The Town of Ponce Inlet is requesting funding for a replacement generator and transfer switch to provide standby power for the Town's Public Works facility and a new backup generator at the Town's Community Center. Public Works is a 4,000 sq ft critical facility that houses all Town public works assets and employees. The facility is essential to the public safety mission of the Town. The current generator is more than 10 years old, and repairs are becoming more frequent. A replacement is needed to ensure reliable service.

The Community Center is a 5,000 sq ft critical facility that provides additional town operations space in the event of a severe weather event or community disaster. Although not officially designated as a shelter facility, it has functioned as one when bridge access to the mainland has been closed down. The addition of a new unit would allow for continuous operations during emergencies for the public and emergency responders.
