Fiscal Year 2023-2024

LFIR # 1644

The use of funds will support the construction of 10,000 square foot facility providing USDA certified meat suitable for retail sale by local ranchers and related workforce training. Local facilities will make regions more food resilient and preserve ranching operations.

b. What activities and services will be provided to meet the intended purpose of these funds?

The requested funds will be used to construct a 10,000 square foot USDA-inspected meat processing facility and workforce training site in Newberry, Florida. It's purpose is to serve small cattle, pig, sheep and goat ranchers within a 100 mile radius. It will also provide high-skill workforce training in butchery and other value added meat processes in coordination with UF/IFAS and Santa Fe College. The facility will support agricultural and food resilience in Florida helping to preserve small farms.

c. What direct services will be provided to citizens by the appropriation project?

This facility will provide direct employment for up to 12, and regional employment opportunities for +70. It will provide USDA certified meat processing services for small ranchers producing cattle, pig, sheep, and goat. It will also provide workforce training services in meat processing and related high-skill culinary arts.

d. Who is the target population served by this project? How many individuals are expected to be served?

Small to mid-sized ranchers from the surrounding region. The number of ranchers the facility serves will vary depending upon the number of animals brought for processing. The facility is designed to process 3,900 animals per year. The facility will provide direct employment for up to 12 and indirectly support +70 jobs.

e. What is the expected benefit or outcome of this project? What is the methodology by which this outcome will be measured?

This facility will be a vital part of ensuring regional food resilience by providing a local source of USDA inspected meat. In times of crisis or disruption to national and international food markets, having a reliable, local source of food becomes crucial. This facility will help ensure access to a stable food supply, helping to strengthen the region's overall food security. In addition to the food security, small rancher support, and jobs potential, the facility's total economic impact of this facility will be between $10.2M - $15.3M/year

f. What are the suggested penalties that the contracting agency may consider in addition to its standard penalties for failing to meet deliverables or performance measures provided for the contract?

US Treasury ARPA funds are dedicated to this project. The county is obligated to meet the following performance measures as part of this project:

- Be a resource efficient operation that is self-supporting in revenue generation.
- Provide humane slaughter facilities comporting to nationally recognized best practices and State statutes.
- maximize energy efficiency and waste product recycling.
- Service small to mid-scale ranchers and provide vocational training space for meat cutters.
