matt. I had no expectations when I walked in for a pre-session meeting, and Senator Benacquisto looked at me and she had a grin on her face like the Cheshire cat. I said, "What are you grinning at?" She just grinned back and so I thought, "Something's up." When I looked at the script of remarks in my office, it didn't have the first few pages. It only had from this point on where we start recognizing you, Mr. President. So when I came here and the script was placed on my desk, I figured I had already looked at it. It was a few moments before this all began; I looked down at the script again to see where we were and realized that people were going to talk about me. I want to thank each and every one of those who certainly stood up and elevated me to heights that I don't deserve and can't reach, and never will. Thank you for your kind, beautiful, complimentary comments. We all know in this process, I frequently say, "We just have to go home to get the disrespect we deserve." It's been a wonderful ride, and I thank you Senator Joyner, and I loved the way you told the story my father told me. Members, I don't want to go too long because we really want to celebrate and unveil our wonderful, wonderful President. But I did find it interesting and certainly a pinch emotional, hearing a lot of my lessons about people in my life who have made a difference. First was my father, who gave me comments and advice throughout the years. Second most influential was the Army. We've talked about my time in the military service. The third most inspirational person that was also mentioned is my wife and we begin our 41st year of marriage here in a few months. Diana, I love you. Forty years, 41 including the year we dated, and the advice and guidance she has given me was the greatest gift of my life and my family, was watching how Diana has guided the greatest treasures in our lives and that's our children. You've all had the opportunity to meet them a couple of years ago. Melissa, Elizabeth, and Robert, our grandchildren, and they've inherited her gift, her talent, her wonderful gift to listen.

You have five fingers at the end of your arm. We go through life, we travel through life, we go through many intersections, and we've made friends, lots of friends. Certainly, in this public arena, we've made hundreds and hundreds of friends. So you've got five fingers at the end of your hand, and you know they're always within your reach. We end up with "finger friends" I call it. We all know the type of friend I'm referring to. The friend that's at the end of your arm, at the end of your hand. There's not hundreds of them, there is only a few of them. President Gaetz, I consider you a "finger friend," somebody that has always been there, that is so generous with your praise of me, but also generous with your time for me. Thank you, thank you, thank you. It has been great working with you.

We think about things in military terms: When we would run a mission in Vietnam, we would go in line, and the two key people in the line are the point person and the person at six o'clock. The six o'clock person had to make sure nobody came up behind you, and the point person had to be your eyes in moving forward. As a leader, you have not only walked point for the Florida Senate, and at the same time, you've watched behind us, too. You've taken us down the trail; you've taken us to the objective. We have followed you, your leadership, the manner, style, and dignity that you have led should be emulated by anybody and everybody that ever wants to move into a role of leadership. Everybody has said this session, and last year, have just been phenomenal. It's the changes, it's the leadership, it's the sifting through, and eliminating the awkward of politics, if you will, in search of meaningful policy. Thank you for your wonderful leadership.

SPECIAL GUESTS

Senator Richter recognized Lieutenant Governor Carlos Lopez-Cantera; and Speaker of the House of Representatives Will Weatherford and his wife, Courtney Weatherford, who were present in the chamber.

RECOGNITION OF PRESIDENT

SPECIAL GUESTS

Senator Richter introduced President Gaetz's wife, Vicky Gaetz, their son, Representative Matt Gaetz, and daughter, Erin Gaetz, who were present in the chamber. Senator Richter also welcomed friends and family of the Gaetz family who were present in the gallery.

VIDEO PRESENTATION

A video tribute was played honoring President Gaetz.

RETIRING OF PORTRAIT

Senator Richter: Senate President Charles Edgar Davis was a Democrat from Madison. At the age of 42, he served as the Senate's 34th President during the 1915 Legislative Session. President Davis was born in Jefferson County in 1873 and graduated from the University of Florida in Lake City. He received his law degree from Washington and Lee University before being elected to the Florida House in 1909. In 1911, he was elected to represent Senate District 10 until 1917.

In 1929, Senator Davis was appointed as one of three Supreme Court Commissioners and served until 1932. Senator Davis passed in 1958 at the age of 85.

Senator Davis was the father of two children, daughter Florina and son W. Turner Davis, who also entered public service. His son represented Senate District 10 for 20 years and served as Senate President in 1955. They are the only father and son in the state's history to have served as Senate President.

SPECIAL GUESTS

Senator Richter introduced former Senator Charles Edgar Davis' family who was present in the gallery: daughter, Florina; grandson, Bob McClure, Jr., and his wife, Rae; grandson Charlie McClure and his son, Charlie McClure, Jr.; great grandchildren Mary Ann McClure Robinson with husband David, Leila McClure, and Bob McClure III; nieces Missy Davis Whiddon and Kathy Davis Dilworth with her husband Schuyler; and their mother June Davis.

Senator Sachs: I think it's significant that President Davis, whose painting we are retiring at this time, was a Democrat. As you look around at all the various presidents, you have to go pretty far before you find another Democrat. I honor today President Don Gaetz, as someone who knows him in battle, knows him to be a great campaigner. I speak as someone who recognizes a man whose true metal is found not in how he treats his friends, not when the ease and comfort is there, but when the battle lines are drawn. I can say, as someone in this chamber, that Don Gaetz was tough on the battlefield of politics. Let's now talk about policy, because when I came into this chamber last year, I had just come from a tough battle. Don Gaetz and I sat down and we had a little discussion, and after we walked away with a big hug, I knew that Don Gaetz had become President Gaetz. For that, I have tremendous respect for you, President Gaetz.

You know, it was a great Republican president, who after the Civil War said that we will lead our nation forward with malice towards none, and mercy towards all. President Gaetz, that is what you reminded me of last year at the end of one campaign and the beginning of your presidency. I've come to you many, many times. Many of us Democrats have come to you and your door has always been open. You have always been very accepting and very motivational to have all of us think great things.

I know you have a tremendous admiration for Winston Churchill, and I respect that because I find he was a man, like you Mr. President, whose true metal was found in the wages of war, in battles that he lost but still rose up and became a great leader. One of his quotes that I have reminds me of you when he said, "There is no time for ease and comfort. It is the time to dare and endure."

You have allowed us, as Democrats, to go with you to think great things that we can do in this Senate and for this state, as Senators; not as Republicans and Democrats. That is a true metal of a man.

You have put it down, not just with your leadership, but you have had the tremendous partnership with Vicky Gaetz. Because it's one thing to be a wife, it's a wonderful thing and I am a proud wife of a very successful man, but it is something else to be a partner. Vicky Gaetz is your partner, Mr. President. Along with your children, Erin and Matthew. When you think great things for the Senate and for the people of Florida, the first family stands with you. That is very rare. For that, I congratulate you and I honor you and Vicky. I know that as a leader, you have been a leader to all of us. So even though we retire as Democrats, there aren't too many of us left, we put your portrait up. Not as a political leader, but as a true President leader of lots of Senators. Hopefully, later on in your career, as a leader for the people of Florida. Thank you, it has been an honor serving with you, Sir. Thank you.

Senator Negron: Late last night in the Senate President's Office we had a budget exercise based on our negotiations with the House during conference. We had to reduce the water allocation in the Senate budget by about 7 million dollars. So the President and I were there to begin that process and the President turned to me and said, "I want the first project cut to be my project, if I have one in the budget, and then I want the projects from Northwest Florida cut and then we will get to the rest of the members." As the Appropriations Chair I turned to him, because I work for him, and I protested pretty vehemently that this is not the way that things should work. The President said, "Leaders sleep on the grounds with their troops." We reduced Northwest Florida and we reduced the President's projects.

The second thing that I want to briefly mention is last summer, due to discharges from Lake Okeechobee, there was serious environmental damage to the Treasure Coast which I represent and also to Southwest Florida which Senator Richter and Senator Benacquisto represent. I called the President to at least begin the discussion about what we could possibly do. The President said, "When we had the oil spill in Northwest Florida, you and everyone else came to Northwest Florida to assist our community. I want you to know that the entire resources of the Senate will be there to serve your community." You didn't just say that in words. You followed up with a Select Committee that met in Martin County on August 22nd and you have supported, every step of the way, the efforts of Southwest Florida and Southeast Florida to responsibly address this issue. So on behalf of the constituents of District 32, thank you, Sir.

Senator Ring: There are three of us left from the class of 2006; Senator Joyner, myself, and President Gaetz. Senator Oelrich over there, he was also a member of probably one of the smallest classes I think that has come into the Florida Senate. We have had the chance to spend about eight years together, and we got our little two bonus years. We have been together since the beginning, and I have had a chance to meet the family and spend time together. I definitely think Erin chose the best career path. There is no question about that. She was the smartest one in the family in that regard.

Just a couple of quick things, a few years ago when President Gaetz was going to be designated as President, he called me up and asked me if I could say a few words. Unfortunately, that was when I got sick. Right after he was designated, he came and he visited me. It was really nice that he came down all the way from Pensacola and he spent some time. We went for breakfast. We spent a couple of hours together. I was in pretty bad shape, but he did come and visit me at that point, and I could certainly never forget that.

We were fortunate, and I think President Gaetz and Senator Joyner would agree, that for our first years in office we had President Ken Pruitt. I think we were very fortunate about that because what he did is he led from the bottom up. I remember him saying to us, "I want everyone in this chamber to succeed." President Gaetz has really taken that to a different level as well. He does want everyone in this chamber to succeed, and I know his success because out of every member in this body he is the least popular with the lobbyist corp. He is not afraid to say, "no" to the lobbyist. He certainly believes that Democrat or Republican we are all elected as Senators. It is not partisan, yes we have our 26 - 14 votes, but this is not about partisanship. This is about the fact that there is an equality in here. When you have a leader that says, "You know what, every member in this chamber is a lot more important than any single person that is standing between these two chambers right now." You know we are very, very fortunate with that, because the lobbying community did not control the 2013-2014 Florida Senate. We knew that President Gaetz, from the bottom up, controlled that. I think to me that is the great lesson that I have taken from President Gaetz. It is about the members; Democrat or Republican, it doesn't really matter. It is not about the lobbying community. It is not about who is giving the most money. It is about the ideas that each person here has. If President Gaetz likes that idea, it doesn't matter where you are from or what political party you are; he is going to try to drive home that idea for you. I always say a lot of what we do here we can take to the five yard line and it is up to leadership to take it through the end zone for us. I know for me he has done that multiple times because he has not just been a leader for these two years, he has been a leader for Senator Joyner and me for the last eight years. I congratulate you and Vicky and Matt and Erin and thank you so much for allowing me to serve with you for these last eight years. Thank you.

Senator Detert: Thank you, Mr. President. It's a real honor to be able to stand up and say great things about Don Gaetz because I am a true believer, and have been for a long time. What Senator Negron said is right: what your leadership has demonstrated to us, in fact, is we are state Senators, we care about the whole state, we're not regional Senators, and you've always made that clear. Along with Senator Montford, I knew you back in your education days. You came and spoke to my commerce committee when I chaired it in the House. I had heard about the man with the plan from the Panhandle and what a great thing you did. It was always a problem in education if you told parents their kid wasn't college-bound. They thought you wrote their kid off. Don Gaetz went out to his community and discovered what jobs are out there, showed the plan to the kids, got them to buy in, explained to them that there are good jobs, trained them, and almost offered a money-back guarantee to his graduates. So thanks to Don Gaetz, Florida students' diplomas mean more than in any other state as far as I'm concerned. People love to beat up on us, but when you look at the numbers, we're doing a great job in education and a lot of that is thanks to all the work Don Gaetz has done as a school superintendent, as a Senator, as a President.

We share a love for Teddy Roosevelt quotes and it's been mentioned before, the quote I like that I think most applies to you is, "The most practical kind of politics is the politics of decency." I think no one would disagree with the fact that you've demonstrated the policy of decency throughout your whole career and here in the Senate. Vicky, what a great honor it was to get to know you and what a great partner you are, and all the late hours he puts in, you put in, too. We've all seen it, and it's hard. If you both didn't have great passion and love for our state, you wouldn't do it as heartily as you do it. Your effort has been duly noted, really.

So I just want to end by saying that if it wasn't for Don Gaetz, foster care kids would still be put out on the streets on their 18th birthday. Thanks to you, they're not. Thanks to you, a lot of great things happened in this state. Thanks to you, I think you have helped to make us one of the greatest states. I always knew you'd be terrific. Lobbyists were concerned about you and I said, "Hey! I don't care. He's my guy. I think he's going to be great!" You have exceeded my expectations, and my expectations were high. I think what you have done absolutely broke the mold and demonstrated what good government should look like, and it's wonderful. Hopefully, we will keep going in the direction you started us on. I would like to end by saying, the folks in the gallery probably know you truly are the man from Niceville. You've been wonderful; it's been an honor to serve under you and thank you so much.

Senator Montford: Thank you, Mr. President. Just as a point of clarification, Senator Negron, when y'all were talking last night about cutting water projects, it was Northwest Florida's District 1 and 2, not 3, so we don't want you to forget that. Let me take just a moment to thank the President. Everything we heard about you, Mr. President, when you were on the board as the Superintendent were all good things, just wonderful, believe me.

I want to thank you for the compliments that you have paid me, and I don't even think you knew it. One was when you asked me to be part of the nominating process. That meant a tremendous amount to me, and it touched me that you would reach out and ask me to do that. Second, before I was even sworn in, after I got elected, I called the President's Office, President Haridopolos' Office. The chief of staff said, "Are you in the building?" I said, "No, I'm down in another office." "Well why don't you come up? The President is here." I had never met President Haridopolos. I walked into the office and President Haridopolos and President Gaetz were there. We had a very open and frank discussion getting to know each other, President Haridopolos and I. President Gaetz said something that I remember today. He looked over at President Haridopolos and said, "Mr. President, he's just different. He's just different, but he's a good man." Where I grew up in Blountstown, that is the best compliment that someone can say about someone else: he's a good man. I say that because in my upbringing, there were tough times. I look back on it and there were times when people were paid, not in currency, but they were paid with produce and meat and so on. The one thing that always resonated with me and my parents was when I heard my parents say, "He's a good man." You can't beat that as a compliment.

So, Mr. President, you are a good man. That means a great deal to me personally, and it means a great deal to the people of Florida. I believe that most people know that when they say that someone is a good man, that means that he cares for those who are sometimes underrepresented and those who are in need. Most importantly, when they say, "He is a good man," that means he's a man of integrity, honesty, and trust. A good man is a man whose word is his bond, and you're a good man, Mr. President. I've enjoyed working with you and you've done more for those in education, the young people, than anybody that I've ever worked with. It's been an honor and a pleasure.

Senator Lee: Well thank you, Mr. President. I know we are going on here a little bit. The Legislature is steeped in tradition and so is this Senate. Among those traditions, this is probably one of the most important. I remember having a conversation with the President's son, Matt, outside the Capitol one day. It's been a pleasure getting to know him. He said, "Who we select to run this place is probably the most important decision we make." He's right. I remember as if it was yesterday, this moment during my time as Senate President. It was very emotional for me. I was here with my two kids. They were the most important things to me in my life, at the time, and I made sure they were a part of that portrait that hangs in the chamber. I was never able to talk about my kids much publicly. I do remember saying at the time that I couldn't believe that my colleagues had selected me to lead this chamber. I looked around, and they all kind of looked like they were agreeing with me. They couldn't believe it either, which just goes to show you humility and self-deprecating humor isn't always rewarded in Tallahassee. But on that day, I too was joined by people in both galleries from my community. They had lifted me up, Sir, just like they have lifted you up. They sent you here to represent them in the purest form and the purest representation of our representative democracy. They asked you to serve them in the Senate. This is their victory today. This is the culmination of a lot of years of hard work on your part. It's a tribute to the folks from the Panhandle that sent you here. You rose to a position to lead this chamber, to be able to represent them with distinction and honor. I know how proud you are to represent them. I hope they are half as proud to have you as a representative as you are to be their Senator.

I also know that your family has made an extraordinary sacrifice. I have always said it is the families and friends who pay the price for our ambition. This is an extraordinary tribute to them this morning as we unveil your portrait for all that they have sacrificed, Vicky and the children, and those who are close to you. I know the sacrifices of public service, and there is none more demanding than being President of the Senate. I am happy for you, Mr. President.

I am proud to have had your support when I ran for the Senate again. I appreciate and respect you so much. I have told this to the Governor and I have said it to you, "Our best Senate Presidents are people who find their way to that office behind the chamber, and they enter it without it having been the most difficult and challenging position they have ever faced in life." We are always at our best when we have a leader who has had to make the tough decisions that you have had to make under the pressure cooker that you have had to operate in. People who have a great deal of wisdom and experience in dealing with public policy, in your case health care and public education. Folks who have lived as fathers, as husbands, as business people, and have a vast array of experience in life. There are no two people who personify that more than our Governor and you, Mr. President. For all that you have done here in public life, it pales in comparison to what you have done in your private life. While I am sure you are much more proud of the things you have done on behalf of the people in the State of Florida than anything you have accomplished personally, it is those experiences that prepared you so well to do this job, and why I believe you have done so well.

I will close with just one solemn reminder because this isn't entirely positive this morning. I know that this applies to Speaker Weatherford, it applies to Courtney's father, Allan Bense, and to someone who resides on the floor of this Senate, and it certainly applies to me. Your portrait hanging there Mr. President, will be a constant reminder of the effects of gravity upon the human body as you move around the chamber. Sir, it is an honor to serve with you, and it is an honor to be able to stand and acknowledge the support you have had from the people in your community, and the people that you call your family. We are grateful for your services, your contributions, and your sacrifices to the Florida Senate. Thank you.

Senator Hays: Thank you, Mr. President. I want to point out to the members that your generosity on water projects was not a spur of the moment thing just yesterday. You came to me two weeks ago when you knew that our budget was not what we hoped it would be. You said, "Alan, cut it, cut it, cut it." Folks, this gentleman is a leader, a man for whom I have great respect. The words that Senator Montford used to describe you—honesty, integrity, a man of your word, a good man—I echo those sentiments. I appreciate your friendship. Vicky, what a queen you are. Jeanne just loves you. The friendship you've extended to her, we are just so grateful for it. Mr. President, you and I don't agree on everything, but one of the things that I appreciate so much is the perpetual respect that we have for each other. We can disagree without being disagreeable and still be friends. I appreciate that very much. Thank you for being a real leader.

Senator Sobel: Thank you. I first would like to thank the Gaetz family, especially Vicky. When I first met Vicky, I learned about her talents as a campaign manager for Matt. How tirelessly she worked to help get him elected, taking care of all the data, and all the issues. It is very hard to be in political life. To have family support you, is the most important thing. If you have a supportive spouse you can do anything. Vicky Gaetz was there for Don Gaetz, Matt Gaetz, and Erin. Whatever you want to do, she will be there for you, as well. So, thank you to the Gaetz family, a wonderful First Family in the Florida Legislature.

I also want to thank the Senate President for working across the aisle. Many Democrats have come forward and have spoken today about the bipartisan effort the Senate President has made. The Senate President and I are very different in our backgrounds. He comes from a small town in North Dakota. I come from a big town, Brooklyn, New York. I don't know if he has ever visited New York, but I've never visited North Dakota. I've been all around the world to many countries. Some people call me a liberal; a lot of people call the Senate President a conservative. When I first met him, he told me, "Do you know where I come from?" He said, "Niceville." I said, "Oh, where is Niceville?" He knew where Broward County was located. He had heard and knew a lot about Broward County. So we come from very different backgrounds.

Yet, why is it that we are such good friends since we are so different? First of all, the Senate President is a very good listener. He listens to what we have to say and then comes up with the kind of solution that you and he can agree to. He has a wonderful ability to communicate. Many Democrats are happy he was in the chair for the last two years because once he gets back to the floor we are going to be in trouble. He has a wonderful ability to debate and was excellent in the committees. I truly missed him in some of the committees that we were on together as we agreed and debated on many issues. He has a lot of common sense, and I believe he is a very practical guy.

The biggest attribute that I enjoyed was his ability to empower me. By the way, folks, I was never chair of a committee and I never served on Health and Human Services, the child welfare committee. Here I am, given this tremendous responsibility, and I thank you for that. I constantly think of his poster about Churchill which says "Never, never, never give up." I agree with that. He instilled that in me. He does work to try to get to "Yes." I think that's a value he has and a personality trait that we all enjoy.

When I asked him about being a chair, he said to me, "Sobel, you're the chair, you decide." I said, "But sometimes I feel like a step stool, not a chair." He said, "Yes, you are the chair, and you will make the decisions, and I will help you get to where you want to be." So, I'm really thankful for that, for your empowering me in that way.

Florida has truly made history under your leadership. Everybody that got up has said that about you. You are a great friend of Florida, a great friend to the Legislature, and my special friend. We will never, ever and I will never, ever give up. Thank you very much.

Senator Thrasher: This is going to be tough, so I am going to start with a story. Some of you may remember before I got here I was a lobbyist and did okay in that regard. One of my stories I like to tell was how I really got to know Don Gaetz as a lobbyist. I know I've heard some of you talk about how the lobbying core out there was probably not as friendly to him as the ones inside here. Well, I was lobbying on an issue I thought was pretty important to my area and to the folks I represented in that context. Senator Gaetz had an opposite view of that position and we went all session long, back and forth, talking to the Governor, and talking to everybody. At the end of the day, I lost. I didn't lose many as a lobbyist, but I lost that one. That's when I really got to understand how effective, and how great this man really was. The President reached out to me after that and patted me on the back and said, "Good job, good fight, and let's move on." Well I did move on to the Florida Senate, and right away recognized his leadership capabilities. Whatever you do over here, I guess you sign cards and all that. I'd never done that in the House. In fact, I've never had a card signed for me in the House, but I signed one immediately for Don Gaetz. Because I recognized already what a leader he was and what a great person he would be for this Senate.

I don't think any of us have been disappointed, Mr. President. You know the sayings Joe, Lizbeth, and I talked about, "Don Gaetz sayings." We mentioned a couple of them in the video. My favorite one is, "measure twice and cut once." Have you ever heard that Matt or Erin? I've heard it a lot. What he means by that or what I think he means by that is basically saying to all of us "let's do our homework. Let's get it right." That's what he has lived by as President of this Senate. Let's don't take short cuts. Let's don't do things that aren't in the public's interest. Let's do things well.

John Phelps often tries to make me more scholarly than I am because I'm not or at least to some people down the street. John Phelps often gives me books and other things to read. One of them, Mr. President, is a quote about what makes a good legislature. Here is what it says, "It's hard to imagine a legislature without leadership. In such a legislature, power, and responsibility would be equally distributed among the members. No one would have principal responsibility. Leadership, however, is critical for the legislature to perform."

So we talk a lot in here about policy and that's the right thing to talk about. This President, in my opinion, has done something else that I think is important for each and every one of us and for the legacy of this institution. That makes each and every one of us a part of this great Senate. You've done that through the committee structure, Mr. President, by putting every member on two appropriations committees and by putting some of us on ten committees. My point is everyone in here has had an opportunity to affect public policy in the area they want to.

I do think the other key role as a presiding officer is to protect the minority. Let them have their say and let them be a part of the process. Two people have spoken about their committee chairmanships and the experience that you have offered to them. This is good public policy in this state. That's an extraordinary leader and I think every one of us in here understands that this is a partisan process. You have been a bipartisan president in your leadership.

I look at the other things you have done to protect this institution and, having done this job, I am honored to serve with you and President Haridopolos. I've heard from my good friend, Senator Latvala, and others who have been here a long time that there's nothing more important than making sure this institution, and its integrity, and credibility are protected. Again, Mr. President, you have done that. Its process and policy are always important, but the end result of having performance by the members makes a difference in this process.

Vicky, Jean and I love you. We appreciate your children, Erin and Matt. I like Don better than I do Matt right now, but Matt's okay. He's a good boy. We're going to learn to like Matt one of these days. Mr. President, your family is extraordinary. Your gift of leadership, your gift of loving your family, your gift of loving your God, and your gift of loving this country and this state are unparalleled. Yours will be a legacy that will be hard to follow for many years to come. But I think once that picture is up there as Senator Lee said, every time we look up there we'll recognize that you have been an extraordinary leader for this state and an extraordinary leader for this Senate. You certainly left it better than you found it. We wish you the very best. Godspeed.

INTRODUCTION OF FORMER SENATORS

Senator Richter recognized former Senators Ron Silver, Rudy Garcia, and Al Lawson, who were present in the chamber.

Senator Richter: Husband Don Gaetz, you are a role model; father Don Gaetz, you are a role model; Superintendent Don Gaetz, you are a role model; businessman Don Gaetz, you are a role model; Senator Don Gaetz, you are a role model; and President Don Gaetz, you are a role model for the entire state of Florida, thank you.

Senator Gardiner: Thank you, Mr. President. I will be brief. I know we are about to embark on seeing the portrait. I want to say a few things. You and I have had the opportunity to know each other for a while now. There are several of us here that not only have worked in this legislative process, but we've worked in the other process, the political process and have been a part of traveling together. As Speaker Thrasher said, it's sort of the old Ernest Hemingway quote, "the movable feast," where we all seem to go together. I would comment that we all had on our Senate uniform, which was the khakis and blue blazer, and we'd do the meetings. To see you in that process and the leadership that you showed for all the members of the majority, to do what was necessary to make sure each and every one of us had the opportunity to come back. It was because of this man and the leadership that he has shown. Then to come to the Senate and be our presiding officer. I have learned more in the last three days about leadership than I've ever seen in my life. This individual, our President, to see him negotiate, to discuss, and to protect the Senate; to protect each of us in this budget process has been incredible.

With the hanging of the portrait, it is not only a recognition of the President, but it is a discussion about transition. In every step of the way our President, for me personally, has had an open door. He has provided me the guidance and wisdom, more than I can ever express publicly. Usually, when I would come to see the President, he would say, "Whatever you need." That means so much to anybody who is going to lead this chamber; to be associated with somebody who looks at those that will follow and provides everything that is necessary. Members, our President's portrait will hang a hundred years, give or take, in this chamber. There will come a day when a presiding officer is going to have his or her portrait hung there, and he or she will tell the story of Don Gaetz. He or she will read off all the accomplishments, all the bills, all the things that were done during his service. But I think he or she will also say that he truly was a servant leader. He truly provided the guidance for this chamber. I hope that the record will also show that his constituents, his friends, his family traveled not just from his home but from all over the state to come and thank him for everything that he has done.

Mrs. Gaetz, this is not only a celebration for our President, it's a celebration for you. Everything that you have shown to Camille and me and to our family, every leader, every First Lady who is a part of this process will look at the Gaetz family and say they are the model for the leaders of this chamber.

Mr. President, thank you. I'm also grateful that while we hang your portrait we will be putting you back in the game in committees. Fifteen committees, exactly. A little pay back, Mr. President. But he is not going anywhere. That is what's exciting about this. He's presided over this chamber, but be ready. He will be on this floor. He will be debating. He'll be fighting for the issues that he believes in. Mr. President, thank you. Thank you for your wisdom. Thank you for your guidance to me, personally. Thank you for everything you have done for this Senate and the State of Florida.

UNVEILING OF PORTRAIT

Senator Richter invited President Gaetz, his wife, Vicky Gaetz, their son, Representative Matt Gaetz, and daughter, Erin Gaetz, to the front of the chamber where the President's portrait was unveiled by Sergeant at Arms Donald Severance. The portrait was created by artist Jie Ruan of Leon Loard Commissioned Portraits.

Senator Smith: I stand as Minority Leader but, President Gaetz, I also stand on behalf of my two brothers, Rod and Chris Smithmyer. We've had a lot of eloquent speeches about President Gaetz. I just want to give some more technical things that he has done that make him such a good president from the minority standpoint. We all know that President Gaetz has done well in business. I don't know how because when it comes to dealing with the minority, he is a terrible negotiator. Every time I have gone to him on staffing issues and monetary issues, he has always relented after a couple of visits. He has always been very fair. He's relented and given many tools for the tool box in the minority office. When I go to him for bills that minority members have, he relents and makes sure that everyone has a say in this process. He makes sure that everyone has a chance to be heard and get their bills heard, too. With dollars in the budget going to him for big ticket items and even the smaller issues, he makes sure that the minority's view point on the budget is always heard.

Something that President Gaetz does a lot is that he travels the halls of the Senate. There have been about three times that Carlecia has told me that the President wants to see me. Most of the time, I get a buzz from out front that President Gaetz is out front. He's in the office, looking for me. Or I'll get a text in committee that President Gaetz is on his way to talk to me. Well, actually, it says, "OMG, what have you done? Gaetz is looking for you." He travels the halls and he'll come and visit you in your office. He'll come to the committee and visit with you. You don't get called to the principal's office. A lot of times, it's regarding an issue that he's just concluded a big meeting on. Before he makes a final decision, he wants to make sure the minority numbers are okay with it. He makes sure that we understand what's about to happen. We can then govern ourselves accordingly as it's coming up. That's very good. He is good on follow-up. Many times, I've gone to him with an urgent issue, I've called Chris in his office and said, "Man I really need to see the President." Then I'll forget about it and go home. Later, I'll get a text message or a phone call that night saying, "Hey, you know that issue that you came to me about? Here is my answer." I have to say, "Hey, remind me of the issue again." He's very good on follow-up and protocol in this chamber.

One thing I've noticed over the past two years is that if it's important to you as a Senator, it's important to him. If it's a group to be recognized, even a group that he doesn't philosophically agree with, you recognize them. He always follows up with that group, saying, "Welcome to the Florida Senate." If there is something you want to do on the floor, a point of personal privilege, or some issue you want to bring up on the floor, just to get it off your chest and discuss on the floor, he is very good on protocol in Robert's Rules of Order. He is always very good in humanity and says, "If it's important to you and you want to express it on the Senate floor, you are just as important on the Senate floor as any other member."

I started off talking about my brothers, Rod and Chris Smithmyer. During the last campaign cycle, there were a number of things done during the campaign. During the summer and leading into the fall, I was told numerous times, "Oh man, you messed up. Gaetz is mad at you. It's going to be terrible. You are going to have a terrible working relationship. Nothing is going to get done." After November, after the election date, he and I talked and that issue has never come up again—at least not from him. Other members, we joke about it but we learn in this chamber through your leadership that campaigns stop and the work begins. Campaign issues have never been brought into the chamber even though campaigns can be contentious.

Another good thing that you do is that you slow down the process. Members have seen this and those that watch this chamber have seen this. President Gaetz is real good at slowing down the process. If there is a problem and a member says, "Hey, I've got an issue," President Gaetz has no problem, no matter how important the bill, saying, "Let's temporarily postpone the bill. You guys work it out and we'll come back to it later." President Gaetz, many times, has brought up bills that have passed but there was a problem, so we bring it back up, temporarily postpone it, and work it out. Usually it's because someone didn't know what was going on because something happened too fast. With many issues that happened on this floor, no matter how close the votes, no matter how far away the votes, he has done an excellent job of slowing down the process. I can say that there isn't any bill or issue that has passed this process where we have not had time to vet it if we wanted to. Many times, with bills that have passed, the Rules Chair will stand up and bring the bill back because an amendment got on it that we weren't sure about. The amendment may stay or it may come off. He's done a great job at slowing down this process.

Lastly, when we talk about the leaders of this chamber, we talk about strength. I think President Gaetz has been a very strong president because he has defended the democracy within this chamber. Strength is not how many bills you can push through or how many issues you can force your chamber to pass, or how many times you can wrangle 21 votes and get a bill through. It's recognizing that we are all elected. It's recognizing that there are 39 other people in this chamber that walked door-to-door. Thirty-nine other people knocked on doors and asked people to vote for them. Thirty-nine other people in this chamber received votes just like him. The votes in North Florida are not different from those in South or Central Florida. We all are equal. The strength of the presidency is saying, "I'm going to put the issue out there and you guys vote on it." Even though he feels a certain way about it and he may talk to a few members on it, his strength is in standing up for democracy. Even on issues that he really wanted, he showed the strength to let democracy work and let us vote on issues as a chamber. To me, that is true strength, true humility, and that is a true leader. I thank you for being that great leader for all Senators and a great leader for the State of Florida, Mr. President.

Senator Benacquisto: I have the unenviable task of standing between you and your President. I am going to say a few words. First, to Vicky, who keeps him happy and keeps a smile on his face. She always makes sure that he is focused in the right direction. He has a true backbone of family support so that we can have him here with us for as much time as we need him. For that, we'll always be thankful. We know how hard it is to be the President and to take that time away from your family. You have made it so easy for him. In making it easy for him, you've made it easy for everyone's spouses and we thank you for that.

I am going to start with a little quote because when you are speaking about President Gaetz, you have to get it right. In the words of Winston Churchill, "I have never accepted what many people have kindly said, namely that have I inspired the nation. It was the nation and the race dwelling all around the globe that had the lion heart. I had the luck to be called upon to give the roar." That is you, Mr. President. You have given the roar for cancer patients, foster children, veterans, school children, the disabled, small businesses, big businesses, individuals, and for people who needed someone to be their champion. That was you. The roar was mighty but the roar was kind. The roar is something we will never forget. Nor will those whose lives are better off by what you have done; whose lives are enriched by policies you have advanced; and whose lives are all that much brighter and their opportunities stronger because of the gifts you brought to the Florida Senate through your leadership.

I am going to take you members to a moment in time. It was the mid-1930s. The entire globe was recovering from World War I and quickly moving to World War II. Japan had invaded China, sparking a war that would last well into the next decade. Germany was preparing its military to devour more land, more cities, and more lives. Spain was fighting a civil war where hundreds of innocent men and women lost their lives. With a vulnerable economy and war to all sides, challenging decisions lay ahead for Britain's leaders, like Winston Churchill. Mr. Churchill is the President's favorite historical figure. It is no wonder because, like President Gaetz, Churchill was a brilliant wordsmith, a dedicated historian, and a fearless leader. He was a man who knew when trouble was on the horizon, and he stood strong in the face of it. I'm pretty sure that Winston Churchill knew what a left-handed kenifer valve was and I'm pretty sure he could have fixed it. In one of those moments, Winston Churchill wrote a letter to his friend. The friend, Nicholas Murray Butler, was the President of Columbia University and would go on to win a Nobel Prize. Butler reached out to Winston Churchill, beseeching him to come to the United States. Churchill penned a letter, sending his regrets for being unable to leave England and his people. The letter said, "Everything is so uncertain. The power of evil is strong." Like any great leader, Churchill stayed and led his nation through the darkness into the light. That is what President Gaetz has done for us.

As we emerge from one of the most difficult times in Florida's history, our president has been fearless. He has helped lead us forward, to a time when Florida is a beacon of light across the United States for what is good. Mr. President, we love you. With the help of a good friend named John Phelps, we have a present for you. It is that very letter that Winston Churchill wrote to his friend. It will serve as a constant reminder of what you have done for us; how you continue to inspire us; and how we know when moments are bad and evil and trouble is all around, you will inspire us to stay strong. Please join Leader Smith and me in pulling the ribbon on what is the gift from the entire Florida Senate.

SPECIAL PRESENTATION

Senators Benacquisto and Smith presented the President with a framed letter written by Winston Churchill.

Senator Smith: For those in the chamber, the letter is the actual letter that Winston Churchill wrote as Senator Benacquisto spoke about—the picture of Winston Churchill and the actual letter of regret that he sent. Because we think so much of the President and he means so much to this entire chamber, we are glad to present to him this letter, written by Winston Churchill.

ADDRESS BY PRESIDENT

THE PRESIDENT PRESIDING

President Gaetz: Thank you all very much. That was extraordinarily touching and way too long. I want to particularly thank Senator Negron and Senator Hays, in front of hundreds of people who are my voters back home, for letting them know that I sacrificed their water project. I still have one or two things I can do.

When the covering was lifted off the portrait, my daughter, Erin, leaned over and asked me, "Dad, what's that paper you're holding?" I looked and, sure enough, it's the beer bill. Actually, when the artist came into my office, he said, "Pick up that law that you just signed." There were two on my desk, Senator Legg's landmark legislation expanding career-technical education to every student in Florida and then there was Senator Latvala's historic bill, the sweeping reform of public ethics we're all so proud originated in this Senate. I honestly don't know which law I picked up for the artist, but I prefer to believe that for the next hundred years I have Jack Latvala by the bills.

I didn't quite understand the unusual interest in this event, the substantially larger crowd in the galleries, until I saw Steve Bousquet's story in the Times/Herald this morning. Headline: "Gaetz to be hung in the Senate chamber at 11 a.m." He posted it under Civic Improvements. It is actually rather hard to escape the relationship of an event like this to the honoree. It's rather like the relationship of a funeral service to the corpse. About half the audience is here just to make sure I'm really going. I am glad to see my friends from the lobbying corps here. I am going from the President's chair back to the Senate floor. To the desk that President Gardiner will assign to the Senator for Northwest Florida. I'm not sure where that desk will be next year. I hope it's in this building. I hope it's in this town. I have to admit, I'm looking forward to being on the floor again. When I was elected President, I got the privilege of presiding but gave up the privilege of debating. Senator Braynon explained it to me; he said, "That was the plan, Gaetz. How do you think you got elected unanimously?"

Three years ago, when half of us and all of our House colleagues were running for office, Florida was really a very different state than it is today. It doesn't seem possible, but just roll the reel back and remember that Floridians were losing their businesses, their jobs, their savings. They were losing hope, and they were leaving Florida. Three years ago, political scandal reaching from the polling place to the courthouse to the state house, frayed the fabric of public trust. To your great credit, you unanimously passed what has been praised as the most sweeping ethics reform in state government in 38 years, and now, this year, this Senate has gone further by unanimously extending tough, clear ethics and open government laws to local government and to those who act in lieu of government. Of course, there is more to do. There is always more to do. But we will leave here this week with government more open, more accountable, more ethical than at any time in Florida's history.

Three years ago, nearly half of Florida's recent college graduates couldn't find jobs in their major fields of study while tens of thousands and scores of thousands of high-demand jobs went unfilled for lack of qualified and educated applicants. When the jobs that are open and the people who need the jobs don't match because of a skills and education deficit, then the economy is stuck in low gear and can't get out. To your great credit, you established 1,650 CAPE academies (Career and Professional Education Academies) in high schools all across our state. Today, because of you, 273,000 Florida students are pursuing national industry certifications in 238 high-skilled career-technical fields from cloud virtualization to biomedicine to welding, the jobs Florida needs. Those are the skills that Florida students can use to get those jobs. Though many are from economically poor families, 99 percent of CAPE students are finishing and graduating from high school; and they're graduating with higher GPAs and getting better jobs with more pay than their peers. That's really working. This Senate was the wellspring of that transformation. It was because of you that Florida now leads the nation in career-technical education. Florida is the model for America in lashing education to the opportunities of the economy.

When we leave here Friday, we will for the first time in Florida history pay higher education institutions more when their students actually graduate and when their degrees qualify them for jobs. No one person can claim credit for Florida's recovery, but this Senate has removed every obstacle, we have added every value, we have strengthened every link we could find, and this month Florida, the state that led the nation into recession, is leading the nation in job growth. We are the first in the country.

Each of us sitting in the Senate has unfinished business and we still have a couple days left. But the fact that we have unfinished business just means there is a next year or that is why they make next year. Each of us can be proud of what we together have done, because, as several Senators have so kindly said, because of the culture we have developed together in this Senate, no one has been left out.

Senator Brandes, who has served in both chambers, says that the House is more like a military organization; there's a general, a few colonels, some captains and sergeants and privates. Everybody knows his rank, knows her authority. But the Senate, Jeff Brandes says, "forty Somali warlords." In the Senate, two political parties, maybe three. You know they say there are the Republicans, the Democrats, and the Senate. So, we could have gone rogue. We could have gone Washington where nothing gets done, and it's always the other chamber's fault, the other party's fault. Instead, as some people have kindly said today, these two years may have been among the most productive and collegial sessions of the Florida Senate. If so, it's because of you.

We have five committees led by Democratic chairs. That might be a recent record, not because they are Democrats but because they are right for the leadership positions and they have carried out those positions with great success, and great credit has come to this body as a result. Instead of a few Senators building a big budget, every Senator, Republican and Democrat, serves on two appropriations committees. We wanted the whole team on the field. Instead of two agendas competing with each other, Speaker Weatherford and I broke precedent and for two years we've had a joint agenda, a joint work plan. Of course, there are issues that Will Weatherford and I see differently. Those are a la carte issues apart from the work plan. But I do have hope for him. As of this morning as I ran the totals, we're batting about .800 on our joint work plan priorities and that is twice what you need to get into the hall of fame, and it's not over yet. I thank Speaker Weatherford. He had to go back I am sure and pass a lot of Senate bills. I thank Speaker Weatherford for his partnership and for his friendship and for making Florida better.

If you look at the portrait, you will see the Florida flag and next to it a blue flag. It's my father's flag; the flag of the state he served; the flag that stood by his desk. It is the flag of my native state, North Dakota. I have carried his flag since the day he died fifty years ago almost to this day. Now, in a modest way, on that wall, I will carry it into history. Most of us in this Senate have come from someplace else. Two thirds of the people in this state arrived from some other state or some other country. Florida is natives but mostly Florida is newcomers, transplants, immigrants here by plan or by luck. That's who I am. I am a lucky guy who came to Florida a half lifetime ago, whose dreams all came true here and the sweetest of those dreams is the Florida girl I found and I love, the First Lady of the Senate, Vicky Gaetz. Our daughter, Erin, is here. Erin is a producer for the Fox Television Network in New York City. In our family, she is known as the smart one because she's not in politics. She just puts it on national TV. I appreciate you stepping away from your responsibilities. I hope all the people at Fox will be able to get through the day without you. I love you, Erin, and I thank you for being here. Then, as some of you may have noticed, we have a son. There is apparently a genetic defect in the "Y" chromosome in the Gaetz family. It goes down through the generations. Matt had to go back. Apparently the Speaker was calling him to the office to, I am sure, discipline him for something he has done today. Increasingly, the most common question we field in the President's office is, "Can you get me an appointment with Representative Gaetz?" I am proud of him. I am glad that he is here even though from time to time he votes wrong. Senator Richter told you about President Charles Davis, whose portrait we moved today to the Historic Capitol, and about his son, W. Turner Davis. They are the only father and son team who have both served as Senate Presidents in the history of the state. The only ones. So far.

When I decided to run for the Senate I entered the campaign in a very tough uphill primary fight. I called around for advice on who's the best to run my campaign, and if I win, who can help me learn how to be a Senator. Chris Clark, people said, if you could get him. But you can't because he's one of Jeb Bush's guys, he is working in the administration. I don't think you can get him. I talked to Chris three or four times and he weakened and he agreed to come on just for the campaign. Nine years later he's still trying to escape. I would not be Senate President, I would not have had the privilege of being in the Senate, if I didn't have the privilege of working alongside the Chief of Staff, my friend, Chris Clark.

Secretary Brown told me that I pound the loudest gavel since Ken Pruitt. Pieces of it routinely fly off, and the Sergeant has to glue it back together every week. This gavel was made for me by a guy named Jack Krumviede, who is our son's godfather. He is a master woodworker from Jacksonville. The gavel was fashioned from a piece of dunnage. The sailors will know what this is. Dunnage is the wood, the shims that were used on old sailing ships to keep the cargo from crashing around in the hold, unbalancing the vessel when the ship heeled over in the wind. If you placed the dunnage right, then you could secure the cargo and even in a big storm you can save the ship from breaking up inside. The block of dunnage from which this gavel was carved served that purpose for a hundred years in the holds of ships that sailed from Jacksonville to Miami to the Keys and around to Pensacola and back around the peninsula of Florida. I guess it still works. At least, I've tried to use this gavel to shim up and hold fast the people's trust, to keep the issues that we carry on this floor from sliding dangerously to the left or the right, and to bring the ship of state home to a safe harbor—proud, just, prosperous, and successful. You know I've made a thousand mistakes, and I ask your forgiveness for any slight or any offense. I thank you for the honor of a lifetime.

Senator Gardiner, you're going to be a great President, and you're going to love this job because you love this Senate, and it will love you right back.

An old athlete was asked how he wanted to be remembered. "I know I wasn't the best," he said. "But I love the game and I played my heart out. I just hope people will think I was one of the good ones."

RECESS

SENATOR RICHTER PRESIDING

Senator Richter declared the Senate in recess at 1:10 p.m. to reconvene at 3:00 p.m.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The agency may require health insurance plans that participate in the Medikids program ~~or employer-sponsored group health insurance~~ to collect premium payments from an enrollee's family. Participating health insurance plans shall report premium payments collected on behalf of enrollees in the program to the agency in accordance with a schedule established by the agency.

Section 23. Section 409.820, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

These standards ~~must~~ shall comply with the provisions of this chapter, and chapter 641, and Title XXI of the Social Security Act.

Section 24. Section 409.822, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

409.822 Healthy Florida.—

(1) PROGRAM CREATION.—Healthy Florida, a health care program for lower income, uninsured adults who meet the eligibility guidelines established under s. 409.8125, is created. The corporation shall administer the program under its existing corporate governance and structure.

(2) ELIGIBILITY.—To be eligible and to remain eligible for Healthy Florida, an individual must be a resident of this state and meet the following additional criteria:

(a) Be identified as newly eligible, as defined in s. 1902(a)(10)(A)(i)-(VIII) of the Social Security Act or s. 2001 of the federal Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, and as may be further defined by federal regulation.

(b) Maintain eligibility with the corporation and meet all renewal requirements as established by the corporation.

(c) Renew eligibility on at least an annual basis.

(3) ENROLLMENT.—The corporation may begin the enrollment of applicants in Healthy Florida on October 1, 2014. Enrollment may occur directly, through the services of a third-party administrator, referrals from the Department of Children and Families, and the exchange as defined by the federal Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act. When an enrollee disenrolls, the corporation must provide him or her with information about other affordable insurance programs and electronically refer the enrollee to the exchange or other programs, as appropriate. The earliest coverage effective date under the program shall be January 1, 2015.

(4) DELIVERY OF SERVICES.—The corporation shall contract with authorized insurers licensed under chapter 627; managed care organizations authorized under chapter 641; and provider service networks authorized under ss. 409.912(4)(d) and 409.962(13) which are prepaid plans. These insurers, managed care organizations, and provider service networks must meet standards established by the corporation to provide comprehensive health care services to enrollees who qualify for services under this section. The corporation may contract for such services on a statewide or regional basis. To encourage continuity of care among enrollees who transition across multiple affordable insurance programs, the corporation is encouraged to contract with those insurers and managed care organizations that participate in more than one such program.

(a) The corporation shall establish access and network standards for such contracts and ensure that contracted providers have sufficient providers to meet enrollee needs. Quality standards shall be developed by the corporation, specific to the adult population, which take into consideration recommendations from the National Committee on Quality Assurance, stakeholders, and other existing performance indicators from both public and commercial populations. The corporation and its contracted health plans shall develop policies that minimize the disruption of enrollee medical homes when enrollees transition between affordable insurance plans.

(b) The corporation shall provide an enrollee a choice of plans. The corporation may select a plan if no selection has been received before the coverage start date. Once enrolled, an enrollee has an initial 90-day, free-look period before a lock-in period of up to 12 months is applied. Exceptions to the lock-in period must be offered to an enrollee for reasons based on good cause or qualifying events.

(c) The corporation may consider contracts that provide family plans that would allow members from multiple state and federally funded programs to remain together under the same plan.

(d) All contracts must meet the medical loss ratio requirements under this part.

(5) BENEFITS.—The corporation shall establish a benefits package that is actuarially equivalent to the benchmark benefit plan offered under s. 409.815(2), excluding dental, and meets the alternative benefits package requirements under s. 1937 of the Social Security Act. Benefits must be offered as an integrated, single package.

(a) In addition to benchmark benefits, health reimbursement accounts or a comparable health savings account for each enrollee must be established through the corporation or the contracts managed by the corporation. Enrollees must be rewarded for healthy behaviors, wellness program adherence, and other activities established by the corporation which demonstrate compliance with preventive care or disease management guidelines. Funds deposited into these accounts may be used to pay cost-sharing obligations or to purchase over-the-counter health items to the extent allowed under federal law or regulation.

(b) Enhanced services may be offered if the cost of such additional services provides savings to the overall plan.

(c) The corporation shall establish a process for the payment of wrap-around services not covered by the benchmark benefit plan through a separate subcapitation process to its contracted providers if it is determined that such services are required by federal law. Such services would be covered if deemed medically necessary on an individual basis. The subcapitation pool is subject to a separate reconciliation process under the medical loss ratio provisions in this part.

(d) A prior authorization process and other utilization controls may be established by the plan for any benefit if approved by the corporation.

(6) COST SHARING.—The corporation may collect premiums and copayments from enrollees in accordance with federal law. Amounts to be collected for Healthy Florida must be established annually in the General Appropriations Act.

(a) Payment of a monthly premium may be required before the establishment of an enrollee's coverage start date and to retain monthly coverage.

(b) An enrollee who has a family income above the federal poverty level may be required to make nominal copayments, in accordance with federal rule, as a condition of receiving a health care service.

(c) A provider is responsible for the collection of point-of-service cost-sharing obligations. The enrollee's cost-sharing contribution is considered part of the provider's total reimbursement. Failure to collect an enrollee's cost sharing reduces the provider's share of the reimbursement.

(7) PROGRAM MANAGEMENT.—The corporation is responsible for the oversight of Healthy Florida. The agency shall seek a state plan amendment or other appropriate federal approval to implement Healthy Florida. The agency shall consult with the corporation in the amendment's development and, by June 14, 2014, submit the state plan amendment to the federal Department of Health and Human Services. The agency shall contract with the corporation for the administration of Healthy Florida and for the timely release of federal and state funds. The agency retains its authority as provided in ss. 409.902 and 409.963.

(a) The corporation shall establish a grievance resolution process in which Healthy Florida enrollees are informed of their rights under the Medicaid fair hearing process, as appropriate, or any alternative resolution process adopted by the corporation.

(b) The corporation shall establish a program integrity process to ensure compliance with program guidelines. At a minimum, the corporation shall withhold benefits from an applicant or enrollee if the corporation obtains evidence that the applicant or enrollee is no longer eligible, submitted incorrect or fraudulent information in order to establish eligibility, or failed to provide verification of eligibility. The corporation shall notify the applicant or enrollee that, because of such evidence, program benefits must be withheld unless the applicant or enrollee contacts a designated representative of the corporation by a specified date, which must be within 10 working days after the date of notice, to discuss and resolve the matter. The corporation shall make every effort to resolve the matter within a timeframe that does not cause benefits to be withheld from an eligible enrollee. The following individuals may be subject to specific prosecution in accordance with s. 414.39:

1. An applicant who obtains or attempts to obtain benefits for a potential enrollee under Healthy Florida when the applicant knows or should have known that the potential enrollee does not qualify for Healthy Florida.

2. An individual who assists an applicant in obtaining or attempting to obtain benefits for a potential enrollee under Healthy Florida when the individual knows or should have known that the potential enrollee does not qualify for Healthy Florida.

(8) APPLICABILITY OF LAWS RELATING TO MEDICAID.—Sections 409.902, 409.9128, and 409.920 apply to the administration of Healthy Florida.

(9) PROGRAM EVALUATION.—The corporation shall collect both eligibility and enrollment data from program applicants and enrollees as well as encounter and utilization data from all contracted entities during the program term. The corporation shall submit monthly enrollment reports to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Minority Leaders of the Senate and the House of Representatives. The corporation shall submit an interim independent evaluation of Healthy Florida to the presiding officers by July 1, 2016, with annual evaluations due July 1 thereafter. The evaluations must address, at a minimum, application and enrollment trends and issues, utilization and cost data, and customer satisfaction.

(10) PROGRAM EXPIRATION.—The Healthy Florida program expires at the end of the state fiscal year in which any of these conditions occur:

(a) The federal match contribution falls below 90 percent.

(b) The federal match contribution falls below the increased federal medical assistance percentages for medical assistance for newly eligible mandatory individuals as specified in the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act.

(c) The federal match for the Healthy Florida program and the Medicaid program are blended under federal law or regulation in a way that causes the overall federal contribution to diminish when compared to separate, nonblended federal contributions.

Section 25. The Florida Healthy Kids Corporation may make such changes as are necessary to comply with the objections of the federal Department of Health and Human Services in order to gain approval of the Healthy Florida program in compliance with the federal Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, Pub. L. No. 111-148, as amended by the federal Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act of 2010, Pub. L. No. 111-152, upon giving notice to the Senate and the House of Representatives of the proposed changes. If there is a conflict between this section and the federal Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, the provision must be interpreted and applied so as to comply with federal law.

(1) “Exploitation of an elderly person or disabled adult” means:

(a) ~~Knowingly, by deception or intimidation,~~ obtaining or using, or endeavoring to obtain or use, an elderly person’s or disabled adult’s funds, assets, or property with the intent to temporarily or permanently deprive the elderly person or disabled adult of the use, benefit, or possession of the funds, assets, or property, or to benefit someone other than the elderly person or disabled adult, by a person who:

(d) Misappropriating, misusing, or transferring without authorization money belonging to an elderly person or disabled adult from an account in which the elderly person or disabled adult placed the funds, owned the funds, and was the sole contributor or payee of the funds before the misappropriation, misuse, or unauthorized transfer. This paragraph only applies to the following types of accounts:

1. Personal accounts;
2. Joint accounts created with the intent that only the elderly person or disabled adult enjoys all rights, interests, and claims to moneys deposited into such account; or
3. Convenience accounts created in accordance with s. 655.80; or

(a) This subsection applies regardless of whether the transfer or transfers are denoted by the parties as a gift or loan, except that it does not apply to a valid loan evidenced in writing that includes definite repayment dates. However, if repayment of any such loan is in default, in whole or in part, for more than 65 days, the presumption of this subsection applies.

(b) This subsection does not apply to:

1. Persons who are in the business of making loans.
2. Bona fide charitable donations to nonprofit organizations that qualify for tax exempt status under the Internal Revenue Code.

(c) In a criminal case to which this subsection applies, if the trial is by jury, jurors shall be instructed that they may, but are not required to, draw an inference of exploitation upon proof beyond a reasonable doubt of the facts listed in this subsection. The presumption of this subsection imposes no burden of proof on the defendant.

(3)(a) If the funds, assets, or property involved in the exploitation of the elderly person or disabled adult is valued at $50,000 ~~$100,000~~ or more, the offender commits a felony of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082, s. 775.083, or s. 775.084.

(b) If the funds, assets, or property involved in the exploitation of the elderly person or disabled adult is valued at $10,000 ~~$20,000~~ or more, but less than $50,000 ~~$100,000~~, the offender commits a felony of the second degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082, s. 775.083, or s. 775.084.

(c) If the funds, assets, or property involved in the exploitation of an elderly person or disabled adult is valued at less than $10,000 ~~$20,000~~, the offender commits a felony of the third degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082, s. 775.083, or s. 775.084.

(4) If a person is charged with financial exploitation of an elderly person or disabled adult that involves the taking of or loss of property valued at more than $5,000 and property belonging to a victim is seized from the defendant pursuant to a search warrant, the court shall hold an evidentiary hearing and determine, by a preponderance of the evidence, whether the defendant unlawfully obtained the victim's property. If the court finds that the property was unlawfully obtained, the court may order it returned to the victim for restitution purposes before trial on the charge. This determination is inadmissible in evidence at trial on the charge and does not give rise to any inference that the defendant has committed an offense under this section.

Section 5. Section 943.0412, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

943.0412 Identity Theft and Fraud Grant Program.—

(1) There is created the Identity Theft and Fraud Grant Program within the department to award grants to support local law enforcement agencies in the investigation and enforcement of personal identification information theft and fraud. PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by Senator Flores:

Today, we ask the Holy Spirit to fill our hearts with its holy gifts. Let our weakness be filled with your strength this very day, that we may fulfill the duties of our state and life conscientiously, that we may do what is right and just. Let my charity be such as to offend no one and hurt no one's feelings, so generous as to pardon sincerely any wrong done to me. Assist us in all the trials of life, enlighten us in our ignorance, advise us in our doubts, strengthen our weakness, help us in all needs and embarrassment, and console us in all afflictions. Graciously hear me, O Holy Spirit, and pour your light into my heart, my soul, and my mind. Assist us to live a holy life and to grow in goodness and grace. We ask this through Christ, our Lord. Amen.

Re: Suspension of:
PABON, Maria E.
Notary Public

Dear President Gaetz:

The Committee on Ethics and Elections submits this final report on the matter of the suspension of Maria E. Pabon.

By Executive Order Number 13-295 filed with the Secretary of State on October 14, 2013, and pursuant to Article IV, Section 7(a) of the Florida Constitution, the Honorable Rick Scott, Governor, suspended Maria E. Pabon as a Notary Public alleging that a complaint was filed against her which alleges that she committed notary misconduct by notarizing a document when the signer was not present, that she failed to complete a jurat or notarial certificate specifying the form of identification relied upon, and that she notarized a signature without satisfactory evidence of the signatory's identity in violation of ss. 117.107(9), 117.05(4)(f), and 117.05(5), Florida Statutes. The Executive Order also alleges that the Executive Office of the Governor attempted to contact her via mail on June 10, 2013, July 10, 2013, and July 31, 2013. Those letters required Ms. Pabon to provide a sworn, written response to the complaint. Ms. Pabon was also advised that she was required by the letter dated July 10, 2013, to update her address with the Department of State. The Executive Order alleges that she failed to do so in violation of s. 117.01(2), Florida Statutes. Ms. Pabon was also advised that she was required to cooperate with the investigation in the July 10, 2013, letter. The Executive Order alleges that she failed to cooperate with the investigation in violation of s. 117.01(4)(c), Florida Statutes. The Executive Order also alleges that the Governor's Office, via letter dated August 26, 2013, required Ms. Pabon's immediate resignation. According to the Executive Order, Ms. Pabon did not provide the required resignation.

Pursuant to Article IV, Section 7(b), Fla. Const., the Committee on Ethics and Elections met and conducted a hearing to determine whether to remove or reinstate Ms. Pabon on April 7, 2014. The Governor was represented by Thomas "Bo" Winokur, Esq. Ms. Pabon, representing herself, appeared by telephone. The following are the Committee's findings of fact and conclusions of law pertaining to each of the allegations.

Summary of the Evidence Presented

The Executive Order alleges that Ms. Pabon committed notary misconduct by notarizing a document when the signer was not present, by failing to complete a jurat or notarial certificate specifying the form of identification relied upon, and by notarizing a signature without satisfactory evidence of the signatory's identity in violation of ss.

117.107(9), 117.05(4)(f), and 117.05(5), Florida Statutes. The Executive Order alleges that she failed to update her address with the Department of State in violation of s. 117.01(2), Florida Statutes. Finally, the Executive Order alleges that she failed to cooperate with the investigation in violation of s. 117.01(4)(c), Florida Statutes.

At the hearing, Mr. Winokur presented the Notary Public Commission Application, Surety Bond, and the Notary Section Internet Complaint Form in which Mr. Miguel De Leon Olmeda alleges that Ms. Pabon notarized a Quit Claim Deed purporting to transfer his real property to his daughter and her husband. He further alleges that he never signed the deed and requests that Ms. Pabon be investigated for notarizing the deed without proper verification. Finally, he alleges that he did not go to Orlando during the year 2013. Mr. Winokur also presented a photocopy of the Quit Claim Deed indicating that Miguel De Leon, Grantor, conveyed the real property to Dalbi Ortiz. The Quit Claim Deed appears to have been signed by Miguel De Leon as Grantor, and was witnessed by Josue Vargas and Angel Fuentes. The Quit Claim Deed was notarized by Maria E. Pabon. The jurat does not specify what identification method was used to identify Mr. De Leon. It does indicate that the document was signed in Ms. Pabon's presence.

Mr. Winokur also presented copies of letters dated June 10, 2013; July 10, 2013; July 31, 2013; August 26, 2013; and September 18, 2013. The letters dated June 10, 2013, and July 10, 2013, advise Ms. Pabon that a complaint was received and that she was required to submit a sworn written response to the allegations pursuant to s. 117.01(4)(c), Florida Statutes. The letter dated July 31, 2013, informs Ms. Pabon that she has failed to cooperate with the investigation as required by law and that she was required to immediately resign as a notary. The letter dated August 26, 2013, outlines the attempts to notify her of the complaint, require a response, and require her resignation. That letter also notifies her that, pursuant to s. 117.01(2), Florida Statutes, she is required to update her change in address within 60 days. Again, that letter demanded her resignation, demanded a response to the allegations in the complaint by Mr. Miguel De Leon Olmeda, and provided that failure to respond within a specified period would be grounds for suspension. The letter dated September 18, 2013, again outlines the steps taken by the Governor to notify Ms. Pabon and warns her that failure to respond within 15 days will result in disciplinary action, up to and including the suspension of her notary commission. In the subject line of that letter, it includes, "Response Due By October 8, 2013." Mr. Winokur presented a return receipt from the U.S. Postal Service indicating that the letter dated September 18, 2013, was delivered to the correct address for Ms. Pabon on September 21, 2013.

Finally, Mr. Winokur presented the sworn written response from Maria E. Pabon dated October 2, 2013. In that response, Ms. Pabon states that her son, Josue Vargas, appeared at her house with Dalbi Ortiz. She states that she recognized Mr. Ortiz because he owns the garage shop where her son has worked for 5 years. They came with an older man that they said was Miguel De Leon, the father of Mr. Ortiz' ex-wife. Ms. Pabon states that she asked for his license, but he said that he left it in his vehicle and did not have it with him. According to Ms. Pabon, the three men arrived at her house in Mr. Ortiz' vehicle. She states, "I personally know Dalbi Ortiz and that this was satisfactory evidence that the person whose signature was to be notarized by me was who Dalbi Ortiz described him to be, his father-in-law Miguel De Leon." The Executive Office of the Governor stated that it did not receive correspondence until after the October 14, 2013, Executive Order suspending Ms. Pabon was entered. Mr. Winokur did not state when Ms. Pabon's letter dated October 2, 2013, was received. There is no stamp on that letter indicating when the Executive Office of the Governor received the letter.

Mr. Winokur did not provide any evidence as to whether the Quit Claim Deed was signed in the presence of Ms. Pabon. It appears that the Governor's only contentions concerning the notarization of the signature were that the jurat failed to specify the type of identification relied upon and that the person who signed the document was not Miguel De Leon Olmeda, the property owner.

Ms. Pabon, after being placed under oath, testified to the same facts that she laid out in her sworn written response to the complaint. Specifically, she testified that the person who identified himself as Miguel De Leon did not have his drivers license and that she relied upon the word of Mr. Dalbi Ortiz to establish that the person signing the document was Mr. De Leon. Ms. Pabon also testified that she did not receive any notices until she received the September 18, 2013, letter. Ms. Pabon testified that she responded to that letter. The only letter by Ms. Pabon that was entered into the record was the letter dated October 2, 2013. Ms. Pabon did not provide any evidence as to when she sent the letter or when it was received by the Executive Office of the Governor. The only additional evidence concerning delivery of her letter dated October 2, 2013, is a copy of the letter that appears to show that Ms. Pabon unsuccessfully attempted to fax the letter to the Executive Office of the Governor. Ms. Pabon also testified that her failure to update her address with the Department of State was because she was very busy and was working a lot of hours and did not remember or realize that she needed to do so.

Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

Article IV, Section 7(a), Fla. Const., provides that the Governor may suspend a notary public for malfeasance, misfeasance, neglect of duty, drunkenness, incompetence, permanent inability to perform official duties, or commission of a felony. Pursuant to Article IV, Section 7(b), Florida Constitution, the Senate may remove or reinstate the suspended official.

The Florida Statutes further illuminate what constitutes malfeasance, misfeasance, or neglect of duty by a notary public. Specifically, section 117.01, Florida Statutes, in pertinent part provides:

(4) The Governor may suspend a notary public for any of the grounds provided in s. 7, Art. IV of the State Constitution. Grounds constituting malfeasance, misfeasance, or neglect of duty include, but are not limited to, the following:

(c) Failure to cooperate or respond to an investigation by the Governor's office or the Department of State regarding a complaint.

(g) Failure to report a change in business or home address or telephone number, or failure to submit documentation to request an amended commission after a lawful name change, within the specified period of time.

Based upon the evidence presented, the Committee finds the following:

Mr. Winokur presented no evidence contradicting the statement in the jurat that the document was signed in Ms. Pabon's presence. Therefore, the Committee on Ethics and Elections concludes that the allegation that Ms. Pabon notarized a signature when the signatory was not present was NOT PROVED.

The Committee on Ethics and Elections concludes that Ms. Pabon may be removed from office based on any or all of the following grounds:

1) FAILURE TO SPECIFY WHAT TYPE OF IDENTIFICATION WAS USED TO ESTABLISH THE SIGNER'S IDENTITY.

Ms. Pabon did not contest the authenticity of the Quit Claim Deed. The jurat on that document contains no statement about what type of identification was used to establish the signer's identity. The Committee finds that the allegation that Ms. Pabon failed to provide a properly completed jurat that detailed the type of identification used to establish the signer's identity WAS PROVED.

Based upon competent and substantial evidence, the Committee has found that Ms. Pabon did not specify in the jurat the type of identification used to establish the signer's identity as required in s. 117.05(4)(f), Florida Statutes. Under the facts of this case, the failure to specify the type of identification in the jurat constitutes misfeasance. Therefore, Ms. Pabon may be removed for failing to specify in the jurat the type of identification used to establish the signer's identity.

2) NOTARIZING A DOCUMENT WITHOUT SATISFACTORY EVIDENCE OF THE SIGNATORY'S IDENTITY.

Ms. Pabon admitted, in writing and in her testimony, that she did not view Mr. De Leon's identification. While section 117.05(5), Florida Statutes, permits a person to rely upon an identification made by another person, those provisions require submission of a sworn written statement containing certain information. Ms. Pabon did not argue that she had such a sworn statement. Rather, she testified that she relied upon the identification made by Dalbi Ortiz. The allegation that Ms. Pabon notarized the Quit Claim Deed without satisfactory evidence of the signatory's identity WAS PROVED.

Based upon competent and substantial evidence, the Committee has found that Ms. Pabon notarized the Quit Claim Deed without satisfactory evidence of the signatory's identity as required by s. 117.05(5), Florida Statutes. Under the facts of this case, the failure to obtain satisfactory evidence of the signatory's identity constitutes neglect of duty. Therefore, Ms. Pabon may be removed for failing to obtain satisfactory evidence of the signatory's identity.

3) FAILURE TO UPDATE ADDRESS

Mr. Winokur introduced letters informing Ms. Pabon that she was required to update her address. At the hearing, Ms. Pabon testified that she did not update her address. The allegation that Ms. Pabon did not update her address with the Department of State as required by s. 117.01(2), Florida Statutes, WAS PROVED.

Based on competent and substantial evidence, the Committee has found that Ms. Pabon did not update her address as required by s. 117.01(2), Florida Statutes. Section 117.01(4)(g), Florida Statutes, provides that failure to update her address constitutes neglect of duty. Having found that Ms. Pabon did not update her address as required by law, and that such failure or refusal constitutes neglect of duty, the Senate may remove Ms. Pabon for failing to update her address as required by law.

4) REFUSAL TO COOPERATE WITH AN INVESTIGATION

The Executive Order alleged that Ms. Pabon failed or refused to cooperate with an investigation. Several letters were introduced, most of which were sent to the correct mailing address for Ms. Pabon, that require a response. The final letter indicated that if a response was not received by October 8, 2013, Ms. Pabon would be suspended. Mr. Winokur stated that Ms. Pabon did not respond. The only evidence to the contrary offered was a sworn statement sent by Ms. Pabon dated October 2, 2013. Ms. Pabon introduced no evidence that that letter was successfully sent to the Executive Office of the Governor prior to October 2, 2013. The allegation that Ms. Pabon failed or refused to cooperate or respond to an investigation by the Executive Office of the Governor, as required by s. 117.01(4)(c), Florida Statutes, WAS PROVED.

Based on competent and substantial evidence, the Committee has found that Ms. Pabon refused to cooperate or respond to an investigation by the Executive Office of the Governor. Section 117.01(4)(c), Florida Statutes, specifically provides that refusal to cooperate or respond to an investigation by the Governor's Office constitutes neglect of duty. Having found that Ms. Pabon failed or refused to cooperate or respond to the investigation being conducted by the Executive Office of the Governor, and that such failure or refusal constitutes neglect of duty, the Senate may remove Ms. Pabon for failing or refusing to cooperate with the investigation.

Based on the foregoing, the Committee on Ethics and Elections advises and recommends that this report be presented to the Florida Senate in open session and be published in full in the Journal. The Committee further recommends that the Florida Senate, pursuant to Article IV, Section 7(b), Florida Constitution, section 112.45, Florida Statutes, and Senate Rule 12, MARIA E. PABON BE REMOVED FROM THE OFFICE OF NOTARY PUBLIC.

Sincerely,
Jack Latvala, Chair

On motion by Senator Latvala, the report was adopted and the Senate removed Maria E. Pabon from the office of Notary Public contained in the foregoing report of the committee.

ADOPTION OF RESOLUTIONS

SENATOR GARDINER PRESIDING

On motion by Senator Thompson—

By Senator Thompson—

SR 1712—A resolution recognizing pioneering aviatrix Bessie “Queen Bess” Coleman as we celebrate the centennial of the world’s first scheduled commercial airline, the St. Petersburg-Tampa Airboat Line.

WHEREAS, on January 1, 1914, Tony Jannus made aviation history by flying the Benoist XIV on the inaugural 23-minute flight of the St. Petersburg-Tampa Airboat Line, the world’s first scheduled commercial airline, and

WHEREAS, the events of that day fostered an industry that has made worldwide travel not only possible, but practical, and

WHEREAS, that pioneering flight exemplifies the entrepreneurial spirit that has evolved into an industry that has an economic impact in this state of nearly $100 billion and in the nation of more than $1.3 trillion, and

WHEREAS, one of those who was inspired by that flight was a young African-American woman named Bessie Coleman, who had been regaled by her brothers with tales of French women flying airplanes during World War I, and

WHEREAS, while working as a manicurist in Chicago, Bessie Coleman met Robert S. Abbott, publisher of The Chicago Defender, who encouraged her to go to France to study flying and, later, joined others in sponsoring her in that effort, and

WHEREAS, on June 15, 1921, Bessie Coleman received her license from the prestigious Federation Aeronautique Internationale (FAI) and became the first African-American/Native-American female licensed pilot in the world, and

WHEREAS, in September 1921, Bessie Coleman returned to a segregated United States, but nevertheless became a media sensation, performing in air shows across the country, but only at venues where the audience was desegregated and everyone attending used the same entrance gates, and

WHEREAS, wanting to make her living as a pilot, Bessie Coleman returned to Europe for advanced training in acrobatic flying, returning to the United States in 1922 and living for a time in Orlando, and

WHEREAS, after surviving a plane crash in February 1923, in which she sustained serious injuries, Bessie Coleman resumed flying and, the following year, flew in a Texas air show, and

WHEREAS, on April 30, 1926, while preparing for a May Day celebration air show in Jacksonville, Bessie Coleman fell from her plane 1,000 feet to her death after a loose wrench became wedged in the open gearbox, causing her mechanic, who was piloting the plane, to lose control, and

WHEREAS, after a well-attended memorial service in Jacksonville, a funeral was held in Orlando, and Bessie Coleman was buried in Chicago, where, each year on the anniversary of her death, African-American aviators, both men and women, fly in formation over Lincoln Cemetery and drop flowers on her grave, NOW, THEREFORE,

Be It Resolved by the Senate of the State of Florida:

That we recognize aviation pioneer Bessie “Queen Bess” Coleman as we celebrate the centennial of the world’s first scheduled commercial airline flight and remember Bessie Coleman’s contribution to the advancement of minorities and women on the occasion of the 88th anniversary of her tragic death and the 100th anniversary of passenger flight that originated in Florida.

— SR 1712 was introduced out of order and read in full by publication. On motion by Senator Thompson, SR 1712 was adopted.

SPECIAL ORDER CALENDAR

THE PRESIDENT PRESIDING

Consideration of CS for CS for SB 790 and CS for SB 1702 was deferred.

CS for SB 1318—A bill to be entitled An act relating to public records and meetings; amending s. 287.05712, F.S.; defining the term “proprietary confidential business information”; creating an exemption from public records requirements for unsolicited proposals for a qualifying public-private project received by a responsible public entity for a specified period; providing that proprietary confidential business information in an unsolicited proposal remains confidential and exempt from public records requirements; creating an exemption from public meetings requirements for portions of meetings at which confidential and exempt information is discussed; requiring a recording to be made of a closed portion of a meeting; providing for future repeal and legislative review of the exemptions; providing statements of public necessity; providing an effective date.

—was read the second time by title.

Pursuant to Rule 7.1(1), there being no objection, consideration of the following late-filed amendment was allowed:

Senator Evers moved the following amendment which was adopted:

Amendment 1 (639104) (with title amendment)—Delete lines 27-109 and insert:

(a) As used in this subsection, the term “competitive solicitation” has the same meaning as provided in s. 119.071(1).

(b)1. An unsolicited proposal received by a responsible public entity is exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution until such time as the responsible public entity provides notice of an intended decision for a qualifying project.

2. If the responsible public entity rejects all proposals submitted pursuant to a competitive solicitation for a qualifying project and such entity concurrently provides notice of its intent to seek additional proposals for such project, the unsolicited proposal remains exempt until the responsible public entity provides notice of an intended decision concerning the reissued competitive solicitation for the qualifying project or until the responsible public entity withdraws the reissued competitive solicitation for such project.

3. An unsolicited proposal is not exempt for longer than 90 days after the initial notice by the responsible public entity rejecting all proposals.

(c) If the responsible public entity does not issue a competitive solicitation for a qualifying project, the unsolicited proposal ceases to be exempt 180 days after receipt of the unsolicited proposal by such entity.

(d)1. Any portion of a board meeting during which an unsolicited proposal that is exempt is discussed is exempt from s. 286.011 and s. 24(b), Art. I of the State Constitution.

2.a. A complete recording must be made of any portion of an exempt meeting. No portion of the exempt meeting may be held off the record.

b. The recording of, and any records generated during, the exempt meeting are exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution until such time as the responsible public entity provides notice of an intended decision for a qualifying project or 180 days after receipt of the unsolicited proposal by the responsible public entity if such entity does not issue a competitive solicitation for the project.

c. If the responsible public entity rejects all proposals and concurrently provides notice of its intent to reissue a competitive solicitation, the recording and any records generated at the exempt meeting remain exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution until such time as the responsible public entity provides notice of an intended decision concerning the reissued competitive solicitation or until the responsible public entity withdraws the reissued competitive solicitation for such project.

d. A recording and any records generated during an exempt meeting are not exempt for longer than 90 days after the initial notice by the responsible public entity rejecting all proposals.

(e) This subsection is subject to the Open Government Sunset Review Act in accordance with s. 119.15 and shall stand repealed on October 2, 2019, unless reviewed and saved from repeal through reenactment by the Legislature.

Section 2. (1) The Legislature finds that it is a public necessity that an unsolicited proposal received by a responsible public entity pursuant to s. 287.05712, Florida Statutes, be made exempt from s. 119.07(1), Florida Statutes, and s. 24(a), Article I of the State Constitution until a time certain. Prohibiting the public release of unsolicited proposals until a time certain ensures the effective and efficient administration of the public-private partnership process established in s. 287.05712, Florida Statutes. Temporarily protecting unsolicited proposals protects the public-private partnership process by encouraging private entities to submit such proposals, which will facilitate the timely development and operation of a qualifying project. Protecting such information ensures that other private entities do not gain an unfair competitive advantage. The public records exemption preserves public oversight of the public-private partnership process by providing for disclosure of the unsolicited proposal when the responsible public entity provides notice of an intended decision; no longer than 90 days after the responsible public entity rejects all proposals received in a competitive solicitation for a qualifying project; or 180 days after receipt of an unsolicited proposal if such entity does not issue a competitive solicitation for a qualifying project related to the proposal.

(2) The Legislature further finds that it is a public necessity that any portion of a meeting of the responsible public entity during which an unsolicited proposal that is exempt from public records requirements is discussed be made exempt from s. 286.011, Florida Statutes, and s. 24(b), Article I of the State Constitution. The Legislature also finds that it is a public necessity that the recording of, and any records generated during, a closed meeting be made temporarily exempt from s. 119.07(1), Florida Statutes, and s. 24(a), Article I of the State Constitution. Failure to close any portion of a meeting during which such unsolicited proposal is discussed, and failure to protect the release of the recording and records generated during that closed meeting, would defeat the purpose of the public records exemption. In addition, the Legislature finds that public oversight is maintained because the public records exemption for the recording and records generated during any closed portion of a meeting of the responsible public entity are subject to public disclosure when such entity provides notice of an intended decision; no longer than 90 days after the responsible public entity rejects all proposals received in a competitive solicitation for a qualifying project; or 180 days after receipt of an unsolicited proposal if the responsible public entity does not issue a competitive solicitation for a qualifying project related to the proposal.

And the title is amended as follows:

Delete lines 3-15 and insert: amending s. 287.05712, F.S., relating to qualifying public-private projects for public facilities and infrastructure; defining the term “competitive solicitation”; providing an exemption from public records requirements for unsolicited proposals received by a responsible public entity for a specified period; providing an exemption from public meeting requirements for any portion of a meeting of a responsible public entity during which exempt proposals are discussed; requiring a recording to be made of the closed meeting; providing an exemption from public records requirements for the recording of, and any records generated during, a closed meeting for a specified period; providing for
