COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 62 provides that an individual may not lose his or her resident status for tuition purposes due to incarceration in a state or federal correctional facility in this state.

This bill does not have appear to have a fiscal impact. See Section V., Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill is effective July 1, 2024.

II. Present Situation:

Residency Status for Tuition Purposes

Students must be classified as residents or nonresidents for the purpose of assessing tuition in postsecondary educational programs offered by charter technical career centers, career centers operated by school districts, Florida College System (FCS) institutions, and state universities. Students pay differing tuition rates based on their status as a resident or nonresident of Florida.[1]

Specifically, to qualify as a resident for tuition purposes:

- A person or, if that person is a dependent child, his or her parent or parents must have established legal residence in Florida and must have maintained legal residence for at least 12 consecutive months immediately prior to his or her initial enrollment in an institution of higher education.

- Every applicant for admission to an institution of higher education must make a statement as to his or her length of residence and establish that his or her presence or, if the applicant is a dependent child, the presence of his or her parent or parents in Florida currently is, and during the requisite 12-month qualifying period was, for the purpose of maintaining a bona fide domicile.[2]

A person must show certain proof that he or she should be classified as a resident for tuition purposes and may not receive the in-state tuition rate until clear and convincing evidence related to legal residence and its duration has been provided. Each institution of higher education must make a residency determination that is documented by the submission of written or electronic verification that includes two or more specified documents that:

- Must include at least one of the following ("Tier 1"):
  - A Florida voter's registration card.
  - A Florida driver license.
  - A State of Florida identification card.
  - A Florida vehicle registration.
  - Proof of a permanent home in Florida which is occupied as a primary residence by the individual or by the individual's parent if the individual is a dependent child.
  - Proof of a homestead exemption in Florida.
  - Transcripts from a Florida high school for multiple years if the Florida high school diploma or high school equivalency diploma was earned within the last 12 months.
  - Proof of permanent full-time employment in Florida for at least 30 hours per week for a 12-month period.
- May include one or more of the following ("Tier 2"):
  - A declaration of domicile in Florida.
  - A Florida professional or occupational license.
  - Florida incorporation.
  - A document evidencing family ties in Florida.
  - Proof of membership in a Florida-based charitable or professional organization.
  - Any other documentation that supports the student's request for resident status, including, but not limited to, utility bills and proof of 12 consecutive months of payments; a lease agreement and proof of 12 consecutive months of payments; or an official state, federal, or court document evidencing legal ties to Florida.[3]

Guidelines for Residency for Tuition Purposes

The Articulation Coordinating Committee (ACC) Statewide Residency Committee reviews statutes and rules relating to residency for tuition purposes and drafts and revises statewide residency guidelines that provide further clarification of statutes and rules.[4] The ACC statewide residency guidelines provide that prison inmates are not precluded from establishing residency for tuition purposes in Florida. However, they may not establish residency for tuition purposes by virtue of their incarceration in Florida and evidence must be provided for the 12-month period prior to incarceration.[5]

[2] Section 1009.21(2)(a), F.S.
[3] Section 1009.21(3), F.S.

Each institution of higher education must make a residency determination and can establish policies regarding incarcerated individuals. For example, Tallahassee Community College and St. Petersburg College both require an incarcerated individual to provide documentation that he or she lived in Florida for 12 months before incarceration and requires Tier 1 and Tier 2 documentation to prove his or her physical presence in Florida for 12 months before being incarcerated. If the individual has been released for a year or longer, he or she must provide documentation for the most recent 12 months.[6]

Florida law does not specifically authorize or prohibit time incarcerated in a Florida prison to count toward the 12-month legal residency requirements.

Tuition and Out-of-State Fees

Florida law defines "tuition" as the basic fee charged to a student for instruction provided by a public postsecondary educational institution in the state. A student who is classified as a "resident for tuition purposes" qualifies for the in-state tuition rate. An "out-of-state fee" is the additional fee for instruction provided by a public postsecondary education institution in the state, and is charged to a student who does not qualify for the in-state tuition rate.[7]

Residents for tuition purposes are charged in-state rates for tuition while non-residents pay out-of-state fees in addition to tuition, unless these costs are exempted or waived.[8] The resident undergraduate tuition rate for the State University System (SUS) is currently set in statute at $105.07 per credit hour.[9] The SUS average cost of resident and nonresident tuition and fees per credit hour is shown below:[10]

State University System Tuition & Fees
Undergraduate Baccalaureate	Standard Tuition (Per Credit Hour)	Average Tuition & Fees (Per Credit Hour)	Standard Tuition (Per 30 Credit Hours)	Average Tuition & Fees (Per 30 Credit Hours)
Resident	$105.07	$199.72	$3,152.10	$5,991.79
Non-Resident	$105.07	$690.63	$3,152.10	$20,719.07

Within the Florida College System (FCS), for college credit courses in advanced and professional, postsecondary vocational, developmental education, and educator preparation institute programs, the standard tuition is $71.98 per credit hour for residents and nonresidents, and the out-of-state fee is $215.94 per credit hour. Baccalaureate degree program tuition is $91.79 per credit hour for students who are residents for tuition purposes. The sum of the tuition and the out-of-state fee per credit hour for students who are nonresidents for tuition purposes can be no more than 85 percent of the sum of the tuition and the out-of-state fee at the state university nearest the FCS institution.[11]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

This bill modifies s. 1009.21, F.S., by providing that an individual who has met the requirements to be classified as a resident for tuition purposes may not lose his or her resident status for tuition purposes solely because of incarceration in a state or federal correctional facility in Florida.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/CS/SB 86 requires the clerks of the court to create the Hope Card program for persons issued orders of protection, such as a domestic violence injunction or an injunction against the exploitation of a vulnerable adult. Under the program, the Clerks would be required to issue Hope Cards, which identifies and describes the person who is restrained by an order of protection, identifies those protected by the order, and provides the telephone number for the statewide domestic violence hotline. These cards must be issued on a credit-card sized laminated card or in digital form, without cost to the protected person. Displaying the card is expected to facilitate the law enforcement response to a violation of the order.

The bill creates a second degree misdemeanor related to using a Hope Card to wrongfully claim that one is protected by an order of protection.

The bill may have an indeterminate, negative fiscal impact to the Clerks. See Section V., Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill is effective October 1, 2024.

II. Present Situation:

Injunctions for Protection

Florida has created many forms of injunctive relief protecting persons from harm:

Domestic Violence Injunction

The first injunction against violence was codified in s. 741.30, F.S. It authorizes a family or household member[1] who is either the victim of domestic violence or has reasonable cause to believe he or she is in imminent danger of becoming the victim of any act of domestic violence to file in the circuit court a petition for an injunction against domestic violence. The term "domestic violence" means "any assault, aggravated assault, battery, aggravated battery, sexual assault, sexual battery, stalking, aggravated stalking, kidnapping, false imprisonment, or any criminal offense resulting in physical injury or death of one family or household member by another family or household member."

Because the injunction is limited to family or household members, similar injunctions have been developed to protect other persons from harm.

Injunction for Protection Against Repeat Violence, Sexual Violence, or Dating Violence

Section 784.046, F.S., provides that a petition for an injunction for protection against repeat violence may be filed in the circuit court by a person who is the victim of repeat violence[2] or the parent or legal guardian of any minor child who is living at home. The statute also provides that a petition for an injunction for protection against dating violence may be filed in the circuit court by a person who is the victim of dating violence[3] and has reasonable cause to believe he or she is in imminent danger of becoming the victim of another act of dating violence; a person who has reasonable cause to believe he or she is in imminent danger of becoming the victim of an act of dating violence; or the parent or legal guardian of any minor child who is living at home and who seeks an injunction for protection against dating violence on behalf of that minor child.

Section 784.086, F.S., also provides that a petition for an injunction for protection against sexual violence may be filed in the circuit court by a person who is the victim of sexual violence[4] or the parent or legal guardian of a minor child who is living at home who is the victim of sexual violence on his or her own behalf or on behalf of the minor child.

[1] "Family or household member" means spouses, former spouses, persons related by blood or marriage, persons who are presently residing together as if a family or who have resided together in the past as if a family, and persons who are parents of a child in common regardless of whether they have been married. With the exception of persons who have a child in common, the family or household members must be currently residing or have in the past resided together in the same single dwelling unit. Section 741.28(3), F.S.

[2] "Repeat violence" means two incidents of violence or stalking committed by the respondent, one of which must have been within 6 months of the filing of the petition, which are directed against the petitioner or the petitioner's immediate family member. Section 784.046(1)(b), F.S.

[3] "Dating violence" is violence between individuals who have or have had a continuing and significant relationship of a romantic or intimate nature. This relationship is determined based on specified factors. Section 784.046(1)(d), F.S.

[4] "Sexual violence" means any one incident of sexual battery; a lewd or lascivious act committed upon or in the presence of a person younger than 16 years of age; luring or enticing a child; sexual performance by a child; or any other forcible felony wherein a sexual act is committed or attempted, regardless of whether criminal charges based on the incident were filed, reduced, or dismissed by the state attorney. Section 784.046(1)(c), F.S.

Injunction Against Stalking

Section 784.0485, F.S., authorizes a person who is the victim of stalking[5] or the parent or legal guardian of a minor child who is a victim and living at home to file in the circuit court a petition for an injunction for protection against stalking. For the purposes of injunctions for protection against stalking, the offense of stalking includes the offense of cyberstalking.[6]

Injunction for Protection Against Exploitation of a Vulnerable Adult

Section 825.1035, F.S., creates a cause of action for an injunction for protection against exploitation[7] of a vulnerable adult.[8] This injunction may be sought by a vulnerable adult in imminent danger of being exploited; the guardian of a vulnerable adult in imminent danger of being exploited; a person or organization acting on behalf of the vulnerable adult with the consent of the vulnerable adult or his or her guardian; an agent under a valid durable power of attorney with the authority specifically granted in the power of attorney; or a person who simultaneously files a petition for determination of incapacity and appointment of an emergency temporary guardian with respect to the vulnerable adult.[9]

Legal Standard for a Protective Injunction

The procedures for the issuance of a protective injunction issued under ss. 741.30, 784.046, 784.0485 and s. 825.1035, F.S., are similar. As to domestic violence, a person who is the victim of domestic violence or has reasonable cause to believe he or she is in imminent danger of becoming a victim of domestic violence has standing to file a sworn petition for an injunction.[10] Based on this initial petition, a court may issue a temporary injunction ex-parte.[11] During an ex-parte proceeding, a court is generally not required to review a response from the accused and may base a temporary injunction on hearsay evidence.[12,13] Additional evidence may be considered, however, if an accused appears at the ex-parte proceeding or has received reasonable notice of the hearing.[14] This ex-parte proceeding is often necessary because "the existence of a true emergency . . . may sometimes require immediate action that will not permit the movant to verify each allegation made."[15]

[5] The offense of stalking is committed by a person who willfully, maliciously, and repeatedly follows, harasses, or cyberstalks another person. Section 784.048(2), F.S.

[6] "Cyberstalk" means to engage in a course of conduct to communicate, or to cause to be communicated, words, images, or language by or through the use of electronic mail or electronic communication, directed at a specific person; or to access, or attempt to access, the online accounts or Internet-connected home electronic systems of another person without that person's permission, causing substantial emotional distress to that person and serving no legitimate purpose. Section 784.048(1)(d), F.S.

[7] Exploitation means exploitation of an elderly person or disabled adult under s. 825.103(1), F.S. Section 825.101(6), F.S.

[8] See discussion of the definition of "vulnerable adult," supra.

[12] Parrish v. Price, 71 So. 3d 132, 134 (Fla. 2d DCA 2011) (holding that a temporary injunction may be based solely on the petition filed, even if it is almost entirely based on hearsay statements).

[13] Additionally, when a "parent files a sworn petition and has reasonable cause to believe the minor child is a victim of sexual violence by a nonparent, the sworn petition is a presumptively sufficient basis for an injunction." (emphasis added) Berthiaume v. B.S. ex rel. A.K., 85 So. 3d 1117, 1119 (Fla. 1st DCA 2012).

[15] Smith v. Crider, 932 So. 2d 393, 399 n. 4 (Fla. 2d DCA 2006).

Parties to an injunction are entitled to a full hearing and a temporary injunction is effective for a maximum of 15 days.[16] A full hearing is required prior to the expiration of the temporary injunction. At the full hearing, the accused must have a reasonable opportunity to prove or disprove the allegations made in the complaint and is entitled to introduce evidence and cross-examine witnesses.[17] Based upon the full hearing, a court "must consider the current allegations, the parties' behavior within the relationship, and the history of the relationship as a whole" to determine if a permanent injunction is warranted based on the petitioner's belief that he or she is in imminent danger of becoming a victim of domestic violence.[18]

Enforcement of a Protective Injunction

Just as filing and issuance of protective injunctions are similar, so is enforcement. A person who willfully violates an injunction for protection commits a misdemeanor of the first degree.[19] A third offense related to the same protected person is a third degree felony.[20] Similarly, a warrantless arrest can be made for violation of an injunction if a law enforcement officer has probable cause to believe that the person has violated an injunction.[21] The general rule requiring a law enforcement officer to witness the offense before making a misdemeanor arrest does not apply to arrests for violation of an injunction.

Statewide Record of Injunctions

The Florida Department of Law Enforcement is required to create and maintain the Domestic and Repeat Violence Injunction Statewide Verification System.[22] The system is a statewide communication system capable of electronically transmitting information to and between criminal justice agencies relating to domestic violence injunctions and repeat violence injunctions issued by the courts throughout the state. The information must include, but is not limited to, information as to the existence and status of any injunction for verification purposes. The system must be notified according to the following requirements:

- Within 24 hours after the court issues an injunction for protection against domestic violence or changes, continues, extends, or vacates an injunction for protection against domestic violence, the clerk of the court must electronically transmit a certified copy of the injunction for service to the sheriff having jurisdiction over the residence of the petitioner.
- Within 24 hours after service of process of an injunction for protection against domestic violence upon a respondent, the law enforcement officer must electronically transmit the written proof of service of process to the sheriff having jurisdiction over the residence of the petitioner.
- Within 24 hours after the sheriff receives a certified copy of the injunction for protection against domestic violence, the sheriff must make information relating to the injunction available to other law enforcement agencies by electronically transmitting the information to the department.

- Within 24 hours after the sheriff or other law enforcement officer has made service upon the respondent and the sheriff has been so notified, the sheriff must make information relating to the service available to other law enforcement agencies by electronically transmitting the information to the department.

The apparent purpose of the statewide verification system is to allow any law enforcement agency in the state access to injunctions in order to facilitate their enforcement.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill requires the clerks of court, consulting with the Attorney General, to develop the Hope Card Program. The purpose of the program is to issue a Hope Card to any person who has been issued a final order of protection by a court in this state and who requests a card.

Beginning October 1, 2024, a person who has been issued a final judgment of an injunction for protection against domestic violence, repeat violence, sexual violence, dating violence, or exploitation of a vulnerable adult may apply for a Hope Card with the clerk of the court of the circuit where the petition for an injunction for protection was initially filed. A person may apply for a Hope Card at the time the final judgment on injunction for protection is issued or at any other time before the expiration of the order of protection.

The clerk of the court may not assess a fee for the issuance of a Hope Card.

A clerk of court must create and provide the card within 3 business days after request. The card must be a digital card or a durable, laminated, wallet-sized card containing all of the following information:
- The respondent's name and date of birth.
- The name and date of birth of the petitioner or protected person.
- The telephone number for the statewide domestic violence hotline.
- Pertinent information about the order of protection, including, but not limited to, the issuing court; the date the order of protection was issued; and the expiration date, if any, of the order of protection.
- The issue date and expiration date.

A Hope Card is valid during the term of the injunction, but for no longer than 2 years, and may be renewed so long as the underlying injunction is valid.

The bill provides that a person who has actual knowledge that he or she is not protected by a current injunction and who presents a Hope Card or other document purporting to be a Hope Card for the purpose of evidencing the existence of an injunction commits a second degree misdemeanor.[23]

[23] A second degree misdemeanor is punishable by a fine of up to $500 and incarceration for up to 60 days, or both. Sections 775.082 and 775.083, F.S.

The bill is effective October 1, 2024.

C. Government Sector Impact:

This bill may have an indeterminate, negative fiscal impact to the Clerks. In the 2022-2023 fiscal year, there were 80,159 petitions filed for one of the forms of injunction against violence.[24] The clerks estimate that 22 percent of cases are resolved by issuance of a final order of protection, which equates to approximately 17,635 cases per annum.[25]

The Clerks estimate that it will cost $40 to create a hardcopy Hope Card, which includes the start-up and annual costs for supplies and equipment, the printing and mailing of the Hope Cards, and related staff costs for processing applications and issuing a Hope Card. If every person eligible were to apply for a card, the annual cost to the 67 Clerks would be $705,400.[26]

CS/CS/CS by Fiscal Policy on February 22, 2024:
The committee substitute removed the Florida Association of Court Clerks, Inc. from responsibility for creating the program, moved the implementation date from July 1, 2024 to October 1, 2024, extended the deadline for production and delivery of a card to 3 business days, limited personal information to be printed on the card and added a requirement to list an expiration date, removed the ability to get a Hope Card related to a foreign judgment, and added a misdemeanor offense for falsely claiming the existence of an injunction.

CS/CS by Appropriations Committee on Criminal and Civil Justice on February 8, 2024:
The committee substitute allows for the issuance of a digital Hope Card and requires the Hope Card to contain the telephone number for the statewide domestic violence hotline.

CS by Judiciary on January 9, 2024:
The committee substitute removes references to the Office of the State Court Administrator, clarifying that the Florida Association of Court Clerks, Inc., is solely responsible for implementation of the program. It also removes the requirement to use certified mail for delivery of the card, and changes delivery times from "24 hours" to delivered to the petitioner or deposited in the mail not later than the end of the next business day after the card is created.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 168 amends newborn health screening requirements in s. 383.145, F.S., to require that all newborns who are born in a hospital that provides neonatal intensive care services and who are born before 35 weeks gestation, require cardiac care, or require medical or postsurgical treatment for at least three weeks, be tested for the Cytomegalovirus (CMV). Additionally, the bill requires that if the newborn is transferred to another hospital for higher-level care, the receiving hospital must administer the CMV test if the test was not already performed at the transferring hospital or birth facility. The bill clarifies that a CMV test is required if the newborn will be transferred or admitted for intensive and prolonged care, regardless of whether the newborn failed his or her hearing screening.

The bill creates a new requirement that CMV screening and medically necessary follow-up reevaluations leading to diagnosis are covered benefits for Medicaid patients and that private health insurance policies and health maintenance organizations (HMO) that provide comprehensive coverage must compensate providers for the covered benefit at the contracted rate. The bill provides that a child who is diagnosed with CMV must be referred to a primary care physician and the Children's Medical Services (CMS) Early Intervention Program for the management of his or her condition.

The bill will likely have a significant, negative fiscal impact on state government. See Section V., Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2024.

II. Present Situation:

Cytomegalovirus

Cytomegalovirus (CMV) is a common virus for people of all ages; however, a healthy person's immune system usually keeps the virus from causing illness.[1] In the United States, nearly one in three children are already infected with CMV by age five. Over half of adults have been infected with CMV by age 40. Once CMV is in a person's body, it stays there for life and can reactivate. A person can also be re-infected with a different strain (variety) of the virus. Most people with CMV infection have no symptoms and aren't aware that they have been infected.[2]

A pregnant woman can pass CMV to her unborn baby. The virus in the woman's blood can cross through the placenta and infect the baby. This can happen when a pregnant woman is infected with CMV for the first time or is infected with CMV again during pregnancy.[3]

Some babies with congenital CMV infection have health problems that are apparent at birth or that develop later during infancy or childhood. In the most severe cases, CMV can cause the death of an unborn baby (pregnancy loss).

Some babies with congenital CMV infection have signs at birth. These signs include:
- Rash
- Jaundice (yellowing of the skin or whites of the eyes)
- Microcephaly (small head)
- Low birth weight
- Hepatosplenomegaly (enlarged liver and spleen)
- Seizures
- Retinitis (damaged eye retina)

Some babies with signs of congenital CMV infection at birth may have long-term health problems, such as:
- Hearing loss
- Developmental and motor delay
- Vision loss
- Microcephaly (small head)
- Seizures

Some babies without signs of congenital CMV infection at birth may have hearing loss. Hearing loss may be present at birth or may develop later, even in babies who pass the newborn hearing test.[4]

CMV is the most common infectious cause of birth defects in the United States. About one out of 200 babies are born with congenital CMV. One out of five babies with congenital CMV will have symptoms or long-term health problems, such as hearing loss. Hearing loss may progress from mild to severe during the first two years of life, which is a critical period for language learning. Over time, hearing loss can affect a child's ability to develop communication, language, and social skills.

Babies who show signs of congenital CMV disease can be treated with medicines called antivirals. Antivirals may decrease the severity of hearing loss. Babies who get treated with antivirals should be closely monitored by their doctor because of possible side effects.[5]

Newborn and Infant Hearing Screening

Section 383.145, F.S., requires that a newborn hearing screening must be conducted on all newborns in hospitals in this state on birth admission. When a newborn is delivered in a facility other than a hospital, the parents must be instructed on the importance of having the hearing screening performed and must be given information to assist them in having the screening performed within three months after the child's birth.[6]

Before a newborn is discharged from the hospital or other state-licensed birthing facility that provides maternity and newborn care services, and unless objected to by the parent or legal guardian,[7] the newborn must be screened for the detection of hearing loss to prevent the consequences of unidentified disorders.[8] Additionally, within 30 days of discharge from the hospital, each such facility must refer the newborn to a licensed audiologist, physician, or hospital for screening for detection of hearing loss.[9] If the birth is a home birth, the healthcare provider in attendance must provide the referral to a licensed audiologist, hospital, or other newborn hearing screening provider within 30 days.[10]

Section 383.145, F.S., also requires that all screenings be conducted by a licensed audiologist, a licensed physician, or an appropriately supervised individual who has completed documented training specifically for newborn hearing screening.[11] When ordered by the treating physician, screening of a newborn's hearing must include auditory brainstem responses, or evoked otoacoustic emissions, or appropriate technology as approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration (FDA).[12]

If a newborn fails his or her hearing screening, the hospital or birthing facility must administer a test approved by the FDA, or other diagnostically equivalent test, to screen for CMV before the newborn becomes 21 days old or before discharge, whichever is sooner. A child who is diagnosed as having a permanent hearing impairment must be referred to the primary care physician for medical management, treatment, and follow-up services. Furthermore, any child from birth to 36 months of age who is diagnosed as having a hearing impairment that requires ongoing special hearing services must be referred to the Children's Medical Services Early Intervention Program serving the geographical area in which the child resides.[13] Any person who is not covered through insurance and cannot afford the costs of testing must be given a list of newborn hearing screening providers who provide the necessary testing free of charge.[14]

Early Steps

Early Steps is Florida's early intervention system that offers services to eligible infants and toddlers, from birth to 36 months, who have or are at risk for developmental disabilities or delays. Early intervention supports families and caregivers to increase their child's participation in daily activities and routines that are important to the family. Fifteen local Early Steps offices throughout the state receive referrals from various primary referral sources. Infants and toddlers are assessed in the following developmental domains to determine eligibility: physical, cognitive, communication, social-emotional, and adaptive. Each child receives an Individualized Family Support Plan that meets his or her unique needs. Families also receive support to develop the skills and confidence needed to help their child learn and develop.[15]

Medicaid and Private Health Insurance Coverage

Section 383.145(3)(k), F.S., currently requires that the initial procedure for screening the hearing of the newborn or infant and any medically necessary follow-up reevaluations leading to diagnosis are a covered benefit for Medicaid patients and that all private health insurance policies and health maintenance organizations providing comprehensive health coverage must compensate providers for the covered benefit at the contracted rate.

Mandated Health Insurance Coverage

Section 624.215, F.S., requires every person or organization seeking consideration of a legislative proposal that would mandate health coverage or the offering of health coverage by an insurance carrier, to submit to the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) and the legislative committees having jurisdiction, a report that assesses the social and financial impacts of the proposed coverage. As of January 22, 2024, the Senate Committee on Health Policy staff has not received this report.

Under the federal Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA), individuals and small businesses can shop for health insurance coverage on the federal marketplace. All non-grandfathered plans[16] must include minimum essential coverage (MEC),[17] including an array of services that includes the 10 essential health benefits (EHBs). These 10 EHBs are further clarified or modified each year through the federal rulemaking process and are open for public comment before taking effect. The 10 general categories for the EHBs are:

- Ambulatory services (outpatient care);
- Emergency services;
- Hospitalization (inpatient care);
- Maternity and newborn care.
- Mental health and substance abuse disorder services;
- Prescription drugs.
- Rehabilitative services and rehabilitative services and devices;
- Laboratory services;
- Preventive care and chronic disease management; and
- Pediatric services, including oral and vision care.[18]

States are free to modify the EHBs offered in their states by adding coverage; however, because of concerns that federal funds would be used on costly mandated coverages that were not part of the required EHBs, the ACA contains a provision requiring that starting in 2016, the states would have to pay for the cost of the coverage. As a result, the State of Florida may be required to defray the costs of any additional benefits beyond the required EHBs put in place after 2011.[19]

Examples of health insurance benefits mandated under Florida law include:

- Coverage for certain diagnostic and surgical procedures involving bones or joints of the jaw and facial region (s. 627.419(7), F.S.);
- Coverage for bone marrow transplants (s. 627.4236, F.S.);
- Coverage for certain cancer drugs (s. 627.4239, F.S.);
- Coverage for any service performed in an ambulatory surgical center (s. 627.6616, F.S.);
- Diabetes treatment services (s. 627.6408, F.S.);
- Osteoporosis (s. 627.6409, F.S.);
- Certain coverage for newborn children (s. 627.641, F.S.);
- Child health supervision services (s. 627.6416, F.S.);
- Certain coverages related to mastectomies (s. 627.6417, F.S.);
- Mammograms (s. 627.6418, F.S.); and
- Treatment of cleft lip and cleft palate in children (s. 627.64193, F.S.).

[16] A "grandfathered health plan" are those health plans, both individual and employer plans, that maintain coverage that were in place prior to the passage of the ACA or in which the enrollee was enrolled on March 23, 2010 while complying with the consumer protection components of the ACA. If a group health plan enters a new policy, certificate, or contract of insurance, the group must provide the new issuer the documentation from the prior plan so it can be determined whether there has been a change sufficient to lose grandfather status. See 26 U.S.C. 7805 and 26 C.F.R. s. 2590.715-1251(a).

[17] To meet the individual responsibility provision of the ACA statute, a benefit plan or coverage plan must be recognized as providing minimum essential coverage (MEC). Employer based coverage, Medicaid, Medicare, CHIP (i.e. Florida KidCare), and TriCare would meet this requirement.

[18] 42 U.S.C. s. 18022(b)(1)(A)-(J).

[19] See 42 U.S.C. s. 18031(d)(3)(B)(ii).

Florida's current EHB includes anti-viral medications for CMV.[20]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill amends s. 383.145, F.S., to require each hospital that provides neonatal intensive care services to administer an FDA-approved test for cytomegalovirus (CMV), or another diagnostically equivalent test, to each newborn admitted to the hospital as the result of a premature birth before 35 weeks gestation, for cardiac care, or medical or postsurgical treatment requiring an anticipated stay of three weeks or longer. The CMV screening must be initiated before the newborn is 21 days of age.

The bill requires that if the newborn is transferred to another hospital for higher-level care, the receiving hospital must administer the CMV test if the test was not already performed at the transferring hospital or birth facility. The bill also requires a CMV test if the newborn will be transferred or admitted for intensive and prolonged care, regardless of whether the newborn failed his or her hearing screening.

The bill creates a new requirement that CMV screening and medically necessary follow-up reevaluations leading to a diagnosis are covered benefits for Medicaid patients and that private health insurance policies and health maintenance organizations providing comprehensive health coverage must compensate providers for the covered benefit at the contracted rate. The bill provides that a child who is diagnosed with CMV must be referred to a primary care physician and the Children's Medical Services Early Intervention Program for the management of his or her condition and be deemed eligible for a baseline evaluation and any medically necessary follow-up reevaluations and monitoring.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2024.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

[20] Id.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The bill may have an indeterminate positive fiscal impact on the families of newborns who are diagnosed with cytomegalovirus (CMV) due to the required screening, are eligible for services, and can manage the condition before any permanent hearing loss occurs.

The bill may have an indeterminate negative fiscal impact on hospitals that are required to perform additional CMV tests due to the requirements in the bill.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill may have a significant, negative fiscal impact on the Department of Health (DOH) if the number of CMV screenings the DOH is required to perform increases and if more children are eligible to for the Children's Medical Services Early Intervention Program as a result of the requirements in the bill. As of this writing, the DOH has not submitted an estimate of such fiscal impact.

The bill may have a significant, negative fiscal impact on the Medicaid program due to the bill's provisions that require a CMV screening and medically necessary follow-up to be covered services under the Medicaid program. As of this writing, the Agency for Health Care Administration has not submitted an estimate of such fiscal impact.

The bill may have a significant, negative fiscal impact on state government if the state is required to defray additional costs related to adding CMV screenings or treatments to the specified mandated insurance coverage.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

The bill amends s. 383.145(3)(k), F.S., to create a new requirement that cytomegalovirus (CMV) screening and medically necessary follow-up reevaluations leading to diagnosis are covered benefits for Medicaid patients and that private health insurance policies and health maintenance organizations providing comprehensive health coverage must compensate providers for the covered benefit at the contracted rate, however, the bill is not specific as to what services are required to be covered under the medically necessary follow-up reevaluations. It may be advisable to clarify what services are required to be covered under the bill.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends section 383.145 of the Florida Statutes.

IX. Additional Information:

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 288 is to be cited as the "Safeguarding American Families Everywhere (SAFE) Act." The bill provides that the application form for motor vehicle registrations must include language allowing an applicant to voluntarily indicate that the applicant has been diagnosed with, or is the parent or legal guardian of a child or ward who has been diagnosed with certain disabilities or disorders by a physician. If the applicant indicates a certain diagnosis on the application, the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles (DHSMV) must include the designation "SAFE" in the motor vehicle record. The department may not include in the motor vehicle record personal identifying information of or any diagnosis of a person for whom a diagnosis is indicated. The "SAFE" designation may be included or removed at any time upon request of the owner or co-owner.

The bill has an insignificant, negative fiscal impact on state government. See Section V., Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill takes effect October 1, 2024.

II. Present Situation:

Motor Vehicle Registration Application

Every owner or person in charge of a motor vehicle that is operated or driven on the roads of Florida must register the vehicle in the state. The owner or person in charge must apply to the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles (DHSMV) or to its authorized agent for registration of each such vehicle on a form prescribed by the DHSMV.[1]

The application for registration must include the street address of the owner's permanent residence or the address of his or her permanent place of business and be accompanied by personal or business identification information. An individual applicant must provide a valid driver license or identification card issued by this state or another state or a valid passport. A business applicant must provide a federal employer identification number, if applicable, or verification that the business is authorized to conduct business in the state, or a Florida municipal or county business license or number.[2]

Additionally, the DHSMV must include certain language on the application form such as, but not limited to, language allowing an applicant who is deaf or hard of hearing to voluntarily indicate that he or she is deaf or hard of hearing. If the applicant indicates on the application that he or she is deaf or hard of hearing, such information must be included through the Driver and Vehicle Information Database and available through the Florida Crime Information Center system.[3]

The DHSMV does not currently allow a motor vehicle owner or registrant to designate on his or her application form for the motor vehicle registration, whether or not he or she, or is the parent or legal guardian of a child or ward who has been diagnosed with a developmental disability or psychiatric disorder.

Driver License and Identification Card Designations

Driver license and identification cards contain various designations/identifiers/symbols that inform law enforcement, emergency medical personnel, retail establishments, or any persons reviewing the card of certain conditions or entitlements.[4] Designations related to physical health are as follows:

- Developmental disability is designated as a "D";
- Deaf or hard of hearing may have the international symbol for the deaf; and
- Insulin dependent persons may have the insulin dependent designation.

The SAFE Program

The Santa Rosa County Sheriff's Office created and operates the SAFE Program with the intent to protect Santa Rosa County's special needs community and any person who may not respond as expected in an emergency situation.[5] The SAFE Program allows families to voluntarily fill out a form to enroll their loved ones in the program. Once the information from the form is received from a family or individual, the dispatchers enter the details into their local communication system. The information is then securely shared with other first responders in the community. After enrollment in the program, a family will be mailed complimentary decals to place at the entrance of their home and on the rear window of their vehicles if they so choose. The decal is an immediate signal to all Santa Rosa's first responders that the family's situation is different and that there is extra information available to keep everyone safe. The decal indicates for first responders to handle the situation with a little extra care.[6]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill provides legislative intent and provides that the act be known as the "Safeguarding American Families Everywhere (SAFE) Act."

The bill amends s. 320.02, F.S., to provide that the application form for motor vehicle registrations must include language allowing an applicant to voluntarily indicate that the applicant has been diagnosed with, or is the parent or legal guardian of a child or ward has been diagnosed with any of the following disabilities or disorders by a physician licensed under ch. 458, F.S., or ch. 459, F.S.:

- Autism;
- Attention deficit hyperactivity disorder;
- Down syndrome;
- Alzheimer's disease;
- Traumatic brain injury;
- Posttraumatic stress disorder;
- Diabetes;
- An autoimmune disorder;
- Deafness;
- Blindness; or
- Any other mentally or physically limiting disorder

If the applicant indicates a diagnosis listed above on the application, the department must include the designation "SAFE" in the motor vehicle record. The department may not include in the motor vehicle record personal identifying information of or any diagnosis of a person for whom a diagnosis is indicated. The department must also allow a motor vehicle owner or co-owner to update a motor vehicle registration to include or remove the "SAFE" designation at any time.

The bill makes conforming changes in s. 320.27, F.S.

[5] Certain law enforcement data has suggested that individuals with special needs are seven times more likely to have law enforcement encounters than the general population. Moreover, studies have suggested that there needs to be better preparation of law enforcement and the special needs community to understand these interactions and to improve the safety of everyone involved in emergency situations. COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/CS/SB 460 aims to enhance vocational and technical education. The bill authorizes minors aged 16 or 17 to work in construction if the minor:

- Has earned his or her Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) 10 certification;
- Is under the direct supervision of a person 21 years of age or older with at least two years of related experience and his or her OSHA 10 certification.
- Is not working on any scaffolding, roof, superstructure, or ladder above six feet.
- Is not in violation of any OSHA rule or federal law related to minors in the workplace.

The bill provides a uniform standard for counties and municipalities to recognize a journeyworker.

The bill authorizes district school boards to satisfy the career fair requirement through consulting with specified groups to determine free or cost-effective methods to provide other career and industry networking opportunities.

The bill authorizes a student who earns credit for one year of related technical instruction for a registered apprenticeship or preapprenticeship program to use such credit to satisfy high school graduation credit requirements.

The bill authorizes an exemption from the career education basic skills assessment to certain students with a private school diploma or home education affidavit.

Lastly, the bill adds to the duties of the Office of Reimagining Education and Career Help to study the status of CTE in each school district within the state and coordinate a statewide report on the supply and demand of nursing occupations. The bill also repeals the Florida Talent Development Council.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2024.

II. Present Situation:

Hazardous Occupations Prohibited

The Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 regulates the employment of children in particularly hazardous occupations.[1] Prohibitions regarding the employment of minors age 16 or 17 in hazardous occupations in Florida are consistent with regulations adopted by the United States (US) Secretary of Labor.[2] No minor under 18 years of age, whether such person's disabilities of nonage have been removed, may be employed or permitted or suffered to work on any scaffolding, roof, superstructure, residential or nonresidential building construction, or ladder above 6 feet. This prohibition does not apply to a student learner who:

- Is enrolled in a youth vocational training program under a recognized state or local educational authority.
- Is employed under a written agreement that provides:
  - That the work of the student learner in the occupation declared particularly hazardous shall be incidental to the training.
  - That such work will be intermittent and for short periods of time and under the direct and close supervision of a qualified and experienced person.
  - That safety instructions shall be given by the school and correlated by the employer with on-the-job training.
  - That a schedule of organized and progressive work processes to be performed on the job shall have been prepared.[3]

Every employer in the construction industry is required to secure the payment of workers' compensation to his or her employees.[4] Employers who fail to secure the payment of workers' compensation for their employees are required to stop working and are liable for administrative and criminal penalties.[5] Employers must provide this benefit to all employees, including minors, whether lawfully or unlawfully employed.[6]

Employers are also required to provide certain training for their employees. Employers are required to instruct each employee in the recognition and avoidance of unsafe conditions and the regulations applicable to their work environment to control or eliminate any hazards or other exposure to illness or injury. Employers are encouraged to use the safety and health training programs provided by the Secretary of Labor.[7]

The Occupational Health and Safety Administration (OSHA) within the US Department of Labor, provides an Outreach Training Program to promote workplace safety and health and to make workers more knowledgeable about workplace hazards and their rights. The OSHA Outreach Training Program provides training on the recognition, avoidance, abatement, and prevention of workplace hazards. Outreach classes also provide overview information regarding OSHA, including workers' rights, employer responsibilities, and how to file a complaint.[8]

The 10-hour training program is primarily intended for entry level workers. The 30-hour training program is intended to provide workers with some safety responsibility a greater depth and variety of training. All outreach training is intended to cover an overview of the hazards a worker may encounter on a job site. Training emphasizes hazard identification, avoidance, control and prevention, not OSHA standards.[9]

In the Fiscal Year 2023, 1,341,168 individuals were trained through the Outreach Training Program.[10] The construction 10-hour certification comprised 42 percent of the trainings.[11]

Apprentices and Journeyworkers

Florida law defines an apprentice as a person at least 16 years of age who has entered into a written apprentice agreement with an employer, an association of employers, or a local joint apprenticeship committee, to learn a recognized skilled trade through actual work experience under the supervision of another worker who has completed an apprenticeship program or has worked in the field for a minimum number of years established by industry standard. Training for an apprentice should be combined with properly coordinated studies of related technical and supplementary subjects.[12]

An apprenticeship program must be registered and approved by the Department of Education (DOE).[13] A student who earns credit upon completion of a registered apprenticeship or preapprenticeship program may use such credit to satisfy high school graduation credit requirements for fine or performing arts, speech and debate, or career and technical education, or electives. The State Board of Education (SBE) is required to approve and identify in the Course

Code Directory the apprenticeship and preapprenticeship programs from which earned credit may be used to satisfy high school graduation requirements.[14]

The term of an apprenticeship may be completed through either a time-based approach, a competency-based approach, or a hybrid approach, as follows:

- The time-based approach measures skill acquisition through the apprentice's completion of at least 2,000 hours of on-the-job training, exclusive of related technical instruction.
- The competency-based approach measures the apprentice's successful demonstration of acquired skills and knowledge, demonstrated through on-the-job training and related technical instruction.
- The hybrid approach measures the individual apprentice's skill acquisition through a combination of a range of specified number of hours of on-the-job training and the successful demonstration of competency.[15]

Florida apprenticeship standards define a journeyworker as a person working in an apprenticeable occupation who has successfully completed a registered apprenticeship program or who has worked the number of years required by established industry practices for the particular trade or occupation.[16]

Counties and municipalities are authorized to issue journeyman licenses in the plumbing, pipe fitting, mechanical, HVAC, electrical and alarm system trades. An individual who holds a valid, active journeyman license in the trade issued by any county or municipality may work as a journeyman in the trade in which he or she is licensed in any other county or municipality without taking an additional examination or paying an additional license fee, if he or she:

- Has scored at least 70 percent, or after October 1, 1997, at least 75 percent, on a proctored journeyman Block and Associates examination or other proctored examination approved by the board for the trade in which he or she is licensed;
- Has completed a registered apprenticeship program and demonstrates four years' verifiable practical experience in the trade for which he or she is licensed, or demonstrates six years' verifiable practical experience in the trade for which he or she is licensed;
- Has satisfactorily completed specialized and advanced module coursework approved by the Florida Building Commission, as part of the building code compliance and mitigation training program,[17] specific to the discipline or, pursuant to authorization by the certifying authority, provides proof of completion of such curriculum or coursework within 6 months after such certification; and
- Has not had a license suspended or revoked within the last five years.[18]

A local government may charge a registration fee for reciprocity, not to exceed $25.[19] Subject to limited exceptions,[20] state law related to electrical and alarm system contracting does not limit the power of a municipality or county to require that one electrical journeyman, who is a

Career Fairs

Each district school board must require each high school within its jurisdiction to host an annual career fair during the school year and establish a process to provide students in grades 11 and 12 the opportunity to meet or interview with potential employers during the career fair. The career fair must be held on the campus of the high school, except that a group of high schools in the district or a group of districts may hold a joint career fair at an alternative location. A joint career fair must be held at a location located within reasonable driving distance for students at all participating schools. The career fair must be held during the school day and may use Florida's online career planning and work-based learning system as part of the career fair activities.[22]

State Academic Standards

The state academic standards establish the core content of the curricula to be taught in the state and specify the core content knowledge and skills that K-12 public school students are expected to acquire. Standards must be rigorous and relevant and provide for the logical, sequential progression of core curricular content that incrementally increases a student's core content knowledge and skills over time. Curricular content for all subjects must integrate critical-thinking, problem-solving, and workforce-literacy skills; communication, reading, and writing skills; mathematics skills; collaboration skills; contextual and applied-learning skills; technology-literacy skills; information and media-literacy skills; and civic-engagement skills.[23]

The standards must include distinct grade-level expectations for the core content knowledge and skills that a student is expected to have acquired by each individual grade level from kindergarten through grade 8. The standards for grades 9 through 12 may be organized by grade clusters of more than one grade level except as otherwise provided for visual and performing arts, physical education, health, and foreign language standards.[24]

The Commissioner of Education (commissioner), as needed, is required to develop and submit proposed revisions to the standards for review and comment by Florida educators, school administrators, representatives of the Florida College System institutions and state universities who have expertise in the content knowledge and skills necessary to prepare a student for postsecondary education and careers, business and industry leaders, and the public. The commissioner, after considering reviews and comments, must submit the proposed revisions to the SBE for adoption.[25]

CAPE Industry Certification Funding List

The SBE is required to adopt, at least annually, based on recommendations by the commissioner, the CAPE Industry Certification Funding List that assigns additional full-time equivalent membership to certifications identified in the Master Credentials List that meet a statewide, regional, or local demand.[26]

Certifications included on the CAPE Industry Certification Funding List:[27]
- Require at least 150 hours of instruction.
- Can be earned in middle and high school.
- Usually require passage of a subject area examination and some combination of work experience, educational attainment, or on-the-job training.

Requirements for Career Education Basic Skills

Each career and technical education (CTE) career certificate program, 450 clock hours or longer, includes associated basic academic skills (reading, mathematics, and language) that are required for completion from each CTE program. For the purpose of CTE and basic skills requirements, completion is accomplished when a student has demonstrated mastery of the entire program's standards and benchmarks and receives a Career Certificate of Completion.[28]

Students who enroll in a program offered for career credit of 450 hours or more must complete an entry-level examination within the first six weeks after admission into the program.[29] The SBE designates examinations to assess student mastery of basic skills, which include the following:
- Tests of Adult Basic Education (TABE), Forms 11 and 12, 2017;
- Demonstration of basic communication and computation skills;
- Comprehensive Adult Student Assessment System (CASAS), GOALS 900 Series, 2019;
- 2014 GED® Tests: Reasoning through Language Arts and Mathematical Reasoning where a minimum score as determined by the SBE has been attained on each test; and
- A test adopted by the Criminal Justice Standards and Training Commission, used for admission into law enforcement or corrections training programs.[30]

Any student who lacks the required level of basic skills for the career program must be provided with a structured program of basic skills instruction to correct deficiencies. A student may not receive a career or technical certificate of completion without first demonstrating the basic skills required in the state curriculum frameworks for the career education program.[31]

Florida law does not include in the specified exemptions from the basic skills requirements:

- A student who possesses a high school diploma from a private school.[35]
- A student in a home education program or a personalized education program.[36]

Office of Reimagining Education and Career Help

The Office of Reimagining Education and Career Help (REACH Office) within the Executive Office of the Governor facilitates alignment and coordination of entities responsible for Florida's workforce development system.[37] The specific duties of the REACH Office include:

- Establishing criteria and goals for workforce development and diversification in Florida's workforce development system.
- Coordinating state and federal workforce related programs, plans, resources, and activities provided by CareerSource Florida Inc., the Department of Commerce, and the DOE.
- Facilitating coordination among the Department of Commerce, the DOE, and CareerSource, to develop and expand apprenticeship, preapprenticeship, and other work-based learning models and streamline efforts to recruit and onboard new apprentices, preapprentices, students, and employers interested in work-based learning opportunities.[38]

The Florida Talent Development Council

The Florida Talent Development Council was created to develop a coordinated, data-driven, statewide approach to meeting Florida's needs for a 21st century workforce that employers and educators use as part of Florida's talent supply system. Among various assigned tasks, the council is required to coordinate, facilitate, and communicate statewide efforts to meet supply and demand needs for the state's health care workforce.[39]

Annually, by December 1, the Florida Talent Development Council is required to report on the health care workforce and any other relevant information on the Florida Talent Development Council's web page located on the Department of Economic Opportunity's website.[40] To support the efforts of the office, the Board of Governors (BOG) and the SBE are required to provide 10-year trend information on nursing education programs. The Department of Health, the BOG, the SBE, the Commission for Independent Education, the Independent Colleges and Universities of Florida, the Florida Center for Nursing, and postsecondary institutions participating in a state grant, fund, or performance-based incentive program are required to provide data, by institution and program, on:

- The number of student slots available.
- The number of student applications submitted, the number of qualified student applicants, the number of students accepted, and the number of students enrolled.
- The number of program graduates.
- Program retention rates of students tracked from program entry to graduation.
- Graduate passage rates for, and the number of times each graduate took, the National Council of State Boards of Nursing Licensing Examination.
- The number of graduates who become employed as practical or professional nurses in this state.
- The educational advancement of nurses through career pathways for the preceding 10 years by comparing their initial degree to the highest degree they obtained.
- The outcomes of students enrolled at institutions participating in the Linking Industry to Nursing Education (LINE) Fund or the Prepping Institutions, Programs, Employers, and Learners through Incentives for Nursing Education (PIPELINE) Fund.
- The outcomes of graduates who have received a nursing student loan forgiveness repayment. Such data must include, for the previous 4 fiscal years, the number of graduates who have received a repayment, the amount repaid on behalf of each graduate, each graduate's employer of record for each repayment and the length of employment at each employer, and the level or levels of nursing licensure earned by each graduate.[41]

The BOG and the SBE are also required to develop definitions for data elements and a uniform survey for use by the Department of Health, the Commission for Independent Education, the Independent Colleges and Universities of Florida, and postsecondary institutions participating in a state loan forgiveness program, grant, fund, or performance-based incentive program to collect the required data. The survey must include, but is not limited to, a student's age, gender, race, ethnicity, veteran status, wage, employer information, loan debt, and retirement expectations.[42]

[42] Section 1004.015(6)(b), F.S.

Hazardous Occupations Prohibited

The bill amends s. 450.061, F.S., to authorize a minor aged 16 or 17 to be employed on any residential building construction if he or she:

- Has earned his or her OSHA 10 certification
- Is under the direct supervision of a person at least 21 years of age who has earned his or her OSHA 10 certification and has at least two years of work experience related to the work he or she is supervising.
- Is not working on any scaffolding, roof, superstructure, or ladder above six feet.
- Is not working in violation of the Fair Labor Standards of 1938, any OSHA rule, or federal law related to minors in the workplace.

Apprentices and Journeyworkers

The bill amends s. 446.021, F.S., to modify the definition of journeyworker to clarify that, in addition to existing requirements, one must complete a state-approved apprenticeship and pass a state-approved test, when required, to meet the definition of journeyworker.

The bill modifies ss. 489.1455 and 489.5335, F.S., to require a local government to recognize a person as a journeyman plumbing, pipe fitting, mechanical, HVAC, electrical, or alarm trades if the person has:

- Scored at least 70 percent, or after October 1, 1997, at least 75 percent, on a proctored journeyman Block and Associates examination or other proctored examination approved by the board for the trade in which he or she is licensed;
- Completed a registered and state-approved apprenticeship program or has at least 12,000 hours of on-the-job training in his or her specific trade; and
- Satisfactorily completed specialized and advanced module coursework approved by the Florida Building Commission, as part of the building code training program established in s. 553.841, F.S., specific to the discipline or, pursuant to authorization by the certifying authority, provides proof of completion of such coursework within 6 months after such certification.

The bill accordingly removes the authority of a county or municipality to issue a journeyman license.

Career Fairs

The bill amends s. 1001.43, F.S., to add an alternative to the required annual career fair hosted at each school district high school. The bill authorizes district school boards, as an alternative to the required career fair, to consult with local workforce development boards, advisory committees, and business groups to determine free or cost-effective methods to provide other career and industry networking opportunities, during the school day, for secondary students and exposure for elementary and secondary students to a representative variety of industries, businesses, and careers.

State Academic Standards

The bill modifies s. 1003.41, F.S., to add to the persons who the Commissioner of Education (commissioner) must include for review and comment on proposed revisions to the state standards to include a representative from the Department of Commerce and specifies that business and industry leaders are limited to those for in-demand careers.

Career and Technical Education Courses

The bill modifies s. 1003.4282, F.S., to change how apprentice and preapprenticeship programs may satisfy the high school graduation credit requirements for fine or performing arts, speech and debate, or career and technical education, or electives. The bill authorizes earned credit for completion of one year of related technical instruction in a registered apprenticeship or preapprenticeship program, rather than completion of the entire program, to satisfy the high school graduation credit requirements for fine or performing arts, speech and debate, or career and technical education, or electives.

Requirements for Career Education Basic Skills

The bill modifies s. 1004.91, F.S., to authorize an exemption from postsecondary career education program basic skills requirements for a student who possesses a high school diploma from a private school, or, for a student in a home education program or a personalized education program, a signed affidavit submitted by the student's parent attesting that the student has completed a home education program.

Office of Reimagining Education and Career Help

The bill modifies s. 14.36, F.S., to add to the duties of the Office of Reimagining Education and Career Help (REACH Office). The bill requires the REACH Office to coordinate with the Department of Education, the Department of Commerce, and CareerSource Florida, Inc., to publish and disseminate, by March 1, 2025, a statewide asset map of career and technical education to inform workforce and industry partners of opportunities to partner and expand career and technical education in the state. The bill requires the information to be disseminated in a user-friendly form and:

- List secondary career and technical education courses offered by each school district in the state, categorized by career cluster, school, grade level, and the number of students enrolled.
- Identify the total amount of funding provided for the secondary career and technical education programs offered by each school district in the state.
- Compare existing secondary career and technical education program offerings, funding, and outcomes, including credential attainment, to data on in-demand careers and the state's economic needs to identify industry opportunities in which increased program offerings would support state and local needs.
- Compare alignment and funding of existing secondary career and technical education program offerings and outcomes, including credential attainment, to data on in-demand careers and the state's economic needs to identify opportunities to better align funding of programs to industry demand and statewide economic needs. Funding alignment may consider the use of virtual reality and other workforce education technologies for secondary career and technical education program offerings and outcomes, including credential attainment.

- List career dual enrollment programs offered in each school district in the state categorized by program type, offering location, and the number of students enrolled. The list must indicate the credential earned upon completion of the program and if the credential is part of a sequence as identified by the Credentials Review Committee.

The bill also requires the REACH Office to assume the duty currently assigned to the Florida Talent Development Council to coordinate, facilitate, and communicate statewide efforts to meet supply and demand needs for the state's health care workforce. The bill requires the REACH Office to publish the report conducted by the Board of Governors and the State Board of Education on the Department of Education's website.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2024.

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS/CS/CS by Fiscal Policy on February 22, 2024:
The committee substitute removes from the bill the career and technical education task force and instead requires the Office of Reimagining Education and Career Help (REACH) to coordinate with the Department of Education, the Department of Commerce, and CareerSource Florida, Inc., to publish and disseminate, by March 1, 2025, a statewide asset map of career and technical education to inform workforce and industry partners of opportunities to partner and expand career and technical education in the state. The committee substitute requires the information to be disseminated in a user-friendly form and:

- List secondary career and technical education courses offered by each school district in the state, categorized by career cluster, school, grade level, and the number of students enrolled.
- Identify the total amount of funding provided for the secondary career and technical education programs offered by each school district in the state.
- Compare existing secondary career and technical education program offerings, funding, and outcomes, including credential attainment, to data on in-demand careers and the state's economic needs to identify industry opportunities in which increased program offerings would support state and local needs.
- Compare alignment and funding of existing secondary career and technical education program offerings and outcomes, including credential attainment, to data on in-demand careers and the state's economic needs to identify opportunities to better align funding of programs to industry demand and statewide economic needs. Funding alignment may consider the use of virtual reality and other workforce education technologies for secondary career and technical education program offerings and outcomes, including credential attainment.

- List career dual enrollment programs offered in each school district in the state categorized by program type, offering location, and the number of students enrolled. The list must indicate the credential earned upon completion of the program and if the credential is part of a sequence as identified by the Credentials Review Committee.

The committee substitute also requires the REACH Office to assume the duty currently assigned to the Florida Talent Development Council to coordinate, facilitate, and communicate statewide efforts to meet supply and demand needs for the state's health care workforce. The committee substitute requires the REACH Office to publish the report conducted by the Board of Governors and the State Board of Education on the Department of Education's website.

CS/CS by Appropriations Committee on Education on February 8, 2024:
The committee substitute:
- Clarifies that the employment of minors in residential construction may not violate the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938.
- Clarifies that, in addition to existing requirements, an individual must complete a state-approved apprenticeship and pass a state-approved test, when required, to meet the definition of journeyworker.
- Restores the authority of local governments to recognize journeyworkers while retaining the provision of the bill removing the authority to grant local journeyworker licenses. The amendment requires a local government to recognize a person as a journeyman if the person:
  - Passed a test approved for the trade;
  - Completed an apprenticeship or has 12,000 hours of experience in the trade; and
  - Completed coursework as approved by the Florida Building Commission.
- Makes optional for institutions the exemption from basic skills requirements for home education and private school completers, similar to existing exemption for public school graduates.
- Shifts the CTE task force to be housed within the Department of Commerce instead of the Department of Education.
- Repeals the Florida Talent Development Council.

CS in Education Pre-K – 12 on January 17, 2024:
The committee substitute narrows the exception provided in the bill to the prohibition on minors aged 16 to 17 working on scaffolding, roof, superstructure, or residential or nonresidential building construction, to apply the exception only to residential building construction. The committee substitute maintains the requirement that the exception only apply to minors with an Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) 10 certification, who are supervised as provided in the bill.

The committee substitute removes the requirement of the bill that:
- High school career fairs include specific additional criteria, and instead authorizes district school boards, as an alternative to the required career fair, to consult with local workforce development boards, advisory committees, and business groups to determine free or cost-effective methods to provide other career and industry networking opportunities, during the school day, for secondary students and exposure for elementary and secondary students to a representative variety of industries, businesses, and careers.

- The specific curricular content established in the state academic standards for mathematics ensure the integration of real-life opportunities to use such curricular content.
- All courses directly related to CAPE Digital Tool or Industry Certifications be weighted the same as a grade in an honors course for purposes of calculating grade-point-average (GPA).
- Conditions high school credit for apprenticeship or preapprenticeship programs on the completion of OSHA 10 certification and maintains the provision of the bill authorizing students to use one year of related technical instruction (CTE) to satisfy high school credit requirements.
- Require the Department of Education (DOE) and the Board of Governors (BOG) to establish and publish lists related to articulation certain CTE credits.
- Increases the career-themed courses that district high school and middle schools must offer.
- Modifies the CAPE Act 3-year strategic plan, curriculum review committee, and the Commissioner of Education's annual review of CTE offerings.

The committee substitute adds to the bill:

- December 1, 2024, as a deadline for the Department of Education (DOE) to convene the workgroup to identify the three math pathways for students enrolled in secondary grades.
- An exemption from postsecondary career education program basic skills requirements for a student who possesses a high school diploma from a private school, or, for a student in a home education program, a signed affidavit submitted by the student's parent attesting that the student has completed a home education program.

The committee substitute removes from the bill the provision providing flexibility from certification requirements for district school boards in hiring non-degree CTE teachers.

The committee substitute adds to the CTE Task Force created in the bill the responsibility to:

- Compile a list of career and technical education courses offered through the Department of Corrections and Juvenile Justice. Such data must be broken down by location, population, industry course offering, the number of students enrolled in each course, and the number of students who complete such courses
- Review existing postsecondary credits available for K-12 career and technical education course offerings and how this information is advertised to students and parents.
- Compare existing career and technical education course offerings with data from the Department of Commerce and industry leaders on in-demand careers and the state's economic needs.

- Provide recommendations for increasing funding, eliminating barriers to expanding career and technical education offerings, and streamlining regulations.
- Provide recommendations for improving the marketing of career and technical education offerings to students and parents.

The committee substitute modifies the date for the task force to report on its findings to require the task force to submit its report by September 1, 2025, and its recommendations by January 1, 2026.

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Fiscal Policy

BILL:	SB 468
INTRODUCER:	Senator Bradley
SUBJECT:	Court Interpreter Services
DATE:	February 20, 2024
REVISED:

	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR	REFERENCE	ACTION
1.	Davis	Cibula	JU	Favorable
2.	Kolich	Harkness	ACJ	Favorable
3.	Davis	Yeatman	FP	Favorable

I. Summary:

SB 468 creates an exception to the general rule that state revenues may not be provided to non-indigent people for due process services. Due process services include, but are not limited to, court reporting services, court interpreter and translation services, and expert witness services.

The bill authorizes the State Courts System to spend state revenues to provide court-appointed interpreting services to non-indigent people if:

- Funds are available in the fiscal year appropriation for due process services; and
- Interpreting services are provided as prescribed by the Supreme Court.

The bill also repeals the requirement that the trial court administrator recover the cost of court interpreter services.

The bill will not have a significant fiscal impact to the State Courts System. See Section V., Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill takes effect upon becoming a law.

II. Present Situation:

Current Requirements for Providing a Language Interpreter

Florida courts are required to appoint a spoken language interpreter for non-English speaking and limited-English-proficient people in certain cases in order to comply with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Under current law, a spoken language interpreter is appointed in criminal and juvenile delinquency cases for non-English-speaking and limited-English-proficient people.[1] In all other cases, the court appoints an interpreter for non-English-speaking and limited-English-proficient litigants only when the court determines that:

- The litigant's inability to comprehend English deprives the litigant of an understanding of the court proceedings;
- A fundamental interest is at stake (such as in a civil commitment, termination of parental rights, paternity, or dependency proceeding); and
- No alternative to the appointment of an interpreter exists.[2]

If a judge determines that a witness cannot hear or understand the English language, or cannot express himself or herself in English sufficiently to be understood, an interpreter will be appointed. This standard is not limited to people who speak a language other than English, but also applies to the language and descriptions of any person, including a child or person who is mentally or developmentally disabled, who cannot be reasonably understood, or who cannot understand questioning without the aid of an interpreter.[3]

Current law, however, provides that state-funded court interpreting services may not be provided to someone unless he or she is indigent.[4] Additionally, current law requires the trial court administrator to recover state-funded court interpreting services from litigants who have the present ability to pay. The rate of compensation for interpreting services is the actual cost of the interpreting services plus the cost of the recovery. The amounts recovered are deposited into the Administrative Trust Fund with the state courts system.[5]

U.S. Department of Justice

In 2010, the U. S. Department of Justice, Civil Rights Division, (Department) issued a letter to state court chief justices and state court administrators providing clarity to state courts regarding their obligation to provide language access services to parties or witnesses with limited English proficiency. The Department noted that denying people with limited English proficiency meaningful access to the courts could place state courts in violation of civil rights requirements, particularly Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Among the policies noted that impede compliance were:

- Limiting the types of proceedings for which qualified interpreter services are provided by the court.
- Charging interpreter costs to parties.
- Restricting language services to courtrooms.
- Failing to ensure effective communication with court-appointed or supervised personnel.[6]

Representatives of the Department are monitoring Florida's activities for compliance and progress in this area.[7]

State Court Commission on Trial Court Performance and Accountability

Additionally, the state Commission on Trial Court Performance and Accountability has been evaluating the state trial courts' ability to expand interpreting services without charging court participants and without regard to their financial status. The Commission recommended an initial expansion of court interpreter services, without cost and regardless of someone's indigency status in limited areas. The Florida Supreme Court approved the report.[8]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill amends s. 29.0185, F.S., to create an exception to the general prohibition against providing state-funded due process services to non-indigent persons. The bill authorizes the use of state revenues by the State Courts System to provide court-appointed interpreting services to non-indigent people if:

- Funds are available in the fiscal year appropriation for due process services; and
- Interpreting services are provided as prescribed by the Supreme Court.

The bill also amends s. 29.0195, F.S., to repeal the requirement that the trial court administrator recover the costs of court interpreter services, which are deposited into the Administrative Trust Fund.

These changes will help bring Florida law into compliance with the Department of Justice's guidance letter regarding the obligation of state courts to provide language access services under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

The bill takes effect upon becoming a law.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

B. Private Sector Impact:

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill does not have a fiscal impact to the State Court System in excess of its annual appropriation. The Office of the State Courts Administrator (OSCA) estimates that there will be additional demand on full-time equivalent or contract interpreters in the judicial circuits to the extent that court interpreting services will be expanded.[9] However, the bill limits payment for these services to non-indigent individuals to the funds available in the fiscal year appropriation. In Fiscal Year 2022-2023, the trial courts were appropriated $21,663,353 in due process costs. Of these funds, $1,773,269 were reverted.

While the bill eliminates the cost-recovery provision for court interpreting services, the State Court System thus far has only collected $3,820 for court interpreting-related costs in Fiscal Year 2023-24. The bill's impact on the Administrative Trust Fund would likely be insignificant.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 29.0185 and 29.0195.

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Fiscal Policy

BILL:	CS/SB 484
INTRODUCER:	Judiciary Committee and Senator Bradley
SUBJECT:	Flood Disclosure in the Sale of Real Property
DATE:	Feburary 20, 2024 REVISED:

	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR	REFERENCE	ACTION

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 484 requires the seller of any residential real property to furnish to the buyer, at or before signing the contract for purchase of the property, a form disclosure regarding flood risks. The form notes that homeowners insurance does not cover flood damage and that the buyer should inquire about flood insurance. The form then asks if the seller is aware of damage from flooding, whether the seller has filed a flood-related claim, whether the seller has ever received federal assistance for flood damage to the property, and whether the seller has flood insurance.

The bill is effective July 1, 2024.

II. Present Situation:

Disclosure of Known Defects

As to sales of real property, Florida historically followed the legal theory of Caveat Emptor ("let the buyer beware"). Under this theory, the seller has no duty to disclose defects in the property and the buyer takes the property "as-is." One court stated that "there is no duty to disclose [a latent defect] when parties are dealing at arms length."[1]

The law changed in 1985 when the Florida Supreme Court ruled that "where the seller of a home knows of facts materially affecting the value of the property which are not readily observable and are not known to the buyer, the seller is under a duty to disclose them to the buyer."[2] This duty applies even where the buyer has agreed to purchase residential property "as-is."[3]

Notably, the case law disclosure requirement only applies to facts that are not "readily observable" to the buyer. In the context of flood disclosures, the appellate courts are split as to whether a tendency to flood is readily observable. In one case, the buyers bought a home in the East Everglades area of Miami-Dade County.[4] When they viewed the home during the dry season, the home was acceptable. The sellers did not disclose that the land on which the home sat, but not the home itself, flooded annually in the rainy season, a fact the seller knew from previous experience. The flooding, according to the court, was so severe that "snakes and even alligators (two at least), have gathered at [the] property (presumably on an elevated portion) to escape the waters."[5] The court found that seasonal flooding of the neighborhood was common knowledge and information that was readily available to the buyers had they exercised "diligent attention."[6] The lawsuit against the seller was dismissed.

In another case, the buyers sued because the seller failed to disclose that the property was in the Coastal Barrier Resource Area (CBRA), and thus ineligible for flood insurance. The trial court found the information regarding the CBRA was publicly available, and dismissed the case. The appellate court, however, ruled for the buyers.[7]

The duty to disclose latent defects will generally not apply to an as-is contract for non-residential property. An appellate court stated Florida courts will continue to apply the doctrine of caveat emptor to an "as-is" contract for non-residential property unless one of the following exceptions apply:

- Where some artifice or trick has been employed to prevent the purchaser from making independent inquiry;
- Where the purchaser does not have equal opportunity to become apprised of the fact; and
- Where a party undertakes to disclose facts and fails to disclose the whole truth.[8]

Specific Disclosure Requirements

Numerous laws have created specific legal disclosure requirements for a seller that are in addition to the disclosure required by case law, including:

- Associations -- A seller of property in a condominium, cooperative, or homeowners association must make extensive specific disclosures of information related to the association.[9]
- Coastal -- A sale of a property located partially or totally seaward of the coastal construction control line requires a written disclosure statement at time of contract. Also, the seller must furnish the buyer with a survey or affidavit showing the line, although the buyer may waive this requirement.[10]

- Code enforcement -- If a code enforcement proceeding is pending at the time of sale, the seller must disclose it to the buyer.[11]
- Lead paint -- Federal law requires all sellers or landlords of residential real property built before 1978 to give the buyer or tenant a federally produced form disclosure. The contract or lease must allow for a 10-day inspection period.[12]
- Property tax -- The seller must disclose that a transfer of ownership may lead to an increased property tax assessment related to the Save Our Homes Amendment.[13]
- Radon gas -- A specific disclosure relating to the risks of radon gas must be made in writing in connection with the sale of any building.[14]
- Sewer lines -- The seller must disclose known defects in the property's sanitary sewer lateral line.[15]
- Sinkhole damage -- The seller of real property upon which a sinkhole claim has been made by the seller and paid by the insurer must disclose to the buyer of such property, before the closing, that a claim has been paid and whether or not the full amount of the proceeds was used to repair the sinkhole damage.[16]
- Subsurface rights -- The seller must provide a prospective purchaser of residential property with a disclosure summary if the seller or an affiliated or related entity has previously severed or retained or will sever or retain any of the subsurface rights or right of entry.[17]

[10] Section 161.57, F.S. The written disclosure is this statement: "The property being purchased may be subject to coastal erosion and to federal, state, or local regulations that govern coastal property, including the delineation of the coastal construction control line, rigid coastal protection structures, beach nourishment, and the protection of marine turtles. The disclosure is this statement: "RADON GAS: Radon is a naturally occurring radioactive gas that, when it has accumulated in a building in sufficient quantities, may present health risks to persons who are exposed to it over time. Levels of radon that exceed federal and state guidelines have been found in buildings in Florida. Additional information regarding radon and radon testing may be obtained from your county health department."

[16] Section 627.7073(2)(c), F.S.

[17] Section 689.29, F.S. WHEN SUBSURFACE RIGHTS ARE SEVERED FROM THE PROPERTY, THE OWNER OF THOSE RIGHTS MAY HAVE THE PERPETUAL RIGHT TO DRILL, MINE, EXPLORE, OR REMOVE ANY OF THE SUBSURFACE RESOURCES ON OR FROM THE PROPERTY EITHER DIRECTLY FROM THE SURFACE OF THE PROPERTY OR FROM A NEARBY LOCATION. SUBSURFACE RIGHTS MAY HAVE A MONETARY VALUE."

Correspondingly, statutes provide that certain disclosures are not required, including:

- That an occupant is or has been infected with HIV or AIDS.[18]
- That the property was or may have been the site of a homicide, suicide, or other death.[19]

Inability of Buyers to Access Federal Data on Flood-Prone Homes.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) responds to emergencies caused by natural disasters including flooding. Like all federal agencies, they keep records related to their regulatory function. One form of data held by FEMA is properties categorized as a "severe repetitive loss property." That designation covers homes that have flooded twice, with damage totaling the value of the property, or flooded four times with at least $5,000 of damage each time. There are about 45,000 of these properties in the U.S., as of the end of 2022, with about 3,100 in Florida alone, according to FEMA data. Florida added about 120 of those homes from 2021 to 2022. FEMA's policy is to share past flood history only with a property owner that holds an active flood insurance policy on a property, so prospective buyers may know the details of their property's flood history only after they've closed the deal.[20]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill creates a form that a seller of residential property must furnish to a buyer before or at the time of contract regarding flooding. The form defines "flooding" to mean a general or temporary condition of partial or complete inundation of the property caused by any of the following:

- The overflow of inland or tidal waters;
- The unusual and rapid accumulation of runoff or surface waters from any established water source, such as a river, stream, or drainage ditch; or
- Sustained periods of standing water resulting from rainfall.

The form informs a buyer that homeowner's insurance does not cover flood damage, and encourages the buyer to discuss flood insurance with the buyer's insurance agent. The form requires the seller to answer 4 questions:

- Is the seller aware of damage to the property caused by flooding during the time the seller has owned the property?
- Has the seller filed a flood-related insurance claim related to the property?
- Has the seller has ever received federal assistance for flood damage to the property, including, but not limited to, assistance from the Federal Emergency Management Agency?
- Does the seller maintain flood insurance on the property?

The bill is effective July 1, 2024.

- The bill is limited to residential sales, instead of all sales.
- The open-ended questions requiring written answers are replaced with 4 check-box-type questions.
- In the definition of "flooding" the reference to "excessive rainfall" is changed to the more accurate "sustained periods of standing water resulting from rainfall."
- The requirements to disclose the flood zone of the property and whether the seller has a flood elevation certificate are removed.

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Fiscal Policy

BILL:	SB 558
INTRODUCER:	Senator Rouson
SUBJECT:	Homeless Service Professionals
DATE:	February 20, 2024
REVISED:

	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR	REFERENCE	ACTION
1.	Rao	Tuszynski	CF	Favorable
2.	Sneed	McKnight	AHS	Favorable
3.	Rao	Yeatman	FP	Favorable

I. Summary:

SB 558 aims to address the ongoing shortage of professionals in the field of homeless services by creating a process for former homeless individuals to become certified as a "person with lived experience" to provide support services to individuals who are currently experiencing homelessness. The bill requires an individual seeking certification to complete a background screening.

The bill requires a Continuum of Care lead agency (CoC) serving the homeless to provide documentation of the homeless services an individual received from the CoC to the Department of Children and Families (DCF) when requesting a background check of the applicant.

The bill further requires the DCF to ensure an adequate background screening of an applicant. The bill makes an applicant ineligible for certification under certain circumstances.

The bill has an insignificant, indeterminate negative fiscal impact on state government. See Section V. Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2024.

II. Present Situation:

Homelessness

Homelessness is defined in several ways, but a person is commonly considered homeless if he or she stays in a homeless shelter, lives in transitional housing, or sleeps in a place not meant for human habitation.[1] To receive federally funded homelessness services, a person is considered homeless if he or she:[2]

- Is living in a place not meant for human habitation, in emergency shelter, in transitional housing, or exiting an institution where they temporarily resided.[3]
- Will imminently lose a primary nighttime residence within 14 days and lacks resources or support networks to remain in permanent housing.[4]
- Is part of a family with children or an unaccompanied youth who is unstably housed and likely to continue in that state.
- Is fleeing or attempting to flee from domestic violence, has no other residence, and lacks the resources or support networks to obtain permanent housing.

Annually, the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) releases what is known as a point-in-time snapshot (PIT) or a count of the number of individuals who experience homeless on a single night.[5] Based on the 2023 PIT, roughly 653,100 people in America experienced homelessness on a single night.[6] Sixty percent experienced sheltered homelessness (i.e., living in emergency shelter, transitional housing, or a safe haven program) whereas 40 percent were unsheltered.[7] From 2022 to 2023, the number of individuals experiencing homelessness increased by 12 percent, or roughly 70,650 additional individuals.[8] This is the highest PIT count of persons experiencing homelessness since reporting began in 2007.[9]

In a 2023 PIT count of Florida's homeless population, an estimated 30,809 individuals were experiencing homelessness, with 15,706 considered unsheltered homeless (i.e., living outside in a car, park, or another place not meant for human habitation).[10] The 2023 PIT count represents a 34 percent increase from the 11,746 individuals who were experiencing homelessness in 2022.[11] Additionally, the highest number of individuals who experienced homelessness in 2023 were persons aged 55-64, totaling 5,861.[12]

Being homeless causes negative effects on an individual's physical and mental health.[13] Homeless individuals have higher rates of mortality, mental illness, communicable diseases, sexually transmitted diseases, and substance abuse.[14] Both federal and state services and programs provide support to homeless individuals that attempt to address the associated effects of homelessness.[15]

Federal – U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development

In recent years, the federal government has recognized the benefit of working with individuals with lived experiences because such individuals can contribute insight from their personal experience and better inform public policy. Engaging individuals with lived experiences in policy considerations can also help policymakers better understand vulnerable populations and how to best serve them by learning and determining unintended consequences of current or proposed policy and how it can be adjusted to better benefit the public.[16]

The United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) is responsible for implementing national policies that address the nation's homelessness and housing needs.[17] HUD administers programs, such as subsidized housing for low-income families and services for individuals experiencing homelessness.[18]

HUD prioritizes working with people who have received supports and services from HUD (lived experience) to better inform policy and achieve housing justice.[19] HUD utilizes the knowledge and information provided by its customers to create effective policy and programs.[20] For example, HUD has involved persons with lived experience in developed training materials, policy, and other resources for providers who serve homeless populations.[21]

Florida

State Office on Homelessness

The State Office on Homelessness (State Office) within the Department of Children and Families (DCF) was created in 2001 as a central point of contact within state government on homelessness.[22] Section 420.622, F.S., requires the State Office to coordinate resources and programs across all levels of government and with private providers that serve the homeless pursuant to policies set by the Council on Homelessness and available funding.[23]

The inter-agency Council on Homelessness (Council) is a 19-member council[24] required to develop policy and advise the State Office on how to reduce homelessness statewide. The Council is statutorily required to submit an annual report to the Governor, Legislature, and the DCF's Secretary that summarizes the extent of homelessness in Florida and recommendations for ending homelessness. [25]

The Council's 2023 report recognized the strong investments made during the 2023 Legislative session that increased funding for affordable housing and recommended a holistic approach to homelessness prevention by coordinating between government, nonprofits, and communities to implement comprehensive strategies to address underlying causes of homelessness.[26]

Continuums of Care

Continuums of Care (CoC) groups organize to coordinate, plan, and pursue ending homelessness in designated areas throughout Florida.[27] Section 420.621(1), F.S., requires CoCs to be composed of representatives from certain organizations, including, but not limited to:

- Nonprofit homeless providers,
- Victim services providers,

[23] Section 420.622(3), F.S.
[24] The individuals and agencies included in the Council of Homelessness are: the Secretary of Children and Families, or his or her designee; the Secretary of Economic Opportunity, or his or her designee, who shall advise the council on issues related to rural development; the State Surgeon General, or his or her designee; the Executive Director of Veterans' Affairs, or his or her designee; the Secretary of Corrections, or his or her designee; the Secretary of Health Care Administration, or his or her designee; the Commissioner of Education, or his or her designee; the Executive Director of CareerSource Florida, Inc., or his or her designee; one representative of the Florida Association of Counties; one representative of the Florida League of Cities; one representative of the Florida Supportive Housing Coalition; one representative of the Florida Housing Coalition; the Executive Director of the Florida Housing Finance Corporation, or his or her designee; one representative of the Florida Coalition for the Homeless; the secretary of the Department of Elder Affairs, or his or her designee; and four members appointed by the Governor.

[27] Section 420.621, F.S. The Office of Economic Self-Sufficiency (Office) within the Department of Children and Families employs a Continuum of Care (CoC) model to provide services for individuals experiencing homelessness. Local CoCs are organizations composed of representatives of nonprofit homeless providers, victim service providers, faith-based organizations, governments, businesses, advocates, public housing agencies, school districts, social service providers, mental health agencies, etc. The Office designates local CoC entities to serve as lead agencies for homeless services throughout Florida. The DCF, Homelessness, available at: https://www.myflfamilies.com/services/public-assistance/homelessness (last visited Dec. 28, 2023).

- Faith-based organizations,
- Governments,
- Businesses,
- Advocates,
- Public housing agencies,
- School districts,
- Social service providers,
- Mental health agencies,
- Hospitals,
- Universities,
- Affordable housing developers,
- Law enforcement, and
- Organizations that serve homeless and formerly homeless persons.[28]

The purpose of a CoC is to coordinate community efforts to prevent and end homelessness in a catchment area designated by the State Office. Florida's designated catchment areas must be consistent with the CoC catchment areas recognized by HUD for the purpose of awarding federal homeless assistance grant funding.[29] The State Office recognizes one CoC lead agency for each designated catchment area.[30]

The following table lists Florida's CoC lead agencies and the counties served by each.[31]

Each CoC must create a continuum of care plan to implement an effective and efficient housing crisis response system to prevent and end homelessness in its designated catchment area. A continuum of care plan must include all of the following: [32]

- Outreach to unsheltered individuals and families to link them with appropriate housing interventions.
- A coordinated entry system that is compliant with federal requirements and is designed to coordinate intake, utilize common assessment tools, prioritize households for housing interventions, and refer households to the appropriate housing intervention.
- Emergency shelter, designed to provide safe temporary shelter while the household is in the process of obtaining permanent housing.
- Supportive services, designed to maximize housing stability once the household is in permanent housing.
- Permanent supportive housing, designed to provide long-term affordable housing and support services to persons with disabilities who are moving out of homelessness.
- Rapid ReHousing, as specified in s. 420.6265, F.S.
- Permanent housing, including links to affordable housing, subsidized housing, long-term rental assistance, housing vouchers, and mainstream private sector housing.
- An ongoing planning mechanism to end homelessness for all subpopulations of persons experiencing homelessness.

[32] Section 420.6225(5), F.S.

The CoCs receive state and federal funding through the DCF. State funding is authorized for challenge grants[33] and staffing grants through the General Appropriations Act. Staffing grant funds are disseminated evenly among the CoCs to assist with their operating and staffing costs and to help build capacity to coordinate care, carry out continuum planning and develop local and federal funding opportunities to end homelessness.

There are two main federal programs which distribute federal homelessness grant funding: the Emergency Solutions Grants (ESG) program and the Continuum of Care (CoC) program. The ESG program distributes grant funds primarily for emergency sheltering of the homeless. The CoC program distributes grant funds to assist with the longer-term housing and service needs of the homeless.

Background Screening and Disqualifying Offenses for Employment

Florida law requires background screening of certain prospective employees to ensure the protection of vulnerable persons.[34] Every person required by law to be screened pursuant to ch. 435, F.S., must submit a complete set of information necessary to conduct a background screening to his or her employer.[35]

Chapter 435, F.S., outlines the required background screening requirements. There are two levels of background screening that may be required by law:

- Level 1 screening includes, at a minimum, employment history checks and statewide criminal correspondence checks through the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE) and a check of the Dru Sjodin National Sex Offender Public Website.[36] It may also include criminal records checks through local law enforcement agencies.
- Level 2 background screening includes, at a minimum, fingerprinting for statewide criminal history records checks through the FDLE and national criminal history checks through the Federal Bureau of Investigation. It may also include local criminal records checks through local law enforcement agencies.[37]

For both screening levels, an employer must submit the necessary screening information to the FDLE within five working days after receiving it.[38] The FDLE then performs a state and federal criminal history record check for any disqualifying offenses.[39] If an individual has a disqualifying offense, he or she is disqualified from employment unless an exemption is received.

Exemption from Disqualification

If an individual is disqualified due to one or more of the disqualifying offenses listed above, s. 435.07, F.S., allows the DCF to exempt the applicant from an employment disqualification under certain circumstances:[42]

[42] Section 435.07(1), F.S.

- Three years have elapsed since the individual has completed or been lawfully released from confinement, supervision, or nonmonetary condition imposed by a court for a disqualifying felony; or
- The applicant has completed or been lawfully released from confinement, supervision, or nonmonetary condition imposed by a court for a misdemeanor or an offense that was a felony at the time of commission but is now a misdemeanor.

Receiving an exemption allows an individual to be employed despite the disqualifying offense. However, an individual who is considered a sexual predator,[43] career offender,[44] or registered sexual offender[45] cannot be exempted from a disqualification.[46]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 amends s. 420.621, F.S., to define a "person with lived experience" to conform with changes made by the bill that creates a process for an individual who has experienced homelessness to seek certification as a person with lived experience and provide support to individuals currently experiencing homelessness.

Section 2 creates s. 420.6241, F.S., to allow a former homeless individual to seek certification as a person with lived experience and provide homeless services to an individual currently experiencing homelessness.

The bill makes legislative findings that persons who have experienced homelessness can provide effective support services to a person currently experiencing homelessness because of their shared experiences. Currently, such persons may be prevented from providing services because of their criminal history.

The bill allows a former homeless individual to seek certification as a person with lived experience if that person received homeless services from a Continuum of Care lead agency (CoC). The bill requires the CoC that served the individual to include documentation to the Department of Children and Families (DCF) of the homeless services provided to the individual when requesting a background check of the applicant.

The bill creates background screening requirements for applicant's seeking certification and requires the DCF to ensure an applicant's background screening follows these requirements. Specifically, the background screening must ensure the applicant has not been arrested for and is awaiting final disposition of, been found guilty of, regardless of adjudication, or entered a plea of nolo contendere or guilty to, or been adjudicated delinquent and the record has not been sealed or expunged for:

- Any felony during the previous 3 years.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 592 creates a partnership between the Department of State (DOS) and the Florida African American Heritage Preservation Network (FAAHPN). Subject to legislative funding, the DOS and the FAAHPN will preserve Florida's black and African-American history by supporting museums, galleries, and archives, and by providing technology, training, and other technical assistance. The bill requires the FAAHPN to submit a list of member museums to the DOS. The DOS must then independently verify that such museums are members of the FAAHPN. This is for purposes of providing funding to support the museums. Additional eligible expenditures, such as internships and living history presentations, will be determined jointly by the DOS and the FAAHPN.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2024.

II. Present Situation:

Florida African American Heritage Preservation Network

The Florida African American Heritage Preservation Network (FAAHPN) is a professional association organized in 2001 by the John Gilmore Riley Center Museum. The FAAHPN serves as an informational and technical assistance resource in response to a growing interest in preserving Florida's African American culture, that of the African Diaspora and that of other related ethnically diverse historic resources globally.[1] The FAAHPN provides the following:

- Technical assistance to museum and historic preservation professionals;
- Content development and management;
- Enhancement of organizational resource allocation;
- Professional development for staff, board members, and volunteers;
- Information technology upgrades through hardware and software integration;
- Grant, fundraising and private-funding development training;
- Archival research and digitization;
- Consultation for obtaining historic designation; and
- Creation of living history exhibits and educational products.[2]

The following is the history of state funds requested by the Network by fiscal year. The state funds actually appropriated to the Network are reflected in the final row:

Florida Historical Resources Act

Chapter 267, F.S., is referred to as the "Florida Historical Resources Act."[7] This chapter gives the Division of Historical Resources authority to adopt rules to implement the duties provided for in ch. 267, F.S.[8] The chapter establishes programs and policies to encourage preservation of historic resources for the public benefit. Major goals of Florida's historic preservation program are to identify, register, protect, and preserve significant historical resources which belong to the public.[9]

Division of Historical Resources

The Department of State's (DOS) Division of Historical Resources (Division) is responsible for preserving and promoting Florida's historical, archaeological, and folk culture resources. The Division Director's Office oversees a Historic Preservation Grants program to help preserve and maintain Florida's historic buildings and archaeological sites and coordinates outreach programs. The Division Director also serves as the State Historic Preservation Officer, acting as the liaison with the national historic preservation program conducted by the National Park Service.[10]

The Division is comprised of the following Bureaus:
- Bureau of Historic Preservation;
- Bureau of Historical Museums; and
- Bureau of Archeological Research.[11]

Department of State

The DOS, created in s. 20.10, F.S., is composed of six divisions: Elections, Historical Resources, Corporations, Library and Information Services, Arts and Culture, and Administration. The head of the DOS is the Secretary of State (Secretary). The Secretary is appointed by and serves at the pleasure of the Governor, and is confirmed by the Senate. The Secretary performs functions conferred by the State Constitution upon the custodian of state records.[12] The Secretary also serves as the state protocol officer and, in consultation with the Governor and other governmental officials, develops, maintains, publishes, and distributes the state protocol manual.[13]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 creates a partnership between the DOS and the FAAHPN. Subject to legislative funding, the DOS and the FAAHPN will preserve the history, culture, and contributions of Florida's black and African-American residents. The preservation efforts must include, but are not limited to the following:
- Providing funding to support member museums and affiliates and the institutions served;
- Supporting galleries and archives;
- Providing funding in the following areas:
  - Technology;
  - Equipment acquisition; and
  - Content and exhibit development, fabrication, and installation;
- Preserving documents and artifacts;
- Providing processional and resource development services such as conferences and workshops; and
- Providing funding for training and technical assistance.

The section requires the FAAHPN to submit a list of member museums to the DOS. The DOS must then independently verify that such museums are members of the FAAHPN. This is for purposes of providing funding to support the museums.

The DOS and the FAAHPN will determine other eligible expenditure's related to the goal and mission of the partnership.

Section 2 provides that the bill will take effect on July 1, 2024.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

Not applicable. The mandate restrictions do not apply because the bill does not require counties and municipalities to spend funds, reduce counties' or municipalities' ability to raise revenue, or reduce the percentage of state tax shared with counties and municipalities.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

None identified.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

None. The bill directs the Department of State to contract with the FAAHPN if funds are appropriated for that purpose. However, it should be noted that the Legislature, when making the appropriation, may direct the expenditure differently than described in this bill.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill is not expected to impact state or local government revenues and expenditures because no funds are appropriated in this bill.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

If the intent of this bill is to establish "an appropriation that is specifically authorized by statute," the language in the bill ("subject to the appropriation of funds by the Legislature…") may be deficient. The State Constitution provides "no money shall be drawn from the treasury except in pursuance of appropriation made by law."[14] Section 216.011(1)(c), F.S., defines "appropriation" to mean "a legal authorization to make expenditures for specific purposes within the amounts authorized by law." Thus, an appropriation is the legal authority granted by the legislature to draw money from the treasury.

In its simplest form, the bill requires the Department of State to contract with the Florida African American Heritage Preservation Network to conduct certain tasks if the department is appropriated funds for this purpose. This language recognizes that the Legislature must take another legislative action to authorize the drawing for funds, which could be done without the authority granted in this bill. The language of the bill is akin to proviso that would typically attach to a legislative appropriation included in the General Appropriations Act.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill creates section 267.0724 of the Florida Statutes.

IX. Additional Information:

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/CS/SB 638 amends s. 741.29, F.S., to require law enforcement officers who investigate an alleged incident of domestic violence to administer a lethality assessment if the allegation is against an intimate partner, regardless of whether an arrest is made.

The Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE) must consult with the Department of Children and Families (DCF) and at least one domestic violence advocacy organization, and may consult with the Florida Sheriffs Association, the Florida Police Chiefs Association, and the Florida Partnership to End Domestic Violence to develop policies, procedures, and training necessary for implementation of a statewide evidence-based lethality assessment. Such policies, procedures, and training must establish how to determine whether a victim and aggressor are intimate partners and establish a statewide process for referring a victim to a certified domestic violence center.

The bill requires the FDLE to monitor evidence-based standards relating to administering a lethality assessment or the lethality assessment form and report to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives under certain circumstances.

The bill requires the Criminal Justice Standards and Training Commission to require by rule that all law enforcement receive instruction on the policies and procedures for administering a lethality assessment through basic training or as part of the required instruction for continued employment. A law enforcement officer may not administer a lethality assessment to a victim if the officer has not received training. Law enforcement officers must be trained by October 1, 2026. An officer's employing agency must place the officer's certification on inactive status which remains until the officer completes the training.

The bill provides that the FDLE must adopt a statewide lethality assessment form that includes a series of specified questions. The approved form and training on how to administer the assessment must be accessible to a law enforcement officer in an online format.

The bill requires a law enforcement officer to advise the victim of the results of the assessment and refer the victim to the nearest locally certified domestic violence center if the victim's responses meet the criteria for referral.

If a victim does not, or is unable to, provide information to a law enforcement officer sufficient to allow the officer to administer a lethality assessment, the officer must document the lack of an assessment in the written police report and refer the victim to the nearest locally certified domestic violence center. An officer may not include in a probable cause statement, written police report, or incident report the domestic violence center to which a victim was referred.

The bill requires a notation of the score of a lethality assessment, if administered, to be included in a written police report, given to the officer's supervisor, and filed with the law enforcement agency in a manner that will permit data on domestic violence cases to be compiled.

The bill may have a negative workload impact on the FDLE. See Section V., Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill is effective on July 1, 2024.

II. Present Situation:

Domestic violence is any assault, aggravated assault, battery, aggravated battery, sexual assault, sexual battery, stalking, aggravated stalking, kidnapping, false imprisonment, or any criminal offense resulting in physical injury or death of one family or household member by another family or household member.[1]

Domestic Violence in Florida

In 2020, 106,615 crimes of domestic violence were reported to Florida law enforcement agencies, resulting in 63,217 arrests.[2] Of those 106,615 reported domestic violence offenses, the relationship of the victims to the offenders varied, including:

[1] Section 741.28, F.S.; "Family or household member," means spouses, former spouses, persons related by blood or marriage, persons who are presently residing together as if a family or who have resided together in the past as if a family, and persons who are parents of a child in common regardless of whether they have been married. With the exception of persons who have a child in common, the family or household members must be currently residing or have in the past resided together in the same single dwelling unit.

- 20,735 were spousal;[3]
- 29,663 were co-habitants;[4] and
- 20,142 were other.[5]

Domestic Violence Training

Section 943.171, F.S., requires basic skills training in handling domestic violence cases. Every basic skills course required in order for law enforcement officers to obtain initial certification shall include a minimum of six hours of training in handling domestic violence cases and training must include the recognition and determination of the primary aggressor in domestic violence cases and the issues involved in child-to-parent cases.

Domestic Violence Investigations

Section 741.29, F.S., provides domestic violence investigations require an officer who investigates an alleged incident of domestic violence to:

- Assist the victim to obtain medical treatment if such is required;[6]
- Advise the victim that there is a domestic violence center from which the victim may receive services;[7]
- Give the victim immediate notice of the legal rights and remedies available;[8]
- Make a written report, whether or not an arrest is made, that is complete and clearly indicates the alleged offense was an incident of domestic violence. The report shall be given to the officer's supervisor and filed with the law enforcement agency in a manner that will permit data on domestic violence cases to be compiled.[9] Such report must include:
  - A description of physical injuries observed, if any.
  - If a law enforcement officer decides not to make an arrest or decides to arrest two or more parties, the officer must include the grounds for not arresting anyone or for arresting two or more parties.
  - A statement which indicates that a copy of the legal rights and remedies notice was given to the victim;
- Obtain a written statement from the victim and witnesses concerning the alleged domestic violence when possible; and Spouse means the victim and offender are married by law or have been previously married. This category included ex-spouses.

[4] Id. Co-Habitant means the victim lived with the offender as a married couple without legal marriage. This category includes former co-habitants.
[5] Id. Other means the victim and offender had a child together but were never married and never lived together.

[7] Section 741.29 (1), F.S.
[8] Section 741.29 (1), F.S. The Legal Rights and Remedies Notice to Victims must include a general summary of s. 741.30, F.S., the resource listing and phone number for the area domestic violence center, and a copy of the following statement: "If you are a victim of domestic violence, you may ask the state attorney to file a criminal complaint. You also have the right to go to court and file a petition requesting an injunction for protection from domestic violence which may include, but need not be limited to, provisions which restrain the abuser from further acts of abuse; direct the abuser to leave your household; prevent the abuser from entering your residence, school, business, or place of employment; award you custody of minor children; and direct the abuser to pay support to you and the minor children if the abuser has a legal obligation to do so.
[9] Section 741.29 (2), F.S.

- Make an arrest whenever the officer determines probable cause that an act of domestic violence has been committed.[10, 11]

When complaints are received from two or more parties, the officers must evaluate each complaint separately to determine whether there is probable cause for arrest. If the officer has probable cause to believe that two or more persons have committed a crime, or two or more persons make complaints, the officer must attempt to determine who was the primary aggressor.[12] Section 943.171, F.S., requires the training in handling domestic violence cases to include the recognition and determination of the primary aggressor. Arrest is the preferred response only for the primary aggressor and not the preferred response for a person who acts in a reasonable manner to protect or defend oneself or another family or household member.[13]

A law enforcement officer may not be held liable, in any civil action, for an arrest based on probable cause, enforcement in good faith of a court order, or service of process in good faith under this chapter arising from an alleged incident of domestic violence brought by any party to the incident.[14]

The use of lethality assessments in incidents of Domestic Violence

Effective July 1, 2023, Utah implemented a bill requiring police to perform a lethality assessment for domestic violence calls. Since the law went into effect in Utah, the Director of Public Policy at the Utah Domestic Violence Coalition reported that victim resource providers have seen 80 percent more people statewide reaching out for help.[15]

Maryland is another state that has implemented lethality assessments as a statewide approach. Maryland Network Against Domestic Violence (MNADV) created and implemented the Lethality Assessment Program Maryland Model in 2005.[16] The program was created based on the research conducted and supported by a grant from the National Institute of Justice. The program was developed as a way for first responders to identify victims of intimate partner violence who are at the greatest risk of being killed. The program has been adopted in 31 additional states since the initial implementation in Maryland. Researchers found that although the program did not appear to have a significant effect on reducing the frequency of intimate [11] Section 901.15(7), F.S., provides that a law enforcement officer may arrest a person without a warrant when there is probable cause to believe that the person has committed an act of domestic violence. The decision to arrest does not require consent of the victim or consideration of the relationship of the parties. It is the public policy of this state to strongly discourage arrest and charges of both parties for domestic violence or dating violence on each other and to encourage training of law enforcement and prosecutors in these areas.

partner violence, at follow-up, it appeared to significantly reduce the severity and frequency of the violence that survivors experience and increased help seeking and safety planning.[17]

Overall, the evaluation concluded that although additional research is needed on the Lethality Assessment Program, it shows promise as an evidence-informed intervention that increases survivors' safety and empowers them to make self-care decisions.[18]

There is no current law in Florida pertaining to the administration of a lethality assessment.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill amends s. 741.29, F.S., to require law enforcement officers who investigate an alleged incident of domestic violence to administer a lethality assessment if the allegation is against an intimate partner, regardless of whether an arrest is made.

The FDLE must consult with the DCF and at least one domestic violence advocacy organization, and may consult with the Florida Sheriffs Association, the Florida Police Chiefs Association, and the Florida Partnership to End Domestic Violence to develop the policies, procedures, and training necessary for implementation of a statewide evidence-based lethality assessment. Such policies, procedures, and training must establish how to determine whether a victim and aggressor are intimate partners and establish a statewide process for referring a victim to a certified domestic violence center.

The bill requires the FDLE to monitor evidence-based standards relating to administering a lethality assessment or the lethality assessment form and report to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives under certain circumstances. The report must include the current policies and procedures for administering a lethality assessment, any proposed statutory changes necessary for statewide implementation, and any proposed changes to the lethality assessment or the lethality assessment form to maintain compliance with evidence-based standards.

The bill requires the Criminal Justice Standards and Training Commission to require by rule that all law enforcement receive instruction on the policies and procedures for administering a lethality assessment through basic training or as part of the required instruction for continued employment. A law enforcement officer may not administer a lethality assessment to a victim if the officer has not received training. Law enforcement officers must be trained by October 1, 2026. An officer's employing agency must place the officer's certification on inactive status which remains until the officer completes the training.

By January 1, 2025, the FDLE must adopt a statewide lethality assessment form that includes specified questions. The form and training on how to administer the assessment must be accessible to a law enforcement officer in an online format.

To administer a lethality assessment, a law enforcement officer must ask the following questions in the same or similar wording and in the same order:

- Did the aggressor ever use a weapon against you or threaten you with a weapon?
- Did the aggressor ever threaten to kill you or your children?
- Do you believe the aggressor will try to kill you?
- Has the aggressor ever choked you or attempted to choke you?
- Does the aggressor have a gun or could the aggressor easily obtain a gun?
- Is the aggressor violently or constantly jealous, or does the aggressor control most of your daily activities?
- Did you leave or separate from the aggressor after you were living together or married?
- Is the aggressor unemployed?
- To the best of your knowledge, has the aggressor ever attempted suicide?
- Do you have a child whom the aggressor believes is not the aggressor's biological child?
- Has the aggressor ever followed, spied on, or left threatening messages for you?
- Is there anything else that worries you about your safety and, if so, what worries you?

The bill requires a law enforcement officer to advise the victim of the results of the assessment and refer the victim to the nearest locally certified domestic violence center if:

- The victim answers affirmatively to any of the first four questions;
- The victim answers negatively to the first four questions but affirmatively to at least four of questions 5 through 11; or
- As a result of the victim's response to question 12, the law enforcement officer believes the victim is in a potentially lethal situation.

If a victim does not, or is unable to, provide information to the officer sufficient to allow the officer to administer a lethality assessment, the bill requires the law enforcement officer to document the lack of a lethality assessment in the written police report and refer the victim to the nearest locally certified domestic violence center. The bill specifies a law enforcement officer may not include in a probable cause statement, written police report, or incident report the domestic violence center to which the victim was referred.

The bill requires a notation of the score of a lethality assessment, if administered, to be included in a written police report, given to the officer's supervisor, and filed with the law enforcement agency in a manner that will permit data on domestic violence cases to be compiled.

The bill provides technical changes and reenacts s. 39.06, F.S.

The bill provides an effective date July 1, 2024.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill may increase the workload for the FDLE. The FDLE requested an Education and Training Specialist position totaling $91,816 to address the estimated workload associated with developing the online training portion.[19] As of December 2023, the FDLE had 2 vacant Education and Training Specialist positions that could be filled to address this workload. The department also cites a $45,000 technology cost to develop the training associated with the lethality assessment form and complete programming changes to the Automated Training Management System (ATMS), which could be absorbed within existing resources.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

Due to ongoing efforts to combat domestic violence, the specific questions used in a lethality assessment may change. Listing specific questions may limit law enforcement's ability to update the lethality assessment as necessary if evidence-based standards change.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends section 741.29 of the Florida Statutes.

This bill reenacts section 39.906 of the Florida Statutes.

(d) ~~The law enforcement officer shall~~ Give the victim immediate notice of the legal rights and remedies available on a standard form developed and distributed by the department. As necessary, the department shall revise the Legal Rights and Remedies Notice to Victims to include a general summary of s. 741.30 using simple English as well as Spanish, and shall distribute the notice as a model form to be used by all law enforcement agencies throughout this ~~the~~ state. The notice must ~~shall~~ include:

1.~~(a)~~ The resource listing, including telephone number, for the area domestic violence center designated by the Department of Children and Families; and

2.~~(b)~~ A copy of the following statement:

"IF YOU ARE THE VICTIM OF DOMESTIC VIOLENCE, you may ask the state attorney to file a criminal complaint. You also have the right to go to court and file a petition requesting an injunction for protection from domestic violence which may include, but need not be limited to, provisions which restrain the abuser from further acts of abuse; direct the abuser to leave your household; prevent the abuser from entering your residence, school, business, or place of employment; award you custody of your minor child or children; and direct the abuser to pay support to you and the minor children if the abuser has a legal obligation to do so."

(2) The department shall consult with the Department of Children and Families and at least one domestic violence advocacy organization and may consult with the Florida Sheriffs Association, the Florida Police Chiefs Association, and the Florida Partnership to End Domestic Violence to develop the policies, procedures, and training necessary for implementation of a statewide evidence-based lethality assessment. Such policies, procedures, and training must establish how to determine whether a victim and aggressor are intimate partners and establish a statewide process for referring a victim to a certified domestic violence center. By January 1, 2025, the department must adopt a statewide lethality assessment form that includes all the information in paragraph (c). Training on how to administer a lethality assessment and the approved lethality assessment form must be accessible to a law enforcement officer in an online format.

(a) By January 1, 2025, and annually thereafter, the department shall submit a report to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives which must include the current policies and procedures for administering a lethality assessment, any proposed statutory changes necessary for statewide implementation, and any proposed changes to the lethality assessment or the lethality assessment form to maintain compliance with evidence-based standards.

(b) By October 1, 2026, all law enforcement officers who respond to or investigate crimes of domestic violence must be trained on the policies and procedures for administering a lethality assessment. A law enforcement officer may not administer a lethality assessment to a victim if the officer has not received training on administering a lethality assessment.

(c) To administer a lethality assessment, a law enforcement officer shall ask the victim, in the same or similar wording and in the same order, all of the following questions:

1. Did the aggressor ever use a weapon against you or threaten you with a weapon?

2. Did the aggressor ever threaten to kill you or your children?

3. Do you believe the aggressor will try to kill you?

4. Has the aggressor ever choked you or attempted to choke you?

5. Does the aggressor have a gun or could the aggressor easily obtain a gun?

6. Is the aggressor violently or constantly jealous, or does the aggressor control most of your daily activities?

7. Did you leave or separate from the aggressor after you were living together or married?

8. Is the aggressor unemployed?

9. To the best of your knowledge, has the aggressor ever attempted suicide?

10. Do you have a child whom the aggressor believes is not the aggressor's biological child?

11. Has the aggressor ever followed, spied on, or left threatening messages for you?

12. Is there anything else that worries you about your safety and, if so, what worries you?

(d) A law enforcement officer shall advise a victim of the results of the assessment and refer the victim to the nearest locally certified domestic violence center if:

1. The victim answers affirmatively to any of the questions provided in subparagraphs (c)1.-4.;

2. The victim answers negatively to the questions provided in subparagraphs (c)1.-4., but affirmatively to at least four of the questions provided in subparagraphs (c)5.-11.; or

3. As a result of the victim's response to subparagraph (c)12., the law enforcement officer believes the victim is in a potentially lethal situation.

(e) If a victim does not, or is unable to, provide information to a law enforcement officer sufficient to allow the law enforcement officer to administer a lethality assessment, the law enforcement officer must document the lack of a lethality assessment in the written police report required in subsection (3) and refer the victim to the nearest locally certified domestic violence center.

(f) A law enforcement officer may not include in a probable cause statement, written police report, or incident report the domestic violence center to which a victim was referred.

(3) ~~(2)~~ When a law enforcement officer investigates an allegation that an incident of domestic violence has occurred, the officer shall handle the incident pursuant to the arrest policy provided in s. 901.15(7), and as developed in accordance with subsections (4), (5), and (6) ~~(3), (4), and (5)~~. Regardless of whether ~~or not~~ an arrest is made, the officer shall make a written police report that is complete and clearly indicates the alleged offense was an incident of domestic violence. Such report must ~~shall~~ be given to the officer's supervisor and filed with the law enforcement agency in a manner that will permit data on domestic violence cases to be compiled. Such report must include all of the following:

(a) A description of physical injuries observed, if any.

(b) If a law enforcement officer decides not to make an arrest or decides to arrest two or more parties, ~~the officer shall include in the report~~ the grounds for not arresting anyone or for arresting two or more parties.

(c) A statement which indicates that a copy of the legal rights and remedies notice was given to the victim.

(d) A notation of the score of a lethality assessment, if one was administered pursuant to paragraph (1)(c).

Whenever possible, the law enforcement officer shall obtain a written statement from the victim and witnesses concerning the alleged domestic violence. The officer shall submit the report to the supervisor or other person to whom the employer's rules or policies require reports of similar allegations of criminal activity to be made. The law enforcement agency shall, without charge, send a copy of the initial police report, as well as any subsequent, supplemental, or related report, which excludes victim/witness statements or other materials that are part of an active criminal investigation and are exempt from disclosure under chapter 119, to the nearest locally certified domestic violence center within 24 hours after the agency's receipt of the report. The report furnished to the domestic violence center must include a narrative description of the domestic violence incident.

(4) ~~(3)~~ Whenever a law enforcement officer determines upon probable cause that an act of domestic violence has been committed within the jurisdiction the officer may arrest the person or persons suspected of its commission and charge such person or persons with the appropriate crime. The decision to arrest and charge shall not require consent of the victim or consideration of the relationship of the parties.

(5)(a) ~~(4)(a)~~ When complaints are received from two or more parties, the officers shall evaluate each complaint separately to determine whether there is probable cause for arrest.

(b) If a law enforcement officer has probable cause to believe that two or more persons have committed a misdemeanor or felony, or if two or more persons make complaints to the officer, the officer must ~~shall~~ try to determine who was the primary aggressor. Arrest is the preferred response only with respect to the primary aggressor and not the preferred response with respect to a person who acts in a reasonable manner to protect or defend oneself or another family or household member from domestic violence.

(6) ~~(5)~~ A ~~No~~ law enforcement officer may not ~~shall~~ be held liable, in any civil action, for an arrest based on probable cause, enforcement in good faith of a court order, or service of process in good faith under this chapter arising from an alleged incident of domestic violence brought by any party to the incident.

(7) ~~(6)~~ A person who willfully violates a condition of pretrial release provided in s. 903.047, when the original arrest was for an act of domestic violence as defined in s. 741.28, commits a misdemeanor of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083, and shall be held in custody until his or her first appearance.

Section 2. For the purpose of incorporating the amendment made by this act to section 741.29, Florida Statutes, in a reference thereto, section 39.906, Florida Statutes, is reenacted to read:

39.906 Referral to centers and notice of rights.—Any law enforcement officer who investigates an alleged incident of domestic violence shall advise the victim of such violence that there is a domestic violence center from which the victim may receive services. The law enforcement officer shall give the victim immediate notice of the legal rights and remedies available in accordance with the provisions of s. 741.29.

Section 3. This act shall take effect July 1, 2024.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 644 creates a new hospital designation type "rural emergency hospital" (REH) and defines requirements for a rural or critical access hospital to apply to the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) for that designation.

The bill clarifies that an REH is subject to the requirements to provide emergency services and care for any emergency medical condition in accordance with current law.

Additionally, the bill extends the licensure expiration date for rural hospitals licensed in fiscal years 2010-2011 or 2011-2012 from June 30, 2025, to June 30, 2031.

The bill has an indeterminate fiscal impact on the AHCA which can be absorbed with existing resources. See Section V., Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill provides an effective date of July 1, 2024.

II. Present Situation:

Rural Hospitals

A rural hospital is an acute care hospital that has 100 or fewer beds, an emergency room, and is one of the following:

- The sole provider within a county with a population density of up to 100 persons per square mile;
- An acute care hospital, in a county with a population density of up to 100 persons per square mile, which is at least 30 minutes of travel time, on normally traveled roads under normal traffic conditions, from any other acute care hospital within the same county;
- A hospital supported by a tax district or sub-district whose boundaries encompass a population of up to 100 persons per square mile;
- A hospital classified as a sole community hospital under 42 C.F.R. s. 412.92, regardless of the number of licensed beds;
- A hospital with a service area[1] that has a population of up to 100 persons per square mile; or
- A hospital designated as a critical access hospital, as defined in s. 408.07, F.S.[2]

As of January 17, 2024, there are 22 licensed rural hospitals in Florida.[3]

Closure of Rural Hospitals

Around the country between 2010 and 2021 a total of 136 rural hospitals have closed. In 2020 alone, a record 19 rural hospitals shuttered.[4] Rural hospitals naturally face challenges due to low patient volumes, which can make it challenging to maintain fixed-operating costs and meet performance measures, and the fact that many of the patients treated in rural hospitals are older, sicker, and poorer when compared with the national average.[5] In addition to the patient-side issues, rural hospitals also suffer from above average staffing shortages with only 10 percent of physicians in the U.S. practicing in rural areas despite 20 percent of the population residing in those areas.[6] These issues were compounded and exacerbated by the COVID-19 pandemic which increased the severity of staffing shortages, increased costs, and worsened health outcomes.

In Florida, between 2010 and present, three rural hospitals closed: Healthmark Regional Medical Center in Defuniak Springs, Regional General Hospital in Williston, and Shands Lake Shore Regional Medical Center in Lake City.[7]

Rural Emergency Hospitals

To respond to the number of rural hospital closures, the federal Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2021 created a new Medicare provider type designated as a rural emergency hospital (REH).[8] Federal rule defines a this newly-created type of hospital as an entity that operates for the purpose of providing emergency department services, observational care, and other outpatient medical and health services specified by the Secretary in which the annual per-patient average length of stay does not exceed 24 hours.[9] Only rural hospitals with 50 or fewer beds and critical access hospitals that were enrolled and certified to participate in Medicare on or before December 7, 2020, qualify for certification as a REH.[10]

[1] The term "service area" means the fewest number of zip codes that account for 75 percent of the hospital's discharges for the most recent 5-year period, based on information available from the hospital inpatient discharge database in the Florida Center for Health Information and Transparency at the agency.

REHs are required to be licensed by the state in which they are located, maintain a Medicare provider agreement with the federal Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS), and meet the other conditions of participation established in 42 CFR s. 485.5 through 42 CFR s. 485.546. These conditions of participation establish requirements related to governance, services offered, staffing, physical environment, and emergency preparedness, among others.[11] Some of the requirements provide that the REH must:

- Have an organized medical staff that operates under bylaws approved by the governing body of the REH and which is responsible for the quality of medical care provided to patients in the REH. The medical staff must be composed of medical or osteopathic doctors and may include other categories of physicians. Additionally, an REH may supplement the care provided through the use telemedicine services provided by a distant-site hospital as long as the distant-site hospital meets specified requirements.[12]
- Have an organized nursing service that is available to provide 24-hour care to patients of the REH.[13]
- Provide emergency, laboratory, radiological, pharmaceutical, and outpatient medical and health services as detailed in the rule.[14]
- Have an infection control program and a quality assessment and performance improvement program.

An REH is eligible for payment through the Medicare program for services at an amount that is equal to the amount that would be paid to a hospital for providing the equivalent outpatient service increased by five percent.[15] Additionally, an REH will receive a monthly facility payment of $272,866 from the Medicare program until October 1, 2024, after which the amount will be $267,408.68. In future years, the payment will increase by the hospital market basket percentage.[16]

Currently, 15 states authorize REHs including Arkansas, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, New York, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Texas, and West Virginia.[17]

Mandated Health Insurance Coverages

Section 624.215, F.S., requires every person or organization seeking consideration of a legislative proposal which would mandate a health coverage or the offering of a health coverage by an insurance carrier, to submit to the Agency for Health Care Administration and the legislative committees having jurisdiction, a report that assesses the social and financial impacts of the proposed coverage. As of February 1, 2024, Senate Committee on Health Policy staff has not received this report.

Under the federal Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA), individuals and small businesses can shop for health insurance coverage on the federal marketplace. All non-grandfathered plans[18] must include minimum essential coverage (MEC),[19] including an array of services that includes the 10 essential health benefits (EHBs). These 10 EHBs are further clarified or modified each year through the federal rulemaking process and are open for public comment before taking effect. The 10 general categories for the EHBs are:

- Ambulatory services (outpatient care);
- Emergency services;
- Hospitalization (inpatient care);
- Maternity and newborn care.
- Mental health and substance abuse disorder services;
- Prescription drugs.
- Rehabilitative services and rehabilitative services and devices;
- Laboratory services;
- Preventive care and chronic disease management; and
- Pediatric services, including oral and vision care.[20]

States are free to modify the EHBs offered in their states by adding coverage; however, because of concerns that federal funds would be used on costly mandated coverages that were not part of the required EHBs, the ACA contains a provision requiring that, starting in 2016, the states would have to pay for the cost of the coverage. As a result, the State of Florida may be required to defray the costs of any additional benefits beyond the required EHBs put in place after 2011.[21]

Examples of health insurance benefits mandated under Florida law include:

- Coverage for certain diagnostic and surgical procedures involving bones or joints of the jaw and facial region (s. 627.419(7), F.S.);
- Coverage for bone marrow transplants (s. 627.4236, F.S.);
- Coverage for certain cancer drugs (s. 627.4239, F.S.);

[18] A "grandfathered health plan" are those health plans, both individual and employer plans, that maintain coverage that were in place prior to the passage of the PPACA or in which the enrollee was enrolled on March 23, 2010 while complying with the consumer protection components of the PPACA. If a group health plan enters a new policy, certificate, or contract of insurance, the group must provide the new issuer the documentation from the prior plan so it can be determined whether there has been a change sufficient to lose grandfather status. See 26 U.S.C. 7805 and 26 C.F.R. s. 2590.715-1251(a).

[19] To meet the individual responsibility provision of the PPACA statute, a benefit plan or coverage plan must be recognized as providing minimum essential coverage (MEC). Employer based coverage, Medicaid, Medicare, CHIP (i.e.: Florida KidCare), and TriCare would meet this requirement.

[20] 42 U.S.C. s. 18022(b)(1)(A)-(J).

[21] See 42 U.S.C. s. 18031(d)(3)(B)(ii).

- Coverage for any service performed in an ambulatory surgical center (s. 627.6616, F.S.);
- Diabetes treatment services (s. 627.6408, F.S.);
- Osteoporosis (s. 627.6409, F.S.);
- Certain coverage for newborn children (s. 627.641, F.S.);
- Child health supervision services (s. 627.6416, F.S.);
- Certain coverages related to mastectomies (s. 627.6417, F.S.);
- Mammograms (s. 627.6418, F.S.); and
- Treatment of cleft lip and cleft palate in children (s. 627.64193, F.S.).

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill creates s. 395.067, F.S., to establish a rural emergency hospital (REH) designation for rural or critical access hospitals that meet the following criteria:

- Meets federal requirements for an REH under the Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2021 (Pub. L. No. 116-260);
- Has no more than 50 beds;
- Can adequately provide rural emergency services 24 hours a day seven days a week; and
- Is sufficiently staffed and equipped to provide the types of services included in the application.

The bill also provides a definition for "rural emergency services" to include:

- Emergency services and other care that does not require treatment for more than 24 hours, provided in a rural emergency hospital;
- Observation care; and
- Outpatient services specified in regulations adopted by the United States Secretary of Health and Human Services.

The bill amends s. 395.1041, F.S., to require rural emergency hospitals to provide emergency services and care for any emergency medical condition in accordance with current law.

Additionally, the bill repeals one obsolete provision related to licensing of a rural hospital and changes the license expiration date for rural hospitals that were licensed during fiscal years 2010-2011 and 2011-2012 from June 30, 2025, to June 30, 2031.

The bill provides an effective date of July 1, 2024.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 656 amends the definition of "continuing contract" under the Consultants' Competitive Negotiation Act (CCNA) to increase the maximum dollar amount for each individual project and each individual study under the contract for construction projects. The maximum dollar amount for each individual project is increased from $4 million to $7.5 million. Beginning July 1, 2025, and annually thereafter, the Department of Management Services (DMS) must adjust the maximum amount allowed on the preceding June 30 for each individual project in a continuing contract based on the June-to-June Consumer Price Index issued by the United States Department of Labor. The DMS must publish the adjusted amount on its website.

The bill makes similar revisions to s. 255.103(4), F.S., (authorizing local governmental entities to use the CCNA selection process), increasing the maximum dollar amount for continuing contracts of local governments from $4 million to $7.5 million. Beginning July 1, 2025, and annually thereafter, the DMS must adjust the maximum amount allowed on the preceding June 30 for each individual project in a continuing contract based on the June-to-June Consumer Price Index issued by the United States Department of Labor. The DMS must publish the adjusted amount on its website.

There is an indeterminate fiscal impact on state and local government expenditures relating to the administrative costs of competitive procurement and contract costs paid under a continuing contract. See Section V., Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2024.

II. Present Situation:

The Department of Management Services (DMS) manages projects throughout the state, including new construction, renovations, and consulting services for various public works projects. The Bureau of Building Construction (Bureau), within the DMS, oversees public building construction statewide. The Bureau is also responsible for managing fixed capital outlay funds appropriated by the Legislature and for overseeing the repair and renovation of DMS-managed facilities.[1]

Generally, state projects must be competitively procured. Part I of ch. 287, F.S., provides "a system of uniform procedures to be utilized by state agencies in managing and procuring commodities and contractual services" to protect the public by promoting "fair and open competition," thereby reducing the appearance and opportunity for favoritism and misconduct.[2] These competitive procurement provisions apply to an agency, defined as "any of the various state officers, departments, board commissions, divisions, bureaus, and councils and any other unit of organization, however designated, of the executive boards of state government.[3] This definition does not include municipalities and local governments. Additionally, university and college boards of trustees, and the state universities and colleges are specifically excluded from this definition.[4]

State agencies may use a variety of procurement methods, depending on the cost and characteristics of the needed good or service, the complexity of the procurement, and the number of available vendors. These methods include the following:

- Single source contracts,[5] used when an agency determines that only one vendor is available to provide a commodity or service at the time of purchase;
- Invitations to bid,[6] used when an agency determines that standard services or goods will meet needs, wide competition is available and the vendor's experience will not greatly influence the agency's results;
- Requests for proposals,[7] used when the procurement requirements allow for consideration of various solutions and the agency believes more than two or three vendors exist who can provide the required goods or services; and
- Invitations to negotiate,[8] used when negotiations are determined to be necessary to obtain the best value and involve a request for highly complex, customized, mission-critical services, by an agency dealing with a limited number of vendors.

For procurement of commodities or contractual services in excess of $35,000, agencies must use a competitive solicitation process.[9] However, specified contractual services and commodities are not subject to competitive solicitation requirements.[10]

State contracts for construction projects that are projected to cost in excess of $200,000 must be competitively bid.[11] A county, municipality, special district, or other political subdivision that seeks to construct or improve a public building must competitively award each project estimated to cost more than $300,000.[12]

The Consultants' Competitive Negotiation Act

In 1973, the Florida Legislature enacted the Consultant's Competitive Negotiation Act (CCNA),[13] s. 287.055, F.S., which requires state and local government agencies to procure the professional services of an architect, engineer, landscape architect, or registered surveyor and mapper using a qualifications-based selection process. The qualifications-based selection requires the selection of providers on the basis of their competency, qualifications, and experience, rather than lowest-price.[14]

The qualifications based selection process of the CCNA contemplates a three-step process:
- Public announcement of the project;
- Competitive selection of the professional firm based on its qualifications; and
- Arms-length competitive negotiations with the most qualified firm or firms.[15]

During the first phase, the public announcement, state and local agencies[16] publicly announce and describe their need for professional services for one of the following:[17]
- A project when the basic construction cost of which is estimated by the agency to exceed $325,000;[18] or
- A planning or study activity for professional services that exceeds $35,000.[19]

The public announcement must provide a general description of the project and describe how the interested consultant firms may apply for consideration.[20]

A firm that wishes to provide professional services to an agency must first be certified by the agency as qualified to provide the needed services pursuant to law and the agency's regulations.[21] In determining a firm or individual to be qualified, the agency must consider its capabilities, adequacy of personnel, past record, experience, as well as whether the firm or individual is a certified minority business enterprise.[22]

During the second phase, competitive selection, the agency must evaluate the bidders' current statements of qualifications and performance data.[23] The agency must select and rank at least three firms it deems to be the most highly qualified to perform the required services, based on the following:[24]

- The ability of professional personnel;
- Whether a firm is a certified minority business enterprise;
- Past performance;
- Willingness to meet time and budget requirements;
- Location;
- Recent, current, and projected workloads of the firms; and
- The volume of work previously awarded to each firm by the agency, with the object of effecting an equitable distribution of contracts among qualified firms, provided such distribution does not violate the principle of selection of the most highly qualified firms.[25]

During this qualifications phase, the agency cannot request, accept, or consider proposals for the firm's compensation.[26] Compensation is "the amount paid by the agency for professional services regardless of whether stated as compensation or stated as hourly rates, overhead rates, or other figures or formulas from which compensation can be calculated."[27]

During the third phase, competitive negotiation, the agency negotiates compensation to be paid under the contract with the highest qualified of at least three selected firms.[28] Should the agency be unable to negotiate a satisfactory contract with the top firm at a price the agency determines to be fair, competitive, and reasonable, the agency may progress to negotiations with the second most qualified firm, and if this fails,[29] with the third.[30] If the agency cannot negotiate a satisfactory contract with any of the ranked firms, it must begin the qualifications-based selection process again and continue negotiations until an agreement is reached.[31]

Continuing Contracts Under the CCNA

The CCNA expressly allows agencies to use continuing contracts for professional services.[32] A continuing contract is one for professional services entered into in accordance with the CCNA between an agency and a firm whereby the firm provides professional services to the agency for projects that do not exceed specific costs.[33]

Current law allows an agency to use a continuing contract for: construction projects in which the estimated construction cost of each individual project under the contract does not exceed $4 million; for study activity, if the fee for professional services for each individual study under the contract does not exceed $500,000; or for work of a specified nature as outlined in the agency contract, if the contract is for a fixed term or with a termination clause.[34]

The maximum per-project and per-study limits were implemented in 1988[35] at $500,000 and $25,000, respectively, and subsequently increased three times. In 2002, the limits were increased to $1 million and $50,000.[36] In 2009, the limits were increased to $2 million and $200,000;[37] and in 2020, the limits were increased to $4 million and $500,000.[38]

Construction and Program Management Entities

A governmental entity[39] may choose to use a construction management entity or program management entity, which it must select using the CCNA's competitive solicitation process.[40] A construction management entity is responsible for construction project scheduling and coordination in both the preconstruction and construction phases, and is generally responsible for the successful, timely, and economical completion of a construction project.[41] A program management entity is responsible for schedule and cost control, and coordination in the procurement of planning, design, and construction services.[42]

The governmental entity may use a continuing contract[43] to procure the services of a construction management or program management entity for work on construction projects.[44] However, a "continuing contract" entered into subject to ch. 255, F.S., is distinct from that in ch. 287, F.S. Specifically, the governmental entity may only use a continuing contract under ch. 255, F.S., to procure construction management or program management entity services. A continuing contract under ch. 255, F.S., must also be for a defined period of time (whereas ch. 287, F.S., allows continuing contracts without a time limitation in certain circumstances).

The governmental entity may also choose to require that the construction management or program management entity offer a guaranteed maximum price or a guaranteed completion date.[45] If a project includes a grouping of substantially similar construction, rehabilitation, or renovation activities, the governmental entity may require a separate guaranteed maximum price and a separate guaranteed completion date for each grouping of substantially similar construction, rehabilitation, or renovation activities.[46]

Department of Transportation

Chapter 337, F.S., governs contracts entered into by the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT). The FDOT has authority to enter into contracts for the construction and maintenance of all State Highway or State Park systems' roads, rest areas, weigh stations, parking areas, supporting facilities, and any associated building.[47] The FDOT must certify as qualified any bidders for a construction contract, road, bridge, or public construction project that exceeds $250,000 in cost.[48] The certification process ensures that the bidders have professional and financial competence by evaluating them "with respect to the equipment, past record, experience, financial resources, and organizational personnel of the applicant necessary to perform the specific class of work for which the person seeks certification.[49]

Consumer Price Index and Producer Price Index

The Consumer Price Index for all Urban Consumers (CPI-U) is a measure of the average change over time in the prices paid by urban consumers for a market basket of consumer goods and services, as measured by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.[50] The U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics issues the CPI monthly, and develops the metric from surveys of businesses' and households' reporting of their costs for food, housing, clothing, medical care, and transportation.[51] While the CPI-U is the most often-cited index, the BLS also publishes several other consumer price indexes, e.g., those based on geographic area, CPI for Urban Wage Earners and Clerical Workers (CPI-W), Chained CPI for all Urban Consumers (C-CPI-U), and an average prices index.[52] The CPI is used as a measure of U.S. consumer inflation, and to escalate Social Security payments, adjust tax brackets, convert nominal dollars to real dollars, and to adjust wages or escalate rents and other payments.[53]

The Producer Price Index (PPI) is a measurement of the average change in selling prices that are received by domestic producers of goods and services. PPI measures the price change from the seller's perspective, and can be used as a tool for the adjustment of purchase and sales contract prices, an indicator of overall price movement at the producer's level, or a comparison of industry-based price data.[55] The PPI includes indexes based on commodities, including consumer goods, energy, services, transportation and warehousing services, and construction.[56]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill revises the maximum dollar amount for continuing contracts for construction projects.

Section 1 amends s. 255.103, F.S., to increase the maximum dollar amount for a continuing contract for construction projects from $4 million to $7.5 million. Beginning July 1, 2025, and annually thereafter, the Department of Management Services (DMS) must adjust the maximum amount allowed on the preceding June 30 for each individual project in a continuing contract based on the June-to-June Consumer Price Index for all Urban Consumers (CPI-U) issued by the United States Department of Labor. The DMS must publish the adjusted amount on its website.

Section 2 amends s. 287.055, F.S., to increase the maximum dollar amount for a continuing contract for professional services from $4 million to $7.5 million. Beginning July 1, 2025, and annually thereafter, the DMS must adjust the maximum amount allowed on the preceding June 30 for each individual project in a continuing contract based on the June-to-June CPI-U issued by the United States Department of Labor. The DMS must publish the adjusted amount on its website.

Section 3 provides that the bill takes effect on July 1, 2024.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

Not applicable. The bill does not require counties and municipalities to spend funds, reduce the counties' or municipalities' ability to raise revenue, or reduce the percentage of state tax shared with counties or municipalities.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The bill may have an indeterminate, positive fiscal impact on the private sector, especially contractors with capacity for larger (up to $7.5 million projects). The increased maximum dollar amount for continuing contracts for construction projects could allow more projects to be covered under a continuing contract, and would reduce the competitive solicitations a firm would undergo to become qualified under the Consultant's Competitive Negotiation Act (CCNA).

C. Government Sector Impact:

Governmental entities that use continuing contracts incur costs related to the competitive selection and negotiation process. The bill, by increasing the maximum dollar amount for continuing contracts, captures more related services and construction projects, and may reduce the need for solicitations and their related administrative costs. Thus, the bill may have an indeterminate positive fiscal impact on the government sector. However, the increase of the cap for projects grouped under a continuing contract may provide less oversight on the total project cost, which may result in higher-than-necessary costs to the government.

The Department of Management Services may incur a cost related to the annual calculation of, and posting of the CPI-adjusted contract amount on its website.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

The chart below illustrates the impact of a CPI growth factor on the maximum cost per project. Column 1 is the current consumer price index percentage change December over December.[58] Column 3 illustrates the maximum thresholds if the current law maximum ($4 million) per project is grown annually by the CPI percentage increase. Column 4 illustrates the maximum thresholds if the maximum is set at $7.5 million beginning July 1, 2024. Likewise, Column 5 illustrates the same assuming the $10 million threshold set in this bill.

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Fiscal Policy

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 678 creates the Forensic Investigative Genetic Genealogy Grant Program within the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE). The purpose of the program is to award grants to statewide and local law enforcement agencies or medical examiner's offices to support local agencies in the processing of DNA samples.

The FDLE will annually award to law enforcement agencies or medical examiner's offices funds specially appropriated for the grant program to cover expenses related to using forensic genetic genealogy methods to generate investigative leads for criminal investigations or identifying unidentified human remains.

The term "investigative genetic genealogy" means the combined application of laboratory testing, genetic genealogy, and law enforcement investigative techniques to develop investigative leads in unsolved violent crimes and provide investigative leads as to the identity of unidentified human remains. Such methods must be in accordance with department rule and compatible with multiple genealogical databases that are available for law enforcement use. Grant funding is intended for developing genealogy DNA profiles consisting of 100,000 or more markers.

Grants may be used in accordance with FDLE rule to:

- Analyze DNA samples collected under applicable legal authority using forensic genetic genealogy methods for solving violent crimes.
- Analyze unidentified human remains.

Grant recipients must provide a report to the FDLE executive director no later than one year after receiving the funding. The report must include:

- The amount of annual funding received;
- The number and type of cases pursued using forensic genetic genealogical DNA analysis;
- The type of forensic genetic genealogical methods used, including the name of the laboratory to which such testing is outsourced, if any, and the identity of the entity conducting any genetic genealogical research;
- The result of the testing, such as decedent identification, perpetrator identification, or no identification; and
- The amount of time it took to make an identification or to determine no identification could be made.

The FDLE may adopt rules to implement and administer the grant program, and to allocate funds.

The bill becomes effective July 1, 2024.

This bill does not have a fiscal impact on the FDLE. See Section V. Fiscal Impact Statement.

II. Present Situation:

Current Florida Law

Section 119.071(2)(r)2., F.S., makes investigative genetic genealogy information and materials held by an agency before, on, or after July 1, 2023, confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1), F.S., and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution.[1]

As defined in s. 119.071(2)(r), F.S., "investigative genetic genealogy information and materials" means the information, records, and genetic profiles created or collected by or on behalf of a law enforcement agency conducting investigative genetic genealogy research.[2] It includes any names and personal identifying information or identifiers of individuals determined through the use of genealogy databases, traditional genealogical methods, or other investigative means.[3] The term does not include the name or personal identifying information of the donor of a biological sample attributable to a perpetrator; or a person identified through investigative genetic genealogy who is a witness to or has personal knowledge related to the crime under investigation.[4]

"Investigative genetic genealogy" means the application of genetic genealogy and law enforcement investigative techniques to develop investigative leads in unsolved violent crimes and provide investigative leads as to the identity of unidentified human remains and living unidentified missing persons.[5]

[4] Section 119.071(2)(r)1.d. (I) and (II), F.S.
[5] Section 119.071(2)(r)1.c., F.S.

The term "genetic genealogy" means the use of DNA testing in combination with traditional genealogical methods to infer relationships between persons and determine ancestry.[6]

"Traditional genealogical methods" means the use of genealogical databases and historical records to trace the family lineage of a person.[7] "DNA record" means all information associated with the collection and analysis of a person's DNA sample, including the distinguishing characteristics collectively referred to as a DNA profile, and includes a single nucleotide polymorphism and a whole genome sequencing DNA profile.[8]

A law enforcement agency may disclose investigative genetic genealogy information and materials in furtherance of its official duties and responsibilities or to another governmental agency in the furtherance of its official duties and responsibilities.[9]

A law enforcement agency must disclose investigative genetic genealogy information and materials pursuant to a court order for furtherance of a criminal prosecution. If a court orders the disclosure of such information and materials, the recipient of the information and materials must maintain the confidential and exempt status of the information and materials and may only publicly disclose the information and materials as necessary for purposes of a criminal prosecution as determined by the court.[10]

Catching the Golden State Killer Using Consumer DNA Testing Database

A Florida-based genealogy website called GEDmatch that allows users to voluntarily share their genetic profiles for free provided information that led investigators to the "Golden State Killer" who had eluded law enforcement since 1976.[11] The website revealed a distant relative and that information helped lead authorities to the man suspected of conducting a reign of terror up and down California, including 12 homicides, 45 rapes, and more than 100 residential burglaries between 1976 and 1986.[12] The man subsequently pleaded guilty to 13 counts of first-degree murder and special circumstances (including murder committed during burglaries and rapes), as well as 13 counts of kidnapping.[13]

The Florida Department of Law Enforcement Forensic/Investigative Genetic Genealogy Program

The FDLE Genetic Genealogy team currently provides investigative leads to investigators based on DNA matches to relatives found in public genealogy databases.[14] The team includes experts in genetic genealogy, analytical research, forensics, and investigations who work with local law enforcement agencies.[15] In its first year, the program helped identify four suspects, solving cases that were more than a decade old.[16]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill creates the Forensic Investigative Genetic Genealogy Grant Program within the FDLE. The purpose of the program is to award grants to law enforcement agencies or medical examiner's offices to support local agencies in the processing of DNA samples.

The FDLE will annually award to statewide and local law enforcement agencies and medical examiner's offices any funds specially appropriated for the grant program to cover expenses related to using forensic investigative genetic genealogy methods to generate investigative leads for criminal investigations of violent crimes and to aid in the identification of unidentified human remains.

The term "investigative genetic genealogy" means the combined application of laboratory testing, genetic genealogy, and law enforcement investigative techniques to develop investigative leads in unsolved violent crimes and provide investigative leads as to the identity of unidentified human remains. Such methods must be in accordance with department rule and compatible with multiple genealogical databases that are available for law enforcement use. Grant funding is intended for developing genealogy DNA profiles consisting of 100,000 or more markers.

Grants may be used, in accordance with FDLE rule, to:
- Analyze DNA samples collected under applicable legal authority using forensic genetic genealogy methods for solving violent crimes.
- Analyze DNA samples of unidentified human remains.

Grant recipients must provide a report to the FDLE executive director no later than one year after receiving the funding. The report must include:
- The amount of annual funding received;
- The number and type of cases pursued using investigative genetic genealogy methods;

- The amount of time it took to make an identification or to determine no identification could be made.

The FDLE may adopt rules pursuant to s. 120.536(1) and s. 120.54, F.S., to implement and administer the requirements in the bill, and to allocate funds.

(3) The department shall annually award to statewide and local law enforcement agencies and medical examiner's offices any funds specially appropriated for the grant program to cover expenses related to using forensic investigative genetic genealogy methods to generate investigative leads for criminal investigations of violent crimes and to aid in the identification of unidentified human remains.

(4) Grants may be used in accordance with department rule for any of the following purposes:

(a) The analysis of DNA samples collected under applicable legal authority using forensic investigative genetic genealogy methods for solving violent crimes.

(b) The analysis of DNA samples of unidentified human remains.

(5) Each grant recipient shall provide to the executive director a report no later than 1 year after receipt of funding under the grant program. The report must include all of the following:

(a) The amount of funding received.

(b) The number and type of cases pursued using forensic investigative genetic genealogy methods.

(c) The type of forensic investigative genetic genealogy methods used, including the name of the laboratory to which such testing was outsourced, if any, and the identity of the entity conducting any genetic genealogical research.

(d) The result of the testing, such as decedent identification, perpetrator identification, or no identification.

(e) The amount of time it took to make an identification or to determine no identification could be made.

(6) The department may adopt rules pursuant to ss. 120.536(1) and 120.54 to implement and administer this section and to establish the process for the allocation of grant funds.

Section 2. This act shall take effect July 1, 2024.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 684 provides a number of revisions to current law pertaining to the standards and timeframes for local governments to follow for the issuance of building permits. Specifically, the bill requires local governments to approve, approve with conditions, or deny a complete and sufficient permit application within the following timeframes:

- 30 business days for the following permits for structures that are less than 7,500 square feet: single-family residential unit or dwelling, accessory structure, alarm, electrical, irrigation, landscaping, mechanism, plumbing, or roofing.
- 60 business days for the above-mentioned permits for structures more than 7,500 square feet.
- 60 business days for signs and nonresidential buildings less than 25,000 square feet.
- 120 business days for multifamily residential not exceeding 50 units, certain site-plan approvals and subdivision plats, and lot grading and site alteration.
- 15 business days for master building permits for site-specific building permit.
- 10 business days for single-family dwellings utilizing the Community Development Block Grant-Disaster Recovery Program.

The bill modifies provisions requiring local governments to refund permit fees for failure to comply with the applicable timeframes, and applies specific timeframes for the processing of permit applications submitted with an affidavit from a private provider who is a licensed engineer or architect.

The bill also requires the Florida Building Commission to provide an exception in the Florida Building Code relating to sealed drawings by a design professional for replacement windows, doors, and garages, and reverts the definition of "windborne debris region" to the 2020 Florida Building Code, 7th edition definition.

Additionally, the bill:

- Requires certain local governments to create a process to expedite the issuance of building permits based on a preliminary plat and to issue the number or percentage of building permits requested by an applicant, under certain circumstances.
- Provides that vested rights may be formed in a preliminary plat, under certain circumstances.
- Allows an applicant to contract to sell, but not transfer ownership of, a residential structure or building located in the preliminary plat before the final plat is approved.
- Requires all local governments to create a master building permit process.

The bill takes effect on July 1, 2024.

II. Present Situation:

The Florida Building Code

In 1974, Florida adopted legislation requiring all local governments to adopt and enforce a minimum building code that would ensure that Florida's minimum standards were met. Local governments could choose from four separate model codes. The state's role was limited to adopting all or relevant parts of new editions of the four model codes. Local governments could amend and enforce their local codes, as they desired.[1]

In 1992, Hurricane Andrew demonstrated that Florida's system of local codes did not work. Hurricane Andrew easily destroyed those structures that were allegedly built according to the strongest code. The Governor eventually appointed a study commission to review the system of local codes and make recommendations for modernizing the system. The 1998 Legislature adopted the study's commission recommendations for a single state building code and enhanced the oversight role of the state over local code enforcement. The 2000 Legislature authorized implementation of the Florida Building Code (Building Code), and that first edition replaced all local codes on March 1, 2002.[2] The current edition of the Building Code is the seventh edition, which is referred to as the 2020 Florida Building Code.[3]

Chapter 553, part IV, F.S., is known as the "Florida Building Codes Act" (Act). The purpose and intent of the Act is to provide a mechanism for the uniform adoption, updating, interpretation, and enforcement of a single, unified state building code. The Building Code must be applied, administered, and enforced uniformly and consistently from jurisdiction to jurisdiction.[4]

The Florida Building Commission (Commission) was statutorily created to implement the Building Code. The Commission, which is housed within the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR), is a 19-member technical body made up of design professionals, contractors, and government experts in various disciplines covered by the Building Code. The Commission reviews several International Codes published by the International Code Council,[5] the National Electric Code, and other nationally adopted model codes to determine if the Building Code needs to be updated and adopts an updated Building Code every three years.[6]

Use of Building Code Enforcement Fees

A local government may charge reasonable fees as set forth in a schedule of fees adopted by the enforcing agency for the issuance of a building permit.[7] Such fees shall be used solely for carrying out the local government's responsibilities in enforcing the Building Code.[8] Enforcing the Building Code includes the direct costs and reasonable indirect costs associated with training, review of building plans, building inspections, re-inspections, building permit processing, and fire inspections.[9] Local governments must post all building permit and inspection fee schedules on their website.[10]

Local governments are only allowed to collect building permit fees that are sufficient to cover their costs in enforcing the Building Code. When providing a schedule of reasonable fees, the total estimated annual revenue derived from fees, and the fines and investment earnings related to the fees, may not exceed the total estimated annual costs of allowable activities. Any unexpended balances must be carried forward to future years for allowable activities or must be refunded at the discretion of the local government. A local government may not carry forward an amount exceeding the average of its operating budget, not including reserve amounts, for enforcing the Building Code for the previous 4 fiscal years.[11]

DBPR Surcharges

Current law requires all local governments to assess and collect a 1 percent surcharge on any building permit issued by their enforcement agency for the purpose of enforcing the Building Code. The local jurisdictions collect the assessment and remit the surcharge fees to DBPR to fund the activities of the Commission, DBPR's Building Code Compliance and Mitigation Program, and the Florida Fire Prevention Code informal interpretations.[12]

Current law also requires all local governments to assess and collect a separate 1.5 percent surcharge on any building permit issued by their enforcement agency for the purpose of enforcing the Building Code. The local governments collect the assessment and remit the surcharge fees to DBPR, where it is divided equally to fund the activities of the Building Code

Building Permit Application Review

Time-Period to Review

Current law requires local governments to review certain building permit applications within a specific time-period of receiving the applications. Current law provides specified timeframes for local governments to review applications for the following building permits:[15]

- Accessory structure;
- Alarm permit;
- Nonresidential buildings less than 25,000 square feet;
- Electric;
- Irrigation permit;
- Landscaping;
- Mechanical;
- Plumbing;
- Residential units other than a single-family unit;
- Multifamily residential not exceeding 50 units;
- Roofing;
- Signs;
- Site-plan approvals and subdivision plats not requiring public hearings or public notice; and
- Lot grading and site alteration associated with the permit application.

When a local government receives an application for one of the above building permits, it must:[16]

- Inform the applicant within 10 days of receiving the application, what information, if any, is needed to complete the application.
  - If the local government fails to provide written notice to the applicant within the 10-day window, the application is deemed to be properly completed.
- Notify the applicant within 45 days of the application being deemed complete, if additional information is necessary to determine the sufficiency of the application;
  - If additional information is needed the local government must specify what additional information is necessary.

[13] Section 468.631, F.S.; The Florida Homeowners' Construction Recovery Fund is used to compensate homeowners who have suffered a covered financial loss at the hands of state-licensed general, building and residential contractors. Claims are filed with the DBPR, who reviews for completeness and statutory eligibility. The DBPR then presents the claim to the Construction Industry Licensing Board for review. Section 489.1401(2), F.S.
[14] Sections 468.631, and 553.721, F.S.
[15] Section 553.792(2), F.S.
[16] Section 553.792(1), F.S.

    - The applicant may submit the additional information to the local government or request that the local government act on the application without the additional information.
- Approve, approve with conditions, or deny the application within 120 days following receipt of the completed application.
    - This period is tolled during the time an applicant is responding to a request for additional information and may be extended by mutual consent of the parties.

These time-periods do not apply when a law, agency rule, or local ordinance specify different timeframes for review of local building permit applications, for permits for wireless communication facilities, or when both parties agree to an extension.[17]

If a local government fails to meet the timeframes above without an agreement for an extension of time, a local government must reduce the building permit fee by 10 percent for each business day that a local government fails to meet the deadline.[18] This also applies if a local government fails to meet the deadlines established by local ordinance that differ from the statutory timeframes.[19]

Local Government's Requests for Additional Information[20]

A local government may only make three requests for additional information from an applicant applying for the following types of building permits:

- Accessory structure.
- Alarm permit.
- Nonresidential buildings less than 25,000 square feet.
- Electric.
- Irrigation permit.
- Landscaping.
- Mechanical.
- Plumbing.
- Residential units other than a single-family unit.
- Multifamily residential not exceeding 50 units.
- Roofing.
- Signs.
- Site-plan approvals and subdivision plats not requiring public hearings or public notice.
- Lot grading and site alteration associated with the permit application.

However, an applicant may agree in writing to waive the limitation that local governments may only make three requests for additional information for such permits.

If a local government makes a request for additional information from an applicant for one the above building permits, and the applicant provides the information within 30 days of receiving the request, the local government must[21]:

[17] Section 553.792(2)(a), F.S.
[18] Section 553.792(1)(c), F.S.
[19] Section 553.792(2)(b), F.S.

- Review the additional information and determine the application is complete, approve the application, approve the application with conditions, deny the application, or specify the remaining deficiencies within 15 days of receiving the information from the applicant, if the request is the local government's first request.
- Review the additional information and determine the application is complete, approve the application, approve the application with conditions, deny the application, or specify the remaining deficiencies within 10 days of receiving the information from the applicant, if the request is the local government's second request.
- Deem the application complete and approve the application, approve the application with conditions, or deny the application within 10 days of receiving the information from the applicant, if the request is the local government's third request.

Prior to making a third request for information the local government must offer to meet with the permit applicant to attempt to resolve outstanding issues.

If the applicant believes the request for additional information is not authorized by ordinance, rule, statute, or other legal authority, the local government, at the applicant's request, shall proceed to process the application for approval, approval with conditions, or denial.

If a local government fails to meet these deadlines it must reduce the building permit fee by 10 percent for each business day that it fails to meet the deadline. However, these time limitations do not apply when a law, agency rule, or local ordinance specifies different timeframes for review of local building permit applications, for permits for wireless communication facilities, or when both parties agree to an extension.

Time-Period to Review Single-Family Residential Dwelling Building Permit Applications

For building permit applications for a single-family residential dwelling, the local government must issue the permit within 30 business days of receiving the application, unless the application fails to satisfy the Building Code or the enforcing agency's laws or ordinances, or unusual circumstances require a longer time-period for processing the application.[22]

If the local government does not issue the permit within 30 business days after receiving the permit application, it must reduce the building permit fee by 10 percent for each business day that it fails to meet the deadline. Each 10 percent reduction is based on the original amount of the building permit fee.

However, the local government need not reduce the permit fee if it provides notice to the applicant, by e-mail or United States Postal Service, within 30 business days after receiving the permit application, that specifically states the reasons the permit application fails to satisfy the Building Code or the enforcing agency's laws or ordinances. In addition, the written notice must also include that the applicant has 10 business days after receiving the written notice to submit revisions to correct the permit application and that failure to correct the application within 10 business days will result in a denial of the application.[23]

[23] Section 553.79(16)(a)-(b), F.S.

If the applicant submits the revisions within 10 business days, the local enforcing agency has 10 business days after receiving such revisions to approve or deny the building permit unless the applicant agrees to a longer permit in writing.[24]

If a government entity fails to approve or deny the single-family residential dwelling building permit within 10 business days of receiving the applicant's revisions, it must: [25]

- Reduce the permit fee by 20 percent of the original permit fee for the first business day that it fails to meet the deadline; and
- An additional 10 percent of the original permit fee for each business day that it fails to meet the deadline, for up to five business days.

A building permit for a single-family residential dwelling applied for by a contractor licensed in this state on behalf of a property owner who participates in a Community Development Block Grant-Disaster Recovery program administered by the Department of Economic Opportunity must be issued within 15 business days after receipt of the application unless the permit application fails to satisfy the Florida Building Code or the enforcing agency's laws or ordinances.[26]

If any permit fees are refunded because a local government fails to meet an established deadline for reviewing a building permit application, the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR) surcharges for funding the Commission, the Florida Building Code Administrators and Inspectors Board (BCAIB), and the Florida Homeowners' Recovery Fund must be recalculated based on the amount of the permit fees after the refund.[27]

Private Providers Alternative Plans Review

In 2002, s. 553.791, F.S., was created to allow property owners and contractors to hire licensed building code officials, engineers, and architects, referred to as private providers, to review building plans, perform building inspections, and prepare certificates of completion.

Private providers and their duly authorized representatives are able to approve building plans and perform building code inspections as long as the plans approval and building inspections are within the scope of the provider's or representative's license. A local government may establish, for private providers and duly authorized representatives working within the local government's jurisdiction, a system of registration to verify compliance with the license and insurance requirements for private providers.[28]

"Private provider" means a person licensed as a building official, engineer, or as an architect. Licensed building inspectors and plans examiners may perform inspections for additions and alterations that are limited to 1,000 square feet or less in residential buildings.[29]

[24] Section 553.79(16)(c), F.S.
[25] Section 553.79(16)(c), F.S.
[26] Section 553.79(16)(e), F.S.
[27] Section 553.79(16)(d), F.S.
[28] Section 553.791(16)(b), F.S.
[29] Section 553.791(1)(n) and (3), F.S.

"Duly authorized representative" means an employee of a private provider identified in a permit application who reviews plans or performs inspections, and is licensed as an engineer, architect, building official, inspector, or plans examiner. The term does not include a person with a provisional license by the BCAIB.[30]

If an owner or contractor opts to use a private provider, the local government must calculate the cost savings to its building department and reduce the building permit fees accordingly.[31]

A local government may not charge a fee for building inspections when an owner or contractor uses a private provider but may charge a reasonable administrative fee which is based on the cost that is actually incurred by the local government, including the labor cost of the personnel providing the service, or the cost attributable to the local government for the clerical and supervisory assistance required, or both.[32]

Local governments may audit the performance of building code inspection services by private providers operating within the local government's jurisdiction. However, the same private provider may not be audited more than four times in a month unless the local building official determines a condition of a building constitutes an immediate threat to public safety and welfare.[33]

Plats

In Florida law, "plat" means a map or delineated representation of the subdivision of lands, being a complete exact representation of the subdivision and other information in compliance with the requirement of all applicable state requirements and of any local ordinances.[34] Generally, platting is required whenever a developer wishes to subdivide a large piece of property into smaller parcels and tracts. These smaller areas become the residential lots, streets and parks of a new residential sub-division.[35]

State law establishes consistent minimum requirements for the establishment of plats, and local governing bodies have the power to regulate and control the platting of lands.[36] Prior to approval by the appropriate governing body, the plat must be reviewed for conformity with state and local law and sealed by a professional surveyor and mapper who is either employed by or under contract to the local governing body.[37]

Before a plat is offered for recording with the clerk of the circuit court, it must be approved by the appropriate governing body, and evidence of such approval must be placed on the plat. If not approved, the governing body must return the plat to the professional surveyor and mapper or the legal entity offering the plat for recordation.

Jurisdiction over plat approval is as follows:[38]

- When the plat to be submitted for approval is located wholly within the boundaries of a municipality, the governing body of the municipality has exclusive jurisdiction to approve the plat.
- When a plat lies wholly within the unincorporated areas of a county, the governing body of the county has exclusive jurisdiction to approve the plat.
- When a plat lies within the boundaries of more than one governing body, two plats must be prepared and each governing body has exclusive jurisdiction to approve the plat within its boundaries, unless the governing bodies having said jurisdiction agree that one plat is mutually acceptable.

Every plat of a subdivision offered for recording must have certain information, including providing:[39]

- The name of the plat in bold legible letters, and the name of the subdivision, professional surveyor and mapper or legal entity, and street and mailing address on each sheet.
- The section, township, and range immediately under the name of the plat on each sheet included, along with the name of the city, town, village, county, and state in which the land being platted is situated.
- The dedications and approvals by the surveyor and mapper and local governing body, and the circuit court clerk's certificate and the professional surveyor and mapper's seal and statement.
- All section lines and quarter section lines occurring within the subdivision. If the description is by metes and bounds, all information called for, such as the point of commencement, course bearings and distances, and the point of beginning. If the platted lands are in a land grant or are not included in the subdivision of government surveys, then the boundaries are to be defined by metes and bounds and courses.
- Location, width, and names of all streets, waterways, or other rights-of-way.
- Location and width of proposed easements and existing easements identified in the title opinion or property information report must be shown on the plat or in the notes or legend, and their intended use.
- All lots numbered either by progressive numbers or, if in blocks, progressively numbered in each block, and the blocks progressively numbered or lettered, except that blocks in numbered additions bearing the same name may be numbered consecutively throughout the several additions.
- Sufficient survey data to positively describe the bounds of every lot, block, street easement, and all other areas shown on the plat.
- Designated park and recreation parcels.
- All interior excepted parcels clearly indicated and labeled "Not a part of this plat."
- The purpose of all areas dedicated clearly indicated or stated on the plat.

[39] Section 177.091, F.S.

- That all platted utility easements must provide that such easements are also easements for the construction, installation, maintenance, and operation of cable television services; provided, however, no such construction, installation, maintenance, and operation of cable television services interferes with the facilities and services of an electric, telephone, gas, or other public utility.

Preliminary Plat Approval

Many local governments around the state have a process to approve a preliminary plat before approving a final plat. Generally, a preliminary plat is a technical, graphic representation of a proposed development, including plans for streets, utilities, drainage, easements, and lot lines, for a proposed subdivision. If a preliminary plat is required, it is generally a prerequisite for a final plat approval and the submission of any property improvement plans or permit applications.[40]

Generally, a preliminary plat approval is approval of the development plan, and a final plat approval is approval of a finalized development plan; engineering plans, if required; and documents confirming the parties with a property interest; which is then recorded with the clerk of the circuit court.[41]

Based on a preliminary plat approval, some local governments allow a developer to commence construction before the plat is finalized. For example, the City of Jacksonville, Village of Royal Palm Beach, and the City of Tallahassee allow for a preliminary plat approval process.[42]

In Jacksonville, the Planning and Development Department (Department) of the City of Jacksonville, upon request of an applicant, may allow up to 50 percent of the lots within a proposed subdivision to be developed, but not occupied, based on a preliminary plat approval so long as the developer or owner meets the following conditions for construction:[43]

- Prior to Civil Plans submittal to the Department, the developer must submit the development proposal to Jacksonville Electric Authority (JEA) for review.
- Once JEA has granted preliminary approval, the Department will review the preliminary site plan, the preliminary and final engineering plans for the required improvements, and the sheet identifying the lots being requested for home construction prior to platting as approved by JEA. The Department reserves the right to deny authorization for development on a specific lot or lots to protect City interests.
- The developer or owner must provide a guarantee for required improvements and warranty of title.
- A Certificate of Occupancy may not be issued until the final plat is approved by JEA and the Department and recorded in the current public records of Duval County, Florida.

Vested Rights in Property Based on a Plat

In general, vested rights[45] form when a property owner or developer acquires real property rights that cannot be taken by governmental regulation.[46] Property owners or developers who do not have vested rights will be subject to subsequently enacted land regulations, while subsequently enacted land regulations do not apply to the property owners or developers who are determined to have vested rights.[47]

Florida common law provides that vested rights in a property may be established if a property owner or developer has:[48]

- In good faith reliance,
- Upon some act or omission of government,
- Made such a substantial change in position or has incurred such extensive obligations and expenses,
- That it would make it highly inequitable to interfere with the acquired right.

Recordation of a final plat with the clerk of the circuit court alone is not sufficient to establish vested rights[49] in the land development regulations in existence at that time.[50] Instead, the property owner or developer must take meaningful steps towards development of the property, such as applying for development permits or expending certain monies,[51] to constitute a substantial change in position or be considered extensive obligations and expenses towards development of the property in reliance on some action by the local government.[52]

Additionally, a property owner or developer may obtain vested rights in both a local government-approved preliminary plat and a final plat, as long as expenditures or a substantial change have been made by the property owner or developer based on such preliminary plat or plat.[53]

[45] Florida courts have used the concepts of vested rights and equitable estoppel interchangeably in deciding fault in property rights cases. Equitable estoppel, in this instance, means focusing on whether it would be inequitable or fair to allow a local government to deny prior conduct or position on building or development decisions. Wind-borne Debris Regions

Wind-borne debris regions (WBDR) are defined in the Building Code by specific wind speeds and represent areas where structures are vulnerable to impact from windborne debris during severe storm events. New construction located within a WBDR must meet enhanced requirements for the protection against windborne debris, such as the installation of impact-resistant windows, doors, or shutters.

The 8th Edition (2023) Building Code defines WBDR as areas:
- Within 1 mile of the mean high-water line where an Exposure D condition exists upwind at the waterline and the ultimate design wind speed is 130 mph or greater; or
- In areas where the ultimate design wind speed is 140 mph or greater.[54]

The 7th Edition (2020) Building Code defines WBDR as areas:
- Within 1 mile of the coastal mean high water line where the ultimate design wind speed is 130 mph or greater; or
- In areas where the ultimate design wind speed is 140 mph or greater.[55]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Building Permit Processing Timeframes

Section 5 amends s. 553.792, F.S., to modify the timeframes for which local governments must process building permit applications. The bill requires a local government to approve, approve with conditions, or deny a building permit application after receipt of a completed and sufficient application within the following timeframes, unless the applicant waives such timeframes in writing:
- Within 30 business days after receiving a complete and sufficient application, for an applicant using a local government plans reviewer to obtain the following building permits for structures less than 7,500 square feet: residential units including a single-family residential unit or a single-family residential dwelling, accessory structure, alarm, electrical, irrigation, landscaping, mechanical, plumbing, or roofing.
- Within 60 business days after receiving a complete and sufficient application, for an applicant using a local government plans reviewer to obtain the following building permits for structures of 7,500 square feet or greater: residential units including a single-family residential unit or a single-family residential dwelling, accessory structure, alarm, electrical, irrigation, landscaping, mechanical, plumbing, or roofing.
- Within 60 business days after receiving a complete and sufficient application, for an applicant using a local government plans reviewer to obtain the following building permits: signs or nonresidential buildings less than 25,000 square feet.
- Within 120 business days after receiving a complete and sufficient application, for an applicant using a local government plans reviewer to obtain the following building permits: multifamily residential not exceeding 50 units; site-plan approvals and subdivision plats not requiring public hearing or public notice; and lot grading and site alteration.

[54] 2023 Florida Building Code, Residential, 8th Edition, R202.
[55] 2020 Florida Building Code, Residential, 7th Edition, R202.

- Within 15 business days after receiving a complete and sufficient application, for an applicant using a master building permit consistent with s. 553.794 to obtain a site-specific building permit.
- Within 10 business days after receiving a complete and sufficient application, for an applicant for a single-family residential dwelling applied for by a contractor licensed in this state on behalf of a property owner who participates in a Community Development Block Grant-Disaster Recovery program administered by the Department of Commerce, unless the permit application fails to satisfy the Florida Building Code or the enforcing agency's laws or ordinances.

These timeframes do not apply if the timeframes set by a local ordinances are more stringent than the timeframes provided in the bill. Additionally, the local government may not require a permit applicant to waive the permit processing timeframes as a condition to review an application for a building permit.

The bill requires a local government to provide written notice to a building permit applicant within 5 business days after receipt of the application advising the applicant what information, if any, is needed to deem or determine that the application is properly complete. If the local government does not provide timely written notice that the applicant has not submitted the properly completed application, the application is automatically deemed or determined to be property completed and accepted.

If a local government fails to meet a deadline provided in the bill, it must reduce the building permit fee by 10 percent, based on the original amount of the permit fee, for each business day that it fails to meet the deadline, unless the parties agree in writing to a reasonable extension of time, the delay is caused by the applicant, or the delay is attributable to a force majeure or other extraordinary circumstances.

However, a local government need not reduce building permit fees if the local government provides written notice to the applicant within the applicable timeframes specifically stating the reasons the permit application is deficient. If the applicant submits revisions within 10 business days after receiving the written notice, the local government has 10 business days after receiving such revisions to approve or deny the permit unless the applicant agrees to a longer period in writing. If the local government fails to issue or deny the permit within 10 business days after receiving revisions, it must reduce the building permit fee by 20 percent for each business day it fails to meet the deadline unless the applicant agrees to a longer period in writing.

The bill removes from current law the schedule for which local governments may make up to three requests for additional information from an applicant.

Section 3 amends s. 553.79, F.S., to remove provisions which require single-family residential dwelling permits to be issued within 30 days unless the application does not conform to the Building Code or local laws or ordinances. However, the bill incorporates the time period to review single-family residential dwellings into section 5 of the bill.

Use of Building Code Enforcement Fees

Section 6 amends s. 553.80, F.S., to specify that local governments may use fees, and any related fines or investment earnings, they have collected for enforcing the Building Code to upgrade technology hardware and software systems used to enforce the Building Code.

Private Providers

Section 4 amends s. 553.791, F.S., to require a local government to issue a permit or provide written notice of plan deficiencies within 12 business days after receipt of a permit application that is accompanied by the required affidavit in s. 553.791(6), F.S., prepared by a private provider who is a licensed engineer or architect. The local building official must provide with specificity the plan's deficiencies, the reasons the permit application failed, and the applicable codes being violated in such written notice.

If the local building official does not provide specific written notice to the permit applicant within the 12-day period, the permit application is deemed approved as a matter of law, and the permit must be issued by the local building official on the next business day.

The bill also defines the term "private provider firm" for purposes of allowing local governments to establish a registration system to verify private provider licensure requirements.

The bill provides that a local government may not audit the performance of building code inspection services by private providers until the local government has created a manual for standard operating procedures for staff performing such audits. The manual must include, at a minimum, the audit purpose and scope, audit criteria, an explanation of processes and objectives, and detailed findings of area of noncompliance. The manual must be publicly available online or the printed manual must be readily accessible in building department offices, and the audit results of the staff for the prior two quarters must be publicly available. A local government's private provider audit processes must adhere to the local government's posted standard operating audit procedures.

Additionally, the bill provides that a local government may not audit the same private provider more than four times in a year, as opposed to four times in a month provided in current law.

Other Florida Building Code Provisions

Section 2 amends s. 553.73, F.S., to require the Florida Building Commission to modify section 505 of the 8th edition Building Code to state that sealed drawings by a design professional may not be required for the replacement of windows, doors, or garage doors. Replacement windows, doors, and garage doors must be installed in accordance with the manufacturer's instructions for the appropriate wind zone and must meet the design pressure and the current Building Code. The manufacturer's instructions must be submitted with the applicable permit application.

This section also provide that the term "windborne debris region" has the same meaning as in the 7th edition Building Code, Residential, until the adoption of the 9th edition Building Code. It further provides that a homeowner or contractor is not prohibited from voluntarily complying with the definition of "windborne debris region" in the 8th edition.

Expedited Approval of Residential Building Permits and Preliminarily Plats

Section 1 creates s. 177.073, F.S., to require a governing body of a county or municipality to create:

- A two-step application process for the adoption of a preliminary plat and for a final plat in order to expedite the issuance of building permits related to such plats.
- A master building permit process consistent with existing master building permit application requirements for applicants seeking multiple building permits for planned residential subdivisions.

The bill requires the governing body to issue the number or percentage of building permits requested by an applicant, provided the residential buildings or structures are unoccupied and all of the following conditions are met:

- The governing body has approved a preliminary plat for each residential subdivision or planned community.
- The applicant provides proof to the governing body that the applicant has provided a copy of the approved preliminary plat, along with the approved plans, to the relevant electric, water, and wastewater utilities.
- The applicant holds a valid performance bond for up to 120 percent of the necessary utilities, roads, and stormwater improvements that have not been completed upon submission of the application under this section.

By August 15, 2024, the bill requires a governing body of a county or municipality with 30,000 residents or more to create a program to expedite the process for issuing building permits for residential subdivisions or planned communities before a final plat is recorded with the clerk of the circuit court.

If a governing body had a program in place before July 1, 2024, to expedite the building permit process, the bill requires such governing body to only update their program to approve an applicant's written application to issue up to 50 percent of the building permits for the residential subdivision or planned community.

The bill allows an applicant to use a private provider to review a preliminary plat and to obtain a building permit for each residential building or structure.

The bill allows a governing body to work with appropriate local government agencies to issue an address and a temporary parcel identification number for lot lines and lot sizes based on the metes and bounds of the plat contained in an application.

The bill allows an applicant to contract to sell, but not transfer ownership of, a residential structure or building located in the residential subdivision or planned community until the final plat is approved by the governing body and recorded in the public records by the clerk of the circuit court.

The bill prohibits an applicant from obtaining a final certificate of occupancy for each residential structure or building for which a building permit is issued until the final plat is approved by the governing body and recorded in the public records by the clerk of the circuit court.

An applicant has a vested right in a preliminary plat that has been approved with conditions by a governing entity, if all of the following conditions are met:

- The applicant relies in good faith on the approved preliminary plat or any amendments,
- The applicant substantially changes his or her position, including making improvements pursuant to s. 117.031(9), F.S,. or incurs other obligations and expenses; and
- Any change by the governing body would constitute an inequitable interference in the approved preliminary plat.

The bill requires an applicant to indemnify and hold harmless the governing body and its agents and employees from damages accruing and directly related to the issuance of a building permit for a residential building or structure located in the residential subdivision before the approval and recording of the final plat by the governing body.

The building official of a governing body that creates an expedited program pursuant to this bill must send to the Department of Business and Professional Regulation a letter indicating the program has been established and must include a brief explanation of the program.

The bill provides the following definitions:

- "Final plat" means the final tracing, map, or site plan presented by the subdivider to a governing body for final approval, and, upon approval by the appropriate governing body, is submitted to the clerk of the circuit court for recording.
- “Local building official” has the same meaning as in s. 553.791, F.S.
- “Plans” means any building plans, construction plans, engineering plans, or site plans, or their functional equivalent, submitted by an applicant for a building permit.
- "Preliminary plat" means a map or delineated representation of the subdivision of lands that is a complete and exact representation of the residential subdivision or planned community and contains required land boundary information.

Section 7 makes a technical change to correct a cross-reference and Section 8 provides that the bill takes effect on July 1, 2024.

(o) of subsection (1), paragraph (c) of subsection (4), subsection (5), paragraphs (b) and (d) of subsection (7), paragraph (b) of present subsection (13), paragraph (b) of present subsection (16), and present subsection (19) of that section are amended, to read:
553.791 Alternative plans review and inspection.—

(1) As used in this section, the term:

(o) "Private provider firm" means a business organization, including a corporation, partnership, business trust, or other legal entity, which offers services under this chapter to the public through licensees who are acting as agents, employees, officers, or partners of the firm. A person who is licensed as a building code administrator under part XII of chapter 468, as an engineer under chapter 471, or as an architect under chapter 481 may act as a private provider for an agent, employee, or officer of the private provider firm.

(p) ~~(o)~~ "Request for certificate of occupancy or certificate of completion" means a properly completed and executed application for:

1. A certificate of occupancy or certificate of completion.

2. A certificate of compliance from the private provider required under subsection (13) ~~(12)~~.

3. Any applicable fees.

4. Any documents required by the local building official to determine that the fee owner has secured all other government approvals required by law.

(4) A fee owner or the fee owner's contractor using a private provider to provide building code inspection services shall notify the local building official in writing at the time of permit application, or by 2 p.m. local time, 2 business days before the first scheduled inspection by the local building official or building code enforcement agency that a private provider has been contracted to perform the required inspections of construction under this section, including single-trade inspections, on a form to be adopted by the commission. This notice shall include the following information:

(c) An acknowledgment from the fee owner or the fee owner's contractor in substantially the following form:

I have elected to use one or more private providers to provide building code plans review and/or inspection services on the building or structure that is the subject of the enclosed permit application, as authorized by s. 553.791, Florida Statutes. I understand that the local building official may not review the plans submitted or perform the required building inspections to determine compliance with the applicable codes, except to the extent specified in said law. Instead, plans review and/or required building inspections will be performed by licensed or certified personnel identified in the application. The law requires minimum insurance requirements for such personnel, but I understand that I may require more insurance to protect my interests. By executing this form, I acknowledge that I have made inquiry regarding the competence of the licensed or certified personnel and the level of their insurance and am satisfied that my interests are adequately protected. I agree to indemnify, defend, and hold harmless the local government, the local building official, and their building code enforcement personnel from any and all claims arising from my use of these licensed or certified personnel to perform building code inspection services with respect to the building or structure that is the subject of the enclosed permit application.

If the fee owner or the fee owner's contractor makes any changes to the listed private providers or the services to be provided by those private providers, the fee owner or the fee owner's contractor shall, within 1 business day after any change or within 2 business days before the next scheduled inspection, update the notice to reflect such changes. A change of a duly authorized representative named in the permit application does not require a revision of the permit, and the building code enforcement agency shall not charge a fee for making the change.

(5) After construction has commenced and if the local building official is unable to provide inspection services in a timely manner, the fee owner or the fee owner's contractor may elect to use a private provider to provide inspection services by notifying the local building official of the owner's or contractor's intention to do so by 2 p.m. local time, 2 business days before the next scheduled inspection using the notice provided for in paragraphs (4)(a)-(c).

(b) If the local building official provides a written notice of plan deficiencies to the permit applicant within the prescribed 20-day period, the 20-day period shall be tolled pending resolution of the matter. To resolve the plan deficiencies, the permit applicant may elect to dispute the deficiencies pursuant to subsection (15) ~~(14)~~ or to submit revisions to correct the deficiencies.

(d) If the local building official provides a second written notice of plan deficiencies to the permit applicant within the prescribed time period, the permit applicant may elect to dispute the deficiencies pursuant to subsection (15) ~~(14)~~ or to submit additional revisions to correct the deficiencies. For all revisions submitted after the first revision, the local building official has an additional 5 business days from the date of resubmittal to issue the requested permit or to provide a written notice to the permit applicant stating which of the previously identified plan features remain in noncompliance with the applicable codes, with specific reference to the relevant code chapters and sections.

(10) When the private provider is a person licensed as an engineer under chapter 471 or as an architect under chapter 481 and affixes his or her professional seal to the affidavit required under subsection (6), the local building official must issue the requested permit or provide a written notice to the permit applicant identifying the specific plan features that do not comply with the applicable codes, as well as the specific code chapters and sections, within 12 business days after receipt of the permit application and affidavit. In such written notice, the local building official shall provide with specificity the plan’s deficiencies, the reasons the permit application failed, and the applicable codes being violated. If the local building official does not provide specific written notice to the permit applicant within the prescribed 12-day period, the permit application is deemed approved as a matter of law, and the permit must be issued by the local building official on the next business day.

(b) If the local building official does not provide notice of the deficiencies within the applicable time periods under paragraph (a), the request for a certificate of occupancy or certificate of completion is automatically granted and deemed issued as of the next business day. The local building official must provide the applicant with the written certificate of occupancy or certificate of completion within 10 days after it is automatically granted and issued. To resolve any identified deficiencies, the applicant may elect to dispute the deficiencies pursuant to subsection (15) ~~(14)~~ or to submit a corrected request for a certificate of occupancy or certificate of completion.

(b) A local enforcement agency, local building official, or local government may establish, for private provider firms, private providers, and duly authorized representatives working within that jurisdiction, a system of registration to verify compliance with the licensure requirements of paragraph (1)(n) and the insurance requirements of subsection (18) ~~(17)~~.

(20)~~(19)~~ A ~~Each~~ local building code enforcement agency may not audit the performance of building code inspection services by private providers operating within the local jurisdiction until the agency has created a manual for standard operating audit procedures for the agency's internal inspection and review staff which includes, at a minimum, the audit purpose and scope, audit criteria, an explanation of audit processes and objectives, and detailed findings of areas of noncompliance. The manual must be publicly available online or the printed manual must be readily accessible in building department offices, and the audit results of the staff for the prior two quarters must be publicly available. The agency's private provider audit processes must adhere to the agency's posted standard operating audit procedures. ~~However,~~ The same private provider may not be audited more than four times in a year ~~month~~ unless the local building official determines a condition of a building constitutes an immediate threat to public safety and welfare, which must be communicated in writing to the private provider or private provider firm. Work on a building or structure may proceed after inspection and approval by a private provider. ~~if the provider has given notice of the inspection pursuant to subsection (9) and, subsequent to such inspection and approval,~~ The work may ~~shall~~ not be delayed for completion of an inspection audit by the local building code enforcement agency.

Section 5. Subsections (1) and (2) of section 553.792, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

553.792 Building permit application to local government.—

(1)(a) A local government shall approve, approve with conditions, or deny a building permit application after receipt of a completed and sufficient application within the following timeframes, unless the applicant waives such timeframes in writing:

1. Within 30 business days after receiving a complete and sufficient application, for an applicant using a local government plans reviewer to obtain the following building permits for structures less than 7,500 square feet: residential units including a single-family residential unit or a single-family residential dwelling, accessory structure, alarm, electrical, irrigation, landscaping, mechanical, plumbing, or roofing.

2. Within 60 business days after receiving a complete and sufficient application, for an applicant using a local government plans reviewer to obtain the following building permits for structures of 7,500 square feet or greater: residential units including a single-family residential unit or a single-family residential dwelling, accessory structure, alarm, electrical, irrigation, landscaping, mechanical, plumbing, or roofing.

3. Within 60 business days after receiving a complete and sufficient application, for an applicant using a local government plans reviewer to obtain the following building permits: signs or nonresidential buildings less than 25,000 square feet.

4. Within 120 business days after receiving a complete and sufficient application, for an applicant using a local government plans reviewer to obtain the following building permits: multifamily residential not exceeding 50 units; site-plan approvals and subdivision plats not requiring public hearing or public notice; and lot grading and site alteration.

5. Within 15 business days after receiving a complete and sufficient application, for an applicant using a master building permit consistent with s. 553.794 to obtain a site-specific building permit.

6. Within 10 business days after receiving a complete and sufficient application, for an applicant for a single-family residential dwelling applied for by a contractor licensed in this state on behalf of a property owner who participates in a Community Development Block Grant-Disaster Recovery program administered by the Department of Commerce, unless the permit application fails to satisfy the Florida Building Code or the enforcing agency's laws or ordinances.

824238

However, the local government may not require the waiver as a condition precedent to reviewing an applicant's building permit application.

(b) A local government must meet the timeframes set forth in this section for reviewing building permit applications unless the timeframes set by local ordinance are more stringent than those prescribed in this section.

(c) After ~~Within 10 days of~~ an applicant submits ~~submitting~~ an application to the local government, the local government must provide written notice to the applicant within 5 business days after receipt of the application advising ~~shall advise~~ the applicant what information, if any, is needed to deem or determine that the application is properly completed in compliance with the filing requirements published by the local government. If the local government does not provide timely written notice that the applicant has not submitted the properly completed application, the application is ~~shall be~~ automatically deemed or determined to be properly completed and accepted. ~~Within 45 days after receiving a completed application, a local government must notify an applicant if additional information is required for the local government to determine the sufficiency of the application, and shall specify the additional information that is required. The applicant must submit the additional information to the local government or request that the local~~ ~~government act without the additional information. While the applicant responds to the request for additional information, the 120-day period described in this subsection is tolled. Both parties may agree to a reasonable request for an extension of time, particularly in the event of a force majeure or other extraordinary circumstance. The local government must approve, approve with conditions, or deny the application within 120 days following receipt of a completed application.~~

(d) A local government shall maintain on its website a policy containing procedures and expectations for expedited processing of those building permits and development orders required by law to be expedited.

~~(b)1. When reviewing an application for a building permit, a local government may not request additional information from the applicant more than three times, unless the applicant waives such limitation in writing.~~

~~2. If a local government requests additional information from an applicant and the applicant submits the requested additional information to the local government within 30 days after receiving the request, the local government must, within 15 days after receiving such information:~~

~~a. Determine if the application is properly completed;~~

~~b. Approve the application;~~

Section 1. Section 177.073, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

177.073 Expedited approval of residential building permits before a final plat is recorded.—

(1) As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Final plat" means the final tracing, map, or site plan presented by the subdivider to a governing body for final approval and, upon approval by the appropriate governing body, submitted to the clerk of the circuit court for recording.

(b) "Local building official" has the same meaning as in s. 553.791.

(c) "Plans" means any building plans, construction plans, engineering plans, or site plans, or their functional equivalent, submitted by an applicant for a building permit.

(d) "Preliminary plat" means a map or delineated representation of the subdivision of lands which is a complete and exact representation of the residential subdivision and contains any additional information needed to be in compliance with the requirements of this chapter.

(2)(a) By August 15, 2024, a governing body that has 30,000 residents or more shall create a program to expedite the process for issuing building permits for residential subdivisions in accordance with the Florida Building Code and this section before a final plat is recorded with the clerk of the circuit court.

(b) A governing body that has a program in place before July 1, 2024, to expedite the building permit process, need only update its program to approve an applicant's request to issue up to 50 percent of the building permits for the residential subdivision in order to comply with this section.

(3) A governing body shall create all of the following:

(a) A two-step application process that includes the adoption of a preliminary plat and a final plat in order to expedite the issuance of building permits under this section. The governing body shall maximize its administrative processes to expedite the review and approval of applications, plats, and plans submitted under this section.

(b) A master building permit application process consistent with s. 553.794(3) for applicants seeking multiple building permits for planned residential subdivisions.

(4) An applicant may use a private provider consistent with s. 553.791 to review a preliminary plat and building permit for each residential building or structure.

(5) A governing body may work with appropriate local governmental agencies to issue an address and a temporary parcel identification number for lot lines and lot sizes based on the metes and bounds of the plat contained in the application.

(6) If an applicant requests a certain number or percentage of building permits in his or her application, the governing body must issue the number or percentage requested in accordance with the Florida Building Code, provided the residential buildings or structures are unoccupied and all of the following conditions are met:

(a) The governing body has approved a preliminary plat for each residential building or structure.

(b) The applicant provides proof to the governing body that the applicant has given a copy of the approved preliminary plat, along with the approved plans, to the relevant electric, water, and wastewater utilities.

(c) The applicant holds a valid performance bond for up to 120 percent of the necessary utilities, roads, and stormwater improvements that have not been completed upon submission of the application under this section.

(7)(a) An applicant may contract to sell, but may not transfer ownership of, a residential structure or building located in the residential subdivision until the final plat is approved by the governing body and recorded in the public records by the clerk of the circuit court.

(b) An applicant may not obtain a final certificate of occupancy with respect to each residential structure or building for which a building permit is issued until the final plat is approved by the governing body and recorded in the public records by the clerk of the circuit court.

(c) An applicant must indemnify and hold harmless the governing body and its agents and employees from damages, including damages resulting from fire, flood, construction defects, and bodily injury, accruing and directly related to the issuance of a building permit for a residential building or structure located in the residential subdivision before the approval and recording of the final plat by the governing body.

(8) For purposes of this section, an applicant has a vested right in a preliminary plat that has been approved by a governing body if all of the following conditions are met:

(a) The applicant relies in good faith on the approved preliminary plat.

(b) The applicant substantially changes his or her position, including making improvements pursuant to s. 177.031(9), or incurs other obligations and expenses.

(c) Any change by the governing body would constitute an inequitable interference in the approved preliminary plat.

(9) After a governing body creates the program required under this section, the local building official shall send to the Department of Business and Professional Regulation by certified mail, return receipt requested, a signed, certified letter indicating that the program has been established. The letter must contain a brief explanation of the program, including how the program expedites the process of issuing building permits for residential subdivisions before the final plat is recorded.

Section 2. Paragraphs (g) and (h) are added to subsection (7) of section 553.73, Florida Statutes, to read:

553.73 Florida Building Code.—

(g) The Florida Building Commission shall modify section 505 of the Florida Building Code, 8th edition (2023) Existing Building, to state that sealed drawings by a design professional may not be required for the replacement of windows, doors, or garage doors. Replacement windows, doors, and garage doors must be installed in accordance with the manufacturer's instructions for the appropriate wind zone and must meet the design pressure and the current Florida Building Code. The manufacturer's instructions must be submitted with the permit application for replacement windows, doors, and garage doors. The manufacturer's installation instructions may be printed or in digital format.

(h) As used in this section, the term "windborne debris region" has the same meaning as in the Florida Building Code, 7th edition, Residential, until the adoption of the 9th edition of the Florida Building Code. This paragraph may not be construed to prohibit a homeowner or contractor from voluntarily complying with the definition of the term windborne debris region originally established in the 8th edition, until the adoption of the 9th edition.

Section 3. Subsection (16) of section 553.79, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

~~30 business days after receiving the permit application unless the permit application fails to satisfy the Florida Building Code or the enforcing agency's laws or ordinances.~~

~~(a) If a local enforcement agency fails to issue a building permit for a single-family residential dwelling within 30 business days after receiving the permit application, it must reduce the building permit fee by 10 percent for each business day that it fails to meet the deadline. Each 10-percent reduction shall be based on the original amount of the building permit fee.~~

~~(b) A local enforcement agency does not have to reduce the building permit fee if it provides written notice to the applicant, by e-mail or United States Postal Service, within 30 business days after receiving the permit application, that specifically states the reasons the permit application fails to satisfy the Florida Building Code or the enforcing agency's laws or ordinances. The written notice must also state that the applicant has 10 business days after receiving the written notice to submit revisions to correct the permit application and that failure to correct the application within 10 business days will result in a denial of the application.~~

~~(c) The applicant has 10 business days after receiving the written notice to address the reasons specified by the local enforcement agency and submit revisions to correct the permit application. If the applicant submits revisions within 10 business days after receiving the written notice, the local enforcement agency has 10 business days after receiving such revisions to approve or deny the building permit unless the applicant agrees to a longer period in writing. ~~enforcement agency fails to issue or deny the building permit within 10 business days after receiving the revisions, it must reduce the building permit fee by 20 percent for the first business day that it fails to meet the deadline unless the applicant agrees to a longer period in writing. For each additional business day, but not to exceed 5 business days, that the local enforcement agency fails to meet the deadline, the building permit fee must be reduced by an additional 10 percent. Each reduction shall be based on the original amount of the building permit fee.~~

~~(d) If any building permit fees are refunded under this subsection, the surcharges provided in s. 468.631 or s. 553.721 must be recalculated based on the amount of the building permit fees after the refund.~~

Section 4. Present paragraphs (o) through (r) of subsection (1) and present subsections (10) through (21) of section 553.791, Florida Statutes, are redesignated as paragraphs (p) through (s) and subsections (11) through (22), respectively, a new paragraph (o) is added to subsection (1) and a new subsection (10) is added to that section, and present paragraph (o) of subsection (1), paragraph (c) of subsection (4), paragraphs (b) and (d) of subsection (7), paragraph (b) of present subsection (13), and paragraph (b) of present subsection (16) of that section are amended, to read:

553.791 Alternative plans review and inspection.—

(1) As used in this section, the term:

(o) "Private provider firm" means a business organization, including a corporation, partnership, business trust, or other legal entity, which offers services under this chapter to the public through licensees who are acting as agents, employees, officers, or partners of the firm. A person who is licensed as a building code administrator under part XII of chapter 468, as an engineer under chapter 471, or as an architect under chapter 481 may act as a private provider for an agent, employee, or officer of the private provider firm.

(p) ~~(o)~~ "Request for certificate of occupancy or certificate of completion" means a properly completed and executed application for:

1. A certificate of occupancy or certificate of completion.

2. A certificate of compliance from the private provider required under subsection (12).

3. Any applicable fees.

4. Any documents required by the local building official to determine that the fee owner has secured all other government approvals required by law.

(4) A fee owner or the fee owner's contractor using a private provider to provide building code inspection services shall notify the local building official in writing at the time of permit application, or by 2 p.m. local time, 2 business days before the first scheduled inspection by the local building official or building code enforcement agency that a private provider has been contracted to perform the required inspections of construction under this section, including single-trade inspections, on a form to be adopted by the commission. This notice shall include the following information:

(c) An acknowledgment from the fee owner or the fee owner's contractor in substantially the following form:

I have elected to use one or more private providers to provide building code plans review and/or inspection services on the building or structure that is the subject of the enclosed permit application, as authorized by s. 553.791, Florida Statutes. I understand that the local building official may not review the plans submitted or perform the required building inspections to determine compliance with the applicable codes, except to the extent specified in said law. Instead, plans review and/or required building inspections will be performed by licensed or certified personnel identified in the application. The law requires minimum insurance requirements for such personnel, but I understand that I may require more insurance to protect my interests. By executing this form, I acknowledge that I have made inquiry regarding the competence of the licensed or certified personnel and the level of their insurance and am satisfied that my interests are adequately protected. I agree to indemnify, defend, and hold harmless the local government, the local building official, and their building code enforcement personnel from any and all claims arising from my use of these licensed or certified personnel to perform building code inspection services with respect to the building or structure that is the subject of the enclosed permit application.

If the fee owner or the fee owner's contractor makes any changes to the listed private providers or the services to be provided by those private providers, the fee owner or the fee owner's contractor shall, within 1 business day after any change or within 2 business days before the next scheduled inspection, update the notice to reflect such changes. A change of a duly authorized representative named in the permit application does not require a revision of the permit, and the building code enforcement agency shall not charge a fee for making the change.

(b) If the local building official provides a written notice of plan deficiencies to the permit applicant within the prescribed 20-day period, the 20-day period shall be tolled pending resolution of the matter. To resolve the plan deficiencies, the permit applicant may elect to dispute the deficiencies pursuant to subsection (15) ~~(14)~~ or to submit revisions to correct the deficiencies.

(d) If the local building official provides a second written notice of plan deficiencies to the permit applicant within the prescribed time period, the permit applicant may elect to dispute the deficiencies pursuant to subsection (15)

~~(14)~~ or to submit additional revisions to correct the deficiencies. For all revisions submitted after the first revision, the local building official has an additional 5 business days from the date of resubmittal to issue the requested permit or to provide a written notice to the permit applicant stating which of the previously identified plan features remain in noncompliance with the applicable codes, with specific reference to the relevant code chapters and sections.

(10) When the private provider is a person licensed as an engineer under chapter 471 or as an architect under chapter 481 and affixes his or her professional seal to the affidavit required under subsection (6), the local building official must issue the requested permit or provide a written notice to the permit applicant identifying the specific plan features that do not comply with the applicable codes, as well as the specific code chapters and sections, within 12 business days after receipt of the permit application and affidavit. The local building official must provide with specificity the plan's deficiencies, the reasons the permit application failed, and the applicable codes being violated in such written notice. If the local building official does not provide specific written notice to the permit applicant within the prescribed 12-day period, the permit application is deemed approved as a matter of law, and the permit must be issued by the local building official on the next business day.

(b) If the local building official does not provide notice of the deficiencies within the applicable time periods under paragraph (a), the request for a certificate of occupancy or certificate of completion is automatically granted and deemed issued as of the next business day. The local building official must provide the applicant with the written certificate of occupancy or certificate of completion within 10 days after it is automatically granted and issued. To resolve any identified deficiencies, the applicant may elect to dispute the deficiencies pursuant to subsection (15) ~~(14)~~ or to submit a corrected request for a certificate of occupancy or certificate of completion.

(b) A local enforcement agency, local building official, or local government may establish, for private provider firms, private providers, and duly authorized representatives working within that jurisdiction, a system of registration to verify compliance with the licensure requirements of paragraph (1)(n) and the insurance requirements of subsection (18) ~~(17)~~.

Section 5. Subsections (1) and (2) of section 553.792, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

553.792 Building permit application to local government.—

(1)(a) A local government must approve, approve with conditions, or deny a building permit application after receipt of a completed and sufficient application within the following timeframes, unless the applicant waives such timeframes in writing:

1. Within 30 business days after receiving a complete and sufficient application, for an applicant using a local government plans reviewer to obtain the following building permits for structures less than 7,500 square feet: residential units including a single-family residential unit or a single-family residential dwelling, accessory structure, alarm, electrical, irrigation, landscaping, mechanical, plumbing, or roofing.

2. Within 60 business days after receiving a complete and sufficient application, for an applicant using a local government plans reviewer to obtain the following building permits for structures of 7,500 square feet or greater: residential units including a single-family residential unit or a single-family residential dwelling, accessory structure, alarm, electrical, irrigation, landscaping, mechanical, plumbing, or roofing.

3. Within 60 business days after receiving a complete and sufficient application, for an applicant using a local government plans reviewer to obtain the following building permits: signs or nonresidential buildings less than 25,000 square feet.

4. Within 120 business days after receiving a complete and sufficient application, for an applicant using a local government plans reviewer to obtain the following building permits: multifamily residential not exceeding 50 units; site-plan approvals and subdivision plats not requiring public hearing or public notice; and lot grading and site alteration.

5. Within 15 business days after receiving a complete and sufficient application, for an applicant using a master building permit consistent with s. 553.794 to obtain a site-specific building permit.

6. Within 10 business days after receiving a complete and sufficient application, for an applicant for a single-family residential dwelling applied for by a contractor licensed in this state on behalf of a property owner who participates in a Community Development Block Grant-Disaster Recovery program administered by the Department of Commerce, unless the permit application fails to satisfy the Florida Building Code or the enforcing agency's laws or ordinances.

(b) A local government must meet the timeframes set forth in this section for reviewing building permit applications unless the timeframes set by local ordinance are more stringent than those prescribed in this section.

(c) After ~~Within 10 days of~~ an applicant submits ~~submitting~~ an application to the local government, the local government must provide written notice to the applicant within 5 business days after receipt of the application advising ~~shall advise~~ the applicant what information, if any, is needed to deem or determine that the application is properly completed in compliance with the filing requirements published by the local government. If the local government does not provide timely written notice that the applicant has not submitted the properly completed application, the application is ~~shall be~~ automatically deemed or determined to be properly completed and accepted. ~~Within 45 days after receiving a completed application, a local government must notify an applicant if additional information is required for the local government to determine the sufficiency of the application, and shall specify the additional information that is required. The applicant must submit the additional information to the local government or request that the local government act without the additional information. While the applicant responds to the request for additional information, the 120-day period described in this subsection is tolled. Both~~

~~parties may agree to a reasonable request for an extension of time, particularly in the event of a force majeure or other extraordinary circumstance. The local government must approve, approve with conditions, or deny the application within 120 days following receipt of a completed application.~~

(d) A local government shall maintain on its website a policy containing procedures and expectations for expedited processing of those building permits and development orders required by law to be expedited.

~~(b)1. When reviewing an application for a building permit, a local government may not request additional information from the applicant more than three times, unless the applicant waives such limitation in writing.~~

~~2. If a local government requests additional information from an applicant and the applicant submits the requested additional information to the local government within 30 days after receiving the request, the local government must, within 15 days after receiving such information:~~

~~a. Determine if the application is properly completed;~~

~~b. Approve the application;~~

~~c. Approve the application with conditions;~~

~~d. Deny the application; or~~

~~e. Advise the applicant of information, if any, that is needed to deem the application properly completed or to determine the sufficiency of the application.~~

~~3. If a local government makes a second request for additional information from the applicant and the applicant submits the requested additional information to the local government within 30 days after receiving the request, the local government must, within 10 days after receiving such information:~~

~~a. Determine if the application is properly completed;~~

~~b. Approve the application;~~

~~c. Approve the application with conditions;~~

~~d. Deny the application; or~~

~~e. Advise the applicant of information, if any, that is needed to deem the application properly completed or to determine the sufficiency of the application.~~

~~4. Before a third request for additional information may be made, the applicant must be offered an opportunity to meet with the local government to attempt to resolve outstanding issues. If a local government makes a third request for additional information from the applicant and the applicant submits the requested additional information to the local government within 30 days after receiving the request, the local government must, within 10 days after receiving such information unless the applicant waived the local government's limitation in writing, determine that the application is complete and:~~

~~a. Approve the application;~~

~~b. Approve the application with conditions; or~~

~~c. Deny the application.~~

~~5. If the applicant believes the request for additional information is not authorized by ordinance, rule, statute, or other legal authority, the local government, at the applicant's request, must process the application and either approve the application, approve the application with conditions, or deny the application.~~

(e) ~~(c)~~ If a local government fails to meet a deadline under this subsection ~~provided in paragraphs (a) and (b)~~, it must reduce the building permit fee by 10 percent for each business day that it fails to meet the deadline, unless the parties agree in writing to a reasonable extension of time. Each 10-percent reduction shall be based on the original amount of the building permit fee, unless the parties agree to an extension of time.

(f) A local enforcement agency does not have to reduce the building permit fee if it provides written notice to the applicant by e-mail or United States Postal Service within the respective timeframes in paragraph (a) which specifically states the reasons the permit application fails to satisfy the Florida Building Code or the enforcing agency's laws or ordinances. The written notice must also state that the applicant has 10 business days after receiving the written notice to submit revisions to correct the permit application and that failure to correct the application within 10 business days will result in a denial of the application.

(g) If the applicant submits revisions within 10 business days after receiving the written notice, the local enforcement agency has 10 business days after receiving such revisions to approve or deny the building permit unless the applicant agrees to a longer period in writing. If the local enforcement agency fails to issue or deny the building permit within 10 business days after receiving the revisions, it must reduce the building permit fee by 20 percent for each business day that it fails to meet the deadline unless the applicant agrees to a longer period in writing.

~~(2)(a) The procedures set forth in subsection (1) apply to the following building permit applications: accessory structure;~~

~~alarm permit; nonresidential buildings less than 25,000 square feet; electric; irrigation permit; landscaping; mechanical; plumbing; residential units other than a single family unit; multifamily residential not exceeding 50 units; roofing; signs; site plan approvals and subdivision plats not requiring public hearings or public notice; and lot grading and site alteration associated with the permit application set forth in this subsection. The procedures set forth in subsection (1) do not apply to permits for any wireless communications facilities or when a law, agency rule, or local ordinance specify different timeframes for review of local building permit applications.~~

~~(b) If a local government has different timeframes than the timeframes set forth in subsection (1) for reviewing building permit applications described in paragraph (a), the local government must meet the deadlines established by local ordinance. If a local government does not meet an established deadline to approve, approve with conditions, or deny an application, it must reduce the building permit fee by 10 percent for each business day that it fails to meet the deadline. Each 10-percent reduction shall be based on the original amount of the building permit fee, unless the parties agree to an extension of time. This paragraph does not apply to permits for any wireless communications facilities.~~

Section 6. Paragraph (a) of subsection (7) of section 553.80, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

553.80 Enforcement.—

(7)(a) The governing bodies of local governments may provide a schedule of reasonable fees, as authorized by s. 125.56(2) or s. 166.222 and this section, for enforcing this part. These fees, and any fines or investment earnings related to the fees, may ~~shall~~ be used only ~~solely~~ for carrying out the local government's responsibilities in enforcing the Florida Building Code. When providing a schedule of reasonable fees, the total estimated annual revenue derived from fees, and the fines and investment earnings related to the fees, may not exceed the total estimated annual costs of allowable activities. Any unexpended balances must be carried forward to future years for allowable activities or must be refunded at the discretion of the local government. A local government may not carry forward an amount exceeding the average of its operating budget for enforcing the Florida Building Code for the previous 4 fiscal years. For purposes of this subsection, the term "operating budget" does not include reserve amounts. Any amount exceeding this limit must be used as authorized in subparagraph 2. However, a local government that established, as of January 1, 2019, a Building Inspections Fund Advisory Board consisting of five members from the construction stakeholder community and carries an unexpended balance in excess of the average of its operating budget for the previous 4 fiscal years may continue to carry such excess funds forward upon the recommendation of the advisory board. The basis for a fee structure for allowable activities must relate to the level of service provided by the local government and must include consideration for refunding fees due to reduced services based on services provided as prescribed by s. 553.791, but not provided by the local government. Fees charged must be consistently applied.

1. As used in this subsection, the phrase "enforcing the Florida Building Code" includes the direct costs and reasonable indirect costs associated with review of building plans, building inspections, reinspections, and building permit processing; building code enforcement; and fire inspections associated with new construction. The phrase may also include training costs associated with the enforcement of the Florida Building Code and enforcement action pertaining to unlicensed contractor activity to the extent not funded by other user fees.

2. A local government must use any excess funds that it is prohibited from carrying forward to rebate and reduce fees, to upgrade hardware and software technology systems to enhance service delivery, ~~or~~ to pay for the construction of a building or structure that houses a local government's building code enforcement agency, or for ~~the~~ training programs for building officials, inspectors, or plans examiners associated with the enforcement of the Florida Building Code. Excess funds used to construct such a building or structure must be designated for such purpose by the local government and may not be carried forward for more than 4 consecutive years. An owner or builder who has a valid building permit issued by a local government for a fee, or an association of owners or builders located in the state that has members with valid building permits issued by a local government for a fee, may bring a civil action against the local government that issued the permit for a fee to enforce this subparagraph.

d. Enforcement and implementation of any other local ordinance, excluding validly adopted local amendments to the Florida Building Code and excluding any local ordinance directly related to enforcing the Florida Building Code as defined in subparagraph 1.

4. A local government must use recognized management, accounting, and oversight practices to ensure that fees, fines, and investment earnings generated under this subsection are maintained and allocated or used solely for the purposes described in subparagraph 1.

5. The local enforcement agency, independent district, or special district may not require at any time, including at the time of application for a permit, the payment of any additional fees, charges, or expenses associated with:

permit issuer that it has secured compensation for its employees under this chapter as provided in ss. 440.10 and 440.38. Such proof of compensation must be evidenced by a certificate of coverage issued by the carrier, a valid exemption certificate approved by the department, or a copy of the employer's authority to self-insure and shall be presented, electronically or physically, each time the employer applies for a building permit. As provided in s. 553.79(23) ~~s. 553.79(24)~~, for the purpose of inspection and record retention, site plans or building permits may be maintained at the worksite in the original form or in the form of an electronic copy. These plans and permits must be open to inspection by the building official or a duly authorized representative, as required by the Florida Building Code. As provided in s. 627.413(5), each certificate of coverage must show, on its face, whether or not coverage is secured under the minimum premium provisions of rules adopted by rating organizations licensed pursuant to s. 627.221. The words "minimum premium policy" or equivalent language shall be typed, printed, stamped, or legibly handwritten.

Section 8. This act shall take effect July 1, 2024.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 736 makes changes to various services and programs administered by the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles (DHSMV) and its agents. Specifically, the bill:

- Revises a requirement for a rightful heir to transfer ownership of a motor vehicle or mobile home if the previous owner died testate;
- Clarifies that no additional fee can be charged by the DHSMV or a tax collector for the reissuance of a certificate of title that is lost in transit and is not delivered;
- Allows permanent motor vehicle registration decals for rental trucks that weigh under 15,000 pounds;
- Authorizes the DHSMV to issue reduced dimension license plates for trailers;
- Provides that a disabled veteran who qualifies for a free "DV" license plate may choose a military or specialty license plate he or she qualifies for in lieu of the "DV" license plate;
- Adds the following two cases wherein DHSMV may design, issue, and regulate the use of temporary tags:
    - The existing owner of a vehicle has submitted an application to transfer a valid out-of-state title that is subject to a lien; and
    - An active-duty military service member who has a valid Florida driver license provides evidence satisfactory to the department that he or she is deployed outside this state;

- Removes the requirement to provide a written, notarized request for the purchase of a temporary tag and provides requirements for renewal of a temporary tag.
- Provides that in political subdivisions with a population of 1.9 million or greater (currently Broward and Miami-Dade Counties), upon petition by the agent in charge of a general lines agency, the tax collector must appoint such agency as an agent for the tax collector for limited purposes of motor vehicle and mobile home registration transactions.

This bill has an indeterminate, negative fiscal impact on DHSMV. See Section V., Fiscal Impact Statement.

This bill takes effect July 1, 2024

II. Present Situation:

County tax collectors are the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles' (DHSMV) authorized agents for titling and registering motor vehicles, motor homes, and vessels.

Transfer of Ownership - Certificate of Title

Florida law states that in the case of transfer of ownership of a motor vehicle or mobile home by operation of law, such as inheritance, the DHSMV must receive satisfactory proof of ownership and right of possession to such motor vehicle or mobile home, and payment of the required certificate of title application fee, before the DHSMV can issue the applicant a certificate of title.[1]

If the previous owner died testate, the application must be accompanied by:[2]
- A certified copy of the will, if probated, and an affidavit that the estate is solvent with sufficient assets to pay all just claims; or
- A sworn copy of the will, if the will is not being probated, and an affidavit that the estate is not indebted.

Lost Certificates of Titles

Under current law, if a certificate of title is lost or destroyed, the owner of the motor vehicle or mobile home, or the holder of a lien, must apply to the DHSMV for a duplicate copy.[3] Upon receiving an application signed and sworn to by the applicant, and accompanied by the required fee,[4] the DHSMV must issue a duplicate copy of the certificate of title.[5]

If an original, duplicate, or corrected certificate of title issued by the DHSMV is lost in transit and is not delivered to the addressee, the owner or holder must, within 180 days of the date of issuance of the title, apply to the DHSMV for the reissuance of the certificate of title without an additional fee.[6] Florida law provides that tax collectors can handle certificate of title applications and collect the associated fees.[7] However, the information technology system used by tax collectors to process title transactions currently lacks the functionality to issue a no fee replacement.

Registration, License Plates, and Decals

Florida law provides that registration license plates must be issued for a 10-year period. At the end of the 10-year period, upon renewal, the plate must be replaced. With the issuance of a license plate, a validation sticker is issued with the owner's birth month, license plate number, and the year of expiration or the appropriate renewal period if the owner is not a natural person. The license plate and validation sticker are issued based on the applicant's appropriate renewal period.[8]

License plates with validation stickers subject to the registration period are valid for not more than 12 months and expire at midnight on the last day of the registration period. A license plate with a validation sticker subject to the extended registration period is valid for not more than 24 months and expires at midnight on the last day of the extended registration period.[9]

Currently rental cars have the ability to permanently register vehicles, provided they pay the appropriate annual license taxes and fees.[10]

License Plates with Reduced Dimensions

In lieu of a standard license plate, the DHSMV may deem a plate with reduced dimensions necessary to accommodate motorcycles, mopeds, or similar smaller vehicles.[11] All other requirements, including the type of metal, validation stickers, identification letters and numerals, and imprints for specific plates, are the same regardless of registration license plate size.[12]

Disabled Veteran "DV" License Plates

Section 320.084, F.S., provides that a disabled veteran is eligible for one free "DV" license plate if he or she has been a resident of this state for the preceding five years or has established a domicile in this state, has been honorably discharged from the United States Armed Forces, and provides proof that he or she:

- Has a vehicle initially acquired through financial assistance by the United States Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) or its predecessor specifically for the purchase of an automobile;
- Has been determined by the VA or its predecessor to have a service-related one hundred percent disability rating for compensation; or

- Has been determined to have a service connected disability rating of one hundred percent and receives disability retirement pay from any branch of the United States Armed Forces.

The license number on each plate issued to a disabled veteran must be identified by the letter designation "DV."[13] The design of the special disabled veteran plate is red, white, and blue, and resembles the United States flag.[14] As of January 2023, there were 97,994 active Florida "DV" license plates, the most of any military license plate.[15]

Upon issuance of each new permanent "DV" license plate, an initial validation sticker with an expiration not exceeding 27 months, is issued without cost to the applicant.[16] The applicant does have to pay the associated service charges for each initial application or renewal of registration.[17] Registration must be renewed annually or biennially, and at that time the applicant must submit a certified statement affirming their continued eligibility for the special "DV" license plate.[18]

Any vehicle displaying a "DV" license plate that is transporting the person to whom the plate was issued is authorized to park in a designated accessible parking space.[19] A state agency, county, municipality, or any agency thereof, may not enact any fee for parking on the public streets or highways or in any metered parking space from the driver of a vehicle that displays the "DV" license plate when the vehicle is transporting the person who has the disability or who the plate was issued to.[20] Additionally, the governing body of a publicly owned or publicly operated airport must grant free parking to a vehicle displaying a "DV" license plate.[21] These rights are afforded by the state and are not necessarily universally accepted as parking permits and license plates designated with the International Symbol of Accessibility.[22]

Special Military License Plates

Florida offers Special Military License Plates, which have specific eligibility requirements that must be met upon application and required payment of the license tax for the vehicle, if applicable, before the plate can be issued.[23] Section 320.089, F.S., authorizes the majority of these special military plates, which include several plates for veterans, plates for National Guard members and former Prisoners of War, and plates for military members who have been awarded specific honors such as combat badges and medals. General revenue generated from the sale of military plates issued under s. 320.089, F.S., are distributed to Florida Department of Veterans' Affairs trust funds to be used as follows:

- The first $100,000 are to be used for the common benefit of the residents of Florida Veterans' Nursing Homes.[24]
- Any additional revenue is to be used to support program operations that benefit veterans or the operation, maintenance, or construction of domiciliary and nursing homes for veterans.[25]
- Except for the revenue from the "Woman Veteran" license plate, which is to be used solely for creating and implementing programs to benefit women veterans.[26]

Specialty License Plates

As of December 2023, there are 144 specialty license plates authorized by the Legislature. Of these plates, 109 are available for immediate purchase and 31 are in the presale process.[27] Specialty license plates are available to an owner or lessee of a motor vehicle who is willing to pay an annual use fee, ranging from $15 to $25, paid in addition to required license taxes and service fees.[28] The annual use fees are distributed to organizations in support of a particular cause or charity signified on the plate's design and designated in statute.[29]

Temporary Tags

Section 320.131, F.S., authorizes the DHSMV to sell temporary tags to their agents where a need is met by the consumer. The fee for the temporary tag is $2, and from that $1 from each tag sold is deposited into the Brain and Spinal Cord Injury Program Trust Fund. The remaining proceeds are deposited into the Highway Safety Operating Trust Fund. Agents of the DHSMV are permitted to sell the temporary tags for $2 each and service charges are authorized, regardless of quantity sold. Requests for temporary tags must be in written, notarized form. Unless provided otherwise, temporary tags are valid for 30 days, and no more than two shall be issued to the same person for the same vehicle.

Currently, 65 counties have elected tax collectors who are constitutional officers, while Broward and Miami-Dade counties have appointed tax collectors under each county's charter government. However, pursuant to s. 1(d), Article VIII of the State Constitution, these counties will have elected tax collectors effective January 7, 2025.[30]

License Plate Agents and Fees

[28] Section 320.08056(3)(d), F.S., provides that except if specifically provided in s. 320.08056(4), the annual use fee for a specialty license plate is $25.
[29] Section 320.08058, F.S.
[30] Art. VIII, s. 1(d), Fla. Const.

However, pursuant to s. 1(d), Article VIII of the State Constitution, these counties will have elected tax collectors effective January 7, 2025.[31]

Each tax collector is authorized to enter into contracts with private third-party license plate agents (LPAs) for the titling and registration of motor vehicles, mobile homes, and vessels. LPAs are granted online computer access to DHSMV systems and are supplied with title paper, registration decals, and license plates by the tax collector.[32]

Sixteen counties have, or until recently had, contracts with privately owned LPAs to operate 57 offices[33], primarily in Miami Dade and Broward County, to perform title and registration services for motor vehicles, mobile homes, and vessels. In counties with elected tax collectors, LPAs only charge the fees for those services as expressly authorized in statute. In these counties, the LPAs may retain all or a portion of the statutorily authorized service fee that tax collectors are allowed to collect for motor vehicle, mobile home, and vessel title and registration services, as provided in the contracts between the LPA and the tax collector.[34] The LPAs in Broward and Miami-Dade County charge fees for motor vehicle, mobile home, and vessel title and registration fees in addition to the statutory fees authorized in chs. 319, 320, and 328, F.S. The additional fees levied in Broward and Miami-Dade Counties are levied pursuant to county ordinance and are retained by the LPAs.[35]

Regulation of Insurance Agents

The Department of Financial Services' (DFS) Division of Insurance Agent and Agency Services is responsible for the licensing and regulation of insurance agents, adjusters, insurance agencies, as well as related personnel and business entities.[36]

No person may be, act as, or advertise, or hold himself/herself out to be an insurance agent, insurance adjuster, or customer representative unless he or she is currently licensed by DFS and appointed by an appropriate appointing entity or person.[37] There are several types of insurance representatives. These include:
General lines agents,
Life insurance agents,
Health insurance agents,
Title insurance agents,
Personal lines agents, and Unaffiliated insurance agents.[38]

A general lines agent[39] is one who sells the following lines of insurance: property;[40] casualty,[41] including commercial liability insurance underwritten by a risk retention group, a commercial self-insurance fund,[42] or a workers' compensation self-insurance fund;[43] surety;[44] health;[45] and, marine.[46] The general lines agent may only transact health insurance for an insurer that the general lines agent also represents for property and casualty insurance. If the general lines agent wishes to represent health insurers that are not also property and casualty insurers, they must be licensed as a health insurance agent.[47] Motor vehicle insurance is a type of casualty insurance.[48]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Transfer of Ownership – Certificate Title

The bill amends s. 319.28, F.S., to provide, that if the previous owner died testate and the application for a certificate of title is made by, and accompanied by an affidavit attested by, a Florida-licensed attorney in good standing with the Florida Bar who is representing the previous owner's estate, such affidavit establishes a presumption of ownership, absent information received on the contrary, and right of possession to the motor vehicle or mobile home. The affidavit must set forth the rightful heir or heirs, and the attorney must attest to their lawful entitlement to the rights of ownership and possession of the motor vehicle or mobile home. In this case, the application for certificate of title does not have to be accompanied by a copy of the will or other testamentary instrument.

The bill amends s. 319.29, F.S., to clarify that the DHSMV or a tax collector may reissue a certificate of title without an additional fee when the certificate of title is lost in transit and not delivered.

Permanent Registration Decals for Small Rental Trucks

The bill amends s. 320.06, F.S., to allow a person to permanently register rental trucks, under 15,000 pounds, in the same manner as rental cars. Such rental trucks will be required to pay the appropriate annual license taxes and fees.

License Plates with Reduced Dimensions

The bill also amends s. 320.06, F.S., to clarify that the DHSMV may deem a reduced dimension license plate (as is currently issued for motorcycles and mopeds) necessary for a trailer. The department will need to determine size/type qualifications and program the necessary changes in technology systems.

Disabled Veteran "DV" License Plates

The bill amends s. 320.084, F.S., to allow a disabled veteran who qualifies for the "DV" license plate to select a special military license plate for which he or she is eligible or specialty license plate in lieu of the free "DV" license plate. The applicant must pay all of the applicable fees related to such plate.

Additionally, the bill provides that an applicant who selects another plate in lieu of the "DV" plate will not be afforded the same protections and rights of the "DV" plate relating to disabled parking accessibility and free parking for vehicles displaying the "DV" plate.

Temporary Tags

The bill adds the following two cases wherein DHSMV may design, issue, and regulate the use of temporary tags:

- The existing owner of a vehicle has submitted an application to transfer a valid out-of-state title that is subject to a lien.
- An active-duty military service member who has a valid Florida driver license provides evidence satisfactory to the DHSMV that he or she is deployed outside this state.

Further, the bill provides that a temporary tag issued for the two purposes above is valid for 60 days, instead of the default of 30 days.

The bill amends s. 320.131, F.S., to remove the requirement of providing a written, notarized request when applying for a temporary tag.

Insurance Agencies as Agents for Tax Collectors

The bill amends s. 320.03, F.S., to authorize a licensed general lines insurance agencies in political subdivisions of 1.9 million or greater (Miami-Dade and Broward counties) holding an insurer appointment to write motor vehicle insurance in Florida, to petition a tax collector for appointment, and requires the tax collector to make such appointment, as an authorized agent of the tax collector for the purpose of issuing:

- Registration certificates;
- Registration license plates;
- Validation stickers; and
- Mobile home stickers

The bill provides that a general lines agency may not process registration transactions under the International Registration Plan.

The bill mandates that a general lines insurance agency appointed by a tax collector:

- Must file a performance bond of $2 million with the DHSMV.
- Must provide the DHSMVs with audited financial statements, prepared by a certified public accountant licensed in Florida, for each of the two previous years, demonstrating that the agency has produced policy premiums in excess of $500 million in each of the two previous years.

- Must offer such services at no more than five locations in each county where the agency has a branch office.
- Is subject to all provisions of the law, as if the insurance agency were a private tag agency, except where the context indicates otherwise.

DHSMV is authorized to adopt rules to administer this provision, including rules establishing enforcement authority for noncompliance.

For the purposes of the section related to the general lines agency, the bill delays the effective date of that section from July 1, 2024 to July 1, 2025, in order to allow DHSMV to prepare MOUs, implement programming, purchase registration inventory, and purchase and install computer equipment.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2024.

The committee substitute:

- Provides that in political subdivisions with a population of 1.9 million or greater (currently Broward and Miami-Dade Counties), upon petition by the agent in charge of a general lines agency, the tax collector must appoint such agency as an agent for the tax collector for limited purposes of motor vehicle and mobile home registration transactions.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/CS/SB 764 amends s. 943.326(3), F.S., to specify parameters for the storage of sexual assault evidence kits (SAKs). Kits that are collected from alleged victims of a sexual offense who does not report the sexual offense to law enforcement during the forensic physical examination and does not request to have the evidence tested, must be retained for a minimum of 50 years.[1] The bill requires that:

- The medical facility or certified rape crisis center that collected the kit must transfer the SAK to the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE) within 30 days after the collection date; and
- The FDLE must store the evidence anonymously, in a secure environmentally safe manner, and with a documented chain of custody.

If, at any time following the initial retention of a SAK an alleged victim reports the crime to law enforcement or requests testing of the evidence and if the applicable time limitation under s. 775.15, F.S., has not expired and a criminal prosecution may still be commenced, the previously collected SAK evidence will be retained in a secure, environmentally safe manner until the prosecuting agency has approved destruction. However, if the time limitation has

[1] Note that if the alleged victim is a minor, the alleged victim's parent, guardian, or legal representative can request to have the SAK evidence tested as can the alleged victim's personal representative, if the alleged victim is deceased. An alleged victim or, if applicable, the person representing the alleged victim must be informed of the purpose of submitting evidence for testing and the right to request testing. Section 943.326(1)(b) and (2), F.S.

expired and a criminal prosecution may not be commenced, the kit must be stored in a secure, environmentally safe manner until the department has approved its destruction.

This bill does not have a fiscal impact on state government. See Part V. Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill becomes effective July 1, 2024.

II. Present Situation:

Tracking Sexual Assault Evidence Kits

In 2021, the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE) began creating, implementing, and maintaining a statewide database, the purpose of which is to track the location, processing status, and storage of sexual assault evidence kits (SAKs).[2] As of July 2023, all 67 counties were using the database and 1,602 SAKs were being tracked at that time.[3] Law enforcement agencies, medical facilities, crime laboratories, and any other facilities in the chain of custody of the SAKs are required to participate in the statewide database.[4]

An alleged victim[5] who has reported the offense to law enforcement and who provides the SAK evidence during the forensic physical examination has the ability to access the statewide database.[6] The reporting alleged victim can follow his or her SAK from the collection site (typically a medical facility),[7] to law enforcement agency storage, then to the crime laboratory for forensic testing and possible destruction after testing, or back to law enforcement agency storage.[8]

A SAK collected from an alleged victim who chooses not to report the sexual offense to law enforcement is not sent from the medical facility to law enforcement for testing.[9] A SAK must be retained in a secure, environmentally safe manner until the prosecuting agency has approved its destruction.[10] Section 943.326(3), F.S., does not currently delineate between a SAK collected from a reporting victim and a SAK collected from a non-reporting victim.

[2] Chapter 2021-213, L.O.F., s. 943.326(4)(c), F.S.; A SAK is defined by FDLE rule as a Florida sexual offense evidence kit or other sealed package containing samples collected from the alleged victim's body. Rule 11D-12.001, F.A.C.
[3] Information provided by FDLE via e-mail dated September 5, 2023 (on file with the Senate Criminal Justice Committee).
[4] Section 943.326(4)(d), F.S.
[5] If the alleged victim is a minor the alleged victim's parent, guardian, or legal representative can request to have the SAK evidence tested as can the alleged victim's personal representative, if the alleged victim is deceased. An alleged victim or, if applicable, the person representing the alleged victim must be informed of the purpose of submitting evidence for testing and the right to request testing. Sections 943.326(1)(b), and (2), F.S.
[6] If the alleged victim is a minor, his or her parent, guardian, or legal representative will have access to the database. If the alleged victim is deceased, his or her personal representative will have access. Section 943.326(4)(c) and (e), F.S.
[7] Section 943.326(4)(c), F.S.
[8] Section 943.326(4)(c) and (e), F.S.
[9] For a Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE) or regional county laboratory to process evidence from a SAK, there must be an accompanying law enforcement report. Non-reporting SAKs will not be tested pursuant to s. 943.326, F.S., unless an alleged victim converts from a non-reporting victim to one who makes a report to law enforcement. To test a non-reporting SAK would violate the confidentiality and privacy of the victim's health records under the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA). Time Limitations for Prosecution

The statutes of limitation (SOL) determine the timeframe within which a criminal prosecution must be initiated by a prosecutor.[11] The SOL in effect at the time a crime is committed controls.[12] In general, the timeframe is calculated from the day after a person commits an offense to the filing of a charging document, such as an indictment or information, which initiates the prosecution.[13]

Regardless of whether a charging document is filed, the time limitation does not run during any time an offender is continuously absent from the state or otherwise undiscoverable because he or she lacks a reasonably ascertainable home address or place of employment; however, an extension under this scenario may not exceed the normal time limitation by more than three years.[14]

The standard time limitations for the following crimes are:
- Four years for a first-degree felony.[15]
- Three years for a second or third-degree felony.[16]
- Two years for a first-degree misdemeanor.[17]
- One year for a second-degree misdemeanor.[18]

Capital felonies, life felonies, and felonies resulting in a death are not subject to time constraints, and the state may bring charges at any time.[19]

Exceptions to the Standard SOL for Sexual Battery Offenses

Florida extends or removes time limitations or changes the date on which the calculation of the SOL begins for specified sexual offenses.[20]

- Prosecution of a specified first- or second-degree felony sexual battery involving a victim 16 or older must be commenced within 8 years, if the offense is not reported within 72 hours of the commission of the offense.[26]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill amends s. 943.326(3), F.S., to specify parameters for the storage of sexual assault evidence kits (SAKs). Kits that are collected from alleged victims of a sexual offense who does not report the sexual offense to law enforcement during the forensic physical examination and does not request to have the evidence tested, must be retained for a minimum of 50 years.[27] The bill requires that:

- The medical facility or certified rape crisis center that collected the kit must transfer the SAK to the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE) within 30 days after the collection date; and
- The FDLE must store the evidence anonymously, in a secure environmentally safe manner, and with a documented chain of custody.

The 50-year DNA retention limitation for possible DNA evidence in non-reported sexual offenses provides a date certain for evidence disposal by the department while allowing a non-reporting alleged victim time to decide to report the sexual offense.

The anonymous storage of the possible DNA evidence complies with HIPPA by preserving the confidentiality and privacy of the alleged victim's health records.[28] Requiring that the evidentiary chain of custody remain unbroken is beneficial to the admissibility of the evidence in court should the alleged non-reporting victim decide to report the sexual offense.

If, at any time following the initial retention of a SAK an alleged victim reports the crime to law enforcement or requests testing of the evidence and if the applicable time limitation under s. 775.15, F.S., has not expired and a criminal prosecution may still be commenced, the previously collected SAK evidence will be retained in a secure, environmentally safe manner until the prosecuting agency has approved destruction. However, if the time limitation has 943.326 DNA evidence collected in sexual offense forensic physical examinations and investigations.—

(1) A sexual offense evidence kit, or other DNA evidence if a kit is not collected, must be submitted to a member of the statewide criminal analysis laboratory system under s. 943.32 for forensic testing within 30 days after:

(a) Receipt of the evidence by a law enforcement agency if a report of the sexual offense is made to the law enforcement agency; or

(b) A request to have the evidence tested is made to the medical provider or the law enforcement agency by:

1. The alleged victim;

2. The alleged victim's parent, guardian, or legal representative, if the alleged victim is a minor; or

3. The alleged victim's personal representative, if the alleged victim is deceased.

(2) An alleged victim or, if applicable, the person representing the alleged victim under subparagraph (1)(b)2. or 3. must be informed of the purpose of submitting evidence for testing and the right to request testing under subsection (1) by:

(a) A medical provider conducting a forensic physical examination for purposes of a sexual offense evidence kit; or

(b) A law enforcement agency that collects other DNA evidence associated with the sexual offense if a kit is not collected under paragraph (a).

(3)(a) Except as provided in paragraph (b), a collected sexual offense evidence kit, or other DNA evidence if a kit is not collected, that is collected from an alleged victim who reports a sexual offense to a law enforcement agency or who makes a request, or on whose behalf a request is made, for testing in compliance with paragraph (1)(b) must be retained in a secure, environmentally safe manner until the prosecuting agency has approved its destruction.

(b)1. A sexual offense evidence kit that is collected from a person who does not report a sexual offense to a law enforcement agency during the forensic physical examination and who does not make a request, or have a request made on his or her behalf, in compliance with paragraph (1)(b) must be retained for a minimum of 50 years after the collection date by the medical facility that collected the kit, a certified rape crisis center with appropriate storage capabilities, or a law enforcement agency. A sexual offense evidence kit retained pursuant to this subparagraph must be stored anonymously, in a secure, environmentally safe manner, and with a documented chain of custody.

2. If, at any time following the initial retention of a sexual offense evidence kit pursuant to subparagraph (b)1., an alleged victim makes a report to a law enforcement agency or makes a request, or has a request made on his or her behalf, for testing in compliance with paragraph (1)(b), the kit must be retained as described in paragraph (a).

(4) The department and each laboratory within the statewide criminal analysis laboratory system, in coordination with the Florida Council Against Sexual Violence, shall adopt and disseminate guidelines and procedures for the collection, submission, and testing of DNA evidence that is obtained in connection with an alleged sexual offense. The timely submission and testing of sexual offense evidence kits is a core public safety issue. Testing of sexual offense evidence kits must be completed no later than 120 days after submission to a member of the statewide criminal analysis laboratory system.

(a) The guidelines and procedures must include the requirements of this section, standards for how evidence is to be packaged for submission, what evidence must be submitted to a member of the statewide criminal analysis laboratory system, and timeframes for when the evidence must be submitted, analyzed, and compared to DNA databases.

(b) The testing requirements of this section are satisfied when a member of the statewide criminal analysis laboratory system tests the contents of the sexual offense evidence kit in an attempt to identify the foreign DNA attributable to a suspect. If a sexual offense evidence kit is not collected, the laboratory may receive and examine other items directly related to the crime scene, such as clothing or bedding or personal items left behind by the suspect. If probative information is obtained from the testing of the sexual offense evidence kit, the examination of other evidence should be based on the potential evidentiary value to the case and determined through cooperation among the investigating agency, the laboratory, and the prosecutor.

(c) The department shall, subject to appropriation by the Legislature, no later than July 1, 2023, create and maintain a statewide database to track the location, processing status, and storage of each sexual offense evidence kit collected after the implementation of the database that is accessible to law enforcement agencies and alleged victims and other persons listed in paragraph (1)(b). The database shall track the status of the kits from the collection site throughout the criminal justice process, including the initial collection at medical facilities, inventory and storage by law enforcement agencies or crime laboratories, analysis at crime laboratories, and storage or destruction after completion of analysis.

(d) The department shall adopt rules establishing the requirements for each entity that participates in the database. Law enforcement agencies, medical facilities, crime laboratories, and any other facilities that collect, receive, maintain, store, or preserve sexual offense evidence kits shall participate in the database, as required by the department.

(e) The department shall ensure that each alleged victim and other person listed in paragraph (1)(b) is notified of the existence of the database and provided with instructions on how to access it and informed that he or she is entitled to access to information regarding the alleged victim's sexual offense evidence kit, including tracking information, testing status, and any DNA matches to a person deemed by investigators to be a suspect or person of interest. However, notification of a DNA match shall state only that a DNA match has occurred and may not contain any genetic or other identifying information. Such a notification may be delayed for up to 180 days if such notification would, in the opinion of investigators, negatively affect the investigation.

(5) A violation of this section does not create:

(a) A cause of action or a right to challenge the admission of evidence.

(b) A cause of action for damages or any other relief.

Section 2. This act shall take effect July 1, 2024.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 776 leaves the existing prohibition from receiving Temporary Cash Assistance (TCA) and Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) assistance for individuals with felony drug trafficking convictions, but creates an exemption for victims of human trafficking. Under the bill, these public benefits may not be denied to an individual solely on the basis of a drug trafficking conviction if the Department of Children and Families has determined the individual is a victim of human trafficking.

The bill has an indeterminate, negative fiscal impact on state government. See Section V., Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2024.

II. Present Situation:

Public Assistance

Public assistance programs help low-income families meet their basic needs, such as housing, food, and utilities.[1] The social safety net for American families depends on the coordination of a complex patchwork of federal, state, and local funding and program administration.[2] Through various programs, public assistance can help families to keep children in their family home through economic difficulties[3], reduce the material hardship that has been linked to negative outcomes in children[4], drive the economy in times of market downturns[5], and support the career advancement of low-income adults striving to break the cycle of intergenerational poverty.[6]

Two of the most commonly utilized public assistance programs in Florida are the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families Temporary Cash Assistance (TANF or TCA) program and the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) or food assistance program

Temporary Assistance for Needy Families

The Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) system was established at the federal level in 1996 through the Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act (PRWORA) of 1996.[7] PRWORA ended the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program, a federal program that provided dedicated funding for cash assistance to needy families with children, and alternatively created the broad-purpose federal TANF block grant.[8] The TANF block grant became effective July 1, 1997, and was reauthorized by the Deficit Reduction Act of 2005.

Temporary Cash Assistance (TCA)

Direct cash assistance to needy families is the foundation of public welfare in the U.S.[9] Prior to the establishment of TANF in 1996, direct cash assistance to needy families was the primary [9] Public cash assistance to needy families has its origin in the early 1900s; state and local entities financed "mother's pension" programs that provided support to single, often widowed, mothers so that children could be raised in their family homes rather than be institutionalized. See Congressional Research Service, Temporary Assistance for Needy Families: The Decline in Assistance Receipt Among Eligible Individuals, available at https://crsreports.congress.gov/product/pdf/R/R47503 (last visited February 1, 2024).

method of providing support to low-income families with children. Since the transition to TANF federal block grant funding, the number of families receiving direct cash assistance has waned significantly even among eligible populations, and currently, the majority of TANF funds are allocated for indirect methods of assisting families.[10]

The Temporary Cash Assistance (TCA) program is Florida's direct cash assistance program for needy families. The TCA program is one of several Florida programs funded with the TANF block grant. Through the TCA program, families who meet specific technical, income, and asset requirements[11] may receive cash assistance. The cash assistance is provided in the form of monthly payments deposited into an electronic benefits transfer (EBT) account.[12]

TCA is administered by several state agencies through a series of contracts and memoranda of understanding. The Department of Children and Families (DCF) receives federal TANF block grant funds, processes applications, determines initial eligibility, monitors ongoing eligibility, and disburses benefits to recipients. The Florida Department of Commerce[13] is responsible for financial and performance reporting to ensure compliance with federal and state measures and for providing training and technical assistance to local workforce development boards (LWDBs). LWDBs provide information about available jobs, on-the-job training, and education and training services within their respective areas and contract with one-stop career centers.[14] CareerSource Florida has planning and oversight responsibilities for all workforce-related programs and contracts with the LWDBs on a performance-basis.[15]

The number of families receiving TCA dramatically increased during the COVID-19 pandemic, peaking at more than 50,000 families receiving TCA payments in July 2020.[16] While TCA caseloads have not yet returned to pre-pandemic levels, they have decreased steadily since July 2020. In November 2023, a total of 34,015 families, including 44,309 children, received TCA.[17]

TCA Eligibility

States have broad discretion in determining who is eligible for cash assistance. Florida's TCA program requires applicants to meet all of the following criteria to be eligible:[18]

- Be a U.S. citizen or qualified noncitizen[19];
- Be a legal resident of Florida;
- Have a minor child residing with a custodial parent or relative caregiver, or be a pregnant woman in the ninth month of pregnancy;
- Have a gross income of 185 percent or less of the federal poverty level;[20]
- Have liquid or nonliquid resources, of all members of the family, valued at less than $2,000;[21]
- Register for work with the local workforce development board (LWDB), unless an applicant qualifies for an exemption.

Florida imposes a lifetime limit of 48 cumulative months for an adult to be eligible for and receive cash assistance. Current law outlines specific, limited circumstances under which a person may be exempt from the time limitation; [22] however, most households receive TCA for fewer than six months.

TCA Work Requirements

To be eligible for full-family TCA, work-eligible adult family members must participate in work activities in accordance with s. 445.024, F.S., unless they qualify for an exemption.[23] Individuals who fail to comply with the work requirements may be sanctioned.[24] Individuals are required to participate in work activities for the maximum number of hours allowable under federal law.[25] The number of required work or activity hours is determined by calculating the value of the cash benefits and then dividing that number by the hourly minimum wage amount.

[19] Section 414.095(3), F.S. A qualified noncitizen includes an individual who is admitted to the United States as a refugee or who is granted asylum, a Cuban or Haitian entrant, or a noncitizen who has been admitted as a permanent resident. It also includes an individual who, or an individual whose children or parent, has been battered or subject to extreme cruelty in the U.S. by a spouse, a parent, or other household member, and has applied for or received protection under the federal Violence Against Women Act, if certain criteria are met.

[20] Gross income cannot exceed 185% of the federal poverty level, and a family's countable income cannot exceed the payment standard for the family size. There is a $90 deduction on earned income per individual. [21] Licensed vehicles with a combined value of not more than $8,500 are excluded if a family includes individuals subject to the work requirement, or if the vehicle is necessary to transport a disabled family member and the vehicle has been specially equipped to transport the disabled person. [23] Section 414.095(1), F.S. A person may be exempt from the work requirement if they receive benefits under the Supplemental Security Income Program or the Security Disability Program, is a single parent of a child under three months of age (parenting preparation activities may be alternatively required), is exempt from the TCA time limitation due to hardship, or not considered work-eligible under federal policy. See also DCF, Temporary Assistance for Needy Families – State Plan Renewal, available at https://www.myflfamilies.com/sites/default/files/2022-10/TANF-Plan.pdf (last visited February 1, 2024).

Work Participation Requirements
Family Composition	Required Work Participation Hours
Single parent with a child under age 6	20 hours weekly of "core" work activities
Single parent with a child over 6, or two-parent families where one parent is disabled	30 hours weekly with at least 20 hours of "core" work activities
Married teen or teen head of household under age 20	Maintains satisfactory attendance at secondary school or the equivalent, or participates in education related directly to employment for at least 20 hours weekly
Two-parent families who do not receive subsidized child care	35 hours weekly with at least 30 hours of "core" work activities, combined between both parents
Two-parent families who receive subsidized child care	55 hours weekly with at least 50 hours in "core" activities, combined between both parents

Pursuant to state and federal law, there are 12 distinct types of work activities which can be used to satisfy a TCA recipient's work requirement.[26] The 12 activities are categorized as either "core" or "supplemental" activities; such categorization impacts how the activity is counted toward a TCA recipient's work requirement.

Work Activities
"Core" Activities	"Supplemental" Activities
• Unsubsidized employment • Subsidized private-sector employment • Subsidized public-sector employment • Work experience • On-the-job training • Job search and job readiness assistance • Community service programs • Vocational educational training • Providing child care services to an individual participating in a community service program	• Job skills training directly related to employment • Education directly related to employment • Completion of a secondary school program

While these activities may contribute toward a TCA recipient's work requirement, federal policy limits the extent to which certain activities may satisfy the work requirement. Federal and state law further limits how the different work activities may count toward a person's work requirement based on the characteristics of the individual and the length of time in which the individual engages in the activity.[27]

TCA recipients who fail to comply with work requirements may be sanctioned by the LWDBs. Sanctions result in cash assistance being withheld for a specified period of time, the length of which increases with repeated lack of compliance. Consequences for failure to participate in work activities include:[28]

Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP)

The Food and Nutrition Service (FNS), under the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), administers the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP).[29] SNAP is the nation's largest domestic food and nutrition program for low-income Americans, offering nutritional assistance to millions of individuals and families each year through the provision for funds that can be used to purchase eligible foods.[30] In fiscal year 2020, SNAP provided assistance to approximately 39.9 million people living in 20.5 million households across the U.S.[31] SNAP benefits support individual households by reducing the effects of poverty and increasing food security while supporting economic activity across communities, as SNAP benefits directly benefit farmers, retailers, food processors and distributors, and their employees.[32]

SNAP is administered at the state level in Florida by the DCF.[33] The DCF determines and monitors eligibility and disburses benefits to SNAP participants. The state and federal governments share the administrative costs of the program, while the federal government funds 100 percent of the benefit amount received by participants.[34] Federal laws, regulations, and waivers provide states with various policy options to better target benefits to those most in need, [29] The Food Stamp Program (FSP) originated in 1939 as a pilot program for certain individuals to buy stamps equal to their normal food expenditures: for every $1 of orange stamps purchased, people received 50 cents worth of blue stamps, which could be used to buy surplus food. The FSP expanded nationwide in 1974. Under the federal welfare reform legislation of 1996, Congress enacted major changes to the FSP, including limiting eligibility for certain adults who did not meet work requirements. The Food and Nutrition Act of 2008 renamed the FSP the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) and implemented priorities to strengthen program integrity, simplify program administration, maintain states' flexibility in how they administer their programs, and improve access to SNAP. See US Department of Agriculture, Food and Nutrition Service, Short History of SNAP, available at https://www.fns.usda.gov/snap/short-history-snap (last visited February 2, 2024).

streamline program administration and field operations, and coordinate SNAP activities with those of other programs.[35]

The amount of benefits, or allotment, for which a household qualified depends on the number of individuals in the household and the household's net income. To calculate a household's allotment, 30% of its net income is subtracted from the maximum allotment for that household size.[36] This is because SNAP households are expected to spend about 30 percent of their own resources on food.[37] As of October 2023, 3,112,411 Floridians were participating in SNAP.[38]

SNAP Eligibility & Work Requirements

To be eligible for SNAP, households must meet the following criteria:
(1) Gross monthly income must be at or below 200 percent of the poverty level;
(2) Net income must be equal to or less than the poverty level; and
(3) Assets must be below the limits set based on household composition.[39]

Individuals may be deemed ineligible for SNAP due to any of the following:[40]

- Conviction of drug trafficking;
- Fleeing a felony warrant;
- Breaking SNAP or TANF program rules;
- Failure to cooperate with the child support enforcement agency; or
- Being a noncitizen without qualified status.

Able-bodied adults are generally required to participate in work activities in order to be eligible for SNAP. Federal policy outlines two tiers of work requirements for SNAP recipients: the general work requirement and the Able-Bodied Adult without Dependents (ABAWD) work requirement.

The general work requirement applies to all recipients between 16 and 59 years of age, unless they qualify for an exemption. The general work requirements include requiring a recipient register for work, participating in SNAP Employment and Training (E&T) or workfare if assigned, taking a suitable job if offered, and not voluntarily quitting a job or reducing work hours below 30 a week without a good reason.[41]

Individuals are exempt from the general work requirements if they are:[42]

- Already working at least 30 hours a week (or earning wages at least equal to the federal minimum wage multiplied by 30 hours);

- Unable to work due to a physical or mental limitation;
- Participating regularly in an alcohol or drug treatment program; or
- Studying in school or a training program at least half-time (but college students are subject to additional eligibility rules).

If an individual capable of meeting the general work requirements fails to do so, they are disqualified from getting SNAP for at least a month and must start meeting the requirements to get SNAP again. If the person gets back on SNAP and fails to meet the requirements again, they are disqualified for longer than a month and could be permanently disqualified.[43]

The ABAWD work requirement applies to Adults between 18 and 52 years of age, able-bodied, and without dependents, unless otherwise exempt from the general work requirement.[44] ABAWDs are required to work or participate in a qualifying work program for a combined total of at least 80 hours per month. ABAWDs who fail to comply with the ABAWD work requirement for three months in a 36-month period will lose their SNAP benefits.[45]

Prohibition on Receiving TCA and Food Assistance – Felony Drug Convictions

Federal law prohibits TCA and food assistance eligibility for any individual with a felony drug conviction and imposes a lifetime ban on such benefits, unless a state elects to opt out of the provision.[46] Florida has opted out of this federal provision[47], with one limitation. Florida has implemented a modified ban wherein an applicant may not be denied benefits solely based on a felony drug conviction, unless the conviction is for drug trafficking[48], including agreeing, conspiring, combining, or confederating with another person to commit an act after August 22, 1996.[49]

S. 893.135, F.S. Drug trafficking also includes those who agree, conspire, combine, or confederate with another person to commit the act.

Under Florida law, drug trafficking is a first-degree felony punishable by up to 30 years of imprisonment and – depending upon the drug type and amount trafficked – fines from $25,000 to $500,000.[50] During the application process, individuals seeking public benefits self-attest if they have been convicted of felony drug trafficking. This information is then confirmed by an eligibility specialist during the applicant's interview. If the illegal behavior that led to the conviction occurred on or before August 22, 1996, the disqualification does not apply regardless of the date of the conviction. If a court expunges the felony drug trafficking conviction, the individual is not subject to the disqualification.[51]

In Florida, while an individual is disqualified, his or her family may still apply for and receive benefits. In such instances, the disqualified individual's needs are excluded in calculating the family's benefits, although the individual's income and assets are included in determining the household's eligibility. This means that while those with felony drug trafficking convictions may still apply for assistance for their children, the overall household receives less support because of the current bans.

The Department of Children and Families reports that in the 2023 calendar year, 402 individuals were denied benefits due to a drug trafficking conviction.[52] The number of people otherwise eligible who choose not to apply due to disqualification due to a felony drug trafficking conviction is unknown.

Prohibition Policy by State

Many states have chosen to opt out or implement a modified ban on the receipt of SNAP and TCA benefits for individuals with felony drug convictions. Except for South Carolina, all other states and Washington, D.C., have chosen to modify or remove the ban for at least one of the two affected programs.[53]

As of April 2022, seven[54] states fully ban TANF benefits, including TCA, for individuals with prior felony drug convictions, while 17[55] states, including Florida, have modified bans, and 26[56] states and Washington, D.C., have no ban for SNAP benefits. South Carolina is the only state with a full ban on SNAP benefits for individuals with prior felony drug convictions. Florida is

Recidivism Studies

Studies have shown that public assistance such as TANF and SNAP reduces recidivism, while banning access has been linked to increased recidivism. The Bureau of Justice Statistics reports that approximately 66 percent of state prisoners were rearrested within three years of release, and 82 percent were arrested within 10 years.[59] Such odds of recidivating can be offset through providing support; the barriers to re-entering society as a productive member are reduced when people are able to meet their basic needs. A Harvard Law School study found that access to SNAP and TANF significantly reduced an individual's risk of being reincarcerated by up to 10 percent within one year.[60] Additionally, a study of recidivism before and after the Florida ban took effect estimated the ban increased drug traffickers' likelihood of returning to prison by at least 9.5 percent.[61]

Human Trafficking

Human trafficking is a form of modern-day slavery involving the transporting, soliciting, recruiting, harboring, providing, enticing, maintaining, or obtaining, another person for the purpose of exploiting that person.[62] Victims of human trafficking are often subjected to force, fraud, or coercion for the purpose of sexual exploitation or forced labor.[63] Human trafficking does not necessarily involve the movement or relocation of a person, nor does it necessarily involve physical captivity.

Human trafficking can affect individuals of any age, gender, or nationality; however, some people are not more vulnerable than others. Significant risk factors include recent migration or relocation, substance use, mental health concerns, and involvement in the child welfare system.[64] Vulnerable people are lured and coerced through a myriad of means including economic abuse, psychological coercion, threats against family, drug addiction, physical abuse, and sexual abuse.[65]

It is estimated that at any given time in 2021, there were approximately 27.6 million people engaging in forced labor.[66] In 2021, the National Human Trafficking Hotline[67] identified 16,710 trafficking victims in the U.S., of which 1,253 were in Florida[68]; however, these figures do not reflect the true scope and scale of the issue, which cannot be easily quantified due to its underground nature.

Trafficking of illegal drugs and human trafficking often co-occur.[69] Victims of trafficking may be exploited for the transport of illegal drugs and illegal drugs may also serve as a means of coercion by the trafficker.[70] Substance use as a means of coercion occurs in various settings, including sexual exploitation and forced labor, as well as intimate personal violence.[71] Through substance use coercion, a trafficker can maintain control over the victim through controlling the victim's access to the substance, forcing the victim to use substances, and using the victim's own substance use as a means of discrediting the victim and making the victim complicit in the victim's own oppression.[72]

The Legislature has made clear its intent that the perpetrators of human trafficking be penalized for their illegal conduct and that the victims of trafficking be protected and assisted by the state and the agencies[73]; however, in application it has proven difficult to hold human traffickers accountable, and victims of human trafficking face significant barriers to being recognized as such.

Victims of human trafficking often do not trust the police and rarely seek their assistance.[74] When victims of human trafficking do not interact with the criminal justice system, they are often perceived as criminals, rather than victims. Trafficking victims are frequently compelled to break the law and may be arrested as a result of that criminal act before they are recognized as a victim of human trafficking. Once a human trafficking victim is charged with a crime, the circumstances around the arrest and the overtaxed criminal court system create significant pressure on the victim to plead guilty, rather than contest the charge or seek to reveal the human trafficking situation.[75]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill amends s. 414.095, F.S., to create an exemption to eligibility for victims of human trafficking for Florida's Temporary Cash Assistance (TCA) and Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (food assistance) benefits. This will allow individuals with a drug trafficking conviction who are also victims of human trafficking to access benefits assistance, as long as they meet all other eligibility requirements.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2024.

B. Private Sector Impact:

Individuals previously disqualified from receiving cash or food assistance because of felony drug trafficking convictions who are also human trafficking victims will now be eligible to receive such benefits, assuming they meet all of the other eligibility requirements, which will provide additional financial support to low-income families.

C. Government Sector Impact:

According to the Department of Children and Families (DCF), there is an indeterminate, negative fiscal impact to state government to provide for individuals who would now be eligible for Temporary Cash Assistance (TCA) and/or Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (food assistance) benefits. II. Present Situation:

Human Trafficking

Human trafficking means transporting, soliciting, recruiting, harboring, providing, enticing, maintaining, purchasing, patronizing, procuring, or obtaining another person for the purpose of exploitation of that person.[3] Under federal law, the term "severe forms of trafficking in persons" includes labor[4] and sex trafficking.[5,6] Victims can be found in legal and illegal labor industries, including child care, elder care, the drug trade, massage parlors, nail and hair salons, restaurants, hotels, factories, and farms.[7] In 2021, a total of 2,027 persons were referred to U.S. attorneys for human trafficking offenses.[8] Victims of sex trafficking are frequently recruited to work in strip clubs across the United States. Such persons may be recruited to work in strip clubs as hostesses, servers or dancers but are then required to perform sex acts with customers. Such strip clubs may be designed to provide the space and environment in which buyers may purchase commercial sex.[9]

Human Trafficking in Florida

Florida is ranked the third highest state of reported human trafficking cases in the United States.[10] Reports of commercially exploited children to the Florida Abuse Hotline for 2022 totaled 3,408 and 3,182 in 2021.[11] In Florida, any person who knowingly, or in reckless disregard of the facts, engages in human trafficking, attempts to engage in human trafficking, or benefits financially by receiving anything of value from participation in a venture that has subjected a person to human trafficking for labor,[12] services,[13] or commercial sexual activity,[14] commits a crime.[15] The circumstances and associated level of offense are as follows:

Soliciting or Purchasing Prostitution

Section 796.07, F.S., defines prostitution as the giving or receiving of the body for sexual activity for hire.[17]

Under s. 796.07(2)(a)-(e) and (g)-(i), F.S., it is a second-degree misdemeanor:[18]

- To own, establish, maintain, or operate any place, structure, building, or conveyance for the purpose of lewdness,[19] assignation,[20] or prostitution;
- To offer, or to offer or agree to secure, another for the purpose of prostitution or for any other lewd or indecent act;
- To receive, or to offer or agree to receive, any person into any place, structure, building, or conveyance for the purpose of prostitution, lewdness, or assignation, or to permit any person to remain there for such purpose;
- To direct, take, or transport, or to offer or agree to direct, take, or transport, any person to any place, structure, or building, or to any other person, with knowledge or reasonable cause to believe that the purpose of such directing, taking, or transporting is prostitution, lewdness, or assignation;

[18] A second-degree misdemeanor is punishable by up to 60 days in county jail and a fine not exceeding $500. Sections 775.082(4)(b) and 775.083(1)(e), F.S
[19] "Lewdness" means any indecent or obscene act. Section 796.07(1)(c), F.S
[20] "Assignation" means the making of any appointment or engagement for prostitution or lewdness, or any act in furtherance of such appointment or engagement. Section 796.07(1)(d), F.S.

- For a person 18 years of age or older to offer to commit, or to commit, or to engage in, prostitution, lewdness, or assignation;
- To reside in, enter, or remain in, any place, structure, or building, or to enter or remain in any conveyance, for the purpose of prostitution, lewdness, or assignation;
- To aid, abet, or participate in any of the acts or things listed above; or
- To purchase the services of any person engaged in prostitution.[21]

Additionally, under s. 796.07(2)(f), F.S., a person who solicits, induces, entices, or procures another person to commit prostitution, lewdness, or assignation commits a first-degree misdemeanor for a first violation, a third-degree felony for a second violation, and a second-degree felony for a third or subsequent violation.[22] An offender convicted for soliciting another person to commit prostitution is also subject to additional penalties including:

- One hundred hours of community service;[23]
- Being required to pay for and attend an educational program about the negative effects of prostitution and human trafficking, such as a sexual violence prevention education program, including such programs offered by faith-based providers, if such a program is offered in the circuit in which the offender is sentenced;[24]
- A 10-day mandatory minimum jail sentence for a second or subsequent violation;[25]
- Vehicle impoundment up to 60 days if the offender used a car to commit the violation;[26]
- Inclusion of the offender's name on the Soliciting for Prostitution Public Database in certain situations;[27] and
- A $5,000 civil fine.[28]

Commercial Sexual Activity

Strip clubs are considered adult entertainment establishments under Florida law. Section 847.001, F.S., defines "adult entertainment establishment," to include adult bookstores, adult theaters, special cabaret, and unlicensed massage establishments.

- An adult bookstore is any corporation, partnership, or business of any kind which restricts or purports to restrict admission only to adults, which has as part of its stock book, magazines, other periodicals, videos, discs, or other graphic media and which offers, sells, provides, or rents for a fee any sexually oriented material.
- Adult theaters are enclosed buildings or enclosed spaces within a building used for presenting either film, live plays, dances, or other performances that are distinguished or characterized by an emphasis on matter depicting, describing, or relating to specific sexual activities for observation by patrons, and which restricts or purports to restrict admission only to adults, or any business that features a person who engages in specific sexual activities for observation by a patron, and which restricts or purports to restrict admission to only adults.

[28] Section 796.07(6), F.S.

- Special cabaret is any business that features persons who engage in specific sexual activities for observation by patrons, and which restricts or purports to restrict admission only to adults.
- An unlicensed massage establishment is any business or enterprise that offers, sells, or provides, or that holds itself out as offering, selling, or providing, massages that include bathing, physical massage, rubbing, kneading, anointing, stroking, manipulating, or other tactile stimulation of the human body by either male or female employees or attendants, by hand or by any electrical or mechanical device, on or off the premises. This term does not include an establishment licensed under s. 480.043, F.S.

Several states have enacted laws prohibiting persons under 21 years of age from working or performing in certain adult entertainment establishments. These laws have been challenged, and courts have found that the state has a compelling interest in protecting victims from human trafficking, and that there is often a link between human trafficking and certain adult entertainment establishments. In Jane Doe I v. Landry, the United States Court of Appeals, Fifth Circuit upheld a Louisiana law that prohibited establishments licensed to serve alcohol from employing nearly nude entertainers younger than 21 years of age on the grounds that the law furthered the state's interests in curbing human trafficking and prostitution.[29]

The Court found that the State of Louisiana sufficiently demonstrated its reasonable belief that there was a link between Louisiana statutes that prohibited women aged 18 to 21 years old from nude erotic dancing in establishments that served alcohol and curbing the secondary effects of human trafficking and prostitution such that the statutes furthered substantial governmental interest, as required for statutes to survive intermediate scrutiny on erotic dancers' First Amendment free speech challenge.[30]

In Valadez v. Paxton, the United States District Court, W.D. Texas, Austin Division held that the State of Texas sufficiently demonstrated that it held reasonable belief that the law prohibiting all working relationships between persons between the ages of 18 and 20 years old and sexually-oriented businesses would serve to curb harmful secondary effects of sexually-oriented businesses, including trafficking and sexual exploitation.[31]

The United States District Court denied a motion for a preliminary injunction against the enforcement of the Texas bill prohibiting "all working relationships between 18-20 year olds and sexually-oriented businesses" because the plaintiff's failed to show that the age restrictions were not rationally related to the state's interest in curbing human trafficking.[32]

In DC Operating, LLC v. Paxton, the United States District Court, W.D. Texas, Austin Division, denied a motion for a preliminary injunction in part, finding that the state's recently enacted bill relating to restrictions on the age of person employed by or allowed on the premises of a sexually oriented business is rationally related to the state's interest in curbing human trafficking.[33] The Court ruled that the plaintiff's failed to establish a likelihood of success on the merits of their claims under the First Amendment, Fourteenth Amendment Due Process and Equal Protection Clauses of the United States Constitution, and Texas Constitution's equivalent provisions.[34]

In Wacko's Too, Inc. v. City of Jacksonville, the United States District Court, M.D. Florida upheld age restrictions in a City of Jacksonville ordinance requiring performers at adult entertainment establishments to be at least 21 years of age based, at least in part, on evidence that there was a reasonable basis to believe that the age restrictions would further the City's interest in preventing human and sex trafficking.[35] The city ordinance provisions forbid anyone under age 21 from receiving the requisite license to perform at adult entertainment establishments in the city. The Eleventh Circuit upheld the requirement that adult entertainment establishments maintain rosters as a "permissible way to keep track of licensed performers, secondary to combating human trafficking."[36] The performer disclosure requirement under the ordinance also relates to preventing human trafficking by allowing law enforcement to keep track of performers.

Criminal Punishment Code

In 1997, the Legislature enacted the Criminal Punishment Code[37] (Code) as Florida's "primary sentencing policy."[38] The offense severity ranking chart must be used with the Code worksheet to compute a sentence score for each felony offense who offense was committed on or after October 1, 1998.[39] Noncapital felonies sentenced under the Code receive an offense severity level ranking (Levels 1-10).[40] Points are assigned and accrue based upon the level ranking assigned to the primary offense, additional offenses, and prior offenses. Sentence points escalate as the level escalates. Points may be added or multiplied for other factors such as victim injury, commission of certain drug trafficking offenses, and certain violent offenses committed against listed criminal justice professionals performing their duties.[41]

Direct-Support Organizations

Citizen-support organizations (CSOs) and direct-support organization (DSOs) are statutorily created non-profit organizations authorized to carry out specific tasks in support of public entities or public causes.[42] The function and purpose of a CSO or DSO are prescribed by an enacting statute and a written contract with the agency the CSO or DSO supports.[43]

In 2014, the Legislature created s. 20.058, F.S., which established a comprehensive set of transparency and reporting requirements for Citizen Support Organizations (CSOs) and Direct-

Support Organizations (DSOs).[44] Specifically, the law requires CSOs and DSOs to annually submit the following information to the appropriate agency by August 1 of each year:[45]

- The name, mailing address, telephone number, and website address of the organization;[46]
- The statutory authority or executive order that created the organization;[47]
- A brief description of the mission of, and results obtained by, the organization;[48]
- A brief description of the organization's plans for the next three fiscal years;[49]
- A copy of the organization's ethics code;[50]
- A copy of the organization's most recent Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Form 990;[51] and
- An attestation, under penalty of perjury, stating that the organization has complied with subsection (4).[52]

By August 15 of each year, each agency must report to the Governor, the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Office of Program Policy Analysis and Government Accountability the information provided by each CSO and DSO.[53] The agencies must also make such information available to the public through their websites.[54]

Florida Alliance to End Human Trafficking

The Florida Alliance to End Human Trafficking (Alliance) is the DSO established to provide assistance, fund, and support the Florida Statewide Council on Human Trafficking (Council).[55] The purpose of the DSO is to solicit funds; request and receive grants, gifts, and bequests of money; acquire, receive, hold, invest, and administer, property and funds; and make expenditures in support of the statewide effort to end human trafficking.[56] The Alliance operates under a written contract with the Department of Legal Affairs.[57] The Alliance is set to repeal October 1, 2024, unless saved from repeal by the Legislature.[58]

In Fiscal Year 2022-2023, the Alliance:

- Trained over 26,000 individuals with its online human trafficking course;
- Obtained $500,000 state appropriations to update its training course to include various languages and expand its awareness statewide;
- Provided 15 different awareness trainings for various organizations;

- Hold an annual statewide policy summit with an institution of higher learning.
- Work with the Department of Children and Families to create and maintain an inventory of human trafficking programs and services in our state.
- Develop overall policy recommendations.

The Council is also required to submit an annual report to the Legislature detailing the preceding fiscal year's accomplishments and recommendations regarding the development and coordination of state and local law enforcement and social services responses to fight human trafficking and support victims.[64]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 amends s. 16.618, F.S., to extend the repeal date of the direct-support organization (DSO) for the Statewide Council on Human Trafficking to October 1, 2029.

Section 3 extends the date by which a person licensed or certified under several chapters must post a human trafficking public awareness sign.

Section 4 extends the date by which a massage establishment must implement a procedure for reporting suspected human trafficking to the Florida Human Trafficking Hotline.

Section 5 extends the date by which a public lodging establishment must post a human trafficking public awareness sign.

Sections 2, 3, 4, 5, and 8 amend ss. 394.875, 456.0341, 480.043, 509.096, and 787. 29, F.S., respectively, to replace references to the national human trafficking hotline requirement with the Florida human trafficking hotline. Sections 3, 4, and 5 require that all of the new requirements be met by January 1, 2025.

Section 6 amends s. 562.13, F.S., to prohibit a minor from being employed by an adult entertainment establishment. Section 563.13, F.S., which provides a list of exceptions that allows a minor to be employed by alcohol venders, does not apply to adult entertainment establishments.

Section 7 amends s. 787.06, F.S., to require a nongovernmental entity that enters into, renews, or extends a contract with a governmental entity to provide the governmental entity with an affidavit attesting that the nongovernmental entity does not use coercion for labor or services. The affidavit must be signed by an officer or representative of the nongovernmental entity under penalty of perjury. Section 837.06, F.S., provides that the penalty for perjury for knowingly making a false statement in writing, with the intent to mislead a public servant shall be guilty of a misdemeanor of the second degree.[65]

[65] A second degree misdemeanor is punishable by a term of imprisonment not exceeding 60 days and a $500 fine, as provided in s. 775.082 and s. 775.083, F.S.

Section 9 creates s. 787.30, F.S., to prohibit a person under the age of 21 from working in an adult entertainment establishment. "Adult entertainment establishment" is defined to have the same meaning as provided in s. 847.001, F.S., which includes adult bookstores, adult theaters, special cabarets, and unlicensed massage establishments as defined by statute. Specifically, the section provides that an owner, manager, employee, or contractor of an adult entertainment establishment, who knowingly employs, contracts with, contracts with another person to employ, or otherwise permits a person younger than 21 years of age to perform or work in an adult entertainment establishment, commits a first degree misdemeanor.[66]

Furthermore, this section provides that an owner, manager, employee or contractor of an adult entertainment establishment, who knowingly employs, contracts with, contracts with another person to employ, or otherwise permits a person younger than 21 years of age to perform or work nude in an adult entertainment establishment, commits a second degree felony.[67] The term "nude" is defined to mean the showing of the human male or female genitals, pubic area, or buttock with less than a fully opaque covering; or the showing of the female breast with less than a fully opaque covering of any portion thereof below the top of the nipple; or the depiction of covered male genitals in a discernibly turgid state. A mother's breastfeeding of her baby does not under any circumstance constitute nudity, irrespective of whether or not the nipple is covered during or incidental to feeding.

Section 10 provides that the bill will take effect on July 1, 2024.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

Not applicable. The bill does not require counties and municipalities to spend funds, reduce the counties' or municipalities' ability to raise revenue, or reduce the percentage of state tax shared with counties or municipalities.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

[66] A first degree misdemeanor is punishable by a term of imprisonment not exceeding one year, as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083, F.S.

[67] A second degree felony is punishable by a term of imprisonment of fifteen years, as provided in s. 775.082, s. 775.083, or s. 775.084, F.S.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

The Florida Constitution expressly provides that:[68]

> All natural persons are equal before the law and have inalienable rights, among which are the right to enjoy and defend life and liberty, to pursue happiness, *to be rewarded for industry, and to acquire, possess and protect property....

In evaluating claims of statutory discrimination, a statute will be regarded as inherently "suspect" and subject to "heightened" judicial scrutiny if it impinges too greatly on fundamental constitutional rights flowing either from the federal or Florida constitutions, or if it primarily burdens certain groups that have been the traditional targets of irrational, unfair, and unlawful discrimination.[69] A court generally reviews classifications based on age, income, and employment status under the rational basis standard, upholding the classification unless it is wholly arbitrary—that is, unless it bears no rational relationship to a legitimate government interest.[70]

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

Public lodging and massage establishments may incur costs associated with the training required by this bill. There may also be minor costs to crisis stabilization units, residential treatment facilities, residential treatment centers for children and adolescents, massage establishments, public lodging establishments, and strip clubs or other adult entertainment establishments associated with updating the human trafficking awareness signs to contain the Florida Human Trafficking Hotline number, instead of the national hotline. Each person licensed or certified under ch. 457, ch. 458, ch. 459, ch. 460, ch. 461, ch. 463, ch. 465, ch. 466, ch. 468, ch. 480, or ch. 486, F.S., may incur minor costs associated with updating the human trafficking awareness signs to include the Florida Human Trafficking Hotline number, instead of the national hotline.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 864 amends s. 943.1727, F.S., requiring a training component relating to individuals with autism spectrum disorder. The bill specifies that the training may count toward the 40 hours of instruction for continued employment or for appointment as a law enforcement officer, correctional officer, or correctional probation officer. This would apply to both the Criminal Justice Standards and Training Commission (CJSTC) advanced/specialized programs and to the basic recruit training for those seeking to become a certified law enforcement officer in Florida.

The bill also specifies that the training must include in-person instruction for initial certification and online instruction for continued employment, in the techniques and procedures including:

- The nature and manifestation of autism spectrum disorders;
- Appropriate techniques for interviewing or interrogating an individual with autism spectrum disorder, including techniques to ensure the legality of statements made by the individual and techniques used to protect the right of the individual;
- Techniques for locating an individual with autism spectrum disorder who runs away and is in danger and for returning that individual while causing as little stress as possible to the individual;
- Techniques for recognizing the agency of an individual with autism spectrum disorder while identifying potential abusive or coercive situations;
- Techniques for deescalating a potentially dangerous situation to maximize the safety of both the officer and the individual with autism spectrum disorder;

- Techniques for differentiating an individual with autism spectrum disorder from an individual who is belligerent, uncooperative, or otherwise displaying traits similar to the characteristics of an individual with autism spectrum disorder and understanding the law as it relates to the use of the Baker Act against an individual with autism spectrum disorder;
- Procedures to identify and address challenges related to the safety and wellbeing of individuals with autism spectrum disorder in a correctional facility; and
- The impact of interaction with officers on individuals with autism spectrum disorder.

All recruits must receive the employment training component relating to individuals with autism spectrum disorder.

The bill provides timeframes for implementation of training for initial certification and for continued training or education. Failure to complete the training will result in the officer's certification being in "inactive status" until the officer's employing agency notifies the commission that he or she has completed the training.

The Florida Department of Law Enforcement can absorb the workload associated with this bill within existing resources. See Section V., Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2024.

II. Present Situation:

Criminal Justice Standards and Training Commission (CJSTC)

The CJSTC is established under s. 943.11, F.S. The commission is an independent policy making body that ensures that Florida's criminal justice officers are ethical, qualified, and well-trained. The commission is responsible for creating entry-level curricula and certification testing for criminal justice officers in Florida, establishing minimum standards for employment and certification, and revoking the certification of officers who fail to maintain these minimum standards of conduct.[1]

Minimum Qualifications

An individual must be at least 19 years of age to become a certified law enforcement officer or a certified correctional probation officer and must be at least 18 years of age to become a certified correctional officer. Additionally, the individual must be a citizen of the United States, not have been convicted of a felony or received a dishonorable discharge from the military, pass a physical exam, and have good moral character as determined by a background investigation. Certification as a law enforcement officer or correctional officer requires a high school diploma or equivalent (GED). Certification as a correctional probation officer requires a bachelor's degree.[2,3]

[3] Section 943.13, F.S.

Autism Training

In 2017, s. 943.1727, F.S., was amended to include autism training for law enforcement officers. This training may be counted toward the 40 hours of instruction for continued employment or appointment as a law enforcement officer under s. 943.135, F.S.[4]

Section 627.6686(2)(b), F.S., defines "Autism spectrum disorder" to mean any of the following disorders as defined in the most recent edition of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders of the American Psychiatric Association:

- Autistic disorder.
- Asperger's syndrome.
- Pervasive developmental disorder not otherwise specified.[5]

Currently, the Florida Law Enforcement Academy Basic Recruit Training Program (LEBRT or Basic Recruit) is set at 770 hours of instruction time. The Basic Recruit has a lesson in place on interacting with people with autism that addresses topics relating to the autism spectrum disorder. Training is included in an optional 4-hour Specialized Course, Autism Spectrum Disorder and Awareness. The LEBRT program also includes information on interviewing people with autism spectrum disorder and responding to missing persons incidents involving people with autism spectrum disorder.[6]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill amends s. 943.1727, F.S., to require a training component relating to individuals with autism spectrum disorder[7] for law enforcement officers, correctional officers, or correctional probation officers. The bill specifies that the training may count toward the 40 hours of instruction for continued employment or for appointment as a law enforcement officer, correctional officer, or correctional probation officer. This would apply to both the CJSTC's advanced/specialized programs and to the basic recruit training for those seeking to become certified law enforcement officers in Florida.

[4] The commission shall, by rule, adopt a program that requires all officers, as a condition of continued employment or appointment as officers, to receive periodic commission-approved continuing training or education. Such continuing training or education shall be required at the rate of 40 hours every 4 years. No officer shall be denied a reasonable opportunity by the employing agency to comply with this section. The employing agency must document that the continuing training or education is job-related and consistent with the needs of the employing agency. The employing agency must maintain and submit, or electronically transmit, the documentation to the commission, in a format approved by the commission. Section 943.135, F.S.

[5] Section 627.6686, F.S.

[6] 2024 FDLE Legislative Bill Analysis, January 6, 2024 (on file with the Senate Committee on Criminal Justice).

[7] The bill defines the term "autism spectrum disorder to have the same meaning as provided in s. 627.6686(2)(b), F.S., which defines "autism spectrum disorder" as any of the following disorders as defined in the most recent edition of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders of the American Psychiatric Association:

1. Autistic disorder.
2. Asperger's syndrome.
3. Pervasive developmental disorder not otherwise specified.

The bill also specifies that the training must include in-person instruction for initial certification and online instruction for continued employment, in the techniques and procedures including:

- The nature and manifestation of autism spectrum disorders;
- Appropriate techniques for interviewing or interrogating an individual with autism spectrum disorder, including techniques to ensure the legality of statements made by the individual and techniques used to protect the right of the individual;
- Techniques for locating an individual with autism spectrum disorder who runs away and is in danger and for returning that individual while causing as little stress as possible to the individual;
- Techniques for recognizing the agency[8] of an individual with autism spectrum disorder while identifying potential abusive or coercive situations;
- Techniques for deescalating a potentially dangerous situation to maximize the safety of both the officer and the individual with autism spectrum disorder;
- Techniques for differentiating an individual with autism spectrum disorder from an individual who is belligerent, uncooperative, or otherwise displaying traits similar to the characteristics of an individual with autism spectrum disorder and understanding the law as it relates to the use of the Baker Act against an individual with autism spectrum disorder;
- Procedures to identify and address challenges related to the safety and wellbeing of individuals with autism spectrum disorder in a correctional facility; and
- The impact of interaction with officers on individuals with autism spectrum disorder.

All recruits must receive the employment training component relating to individuals with autism spectrum disorder.

The bill provides that by July 1, 2026, each basic skills course required for a law enforcement, correctional, and correctional probation officer to obtain initial certification must incorporate the autism spectrum disorder training. Autism training for continued training or education must be completed by July 1, 2028. The bill provides that failure to complete the training will result in the officer's certification being in "inactive status" until the officer's employing agency notifies the commission that he or she has completed the training.

Increasing the overall number of hours for basic recruit training would require the CJSTC approval and approval by the Department of Education be completed and approved before the training becomes effective.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2024.

The salary and benefits cost for one of these positions totals $53,806 and the expense and human resource service assessment package costs $11,436. As of December 2023, the department has two vacant Education and Training Specialist positions and should be able to absorb the workload within existing resources.

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Fiscal Policy

BILL:	CS/CS/CS/SB 868
INTRODUCER:	Fiscal Policy Committee; Appropriations Committee on Transportation, Tourism, and Economic Development; Transportation Committee; and Senator Boyd
SUBJECT:	Transportation Facility Designations
DATE:	February 26, 2024 REVISED:

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/CS/SB 868 creates the following honorary transportation facility designations and directs the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) to erect suitable markers for:

- Army Specialist Nicholas Panipinto Memorial Highway in Manatee County.
- Dylan Roberts Memorial Crosswalk in Alachua County.
- AWF3 Mohammed 'Mo' Haitham Memorial Way in Hillsborough and Pinellas Counties.
- Deputy Sheriff Christopher Taylor Memorial Highway in Charlotte County.
- Deputy Sheriff George Pfeil Memorial Highway in Seminole County.
- Deputy Sheriff Robert Moore Memorial Highway in Seminole County.
- Deputy Sheriff James Cleveland Jacobs Memorial Highway in Seminole County.
- Henry Dean Road in St. Johns County.
- Abe Resnick Drive in Miami-Dade County.
- Pastor Rick Blackwood Street in Miami-Dade County.
- Gus Kopelousos Memorial Highway in Clay County.
- MICCO Way in Miami-Dade County.
- Major John Leroy Haynes Memorial Highway in Leon and Jefferson Counties
- Tuskegee Airmen Memorial Highway in various north Florida counties.
- Randy Roberts Memorial Highway in Polk County.
- Carol Jenkins Barnett Memorial Highway in Polk County.

The bill also redesignates a bridge in St. Lucie County as the E.C. Summerlin Family Bridge.

The bill has an insignificant, negative fiscal impact on state government. See Section V., Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2024.

II. Present Situation:

Section 334.071, F.S., provides that legislative designations of transportation facilities are for honorary or memorial purposes or to distinguish a particular facility. Such designations are not to be construed as requiring any action by local governments or private parties regarding the changing of any street signs, mailing addresses, or 911 emergency telephone number system listings, unless the legislation specifically provides for such changes.[1]

When the Legislature establishes road or bridge designations, the FDOT is required to place markers only at the termini specified for each highway segment or bridge designated by the law creating the designation and to erect any other markers it deems appropriate for the transportation facility.[2]

The FDOT may not erect the markers for honorary road or bridge designations unless the affected city or county commission enacts a resolution supporting the designation. When the designated road or bridge segment is located in more than one city or county, each affected local government must pass resolutions supporting the designations before the installation of the markers.[3]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill creates an undesignated section of Florida law creating honorary designations of transportation facilities.

Subsection 1 designates that portion of U.S. 19 between Palm View Road and Terra Ceia Road in Manatee County as "Army Specialist Nicholas Panipinto Memorial Highway."

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/CS/SB 892 revises provisions within the Florida Insurance Code relating to covered dental services, contractual agreements, and dental claims payments by an insurer, prepaid limited health service organization (PLHSO), or a health maintenance organization (HMO). The bill:

- Revises the definition of covered services, and as a result, if an insurer, HMO, or PLHSO denies service due to a contractual limitation (maximum benefits paid prior to the end of the plan year), then the procedure would be considered a non-covered service and the dentist would not be subject to the negotiated rate, and may charge patient a higher rate;
- Prohibits a contract between a dentist and a health insurer, HMO, or PLHSO from limiting the method of claim payments for dental services to credit card payments only;
- Requires a health insurer, PLHSO, or HMO to disclose in writing to a dentist any fees associated with an electronic funds transfer (EFT) and alternative payment methods before the insurer, HMO or PLHSO pays a dentist via EFT;
- Requires a health insurer, PLHSO, or HMO to receive written consent from a dentist prior to employing claim payment through EFT and clarifies the EFT includes, but is not limited to, virtual credit card payment;
- Prohibits an insurer, HMO or PLHSO that pays a claim to a dentist through an automatic clearing house (ACH) from charging a fee solely to transmit the payment unless the dentist has consented to the fee;

- Prohibits an insurer, HMO, or PLHSO from denying the payment of a claim if the procedure was previously authorized by an insurer, HMO, or PLHSO prior to the dentist rendering the service except under the following circumstances:
  - Benefit limitations being reached subsequent to the issuance of the prior authorization;
  - Inadequate documentation submitted by a dentist to support the originally authorized procedures and claim;
  - Subsequent to the issuance of the prior authorization, new procedures are provided to the insured or the insured's condition changes, resulting in the prior authorized procedure not being medically necessary;
  - The claim was denied because another payor is responsible for payment, the dentist has already been paid, the claim was submitted fraudulently, or the prior authorization was based on erroneous information submitted to the insurer, HMO, or PLHSO; or
  - The person receiving the procedure was not eligible to receive the procedure on the date of service and the insurer, HMO, or PLHSO did not know of the ineligibility.

The bill has an indeterminate, likely insignificant impact to state revenues and expenditures. See Section V., Fiscal Impact Statement.

II. Present Situation:

Oversight of the Practice of Dentistry in Florida

The Board of Dentistry within the Department of Health (DOH) is the state's regulatory board for the practice of dentistry, dental hygienists, and dental assistants under the Dental Practice Act.[1] A dentist is licensed to examine, diagnose, treat, and care for conditions within the human oral cavity and its adjacent tissues and structures.[2]

State Regulation of Health Insurers, Health Maintenance Organizations, and Prepaid Limited Health Service Organizations

The Office of Insurance Regulation (OIR),[3] is responsible for all activities concerning insurers and other risk bearing entities, such as health maintenance organizations (HMOs) or prepaid limited health service organizations, including licensing, rates, policy forms, market conduct, claims, issuance of certificates of authority, solvency, viatical settlements, premium financing, and administrative supervision, as provided under the Florida Insurance Code.[4] To transact business in Florida, a health insurer or other entity subject to regulation by the OIR must obtain a certificate of authority or license from the OIR.[5]

The Agency for Health Care Administration (Agency) regulates the quality of care provided by HMOs under part III of ch. 641, F.S. Prior to receiving a certificate of authority from the OIR, an

HMO must receive a Health Care Provider Certificate from the Agency.[6] As part of the certification process used by the Agency, an HMO must provide information to demonstrate that the HMO has the ability to provide quality of care consistent with the prevailing standards of care.[7]

Dental Plans

An individual or group health dental plan is considered a product within the accident and health line of business.[8] A dental plan provides benefits for routine dental examinations, preventive dental work, and dental procedures needed to treat tooth decay and diseases of the teeth and jaw.[9]

According to the OIR, there are plans on the federal exchange that offer dental coverage for either an adult or child or both embedded in a policy or contract. There are plans on the exchange that offer standalone dental coverage, and such coverage may vary by county. Typically, insurers and HMOs submit rate filings for policies or contracts in June and finalize such filings by August for the following calendar plan year.[10]

Oversight of Health Insurer Contracts with Dentists

A contract between a health insurer and a dentist licensed under chapter 466, F.S., for the provision of services to an insured of the health insurer may not contain a provision that requires the dentist to provide services to the insured of the health insurer at a fee set by the health insurer unless such services are covered services under the applicable contract.[11] The term "covered services" means dental care services for which a reimbursement is available under the insured's policy, or for which a reimbursement would be available but for the application of contractual limitations such as deductibles, coinsurance, waiting periods, annual or lifetime maximums, frequency limitations, alternative benefit payments, or any other limitation.[12]

Oversight of HMO Contracts with Dentists

Oversight of Prepaid Limited Health Service Organizations

A PLHSO is any entity which, in return for a prepayment, provides limited health services to enrollees through an exclusive panel of providers.[15] Pursuant to s. 636.003, F.S., a PLHSO provides the following limited health services:

- Dental care services;
- Vision care services;

- Substance abuse services;
- Chiropractic services;
- Podiatric care services; and pharmaceutical services.

The PLHSOs and their arrangements or contracts with providers are governed by s. 636.035, F.S., and are regulated by the OIR. A contract between a PLHSO and a dentist licensed under ch. 466, F.S., for the provision of services to a subscriber of the PHLSO, may not contain a provision that requires the dentist to provide services to the subscriber of the prepaid limited health service organization at a fee set by the PLHSO unless such services are covered services under the applicable contract. As used in subsection (7), the term "covered services" means dental care services for which a reimbursement is available under the subscriber's contract, or for which a reimbursement would be available but for the application of contractual limitations such as deductibles, coinsurance, waiting periods, annual or lifetime maximums, frequency limitations, alternative benefit payments, or any other limitation.

Payment of Claims

The Florida Insurance Code prescribes rights and responsibilities of health care providers, health insurers, and HMOs for the payment of claims. Florida's prompt payment laws govern payment of provider claims submitted to insurers and HMOs, including Medicaid managed care plans, in accordance with ss. 627.6131, 627.662, and 641.3155, F.S., respectively. The prompt pay provisions apply to HMO contracts and major medical policies offered by individual and group insurers licensed under ch. 624, F.S., including preferred provider policies and an exclusive provider organizations, and specified contracts. The law prescribes a protocol for specified providers to use for the submission of their claims to an insurer or HMO, as well as a statutory process for insurers or HMOs to use for the payment or denial of the claims.

Denial of Claims

Coverage for medical services can be denied before or after the service has been provided, through denial of preauthorization requests, through denial of claims for payment, or a retroactive denial of payment. As a condition for coverage of some services, providers or insureds are required to request authorization prior to the provision of the procedure. The full claim or certain lines of the claim may be denied, such as a surgery with charges for multiple procedures and supplies.

There are many possible reasons for claim denials.[16] Claims may be denied due to an incorrect diagnosis code, incomplete claim submission, or the submission of a duplicate claim. Eligibility issues can cause claims to be denied. For example, a claim may be submitted for a service provided prior to an individual's effective date of coverage or after it has been terminated. Finally, claim denials can occur when a determination is made that the service provided was not covered or it was not medically necessary. Denied claims[17] may be appealed.

After an insurer or HMO pays a claim, the insurer or HMO may conduct a claims audit to verify claims were paid appropriately and accurately. Such an audit can be triggered by a variety of reasons.[18] Some of these situations include new billing guidelines have been established by regulators; the provider has made significant changes to the original bill, such as the diagnosis of the patient; the plan is notified that the enrollee's coverage is terminated due to non-payment of premiums; or the plan is notified that the enrollee has other health insurance coverage. After the audit, an insurer or HMO may retrospectively deny a claim for a preauthorized service and try to recoup the payment from the provider. Reasons for the retroactive denial may include fraud, submission of incomplete or inaccurate information; nonpayment of premiums; exhaustion of benefits; coordination of benefits; or if the individual was not enrolled or eligible for coverage at the time services were rendered.[19] As a result, an insurer or HMO may try to recoup payment from a provider by retroactively denying a previously paid claim.

Group Health Plans Retroactive Termination of Coverage

Retroactive termination of insurance coverage to an earlier date due to an employee's discharge is an increasing problem for some providers and consumers. Some plans may allow an employer to cancel coverage of an employee retroactively more than 90 days post termination. Other plans will accept retroactive terminations for up to the preceding three months, if the plan has not paid any claims for the insurer or HMO during that period. If claims have been paid within the previous 60 days, the coverage termination date may be established as of the end of the month in which services were rendered.

When a provider is notified of a retroactive termination, the provider may have already verified that the insured or subscriber was covered, rendered services in reliance and expectation of payment, and even received payment. Retroactive terminations often result in the provider or the consumer bearing the loss, despite the verified eligibility.

Federal Subsidized Individual Policies or Contracts and Grace Periods

The federal Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (PPACA)[20] guarantees access to coverage and mandates certain essential health benefits, including pediatric dental coverage,[21] and other requirements. To address affordability issues, federal premium tax credits and cost-sharing subsidies are available to assist eligible low and moderate-income individuals to purchase qualified health plans (QHPs) on a state or federal exchange (exchange).[22] For plan year 2024, Florida enrollees accounted for about 20 percent (4,211,902 individuals) of the 21.2 million total individuals) enrolled through the state and federal exchanges.[23] For plan year 2023, approximately 3,108,149 Floridians enrolled, and about 97 percent received tax credits.[24]

Under PPACA, insurers and HMOs must provide a grace period[25] of at least three consecutive months[26] before cancelling the policy or contract of a federally subsidized enrollee who is delinquent if the enrollee previously paid one-month's premium. During the grace period, the insurer or HMO must pay all appropriate claims for services provided during the first month of the grace period. For the second and third months, an insurer may pend claims. Insurers or HMOs must notify providers that may be affected that an enrollee has lapsed in his or her payment of premiums and there is a possibility the insurer or HMO may deny the payment of claims incurred during the second and third months.[27]

If the insured or subscriber resolves all outstanding premium payments by the end of the grace period, then the pended claims would be paid as appropriate. If not, the claims for the second and third month would be denied. If coverage is terminated, the termination date is the last day of the first month of the grace period and the insurer may not recoup any payment for claims made during the first month of the grace period. At the end of grace period, the provider may seek payment for the medical services the insurer denied for months two and three. According to a

Grace Periods for Policies or Contracts without a Federal Subsidy

The federal regulation governing grace periods for federally subsidized[29] policies or contracts does not affect policies or contracts of individuals who are not enrolled in an exchange QHP or who are enrolled in an exchange QHP and do not receive a subsidy. The grace period for these individual policies or contracts remain at the length required under Florida law,[30] which varies by the duration of the premium payment interval. During the grace period, the policy or contract stays in force. The policy is in force during the grace period, thus the insurer or HMO must affirm that an individual is insured, even when the payment is late and remains unpaid during the grace period. If the insurer or HMO does not receive the full payment of the premium by the end of the grace period, coverage terminates as of the grace period start date and the insurer or HMO may retroactively deny any claims incurred during the grace period.

Division of State Group Insurance

Under the authority of s. 110.123, F.S., the Department of Management Services (DMS), through the Division of State Group Insurance (DSGI), administers the state group health insurance program under a cafeteria plan consistent with s. 125, Internal Revenue Code. To administer the state group health insurance program, the DMS contracts with third party administrators for self-insured health plans and insured (HMOs), as well as a pharmacy benefits manager for the state employees' self-insured prescription drug program pursuant to s. 110.12315, F.S. The 2024 State Group Insurance Program offers dental plans that cover various types of benefits and services, some plans have annual deductibles, and some plans have annual maximum benefits.[31]

[32] Department of Health and Human Services, Guidance Letter 2022-04 - Health plans' payment of health care claims using Virtual Credit Cards (VCCs) and adopted Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA) standards for Health Care Electronic Funds Transfers (EFT) and Electronic Remittance Advice (ERA) transactions; 45 Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) ss. 162.1601 and 162.1602(d) FAQs (Mar. 22, 2022) (last visited Feb. 19, 2024).

In lieu of sending paper checks or paying health care claims using electronic funds transfer, some health plans (insurers, HMOs, or PLHSO) pay claims by sending providers a single use credit card number. Providers must manually enter virtual credit cards (VCC) into their point-of-sale (POS) processing terminals to receive payments from the card processing networks. Card processing networks typically charge a fees of a percent value of each payment. When processing various electronic payment methods, health plans often engage with business associates or vendors to conduct transactions, or parts thereof, on their behalf.

A health care electronic funds transfer (EFT) is the transmission of any of the following from a health plan to a provider:

- Payment;
- Information about the transfer of funds; or
- Payment processing information.[33]

Wire transfer, VCC, and the Automated Clearing House (ACH) Network are types of electronic payment delivery methods. The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) has only adopted standards[34] that apply to EFT transmissions through the ACH Network. The Department of Health and Human Services has not promulgated Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) rules governing claims payments made with VCCs. Therefore, HHS does not regulate common business practices associated with VCC payments, including fees assessed by health plans or credit card networks for VCC payments.

July 2022 Federal Guidance Letter[35]

The HHS states that the act of charging fees, in and of itself, for EFT and electronic remittance advice transactions is not prohibited under HIPPA. The guidance letter also notes that HIPAA does not require a health plan to comply with a provider's request for health care payments via paper check. The only payment method that HIPAA regulations require health plans to provide, when requested by a provider to do so, is EFT through the ACH Network.

Virtual Credit Card Fees

The American Dental Association (ADA) notes virtual credit card companies may market the quicker reimbursement as a benefit for dentists to use the credit/virtual card; however, dentists may incur a higher processing fee for virtual credit cards than a traditional debit or credit card transaction.[36] The ADA suggests that a dental office can request to opt out of using the card and Health plans are not required to send health care EFT through the ACH Network. A health plan may decide to transmit a health care EFT via FEdwire or via a payment card network.

Transparency in Dental Benefits Contracting Model Act

The National Council of Insurance Legislators (NCOIL) is a legislative organization comprised principally of legislators serving on state insurance and financial institutions committees around the nation. The NCOIL writes model laws in insurance, works to both preserve the state jurisdiction over insurance as established by the McCarran-Ferguson Act 74 years ago, and to serve as an educational forum for public policy makers and interested parties. Founded in 1969, NCOIL works to assert the prerogative of legislators in making state policy when it comes to insurance and educate state legislators on current and perennial insurance issues.[39]

On December 12, 2020 the Executive Committee of the National Council on Insurance Legislators adopted the Transparency in Dental Benefits Contracting Model Act.[40] Provisions in the Model Act include prior authorizations payments and virtual credit card claim payment and transaction fee options and regulations.[41] A representative of the Florida Dental Association noted that 21 states have enacted legislation to address credit or virtual card payments.[42]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Credit Card Payments and Fees (Sections 1, 3, and 5)

Section 1 amends s. 627.6131, F.S., relating to claims; Section 3 amends s. 636.032, F.S., relating to acceptable payments; and, Section 5 amends s. 641.315, F.S., relating to provider contracts.

The bill prohibits a health insurer, health maintenance organization (HMO) or prepaid limited health service organization (PLHSO) from specifying credit card payment as the only acceptable method for payments to the dentist. The bill requires a health insurer, HMO or PLHSO to provide a written notice to the dentist and obtain written consent provided through the signature of the dentist or a checked box, before the payment of a claim to a dentist through electronic funds transfer, including but not limited to, virtual credit card payments the following information:

- The fee, if any, associated with the electronic funds transfer; and
- The available methods of payment of claims by the health insurer, HMO or PLHSO including instructions to the dentist on how to select an alternative payment.

Further, the bill:
- Prohibits a health insurer, HMO or PLHSO that pays a claim to a dentist through an Automated Clearing House (ACH) transfer to charge a fee solely to transmit the payment to the dentist unless the dentist has consented to the fee;
- Provides that these provisions may not be waived, voided, or nullified by contract;
- Authorizes the OIR to enforce these provisions pursuant to their general powers provided in s. 624.307, F.S.; and
- Authorizes the Financial Services Commission to adopt rules.

Limitations on Insurers, HMOs, or PLHSOs Denying Payment of Claims for Procedures Included in Prior Authorizations (Sections 1, 4, and 5)

Section 1 amends s. 627.6131, F.S., relating to claims; Section 4 amends s. 636.035, F.S., relating to provider arrangements; and Section 5 amends, s. 641.315, F.S., relating to provider contracts.

The bill prohibits an insurer, HMO or PLHSO from denying any claim subsequently submitted by a dentist for procedures that were included in a prior authorization unless at least one of the following circumstances applies for each procedure denied:
- Benefit limitations, such as annual maximums and frequency limitations not applicable at the time of the prior authorization, are reached subsequent to issuance of the prior authorization;
- The documentation provided by the person submitting the claim fails to support the claim as originally authorized;
- Subsequent to the issuance of the prior authorization, new procedures are provided to the patient or a change in the condition of the patient occurs such that the prior authorized procedure would no longer be considered medically necessary, based on the prevailing standard of care;
- Subsequent to the issuance of the prior authorization, new procedures are provided to the patient or a change in the patient's condition occurs such that the prior authorized procedure would at that time have required disapproval pursuant to the terms and conditions for coverage under the patient's plan in effect at the time the prior authorization was issued; and
- The denial of the claim was due to one of the following:
  - Another payor is responsible for payment;
  - The dentist has already been paid for the procedures identified in the claim;
  - The claim was submitted fraudulently, or the prior authorization was based in whole or material part on erroneous information provided to the health insurer by the dentist, patient, or other person not related to the insurer; and
  - The person receiving the procedure was not eligible to receive the procedure on the date of service and the health insurer did not know, and with the exercise of reasonable care could not have known, of his or her ineligibility.

Further, the bill provides these provisions may not be waived, voided, or nullified by contract. Furthermore, any contractual clause in conflict with these provisions or that purports to waive any requirements of these provisions is null and void. The bill authorizes the Office of Insurance Regulation (OIR) to enforce these provisions pursuant to their general powers provided in s. 624.307, F.S., and authorizes the Financial Services Commission to adopt rules.

Provider Contracts and Covered Services (Sections 2, 4, and 5)

Section 2 amends s. 627.6474, F.S., relating to provider contracts; Section 4 amends s. 636.035, F.S., relating to provider arrangements; and Section 5 amends, s. 641.315, F.S., relating to provider contracts.

The bill revises the definition of covered services to mean dental care services for which a reimbursement is available under the contract or agreement of the insurer, HMO or PLHSO, notwithstanding the application of contractual limitations, such as deductibles, coinsurance, waiting periods, annual or lifetime maximums, frequency limitations, alternative benefit payments, or any other limitation. As a result, if an insured or subscriber reaches their benefit limits prior to the end of plan year, the dentist is not required to bill the insured or subscriber at the negotiated rate. The dentist may charge a higher rate.

Effective Date (Section 6)

Provides the bill is effective January 1, 2025.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

To the extent the bill applies to contracts and insurance policies entered into or renewed before the effective date of January 1, 2025, the bill could impair those contracts. Article I, s. 10 of the United States Constitution prohibits state legislatures from enacting laws impairing the obligation of contracts. The severity of the impairment is a key issue when evaluating whether a state law impairs a contract. In Exxon Corp. v Eagerton, 462 U.S. 176 (1983), the Supreme Court suggested it would uphold legislation that imposes a generally applicable rule of conduct designed to advance a broad societal interest that only incidentally disrupts existing contractual relationships.

While Florida courts have historically strictly applied this restriction, they have exempted laws when they find there is an overriding public necessity for the state to exercise its police powers. This exception extends to laws that are "reasonable and necessary to serve an important public purpose,"[43] to include protecting the public's health, safety or welfare. For a statute to offend the constitutional prohibition against impairment of contract, the statute must have the effect of changing substantive rights of the parties to an existing contract. Any retroactive application of a statute affecting substantive contractual rights would be constitutionally suspect. Historically, both the state and federal courts have attempted to find a rational and defensible compromise between individual rights and public welfare when laws are enacted that may impair existing contracts. The balancing process focuses on whether "the nature and extent of the impairment is constitutionally tolerable in light of the importance of the state's objective, or whether it unreasonably intrudes into the parties' bargain to a degree greater than is necessary to achieve that objective."[44]

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

Insureds, subscribers, or enrollees that have exhausted their dental policy limits prior to the end of the policy or contract period will be negatively impacted in circumstances where they cannot obtain additional services at the negotiated rate and the dentist chooses to use a higher rate.

Dentists may experience savings in fees if they opt out of the payment of claims by credit cards. Further, dentists may realize additional revenues if an insurer, health maintenance organization (HMO) or prepaid limited health service organization (PLHSO) is limited in their ability to subsequently deny claims they previously authorized.

The impact on insurers, HMOs or PLHSOs is indeterminate. While the bill establishes specific criteria for claims denial and service coverage, which could improve clarity for providers, compliance may result in costs. These costs include investments in systems and staff training by insurers, PLHSOs, and HMOs to ensure compliance.

Federal regulations govern the grace period and payment of claims of individuals receiving federally subsidized products on the exchange. This bill would not apply to such claims.
The provisions of the bill would not apply to ERISA (Federal Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974)[45] self-insured plans. ERISA preempts the regulation of such plans by the state.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill has an indeterminate, likely insignificant impact to state revenues and expenditures. The Office of Insurance Regulation (OIR) estimates the bill could increase enforcement action which would necessitate recurring funds of $30,000 to upgrade positions in OIR's Legal and Market Regulations offices.[46] This can be handled within existing resources.

If the provisions lead to an increase in appeals or legal challenges related to denied claims, it could necessitate additional resources for adjudication processes, potentially adding to state expenditures.

The bill does not impact the Division of State Group Insurance, as there is no expansion of services within the bill.[47] However, an increase in premium costs for state agencies who provide primary dental coverage, resulting from reimbursement requirements stipulated in the bill, could adversely affect state government expenditures.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 627.6131, 627.6474, 636.032, 636.035, and 641.315.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 964 requires the Florida Medicaid program and the Division of State Group Insurance program to provide coverage for biomarker testing for the diagnosis, treatment, management, and ongoing monitoring of disease or condition of an enrollee or insured, respectively to guide treatment decisions when such testing provides clinical utility as demonstrated by medical and scientific evidence.

The bill directs the Agency for Health Care Administration to include the rate impact from this act in the Medicaid managed care program rates that take effect October 1, 2024.

The bill may have an indeterminate fiscal impact on both the Florida Medicaid program and the Division of State Group Insurance. See Section V., Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill has an effective date of July 1, 2024.

II. Present Situation:

Biomarkers[1] and Tumor Markers[2]

A biomarker is a biological molecule found in blood, other body fluids, or tissues that is a sign of a normal or abnormal process, or of a condition or disease. A biomarker may be used to see how well the body responds to a treatment for a disease or condition.

A tumor marker is anything present in or produced by cancer cells or other cells of the body in response to cancer or certain benign (noncancerous) conditions. Tumor markers have traditionally been proteins or other substances that are made at higher amounts by cancer cells than normal cells. These can be found in the blood, urine, tumors, or other tissues or bodily fluids of some patients with cancer. Increasingly, however, genomic markers (such as tumor gene mutations, patterns of tumor gene expression, and nongenetic changes in tumor DNA) are being used as tumor markers. These markers are found both in tumors themselves and in tumor fragments shed into bodily fluids. Many different tumor markers have been characterized and are in clinical use.[3] Some are associated with only one type of cancer, whereas others are associated with multiple cancer types.

Biomarker testing is a method to look for genes, proteins, and other substances (biomarkers or tumor markers) that can provide information about cancer and other conditions.

Application of Tumor Markers in Cancer Care[4]

Tumor markers that indicate whether someone is a candidate for a particular targeted therapy[5] are sometimes referred to as biomarkers for cancer treatment. Tumor markers can provide a wide variety of information that is important for cancer care, such as:

- Helping to diagnose cancer.
- The type of cancer.
- The stage of the cancer.
- An estimate of prognosis.
- Determination of what treatment may be effective. How well the treatment is working.
- Whether cancer has returned.

Types of Tumor Marker Tests

A number of tumor marker tests are currently being used for a wide range of cancer types.[6] Many tumor marker tests are conducted by commercial and academic laboratories. Sometimes cancer centers use a tumor marker test developed within a single clinical laboratory to meet a specific medical need. All tumor markers are tested in laboratories that meet standards set by the Clinical Laboratory Improvement Amendments program.[7]

Division of State Group Insurance

Under the authority of s. 110.123, F.S., the Department of Management Services (DMS), through the Division of State Group Insurance, administers the state group health insurance program under a cafeteria plan consistent with s. 125, Internal Revenue Code. To administer the state group health insurance program, the DMS contracts with third party administrators for self-insured health plans and insured (HMOs), as well as a pharmacy benefits manager for the state employees' self-insured prescription drug program pursuant to s. 110.12315, F.S.

Florida's Medicaid Program[8]

Administration of the Program

The Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) is the single state agency responsible for the administration of the Florida Medicaid program, authorized under Title XIX of the Social Security Act (SSA). This authority includes establishing and maintaining a Medicaid state plan approved by the federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) and maintaining any Medicaid waivers needed to operate the Florida Medicaid program as directed by the Florida Legislature.

A Medicaid state plan is an agreement between a state and the federal government describing how that state administers its Medicaid programs; it establishes groups of individuals covered under the Medicaid program, services that are provided, payment methodologies, and other administrative and organizational requirements. State Medicaid programs may request a formal waiver of the requirements codified in the SSA. Federal waivers give states flexibility not afforded through their Medicaid state plan.

In Florida, most Medicaid recipients receive their services through a managed care plan contracted with the AHCA under the Statewide Medicaid Managed Care (SMMC) program. The SMMC program has three components: Managed Medical Assistance (MMA), Long-Term Care (LTC), and Dental. Florida's SMMC program benefits are authorized through federal waivers and are specifically required by the Florida Legislature in ss. 409.973 and 409.98, F.S.

Mandatory Medicaid Coverage

Section 409.905, F.S., relating to mandatory Medicaid services, provides that the AHCA may make payments for delineated services, which are required of the state by Title XIX of the Social Security Act. Currently, the Florida Medicaid program covers biomarker testing under s. 409.905(7), F.S., as a mandatory service under the category of "Independent Laboratory Services." Florida Medicaid reimburses eligible providers for biomarker testing services in accordance with Rule 59G-4.190, F.A.C., the Laboratory Services and Coverage Policy, and Rule 59G-4.002, F.A.C., the Independent and Practitioner Laboratory Fee Schedules.

An eligible recipient must be enrolled in the Florida Medicaid program on the date of service, and the services provided must be determined medically necessary, not duplicative of another service, and meet the criteria of the policy. When determining coverage or if it is appropriate to add a code to a Medicaid fee schedule, the AHCA considers clinical and practice guidelines as well as costs and maintaining budget neutrality.

The SMMC plans have the flexibility to cover services above and beyond the AHCA's coverage policies, but they may not be more restrictive.

Medically Necessary or Medical Necessity.[9] Under Florida's Medicaid program, for a medical or allied care, goods, or services furnished or ordered to be considered medically necessary or a medical necessity, it must meet the following conditions:

- Be necessary to protect life, to prevent significant illness or significant disability, or to alleviate severe pain.
- Be individualized, specific, and consistent with symptoms or confirmed diagnosis of the illness or injury under treatment, and not in excess of the patient's needs.
- Be consistent with generally accepted professional medical standards as determined by the Medicaid program, and not experimental or investigational.
- Be reflective of the level of service that can be safely furnished, and for which no equally effective and more conservative or less costly treatment is available statewide.
- Be furnished in a manner not primarily intended for the convenience of the recipient, the recipient's caretaker, or the provider.
- The fact that a provider has prescribed, recommended, or approved medical or allied care, goods, or services does not, in itself, make such care, goods or services medically necessary or a medical necessity or a covered service.
- Medically necessary or medical necessity for inpatient hospital services requires that those services furnished in a hospital on an inpatient basis could not, consistent with the provisions of appropriate medical care, be effectively furnished more economically on an outpatient basis or in an inpatient facility of a different type.

Federal and State Insurance Coverage for Biomarker Testing

In 2020 and 2022, the federal CMS issued a national coverage determination[10] and local coverage determination[11] that increased access to comprehensive biomarker testing and next-generation sequencing for Medicare beneficiaries.
Since 2021, four states have enacted laws mandating coverage of testing, diagnosis, treatment, management, or monitoring of a medical condition, including the following states[12]:

- Louisiana Senate Bill 84 requires broad health insurance coverage for genetic and molecular testing for cancer only.[13]

- Illinois House Bill 1779 requires state-regulated insurance and managed care plans to cover biomarker testing for the purposes of diagnosis, treatment, management, or monitoring of any medical condition.[14]
- Arizona House Bill 2144 requires health insurance coverage for biomarker testing for the purposes of diagnosis, treatment, management, or monitoring of any medical condition.[15]
- Rhode Island Senate Bill 2201 requires state-regulated individual and group health insurance plans to cover biomarker testing for the purposes of diagnosis, treatment, management, or monitoring of any medical condition.[16]

Recent Studies on the Long-Term Cost Impacts of Biomarker Testing

A 2022 study found the addition of biomarker testing (liquid biopsy) for non-small cell lung cancer resulted in incremental cost savings of $3,065 per patient compared to tissue biopsy alone. Increased detection of actionable alterations, using liquid biopsy, was also associated with more patients being treated with targeted therapy. Major drivers of cost-effectiveness were drug acquisition costs and prevalence of actionable alterations.[17]

A 2018 study found that biomarker testing for non-small cell lung cancer, instead of single-gene testing, decreased expected testing procedure related costs to the health plan payer by $24,651. First-line and maintenance treatment costs increased by $842,205, offset by a $385,000 decrease in second-line treatment and palliative care costs. Over 5 years, total budget impact was $432,554 ($0.0072 per member per month).[18]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill creates the following definitions for Sections 1 and 2 of the bill relating to the State Group Insurance Program and the Medicaid program, respectively:

- "Biomarker" means a defined characteristic that is measured as an indicator of normal biological processes, pathogenic processes, or responses to an exposure or intervention, including therapeutic interventions. "Biomarker testing" means an analysis of a patient's tissue, blood, or other biospecimen for the presence of a biomarker.
- "Clinical utility" means that the test result provides information used in the formulation of a treatment or in a monitoring strategy that impacts a patient's outcome and informs the clinical decision.

- "Nationally recognized clinical practice guidelines" means evidence-based clinical practice guidelines developed by independent organizations or medical professional societies using a transparent methodology and reporting structure and with a conflict-of-interest policy.

Section 1 amends s. 110.12303, F.S., relating to the State Group Insurance program (program) to mandate coverage of biomarker testing for policies issued on or after January 1, 2025. This coverage would include the diagnosis, treatment, management, or ongoing monitoring of an insured's disease or condition to guide treatment decisions when such testing provides clinical utility to the insured as demonstrated by medical and scientific evidence, including but not limited to, any of the following:

- Labeled indications for a test approved or cleared by the United States Food and Drug Administration (FDA) or indicated tests for an FDA-approved drug.
- Federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) national coverage determinations or Medicare Administrative Contractor local coverage determinations.
- Nationally recognized clinical practice guidelines.

The program is required to outline a process for insureds and providers to access a process to request an authorization for biomarker testing.

The biomarker testing services may not be construed to require coverage of biomarker testing for screening purposes.

Section 2 amends s. 409.906, F.S., relating to optional Medicaid services to authorize the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) to pay for biomarker testing for diagnosis, treatment, management, or ongoing monitoring of a recipient's disease or condition to guide treatment decisions when such testing provides clinical utility to the recipient as demonstrated by medical and scientific evidence, including but not limited to, any of the following:

- Labeled indications for a test approved or cleared by the United States FDA or indicated tests for an FDA-approved drug.
- Federal CMS national coverage determinations or Medicare Administrative Contractor local coverage determinations.
- Nationally recognized clinical practice guidelines.

The AHCA is also required to outline a process for enrollees and providers to access a process to request an authorization for biomarker testing.

The biomarker testing services may not be construed to require coverage of biomarker testing for screening purposes.

Section 3 creates s. 409.9745, F.S., to require managed care plans to provide coverage for biomarker testing for enrollees, as authorized under s. 409.906, F.S., at the same scope, duration, and frequency as the Medicaid program provides for other medically necessary treatments.

Managed care plans are required to outline a process for enrollees and providers to access a process for requesting authorization of biomarker testing.

The bill provides that this provision may not be construed to require coverage of biomarker testing for screening purposes.

Section 4 directs the AHCA to include the rate impact of this act in the Medicaid managed care program rates that take effect October 1, 2024.

Section 5 provides an effective date of July 1, 2024.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

The bill requires the Medicaid fee for service and the Medicaid managed care plans and the State Group Insurance program to cover biomarker testing for diagnosis, treatment, management, and ongoing monitoring of a disease or condition of an enrollee to guide treatment decisions when such testing provides clinical utility to the recipient and must be demonstrated by medical and scientific evidence, including but not limited to:

- Labeled indications for a test approved or cleared by the United States Food and Drug Administration (FDA) or indicated tests for an FDA-approved drug.
- Federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services national coverage determinations or Medicare Administrative Contractor local coverage determinations.
- Nationally recognized clinical practice guidelines.

Use of the term "including but not limited to" indicates that the bill does not provide an all-inclusive list for medical and scientific evidence, and it is unclear who would determine the credibility or admissibility of it. Further, the term, "nationally recognized clinical practice guidelines," does not provide specific named guidelines or examples. The bill provides no rulemaking authority, guidance or standards for the Agency for Health Care Administration or the State Group Insurance program to use for establishing this additional criteria. Thus, this additional, unspecified medical and scientific evidence or guidelines for determining coverage may be an unlawful delegation of legislative authority.

The Legislature may not delegate its constitutional duties to another branch of government.[19] While the Legislature must make fundamental policy decisions, it may delegate the task of implementing that policy to executive agencies with "some minimal standards and guidelines ascertainable by reference to the enactment establishing the program."[20] Moreover, the Legislature can permit "administration of legislative policy by an agency with the expertise and flexibility to deal with complex and fluid conditions."[21]

Florida courts have found an unlawful delegation of legislative authority in the following instances:

- Where the Legislature allowed the Department of State to "in its discretion allow such a candidate to withdraw…";[22] and
- Where the Legislature created a criminal penalty for escape from certain classifications of juvenile detention facilities, but delegated the classification (or determination whether to classify at all) to an agency.[23]

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

Indeterminate. The mandated coverage is anticipated to reduce the overall costs of care of an enrollee, insured, or subscriber as a result of the use of a more targeted, optimal treatment protocol.

C. Government Sector Impact:

Florida's Medicaid Program[24]

The bill would limit the Agency for Health Care Administration's (AHCA) ability to determine coverage of biomarker testing using the current established process. The bill could have both a significant operational and fiscal impact on the Medicaid Program as it would require the AHCA to cover all codes that meet the clinical criteria defined by the bill. However, expanding the number of biomarker tests covered under the Florida Medicaid program may result in future cost savings from the use of more targeted, optimal treatment protocols for diseases.

The bill mandates specific criteria by which biomarker testing must be evaluated for coverage by Florida Medicaid. Currently, the AHCA does not define "specific nationally recognized clinical practice guidelines" in rule for determining coverage. Covered services must be medically necessary as defined by Rule 59G-1.010, F.A.C., not duplicate another service, and meet the criteria in the service specific coverage policy. When determining coverage or if it is appropriate to add a code to a FFS Medicaid fee schedule, the AHCA considers clinical and practice guidelines as well as costs and maintaining budget neutrality.

Typically, the AHCA does not cover every code designated by the American Medical Association (AMA) for a covered service. For example, the Agency covers integumentary and wound care supplies under s. 409.906 F.S., Optional Medicaid services. There are a total of 87 skin substitute procedure codes listed in the AMA Current Procedural Terminology (CPT) codebook. Of these, Florida Medicaid covers a total of 26 CPT codes.

There are numerous biomarker tests that are Propriety Laboratory Analyses (PLA) CPT codes. A PLA code is a descriptor for a lab or manufacturer that wants to identify its proprietary test more specifically. Florida Medicaid currently covers 46 non-PLA biomarker CPT codes under the Laboratory Services Fee Schedule that are listed on the federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services List for Billing and Coding: Biomarkers for Oncology. Florida Medicaid does not typically include PLA codes on FFS fee schedules.

As currently written, the bill requires the AHCA to cover every biomarker test when the medical and scientific evidence, as outlined in the bill, indicates clinical utility to the recipient. This requirement will have a significant fiscal impact to the Medicaid program which is indeterminate and on-going as the number of PLA and non-PLA codes that could meet this criteria is unknown. The impact will be ongoing as the bill will require the AHCA to cover a biomarker test every time a new test meets the criteria outlined in the bill.

State Group Insurance

The fiscal impact of the mandated coverage on the State Group Insurance is indeterminate and may range from zero to $1.6 million annually.[25] It is unclear what particular biomarker tests are currently covered and the criteria that is used to determine coverage of such testing.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

The additional coverage mandates and criteria for coverage created in ss. 409.906 and 409.9745, F.S. appear to conflict with current coverage requirements of s. 409.905, F.S. Currently, s. 409.905, F.S., relating to the federal mandatory services, requires Florida's fee for service and Statewide Medicaid Managed Care to provide coverage for biomarker testing, subject to medical necessity and other requirements. However, the bill requires Medicaid to provide coverage for biomarker testing under the optional services required by the state but subject to an appropriation, pursuant to s. 409.906, F.S. This would apply to fee for service, as well as managed care plans. Like mandatory federal services, optional services under the Medicaid program are subject to medical necessity and other requirements. However, the bill requires coverage of biomarker testing when the testing provides clinical utility, which appears to be a different standard than medical necessity.

[25] Department of Management Services, 2024 Legislative Bill Analysis, Committee Substitute for House Bill 885 (Feb. 5, 2024)(on file with the Senate Appropriations Committee on Health and Human Services)

The bill provides that the medical and scientific evidence that may be used to determine if biomarker testing provides clinical utility "includes, but is not limited to" certain specified items. The use of the phrase "includes, but is not limited to" results in the bill being unclear what the additional medical and scientific evidence would be that would require the coverage of a biomarker test.

VII. Related Issues:

The bill takes effect on July 1, 2024. However, the Medicaid provider reimbursement fee schedules are set on a plan year beginning October 1.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends sections 110.12303 and 409.906 of the Florida Statutes.

This bill creates section 409.9745 of the Florida Statutes.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS/CS by Appropriations Committee on Health and Human Services on February 13, 2024:
The committee substitute directs the Agency for Health Care Administration to include the rate impact from this act in the Medicaid managed care program rates that take effect October 1, 2024.

CS by Banking and Insurance on February 6, 2024:
The committee substitute excludes commercial policies and contracts from the coverage mandate. Such coverage is mandated for the Medicaid fee for service program and the managed care plans and State Group Insurance.

whole exome, whole genome, and whole transcriptome sequencing performed at a participating in-network laboratory facility that is certified pursuant to the federal Clinical Laboratory Improvement Amendment (CLIA) or that has obtained a CLIA Certificate of Waiver by the United States Food and Drug Administration for the tests.

3. "Clinical utility" means the test result provides information that is used in the formulation of a treatment or monitoring strategy that informs a patient's outcome and impacts the clinical decision.

(b) For state group health insurance plan policies issued on or after January 1, 2025, the department shall provide coverage of biomarker testing for the purposes of diagnosis, treatment, appropriate management, or ongoing monitoring of an enrollee's disease or condition to guide treatment decisions if medical and scientific evidence indicates that the biomarker testing provides clinical utility to the enrollee. Such medical and scientific evidence includes, but is not limited to:

1. A labeled indication for a test approved or cleared by the United States Food and Drug Administration;

2. An indicated test for a drug approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration;

3. A national coverage determination made by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services or a local coverage determination made by the Medicare Administrative Contractor; or

4. A nationally recognized clinical practice guideline. As used in this subparagraph, the term "nationally recognized clinical practice guideline" means an evidence-based clinical practice guideline developed by independent organizations or medical professional societies using a transparent methodology and reporting structure and with a conflict-of-interest policy. Guidelines developed by such organizations or societies establish standards of care informed by a systematic review of evidence and an assessment of the benefits and costs of alternative care options and include recommendations intended to optimize patient care.

(c) Each state group health insurance plan shall provide enrollees and participating providers with a clear and convenient process to request authorization for biomarker testing. Such process must be made readily accessible online to all enrollees and participating providers.

(d) This subsection does not require coverage of biomarker testing for screening purposes.

Section 2. Subsection (29) is added to section 409.906, Florida Statutes, to read:

409.906 Optional Medicaid services.—Subject to specific appropriations, the agency may make payments for services which are optional to the state under Title XIX of the Social Security Act and are furnished by Medicaid providers to recipients who are determined to be eligible on the dates on which the services were provided. Any optional service that is provided shall be provided only when medically necessary and in accordance with state and federal law. Optional services rendered by providers in mobile units to Medicaid recipients may be restricted or prohibited by the agency. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent or limit the agency from adjusting fees, reimbursement rates, lengths of stay, number of visits, or number of services, or making any other adjustments necessary to comply with the availability of moneys and any limitations or directions provided for in the General Appropriations Act or chapter 216. If necessary to safeguard the state's systems of providing services to elderly and disabled persons and subject to the notice and review provisions of s. 216.177, the Governor may direct the Agency for Health Care Administration to amend the Medicaid state plan to delete the optional Medicaid service known as "Intermediate Care Facilities for the Developmentally Disabled." Optional services may include:

(29) BIOMARKER TESTING SERVICES.—

(a) As used in this subsection, the term:

1. "Biomarker" means a defined characteristic that is measured as an indicator of normal biological processes, pathogenic processes, or responses to an exposure or intervention, including therapeutic interventions. The term includes, but is not limited to, molecular, histologic, radiographic, or physiologic characteristics but does not include an assessment of how a patient feels, functions, or survives.

2. "Biomarker testing" means an analysis of a patient's tissue, blood, or other biospecimen for the presence of a biomarker. The term includes, but is not limited to, single analyte tests, multiplex panel tests, protein expression, and whole exome, whole genome, and whole transcriptome sequencing performed at a participating in-network laboratory facility that is certified pursuant to the federal Clinical Laboratory Improvement Amendment (CLIA) or that has obtained a CLIA Certificate of Waiver by the United States Food and Drug Administration for the tests.

3. "Clinical utility" means the test result provides information that is used in the formulation of a treatment or monitoring strategy that informs a patient's outcome and impacts the clinical decision.

(b) The agency may pay for biomarker testing for the purposes of diagnosis, treatment, appropriate management, or ongoing monitoring of a recipient's disease or condition to guide treatment decisions if medical and scientific evidence indicates that the biomarker testing provides clinical utility to the recipient. Such medical and scientific evidence includes, but is not limited to:

1. A labeled indication for a test approved or cleared by the Unites States Food and Drug Administration;

2. An indicated test for a drug approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration;

3. A national coverage determination made by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services or a local coverage determination made by the Medicare Administrative Contractor; or

4. A nationally recognized clinical practice guideline. As used in this subparagraph, the term "nationally recognized clinical practice guideline" means an evidence-based clinical practice guideline developed by independent organizations or medical professional societies using a transparent methodology and reporting structure and with a conflict-of-interest policy. Guidelines developed by such organizations or societies establish standards of care informed by a systematic review of evidence and an assessment of the benefits and costs of alternative care options and include recommendations intended to optimize patient care.

(c) Recipients and participating providers must be provided access to a clear and convenient process to request authorization for biomarker testing as provided under this subsection. Such process must be made readily accessible online to all recipients and participating providers.

(d) This subsection does not require coverage of biomarker testing for screening purposes.

(e) The agency may seek federal approval necessary to implement this subsection.

Section 3. Section 409.9745, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

409.9745 Managed care plan biomarker testing.—

(1) A managed care plan must provide coverage for biomarker testing for recipients, as authorized under s. 409.906, at the same scope, duration, and frequency as the Medicaid program provides for other medically necessary treatments.

(2) The managed care plan shall provide recipients and health care providers with access to a clear and convenient process to request authorization for biomarker testing as provided under this section. Such process must be made readily accessible on the managed care plan's website.

(3) This section does not require coverage of biomarker testing for screening purposes.

Section 4. The Agency for Health Care Administration is directed to include the rate impact of this act in the applicable Medicaid managed medical assistance program and long-term care managed care program rates that become effective on October 1, 2024.

Section 5. This act shall take effect October 1, 2024.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 994 revises statutory provisions relating to the camera enforcement of traffic infractions related to passing of a stopped school bus. Specifically, the bill:

- Authorizes a private vendor or manufacturer of a school bus infraction detector system to receive a fixed amount of collected proceeds for services rendered regarding a school bus infraction detection system.
- Revises required signage on school buses with infraction detection system.
- Allocates civil penalties to the appropriate school district to pay for the program and other student transportation safety enhancements.
- Provides that the collection of evidence from a school bus infraction detection system does not constitute remote surveillance.
- Limits the use of video and images from the system to specified purposes.
- Requires specified traffic penalties to be remitted to a school district.

The bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on the public, but may have a positive fiscal impact on the private sector. See Section V., Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill takes effect upon becoming a law.

II. Present Situation:

Use of Cameras for Traffic Enforcement

Florida law expressly preempts to the state the regulation of the use of cameras for enforcing the Florida Uniform Traffic Control Law.[1] The only cameras currently authorized to enforce traffic laws are traffic infraction detectors (commonly known as red light cameras),[2] speed detection systems used to enforce school zone speed limits for violations in excess of 10 miles per hour over the speed limit,[3] and school bus infraction detection systems.[4]

School Bus-Related Traffic Laws

Pursuant to s. 316.172, F.S., a school bus must stop as far to the right of the street as possible and display warning lights and stop signals before discharging or loading passengers.[5] When possible, school buses should not stop where visibility is obscured for a distance of 200 feet from the bus.[6]

When approaching a stopped school bus displaying a stop signal, a driver must bring his or her vehicle to a full stop until the bus's signal is withdrawn.[7] However, a driver is not required to stop if his or her vehicle is traveling in the opposite direction of a stopped school bus on a divided highway with an unpaved space of at least five feet, a raised median, or a physical barrier.[8]

A person cited for failing to stop for a school bus displaying a stop signal pursuant to s. 316.172(1)(a), F.S., commits a moving violation and is subject to a $200 civil penalty.[9] A person cited for a moving violation may either pay the civil penalty or request a hearing to contest the citation.[10] Additionally, any person who is convicted, pleads nolo contendere, or is subject to the court withholding adjudication for such violation must attend a driver improvement course.[11]

A driver who passes a school bus on the side that children enter and exit while the school bus displays a stop signal pursuant to s. 316.172(1)(b), F.S., also commits a moving violation; however, he or she is subject to a $400 civil penalty[12] and must attend a mandatory hearing,[13] and attend a driver improvement course.[14]

A driver who illegally passes a stopped school bus and:

- Does not cause serious bodily injury or death to another, will receive four points on his or her driver license record.[15]
- Causes serious bodily injury or death to another, will receive six points on his or her driver license record and must:[16]
  - Serve 120 community service hours in a trauma center or hospital that regularly receives victims of vehicle accidents;
  - Participate in a victim's impact panel session; if such panel does not exist, the driver must attend a driver improvement course approved by the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles (DHSMV) relating to the rights of vulnerable road users relative to vehicles on the roadway;[17] and
  - Pay a $1,500 fine and have his or her driver license suspended for at least one year.[18]

When a driver accumulates a specified number of points on his or her driving record within a certain time period, his or her license is suspended, as follows:

- 12 points in 12 months – 30-day suspension.
- 18 points in 18 months – 3-month suspension.
- 24 points in 36 months – 12-month suspension.[19]

School Bus Stop Arm Traffic Citations

The Florida Department of Education created a statewide survey for bus drivers to complete regarding the illegal passing of their school buses. The 2023 survey showed that on a single day, 11,224 illegal passes were made based on the observations of 8,432 school bus drivers who completed the survey. Of these illegal passes, 568 were made on the right side of the bus where children generally enter and exit the vehicle, and 10,660 were made on the left side.[20]

School Bus Infraction Detection Systems

In 2023, the Legislature authorized the use of school bus infraction detection systems to enforce traffic violations for passing a stopped school bus loading or unloading passengers.[21]

That bill defined the term "school bus infraction detection system" to mean a camera system affixed to a school bus with two or more camera sensors or computers that produce a recorded video and two or more film or digital photographic still images for the purpose of documenting a motor vehicle being used or operated in a manner that allegedly violates s. 316.172(1)(a) or (b), F.S.[22]

[22] Section 316.003(78), F.S.

The 2023 law authorized school districts to contract with a private vendor or manufacturer to install a school bus infraction detection system on any school bus within its fleet, whether owned, contracted, or leased, and for services including, but not limited to, the installation, operation, and maintenance of the system. The school district's decision to install school bus infraction systems must be based solely on the need to increase public safety.[23]

An individual may not receive a commission from any revenue collected from violations detected through the use of a school bus infraction detection system. A private vendor or manufacturer may not receive a fee or remuneration based upon the number of violations detected through the use of a school bus infraction detection system. [24]

School district must ensure that each school bus infraction detection system meets State Board of Education (SBE) specifications and must be tested at regular intervals according to specifications prescribed by SBE rule.[25] Equipment acquired via an agreement entered into by a school district on or before December 31, 2023, is not required to meet SBE specifications until July, 1, 2024. [26]

Florida law provides that a school district that elects to install a school bus infraction detection system must enter into an interlocal agreement with one or more law enforcement agencies authorized to enforce traffic violations, within the school district. The interlocal agreement jointly establishes the responsibilities of enforcement and the reimbursement of costs associated with school bus infraction detection systems.[27]

On any school bus in which a school bus infraction detection system is installed and operational, the school district must post high-visibility reflective signage on the rear of the school bus indicating the use of such system, which must contain the following elements in substantially the following form:

- The words “STOP WHEN RED LIGHTS FLASH” or “DO NOT PASS WHEN RED LIGHTS FLASH.”
- The words “CAMERA ENFORCED.”
- A graphic depiction of a camera.[28]

If a school district that has never conducted a school bus infraction detection system program begins such a program, the school district must make a public announcement and conduct a public awareness campaign for at least 30 days before beginning enforcement. The school district must notify the public of the specific date on which the program will begin and, during the 30-day public awareness campaign, only a warning may be issued for a violation that is enforced by a school bus infraction detection system, and a civil penalty may not be imposed.[29]

[29] Section 316.173(3), F.S.

Within 30 days after an alleged violation is recorded by a school bus infraction detection system, the school district or the private vendor or manufacturer with whom the school district has entered into a contract, must submit the following information to a law enforcement agency that has entered into an interlocal agreement with the school district and has traffic infraction enforcement jurisdiction at the location where the alleged violation occurred:

- A copy of the recorded video and images showing the motor vehicle's alleged violations;
- The motor vehicle's license plate number and the state of issuance of the motor vehicle's license plate; and
- The date, time, and location of the alleged violation.[30]

Within 30 days after receiving the information required above, the law enforcement agency, if it determines that the motor vehicle violated the laws relating to traffic stopping for a school bus, must send notice of violation to the registered owner of the motor vehicle involved in the violation specifying the remedies available under s. 318.14, F.S.,[31] and that the violator must pay the penalty under s. 318.18(5), F.S.,[32] or furnish an affidavit within 30 days after the date the notice of violation is sent in order to avoid court fees, costs, and the issuance of a uniform traffic citation. The notice of violation must be sent by first-class mail and include all of the following:

- A copy of one or more recorded images showing the motor vehicle involved in the violation, including an image showing the license plate of the motor vehicle;
- The date, time, and location of the violation;
- The amount of the civil penalty, the date by which the civil penalty must be paid, and instructions on how to pay the civil penalty;
- Instructions on how to request a hearing to contest liability or the notice of violation;
- A notice that the owner has the right to review, in person or remotely, the video and images recorded by the school bus infraction detection system which constitute a rebuttable presumption that the motor vehicle was used in violation of law;
- The time when, and the place or website at which, the recorded video and images may be examined and observed; and
- A warning that failure to pay the civil penalty or to contest liability within 30 days after the notice is mailed will result in the issuance of a uniform traffic citation.[33]

If the registered owner or co-owner of the motor vehicle; the person identified as having care, custody, or control of the motor vehicle at the time of the violation; or an authorized representative of the owner, co-owner, or identified person initiates a proceeding to challenge the violation, such person waives any challenge or dispute as to the delivery of the notice of violation.[34]

[30] Section 316.173(4), F.S.

[31] Section 318.14, F.S., provides procedures for noncriminal traffic infractions.

[32] Section 318.18(5), F.S., provides a minimum penalty of $200 for a failure to stop for a school bus and a minimum penalty of $200 for passing a school bus on the side that children enter and exit if the violation is enforced by a school bus infraction detection system. In addition to these penalties, if the alleged offender is found to have committed the offense and it is enforced by a school bus infraction detection system, then the court must impose the civil penalty aforementioned plus an additional $25.

[33] Section 316.173(5), F.S.

[34] Section 316.173(6), F.S.

The civil penalties assessed and collected for a violation enforced by a school bus infraction detection system are remitted to the school district in which the violation occurred. Such civil penalties must be used for the installation or maintenance of school bus infraction detection systems on school buses, for any other technology that increases the safety of the transportation of students, or for the administration and costs associated with the enforcement of violations.[35]

If payment has not been made within 30 days after the notice of violation and if the registered owner has not submitted an affidavit supporting an exception, a uniform traffic citation must be issued, by certified mail, to the address of the registered owner of the motor vehicle involved in the violation.[36]

Delivery of the uniform traffic citation constitutes notification of a violation. If the registered owner or co-owner of the motor vehicle; the person identified as having care, custody, or control of the motor vehicle at the time of the violation; or a duly authorized representative of the owner, co-owner, or identified person initiates a proceeding to challenge the citation, such person waives any challenge or dispute as to delivery of the uniform traffic citation.[37]

In the case of joint ownership of a motor vehicle, the uniform traffic citation must be mailed to the first name appearing on the motor vehicle registration, unless the first name appearing on the registration is a business organization, in which case the second name appearing on the registration may be used.[38] The uniform traffic citation mailed to the registered owner of the motor vehicle involved in the violation must be accompanied by information that was also included in the notice of violation.[39]

The registered owner of the motor vehicle involved in the violation is responsible and liable for paying the uniform traffic citation issued for a violation of the laws relating to traffic stopping for a school bus, unless the owner can establish that:

- The motor vehicle was, at the time of the violation, in the care, custody, or control of another person;
- A uniform traffic citation was issued by a law enforcement officer to the driver of the motor vehicle for the alleged violation; or
- The motor vehicle's owner was deceased on or before the date of the alleged violation.[40]

The statute also provides requirements for establishing the above facts and provides mechanism for citing another person who had care, custody, and control of the motor vehicle.[41]

Florida law provides that the video and images by a school bus infraction detection system which are attached to or referenced in the traffic citation are evidence of a violation and are admissible in any proceeding. The recorded and video images raise a rebuttable presumption that the motor vehicle shown in the recorded and video images was used in violation of the laws relating to stopping for a school bus.[42] Notwithstanding any other law, equipment deployed as part of a school bus infraction detection system may not be capable of automated or user-controlled remote surveillance.[43]

Any recorded video or still image obtained through the use of a school bus infraction detection system must be destroyed within 90 days after the final disposition of the recorded event. The vendor providing the school bus infraction detection system must provide the school district with written notice by December 31 of each year that such records have been destroyed. Registered motor vehicle owner information obtained as a result of the operation of a school bus infraction detection system is not the property of the manufacturer or vendor of the system and may be used only for specified purposes.[44]

To the extent practicable, a school bus infraction detection system may use necessary technology to ensure that personal identifying information contained in the video or still images recorded by the system which is not relevant to the alleged violation is sufficiently obscured so as not to reveal such personal identifying information. A notice of a violation or uniform traffic citation may not be dismissed solely because a recorded video or still images reveal personal identifying information as long as a reasonable effort has been made to comply with the privacy provisions.[45]

By October 1, 2023, and quarterly thereafter, each school district, in consultation with the law enforcement agencies with which it has interlocal agreements, operating a school bus infraction detection system must submit a report to the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles (DHSMV) detailing the results of the school bus infraction detection systems in the school district in the preceding quarter. The information submitted by the school district musts be submitted in form and manner determined by the DHSMV, and must include, the following:

- The number of school buses that have a school bus infraction detection system installed, including the date of installation and, if applicable, the date the systems were removed.
- The number of notices of violations issued and the number that were contested, the number that were upheld, the number that were dismissed, the number that were issued as uniform traffic citations, and the number that were paid.
- Data for each to determine the locations in need of safety improvements.
- Any other statistical data and information the DHSMV requires to complete its required report.[46]

By December 31, 2024, and annually thereafter, the DHSMV must submit a summary report to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, regarding the use and operation of school bus infraction detection systems along with the DHSMV's recommendations and any recommended legislation. The summary report must include a review of the information submitted to the DHSMV by the school districts and must describe the enhancement of traffic safety and enforcement programs.[47]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill amends s. 316.173, F.S., relating to school bus infraction detection systems for the purpose of enforcing s. 316.172(1)(a) and (b), F.S.

Prohibition on Commissions and Fee-Sharing

The bill retains the existing prohibitions on:

- An individual receiving a commission from any revenue collected from violations detected through the use of a school bus infraction detection system; and
- A private vendor or manufacturer receiving fee or remuneration based upon the number of violations detected through the use of a school bus infraction detection system.

However, the bill authorizes a private vendor or manufacturer to receive a fixed amount of collected proceeds for service rendered in relation to the installation, operation, or maintenance of a school bus infraction detection system.

School Bus Signage

The bill revises requirements for signage posted on the rear of a school bus indicating use of a school bus infraction detection system by no longer requiring the signage to be high-visibility reflective.

Court Requirements

The bill provides that a court that has jurisdiction over traffic violations must determine whether a violation has occurred. If a court finds by a preponderance of the evidence that a violation has occurred, the court must uphold the violation. If the notice of violation is upheld, the court must require the $200 or $400 penalty, plus an additional $25,[48] and may also require the petitioner to pay costs, not to exceed $250.[49]

Civil Penalties

The bill provides that the civil penalties assessed and collected via the enforcement of a school bus infraction detection system must be remitted to the school district in which the violation occurred.

The bill revises the use for civil penalties assessed and collected for a violation enforced by a school bus infraction detection system. Such penalties must be used for the installation, operation, or maintenance of school bus infraction detection systems on school buses, including student transportation safety initiatives, driver recruitment and retention stipends, or other student transportation safety enhancements, or for administration and costs associated with the enforcement of the violations.

[48] These penalties are assessed pursuant to s. 318.18(5), F.S.
[49] This is the maximum county or municipal costs for red light camera violations going to a hearing. See s. 316.0083(5)(e), F.S.

The bill clarifies that the $25 civil penalty provided in s. 318.18(5)(c), F.S., applies to a notice of violation. The bill provides that this fee must be remitted to the participating school district operating the school bus with a school bus infraction detection system.

Use of Camera Footage

The bill provides that a school bus infraction detection system may not be used for remote surveillance, and the collection of evidence by a school bus infraction detection system to enforce violations does not constitute remote surveillance.

The bill provides that a school bus infraction detection system may only be used for traffic enforcement and for purposes of determining criminal or civil liability for incidents captured by the school bus infraction detection system incidental to the permissible use of the school bus infraction detection system.

Reporting Requirements

The bill revises the quarterly report requirements due to the DHSMV by making technical changes to the requirement that such report be made in in consultation with the law enforcement agencies with which the school district has interlocal agreements.

Effective Date

The bill takes effect upon becoming a law.

Section 1. Paragraph (b) of subsection (1), paragraph (a) of subsection (2), subsections (5) and (7), paragraph (a) of subsection (16), and paragraph (a) of subsection (17) of section 316.173, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

(b) The school district may contract with a private vendor or manufacturer to install a school bus infraction detection system on any school bus within its fleet, whether owned, contracted, or leased, and for services including, but not limited to, the installation, operation, and maintenance of the system. The school district's decision to install school bus infraction detection systems must be based solely on the need to increase public safety. An individual may not receive a commission from any revenue collected from violations detected through the use of a school bus infraction detection system. A private vendor or manufacturer may not receive a fee or remuneration based upon the number of violations detected through the use of a school bus infraction detection system. This paragraph may not be construed to prohibit a private vendor or manufacturer from receiving a fixed amount of collected proceeds for service rendered in relation to the installation, operation, or maintenance of school bus infraction detection systems.

(2)(a) The school district must post ~~high-visibility reflective~~ signage on the rear of each school bus in which a school bus infraction detection system is installed and operational which indicates the use of such system. The signage must be in the form of one or more signs or stickers and must contain the following elements in substantially the following form:

1. The words "STOP WHEN RED LIGHTS FLASH" or "DO NOT PASS WHEN RED LIGHTS FLASH."

2. The words "CAMERA ENFORCED."

3. A graphic depiction of a camera.

(5) Within 30 days after receiving the information required in subsection (4), the law enforcement agency must, if it is determined ~~determines~~ that the motor vehicle violated s. 316.172(1)(a) or (b), ~~must~~ send a notice of violation to the registered owner of the motor vehicle involved in the violation specifying the remedies available under s. 318.14 and that the violator must pay the penalty under s. 318.18(5) or furnish an affidavit in accordance with subsection (10) within 30 days after the notice of violation is sent in order to avoid court fees, costs, and the issuance of a uniform traffic citation. The notice of violation must be sent by first-class mail and include all of the following:

(a) A copy of one or more recorded images showing the motor vehicle involved in the violation, including an image showing the license plate of the motor vehicle.

(b) The date, time, and location of the violation.

(c) The amount of the civil penalty, the date by which the civil penalty must be paid, and instructions on how to pay the civil penalty.

(d) Instructions on how to request a hearing to contest liability or the notice of violation.

(e) A notice that the owner has the right to review, in person or remotely, the video and images recorded by the school bus infraction detection system which constitute a rebuttable presumption that the motor vehicle was used in violation of s. 316.172(1)(a) or (b).

(f) The time when, and the place or website at which, the recorded video and images may be examined and observed.

(g) A warning that failure to pay the civil penalty or to contest liability within 30 days after the notice is sent will result in the issuance of a uniform traffic citation. A court that has jurisdiction over traffic violations shall determine whether a violation of this section has occurred. If a court finds by a preponderance of the evidence that a violation occurred, the court must uphold the violation. If the notice of violation is upheld, the court must require the petitioner to pay the penalty previously assessed under s. 318.18(5), and may also require the petitioner to pay costs, not to exceed those established in s. 316.0083(5)(e).

(7) The civil penalties assessed and collected for a violation of s. 316.172(1)(a) or (b) enforced by a school bus infraction detection system must be remitted to the school district in which the violation occurred. Such civil penalties must be used for the installation, operation, or maintenance of school bus infraction detection systems on school buses, including student transportation safety initiatives, driver recruitment and retention stipends, or other student transportation safety enhancements ~~for any other technology that increases the safety of the transportation of students~~, or for the administration and costs associated with the enforcement of violations as described in this section.

(16)(a)1. ~~Notwithstanding any other law, equipment deployed as part of~~ A school bus infraction detection system ~~as provided under this section~~ may not be used for ~~capable of automated or user-controlled~~ remote surveillance. The collection of evidence by a school bus infraction detection system to enforce violations of s. 316.172 does not constitute remote surveillance.

2. Video and images recorded as part of a ~~the~~ school bus infraction detection system may only be used for traffic enforcement and for purposes of determining criminal or civil liability for incidents captured by the school bus infraction detection system incidental to the permissible use of the school bus infraction detection system ~~to document violations of s. 316.172(1)(a) and (b) and may not be used for any other surveillance purposes~~.

3. To the extent practicable, a school bus infraction detection system must use necessary technology to ensure that personal identifying information contained in the video or still images recorded by the system which is not relevant to the alleged violation, including, but not limited to, the identity of the driver and any passenger of a motor vehicle, the interior or contents of a motor vehicle, the identity of an uninvolved person, a number identifying the address of a private residence, and the contents or interior of a private residence, is sufficiently obscured so as not to reveal such personal identifying information.

4. A notice of a violation or uniform traffic citation issued under this section may not be dismissed solely because a recorded video or still images reveal personal identifying information as provided in subparagraph 3. as long as a reasonable effort has been made to comply with this subsection.

(17)(a) By October 1, 2023, and quarterly thereafter, each school district~~, in consultation with the law enforcement agencies with which it has interlocal agreements pursuant to this section,~~ operating a school bus infraction detection system must submit, in consultation with the law enforcement agencies with which it has interlocal agreements pursuant to this section, a report to the department which details the results of the school bus infraction detection systems in the school district in the preceding quarter. The information from the school districts must be submitted in a form and manner determined by the department, which the department must make available to the school districts by August 1, 2023, and must include at least the following:

1. The number of school buses that have a school bus infraction detection system installed, including the date of installation and, if applicable, the date the systems were removed.

2. The number of notices of violations issued, the number that were contested, the number that were upheld, the number that were dismissed, the number that were issued as uniform traffic citations, and the number that were paid.

3. Data for each infraction to determine locations in need of safety improvements. Such data may ~~must~~ include, but is not limited to, global positioning system coordinates of the infraction, the date and time of the infraction, and the name of the school that the school bus was transporting students to or from.

4. Any other statistical data and information required by the department to complete the report required by paragraph (c).

Section 2. Paragraph (c) of subsection (5) of section 318.18, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

318.18 Amount of penalties.—The penalties required for a noncriminal disposition pursuant to s. 318.14 or a criminal offense listed in s. 318.17 are as follows:

(5)

(c) In addition to the penalty under paragraph (a) or paragraph (b), $65 for a violation of s. 316.172(1)(a) or (b). If the alleged offender is found to have committed the offense, the court shall impose the civil penalty under paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) plus an additional $65. The additional $65 collected under this paragraph shall be remitted to the Department of Revenue for deposit into the Emergency Medical Services Trust Fund of the Department of Health to be used as provided in s. 395.4036. If a violation of s. 316.172(1)(a) or (b) is enforced by a school bus infraction detection system pursuant to s. 316.173, the additional amount imposed on a notice of violation, on a ~~the~~ uniform traffic citation, or by the court under this paragraph must be $25, in lieu of the additional $65, and must be remitted to the participating school district and used pursuant to s. 316.173(7).

Section 3. This act shall take effect upon becoming a law.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 1040 creates an act that may be cited as the Providing Equity in Telehealth Services (PETS) Act (PETS act), which establishes a framework for the practice of veterinary telehealth.

In Florida, the practice of "veterinary medicine" means the diagnosis of medical conditions of animals, and the prescribing or administering of medicine and treatment to animals for the prevention, cure, or relief of a wound, fracture, bodily injury, or disease. Veterinarians are licensed and regulated by the Board of Veterinary Medicine (board) in the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR), pursuant to ch. 474, F.S., relating to the statutory standards for veterinary medical practice (practice act). The purpose of the practice act is to ensure that every veterinarian practicing in Florida meets minimum requirements for safe practice to protect public health and safety.[1]

Current law defines a "veterinarian/client/patient relationship" (VCPR) as one in which a veterinarian has assumed responsibility for making medical judgments about the health of an animal and its need for medical treatment. Veterinarians are permitted to prescribe drugs in the course of veterinary practice; however, the veterinarian must be either personally acquainted with the keeping and caring of the animal and have recently seen the animal, or have made medically appropriate and timely visits to the premises where the animal is kept before prescribing drugs in the course of practice.

[1] Section 474.201, F.S.

The use of electronic communications to facilitate patient health care (telehealth) is not addressed in the practice act and is not specifically prohibited or authorized in Florida. However, medical doctors may practice telehealth in Florida and may establish a patient relationship with a patient evaluation via telehealth under certain circumstances.[2]

The regulatory framework for the PETS act establishes a framework for the practice of veterinary telehealth, provides in part as follows:

- Defines "veterinary telehealth" to mean the use of synchronous or asynchronous telecommunications technology (occurring or not occurring simultaneously) by a telehealth provider to provide health care services. This includes, but is not limited to, assessment, diagnosis, consultation, treatment, and monitoring of a patient; transfer of medical data; patient and professional health-related education; public health services; and health administration.
- Authorizes a veterinarian to use veterinary telehealth to perform an initial patient evaluation to establish the veterinarian/client/patient relationship, if the evaluation is conducted using audiovisual communication at the same time that the evaluation occurs (synchronous, audiovisual communication); the evaluation may not be performed using audio-only communications, text messaging, questionnaires, chatbots, or other similar means;
- Requires that if the initial patient evaluation is performed using veterinary telehealth, certain information must be supplied to the client, including the veterinarian's contact information;
- Authorizes a veterinarian practicing veterinary telehealth to order, prescribe, or make available medicinal drugs or drugs as defined in s. 465.003, F.S., the Florida Pharmacy Act.
- Prohibits a veterinarian from using veterinary telehealth to prescribe a controlled substance as defined in ch. 893, F.S. (Drug Abuse Preventions and Control), unless the veterinarian has conducted an in-person physical examination of the animal or made medically appropriate and timely visits within the past year to the premises where the animal is kept.
- Allows veterinarians who are personally acquainted with the caring or keeping of an animal or group of animals for food-producing animal operations, who have recently seen the animals or made medically appropriate and timely visits to practice veterinary telehealth for these animals.
- Specifies that only Florida licensed veterinarians may practice veterinary telehealth, and grants the board jurisdiction over the practice of veterinary telehealth.

According to the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR), there is no impact expected on state or local government revenues and expenditures.[3] See Section V, Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill has an effective date of July 1, 2024.

II. Present Situation:

Veterinary Medicine, the Practice of Veterinary Medicine, and Exempted Persons

In 1979, the Legislature determined the practice of veterinary medicine to be potentially dangerous to public health and safety if conducted by incompetent and unlicensed practitioners and that minimum requirements for the safe practice of veterinary medicine are necessary.[4] The Board of Veterinary Medicine (board) in the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR) implements the provisions of ch. 474, F.S., on Veterinary Medical Practice.[5] A veterinarian is a health care practitioner licensed to engage in the practice of veterinary medicine in Florida under ch. 474, F.S.[6] In Fiscal Year 2022-2023, there were 13,285 actively licensed veterinarians in Florida.[7]

Veterinary medicine[8] includes, with respect to animals:[9]

- Surgery;
- Acupuncture;
- Obstetrics;
- Dentistry;
- Physical therapy;
- Radiology;
- Theriogenology (reproductive medicine);[10] and
- Other branches or specialties of veterinary medicine.

The practice of veterinary medicine is the diagnosis of medical conditions of animals, and the prescribing or administering of medicine and treatment to animals for the prevention, cure, or relief of a wound, fracture, bodily injury, or disease, or holding oneself out as performing any of these functions.[11] Veterinarians who are incompetent or present a danger to the public are subject to discipline and may be prohibited from practicing in the state.[12]

Eleven categories of persons are exempt from complying with ch. 474, F.S.:[13]

- Faculty veterinarians with assigned teaching duties at accredited[14] institutions;

[17] The term "responsible supervision" is defined in s. 474.202(10), F.S., as the "control, direction, and regulation by a licensed doctor of veterinary medicine of the duties involving veterinary services" delegated to unlicensed personnel.

incorporated political subdivision, whose work is confined solely to implanting radio frequency identification device microchips in dogs and cats in accordance with s. 823.15, F.S;[18]

- Paramedics or emergency medical technicians providing emergency medical care to a police canine[19] injured in the line of duty while at the scene of the emergency or while the police canine is being transported to a veterinary clinic or similar facility; and
- Veterinarians who hold an active license to practice veterinary medicine in another jurisdiction in the United States, are in good standing in such jurisdiction, and who perform dog or cat sterilization services or routine preventative health services at the time of sterilization as an unpaid volunteer under the responsible supervision of a veterinarian licensed in Florida. Out-of-state veterinarians practicing pursuant to this exemption are not eligible to apply for premises permits for veterinary establishments.

Persons who are eligible faculty veterinarians, intern veterinarians, resident veterinarians, or state or federal veterinarians exempt from complying with ch. 474, F.S., are deemed to be duly licensed practitioners authorized to prescribe drugs or medicinal supplies.[20]

Veterinarian/Client/Patient Relationship

The practice act defines a "patient" as any animal for which a veterinarian practices veterinary medicine.[21]

The practice act defines a "veterinarian/client/patient relationship" (VCPR) as one in which a veterinarian has assumed responsibility for making medical judgments about the health of an animal and its need for medical treatment.[22]

Veterinarians are permitted to prescribe drugs in the course of veterinary practice, but may be disciplined by the board for certain related violations, including ordering, prescribing, or making available medicinal drugs or drugs[23] or controlled substances[24] for use other than for the specific treatment of animal patients for which there is a documented VCPR and without:

- Having sufficient knowledge of the animal to initiate at least a general or preliminary diagnosis of the medical condition of the animal, which means that the veterinarian is personally acquainted with the keeping and caring of the animal and has recently seen the animal or has made medically appropriate and timely visits to the premises where the animal is kept;

[18] See s. 823.15(5), F.S., which authorizes such persons to perform microchipping of dogs and cats.
[19] Section 401.254, F.S., defines the term "police canine" as "any canine that is owned, or the service of which is employed, by a state or local law enforcement agency, a correctional agency, a fire department, a special fire district, or the State Fire Marshal for the principal purpose of aiding in the detection of criminal activity, flammable materials, or missing persons; the enforcement of laws; the investigation of fires; or the apprehension of offenders." A paramedic or an emergency medical technician who acts in good faith to provide emergency medical care to an injured police canine is immune from criminal or civil liability.

- Being available to provide for follow-up care and treatment in case of adverse reactions or failure of the regimen of therapy; and
- Maintaining records which document patient visits, diagnosis, treatment, and other relevant information required under the practice act.[25]

Veterinary Telemedicine

The use of electronic communications to facilitate patient health care (veterinary telemedicine) is not addressed in the practice act and is neither specifically prohibited nor is it specifically authorized for practitioners of veterinary medicine in Florida statute.[26]

According to research conducted by the American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA), almost one-third of all pets in the U.S. do not regularly see a veterinarian.[27] The reasons for this include cost of veterinary care, logistical obstacles, and a shortage of licensed veterinarians.[28]

Veterinary telemedicine has been found to "help pet owners avoid additional expenses related to unnecessary time off work or transportation and may provide cost-effective options. Telemedicine can also address problems with bringing pets to clinics that may be faced by many pet owners, such as seniors, disabled individuals, those without transportation, and owners of fearful, large, or potentially aggressive pets."[29]

"Interest in veterinary telemedicine has grown significantly in recent years, driven in part by a critical shortage of veterinary professionals in the workforce and boosted by COVID-19 pandemic emergency orders that temporarily suspended legal barriers to veterinary telemedicine."[30]

Expanding access to veterinary telemedicine may alleviate some of these problems, including, "industry problems with workforce shortages of veterinary professionals, increased caseloads, and limited work-life balance."[31]

In the human health setting, a 50 state survey conducted by the AVMA found that "all states allow a physician to establish a relationship with a new patient over telemedicine."[32] However, the same approach does not appear to exist with veterinary medicine.

Opponents of veterinary telemedicine argue that animals cannot articulate symptoms like humans, making physical examinations necessary to diagnose animal ailments. However, it has been found that "while animals cannot verbally communicate, they provide behavioral signals, which can potentially be more informative than seeing an animal in an unfamiliar place where the animal is not behaving as it customarily would. In a clinic setting, dogs and cats may become extremely fearful and withdrawn, and, in a situation that they perceive as threatening, animals may mask their pain as a survival mechanism."[33]

Veterinary Telemedicine during the COVID-19 Pandemic

On March 24, 2020, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) announced that it would temporarily suspend enforcement of certain prescription limitations in order to allow veterinarians to better utilize telemedicine to address animal health needs during the COVID-19 pandemic. Specifically, the FDA provided guidance related to suspending the enforcement of the animal examination and premises visit VCPR requirements relevant to FDA regulations governing extra-label drug use in animals[34] and veterinary feed directive drugs.[35] This allowed veterinarians to prescribe or authorize the use of drugs without direct examination or making visits to patients, in an effort to limit human-to-human interaction and potential spread of COVID-19 in the community.[36]

According to the FDA, veterinarians are licensed by their state veterinary licensing board and must meet the requirements of the licensing board to practice in that state. FDA regulates the devices and drugs that veterinarians use, and the conditions under which veterinarians may prescribe drugs for extra-label uses. When an approved drug is used in a manner other than what is stated on the label, it is an extra-label use. This is commonly called an "off-label" use because the drug is used in a way that is "off the label."[37]

On March 27, 2020, the DBPR issued emergency order EO 2020-04, which suspended any restrictions in the practice act or the administrative rules set forth in ch. 61G-18, of the Florida Administrative Code, that would have prohibited an active Florida-licensed veterinarian from practicing telemedicine on a patient. The order specified that attending veterinarians must be comfortable assessing the patient remotely and feel able to exercise good clinical judgment to assist the patient.[38]

The FDA withdrew its temporary guidance suspending the enforcement of the animal examination and premises visit VCPR requirements on February 21, 2023.[39]

The DBPR's emergency order allowing Florida-licensed veterinarians to practice telemedicine ended with the expiration of Florida's COVID-19 state of emergency (EO 20-52) on Saturday June 26, 2021.[40]

Veterinary Telemedicine in Other States

The use of telemedicine by veterinarians varies by state. Some states allow telemedicine to be used at the veterinarian's discretion, others allow it after the establishment of a VCPR, some do not allow it at all, and others limit telemedicine for purposes of prescribing medication or controlled substances.

According to the Veterinary Virtual Care Association, state laws relating to veterinary telemedicine generally fall within the following categories: 25 states and the District of Columbia require the provider to have "seen" or become "acquainted with" the animal; 10 states require a physical examination for a VCPR; five states allow telemedicine to create a VCPR; one state allows telemedicine to create a VCPR except for prescriptions; one state does not reference and therefore does not define or use the term VCPR; and nine states expressly prohibit using telemedicine to establish a VCPR.[41]

The state of Virginia allows veterinarians to practice telemedicine. In addition, it allows a veterinarian who performs or has performed an appropriate examination of a patient to prescribe certain controlled substances to a patient via the practice of telemedicine. The Virginia Board of Veterinary Medicine adopted guidance effective September 17, 2020, for telehealth in the practice of veterinary medicine, which indicates that:

Using telehealth technologies in veterinary practice is considered a method of service delivery. The current, applicable regulations apply to all methods of service delivery, including telehealth. The licensee is responsible for using professional judgment to determine if the type of service can be delivered via telehealth at the same standard of care as in-person service.[42]

The Idaho Board of Veterinary Medicine provides the following guidance on telehealth:

The veterinarian must employ sound professional judgment to determine whether using Telehealth is appropriate in particular circumstances each and every time animal care is provided and only provide medical advice or treatment via Telehealth to the extent that it is possible without a hands on examination. A veterinarian using Telehealth must take appropriate steps to obtain Informed Consent, establish the VCPR and conduct all appropriate evaluations and history of the patient consistent with traditional standards of care for the particular patient presentation. As such, some situations and patient presentations are appropriate for the utilization of Telehealth as a component of, or in lieu of, hands on medical care, while others are not.[43]

The state of Oklahoma only allows a veterinarian to prescribe drugs via telemedicine under the following conditions:

The veterinarian assumes responsibility for making medical judgments regarding the health of the animal based on a current thorough medical knowledge of the animal(s), such knowledge is gained by recently seeing or being personally acquainted with the keeping and care of the animal to the extent necessary to properly make appropriate medical decisions . . . .[44]

The state of Washington only allows telemedicine after a VCPR has been established:

The veterinarian shall not establish a veterinary-client-patient relationship solely by telephonic or other electronic means. However, once established, a veterinary-client-patient relationship may be maintained between medically necessary examinations via telephone or other types of consultations.[45]

The state of Michigan has also repealed the need for an in-person exam prior to practicing telemedicine. As of April 15, 2021, a veterinarian providing a "telehealth service" in Michigan must have sufficient knowledge of the animal patient by having recently examined the animal patient in person or have obtained current knowledge of the animal patient through the use of instrumentation and diagnostic equipment through which images and medical records may be transmitted electronically, or have conducted medically appropriate and timely visits to the premises where the group of animal patients is kept.[46]

Telehealth for Medical Doctors

Current law broadly defines "telehealth" as the use of synchronous or asynchronous telecommunications technology by a telehealth provider to provide health care services, including, but not limited to:[47]

- Assessment, diagnosis, consultation, treatment, and monitoring of a patient;
- Transfer of medical data;
- Patient and professional health-related education;
- Public health services; and
- Health administration.

Telehealth does not include e-mail messages, or facsimile transmission under Florida law.[48] No express authority is needed to communicate using these methods.

Health care services may be provided via telehealth by a Florida-licensed health care practitioner, a practitioner licensed under a multistate health care licensure compact of which Florida is a member,[49] or a registered out-of-state health care provider.[50]

Out-of-state telehealth providers must register biennially with the Department of Health (DOH) or the applicable board to provide telehealth services, within the relevant scope of practice established by Florida law and rule, to patients in this state. To register or renew registration as an out-of-state telehealth provider, the health care professional must:

- Hold an active and unencumbered license, which is substantially similar to a license issued to a Florida practitioner in the same profession, in a U.S. state or jurisdiction and
- Not have been subject to licensure disciplinary action during the five years before submission of the registration application;[51]
- Not be subject to a pending licensure disciplinary investigation or action;
- Not have had license revoked in any state or jurisdiction;
- Designate a registered agent in this state for the service of process;
- Maintain professional liability coverage or financial responsibility, which covers services provided to patients not located in the provider's home state, in the same amount as required for Florida-licensed practitioners;[52] and
- Prominently display a link to the DOH website, described below, which provides public information on registered telehealth providers.[53]

Telehealth Standards of Practice

Current law sets the standard of care for telehealth providers at the same level as the standard of care for health care practitioners or health care providers providing in-person health care services to patients in this state. This ensures that a patient receives the same standard of care irrespective of the modality used by the health care professional to deliver the services. A patient receiving telehealth services may be in any location at the time services are rendered and a telehealth provider may be in any location when providing telehealth services to a patient.[54]

Practitioners may perform a patient evaluation using telehealth. A practitioner using telehealth is not required to research a patient's medical history or conduct a physical examination of the

Emergency Orders

On January 31, 2020, the U.S. Secretary of Health and Human Services issued a public health emergency.[55] On March 16, 2020, the federal Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) published a COVID-19 Information page on the Diversion Control Division website, authorizing DEA-registered practitioners to issue prescriptions for all Schedule II-V controlled substances to patients without first conducting an in-person medical evaluation, provided all of the following conditions are met:

- The prescription is issued for a legitimate medical purpose by a practitioner acting in the usual course of his/her professional practice.
- The evaluation is conducted using an audio-visual, real-time, two-way interactive communication system.
- The practitioner is acting in accordance with applicable federal and state law.[56]

Controlled Substances – Florida Law

Chapter 893, F.S., is the Florida Comprehensive Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act. The chapter classifies controlled substances into five schedules in order to regulate the manufacture, distribution, preparation, and dispensing of the substances. The scheduling of substances in Florida law is generally consistent with the federal scheduling of substances under 21 U.S.C. s. 812:

- A Schedule I substance has a high potential for abuse and no currently accepted medical use in treatment in the United States and its use under medical supervision does not meet accepted safety standards. Examples include heroin and lysergic acid diethylamide (LSD).
- A Schedule II substance has a high potential for abuse, a currently accepted but severely restricted medical use in treatment in the United States, and abuse may lead to severe psychological or physical dependence. Examples include cocaine and morphine.
- A Schedule III substance has a potential for abuse less than the substances contained in Schedules I and II, a currently accepted medical use in treatment in the United States, and abuse may lead to moderate or low physical dependence or high psychological dependence or, in the case of anabolic steroids, may lead to physical damage. Examples include lysergic acid; ketamine; and some anabolic steroids.

- A Schedule IV substance has a low potential for abuse relative to the substances in Schedule III, a currently accepted medical use in treatment in the United States, and abuse may lead to limited physical or psychological dependence relative to the substances in Schedule III. Examples include alprazolam, diazepam, and phenobarbital.
- A Schedule V substance has a low potential for abuse relative to the substances in Schedule IV, a currently accepted medical use in treatment in the United States, and abuse may lead to limited physical or psychological dependence relative to the substances in Schedule IV. Examples include low dosage levels of codeine, certain stimulants, and certain narcotic compounds.

Controlled Substances – Federal Law

The Federal Controlled Substances Act[57] also classifies controlled substances into schedules based on the potential for abuse and whether there is a currently accepted medical use for the substance. The DEA is required to consider the following when determining where to schedule a substance:[58]

- The substance's actual or relative potential for abuse;
- Scientific evidence of the substance's pharmacological effect, if known;
- The state of current scientific knowledge regarding the substance;
- The substance's history and current pattern of abuse;
- The scope, duration, and significance of abuse;
- What, if any, risk there is to public health;
- The substance's psychic or physiological dependence liability; and
- Whether the substance is an immediate precursor of a substance already controlled.

Telehealth Prescribing of Controlled Substances

The FDA regulations governing Extra-label Drug Use in Animals and Veterinary Feed Directives—limited in application to circumstances where a veterinarian is using a drug in a manner other than the purpose for which it was approved or in feed directives—require a valid VCPR, which "can exist only when the veterinarian has recently seen and is personally acquainted with the keeping and care of the animal(s) by virtue of examination of the animal(s), and/or by medically appropriate and timely visits to the premises where the animal(s) are kept."[59]

A corresponding regulation in the Florida Administrative Code blocks veterinarians from such prescribing unless they have 'recent contact' with the animal.[60] The practice act contains no such 'recent contact" requirement for a VCPR or for such prescribing.[61]

Federal law specifically prohibits prescribing controlled substances via the Internet without an in-person evaluation, but the Ryan Haight Online Pharmacy Consumer Protection Act (Haight Act),[62] signed into law in October 2008,[63] created a pathway for telehealth practitioners to dispense controlled substances via telehealth.

The practitioner is still subject to the requirement that all controlled substance prescriptions be issued for a legitimate purpose by a practitioner acting in the usual course of professional practice. But, once an in-person evaluation of the patient has occurred, the practitioner may provide future prescriptions for controlled substances for that patient using telehealth services.[64]

Florida law currently prohibits a telehealth provider (human) from using telehealth services to prescribe a controlled substance except when treating a psychiatric disorder, an inpatient at a licensed hospital, a patient receiving hospice services, or a resident of a nursing home facility.[65]

Prescription Drug Law for Veterinarians

In order to purchase, prescribe, administer or dispense controlled substances in Florida, veterinarians must register and comply with DEA requirements, but there are no restrictions in the practice act for the purchasing and prescribing of controlled drugs.[66]

The DEA is a division within the U.S. Department of Justice and reports to the U.S. Attorney General. In consultation with the U.S. Secretary of the federal Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) and others, the Attorney General oversees the listing of substances on five schedules (Classes I, II, III, IV or V) of controlled agents as described in Title 21 United States Code (USC) of the Controlled Substances Act. The central mission of the DEA is to enforce controlled substances laws and regulations.[67]

Two opioids are approved and marketed for use in animals, butorphanol and buprenorphine. Due to the limited number of approved and marketed veterinary opioids, veterinarians who need to use opioids to control pain in their patients generally use products approved for use in people.[68]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill authorizes licensed veterinarians in Florida to practice veterinary telehealth on a limited basis as described in the PETS act, and indirectly supervise rabies vaccinations of impounded animals.

Regarding veterinary telemedicine, the bill:

- Provides the act may be cited as the "Providing Equity in Telehealth Services Act" (PETS act);
- Defines "veterinary telehealth" to mean the use of synchronous or asynchronous telecommunications technology (occurring or not occurring simultaneously) by a telehealth provider to provide health care services. This includes, but is not limited to, assessment, diagnosis, consultation, treatment, and monitoring of a patient; transfer of medical data; patient and professional health-related education; public health services; and health administration.

- Must provide the client the veterinarian's name, license number, and contact information, if the initial patient evaluation is performed using veterinary telehealth;
- Must provide the client contact information for at least one physical veterinary clinic in the vicinity of the patient's location and instructions for how to receive patient follow-up care or assistance, if:
  - The veterinarian and client are unable to communicate because of a technological or equipment failure; or
  - There is an adverse reaction to treatment;
- Must obtain a signed and dated statement from the client indicating the client has received the required information before practicing veterinary telehealth;
- Must prescribe all drugs and medications in accordance with federal and state laws;
- May order or prescribe medicinal drugs or drugs specifically approved for use in animals by the United States Food and Drug Administration, conforming to approved labeling.

Prescriptions based solely on a telehealth evaluation may be issued for up to one month for products labeled solely for flea and tick control and up to 14 days of treatment for other animal drugs. Prescriptions based solely on a telehealth evaluation may not be renewed without an in-person examination.

- May not order or prescribe medicinal drugs or drugs as defined in s. 465.003, F.S., approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for human use, or compounded antibacterial, antifungal, antiviral, or antiparasitic medications, unless the veterinarian has conducted an in-person physical examination of the animal or made medically appropriate and timely visits within the past year to the premises where the animal is kept.
- May not use veterinary telehealth to prescribe a controlled substance as defined in ch. 893, F.S. (Drug Abuse Preventions and Control), unless the veterinarian has conducted an in-person physical examination of the animal or made medically appropriate and timely visits to the premises where the animal is kept.
- May not prescribe a drug or other medication for use on a horse engaged in racing or training at a facility under the jurisdiction of the Florida Gaming Control Commission or on a horse that is a covered horse, as defined in the federal Horseracing Integrity and Safety Act (15 U.S.C., ss. 3051 et seq.
- Must be familiar with available veterinary resources, including emergency resources, near the patient's location;
- Must be able to provide the client with a list of nearby veterinarians who may be able to see the patient in person upon the request of the client;
- Must keep, maintain and make available a summary of the patient record as required by s. 474.2165, F.S., relating to ownership and control of veterinary medical patient records; and
- May not use veterinary telehealth to issue an international or interstate travel certificate, or a certificate of veterinary inspection.
- Authorizes veterinarians who are personally acquainted with the caring and keeping of an animal or group of animals on food-producing animal operations on land classified as agricultural pursuant to s. 193.461, F.S., who has recently seen the animal or group of animals or has made medically appropriate and timely visits to the premises where the animal or group of animals is kept to practice veterinary telehealth for animals on such operations.

The bill includes technical conforming changes, including the revision of s. 474.2165, F.S., relating to ownership and control of veterinary medical patient records, to revise a reference to a veterinarian who generates a medical record after "making a physical examination." The bill revises the language to address medical records that are generated after "making an examination" to address the authority for the use of veterinary telehealth as authorized in the bill.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

Not applicable. The bill does not require counties or municipalities to take an action requiring the expenditure of funds, reduce the authority that counties or municipalities have to raise revenue in the aggregate, nor reduce the percentage of state tax shared with counties or municipalities.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

B. Private Sector Impact:

Licensed veterinarians will be permitted to practice veterinary telehealth, including limited prescription authority, providing them more flexibility in their practice similar to the licensed health care providers in Florida authorized to provide telehealth services.

Animal owners may have greater access to veterinarians and may feel more comfortable, especially during a state of emergency. Visitors and tourists with pets may be able to obtain veterinary care without having to locate a veterinarian's office in an unfamiliar area and transport their animal.

C. Government Sector Impact:

According to the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR), there is no impact expected on state or local government revenues and expenditures.[69]

Each cat must receive vaccines and anthelmintics against the following diseases and internal parasites:

1. Panleukopenia.

2. Feline viral rhinotracheitis.

II. Present Situation:

Background

In general, gambling is illegal in Florida.[1] Chapter 849, F.S., prohibits keeping a gambling house,[2] running a lottery,[3] or the manufacture, sale, lease, play, or possession of slot machines.[4] However, the following gaming activities are authorized by law and regulated by the state:

- Pari-mutuel[5] wagering at licensed greyhound and horse tracks and jai alai frontons;[6]
- Slot machine gaming at certain licensed pari-mutuel locations in Miami-Dade County and Broward County;[7]
- Cardrooms[8] at certain pari-mutuel facilities;[9]
- The state lottery authorized by section 15 of Article X of the State Constitution and established under ch. 24, F.S.;[10]
- Skill-based amusement games and machines at specified locations as authorized by s. 546.10, F.S, the Family Amusement Games Act;[11] and [10] Chapter 24, F.S., was enacted by ch. 87-65, Laws of Fla., to establish the state lottery; s. 24.102, F.S., states the legislative purpose and intent for the operations of the state lottery.

  - Penny-ante games;[12]
  - Bingo;[13]
  - Charitable drawings;[14]
  - Game promotions (sweepstakes);[15] and
  - Bowling tournaments.[16]

A license to offer pari-mutuel wagering, slot machine gambling, or a cardroom at a pari-mutuel facility is a privilege granted by the state.[17]
The 1968 State Constitution states that "[l]otteries, other than the types of pari-mutuel pools authorized by law as of the effective date of this constitution . . ." are prohibited.[18] A constitutional amendment approved by the voters in 1986 authorized state-operated lotteries. Net proceeds of the lottery are deposited in the Educational Enhancement Trust Fund (EETF) and appropriated by the Legislature. Lottery operations are self-supporting and function as an entrepreneurial business enterprise.[19]

Enforcement of Gaming Laws and Florida Gaming Control Commission

In 202l, the Legislature updated Florida law for authorized gaming in the state, and for enforcement of the gambling laws and other laws relating to authorized gaming.[20] The Office of Statewide Prosecution in the Department of Legal Affairs is authorized to investigate and prosecute, in addition to gambling offenses, any violation of chs. 24, 285 (part II), 546, 550, 551, or 849, F.S., (State Lotteries, Gaming Compact, Amusement Facilities, Pari-mutuel Wagering, [18] The pari-mutuel pools that were authorized by law on the effective date of the State Constitution, as revised in 1968, include horseracing, greyhound racing, and jai alai games. The revision was ratified by the electorate on November 5, 1968.

[19] The Department of the Lottery is authorized by s. 15, Art. X of the State Constitution. Chapter 24, F.S., was enacted by ch. 87-65, Laws of Fla., to establish the state lottery. Section 24.102, F.S., states the legislative purpose and intent for the operations of the state lottery.

In addition to the enhanced authority of the Office of Statewide Prosecution, the commission was created[22] within the Department of Legal Affairs.   - Any abnormal betting activity or patterns that may indicate a concern about the integrity of a sports event or events;
  - Any other conduct with the potential to corrupt a betting outcome of a sports event for purposes of financial gain, including, but not limited to, match fixing; suspicious or illegal wagering activities, including the use of funds derived from illegal activity, wagers to conceal or launder funds derived from illegal activity, use of agents to place wagers, or use of false identification; and
  - The use of data deemed unacceptable by the commission or the Seminole Tribal Gaming Commission.
- The commission must provide reasonable notice to state and local law enforcement, the Seminole Tribal Gaming Commission, and any appropriate sports governing body of non-proprietary information that may warrant further investigation of nonproprietary information by such entities to ensure integrity of wagering activities in the state.

- Refer criminal violations of chs. 24, 285 (part II), 546, 550, 551, or 849, F.S., to the appropriate state attorney or to the Office of Statewide Prosecution, as applicable.
- Exercise all other powers and perform any other duties prescribed by the Legislature, and adopt rules to implement the above.

Commissioners

As set forth in s. 16.71, F.S., of the five commissioners appointed as members of the commission, at least one member must have at least 10 years of experience in law enforcement and criminal investigations, at least one member must be a certified public accountant licensed in this state with at least 10 years of experience in accounting and auditing, and at least one member must be an attorney admitted and authorized to practice law in this state for the preceding 10 years. All members serve four-year terms, but may not serve more than 12 years. As of the date of this analysis, there is one vacancy on the commission.

Division of Gaming Enforcement

Section 16.711, F.S., sets forth the duties of the Division of Gaming Enforcement (DGE) within the commission.[24] The DGE is a criminal justice agency, as defined in s. 943.045, F.S. The commissioners must appoint a director of the DGE who is qualified by training and experience in law enforcement or security to supervise, direct, coordinate, and administer all activities of the DGE.[25]

The DGE director and all investigators employed by the DGE must meet the requirements for employment and appointment provided by s. 943.13, F.S., and must be certified as law enforcement officers, as defined in s. 943.10(1), F.S. The DGE director and such investigators must be designated law enforcement officers and must have the power to detect, apprehend, and arrest for any alleged violation of chs. 24, 285 (part II), 546, 550, 551, or 849, F.S., or any rule adopted pursuant thereto, or any law of this state.[26]

Such law enforcement officers may enter upon any premises at which gaming activities are taking place in the state for the performance of their lawful duties and may take with them any necessary equipment, and such entry does not constitute a trespass. In any instance in which there is reason to believe that a violation has occurred, such officers have the authority, without Further, any such officer may, consistent with the United States and Florida Constitutions, seize or take possession of any papers, records, tickets, currency, or other items related to any alleged violation. Investigators employed by the commission also have access to, and the right to inspect, premises licensed by the commission, to collect taxes and remit them to the officer entitled to them, and to examine the books and records of all persons licensed by the commission.[28]

The DGE and its investigators are specifically authorized to seize any contraband in accordance with the Florida Contraband Forfeiture Act. The term "contraband" has the same meaning as the term "contraband article" in s. 932.701(2)(a)2., F.S.[29] The DGE is specifically authorized to store and test any contraband that is seized in accordance with the Florida Contraband Forfeiture Act and may authorize any of its staff to implement this provision. The authority of any other person authorized by law to seize contraband is not limited by these provisions.[30]

Section 16.711(5), F.S., requires the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE) to provide assistance in obtaining criminal history information relevant to investigations required for honest, secure, and exemplary gaming operations, and such other assistance as may be requested by the commission's executive director and agreed to by FDLE's the executive director. Any other state agency, including the DBPR and the Department of Revenue, must, upon request, provide the commission with any information relevant to any investigation conducted as described above, and the commission must reimburse any agency for the actual cost of providing any such assistance.[31]

Division of Pari-mutuel Wagering

The commission has regulatory oversight of permitted and licensed pari-mutuel wagering facilities, cardrooms located at pari-mutuel facilities, and slot machines at pari-mutuel facilities located in Miami-Dade and Broward counties. The DPMW is a program area of the commission which is charged with the regulation of Florida's pari-mutuel, cardroom, and slot gaming industries, as authorized by chs. 550, 551, 849, F.S., as well as collecting and safeguarding associated revenues due to the state. The DPMW supports the commission in meeting the commission's obligations as the State Compliance Agency (SCA)[32] in carrying out the state's oversight responsibilities under the provisions of the Gaming Compact between the Seminole Tribe of Florida and the State of Florida.[33]

A person who knowingly and willfully for profit or hire transports, or procures the transportation of, five or more other persons into or within Florida when he or she knows or reasonably should know such transportation is for the purpose of facilitating illegal gambling, commits a first degree misdemeanor (a fine up to $1,000). Anyone who transports or procures the transportation of a minor, a person 65 years of age or older, or 12 or more persons to facilitate illegal gambling, commits a third degree felony (imprisonment up to five years and a fine up to $5,000).

Section 8 creates s. 849.48, F.S., relating to prohibited gambling or gaming advertisements. Except as otherwise specifically authorized by law, a person may not:

- Knowingly and intentionally make, publish, disseminate, circulate or place before the public, or cause, directly or indirectly, to be made, published, disseminated or circulated or placed before the public in Florida, in any manner, any advertisement, circular, bill, poster, pamphlet, list, schedule, announcement, or notice for the purpose of promoting or facilitating illegal gambling; and
- Set up any type or plate for any type of advertisement, circular, bill, poster, pamphlet, list, schedule, announcement, or notice when he or she knows or reasonably should know that such material will be used for the purpose of promoting or facilitating illegal gambling.

The bill provides that violators of the above prohibitions commit a first degree misdemeanor.

Under the bill, the printing or producing of any advertisement, circular, bill, poster, pamphlet, list, schedule, announcement, or notice to be used for the purpose of promoting or facilitating gambling conducted in any other state or nation, outside of Florida, where such gambling is not prohibited.

The bill defines the term "illegal gambling" to mean any criminal violation of chs. 546, 550, 551, or 849, F.S., that occurs at any business, establishment, premises, or other location which operates for profit.

Section 9 creates s. 849.49, F.S., relating to preemption, and provides that a Florida county, municipality, or other political subdivision may not enact or enforce any ordinance or local rule relating to gaming, gambling, lotteries, or any activities described in s. 546.10, F.S., relating to amusement games or machines, or ch. 849, F.S., relating to gambling, except as otherwise expressly provided by the State Constitution, general law, or special law.

Section 10 revises s. 903.046, F.S., relating to the purpose of and criteria for bail determination, to revise considerations to be considered by a court for determining bail or release of persons arrested for crimes involving controlled substances, a slot machine, or illegal gambling or gaming, including the amount of currency seized that is connected to a violation of chs. 546, 550, 551, or 849, F.S., (Amusement Facilities, Pari-Mutuel Wagering, Slot Machines, and Gambling).

Section 11 revises s. 921.0022, F.S., relating to the offense severity ranking chart of the Criminal Punishment Code, to revise the penalties for offenses in the ranking chart as follows:

- Section 849.01, F.S., related to knowingly keeping a gambling house, is increased from a second degree misdemeanor to a third degree felony (Level 3);

- Section 849.15(3)(b), F.S., relating to a violator who is knowingly acting as a manager at the time of the violation or who has one prior conviction for violating this provision, is added to the ranking chart as a third degree felony (Level 3);

- Section 849.15(c), F.S., relating to a violator who is knowingly acting as a manager at the time of the violation or who has two or more prior convictions for violating this provision, and the violation involves five or more slot machines or devices, is added to the ranking chart as a second degree felony (Level 5);
- Section 849.155, F.S., relating to knowingly trafficking in slot machines or devices or any parts thereof, is added to the ranking chart as a first degree felony (Level 7);

- Section 849.23, F.S., relating to slot machine penalties, is deleted from the ranking chart, as the provision is repealed by the bill;
- Section 849.25, F.S., relating to bookmaking, to provide for enhanced penalties for bookmaking offenses, is revised in the ranking chart. The penalty for engaging in bookmaking under s. 849.25(2), F.S., is enhanced from a third degree felony (Level 1) to a third degree felony (Level 3), and the penalty for repeated bookmaking offenses under s. 894.25(3), F.S., is added as a second degree felony (Level 5);

The offense severity ranking chart must be used with the Criminal Punishment Code worksheet to compute a sentence score for each felony offender whose offense was committed on or after October 1, 1998. The offense severity ranking chart has 10 offense levels, ranked from least severe, which are Level 1 offenses, to most severe, which are Level 10 offenses, and each felony offense is assigned to a level according to the severity of the offense.[40]

Section 12 amends s. 772.102, F.S., to conform definitions relating to civil remedies for criminal practices, to remove references to s. 849.23, F.S., which is repealed by the bill.

Section 13 amends s. 895.02, F.S., to conform definitions relating to offenses concerning racketeering and illegal debts, to remove references to s. 849.23, F.S., which is repealed by the bill.

Section 14 provides that the bill takes effect July 1, 2024.

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

Persons who violate the gambling laws will be subject to penalties or increased penalties, as described in Section III of this analysis. See the list of penalties in Section 11.

Such violators may be impacted by the information that must be considered by a court for determining bail or release of persons arrested for crimes involving controlled substances, a slot machine, or illegal gambling or gaming, including the amount of currency seized that is connected to a violation of the gambling laws.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The fiscal impact to state and local government is indeterminate. The bill increases and creates new criminal penalties for violations relating to illegal gambling. This may create a positive fiscal impact to the state and local governmental entities that receive proceeds from related fines. This bill may have a positive indeterminate prison bed impact (an unquantifiable increase in prison beds) due to expanding the crimes eligible for enhancements which may lead to an increased number of offenders receiving enhanced sentences.

The Criminal Justice Impact Conference (conference), which provides the final, official estimate of the prison bed impact, if any, of legislation, evaluated identical bill CS/HB 189 on February 12, 2024, and the Conference adopted the estimate of "Positive Indeterminate,"[41] (i.e., an unquantifiable positive prison bed impact.

No anticipated fiscal impact to the Florida Gaming Control Commission.[42]

II. Present Situation:

The present situation for each issue is described below in Section III, Effect of Proposed Changes.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Electric Vehicles

Present Situation

Electric Vehicle Charging Stations

Consumers and fleets considering electric vehicles (EVs), including all-electric vehicles and plug-in hybrid electric vehicles (PHEVs), need access to charging equipment. For most drivers, this starts with charging at home or at fleet facilities. Charging stations at workplaces, public destinations, and along highways offer more flexible charging opportunities at commonly visited locations.[1]

EV charging equipment is classified based on the rate of charge:[2]

- Alternating Current (AC) Level 1 equipment provides charging through a common 120 volt AC outlet. Most, if not all, EVs come with a portable Level 1 cord, so no additional charging equipment is required. Level 1 chargers can take 40-50 hours to charge an all-electric vehicle from empty and five to six hours to charge a PHEV from empty.[3]
- AC Level 2 equipment offers charging through 240 volt (in residential applications) or 208 volt charging. As of 2022, 80 percent of public EV charging ports in the country were Level 2.[4] Level 2 chargers can charge an all-electric vehicle from empty in four to 10 hours and a PHEV from empty in one to two hours.[5]
- Direct-current (DC) fast charging equipment enables rapid charging along heavy traffic corridors at installed stations. As of 2022, more than 20 percent of public EV charging ports in the country were DC fast chargers.[6] DC fast charging equipment can charge an all-electric vehicle to 80 percent in 20 minutes to one hour.[7]

Charging times vary depending on the depletion level of the battery, how much energy the battery holds, the type of battery, temperature, and the type of supply equipment.

Currently, 44 of Florida's 67 counties[8] have 3,230 EV public charging stations offering a total of 8,981 charging ports. AC Level 2 charging ports comprise 6,793 of these ports, and DC fast charging ports comprise 2,164 of these ports.[9] Florida law requires the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services (department) to adopt rules to provide definitions, methods of sale, labeling requirements, and price-posting requirements for EV charging stations to provide consistency for consumers and the industry.[10]

Preemption

The State Constitution grants local county and municipal governments broad home rule authority. Specifically, non-charter county governments may exercise those powers of self-government that are proved by general or special law.[11] Those counties operating under a county charter have all powers of self-government not inconsistent with general or with special law approved by the vote of the electors.[12] Likewise, municipalities[13] have those governmental, corporate, and proprietary powers enabling them to conduct municipal government, perform their functions and provide services, and exercise any power for municipal purposes, except as otherwise provided by law.[14]

There are two ways that a local government can be inconsistent with state law and therefore unconstitutional. First, a local government cannot legislate in a field if the subject area has been preempted to the state. Second, in a field where both the state and local government can legislate concurrently, a local government cannot enact an ordinance that directly conflicts with the state statute.[15]

State law recognizes two types of state preemption: express and implied. Express preemption requires a specific legislative statement of intent to preempt a specific area of law; it cannot be implied or inferred.[16] In contrast, implied preemption exists if the legislative scheme is so pervasive as to evidence an intent to preempt the particular area, and where strong public policy reasons exist for finding such an area to be preempted by the Legislature.[17] Courts determining

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 1 amends s. 366.94, F.S., to preempt the regulation of EV charging stations to the state and prohibits local governmental entities from enacting or enforcing such regulations.

Pest Control

Present Situation

Pest Control License

For structural pest control (pest control provided to homes or other structures), Florida law requires that each pest control business location must:

- Be licensed by the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services (department);
- Carry the required insurance coverage ($250,000 per person and $500,000 per occurrence for bodily injury, and $250,000 per occurrence and $500,000 in the aggregate for property damage, or a combined single limit coverage of $500,000 in the aggregate); and
- Employ full-time a Florida-certified operator in charge of the pest control operations of the business location. This operator must be certified in the categories in which the business operates:
  - General Household Pest and Rodent Control,
  - Termite and Other Wood-Destroying Organisms Control,
  - Lawn and Ornamental Pest Control, and/or
  - Fumigation.[19]

The business license fee is $300, and the fee for each employee identification card is $10.[20]

A certified operator is an individual who has passed an examination administered by the department in any of four certification categories:

- General Household and Rodent Control;
- Lawn and Ornamental Pest Control;
- Termite and Other Wood-Destroying Organisms Control; and
- Fumigation.[21]

A person can be certified in just one or all four categories.

[18] See, e.g., National Rifle Association of America, Inc. v. City of South Miami, 812 So. 2d 504 (Fla. 3d DCA 2002) (concluding that a City of South Miami local government ordinance, which purported to provide safety standards for firearms, was null and void because the Legislature expressly preempted the entire field of firearm and ammunition regulation when it enacted section 790.33, F.S.)

A company's pest control operations are the responsibility of the certified operator in charge and the business operations are limited to the category (or categories) possessed by the certified operator (or operators) in charge at the business location.[22]

Limited Certification Programs

The department also administers four Limited Certification Categories:
- Commercial landscape maintenance applicators;
- Governmental or private applicators;
- Commercial urban fertilizer applicators; and
- Commercial wildlife management.[23]

None of these certifications allows the operation of a commercial pest control business.

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 2 amends s. 482.111, F.S., to provide an expiration date of the pest control operator's certificate and amends requirements for its renewal.

Section 3 amends s. 482.151, F.S., to provide an expiration date of the special identification card for fumigation and amends requirements for its renewal.

Section 4 amends s. 482.155, F.S., to provide an expiration date of the limited certification for governmental pesticide applicators or private applicators and amends requirements for its renewal.

Section 5 amends s. 482.156, F.S., to authorize individual commercial landscape maintenance personnel to apply herbicides in certain areas and to use certain pesticides. This section also sets the expiration date of the limited certification for commercial landscape maintenance personnel and amends requirements for its renewal.

Section 6 amends s. 482.157, F.S., to provide an expiration date of the limited certification for commercial wildlife management personnel and amends requirements for its renewal.

Section 7 amends s. 482.161, F.S., to provide additional disciplinary grounds related to licensure or licensure renewal applications.

Section 8 amends s. 482.191, F.S., to prohibit applicants from swearing or affirming a false statement on an application. This section also prohibits cheating on an examination required for licensure and grants the department rulemaking authority to establish penalties for violations.

Wood-Destroying Organisms Inspections

Inspection for wood destroying organisms is regulated as a pest control activity under the Florida Structural Pest Control Act, ch. 482, F.S. Section 482.226, F.S., requires that when an inspection for wood destroying organisms is conducted for the purposes of a real estate transaction, and either a fee is charged, or a written report is requested, that a person qualified under Chapter 482 issue the report.[24]

Section 482.226, F.S., also includes requirements as to what the report must include and a requirement that a notice of the inspection be posted in the access area to the attic or crawl or other accessible area of the structure inspected.[25] Licensees who perform wood destroying organism inspections for real estate transactions are required to have a minimum of $50,000 in insurance coverage (or a bond) for professional liability for errors and omissions, or demonstrate an equity or net worth of no less than $100,000.[26]

In addition, if treatment is made to the structure at the time of the inspection, the report must include information on the name of each wood destroying organism for which treatment was provided at the time of the inspection, the name of the pesticide used, and the conditions and terms associated with that treatment.[27]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 9 amends s. 482.226, F.S., to require that a signed report be supplied to the property owner after each inspection or treatment for the presence or absence of wood destroying organisms. The bill also prohibits inspections and treatments unless the licensee has an identification card.

Section 10 amends s. 487.031, F.S., relating to prohibited acts, to prohibit pesticide applicator license applicants from swearing or affirming a false statement on an application. This section also prohibits cheating on an examination required for licensure.

Section 11 amends s. 487.175, F.S., relating to penalties and administrative fines, to prohibit applicants from swearing or affirming a false statement on an application for pesticide applicator licensure. This section also prohibits cheating on an examination required for licensure and grants the department rulemaking authority to establish penalties for violations.

As of November 30, 2023, there are 140,248 Class "D" security officer licensees, 6,921 Class "C" private investigator licensees, 25,283 Class "G" statewide firearm licensees, 691 Class "K" firearms instructor licensees, 1,320 Class "CC" private investigator intern licensees, 455 Class "M" private investigative or security manager licensees, 73 Class "MA" private investigative agency manager licensees, and 1,497 Class "MB" security manager licensees.[28] A ch. 493, F.S., licensee must renew his or her individual license every two years.[29]

A security officer is an individual who advertises for, or performs: bodyguard services, personal or property protection; theft and loss prevention; armored car staffing; or transportation of prisoners.[30] Law enforcement officers engaged in their official duties or off-duty security activities that have been approved by appropriate superiors are not considered security officers.[31] Additionally, unarmed security officers who are employed by, and perform their work entirely on the premises of either their employer's business, a church or denominational organization, or a church cemetery are not required to be licensed as a security officer under ch. 493, F.S.[32]

A private investigator is an individual who investigates a person for the purpose of obtaining information with reference to the following specific matters:[33]

Class "G" Statewide Firearm License

A Class "G" license is a supplemental license that permits specific licensees to carry a firearm during the course of their licensed, employment-related activity. A Class "G" license is available only to individuals who currently hold one of the following licenses: private investigator (Class "C"), private investigator intern (Class "CC"), security officer (Class "D"), private investigative or security agency manager (Class "M"), private investigative agency manager (Class "MA"), or security agency manager (Class "MB").[34] The "Class G" license must be renewed every two years.

Application and Training Requirements for Class "G" Licensees

An initial applicant for a Class "G" license must complete firearm training, which must include at least 28 hours of range and classroom training (range training must be eight hours) that is administered by a Class "K" licensee.[35]

Class "G" licensees must annually complete four hours of firearms requalification training for each caliber of firearm that he or she carries in the course of his or her duties.[36]

A Class "G" licensee is subject to a biennial statewide firearm license fee of $112, but there is no application fee.[37] The applicant for a Class "G" license must submit a fingerprint processing ($42) and retention ($10.75) fee, however—this fee is waived if the applicant has otherwise paid these fees for any other license under ch. 493, F.S., within the last six months.[38]

Regulation of Class "G" Licensees

A Class "G" licensee may only carry two firearms when performing his or her licensed duties. Unless the department grants specific approval otherwise, the types of weapons a Class "G" licensee may use are limited to the following: a .38 caliber revolver; a .380 caliber or .9 mm semiautomatic pistol; a .357 caliber revolver used with .38 caliber ammunition; a .40 caliber handgun; or a .45 ACP handgun.[39]

If a Class "G" licensee discharges his or her firearm during the course of her or his duties, the licensee must file an incident report with the department.[40]

Class "G" licensees are subject to penalty, ranging from a fine to the suspension or revocation of their license, for the following violations of administrative rule:[41]

- Conviction of, or adjudication of guilt withheld, on a crime directly related to the business for which the license is held;
- Improper exhibition of a firearm;
- Careless or improper handling of a firearm resulting in a discharge;
- Firing an unjustifiable warning shot while on duty;
- Impersonating a law enforcement officer or government employee; and

Concealed Weapon and Firearm License

Florida is a "shall issue"[42] state for applications for concealed weapon and firearm licenses.[43] The department must review and either issue or deny a license within 90 days of receiving an application.[44] As of November 30, 2023, there were 2,511,443 concealed weapon or firearm licensees in Florida.[45]

The department must issue a license, which expires after seven years,[46] if an applicant:

- Is a citizen of the United States, permanent resident alien, or consular security official of a foreign government;
- Is 21 years of age or older;
- Does not suffer from a physical infirmity which prevents the safe handling of a weapon or firearm;
- Has not been convicted of a felony;
- Has not been found guilty of a controlled substances crime within the previous three years;
- Has not been committed for the abuse of a controlled substance;[47]
- Does not suffer from chronic and habitual use of alcohol or other substances to the extent that their normal faculties are impaired;[48]
- Desires to carry a concealed weapon or firearm for lawful self-defense;
- Demonstrates competency with a firearm;[49]

[42] Generally, states issue a permit, or license, to carry a concealed weapon such as a firearm on either a "shall issue," or "may issue" basis. The key difference is that shall issue states must issue the permit or license if the applicant meets the requirements; whereas, may issue states have much more discretion to deny an application even if the applicant meets the requirements under the law.

[47] An applicant granted relief of firearms disabilities pursuant to s. 790.065(2)(a)4.d., F.S., after having been adjudicated mentally defective or committed to a mental institution is deemed not to be committed for the abuse of a controlled substance.
[48] The law presumes that a person chronically and habitually uses alcoholic beverages or other substances to the point of impairment if the applicant has been convicted of using a firearm while under the influence of alcoholic beverages, chemical substances, or controlled substances or has been deemed a habitual offender of disorderly intoxication under s. 856.011(3), F.S., or has had two or more convictions of driving under the influence within a three-year period preceding the date which the application is submitted. See, s. 790.06(2)(f), F.S.
[49] There are several methods of demonstrating competency with a firearm, including completion of a hunter education or safety course approved by the Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission, completion of any law enforcement firearms safety or training course, or completion of firearms training safety courses using instructors certified by the National Rifle Association, Criminal Justice Standards and Training Commission, or the department.

- Has not been adjudicated as an incapacitated person;
- Has not been committed to a mental institution;[50]
- Has not had an adjudication of guilt withheld or a suspended sentence on a felony unless three years have elapsed since probation or any other conditions set by the court have been fulfilled, or the record has been expunged;
- Has not had an adjudication of guilt withheld or an imposition of sentence suspended on a misdemeanor crime of domestic violence, unless three years have elapsed since probation or any other conditions set by the court have been fulfilled, or the record has been expunged;
- Has not been issued an injunction that is currently in force and effect that restrains that applicant from committing acts of domestic violence or acts of repeat violence; and
- Is not prohibited from purchasing or possessing a firearm by any other provision of Florida or federal law.[51]

The department must suspend a license or the processing of an application for a license if the licensee or applicant is arrested or formally charged with a crime that would disqualify such person from having a license until final disposition of the case.[52] The department is also required to suspend a license or the processing of an application for a license if the licensee or applicant is issued an injunction that restrains the licensee or applicant from committing acts of domestic violence or acts of repeat violence.[53]

Once obtained, the licensee must carry the license with valid identification at all times when the licensee is in actual possession of a concealed weapon or firearm.[54] According to s. 790.06(12)(a), F.S., the license, however, "does not authorize any person to carry a concealed weapon or firearm into:"

- Any place of nuisance;[55]
- Any police, sheriff, or highway patrol station;
- Any detention facility, prison, or jail;
- Any courthouse;
- Any courtroom;[56]
- Any polling place;
- Any meeting of the governing body of a county, public school district, municipality, or special district;
- Any meeting of the Legislature or a committee thereof;
- Any school, college, or professional athletic event not related to firearms;
- Any elementary or secondary school facility or administration building;
- Any career center;

[50] An applicant who has been granted relief from firearms disabilities pursuant to s. 790.065(2)(a)4.d., F.S., after having been adjudicated mentally defective or committed to a mental institution is deemed not to have been committed in a mental institution.

- Any portion of an establishment licensed to dispense alcoholic beverages for consumption on the premises, which portion of the establishment is primarily devoted to such purpose;
- Any college or university facility;[57]
- The inside of the passenger terminal and sterile area of any airport; or
- Any place where the carrying of firearms is prohibited by federal law.[58]

Appointment of tax collectors to accept applications for a concealed weapon or firearm license

The department may appoint tax collectors,[59] to accept applications on behalf of the department's Division of Licensing (division) for concealed weapon or firearm licenses. A tax collector appointed under s. 790.0625, F.S., may collect and retain a convenience fee of $22 for each new application and $12 for each renewal application.[60]

A tax collector seeking to be appointed must submit a written request to the division stating his or her name, address, telephone number, each location within the county at which the tax collector wishes to accept applications, and other information as required by the division.[61] If the written request is approved by the division, the tax collector will be permitted to accept applications for new or renewal concealed weapon or firearm licenses on behalf of the department.[62]

A tax collector is prohibited from maintaining a list or record of persons who apply for or are granted a new or renewal license to carry a concealed weapon or firearm.[63]Upon receipt of a completed renewal or replacement application, a new color photograph, and appropriate payment of required fees, an authorized tax collector may, upon approval and confirmation of license issuance by the department, print and deliver a concealed weapon or firearm license to a licensee renewing his or her license at the tax collector's office.[64]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 12 amends s. 493.6113(3)(b), F.S., to provide that a Class "K" instructor has discretion to allow a Class "G" licensee to qualify for up to two calibers of firearms in a four hour firearm requalification class if the licensee successfully completes training for each firearm, including a separate course of fire for each caliber of firearm.

Section 13 creates s. 493.6127, F.S., which gives the department authority to appoint tax collectors to accept new, renewal, and replacement license applications on behalf of the department for licenses issued under ch. 493, F.S. Such appointments must be for specified locations that will best serve the public interest.

[57] However, a "student, employee, or faculty member" may carry a stun gun or nonlethal electric weapon designed for defensive purposes as long as the weapon does not fire a dart or projectile.

[63] Section 790.0625(6)(a), F.S.
[64] Section 790.0625(8), F.S.

The bill provides that a tax collector seeking to be appointed must submit a written request to the department stating his or her name, address, telephone number, each location within the county at which the tax collector wishes to accept applications, and other information as required by the department.

The bill requires the department to review each written request upon receipt. The department may decline to enter into a memorandum of understanding, or may approve the written request and enter into a memorandum of understanding with the tax collector to accept applications for new or renewal licenses on behalf of the department. However, the department may rescind a memorandum of understanding for any reason at any time.

The bill provides that information and records provided pursuant to ss. 493.6105 and 493.6113, F.S., remain confidential pursuant to s. 493.6122, F.S., or any other state or federal law.

The bill prohibits any person from handling an application for a license issued under ch. 493, F.S., for a fee or compensation of any kind unless he or she has been appointed by the department to do so.

The bill establishes that an appointed tax collector may collect and retain a convenience fee of $22 for each new application, $12 for each renewal application, $12 for each replacement license, $9 for fingerprinting services associated with the completion of an application submitted online or by mail, and $9 for photographing services associated with the completion of an application submitted online or by mail. Each week, the tax collector is required to remit the license fees to the department to be deposited in the Division of Licensing Trust Fund.
The bill provides that a person who willfully violates s. 493.6127, F.S., commits a second degree misdemeanor.[65]

The bill provides that upon receipt of a completed renewal or replacement application, a new color photograph, and appropriate payment of required fees, an authorized tax collector may, upon approval and confirmation of license issuance by the department, print and deliver a license to a licensee renewing or replacing his or her license at the tax collector's office.

Section 37 amends s. 790.0625, F.S., to provide that a tax collector appointed under s.790.0625, F.S., may collect and retain $12 for each replacement license, $9 for fingerprinting services associated with the completion of an application submitted online or by mail, and $9 for photographing services associated with the completion of an application submitted online or by mail.

The bill clarifies that a tax collector is authorized to accept renewal applications from an applicant for the renewal of a concealed weapon or firearm license. If an applicant is approved by the department and completes a renewal application, provides a color photograph, and pays the required fees, then the tax collector may print and deliver a concealed weapon or firearm license to a licensee renewing his or her license at the tax collector's office.

[65] A second degree misdemeanor is generally punishable by not more than 60 days in county jail, and a fine not exceeding $500. Sections 775.082 and 775.083.

The bill authorizes a tax collector to print and deliver a concealed weapon or firearm license to a licensee whose license has been lost or destroyed if a statement is received to the department made under oath and payment of the required fees is received. The department must confirm and approve that the aforementioned license is in good standing. Additionally, a tax collector who is authorized to accept an application for a concealed weapon or firearm license may provide fingerprinting and photographing services to aid concealed weapon and firearm applicants and licensees with initial and renewal applications submitted online or by mail.

Section 44 reenacts s. 493.6115, F.S., related to Class "G" license.

Charitable Organizations

Present Situation

Charitable Organizations and Sponsors

Organizations that intend to solicit donations in Florida are required to register with the department pursuant to the Solicitation of Contributions Act.[66] The Act contains basic registration, financial disclosures, and notification requirements for charitable organizations and sponsors,[67] fundraising consultants, and solicitors.

Registration Statements

An initial registration statement must be submitted to the department and include a financial report, a statement of the purpose of the charity, how donations will be used, names of individuals in charge of solicitation activities, and proof of federal tax exempt status. The charity must also identify any professional solicitors and fundraising consultants the charity will use, along with the terms of the arrangements for compensation to be paid to the consultant and solicitor. The registration must include a statement related to the charity's activity in other states, including whether the charity is authorized to operate in another state; whether the charity's registration has been denied, suspended, or revoked in another state; and whether the charity or any person associated with the charity has been subject to any adverse administrative actions or criminal convictions in any state.[68]

The following charitable organizations and sponsors are exempt from the registration requirements:

- A person who is soliciting for a named individual;
- A charitable organization or sponsor that limits solicitations of contributions to the membership of the charitable organization or sponsor;

[66] Section 496.401, F.S.

[67] A sponsor is a group or person who is or holds itself out to be soliciting contributions by the use of a name that implies that the group or person is in any way affiliated with or organized for the benefit of emergency service employees or law enforcement officers and the group or person is not a charitable organization. The term includes a chapter, branch, or affiliate that has its principal place of business outside the state if the chapter, branch, or affiliate solicits or holds itself out to be soliciting contributions in the state. Section 496.404(25), F.S.

[68] Section 496.405(2), F.S.

- Any division, department, post, or chapter of certain veterans' service organizations are exempt from the registration requirements; or
- A charitable organization that has less than $50,000 in total revenue as long as they did not employ professional solicitors or have paid employees.[69]

Before soliciting contributions, the charitable organization or sponsor claiming the exemption must provide the department with certain financial and identifying information including the name, address, and telephone number of the charitable organization or sponsor, the name under which it intends to solicit contributions, the purpose for which it is organized, and the purpose for which the contributions to be solicited will be used.[70]

Financial Statements

A charitable organization or sponsor that is required to register or renew registration must file an annual financial statement for the immediate preceding year with the department. The statement must include:

- A balance sheet;
- A statement of support, revenue and expenses;
- Names and addresses of any charities, professional fundraising consultants, professional solicitors, and commercial co-ventures used and the amounts received from each of them; and
- A statement of functional expenses that must include program service costs, management and general costs, and fundraising costs.[71]

Upon the showing of good cause by a charitable organization or sponsor, the department may extend the time for the filing of a financial statement by up to 180 days.[72]

Disclosure Requirements of Charitable Organizations and Sponsors

Charitable organizations or sponsors can solicit contributions only for the purpose expressed in the solicitation for contributions or the registration statement. The following disclosures must be included at the point of solicitation: the name of the organization or sponsor and principal place of business of the organization or sponsor; a description of the purpose for which the solicitation is being made; the name and address or telephone number of a person to whom inquiries may be addressed; the amount of the contribution which may be deducted from federal income tax; and the source from which a written financial statement may be obtained.[73]

Professional Fundraising Consultants

Professional fundraising consultants[74] are required to annually register and pay a $300 fee to the department before operating in Florida.[75] Additionally, professional fundraising consultants who enter into agreements with charities may do so only if the charity has complied with ch. 496, F.S., and has obtained approval from the department of a registration statement.[76]

After receiving the registration statement, the department has 15 business days to either approve the registration or notify the consultant that the registration requirements are not satisfied. If, after 15 days the department has not notified the consultant, the registration is deemed approved.[78]

Professional Solicitors

Professional solicitors[79] must annually register and pay a $300 fee to the department before operating in Florida.[80] Information that must be provided for registration or renewal includes the street address and telephone number of the business, the form of the applicant's business, the place and date when the applicant was legally established, and the names and residence addresses of all principals, including officers, directors, and owners. The application must also provide a list of all telephone numbers to be used by the applicant to solicit contributions as well as the physical address associated with each telephone number. [81]

After receiving the registration statement, the department has 15 business days to either approve the registration or notify the solicitor that the registration requirements are not satisfied. If, after 15 days the department has not notified the solicitor, the registration is deemed approved.[82]

The notice must include identifying information including residence addresses.[83] During each solicitation campaign, and for not less than three years after its completion, the solicitor must maintain certain records including addresses of contributors and employees involved in the solicitation.[84] Additionally, if solicitors sell tickets to events, the solicitor must maintain records including addresses of contributors and of organizations that receive the donated tickets.[85]

A solicitor license must be obtained from the department by each officer, director, trustee, or owner of a professional solicitor and any employee of a professional solicitor conducting telephonic solicitations during which a donor's or potential donor's personal financial information is requested or provided, is required. Among other information, the license application must include the name, home address, date of birth, and identification number of a government-issued ID of the applicant.[86]

Collection Receptacles for Donations

All collection receptacles for donations must display a permanent sign on each side of the receptacle. For receptacles used by a charity required to register under ch. 496, F.S., the sign must provide the name, address, telephone number, and registration number of the charity.[87]

Any person wanting to solicit funds within a public transportation facility must obtain a written permit from the authority responsible for the administration of the facility. The application for the permit submitted to the authority must include the name, mailing address, and telephone number of the person or organization; the name, mailing address, and telephone number of each person participating in the activity as well as the person in charge of the activity; a description of the proposed activities; the dates and hours of the activities; and the number of persons engaged in such activities. Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 14 amends s. 496.404, F.S., to define the term "street address" as the physical location where activities subject to regulation under ch. 496, F.S., are conducted or where an applicant, licensee, or other referenced individual actually resides. Alternative Meat

Cultivated Meat

The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) describes human food made with cultured animal cells as the ability to take a small number of cells from living animals and grow them in a controlled environment to create food.[89] The USDA summarizes the process of making cultured meat below:

- Step 1: Scientists typically start with a sample of cells from the tissue of an animal or fish, a process that typically does not permanently harm or kill the animal. Some cells from the sample are selected, screened, and grown to make a "bank" of cells to store for later use.
- Step 2: To make food, a small number of cells are taken from the cell bank and placed in a tightly controlled and monitored environment (e.g., a very large, sealed vessel) that supports growth and cellular multiplication by supplying appropriate nutrients and other factors.
- Step 3: After the cells have multiplied many times over into billions or trillions of cells, additional factors (e.g., protein growth factors, new surfaces for cell attachment, additional nutrients) are added to the controlled environment to enable the cells to differentiate into various cell types and assume characteristics of muscle, fat, or connective tissue cells.
- Step 4: Once the cells have differentiated into the desired type, the cellular material can be harvested from the controlled environment and prepared using conventional food processing and packaging methods.[90]

In 2019 the United States Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and the USDA's Food Safety and Inspection Service agreed to establish a joint regulatory framework for human foods made from cultured cells of livestock and poultry to help ensure that any such products brought to market are safe, unadulterated, and truthfully labeled.[91]

As of 2024, there are currently several states that have laws related to the proper labeling of meat and lab grown meat products.[92]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 24 amends s. 500.03, F.S., to provide a definition for cultivated meat to mean any meat or food product produced from cultured animal cells. This section is effective upon the bill becoming a law.

Section 25 creates s. 500.452, F.S., to prohibit the manufacture for sale, sale, hold or offer for sale, or distribution of cultivated meat in this state. The bill also provides the penalties for knowingly violating this section and gives the department rulemaking authority. This section is effective upon the bill becoming a law.

Section 26 amends s. 507.07, F.S., to prohibit a mover from placing a shipper's goods in a storage unit not owned by the mover unless the goods are stored in the shipper's name and the shipper contracts directly with the owner storage unit.

Bureau of Standards

Present Situation

Weights, Measures, and Standards

The department's Bureau of Standards is responsible for the inspection of weights and measures devices or instruments in Florida.[93] "Weights and measures" are defined as all weights and measures of every kind, instruments, and devices for weighing and measuring, and any appliance and accessories associated with any or all such instruments and devices, excluding taximeters, transportation measurement systems, and those weights and measures used for the purpose of inspecting the accuracy of devices used in conjunction with aviation fuel.[94] The weights and measures program is funded through permit fees.[95] This framework including provisions related to general permitting, initial and renewal applications, maximum permit fees, suspensions, penalties, revocations, and exemptions, are set to expire on July 1, 2025.[96]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 27 repeals s. 531.67, F.S.; thus, saving the Weights and Measures Act from expiring on July 1, 2025.

Motor Vehicle Repair

Present Situation

Motor Vehicle Repair Shop Registration and Written Repair Estimates

The Florida Motor Vehicle Repair Act[97] requires anyone who is paid to repair motor vehicles owned by other individuals to register with the department. Registration applications must include: the name of the applicant; the name under which the applicant is doing business; the business address; copies of all licenses, permits, and certifications; and the number of employees which the applicant intends to employ or currently employs.[98] Each application must be accompanied by a registration fee calculated on a per-year basis.[99]

For repairs costing more than $100, repair shops are required to prepare a written repair estimate that includes the estimated cost of repair work, including diagnostic work, before beginning any diagnostic work or repair. The repair shop must then give the customer the option of:

- Requesting a written estimate;
- Being notified by the shop if the repair exceeds an amount the customer specifies; or
- Not requiring a written estimate at all. [100]

Section 29 amends s. 559.905, F.S., to increase the threshold value of repair work which requires a motor vehicle repair shop to provide a customer with a written repair estimate from $100 to $150.

Section 30 amends s. 570.07, F.S., to increase the department's statutorily authorized threshold to repair or build structures from $250,000 to $500,000.

Section 46 reenacts s. 559.907, F.S., related to charges for motor vehicle repair estimate.

The Florida Agricultural Museum

Present Situation

Florida Agricultural Museum

The Florida Agricultural Museum was established in 1983 by a group of concerned agriculturalists and historians at the request of Agricultural Commissioner Doyle Conner to help preserve this important part of Florida's heritage.[101] Originally located in Tallahassee, the museum was part of the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services.[102] The Museum, now located in Flagler County, is a private non-profit 501(c)(3) corporation led by a board of trustees.[103]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 31 amends s. 570.69, F.S., to provide the definition of "center" to mean the Florida Agricultural Legacy Learning Center. The bill also removes the definition of "museum," which is the Florida Agricultural Museum.

Section 32 amends s. 570.691, F.S., and Section 33 amends s. 570.692, F.S., to conform to the changes made by Section 32.

Saw Palmetto Berries Harvesting

Present Situation

Saw Palmetto Berries

Saw palmetto berries collected from forests in Florida and Georgia are the most abundantly harvested medicinal non-timber forest products (NTFPs) in terms of dry weight. Saw palmetto berries are the fruit of a commonly occurring understory plant in Florida flatwoods. They are the source of certain medicinal compounds used in Native American, herbal and alternative medical treatments for prostate and other urologic conditions.[104]

Effective July 2018, the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services (department) requires a permit to harvest and sell saw palmetto berries in Florida.[105] The Endangered Plant Advisory Council unanimously recommended adding saw palmetto to the department commercially exploited plant list.[106] There is no application fee to apply for a permit. The permit expires 12 months after the date of issuance and is not transferable.[107]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 34 creates s. 581.189, F.S., to provide definitions for "harvest," "harvester," "landowner," "person," "saw palmetto berries," "saw palmetto berry dealer," and "seller." The bill prohibits willful destroying, harvesting, or selling saw palmetto berries, on private or public land, without the written permission of the landowner. The bill provides what must be included in the landowner's written permission to harvest saw palmetto berries. The bill also provides the reporting requirements after the berries have been harvested along with authorizing law enforcement to seize berries harvested in violation of this bill.

The bill also provides penalties for violations created by this bill. The department is granted rulemaking authority.

Hemp

Present Situation
State Hemp Program

The state hemp program was created within the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services (department) to regulate the cultivation of hemp in Florida.[108]

Section 581.217(3)(e), F.S., defines the term "hemp" to mean:

> …the plant Cannabis sativa L. and any part of that plant, including the seeds thereof, and all derivatives, extracts, cannabinoids, isomers, acids, salts, and salts of isomers thereof, whether growing or not, that has a total delta-9-tetrahydrocannabinol concentration that does not exceed 0.3 percent on a dry-weight basis, with the exemption of hemp extract, which may not exceed 0.3 percent total delta-9-tetrahydrocannabinol on a wet-weight basis.

Section 581.217(3)(f), F.S., defines the term "hemp extract" to mean "a substance or compound intended for ingestion, containing more than trace amounts of cannabinoid, or for inhalation which is derived from or contains hemp and which does not contain other controlled substances." The term does not include synthetic cannabidiol or seeds or seed-derived ingredients that are generally recognized as safe by the United States Food and Drug Administration.[109] Products that are intended for inhalation and contain hemp extract may not be sold in this state to a person who is under 21 years of age.[110]

The department was required to seek federal approval of the state plan for the regulation of the cultivation of hemp with the United States Secretary of Agriculture (USDA) in accordance with the 2018 Farm Bill within 30 days of adopting rules.[111] A license is required to cultivate hemp[112] and to obtain a license, a person must apply to the department and submit a full set of fingerprints.[113] A person seeking to cultivate hemp must provide the department with a legal land description and GPS coordinates of where the hemp will be cultivated.[114] The department must deny an application under certain circumstances.[115]

Distribution and Retail Sale of Hemp Extract

Hemp extract may only be distributed and sold in this state if the product has a certificate of analysis prepared by an independent testing laboratory that states:

- The hemp extract is the product of a batch tested by the independent testing laboratory;
- The batch contained a total delta-9-tetrahydrocannabinol concentration that did not exceed 0.3 percent pursuant to the testing of a random sample of the batch;
- The batch does not contain contaminants unsafe for human consumption; and
- The batch was processed in a facility that meets certain human health or food safety requirements.[116]

Additionally, hemp extract may only be distributed or sold in a container that includes:

- A scannable barcode or quick response code linked to the certificate of analysis of the hemp extract batch by an independent testing laboratory;
- The batch number;
- The Internet address of a website where batch information may be obtained;
- The expiration date; and
- The number of milligrams of each marketed cannabinoid per serving.[117]

This section does not apply to any governmental agent or employee acting within the scope of his or her official duties.
- The offender commits a felony of the third degree, punishable as provided in ss. 775.082, 775.083, or 775.084, if the property trespassed upon is an agricultural chemicals manufacturing facility that is legally posted and identified in substantially the following manner: "THIS AREA IS A DESIGNATED AGRICULTURAL CHEMICALS MANUFACTURING FACILITY, AND ANYONE WHO TRESPASSES ON THIS PROPERTY COMMITS A FELONY."

4-H Participation in School

Present Situation

Public School Attendance Policies

Florida law directs district school boards to establish attendance policies defining excused or unexcused absences or tardiness.[122] Specific criteria for determining whether an absence or tardiness is excused or unexcused are determined by the district school board.[123] The parent of a student who is absent from school must justify the absence, and the absence is evaluated based on the school board's attendance policies.[124] However, a parent is not responsible for the student's nonattendance at school if:

- The absence was with permission of the head of the school;
- The absence was without the parent's knowledge, consent, or connivance, in which case the student must be dealt with as a dependent child;
- The parent is financially unable to provide necessary clothes; or
- On account of sickness, injury, or other insurmountable conditions.[125]

4-H Participation in School

4-H is the nation's largest youth development organization. Over 230,000 members in the State of Florida help to make up the community of more than 6.5 million young people across America. 4-H is a non-formal, practical educational program for youth. Florida 4-H is the youth development program of Florida Cooperative Extension, a part of the University of Florida IFAS.[126]

4-H is open to all youth, ages five through 18, determined as of September 1 of the current 4-H program year and open to all counties in the State of Florida. 4-H serves youth from all backgrounds and interests. It reaches both boys and girls through 4-H clubs, special interest groups and short term projects, school-age childcare, individual and family learning and mentoring, camping, and school enrichment. There are three primary program areas, or mission mandates; science, citizenship, and healthy living.[127]

Future Farmers of America

The Future Farmers of America (FFA) is a youth leadership organization that helps young people develop their potential for leadership, personal growth, and career success through agriculture education. FFA is not just for students who want to be productive farmers. FFA welcomes members who aspire to careers as teachers, doctors, scientists, business owners and more.[128]

A 4-H or FFA representative must provide documentation as proof of a student's participation in a 4-H or FFA activity upon request by a school principal or the principal's designee. The 4-H representative must be officially recognized or designated by the Florida Cooperative Extension Service 4-H Program as a 4-H professional or a 4-H adult volunteer.

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

Article VII, s. 19 of the Florida Constitution requires the authorization of a state tax or fee be contained in a separate bill that contains no other subject and be approved by 2/3 of the membership of each house of the Legislature. These provisions do not apply to any tax or fee authorized to be imposed by a county. This bill authorizes county tax collectors approved by the department to collect certain fees for processing applications.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

These fees should cover the cost of the tax collector to provide such services. License fees collected will be remitted to the department by the tax collector and deposited into the Division of Licensing Trust Fund.

The bill creates new third degree felonies for illegal activities relating to saw palmetto berries and trespass on agricultural property. This may have a positive indeterminate prison bed impact (an unquantifiable increase in prison beds) on the Department of Corrections.

Overall, the bill has an indeterminate, yet insignificant impact to the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services. It is unknown how many administrative and enforcement actions the department will realize due to the changes in the bill. II. Present Situation:

Internal Revenue Service (IRS)

The IRS is a bureau of the United States Department of Treasury (Treasury) and is organized to carry out the responsibilities of the secretary of the Treasury under s. 7801 of the Internal Revenue Code.[1] The mission of the IRS is to provide the United States of America's taxpayers with top quality service by helping them understand and meet their tax responsibilities and enforce the law with integrity and fairness to all.[2] The IRS processes federal tax returns, payments, refunds and correspondence; levies federal tax liens; provides enforcement and compliance operations; enforces collection programs; resolves tax disputes through the IRS Independent Office of Appeals; and litigates tax cases within the U.S. Tax Court.[3]

The IRS offers many tools to assist taxpayers with tax questions and concerns, including online (self-service options), in person or by phone.[4] Taxpayer Assistance Center Offices (IRS Offices) are located throughout the United States and the IRS also provides IRS-certified volunteers and Taxpayer Advocate Services for taxpayers who meet certain criteria.[5] The IRS provides specific toll-free phone numbers and help lines for: individuals and businesses tax filers, overseas callers and callers who are hearing impaired; and persons who have questions regarding non-profit taxes, estate and gift taxes and excise taxes.[6] The IRS provides multiple toll free, 24-hour a day, pre-recorded messages covering more than 100 tax topics for tax payers seeking assistance.[7] As of February 6, 2024, there are 18 IRS Offices in Florida. The IRS has offices in Clearwater, Daytona Beach, Ft. Myers, Gainesville, Jacksonville, Lakeland, Melbourne, Miami, Ocala, Orlando, Panama City, Pensacola, Plantation/Ft. Lauderdale, Port St. Lucie, Sarasota,

Florida Department of Revenue

The Florida Department of Revenue (DOR) administers three main programs: Child Support Program, General Tax Administration, and Property Tax Oversight.[10] The DOR's primary responsibility lies in administering Florida's state tax law.[11] To encourage tax compliance, the DOR offers taxpayer education through online resources and webinars.[12] In addition, the DOR monitors taxpayer compliance and initiates enforcement actions, including audits and collections, while prioritizing the protection of taxpayer rights.[13]

Taxpayer Rights Advocate

The Taxpayer Rights Advocate (TRA) is a position established by statute, appointed by, and accountable to the DOR Chief Inspector General, with removal from office authorized only by the Chief Inspector General.[14] The TRA's role is to address taxpayer concerns and ensure adherence to taxpayer rights as defined by Florida constitutional and statutory provisions.[15]

Article I, Section 25 of the Florida Constitution provides for the enactment of a Taxpayers' Bill of Rights by the legislature, outlining taxpayers' rights and responsibilities and the government's obligations to treat taxpayers fairly.[16] The 1992 Florida Legislature created the Taxpayer's Bill of Rights, specified in s. 213.015, F.S., which grants taxpayers the right to request assistance from a DOR Taxpayer Rights Advocate.[17] The TRA facilitates the resolution of taxpayer complaints and problems not resolved through regular administrative channels within the DOR.[18] This includes issuing stay actions on behalf of taxpayers facing irreparable loss due to the DOR actions and issuing an annual report.[19] Additionally, the TRA's are required to safeguard and protect taxpayer rights during tax determination and collection processes.[20] While the TRA advocates for taxpayer rights, they do not administer the DOR's general tax processes.[21] The TRA cannot represent taxpayers but works to ensure fair treatment and resolution of taxpayer

Division of Investigative and Forensic Services

The Division of Investigative and Forensic Services (DIFS) functions as a criminal justice agency for purposes of ss. 943.045-943.08, F.S., and is authorized to conduct investigations within or outside of Florida, as necessary. The DIFS includes the following office and bureaus:

The DIFS encompasses all enforcement and forensic components within the DFS, investigating a wide range of fraudulent and criminal acts including:

- Insurance fraud investigations;

- Fire and explosives sample analysis.[26]

The DIFS investigates various types of insurance fraud including Personal Injury Protection fraud, workers' compensation fraud, vehicle fraud, application fraud, licensee fraud, homeowner's insurance fraud, and healthcare fraud.[27] The DIFS is directed by statute to investigate fraudulent insurance acts, violations of the Unfair Insurance Trade Practices Act, [28] false and fraudulent insurance claims,[29] and willful violations of the Florida Insurance Code and rules adopted pursuant to the Code.[30] The DIFS employs sworn law enforcement officers to investigate insurance fraud.

Investigations by the DIFS are conducted as provided in s. 626.989, F.S. These provisions include:

Division of Public Assistance Fraud

The Division of Public Assistance Fraud (DPAF) is created pursuant to s. 20.121(2)(f), F.S. The DPAF is charged with functioning as a criminal justice agency and to conduct investigations of public assistance fraud.[31] The DPAF safeguards against public assistance fraud and the impact of those crimes by enforcing relevant state laws. The DPAF partners with the Department of Children and Families, the Agency for Health Care Administration, the Department of Health, and the Department of Education's Office of Early Learning to investigate fraud in programs administered by those departments.[32] On the federal level, the DPAF partners with the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Services, the Social Security Administration, and the Department of Health and Human Services.[33]

Firefighter - Criteria for Cancer-Related Disability and Death Benefits

Firefighters diagnosed with certain cancers are eligible for specific disability or death benefits. Instead of pursuing workers' compensation coverage, firefighters are entitled to cancer treatment and a one-time cash payout of $25,000 upon the initial diagnosis of cancer.[34] To qualify for these benefits, they must:[35]

- Be employed full-time as a firefighter;
- Be employed by the state, university, city, county, port authority, special district, or fire control district;
- Have been employed by his or her employer for at least five continuous years;
- Not have used tobacco products for at least the preceding five years; and
- Have not been employed in any other position in the preceding five years which is proven to create a higher risk for cancer.

The term "cancer" includes bladder cancer, brain cancer, breast cancer, cervical cancer, colon cancer, esophageal cancer, invasive skin cancer, kidney cancer, large intestinal cancer, lung cancer, malignant melanoma, mesothelioma, multiple myeloma, non-Hodgkin's lymphoma, oral

Employers are required to provide coverage for cancer treatment within an employer-sponsored health plan or through a group health insurance trust fund.[37] Furthermore, employers must promptly reimburse firefighters for any out-of-pocket deductible, co-payment, or coinsurance costs incurred due to cancer treatment.[38] For disability and death benefits, firefighters are considered permanently and totally disabled if diagnosed with one of the enumerated cancers and meet the retirement plan's definition of total and permanent disability due to the cancer diagnosis or related treatment circumstances.[39] Additionally, if the cancer or its treatment is deemed to have occurred in the line of duty, firefighters are eligible for higher disability and death benefits.[40]

Special Risk Class

Chapter 121, F.S., contains provisions relating to the Florida Retirement System (FRS). Persons employed in law enforcement, firefighting, criminal detention, and emergency and forensic medical care are members of the Special Risk Class.[41] In establishing the Special Risk Class of membership within the FRS, the Legislature recognized that persons employed in certain categories of law enforcement, firefighting, and criminal detention positions must, as an essential function of their positions, perform work that is physically demanding or arduous, or work that requires extraordinary agility and mental acuity.[42] The Legislature further found that as persons in such positions age, they may not be able to continue performing their duties without posing a risk to the health and safety of themselves, the public and their coworkers.[43] Forensic professionals employed with the Division of State Fire Marshal in the forensic laboratory are included within the Special Risk Class.

State Risk Management and Safety Programs

The Division of Risk Management (DRM) supports Florida's state agencies and universities by assisting them in managing various risks and ensuring quality coverage for workers' compensation, liability, federal civil rights, automobile liability, and property insurance at reasonable rates[44] through self-insurance, the purchase of insurance, and claims administration.[45] The DRM consists of three bureaus: Risk Financing and Loss Prevention, State Employee Workers' Compensation Claims, and State Liability and Property Claims.[46]

Chapter 284, F.S., provides for state risk management and safety programs, including workers' compensation for state employees. In 1995, the Legislature created s. 284.44, F.S., in order "to provide state agencies with an increased incentive to become actively involved in the prevention and management of workers' compensation claims involving state employees."[47] This section requires that each agency covered under the program must provide the initial salary indemnification costs for employees entitled to workers' compensation benefits from funds appropriated for salaries and benefits.[48]

The DRM is required to prepare quarterly reports of the total amount of salary indemnification benefits paid and the total amount of reimbursements from each agency to the State Risk Management Trust Fund for initial costs each quarter.[49] These reports also include information indicating the number of cases and any amounts waived by the Executive Office of the Governor.[50] The reports are provided to the Executive Office of the Governor and the chairs of the legislative appropriations committees.[51]

Workers' Compensation

Workers' Compensation Maximum Reimbursement Allowances

The Division of Workers' Compensation (DWC) within the DFS provides regulatory oversight of Florida's workers' compensation system, which includes the enforcement of coverage requirements,[52] administration of the workers' compensation health care delivery system,[53] data collection,[54] and assisting injured workers, employers, insurers, and providers in fulfilling their responsibilities under ch. 440, F.S.[55] Whether an employer is required to have workers' compensation insurance depends upon the employer's industry and the number of its employees. Employers may secure coverage by purchasing a workers' compensation insurance policy or qualifying as a self-insurer.[56] Individuals who elect an exemption are not considered "employees," for premium calculation purposes, and are not eligible to receive workers' compensation benefits if they suffer a workplace injury. Florida's workers' compensation law provides for medically necessary treatment and care of injured employees, including medications. The law provides reimbursement formulas and methodologies to compensate providers of health services, subject to maximum reimbursement allowances (MRAs).

A three-member panel (panel), consisting of the CFO or the CFO's designee and two Governor's appointees, sets the MRAs.[57] The DFS incorporates the statewide schedules of the MRAs by rule in reimbursement manuals. In establishing the MRA manuals, the panel considers the usual and customary levels of reimbursement for treatment, services, and care;[58] the cost impact to employers for providing reimbursement that ensures that injured workers have access to necessary medical care;[59] and the financial impact of the MRAs on healthcare providers and facilities. Florida law requires the panel to develop MRA manuals that are reasonable, promote the workers' compensation system's healthcare cost containment and efficiency, and are sufficient to ensure that medically necessary treatment is available for injured workers.[60]

The panel develops four different reimbursement manuals to determine statewide schedules of maximum reimbursement allowances. The healthcare provider manual limits the maximum reimbursement for licensed physicians to 110 percent of Medicare reimbursement,[61] while reimbursement for surgical procedures is limited to 140 percent of Medicare.[62] The hospital manual sets maximum reimbursement for outpatient scheduled surgeries at 60 percent of usual and customary charges,[63] while other outpatient services are limited to 75 percent of usual and customary charges.[64] Reimbursement of inpatient hospital care is limited based on a schedule of per diem rates approved by the panel.[65] The ambulatory surgical centers manual limits reimbursement to 60 percent of usual and customary charge as such services are generally scheduled outpatient surgeries. The prescription drug reimbursement manual limits reimbursement to the average wholesale price plus a $4.18 dispensing fee.[66] Repackaged or relabeled prescription medication dispensed by a dispensing practitioner has a maximum reimbursement of 112.5 percent of the average wholesale price plus an $8.00 dispensing fee.[67] Fees may not exceed the schedules adopted under ch. 440, F.S., and the DFS rule.[68]

An employer may be eligible to self-insure for their workers' compensation coverage.[69] Such an employer must furnish proof to the Florida Self-Insurers Guaranty Association (FSIGA) that the employer has the financial strength necessary to ensure timely payment of all current and future claims.[70] The FSIGA is a nonprofit corporation established pursuant to s. 440.385, F.S., and monitors the financial strength of self-insured entities for the DFS and makes recommendations as to the qualifications to self-insure.[71] All self-insurers other than governmental entities and public utilities are required to be members of the FSIGA.[72]

Funeral, Cemetery, and Consumer Services

Chapter 497, F.S., known as the Florida Funeral, Cemetery, and Consumer Services Act (Act), provides for the regulation of funeral and cemetery services.[73] The Act authorizes the Board of Funeral, Cemetery, and Consumer Services (Board) within the DFS to regulate cemeteries, columbaria, cremation services and practices, cemetery companies, dealers and monument builders, funeral directors, and funeral establishments.[74]

Section 20.121(4), F.S., creates the Board within the Division of Funeral, Cemetery, and Consumer Services of the DFS. The Board acts as the licensing and rulemaking authority for certain matters related to examinations and other substantive requirements for licensure within the death care industry under ch. 497, F.S., including facility requirements;[75]

The Board has broad authority over licensure and examination of applicants for various licenses including:

- Authority to determine any and all criteria for licensure;
- Authority to specify who may conduct practical examination;
- Authority to specify the content of examinations for licensure, both written and practical, and the relative weighting of areas examined, and grading criteria, and determination of what constitutes a passing grade;
- Authority to strike any examination question determined before or after an examination to be inappropriate for any reason;
- Authority to specify which national examinations or parts thereof shall or shall not be required or accepted regarding Florida licensure;
- Authority to determine time limits and substantive requirements regarding reexamination of applicants who fail any portion of a licensing examination; and
- Authority to determine substantive requirements and conditions relating to apprenticeships and internships, and temporary licensure pending examination.[76]

The Board must have 10 members; one member must be the State Health Officer, or his or her designee, and the remaining nine members must be nominated by the Chief Financial Officer (CFO), appointed by the Governor, and confirmed by the Senate.[77] The composition of the Board must be as follows:

- The State Health Officer;
- Two funeral directors who are:

Disciplinary Grounds and Complaints

Under current law, certain conduct related to funeral, cemetery and consumer services is prohibited and violation of such can lead to denial of application, imposition of discipline, or other enforcement action against the licensee. In January 2024, the DFS responded to complaints against a Jacksonville funeral home. These complaints included "mishandling of cremated remains" and alleged "abandonment" of the funeral business.[80] In the course of its investigation, the DFS and law enforcement were able to execute a warrant issued by the 4th Circuit Court. [81] In addition, the DFS and law enforcement were able to secure the mortuary premises, take proper care of the remains of three human bodies, and work to reunite the bodies with their loved ones.[82] Multiple charges, including one felony count of Grand Theft and one misdemeanor count of Improper Preservation of a Human Body were included in the arrest warrant.[83]

The DFS - Division of Consumer Services

The Division of Consumer Services (DCS) provides education, information, and assistance to consumers for all products or services regulated by the DFS or the FSC.[84] The DCS's duties specifically include:

- Receiving consumer questions and complaints;
- Educating the public about insurance-related topics;
- Providing mediation to resolve disputes between a consumer and insurance company; and
- Serving as a conduit for referrals for further legal action by the DFS.[85]

Section 624.307(10)(b), F.S., permits the DCS to impose an administrative penalty on a person who holds a license or certificate of authority from the DFS if that person fails to respond to the DCS's request for information within 20 days. A licensed individual must produce any requested documents not subject to attorney-client or work product privilege.

Insurance Field Representatives and Operations

Chapter 626, F.S., governs the regulation of insurance field representatives, navigators, insurance administrators, unauthorized insurers and surplus lines, viatical settlements, structured settlements, and operations.[86] The powers and duties of the CFO and the DFS in part I of ch. 626, F.S., apply only with respect to insurance agents, insurance agencies, managing general agents, insurance adjusters, reinsurance intermediaries, viatical settlement brokers, customer representatives, service representatives, and agencies.[87] Further, the DFS has jurisdiction to enforce provisions of parts VIII and IX of ch. 626, F.S., with respect to persons engaged in actions for which a license issued by the DFS is required.[88] The powers and duties of the FSC and the OIR [89] specified in part I apply only with respect to service companies, insurance administrators, and viatical settlement providers and contracts.[90] The OIR has jurisdiction to enforce provisions of parts VIII and IX of ch. 626, F.S., with respect to persons who engage in actions for which a license or certificate of authority issued by the OIR is required.[91] However, s. 626.016(4), F.S., provides that it is not intended to limit the authority of the DFS and the Division of Investigative and Forensic Services (DIFS) within the DFS, as authorized in s. 626.989, F.S.

Further, the Division receives and reviews applications for insurance licenses and oversees the examination, licensing, and continuing education of licensees. The Division also conducts investigations of alleged violations of the Florida Insurance Code and refers suspected criminal violations of the Florida Insurance Code to the Division's Bureau of Insurance Fraud within the DFS or other law enforcement agencies as appropriate.[92]

Insurance Adjuster Licensure Examination

An adjuster is an individual employed by an insurer to evaluate losses and settle policyholder claims.[93] An adjuster may be licensed as either an "all-lines adjuster" or a "public adjuster."[94] An all-lines adjuster "is a person who, for money, commission, or any other thing of value, directly or indirectly undertakes on behalf of a public adjuster or an insurer to ascertain and determine the amount of any claim, loss, or damage payable under an insurance contract or undertakes to effect settlement of such claim, loss, or damage."[95] Subject to certain exceptions, a public adjuster is someone that is paid by an insured to prepare and file a claim against his or her insurer.[96]

Among other requirements, an applicant must pass an examination to obtain an adjuster's license; however, the examination requirement is waived if the applicant has attained certain professional designations that document their successful completion of professional education coursework. An examination is not required for all-lines adjuster applicants that obtains certain specified professional designations.[97] The DFS must approve the curriculum, which must include comprehensive analysis of basic property and casualty lines of insurance and testing at least equal to that of standard the DFS testing for the all-lines adjuster license.[98]

Public Adjusters

A public adjuster is any person, except a duly licensed attorney-at-law, who, for money, commission, or any other things of value, directly or indirectly prepares, completes, or files an insurance claim for an insured or third-party claimant, or who, for money, commission, or any other thing of value, acts on behalf of, or aids an insured or third-party claimant in negotiating for or effecting the settlement of a claim or claims for loss or damage covered by an insurance contract, or who, advertises for employment as an adjuster of such claims.[99] The term also includes any person who, for money, commission, or any other thing of value, directly or indirectly solicits, investigates, or adjusts such claims on behalf of the public adjuster, an insured, or a third-party claimant.[100]

Surplus Lines Insurer

Surplus lines insurance is coverage for specific risks that the standard or admitted market is either unable or unwilling to cover.[101] While the admitted market is where most consumers find coverage, the surplus lines market is a supplement for those individuals and businesses that cannot find coverage otherwise.[102] Florida law defines "eligible surplus lines insurer" as an unauthorized insurer which has been made eligible by the OIR to issue insurance coverage under the Surplus Lines Law.[103]

Unauthorized Insurers and Surplus Lines

General Lines Agent

A general lines agent[104] is one who sells the following lines of insurance: property;[105] casualty,[106] including commercial liability insurance underwritten by a risk retention group, a commercial self-insurance fund,[107] or a Workers' Compensation self-insurance fund;[108] surety;[109] health;[110] and, marine.[111] The general lines agent may only transact health insurance for an insurer that the general lines agent also represents for property and casualty insurance. If the general lines agent wishes to represent health insurers that are not property and casualty insurers, they must be licensed as a health insurance agent.[112]

A general lines agent while licensed and appointed as a surplus lines agent may originate surplus lines business and may accept surplus lines business from any other originating Florida-licensed general lines agent appointed and licensed as to the kinds of insurance involved and may compensate that agent.[113] A managing general agent while licensed and appointed as a surplus lines agent may accept and place such surplus lines business as is originated by a Florida-licensed general lines agent appointed and licensed as to the kinds of insurance involved and may compensate that agent.[114] Such general lines agent may not knowingly misrepresent to the surplus lines agent any material fact involved in any such insurance or in the eligibility thereof for placement with a surplus lines insurer.[115]

Florida Medical Malpractice Joint Underwriting Association

The Florida Medical Malpractice Joint Underwriting Association (FMMJUA) is an insurance risk apportionment plan created by law for the purpose of assuring the availability of medical liability (malpractice) insurance to Florida health care providers (physicians, surgeons, dentists, nurses, physician partnerships or corporations, hospitals, medical facilities and other health care providers).[116] The FMMJUA provides liability insurance for those medical providers who are unable to obtain coverage from the private market.

The FMMJUA is administered through its Board of Governors (Board). The Board is comprised of representatives from the Florida Medical Association, Florida Hospital Association, The Florida Bar, Florida Dental Association, and the insurance industry. Subject to the final approval of the OIR, the Board approves insurance rates, rate classifications, policy forms, and otherwise sets the FMMJUA policy under the framework of the FMMJUA Plan of Operation. Operational and administrative functions are provided by a general manager and staff located in Tallahassee. The general manager is responsible for implementing policy and conducting the daily activities of the FMMJUA.

State law on fire prevention and control is provided in Chapter 633, F.S. Section 633.104, F.S., designates the Chief Financial Officer (CFO) as the State Fire Marshal, operating through the Division of the State Fire Marshal within the DFS. Uniform Fire Safety Standards

The DFS is required to establish uniform firesafety standards that apply to:

- All new, existing, and proposed state-owned and state-leased buildings; and
- All new, existing, and proposed hospitals, nursing homes, assisted living facilities, adult family-care homes, correctional facilities, public schools, transient public lodging establishments, public food service establishments, elevators, migrant labor camps, mobile home parks, lodging parks, recreational vehicle parks, recreational camps, residential and nonresidential child care facilities, facilities for the developmentally disabled, motion picture and television special effects productions, tunnels, and self-service gasoline stations.[125]

The uniform fire safety standards must be reasonably prudent with respect to protecting life, safety, and property and which take into consideration the characteristics of the people utilizing the subject buildings and structures and other hazards associated with the subject buildings and structures throughout the state.[126] A local authority may not require more stringent uniform fire safety standards with respect to buildings or structures subject to such standards except in limited circumstances.[127]

Transactions exempt under s. 624.125, F.S., are expressly excluded from this definition and are exempt from the provisions of this part. The term "motor vehicle service agreement" includes any contract or agreement that provides: (a) for the coverage or protection and which is issued or provided in conjunction with an addictive produce applied to the motor vehicle that is the subject of such contract or agreement; (b) For payment of vehicle protection expenses as defined in s. 634.011(8)(b)1.a., F.S.

  - A company utilizing the 50-percent reserve must not allow its ratio of gross written premium to net assets to exceed 10 to one; and

A policy issued in compliance with this provision may either pay 100 percent of claims as they are incurred, or pay 100 percent of claims due in the event of the failure of the service agreement company to pay such claims when due.[131]

warranty holder against the cost of repair or replacement of any structural component or appliance of a home, necessitated by wear and tear or an inherent defect of any such structural component or appliance.[133] It does not include or prohibit the giving, at no charge, of usual performance guarantees by either the builder of a home or the manufacturer or seller.[134] The regulation is administered by the OIR.[135]

Bail Bonds

A bail bond is a guarantee by a third-party that a defendant in a criminal case will appear in court at all scheduled proceedings. A bail bond agent posts a surety bond to secure the defendant's release from custody; the defendant provides money or other collateral to secure the bail bond and forfeits the premium (10 percent of the amount of bail set by the court) if he or she fails to appear in court or comply with other conditions of the bond. Bail bond agents must be licensed by the DFS and appointed by insurance carriers to execute bail bonds. If a defendant fails to appear in court, the bail bond agent may apprehend and detain the defendant until the defendant is surrendered to the authorities.[136]

Bail bond agents may execute or sign bonds, handle collateral receipts, deliver bonds to appropriate authorities, or operate an agency or branch agency at a separate location from the supervising bail bond agent, managing general agent, or insurer that employs the bail bond agent.[137]

Licensure as a Bail Bond Agent

All applicants for bail bond licenses must submit fingerprints for a national criminal background check and pay an application fee. Bail bond agents may not have been convicted of a felony, must be age 18 or older, and must be eligible to work in the United States. A bail bond agent must be appointed by a licensed insurer and the insurer must report the appointment to the DFS. A bail bond agent may not charge a premium other than the rate that has been approved by the OIR, and must retain records related to any bail bonds the agent has executed or countersigned for at least three years after the liability of the surety has been terminated. Additionally, bail bond agents must register with the sheriff and the clerk of the circuit court in the county where the bail bond agent resides. Bail bond agents may not solicit clients at a jail, prison, or courthouse, and may not pay fees for referrals from any person working in the law enforcement community.[138]

Ownership of a Bail Bond Agency

The owner of a bail bond agency must be a licensed and appointed bail bond agent.[139] The owner or operator of a bail bond agency must designate a primary bail bond agent who is responsible for the overall operation and management of a bail bond agency location and file the name and license number of the primary bail bond agent and the address of the bail bond agency with the DFS. A primary bail bond agent may supervise only one location, is responsible for hiring employees and may not employ or contract with any person who has been found guilty of a felony.[140]

Continuing Education

Bail bond agents must complete at least 14 hours of continuing education every two years.[141] Schools that offer continuing education must be approved and certified by the DFS, and must offer a minimum of three classroom-instruction continuing education classes per calendar year. Continuing education classes must consist of at least two hours of approved coursework and be taught by a supervising instructor who is approved by the DFS.[142]

Florida Disposition of Unclaimed Property Act

As part of the DFS' statutory responsibilities, the DFS is to collect and return unclaimed property belonging to Florida residents. Chapter 717, F.S., is entitled the Florida Disposition of Unclaimed Property Act, over which the DFS is responsible to administer. Unclaimed property is any funds or other property, tangible or intangible, that has remained unclaimed by the owner for a certain number of years. Unclaimed property may include savings and checking accounts, money orders, travelers' checks, uncashed payroll or cashiers' checks, stocks, bonds, other securities, insurance policy payments, refunds, security and utility deposits, and contents of safe deposit boxes.[143] Until claimed, unclaimed money is deposited into the state school fund to be used for public education.

Pursuant to s. 717.124, F.S., a claimant representative must be a Florida-licensed attorney, a licensed Florida-certified public accountant (CPA), or a private investigator licensed under ch. 493, F.S. A claimant representative must register with the DFS on a form designated by the DFS and provide certain documentation (including tax identification number, identification, electronic funds transfer information, business address, and employees and agents) and credentials as to their status as an attorney, CPA, or private investigator.[144] In order to move forward in obtaining unclaimed property on a potential client's behalf, the representative must first obtain that client's authorization.

Chapter 717, F.S., details how to determine whether property held by a person belonging to another is unclaimed and how to dispose of it. Any intangible property or income held in the possession of a "holder"[145] for the benefit of another is presumed unclaimed if the owner fails to claim such property for more than five years after the property becomes payable or distributable.[146]

Once the five year period elapses, the holder may file a petition with the DFS and request that the DFS accept custody of the property.[147] Upon delivery of property to the DFS, the state assumes custody and responsibility for the safekeeping of the property. So long as the person who delivers the property to the DFS has done so in good faith, he or she is relieved of any liability to manage the property.[148] While the DFS serves as the custodian for the State of Florida, it does not assume legal ownership of the property.[149]

To notify owners of their unclaimed property, the DFS employs various methods, including database searches.[150] Citizens have the right to claim their property at any time, irrespective of the amount, without incurring any costs.[151] Unclaimed funds are deposited into the State School Fund to support public schools.[152] Importantly, the original amount reported as unclaimed can always be claimed by the owner or their heirs at no cost.[153]

A claimant representative, who must be a Florida-licensed attorney, a licensed Florida-certified public accountant (CPA), or a private investigator licensed under Chapter 493, F.S., is required to register with the DFS.[154] A claimant representative must register with DFS on a form designated by the DFS and provide certain documentation (including tax identification number, identification, electronic funds transfer information, business address, and employees and agents) and credentials as to their status as an attorney, CPA, or private investigator.[155] In order to move forward in obtaining unclaimed property on a potential client's behalf, the representative must first obtain that client's authorization.

Florida Birth-Related Neurological Injury Compensation Association

History

In 1988, the Legislature enacted the Florida Birth-Related Neurological Injury Compensation Plan[156] (Plan) to provide compensation, long-term medical care, and other services to persons

[145] Section 717.101(12), F.S., defines "holder" as a person, wherever organized or domiciled, who is:
- In possession of property belonging to another;
- A trustee in case of a trust; or
- Indebted to another on an obligation.

with birth-related neurological injuries.[157] If an infant suffers such an injury, and the physician participates in NICA and delivers obstetrical services in connection with the birth, then an administrative award for a compensable injury is the infant's sole and exclusive remedy for the injury, with exceptions.[158] Although the benefits paid under the Plan are limited, the Plan does not require the claimant to prove malpractice and provides a streamlined administrative hearing process to resolve the claim.[159]

NICA is an independent association. Although it is not a state agency, NICA is subject to regulation and oversight by the Office of Insurance Regulation (OIR) and the Joint Legislative Auditing Committee. Directors on NICA's board are appointed by the Chief Financial Officer.[160] The five-member board of directors of the Florida Birth-Related NICA administers the Plan.[161] Duties of the NICA include:

- Administering the plan;
- Administering the funds collected;
- Reviewing and paying claims;
- Directing the investment and reinvestment of any surplus funds over losses and expenses;
- Reinsuring the risks of the plan in whole or in part;
- Suing and being sued, appearing and defending, in all actions and proceedings in its name; and
- Taking such legal action as may be necessary to avoid payment of improper claims.[162]

Filing a Claim for Benefits under NICA

A claim for compensation under the Plan must be filed within five years of the birth of the infant alleged to be injured.[163] The parents or guardians of the infant must file a petition with the Division of Administrative Hearings (DOAH).[164] Then, the DOAH serves a copy of the petition upon NICA, the physician(s) and hospital named in the petition, the Division of Medical Quality Assurance, and the Agency for Health Care Administration.[165] Within 10 days of filing the petition, the parents or guardian must provide to NICA all medical records, assessments, evaluations and prognoses, documentation of expenses, and documentation of any private or governmental source of services or reimbursement relative to the impairments.[166]

If the ALJ determines that an injury meets the definition of a birth-related neurological injury, compensation from the plan is the exclusive legal remedy.[167] If the ALJ determines that, the [157] Chapter 88-1, ss. 60-75, Laws of Fla., was enacted by the Legislature to stabilize and reduce malpractice insurance premiums for physicians practicing obstetrics. The intent of the Legislature is to provide compensation, on a no-fault basis, for a limited class of high costs catastrophic injuries, specifically birth-related neurological injuries, that result in unusually high costs for custodial care and rehabilitation. injury alleged is not a birth-related neurological injury or that a participating physician did not deliver the obstetrical services, the ALJ will enter an order to that effect.[168] The ALJ may also bifurcate the proceeding and address compensability and notice first, and address an award, if any, in a separate proceeding.[169] If any party chooses to appeal the ALJ's order under s. 766.309, F.S., the appeal must be filed in the District Court of Appeal.[170]

NICA Appropriations, Assessments, Reserves and Actuarial Soundness

NICA is a no-fault alternative to medical malpractice lawsuits for injuries which have a high cost and system impact.[171] The funding for the Plan is derived from an initial appropriation of $20 million by the Legislature at the time the Plan was created[172] and annual assessments paid by physicians and hospitals.[173] In the last five years, NICA collected the following amounts in hospital and physician assessments:

- In 2019, $26,989,960;[174]
- In 2020, $27,765,802;[175]
- In 2021, $31,799,087;[176]
- In 2022, $35,830,483;[177] and
- In 2023, $35,076,996.[178]

The NICA may invest Plan funds, subject to limitations described in s. 215.47, F.S. All income derived from investments will be credited to the Plan. The State Board of Administration (SBA) may invest and reinvest funds held on behalf of the Plan in accordance with the trust agreement approved by NICA and the SBA and within the provisions of s. 215.44-215.53, F.S.[179]

[179] Section 766.315(5)(f), F.S.

Section 766.314, F.S., requires the OIR to maintain a $20 million reserve in the Insurance Regulatory Trust Fund with the DFS. If the assessments collected and the appropriation of funds provided by s. 41, ch. 88-277, L.O.F., to the Plan from the trust fund are insufficient to maintain the Plan on an actuarially sound basis, the OIR is authorized to transfer an additional amount up to $20 million to NICA from the Insurance Regulatory Trust Fund reserve.[180]

If required to maintain the Plan on an actuarially sound basis, the OIR is authorized to require each entity licensed to issue casualty insurance, defined in s. 624.601(1)(b), (k) and (q), F.S., to pay into NICA an annual assessment determined by the OIR. The OIR is required to obtain no less than on a biennial basis, an actuarial valuation of NICA's assets and liabilities.[181] The OIR is authorized to increase assessments on a proportional basis as needed, if the OIR determines the Plan cannot be maintained on an actuarially sound basis.[182]

NICA Liabilities

In 2021, an actuarial analysis of NICA was conducted using data valued as of December 31, 2021.[183] The actuarial study (Pinnacle study) showed the total outstanding loss and loss adjustment expenses (LAE) was $1,017,205 which is higher than the corresponding outstanding loss and LAE, of $602.2 million calculated as of December 31, 2019. The Pinnacle study reports the increase to the reserves is driven by three factors:[184]

- An increase in reported and compensable claims in recent years;
- An increase in future costs due to the passage of Senate Bill 1786 in 2021; and
- An increase in future costs related to NICA no longer being considered the payor of last resort.[185]

The Pinnacle study, in its evaluation of the risk or uncertainty of actuarial central estimates determined "uncertainty is magnified by the long duration of benefits and the consequential highly leveraged impact of inflation, interest, medical technology, and life expectancy on future claims costs."[186] Furthermore, the Pinnacle study indicates NICA is encountering an operating loss on a birth year basis[187] and that corrective action should be considered before the underwriting losses compound to an unimaginable level.[188] The Pinnacle study suggested corrective action could include, but not be limited to, assessment increases, reduction of benefits, reconsideration of NICA's status relative to Medicaid, and sunsetting of the program.[189]

In late 2022, NICA announced a settlement of $51 million[190] in a false claims act lawsuit, United States ex rel. Arven et al. v. Florida Birth-Related Neurological Injury Compensation Association et al., No. 19-cv-61053, (S.D. Fla. Nov. 14, 2022) (Arven settlement).[191] The settlement resolves allegations NICA violated the False Claims Act by causing NICA participants to submit their healthcare claims to Medicaid rather than NICA, in violation of Medicaid's status as the payor of last resort under federal law.[192] Pursuant to the terms and conditions of the settlement, NICA agreed to pay $51 million plus interest at a rate of 3.375 percent per annum from September 13, 2022, to no later than thirty days after the effective date of the settlement agreement.[193] NICA estimated the total cost of the settlement, including legal fees and accrued interest, at $53 million – two million dollars more than the settlement agreement, which impacts NICA's assets and its ability to generate investment income to pay claims.[194]

In addition to the Arven settlement, NICA has experienced increased costs related to the 2022 changes in the Medicaid fee schedule.[195] The Pinnacle Study reports NICA estimated an increase of $100 million to future claims costs based on the changes to the Medicaid fee schedule.[196] Additionally, the Pinnacle study indicates since December 31, 2021, NICA has experienced investment losses in excess of $250 million.[197] However, the Pinnacle study's discounted reserve estimates reflect, as of December 31, 2021, sufficient assets to support the reserves,[198] and that rising interest rates may also lead to higher returns.[199]

NICA Plan Benefits and Compensation

A $100,000 cash award limit was established when the NICA statutory provisions were enacted in 1988. If the initial award of $100,000 established for the first birth year of 1989 was adjusted for inflation and assuming an annual increase of three percent, this would result in an indicated award of approximately $250,000.[200] In 2021, the Legislature increased claim benefits.[201]

The Plan pays, on behalf of a qualifying infant, the following benefits:

[190] Id at 4 quoting the Pinnacle Study: "While NICA steadfastly believes it would have prevailed had this dispute gone to trials, it recognizes that litigation is inherently unpredictable. In weighing its options, NICA and its Board ultimately decided it was in the best interest of the program to not only avoid future legal expenses, but also to avoid the risk of losing the lawsuit, which could have resulted in billions of dollars in exposure and been a financially devastating outcome."

At a minimum, compensation must be provided for the following actual expenses:[202]
  - A total annual benefit of up to $10,000 for immediate family members who reside with the infant for psychotherapeutic services obtained from providers licensed under chs. 490 and 491, F.S.;
  - For the life of the child, providing parents or legal guardians with a reliable method of transportation for the care of the child or reimbursing the cost of upgrading an existing vehicle to accommodate the child's needs when it becomes medically necessary for wheelchair transportation. The mode of transportation must take into account the special accommodations required for the specific child. The Plan may not limit such transportation assistance based on the child's age or weight. The Plan must replace any vans purchased by the Plan every seven years or 150,000 miles, whichever comes first;[203]
  - Housing assistance of up to $100,000 for the life of the child, including home construction and modification costs;

Each January 1, thereafter, the maximum award authorized under this paragraph shall increase by three percent;[204]
  - Parents or legal guardians who received an award prior to January 2, 2021, must receive a retroactive payment in an amount sufficient to bring the total award paid to the parents or legal guardians to $250,000. This additional payment may be made in a lump sum or in periodic payments as designated by the parents or legal guardians and must be paid by July 1, 2021.
- Death benefit of $50,000 for the infant;

- Reasonable expenses for filing the claim under the plan, including attorney's fees.[205]

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

The bill is titled "an act relating to the Department of Financial Services" (DFS).

Section 19 of the bill is related to the Florida Medical Malpractice Joint Underwriting Association (FMMJUA) and requires the DFS to review and approve all contracts entered into and all purchases made by the association valued at $100,000 or more. Currently, the DFS has no role in the FMMJUA. Bestowing such a role to the DFS may present a constitutional single subject concern.

While the DFS has a role in the statute as to agents, i.e., individual licensees, the Office of Insurance Regulation (OIR) is the regulator of service agreement companies and Home Warranty Agreements; thus, is incongruous with the title of the bill. This may present a constitutional single subject concern.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

Emergency services and care providers under the workers' compensation system, when a maximum reimbursement allowance is not available, will be reimbursed at 250 percent of the Medicare rate, unless there is a contract, in which case the contract governs reimbursement.

Adjusters may experience additional advertising costs.

Applicants are subject to filing and application fees under s. 624.501, F.S.

Due to lowering the aggregate reporting in Section 44 from $50 to $10, there may be a small impact on the total dollar value of disbursements from the Unclaimed Property Trust Fund. Currently, more than 98 percent of the value of all funds held is for accounts greater than $50.[209]

Under Section 48, owners of small estate accounts may experience a positive impact as those accounts with an aggregate value of $20,000 or less (rather than $10,000 or less) require a signed affidavit.[210]

As it relates to recovery agreements and purchase agreements for claims filed by a claimant's representative or purchaser, Section 55 removes the $2,000 or less threshold for electronic signature of the Unclaimed Property Recovery Agreement, resulting in a positive impact.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill has a significant impact on state revenues and expenditures.

Department of Financial Services

Within the Department of Financial Services (DFS), the bill makes numerous changes that will require systems and process changes in the DFS. With regards to a reduction in expenses, the DFS is:

- No longer required to submit quarterly reports of the total amount of salary indemnification benefits paid and the total amount of reimbursements from each agency to the State Risk Management Trust Fund for initial costs each quarter (Section 5); and
- Able to serve administrative complaints, disciplinary citations, minor violations and written notice of violation by email in certain situations (Sections 9 and 10).

These changes should result in savings in terms of staff time spent towards preparing service of process and the costs related to other types of service of process.

Section 6 of the bill requires the DFS to engage an actuarial firm to begin development of maximum reimbursement allowances but does not appropriate any funds to do so.

The DFS is authorized to adopt rules to implement provisions of the bill. In addition, the DFS will need to update all software to reflect the changes to multiple divisions contemplated in the bill. However, the cost of any technology changes or rulemaking can be absorbed within existing resources.

In order to ensure competitive procurement, Section 7 and Sections 21 – 25 of the bill require the DFS to approve, beginning July 1, 2024, all contracts (excluding those contracts which are expressly stated as exempt) entered into, and purchases made by various associations, which are valued at $100,000 or more within ten days. The DFS has not indicated if such review would cause additional workload upon staff.

The bill creates a new third degree felony for violation of s. 497.386, F.S., which is punishable by up to five years in prison.[211] The Criminal Justice Impact Conference, which provides the final, official estimate of the prison bed impact, if any, of legislation, has not met to review the bill. A final impact, if any, is not available at this time.

The cost for the DFS, local and state law enforcement agencies and the court to respond to, investigate and process any civil or criminal cases related to an emergency situation in the death care business is unknown. State and local governments, as well as the court system, may experience an increase in costs should these emergency situations arise.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

The bill merges and abolishes a division within the Department of Financial Services (DFS) and renames another division. These subunits are currently recognized as criminal justice agencies by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI).[212] The Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE) is the FBI's Criminal Justice Information Services (CJIS) Systems Agency for Florida. Any abolishment or renaming, merging of these divisions necessitates the FDLE involvement. The FDLE should be included to ensure the newly created merged and renamed division meets the criminal justice subunit designation as well as to ensure access to state and federal CJIS systems are property authorized.[213]

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 20.121, 112.1816, 121.0515, 284.44, 440.13, 440.385, 497.101, 497.153, 497.155, 497.172, 497.386, 624.307, 626.171, 626.221, 626.601, 626.7351, 626.878, 626.929, 627.351, 631.59, 631.722, 631.821, 631.921, 633.124, 633.202, 633.206, 634.041, 634.081, 634.3077, 634.317, 648.25, 648.26, 648.30, 648.355, 717.101, 717.102, 717.106, 717.1101, 717.112, 717.1125, 717.117, 717.119, 717.1201, 717.1242, 717.1243, 717.129, 717.1301, 717.1311, 717.1322, 717.1333, 717.134, 717.135, 717.1400, 197.582, 717.1382, 766.302 and 766.314.

This bill creates the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 17.69, 497.469 and 717.1065.

[211] A third degree felony is punishable by up to five years imprisonment and up to a $5,000 fine. Sections 775.082, 775.083, and 775.084, F.S. Under s. 775.084, F.S., violent career criminals, habitual felony offenders, habitual violent felony offenders or three-time felony offenders, the court may sentence such third degree felony offenders to five to 10 years, not exceeding 15 years, imprisonment.

(12) CREATION OF THREE-MEMBER PANEL; GUIDES OF MAXIMUM REIMBURSEMENT ALLOWANCES.—

(a) A three-member panel is created, consisting of the Chief Financial Officer, or the Chief Financial Officer's designee, and two members to be appointed by the Governor, subject to confirmation by the Senate, one member who, on account of present or previous vocation, employment, or affiliation, shall be classified as a representative of employers, the other member who, on account of previous vocation, employment, or affiliation, shall be classified as a representative of employees. The panel shall determine statewide schedules of maximum reimbursement allowances for medically necessary treatment, care, and attendance provided by hospitals and ambulatory surgical centers. The maximum reimbursement allowances for inpatient hospital care shall be based on a schedule of per diem rates, to be approved by the three-member panel no later than March 1, 1994, to be used in conjunction with a precertification manual as determined by the department, including maximum hours in which an outpatient may remain in observation status, which shall not exceed 23 hours. All compensable charges for hospital outpatient care shall be reimbursed at 75 percent of usual and customary charges, except as otherwise provided by this subsection. Annually, the three-member panel shall adopt schedules of maximum reimbursement allowances for hospital inpatient care, hospital outpatient care, and ambulatory surgical centers. A hospital or an ambulatory surgical center shall be reimbursed either the agreed-upon contract price or the maximum reimbursement allowance in the appropriate schedule.

(b) Payments for outpatient physical, occupational, and speech therapy provided by hospitals shall be the schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances for these services which applies to nonhospital providers.

(c) Payments for scheduled outpatient nonemergency radiological and clinical laboratory services that are not provided in conjunction with a surgical procedure shall be the schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances for these services which applies to nonhospital providers.

(d)1. Outpatient reimbursement for scheduled surgeries shall be 60 percent of charges.

2. Reimbursement for emergency services and care as defined in s. 395.002 which does not include a maximum reimbursement allowance must be 250 percent of Medicare, unless there is a contract, in which case the contract governs reimbursement. Upon this subparagraph taking effect, the department shall engage with an actuarial services firm to begin development of maximum reimbursement allowances for services subject to the reimbursement provisions of this subparagraph. This subparagraph expires June 30, 2026.

(e)1. By July 1 of each year, the department shall notify carriers and self-insurers of the physician and nonhospital services schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances. The notice must include publication of this schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances on the division's website. This schedule is not subject to approval by the three-member panel and does not include reimbursement for prescription medication.

2. Subparagraph 1. shall take effect January 1, following the July 1, 2024, notice of the physician and nonhospital services schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances that the department provides to carriers and self-insurers.

(f) Maximum reimbursement for a physician licensed under chapter 458 or chapter 459 shall be 110 percent of the reimbursement allowed by Medicare, using appropriate codes and modifiers or the medical reimbursement level adopted by the three-member panel as of January 1, 2003, whichever is greater.

(g) Maximum reimbursement for surgical procedures shall be 140 percent of the reimbursement allowed by Medicare or the medical reimbursement level adopted by the three-member panel as of January 1, 2003, whichever is greater.

(h) As to reimbursement for a prescription medication, the reimbursement amount for a prescription shall be the average wholesale price plus $4.18 for the dispensing fee. For repackaged or relabeled prescription medications dispensed by a dispensing practitioner as provided in s. 465.0276, the fee schedule for reimbursement shall be 112.5 percent of the average wholesale price, plus $8.00 for the dispensing fee. For purposes of this subsection, the average wholesale price shall be calculated by multiplying the number of units dispensed times the per-unit average wholesale price set by the original manufacturer of the underlying drug dispensed by the practitioner, based upon the published manufacturer's average wholesale price published in the Medi-Span Master Drug Database as of the date of dispensing. All pharmaceutical claims submitted for repackaged or relabeled prescription medications must include the National Drug Code of the original manufacturer. Fees for pharmaceuticals and pharmaceutical services shall be reimbursable at the applicable fee schedule amount except where the employer or carrier, or a service company, third party administrator, or any entity acting on behalf of the employer or carrier directly contracts with the provider seeking reimbursement for a lower amount.

(i) Reimbursement for all fees and other charges for such treatment, care, and attendance, including treatment, care, and attendance provided by any hospital or other health care provider, ambulatory surgical center, work-hardening program, or pain program, must not exceed the amounts provided by the uniform schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances as determined by the panel or as otherwise provided in this section. This subsection also applies to independent medical examinations performed by health care providers under this chapter. In determining the uniform schedule, the panel shall first approve the data which it finds representative of prevailing charges in the state for similar treatment, care, and attendance of injured persons. Each health care provider, health care facility, ambulatory surgical center, work-hardening program, or pain program receiving workers' compensation payments shall maintain records verifying their usual charges. In establishing the uniform schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances, the panel must consider:

1. The levels of reimbursement for similar treatment, care, and attendance made by other health care programs or third-party providers;

2. The impact upon cost to employers for providing a level of reimbursement for treatment, care, and attendance which will ensure the availability of treatment, care, and attendance required by injured workers; and

3. The financial impact of the reimbursement allowances upon health care providers and health care facilities, including trauma centers as defined in s. 395.4001, and its effect upon their ability to make available to injured workers such medically necessary remedial treatment, care, and attendance. The uniform schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances must be reasonable, must promote health care cost containment and efficiency with respect to the workers' compensation health care delivery system, and must be sufficient to ensure availability of such medically necessary remedial treatment, care, and attendance to injured workers.

(j) In addition to establishing the uniform schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances, the panel shall:

1. Take testimony, receive records, and collect data to evaluate the adequacy of the workers' compensation fee schedule, nationally recognized fee schedules and alternative methods of reimbursement to health care providers and health care facilities for inpatient and outpatient treatment and care.

2. Survey health care providers and health care facilities to determine the availability and accessibility of workers' compensation health care delivery systems for injured workers.

3. Survey carriers to determine the estimated impact on carrier costs and workers' compensation premium rates by implementing changes to the carrier reimbursement schedule or implementing alternative reimbursement methods.

4. Submit recommendations on or before January 15, 2017, and biennially thereafter, to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives on methods to improve the workers' compensation health care delivery system.

The department, as requested, shall provide data to the panel, including, but not limited to, utilization trends in the workers' compensation health care delivery system. The department shall provide the panel with an annual report regarding the resolution of medical reimbursement disputes and any actions pursuant to subsection (8). The department shall provide administrative support and service to the panel to the extent requested by the panel. The department may adopt rules pursuant to ss. 120.536(1) and 120.54 to implement this subsection. For prescription medication purchased under the requirements of this subsection, a dispensing practitioner shall not possess such medication unless payment has been made by the practitioner, the practitioner's professional practice, or the practitioner's practice management company or employer to the supplying manufacturer, wholesaler, distributor, or drug repackager within 60 days of the dispensing practitioner taking possession of that medication.

Section 7. Present subsections (9) through (13) of section 440.385, Florida Statutes, are redesignated as subsections (10) through (14), respectively, and a new subsection (9) is added to that section, to read:

440.385 Florida Self-Insurers Guaranty Association, Incorporated.—

(9) CONTRACTS AND PURCHASES.—

(a) After July 1, 2024, all contracts entered into, and all purchases made by, the association pursuant to this section which are valued at or more than $100,000 must first be approved by the department. The department has 10 days to approve or deny the contract or purchase upon electronic receipt of the approval request. The contract or purchase is automatically approved if the department is nonresponsive.

(b) All contracts and purchases valued at or more than $100,000 require competition through a formal bid solicitation conducted by the association. The association must undergo a formal bid solicitation process. The formal bid solicitation process must include all of the following:

1. The time and date for the receipt of bids, the proposals, and whether the association contemplates renewal of the contract, including the price for each year for which the contract may be renewed.

2. All the contractual terms and conditions applicable to the procurement.

(c) Evaluation of bids by the association must include consideration of the total cost for each year of the contract, including renewal years, as submitted by the vendor. The association must award the contract to the most responsible and responsive vendor. Any formal bid solicitation conducted by the association must be made available, upon request, to the department via electronic delivery.

(d) Contracts that are required by law are exempt from this section.

Section 8. Present subsection (7) of section 497.101, Florida Statutes, is redesignated as subsection (11), subsections (1) through (4) are amended, and a new subsection (7) and subsections (8), (9), and (10) are added to that section, to read:

The holder shall liquidate the virtual currency and remit the proceeds to the department. The liquidation must occur within 30 days before the filing of the report. Upon delivery of the virtual currency proceeds to the department, the holder is relieved of all liability of every kind in accordance with the provisions of s. 717.1201 to every person for any losses or damages resulting to the person by the delivery to the department of the virtual currency proceeds.

(8) A holder may not assign or otherwise transfer its obligation to report, pay, or deliver property or to comply with the provisions of this chapter, other than to a parent, subsidiary, or affiliate of the holder.

(a) Unless otherwise agreed to by the parties to a transaction, the holder's successor by merger or consolidation, or any person or entity that acquires all or substantially all of the holder's capital stock or assets, is responsible for fulfilling the holder's obligation to report, pay, or deliver property or to comply with the duties of this chapter regarding the transfer of property owed to the holder's successor and being held for an owner resulting from the merger, consolidation, or acquisition.

(b) This subsection does not prohibit a holder from contracting with a third party for the reporting of unclaimed property, but the holder remains responsible to the department for the complete, accurate, and timely reporting of the property.

Section 46. Section 717.1201, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

717.1201 Custody by state; holder ~~relieved from~~ liability; reimbursement of holder paying claim; reclaiming for owner; ~~defense of holder;~~ payment of safe-deposit box or repository charges.—

(1) Upon the good faith payment or delivery of property to the department, the state assumes custody and responsibility for the safekeeping of the property. Any person who pays or delivers unclaimed property to the department in good faith is relieved of all liability to the extent of the value of the property paid or delivered for any claim then existing or which thereafter may arise or be made in respect to the property.

(a) A holder's substantial compliance with s. 717.117(6)

and good faith payment or delivery of unclaimed property to the department releases the holder from liability that may arise from such payment or delivery, and such delivery and payment may be pled as a defense in any suit or action brought by reason of such delivery or payment. This paragraph does not relieve a fiduciary of its duties under the Florida Trust Code or Florida Probate Code.

(b) If the holder pays or delivers property to the department in good faith and thereafter any other person claims the property from the holder paying or delivering, or another state claims the money or property under that state's laws relating to escheat or abandoned or unclaimed property, the department, upon written notice of the claim, shall defend the holder against the claim and indemnify the holder against any liability on the claim, except that a holder may not be indemnified against penalties imposed by another state.

(2) For the purposes of this section, a payment or delivery of unclaimed property is made in good faith if:

(a) The payment or delivery was made in conjunction with an accurate and acceptable report.

(b) The payment or delivery was made in a reasonable attempt to comply with this chapter and other applicable Florida law.

(c) The holder had a reasonable basis for believing, based on the facts then known, that the property was unclaimed and subject to this chapter.

(d) There is no showing that the records pursuant to which the delivery was made did not meet reasonable commercial standards of practice in the industry.

(3)~~(2)~~ Any holder who has paid money to the department pursuant to this chapter may make payment to any person appearing to be entitled to payment and, upon filing proof that the payee is entitled thereto, the department shall forthwith repay the holder without deduction of any fee or other charges. If repayment is sought for a payment made on a negotiable instrument, including a traveler's check or money order, the holder must be repaid under this subsection upon filing proof that the instrument was duly presented and that the payee is entitled to payment. The holder shall be repaid for payment made under this subsection even if the payment was made to a person whose claim was barred under s. 717.129(1).

(4)~~(3)~~ Any holder who has delivered property, including a certificate of any interest in a business association, other than money to the department pursuant to this chapter may reclaim the property if still in the possession of the department, without payment of any fee or other charges, upon filing proof that the owner has claimed the property from the holder.

(5)~~(4)~~ The department may accept an affidavit of the holder stating the facts that entitle the holder to recover money and property under this section as sufficient proof.

~~(5) If the holder pays or delivers property to the department in good faith and thereafter any other person claims the property from the holder paying or delivering, or another state claims the money or property under that state's laws relating to escheat or abandoned or unclaimed property, the department, upon written notice of the claim, shall defend the holder against the claim and indemnify the holder against any~~

814858

~~liability on the claim.~~

~~(6) For the purposes of this section, "good faith" means that:~~

~~(a) Payment or delivery was made in a reasonable attempt to comply with this chapter.~~

~~(b) The person delivering the property was not a fiduciary then in breach of trust in respect to the property and had a reasonable basis for believing, based on the facts then known to that person, that the property was unclaimed for the purposes of this chapter.~~

~~(c) There is no showing that the records pursuant to which the delivery was made did not meet reasonable commercial standards of practice in the industry.~~

(6) ~~(7)~~ Property removed from a safe-deposit box or other safekeeping repository is received by the department subject to the holder's right under this subsection to be reimbursed for the actual cost of the opening and to any valid lien or contract providing for the holder to be reimbursed for unpaid rent or storage charges. The department shall make the reimbursement to the holder out of the proceeds remaining after the deduction of the department's selling cost.

(7) If it appears to the satisfaction of the department that, because of some mistake of fact, error in calculation, or erroneous interpretation of a statute, a person has paid or delivered to the department pursuant to any provision of this chapter any money or other property not required by this chapter to be so paid or delivered, the department may, within 5 years after such erroneous payment or delivery, refund or redeliver such money or other property to the person, provided that such money or property has not been paid or delivered to a claimant or otherwise disposed of in accordance with this chapter.

Section 47. Subsection (1) of section 717.1242, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

717.1242 Restatement of jurisdiction of the circuit court sitting in probate and the department.—

(1) It is and has been the intent of the Legislature that, pursuant to s. 26.012(2)(b), circuit courts have jurisdiction of proceedings relating to the settlement of the estates of decedents and other jurisdiction usually pertaining to courts of probate. It is and has been the intent of the Legislature that, pursuant to this chapter ~~s. 717.124~~, the department determines the merits of claims and entitlements to unclaimed ~~for~~ property paid or delivered to the department under this chapter. Consistent with this legislative intent, any ~~estate or~~ beneficiary, devisee, heir, personal representative, or other interested person, as those terms are defined in the Florida Probate Code and the Florida Trust Code ~~s. 731.201~~, of an estate seeking to obtain property paid or delivered to the department under this chapter must file a claim with the department as provided in s. 717.124.

Section 48. Subsection (4) of section 717.1243, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

The period of limitation established under this subsection is tolled by the earlier of the department's or audit agent's delivery of a notice that a holder is subject to an audit or examination under s. 717.1301 or the holder's written election to enter into an unclaimed property voluntary disclosure agreement.

Section 50. Section 717.1301, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

(b) Audit the records of a person or the records in the possession of an agent, representative, subsidiary, or affiliate of the person subject to this chapter to determine whether the person complied with this chapter. Such records may include information to verify the completeness or accuracy of the

(c) State the amount or value of the property.

If the review results in a finding of a deficiency in unclaimed property due and payable to the department, the department shall notify the holder in writing of the amount of deficiency within 1 year after the authorization of the compliance review. If the holder fails to pay the deficiency within 90 days, the department may seek to enforce the assessment under subsection (1). ~~(3) If any person shall refuse to testify, produce books, records, and documents, or otherwise refuse to obey a subpoena issued under this section, the department may present its petition to a court of competent jurisdiction in or for the county in which such person resides or has its principal place of business, whereupon the court shall issue its rule nisi requiring such person to obey forthwith the subpoena issued by the department or show cause for failing to obey said subpoena. Unless said person shows sufficient cause for failing to obey the subpoena, the court shall forthwith direct such person to obey the same subject to such punishment as the court may direct including, but not limited to, the restraint, by injunction or by appointment of a receiver, of any transfer, pledge, assignment, or other disposition of such person's assets or any concealment, alteration, destruction, or other disposition of subpoenaed books, records, or documents as the court deems appropriate, until such person has fully complied with such subpoena and the department has completed its investigation or examination. The department is entitled to the summary procedure provided in s. 51.011, and the court shall advance the cause on~~

~~its calendar. Costs incurred by the department to obtain an order granting, in whole or in part, its petition shall be taxed against the subpoenaed person, and failure to comply with such order shall be a contempt of court.~~

~~(4) Witnesses shall be entitled to the same fees and mileage as they may be entitled by law for attending as witnesses in the circuit court, except where such examination or investigation is held at the place of business or residence of the witness.~~

(5) The material compiled by the department in an investigation or examination under this chapter is confidential until the investigation or examination is complete. If any such material contains a holder's financial or proprietary information, it may not be disclosed or made public by the department after the investigation or audit is completed, except as required by a court of competent jurisdiction in the course of a judicial proceeding in which the state is a party, or pursuant to an agreement with another state allowing joint audits. Such material may be considered a trade secret and exempt from s. 119.07(1) as provided for in s. 119.0715. The records, data, and information gathered ~~material compiled~~ by the department in an investigation or audit ~~examination~~ under this chapter remain ~~remains~~ confidential ~~after the department's investigation or examination is complete~~ if the department has submitted the material or any part of it to any law enforcement agency or other administrative agency for further investigation or for the filing of a criminal or civil prosecution and such investigation has not been completed or become inactive.

All

compensable charges for hospital outpatient care shall be reimbursed at 75 percent of usual and customary charges, except as otherwise provided by this subsection. Annually, the three-member panel shall adopt schedules of maximum reimbursement allowances for hospital inpatient care, hospital outpatient care, and ambulatory surgical centers. A hospital or an ambulatory surgical center shall be reimbursed either the agreed-upon contract price or the maximum reimbursement allowance in the appropriate schedule.

(b) Payments for outpatient physical, occupational, and speech therapy provided by hospitals shall be the schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances for these services which applies to nonhospital providers.

(c) Payments for scheduled outpatient nonemergency radiological and clinical laboratory services that are not provided in conjunction with a surgical procedure shall be the schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances for these services which applies to nonhospital providers.

(d)1. Outpatient reimbursement for scheduled surgeries shall be 60 percent of charges.

2. Reimbursement for emergency services and care as defined in s. 395.002 which does not include a maximum reimbursement allowance must be 250 percent of Medicare, unless there is a contract, in which case the contract governs reimbursement. Upon this subparagraph taking effect, the department shall engage with an actuarial services firm to begin development of maximum reimbursement allowances for services subject to the reimbursement provisions of this subparagraph. This subparagraph expires June 30, 2026.

(e)1. By July 1 of each year, the department shall notify carriers and self-insurers of the physician and nonhospital services schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances. The notice must include publication of this schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances on the division's website. This schedule is not subject to approval by the three-member panel and does not include reimbursement for prescription medication.

2. Subparagraph 1. shall take effect January 1, following the July 1, 2024, notice of the physician and nonhospital services schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances that the department provides to carriers and self-insurers.

(f) Maximum reimbursement for a physician licensed under chapter 458 or chapter 459 shall be 110 percent of the reimbursement allowed by Medicare, using appropriate codes and modifiers or the medical reimbursement level adopted by the three-member panel as of January 1, 2003, whichever is greater.

(g) Maximum reimbursement for surgical procedures shall be 140 percent of the reimbursement allowed by Medicare or the medical reimbursement level adopted by the three-member panel as of January 1, 2003, whichever is greater.

(h) As to reimbursement for a prescription medication, the reimbursement amount for a prescription shall be the average wholesale price plus $4.18 for the dispensing fee. For repackaged or relabeled prescription medications dispensed by a dispensing practitioner as provided in s. 465.0276, the fee schedule for reimbursement shall be 112.5 percent of the average wholesale price, plus $8.00 for the dispensing fee. For purposes of this subsection, the average wholesale price shall be calculated by multiplying the number of units dispensed times the per-unit average wholesale price set by the original manufacturer of the underlying drug dispensed by the practitioner, based upon the published manufacturer's average wholesale price published in the Medi-Span Master Drug Database as of the date of dispensing. All pharmaceutical claims submitted for repackaged or relabeled prescription medications must include the National Drug Code of the original manufacturer. Fees for pharmaceuticals and pharmaceutical services shall be reimbursable at the applicable fee schedule amount except where the employer or carrier, or a service company, third party administrator, or any entity acting on behalf of the employer or carrier directly contracts with the provider seeking reimbursement for a lower amount.

(i) Reimbursement for all fees and other charges for such treatment, care, and attendance, including treatment, care, and attendance provided by any hospital or other health care provider, ambulatory surgical center, work-hardening program, or pain program, must not exceed the amounts provided by the uniform schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances as determined by the panel or as otherwise provided in this section. This subsection also applies to independent medical examinations performed by health care providers under this chapter. In determining the uniform schedule, the panel shall first approve the data which it finds representative of prevailing charges in the state for similar treatment, care, and attendance of injured persons. Each health care provider, health care facility, ambulatory surgical center, work-hardening program, or pain program receiving workers' compensation payments shall maintain records verifying their usual charges.

In establishing the uniform schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances, the panel must consider:

1. The levels of reimbursement for similar treatment, care, and attendance made by other health care programs or third-party providers;

2. The impact upon cost to employers for providing a level of reimbursement for treatment, care, and attendance which will ensure the availability of treatment, care, and attendance required by injured workers; and

3. The financial impact of the reimbursement allowances upon health care providers and health care facilities, including trauma centers as defined in s. 395.4001, and its effect upon their ability to make available to injured workers such medically necessary remedial treatment, care, and attendance. The uniform schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances must be reasonable, must promote health care cost containment and efficiency with respect to the workers' compensation health care delivery system, and must be sufficient to ensure availability of such medically necessary remedial treatment, care, and attendance to injured workers.

(j) In addition to establishing the uniform schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances, the panel shall:

1. Take testimony, receive records, and collect data to evaluate the adequacy of the workers' compensation fee schedule, nationally recognized fee schedules and alternative methods of reimbursement to health care providers and health care facilities for inpatient and outpatient treatment and care.

2. Survey health care providers and health care facilities to determine the availability and accessibility of workers' compensation health care delivery systems for injured workers.

3. Survey carriers to determine the estimated impact on carrier costs and workers' compensation premium rates by implementing changes to the carrier reimbursement schedule or implementing alternative reimbursement methods.

4. Submit recommendations on or before January 15, 2017, and biennially thereafter, to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives on methods to improve the workers' compensation health care delivery system.

The department, as requested, shall provide data to the panel, including, but not limited to, utilization trends in the workers' compensation health care delivery system. The department shall provide the panel with an annual report regarding the resolution of medical reimbursement disputes and any actions pursuant to subsection (8). The department shall provide administrative support and service to the panel to the extent requested by the panel. The department may adopt rules pursuant to ss. 120.536(1) and 120.54 to implement this subsection. For prescription medication purchased under the requirements of this subsection, a dispensing practitioner shall not possess such medication unless payment has been made by the practitioner, the practitioner's professional practice, or the practitioner's practice management company or employer to the supplying manufacturer, wholesaler, distributor, or drug repackager within 60 days of the dispensing practitioner taking possession of that medication.

717.119 Payment or delivery of unclaimed property.—

(4) All virtual currency reported under this chapter on the annual report filing required in s. 717.117 shall be remitted to the department with the report. The holder shall liquidate the virtual currency and remit the proceeds to the department. The liquidation must occur within 30 days before the filing of the report. Upon delivery of the virtual currency proceeds to the department, the holder is relieved of all liability of every kind in accordance with the provisions of s. 717.1201 to every person for any losses or damages resulting to the person by the delivery to the department of the virtual currency proceeds.

(8) A holder may not assign or otherwise transfer its obligation to report, pay, or deliver property or to comply with the provisions of this chapter, other than to a parent, subsidiary, or affiliate of the holder.

(a) Unless otherwise agreed to by the parties to a transaction, the holder's successor by merger or consolidation, or any person or entity that acquires all or substantially all of the holder's capital stock or assets, is responsible for fulfilling the holder's obligation to report, pay, or deliver property or to comply with the duties of this chapter regarding the transfer of property owed to the holder's successor and being held for an owner resulting from the merger, consolidation, or acquisition.

(b) This subsection does not prohibit a holder from contracting with a third party for the reporting of unclaimed property, but the holder remains responsible to the department for the complete, accurate, and timely reporting of the property.

Section 45. Section 717.1201, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

717.1201 Custody by state; holder ~~relieved from~~ liability; reimbursement of holder paying claim; reclaiming for owner; ~~defense of holder;~~ payment of safe-deposit box or repository charges.—

(1) Upon the good faith payment or delivery of property to the department, the state assumes custody and responsibility for the safekeeping of property. Any person who pays or delivers property to the department in good faith is relieved of all liability to the extent of the value of the property paid or delivered for any claim then existing or which thereafter may arise or be made in respect to the property.

(a) A holder's substantial compliance with s. 717.117(4) and good faith payment or delivery of property to the department terminates any legal relationship between the holder and the owner with respect to the property reported and releases and discharges the holder from any and all liability to the owner, the owner's heirs, personal representatives, successors, or assigns by reason of such payment or delivery, regardless of whether such property is in fact and in law unclaimed property, and such delivery and payment may be plead as a bar to recovery and are a conclusive defense in any suit or action brought by the owner, the owner's heirs, personal representatives, successors, and assigns or any claimant against the holder by reason of such delivery or payment.

(b) If the holder pays or delivers property to the department in good faith and thereafter any other person claims the property from the holder paying or delivering, or another state claims the money or property under that state's laws relating to escheat or abandoned or unclaimed property, the department, upon written notice of the claim, shall defend the holder against the claim and indemnify the holder against any liability on the claim, except that a holder may not be indemnified against penalties imposed by another state.

(2) For the purposes of this section, a payment or delivery of property is made in good faith if:

(a) The payment or delivery was made in conjunction with an accurate and acceptable report.

(b) The payment or delivery was made in a reasonable attempt to comply with this chapter.

(c) The holder had a reasonable basis for believing, based on the facts then known, that the property was unclaimed and subject to this chapter.

(d) There is no showing that the records pursuant to which the delivery was made did not meet reasonable commercial standards of practice in the industry.

(3) ~~(2)~~ Any holder who has paid money to the department pursuant to this chapter may make payment to any person appearing to be entitled to payment and, upon filing proof that the payee is entitled thereto, the department shall forthwith repay the holder without deduction of any fee or other charges. If repayment is sought for a payment made on a negotiable instrument, including a traveler's check or money order, the holder must be repaid under this subsection upon filing proof that the instrument was duly presented and that the payee is entitled to payment. The holder shall be repaid for payment made under this subsection even if the payment was made to a person whose claim was barred under s. 717.129(1).

(4) ~~(3)~~ Any holder who has delivered property, including a certificate of any interest in a business association, other than money to the department pursuant to this chapter may reclaim the property if still in the possession of the department, without payment of any fee or other charges, upon filing proof that the owner has claimed the property from the holder.

(5) ~~(4)~~ The department may accept an affidavit of the holder stating the facts that entitle the holder to recover money and property under this section as sufficient proof.

~~(5) If the holder pays or delivers property to the department in good faith and thereafter any other person claims the property from the holder paying or delivering, or another state claims the money or property under that state's laws relating to escheat or abandoned or unclaimed property, the department, upon written notice of the claim, shall defend the holder against the claim and indemnify the holder against any liability on the claim.~~

~~(6) For the purposes of this section, "good faith" means that:~~

~~(a) Payment or delivery was made in a reasonable attempt to comply with this chapter.~~

~~(b) The person delivering the property was not a fiduciary then in breach of trust in respect to the property and had a reasonable basis for believing, based on the facts then known to that person, that the property was unclaimed for the purposes of this chapter.~~

~~(c) There is no showing that the records pursuant to which the delivery was made did not meet reasonable commercial standards of practice in the industry.~~

(6)~~(7)~~ Property removed from a safe-deposit box or other safekeeping repository is received by the department subject to the holder's right under this subsection to be reimbursed for the actual cost of the opening and to any valid lien or contract providing for the holder to be reimbursed for unpaid rent or storage charges. The department shall make the reimbursement to the holder out of the proceeds remaining after the deduction of the department's selling cost.

(7) If it appears to the satisfaction of the department that, because of some mistake of fact, error in calculation, or erroneous interpretation of a statute, a person has paid or delivered to the department pursuant to any provision of this chapter any money or other property not required by this chapter to be so paid or delivered, the department may, within 5 years after such erroneous payment or delivery, refund or redeliver such money or other property to the person, provided that such money or property has not been paid or delivered to a claimant or otherwise disposed of in accordance with this chapter.

Section 46. Present subsection (2) of section 717.1242, Florida Statutes, is redesignated as subsection (3), a new subsection (2) is added to that section, and subsection (1) of that section is amended, to read:

717.1242 Restatement of jurisdiction of the circuit court sitting in probate and the department.—

(1) It is and has been the intent of the Legislature that, pursuant to s. 26.012(2)(b), circuit courts have jurisdiction of proceedings relating to the settlement of the estates of decedents and other jurisdiction usually pertaining to courts of probate. (2) If a beneficiary, devisee, heir, personal representative, or other interested person, as those terms are defined in s. 731.201, of an estate seeks administration of the estate, of which unclaimed property makes up 50 percent or more of the assets, the department is considered an interested party and must be provided with notice of any such proceeding as provided in the Florida Probate Code and the Florida Probate Rules.

Section 47. Subsection (4) of section 717.1243, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

717.1243 Small estate accounts.—

Upon a holder's showing of good cause, the department may waive said penalty or any portion thereof. If the holder acted in good faith and without negligence, the department shall waive the penalty provided herein.

(2) For any person who willfully refuses to pay or deliver unclaimed property to the department as required under this chapter, the department may impose and collect a penalty of $500 per day up to a maximum of $5,000 and 25 percent of the value of property not paid or delivered until the property is paid or delivered ~~for any person who willfully refuses to pay or deliver abandoned property to the department as required under this chapter~~.

Section 54. Section 717.135, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

717.135 Recovery agreements and purchase agreements for claims filed by a claimant's representative or a purchaser; fees and costs, or total net gain.—

(1) In order to protect the interests of owners of unclaimed property, the department shall adopt by rule a form entitled "Unclaimed Property Recovery Agreement" and a form entitled "Unclaimed Property Purchase Agreement."

(2) The Unclaimed Property Recovery Agreement and the Unclaimed Property Purchase Agreement must include and disclose all of the following:

(a) The total dollar amount of unclaimed property accounts claimed or sold.

(b) The total percentage of all authorized fees and costs to be paid to the claimant's representative or the percentage of the value of the property to be paid as net gain to the purchaser ~~purchasing claimant's representative~~.

(c) The total dollar amount to be deducted and received from the claimant as fees and costs by the claimant's representative or the total net dollar amount to be received by the purchaser ~~purchasing claimant's representative~~.

(d) The net dollar amount to be received by the claimant or the seller.

(e) For each account claimed, the unclaimed property account number.

(f) For the Unclaimed Property Purchase Agreement, a statement that the amount of the purchase price will be remitted to the seller by the purchaser within 30 days after the execution of the agreement by the seller.

(h)1. The manual signature of the claimant or seller and the date signed, affixed on the agreement by the claimant or seller.

2. Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter to the contrary, the department may allow an apparent owner, who is also the claimant or seller, to sign the agreement electronically ~~for claims of $2,000 or less~~. All electronic signatures on the Unclaimed Property Recovery Agreement and the Unclaimed Property Purchase Agreement must be affixed on the agreement by the claimant or seller using the specific, exclusive eSignature product and protocol authorized by the department.

(i) The social security number or taxpayer identification number of the claimant or seller, if a number has been issued to the claimant or seller.

(j) The total fees and costs, or the total discount in the case of a purchase agreement, which may not exceed 30 percent of the claimed amount. In the case of a recovery agreement, if the total fees and costs exceed 30 percent, the fees and costs shall be reduced to 30 percent and the net balance shall be remitted directly by the department to the claimant. In the case of a purchase agreement, if the total net gain of the purchaser exceeds 30 percent, the claim will be denied.

(3) For an Unclaimed Property Purchase Agreement form, proof that the purchaser has made payment must be filed with the department along with the claim. If proof of payment is not provided, the claim is void.

(4) A claimant's representative or a purchaser must use the Unclaimed Property Recovery Agreement or the Unclaimed Property Purchase Agreement as the exclusive means of entering into an agreement or a contract with a claimant or seller to file a claim with the department.

(5) Fees and costs may be owed or paid to, or received by, a claimant's representative or a purchaser only after a filed claim has been approved and if the claimant's representative used an agreement authorized by this section.

(6) A claimant's representative or a purchaser may not use or distribute any other agreement of any type, conveyed by any method, with respect to the claimant or seller which relates, directly or indirectly, to unclaimed property accounts held by the department or the Chief Financial Officer other than the agreements authorized by this section. Any engagement, authorization, recovery, or fee agreement that is not authorized by this section is void. A claimant's representative or a purchaser is subject to administrative and civil enforcement under s. 717.1322 if he or she uses an agreement that is not authorized by this section and if the agreement is used to apply, directly or indirectly, to unclaimed property held by this state. This subsection does not prohibit lawful nonagreement, noncontractual, or advertising communications between or among the parties.

(7) The Unclaimed Property Recovery Agreement ~~and the Unclaimed Property Purchase Agreement~~ may not contain language that makes the agreement irrevocable or that creates an assignment of any portion of unclaimed property held by the department.

(8) When a claim is approved, the department may pay any additional account that is owned by the claimant but has not been claimed at the time of approval, provided that a subsequent claim has not been filed or is not pending for the claimant at the time of approval.

(9) This section does not supersede s. 717.1241.

(10) This section does not apply to the sale and purchase of Florida-held unclaimed property accounts through a bankruptcy trustee appointed to represent a debtor's estate in a bankruptcy proceeding in accordance with the United States Bankruptcy Code.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 1154 amends s. 948.06, F.S., to revise provisions related to probation and the Alternative Sanctioning Program (ASP). The bill requires a court to modify or continue, rather than revoke probation, if a probationer meets specified criteria. The bill includes as part of that criteria that the probationer has not been found in violation on two or more separate occasions. A court may modify probation and include up to 90 days jail for a first violation and up to 120 days for a second violation, as a condition of probation.

If the violation is a low risk violation, the court must hold a hearing on a violation of probation within 30 days after arrest or after counsel appears for the probationer or offender, whichever occurs later. If the hearing is not held within 30 days, the court must release the probationer or offender without bail unless the court determines that the hearing was not held in the applicable time frame due to circumstances attributable to the probationer or offender. The court may impose nonmonetary conditions of release.

The bill amends s. 921.0024, F.S., to provide that if a community sanction violation is committed by a felony offender and such community sanction violation is resolved through the alternative sanctioning program, no points are assessed. If a community sanction violation that has not been resolved through the alternative sanctioning program is before the court, no points are assessed for prior violations that were resolved through the alternative sanctioning program.

The bill may have a negative indeterminate prison bed impact (i.e., reduced demand on prison bed capacity). See Section V., Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill provides an effective date of July 1, 2024.

II. Present Situation:

Probation and Community Control

Probation is a form of community supervision requiring specified contacts with a probation officer and other terms and conditions.[1] Community control is a more intensive form of supervision involving an individualized program that restricts the offender's movement within the community, home, or residential placement.[2]

Several standard conditions of probation or community control apply automatically, including requirements to report to a probation officer as directed and to live without violating any law.[3] The court may also impose special conditions, such as community service hours, regular drug or alcohol testing, no contact orders, and treatment programs.[4] Failure to meet any condition of supervision is a violation of probation or community control (VOP).

Generally, upon a finding that an offender violated probation or community control, the court may revoke, modify, or continue supervision.[5] If the court revokes supervision, it may impose any sentence that was permissible at the offender's initial sentencing.[6]

If a violent felony offender of special concern (VFOSC)[7] commits a VOP and the court finds the VFOSC poses a danger to the community, the court must revoke probation and sentence the offender up to the statutory maximum, or longer if permitted by law.[8]

When a person is arrested for committing a crime, he or she is generally entitled to pretrial release on reasonable conditions under the Florida Constitution.[9] However, a person taken into custody for a VOP does not have a constitutional right to release pending the disposition of the VOP.[10] If the offender qualifies as a VFOSC, the court is prohibited from granting pretrial release.[11]

Alternative Sanctioning Program

Section 948.06(9), F.S., requires each judicial circuit to establish an alternative sanctioning program (ASP) as provided in that subsection. The chief judge of each judicial circuit may, by administrative order, define additional sanctions or eligibility criteria and specify the process for reporting technical violations through the alternative sanctioning program. Any sanctions recommended for imposition through an alternative sanctions program must be submitted to the court by the probation officer for approval before imposing the sanction.[12]

If a probationer or offender on community control commits a technical violation, the probation officer must determine whether the probationer or offender on community control is eligible for the ASP. If the probation officer determines that the probationer or offender on community control is eligible, the probation officer may proceed with the ASP in lieu of filing an affidavit of violation with the court. For purposes of s. 948.06, F.S., the term "technical violation" means an alleged violation of supervision that is not a new felony offense, misdemeanor offense, or criminal traffic offense.[13]

The ASP identifies eligible offenders, eligible violations, and permissible sanctions. Eligible violations are classified as either low-risk or moderate-risk.

Low-risk violations only apply to probationers, not offenders on community control, and include:
- A positive drug or alcohol test result;
- Failure to report to the probation office;
- Failure to report a change in address or other required information;
- Failure to attend a required class, treatment or counseling session, or meeting;
- Failure to submit to a drug or alcohol test;
- Violation of curfew;
- Failure to meet a monthly quota for any required probation condition, including making restitution payments, paying court costs, and completing community service hours;
- Leaving the county without permission;
- Failure to report a change in employment;
- Associating with people engaged in criminal activity; or
- Any other violation as determined by administrative order of the chief judge of the circuit.[14]

Moderate-risk violations include:
- Any violation classified as low-risk when committed by an offender on community control;
- Failure to remain at an approved residence by an offender on community control;
- A third low-risk violation by a probationer; or
- Any other violation as determined by administrative order of the chief judge of the circuit.[15]

[13] Section 948.06(1)(c), F.S.
[14] Section 948.06(9)(b), F.S.
[15] Section 948.06(9)(c), F.S.

Participation in an ASP is voluntary.[16] However, in no circumstance does participation in an ASP convert a withhold of adjudication into an adjudication of guilt.[17]

If a probationer or offender on community control is eligible for the ASP, he or she may:

- Waive participation in the program, in which case the probation officer may submit a violation report, affidavit, and warrant to the court; or
- Elect to participate in the ASP after receiving written notice of an alleged technical violation and disclosure of the evidence against him or her, and admit the technical violation, agree to comply with the probation officer's recommended sanction if subsequently ordered by the court, and agree to waive the right to:
  - Be represented by legal counsel.
  - Require the state to prove his or her guilt before a neutral and detached hearing body.
  - Subpoena witnesses and present to a judge evidence in his or her defense.
  - Confront and cross-examine adverse witnesses.
  - Receive a written statement from a judge as to the evidence relied on and the reasons for the sanction imposed.[18]

If the probationer or offender on community control admits to committing the technical violation and agrees with the probation officer's recommended sanction, the probation officer must, before imposing the sanction, submit the recommended sanction to the court with documentation reflecting the probationer's admission to the technical violation and agreement with the recommended sanction.[19]

The court may impose the recommended sanction or direct the department to submit a violation report, affidavit, and warrant to the court.[20]

If a probationer or offender on community control waives or discontinues participation in the program or fails to successfully complete all alternative sanctions within 90 days after imposition or within the timeframe specified in the agreed-upon sanction, the probation officer may submit a violation report, affidavit, and warrant to the court. A prior admission by the probationer or offender on community control to a technical violation may not be used as evidence in subsequent proceedings.[21]

The permissible sanctions correspond to the violation risk level. For example, a probation officer may impose sanctions such as additional community service hours, counseling or treatment, drug testing, or curfew in response to a low-risk violation.[22] In response to a moderate-risk violation, examples of additional sanctions include residential treatment or electronic monitoring for up to 90 days or a maximum jail sentence of up to 21 days.[23] Such responses are designed to be proportional to the severity of the technical violation and to directly respond to the nature of the technical violation.

Offenders are disqualified from alternative sanctioning under any of the following circumstances:

- The offender is a VFOSC;
- The violation is a felony, misdemeanor, or criminal traffic offense;
- The violation is absconding;
- The violation is of a stay-away order or no-contact order;
- The violation is not identified as low-risk or moderate-risk by statute or administrative order;
- The offender has a prior moderate-risk level violation during the same term of supervision;
- The offender has three prior low-risk level violations during the same term of supervision;
- The term of probation is scheduled to terminate in less than 90 days; or
- The terms of the sentence prohibit alternative sanctioning.[24]

Court Modification of Probation Order and Jail Term for Low-Risk Violation

Section 948.06(2)(f), F.S., requires a court to modify probation and imposes a 90-day jail cap for specified probationers appearing before a court for committing a low-risk technical violation. Unless waived by a defendant, a court is required to modify or continue a probationary term, when all of the following apply:

- The term of supervision is probation, rather than community control.
- The probationer does not qualify as a violent felony offender of special concern.
- The violation is a low-risk technical violation.
- The court has not previously found the probationer in violation of probation during the current term of supervision.

If a probationer has less than 90 days of supervision remaining on his or her term of probation and meets the criteria for mandatory modification of probation, a court may revoke probation and sentence the probationer to 90 days in county jail.[25]

Criminal Punishment Code and Community Sanction Violation Points

The Criminal Punishment Code[26] (Code) is Florida's primary sentencing policy. Noncapital felonies sentenced under the Code receive an offense severity level ranking (levels 1-10).[27] Points are assigned and accrue based upon the severity level ranking assigned to the primary offense, additional offenses, and prior offenses. Sentence points escalate as the severity level escalates and points may also be added or multiplied for other enumerated factors. The lowest permissible sentence is when the total sentence points are equal to or less than 44 points is any non-state prison sanction, unless the court determines that a prison sentence is appropriate. If the total sentence points exceed 44 points, the lowest permissible sentence in prison months is [26] Sections 921.002-921.0027, F.S. See chs. 97-194 and 98-204, L.O.F. The Code is effective for offenses committed on or after October 1, 1998.

[27] Offenses are either ranked in the offense severity level ranking chart in s. 921.0022, F.S., or are ranked by default based on a ranking assigned to the felony degree of the offense as provided in s. 921.0023, F.S.

calculated by a specified formula.[28] Absent mitigation,[29] the permissible sentencing range under the Code is generally the lowest permissible sentence up to and including the maximum penalty provided under s. 775.082, F.S.[30]

Community sanction violation points are assessed when a community sanction violation is before the court for sentencing. Six sentence points are assessed for each community sanction violation and each successive community sanction violation, unless any of the following apply:

- If the community sanction violation includes a new felony conviction before the sentencing court, 12 community sanction violation points are assessed for the violation, and for each successive community sanction violation involving a new felony conviction.
- If the community sanction violation is committed by a VFOSC:
  - Twelve community sanction violation points are assessed for the violation and for each successive violation of felony probation or community control where:
    - The violation does not include a new felony conviction; and
    - The community sanction violation is not based solely on the probationer or offender's failure to pay costs or fines or make restitution payments.
  - Twenty-four community sanction violation points are assessed for the violation and for each successive violation of felony probation or community control where the violation includes a new felony conviction.[31]

Multiple counts of community sanction violations before the sentencing court shall not be a basis for multiplying the assessment of community sanction violation points.[32]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill amends s. 948.06, F.S., to revise provisions related to probation and the Alternative Sanctioning Program (ASP). The bill requires a court to modify or continue, rather than revoke probation, if a probationer meets specified criteria. The bill includes as part of that criteria that the probationer has not been found in violation on two or more separate occasions. A court may modify probation and include up to 90 days jail for a first violation and up to 120 days for a second violation, as a condition of probation.

If the violation is a low risk violation, the court must hold a hearing on a violation of probation within 30 days after arrest or after counsel appears for the probationer or offender, whichever occurs later. If the hearing is not held within 30 days, the court must release the probationer or offender without bail unless the court determines that the hearing was not held in the applicable time frame due to circumstances attributable to the probationer or offender. The court may impose nonmonetary conditions of release.

[28] Section 921.0024, F.S., provides the formula is the total sentence points minus 28 times 0.75.
[29] The court may "mitigate" or "depart downward" from the scored lowest permissible sentence if the court finds a mitigating circumstance. Section 921.0026, F.S., provides a list of mitigating circumstances.
[30] If the scored lowest permissible sentence exceeds the maximum penalty in s. 775.082, F.S., the sentence required by the Code must be imposed. If total sentence points are greater than or equal to 363 points, the court may sentence the offender to life imprisonment. Section 921.0024(2), F.S.

The bill amends s. 921.0024, F.S., to provide that if a community sanction violation is committed by a felony offender and such community sanction violation is resolved through the alternative sanctioning program, no points are assessed. If a community sanction violation that has not been resolved through the alternative sanctioning program is before the court, no points are assessed for prior violations that were resolved through the alternative sanctioning program.

The bill provides an effective date of July 1, 2024.

An act relating to probation and community control violations; amending s. 921.0024, F.S.; revising the sentencing score sheet to reflect the absence of community sanction points assessed in certain circumstances; amending s. 948.06, F.S.; revising sanctions for probation violations; providing for hearings within a specified time period for low-risk probation or community control violations; providing for the release of offenders in certain circumstances if a hearing is not held; providing for nonmonetary conditions of release; making technical changes; providing an effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section 921.0024, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

921.0024 Criminal Punishment Code; worksheet computations; scoresheets.—

(b) WORKSHEET KEY:

Legal status points are assessed when any form of legal status existed at the time the offender committed an offense before the court for sentencing. Four (4) sentence points are assessed for an offender’s legal status.

Community sanction violation points are assessed when a community sanction violation is before the court for sentencing.

591-02983-24 20241154c1

Six (6) sentence points are assessed for each community sanction violation and each successive community sanction violation, unless any of the following apply:

1. If the community sanction violation includes a new felony conviction before the sentencing court, twelve (12) community sanction violation points are assessed for the violation, and for each successive community sanction violation involving a new felony conviction.

2. If the community sanction violation is committed by a violent felony offender of special concern as defined in s. 948.06:

a. Twelve (12) community sanction violation points are assessed for the violation and for each successive violation of felony probation or community control where:

I. The violation does not include a new felony conviction; and

II. The community sanction violation is not based solely on the probationer or offender’s failure to pay costs or fines or make restitution payments.

b. Twenty-four (24) community sanction violation points are assessed for the violation and for each successive violation of felony probation or community control where the violation includes a new felony conviction.

Multiple counts of community sanction violations before the sentencing court shall not be a basis for multiplying the assessment of community sanction violation points.

If the community sanction violation is resolved through the alternative sanctioning program under s. 948.06(9), no points are assessed. If a community sanction violation not resolved through the alternative sanctioning program is before the court, no points are assessed for prior violations that were resolved through the alternative sanctioning program.

Prior serious felony points: If the offender has a primary offense or any additional offense ranked in level 8, level 9, or level 10, and one or more prior serious felonies, a single assessment of thirty (30) points shall be added. For purposes of this section, a prior serious felony is an offense in the offender's prior record that is ranked in level 8, level 9, or level 10 under s. 921.0022 or s. 921.0023 and for which the offender is serving a sentence of confinement, supervision, or other sanction or for which the offender's date of release from confinement, supervision, or other sanction, whichever is later, is within 3 years before the date the primary offense or any additional offense was committed.

Prior capital felony points: If the offender has one or more prior capital felonies in the offender's criminal record, points shall be added to the subtotal sentence points of the offender equal to twice the number of points the offender receives for the primary offense and any additional offense. A prior capital felony in the offender's criminal record is a previous capital felony offense for which the offender has entered a plea of nolo contendere or guilty or has been found guilty; or a felony in another jurisdiction which is a capital felony in that jurisdiction, or would be a capital felony if the offense were committed in this state.

Possession of a firearm, semiautomatic firearm, or machine gun: If the offender is convicted of committing or attempting to commit any felony other than those enumerated in s. 775.087(2) while having in his or her possession: a firearm as defined in s. 790.001, an additional eighteen (18) sentence points are assessed; or if the offender is convicted of committing or attempting to commit any felony other than those enumerated in s. 775.087(3) while having in his or her possession a semiautomatic firearm as defined in s. 775.087(3) or a machine gun as defined in s. 790.001, an additional twenty-five (25) sentence points are assessed.

Sentencing multipliers:

Drug trafficking: If the primary offense is drug trafficking under s. 893.135, the subtotal sentence points are multiplied, at the discretion of the court, for a level 7 or level 8 offense, by 1.5. The state attorney may move the sentencing court to reduce or suspend the sentence of a person convicted of a level 7 or level 8 offense, if the offender provides substantial assistance as described in s. 893.135(4).

Violent offenses committed against specified justice system personnel: If the primary offense is a violation of s. 775.0823(2), (3), or (4), the subtotal sentence points are multiplied by 2.5. If the primary offense is a violation of s. 775.0823(5), (6), (7), (8), or (9), the subtotal sentence points are multiplied by 2.0. If the primary offense is a violation of s. 784.07(3) or s. 775.0875(1), or s. 775.0823(10) or (11), the subtotal sentence points are multiplied by 1.5.

Grand theft of a motor vehicle: If the primary offense is grand theft of the third degree involving a motor vehicle and in the offender's prior record, there are three or more grand thefts of the third degree involving a motor vehicle, the subtotal sentence points are multiplied by 1.5.

Offense related to a criminal gang: If the offender is convicted of the primary offense and committed that offense for the purpose of benefiting, promoting, or furthering the interests of a criminal gang as defined in s. 874.03, the subtotal sentence points are multiplied by 1.5. If applying the multiplier results in the lowest permissible sentence exceeding the statutory maximum sentence for the primary offense under chapter 775, the court may not apply the multiplier and must sentence the defendant to the statutory maximum sentence.

Domestic violence in the presence of a child: If the offender is convicted of the primary offense and the primary offense is a crime of domestic violence, as defined in s. 741.28, which was committed in the presence of a child under 16 years of age who is a family or household member as defined in s. 741.28(3) with the victim or perpetrator, the subtotal sentence points are multiplied by 1.5.

Adult-on-minor sex offense: If the offender was 18 years of age or older and the victim was younger than 18 years of age at the time the offender committed the primary offense, and if the primary offense was an offense committed on or after October 1, 2014, and is a violation of s. 787.01(2) or s. 787.02(2), if the violation involved a victim who was a minor and, in the course of committing that violation, the defendant committed a sexual battery under chapter 794 or a lewd act under s. 800.04 or s. 847.0135(5) against the minor; s. 787.01(3)(a)2. or 3.; s. 787.02(3)(a)2. or 3.; s. 794.011, excluding s. 794.011(10); s. 800.04; or s. 847.0135(5), the subtotal sentence points are multiplied by 2.0. If applying the multiplier results in the lowest permissible sentence exceeding the statutory maximum sentence for the primary offense under chapter 775, the court may not apply the multiplier and must sentence the defendant to the statutory maximum sentence.

Section 2. Paragraph (f) of subsection (2) and subsection (4) of section 948.06, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

948.06 Violation of probation or community control; revocation; modification; continuance; failure to pay restitution or cost of supervision.—

(2)

(f)1. Except as provided in subparagraph 3. or upon waiver by the probationer, the court shall modify or continue a probationary term upon finding a probationer in violation when all of the following apply:

a. The term of supervision is probation.

b. The probationer does not qualify as a violent felony offender of special concern, as defined in paragraph (8)(b).

c. The violation is a low-risk technical violation, as defined in paragraph (9)(b).

d. The court has not, on two or more separate occasions, previously found the probationer in violation of his or her probation pursuant to a filed violation of probation affidavit during the current term of supervision. A probationer who has successfully completed sanctions through the alternative sanctioning program is eligible for mandatory modification or continuation of his or her probation.

2. Upon modifying probation under subparagraph 1., the court may include in the sentence a maximum of 90 days in county jail as a special condition of probation. If the court has previously found the probationer in violation of his or her probation and modified probation with up to 90 days in county jail as a special condition of probation, it may, upon modification of probation under subparagraph 1., include in the sentence a maximum of 120 days in county jail as a special condition of probation.

3. Notwithstanding s. 921.0024, if a probationer meets the criteria for mandatory modification in subparagraph 1. but has less time on supervision remaining than the number of days in jail authorized in subparagraph 2. ~~than 90 days of supervision remaining on his or her term of probation and meets the criteria for mandatory modification or continuation in subparagraph 1.~~, the court may revoke probation and sentence the probationer to a maximum of 90 or 120 days in county jail as provided in subparagraph 2.

4. For purposes of imposing a jail sentence under this paragraph only, the court may grant credit only for time served in the county jail since the probationer's most recent arrest for the violation. However, the court may not order the probationer to a total term of incarceration greater than the maximum provided by s. 775.082.

(4) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, a felony probationer or an offender in community control who is arrested for violating his or her probation or community control in a material respect may be taken before the court in the county or circuit in which the probationer or offender was arrested. That court shall advise him or her of the charge of a violation and, if such charge is admitted, shall cause him or her to be brought before the court that granted the probation or community control. If the violation is not admitted by the probationer or offender, the court may commit him or her or release him or her with or without bail to await further hearing. However, if the probationer or offender is under supervision for any criminal offense proscribed in chapter 794, s. 800.04(4), (5), (6), s. 827.071, or s. 847.0145, or is a registered sexual predator or a registered sexual offender, or is under supervision for a criminal offense for which he or she would meet the registration criteria in s. 775.21, s. 943.0435, or s. 944.607 but for the effective date of those sections, the court must make a finding that the probationer or offender is not a danger to the public prior to release with or without bail. In determining the danger posed by the offender's or probationer's release, the court may consider the nature and circumstances of the violation and any new offenses charged; the offender's or probationer's past and present conduct, including convictions of crimes; any record of arrests without conviction for crimes involving violence or sexual crimes; any other evidence of allegations of unlawful sexual conduct or the use of violence by the offender or probationer; the offender's or probationer's family ties, length of residence in the community, employment history, and mental condition; his or her history and conduct during the probation or community control supervision from which the violation arises and any other previous supervisions, including disciplinary records of previous incarcerations; the likelihood that the offender or probationer will engage again in a criminal course of conduct; the weight of the evidence against the offender or probationer; and any other facts the court considers relevant. The court, as soon as is practicable, shall give the probationer or offender an opportunity to be fully heard on his or her behalf in person or by counsel. If the alleged violation is a low-risk violation, as defined in paragraph (9)(b), the court shall, within 30 days after the probationer's or offender's arrest, give the probationer or offender an opportunity to be fully heard on his or her behalf in person or by counsel. If a hearing is not held within 30 days after such arrest, the court must release the probationer or offender without bail unless the court finds that a hearing was not held in the applicable timeframe due to circumstances attributable to the probationer or offender. If the probationer or offender is released, the court may impose nonmonetary conditions of release. After the hearing, the court shall make findings of fact and forward the findings to the court that granted the probation or community control and to the probationer or offender or his or her attorney. The findings of fact by the hearing court are binding on the court that granted the probation or community control. Upon the probationer or offender being brought before it, the court that granted the probation or community control may revoke, modify, or continue the probation or community control or may place the probationer into community control as provided in this section. However, the probationer or offender shall not be released and shall not be admitted to bail, but shall be brought before the court that granted the probation or community control if any violation of felony probation or community control other than a failure to pay costs or fines or make restitution payments is alleged to have been committed by:

(a) A violent felony offender of special concern, as defined in this section;

(b) A person who is on felony probation or community control for any offense committed on or after March 12, 2007, ~~the effective date of this act~~ and who is arrested for a qualifying offense as defined in this section; or

(c) A person who is on felony probation or community control and has previously been found by a court to be a habitual violent felony offender as defined in s. 775.084(1)(b), a three-time violent felony offender as defined in s. 775.084(1)(c), or a sexual predator under s. 775.21, and who is arrested for committing a qualifying offense as defined in this section on or after March 12, 2007 ~~the effective date of this act~~.

Section 3. This act shall take effect July 1, 2024.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 1188 provides office surgery practice standards and additional enforcement authority to the Department of Health (DOH) over physician offices in which physicians perform certain liposuction procedures or gluteal fat grafting procedures, also known as Brazilian Butt Lifts (BBLs).

The bill requires that, in addition to other circumstances that require office surgery registration:

- Physicians register their offices for office surgery with the DOH if they intend to perform liposuction procedures in their offices in which more than 1,000 cc of supernatant fat is temporarily or permanently removed. Current law does not specify temporarily or permanently.
- Physicians register their offices for office surgery with the DOH if they intend to perform gluteal fat grafting procedures in their offices. Current law does not expressly require registration for the performance of such procedures by name.
- Physicians register their offices for office surgery with the DOH if they intend to perform certain liposuction procedures during which the patient is rotated between the supine, lateral, and prone positions.

The bill:

- Modifies the penalty for performing surgery in an unregistered office, if the surgery requires office registration, from a fine of $5,000 per day to $5,000 per incident, to allow the DOH to fine a physician for multiple offenses committed during the same day.

- Authorizes the DOH to utilize a heightened inspection procedures for office surgery registration and updates and provides detailed directions to the DOH regarding requirements for physician office surgery inspections and requires applicants to identify in the application specific personnel and procedures and regularly update that information with the boards.
- Requires that physicians who have registered their offices prior to July 1, 2024, to update their registration, if a physician performs gluteal fat grafting procedures or certain liposuction procedures during the office surgery.
- Creates a registration update process with an updated registration inspection at next annual inspection and provides additional time for compliance with additional requirements and procedures upon request.
- Requires office surgery applicants to document that the applicant has met the applicable requirements of s. 469 of the Florida Building Code for office surgery suites if they perform gluteal fat grafting procedures or certain liposuction procedures.
- Creates new sections of statute for all levels of office surgeries to codify existing rules of the Board of Medicine (BOM) and Board of Osteopathic Medicine (BOOM).
- Creates additional restrictions on liposuction procedures when performed in combination with another separate surgical procedure during a single Level II or Level III operation.
- Creates standards for office surgery anesthesia by adopting Standards of the American Society of Anesthesiologists for Basic Anesthetic Monitoring.
- Authorizes the boards to make rules for additional standards of practice for office procedures and surgeries as warranted for patient safety and the evolution of technology and practice, to administer registration and registration update processes, and inspections and safety of office procedures and surgeries.
- Provides an exemption for physicians who are dually licensed as dentists while such practitioner is performing dental procedures that are regulated under the practice of dentistry.

The bill takes effect upon becoming law.

II. Present Situation:

Regulation of Office Surgeries

The Board of Medicine (BOM) and the Board of Osteopathic Medicine (BOOM) (collectively, the boards)[1], within the DOH[2], have authority to adopt rules to regulate practice of medicine and osteopathic medicine, respectively. The boards have authority to establish, by rule, standards of practice for particular settings.[3] Such standards may include education and training; medications, including anesthetics; assistance of and delegation to other personnel; sterilization; performance of complex or multiple procedures; records; informed consent; and policy and procedures manuals.[4]

[1]Chapter 458, F.S., regulates the practice of allopathic medicine, and ch. 459, F.S., regulates the practice of osteopathic medicine.
[2] The Dept. of Health, Division of Medical Quality Assurance (MQA), serves as the principle administrative unit for the Board of Medicine and the Board of Osteopathic Medicine.
[3] Sections 458.331(v) and 459.015(z), F.S.
[4] Id.

The boards set forth the standards of practice that must be met for office surgeries. An office surgery is any surgery that is performed outside a facility licensed under ch. 390, F.S., or ch. 395, F.S.[5] There are several levels of office surgeries governed by rules adopted by the boards, which set forth the scope of each level of office surgeries, the equipment and medications that must be available, and the training requirements for personnel present during the surgery.

Registration

A physician is required to register his or her office with the DOH to perform liposuction procedures in which more than 1,000 cubic centimeters of supernatant fat is removed, a level II office surgery, or a level III office surgery.[6]

Each registered office must designate a physician who is responsible for complying with all laws and regulations establishing safety requirements for such offices.[7] The designated physician is required to notify the DOH within 10 days of hiring any new recovery or surgical team personnel.[8] The office must notify the DOH within 10 calendar days after the termination of a designated physician relationship.[9]

The DOH must inspect any office where office surgeries will be done before the office is registered.[10] If the office refuses such inspection, it will not be registered until the inspection can be completed. If an office that has already been registered with the DOH refuses inspection, its registration will be immediately suspended and remain suspended until the inspection is completed, and the office must close for 14 days.[11]

The DOH must inspect each registered office annually unless the office is accredited by a nationally recognized accrediting agency approved by the respective board. Such inspections may be unannounced.[12]

The DOH's license verification web page indicates there are 1,816 office surgery registrations.[13]

Standards of Practice

Prior to performing any surgery, a physician must evaluate the risks of anesthesia and the surgical procedure to be performed.[14] A physician must maintain a complete record of each surgical procedure, including the anesthesia record, if applicable, and written informed consent.[15]

The written consent must reflect the patient's knowledge of identified risks, consent to the procedure, type of anesthesia and anesthesia provider, and that a choice of anesthesia provider exists.[16]

Physicians performing office surgeries must maintain a log of all liposuction procedures in which more than 1,000 cubic centimeters of supernatant fat is removed and Level II and Level III surgical procedures performed, which includes:[17]

- A confidential patient identifier;
- The time the patient arrives in the operating suite;
- The name of the physician who provided medical clearance;
- The surgeon's name;
- The diagnosis;
- The CPT codes for the procedures performed;
- The patient's ASA classification;
- The type of procedure performed;
- The level of surgery;
- The anesthesia provider;
- The type of anesthesia used;
- The duration of the procedure;
- The type of post-operative care;
- The duration of recovery;
- The disposition of the patient upon discharge;
- A list of medications used during surgery and recovery; and
- Any adverse incidents.

Such logs must be maintained for at least six years from the last patient contact and must be provided to the DOH investigators upon request.[18]

For elective cosmetic and plastic surgery procedures performed in a physician's office:[19]

- The maximum planned duration of all planned procedures cannot exceed eight hours.
- A physician must discharge the patient within 24 hours, and overnight stay may not exceed 23 hours and 59 minutes.
- The overnight stay is strictly limited to the physician's office.
- If the patient has not sufficiently recovered to be safely discharged within the 24-hour period, the patient must be transferred to a hospital for continued post-operative care.

Office surgeries are prohibited from:

- Resulting in blood loss greater than ten percent of blood volume in a patient with normal hemoglobin;

[16] Id. A patient may use an anesthesiologist, anesthesiologist assistant, another appropriately trained physician, certified registered nurse anesthetist, or physician assistant.

- Requiring major or prolonged intracranial, intrathoracic, abdominal, or joint replacement procedures, excluding laparoscopy;
- Involving a major blood vessel with direct visualization by open exposure of the vessel, not including percutaneous endovascular treatment[20]; or
- Being emergent or life threatening.

Levels of Office Surgeries

Level I

Level I involves the most minor of surgeries, which require minimal sedation[21] or local or topical anesthesia, and have a remote chance of complications requiring hospitalization.[22] Level I procedures include:[23]

- Minor procedures such as excision of skin lesions, moles, warts, cysts, lipomas and repair of lacerations, or surgery limited to the skin and subcutaneous tissue performed under topical or local anesthesia not involving drug-induced alteration of consciousness other than minimal pre-operative tranquilization of the patient;
- Liposuction involving the removal of less than 4,000 cc supernatant fat; and
- Incision and drainage of superficial abscesses, limited endoscopies such as proctoscopies, skin biopsies, arthrocentesis, thoracentesis, paracentesis, dilation of urethra, cryptoscopic procedures, and closed reduction of simple fractures or small joint dislocations (e.g., finger and toe joints).

Level II

Level II office surgeries involve moderate sedation[24] and require the physician office to have a transfer agreement with a licensed hospital that is no more than 30 minutes from the office.[25] Level II office surgeries, include but are not limited to:[26]

- Hemorrhoidectomy, hernia repair, large joint dislocations, colonoscopy, and liposuction involving the removal of up to 4,000 cc supernatant fat; and
- Any surgery in which the patient's level of sedation is that of moderate sedation and analgesia or conscious sedation.

A physician performing a Level II office surgery must:[27]

[20] Such treatment addresses conditions such as peripheral artery disease and other arterial blockages.
[21] Minimal sedation is a drug-induced state during which the patient responds normally to verbal commands. Although cognitive function and physical coordination may be impaired, airway reflexes, and ventilator and cardiovascular functions are not impaired. Controlled substances are limited to oral administration in doses appropriate for the unsupervised treatment of insomnia, anxiety, or pain.

[24] Moderate sedation or conscious sedation is a drug-induced depression of consciousness during which a patient responds purposefully to verbal commands, either alone or accompanied by light tactile stimulations. No interventions are needed to manage the patient's airway and spontaneous ventilation is adequate. Cardiovascular function is maintained. Reflex withdrawal from a painful stimulus is not considered a purposeful response.
