The 1921 African-American church is a two-story brick building with two towers on the front and is listed on the National Register of Historic Places as an excellent example of an eclectic Gothic style structure. The site was the home of the St. Luke Church from 1888 until 1985. Unfortunately the building was heavily damaged by Hurricane Michael in 2018, the nave of the building was destroyed beyond restoration, however the narthex consisting of two towers and front facade were damaged but remain standing and can be restored. This project is to demolish and remove the debris of the nave area and be converted to an open courtyard preserving the original footprint of the church building, along with other restorable vertical portions of the historic building. The former nave will be a courtyard and will be designed to provide flexible seating and open-air event space. The majestic two towers, the narthex, and the facade of the church will be restored to the original condition.
