COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/CS/SB 1728 addresses contractor solicitations related to property insurance roof claims, the type of homeowners' insurance coverage insurers must offer for roof losses, and various aspects of Citizens Property Insurance Corporation (Citizens or corporation).

Property Insurance Claims for Roof Damage

The bill allows contractors to make written or electronic communications that encourage, instruct, or induce a consumer to contact a contractor or public adjuster for the purpose of making an insurance claim for roof damage if such communication includes the following disclosures:

- The consumer is responsible for payment of any insurance deductible;
- It is insurance fraud punishable as a felony of the third degree for a contractor to pay, waive, or rebate all or part of an insurance deductible applicable to payment to the contractor for repairs to property covered by a property insurance policy; and
- It is insurance fraud punishable as a felony of the third degree to intentionally file an insurance claim containing any false, incomplete or misleading information.

The disclosures must be stated in a font size that is at least 12 points and at least half as large as the largest font used in the solicitation. With this change, contractors will no longer be prohibited from making such solicitations so long as the solicitation includes the aforementioned disclosures.

The bill allows residential property insurers to offer only homeowners' insurance policies that reimburse roof losses on a depreciated value or actual cash value basis using a roof surface type reimbursement schedule, rather than on the basis of replacement costs. The bill thus creates an exception to the requirement an insurer must offer a homeowners policy that reimburses losses to the dwelling on the basis of replacement costs and also provides law and ordinance coverage, and must also provide a replacement cost reimbursement homeowners' policy that does not provide law and ordinance coverage. Currently, insurers may offer homeowner's insurance policies with roof surface type reimbursement schedules approved by the Office of Insurance Regulation (OIR), but must also offer policies that provide replacement cost reimbursement.

Additionally, the bill allows an insurer to issue homeowners' policies that provide coverage to the roof on a stated value basis. For example, instead of expressing the coverage in the form of a depreciating percentage over time, the stated value clearly provides the dollar value of the coverage of the roof.

A homeowners' policy that utilizes a roof surface replacement schedule or provides roof coverage on a stated value basis must provide replacement cost reimbursement for:

- Any roof surface type less than 10 years old;
- A covered total loss to a primary structure in accordance with the valued policy law; and
- A loss to the roof caused by a storm declared to be a hurricane by the National Hurricane Center.

Citizens Property Insurance Corporation

The bill requires certain appointed members of the Citizens Board of Governors (board) to have demonstrated expertise in insurance at the time of appointment or reappointment. The bill requires that on or after July 1, 2022, an appointee designated as chair must have demonstrated expertise in insurance and must have at least one experience serving on the board. The bill revises the term "demonstrated expertise in insurance" to mean at least ten years' experience:

- In property and casualty insurance as a full time employee, officer, or owner of a licensed insurance agency or an insurer authorized to transact property insurance in this state; or
- As an insurer regulator or as an executive or officer of an insurance trade association.

The bill also requires that the Citizens executive director must, at the time of appointment, have the experience, character and qualifications necessary to serve in that role for an insurer that has a certificate of authority to transact insurance in Florida.

The bill limits the application of the Citizens "glidepath" to personal lines residential policies covering an insured's primary residence and any commercial lines residential policy. "Glidepath" is the term commonly used to refer to the statutory limitation on rate increases that may be imposed on an individual Citizens policyholder. The maximum rate increase that may be imposed on any single policy, excluding coverage changes and surcharges, is 11 percent for 2022.[1] Other properties would be charged the actuarially indicated rate.

The bill provides whenever such an offer is received by a Citizens policyholder, the risk is not eligible for Citizens coverage unless the premium for coverage from the authorized insurer is more than 20 percent greater than the renewal premium for comparable coverage from Citizens. Under current law, Citizens policyholders remain eligible for coverage unless the offer from an authorized insurer is less than the policyholder's Citizens renewal premium.

The bill has an indeterminate fiscal impact to state revenues and expenditures. See Section V. Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill has an effective date of July 1, 2022.

II. Present Situation:

Florida Residential Property Insurance Market Data and CS/CS/CS/SB 76 (2021)

According to the Florida Office of Insurance Regulation (OIR), from 2017 through the second quarter of 2021, Florida domestic property insurers had cumulative net underwriting losses that resulted in a cumulative net income in excess of negative one billion dollars.[2]

Prior to the 2021 Legislative Session, the OIR reported an increasing trend of domestic property insurers filing for rate increases. Insurers submitted 105 rate filings in 2020 for increases of 10 percent or more, with the OIR approving 55 of those filings. In 2016, the OIR approved only six rate increases of at least 10 percent.[3]

In a presentation to the Florida Senate Committee on Banking and Insurance on January 12, 2021, the State Insurance Commissioner attributed the net underwriting losses, combined ratios, and resulting rate increases displayed above to several related trends and behaviors present in Florida's domestic property insurance market:

- Claims with litigation;
- Claims solicitation; and
- Adverse loss reserve development.[4]

[1] The maximum rate increase will increase by one percent for each subsequent year until it reaches 15 percent for 2026.

[4] Florida Senate, Meeting of the Committee on Banking and Insurance (Jan. 12, 2021) (statement of David Altmaier, Commissioner, Florida Office of Insurance Regulation).

In 2020, the OIR conducted a data call of Florida's domestic property insurers.[5] According to the State Insurance Commissioner, the results of the data call showed the severity of non-weather water claims with litigation is nearly double that of the claims that are closed without litigation.[6]

According to the OIR, the increased severity of claims involving litigation is driving adverse loss reserve development, leading to high rate filings.[7] Loss reserve development is the difference between the original loss as initially reserved by the insurer and its subsequent evaluation later or at the time of its final disposal.[8] When adverse loss reserve development occurs, the claim costs more than its reserve was originally estimated by the insurer.

In response to the aforementioned challenges in Florida's property insurance market, the 2021 Legislature passed CS/CS/CS/SB 76 (2021).[9] The bill addressed multiple aspects of the property insurance market, including solicitations regarding roof claims, notice of bringing a civil action in a property insurance dispute, attorney fee awards in first-party property insurance litigation, and the eligibility standards and ratemaking of Citizens.

Property Insurance Practices by Contractors

The 2021 property insurance law attempted to address increases in roof claims by prohibiting contractors, and persons acting on behalf of contractors, from:

- Soliciting residential property owners through prohibited advertisements, which are communications to a consumer that encourage, instruct, or induce a consumer to contact a contractor to file an insurance claim for roof damage;
- Offering the residential property owner consideration to perform a roof inspection or file an insurance claim;
- Offering or receiving consideration for referrals when property insurance proceeds are payable;
- Engaging in unlicensed public adjusting; and
- Providing an authorization agreement to the insured without providing a good faith estimate.

The above acts are subject to license discipline by the Department of Business and Professional Regulation and a $10,000 fine per violation. The law provides the residential property owner may void the contract with the contractor within 10 days of its execution if the contractor fails to provide notice to the residential property owner of the contractor's prohibited practices.

The law prohibits licensed contractors and subcontractors from advertising, soliciting, offering to handle, handling, or performing public adjuster (PA) services without a license. The prohibition does not prohibit the contractor from recommending the consumer consider contacting his or her insurer to determine if the proposed repair is covered by insurance.

The law prohibits a PA, PA apprentice, or person acting on behalf of a PA or PA apprentice, from offering financial inducements for allowing a roof inspection of residential property or making an insurance claim for roof damage. The law also prohibits them from offering or accepting consideration for referring services related to a roof claim. Each violation subjects the PA or PA licensee to up to a $10,000 fine. Unlicensed persons not otherwise exempted from PA licensure commit the unlicensed practice of public adjusting when they do these prohibited acts, and are subject to a $10,000 fine per act and the criminal penalty for unlicensed activity.

Regulations of Commercial Speech

The United States Supreme Court set forth the standards for analyzing whether a restriction on commercial speech[10] violates the First Amendment of the United States Constitution in the case of Central Hudson Gas & Elec. Corp. v. Public Service Commission of New York.[11] Justice Powell succinctly set forth the standards.

> In commercial speech cases, then, a four-part analysis has developed. At the outset, we must determine whether the expression is protected by the First Amendment. For commercial speech to come within that provision, it at least must concern lawful activity and not be misleading. Next, we ask whether the asserted governmental interest is substantial. If both inquiries yield positive answers, we must determine whether the regulation directly advances the governmental interest asserted, and whether it is not more extensive than is necessary to serve that interest.[12]

The court explained in Central Hudson that if a law restricts commercial speech that address speech that is not misleading or related to unlawful activity, the government's power to regulate such speech is limited:

> If the communication is neither misleading nor related to unlawful activity, the government's power is more circumscribed. The State must assert a substantial interest to be achieved by restrictions on commercial speech. Moreover, the regulatory technique must be in proportion to that interest. The limitation on expression must be designed carefully to achieve the State's goal. Compliance with this requirement may be measured by two criteria. First, the restriction must directly advance the state interest involved; the regulation may not be sustained if it provides only ineffective or remote support for the government's purpose. Second, if the governmental interest could be served as well by a more limited restriction on commercial speech, the excessive restrictions cannot survive.

[12] See Central Hudson Gas, 447 US. 557 at pg. 565.

Florida Courts have applied the Central Hudson test to determine whether government restrictions on commercial speech violate article 1, section 4 of the Florida Constitution.[13]

The United State Supreme Court in Zauderer v. Office of Disciplinary Counsel of the Supreme Court of Ohio, noted state laws that require disclosures in advertising do not receive the same degree of constitutional protection as a prohibition on commercial free speech.

> Because the extension of First Amendment protection to commercial speech is justified principally by the value to consumers of the information such speech provides, appellant's constitutionally protected interest in not providing any particular factual information in his advertising is minimal. An advertiser's rights are adequately protected as long as disclosure requirements are reasonably related to the State's interest in preventing deception of consumers.[14]

The United States Supreme Court (Court) used the Zauderer test to uphold disclosure requirements in Milavetz, Gallop & Milavetz, P.A., v. U.S. In delivering the opinion of the Court, Supreme Court Associate Justice Sonia Sotomayor upheld disclosure requirements placed by federal law[15] upon debt relief agents that provide bankruptcy assistance for payment because "…the disclosures are intended to combat the problem of inherently misleading commercial advertisements… [and] … entail only an accurate statement of the advertiser's legal status and the character of the assistance provided."[16]

Federal Preliminary Injunction against Provisions of SB 76 Banning Prohibited Advertisements

On July 11, 2021, a federal district court enjoined the enforcement of the provisions of CS/CS/CS/SB 76 (2021) that ban contractors from making prohibited advertisements regarding property insurance roof claims.[17] Within the law, a prohibited advertisement is any written or electronic communication that encourages, instructs, or induces a consumer to contract a public adjuster or contractor for purposes of making an insurance claim for roof damage. The preliminary injunction prevents the enforcement of specific prohibitions in newly created s. 489.147, F.S., specifically (2)(a), (3), and (4)(b), F.S. These provisions are:

- (2)(a): A contractor may not directly or indirectly solicit a residential property owner by means of a prohibited advertisement;
- (3): A contractor who violates this section is subject to a disciplinary proceeding through Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR) under s. 489.129, F.S., and is subject to a $10,000 fine for each violation; and
- (4)(b): An unlicensed person who violates s. 489.147, F.S., is subject to the penalties in s. 489.13, F.S., and is subject to a fine of up to $10,000 for each violation.

The judge issued the injunction on the basis that these provisions of the bill violate First Amendment commercial free speech rights of contractors under the United States Constitution. The injunction against (3) and (4)(b) above only apply to the prohibited advertisement provision. The prohibitions in the s. 489.147, F.S., regarding roof claims that ban offering inducements to consumers, accepting or paying referral fees, interpreting the insurance policy, or signing a contract with a consumer for roof repairs without providing a good faith estimate remain valid and enforceable.

The judge did not enjoin enforcement of the rest of the bill, thus the only provisions affected are those mentioned above that were specifically addressed by the preliminary injunction order.

Replacement Cost and Actual Cash Value Loss Settlement Provisions

There are two primary settlement options available when purchasing a homeowner's property insurance policy: replacement cost and actual cash value. Replacement cost is usually defined in the policy as the cost to repair or replace the damaged property with materials of like kind and quality, without any deduction for depreciation.[18] Replacement cost is designed to cover the difference between what the property is actually worth and what it would cost to rebuild or repair that property.[19] Following a covered loss, the insurer assumes the full cost of repairing or replacing the damaged property.[20]

By contrast, actual cash value is the cost to repair or replace the damaged property with material of like kind and quality, minus the cost of depreciation due to use, wear, obsolescence, or age.[21] Following a covered loss, the insured assumes the cost to cover the difference between the depreciated value of the damaged property and the cost of repairing or replacing it.
Florida law currently requires insurers writing homeowner's property insurance policies to offer adjustment to the dwelling, including the roof, on the basis of replacement cost.[22] The OIR will approve policy forms that adjust roof losses on the basis of actual cash value, or the depreciated value of the roof. The insurer must, however, also offer replacement cost adjustment on the roof before issuing the policy.

Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac Minimum Insurance Requirements

The Federal National Mortgage Association (Fannie Mae) and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation (Freddie Mac) provide liquidity, stability, and affordability to the mortgage market by buying mortgages from lenders and either holding the mortgages in their own portfolios or packaging the mortgages into mortgage-based securities for purposes of selling in the secondary mortgage market.[23] Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, in turn, protect their interest in each mortgage by requiring minimum insurance coverages and settlement on the basis of replacement cost.[24]

Fannie Mae does not accept a property insurance policy that limits or excludes coverage, in whole or in part, for windstorm, hurricane, hail damages, or any other perils that normally are included under an extended coverage endorsement.[25] The borrower may not obtain a property insurance policy that includes such limitation or exclusion unless the borrower is able to obtain a separate policy or endorsement from another insurer that provides adequate coverage for the limited or excluded peril, or from an insurance pool that the state has established to cover the limitation or exclusions.[26] For first-lien residential mortgages, Fannie Mae requires coverage equal to the lesser of the following:

- 100 percent of the insurable value of the improvements, as established by the property insurer; or
- The unpaid principal balance of the mortgage, as long as it at least equals the minimum amount (80 percent of the insurable value of the improvements) required to compensate for damage or loss on a replacement cost basis.[27]

Freddie Mac does not accept a property insurance policy that excludes coverage for loss or damage from fire, lightning, and other perils, including windstorm, hail, explosion, riot, civil commotion, damage by aircraft, damage by vehicles, and damage by smoke, covered within the scope standard extended coverage.[28] The borrower may not obtain a property insurance policy that includes such exclusion unless the borrower is able to obtain a separate policy or endorsement from another insurer that provides adequate coverage for the limited or excluded peril, or from an insurance pool the state has established to cover the limitation or exclusions.[29] For one-to-four unit residential properties, Freddie Mac requires coverage at least equal to the higher of the following, not to exceed the replacement cost of the insurable improvements:

- The unpaid principal balance of the mortgage; or
- Eighty percent of the full replacement cost of the insurable improvements.[30]

Roof Surface Payment Schedules

A roof surface payment schedule, sometimes referred to in residential property insurance policies as a roof surfacing loss percentage table, is a depreciation table that states upfront, in either the individual policy or endorsement, the cost the insurer will assume following a covered loss, expressed as a percentage of the loss amount. The depreciation rates in a roof surface payment schedule generally vary by the age of the roof and type of roof to account for differences in estimated roof lifespans based on roof surface material type.

The roof surface payment schedule example below from Nevada demonstrates the variance in depreciation rates between roof surface material types over time.

Valued Policy Law

Florida's Valued Policy Law (VPL)[32] has been in effect since 1899[33] and requires the insurer to set the value of the insured property in the event of a total loss.[34] The VPL originally applied to damages caused by fire and lightning; however, in 1982, the Legislature extended VPL to all covered perils under ch. 82-243, s. 539, L.O.F.[35] In the event of a total loss caused by a covered peril, where the covered peril alone would have caused the loss, an insurer's liability under a property insurance policy equals the total coverage limit for which a premium was paid.[36] However, in the event of total loss caused in part by a covered peril and in part by a noncovered peril, the insurer's liability is limited to the amount of the loss caused by the covered peril.[37]

Florida's VPL currently applies to the total loss of buildings, structures, mobile homes, or manufactured buildings located in Florida and insured as to a covered peril. While it does not differentiate between residential and commercial property, it does not cover policies issued by surplus lines insurers.

Citizens Property Insurance Corporation—Overview

Citizens Property Insurance Corporation (Citizens or corporation) is a state-created, not-for-profit, tax-exempt governmental entity whose public purpose is to provide property insurance coverage to those unable to find affordable coverage in the voluntary admitted market.[38] Citizens is not a private insurance company.[39] Citizens was statutorily created in 2002 when the Florida Legislature combined the state's two insurers of last resort, the Florida Residential Property and Casualty Joint Underwriting Association (RPCJUA) and the Florida Windstorm Underwriting Association (FWUA).

Citizens operates in accordance with the provisions in s. 627.351(6), F.S., and is governed by an eight member Board of Governors (board) that administers its Plan of Operations. The Plan of Operations is reviewed and approved by the Financial Services Commission.[40] The Governor, President of the Senate, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and Chief Financial Officer each appoint two members to the board.[41] Citizens is subject to regulation by the Florida Office of Insurance Regulation (OIR).

Citizens has three different accounts through which it offers property insurance: a personal lines account, a commercial lines account, and a coastal account.

Citizens' Accounts

The Personal Lines Account (PLA) offers personal lines residential policies that provide comprehensive, multi-peril coverage statewide, except for those areas contained in the Coastal Account. The PLA also writes policies that exclude coverage for wind in areas contained within the Coastal Account. Personal lines residential coverage consists of the types of coverage provided to homeowners, mobile home owners, dwellings, tenants, and condominium unit owner's policies.[42]

The Commercial Lines Account (CLA) offers commercial lines residential and non-residential policies that provide basic perils coverage statewide, except for those areas contained in the Coastal Account. The CLA also writes policies that exclude coverage for wind in areas contained within the Coastal Account. Commercial lines coverage includes commercial residential policies covering condominium associations, homeowners' associations, and apartment buildings. The coverage also includes commercial non-residential policies covering business properties.[43]

The Coastal Account offers personal residential, commercial residential, and commercial non-residential policies in coastal areas of the state. Citizens must offer policies that solely cover the peril of wind (wind only policies) and may offer multi-peril policies.[44]

The Citizens policyholder eligibility clearinghouse program was established by the Legislature in 2013.[45] Under the program, new and renewal policies for Citizens are placed into the clearinghouse where participating private insurers can review and decide to make offers of coverage before policies are placed or renewed with Citizens.[46]

Current Policies

As of December 31, 2021, Citizens reports 759,305 policies in-force with a total exposure of $232,502,323,529.[47] The chart below outlines Citizens account and product type, number of policies in-force, total exposure and premium with surcharges.

These numbers do not reflect policies tagged for takeout via Citizens' depopulation program but still serviced by Citizens.[49] From December, 2020 to December, 2021, Citizens' policy count grew by nearly 40 percent, adding 216,566 total policies in force.[50] Citizens has expressed it expects to exceed one million policies in force in 2022.[51]

Citizens Glidepath Rates

From 2007 until 2010, Citizens' rates were frozen by statute at the level that had been established in 2006. In 2010, the Legislature established a "glidepath" to impose annual rate increases up to a level that is actuarially sound. Under the original established glidepath, Citizens had to implement an annual rate increase which, except for sinkhole coverage, does not exceed 10 percent above the previous year for any individual policyholder, adjusted for coverage changes and surcharges. In 2021, the Legislature revised this glidepath to increase it one percent per year to 15 percent, as follows: [52]

- 11 percent for 2022.
- 12 percent for 2023.

- 13 percent for 2024.
- 14 percent for 2025.
- 15 percent for 2026 and all subsequent years.

The implementation of this increase ceases when Citizens has achieved actuarially sound rates.[53] In addition to the overall glidepath rate increase, Citizens can increase its rates to recover the additional reimbursement premium it incurs as a result of the annual cash build-up factor added to the price of the mandatory layer of the Florida Hurricane Catastrophe Fund coverage, pursuant to s. 215.555(5)(b), F.S.[54]

Citizens Financial Resources

Citizens' financial resources include insurance premiums, investment income, and operating surplus from prior years, Florida Hurricane Catastrophe Fund (FHCF) reimbursements, private reinsurance, policyholder surcharges, and regular and emergency assessments. Non-weather water losses, reinsurance costs and litigation are currently the major determinants of insurance rates.[55] In the event of a catastrophic storm or series of smaller storms, reserves could be exhausted, leaving Citizens unable to pay all claims.[56] Under Florida law, if the Citizens' Board of Directors determines a Citizens' account has a projected deficit, Citizens is authorized to levy assessments[57] on its policyholders and on each line of property and casualty line of business other than workers' compensation insurance and medical malpractice insurance.[58] Citizens may impose three assessment tiers and their sequence is as follows:[59]

Citizens Policyholder Surcharge – A surcharge of up to 15 percent of premium on all Citizens' policies, collected upon issuance or renewal. This 15 percent assessment can be levied for each of the three Citizens' accounts—the CLA, the PLA, and the Coastal Account— that project a deficit. Thus, the total maximum premium surcharge a policyholder could be assessed is 45 percent.[60]

Regular Assessment – If the Citizens' surcharge is insufficient to cure the deficit for the coastal account, Citizens can require an assessment against all other insurers except medical malpractice and workers' compensation. The assessment may be recouped from policyholders through a rate filing process of up to two percent of premium or two percent of the deficit, whichever is greater.[61] This assessment is not levied against Citizens' policyholders.

Emergency Assessment – Requires any remaining deficit for Citizens' three accounts be funded by multi-year emergency assessments on all insurance policyholders (except medical malpractice and workers' compensation), including Citizens' policyholders. This assessment may not exceed the greater of 10 percent of the amount needed to cover the deficit, plus interest, fees, commissions, required reserves, and other costs associated with financing the original deficit, or 10 percent of the aggregate statewide direct written premium for subject lines of business and all accounts of the corporation for the prior year, plus interest, fees, commissions, required reserves, and other costs associated with financing the deficit.[62]

Eligibility for Insurance in Citizens

Current law requires Citizens to provide a procedure for determining the eligibility of a potential risk for insurance in Citizens and provides specific eligibility requirements based on premium amounts, value of the property insured, and the location of the property. Risks not meeting the statutory eligibility requirements cannot be insured by Citizens. Citizens has additional eligibility requirements set out in their underwriting rules. These rules are approved by the OIR and are set out in Citizens' underwriting manuals.[63]

Eligibility Based on Premium Amount

An applicant for residential insurance cannot buy insurance in Citizens if an authorized insurer in the private market offers the applicant insurance for a premium that does not exceed the Citizens premium by 20 percent or more. [64] In addition, the coverage offered by the private insurer must be comparable to Citizens' coverage.

A residential policyholder cannot renew insurance in Citizens if an authorized insurer offers to insure the property at a premium equal to or less than the Citizens' renewal premium. The insurance from the private market insurer must be comparable to the insurance from Citizens in order for the eligibility requirement for renewal premium to apply.[65]

Eligibility Based on Value of Property Insured

In addition to the eligibility restrictions based on premium amount, current law provides eligibility restrictions for homes and condominium units based on the value of the property insured.[66] Structures with a dwelling replacement cost of $700,000 or more, or a single condominium unit that has a combined dwelling and contents replacement cost of $700,000 or more, are not eligible for coverage with Citizens.[67] However, Citizens is allowed to insure structures with a dwelling replacement cost or a condominium unit with a dwelling and contents replacement cost of one million dollars or less in Miami-Dade and Monroe counties, after the OIR determined these counties to be non-competitive.[68]

Citizens Depopulation

Florida law requires Citizens to create programs to help return Citizens policies to the private market and reduce the risk of additional assessments for all Floridians.[69] In 2016, the Legislature passed requirements that Citizens, by January 1, 2017, amend its operations relating to takeout agreements.[70] As part of these updated requirements, codified under s. 627.351(6)(ii), F.S., a policy may not be taken out of Citizens unless Citizens:

- Publishes a periodic schedule of cycles during which an insurer may identify, and notify Citizens of, policies the insurer is requesting to take out;[71]
- Maintains and makes available to the agent of record a consolidated list of all insurers requesting to take-out a policy; such list must include a description of the coverage offered and the estimated premium for each take-out request; and
- Provides written notice to the policyholder and the agent of record regarding all insurers requesting to take-out the policy and regarding the policyholder's option to accept a take-out offer or to reject all take-out offers and to remain with the corporation. The notice must be in a format prescribed by the corporation and include, for each take-out offer:
  - The amount of the estimated premium;
  - A description of the coverage; and
  - A comparison of the estimated premium and coverage offered by the insurer to the estimated premium and coverage provided by the corporation.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Prohibition against Contractor Solicitations to Make Insurance Claims for Roof Damage

Section 1 amends s. 489.147(1)(a), F.S., to revise the definition of a prohibited advertisement, which current law prohibits. The term is currently defined as any written or electronic communication by a contractor which encourages, instructs, or induces a consumer to contact a contractor or public adjuster, for making an insurance claim for roof damage. The bill revises the definition by providing a prohibited advertisement means any such written or electronic communication that does not include the following disclosures:

- The consumer is responsible for payment of any insurance deductible;
- It is insurance fraud punishable as a felony of the third degree for a contractor to pay, waive, or rebate all or part of an insurance deductible applicable to payment to the contractor for repairs to property covered by a property insurance policy; and
- It is insurance fraud punishable as a felony of the third degree to intentionally file an insurance claim containing any false, incomplete or misleading information.

The disclosures must be stated in a font size that is at least 12 points and at least half a large as the largest font used in the solicitation.

Section 627.351(6)(a)3.d., F.S., and Citizens Property Insurance Corporation, Update to Maximum Coverage Limits, November 12, 2019 https://www.citizensfla.com/-/2019-roof-permits-acceptable-for-fbc-credits.

[70] Chapter 2016-229, L.O.F.

[71] Such requests from insurers must include a description of the coverage offered and an estimated premium and must be submitted to the corporation in a form and manner prescribed by the corporation.

With this change, contractors will no longer be prohibited from making such solicitations so long as the solicitation includes the aforementioned disclosures.

Citizens Property Insurance Corporation

Section 2 amends s. 627.351(6), F.S., regarding Citizens Property Insurance Corporation (Citizens or corporation), the governmental entity that provides residential and commercial property insurance to applicants who are entitled, but, in good faith, are unable to procure insurance through the voluntary market.

Eligibility for Citizens Coverage – Determining Replacement Cost

The bill amends s. 627.351(6)(a), F.S., to require that Citizens use a method for valuing dwelling replacement cost, which is approved by the Office of Insurance Regulation (OIR), when enforcing the requirement that structures and single condominium units with a replacement cost above the statutory threshold are ineligible for Citizens. Currently, structures and single condominium units with a replacement cost above $700,000 are ineligible for Citizens coverage unless the dwelling or single condominium unit is located in a county where the OIR has determined there is not a reasonable degree of competition. In a county where there is not a reasonable degree of competition, which is currently Miami-Dade County and Monroe County, structures and single condominium units are ineligible for Citizens if the replacement cost is one million dollars or more.

The bill also deletes unnecessary language related to Citizens eligibility that ceased to be effective on January 1, 2017.

Eligibility for Citizens Coverage – Existing Citizens Policyholders

The bill amends s. 627.351(6)(c)5., F.S., to increase the likelihood that a current Citizens policyholder with a personal lines or commercial lines residential policy will be made ineligible for Citizens by receiving an offer of coverage from an authorized insurer at renewal. Specifically, the bill provides whenever such an offer is received by a Citizens policyholder, the risk is not eligible for Citizens coverage unless the premium for coverage from the authorized insurer is more than 20 percent greater than the renewal premium for comparable coverage from Citizens. Thus, a current Citizens policyholder may not renew Citizens coverage if the policyholder receives an offer of comparable coverage at renewal from an authorized insurer at a premium that is not more than 20 percent higher than the Citizens renewal premium.

Furthermore, Section 3 of the bill amends s. 627.3518(5), F.S., to apply the revised eligibility criteria to policies in the Citizens clearinghouse.

Governance of Citizens – Qualifications to Serve on the Board of Governors or as Executive Director

The bill amends s. 627.351(6)(c)4., F.S., to increase the insurance expertise required of certain appointed members of the Citizens Board of Governors (board) at the time of appointment or reappointment. On or after July 1, 2022, an appointee designated as chair must have demonstrated expertise in insurance or must have at least one year of experience serving on the board. The executive director of Citizens is required, at the time of appointment, to have must have the qualifications necessary to serve in that role for an insurer that has a certificate of authority to transact insurance in Florida.

Under current law, at least one of the two members of the board appointed by each appointing officer[72] must have "demonstrated expertise in insurance." The bill specifies the demonstrated expertise in insurance must be at least 10 years' experience with property and casualty insurance as a full-time employee, officer, or owner of a licensed insurance agency, an insurer authorized to transact property insurance in Florida, an insurance regulator or as an executive director or officer of an insurance trade association.

The bill also specifies the executive director of Citizens must, at the time of appointment, have the experience, character, and qualification required under s. 624.404(3), F.S., to serve as the chief executive officer of an insurer.

Section 624.404(3), F.S., contains a number of requirements a person must meet to be the chief executive officer of an authorized insurer in Florida. The statute prohibits the OIR from authorizing an insurer to transact insurance in Florida if the management, officers, or directors are found by the OIR to be:

- Incompetent or untrustworthy;
- So lacking in insurance company managerial experience as to make the proposed operation hazardous to the insurance buying public;
- So lacking in insurance experience, ability, and standing as to jeopardize the reasonable promise of success operation; or
- A person the OIR has good reason to believe is affiliated directly or indirectly through ownership, control, reinsurance transactions, or other insurance or business relations, with any person or persons whose business operations are or have been marked, to the detriment of policyholders or stockholders, or investors, or creditors or of the public, by manipulation of assets, accounts, or reinsurance or by bad faith.

The OIR is also prohibited by s. 624.404(3), F.S., from authorizing an insurer who exercises or has the ability to exercise control, or who influences or has the ability to influence the transaction of the business of the insurer, does not possess the financial standing and business experience for the successful operation of the insurer.

Under s. 624.404(3), F.S., an authorized insurer must immediately remove a person who exercises, or has the ability to exercise, effective control of an insurer if such person:

- Has been found guilty of, or has pleaded guilty or nolo contendere to, any felony or crime punishable by imprisonment of one year or more of any state or country; or
- Was in the past affiliated directly or indirectly, through ownership interest of 10 percent or more, control, or reinsurance transactions, with any business, corporation, or entity that has been found guilty of or plead nolo contendere to any felony or crime punishable by imprisonment for one year or more under the laws of any state or country.

[72] The Governor, the Chief Financial Officer, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House.

Under the bill, the executive director of Citizens would have be required to meet these requirements.

Rates for Citizens Coverage – Narrowing the Scope of Application of the Citizens Glidepath

The bill amends s. 627.351(6)(n), F.S., which sets for the standards for Citizens rates. The bill limits the application of the Citizens "glidepath" to personal lines residential policies covering an insured's primary residence and any commercial lines residential policy. "Glidepath" is the term commonly used to refer to the statutory limitation on rate increases that may be imposed on an individual Citizens policyholder. The maximum rate increase that may be imposed on any single policy, excluding coverage changes and surcharges, is 11 percent for 2022.[73] This limit on rate increases is notwithstanding the requirement that rates for Citizens coverage must be actuarially sound and are subject to the standards of s. 627.062, F.S., of the Rating Law.

The bill defines a primary residence as the dwelling an insured has represented as their permanent home on the insurance application or otherwise to the corporation. Thus, going forward, a personal lines residential policy that does not cover a primary residence (for instance, a second home) will have to pay an actuarially sound rate. The fiscal impact of this change on policyholders and the corporation is examined in Section V, Fiscal Impact Statement below.

Citizens Clearinghouse

Section 3 of the bill amends s. 627.3518(5), F.S., to apply the revised eligibility criteria to policies in the Citizens clearinghouse. Accordingly, if an offer of coverage from an authorized insurer is received by a Citizens policyholder through the clearinghouse, the risk is not eligible for Citizens coverage unless the premium for coverage from the authorized insurer is more than 20 percent greater than the renewal premium for comparable coverage from Citizens.

Reimbursement of Roof Losses – Actual Cash Value Reimbursement

Section 4 amends s. 627.7011(5), F.S., to allow residential property insurers to offer only homeowners' insurance policies (form HO-3) that reimburse roof losses on a depreciated value or actual cash value basis using a roof surface type reimbursement schedule, rather than on the basis of replacement costs. The bill thus creates an exception to the requirement an insurer must offer a homeowners policy that reimburses losses to the dwelling on the basis of replacement costs and also provides law and ordinance coverage, and must also provide a replacement cost reimbursement homeowners' policy that does not provide law and ordinance coverage. Currently, insurers may offer homeowner's insurance policies with roof surface type reimbursement schedules approved by the OIR, but must also offer policies that provide replacement cost reimbursement.

The bill requires that a roof surface type reimbursement schedule used to calculate the actual cash value coverage that is provided for the roof must provide reimbursement for the repair, replacement, and installation of a roof based on the annual age of the roof surface type. The annual depreciation amounts must be actuarially justified, meet the requirements of s. 627.062, F.S., (which governs homeowners' insurance rate filings) and may not exceed four percent unless actuarially justified. The roof surface type reimbursement schedule must be approved by the OIR.

Roof surface type reimbursement schedules must be furnished along with the personal lines residential property insurance policy at the time of issuance or renewal, and must include the following notice at the top of the schedule in no smaller than 12-point uppercase and boldfaced type:

> PLEASE DISCUSS WITH YOUR INSURANCE AGENT. YOU ARE ELECTING TO PURCHASE COVERAGE ON YOUR ROOF ACCORDING TO A ROOF SURFACE TYPE REIMBURSEMENT SCHEDULE. IF YOUR ROOF IS DAMAGED BY A COVERED PERIL, YOU WILL RECEIVE A PAYMENT AMOUNT FOR YOUR ROOF ACCORDING TO THE SCHEDULE BELOW. BE ADVISED THIS MAY RESULT IN YOUR HAVING TO PAY SIGNIFICANT COSTS TO REPAIR OR REPLACE YOUR ROOF. PLEASE DISCUSS WITH YOUR INSURANCE AGENT.

A homeowners' policy that utilizes a roof surface replacement schedule must provide replacement cost reimbursement for:
- Any roof surface type less than 10 years old;
- A covered total loss to a primary structure in accordance with the valued policy law; and
- A loss to the roof caused by a storm declared to be a hurricane by the National Hurricane Center.

The bill clarifies an insurer offering policies that provide roof coverage using a roof covering reimbursement schedule may also offer policies that provide roof reimbursement on the basis of replacement costs.

Reimbursement of Roof Losses – Stated Value Coverage

Additionally, the bill allows an insurer to issue homeowner's policies that provide coverage to the roof on a stated value basis. For example, instead of expressing the coverage in the form of a depreciating percentage over time, the stated value clearly provides the dollar value of the coverage of the roof. An insurer may limit its offering to the stated value coverage option, but may also offer replacement cost coverage or a roof reimbursement schedule.

Notwithstanding the stated value of coverage, the homeowners' policy must provide full replacement cost reimbursement for:
- Any roof surface type less than 10 years old;
- A covered total loss to a primary structure in accordance with the valued policy law; and
- A loss to the roof caused by a storm declared to be a hurricane by the National Hurricane Center.

An insurer utilizing a stated value sublimit of coverage must include in the policy documents at issuance and at renewal, in bold type of at least 12 points, the following statement:

PLEASE DISCUSS WITH YOUR INSURANCE AGENT. YOU ARE ELECTING TO PURCHASE A STATED VALUE SUBLIMIT OF COVERAGE ON YOUR ROOF. BE ADVISED THAT THIS MAY RESULT IN YOU HAVING TO PAY SIGNIFICANT COSTS TO REPAIR OR REPLACE YOUR ROOF. PLEASE DISCUSS WITH YOUR INSURANCE AGENT.

The bill clarifies an insurer offering policies that provide roof reimbursement at a stated value sublimit of coverage may also offer policies that provide roof reimbursement on the basis of replacement costs.

Other Bill Sections

Sections 5, 6, and 7 of the bill reenact certain sections of the Florida Statutes to incorporate the amendments made by this bill.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

Section 1 of the bill revises the currently existing prohibition against contractors making prohibited advertisements related to insurance claims for roof damage. Under the bill, such communications are not prohibited if certain disclosures regarding insurance fraud and property insurance deductibles are included in the advertisement. Background on United States Supreme Court cases relevant to this topic is included on pages 4 through 6 of this Staff Analysis.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The bill limits application of the Citizens glidepath on rates, which is the statutory provision that provides that no single residential policy insured by Citizens may incur an annual rate increase above a certain threshold – 11 percent in 2022, exclusive of coverage changes and surcharges. Under the bill, the glidepath is applied to only primary residences. Thus, Citizens will charge a premium based on an actuarially sound rate to non-primary residences (such as second homes). According to the most recent Citizens rate filing, the statewide average actuarially indicated rate for personal lines policies would require an average rate increase of 34.9 percent.[74] Application of the glidepath limit resulted in Citizens proposing an average rate increase of 8.6 percent for 2022.[75] Under the bill, an additional rate increase averaging 26.3 percent would be imposed on a non-primary residences.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The provisions of the bill intended to depopulate Citizens – making current Citizens policyholders ineligible for Citizens coverage upon receiving an offer from an authorized insurer unless the premium is more than 20 percent higher than the Citizens renewal premium, and limiting application of the Citizens glidepath – will result in Citizens having a lower number of policies and collecting more premium from some policyholders. To the extent that the bill reduces Citizens policy count or slows the growth of the policy count, it will reduce the likelihood of Citizens running a deficit and having to impose surcharges and assessments on policyholders.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 489.147, 627.351, 627.3518, and 627.7011.

Section 1. Paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section 489.147, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

489.147 Prohibited property insurance practices.—

(1) As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Prohibited advertisement" means any written or electronic communication by a contractor which ~~that~~ encourages, instructs, or induces a consumer to contact a contractor or public adjuster for the purpose of making an insurance claim for roof damage, if such communication does not state in a font size of at least 12 points and at least half as large as the largest font size used in the communication that:

1. The consumer is responsible for payment of any insurance deductible;

2. It is insurance fraud punishable as a felony of the third degree for a contractor to pay, waive, or rebate all or part of an insurance deductible applicable to payment to the contractor for repairs to property covered by a property insurance policy; and

3. It is insurance fraud punishable as a felony of the third degree to intentionally file an insurance claim containing any false, incomplete, or misleading information.

The term includes, but is not limited to, door hangers, business cards, magnets, flyers, pamphlets, and e-mails.

Section 2. Subsection (2) of section 627.021, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

627.021 Scope of this part.—

(2) This part does not apply to:

(a) Reinsurance, except joint reinsurance as provided in s. 627.311.

(b) Insurance against loss of or damage to aircraft, their hulls, accessories, or equipment, or against liability, other than workers' compensation and employer's liability, arising out of the ownership, maintenance, or use of aircraft.

builders' risks, marine protection and indemnity, or other risks commonly insured under marine insurance policies.

(d) Commercial inland marine insurance.

(e) Except as may be specifically stated to apply, surplus lines insurance placed under ~~the provisions of~~ ss. 626.913-626.937.

Section 3. Paragraphs (a), (b), (c), (n), (q), (x), and (ii) of subsection (6) of section 627.351, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

627.351 Insurance risk apportionment plans.—

(6) CITIZENS PROPERTY INSURANCE CORPORATION.—

(a) The public purpose of this subsection is to ensure that there is an orderly market for property insurance for residents and businesses of this state.

1. The Legislature finds that private insurers are unwilling or unable to provide affordable property insurance coverage in this state to the extent sought and needed. The absence of affordable property insurance threatens the public health, safety, and welfare and likewise threatens the economic health of the state. The state therefore has a compelling public interest and a public purpose to assist in assuring that property in this ~~the~~ state is insured and that it is insured at affordable rates so as to facilitate the remediation, reconstruction, and replacement of damaged or destroyed property in order to reduce or avoid the negative effects otherwise resulting to the public health, safety, and welfare, to the economy of the state, and to the revenues of the state and local governments which are needed to provide for the public welfare. It is necessary, therefore, to provide affordable property insurance to applicants who are in good faith entitled to procure insurance through the voluntary market but are unable to do so. The Legislature intends, therefore, that affordable property insurance be provided and that it continue to be provided, as long as necessary, through Citizens Property Insurance Corporation, a government entity that is an integral part of the state, and that is not a private insurance company. To that end, the corporation shall strive to increase the availability of affordable property insurance in this state, while achieving efficiencies and economies, and while providing service to policyholders, applicants, and agents which is no less than the quality generally provided in the voluntary market, for the achievement of the foregoing public purposes. Because it is essential for this government entity to have the maximum financial resources to pay claims following a catastrophic hurricane, it is the intent of the Legislature that the corporation continue to be an integral part of the state and that the income of the corporation be exempt from federal income taxation and that interest on the debt obligations issued by the corporation be exempt from federal income taxation.

2. The Residential Property and Casualty Joint Underwriting Association originally created by this statute shall be known as the Citizens Property Insurance Corporation. The corporation shall provide insurance for residential and commercial property, for applicants who are entitled, but, in good faith, are unable to procure insurance through the voluntary market. The corporation shall operate pursuant to a plan of operation approved by order of the Financial Services Commission. The plan is subject to continuous review by the commission. The commission may, by order, withdraw approval of all or part of a plan if the commission determines that conditions have changed since approval was granted and that the purposes of the plan require changes in the plan. For the purposes of this subsection, residential coverage includes both personal lines residential coverage, which consists of the type of coverage provided by homeowner, mobile home owner, dwelling, tenant, condominium unit owner, and similar policies; and commercial lines residential coverage, which consists of the type of coverage provided by condominium association, apartment building, and similar policies.

3. With respect to coverage for personal lines residential structures, and÷

~~b. Effective January 1, 2015, a structure that has a dwelling replacement cost of $900,000 or more, or a single~~

~~condominium unit that has a combined dwelling and contents replacement cost of $900,000 or more, is not eligible for coverage by the corporation. Such dwellings insured by the corporation on December 31, 2014, may continue to be covered by the corporation only until the end of the policy term.~~

~~c. Effective January 1, 2016, a structure that has a dwelling replacement cost of $800,000 or more, or a single condominium unit that has a combined dwelling and contents replacement cost of $800,000 or more, is not eligible for coverage by the corporation. Such dwellings insured by the corporation on December 31, 2015, may continue to be covered by the corporation until the end of the policy term.~~

~~d.~~ effective January 1, 2017, a structure that has a dwelling replacement cost of $700,000 or more, or a single condominium unit that has a combined dwelling and contents replacement cost of $700,000 or more, is not eligible for coverage by the corporation. The corporation must use a method for valuing the dwelling replacement cost which is approved by the office ~~Such dwellings insured by the corporation on December 31, 2016, may continue to be covered by the corporation until the end of the policy term~~. ~~The requirements of sub-subparagraphs b.-d. do not apply~~ However, in counties where the office determines there is not a reasonable degree of competition,~~. In such counties~~ a ~~personal lines residential~~ structure that has a dwelling replacement cost of less than $1 million, or a single condominium unit that has a combined dwelling and contents replacement cost of less than $1 million, is eligible for coverage by the corporation.

4. It is the intent of the Legislature that policyholders, applicants, and agents of the corporation receive service and treatment of the highest possible level but never less than that generally provided in the voluntary market. It is also intended that the corporation be held to service standards no less than those applied to insurers in the voluntary market by the office with respect to responsiveness, timeliness, customer courtesy, and overall dealings with policyholders, applicants, or agents of the corporation.

5.a. Effective January 1, 2009, a personal lines residential structure that is located in the "wind-borne debris region," as defined in s. 1609.2, International Building Code (2006), and that has an insured value on the structure of $750,000 or more is not eligible for coverage by the corporation unless the structure has opening protections as required under the Florida Building Code for a newly constructed residential structure in that area. A residential structure is deemed to comply with this sub-subparagraph if it has shutters or opening protections on all openings and if such opening protections complied with the Florida Building Code at the time they were installed.

b. Any major structure, as defined in s. 161.54(6)(a), that is newly constructed, or rebuilt, repaired, restored, or remodeled to increase the total square footage of finished area by more than 25 percent, pursuant to a permit applied for after July 1, 2015, is not eligible for coverage by the corporation if the structure is seaward of the coastal construction control line established pursuant to s. 161.053 or is within the Coastal Barrier Resources System as designated by 16 U.S.C. ss. 3501-3510.

6. With respect to wind-only coverage for commercial lines residential condominiums, effective July 1, 2014, a condominium shall be deemed ineligible for coverage if 50 percent or more of the units are rented more than eight times in a calendar year for a rental agreement period of less than 30 days.

(b)1. All insurers authorized to write one or more subject lines of business in this state are subject to assessment by the corporation and, for the purposes of this subsection, are referred to collectively as "assessable insurers." Insurers writing one or more subject lines of business in this state pursuant to part VIII of chapter 626 are not assessable insurers; however, insureds who procure one or more subject lines of business in this state pursuant to part VIII of chapter 626 are subject to assessment by the corporation and are referred to collectively as "assessable insureds." An insurer's assessment liability begins on the first day of the calendar year following the year in which the insurer was issued a certificate of authority to transact insurance for subject lines of business in this state and terminates 1 year after the end of the first calendar year during which the insurer no longer holds a certificate of authority to transact insurance for subject lines of business in this state.

2.a. All revenues, assets, liabilities, losses, and expenses of the corporation shall be divided into three separate accounts as follows:

(I) A personal lines account for personal residential policies issued by the corporation which provides comprehensive, multiperil coverage on risks that are not located in areas eligible for coverage by the Florida Windstorm Underwriting

Association as those areas were defined on January 1, 2002, and for policies that do not provide coverage for the peril of wind on risks that are located in such areas;

(II) A commercial lines account for commercial residential and commercial nonresidential policies issued by the corporation which provides coverage for basic property perils on risks that are not located in areas eligible for coverage by the Florida Windstorm Underwriting Association as those areas were defined on January 1, 2002, and for policies that do not provide coverage for the peril of wind on risks that are located in such areas; and

(III) A coastal account for personal residential policies and commercial residential and commercial nonresidential property policies issued by the corporation which provides coverage for the peril of wind on risks that are located in areas eligible for coverage by the Florida Windstorm Underwriting Association as those areas were defined on January 1, 2002. The corporation may offer policies that provide multiperil coverage and shall offer policies that provide coverage only for the peril of wind for risks located in areas eligible for coverage in the coastal account. Effective July 1, 2014, the corporation shall cease offering new commercial residential policies providing multiperil coverage and shall instead continue to offer commercial residential wind-only policies, and may offer commercial residential policies excluding wind. The corporation may, however, continue to renew a commercial residential multiperil policy on a building that is insured by the corporation on June 30, 2014, under a multiperil policy. In issuing multiperil coverage, the corporation may use its approved policy forms and rates for the personal lines account. An applicant or insured who is eligible to purchase a multiperil policy from the corporation may purchase a multiperil policy from an authorized insurer without prejudice to the applicant's or insured's eligibility to prospectively purchase a policy that provides coverage only for the peril of wind from the corporation. An applicant or insured who is eligible for a corporation policy that provides coverage only for the peril of wind may elect to purchase or retain such policy and also purchase or retain coverage excluding wind from an authorized insurer without prejudice to the applicant's or insured's eligibility to prospectively purchase a policy that provides multiperil coverage from the corporation. It is the goal of the Legislature that there be an overall average savings of 10 percent or more for a policyholder who currently has a wind-only policy with the corporation, and an ex-wind policy with a voluntary insurer or the corporation, and who obtains a multiperil policy from the corporation. It is the intent of the Legislature that the offer of multiperil coverage in the coastal account be made and implemented in a manner that does not adversely affect the tax-exempt status of the corporation or creditworthiness of or security for currently outstanding financing obligations or credit facilities of the coastal account, the personal lines account, or the commercial lines account. The coastal account must also include quota share primary insurance under subparagraph (c)2. The area eligible for coverage under the coastal account also includes the area within Port Canaveral, which is bordered on the south by the City of Cape Canaveral, bordered on the west by the Banana River, and bordered on the north by Federal Government property.

b. The three separate accounts must be maintained as long as financing obligations entered into by the Florida Windstorm Underwriting Association or Residential Property and Casualty Joint Underwriting Association are outstanding, in accordance with the terms of the corresponding financing documents. If the financing obligations are no longer outstanding, the corporation shall ~~may~~ use a single account for all revenues, assets, liabilities, losses, and expenses of the corporation. Consistent with this subparagraph and prudent investment policies that minimize the cost of carrying debt, the board shall exercise its best efforts to retire existing debt or obtain the approval of necessary parties to amend the terms of existing debt, so as to structure the most efficient plan for consolidating the three separate accounts into a single account.

c. Creditors of the Residential Property and Casualty Joint Underwriting Association and the accounts specified in sub-sub-subparagraphs a.(I) and (II) may have a claim against, and recourse to, those accounts and no claim against, or recourse to, the account referred to in sub-sub-subparagraph a.(III). Creditors of the Florida Windstorm Underwriting Association have a claim against, and recourse to, the account referred to in sub-sub-subparagraph a.(III) and no claim against, or recourse to, the accounts referred to in sub-sub-subparagraphs a.(I) and (II).

d. Revenues, assets, liabilities, losses, and expenses not attributable to particular accounts shall be prorated among the accounts.

e. The Legislature finds that the revenues of the corporation are revenues that are necessary to meet the requirements set forth in documents authorizing the issuance of bonds under this subsection.

f. The income of the corporation may not inure to the benefit of any private person.

3. With respect to a deficit in an account:

a. After accounting for the Citizens policyholder surcharge imposed under sub-subparagraph i., if the remaining projected deficit incurred in the coastal account in a particular calendar year:

(I) Is not greater than 2 percent of the aggregate statewide direct written premium for the subject lines of business for the prior calendar year, the entire deficit shall be recovered through regular assessments of assessable insurers under paragraph (q) and assessable insureds.

(II) Exceeds 2 percent of the aggregate statewide direct written premium for the subject lines of business for the prior calendar year, the corporation shall levy regular assessments on assessable insurers under paragraph (q) and on assessable insureds in an amount equal to the greater of 2 percent of the projected deficit or 2 percent of the aggregate statewide direct written premium for the subject lines of business for the prior calendar year. Any remaining projected deficit shall be recovered through emergency assessments under sub-subparagraph d.

b. Each assessable insurer’s share of the amount being assessed under sub-subparagraph a. must be in the proportion that the assessable insurer’s direct written premium for the subject lines of business for the year preceding the assessment bears to the aggregate statewide direct written premium for the subject lines of business for that year. The assessment percentage applicable to each assessable insured is the ratio of the amount being assessed under sub-subparagraph a. to the aggregate statewide direct written premium for the subject lines of business for the prior year. Assessments levied by the corporation on assessable insurers under sub-subparagraph a. must be paid as required by the corporation's plan of operation and paragraph (q). Assessments levied by the corporation on assessable insureds under sub-subparagraph a. shall be collected by the surplus lines agent at the time the surplus lines agent collects the surplus lines tax required by s. 626.932, and paid to the Florida Surplus Lines Service Office at the time the surplus lines agent pays the surplus lines tax to that office. Upon receipt of regular assessments from surplus lines agents, the Florida Surplus Lines Service Office shall transfer the assessments directly to the corporation as determined by the corporation.

c. After accounting for the Citizens policyholder surcharge imposed under sub-subparagraph i., the remaining projected deficits in the personal lines account and in the commercial lines account in a particular calendar year shall be recovered through emergency assessments under sub-subparagraph d.

d. Upon a determination by the board of governors that a projected deficit in an account exceeds the amount that is expected to be recovered through regular assessments under sub-subparagraph a., plus the amount that is expected to be recovered through surcharges under sub-subparagraph i., the board, after verification by the office, shall levy emergency assessments for as many years as necessary to cover the deficits, to be collected by assessable insurers and the corporation and collected from assessable insureds upon issuance or renewal of policies for subject lines of business, excluding National Flood Insurance policies. The amount collected in a particular year must be a uniform percentage of that year's direct written premium for subject lines of business and all accounts of the corporation, excluding National Flood Insurance Program policy premiums, as annually determined by the board and verified by the office. The office shall verify the arithmetic calculations involved in the board's determination within 30 days after receipt of the information on which the determination was based. The office shall notify assessable insurers and the Florida Surplus Lines Service Office of the date on which assessable insurers shall begin to collect and assessable insureds shall begin to pay such assessment. The date must be at least 90 days after the date the corporation levies emergency assessments pursuant to this sub-subparagraph. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the corporation and each assessable insurer that writes subject lines of business shall collect emergency assessments from its policyholders without such obligation being affected by any credit, limitation, exemption, or deferment. Emergency assessments levied by the corporation on assessable insureds shall be collected by the surplus lines agent at the time the surplus lines agent collects the surplus lines tax required by s. 626.932 and paid to the Florida Surplus Lines Service Office at the time the surplus lines agent pays the surplus lines tax to that office. The emergency assessments collected shall be transferred directly to the corporation on a periodic basis as determined by the corporation and held by the corporation solely in the applicable account. The aggregate amount of emergency assessments levied for an account in any calendar year may be less than but may not exceed the greater of 10 percent of the amount needed to cover the deficit, plus interest, fees, commissions, required reserves, and other costs associated with financing the original deficit, or 10 percent of the aggregate statewide direct written premium for subject lines of business and all accounts of the corporation for the prior year, plus interest, fees, commissions, required reserves, and other costs associated with financing the deficit.

e. The corporation may pledge the proceeds of assessments, projected recoveries from the Florida Hurricane Catastrophe Fund, other insurance and reinsurance recoverables, policyholder surcharges and other surcharges, and other funds available to the corporation as the source of revenue for and to secure bonds issued under paragraph (q), bonds or other indebtedness issued under subparagraph (c)3., or lines of credit or other financing mechanisms issued or created under this subsection, or to retire any other debt incurred as a result of deficits or events giving rise to deficits, or in any other way that the board determines will efficiently recover such deficits. The purpose of the lines of credit or other financing mechanisms is to provide additional resources to assist the corporation in covering claims and expenses attributable to a catastrophe. As used in this subsection, the term "assessments" includes regular assessments under sub-subparagraph a. or subparagraph (q)1. and emergency assessments under sub-subparagraph d. Emergency assessments collected under sub-subparagraph d. are not part of an insurer's rates, are not premium, and are not subject to premium tax, fees, or commissions; however, failure to pay the emergency assessment shall be treated as failure to pay premium. The emergency assessments shall continue as long as any bonds issued or other indebtedness incurred with respect to a deficit for which the assessment was imposed remain outstanding, unless adequate provision has been made for the payment of such bonds or other indebtedness pursuant to the documents governing such bonds or indebtedness.

f. As used in this subsection for purposes of any deficit incurred on or after January 25, 2007, the term "subject lines of business" means insurance written by assessable insurers or procured by assessable insureds for all property and casualty lines of business in this state, but not including workers' compensation or medical malpractice. As used in this sub-subparagraph, the term "property and casualty lines of business" includes all lines of business identified on Form 2, Exhibit of Premiums and Losses, in the annual statement required of authorized insurers under s. 624.424 and any rule adopted under this section, except for those lines identified as accident and health insurance and except for policies written under the National Flood Insurance Program or the Federal Crop Insurance Program. For purposes of this sub-subparagraph, the term "workers' compensation" includes both workers' compensation insurance and excess workers' compensation insurance.

g. The Florida Surplus Lines Service Office shall determine annually the aggregate statewide written premium in subject lines of business procured by assessable insureds and report that information to the corporation in a form and at a time the corporation specifies to ensure that the corporation can meet the requirements of this subsection and the corporation's financing obligations.

h. The Florida Surplus Lines Service Office shall verify the proper application by surplus lines agents of assessment percentages for regular assessments and emergency assessments levied under this subparagraph on assessable insureds and assist the corporation in ensuring the accurate, timely collection and payment of assessments by surplus lines agents as required by the corporation.

i. Upon determination by the board of governors that an account has a projected deficit, the board shall levy a Citizens policyholder surcharge against all policyholders of the corporation.

(I) The surcharge shall be levied as a uniform percentage of the premium for the policy of up to 15 percent of such premium, which funds shall be used to offset the deficit.

(II) The surcharge is payable upon cancellation or termination of the policy, upon renewal of the policy, or upon issuance of a new policy by the corporation within the first 12 months after the date of the levy or the period of time necessary to fully collect the surcharge amount.

(III) The corporation may not levy any regular assessments under paragraph (q) pursuant to sub-subparagraph a. or sub-subparagraph b. with respect to a particular year's deficit until the corporation has first levied the full amount of the surcharge authorized by this sub-subparagraph.

(IV) The surcharge is not considered premium and is not subject to commissions, fees, or premium taxes. However, failure to pay the surcharge shall be treated as failure to pay premium.

j. If the amount of any assessments or surcharges collected from corporation policyholders, assessable insurers or their policyholders, or assessable insureds exceeds the amount of the deficits, such excess amounts shall be remitted to and retained by the corporation in a reserve to be used by the corporation, as determined by the board of governors and approved by the office, to pay claims or reduce any past, present, or future plan-year deficits or to reduce outstanding debt.

(c) The corporation's plan of operation:

1. Must provide for adoption of residential property and casualty insurance policy forms and commercial residential and nonresidential property insurance forms, which must be approved by the office before use. The corporation shall adopt the following policy forms:

a. Standard personal lines policy forms that are comprehensive multiperil policies providing full coverage of a residential property equivalent to the coverage provided in the private insurance market under an HO-3, HO-4, or HO-6 policy.

b. Basic personal lines policy forms that are policies similar to an HO-8 policy or a dwelling fire policy that provide coverage meeting the requirements of the secondary mortgage market, but which is more limited than the coverage under a standard policy.

c. Commercial lines residential and nonresidential policy forms that are generally similar to the basic perils of full coverage obtainable for commercial residential structures and commercial nonresidential structures in the admitted voluntary market.

d. Personal lines and commercial lines residential property insurance forms that cover the peril of wind only. The forms are applicable only to residential properties located in areas eligible for coverage under the coastal account referred to in sub-subparagraph (b)2.a.

e. Commercial lines nonresidential property insurance forms that cover the peril of wind only. The forms are applicable only to nonresidential properties located in areas eligible for coverage under the coastal account referred to in sub-subparagraph (b)2.a.

f. The corporation may adopt variations of the policy forms listed in sub-subparagraphs a.-e. which contain more restrictive coverage.

g. Effective January 1, 2013, the corporation shall offer a basic personal lines policy similar to an HO-8 policy with dwelling repair based on common construction materials and methods.

2. Must provide that the corporation adopt a program in which the corporation and authorized insurers enter into quota share primary insurance agreements for hurricane coverage, as defined in s. 627.4025(2)(a), for eligible risks, and adopt property insurance forms for eligible risks which cover the peril of wind only.

a. As used in this subsection, the term:

(I) "Quota share primary insurance" means an arrangement in which the primary hurricane coverage of an eligible risk is provided in specified percentages by the corporation and an authorized insurer. The corporation and authorized insurer are each solely responsible for a specified percentage of hurricane coverage of an eligible risk as set forth in a quota share primary insurance agreement between the corporation and an authorized insurer and the insurance contract. The responsibility of the corporation or authorized insurer to pay its specified percentage of hurricane losses of an eligible risk, as set forth in the agreement, may not be altered by the inability of the other party to pay its specified percentage of losses. Eligible risks that are provided hurricane coverage through a quota share primary insurance arrangement must be provided policy forms that set forth the obligations of the corporation and authorized insurer under the arrangement, clearly specify the percentages of quota share primary insurance provided by the corporation and authorized insurer, and conspicuously and clearly state that the authorized insurer and the corporation may not be held responsible beyond their specified percentage of coverage of hurricane losses.

(II) "Eligible risks" means personal lines residential and commercial lines residential risks that meet the underwriting criteria of the corporation and are located in areas that were eligible for coverage by the Florida Windstorm Underwriting Association on January 1, 2002.

b. The corporation may enter into quota share primary insurance agreements with authorized insurers at corporation coverage levels of 90 percent and 50 percent.

c. If the corporation determines that additional coverage levels are necessary to maximize participation in quota share primary insurance agreements by authorized insurers, the corporation may establish additional coverage levels. However, the corporation's quota share primary insurance coverage level may not exceed 90 percent.

d. Any quota share primary insurance agreement entered into between an authorized insurer and the corporation must provide for a uniform specified percentage of coverage of hurricane losses, by county or territory as set forth by the corporation board, for all eligible risks of the authorized insurer covered under the agreement.

e. Any quota share primary insurance agreement entered into between an authorized insurer and the corporation is subject to review and approval by the office. However, such agreement shall be authorized only as to insurance contracts entered into between an authorized insurer and an insured who is already insured by the corporation for wind coverage.

f. For all eligible risks covered under quota share primary insurance agreements, the exposure and coverage levels for both the corporation and authorized insurers shall be reported by the corporation to the Florida Hurricane Catastrophe Fund. For all policies of eligible risks covered under such agreements, the corporation and the authorized insurer must maintain complete and accurate records for the purpose of exposure and loss reimbursement audits as required by fund rules. The corporation and the authorized insurer shall each maintain duplicate copies of policy declaration pages and supporting claims documents.

g. The corporation board shall establish in its plan of operation standards for quota share agreements which ensure that there is no discriminatory application among insurers as to the terms of the agreements, pricing of the agreements, incentive provisions if any, and consideration paid for servicing policies or adjusting claims.

h. The quota share primary insurance agreement between the corporation and an authorized insurer must set forth the specific terms under which coverage is provided, including, but not limited to, the sale and servicing of policies issued under the agreement by the insurance agent of the authorized insurer producing the business, the reporting of information concerning eligible risks, the payment of premium to the corporation, and arrangements for the adjustment and payment of hurricane claims incurred on eligible risks by the claims adjuster and personnel of the authorized insurer. Entering into a quota sharing insurance agreement between the corporation and an authorized insurer is voluntary and at the discretion of the authorized insurer.

3. May provide that the corporation may employ or otherwise contract with individuals or other entities to provide administrative or professional services that may be appropriate to effectuate the plan. The corporation may borrow funds by issuing bonds or by incurring other indebtedness, and shall have other powers reasonably necessary to effectuate the requirements of this subsection, including, without limitation, the power to issue bonds and incur other indebtedness in order to refinance outstanding bonds or other indebtedness. The corporation may seek judicial validation of its bonds or other indebtedness under chapter 75. The corporation may issue bonds or incur other indebtedness, or have bonds issued on its behalf by a unit of local government pursuant to subparagraph (q)2. in the absence of a hurricane or other weather-related event, upon a determination by the corporation, subject to approval by the office, that such action would enable it to efficiently meet the financial obligations of the corporation and that such financings are reasonably necessary to effectuate the requirements of this subsection. The corporation may take all actions needed to facilitate tax-free status for such bonds or indebtedness, including formation of trusts or other affiliated entities. The corporation may pledge assessments, projected recoveries from the Florida Hurricane Catastrophe Fund, other reinsurance recoverables, policyholder surcharges and other surcharges, and other funds available to the corporation as security for bonds or other indebtedness. In recognition of s. 10, Art. I of the State Constitution, prohibiting the impairment of obligations of contracts, it is the intent of the Legislature that no action be taken whose purpose is to impair any bond indenture or financing agreement or any revenue source committed by contract to such bond or other indebtedness.

4. Must require that the corporation operate subject to the supervision and approval of a board of governors consisting of nine individuals who are residents of this state and who are from different geographical areas of the state, one of whom is appointed by the Governor and serves solely to advocate on behalf of the consumer. The appointment of a consumer representative by the Governor is deemed to be within the scope of the exemption provided in s. 112.313(7)(b) and is in addition to the appointments authorized under sub-subparagraph a.

a. The Governor, the Chief Financial Officer, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall each appoint two members of the board. At least one of the two members appointed by each appointing officer must have demonstrated expertise in insurance and be deemed to be within the scope of the exemption provided in s. 112.313(7)(b) at the time of appointment or reappointment. The Chief Financial Officer shall designate one of the appointees as chair. On or after July 1, 2022, an appointee designated as chair must have demonstrated expertise in insurance or must have at least 1 year of experience serving on the board of governors. All board members serve at the pleasure of the appointing officer. All members of the board are subject to removal at will by the officers who appointed them. All board members, including the chair, must be appointed to serve for 3-year terms beginning annually on a date designated by the plan. However, for the first term beginning on or after July 1, 2009, each appointing officer shall appoint one member of the board for a 2-year term and one member for a 3-year term. A board vacancy shall be filled for the unexpired term by the appointing officer. The Chief Financial Officer shall appoint a technical advisory group to provide information and advice to the board in connection with the board's duties under this subsection. The executive director and senior managers of the corporation shall be engaged by the board and serve at the pleasure of the board. The executive director must, at the time of the appointment, have the experience, character, and qualifications required under s. 624.404(3) to serve as the chief executive officer of an insurer. Any executive director appointed on or after July 1, 2006, is subject to confirmation by the Senate. The executive director is responsible for employing other staff as the corporation may require, subject to review and concurrence by the board. As used in this sub-subparagraph, the term "demonstrated expertise in insurance" means at least 10 years'

678 experience:
679 (I) In property and casualty insurance as a full-time 680 employee, officer, or owner of a licensed insurance agency or an 681 insurer authorized to transact property insurance in this state; 682 or
683 (II) As an insurance regulator or as an executive or 684 officer of an insurance trade association.
685 b. The board shall create a Market Accountability Advisory 686 Committee to assist the corporation in developing awareness of 687 its rates and its customer and agent service levels in 688 relationship to the voluntary market insurers writing similar 689 coverage.
690 (I) The members of the advisory committee consist of the 691 following 11 persons, one of whom must be elected chair by the 692 members of the committee: four representatives, one appointed by 693 the Florida Association of Insurance Agents, one by the Florida 694 Association of Insurance and Financial Advisors, one by the 695 Professional Insurance Agents of Florida, and one by the Latin 696 American Association of Insurance Agencies; three 697 representatives appointed by the insurers with the three highest 698 voluntary market share of residential property insurance 699 business in the state; one representative from the Office of 700 Insurance Regulation; one consumer appointed by the board who is 701 insured by the corporation at the time of appointment to the 702 committee; one representative appointed by the Florida 703 Association of Realtors; and one representative appointed by the 704 Florida Bankers Association. All members shall be appointed to 705 3-year terms and may serve for consecutive terms.
706 (II) The committee shall report to the corporation at each board meeting on insurance market issues which may include rates and rate competition with the voluntary market; service, including policy issuance, claims processing, and general responsiveness to policyholders, applicants, and agents; and matters relating to depopulation.

5. Must provide a procedure for determining the eligibility of a risk for coverage, as follows:

a. Subject to s. 627.3517, with respect to personal lines residential risks, if the risk is offered coverage from an authorized insurer at the insurer's approved rate under a standard policy including wind coverage or, if consistent with the insurer's underwriting rules as filed with the office, a basic policy including wind coverage, for a new application to the corporation for coverage, the risk is not eligible for any policy issued by the corporation unless the premium for coverage from the authorized insurer is more than 20 percent greater than the premium for comparable coverage from the corporation. Whenever an offer of coverage for a personal lines residential risk is received for a policyholder of the corporation at renewal from an authorized insurer, ~~if the offer is equal to or less than the corporation's renewal premium for comparable coverage,~~ the risk is not eligible for coverage with the corporation unless the premium for coverage from the authorized insurer is more than 20 percent greater than the renewal premium for comparable coverage from the corporation. If the risk is not able to obtain such offer, the risk is eligible for a standard policy including wind coverage or a basic policy including wind coverage issued by the corporation; however, if the risk could not be insured under a standard policy including wind coverage regardless of market conditions, the risk is eligible for a basic policy including wind coverage unless rejected under subparagraph 8. However, a policyholder removed from the corporation through an assumption agreement remains eligible for coverage from the corporation until the end of the assumption period. The corporation shall determine the type of policy to be provided on the basis of objective standards specified in the underwriting manual and based on generally accepted underwriting practices.

(I) If the risk accepts an offer of coverage through the market assistance plan or through a mechanism established by the corporation other than a plan established by s. 627.3518, before a policy is issued to the risk by the corporation or during the first 30 days of coverage by the corporation, and the producing agent who submitted the application to the plan or to the corporation is not currently appointed by the insurer, the insurer shall:

(A) Pay to the producing agent of record of the policy for the first year, an amount that is the greater of the insurer's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written or a fee equal to the usual and customary commission of the corporation; or

(B) Offer to allow the producing agent of record of the policy to continue servicing the policy for at least 1 year and offer to pay the agent the greater of the insurer's or the corporation's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written.

If the producing agent is unwilling or unable to accept appointment, the new insurer shall pay the agent in accordance with sub-sub-sub-subparagraph (A).

(II) If the corporation enters into a contractual agreement for a take-out plan, the producing agent of record of the corporation policy is entitled to retain any unearned commission on the policy, and the insurer shall:

(A) Pay to the producing agent of record, for the first year, an amount that is the greater of the insurer's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written or a fee equal to the usual and customary commission of the corporation; or

(B) Offer to allow the producing agent of record to continue servicing the policy for at least 1 year and offer to pay the agent the greater of the insurer's or the corporation's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written.

If the producing agent is unwilling or unable to accept appointment, the new insurer shall pay the agent in accordance with sub-sub-sub-subparagraph (A).

b. With respect to commercial lines residential risks, for a new application to the corporation for coverage, if the risk is offered coverage under a policy including wind coverage from an authorized insurer at its approved rate, the risk is not eligible for a policy issued by the corporation unless the premium for coverage from the authorized insurer is more than 20 ~~15~~ percent greater than the premium for comparable coverage from the corporation. Whenever an offer of coverage for a commercial lines residential risk is received for a policyholder of the corporation at renewal from an authorized insurer, ~~if the offer~~

~~is equal to or less than the corporation's renewal premium for comparable coverage,~~ the risk is not eligible for coverage with the corporation unless the premium for coverage from the authorized insurer is more than 20 percent greater than the renewal premium for comparable coverage from the corporation. If the risk is not able to obtain any such offer, the risk is eligible for a policy including wind coverage issued by the corporation. However, a policyholder removed from the corporation through an assumption agreement remains eligible for coverage from the corporation until the end of the assumption period.

(I) If the risk accepts an offer of coverage through the market assistance plan or through a mechanism established by the corporation other than a plan established by s. 627.3518, before a policy is issued to the risk by the corporation or during the first 30 days of coverage by the corporation, and the producing agent who submitted the application to the plan or the corporation is not currently appointed by the insurer, the insurer shall:

(A) Pay to the producing agent of record of the policy, for the first year, an amount that is the greater of the insurer's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written or a fee equal to the usual and customary commission of the corporation; or

(B) Offer to allow the producing agent of record of the policy to continue servicing the policy for at least 1 year and offer to pay the agent the greater of the insurer's or the corporation's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written.

If the producing agent is unwilling or unable to accept appointment, the new insurer shall pay the agent in accordance with sub-sub-sub-subparagraph (A).

(II) If the corporation enters into a contractual agreement for a take-out plan, the producing agent of record of the corporation policy is entitled to retain any unearned commission on the policy, and the insurer shall:

(A) Pay to the producing agent of record, for the first year, an amount that is the greater of the insurer's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written or a fee equal to the usual and customary commission of the corporation; or

(B) Offer to allow the producing agent of record to continue servicing the policy for at least 1 year and offer to pay the agent the greater of the insurer's or the corporation's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written.

If the producing agent is unwilling or unable to accept appointment, the new insurer shall pay the agent in accordance with sub-sub-sub-subparagraph (A).

c. For purposes of determining comparable coverage under sub-subparagraphs a. and b., the comparison must be based on those forms and coverages that are reasonably comparable. The corporation may rely on a determination of comparable coverage and premium made by the producing agent who submits the application to the corporation, made in the agent's capacity as the corporation's agent. A comparison may be made solely of the premium with respect to the main building or structure only on the following basis: the same coverage A or other building limits; the same percentage hurricane deductible that applies on an annual basis or that applies to each hurricane for commercial residential property; the same percentage of ordinance and law coverage, if the same limit is offered by both the corporation and the authorized insurer; the same mitigation credits, to the extent the same types of credits are offered both by the corporation and the authorized insurer; the same method for loss payment, such as replacement cost or actual cash value, if the same method is offered both by the corporation and the authorized insurer in accordance with underwriting rules; and any other form or coverage that is reasonably comparable as determined by the board. If an application is submitted to the corporation for wind-only coverage in the coastal account, the premium for the corporation's wind-only policy plus the premium for the ex-wind policy ~~that is~~ offered by an authorized insurer to the applicant must be compared to the premium for multiperil coverage offered by an authorized insurer, subject to the standards for comparison specified in this subparagraph. If the corporation or the applicant requests from the authorized insurer a breakdown of the premium of the offer by types of coverage so that a comparison may be made by the corporation or its agent and the authorized insurer refuses or is unable to provide such information, the corporation may treat the offer as not being an offer of coverage from an authorized insurer at the insurer's approved rate.

6. Must include rules for classifications of risks and rates.

7. Must provide that if premium and investment income for an account attributable to a particular calendar year are in excess of projected losses and expenses for the account attributable to that year, such excess shall be held in surplus in the account. Such surplus must be available to defray deficits in that account as to future years and used for that purpose before assessing assessable insurers and assessable insureds as to any calendar year.

8. Must provide objective criteria and procedures to be uniformly applied to all applicants in determining whether an individual risk is so hazardous as to be uninsurable. In making this determination and in establishing the criteria and procedures, the following must be considered:

a. Whether the likelihood of a loss for the individual risk is substantially higher than for other risks of the same class; and

b. Whether the uncertainty associated with the individual risk is such that an appropriate premium cannot be determined.

The acceptance or rejection of a risk by the corporation shall be construed as the private placement of insurance, and the provisions of chapter 120 do not apply.

9. Must provide that the corporation make its best efforts to procure catastrophe reinsurance at reasonable rates, to cover its projected 100-year probable maximum loss as determined by the board of governors. If catastrophe reinsurance is not available at reasonable rates, the corporation need not purchase it, but the corporation shall include the costs of reinsurance to cover its projected 100-year probable maximum loss in its rate calculations even if it does not purchase catastrophe reinsurance.

10. The policies issued by the corporation must provide that if the corporation or the market assistance plan obtains an offer from an authorized insurer to cover the risk at its approved rates, the risk is no longer eligible for renewal through the corporation, except as otherwise provided in this subsection.

11. Corporation policies and applications must include a notice that the corporation policy could, under this section, be replaced with a policy issued by an authorized insurer which does not provide coverage identical to the coverage provided by the corporation. The notice must also specify that acceptance of corporation coverage creates a conclusive presumption that the applicant or policyholder is aware of this potential.

12. May establish, subject to approval by the office, different eligibility requirements and operational procedures for any line or type of coverage for any specified county or area if the board determines that such changes are justified due to the voluntary market being sufficiently stable and competitive in such area or for such line or type of coverage and that consumers who, in good faith, are unable to obtain insurance through the voluntary market through ordinary methods continue to have access to coverage from the corporation. If coverage is sought in connection with a real property transfer, the requirements and procedures may not provide an effective date of coverage later than the date of the closing of the transfer as established by the transferor, the transferee, and, if applicable, the lender.

13. Must provide that, with respect to the coastal account, any assessable insurer with a surplus as to policyholders of $25 million or less writing 25 percent or more of its total countrywide property insurance premiums in this state may petition the office, within the first 90 days of each calendar year, to qualify as a limited apportionment company. A regular assessment levied by the corporation on a limited apportionment company for a deficit incurred by the corporation for the coastal account may be paid to the corporation on a monthly basis as the assessments are collected by the limited apportionment company from its insureds, but a limited apportionment company must begin collecting the regular assessments not later than 90 days after the regular assessments are levied by the corporation, and the regular assessments must be paid in full within 15 months after being levied by the corporation. A limited apportionment company shall collect from its policyholders any emergency assessment imposed under sub-subparagraph (b)3.d. The plan must provide that, if the office determines that any regular assessment will result in an impairment of the surplus of a limited apportionment company, the office may direct that all or part of such assessment be deferred as provided in subparagraph (q)4. However, an emergency assessment to be collected from policyholders under sub-subparagraph (b)3.d. may not be limited or deferred.

14. Must provide that the corporation appoint as its licensed agents only those agents who throughout such appointments also hold an appointment as defined in s. 626.015 by an insurer who is authorized to write and is actually writing or renewing personal lines residential property coverage, commercial residential property coverage, or commercial nonresidential property coverage within the state.

15. Must provide a premium payment plan option to its policyholders which, at a minimum, allows for quarterly and semiannual payment of premiums. A monthly payment plan may, but is not required to, be offered.

16. Must limit coverage on mobile homes or manufactured homes built before 1994 to actual cash value of the dwelling rather than replacement costs of the dwelling.

17. Must provide coverage for manufactured or mobile home dwellings. Such coverage must also include the following attached structures:

a. Screened enclosures that are aluminum framed or screened enclosures that are not covered by the same or substantially the same materials as those of the primary dwelling;

b. Carports that are aluminum or carports that are not covered by the same or substantially the same materials as those of the primary dwelling; and

c. Patios that have a roof covering ~~that is~~ constructed of materials that are not the same or substantially the same materials as those of the primary dwelling.

The corporation shall make available a policy for mobile homes or manufactured homes for a minimum insured value of at least $3,000.

18. May provide such limits of coverage as the board determines, consistent with the requirements of this subsection.

19. May require commercial property to meet specified hurricane mitigation construction features as a condition of eligibility for coverage.

20. Must provide that new or renewal policies issued by the corporation on or after January 1, 2012, which cover sinkhole loss do not include coverage for any loss to appurtenant structures, driveways, sidewalks, decks, or patios that are directly or indirectly caused by sinkhole activity. The corporation shall exclude such coverage using a notice of coverage change, which may be included with the policy renewal, and not by issuance of a notice of nonrenewal of the excluded coverage upon renewal of the current policy.

21. As of January 1, 2012, must require that the agent obtain from an applicant for coverage from the corporation an acknowledgment signed by the applicant, which includes, at a minimum, the following statement:

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF POTENTIAL SURCHARGE
AND ASSESSMENT LIABILITY:

1. AS A POLICYHOLDER OF CITIZENS PROPERTY INSURANCE CORPORATION, I UNDERSTAND THAT IF THE CORPORATION SUSTAINS A DEFICIT AS A RESULT OF HURRICANE LOSSES OR FOR ANY OTHER REASON, MY POLICY COULD BE SUBJECT TO SURCHARGES, WHICH WILL BE DUE AND PAYABLE UPON RENEWAL, CANCELLATION, OR TERMINATION OF THE POLICY, AND THAT THE SURCHARGES COULD BE AS HIGH AS 45 PERCENT OF MY PREMIUM, OR A DIFFERENT AMOUNT AS IMPOSED BY THE FLORIDA LEGISLATURE.

2. I UNDERSTAND THAT I CAN AVOID THE CITIZENS POLICYHOLDER SURCHARGE, WHICH COULD BE AS HIGH AS 45 PERCENT OF MY PREMIUM, BY OBTAINING COVERAGE FROM A PRIVATE MARKET INSURER AND THAT TO BE ELIGIBLE FOR COVERAGE BY CITIZENS, I MUST FIRST TRY TO OBTAIN

PRIVATE MARKET COVERAGE BEFORE APPLYING FOR OR RENEWING COVERAGE WITH CITIZENS. I UNDERSTAND THAT PRIVATE MARKET INSURANCE RATES ARE REGULATED AND APPROVED BY THE STATE.

3. I UNDERSTAND THAT I MAY BE SUBJECT TO EMERGENCY ASSESSMENTS TO THE SAME EXTENT AS POLICYHOLDERS OF OTHER INSURANCE COMPANIES, OR A DIFFERENT AMOUNT AS IMPOSED BY THE FLORIDA LEGISLATURE.

4. I ALSO UNDERSTAND THAT CITIZENS PROPERTY INSURANCE CORPORATION IS NOT SUPPORTED BY THE FULL FAITH AND CREDIT OF THE STATE OF FLORIDA.

a. The corporation shall maintain, in electronic format or otherwise, a copy of the applicant’s signed acknowledgment and provide a copy of the statement to the policyholder as part of the first renewal after the effective date of this subparagraph.

b. The signed acknowledgment form creates a conclusive presumption that the policyholder understood and accepted his or her potential surcharge and assessment liability as a policyholder of the corporation.

(n)1. Rates for coverage provided by the corporation must be actuarially sound and subject to s. 627.062, except as otherwise provided in this paragraph. The corporation shall file its recommended rates with the office at least annually. The corporation shall provide any additional information regarding the rates which the office requires. The office shall consider the recommendations of the board and issue a final order establishing the rates for the corporation within 45 days after the recommended rates are filed. The corporation may not pursue an administrative challenge or judicial review of the final

2. In addition to the rates otherwise determined pursuant to this paragraph, the corporation shall impose and collect an amount equal to the premium tax provided in s. 624.509 to augment the financial resources of the corporation.

3. After the public hurricane loss-projection model under s. 627.06281 has been found to be accurate and reliable by the Florida Commission on Hurricane Loss Projection Methodology, the model shall be considered when establishing the windstorm portion of the corporation's rates. The corporation may use the public model results in combination with the results of private models to calculate rates for the windstorm portion of the corporation's rates. This subparagraph does not require or allow the corporation to adopt rates lower than the rates otherwise required or allowed by this paragraph.

4. The corporation must make a recommended actuarially sound rate filing for each personal and commercial line of business it writes.

5. Notwithstanding the board's recommended rates and the office's final order regarding the corporation's filed rates under subparagraph 1., the corporation shall annually implement a rate increase which, except for sinkhole coverage, does not exceed the following for any single personal lines residential policy issued by the corporation that covers an insured's primary residence, and any single commercial lines residential policy issued by the corporation, excluding coverage changes and surcharges:

a. Eleven percent for 2022.

b. Twelve percent for 2023.

c. Thirteen percent for 2024.

d. Fourteen percent for 2025.

e. Fifteen percent for 2026 and all subsequent years.

6. The corporation may also implement an increase to reflect the effect on the corporation of the cash buildup factor pursuant to s. 215.555(5)(b).

7. The corporation's implementation of rates as prescribed in subparagraph 5. shall cease for any line of business written by the corporation upon the corporation's implementation of actuarially sound rates. Thereafter, the corporation shall annually make a recommended actuarially sound rate filing for each commercial and personal line of business the corporation writes.

8. Any new personal lines residential policy written by the corporation with an effective date on or after January 1, 2023, which covers a risk for which the immediately preceding policy covering such risk was written by an unsound insurer shall be charged a premium for coverage that is the higher of the last premium amount charged by the unsound insurer or the premium charged by the corporation applicable to the policy. Premiums established by the unsound insurer shall remain unchanged, except for adjustments for coverage changes at renewal, until such time as the corporation's premium for that policy exceeds this amount and thus the policy becomes subject to the corporation's annually approved rate.

9. As used in this paragraph, the term:

a. "Primary residence" means the dwelling that the insured has represented as their permanent home on the insurance application or otherwise to the corporation.

b. "Unsound insurer" means an insurer determined by the Office of Insurance Regulation to be in unsound condition as defined in s. 624.80(2) or an insurer placed in receivership under chapter 631.

(q)1. The corporation shall certify to the office its needs for annual assessments as to a particular calendar year, and for any interim assessments that it deems to be necessary to sustain operations as to a particular year pending the receipt of annual assessments. Upon verification, the office shall approve such certification, and the corporation shall levy such annual or interim assessments. Such assessments shall be prorated as provided in paragraph (b). The corporation shall take all reasonable and prudent steps necessary to collect the amount of assessments due from each assessable insurer, including, if prudent, filing suit to collect the assessments, and the office may provide such assistance to the corporation it deems appropriate. If the corporation is unable to collect an assessment from any assessable insurer, the uncollected assessments shall be levied as an additional assessment against the assessable insurers and any assessable insurer required to pay an additional assessment as a result of such failure to pay shall have a cause of action against such nonpaying assessable insurer. Assessments shall be included as an appropriate factor in the making of rates. The failure of a surplus lines agent to collect and remit any regular or emergency assessment levied by the corporation is considered to be a violation of s. 626.936 and subjects the surplus lines agent to the penalties provided in that section.

2. The governing body of any unit of local government, any residents of which are insured by the corporation, may issue bonds as defined in s. 125.013 or s. 166.101 from time to time to fund an assistance program, in conjunction with the corporation, for the purpose of defraying deficits of the corporation. In order to avoid needless and indiscriminate proliferation, duplication, and fragmentation of such assistance programs, any unit of local government, any residents of which are insured by the corporation, may provide for the payment of losses, regardless of whether or not the losses occurred within or outside of the territorial jurisdiction of the local government. Revenue bonds under this subparagraph may not be issued until validated pursuant to chapter 75, unless a state of emergency is declared by executive order or proclamation of the Governor pursuant to s. 252.36 making such findings as are necessary to determine that it is in the best interests of, and necessary for, the protection of the public health, safety, and general welfare of residents of this state and declaring it an essential public purpose to permit certain municipalities or counties to issue such bonds as will permit relief to claimants and policyholders of the corporation. Any such unit of local government may enter into such contracts with the corporation and with any other entity created pursuant to this subsection as are necessary to carry out this paragraph. Any bonds issued under this subparagraph shall be payable from and secured by moneys received by the corporation from emergency assessments under sub-subparagraph (b)3.d., and assigned and pledged to or on behalf of the unit of local government for the benefit of the holders of such bonds. The funds, credit, property, and taxing power of the state or of the unit of local government may ~~shall~~ not be pledged for the payment of such bonds.

3.a. The corporation shall adopt one or more programs subject to approval by the office for the reduction of both new and renewal writings in the corporation. Beginning January 1, 2008, any program the corporation adopts for the payment of bonuses to an insurer for each risk the insurer removes from the corporation shall comply with s. 627.3511(2) and may not exceed the amount referenced in s. 627.3511(2) for each risk removed. The corporation may consider any prudent and not unfairly discriminatory approach to reducing corporation writings, and may adopt a credit against assessment liability or other liability that provides an incentive for insurers to take risks out of the corporation and to keep risks out of the corporation by maintaining or increasing voluntary writings in counties or areas in which corporation risks are highly concentrated and a program to provide a formula under which an insurer voluntarily taking risks out of the corporation by maintaining or increasing voluntary writings will be relieved wholly or partially from assessments under sub-subparagraph (b)3.a. However, any "take-out bonus" or payment to an insurer must be conditioned on the property being insured for at least 5 years by the insurer, unless canceled or nonrenewed by the policyholder. If the policy is canceled or nonrenewed by the policyholder before the end of the 5-year period, the amount of the take-out bonus must be prorated for the time period the policy was insured. When the corporation enters into a contractual agreement for a take-out plan, the producing agent of record of the corporation policy is entitled to retain any unearned commission on such policy, and the insurer shall either:

(I) Pay to the producing agent of record of the policy, for the first year, an amount which is the greater of the insurer's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written or a policy fee equal to the usual and customary commission of the corporation; or

(II) Offer to allow the producing agent of record of the policy to continue servicing the policy for a period of not less than 1 year and offer to pay the agent the insurer's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written. If the producing agent is unwilling or unable to accept appointment by the new insurer, the new insurer shall pay the agent in accordance with sub-sub-subparagraph (I).

b. Any credit or exemption from regular assessments adopted under this subparagraph shall last no longer than the 3 years following the cancellation or expiration of the policy by the corporation. With the approval of the office, the board may extend such credits for an additional year if the insurer guarantees an additional year of renewability for all policies removed from the corporation, or for 2 additional years if the insurer guarantees 2 additional years of renewability for all policies so removed.

c. There shall be no credit, limitation, exemption, or deferment from emergency assessments to be collected from policyholders pursuant to sub-subparagraph (b)3.d.

d. Notwithstanding any other law, for purposes of a depopulation, take-out, or keep-out program adopted by the corporation, including an initial or renewal offer of coverage made to a policyholder removed from the corporation pursuant to such program, an eligible surplus lines insurer may participate in the program in the same manner and on the same terms as an authorized insurer, except as provided under this sub-subparagraph.

(I) The policy count of the corporation must be more than 700,000 within the 30 days before the time a take-out offer is made by a surplus lines insurer.

(II) To qualify for participation, the surplus lines insurer must first obtain approval from the office for its depopulation, take-out, or keep-out plan and then comply with all of the corporation's requirements for the plan applicable to admitted insurers and with all statutory provisions applicable to the removal of policies from the corporation.

(III) In considering a surplus lines insurer's request for approval for its plan, the office shall determine whether the surplus lines insurer meets the following requirements:

(A) Maintains a surplus of $50 million on a company or pooled basis;

(B) Has a superior, excellent, exceptional, or equally comparable financial strength rating by a rating agency acceptable to the office;

(C) Maintains reserves, surplus, reinsurance, and reinsurance equivalents sufficient to cover the insurer's 100-year probable maximum hurricane loss at least twice in a single hurricane season and submits such reinsurance to the office to review for purposes of the take-out;

(D) Provides prominent notice to the policyholder before the assumption of the policy that surplus lines policies are not provided coverage by the Florida Insurance Guaranty Association and provides an outline of any substantial differences in coverage between the existing policy and the policy being offered to the insured; and

(E) Provides policy coverage similar to that provided by the corporation.

(IV) To obtain approval for a plan, the surplus lines insurer must file the following with the office:

(A) Information requested by the office to demonstrate compliance with s. 624.404(3), including biographical affidavits, fingerprints processed pursuant to s. 624.34, and the results of criminal history records checks for officers and directors of the insurer and its parent or holding company;

(B) A service-of-process consent and agreement form executed by the insurer;

(C) Proof that the insurer has been an eligible or authorized insurer for at least 3 years;

(D) A duly authenticated copy of the insurer's current audited financial statement, in English, which, in the case of statements originally made in the currencies of other countries, expresses all monetary values in United States dollars, at an exchange rate then current and shown in the statement, and including any additional information relative to the insurer as the office may request;

(E) A complete certified copy of the latest official financial statement required by the insurer's domiciliary state, if different from the statement required by sub-sub-sub-subparagraph (D); and

(F) If applicable, a copy of the United States trust account agreement.

This sub-sub-subparagraph does not subject any surplus lines insurer to requirements in addition to part VIII of chapter 626. Surplus lines brokers making an offer of coverage under this sub-subparagraph are not required to comply with s. 626.916(1)(a), (b), (c), or (e).

(V) Within 10 days after the date of assumption, the surplus lines insurer assuming policies from the corporation shall remit to the Bureau of Collateral Management within the Department of Financial Services a special deposit equal to the unearned premium net of unearned commissions on the assumed block of business. The surplus lines insurer shall submit to the office, along with the special deposit, an accounting of the policies assumed and the amount of unearned premium for such policies and a sworn affidavit attesting to the accuracy of the accounting by an officer of the surplus lines insurer. Thereafter, the surplus lines insurer shall make a filing within 10 days after the end of each calendar quarter attesting to the unearned premium in force for the previous quarter on policies assumed from the corporation and shall submit additional funds with that filing if the special deposit is insufficient to cover the unearned premium on assumed policies, or shall receive a return of funds within 60 days if the special deposit exceeds the amount of unearned premium required for assumed policies. The special deposit is an asset of the surplus lines insurer which is held by the department for the benefit of state policyholders of the surplus lines insurer in the event of the insolvency of the surplus lines insurer. If an order of liquidation is entered in any state against the surplus lines insurer, the department may use the special deposit for payment of unearned premium or policy claims, return all or part of the deposit to the domiciliary receiver, or use the funds in accordance with any action authorized under part I of chapter 631 or in compliance with any order of a court having jurisdiction over the insolvency.

(VI) In advance of a surplus lines insurer assuming a policy, surplus lines brokers representing a surplus lines insurer on a take-out program shall obtain confirmation, in written or e-mail form, from each producing agent stating that the agent is willing to participate in the take-out program with the surplus lines insurer engaging in the take-out program. The take-out program is also subject to s. 627.3517. If a policyholder is selected for removal from the corporation by a surplus lines insurer and an authorized insurer, the corporation must give priority to the offer of coverage from the authorized insurer.

(VII)(A) A risk that has a dwelling replacement cost of $700,000 or more or a single condominium unit that has a combined dwelling and contents replacement cost of $700,000 or more is not eligible for coverage by the corporation if it is offered comparable coverage from a qualified surplus lines insurer at a premium no greater than the premium charged by the corporation.

(B) A risk that has a dwelling replacement cost below $700,000 or a single condominium unit that has a combined dwelling and contents replacement cost below $700,000 remains eligible for coverage by the corporation if it is offered coverage from a qualified surplus lines insurer.

4. The plan shall provide for the deferment, in whole or in part, of the assessment of an assessable insurer, other than an emergency assessment collected from policyholders pursuant to sub-subparagraph (b)3.d., if the office finds that payment of the assessment would endanger or impair the solvency of the insurer. In the event an assessment against an assessable insurer is deferred in whole or in part, the amount by which such assessment is deferred may be assessed against the other assessable insurers in a manner consistent with the basis for assessments set forth in paragraph (b).

5. Effective July 1, 2007, in order to evaluate the costs and benefits of approved take-out plans, if the corporation pays a bonus or other payment to an insurer for an approved take-out plan, it shall maintain a record of the address or such other identifying information on the property or risk removed in order to track if and when the property or risk is later insured by the corporation.

6. Any policy taken out, assumed, or removed from the corporation is, as of the effective date of the take-out, assumption, or removal, direct insurance issued by the insurer and not by the corporation, even if the corporation continues to service the policies. This subparagraph applies to policies of the corporation and not policies taken out, assumed, or removed from any other entity.

7. For a policy taken out, assumed, or removed from the corporation, the insurer may, for a period of no more than 3 years, continue to use any of the corporation’s policy forms or endorsements that apply to the policy taken out, removed, or assumed without obtaining approval from the office for use of such policy form or endorsement.

(x)1. The following records of the corporation are confidential and exempt from ~~the provisions of~~ s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution:

a. Underwriting files, except that a policyholder or an applicant shall have access to his or her own underwriting files. Confidential and exempt underwriting file records may also be released to other governmental agencies upon written request and demonstration of need; such records held by the receiving agency remain confidential and exempt as provided herein.

b. Claims files, until termination of all litigation and settlement of all claims arising out of the same incident, although portions of the claims files may remain exempt, as otherwise provided by law. Confidential and exempt claims file records may be released to other governmental agencies upon written request and demonstration of need; such records held by the receiving agency remain confidential and exempt as provided herein.

c. Records obtained or generated by an internal auditor pursuant to a routine audit, until the audit is completed, or if the audit is conducted as part of an investigation, until the investigation is closed or ceases to be active. An investigation is considered "active" while the investigation is being conducted with a reasonable, good faith belief that it could lead to the filing of administrative, civil, or criminal proceedings.

d. Matters reasonably encompassed in privileged attorney-client communications.

e. Proprietary information licensed to the corporation under contract and the contract provides for the confidentiality of such proprietary information.

f. All information relating to the medical condition or medical status of a corporation employee which is not relevant to the employee's capacity to perform his or her duties, except as otherwise provided in this paragraph. Information that is exempt includes ~~shall include~~, but is not limited to, information relating to workers' compensation, insurance benefits, and retirement or disability benefits.

g. Upon an employee's entrance into the employee assistance program, a program to assist any employee who has a behavioral or medical disorder, substance abuse problem, or emotional difficulty that affects the employee's job performance, all records relative to that participation are ~~shall be~~ confidential and exempt from ~~the provisions of~~ s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution, except as otherwise provided in s. 112.0455(11).

h. Information relating to negotiations for financing, reinsurance, depopulation, or contractual services, until the conclusion of the negotiations.

i. Minutes of closed meetings regarding underwriting files, and minutes of closed meetings regarding an open claims file until termination of all litigation and settlement of all claims with regard to that claim, except that information otherwise confidential or exempt by law must ~~shall~~ be redacted.

2. If an authorized insurer, a reinsurance intermediary, an eligible surplus lines insurer, or an entity that has filed an application with the office for licensure as a property and casualty insurer in this state is considering writing or assisting in the underwriting of a risk insured by the corporation, relevant information from both the underwriting files and confidential claims files may be released to the insurer, reinsurance intermediary, eligible surplus lines insurer, or entity that has been created to seek authority to write property insurance in this state, provided that the recipient ~~insurer~~ agrees in writing, notarized and under oath, to maintain the confidentiality of such files. If a policy file is transferred to an insurer, that policy file is no longer a public record because it is not held by an agency subject to ~~the provisions of~~ the public records law. Underwriting files and confidential claims files may also be released to staff and the board of governors of the market assistance plan established pursuant to s. 627.3515, who must retain the confidentiality of such files, except such files may be released to authorized insurers that are considering assuming the risks to which the files apply, provided the insurer agrees in writing, notarized and under oath, to maintain the confidentiality of such files. Finally, the corporation or the board or staff of the market assistance plan may make the following information obtained from underwriting files and confidential claims files available to an entity that has obtained a permit to become an authorized insurer, a reinsurer that may provide reinsurance under s. 624.610, a licensed reinsurance broker, a licensed rating organization, a modeling company, or a licensed general lines insurance agent: name, address, and telephone number of the residential property owner or insured; location of the risk; rating information; loss history; and policy type. The receiving person must retain the confidentiality of the information received and may use the information only for the purposes of developing a take-out plan or a rating plan to be submitted to the office for approval or otherwise analyzing the underwriting of a risk or risks insured by the corporation on behalf of the private insurance market. A licensed general lines insurance agent may not use such information for the direct solicitation of policyholders.

3. A policyholder who has filed suit against the corporation has the right to discover the contents of his or her own claims file to the same extent that discovery of such contents would be available from a private insurer in litigation as provided by the Florida Rules of Civil Procedure, the Florida Evidence Code, and other applicable law. Pursuant to subpoena, a third party has the right to discover the contents of an insured’s or applicant’s underwriting or claims file to the same extent that discovery of such contents would be available from a private insurer by subpoena as provided by the Florida Rules of Civil Procedure, the Florida Evidence Code, and other applicable law, and subject to any confidentiality protections requested by the corporation and agreed to by the seeking party or ordered by the court. The corporation may release confidential underwriting and claims file contents and information as it deems necessary and appropriate to underwrite or service insurance policies and claims, subject to any confidentiality protections deemed necessary and appropriate by the corporation.

4. Portions of meetings of the corporation are exempt from ~~the provisions of~~ s. 286.011 and s. 24(b), Art. I of the State Constitution wherein confidential underwriting files or confidential open claims files are discussed. All portions of corporation meetings which are closed to the public shall be recorded by a court reporter. The court reporter shall record the times of commencement and termination of the meeting, all discussion and proceedings, the names of all persons present at any time, and the names of all persons speaking. No portion of any closed meeting shall be off the record. Subject to the provisions hereof and s. 119.07(1)(d)-(f), the court reporter's notes of any closed meeting shall be retained by the corporation for a minimum of 5 years. A copy of the transcript, less any exempt matters, of any closed meeting wherein claims are discussed shall become public as to individual claims after settlement of the claim.

(ii) The corporation shall revise the programs adopted pursuant to sub-subparagraph (q)3.a. for personal lines residential policies to maximize policyholder options and encourage increased participation by insurers and agents. After January 1, 2017, a policy may not be taken out of the corporation unless the provisions of this paragraph are met.

1. The corporation must publish a periodic schedule of cycles during which an insurer may identify, and notify the corporation of, policies that the insurer is requesting to take out. A request must include a description of the coverage offered and an estimated premium and must be submitted to the corporation in a form and manner prescribed by the corporation.

2. The corporation must maintain and make available to the agent of record a consolidated list of all insurers requesting to take out a policy. The list must include a description of the coverage offered and the estimated premium for each take-out request.

3. The corporation must provide written notice to the policyholder and the agent of record regarding all insurers requesting to take out the policy, which notice must inform that a take-out offer that is not more than 20 percent greater than the corporation's premium renders the risk ineligible for coverage from ~~and regarding the policyholder's option to accept a take-out offer or to reject all take-out offers and to remain with~~ the corporation. The notice must be in a format prescribed by the corporation and include, for each take-out offer:

a. The amount of the estimated premium;

b. A description of the coverage; and

c. A comparison of the estimated premium and coverage offered by the insurer to the estimated premium and coverage provided by the corporation.

Section 4. Section 627.3518, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

627.3518 Citizens Property Insurance Corporation policyholder eligibility clearinghouse program. ~~The purpose of this section is to provide a framework for the corporation to implement a clearinghouse program by January 1, 2014.~~

(1) As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Corporation" means Citizens Property Insurance Corporation.

(b) "Exclusive agent" means any licensed insurance agent that has, by contract, agreed to act exclusively for one company or group of affiliated insurance companies and is disallowed by the provisions of that contract to directly write for any other unaffiliated insurer absent express consent from the company or group of affiliated insurance companies.

(c) "Independent agent" means any licensed insurance agent not described in paragraph (b).

(d) "Program" means the clearinghouse created under this section.

(2) In order to confirm eligibility with the corporation and to enhance access of new applicants for coverage and existing policyholders of the corporation to offers of coverage from authorized insurers, the corporation shall establish a program for personal residential risks in order to facilitate the diversion of ineligible applicants and existing policyholders from the corporation into the voluntary insurance market. The corporation shall also develop appropriate procedures for facilitating the diversion of ineligible applicants and existing policyholders for commercial residential coverage into the private insurance market ~~and shall report such procedures to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives by January 1, 2014~~.

(3) The corporation board shall establish the clearinghouse program as an organizational unit within the corporation. The program shall have all the rights and responsibilities in carrying out its duties as a licensed general lines agent, but may not be required to employ or engage a licensed general lines agent or to maintain an insurance agency license to carry out its activities in the solicitation and placement of insurance coverage. In establishing the program, the corporation may:

(a) Require all new applications, and all policies due for renewal, to be submitted for coverage to the program in order to facilitate obtaining an offer of coverage from an authorized insurer before binding or renewing coverage by the corporation.

(b) Employ or otherwise contract with individuals or other entities for appropriate administrative or professional services to effectuate the plan within the corporation in accordance with the applicable purchasing requirements under s. 627.351.

(c) Enter into contracts with any authorized insurer to participate in the program and accept an appointment by such insurer.

(d) Provide funds to operate the program. Insurers and agents participating in the program are not required to pay a fee to offset or partially offset the cost of the program or use the program for renewal of policies initially written through the clearinghouse.

(e) Develop an enhanced application that includes information to assist private insurers in determining whether to make an offer of coverage through the program.

(f) For personal lines residential risks, require, before approving all new applications for coverage by the corporation, that every application be subject to a period of 2 business days when any insurer participating in the program may select the application for coverage. The insurer may issue a binder on any policy selected for coverage for a period of at least 30 days but not more than 60 days.

(4) Any authorized insurer may participate in the program; however, participation is not mandatory for any insurer. Insurers making offers of coverage to new applicants or renewal policyholders through the program:

(a) May not be required to individually appoint any agent whose customer is underwritten and bound through the program. Notwithstanding s. 626.112, insurers are not required to appoint any agent on a policy underwritten through the program for as long as that policy remains with the insurer. Insurers may, at their election, appoint any agent whose customer is initially underwritten and bound through the program. In the event an insurer accepts a policy from an agent who is not appointed pursuant to this paragraph, and thereafter elects to accept a policy from such agent, the provisions of s. 626.112 requiring appointment apply to the agent.

(b) Must enter into a limited agency agreement with each agent that is not appointed in accordance with paragraph (a) and whose customer is underwritten and bound through the program.

(c) Must enter into its standard agency agreement with each agent whose customer is underwritten and bound through the program when that agent has been appointed by the insurer pursuant to s. 626.112.

(d) Must comply with s. 627.4133(2).

(e) May participate through their single-designated managing general agent or broker; however, the provisions of paragraph (6)(a) regarding ownership, control, and use of the expirations continue to apply.

(f) Must pay to the producing agent a commission equal to that paid by the corporation or the usual and customary commission paid by the insurer for that line of business, whichever is greater.

627.351(6)(c)5.a. Whenever an offer of coverage for a personal lines risk is received for a policyholder of the corporation at renewal from an authorized insurer through the program, if the offer is at or below the eligibility threshold established in s. 627.351(6)(c)5.a. ~~equal to or less than the corporation's renewal premium for comparable coverage~~, the risk is not eligible for coverage with the corporation. In the event an offer of coverage for a new applicant is received from an authorized insurer through the program, and the premium offered exceeds the eligibility threshold contained in s. 627.351(6)(c)5.a., the applicant or insured may elect to accept such coverage, or may elect to accept or continue coverage with the corporation. In the event an offer of coverage for a personal lines risk is received from an authorized insurer at renewal through the program, and the premium offered is at or below the eligibility threshold established in s. 627.351(6)(c)5.a. ~~more than the corporation's renewal premium for comparable coverage~~, the insured is not eligible to ~~may elect to accept such coverage, or may elect to accept or~~ continue coverage with the corporation. Section 627.351(6)(c)5.a.(I) does not apply to an offer of coverage from an authorized insurer obtained through the program. An applicant for coverage from the corporation who was declared ineligible for coverage at renewal by the corporation in the previous 36 months due to an offer of coverage pursuant to this subsection shall be considered a renewal under this section if the corporation determines that the authorized insurer making the offer of coverage pursuant to this subsection continues to insure the applicant and increased the rate on the policy in excess of the increase allowed for the corporation under s. 627.351(6)(n)5.

(6) Independent insurance agents submitting new applications for coverage or that are the agent of record on a renewal policy submitted to the program:

(a) Are granted and must maintain ownership and the exclusive use of expirations, records, or other written or electronic information directly related to such applications or renewals written through the corporation or through an insurer participating in the program, notwithstanding s. 627.351(6)(c)5.a.(I)(B) and (II)(B). Such ownership is granted for as long as the insured remains with the agency or until sold or surrendered in writing by the agent. Contracts with the corporation or required by the corporation must not amend, modify, interfere with, or limit such rights of ownership. Such expirations, records, or other written or electronic information may be used to review an application, issue a policy, or for any other purpose necessary for placing such business through the program.

(b) May not be required to be appointed by any insurer participating in the program for policies written solely through the program, notwithstanding the provisions of s. 626.112.

(c) May accept an appointment from any insurer participating in the program.

(d) May enter into either a standard or limited agency agreement with the insurer, at the insurer’s option.

Applicants ineligible for coverage in accordance with subsection (5) remain ineligible if their independent agent is unwilling or unable to enter into a standard or limited agency agreement with an insurer participating in the program.

(7) Exclusive agents submitting new applications for coverage or that are the agent of record on a renewal policy submitted to the program:

(a) Must maintain ownership and the exclusive use of expirations, records, or other written or electronic information directly related to such applications or renewals written through the corporation or through an insurer participating in the program, notwithstanding s. 627.351(6)(c)5.a.(I)(B) and (II)(B). Contracts with the corporation or required by the corporation must not amend, modify, interfere with, or limit such rights of ownership. Such expirations, records, or other written or electronic information may be used to review an application, issue a policy, or for any other purpose necessary for placing such business through the program.

(b) May not be required to be appointed by any insurer participating in the program for policies written solely through the program, notwithstanding the provisions of s. 626.112.

(c) Must only facilitate the placement of an offer of coverage from an insurer whose limited servicing agreement is approved by that exclusive agent’s exclusive insurer.

(d) May enter into a limited servicing agreement with the insurer making an offer of coverage, and only after the exclusive agent’s insurer has approved the limited servicing agreement terms. The exclusive agent’s insurer must approve a limited service agreement for the program for any insurer for which it has approved a service agreement for other purposes.

Applicants ineligible for coverage in accordance with subsection (5) remain ineligible if their exclusive agent is unwilling or unable to enter into a standard or limited agency agreement with an insurer making an offer of coverage to that applicant.

(8) Submission of an application for coverage by the corporation to the program does not constitute the binding of coverage by the corporation, and failure of the program to obtain an offer of coverage by an insurer may not be considered acceptance of coverage of the risk by the corporation.

(9) The 45-day notice of nonrenewal requirement set forth in s. 627.4133(2)(b)5. applies when a policy is nonrenewed by the corporation because the risk has received an offer of coverage pursuant to this section which renders the risk ineligible for coverage by the corporation.

(10) The program may not include commercial nonresidential policies.

(11) Proprietary business information provided to the corporation's clearinghouse by insurers with respect to identifying and selecting risks for an offer of coverage is confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution.

(a) As used in this subsection, the term "proprietary business information" means information, regardless of form or characteristics, which is owned or controlled by an insurer and:

1. Is identified by the insurer as proprietary business information and is intended to be and is treated by the insurer as private in that the disclosure of the information would cause harm to the insurer, an individual, or the company's business operations and has not been disclosed unless disclosed pursuant to a statutory requirement, an order of a court or administrative body, or a private agreement that provides that the information will not be released to the public;

2. Is not otherwise readily ascertainable or publicly available by proper means by other persons from another source in the same configuration as provided to the clearinghouse; and

3. Includes:

a. Trade secrets, as defined in s. 688.002.

b. Information relating to competitive interests, the disclosure of which would impair the competitive business of the provider of the information.

Proprietary business information may be found in underwriting criteria or instructions which are used to identify and select risks through the program for an offer of coverage and are shared with the clearinghouse to facilitate the shopping of risks with the insurer.

(b) The clearinghouse may disclose confidential and exempt proprietary business information:

1. If the insurer to which it pertains gives prior written consent;

2. Pursuant to a court order; or

3. To another state agency in this or another state or to a federal agency if the recipient agrees in writing to maintain the confidential and exempt status of the document, material, or other information and has verified in writing its legal authority to maintain such confidentiality.

Section 5. Subsections (2) and (4) of section 627.701, Florida Statutes, are amended, and subsection (10) is added to that section, to read:

627.701 Liability of insureds; coinsurance; deductibles.—

(2) Unless the office determines that the deductible provision is clear and unambiguous, a property insurer may not issue an insurance policy or contract covering real property in this state which contains a deductible provision that:

(a) Applies solely to hurricane losses.

(b) States the deductible as a percentage rather than as a specific amount of money.

(c) Applies a roof deductible as provided in subsection (10).

(4)(a) Any policy that contains a separate hurricane deductible must on its face include in boldfaced type no smaller than 18 points the following statement: "THIS POLICY CONTAINS A SEPARATE DEDUCTIBLE FOR HURRICANE LOSSES, WHICH MAY RESULT IN HIGH OUT-OF-POCKET EXPENSES TO YOU." A policy containing a coinsurance provision applicable to hurricane losses must on its face include in boldfaced type no smaller than 18 points the following statement: "THIS POLICY CONTAINS A CO-PAY PROVISION THAT MAY RESULT IN HIGH OUT-OF-POCKET EXPENSES TO YOU."

(b) For any personal lines residential property insurance policy containing a separate hurricane deductible, the insurer shall compute and prominently display the actual dollar value of the hurricane deductible on the declarations page of the policy at issuance and, for renewal, on the renewal declarations page of the policy or on the premium renewal notice.

(c) For any personal lines residential property insurance policy containing an inflation guard rider, the insurer shall compute and prominently display the actual dollar value of the hurricane deductible on the declarations page of the policy at issuance and, for renewal, on the renewal declarations page of the policy or on the premium renewal notice. In addition, for any personal lines residential property insurance policy containing an inflation guard rider, the insurer shall notify the policyholder of the possibility that the hurricane deductible may be higher than indicated when loss occurs due to application of the inflation guard rider. Such notification shall be made on the declarations page of the policy at issuance and, for renewal, on the renewal declarations page of the policy or on the premium renewal notice.

(d)1. A personal lines residential property insurance policy covering a risk valued at less than $500,000 may not have a hurricane deductible in excess of 10 percent of the policy dwelling limits, unless the following conditions are met:

a. The policyholder must personally write and provide to the insurer the following statement in his or her own handwriting and sign his or her name, which must also be signed by every other named insured on the policy, and dated: “I do not want the insurance on my home to pay for the first (specify dollar value) of damage from hurricanes. I will pay those costs. My insurance will not.”

b. If the structure insured by the policy is subject to a mortgage or lien, the policyholder must provide the insurer with a written statement from the mortgageholder or lienholder indicating that the mortgageholder or lienholder approves the policyholder electing to have the specified deductible.

2. A deductible subject to the requirements of this paragraph applies for the term of the policy and for each renewal thereafter. Changes to the deductible percentage may be implemented only as of the date of renewal.

3. An insurer shall keep the original copy of the signed statement required by this paragraph, electronically or otherwise, and provide a copy to the policyholder providing the signed statement. A signed statement meeting the requirements of this paragraph creates a presumption that there was an informed, knowing election of coverage.

4. The commission shall adopt rules providing appropriate alternative methods for providing the statements required by this section for policyholders who have a handicapping or disabling condition that prevents them from providing a handwritten statement.

(e)1. Any personal lines residential property insurance policy that contains a separate roof deductible must on its face include in boldfaced type no smaller than 18 points the following statement: "THIS POLICY CONTAINS A SEPARATE DEDUCTIBLE FOR ROOF LOSSES WHICH MAY RESULT IN HIGH OUT-OF-POCKET EXPENSES TO YOU."

2. For any personal lines residential property insurance policy containing a separate roof deductible, the insurer shall compute and prominently display the actual dollar value of the roof deductible on the declarations page of the policy at issuance and, for renewal, on the renewal declarations page of the policy or on the premium renewal notice.

(10) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section and any other provision of law, a property insurer may require a separate roof deductible as a condition of eligibility or renewal of a residential property insurance policy if all of the following conditions are met:

(a) The roof deductible does not exceed 2 percent of the policy dwelling limits.

(b) The premium for such coverage includes an actuarially sound premium discount or credit for the impact of the roof deductible.

(c) If a roof deductible is added to the policy at renewal, the insurer provides a notice of change in policy terms pursuant to s. 627.43141.

(d) The roof deductible does not apply to:

1. A total loss to a primary structure in accordance with the valued policy law under s. 627.702 which is caused by a covered peril.

2. A roof loss that is caused by a hurricane as defined by s. 627.4025(2).

3. A roof loss that can be repaired without replacement of the roof.

(e) If a roof deductible is applied, no other policy deductible may be applied to the loss. If, however, a roof deductible is not applied, the all-other-perils deductible or the hurricane deductible may be applied.

Section 6. Paragraph (a) of subsection (3) of section 627.7011, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

627.7011 Homeowners' policies; offer of replacement cost coverage and law and ordinance coverage.—

(3) In the event of a loss for which a dwelling or personal property is insured on the basis of replacement costs:

(a) For a dwelling, the insurer must initially pay at least the actual cash value of the insured loss, less any applicable deductible. The insurer shall pay any remaining amounts necessary to perform such repairs as work is performed and expenses are incurred. However, if a roof deductible under s. 627.701(10) is applied to the insured loss, the insurer may limit the claim payment as to the roof to the actual cash value of the loss to the roof until the insurer receives reasonable proof of payment by the policyholder of the roof deductible. Reasonable proof of payment includes a canceled check, money order receipt, credit card statement, or copy of an executed installment plan contract or other financing arrangement that requires full payment of the deductible over time. If a total loss of a dwelling occurs, the insurer shall pay the replacement cost coverage without reservation or holdback of any depreciation in value, pursuant to s. 627.702.

Section 7. Paragraph (b) of subsection (8) of section 627.70152, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

627.70152 Suits arising under a property insurance policy.—

(8) ATTORNEY FEES.—

(b) In a suit arising under a residential or commercial property insurance policy not brought by an assignee, if a court dismisses a claimant’s suit pursuant to subsection (5), the court may not award to the claimant any incurred attorney fees for services rendered before the dismissal of the suit. When a claimant’s suit is dismissed pursuant to subsection (5), the defendant may be awarded reasonable attorney fees for the costs and expenses associated with securing the dismissal.

Section 8. For the purpose of incorporating the amendments made by this act to section 627.351, Florida Statutes, in a reference thereto, subsection (10) of section 624.424, Florida

Statutes, is reenacted to read:

624.424 Annual statement and other information.—

(10) Each insurer or insurer group doing business in this state shall file on a quarterly basis in conjunction with financial reports required by paragraph (1)(a) a supplemental report on an individual and group basis on a form prescribed by the commission with information on personal lines and commercial lines residential property insurance policies in this state. The supplemental report shall include separate information for personal lines property policies and for commercial lines property policies and totals for each item specified, including premiums written for each of the property lines of business as described in ss. 215.555(2)(c) and 627.351(6)(a). The report shall include the following information for each county on a monthly basis:

(a) Total number of policies in force at the end of each month.

(b) Total number of policies canceled.

(c) Total number of policies nonrenewed.

(d) Number of policies canceled due to hurricane risk.

(e) Number of policies nonrenewed due to hurricane risk.

(f) Number of new policies written.

(g) Total dollar value of structure exposure under policies that include wind coverage.

(h) Number of policies that exclude wind coverage.

Section 9. For the purpose of incorporating the amendments made by this act to section 627.351, Florida Statutes, in a reference thereto, section 627.3517, Florida Statutes, is reenacted to read:

892324

627.3517 Consumer choice.—No provision of s. 627.351, s. 627.3511, or s. 627.3515 shall be construed to impair the right of any insurance risk apportionment plan policyholder, upon receipt of any keepout or take-out offer, to retain his or her current agent, so long as that agent is duly licensed and appointed by the insurance risk apportionment plan or otherwise authorized to place business with the insurance risk apportionment plan. This right shall not be canceled, suspended, impeded, abridged, or otherwise compromised by any rule, plan of operation, or depopulation plan, whether through keepout, take-out, midterm assumption, or any other means, of any insurance risk apportionment plan or depopulation plan, including, but not limited to, those described in s. 627.351, s. 627.3511, or s. 627.3515. The commission shall adopt any rules necessary to cause any insurance risk apportionment plan or market assistance plan under such sections to demonstrate that the operations of the plan do not interfere with, promote, or allow interference with the rights created under this section. If the policyholder’s current agent is unable or unwilling to be appointed with the insurer making the take-out or keepout offer, the policyholder shall not be disqualified from participation in the appropriate insurance risk apportionment plan because of an offer of coverage in the voluntary market. An offer of full property insurance coverage by the insurer currently insuring either the ex-wind or wind-only coverage on the policy to which the offer applies shall not be considered a take-out or keepout offer. Any rule, plan of operation, or plan of depopulation, through keepout, take-out, midterm assumption, or any other means, of any property insurance risk apportionment plan under s. 627.351(2) or (6) is subject to ss. 627.351(2)(b) and (6)(c) and 627.3511(4).

Section 10. For the purpose of incorporating the amendments made by this act to section 627.351, Florida Statutes, in a reference thereto, subsection (1) of section 627.712, Florida Statutes, is reenacted to read:

627.712 Residential windstorm coverage required; availability of exclusions for windstorm or contents.—

(1) An insurer issuing a residential property insurance policy must provide windstorm coverage. Except as provided in paragraph (2)(c), this section does not apply to risks that are eligible for wind-only coverage from Citizens Property Insurance Corporation under s. 627.351(6), and risks that are not eligible for coverage from Citizens Property Insurance Corporation under s. 627.351(6)(a)3. or 5. A risk ineligible for coverage by the corporation under s. 627.351(6)(a)3. or 5. is exempt from this section only if the risk is located within the boundaries of the coastal account of the corporation.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section 489.147, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

489.147 Prohibited property insurance practices.—

(1) As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Prohibited advertisement" means any written or electronic communication by a contractor which ~~that~~ encourages, instructs, or induces a consumer to contact a contractor or public adjuster for the purpose of making an insurance claim for roof damage, if such communication does not state in a font size of at least 12 points and at least half as large as the largest font size used in the communication that:

1. The consumer is responsible for payment of any insurance deductible;

2. It is insurance fraud punishable as a felony of the third degree for a contractor to pay, waive, or rebate all or part of an insurance deductible applicable to payment to the contractor for repairs to property covered by a property insurance policy; and

3. It is insurance fraud punishable as a felony of the third degree to intentionally file an insurance claim containing any false, incomplete, or misleading information.

The term includes, but is not limited to, door hangers, business cards, magnets, flyers, pamphlets, and e-mails.

Section 2. Paragraphs (a), (c), (n), and (ii) of subsection (6) of section 627.351, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

627.351 Insurance risk apportionment plans.—

(6) CITIZENS PROPERTY INSURANCE CORPORATION.—

(a) The public purpose of this subsection is to ensure that there is an orderly market for property insurance for residents and businesses of this state.

1. The Legislature finds that private insurers are unwilling or unable to provide affordable property insurance coverage in this state to the extent sought and needed. The absence of affordable property insurance threatens the public health, safety, and welfare and likewise threatens the economic health of the state. The state therefore has a compelling public interest and a public purpose to assist in assuring that property in this ~~the~~ state is insured and that it is insured at affordable rates so as to facilitate the remediation, reconstruction, and replacement of damaged or destroyed property in order to reduce or avoid the negative effects otherwise resulting to the public health, safety, and welfare, to the economy of the state, and to the revenues of the state and local governments which are needed to provide for the public welfare. It is necessary, therefore, to provide affordable property insurance to applicants who are in good faith entitled to procure insurance through the voluntary market but are unable to do so. The Legislature intends, therefore, that affordable property insurance be provided and that it continue to be provided, as long as necessary, through Citizens Property Insurance Corporation, a government entity that is an integral part of the state, and that is not a private insurance company. To that end, the corporation shall strive to increase the availability of affordable property insurance in this state, while achieving efficiencies and economies, and while providing service to policyholders, applicants, and agents which is no less than the quality generally provided in the voluntary market, for the achievement of the foregoing public purposes. Because it is essential for this government entity to have the maximum financial resources to pay claims following a catastrophic hurricane, it is the intent of the Legislature that the corporation continue to be an integral part of the state and that the income of the corporation be exempt from federal income taxation and that interest on the debt obligations issued by the corporation be exempt from federal income taxation.

2. The Residential Property and Casualty Joint Underwriting Association originally created by this statute shall be known as the Citizens Property Insurance Corporation. The corporation shall provide insurance for residential and commercial property, for applicants who are entitled, but, in good faith, are unable to procure insurance through the voluntary market. The corporation shall operate pursuant to a plan of operation approved by order of the Financial Services Commission. The plan is subject to continuous review by the commission. The commission may, by order, withdraw approval of all or part of a plan if the commission determines that conditions have changed since approval was granted and that the purposes of the plan require changes in the plan. For the purposes of this subsection, residential coverage includes both personal lines residential coverage, which consists of the type of coverage provided by homeowner, mobile home owner, dwelling, tenant, condominium unit owner, and similar policies; and commercial lines residential coverage, which consists of the type of coverage provided by condominium association, apartment building, and similar policies.

3. With respect to coverage for personal lines residential structures, and~~:~~

~~a. Effective January 1, 2014, a structure that has a dwelling replacement cost of $1 million or more, or a single condominium unit that has a combined dwelling and contents replacement cost of $1 million or more, is not eligible for~~

~~coverage by the corporation. Such dwellings insured by the corporation on December 31, 2013, may continue to be covered by the corporation until the end of the policy term. The office shall approve the method used by the corporation for valuing the dwelling replacement cost for the purposes of this subparagraph. If a policyholder is insured by the corporation before being determined to be ineligible pursuant to this subparagraph and such policyholder files a lawsuit challenging the determination, the policyholder may remain insured by the corporation until the conclusion of the litigation.~~

~~b. Effective January 1, 2015, a structure that has a dwelling replacement cost of $900,000 or more, or a single condominium unit that has a combined dwelling and contents replacement cost of $900,000 or more, is not eligible for coverage by the corporation. Such dwellings insured by the corporation on December 31, 2014, may continue to be covered by the corporation only until the end of the policy term.~~

~~c. Effective January 1, 2016, a structure that has a dwelling replacement cost of $800,000 or more, or a single condominium unit that has a combined dwelling and contents replacement cost of $800,000 or more, is not eligible for coverage by the corporation. Such dwellings insured by the corporation on December 31, 2015, may continue to be covered by the corporation until the end of the policy term.~~

for valuing the dwelling replacement cost which is approved by the office ~~Such dwellings insured by the corporation on December 31, 2016, may continue to be covered by the corporation until the end of the policy term~~. ~~The requirements of sub-subparagraphs b.-d. do not apply~~ However, in counties where the office determines there is not a reasonable degree of competition,~~. In such counties~~ a ~~personal lines residential~~ structure that has a dwelling replacement cost of less than $1 million, or a single condominium unit that has a combined dwelling and contents replacement cost of less than $1 million, is eligible for coverage by the corporation.

4. It is the intent of the Legislature that policyholders, applicants, and agents of the corporation receive service and treatment of the highest possible level but never less than that generally provided in the voluntary market. It is also intended that the corporation be held to service standards no less than those applied to insurers in the voluntary market by the office with respect to responsiveness, timeliness, customer courtesy, and overall dealings with policyholders, applicants, or agents of the corporation.

5.a. Effective January 1, 2009, a personal lines residential structure that is located in the "wind-borne debris region," as defined in s. 1609.2, International Building Code (2006), and that has an insured value on the structure of $750,000 or more is not eligible for coverage by the corporation unless the structure has opening protections as required under the Florida Building Code for a newly constructed residential structure in that area. A residential structure is deemed to comply with this sub-subparagraph if it has shutters or opening protections on all openings and if such opening protections complied with the Florida Building Code at the time they were installed.

b. Any major structure, as defined in s. 161.54(6)(a), that is newly constructed, or rebuilt, repaired, restored, or remodeled to increase the total square footage of finished area by more than 25 percent, pursuant to a permit applied for after July 1, 2015, is not eligible for coverage by the corporation if the structure is seaward of the coastal construction control line established pursuant to s. 161.053 or is within the Coastal Barrier Resources System as designated by 16 U.S.C. ss. 3501-3510.

6. With respect to wind-only coverage for commercial lines residential condominiums, effective July 1, 2014, a condominium shall be deemed ineligible for coverage if 50 percent or more of the units are rented more than eight times in a calendar year for a rental agreement period of less than 30 days.

(c) The corporation's plan of operation:

1. Must provide for adoption of residential property and casualty insurance policy forms and commercial residential and nonresidential property insurance forms, which must be approved by the office before use. The corporation shall adopt the following policy forms:

a. Standard personal lines policy forms that are comprehensive multiperil policies providing full coverage of a residential property equivalent to the coverage provided in the private insurance market under an HO-3, HO-4, or HO-6 policy.

b. Basic personal lines policy forms that are policies similar to an HO-8 policy or a dwelling fire policy that provide coverage meeting the requirements of the secondary mortgage market, but which is more limited than the coverage under a standard policy.

c. Commercial lines residential and nonresidential policy forms that are generally similar to the basic perils of full coverage obtainable for commercial residential structures and commercial nonresidential structures in the admitted voluntary market.

d. Personal lines and commercial lines residential property insurance forms that cover the peril of wind only. The forms are applicable only to residential properties located in areas eligible for coverage under the coastal account referred to in sub-subparagraph (b)2.a.

e. Commercial lines nonresidential property insurance forms that cover the peril of wind only. The forms are applicable only to nonresidential properties located in areas eligible for coverage under the coastal account referred to in sub-subparagraph (b)2.a.

f. The corporation may adopt variations of the policy forms listed in sub-subparagraphs a.-e. which contain more restrictive coverage.

g. Effective January 1, 2013, the corporation shall offer a basic personal lines policy similar to an HO-8 policy with dwelling repair based on common construction materials and methods.

2. Must provide that the corporation adopt a program in which the corporation and authorized insurers enter into quota share primary insurance agreements for hurricane coverage, as defined in s. 627.4025(2)(a), for eligible risks, and adopt property insurance forms for eligible risks which cover the peril of wind only.

a. As used in this subsection, the term:

(I) "Quota share primary insurance" means an arrangement in which the primary hurricane coverage of an eligible risk is provided in specified percentages by the corporation and an authorized insurer. The corporation and authorized insurer are each solely responsible for a specified percentage of hurricane coverage of an eligible risk as set forth in a quota share primary insurance agreement between the corporation and an authorized insurer and the insurance contract. The responsibility of the corporation or authorized insurer to pay its specified percentage of hurricane losses of an eligible risk, as set forth in the agreement, may not be altered by the inability of the other party to pay its specified percentage of losses. Eligible risks that are provided hurricane coverage through a quota share primary insurance arrangement must be provided policy forms that set forth the obligations of the corporation and authorized insurer under the arrangement, clearly specify the percentages of quota share primary insurance provided by the corporation and authorized insurer, and conspicuously and clearly state that the authorized insurer and the corporation may not be held responsible beyond their specified percentage of coverage of hurricane losses.

(II) "Eligible risks" means personal lines residential and commercial lines residential risks that meet the underwriting criteria of the corporation and are located in areas that were eligible for coverage by the Florida Windstorm Underwriting Association on January 1, 2002.

b. The corporation may enter into quota share primary insurance agreements with authorized insurers at corporation coverage levels of 90 percent and 50 percent.

c. If the corporation determines that additional coverage levels are necessary to maximize participation in quota share primary insurance agreements by authorized insurers, the corporation may establish additional coverage levels. However, the corporation's quota share primary insurance coverage level may not exceed 90 percent.

d. Any quota share primary insurance agreement entered into between an authorized insurer and the corporation must provide for a uniform specified percentage of coverage of hurricane losses, by county or territory as set forth by the corporation board, for all eligible risks of the authorized insurer covered under the agreement.

e. Any quota share primary insurance agreement entered into between an authorized insurer and the corporation is subject to review and approval by the office. However, such agreement shall be authorized only as to insurance contracts entered into between an authorized insurer and an insured who is already insured by the corporation for wind coverage.

f. For all eligible risks covered under quota share primary insurance agreements, the exposure and coverage levels for both the corporation and authorized insurers shall be reported by the corporation to the Florida Hurricane Catastrophe Fund. For all policies of eligible risks covered under such agreements, the corporation and the authorized insurer must maintain complete and accurate records for the purpose of exposure and loss reimbursement audits as required by fund rules. The corporation

g. The corporation board shall establish in its plan of operation standards for quota share agreements which ensure that there is no discriminatory application among insurers as to the terms of the agreements, pricing of the agreements, incentive provisions if any, and consideration paid for servicing policies or adjusting claims.

h. The quota share primary insurance agreement between the corporation and an authorized insurer must set forth the specific terms under which coverage is provided, including, but not limited to, the sale and servicing of policies issued under the agreement by the insurance agent of the authorized insurer producing the business, the reporting of information concerning eligible risks, the payment of premium to the corporation, and arrangements for the adjustment and payment of hurricane claims incurred on eligible risks by the claims adjuster and personnel of the authorized insurer. Entering into a quota sharing insurance agreement between the corporation and an authorized insurer is voluntary and at the discretion of the authorized insurer.

3. May provide that the corporation may employ or otherwise contract with individuals or other entities to provide administrative or professional services that may be appropriate to effectuate the plan. The corporation may borrow funds by issuing bonds or by incurring other indebtedness, and shall have other powers reasonably necessary to effectuate the requirements of this subsection, including, without limitation, the power to issue bonds and incur other indebtedness in order to refinance outstanding bonds or other indebtedness. The corporation may seek judicial validation of its bonds or other indebtedness under chapter 75. The corporation may issue bonds or incur other indebtedness, or have bonds issued on its behalf by a unit of local government pursuant to subparagraph (q)2. in the absence of a hurricane or other weather-related event, upon a determination by the corporation, subject to approval by the office, that such action would enable it to efficiently meet the financial obligations of the corporation and that such financings are reasonably necessary to effectuate the requirements of this subsection. The corporation may take all actions needed to facilitate tax-free status for such bonds or indebtedness, including formation of trusts or other affiliated entities. The corporation may pledge assessments, projected recoveries from the Florida Hurricane Catastrophe Fund, other reinsurance recoverables, policyholder surcharges and other surcharges, and other funds available to the corporation as security for bonds or other indebtedness. In recognition of s. 10, Art. I of the State Constitution, prohibiting the impairment of obligations of contracts, it is the intent of the Legislature that no action be taken whose purpose is to impair any bond indenture or financing agreement or any revenue source committed by contract to such bond or other indebtedness.

4. Must require that the corporation operate subject to the supervision and approval of a board of governors consisting of nine individuals who are residents of this state and who are from different geographical areas of the state, one of whom is appointed by the Governor and serves solely to advocate on behalf of the consumer. The appointment of a consumer representative by the Governor is deemed to be within the scope of the exemption provided in s. 112.313(7)(b) and is in addition to the appointments authorized under sub-subparagraph a.

a. The Governor, the Chief Financial Officer, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall each appoint two members of the board. At least one of the two members appointed by each appointing officer must have demonstrated expertise in insurance and be deemed to be within the scope of the exemption provided in s. 112.313(7)(b) at the time of appointment or reappointment. The Chief Financial Officer shall designate one of the appointees as chair. On or after July 1, 2022, an appointee designated as chair must have demonstrated expertise in insurance or must have at least 1 year of experience serving on the board of governors. All board members serve at the pleasure of the appointing officer. All members of the board are subject to removal at will by the officers who appointed them. All board members, including the chair, must be appointed to serve for 3-year terms beginning annually on a date designated by the plan. However, for the first term beginning on or after July 1, 2009, each appointing officer shall appoint one member of the board for a 2-year term and one member for a 3-year term. A board vacancy shall be filled for the unexpired term by the appointing officer. The Chief Financial Officer shall appoint a technical advisory group to provide information and advice to the board in connection with the board's duties under this subsection. The executive director and senior managers of the corporation shall be engaged by the board and serve at the pleasure of the board. The executive director must, at the time of the appointment, have the experience, character, and qualifications required under s. 624.404(3) to serve as the chief executive officer of an insurer. Any executive director appointed on or after July 1, 2006, is subject to confirmation by the Senate. The executive director is responsible for employing other staff as the corporation may require, subject to review and concurrence by the board. As used in this sub-subparagraph, the term "demonstrated expertise in insurance" means at least 10 years' experience:

(I) In property and casualty insurance as a full-time employee, officer, or owner of a licensed insurance agency or an insurer authorized to transact property insurance in this state; or

(II) As an insurance regulator or as an executive or officer of an insurance trade association.

b. The board shall create a Market Accountability Advisory Committee to assist the corporation in developing awareness of its rates and its customer and agent service levels in relationship to the voluntary market insurers writing similar coverage.

(I) The members of the advisory committee consist of the following 11 persons, one of whom must be elected chair by the members of the committee: four representatives, one appointed by the Florida Association of Insurance Agents, one by the Florida Association of Insurance and Financial Advisors, one by the Professional Insurance Agents of Florida, and one by the Latin American Association of Insurance Agencies; three representatives appointed by the insurers with the three highest voluntary market share of residential property insurance business in the state; one representative from the Office of Insurance Regulation; one consumer appointed by the board who is insured by the corporation at the time of appointment to the committee; one representative appointed by the Florida Association of Realtors; and one representative appointed by the Florida Bankers Association. All members shall be appointed to 3-year terms and may serve for consecutive terms.

(II) The committee shall report to the corporation at each board meeting on insurance market issues which may include rates and rate competition with the voluntary market; service, including policy issuance, claims processing, and general responsiveness to policyholders, applicants, and agents; and matters relating to depopulation.

5. Must provide a procedure for determining the eligibility of a risk for coverage, as follows:

a. Subject to s. 627.3517, with respect to personal lines residential risks, if the risk is offered coverage from an authorized insurer at the insurer's approved rate under a standard policy including wind coverage or, if consistent with the insurer's underwriting rules as filed with the office, a basic policy including wind coverage, for a new application to the corporation for coverage, the risk is not eligible for any policy issued by the corporation unless the premium for coverage from the authorized insurer is more than 20 percent greater than the premium for comparable coverage from the corporation. Whenever an offer of coverage for a personal lines residential risk is received for a policyholder of the corporation at renewal from an authorized insurer, ~~if the offer is equal to or less than the corporation's renewal premium for comparable~~

~~coverage,~~ the risk is not eligible for coverage with the corporation unless the premium for coverage from the authorized insurer is more than 20 percent greater than the renewal premium for comparable coverage from the corporation. If the risk is not able to obtain such offer, the risk is eligible for a standard policy including wind coverage or a basic policy including wind coverage issued by the corporation; however, if the risk could not be insured under a standard policy including wind coverage regardless of market conditions, the risk is eligible for a basic policy including wind coverage unless rejected under subparagraph 8. However, a policyholder removed from the corporation through an assumption agreement remains eligible for coverage from the corporation until the end of the assumption period. The corporation shall determine the type of policy to be provided on the basis of objective standards specified in the underwriting manual and based on generally accepted underwriting practices.

(I) If the risk accepts an offer of coverage through the market assistance plan or through a mechanism established by the corporation other than a plan established by s. 627.3518, before a policy is issued to the risk by the corporation or during the first 30 days of coverage by the corporation, and the producing agent who submitted the application to the plan or to the corporation is not currently appointed by the insurer, the insurer shall:

(A) Pay to the producing agent of record of the policy for the first year, an amount that is the greater of the insurer's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written or a fee equal to the usual and customary commission of the corporation; or

(B) Offer to allow the producing agent of record of the policy to continue servicing the policy for at least 1 year and offer to pay the agent the greater of the insurer's or the corporation's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written.

If the producing agent is unwilling or unable to accept appointment, the new insurer shall pay the agent in accordance with sub-sub-sub-subparagraph (A).

(II) If the corporation enters into a contractual agreement for a take-out plan, the producing agent of record of the corporation policy is entitled to retain any unearned commission on the policy, and the insurer shall:

(A) Pay to the producing agent of record, for the first year, an amount that is the greater of the insurer's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written or a fee equal to the usual and customary commission of the corporation; or

(B) Offer to allow the producing agent of record to continue servicing the policy for at least 1 year and offer to pay the agent the greater of the insurer's or the corporation's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written.

If the producing agent is unwilling or unable to accept appointment, the new insurer shall pay the agent in accordance with sub-sub-sub-subparagraph (A).

b. With respect to commercial lines residential risks, for a new application to the corporation for coverage, if the risk is offered coverage under a policy including wind coverage from an authorized insurer at its approved rate, the risk is not eligible for a policy issued by the corporation unless the premium for coverage from the authorized insurer is more than 20 ~~15~~ percent greater than the premium for comparable coverage from the corporation. Whenever an offer of coverage for a commercial lines residential risk is received for a policyholder of the corporation at renewal from an authorized insurer, ~~if the offer is equal to or less than the corporation's renewal premium for comparable coverage,~~ the risk is not eligible for coverage with the corporation unless the premium for coverage from the authorized insurer is more than 20 percent greater than the renewal premium for comparable coverage from the corporation. If the risk is not able to obtain any such offer, the risk is eligible for a policy including wind coverage issued by the corporation. However, a policyholder removed from the corporation through an assumption agreement remains eligible for coverage from the corporation until the end of the assumption period.

(I) If the risk accepts an offer of coverage through the market assistance plan or through a mechanism established by the corporation other than a plan established by s. 627.3518, before a policy is issued to the risk by the corporation or during the first 30 days of coverage by the corporation, and the producing agent who submitted the application to the plan or the corporation is not currently appointed by the insurer, the insurer shall:

(A) Pay to the producing agent of record of the policy, for the first year, an amount that is the greater of the insurer's

usual and customary commission for the type of policy written or a fee equal to the usual and customary commission of the corporation; or

(B) Offer to allow the producing agent of record of the policy to continue servicing the policy for at least 1 year and offer to pay the agent the greater of the insurer's or the corporation's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written.

If the producing agent is unwilling or unable to accept appointment, the new insurer shall pay the agent in accordance with sub-sub-sub-subparagraph (A).

(II) If the corporation enters into a contractual agreement for a take-out plan, the producing agent of record of the corporation policy is entitled to retain any unearned commission on the policy, and the insurer shall:

(A) Pay to the producing agent of record, for the first year, an amount that is the greater of the insurer's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written or a fee equal to the usual and customary commission of the corporation; or

(B) Offer to allow the producing agent of record to continue servicing the policy for at least 1 year and offer to pay the agent the greater of the insurer's or the corporation's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written.

If the producing agent is unwilling or unable to accept appointment, the new insurer shall pay the agent in accordance with sub-sub-sub-subparagraph (A).

c. For purposes of determining comparable coverage under sub-subparagraphs a. and b., the comparison must be based on those forms and coverages that are reasonably comparable. The corporation may rely on a determination of comparable coverage and premium made by the producing agent who submits the application to the corporation, made in the agent's capacity as the corporation's agent. A comparison may be made solely of the premium with respect to the main building or structure only on the following basis: the same coverage A or other building limits; the same percentage hurricane deductible that applies on an annual basis or that applies to each hurricane for commercial residential property; the same percentage of ordinance and law coverage, if the same limit is offered by both the corporation and the authorized insurer; the same mitigation credits, to the extent the same types of credits are offered both by the corporation and the authorized insurer; the same method for loss payment, such as replacement cost or actual cash value, if the same method is offered both by the corporation and the authorized insurer in accordance with underwriting rules; and any other form or coverage that is reasonably comparable as determined by the board. If an application is submitted to the corporation for wind-only coverage in the coastal account, the premium for the corporation's wind-only policy plus the premium for the ex-wind policy ~~that is~~ offered by an authorized insurer to the applicant must be compared to the premium for multiperil coverage offered by an authorized insurer, subject to the standards for comparison specified in this subparagraph. If the corporation or the applicant requests from the authorized insurer a breakdown of the premium of the offer by types of coverage so that a comparison may be made by the corporation or its agent and the authorized insurer refuses or is unable to provide such information, the corporation may treat the offer as not being an offer of coverage from an authorized insurer at the insurer's approved rate.

6. Must include rules for classifications of risks and rates.

7. Must provide that if premium and investment income for an account attributable to a particular calendar year are in excess of projected losses and expenses for the account attributable to that year, such excess shall be held in surplus in the account. Such surplus must be available to defray deficits in that account as to future years and used for that purpose before assessing assessable insurers and assessable insureds as to any calendar year.

8. Must provide objective criteria and procedures to be uniformly applied to all applicants in determining whether an individual risk is so hazardous as to be uninsurable. In making this determination and in establishing the criteria and procedures, the following must be considered:

a. Whether the likelihood of a loss for the individual risk is substantially higher than for other risks of the same class; and

b. Whether the uncertainty associated with the individual risk is such that an appropriate premium cannot be determined.

The acceptance or rejection of a risk by the corporation shall be construed as the private placement of insurance, and the provisions of chapter 120 do not apply.

9. Must provide that the corporation make its best efforts to procure catastrophe reinsurance at reasonable rates, to cover its projected 100-year probable maximum loss as determined by the board of governors. If catastrophe reinsurance is not available at reasonable rates, the corporation need not purchase it, but the corporation shall include the costs of reinsurance to cover its projected 100-year probable maximum loss in its rate calculations even if it does not purchase catastrophe reinsurance.

10. The policies issued by the corporation must provide that if the corporation or the market assistance plan obtains an offer from an authorized insurer to cover the risk at its approved rates, the risk is no longer eligible for renewal through the corporation, except as otherwise provided in this subsection.

11. Corporation policies and applications must include a notice that the corporation policy could, under this section, be replaced with a policy issued by an authorized insurer which does not provide coverage identical to the coverage provided by the corporation. The notice must also specify that acceptance of corporation coverage creates a conclusive presumption that the applicant or policyholder is aware of this potential.

12. May establish, subject to approval by the office, different eligibility requirements and operational procedures for any line or type of coverage for any specified county or area if the board determines that such changes are justified due to the voluntary market being sufficiently stable and competitive in such area or for such line or type of coverage and that consumers who, in good faith, are unable to obtain insurance through the voluntary market through ordinary methods continue to have access to coverage from the corporation. If coverage is sought in connection with a real property transfer, the requirements and procedures may not provide an effective date of coverage later than the date of the closing of the transfer as established by the transferor, the transferee, and, if applicable, the lender.

13. Must provide that, with respect to the coastal account, any assessable insurer with a surplus as to policyholders of $25 million or less writing 25 percent or more of its total countrywide property insurance premiums in this state may petition the office, within the first 90 days of each calendar year, to qualify as a limited apportionment company. A regular assessment levied by the corporation on a limited apportionment company for a deficit incurred by the corporation for the coastal account may be paid to the corporation on a monthly basis as the assessments are collected by the limited apportionment company from its insureds, but a limited apportionment company must begin collecting the regular assessments not later than 90 days after the regular assessments are levied by the corporation, and the regular assessments must be paid in full within 15 months after being levied by the corporation. A limited apportionment company shall collect from its policyholders any emergency assessment imposed under sub-subparagraph (b)3.d. The plan must provide that, if the office determines that any regular assessment will result in an impairment of the surplus of a limited apportionment company, the office may direct that all or part of such assessment be deferred as provided in subparagraph (q)4. However, an emergency assessment to be collected from policyholders under sub-subparagraph (b)3.d. may not be limited or deferred.

14. Must provide that the corporation appoint as its licensed agents only those agents who throughout such appointments also hold an appointment as defined in s. 626.015 by an insurer who is authorized to write and is actually writing or renewing personal lines residential property coverage, commercial residential property coverage, or commercial nonresidential property coverage within the state.

15. Must provide a premium payment plan option to its policyholders which, at a minimum, allows for quarterly and semiannual payment of premiums. A monthly payment plan may, but is not required to, be offered.

16. Must limit coverage on mobile homes or manufactured homes built before 1994 to actual cash value of the dwelling rather than replacement costs of the dwelling.

17. Must provide coverage for manufactured or mobile home dwellings. Such coverage must also include the following attached structures:

a. Screened enclosures that are aluminum framed or screened enclosures that are not covered by the same or substantially the same materials as those of the primary dwelling;

b. Carports that are aluminum or carports that are not covered by the same or substantially the same materials as those of the primary dwelling; and

c. Patios that have a roof covering ~~that is~~ constructed of materials that are not the same or substantially the same materials as those of the primary dwelling.

The corporation shall make available a policy for mobile homes or manufactured homes for a minimum insured value of at least $3,000.

18. May provide such limits of coverage as the board determines, consistent with the requirements of this subsection.

19. May require commercial property to meet specified hurricane mitigation construction features as a condition of eligibility for coverage.

20. Must provide that new or renewal policies issued by the corporation on or after January 1, 2012, which cover sinkhole loss do not include coverage for any loss to appurtenant structures, driveways, sidewalks, decks, or patios that are directly or indirectly caused by sinkhole activity. The corporation shall exclude such coverage using a notice of coverage change, which may be included with the policy renewal, and not by issuance of a notice of nonrenewal of the excluded coverage upon renewal of the current policy.

21. As of January 1, 2012, must require that the agent obtain from an applicant for coverage from the corporation an acknowledgment signed by the applicant, which includes, at a minimum, the following statement:

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF POTENTIAL SURCHARGE
AND ASSESSMENT LIABILITY:

1. AS A POLICYHOLDER OF CITIZENS PROPERTY INSURANCE CORPORATION, I UNDERSTAND THAT IF THE CORPORATION SUSTAINS A DEFICIT AS A RESULT OF HURRICANE LOSSES OR FOR ANY OTHER REASON, MY POLICY COULD BE SUBJECT TO SURCHARGES, WHICH WILL BE DUE AND

PAYABLE UPON RENEWAL, CANCELLATION, OR TERMINATION OF THE POLICY, AND THAT THE SURCHARGES COULD BE AS HIGH AS 45 PERCENT OF MY PREMIUM, OR A DIFFERENT AMOUNT AS IMPOSED BY THE FLORIDA LEGISLATURE.

2. I UNDERSTAND THAT I CAN AVOID THE CITIZENS POLICYHOLDER SURCHARGE, WHICH COULD BE AS HIGH AS 45 PERCENT OF MY PREMIUM, BY OBTAINING COVERAGE FROM A PRIVATE MARKET INSURER AND THAT TO BE ELIGIBLE FOR COVERAGE BY CITIZENS, I MUST FIRST TRY TO OBTAIN PRIVATE MARKET COVERAGE BEFORE APPLYING FOR OR RENEWING COVERAGE WITH CITIZENS. I UNDERSTAND THAT PRIVATE MARKET INSURANCE RATES ARE REGULATED AND APPROVED BY THE STATE.

3. I UNDERSTAND THAT I MAY BE SUBJECT TO EMERGENCY ASSESSMENTS TO THE SAME EXTENT AS POLICYHOLDERS OF OTHER INSURANCE COMPANIES, OR A DIFFERENT AMOUNT AS IMPOSED BY THE FLORIDA LEGISLATURE.

4. I ALSO UNDERSTAND THAT CITIZENS PROPERTY INSURANCE CORPORATION IS NOT SUPPORTED BY THE FULL FAITH AND CREDIT OF THE STATE OF FLORIDA.

a. The corporation shall maintain, in electronic format or otherwise, a copy of the applicant's signed acknowledgment and provide a copy of the statement to the policyholder as part of the first renewal after the effective date of this subparagraph.

b. The signed acknowledgment form creates a conclusive presumption that the policyholder understood and accepted his or her potential surcharge and assessment liability as a policyholder of the corporation.

(n)1. Rates for coverage provided by the corporation must be actuarially sound and subject to s. 627.062, except as otherwise provided in this paragraph. The corporation shall file its recommended rates with the office at least annually. The corporation shall provide any additional information regarding the rates which the office requires. The office shall consider the recommendations of the board and issue a final order establishing the rates for the corporation within 45 days after the recommended rates are filed. The corporation may not pursue an administrative challenge or judicial review of the final order of the office.

2. In addition to the rates otherwise determined pursuant to this paragraph, the corporation shall impose and collect an amount equal to the premium tax provided in s. 624.509 to augment the financial resources of the corporation.

3. After the public hurricane loss-projection model under s. 627.06281 has been found to be accurate and reliable by the Florida Commission on Hurricane Loss Projection Methodology, the model shall be considered when establishing the windstorm portion of the corporation's rates. The corporation may use the public model results in combination with the results of private models to calculate rates for the windstorm portion of the corporation's rates. This subparagraph does not require or allow the corporation to adopt rates lower than the rates otherwise required or allowed by this paragraph.

4. The corporation must make a recommended actuarially sound rate filing for each personal and commercial line of business it writes.

5. Notwithstanding the board's recommended rates and the office's final order regarding the corporation's filed rates under subparagraph 1., the corporation shall annually implement a rate increase which, except for sinkhole coverage, does not exceed the following for any single personal lines residential policy issued by the corporation that covers an insured's primary residence, and any single commercial lines residential policy issued by the corporation, excluding coverage changes and surcharges:

a. Eleven percent for 2022.

b. Twelve percent for 2023.

c. Thirteen percent for 2024.

d. Fourteen percent for 2025.

e. Fifteen percent for 2026 and all subsequent years.

6. The corporation may also implement an increase to reflect the effect on the corporation of the cash buildup factor pursuant to s. 215.555(5)(b).

7. The corporation's implementation of rates as prescribed in subparagraph 5. shall cease for any line of business written by the corporation upon the corporation's implementation of actuarially sound rates. Thereafter, the corporation shall annually make a recommended actuarially sound rate filing for each commercial and personal line of business the corporation writes.

8. As used in this paragraph, "primary residence" means the dwelling that the insured has represented as their permanent home on the insurance application or otherwise to the corporation.

(ii) The corporation shall revise the programs adopted pursuant to sub-subparagraph (q)3.a. for personal lines residential policies to maximize policyholder options and encourage increased participation by insurers and agents. After

January 1, 2017, a policy may not be taken out of the corporation unless the provisions of this paragraph are met.

1. The corporation must publish a periodic schedule of cycles during which an insurer may identify, and notify the corporation of, policies that the insurer is requesting to take out. A request must include a description of the coverage offered and an estimated premium and must be submitted to the corporation in a form and manner prescribed by the corporation.

2. The corporation must maintain and make available to the agent of record a consolidated list of all insurers requesting to take out a policy. The list must include a description of the coverage offered and the estimated premium for each take-out request.

3. The corporation must provide written notice to the policyholder and the agent of record regarding all insurers requesting to take out the policy, which notice must inform that a take-out offer that is not more than 20 percent greater than the corporation's premium renders the risk ineligible for coverage from ~~and regarding the policyholder's option to accept a take-out offer or to reject all take-out offers and to remain with~~ the corporation. The notice must be in a format prescribed by the corporation and include, for each take-out offer:

a. The amount of the estimated premium;

b. A description of the coverage; and

c. A comparison of the estimated premium and coverage offered by the insurer to the estimated premium and coverage provided by the corporation.

Section 3. Section 627.3518, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

627.3518 Citizens Property Insurance Corporation policyholder eligibility clearinghouse program.~~ The purpose of this section is to provide a framework for the corporation to implement a clearinghouse program by January 1, 2014.~~

(1) As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Corporation" means Citizens Property Insurance Corporation.

(b) "Exclusive agent" means any licensed insurance agent that has, by contract, agreed to act exclusively for one company or group of affiliated insurance companies and is disallowed by the provisions of that contract to directly write for any other unaffiliated insurer absent express consent from the company or group of affiliated insurance companies.

(c) "Independent agent" means any licensed insurance agent not described in paragraph (b).

(d) "Program" means the clearinghouse created under this section.

(2) In order to confirm eligibility with the corporation and to enhance access of new applicants for coverage and existing policyholders of the corporation to offers of coverage from authorized insurers, the corporation shall establish a program for personal residential risks in order to facilitate the diversion of ineligible applicants and existing policyholders from the corporation into the voluntary insurance market. The corporation shall also develop appropriate procedures for facilitating the diversion of ineligible applicants and existing policyholders for commercial residential coverage into the private insurance market ~~and shall report such procedures to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the~~

~~House of Representatives by January 1, 2014~~.

(3) The corporation board shall establish the clearinghouse program as an organizational unit within the corporation. The program shall have all the rights and responsibilities in carrying out its duties as a licensed general lines agent, but may not be required to employ or engage a licensed general lines agent or to maintain an insurance agency license to carry out its activities in the solicitation and placement of insurance coverage. In establishing the program, the corporation may:

(a) Require all new applications, and all policies due for renewal, to be submitted for coverage to the program in order to facilitate obtaining an offer of coverage from an authorized insurer before binding or renewing coverage by the corporation.

(b) Employ or otherwise contract with individuals or other entities for appropriate administrative or professional services to effectuate the plan within the corporation in accordance with the applicable purchasing requirements under s. 627.351.

(c) Enter into contracts with any authorized insurer to participate in the program and accept an appointment by such insurer.

(d) Provide funds to operate the program. Insurers and agents participating in the program are not required to pay a fee to offset or partially offset the cost of the program or use the program for renewal of policies initially written through the clearinghouse.

(e) Develop an enhanced application that includes information to assist private insurers in determining whether to make an offer of coverage through the program.

(f) For personal lines residential risks, require, before approving all new applications for coverage by the corporation, that every application be subject to a period of 2 business days when any insurer participating in the program may select the application for coverage. The insurer may issue a binder on any policy selected for coverage for a period of at least 30 days but not more than 60 days.

(4) Any authorized insurer may participate in the program; however, participation is not mandatory for any insurer. Insurers making offers of coverage to new applicants or renewal policyholders through the program:

(a) May not be required to individually appoint any agent whose customer is underwritten and bound through the program. Notwithstanding s. 626.112, insurers are not required to appoint any agent on a policy underwritten through the program for as long as that policy remains with the insurer. Insurers may, at their election, appoint any agent whose customer is initially underwritten and bound through the program. In the event an insurer accepts a policy from an agent who is not appointed pursuant to this paragraph, and thereafter elects to accept a policy from such agent, the provisions of s. 626.112 requiring appointment apply to the agent.

(b) Must enter into a limited agency agreement with each agent that is not appointed in accordance with paragraph (a) and whose customer is underwritten and bound through the program.

(c) Must enter into its standard agency agreement with each agent whose customer is underwritten and bound through the program when that agent has been appointed by the insurer pursuant to s. 626.112.

(d) Must comply with s. 627.4133(2).

(e) May participate through their single-designated managing general agent or broker; however, the provisions of paragraph (6)(a) regarding ownership, control, and use of the expirations continue to apply.

(5) Notwithstanding s. 627.3517, any applicant for new coverage from the corporation is not eligible for coverage from the corporation if provided an offer of coverage from an authorized insurer through the program at a premium that is at or below the eligibility threshold established in s. 627.351(6)(c)5.a. Whenever an offer of coverage for a personal lines risk is received for a policyholder of the corporation at renewal from an authorized insurer through the program, if the offer is at or below the eligibility threshold established in s. 627.351(6)(c)5.a. ~~equal to or less than the corporation's renewal premium for comparable coverage~~, the risk is not eligible for coverage with the corporation. In the event an offer of coverage for a new applicant is received from an authorized insurer through the program, and the premium offered exceeds the eligibility threshold contained in s. 627.351(6)(c)5.a., the applicant or insured may elect to accept such coverage, or may elect to accept or continue coverage with the corporation. In the event an offer of coverage for a personal lines risk is received from an authorized insurer at renewal through the program, and the premium offered is at or below the eligibility threshold established in s.

627.351(6)(c)5.a. ~~more than the corporation's renewal premium for comparable coverage~~, the insured is not eligible to ~~may elect to accept such coverage, or may elect to accept or~~ continue coverage with the corporation. Section 627.351(6)(c)5.a.(I) does not apply to an offer of coverage from an authorized insurer obtained through the program. An applicant for coverage from the corporation who was declared ineligible for coverage at renewal by the corporation in the previous 36 months due to an offer of coverage pursuant to this subsection shall be considered a renewal under this section if the corporation determines that the authorized insurer making the offer of coverage pursuant to this subsection continues to insure the applicant and increased the rate on the policy in excess of the increase allowed for the corporation under s. 627.351(6)(n)5.

(6) Independent insurance agents submitting new applications for coverage or that are the agent of record on a renewal policy submitted to the program:

(a) Are granted and must maintain ownership and the exclusive use of expirations, records, or other written or electronic information directly related to such applications or renewals written through the corporation or through an insurer participating in the program, notwithstanding s. 627.351(6)(c)5.a.(I)(B) and (II)(B). Such ownership is granted for as long as the insured remains with the agency or until sold or surrendered in writing by the agent. Contracts with the corporation or required by the corporation must not amend, modify, interfere with, or limit such rights of ownership. Such expirations, records, or other written or electronic information may be used to review an application, issue a policy, or for any other purpose necessary for placing such business through the program.

(b) May not be required to be appointed by any insurer participating in the program for policies written solely through the program, notwithstanding the provisions of s. 626.112.

(c) May accept an appointment from any insurer participating in the program.

(d) May enter into either a standard or limited agency agreement with the insurer, at the insurer's option.

Applicants ineligible for coverage in accordance with subsection (5) remain ineligible if their independent agent is unwilling or unable to enter into a standard or limited agency agreement with an insurer participating in the program.

(7) Exclusive agents submitting new applications for coverage or that are the agent of record on a renewal policy submitted to the program:

(a) Must maintain ownership and the exclusive use of expirations, records, or other written or electronic information directly related to such applications or renewals written through the corporation or through an insurer participating in the program, notwithstanding s. 627.351(6)(c)5.a.(I)(B) and (II)(B). Contracts with the corporation or required by the corporation must not amend, modify, interfere with, or limit such rights of ownership. Such expirations, records, or other written or electronic information may be used to review an application, issue a policy, or for any other purpose necessary for placing such business through the program.

(b) May not be required to be appointed by any insurer participating in the program for policies written solely through the program, notwithstanding the provisions of s. 626.112.

(c) Must only facilitate the placement of an offer of coverage from an insurer whose limited servicing agreement is approved by that exclusive agent's exclusive insurer.

(d) May enter into a limited servicing agreement with the insurer making an offer of coverage, and only after the exclusive agent's insurer has approved the limited servicing agreement terms. The exclusive agent's insurer must approve a limited service agreement for the program for any insurer for which it has approved a service agreement for other purposes.

Applicants ineligible for coverage in accordance with subsection (5) remain ineligible if their exclusive agent is unwilling or unable to enter into a standard or limited agency agreement with an insurer making an offer of coverage to that applicant.

(8) Submission of an application for coverage by the corporation to the program does not constitute the binding of coverage by the corporation, and failure of the program to obtain an offer of coverage by an insurer may not be considered acceptance of coverage of the risk by the corporation.

(9) The 45-day notice of nonrenewal requirement set forth in s. 627.4133(2)(b)5. applies when a policy is nonrenewed by the corporation because the risk has received an offer of coverage pursuant to this section which renders the risk ineligible for coverage by the corporation.

(10) The program may not include commercial nonresidential policies.

(11) Proprietary business information provided to the corporation's clearinghouse by insurers with respect to identifying and selecting risks for an offer of coverage is confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution.

(a) As used in this subsection, the term "proprietary business information" means information, regardless of form or characteristics, which is owned or controlled by an insurer and:

1. Is identified by the insurer as proprietary business information and is intended to be and is treated by the insurer as private in that the disclosure of the information would cause harm to the insurer, an individual, or the company's business operations and has not been disclosed unless disclosed pursuant to a statutory requirement, an order of a court or administrative body, or a private agreement that provides that the information will not be released to the public;

2. Is not otherwise readily ascertainable or publicly available by proper means by other persons from another source in the same configuration as provided to the clearinghouse; and

3. Includes:

a. Trade secrets, as defined in s. 688.002.

b. Information relating to competitive interests, the disclosure of which would impair the competitive business of the provider of the information.

Proprietary business information may be found in underwriting criteria or instructions which are used to identify and select risks through the program for an offer of coverage and are shared with the clearinghouse to facilitate the shopping of risks with the insurer.

(b) The clearinghouse may disclose confidential and exempt proprietary business information:

1. If the insurer to which it pertains gives prior written consent;

2. Pursuant to a court order; or

3. To another state agency in this or another state or to a federal agency if the recipient agrees in writing to maintain the confidential and exempt status of the document, material, or other information and has verified in writing its legal authority to maintain such confidentiality.

Section 4. Paragraphs (f), (g), and (h) are added to subsection (5) of section 627.7011, Florida Statutes, to read:

627.7011 Homeowners' policies; offer of replacement cost coverage and law and ordinance coverage.—

(5) This section does not:

(f)1. Prohibit an insurer, notwithstanding paragraph (1)(a), from providing limited coverage on a personal lines residential property insurance policy by including a roof surface type reimbursement schedule. If included in the policy, a roof surface type reimbursement schedule must do all of the following:

a. Provide reimbursement for repair, replacement, and installation based on the annual age of a roof surface type.

b. Provide full replacement coverage for:

(I) Any roof surface type less than 10 years old;

(II) A total loss to a primary structure in accordance with the valued policy law under s. 627.702 which is caused by a covered peril; and

(III) A loss to the roof caused by a storm declared to be a hurricane by the National Hurricane Center.

c. Use annual depreciation amounts that:

(I) Are actuarially justified and meet the requirements of s. 627.062; and

(II) Do not exceed 4 percent unless actuarially justified.

d. Be approved by the office.

e. Include at the top of the roof surface type schedule, in bold type no smaller than 12 points, the following statement:

"PLEASE DISCUSS WITH YOUR INSURANCE AGENT. YOU ARE ELECTING TO PURCHASE COVERAGE ON YOUR ROOF ACCORDING TO A ROOF SURFACE TYPE REIMBURSEMENT SCHEDULE. IF YOUR ROOF IS DAMAGED BY A COVERED PERIL, YOU WILL RECEIVE A PAYMENT AMOUNT FOR YOUR ROOF ACCORDING TO THE SCHEDULE BELOW. BE ADVISED THAT THIS MAY RESULT IN YOU HAVING TO PAY SIGNIFICANT COSTS TO REPAIR OR REPLACE YOUR ROOF. PLEASE DISCUSS WITH YOUR INSURANCE AGENT."

f. Be provided to the insured with the policy documents at issuance and renewal.

2. A residential property insurance policy may convert to a roof surface type reimbursement schedule at renewal if the roof is at least 10 years old and the policyholder:

a. Receives a Notice of Change in Policy Terms pursuant to s. 627.43141; and

b. Accepts the written notice of renewal premium required under s. 627.4133, by paying the premium.

(g) Prohibit an insurer, notwithstanding paragraph (1)(a), from providing coverage on a personal lines residential property insurance policy that limits coverage for a roof to a stated value sublimit of coverage. If included in a policy, a stated value sublimit of coverage must do all of the following:

1. Provide full replacement coverage for:

a. Any roof surface type less than 10 years old;

b. A total loss to a primary structure in accordance with the valued policy law under s. 627.702 which is caused by a covered peril; and

c. A loss to the roof caused by a storm declared to be a hurricane by the National Hurricane Center.

2. Include in the policy documents at issuance and at renewal, in bold type no smaller than 12 points, the following statement:

"PLEASE DISCUSS WITH YOUR INSURANCE AGENT. YOU ARE ELECTING TO PURCHASE A STATED VALUE SUBLIMIT OF COVERAGE ON YOUR ROOF. BE ADVISED THAT THIS MAY RESULT IN YOU HAVING TO PAY SIGNIFICANT COSTS TO REPAIR OR REPLACE YOUR ROOF. PLEASE DISCUSS WITH YOUR INSURANCE AGENT."

(h) Prohibit an insurer that provides roof reimbursement on the basis of a roof surface type reimbursement schedule or that limits coverage for a roof to a stated value sublimit of coverage from also offering roof reimbursement on the basis of replacement costs.

Section 5. For the purpose of incorporating the amendments made by this act to section 627.351, Florida Statutes, in a reference thereto, subsection (10) of section 624.424, Florida Statutes, is reenacted to read:

624.424 Annual statement and other information.—

(10) Each insurer or insurer group doing business in this state shall file on a quarterly basis in conjunction with financial reports required by paragraph (1)(a) a supplemental report on an individual and group basis on a form prescribed by the commission with information on personal lines and commercial lines residential property insurance policies in this state. The supplemental report shall include separate information for personal lines property policies and for commercial lines property policies and totals for each item specified, including premiums written for each of the property lines of business as described in ss. 215.555(2)(c) and 627.351(6)(a). The report shall include the following information for each county on a monthly basis:

(a) Total number of policies in force at the end of each month.

(b) Total number of policies canceled.

(c) Total number of policies nonrenewed.

(d) Number of policies canceled due to hurricane risk.

(e) Number of policies nonrenewed due to hurricane risk.

(f) Number of new policies written.

(g) Total dollar value of structure exposure under policies that include wind coverage.

(h) Number of policies that exclude wind coverage.

Section 6. For the purpose of incorporating the amendments made by this act to section 627.351, Florida Statutes, in a reference thereto, section 627.3517, Florida Statutes, is reenacted to read:

627.3517 Consumer choice.—No provision of s. 627.351, s. 627.3511, or s. 627.3515 shall be construed to impair the right of any insurance risk apportionment plan policyholder, upon receipt of any keepout or take-out offer, to retain his or her current agent, so long as that agent is duly licensed and appointed by the insurance risk apportionment plan or otherwise authorized to place business with the insurance risk apportionment plan. This right shall not be canceled, suspended, impeded, abridged, or otherwise compromised by any rule, plan of operation, or depopulation plan, whether through keepout, take-out, midterm assumption, or any other means, of any insurance risk apportionment plan or depopulation plan, including, but not limited to, those described in s. 627.351, s. 627.3511, or s. 627.3515. The commission shall adopt any rules necessary to cause any insurance risk apportionment plan or market assistance plan under such sections to demonstrate that the operations of the plan do not interfere with, promote, or allow interference with the rights created under this section. If the policyholder's current agent is unable or unwilling to be appointed with the insurer making the take-out or keepout offer, the policyholder shall not be disqualified from participation in the appropriate insurance risk apportionment plan because of an offer of coverage in the voluntary market. An offer of full property insurance coverage by the insurer currently insuring either the ex-wind or wind-only coverage on the policy to which the offer applies shall not be considered a take-out or keepout offer. Any rule, plan of operation, or plan of depopulation, through keepout, take-out, midterm assumption, or any other means, of any property insurance risk apportionment plan under s. 627.351(2) or (6) is subject to ss. 627.351(2)(b) and (6)(c) and 627.3511(4).

Section 7. For the purpose of incorporating the amendments made by this act to section 627.351, Florida Statutes, in a reference thereto, subsection (1) of section 627.712, Florida Statutes, is reenacted to read:

627.712 Residential windstorm coverage required; availability of exclusions for windstorm or contents.—

(1) An insurer issuing a residential property insurance policy must provide windstorm coverage. Except as provided in paragraph (2)(c), this section does not apply to risks that are eligible for wind-only coverage from Citizens Property Insurance Corporation under s. 627.351(6), and risks that are not eligible for coverage from Citizens Property Insurance Corporation under s. 627.351(6)(a)3. or 5. A risk ineligible for coverage by the corporation under s. 627.351(6)(a)3. or 5. is exempt from this section only if the risk is located within the boundaries of the coastal account of the corporation.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 1728 addresses contractor solicitations related to property insurance roof claims, the application of a separate roof deductible for roof losses to residential property, and various aspects of Citizens Property Insurance Corporation (Citizens or corporation).

Contractor Advertisement Related to Property Insurance Claims for Roof Damage

The bill allows contractors to make written or electronic communications that encourage, instruct, or induce a consumer to contact a contractor or public adjuster for the purpose of making an insurance claim for roof damage if such communication includes the following disclosures:

- The consumer is responsible for payment of any insurance deductible;
- It is insurance fraud punishable as a felony of the third degree for a contractor to pay, waive, or rebate all or part of an insurance deductible applicable to payment to the contractor for repairs to property covered by a property insurance policy; and
- It is insurance fraud punishable as a felony of the third degree to intentionally file an insurance claim containing any false, incomplete or misleading information.

The disclosures must be stated in a font size that is at least 12 points and at least half as large as the largest font used in the solicitation. With this change, contractors will no longer be prohibited from making such solicitations so long as the solicitation includes the aforementioned disclosures.

Separate Roof Deductible

The bill allows property insurers to require a separate roof deductible as a condition of eligibility or renewal of a residential property insurance policy, if all of the following conditions are met:

- The roof deductible may not exceed two percent of the policy's dwelling coverage limit.
- The premium for such coverage includes an actuarially sound premium discount or credit for the impact of the roof deductible.
- If the roof deductible is added to the policy at renewal, the insurer must provide a notice of change in policy terms pursuant to section 627.43141, Florida Statutes.
- The roof deductible does not apply to:
  - A total loss to a primary structure in accordance with the valued policy law;
  - Under section 627.702, Florida Statutes, which is caused by a covered peril;
  - A roof loss caused by a hurricane as defined by section 627.4025(2), Florida Statutes; or
  - A roof loss that can be repaired without replacement of the roof.
- If a roof deductible is applied, no other policy deductible may be applied to the loss. If, however, a roof deductible is not applied, the all-other-perils deductible or the hurricane deductible may be applied.

The bill specifies that a roof deductible provision may only be included in an insurance policy if the OIR determines the deductible provisions of the policy are clear and unambiguous. The bill also requires that any personal lines residential property insurance policy that contains a separate roof deductible must include the following disclosure in at least 18-point, boldfaced type: THIS POLICY CONTAINS A SEPARATE DEDUCTILE FOR ROOF LOSSES WHICH MAY RSULT IN HIGH OUT-OF-POCKET EXPENSES TO YOU. The policy must also prominently display the actual dollar value of the roof deductible on the policy declarations page at issuance, and for renewal, on the renewal declarations page or the premium renewal notice.

The bill allows residential property insurers that utilize a roof deductible to provide only actual cash value reimbursement on a roof loss until the insurer receives reasonable proof of payment by the policyholder of the roof deductible.

Citizens Property Insurance Corporation (Citizens)

The bill makes it a requirement, rather than an option, that Citizens merge their Personal Lines, Commercial Lines, and Coastal Accounts if financing obligations entered into by the Florida Windstorm Underwriting Association or Residential Property and Casualty Joint Underwriting Association are no longer outstanding.

The bill requires certain appointed members of the Citizens Board of Governors (board) to have demonstrated expertise in insurance at the time of appointment or reappointment. The bill requires that on or after July 1, 2022, an appointee designated as chair must have demonstrated expertise in insurance or must have at least one experience serving on the board. The bill revises the term "demonstrated expertise in insurance" to mean at least ten years' experience:

- In property and casualty insurance as a full time employee, officer, or owner of a licensed insurance agency or an insurer authorized to transact property insurance in this state; or
- As an insurer regulator or as an executive or officer of an insurance trade association.

The bill also requires that the Citizens executive director must, at the time of appointment, have the experience, character and qualifications necessary to serve in that role for an insurer that has a certificate of authority to transact insurance in Florida.

The bill limits the application of the Citizens "glidepath" to personal lines residential policies covering an insured's primary residence and any commercial lines residential policy. "Glidepath" is the term commonly used to refer to the statutory limitation on rate increases that may be imposed on an individual Citizens policyholder. The maximum rate increase that may be imposed on any single policy, excluding coverage changes and surcharges, is 11 percent for 2022.[1] Other properties would be charged the actuarially indicated rate.

The bill provides that when Citizens assumes a policy from an unsound insurer, the premium shall be the higher of the last premium amount charged by the unsound insurer to the policyholder or the premium that would be normally charged by Citizens to carry said risk. If an unsound insurer's premium is applied to the policy, that premium would remain in place unchanged until the rate for Citizens, that would be normally applicable, exceeds the amount last charged by the unsound insurer.

The bill provides whenever an offer is received by a Citizens personal or commercial lines residential policyholder, the risk is not eligible for Citizens coverage unless the premium for coverage from the authorized insurer is more than 20 percent greater than the renewal premium for comparable coverage from Citizens. The bill also applies the 20 percent standard to new applicants for Citizens commercial lines residential coverage. Under current law, Citizens policyholders remain eligible for coverage unless the offer from an authorized insurer is less than the policyholder's Citizens renewal premium.

The bill authorizes surplus lines insurers to participate in Citizens' depopulation, take-out, and keep-out plans if Citizens' policy count exceeds 700,000 policies. Citizens' policy count was 759,305 policies as of December 31, 2021. The surplus lines insurer must: meet financial requirements; provide notice to the policyholder which outlines any coverage differences and explain surplus lines policies are not covered by the Florida Insurance Guaranty Association; and provide coverage similar to that provided by Citizens. A risk with a personal residential dwelling replacement cost or a single condominium unit with a combined dwelling and contents replacement cost that is less than $700,000, remains eligible for Citizens regardless of receipt of an offer of comparable coverage from a surplus lines insurer. If such risk has a replacement cost of $700,000 or more, however, the risk is ineligible for Citizens coverage upon receiving an offer of comparable coverage from a surplus lines insurer that is not greater than the premium for Citizens coverage.

[1] The maximum rate increase will increase by one percent for each subsequent year until it reaches 15 percent for 2026.

Notice of Intent to Initiate Litigation

The bill allows a defendant to recover reasonable attorney fees and costs if a claimant's suit against the defendant is dismissed for failure to submit a notice of intent to initiate litigation

The bill has an indeterminate fiscal impact to state revenues and expenditures. See Section V. Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill has an effective date of July 1, 2022.

II. Present Situation:

Florida Residential Property Insurance Market Data and CS/CS/CS/SB 76 (2021)

According to the Florida Office of Insurance Regulation (OIR), from 2017 through the second quarter of 2021, Florida domestic property insurers had cumulative net underwriting losses that resulted in a cumulative net income in excess of negative one billion dollars.[2]

Prior to the 2021 Legislative Session, the OIR reported an increasing trend of domestic property insurers filing for rate increases. Insurers submitted 105 rate filings in 2020 for increases of 10 percent or more, with the OIR approving 55 of those filings. In 2016, the OIR approved only six rate increases of at least 10 percent.[3]

In a presentation to the Florida Senate Committee on Banking and Insurance on January 12, 2021, the State Insurance Commissioner attributed the net underwriting losses, combined ratios, and resulting rate increases displayed above to several related trends and behaviors present in Florida's domestic property insurance market:

- Claims with litigation;
- Claims solicitation; and
- Adverse loss reserve development.[4]

In 2020, the OIR conducted a data call of Florida's domestic property insurers.[5] According to the State Insurance Commissioner, the results of the data call showed the severity of non-weather water claims with litigation is nearly double that of the claims that are closed without litigation.[6]

According to the OIR, the increased severity of claims involving litigation is driving adverse loss reserve development, leading to high rate filings.[7] Loss reserve development is the difference between the original loss as initially reserved by the insurer and its subsequent evaluation later or at the time of its final disposal.[8] When adverse loss reserve development occurs, the claim costs more than its reserve was originally estimated by the insurer.

In response to the aforementioned challenges in Florida's property insurance market, the 2021 Legislature passed CS/CS/CS/SB 76 (2021).[9] The bill addressed multiple aspects of the property insurance market, including solicitations regarding roof claims, notice of bringing a civil action in a property insurance dispute, attorney fee awards in first-party property insurance litigation, and the eligibility standards and ratemaking of Citizens.

Property Insurance Practices by Contractors

The 2021 property insurance law attempted to address increases in roof claims by prohibiting contractors, and persons acting on behalf of contractors, from:

- Soliciting residential property owners through prohibited advertisements, which are communications to a consumer that encourage, instruct, or induce a consumer to contact a contractor to file an insurance claim for roof damage;
- Offering the residential property owner consideration to perform a roof inspection or file an insurance claim;
- Offering or receiving consideration for referrals when property insurance proceeds are payable;
- Engaging in unlicensed public adjusting; and
- Providing an authorization agreement to the insured without providing a good faith estimate.

The above acts are subject to license discipline by the Department of Business and Professional Regulation and a $10,000 fine per violation. The law provides the residential property owner may void the contract with the contractor within 10 days of its execution if the contractor fails to provide notice to the residential property owner of the contractor's prohibited practices.

The law prohibits licensed contractors and subcontractors from advertising, soliciting, offering to handle, handling, or performing public adjuster (PA) services without a license. The prohibition does not prohibit the contractor from recommending the consumer consider contacting his or her insurer to determine if the proposed repair is covered by insurance.

The law prohibits a PA, PA apprentice, or person acting on behalf of a PA or PA apprentice, from offering financial inducements for allowing a roof inspection of residential property or making an insurance claim for roof damage. The law also prohibits them from offering or accepting consideration for referring services related to a roof claim. Each violation subjects the PA or PA licensee to up to a $10,000 fine. Unlicensed persons not otherwise exempted from PA licensure commit the unlicensed practice of public adjusting when they do these prohibited acts, and are subject to a $10,000 fine per act and the criminal penalty for unlicensed activity.

Regulations of Commercial Speech

The United States Supreme Court set forth the standards for analyzing whether a restriction on commercial speech[10] violates the First Amendment of the United States Constitution in the case of Central Hudson Gas & Elec. Corp. v. Public Service Commission of New York.[11] Justice Powell succinctly set forth the standards.

> In commercial speech cases, then, a four-part analysis has developed. At the outset, we must determine whether the expression is protected by the First Amendment. For commercial speech to come within that provision, it at least must concern lawful activity and not be misleading. Next, we ask whether the asserted governmental interest is substantial. If both inquiries yield positive answers, we must determine whether the regulation directly advances the governmental interest asserted, and whether it is not more extensive than is necessary to serve that interest.[12]

The court explained in Central Hudson that if a law restricts commercial speech that address speech that is not misleading or related to unlawful activity, the government's power to regulate such speech is limited:

> If the communication is neither misleading nor related to unlawful activity, the government's power is more circumscribed. The State must assert a substantial interest to be achieved by restrictions on commercial speech. Moreover, the regulatory technique must be in proportion to that interest. The limitation on expression must be designed carefully to achieve the State's goal. Compliance with this requirement may be measured by two criteria. First, the restriction must directly advance the state interest involved; the regulation may not be sustained if it provides only ineffective or remote support for the government's purpose. Second, if the governmental interest could be served as well by a more limited restriction on commercial speech, the excessive restrictions cannot survive.

Florida Courts have applied the Central Hudson test to determine whether government restrictions on commercial speech violate article 1, section 4 of the Florida Constitution.[13]

The United State Supreme Court in Zauderer v. Office of Disciplinary Counsel of the Supreme Court of Ohio, noted state laws that require disclosures in advertising do not receive the same degree of constitutional protection as a prohibition on commercial free speech.

> Because the extension of First Amendment protection to commercial speech is justified principally by the value to consumers of the information such speech provides, appellant's constitutionally protected interest in not providing any particular factual information in his advertising is minimal. An advertiser's rights are adequately protected as long as disclosure requirements are reasonably related to the State's interest in preventing deception of consumers.[14]

The United States Supreme Court (Court) used the Zauderer test to uphold disclosure requirements in Milavetz, Gallop & Milavetz, P.A., v. U.S. In delivering the opinion of the Court, Supreme Court Associate Justice Sonia Sotomayor upheld disclosure requirements placed by federal law[15] upon debt relief agents that provide bankruptcy assistance for payment because "…the disclosures are intended to combat the problem of inherently misleading commercial advertisements… [and] … entail only an accurate statement of the advertiser's legal status and the character of the assistance provided."[16]

Federal Preliminary Injunction against Provisions of SB 76 Banning Prohibited Advertisements

On July 11, 2021, a federal district court enjoined the enforcement of the provisions of CS/CS/CS/SB 76 (2021) that ban contractors from making prohibited advertisements regarding property insurance roof claims.[17] Within the law, a prohibited advertisement is any written or electronic communication that encourages, instructs, or induces a consumer to contract a public adjuster or contractor for purposes of making an insurance claim for roof damage. The preliminary injunction prevents the enforcement of specific prohibitions in newly created s. 489.147, F.S., specifically (2)(a), (3), and (4)(b), F.S. These provisions are:

- (2)(a): A contractor may not directly or indirectly solicit a residential property owner by means of a prohibited advertisement;
- (3): A contractor who violates this section is subject to a disciplinary proceeding through Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR) under s. 489.129, F.S., and is subject to a $10,000 fine for each violation; and
- (4)(b): An unlicensed person who violates s. 489.147, F.S., is subject to the penalties in s. 489.13, F.S., and is subject to a fine of up to $10,000 for each violation.

The judge issued the injunction on the basis that these provisions of the bill violate First Amendment commercial free speech rights of contractors under the United States Constitution. The injunction against (3) and (4)(b) above only apply to the prohibited advertisement provision. The prohibitions in the s. 489.147, F.S., regarding roof claims that ban offering inducements to consumers, accepting or paying referral fees, interpreting the insurance policy, or signing a contract with a consumer for roof repairs without providing a good faith estimate remain valid and enforceable.

The judge did not enjoin enforcement of the rest of the bill, thus the only provisions affected are those mentioned above that were specifically addressed by the preliminary injunction order.

Property Insurance Deductibles

Section 627.701, F.S., governs to use of deductibles and coinsurance property insurance policies in this state. The law requires insurers to offer alternative deductible amounts applicable to hurricane losses equal to $500, two percent, five percent, and 10 percent of the policy dwelling limits. However, the $500 hurricane deductible need not be offered if certain conditions are met. If the policy covers a risk with dwelling limits of at least $100,000, but less than $250,000, the insurer may, in lieu of offering a $500 hurricane deductible, may offer a policy that the insurer guarantees it will not nonrenew for reasons of reducing hurricane loss for one renewal period and that contains up to a two percent hurricane deductible. If the policy covers a risk with a dwelling replacement cost of $250,000 or more, the insurer need not offer the $500 hurricane deductible. The law requires that any policy that contains a separate hurricane deductible must include on its face in boldfaced type no smaller than 18 points, a statement that, "THIS POLICY CONTAINS A SEPARATE DEDUCTIBLE FOR HURRICANE LOSSES, WHICH MAY RESULT IN HIGH OUT-OF-POCKET EXPENSES TO YOU." The hurricane deductible must be found to be clear and unambiguous by the Office of Insurance Regulation. The insurer must compute and prominently display the actual dollar value of the hurricane deductible on the policy declarations page at issuance and, at renewal, on the renewal declarations page or premium renewal notice.

Replacement Cost and Actual Cash Value Loss Settlement Provisions

There are two primary settlement options available when purchasing a homeowner's property insurance policy: replacement cost and actual cash value. Replacement cost is usually defined in the policy as the cost to repair or replace the damaged property with materials of like kind and quality, without any deduction for depreciation.[18] Replacement cost is designed to cover the difference between what the property is actually worth and what it would cost to rebuild or repair that property.[19] Following a covered loss, the insurer assumes the full cost of repairing or replacing the damaged property.[20]

By contrast, actual cash value is the cost to repair or replace the damaged property with material of like kind and quality, minus the cost of depreciation due to use, wear, obsolescence, or age.[21] Following a covered loss, the insured assumes the cost to cover the difference between the depreciated value of the damaged property and the cost of repairing or replacing it.
Florida law currently requires insurers writing homeowner's property insurance policies to offer adjustment to the dwelling, including the roof, on the basis of replacement cost.[22] The OIR will approve policy forms that adjust roof losses on the basis of actual cash value, or the depreciated value of the roof. The insurer must, however, also offer replacement cost adjustment on the roof before issuing the policy.

Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac Minimum Insurance Requirements

The Federal National Mortgage Association (Fannie Mae) and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation (Freddie Mac) provide liquidity, stability, and affordability to the mortgage market by buying mortgages from lenders and either holding the mortgages in their own portfolios or packaging the mortgages into mortgage-based securities for purposes of selling in the secondary mortgage market.[23] Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, in turn, protect their interest in each mortgage by requiring minimum insurance coverages and settlement on the basis of replacement cost.[24]

Fannie Mae does not accept a property insurance policy that limits or excludes coverage, in whole or in part, for windstorm, hurricane, hail damages, or any other perils that normally are included under an extended coverage endorsement.[25] The borrower may not obtain a property insurance policy that includes such limitation or exclusion unless the borrower is able to obtain a separate policy or endorsement from another insurer that provides adequate coverage for the limited or excluded peril, or from an insurance pool that the state has established to cover the limitation or exclusions.[26] For first-lien residential mortgages, Fannie Mae requires coverage equal to the lesser of the following:

- 100 percent of the insurable value of the improvements, as established by the property insurer; or
- The unpaid principal balance of the mortgage, as long as it at least equals the minimum amount (80 percent of the insurable value of the improvements) required to compensate for damage or loss on a replacement cost basis.[27]

Freddie Mac does not accept a property insurance policy that excludes coverage for loss or damage from fire, lightning, and other perils, including windstorm, hail, explosion, riot, civil commotion, damage by aircraft, damage by vehicles, and damage by smoke, covered within the scope standard extended coverage.[28] The borrower may not obtain a property insurance policy that includes such exclusion unless the borrower is able to obtain a separate policy or endorsement from another insurer that provides adequate coverage for the limited or excluded peril, or from an insurance pool the state has established to cover the limitation or exclusions.[29] For one-to-four unit residential properties, Freddie Mac requires coverage at least equal to the higher of the following, not to exceed the replacement cost of the insurable improvements:

- The unpaid principal balance of the mortgage; or
- Eighty percent of the full replacement cost of the insurable improvements.[30]

Valued Policy Law

Florida's Valued Policy Law (VPL)[31] has been in effect since 1899[32] and requires the insurer to set the value of the insured property in the event of a total loss.[33] The VPL originally applied to damages caused by fire and lightning; however, in 1982, the Legislature extended VPL to all covered perils under ch. 82-243, s. 539, L.O.F.[34] In the event of a total loss caused by a covered peril, where the covered peril alone would have caused the loss, an insurer's liability under a property insurance policy equals the total coverage limit for which a premium was paid.[35] However, in the event of total loss caused in part by a covered peril and in part by a noncovered peril, the insurer's liability is limited to the amount of the loss caused by the covered peril.[36]

Florida's VPL currently applies to the total loss of buildings, structures, mobile homes, or manufactured buildings located in Florida and insured as to a covered peril. While it does not differentiate between residential and commercial property, it does not cover policies issued by surplus lines insurers.

Notice of Intent to Litigate Property Insurance Claims

Section 627.70152, F.S., specifies that a claimant must provide the Department of Financial Services (DFS) with written notice of intent to initiate litigation on a form provided by the DFS. Notice is a condition precedent to filing suit. The notice must be given at least 10 business days before filing suit under the policy, but may not be made before the insurer has made a coverage determination under s. 627.70131, F.S., The notice must specify certain information. The DFS forwards the notice to the insurer through electronic mail. A court must dismiss without prejudice any claimant's suit related to a claim for which such notice was not provided.

coverage to those unable to find affordable coverage in the voluntary admitted market.[37] Citizens is not a private insurance company.[38] Citizens was statutorily created in 2002 when the Florida Legislature combined the state's two insurers of last resort, the Florida Residential Property and Casualty Joint Underwriting Association (RPCJUA) and the Florida Windstorm Underwriting Association (FWUA).

Citizens operates in accordance with the provisions in s. 627.351(6), F.S., and is governed by an eight member Board of Governors (board) that administers its Plan of Operations. The Plan of Operations is reviewed and approved by the Financial Services Commission.[39] The Governor, President of the Senate, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and Chief Financial Officer each appoint two members to the board.[40] Citizens is subject to regulation by the Florida Office of Insurance Regulation (OIR).

Citizens has three different accounts through which it offers property insurance: a personal lines account, a commercial lines account, and a coastal account.

Citizens' Accounts

The Personal Lines Account (PLA) offers personal lines residential policies that provide comprehensive, multi-peril coverage statewide, except for those areas contained in the Coastal Account. The PLA also writes policies that exclude coverage for wind in areas contained within the Coastal Account. Personal lines residential coverage consists of the types of coverage provided to homeowners, mobile home owners, dwellings, tenants, and condominium unit owner's policies.[41]

The Commercial Lines Account (CLA) offers commercial lines residential and non-residential policies that provide basic perils coverage statewide, except for those areas contained in the Coastal Account. The CLA also writes policies that exclude coverage for wind in areas contained within the Coastal Account. Commercial lines coverage includes commercial residential policies covering condominium associations, homeowners' associations, and apartment buildings. The coverage also includes commercial non-residential policies covering business properties.[42]

The Coastal Account offers personal residential, commercial residential, and commercial non-residential policies in coastal areas of the state. Citizens must offer policies that solely cover the peril of wind (wind only policies) and may offer multi-peril policies.[43]

The Citizens policyholder eligibility clearinghouse program was established by the Legislature in 2013.[44] Under the program, new and renewal policies for Citizens are placed into the clearinghouse where participating private insurers can review and decide to make offers of coverage before policies are placed or renewed with Citizens.[45]

As of December 31, 2021, Citizens reports 759,305 policies in-force with a total exposure of $232,502,323,529.[46] The chart below outlines Citizens account and product type, number of policies in-force, total exposure and premium with surcharges.

Citizens Glidepath Rates

From 2007 until 2010, Citizens' rates were frozen by statute at the level that had been established in 2006. In 2010, the Legislature established a "glidepath" to impose annual rate increases up to a level that is actuarially sound. Under the original established glidepath, Citizens had to implement an annual rate increase which, except for sinkhole coverage, does not exceed 10 percent above the previous year for any individual policyholder, adjusted for coverage changes and surcharges. In 2021, the Legislature revised this glidepath to increase it one percent per year to 15 percent, as follows: [51]

- 11 percent for 2022.
- 12 percent for 2023.
- 13 percent for 2024.
- 14 percent for 2025.
- 15 percent for 2026 and all subsequent years.

The implementation of this increase ceases when Citizens has achieved actuarially sound rates.[52] In addition to the overall glidepath rate increase, Citizens can increase its rates to recover the additional reimbursement premium it incurs as a result of the annual cash build-up factor added to the price of the mandatory layer of the Florida Hurricane Catastrophe Fund coverage, pursuant to s. 215.555(5)(b), F.S.[53]

Citizens Financial Resources

Citizens' financial resources include insurance premiums, investment income, and operating surplus from prior years, Florida Hurricane Catastrophe Fund (FHCF) reimbursements, private reinsurance, policyholder surcharges, and regular and emergency assessments. Non-weather water losses, reinsurance costs and litigation are currently the major determinants of insurance rates.[54] In the event of a catastrophic storm or series of smaller storms, reserves could be exhausted, leaving Citizens unable to pay all claims.[55] Under Florida law, if the Citizens' Board of Directors determines a Citizens' account has a projected deficit, Citizens is authorized to levy assessments[56] on its policyholders and on each line of property and casualty line of business other than workers' compensation insurance and medical malpractice insurance.[57] Citizens may impose three assessment tiers and their sequence is as follows:[58]

Citizens Policyholder Surcharge – A surcharge of up to 15 percent of premium on all Citizens' policies, collected upon issuance or renewal. This 15 percent assessment can be levied for each of the three Citizens' accounts—the CLA, the PLA, and the Coastal Account— that project a deficit. Thus, the total maximum premium surcharge a policyholder could be assessed is 45 percent.[59]

Regular Assessment – If the Citizens' surcharge is insufficient to cure the deficit for the coastal account, Citizens can require an assessment against all other insurers except medical malpractice and workers' compensation. The assessment may be recouped from policyholders through a rate filing process of up to two percent of premium or two percent of the deficit, whichever is greater.[60] This assessment is not levied against Citizens' policyholders.
Emergency Assessment – Requires any remaining deficit for Citizens' three accounts be funded by multi-year emergency assessments on all insurance policyholders (except medical malpractice and workers' compensation), including Citizens' policyholders. This assessment may not exceed the greater of 10 percent of the amount needed to cover the deficit, plus interest, fees, commissions, required reserves, and other costs associated with financing the original deficit, or 10 percent of the aggregate statewide direct written premium for subject lines of business and all accounts of the corporation for the prior year, plus interest, fees, commissions, required reserves, and other costs associated with financing the deficit.[61]

Eligibility for Insurance in Citizens

Current law requires Citizens to provide a procedure for determining the eligibility of a potential risk for insurance in Citizens and provides specific eligibility requirements based on premium amounts, value of the property insured, and the location of the property. Risks not meeting the statutory eligibility requirements cannot be insured by Citizens. Citizens has additional eligibility requirements set out in their underwriting rules. These rules are approved by the OIR and are set out in Citizens' underwriting manuals.[62]

Eligibility Based on Premium Amount

An applicant for residential insurance cannot buy insurance in Citizens if an authorized insurer in the private market offers the applicant insurance for a premium that does not exceed the Citizens [56] Assessments are charges that Citizens and non-Citizens policyholders can be required to pay, in addition to their regular policy premiums.

[57] Accident and health insurance and policies written under the National Flood Insurance Program or the Federal Crop Insurance Program are not assessable types of property and casualty insurance. premium by 20 percent or more. [63] In addition, the coverage offered by the private insurer must be comparable to Citizens' coverage.

A residential policyholder cannot renew insurance in Citizens if an authorized insurer offers to insure the property at a premium equal to or less than the Citizens' renewal premium. The insurance from the private market insurer must be comparable to the insurance from Citizens in order for the eligibility requirement for renewal premium to apply.[64]

Eligibility Based on Value of Property Insured

In addition to the eligibility restrictions based on premium amount, current law provides eligibility restrictions for homes and condominium units based on the value of the property insured.[65] Structures with a dwelling replacement cost of $700,000 or more, or a single condominium unit that has a combined dwelling and contents replacement cost of $700,000 or more, are not eligible for coverage with Citizens.[66] However, Citizens is allowed to insure structures with a dwelling replacement cost or a condominium unit with a dwelling and contents replacement cost of one million dollars or less in Miami-Dade and Monroe counties, after the OIR determined these counties to be non-competitive.[67]

Citizens Depopulation

Florida law requires Citizens to create programs to help return Citizens policies to the private market and reduce the risk of additional assessments for all Floridians.[68] In 2016, the Legislature passed requirements that Citizens, by January 1, 2017, amend its operations relating to takeout agreements.[69] As part of these updated requirements, codified under s. 627.351(6)(ii), F.S., a policy may not be taken out of Citizens unless Citizens:

- Publishes a periodic schedule of cycles during which an insurer may identify, and notify Citizens of, policies the insurer is requesting to take out;[70]
- Maintains and makes available to the agent of record a consolidated list of all insurers requesting to take-out a policy; such list must include a description of the coverage offered and the estimated premium for each take-out request; and
- Provides written notice to the policyholder and the agent of record regarding all insurers requesting to take-out the policy and regarding the policyholder's option to accept a take-out offer or to reject all take-out offers and to remain with the corporation. The notice must be in a format prescribed by the corporation and include, for each take-out offer:

Access to Public Records – Generally

The Florida Constitution provides the public has the right to inspect or copy records made or received in connection with official governmental business.[71] The right to inspect or copy applies to the official business of any public body, officer, or employee of the state, including all three branches of state government, local governmental entities, and any person acting on behalf of the government.[72]

Additional requirements and exemptions related to public records are found in various statutes and rules, depending on the branch of government involved. For instance, s. 11.0431, F.S., provides public access requirements for legislative records. Relevant exemptions are codified in ss. 11.0431(2)-(3), F.S., and the statutory provisions are adopted in the rules of each house of the Legislature.[73] Florida Rule of Judicial Administration 2.420 governs public access to judicial branch records.[74] Lastly, ch. 119, F.S., provides requirements for public records held by executive agencies.

Confidentiality of Citizens' Underwriting and Claims Files

Section 627.351(1)(x), F.S., establishes certain records of Citizens are confidential and exempt from the provisions of s. 119.07(1), F.S., and s. 24(a), Art. I of the Florida Constitution. Pursuant to sub-sub-paragraphs 1.a.-b., these exempt records include:

- Underwriting files, except that a policyholder or an applicant shall have access to his or her own underwriting files; and
- Claims files, until termination of all litigation and settlement of all claims arising out of the same incident, although portions of the claims files may remain exempt, as otherwise provided by law.

Sub-sub-paragraphs 1.a.-b. also provide that such records may be released to other governmental agencies upon written request and demonstration of need. Records so released and held by the receiving agency would remain confidential and exempt.

The public records exemption authorizes the sharing of certain files and information for the purpose of depopulating Citizens. If an authorized insurer is considering underwriting a risk insured by Citizens, relevant underwriting files and confidential claims files may be released to the insurer if the insurer agrees in a sworn writing to maintain the confidentiality of the files.

Citizens may also release such files to the staff and board of governors of the market assistance plan established by s. 627.3515, F.S., who also must maintain confidentiality, and may share such files with authorized insurers considering writing those risks if the authorized insurer agrees to maintain confidentiality. Citizens may also release the name, address, and phone number of a residential property owner or insured, the location of the risk, rating information, loss history, and policy type to an entity that has obtained a permit to become an authorized insurer, a reinsurer under s. 624.610, F.S., a licensed reinsurance broker, a licensed rating organization, a modeling company, or a licensed general lines agent. The recipient of such information must maintain confidentiality.

Insurer Insolvency

Federal law specifies insurance companies cannot file for bankruptcy and are instead subject to state laws regarding receivership.[75] Insurers are either "rehabilitated" or "liquidated" by the state. Typically, insurers are put into liquidation when the company is or is about to become insolvent;[76] whereas, insurers are placed in rehabilitation[77] for numerous reasons, one of which is the insurer is impaired or failed to comply with an order of the OIR to address an impairment of capital or surplus or both. The goal of rehabilitation is to return to solvency. The goal of liquidation, however, is to liquidate the business of the insurer and use the proceeds to pay off the company's debts and outstanding insurance claims.

In Florida, the Division of Rehabilitation and Liquidation of the DFS is responsible for rehabilitating or liquidating insurance companies. This process involves the initiation of a delinquency proceeding[78] and the placement of an insurer under the control of the DFS as the receiver. The DFS, as receiver, has many responsibilities related to outstanding debts and insurance claims, which include collecting all debts and money due to the insurer for the good of policyholders and creditors alike, evaluating and paying claims with available assets, and assisting in the transition of policyholders to other insurance coverage.[79]

If an insurer is placed under liquidation, Citizens may, if ordered by a court of competent jurisdiction, assume policies or otherwise provide coverage for policyholders of said insurer under such forms, rates, terms, and conditions as the corporation deems appropriate. Such forms, rates, terms, and conditions are subject to approval by the OIR.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Prohibition against Contractor Solicitations to Make Insurance Claims for Roof Damage

Section 1 amends s. 489.147(1)(a), F.S., to revise the definition of a prohibited advertisement, which current law prohibits. The term is currently defined as any written or electronic communication by a contractor which encourages, instructs, or induces a consumer to contact a contractor or public adjuster, for making an insurance claim for roof damage. The bill revises the definition by providing a prohibited advertisement means any such written or electronic communication that does not include the following disclosures:

- The consumer is responsible for payment of any insurance deductible;
- It is insurance fraud punishable as a felony of the third degree for a contractor to pay, waive, or rebate all or part of an insurance deductible applicable to payment to the contractor for repairs to property covered by a property insurance policy; and
- It is insurance fraud punishable as a felony of the third degree to intentionally file an insurance claim containing any false, incomplete or misleading information.

The disclosures must be stated in a font size that is at least 12 points and at least half a large as the largest font used in the solicitation.

With this change, contractors will no longer be prohibited from making such solicitations so long as the solicitation includes the aforementioned disclosures.

Scope (As it Applies to Property, Casualty and Surety Insurances)

Section 2 amends s. 627.021, F.S., to specify that though the Rating Law (Part I of ch. 627, F.S.) does not apply to surplus lines insurance placed under ss. 626.913 – 626, it may be specifically stated to apply to such insurance. The revision is necessitated by the provision allowing surplus lines insurers that meet certain requirements to participate in Citizens Property Insurance Corporation (Citizens or corporation) take-out programs.

Citizens Property Insurance Corporation

Section 3 amends s. 627.351(6), F.S., regarding Citizens, the governmental entity that provides residential and commercial property insurance to applicants who are entitled, but, in good faith, are unable to procure insurance through the voluntary market.

Eligibility for Citizens Coverage – Determining Replacement Cost

The bill amends s. 627.351(6)(a), F.S., to require that Citizens use a method for valuing dwelling replacement cost, which is approved by the Office of Insurance Regulation (OIR), when enforcing the requirement that structures and single condominium units with a replacement cost above the statutory threshold are ineligible for Citizens. Currently, structures and single condominium units with a replacement cost above $700,000 are ineligible for Citizens coverage unless the dwelling or single condominium unit is located in a county where the OIR has determined there is not a reasonable degree of competition. In a county where there is not a reasonable degree of competition, which is currently Miami-Dade County and Monroe County, structures and single condominium units are ineligible for Citizens if the replacement cost is one million dollars or more.

The bill also deletes unnecessary language related to Citizens eligibility that ceased to be effective on January 1, 2017.

Combining Citizens Accounts

The bill amends s. 627.351(6)(b)2.b., F.S., to require that Citizens combine its three accounts (personal lines, coastal, and commercial) into a single account once financing obligations based on the three account structure are no longer outstanding. The Legislature will need to further revise the Citizens statute in a future session in order for this to occur because the statute currently requires the three account structure and bases Citizens assessment authority on that structure.

Governance of Citizens – Qualifications to Serve on the Board of Governors or as Executive Director

The bill amends s. 627.351(6)(c)4., F.S., to increase the insurance expertise required of certain appointed members of the Citizens Board of Governors (board) at the time of appointment or reappointment. On or after July 1, 2022, an appointee designated as chair must have demonstrated expertise in insurance or must have at least one year of experience serving on the board. The executive director of Citizens is required, at the time of appointment, to have must have the qualifications necessary to serve in that role for an insurer that has a certificate of authority to transact insurance in Florida.

Under current law, at least one of the two members of the board appointed by each appointing officer[80] must have "demonstrated expertise in insurance." The bill specifies the demonstrated expertise in insurance must be at least 10 years' experience with property and casualty insurance as a full-time employee, officer, or owner of a licensed insurance agency, an insurer authorized to transact property insurance in Florida, an insurance regulator or as an executive director or officer of an insurance trade association.

The bill also specifies the executive director of Citizens must, at the time of appointment, have the experience, character, and qualification required under s. 624.404(3), F.S., to serve as the chief executive officer of an insurer.

Section 624.404(3), F.S., contains a number of requirements a person must meet to be the chief executive officer of an authorized insurer in Florida. The statute prohibits the OIR from authorizing an insurer to transact insurance in Florida if the management, officers, or directors are found by the OIR to be:

- Incompetent or untrustworthy;
- So lacking in insurance company managerial experience as to make the proposed operation hazardous to the insurance buying public;
- So lacking in insurance experience, ability, and standing as to jeopardize the reasonable promise of success operation; or [80] The Governor, the Chief Financial Officer, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House.

- A person the OIR has good reason to believe is affiliated directly or indirectly through ownership, control, reinsurance transactions, or other insurance or business relations, with any person or persons whose business operations are or have been marked, to the detriment of policyholders or stockholders, or investors, or creditors or of the public, by manipulation of assets, accounts, or reinsurance or by bad faith.

The OIR is also prohibited by s. 624.404(3), F.S., from authorizing an insurer who exercises or has the ability to exercise control, or who influences or has the ability to influence the transaction of the business of the insurer, does not possess the financial standing and business experience for the successful operation of the insurer.

Under s. 624.404(3), F.S., an authorized insurer must immediately remove a person who exercises, or has the ability to exercise, effective control of an insurer if such person:
- Has been found guilty of, or has pleaded guilty or nolo contendere to, any felony or crime punishable by imprisonment of one year or more of any state or country; or
- Was in the past affiliated directly or indirectly, through ownership interest of 10 percent or more, control, or reinsurance transactions, with any business, corporation, or entity that has been found guilty of or plead nolo contendere to any felony or crime punishable by imprisonment for one year or more under the laws of any state or country.

Under the bill, the executive director of Citizens would have be required to meet these requirements.

Eligibility for Citizens Coverage

The bill amends s. 627.351(6)(c)5., F.S., to increase the likelihood that a current Citizens policyholder with a personal lines or commercial lines residential policy will be made ineligible for Citizens by receiving an offer of coverage from an authorized insurer at renewal. Specifically, the bill provides whenever such an offer is received by a Citizens policyholder, the risk is not eligible for Citizens coverage unless the premium for coverage from the authorized insurer is more than 20 percent greater than the renewal premium for comparable coverage from Citizens. Thus, a current Citizens policyholder may not renew Citizens coverage if the policyholder receives an offer of comparable coverage at renewal from an authorized insurer at a premium that is not more than 20 percent higher than the Citizens renewal premium. This matches the current standard that applies to new applicants for Citizens coverage.

The bill increases the eligibility threshold for new applicants for Citizens commercial lines residential policies (such as condominium association policies) by increasing the threshold that a private market offer of coverage must exceed to allow a risk receiving such offer to remain eligible for Citizens coverage. The threshold is increased from 15 percent above the Citizens premium to 20 percent above the Citizens premium.

The bill makes a conforming change to revise a notice requirement in s. 627.351(6)(ii), F.S., that applies to certain Citizens depopulation programs.

Furthermore, Section 4 of the bill amends s. 627.3518(5), F.S., to apply the revised eligibility criteria to policies in the Citizens clearinghouse.

Rates for Citizens Coverage – Narrowing the Scope of Application of the Citizens Glidepath

The bill amends s. 627.351(6)(n), F.S., which sets for the standards for Citizens rates. The bill limits the application of the Citizens "glidepath" to personal lines residential policies covering an insured's primary residence and any commercial lines residential policy. "Glidepath" is the term commonly used to refer to the statutory limitation on rate increases that may be imposed on an individual Citizens policyholder. The maximum rate increase that may be imposed on any single policy, excluding coverage changes and surcharges, is 11 percent for 2022.[81] This limit on rate increases is notwithstanding the requirement that rates for Citizens coverage must be actuarially sound and are subject to the standards of s. 627.062, F.S., of the Rating Law.

The bill defines a primary residence as the dwelling an insured has represented as their permanent home on the insurance application or otherwise to the corporation. Thus, going forward, a personal lines residential policy that does not cover a primary residence (for instance, a second home) will have to pay an actuarially sound rate. The fiscal impact of this change on policyholders and the corporation is examined in Section V, Fiscal Impact Statement below.

Rates for Citizens Coverage – Personal Lines Residential Policies Assumed From an Unsound Insurer

The bill also provides that any new personal lines residential policy written by Citizens that has an effective date on or after January 1, 2023, which covers a risk for which the immediately preceding policy was written by an unsound insurer, must be charged a premium for Citizens coverage that is the higher of:

- The Citizens premium; or
- The premium that was charged by the unsound insurer.

The term "unsound insurer" as used in this provision means an insurer determined by the OIR to be in unsound condition or an insurer placed in receivership.

Participation of Surplus Lines Insurers in Citizens Depopulation Programs

The bill revises s. 627.351(6)(q)3.d., F.S., to allow eligible surplus lines insurers to participate in any Citizens' depopulation, take-out, or keep-out plan in the same manner and terms as an authorized insurer if Citizens' policy count more than 700,000 within the 30 days before the time a takeout offer is made by a surplus lines insurer. To be eligible for participation in a particular program, a surplus lines insurer must follow all Citizens' requirements relating to the plan that would be applicable to admitted insurers, follow statutory requirements applicable to the removal of policies from Citizens, and obtain approval from the OIR. In considering a surplus lines insurer's request for approval, the OIR must ensure the insurer:

- Maintains surplus of $50 million on a company or pooled basis;
- Has a superior, excellent, exceptional, or equally comparable financial strength rating by a rating agency acceptable to the OIR;
- Maintains reserves, surplus, reinsurance, and reinsurance equivalents sufficient to cover its 100-year probable maximum hurricane loss at least twice in a single hurricane season;[82]

[81] The maximum rate increase will increase by one percent for each subsequent year until it reaches 15 percent for 2026.
[82] The insurer also must submit such reinsurance to the OIR for review.

- Provides prominent notice to the policyholder that surplus lines policies are not provided coverage by the Florida Insurance Guaranty Association (FIGA) and outlines any substantial policy differences between the existing Citizens' policy and the policy the insurer is offering; and
- Provides policy coverage similar to that provided by Citizens.

The surplus lines insurer also must file the following with the OIR:

- Information requested by the OIR to demonstrate compliance with s. 624.404(3), F.S., regarding basic qualifications to transact insurance in Florida;[83]
- A service-of-process consent and agreement form executed by the insurer;
- Proof that the insurer has been an eligible or authorized insurer for at least three years;
- A duly authenticated copy of the insurer's current audited financial statement;[84]
- A certified copy of the insurer's most recent official financial statement required by the insurer's domiciliary state (this is only required if the authenticated copy provided above differs from what the insurer provided to their domiciliary state); and
- A copy of the United States trust account agreement, if applicable.

Participation in these plans would not make a surplus line insurer subject to additional requirements under ch. 626, F.S., except that which is already required under part VIII. Policies taken out are not subject to the exporting requirements provided in s. 626.916(1)(a)-(c), and (e), F.S.

After assuming policies under these plans, a surplus lines insurer would be required to remit a special deposit equal to the unearned premium net of unearned commissions on the assumed block of business to the Bureau of Collateral Management within the Department of Financial Services (DFS). The insurer would also need to submit to the OIR an accounting of the policies assumed and the amount of unearned premium for such policies and a sworn affidavit attesting to its accuracy by an officer of the surplus lines insurer. Subsequently, each quarter, the surplus lines insurer must update the OIR with the unearned premium in force for the previous quarter on policies assumed from the corporation, and must submit additional funds with that filing if the special deposit is insufficient to cover the unearned premium on assumed policies. The purpose of the special deposit is to allow the DFS, in the event of liquidation of the surplus lines insurer, to pay unearned premium or policy claims, return all or part of the deposit to the domiciliary receiver, or use the funds in accordance with any action authorized under part I of ch. 631, F.S., or in compliance with any order of a court having jurisdiction over the insurer's insolvency.

A surplus lines broker representing a surplus lines insurer must obtain confirmation, in advance, from the producing agent that the agent is willing to participate in the take-out plan with the surplus lines insurer. Also, authorized insurers are to be given priority over surplus lines insurers if both select a particular policy for removal.

[83] This may include biographical affidavits, fingerprints processed pursuant to s. 624.34, F.S., and the results of criminal history records checks for officers and directors of the insurer and its parent or holding company.
[84] The statement must be in English, expressing all monetary values in United States dollars, at an exchange rate then current and shown in the statement, in the case of statements originally made in the currencies of other countries, and including any additional information relative to the insurer as the OIR may request.

The surplus lines insurer participation provision also states if a policyholder has a dwelling replacement cost of $700,000 or more or if a single condominium unit has a combined dwelling and contents replacement cost of $700,000 or more, the policyholder would no longer qualify for Citizens coverage should the premium offered by the surplus lines insurer is no greater than that offered by Citizens. This provision does not apply to policyholders with a dwelling replacement cost below $700,000 or a single condominium unit with a combined dwelling and contents replacement cost below $700,000. Such policyholders would maintain eligibility for coverage with Citizens regardless of any offer of coverage from a surplus lines insurer.

Underwriting and Confidential Claim Files

The bill revises an existing public records exemption[85] under s. 626.916(1)(x)2., F.S., that allows authorized insurers, considering underwriting a risk held by Citizens, to access underwriting files and confidential claims files that would otherwise be exempt from public records requirements. The bill authorizes reinsurance intermediaries, eligible surplus lines insurers, or entities that have been created to seek authority to write property insurance in this state to also have access to such underwriting files and confidential claims. The bill also revises activities that would allow such parties, including authorized insurers, to receive this information. In particular, relevant information from both the underwriting files and confidential claim files may be released to the parties seeking to underwrite or assist in underwriting a risk.

Citizens Clearinghouse

Section 4 of the bill amends s. 627.3518(5), F.S., to apply the revised eligibility criteria to policies in the Citizens clearinghouse. Accordingly, if an offer of coverage from an authorized insurer is received by a Citizens policyholder through the clearinghouse, the risk is not eligible for Citizens coverage unless the premium for coverage from the authorized insurer is more than 20 percent greater than the renewal premium for comparable coverage from Citizens.

Roof Deductible

Section 5 amends s. 627.701, F.S., to allow property insurers to require a separate roof deductible as condition of eligibility or renewal of a residential property insurance policy, if all of the following conditions are met:

- The roof deductible may not exceed two percent of the policy's dwelling coverage limit.
- The premium for such coverage includes an actuarially sound premium discount or credit for the impact of the roof deductible.
- If the roof deductible is added to the policy at renewal, the insurer must provide a notice of change in policy terms pursuant to s. 627.43141, F.S.
- The roof deductible does not apply to:
  - A total loss to a primary structure in accordance with the valued policy law under s. 627.702, F.S., which is caused by a covered peril.
  - A roof loss caused by a hurricane as defined by s. 627.4025(2), F.S.
  - A roof loss that can be repaired without replacement of the roof.

[85] Public records, unless expressly stated to be confidential and exempt, are subject to s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. 1 of the State Constitution.

- If a roof deductible is applied, no other policy deductible may be applied to the loss. If, however, a roof deductible is not applied, the all-other-perils deductible or the hurricane deductible may be applied.

The bill specifies that a roof deductible provision may only be included in an insurance policy if the OIR determines the deductible provisions of the policy are clear and unambiguous.

The bill also requires that any personal lines residential property insurance policy that contains a separate roof deductible must include the following disclosure in at least 18-point, boldfaced type:

> THIS POLICY CONTAINS A SEPARATE DEDUCTIBLE FOR ROOF LOSSES WHICH MAY RSULT IN HIGH OUT-OF-POCKET EXPENSES TO YOU.

The policy must also prominently display the actual dollar value of the roof deductible on the policy declarations page at issuance, and for renewal, on the renewal declarations page or the premium renewal notice.

Section 6 amends s. 627.7011(3)(a), F.S., to allow residential property insurers that utilize a roof deductible to provide only actual cash value reimbursement on a roof loss until the insurer receives reasonable proof of payment by the policyholder of the roof deductible. The bill defines "reasonable proof of payment" to include a canceled check, money order receipt, credit card statement, or copy of an executed installment plan contract or other financing arrangement that requires full payment of the deductible over time.

Attorney Fees

Section 7 amends s. 627.70152, F.S., to allow a defendant to receive reasonable fees and costs if a claimant's suit against the defendant is dismissed for failure to submit a notice of intent to litigate.

Other Bill Sections

Sections 8, 9, and 10 of the bill reenact certain sections of the Florida Statutes to incorporate the amendments made by this bill.

Section 11 provides an effective date of July 1, 2022.

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

Section 1 of the bill revises the currently existing prohibition against contractors making prohibited advertisements related to insurance claims for roof damage. Under the bill, such communications are not prohibited if certain disclosures regarding insurance fraud and property insurance deductibles are included in the advertisement. Background on United States Supreme Court cases relevant to this topic is included on pages 4 through 6 of this Staff Analysis.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The bill limits application of the Citizens glidepath on rates, which is the statutory provision that provides that no single residential policy insured by Citizens may incur an annual rate increase above a certain threshold – 11 percent in 2022, exclusive of coverage changes and surcharges. Under the bill, the glidepath is applied to only primary residences. Thus, Citizens will charge a premium based on an actuarially sound rate to non-primary residences (such as second homes). According to the most recent Citizens rate filing, the statewide average actuarially indicated rate for personal lines policies would require an average rate increase of 34.9 percent.[86] Application of the glidepath limit resulted in Citizens proposing an average rate increase of 8.6 percent for 2022.[87] Under the bill, an additional rate increase averaging 26.3 percent would be imposed on a non-primary residences.

Insureds that purchase policies with a separate roof deductible will receive a premium discount related to the deductible, but will have increased personal financial responsibility for a roof replacement to which the deductible applies.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The provisions of the bill intended to depopulate Citizens – making all applicants for new Citizens residential coverage and current Citizens residential policyholders ineligible for Citizens coverage upon receiving an offer from an authorized insurer unless the premium is more than 20 percent higher than the Citizens premium, and limiting application of the Citizens glidepath – will result in Citizens having a lower number of policies and collecting more premium from some policyholders. To the extent that the bill reduces Citizens policy count or slows the growth of the policy count, it will reduce the likelihood of Citizens running a deficit and having to impose surcharges and assessments on policyholders.

627.351 Insurance risk apportionment plans.—

(6) CITIZENS PROPERTY INSURANCE CORPORATION.—

(a) The public purpose of this subsection is to ensure that there is an orderly market for property insurance for residents and businesses of this state.

1. The Legislature finds that private insurers are unwilling or unable to provide affordable property insurance coverage in this state to the extent sought and needed. The absence of affordable property insurance threatens the public health, safety, and welfare and likewise threatens the economic health of the state. The state therefore has a compelling public interest and a public purpose to assist in assuring that property in this ~~the~~ state is insured and that it is insured at affordable rates so as to facilitate the remediation, reconstruction, and replacement of damaged or destroyed property in order to reduce or avoid the negative effects otherwise resulting to the public health, safety, and welfare, to the economy of the state, and to the revenues of the state and local governments which are needed to provide for the public welfare. It is necessary, therefore, to provide affordable property insurance to applicants who are in good faith entitled to procure insurance through the voluntary market but are unable to do so. The Legislature intends, therefore, that affordable property insurance be provided and that it continue to be provided, as long as necessary, through Citizens Property Insurance Corporation, a government entity that is an integral part of the state, and that is not a private insurance company. To that end, the corporation shall strive to increase the availability of affordable property insurance in this state, while achieving efficiencies and economies, and while providing service to policyholders, applicants, and agents which is no less than the quality generally provided in the voluntary market, for the achievement of the foregoing public purposes. Because it is essential for this government entity to have the maximum financial resources to pay claims following a catastrophic hurricane, it is the intent of the Legislature that the corporation continue to be an integral part of the state and that the income of the corporation be exempt from federal income taxation and that interest on the debt obligations issued by the corporation be exempt from federal income taxation.

2. The Residential Property and Casualty Joint Underwriting

Association originally created by this statute shall be known as the Citizens Property Insurance Corporation. The corporation shall provide insurance for residential and commercial property, for applicants who are entitled, but, in good faith, are unable to procure insurance through the voluntary market. The corporation shall operate pursuant to a plan of operation approved by order of the Financial Services Commission. The plan is subject to continuous review by the commission. The commission may, by order, withdraw approval of all or part of a plan if the commission determines that conditions have changed since approval was granted and that the purposes of the plan require changes in the plan. For the purposes of this subsection, residential coverage includes both personal lines residential coverage, which consists of the type of coverage provided by homeowner, mobile home owner, dwelling, tenant, condominium unit owner, and similar policies; and commercial lines residential coverage, which consists of the type of coverage provided by condominium association, apartment building, and similar policies.

3. With respect to coverage for personal lines residential structures, and~~:~~

If a policyholder is insured by the corporation before being determined to be ineligible pursuant to this subparagraph and such policyholder files a lawsuit challenging the determination, the policyholder may remain insured by the corporation until the conclusion of the litigation.~~

~~b. Effective January 1, 2015, a structure that has a dwelling replacement cost of $900,000 or more, or a single condominium unit that has a combined dwelling and contents replacement cost of $900,000 or more, is not eligible for coverage by the corporation. Such dwellings insured by the corporation on December 31, 2014, may continue to be covered by the corporation only until the end of the policy term.~~

~~c. Effective January 1, 2016, a structure that has a dwelling replacement cost of $800,000 or more, or a single condominium unit that has a combined dwelling and contents replacement cost of $800,000 or more, is not eligible for coverage by the corporation. Such dwellings insured by the corporation on December 31, 2015, may continue to be covered by the corporation until the end of the policy term.~~

~~subparagraphs b.-d. do not apply~~ However, in counties where the office determines there is not a reasonable degree of competition, ~~. In such counties~~ a ~~personal lines residential~~ structure that has a dwelling replacement cost of less than $1 million, or a single condominium unit that has a combined dwelling and contents replacement cost of less than $1 million, is eligible for coverage by the corporation.

4. It is the intent of the Legislature that policyholders, applicants, and agents of the corporation receive service and treatment of the highest possible level but never less than that generally provided in the voluntary market. It is also intended that the corporation be held to service standards no less than those applied to insurers in the voluntary market by the office with respect to responsiveness, timeliness, customer courtesy, and overall dealings with policyholders, applicants, or agents of the corporation.

5.a. Effective January 1, 2009, a personal lines residential structure that is located in the "wind-borne debris region," as defined in s. 1609.2, International Building Code (2006), and that has an insured value on the structure of $750,000 or more is not eligible for coverage by the corporation unless the structure has opening protections as required under the Florida Building Code for a newly constructed residential structure in that area. A residential structure is deemed to comply with this sub-subparagraph if it has shutters or opening protections on all openings and if such opening protections complied with the Florida Building Code at the time they were installed.

b. Any major structure, as defined in s. 161.54(6)(a), that is newly constructed, or rebuilt, repaired, restored, or remodeled to increase the total square footage of finished area by more than 25 percent, pursuant to a permit applied for after July 1, 2015, is not eligible for coverage by the corporation if the structure is seaward of the coastal construction control line established pursuant to s. 161.053 or is within the Coastal Barrier Resources System as designated by 16 U.S.C. ss. 3501-3510.

6. With respect to wind-only coverage for commercial lines residential condominiums, effective July 1, 2014, a condominium shall be deemed ineligible for coverage if 50 percent or more of the units are rented more than eight times in a calendar year for a rental agreement period of less than 30 days.

(c) The corporation's plan of operation:

1. Must provide for adoption of residential property and casualty insurance policy forms and commercial residential and nonresidential property insurance forms, which must be approved by the office before use. The corporation shall adopt the following policy forms:

a. Standard personal lines policy forms that are comprehensive multiperil policies providing full coverage of a residential property equivalent to the coverage provided in the private insurance market under an HO-3, HO-4, or HO-6 policy.

b. Basic personal lines policy forms that are policies similar to an HO-8 policy or a dwelling fire policy that provide coverage meeting the requirements of the secondary mortgage market, but which is more limited than the coverage under a standard policy.

c. Commercial lines residential and nonresidential policy forms that are generally similar to the basic perils of full coverage obtainable for commercial residential structures and commercial nonresidential structures in the admitted voluntary market.

d. Personal lines and commercial lines residential property insurance forms that cover the peril of wind only. The forms are applicable only to residential properties located in areas eligible for coverage under the coastal account referred to in sub-subparagraph (b)2.a.

e. Commercial lines nonresidential property insurance forms that cover the peril of wind only. The forms are applicable only to nonresidential properties located in areas eligible for coverage under the coastal account referred to in sub-subparagraph (b)2.a.

f. The corporation may adopt variations of the policy forms listed in sub-subparagraphs a.-e. which contain more restrictive coverage.

g. Effective January 1, 2013, the corporation shall offer a basic personal lines policy similar to an HO-8 policy with dwelling repair based on common construction materials and methods.

2. Must provide that the corporation adopt a program in which the corporation and authorized insurers enter into quota share primary insurance agreements for hurricane coverage, as defined in s. 627.4025(2)(a), for eligible risks, and adopt property insurance forms for eligible risks which cover the peril of wind only.

a. As used in this subsection, the term:

(I) "Quota share primary insurance" means an arrangement in which the primary hurricane coverage of an eligible risk is provided in specified percentages by the corporation and an authorized insurer. The corporation and authorized insurer are each solely responsible for a specified percentage of hurricane coverage of an eligible risk as set forth in a quota share primary insurance agreement between the corporation and an authorized insurer and the insurance contract. The responsibility of the corporation or authorized insurer to pay its specified percentage of hurricane losses of an eligible risk, as set forth in the agreement, may not be altered by the inability of the other party to pay its specified percentage of losses. Eligible risks that are provided hurricane coverage through a quota share primary insurance arrangement must be provided policy forms that set forth the obligations of the corporation and authorized insurer under the arrangement, clearly specify the percentages of quota share primary insurance provided by the corporation and authorized insurer, and conspicuously and clearly state that the authorized insurer and the corporation may not be held responsible beyond their specified percentage of coverage of hurricane losses.

(II) "Eligible risks" means personal lines residential and commercial lines residential risks that meet the underwriting criteria of the corporation and are located in areas that were eligible for coverage by the Florida Windstorm Underwriting Association on January 1, 2002.

b. The corporation may enter into quota share primary insurance agreements with authorized insurers at corporation coverage levels of 90 percent and 50 percent.

c. If the corporation determines that additional coverage levels are necessary to maximize participation in quota share primary insurance agreements by authorized insurers, the corporation may establish additional coverage levels. However, the corporation's quota share primary insurance coverage level may not exceed 90 percent.

d. Any quota share primary insurance agreement entered into between an authorized insurer and the corporation must provide for a uniform specified percentage of coverage of hurricane losses, by county or territory as set forth by the corporation board, for all eligible risks of the authorized insurer covered under the agreement.

e. Any quota share primary insurance agreement entered into between an authorized insurer and the corporation is subject to review and approval by the office. However, such agreement shall be authorized only as to insurance contracts entered into between an authorized insurer and an insured who is already insured by the corporation for wind coverage.

f. For all eligible risks covered under quota share primary insurance agreements, the exposure and coverage levels for both the corporation and authorized insurers shall be reported by the corporation to the Florida Hurricane Catastrophe Fund. For all policies of eligible risks covered under such agreements, the corporation and the authorized insurer must maintain complete and accurate records for the purpose of exposure and loss reimbursement audits as required by fund rules. The corporation and the authorized insurer shall each maintain duplicate copies of policy declaration pages and supporting claims documents.

g. The corporation board shall establish in its plan of operation standards for quota share agreements which ensure that there is no discriminatory application among insurers as to the terms of the agreements, pricing of the agreements, incentive provisions if any, and consideration paid for servicing policies or adjusting claims.

h. The quota share primary insurance agreement between the corporation and an authorized insurer must set forth the specific terms under which coverage is provided, including, but not limited to, the sale and servicing of policies issued under the agreement by the insurance agent of the authorized insurer producing the business, the reporting of information concerning eligible risks, the payment of premium to the corporation, and arrangements for the adjustment and payment of hurricane claims incurred on eligible risks by the claims adjuster and personnel of the authorized insurer. Entering into a quota sharing insurance agreement between the corporation and an authorized insurer is voluntary and at the discretion of the authorized insurer.

3. May provide that the corporation may employ or otherwise contract with individuals or other entities to provide administrative or professional services that may be appropriate to effectuate the plan. The corporation may borrow funds by issuing bonds or by incurring other indebtedness, and shall have other powers reasonably necessary to effectuate the requirements of this subsection, including, without limitation, the power to issue bonds and incur other indebtedness in order to refinance outstanding bonds or other indebtedness. The corporation may seek judicial validation of its bonds or other indebtedness under chapter 75. The corporation may issue bonds or incur other indebtedness, or have bonds issued on its behalf by a unit of local government pursuant to subparagraph (q)2. in the absence of a hurricane or other weather-related event, upon a determination by the corporation, subject to approval by the office, that such action would enable it to efficiently meet the financial obligations of the corporation and that such financings are reasonably necessary to effectuate the requirements of this subsection. The corporation may take all actions needed to facilitate tax-free status for such bonds or indebtedness, including formation of trusts or other affiliated entities. The corporation may pledge assessments, projected recoveries from the Florida Hurricane Catastrophe Fund, other reinsurance recoverables, policyholder surcharges and other surcharges, and other funds available to the corporation as security for bonds or other indebtedness. In recognition of s. 10, Art. I of the State Constitution, prohibiting the impairment of obligations of contracts, it is the intent of the Legislature that no action be taken whose purpose is to impair any bond indenture or financing agreement or any revenue source committed by contract to such bond or other indebtedness.

4. Must require that the corporation operate subject to the supervision and approval of a board of governors consisting of nine individuals who are residents of this state and who are from different geographical areas of the state, one of whom is appointed by the Governor and serves solely to advocate on behalf of the consumer. The appointment of a consumer representative by the Governor is deemed to be within the scope of the exemption provided in s. 112.313(7)(b) and is in addition to the appointments authorized under sub-subparagraph a.

a. The Governor, the Chief Financial Officer, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall each appoint two members of the board. At least one of the two members appointed by each appointing officer must have demonstrated expertise in insurance of at least 10 years' experience with property and casualty insurance as a full-time employee, officer, or owner of a licensed insurance agency, an insurer authorized to transact property insurance in this state, or an insurance trade association and be deemed to be within the scope of the exemption provided in s. 112.313(7)(b). The Chief Financial Officer shall designate one of the appointees with demonstrated expertise in insurance as chair. All board members serve at the pleasure of the appointing officer. All members of the board are subject to removal at will by the officers who appointed them. All board members, including the chair, must be appointed to serve for 3-year terms beginning annually on a date designated by the plan. However, for the first term beginning on or after July 1, 2009, each appointing officer shall appoint one member of the board for a 2-year term and one member for a 3-year term. A board vacancy shall be filled for the unexpired term by the appointing officer. The Chief Financial Officer shall appoint a technical advisory group to provide information and advice to the board in connection with the board's duties under this subsection. The executive director and senior managers of the corporation shall be engaged by the board and serve at the pleasure of the board. The executive director must have the experience, character, and qualifications required under s. 624.404(3) to serve as the chief executive officer of an insurer. Any executive director appointed on or after July 1, 2006, is subject to confirmation by the Senate. The executive director is responsible for employing other staff as the corporation may require, subject to review and concurrence by the board.

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

b. The board shall create a Market Accountability Advisory Committee to assist the corporation in developing awareness of its rates and its customer and agent service levels in relationship to the voluntary market insurers writing similar coverage.

(I) The members of the advisory committee consist of the following 11 persons, one of whom must be elected chair by the members of the committee: four representatives, one appointed by the Florida Association of Insurance Agents, one by the Florida Association of Insurance and Financial Advisors, one by the Professional Insurance Agents of Florida, and one by the Latin American Association of Insurance Agencies; three representatives appointed by the insurers with the three highest voluntary market share of residential property insurance business in the state; one representative from the Office of Insurance Regulation; one consumer appointed by the board who is insured by the corporation at the time of appointment to the committee; one representative appointed by the Florida Association of Realtors; and one representative appointed by the Florida Bankers Association. All members shall be appointed to 3-year terms and may serve for consecutive terms.

(II) The committee shall report to the corporation at each board meeting on insurance market issues which may include rates and rate competition with the voluntary market; service, including policy issuance, claims processing, and general responsiveness to policyholders, applicants, and agents; and matters relating to depopulation.

5. Must provide a procedure for determining the eligibility of a risk for coverage, as follows:

a. Subject to s. 627.3517, with respect to personal lines residential risks, if the risk is offered coverage from an authorized insurer at the insurer's approved rate under a standard policy including wind coverage or, if consistent with the insurer's underwriting rules as filed with the office, a basic policy including wind coverage, for a new application to the corporation for coverage, the risk is not eligible for any policy issued by the corporation unless the premium for coverage from the authorized insurer is more than 20 percent greater than the premium for comparable coverage from the corporation. Whenever an offer of coverage for a personal lines residential risk is received for a policyholder of the corporation at renewal from an authorized insurer, ~~if the offer is equal to or less than the corporation's renewal premium for comparable coverage,~~ the risk is not eligible for coverage with the corporation unless the premium for coverage from the authorized insurer is more than 20 percent greater than the renewal premium for comparable coverage from the corporation. If the risk is not able to obtain such offer, the risk is eligible for a standard policy including wind coverage or a basic policy including wind coverage issued by the corporation; however, if the risk could not be insured under a standard policy including wind coverage regardless of market conditions, the risk is eligible for a basic policy including wind coverage unless rejected under subparagraph 8. However, a policyholder removed from the corporation through an assumption agreement remains eligible for coverage from the corporation until the end of the assumption period. The corporation shall determine the type of policy to be provided on the basis of objective standards specified in the underwriting manual and based on generally accepted underwriting practices.

(I) If the risk accepts an offer of coverage through the market assistance plan or through a mechanism established by the corporation other than a plan established by s. 627.3518, before a policy is issued to the risk by the corporation or during the first 30 days of coverage by the corporation, and the producing agent who submitted the application to the plan or to the corporation is not currently appointed by the insurer, the insurer shall:

(A) Pay to the producing agent of record of the policy for the first year, an amount that is the greater of the insurer's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written or a fee equal to the usual and customary commission of the corporation; or

(B) Offer to allow the producing agent of record of the policy to continue servicing the policy for at least 1 year and offer to pay the agent the greater of the insurer's or the corporation's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written.

If the producing agent is unwilling or unable to accept appointment, the new insurer shall pay the agent in accordance with sub-sub-sub-subparagraph (A).

(II) If the corporation enters into a contractual agreement for a take-out plan, the producing agent of record of the corporation policy is entitled to retain any unearned commission on the policy, and the insurer shall:

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

(B) Offer to allow the producing agent of record to continue servicing the policy for at least 1 year and offer to pay the agent the greater of the insurer's or the corporation's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written.

If the producing agent is unwilling or unable to accept appointment, the new insurer shall pay the agent in accordance with sub-sub-sub-subparagraph (A).

b. With respect to commercial lines residential risks, for a new application to the corporation for coverage, if the risk is offered coverage under a policy including wind coverage from an authorized insurer at its approved rate, the risk is not eligible for a policy issued by the corporation unless the premium for coverage from the authorized insurer is more than 20 ~~15~~ percent greater than the premium for comparable coverage from the corporation. Whenever an offer of coverage for a commercial lines residential risk is received for a policyholder of the corporation at renewal from an authorized insurer, ~~if the offer is equal to or less than the corporation's renewal premium for comparable coverage,~~ the risk is not eligible for coverage with the corporation unless the premium for coverage from the authorized insurer is more than 20 percent greater than the renewal premium for comparable coverage from the corporation. If the risk is not able to obtain any such offer, the risk is eligible for a policy including wind coverage issued by the corporation. However, a policyholder removed from the corporation through an assumption agreement remains eligible for coverage from the corporation until the end of the assumption period.

(I) If the risk accepts an offer of coverage through the market assistance plan or through a mechanism established by the corporation other than a plan established by s. 627.3518, before a policy is issued to the risk by the corporation or during the first 30 days of coverage by the corporation, and the producing agent who submitted the application to the plan or the corporation is not currently appointed by the insurer, the insurer shall:

(A) Pay to the producing agent of record of the policy, for the first year, an amount that is the greater of the insurer's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written or a fee equal to the usual and customary commission of the corporation; or

(B) Offer to allow the producing agent of record of the policy to continue servicing the policy for at least 1 year and offer to pay the agent the greater of the insurer's or the corporation's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written.

If the producing agent is unwilling or unable to accept appointment, the new insurer shall pay the agent in accordance with sub-sub-sub-subparagraph (A).

(II) If the corporation enters into a contractual agreement for a take-out plan, the producing agent of record of the corporation policy is entitled to retain any unearned commission on the policy, and the insurer shall:

(A) Pay to the producing agent of record, for the first year, an amount that is the greater of the insurer's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written or a fee equal to the usual and customary commission of the corporation; or

(B) Offer to allow the producing agent of record to continue servicing the policy for at least 1 year and offer to pay the agent the greater of the insurer's or the corporation's usual and customary commission for the type of policy written.

If the producing agent is unwilling or unable to accept appointment, the new insurer shall pay the agent in accordance with sub-sub-sub-subparagraph (A).

c. For purposes of determining comparable coverage under sub-subparagraphs a. and b., the comparison must be based on those forms and coverages that are reasonably comparable. The corporation may rely on a determination of comparable coverage and premium made by the producing agent who submits the application to the corporation, made in the agent's capacity as the corporation's agent. A comparison may be made solely of the premium with respect to the main building or structure only on the following basis: the same coverage A or other building limits; the same percentage hurricane deductible that applies on an annual basis or that applies to each hurricane for commercial residential property; the same percentage of ordinance and law coverage, if the same limit is offered by both the corporation and the authorized insurer; the same mitigation credits, to the extent the same types of credits are offered both by the corporation and the authorized insurer; the same method for loss payment, such as replacement cost or actual cash value, if the same method is offered both by the corporation and the authorized insurer in accordance with underwriting rules; and any other form or coverage that is reasonably comparable as determined by the board. If an application is submitted to the corporation for wind-only coverage in the coastal account, the premium for the corporation's wind-only policy plus the premium for the ex-wind policy ~~that is~~ offered by an authorized insurer to the applicant must be compared to the premium for multiperil coverage offered by an authorized insurer, subject to the standards for comparison specified in this subparagraph. If the corporation or the applicant requests from the authorized insurer a breakdown of the premium of the offer by types of coverage so that a comparison may be made by the corporation or its agent and the authorized insurer refuses or is unable to provide such information, the corporation may treat the offer as not being an offer of coverage from an authorized insurer at the insurer's approved rate.

6. Must include rules for classifications of risks and rates.

7. Must provide that if premium and investment income for an account attributable to a particular calendar year are in excess of projected losses and expenses for the account attributable to that year, such excess shall be held in surplus in the account. Such surplus must be available to defray deficits in that account as to future years and used for that purpose before assessing assessable insurers and assessable insureds as to any calendar year.

8. Must provide objective criteria and procedures to be uniformly applied to all applicants in determining whether an individual risk is so hazardous as to be uninsurable. In making this determination and in establishing the criteria and procedures, the following must be considered:

a. Whether the likelihood of a loss for the individual risk is substantially higher than for other risks of the same class; and

b. Whether the uncertainty associated with the individual risk is such that an appropriate premium cannot be determined.

The acceptance or rejection of a risk by the corporation shall be construed as the private placement of insurance, and the provisions of chapter 120 do not apply.

9. Must provide that the corporation make its best efforts to procure catastrophe reinsurance at reasonable rates, to cover its projected 100-year probable maximum loss as determined by the board of governors. If catastrophe reinsurance is not available at reasonable rates, the corporation need not purchase it, but the corporation shall include the costs of reinsurance to cover its projected 100-year probable maximum loss in its rate calculations even if it does not purchase catastrophe reinsurance.

10. The policies issued by the corporation must provide that if the corporation or the market assistance plan obtains an offer from an authorized insurer to cover the risk at its approved rates, the risk is no longer eligible for renewal through the corporation, except as otherwise provided in this subsection.

11. Corporation policies and applications must include a notice that the corporation policy could, under this section, be replaced with a policy issued by an authorized insurer which does not provide coverage identical to the coverage provided by the corporation. The notice must also specify that acceptance of corporation coverage creates a conclusive presumption that the applicant or policyholder is aware of this potential.

12. May establish, subject to approval by the office, different eligibility requirements and operational procedures for any line or type of coverage for any specified county or area if the board determines that such changes are justified due to the voluntary market being sufficiently stable and competitive in such area or for such line or type of coverage and that consumers who, in good faith, are unable to obtain insurance through the voluntary market through ordinary methods continue to have access to coverage from the corporation. If coverage is sought in connection with a real property transfer, the requirements and procedures may not provide an effective date of coverage later than the date of the closing of the transfer as established by the transferor, the transferee, and, if applicable, the lender.

13. Must provide that, with respect to the coastal account, any assessable insurer with a surplus as to policyholders of $25 million or less writing 25 percent or more of its total countrywide property insurance premiums in this state may petition the office, within the first 90 days of each calendar year, to qualify as a limited apportionment company. A regular assessment levied by the corporation on a limited apportionment company for a deficit incurred by the corporation for the coastal account may be paid to the corporation on a monthly basis as the assessments are collected by the limited apportionment company from its insureds, but a limited apportionment company must begin collecting the regular assessments not later than 90 days after the regular assessments are levied by the corporation, and the regular assessments must be paid in full within 15 months after being levied by the corporation. A limited apportionment company shall collect from its policyholders any emergency assessment imposed under sub-subparagraph (b)3.d. The plan must provide that, if the office determines that any regular assessment will result in an impairment of the surplus of a limited apportionment company, the office may direct that all or part of such assessment be deferred as provided in subparagraph (q)4. However, an emergency assessment to be collected from policyholders under sub-subparagraph (b)3.d. may not be limited or deferred.

14. Must provide that the corporation appoint as its licensed agents only those agents who throughout such appointments also hold an appointment as defined in s. 626.015 by an insurer who is authorized to write and is actually writing or renewing personal lines residential property coverage, commercial residential property coverage, or commercial nonresidential property coverage within the state.

15. Must provide a premium payment plan option to its policyholders which, at a minimum, allows for quarterly and semiannual payment of premiums. A monthly payment plan may, but is not required to, be offered.

16. Must limit coverage on mobile homes or manufactured homes built before 1994 to actual cash value of the dwelling rather than replacement costs of the dwelling.

17. Must provide coverage for manufactured or mobile home dwellings. Such coverage must also include the following attached structures:

a. Screened enclosures that are aluminum framed or screened enclosures that are not covered by the same or substantially the same materials as those of the primary dwelling;

b. Carports that are aluminum or carports that are not covered by the same or substantially the same materials as those of the primary dwelling; and

c. Patios that have a roof covering ~~that is~~ constructed of materials that are not the same or substantially the same materials as those of the primary dwelling.

The corporation shall make available a policy for mobile homes or manufactured homes for a minimum insured value of at least $3,000.

18. May provide such limits of coverage as the board determines, consistent with the requirements of this subsection.

19. May require commercial property to meet specified hurricane mitigation construction features as a condition of eligibility for coverage.

20. Must provide that new or renewal policies issued by the corporation on or after January 1, 2012, which cover sinkhole loss do not include coverage for any loss to appurtenant structures, driveways, sidewalks, decks, or patios that are directly or indirectly caused by sinkhole activity. The corporation shall exclude such coverage using a notice of coverage change, which may be included with the policy renewal, and not by issuance of a notice of nonrenewal of the excluded coverage upon renewal of the current policy.

21. As of January 1, 2012, must require that the agent obtain from an applicant for coverage from the corporation an acknowledgment signed by the applicant, which includes, at a minimum, the following statement:

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF POTENTIAL SURCHARGE
AND ASSESSMENT LIABILITY:

1. AS A POLICYHOLDER OF CITIZENS PROPERTY INSURANCE CORPORATION, I UNDERSTAND THAT IF THE CORPORATION SUSTAINS A DEFICIT AS A RESULT OF HURRICANE LOSSES OR FOR ANY OTHER REASON, MY POLICY COULD BE SUBJECT TO SURCHARGES, WHICH WILL BE DUE AND PAYABLE UPON RENEWAL, CANCELLATION, OR TERMINATION OF THE POLICY, AND THAT THE SURCHARGES COULD BE AS HIGH AS 45 PERCENT OF MY PREMIUM, OR A DIFFERENT AMOUNT AS IMPOSED BY THE FLORIDA LEGISLATURE.

2. I UNDERSTAND THAT I CAN AVOID THE CITIZENS POLICYHOLDER SURCHARGE, WHICH COULD BE AS HIGH AS 45 PERCENT OF MY PREMIUM, BY OBTAINING COVERAGE FROM A PRIVATE MARKET INSURER AND THAT TO BE ELIGIBLE FOR COVERAGE BY CITIZENS, I MUST FIRST TRY TO OBTAIN PRIVATE MARKET COVERAGE BEFORE APPLYING FOR OR RENEWING COVERAGE WITH CITIZENS. I UNDERSTAND THAT PRIVATE MARKET INSURANCE RATES ARE REGULATED AND APPROVED BY THE STATE.

3. I UNDERSTAND THAT I MAY BE SUBJECT TO EMERGENCY

ASSESSMENTS TO THE SAME EXTENT AS POLICYHOLDERS OF OTHER INSURANCE COMPANIES, OR A DIFFERENT AMOUNT AS IMPOSED BY THE FLORIDA LEGISLATURE.

4. I ALSO UNDERSTAND THAT CITIZENS PROPERTY INSURANCE CORPORATION IS NOT SUPPORTED BY THE FULL FAITH AND CREDIT OF THE STATE OF FLORIDA.

a. The corporation shall maintain, in electronic format or otherwise, a copy of the applicant's signed acknowledgment and provide a copy of the statement to the policyholder as part of the first renewal after the effective date of this subparagraph.

b. The signed acknowledgment form creates a conclusive presumption that the policyholder understood and accepted his or her potential surcharge and assessment liability as a policyholder of the corporation.

(n)1. Rates for coverage provided by the corporation must be actuarially sound and subject to s. 627.062, except as otherwise provided in this paragraph. The corporation shall file its recommended rates with the office at least annually. The corporation shall provide any additional information regarding the rates which the office requires. The office shall consider the recommendations of the board and issue a final order establishing the rates for the corporation within 45 days after the recommended rates are filed. The corporation may not pursue an administrative challenge or judicial review of the final order of the office.

2. In addition to the rates otherwise determined pursuant to this paragraph, the corporation shall impose and collect an amount equal to the premium tax provided in s. 624.509 to augment the financial resources of the corporation.

3. After the public hurricane loss-projection model under s. 627.06281 has been found to be accurate and reliable by the Florida Commission on Hurricane Loss Projection Methodology, the model shall be considered when establishing the windstorm portion of the corporation's rates. The corporation may use the public model results in combination with the results of private models to calculate rates for the windstorm portion of the corporation's rates. This subparagraph does not require or allow the corporation to adopt rates lower than the rates otherwise required or allowed by this paragraph.

4. The corporation must make a recommended actuarially sound rate filing for each personal and commercial line of business it writes.

5. Notwithstanding the board's recommended rates and the office's final order regarding the corporation's filed rates under subparagraph 1., the corporation shall annually implement a rate increase which, except for sinkhole coverage, does not exceed the following for any single personal lines residential policy issued by the corporation that covers an insured's primary residence, and any single commercial lines residential policy issued by the corporation, excluding coverage changes and surcharges:

a. Eleven percent for 2022.

b. Twelve percent for 2023.

c. Thirteen percent for 2024.

d. Fourteen percent for 2025.

e. Fifteen percent for 2026 and all subsequent years.

6. The corporation may also implement an increase to reflect the effect on the corporation of the cash buildup factor pursuant to s. 215.555(5)(b).

7. The corporation's implementation of rates as prescribed in subparagraph 5. shall cease for any line of business written by the corporation upon the corporation's implementation of actuarially sound rates. Thereafter, the corporation shall annually make a recommended actuarially sound rate filing for each commercial and personal line of business the corporation writes.

8. As used in this paragraph, "primary residence" means the dwelling that the insured has represented as their permanent home on the insurance application or otherwise to the corporation.

(ii) The corporation shall revise the programs adopted pursuant to sub-subparagraph (q)3.a. for personal lines residential policies to maximize policyholder options and encourage increased participation by insurers and agents. After January 1, 2017, a policy may not be taken out of the corporation unless the provisions of this paragraph are met.

1. The corporation must publish a periodic schedule of cycles during which an insurer may identify, and notify the corporation of, policies that the insurer is requesting to take out. A request must include a description of the coverage offered and an estimated premium and must be submitted to the corporation in a form and manner prescribed by the corporation.

2. The corporation must maintain and make available to the agent of record a consolidated list of all insurers requesting to take out a policy. The list must include a description of the coverage offered and the estimated premium for each take-out request.

3. The corporation must provide written notice to the policyholder and the agent of record regarding all insurers requesting to take out the policy, which notice must inform that a take-out offer that is not more than 20 percent greater than the corporation's premium renders the risk ineligible for coverage from ~~and regarding the policyholder's option to accept a take-out offer or to reject all take-out offers and to remain with~~ the corporation. The notice must be in a format prescribed by the corporation and include, for each take-out offer:

a. The amount of the estimated premium;

b. A description of the coverage; and

c. A comparison of the estimated premium and coverage offered by the insurer to the estimated premium and coverage provided by the corporation.

Section 3. Section 627.3518, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

627.3518 Citizens Property Insurance Corporation policyholder eligibility clearinghouse program. ~~The purpose of this section is to provide a framework for the corporation to implement a clearinghouse program by January 1, 2014.~~

(1) As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Corporation" means Citizens Property Insurance Corporation.

(b) "Exclusive agent" means any licensed insurance agent that has, by contract, agreed to act exclusively for one company or group of affiliated insurance companies and is disallowed by the provisions of that contract to directly write for any other unaffiliated insurer absent express consent from the company or group of affiliated insurance companies.

(c) "Independent agent" means any licensed insurance agent not described in paragraph (b).

(d) "Program" means the clearinghouse created under this section.

(2) In order to confirm eligibility with the corporation and to enhance access of new applicants for coverage and existing policyholders of the corporation to offers of coverage from authorized insurers, the corporation shall establish a program for personal residential risks in order to facilitate the diversion of ineligible applicants and existing policyholders from the corporation into the voluntary insurance market. The corporation shall also develop appropriate procedures for facilitating the diversion of ineligible applicants and existing policyholders for commercial residential coverage into the private insurance market ~~and shall report such procedures to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives by January 1, 2014~~.

(3) The corporation board shall establish the clearinghouse program as an organizational unit within the corporation. The program shall have all the rights and responsibilities in carrying out its duties as a licensed general lines agent, but may not be required to employ or engage a licensed general lines agent or to maintain an insurance agency license to carry out its activities in the solicitation and placement of insurance coverage. In establishing the program, the corporation may:

(a) Require all new applications, and all policies due for renewal, to be submitted for coverage to the program in order to facilitate obtaining an offer of coverage from an authorized insurer before binding or renewing coverage by the corporation.

(b) Employ or otherwise contract with individuals or other entities for appropriate administrative or professional services to effectuate the plan within the corporation in accordance with the applicable purchasing requirements under s. 627.351.

(c) Enter into contracts with any authorized insurer to participate in the program and accept an appointment by such insurer.

(d) Provide funds to operate the program. Insurers and agents participating in the program are not required to pay a fee to offset or partially offset the cost of the program or use the program for renewal of policies initially written through the clearinghouse.

(e) Develop an enhanced application that includes information to assist private insurers in determining whether to make an offer of coverage through the program.

(f) For personal lines residential risks, require, before approving all new applications for coverage by the corporation, that every application be subject to a period of 2 business days when any insurer participating in the program may select the application for coverage. The insurer may issue a binder on any policy selected for coverage for a period of at least 30 days but not more than 60 days.

(4) Any authorized insurer may participate in the program; however, participation is not mandatory for any insurer. Insurers making offers of coverage to new applicants or renewal policyholders through the program:

(a) May not be required to individually appoint any agent whose customer is underwritten and bound through the program.

Notwithstanding s. 626.112, insurers are not required to appoint any agent on a policy underwritten through the program for as long as that policy remains with the insurer. Insurers may, at their election, appoint any agent whose customer is initially underwritten and bound through the program. In the event an insurer accepts a policy from an agent who is not appointed pursuant to this paragraph, and thereafter elects to accept a policy from such agent, the provisions of s. 626.112 requiring appointment apply to the agent.

(b) Must enter into a limited agency agreement with each agent that is not appointed in accordance with paragraph (a) and whose customer is underwritten and bound through the program.

(c) Must enter into its standard agency agreement with each agent whose customer is underwritten and bound through the program when that agent has been appointed by the insurer pursuant to s. 626.112.

(d) Must comply with s. 627.4133(2).

(e) May participate through their single-designated managing general agent or broker; however, the provisions of paragraph (6)(a) regarding ownership, control, and use of the expirations continue to apply.

(f) Must pay to the producing agent a commission equal to that paid by the corporation or the usual and customary commission paid by the insurer for that line of business, whichever is greater.

(5) Notwithstanding s. 627.3517, any applicant for new coverage from the corporation is not eligible for coverage from the corporation if provided an offer of coverage from an authorized insurer through the program at a premium that is at or below the eligibility threshold established in s. 627.351(6)(c)5.a. Whenever an offer of coverage for a personal lines risk is received for a policyholder of the corporation at renewal from an authorized insurer through the program, if the offer is at or below the eligibility threshold established in s. 627.351(6)(c)5.a. ~~equal to or less than the corporation's renewal premium for comparable coverage~~, the risk is not eligible for coverage with the corporation. In the event an offer of coverage for a new applicant is received from an authorized insurer through the program, and the premium offered exceeds the eligibility threshold contained in s. 627.351(6)(c)5.a., the applicant or insured may elect to accept such coverage, or may elect to accept or continue coverage with the corporation. In the event an offer of coverage for a personal lines risk is received from an authorized insurer at renewal through the program, and the premium offered is at or below the eligibility threshold established in s. 627.351(6)(c)5.a. ~~more than the corporation's renewal premium for comparable coverage~~, the insured is not eligible to ~~may elect to accept such coverage, or may elect to accept or~~ continue coverage with the corporation. Section 627.351(6)(c)5.a.(I) does not apply to an offer of coverage from an authorized insurer obtained through the program. An applicant for coverage from the corporation who was declared ineligible for coverage at renewal by the corporation in the previous 36 months due to an offer of coverage pursuant to this subsection shall be considered a renewal under this section if the corporation determines that the authorized insurer making the offer of coverage pursuant to this subsection continues to insure the applicant and increased the rate on the policy in excess of the increase allowed for the corporation under s. 627.351(6)(n)5.

(6) Independent insurance agents submitting new applications for coverage or that are the agent of record on a renewal policy submitted to the program:

(a) Are granted and must maintain ownership and the exclusive use of expirations, records, or other written or electronic information directly related to such applications or renewals written through the corporation or through an insurer participating in the program, notwithstanding s. 627.351(6)(c)5.a.(I)(B) and (II)(B). Such ownership is granted for as long as the insured remains with the agency or until sold or surrendered in writing by the agent. Contracts with the corporation or required by the corporation must not amend, modify, interfere with, or limit such rights of ownership. Such expirations, records, or other written or electronic information may be used to review an application, issue a policy, or for any other purpose necessary for placing such business through the program.

(b) May not be required to be appointed by any insurer participating in the program for policies written solely through the program, notwithstanding the provisions of s. 626.112.

(c) May accept an appointment from any insurer participating in the program.

(d) May enter into either a standard or limited agency agreement with the insurer, at the insurer's option.

Applicants ineligible for coverage in accordance with subsection

(5) remain ineligible if their independent agent is unwilling or unable to enter into a standard or limited agency agreement with an insurer participating in the program.

(7) Exclusive agents submitting new applications for coverage or that are the agent of record on a renewal policy submitted to the program:

(a) Must maintain ownership and the exclusive use of expirations, records, or other written or electronic information directly related to such applications or renewals written through the corporation or through an insurer participating in the program, notwithstanding s. 627.351(6)(c)5.a.(I)(B) and (II)(B). Contracts with the corporation or required by the corporation must not amend, modify, interfere with, or limit such rights of ownership. Such expirations, records, or other written or electronic information may be used to review an application, issue a policy, or for any other purpose necessary for placing such business through the program.

(b) May not be required to be appointed by any insurer participating in the program for policies written solely through the program, notwithstanding the provisions of s. 626.112.

(c) Must only facilitate the placement of an offer of coverage from an insurer whose limited servicing agreement is approved by that exclusive agent's exclusive insurer.

(d) May enter into a limited servicing agreement with the insurer making an offer of coverage, and only after the exclusive agent's insurer has approved the limited servicing agreement terms. The exclusive agent's insurer must approve a limited service agreement for the program for any insurer for which it has approved a service agreement for other purposes.

Applicants ineligible for coverage in accordance with subsection (5) remain ineligible if their exclusive agent is unwilling or unable to enter into a standard or limited agency agreement with an insurer making an offer of coverage to that applicant.

(8) Submission of an application for coverage by the corporation to the program does not constitute the binding of coverage by the corporation, and failure of the program to obtain an offer of coverage by an insurer may not be considered acceptance of coverage of the risk by the corporation.

(9) The 45-day notice of nonrenewal requirement set forth in s. 627.4133(2)(b)5. applies when a policy is nonrenewed by the corporation because the risk has received an offer of coverage pursuant to this section which renders the risk ineligible for coverage by the corporation.

(10) The program may not include commercial nonresidential policies.

(11) Proprietary business information provided to the corporation's clearinghouse by insurers with respect to identifying and selecting risks for an offer of coverage is confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution.

(a) As used in this subsection, the term "proprietary business information" means information, regardless of form or characteristics, which is owned or controlled by an insurer and:

1. Is identified by the insurer as proprietary business information and is intended to be and is treated by the insurer as private in that the disclosure of the information would cause harm to the insurer, an individual, or the company's business operations and has not been disclosed unless disclosed pursuant to a statutory requirement, an order of a court or administrative body, or a private agreement that provides that the information will not be released to the public;

2. Is not otherwise readily ascertainable or publicly available by proper means by other persons from another source in the same configuration as provided to the clearinghouse; and

3. Includes:

a. Trade secrets, as defined in s. 688.002.

b. Information relating to competitive interests, the disclosure of which would impair the competitive business of the provider of the information.

Proprietary business information may be found in underwriting criteria or instructions which are used to identify and select risks through the program for an offer of coverage and are shared with the clearinghouse to facilitate the shopping of risks with the insurer.

(b) The clearinghouse may disclose confidential and exempt proprietary business information:

1. If the insurer to which it pertains gives prior written consent;

2. Pursuant to a court order; or

3. To another state agency in this or another state or to a federal agency if the recipient agrees in writing to maintain the confidential and exempt status of the document, material, or other information and has verified in writing its legal authority to maintain such confidentiality.

Section 4. Paragraphs (f), (g), and (h) are added to subsection (5) of section 627.7011, Florida Statutes, to read:

627.7011 Homeowners' policies; offer of replacement cost coverage and law and ordinance coverage.—

(5) This section does not:

(f)1. Prohibit an insurer, notwithstanding paragraph (1)(a), from providing limited coverage on a personal lines residential property insurance policy by including a roof surface type reimbursement schedule. If included in the policy, a roof surface type reimbursement schedule must do all of the following:

a. Provide reimbursement for repair, replacement, and installation based on the annual age of a roof surface type.

b. Provide full replacement coverage for:

(I) Any roof surface type less than 10 years old;

(II) A total loss to a primary structure in accordance with the valued policy law under s. 627.702 which is caused by a covered peril; and

(III) A loss to the roof caused by a storm declared to be a hurricane by the National Hurricane Center.

c. Use annual depreciation amounts that:

(I) Are actuarially justified and meet the requirements of s. 627.062; and

(II) Do not exceed 4 percent unless actuarially justified.

d. Be approved by the office.

e. Include at the top of the roof surface type schedule, in bold type no smaller than 12 points, the following statement:

"PLEASE DISCUSS WITH YOUR INSURANCE AGENT. YOU ARE ELECTING TO PURCHASE COVERAGE ON YOUR ROOF ACCORDING

TO A ROOF SURFACE TYPE REIMBURSEMENT SCHEDULE. IF YOUR ROOF IS DAMAGED BY A COVERED PERIL, YOU WILL RECEIVE A PAYMENT AMOUNT FOR YOUR ROOF ACCORDING TO THE SCHEDULE BELOW. BE ADVISED THAT THIS MAY RESULT IN YOU HAVING TO PAY SIGNIFICANT COSTS TO REPAIR OR REPLACE YOUR ROOF. PLEASE DISCUSS WITH YOUR INSURANCE AGENT."

f. Be provided to the insured with the policy documents at issuance and renewal.

2. A residential property insurance policy may convert to a roof surface type reimbursement schedule at renewal if the roof is at least 10 years old and the policyholder:

a. Receives a Notice of Change in Policy Terms pursuant to s. 627.43141; and

b. Accepts the written notice of renewal premium required under s. 627.4133, by paying the premium.

(g) Prohibit an insurer, notwithstanding paragraph (1)(a), from providing coverage on a personal lines residential property insurance policy that limits coverage for a roof to a stated value sublimit of coverage. If included in a policy, a stated value sublimit of coverage must do all of the following:

1. Provide full replacement coverage for:

a. Any roof surface type less than 10 years old;

b. A total loss to a primary structure in accordance with the valued policy law under s. 627.702 which is caused by a covered peril; and

c. A loss to the roof caused by a storm declared to be a hurricane by the National Hurricane Center.

2. Include in the policy documents at issuance and at renewal, in bold type no smaller than 12 points, the following statement:

"PLEASE DISCUSS WITH YOUR INSURANCE AGENT. YOU ARE ELECTING TO PURCHASE A STATED VALUE SUBLIMIT OF COVERAGE ON YOUR ROOF. BE ADVISED THAT THIS MAY RESULT IN YOU HAVING TO PAY SIGNIFICANT COSTS TO REPAIR OR REPLACE YOUR ROOF. PLEASE DISCUSS WITH YOUR INSURANCE AGENT."

(h) Prohibit an insurer that provides roof reimbursement on the basis of a roof surface type reimbursement schedule or that limits coverage for a roof to a stated value sublimit of coverage from also offering roof reimbursement on the basis of replacement costs.

Section 5. For the purpose of incorporating the amendments made by this act to section 627.351, Florida Statutes, in a reference thereto, subsection (10) of section 624.424, Florida Statutes, is reenacted to read:

624.424 Annual statement and other information.—

(10) Each insurer or insurer group doing business in this state shall file on a quarterly basis in conjunction with financial reports required by paragraph (1)(a) a supplemental report on an individual and group basis on a form prescribed by the commission with information on personal lines and commercial lines residential property insurance policies in this state. The supplemental report shall include separate information for personal lines property policies and for commercial lines property policies and totals for each item specified, including premiums written for each of the property lines of business as described in ss. 215.555(2)(c) and 627.351(6)(a). The report shall include the following information for each county on a monthly basis:

(a) Total number of policies in force at the end of each month.

(b) Total number of policies canceled.

(c) Total number of policies nonrenewed.

(d) Number of policies canceled due to hurricane risk.

(e) Number of policies nonrenewed due to hurricane risk.

(f) Number of new policies written.

(g) Total dollar value of structure exposure under policies that include wind coverage.

(h) Number of policies that exclude wind coverage.

Section 6. For the purpose of incorporating the amendments made by this act to section 627.351, Florida Statutes, in a reference thereto, section 627.3517, Florida Statutes, is reenacted to read:

627.3517 Consumer choice.—No provision of s. 627.351, s. 627.3511, or s. 627.3515 shall be construed to impair the right of any insurance risk apportionment plan policyholder, upon receipt of any keepout or take-out offer, to retain his or her current agent, so long as that agent is duly licensed and appointed by the insurance risk apportionment plan or otherwise authorized to place business with the insurance risk apportionment plan. This right shall not be canceled, suspended, impeded, abridged, or otherwise compromised by any rule, plan of operation, or depopulation plan, whether through keepout, take-out, midterm assumption, or any other means, of any insurance risk apportionment plan or depopulation plan, including, but not limited to, those described in s. 627.351, s. 627.3511, or s. 627.3515. The commission shall adopt any rules necessary to cause any insurance risk apportionment plan or market assistance plan under such sections to demonstrate that the operations of the plan do not interfere with, promote, or allow interference with the rights created under this section. If the policyholder's current agent is unable or unwilling to be appointed with the insurer making the take-out or keepout offer, the policyholder shall not be disqualified from participation in the appropriate insurance risk apportionment plan because of an offer of coverage in the voluntary market. An offer of full property insurance coverage by the insurer currently insuring either the ex-wind or wind-only coverage on the policy to which the offer applies shall not be considered a take-out or keepout offer. Any rule, plan of operation, or plan of depopulation, through keepout, take-out, midterm assumption, or any other means, of any property insurance risk apportionment plan under s. 627.351(2) or (6) is subject to ss. 627.351(2)(b) and (6)(c) and 627.3511(4).

Section 7. For the purpose of incorporating the amendments made by this act to section 627.351, Florida Statutes, in a reference thereto, subsection (1) of section 627.712, Florida Statutes, is reenacted to read:

627.712 Residential windstorm coverage required; availability of exclusions for windstorm or contents.—

(1) An insurer issuing a residential property insurance policy must provide windstorm coverage. Except as provided in paragraph (2)(c), this section does not apply to risks that are

A risk ineligible for coverage by the corporation under s. 627.351(6)(a)3. or 5. is exempt from this section only if the risk is located within the boundaries of the coastal account of the corporation.

Section 8. This act shall take effect July 1, 2022.

AMENDMENTS - Significant amendments were recommended

I. Summary:

CS/SB 1796 amends laws related to alimony and bifurcation of a dissolution of marriage cases. Changes to alimony law applicable to any final judgment entered on or after July 1, 2022 include:

- Permanent (lifetime) alimony is eliminated, leaving bridge-the-gap, rehabilitative, and durational forms of alimony.
- Rehabilitative alimony is limited to 5 years.
- Durational alimony:
  - May not be awarded for a marriage of less than 3 years, is limited to 50 percent of the term of the marriage if the marriage was between 3 and 10 years, 60 percent if between 10 and 20 years, or 75 percent if the marriage lasted more than 20 years. These time limits are extended if the obligee is disabled or is a full time caretaker of a totally disabled child of both spouses, but only so long as the obligee qualifies.
  - May not exceed the lesser of the obligee's reasonable need or 35 percent of the difference between the parties' net incomes.
- The bill creates a presumption that both parties will have a lower standard of living after dissolution of the marriage.
- No alimony may be awarded to a party whose net income exceeds the net income of the other party.
- A court may not require an obligor to purchase life insurance to secure the award of alimony.
- The concept of a supportive relationship is expanded to allow consideration of a supportive relationship when first setting alimony in the dissolution of marriage case. The criteria defining a supportive relationship at the time of dissolution is the same as for a later modification.

Current law on the effect of retirement on alimony is common law. The bill codifies standards and procedures related to retirement of a party to a dissolution of marriage case:

- A proposed obligor who is retired at the time of the dissolution of marriage may not be required to pay any form of alimony unless:
  - The exceptions to retirement exist (see below); and
  - The party seeking alimony does not qualify for any Social Security benefits.
- If the obligor seeks to retire in the future (final judgment after July 1, 2022), the obligor must give one years' prior notice of the planned retirement. The retirement will be effective and durational alimony will end when the obligor reaches the earlier of the Social Security full retirement age or when persons of his or her profession typically retire, unless the obligee timely objects by showing any of the following:
  - The exceptions to retirement exist (see below);
  - If applicable, the obligor has not proven that he or she has reached the age when persons of his or her profession typically retire; or
  - The obligor continues to work beyond the planned retirement and earns active income of more than 50 percent of the past 3-year average.
- If the obligor seeks to retire in the future (modification of a final judgment entered prior to July 1, 2022), the obligor must give one years' prior notice of the planned retirement. The retirement will be effective and the alimony will phase out (25 percent a year) starting when the obligor reaches the earlier of age 65 or when persons of his or her profession typically retire, unless the obligee timely objects by showing any of the following:
  - The exceptions to retirement exist (see below); or
  - The obligor continues to work beyond the planned retirement and earns active income of more than 50 percent of the past 3-year average.
- Alternatively, there will be no phase out and alimony may be modified or terminated based on a reasonable retirement.
- The exceptions to retirement that allow a court to extend alimony, in part or in whole, beyond the obligor's retirement are:
  - The party seeking alimony is full-time caregiver to a disabled common child;
  - The party seeking alimony would have an income of less than 130 percent of the federal poverty level; or
  - The marital settlement agreement, if one was entered into, prohibits the modification.

Bifurcation refers to the process where the court dissolves the marriage, reserving other matters such as property distribution, alimony, timesharing, and child support for future court action. The bill gives either party to a dissolution of marriage the right to bifurcation if the case has been pending for longer than two years from the date the respondent received the summons, effective for petitions filed on or after July 1, 2022.

The bill will have no fiscal impact on state government.

The bill is effective July 1, 2022, and applies to cases pending on the effective date except as noted.

II. Present Situation:

Dissolution of marriage may involve many different but related matters. The matters related to dissolution addressed by this bill are alimony and bifurcation.

Alimony

Alimony is a court-ordered allowance that one spouse pays to the other spouse for maintenance and support while they are separated, while they are involved in a matrimonial lawsuit, or after they are divorced.[1] Alimony may be agreed to by the parties or awarded by the court after an evidentiary hearing. While child support is determined primarily through a statutory formula, alimony is determined at the discretion of the trial court based on statutory and equitable factors.

Calculation of the Amount of Alimony

There is no fixed formula for alimony. Alimony is based on both financial need and the ability to pay.[2] After making an initial determination to award alimony, the court must consider ten factors:

- The standard of living established during the marriage.
- The length of marriage.
- Ages and physical and emotional condition of the parties.
- Financial resources of the parties.
- Earning capacity, education level, vocational skill, and employability of the parties.
- Marital contributions, including homemaking, child care, and education and career building of the other party.
- Responsibilities of each party towards minor children.
- Tax treatment and consequences of alimony awards.
- All sources of income.
- Any other factor that advances equity and justice.[3]

The income tax factor has less relevance than in the past. Beginning January 1, 2019, alimony or separate maintenance payments are not deductible from the income of the obligor, or includable in the income of the obligee, if made under a divorce or separation agreement executed after December 31, 2018. This also applies to a divorce or separation agreement executed on or before December 31, 2018, and modified after December 31, 2018, as long as the modification changes the terms of the alimony or separate maintenance payments and states that the alimony or separate maintenance payments are not deductible by the obligor or includable in the income of the obligee. On the other hand, alimony or separate maintenance payments are generally deductible from the income of the obligor and includable in the income of the obligee, if made under a divorce or separation agreement executed on or before December 31, 2018, even if the agreement was modified after December 31, 2018, so long as the modification is not one described in the preceding sentence.[4]

The court may also consider adultery by either spouse in a decision to award alimony.[5] That consideration is dependent upon the circumstances of each particular case. Absent a showing of a related depletion of marital assets, a party's adulterous misconduct is not a valid reason to award a greater share of those marital assets to the innocent spouse or to deny the adulterous spouse alimony. Furthermore, despite evidence of adultery, need and ability to pay remain the primary considerations in awarding alimony.[6]

To protect an alimony award, the court may order an obligor to maintain a life insurance policy.[7] A court making the requirement must first make specific findings regarding the availability and cost of insurance, the obligor's ability to pay, and the special circumstances that warrant the requirement for security of the obligation.[8] The special circumstances required to support an order mandating life insurance include "a spouse potentially left in dire financial straits after the death of the obligor spouse due to age, ill health and/or lack of employment skills, obligor spouse in poor health, minors living at home, supported spouse with limited earning capacity, obligor spouse in arrears on support obligations, and cases where the obligor spouse agreed on the record to secure an award with a life insurance policy."[9]

An award of alimony may not result in the obligor with significantly less net income than the net income of the obligee absent exceptional circumstances.[10] What qualifies as exceptional circumstances is undefined.

Types of Alimony

For purposes of determining the appropriate type of alimony to award, marriages are classified by term or length of marriage, based on the time from the date of marriage to the date the dissolution of marriage action was filed:

- Short term means less than 7 years.
- Moderate-term means greater than 7 years but less than 17 years.
- Long-term means greater than 17 years.[11]

The length of the marriage does not include time spent cohabitating prior to marriage.[12]

Florida law recognizes four forms of alimony: bridge-the-gap, rehabilitative, durational, and permanent periodic alimony.[13]

Bridge-the-gap alimony:[14]
- Is designed to assist a party in his or her transition from being married to being single.
- May be awarded in a marriage of any term.
- Cannot exceed 2 years in duration.
- May not be modified.
- Terminates upon death or remarriage.

Rehabilitative alimony:[15]
- Is designed to assist a party in establishing the capacity for self-support through either the redevelopment of previous skills or credentials; or the acquisition of education, training, or work experience necessary to develop appropriate employment skills or credentials.
- May be awarded in a marriage of any term.
- Can be of any duration.
- May be modified based upon a substantial change in circumstances, upon noncompliance with the rehabilitative plan, or upon completion of the rehabilitative plan.
- Does not automatically terminate upon remarriage.

Durational alimony:[16]
- Is designed to provide a party with economic assistance for a set period of time.
- May be awarded following a marriage of short or moderate duration, or following a marriage of long duration if there is no ongoing need for support on a permanent basis.
- May not exceed the length of the marriage.
- May be modified as to amount, based upon a substantial change in circumstances; but the length may not be modified except under exceptional circumstances.
- Terminates upon the death of either party or upon the remarriage of the party receiving alimony.

Permanent alimony:[17]
- Is designed to provide for the needs and necessities of life as they were established during the marriage of the parties for a party who lacks the financial ability to meet his or her needs and necessities of life following a dissolution of marriage.
- May be awarded only after a finding that no other form of alimony is fair and reasonable under the circumstances of the parties, following a marriage of:
  - Long duration, if such an award is appropriate upon consideration of the ten factors by a preponderance of the evidence;
  - Moderate duration, if such an award is appropriate based upon clear and convincing evidence after consideration of the 10 factors; or
  - Short duration, if there are written findings of exceptional circumstances.

- Is not for a fixed period of time.
- May be modified or terminated based upon a substantial change in circumstances, including retirement of the obligor or upon the existence of a supportive relationship benefiting the obligee.
- Terminates upon the death of either party or upon the remarriage of the party receiving alimony.

Modification or Termination of Alimony - In General

Where allowed, either party may seek modification (up to termination) of an alimony award on the grounds of a substantial change in circumstances.[18] To obtain a modification of alimony, the party seeking modification must allege, and the trial court must find, that:

- There has been a substantial change in circumstances.
- The change was not contemplated at the time of the final judgment of dissolution.
- The change is sufficient, material, permanent, and involuntary.[19]

The mere existence of a substantial change in circumstances does not automatically lead to a modification or termination of alimony, it merely opens up the question of the appropriate amount of alimony based on the new situation and on the normal equitable factors, namely need and ability to pay. The court may modify support retroactively to the date of the filing of the motion.[20] Where the parties to a dissolution of marriage settled the case and have designated alimony as non-modifiable in the marital settlement agreement, the court may not thereafter modify the alimony.[21]

Modification Based on a Supportive Relationship

To avoid termination of an alimony award because of remarriage, it was once common for an obligee former spouse to simply "live with" someone else in a committed but non-marital arrangement. Today, the existence of a supportive relationship between the obligee and a third party may be a substantial change in circumstances that warrants a modification (up to termination) of alimony. To modify alimony on an assertion of cohabitation between the obligee and a third party, the court must find:

- The existence of a supportive relationship between the obligee and a third party; and
- That the obligee lives with the third party.

To determine whether a relationship is supportive, the court will examine:

- The extent to which the obligee and the third party hold themselves out as a married couple;
- The length of time that the third party has resided with the obligee;
- Whether the obligee and the third party have jointly purchased property;
- The extent to which the obligee and third party commingle financial assets; and
- The extent to which one of the parties supports the other party.[22]

[18] Section 61.14(1)(a), F.S.
[19] Golson v. Golson, 207 So. 3d 321, 325 (Fla. 5th DCA 2016); Tanner v. Tanner, 2021 WL 4877772 (Fla. 2nd DCA 2021).
[20] Section 61.14(1)(a), F.S.
[21] Dills v. Perez, 2021 WL 5140865 (Fla. 5th DCA 2021)("parties to a marital dissolution are free to enter into contractual agreements that include provisions no court of law could impose.").
[22] Section 61.14(b), F.S.

The burden is on the obligor to show by a preponderance of evidence that a supportive relationship exists.[23]

Modification Based on Retirement

Retirement of a party in a pending dissolution of marriage case falls within the "need and ability to pay" framework. Voluntary retirement may qualify as a substantial change in circumstances which warrants a modification or termination of an existing alimony award. It is an exception to the general rule that a substantial change in circumstances must result from an involuntary action.

Retirement, whether related to an initial award of alimony or as a substantial change in circumstances for modification, is not addressed in statute. In deciding whether to modify or terminate alimony based on retirement of the obligor, the courts look to whether the retirement is reasonable. The leading case in this area ruled:

> In determining whether a voluntary retirement is reasonable, the court must consider the payor's age, health, and motivation for retirement, as well as the type of work the payor performs and the age at which others engaged in that line of work normally retire. . . . [A] payor spouse should not be permitted to unilaterally choose voluntary retirement if this choice places the receiving spouse in peril of poverty. Thus, the court should consider the needs of the receiving spouse and the impact a termination or reduction of alimony would have on him or her. In assessing those needs, the court should consider any assets which the receiving spouse has accumulated or received since the final judgment as well as any income generated by those assets.[24]

Bifurcation of a Dissolution Case

Normally, a dissolution of marriage case is resolved when the court issues an omnibus final judgment of dissolution, which judgment dissolves the marriage, splits the debts and property of the couple, and, where required, resolves timesharing with the children, child support, and alimony. The term "bifurcation" refers to the process whereby the court grants the dissolution of marriage but reserves jurisdiction to resolve the remaining issues between the parties at a later date.

Parties seek bifurcation mostly for purposes of remarriage. Bifurcation is allowed but its use is discouraged by the courts. The Florida Supreme Court explained why:

> [W]e believe the trial court should avoid this split procedure. The general law and our procedural rules at both the trial and appellate levels are designed for one final judgment and one appeal. Splitting the process can cause multiple legal and procedural problems which result in delay and > additional expense to the litigants. This split procedure should be used only when it is clearly necessary for the best interests of the parties or their children.[25]

The Florida Supreme Court has established trial court time standards for the most common types of cases. The time standards are not deadlines, but represent the time within which most cases should be resolved. The time standard for a contested domestic relations case is 180 days from filing to final disposition.[26]

Presumptions

A presumption in a legal proceeding is an assumption of the existence of a fact which is in reality unproven by direct evidence. A presumption is derived from another fact or group of facts that has been proven in the action. If a presumption is recognized, the presumed fact must be found to be present if the trier of fact finds that the underlying facts which give rise to the presumption exist. Presumptions usually assist in managing circumstances in which direct proof is rendered difficult. Presumptions arising out of considerations of fairness, public policy, and probability, as well as judicial economy, are also useful devices for allocating the burden of proof.[27] There are two types of presumption applicable to civil actions -- a presumption affecting the burden of producing evidence and a presumption affecting the burden of proof.[28]

Presumptions that are recognized primarily to facilitate the determination of an action, rather than to implement public policy, are presumptions affecting the burden of producing evidence. These so-called bursting bubble presumptions are recognized when the underlying facts are proved to exist and they remain in effect until credible evidence is introduced to disprove the presumed fact. Once the evidence of the nonexistence of the presumed fact is offered, the presumption disappears.[29]

Any presumption not falling within the category of presumptions affecting the burden of producing evidence is a presumption affecting the burden of proof.[30] These presumptions are recognized because they express a policy that society deems desirable. When proof is introduced of the basic facts giving rise to a presumption affecting the burden of proof, the presumption operates to shift the burden of persuasion regarding the presumed fact to the opposing party.[31]

Social Security Retirement Age

The original Social Security Act of 1935 set the age for receiving full retirement benefits at 65.[32] Citing improvements in the health of older people and increases in average life expectancy as primary reasons for increasing the normal retirement age, Congress has increased the age for full retirement. On the effective date of this bill, the full retirement age for Social Security purposes will be 66 years and 4 months of age. It will increase gradually in the future until it reaches 67 years of age on January 1, 2027.[33]

The minimum age for claiming Social Security retirement benefits is 62. Benefits are reduced when a person elects to take early benefits.[34] The act increasing the age for full benefits did not change the minimum age for claiming benefits.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Alimony

Forms of Alimony

The bill eliminates permanent alimony as a form of alimony that a court may award.[35] If the court orders a combination of forms of alimony, it must make written findings regarding the basis for the award. A combination may only be awarded to provide greater economic assistance for the purpose of rehabilitation of the obligee.

Criteria for an Award of Alimony

The bill repeals current law that allows a court to consider the adultery of either spouse when determining the amount, if any, of alimony to award.

The bill requires the court to make specific written findings of the need for alimony. The bill amends the 10 factors for consideration in determining the amount of an award of alimony as follows:

- The standard of living established during the marriage factor is limited. In looking at the standard of living during the marriage, the court must take into account the needs and necessities of life for each party after dissolution. The bill also creates a rebuttable presumption that both parties will have a lower standard of living after the dissolution.
- The tax treatment factor is modified by repeal of the portion regarding the tax treatment of the alimony. This reflects a change in the federal tax code effective January 1, 2019.
- A court using the "any other factor" language must specify the other factor and the findings of fact justifying the factor.

The bill prohibits a court from requiring that the obligor purchase life insurance or secure a bond or other security naming the obligee as beneficiary. The bill adds that the obligee may purchase life insurance on the obligor, and that the obligor must cooperate with the application and underwriting process. The bill implies that an obligee has an insurable interest in the life of obligor.

[34] Id.
[35] Permanent alimony could effectively still be created by the parties if they agree in their marital settlement agreement to durational alimony that is non-modifiable and extends for enough years that it extends beyond their lifetimes.

The bill changes the length of time married as a classification of a marriages being either short-term, moderate-term, or long-term. A short-term marriage is changed to 0-10 years, a moderate-term marriage is changed to 10-20 years, and a long-term marriage is changed to 20 or more years duration. The bill also repeals references to these three terms of marriage; thus, the changes in length of marriages has no effect.

The bill limits the length of an alimony award:

- Bridge-the-gap alimony is not changed by the bill, and remains limited to 2 years.
- Rehabilitative alimony is limited to the lesser of 5 years or upon early completion of the rehabilitation plan.
- No durational alimony may be awarded if the marriage lasted fewer than 3 years.[36] Durational alimony may end upon retirement of the obligor (see discussion below). With two exceptions, durational alimony of a marriage of over 3 years is limited in duration to:
  - 50 percent of the length of the marriage if the length of the marriage was between 3 and 10 years.
  - 60 percent of the length of the marriage if the length of the marriage was between 10 and 20 years.
  - 75 percent of the length of the marriage if the length of the marriage was over 20 years.
- The two exceptions regarding the maximum length of durational alimony, which thereby allow durational alimony to extend beyond the maximum length above, but only apply so long as there is a need for the special exception. They are:
  - Where the party seeking alimony is permanently mentally and physically disabled; or
  - Where the party seeking alimony is the full-time caregiver to a fully and permanently mentally or physically disabled child who is common to the parties.

The bill also changes durational alimony to:

- Limit the amount of durational alimony to the lesser of the obligee's reasonable need or no more than 35 percent of the difference between the parties' net incomes.
- Add that proof of a supportive relationship between the obligee and another person, at any time starting 180 days prior to the filing of the action for dissolution, may be considered by the court. The factors that a court must consider in finding whether a supportive relationship exists are the same factors used in current law applicable to a modification based on a supportive relationship.
- Repeal the requirement to show "exceptional circumstances" in order to modify the length of the alimony.
- Codify standards for retirement by an obligor (see retirement discussion below).

The term "net income" is defined by the bill as gross income[37] minus allowable deductions, which are:

- Federal, state, or local income tax deductions, adjusted for actual filing status and allowable dependents and income tax liabilities.
- Federal insurance contributions or self-employment tax.

[36] The length of the marriage is calculated as follows: the time period starts on the date of the marriage, and ends on date of the filing of the petition for dissolution of the marriage.

[37] The bill references the definition of "gross income" in the child support law at s. 61.30(2), F.S. That subsection broadly includes all forms of income, including imputed income, but excluding public support payments.

- Mandatory union dues.
- Mandatory retirement payments.
- Health insurance payments, excluding payments for coverage of a minor child.
- Court-ordered support for other children which is actually paid.
- Spousal support paid pursuant to a court order from a previous marriage.

The bill makes the following additional changes to, and limits on, an alimony award:

- The court may not use potential Social Security benefits in calculating imputed income.
- For a spouse to claim disability as grounds for not imputing income to that spouse, the spouse must either be actually qualified for federal Social Security benefits or must show that he or she would qualify as disabled under that program.
- The court must consider all alimony payments made prior to the final hearing, whether voluntary or court-ordered, when determining the amount and duration of alimony awarded in the final judgment of dissolution.
- The bill repeals the provision providing that an award of alimony may not leave the obligor with significantly less net income than the obligee, except with exceptional circumstances. Instead, the bill provides that, notwithstanding any other statute regarding alimony, alimony may not be awarded to a party who has a monthly net income that is equal to or more than the other party's monthly net income.

Retirement - Cases First Adjudicated After July 1, 2022

When an obligor reaches the Social Security full retirement age, or reaches the customary retirement age for his or her profession, durational alimony ends, provided that:

- Notice of retirement was personally served on the obligee, or his or her last known attorney of record, at least one year prior to the intended date of retirement.
- The obligee has not objected, or if the retirement was objected to, the court has approved the retirement.

Any of the following are grounds for objection to retirement:

- That the obligee's income after the modification or termination would be less than 130 percent of the federal poverty guidelines for a one-person household, as published by the United States Department of Health and Human Services, based on the obligee's income and investable assets, including any retirement assets from which the obligee can access income without incurring early withdrawal penalties.
- That the retirement is a violation of the terms of the marital settlement agreement between the parties because the marital settlement agreement either does not allow for modification or termination of the alimony award or the proposed reduction in alimony does not comply with applicable terms for modification of alimony specified in the agreement.
- That the obligee is the full-time in-home caregiver to a fully and permanently mentally or physically disabled child who is common to the parties.
- That the obligee is permanently mentally or physically disabled and unable to provide for his or her own support, either partially or fully.

If the obligor continues to work beyond the noticed retirement date and earns active gross income of more than 50 percent of the 3 year average preretirement active gross income, the court must extend durational alimony to the end of its previously-ordered termination or the point at which the obligor reduces his or her active gross income to less than 50 percent.

The term "active gross income" generally means income from active work or self-employment and excludes investment and other passive income. Specifically, the bill defines "active gross income" as:

> Salary, wages, bonuses, commissions, allowances, overtime, tips, and other similar payments and business income from self-employment, partnership, close corporations, independent contracts, and other similar sources. For purposes of this definition, "business income" means gross receipts minus ordinary and necessary expenses required to produce income and requires that such business income be derived in a way that meets any of the material participation tests outlined in the Internal Revenue Service's Publication 925 (2020), Passive Activity and At-Risk Rules.

If a spouse has reached the Social Security full retirement age at the time of the final adjudication of the petition for dissolution of marriage, that spouse may not be ordered to pay any form of alimony to the other spouse unless the other spouse has not yet reached the minimum age to receive any Social Security retirement benefits, and one of these apply:

- The other spouse would, based on the outcome of the dissolution, have income less than 130 percent of the federal poverty guidelines for a one-person household;[38]
- The party seeking alimony is the full-time caregiver to a fully and permanently mentally or physically disabled child who is common to the parties; or
- The party is permanently and mentally or physically disabled and as a result thereof is unable to provide for his or her own support, whether partially or fully.

Retirement - Modification of an Existing Award of Alimony

Within the 12 months prior to a planned retirement, an obligor may file a notice of retirement and intent to terminate alimony. A copy must be personally served on the obligee or his or her attorney. The obligee has 20 days from service to object to the retirement. Any of the following are grounds for objection:

- That the obligee's income after the modification or termination would be less than 130 percent of the federal poverty guidelines for a one-person household, as published by the United States Department of Health and Human Services, based on the obligee's income and investable assets, including any retirement assets from which the obligee can access income without incurring early withdrawal penalties.
- That the modification or termination is a violation of the terms of a marital settlement agreement between the parties because the marital settlement agreement either does not allow for modification or termination of the alimony award or the proposed reduction in alimony does not comply with applicable terms for modification or termination of alimony specified in the agreement.

[38] The 2022 HHS Poverty Guideline for a one-person household is $13,590. https://aspe.hhs.gov/topics/poverty-economic-mobility/poverty-guidelines. 130% of that figure is $17,667. The guidelines are adjusted annually.

- That the obligee is the full-time in-home caregiver to a fully and permanently mentally or physically disabled child who is common to the parties.
- That the obligee is permanently mentally or physically disabled and unable to provide for his or her own support, either partially or fully.

If any of these conditions exist, the court must make written findings and must consider the following factors when deciding whether to reduce the length or amount of alimony:

- The duration of the marriage.
- The financial resources of the obligee, comparing them to those distributed at divorce and in light of how the obligee has managed those assets.
- The obligee's current assets and available sources of income, including retirement accounts not subject to a tax penalty for early withdrawal.[39]
- The effort and sacrifices of time and leisure that would be necessary for the obligor to continue to provide such alimony.
- Consideration of the presumption that the obligor has a right to retire when attaining full retirement age as per the Social Security Administration.
- The obligor's age and health.
- The terms of a marital settlement, if any, that govern modification of alimony.

Unless the obligee objects and the court rules in favor of the obligee:

- Durational alimony is decreased by 25 percent starting on the later of one year after the notice of intent to retire was filed or the date that the obligor reaches 65 years of age.
- Durational alimony is decreased an additional 25 percent (of the initial amount) each year thereafter until termination after 4 years.
- However, if the obligor continues to work beyond the Social Security full retirement age, and in so working earns more than 50 percent of the 3-year average preretirement active gross income, the court may extend the length of alimony until the obligor reduces his or her active gross income below the 50 percent threshold.

Alternatively, an obligor may seek court permission to retire earlier than age 65 and terminate alimony if that is reasonable for his or her profession or line of work. An obligor who is past the Social Security full retirement age may also petition the court for a reasonable retirement. The petition may be filed up to 12 months before the anticipated retirement. If the court finds the retirement to be reasonable, the court must allow the retirement and thereby terminate alimony, unless it finds and puts in writing cause not to allow the retirement. In determining whether the retirement is reasonable, the court must consider these factors:

- The obligor's age and health.
- The obligor's motivation for retirement.
- The obligor's profession or line of work and the typical retirement age for that profession or line of work.
- The impact that a termination or reduction of alimony would have on the obligee, considering assets of the obligee, income generated by such assets, retirement assets from which the obligee can access income without incurring early withdrawal penalties, and the obligee's role in the depletion or conservation of any assets.

The bill provides that new receipt of any Social Security, disability, or retirement payments by an obligee is considered a substantial change in circumstances that would allow the obligor to seek modification of alimony.

The bill further provides that agreements on alimony payments, whether voluntary or pursuant to a court order, which allow for modification or termination of alimony are considered agreements that are expressly modifiable or eligible for termination once the specified condition is met.

Modification or Termination of Alimony Based on a Supportive Relationship

The bill expands the qualification for the filing of a petition to modify or terminate alimony based on a supportive relationship to include the right to file the petition regarding a past relationship happening up to 180 days prior to filing the petition. If the court finds that a supportive relationship existed, the court may order equitable reimbursement of past alimony that was paid.

The bill provides that, upon proof that a supportive relationship, the obligee has the burden of proof to show that alimony should not be reduced or terminated. Thus, the bill effectively creates a presumption that alimony should be reduced or terminated if the obligee is involved in a supportive relationship.

The bill requires that a court make written findings regarding each of the factors regarding whether a supportive relationship exists.

The bill provides that supportive relationship of the obligor is not actionable. Remarriage or cohabitation by the obligor is not grounds for either party to petition for modification of alimony.

Bifurcation of Dissolution Case

Applicable to a petition for dissolution of marriage filed on or after July 1, 2022, the bill creates a statutory right to bifurcation of a dissolution of marriage case. Either party may request bifurcation if more than two years have elapsed since the respondent spouse was served with a summons. Unless the other party shows that irreparable harm will result from granting a final judgment of dissolution of marriage, the court must grant the motion. Once granted, the court will enter a final judgment of dissolution of marriage with a reservation of jurisdiction to subsequently determine all other substantive issues.

Before granting the final dissolution reserving jurisdiction, if the court has not already done so, the court must enter temporary orders necessary to protect the parties and their children, which orders remain effective until all other issues can be adjudicated by the court.

Effective Dates

The bill takes effect July 1, 2022.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

At lines 248-256 the bill redefines the terms in years of a short-term marriage, a moderate-term marriage, and a long-term marriage. However, the bill also repeals all reference to short-term, moderate-term and long-term in statute (see lines 288, 289, 413, 415, and 418). Because the changed terms are not used in the amended law, lines 248-256 could be removed from the bill without impacting the effect of the bill.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 61.046, 61.08, 61.14, and 61.19.

(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS by Judiciary on January 24, 2022:
The committee substitute removes a reference to "involuntary combat-related disability benefits" as an exception to income of a party; removes the priorities of the remaining types of income; removes the ability to agree to permanent alimony; repeals current law allowing evidence of adultery; removes new limit on rehabilitative alimony of one-half of the durational alimony limit; replaces references to "medically needy" in favor of "permanently disabled"; removes statutory prohibition on court considering the income and assets of a new spouse of the obligor; changes bifurcation period from one year to two years; and makes numerous technical, grammar and style changes.

Barcode 144186 by Appropriations on February 28, 2022:
The amendment provides that:

- Timesharing with minor children is changed by creation of a presumption in favor of equal timesharing between parents;
- A noncustodial parent's move to within 50 miles of a child's primary residence is a substantial change in circumstances;
- Clarifies the minimum age at which one may file a notice of retirement; and
- If the obligee would be left with the inability to meet the obligee's basic needs and necessities of life, including, but not limited to, housing, utilities, food, and transportation, the obligee shall have 20 days after the date of service of the notice to request the court to enter findings.

combination of the other forms of alimony, is insufficient.

(b) The amount of durational alimony is the amount determined to be the obligee's reasonable need or an amount not to exceed 35 percent of the difference between the parties' net incomes, whichever amount is less.

(c) In determining the length of an award of durational alimony, the court shall reduce the length of an award of durational alimony for the length of time during which the obligor made temporary support payments to the obligee, either voluntarily or pursuant to a court order, after the date of filing of a petition for dissolution of marriage.

(d) In determining the extent to which alimony should be granted because a supportive relationship exists or has existed between the party seeking alimony and another person who is not related by consanguinity or affinity at any time since 180 days before the filing of the petition of dissolution of marriage, the court shall consider all relevant factors presented concerning the nature and extent of the supportive relationship in question. The burden is on the obligor to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that a supportive relationship exists. If a supportive relationship is proven to exist, the burden shifts to the obligee to disprove by a preponderance of the evidence that the court should deny or reduce the initial award of alimony. The court must make written findings of fact concerning the circumstances of the supportive relationship, including, but not limited to, the factors set forth in s. 61.14(1)(b)2.

(e) In the event that the obligor reaches full retirement age as determined by the Social Security Administration, so long as the obligor is older than 55 years of age, or the customary retirement age for his or her profession before the end of the durational period indicated by paragraph (a), the durational alimony shall end on such retirement date if all of the following conditions are met:

1. The obligor files a notice of retirement and intent to terminate alimony with the court and personally serves the alimony recipient and his or her last known attorney of record, if such attorney is still practicing in the same county, at least 1 year before the date that the obligor's retirement is intended to become effective.

2. The obligee has not contested the notice of retirement and intent to terminate alimony according to the factors specified in s. 61.14(12)(b) or the court has determined that such factors do not apply. If the court makes any of the findings specified in s. 61.14(12)(b), the court must consider and make written findings regarding the factors listed in s. 61.14(12)(c) to determine whether to extend the length of the alimony award as set forth in s. 61.08(8)(a).

However, if the obligor continues to work beyond his or her retirement age as provided under this paragraph and earns active gross income of more than 50 percent of the obligor's average preretirement annual active gross income for the 3 years preceding his or her retirement age, the court may extend alimony until the durational limitations established in this subsection have been satisfied or the obligor retires and reduces his or her active gross income below the 50 percent threshold established in this paragraph.

(9)(a) A party against whom alimony is sought who has attained his or her full retirement age as determined by the Social Security Administration before the adjudication of the petition for dissolution of marriage may not be ordered to pay bridge-the-gap, rehabilitative, or durational alimony, unless the court determines that:

1. As a result of the dissolution of marriage, the party seeking alimony would have an income of less than 130 percent of the federal poverty guidelines for a one-person household, as published by the United States Department of Health and Human Services, based on the income and investable assets available after the dissolution is final, including any retirement assets from which the obligee can access income without incurring early withdrawal penalties;

2. The party seeking alimony would be left with the inability to meet his or her basic needs and necessities of life, including, but not limited to, housing, utilities, food, and transportation; or

3. The party seeking alimony is the full-time in-home caregiver to a fully and permanently mentally or physically disabled child who is common to the parties, or the party is permanently and mentally or physically disabled and unable to provide for his or her own support, either partially or fully.

(b) However, if the obligor continues to work beyond his or her retirement age as provided under this subsection and earns active gross income of more than 50 percent of the obligor's average preretirement annual active gross income for the 3 years preceding his or her retirement age, the court may award durational alimony until the durational limitations established in subsection (8) have been satisfied or the obligor retires and reduces his or her active gross income below the 50 percent threshold established in this paragraph.

(10) Notwithstanding any other law, alimony may not be awarded to a party who has a monthly net income that is equal to or more than the other party's monthly net income.

(11) Social security retirement benefits may not be imputed to the obligor as demonstrated by a social security retirement benefits entitlement letter unless those benefits are actually being paid.

(12) If the obligee alleges that a physical disability has impaired his or her capability to earn income, the obligee must have qualified for benefits under the Social Security Administration Disability Insurance Program or, in the event the obligee is not eligible for the program, must demonstrate that his or her disability meets the disability qualification standards of the Social Security Administration Disability Insurance Program.

~~(8) Permanent alimony may be awarded to provide for the needs and necessities of life as they were established during the marriage of the parties for a party who lacks the financial ability to meet his or her needs and necessities of life following a dissolution of marriage. Permanent alimony may be awarded following a marriage of long duration if such an award is appropriate upon consideration of the factors set forth in subsection (2), following a marriage of moderate duration if such an award is appropriate based upon clear and convincing evidence after consideration of the factors set forth in subsection (2), or following a marriage of short duration if there are written findings of exceptional circumstances. In awarding permanent alimony, the court shall include a finding that no other form of alimony is fair and reasonable under the circumstances of the parties. An award of permanent alimony terminates upon the death of either party or upon the remarriage of the party receiving alimony. An award may be modified or~~

~~terminated based upon a substantial change in circumstances or upon the existence of a supportive relationship in accordance with s. 61.14.~~

~~(9) The award of alimony may not leave the payor with significantly less net income than the net income of the recipient unless there are written findings of exceptional circumstances.~~

(13)(a) ~~(10)(a)~~ With respect to any order requiring the payment of alimony entered on or after January 1, 1985, unless ~~the provisions of~~ paragraph (c) or paragraph (d) applies ~~apply~~, the court shall direct in the order that the payments of alimony be made through the appropriate depository as provided in s. 61.181.

(b) With respect to any order requiring the payment of alimony entered before January 1, 1985, upon the subsequent appearance~~,~~ on or after that date~~,~~ of one or both parties before the court having jurisdiction for the purpose of modifying or enforcing the order or in any other proceeding related to the order~~,~~ or upon the application of either party, unless ~~the provisions of~~ paragraph (c) or paragraph (d) applies ~~apply~~, the court shall modify the terms of the order as necessary to direct that payments of alimony be made through the appropriate depository as provided in s. 61.181.

(c) If there is no minor child, alimony payments need not be directed through the depository.

(d)1. If there is a minor child of the parties and both parties so request, the court may order that alimony payments need not be directed through the depository. In this case, the order of support must ~~shall~~ provide, or be deemed to provide, that either party may subsequently apply to the depository to require that payments be made through the depository. The court shall provide a copy of the order to the depository.

2. If ~~the provisions of~~ subparagraph 1. applies ~~apply~~, either party may subsequently file with the depository an affidavit alleging default or arrearages in payment and stating that the party wishes to initiate participation in the depository program. The party shall provide copies of the affidavit to the court and the other party or parties. Fifteen days after receipt of the affidavit, the depository shall notify all parties that future payments shall be directed to the depository.

3. In IV-D cases, the IV-D agency has ~~shall have~~ the same rights as the obligee in requesting that payments be made through the depository.

(14) The court shall apply this section to all petitions for dissolution of marriage which have not been adjudicated before July 1, 2022, and to any petitions for dissolution of marriage filed on or after July 1, 2022.

Section 3. Paragraph (c) of subsection (2) and subsection (3) of section 61.13, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

61.13 Support of children; parenting and time-sharing; powers of court.—

(c) The court shall determine all matters relating to parenting and time-sharing of each minor child of the parties in accordance with the best interests of the child and in accordance with the Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction and Enforcement Act, except that modification of a parenting plan

and time-sharing schedule requires a showing of a substantial, material, and unanticipated change of circumstances.

1. It is the public policy of this state that each minor child has frequent and continuing contact with both parents after the parents separate or the marriage of the parties is dissolved and to encourage parents to share the rights and responsibilities, and joys, of childrearing. Unless otherwise provided in this section or agreed to by the parties, there is a presumption that equal time-sharing of a minor child is in the best interests of the minor child who is common to the parties ~~Except as otherwise provided in this paragraph, there is no presumption for or against the father or mother of the child or for or against any specific time-sharing schedule~~ when creating or modifying the parenting plan of the child.

2. The court shall order that the parental responsibility for a minor child be shared by both parents unless the court finds that shared parental responsibility would be detrimental to the child. The following evidence creates a rebuttable presumption of detriment to the child:

a. A parent has been convicted of a misdemeanor of the first degree or higher involving domestic violence, as defined in s. 741.28 and chapter 775;

b. A parent meets the criteria of s. 39.806(1)(d); or

c. A parent has been convicted of or had adjudication withheld for an offense enumerated in s. 943.0435(1)(h)1.a., and at the time of the offense:

(I) The parent was 18 years of age or older.

(II) The victim was under 18 years of age or the parent believed the victim to be under 18 years of age.

If the presumption is not rebutted after the convicted parent is advised by the court that the presumption exists, shared parental responsibility, including time-sharing with the child, and decisions made regarding the child, may not be granted to the convicted parent. However, the convicted parent is not relieved of any obligation to provide financial support. If the court determines that shared parental responsibility would be detrimental to the child, it may order sole parental responsibility and make such arrangements for time-sharing as specified in the parenting plan as will best protect the child or abused spouse from further harm. Whether or not there is a conviction of any offense of domestic violence or child abuse or the existence of an injunction for protection against domestic violence, the court shall consider evidence of domestic violence or child abuse as evidence of detriment to the child.

3. In ordering shared parental responsibility, the court may consider the expressed desires of the parents and may grant to one party the ultimate responsibility over specific aspects of the child’s welfare or may divide those responsibilities between the parties based on the best interests of the child. Areas of responsibility may include education, health care, and any other responsibilities that the court finds unique to a particular family.

4. The court shall order sole parental responsibility for a minor child to one parent, with or without time-sharing with the other parent if it is in the best interests of the minor child.

5. There is a rebuttable presumption against granting time-sharing with a minor child if a parent has been convicted of or had adjudication withheld for an offense enumerated in s. 943.0435(1)(h)1.a., and at the time of the offense:

a. The parent was 18 years of age or older.

b. The victim was under 18 years of age or the parent believed the victim to be under 18 years of age.

A parent may rebut the presumption upon a specific finding in writing by the court that the parent poses no significant risk of harm to the child and that time-sharing is in the best interests of the minor child. If the presumption is rebutted, the court shall consider all time-sharing factors in subsection (3) when developing a time-sharing schedule.

6. Access to records and information pertaining to a minor child, including, but not limited to, medical, dental, and school records, may not be denied to either parent. Full rights under this subparagraph apply to either parent unless a court order specifically revokes these rights, including any restrictions on these rights as provided in a domestic violence injunction. A parent having rights under this subparagraph has the same rights upon request as to form, substance, and manner of access as are available to the other parent of a child, including, without limitation, the right to in-person communication with medical, dental, and education providers.

(3) For purposes of establishing or modifying parental responsibility and creating, developing, approving, or modifying a parenting plan, including a time-sharing schedule, which governs each parent’s relationship with his or her minor child and the relationship between each parent with regard to his or her minor child, the best interest of the child shall be the primary consideration. A determination of parental responsibility, a parenting plan, or a time-sharing schedule may not be modified without a showing of a substantial, material, and unanticipated change in circumstances and a determination that the modification is in the best interests of the child. For purposes of the modification of a parenting plan and time-sharing schedule, a parent's permanent relocation to a residence within 50 miles of the primary residence of the child is presumed to be a substantial, material, and unanticipated change in circumstances. Determination of the best interests of the child shall be made by evaluating all of the factors affecting the welfare and interests of the particular minor child and the circumstances of that family, including, but not limited to:

(a) The demonstrated capacity and disposition of each parent to facilitate and encourage a close and continuing parent-child relationship, to honor the time-sharing schedule, and to be reasonable when changes are required.

(b) The anticipated division of parental responsibilities after the litigation, including the extent to which parental responsibilities will be delegated to third parties.

(c) The demonstrated capacity and disposition of each parent to determine, consider, and act upon the needs of the child as opposed to the needs or desires of the parent.

(d) The length of time the child has lived in a stable, satisfactory environment and the desirability of maintaining continuity.

(e) The geographic viability of the parenting plan, with special attention paid to the needs of school-age children and the amount of time to be spent traveling to effectuate the parenting plan. This factor does not create a presumption for or against relocation of either parent with a child.

(f) The moral fitness of the parents.

(g) The mental and physical health of the parents.

(h) The home, school, and community record of the child.

(i) The reasonable preference of the child, if the court deems the child to be of sufficient intelligence, understanding, and experience to express a preference.

(j) The demonstrated knowledge, capacity, and disposition of each parent to be informed of the circumstances of the minor child, including, but not limited to, the child’s friends, teachers, medical care providers, daily activities, and favorite things.

(k) The demonstrated capacity and disposition of each parent to provide a consistent routine for the child, such as discipline, and daily schedules for homework, meals, and bedtime.

(l) The demonstrated capacity of each parent to communicate with and keep the other parent informed of issues and activities regarding the minor child, and the willingness of each parent to adopt a unified front on all major issues when dealing with the child.

(m) Evidence of domestic violence, sexual violence, child abuse, child abandonment, or child neglect, regardless of whether a prior or pending action relating to those issues has been brought. If the court accepts evidence of prior or pending actions regarding domestic violence, sexual violence, child abuse, child abandonment, or child neglect, the court must specifically acknowledge in writing that such evidence was considered when evaluating the best interests of the child.

(n) Evidence that either parent has knowingly provided false information to the court regarding any prior or pending action regarding domestic violence, sexual violence, child abuse, child abandonment, or child neglect.

(o) The particular parenting tasks customarily performed by each parent and the division of parental responsibilities before the institution of litigation and during the pending litigation, including the extent to which parenting responsibilities were undertaken by third parties.

(p) The demonstrated capacity and disposition of each parent to participate and be involved in the child's school and extracurricular activities.

(q) The demonstrated capacity and disposition of each parent to maintain an environment for the child which is free from substance abuse.

(r) The capacity and disposition of each parent to protect the child from the ongoing litigation as demonstrated by not discussing the litigation with the child, not sharing documents or electronic media related to the litigation with the child, and refraining from disparaging comments about the other parent to the child.

(s) The developmental stages and needs of the child and the demonstrated capacity and disposition of each parent to meet the child's developmental needs.

(t) Any other factor that is relevant to the determination of a specific parenting plan, including the time-sharing schedule.

Section 4. Paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section

61.14, Florida Statutes, is amended, and paragraph (c) is added to subsection (11) of that section, and subsections (12), (13), and (14) are added to that section, to read:

(b)1. The court may reduce or terminate an award of alimony or order reimbursement to the obligor for any amount the court determines is equitable upon specific written findings by the court that since the granting of a divorce and the award of alimony, a supportive relationship exists or ~~has~~ existed between the obligee and another ~~a~~ person at any time during the 180 days before the filing of a petition for modification of alimony ~~with whom the obligee resides~~. On the issue of whether alimony should be reduced or terminated under this paragraph, the burden is on the obligor to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that a supportive relationship exists or existed. If a supportive relationship is proven to exist or have existed, the burden shifts to the obligee to disprove, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the court should terminate an existing award of alimony.

2. In determining the extent to which ~~whether~~ an existing award of alimony should be reduced or terminated because of an alleged supportive relationship between an obligee and a person who is not related by consanguinity or affinity ~~and with whom the obligee resides~~, the court must make written findings of fact concerning the nature and the extent of the supportive relationship in question and the circumstances of the supportive relationship, including, but not limited to, the following factors ~~shall elicit the nature and extent of the relationship in question. The court shall give consideration, without limitation, to circumstances, including, but not limited to, the following, in determining the relationship of an obligee to another person~~:

a. The extent to which the obligee and the other person have held themselves out as a married couple by engaging in conduct such as using the same last name, using a common mailing address, referring to each other in terms such as "my husband" or "my wife," or otherwise conducting themselves in a manner that evidences a permanent supportive relationship.

b. The period of time that the obligee has resided with the other person in a permanent place of abode.

c. The extent to which the obligee and the other person have pooled their assets or income or otherwise exhibited financial interdependence.

d. The extent to which the obligee or the other person has supported the other, in whole or in part.

e. The extent to which the obligee or the other person has performed valuable services for the other.

f. The extent to which the obligee or the other person has performed valuable services for the other's company or employer.

g. Whether the obligee and the other person have worked together to create or enhance anything of value.

h. Whether the obligee and the other person have jointly contributed to the purchase of any real or personal property.

i. Evidence in support of a claim that the obligee and the other person have an express agreement regarding property sharing or support.

j. Evidence in support of a claim that the obligee and the other person have an implied agreement regarding property sharing or support.

k. Whether the obligee and the other person have provided support to the children of one another, regardless of any legal duty to do so.

3. This paragraph does not abrogate the requirement that every marriage in this state be solemnized under a license, does not recognize a common law marriage as valid, and does not recognize a de facto marriage. This paragraph recognizes only that relationships do exist that provide economic support equivalent to a marriage and that alimony terminable on remarriage may be reduced or terminated upon the establishment of equivalent equitable circumstances as described in this paragraph. The existence of a conjugal relationship, though it may be relevant to the nature and extent of the relationship, is not necessary for the application of the provisions of this paragraph.

(c) An obligor's subsequent remarriage or cohabitation does not constitute a basis for either party to seek a modification of an alimony award.

(12)(a) Up to 12 months before seeking to terminate alimony as provided under this section, an obligor may file a notice of retirement and intent to terminate alimony with the court and shall personally serve the obligee and his or her last known attorney of record, if such attorney is still practicing in the same county, with such notice.

(b) The obligee shall have 20 days after the date of service of the notice to request the court to enter findings that as of the date of filing of the notice:

1. The reduction or termination of alimony would result in any of the following:

a. The obligee's income would be less than 130 percent of the federal poverty guidelines for a one-person household, as published by the United States Department of Health and Human Services, based on the obligee's income and investable assets, including any retirement assets from which the obligee can access income without incurring early withdrawal penalties.

b. The obligee would be left with the inability to meet the obligee's basic needs and necessities of life, including, but not limited to, housing, utilities, food, and transportation.

c. A violation of the terms of the marital settlement agreement between the parties because the marital settlement agreement either does not allow for modification or termination of the alimony award or the proposed reduction in alimony does not comply with applicable terms for modification of alimony specified in the agreement;

2. The obligee is the full-time in-home caregiver to a fully and permanently mentally or physically disabled child who is common to the parties; or

3. The obligee is permanently mentally or physically disabled and unable to provide for his or her own support, either partially or fully.

(c) If the court makes any of the findings specified in paragraph (b), the court must consider and make written findings regarding the following factors when deciding whether to reduce either the amount or duration of alimony:

1. The duration of the marriage.

2. The financial resources of the obligee, including the nonmarital and marital assets and liabilities distributed to the obligee, as well as the obligee's role in conserving or depleting the marital assets distributed at the dissolution of marriage.

3. The sources of income available to the obligee, including income available to the obligee through investments of any asset, including retirement assets from which the obligee can access income without incurring early withdrawal penalties.

4. The effort and sacrifices of time and leisure necessary for the obligor to continue to provide such alimony and consideration of the presumption that the obligor has a right to retire when attaining full retirement age as per the Social Security Administration.

5. The age and health of the obligor.

6. The terms of the marital settlement agreement between the parties which govern modification of alimony.

(d) If the court does not make any of the findings specified in paragraph (b), the alimony award amount shall decrease by 25 percent on the date the obligor reaches 65 years of age or 1 year after the date on which the notice of retirement and intent to terminate alimony is filed, whichever occurs later, and shall continue to decrease by 25 percent each year thereafter until the date the obligor reaches 68 years of age or 4 years after the date on which the notice is filed, whichever occurs later, at which time alimony shall terminate.

(e) Notwithstanding paragraphs (a)-(d), if the obligor continues to work beyond full retirement age as determined by the United States Social Security Administration or beyond the reasonable retirement age for his or her profession or line of work as determined in paragraph (f), whichever occurs earlier, and earns active gross income of more than 50 percent of the obligor's average preretirement annual active gross income for the 3 years preceding his or her retirement age, actual retirement date, or reasonable retirement age, as applicable, the court may extend alimony until the obligor retires and reduces his or her active gross income below the 50 percent active gross income threshold established under this paragraph.

(f) If an obligor, so long as he or she is older than 55 years of age, seeks to retire at an age that is combination of the other forms of alimony, is insufficient.

(b) The amount of durational alimony is the amount determined to be the obligee's reasonable need or an amount not to exceed 35 percent of the difference between the parties' net incomes, whichever amount is less.

(c) In determining the length of an award of durational alimony, the court shall reduce the length of an award of durational alimony for the length of time during which the obligor made temporary support payments to the obligee, either voluntarily or pursuant to a court order, after the date of filing of a petition for dissolution of marriage.

(d) In determining the extent to which alimony should be granted because a supportive relationship exists or has existed between the party seeking alimony and another person who is not related by consanguinity or affinity at any time since 180 days before the filing of the petition of dissolution of marriage, the court shall consider all relevant factors presented concerning the nature and extent of the supportive relationship in question. The burden is on the obligor to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that a supportive relationship exists. If a supportive relationship is proven to exist, the burden shifts to the obligee to disprove by a preponderance of the evidence that the court should deny or reduce the initial award of alimony. The court must make written findings of fact concerning the circumstances of the supportive relationship, including, but not limited to, the factors set forth in s. 61.14(1)(b)2.

(e) In the event that the obligor reaches full retirement age as determined by the Social Security Administration before the end of the durational period indicated by paragraph (a), and has reached at least 65 years of age, the durational alimony shall end on such retirement date if all of the following conditions are met:

1. The obligor files a notice of retirement and intent to terminate alimony with the court and personally serves the alimony recipient and his or her last known attorney of record, if such attorney is still practicing in the same county, at least 1 year before the date that the obligor's retirement is intended to become effective.

2. The obligee has not contested the notice of retirement and intent to terminate alimony according to the factors specified in s. 61.14(12)(b) or the court has determined that such factors do not apply. If the court makes any of the findings specified in s. 61.14(12)(b), the court must consider and make written findings regarding the factors listed in s. 61.14(12)(c) to determine whether to extend the length of the alimony award as set forth in s. 61.08(8)(a).

However, if the obligor continues to work beyond his or her retirement age as provided under this paragraph and earns active gross income of more than 50 percent of the obligor's average preretirement annual active gross income for the 3 years preceding his or her retirement age, the court may extend alimony until the durational limitations established in this subsection have been satisfied or the obligor retires and reduces his or her active gross income below the 50 percent threshold established in this paragraph.

(9)(a) A party against whom alimony is sought who has attained his or her full retirement age as determined by the Social Security Administration before the adjudication of the petition for dissolution of marriage may not be ordered to pay bridge-the-gap, rehabilitative, or durational alimony, unless the court determines that:

1. As a result of the dissolution of marriage, the party seeking alimony would have an income of less than 130 percent of the federal poverty guidelines for a one-person household, as published by the United States Department of Health and Human Services, based on the income and investable assets available after the dissolution is final, including any retirement assets from which the obligee can access income without incurring early withdrawal penalties;

2. The party seeking alimony would be left with the inability to meet his or her basic needs and necessities of life, including, but not limited to, housing, utilities, food, and transportation; or

3. The party seeking alimony is the full-time in-home caregiver to a fully and permanently mentally or physically disabled child who is common to the parties, or the party is permanently and mentally or physically disabled and unable to provide for his or her own support, either partially or fully.

(b) However, if the obligor continues to work beyond his or her retirement age as provided under this subsection and earns active gross income of more than 50 percent of the obligor's average preretirement annual active gross income for the 3 years preceding his or her retirement age, the court may award durational alimony until the durational limitations established in subsection (8) have been satisfied or the obligor retires and reduces his or her active gross income below the 50 percent threshold established in this paragraph.

(10) Notwithstanding any other law, alimony may not be awarded to a party who has a monthly net income that is equal to or more than the other party's monthly net income.

(11) Social security retirement benefits may not be imputed to the obligor as demonstrated by a social security retirement benefits entitlement letter unless those benefits are actually being paid.

(12) If the obligee alleges that a physical disability has impaired his or her capability to earn income, the obligee must have qualified for benefits under the Social Security Administration Disability Insurance Program or, in the event the obligee is not eligible for the program, must demonstrate that his or her disability meets the disability qualification standards of the Social Security Administration Disability Insurance Program.

~~(8) Permanent alimony may be awarded to provide for the needs and necessities of life as they were established during the marriage of the parties for a party who lacks the financial ability to meet his or her needs and necessities of life following a dissolution of marriage. Permanent alimony may be awarded following a marriage of long duration if such an award is appropriate upon consideration of the factors set forth in subsection (2), following a marriage of moderate duration if such an award is appropriate based upon clear and convincing evidence after consideration of the factors set forth in subsection (2), or following a marriage of short duration if there are written findings of exceptional circumstances. In awarding permanent alimony, the court shall include a finding that no other form of alimony is fair and reasonable under the circumstances of the parties. An award of permanent alimony terminates upon the death of either party or upon the remarriage of the party receiving alimony. An award may be modified or~~

~~terminated based upon a substantial change in circumstances or upon the existence of a supportive relationship in accordance with s. 61.14.~~

~~(9) The award of alimony may not leave the payor with significantly less net income than the net income of the recipient unless there are written findings of exceptional circumstances.~~

(13)(a) ~~(10)(a)~~ With respect to any order requiring the payment of alimony entered on or after January 1, 1985, unless ~~the provisions of~~ paragraph (c) or paragraph (d) applies ~~apply~~, the court shall direct in the order that the payments of alimony be made through the appropriate depository as provided in s. 61.181.

(b) With respect to any order requiring the payment of alimony entered before January 1, 1985, upon the subsequent appearance~~,~~ on or after that date~~,~~ of one or both parties before the court having jurisdiction for the purpose of modifying or enforcing the order or in any other proceeding related to the order~~,~~ or upon the application of either party, unless ~~the provisions of~~ paragraph (c) or paragraph (d) applies ~~apply~~, the court shall modify the terms of the order as necessary to direct that payments of alimony be made through the appropriate depository as provided in s. 61.181.

(c) If there is no minor child, alimony payments need not be directed through the depository.

(d)1. If there is a minor child of the parties and both parties so request, the court may order that alimony payments need not be directed through the depository. In this case, the order of support must ~~shall~~ provide, or be deemed to provide, that either party may subsequently apply to the depository to require that payments be made through the depository. The court shall provide a copy of the order to the depository.

2. If ~~the provisions of~~ subparagraph 1. applies ~~apply~~, either party may subsequently file with the depository an affidavit alleging default or arrearages in payment and stating that the party wishes to initiate participation in the depository program. The party shall provide copies of the affidavit to the court and the other party or parties. Fifteen days after receipt of the affidavit, the depository shall notify all parties that future payments shall be directed to the depository.

3. In IV-D cases, the IV-D agency has ~~shall have~~ the same rights as the obligee in requesting that payments be made through the depository.

(14) The court shall apply this section to all petitions for dissolution of marriage which have not been adjudicated before July 1, 2022, and to any petitions for dissolution of marriage filed on or after July 1, 2022.

Section 3. Paragraph (c) of subsection (2) and subsection (3) of section 61.13, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

(c) The court shall determine all matters relating to parenting and time-sharing of each minor child of the parties in accordance with the best interests of the child and in accordance with the Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction and Enforcement Act, except that modification of a parenting plan

and time-sharing schedule requires a showing of a substantial, material, and unanticipated change of circumstances.

1. It is the public policy of this state that each minor child has frequent and continuing contact with both parents after the parents separate or the marriage of the parties is dissolved and to encourage parents to share the rights and responsibilities, and joys, of childrearing. Unless otherwise provided in this section or agreed to by the parties, there is a presumption that equal time-sharing of a minor child is in the best interests of the minor child who is common to the parties ~~Except as otherwise provided in this paragraph, there is no presumption for or against the father or mother of the child or for or against any specific time-sharing schedule~~ when creating or modifying the parenting plan of the child.

2. The court shall order that the parental responsibility for a minor child be shared by both parents unless the court finds that shared parental responsibility would be detrimental to the child. The following evidence creates a rebuttable presumption of detriment to the child:

a. A parent has been convicted of a misdemeanor of the first degree or higher involving domestic violence, as defined in s. 741.28 and chapter 775;

b. A parent meets the criteria of s. 39.806(1)(d); or

c. A parent has been convicted of or had adjudication withheld for an offense enumerated in s. 943.0435(1)(h)1.a., and at the time of the offense:

(I) The parent was 18 years of age or older.

(II) The victim was under 18 years of age or the parent believed the victim to be under 18 years of age.

If the presumption is not rebutted after the convicted parent is advised by the court that the presumption exists, shared parental responsibility, including time-sharing with the child, and decisions made regarding the child, may not be granted to the convicted parent. However, the convicted parent is not relieved of any obligation to provide financial support. If the court determines that shared parental responsibility would be detrimental to the child, it may order sole parental responsibility and make such arrangements for time-sharing as specified in the parenting plan as will best protect the child or abused spouse from further harm. Whether or not there is a conviction of any offense of domestic violence or child abuse or the existence of an injunction for protection against domestic violence, the court shall consider evidence of domestic violence or child abuse as evidence of detriment to the child.

3. In ordering shared parental responsibility, the court may consider the expressed desires of the parents and may grant to one party the ultimate responsibility over specific aspects of the child’s welfare or may divide those responsibilities between the parties based on the best interests of the child. Areas of responsibility may include education, health care, and any other responsibilities that the court finds unique to a particular family.

4. The court shall order sole parental responsibility for a minor child to one parent, with or without time-sharing with the other parent if it is in the best interests of the minor child.

5. There is a rebuttable presumption against granting time-sharing with a minor child if a parent has been convicted of or had adjudication withheld for an offense enumerated in s. 943.0435(1)(h)1.a., and at the time of the offense:

a. The parent was 18 years of age or older.

b. The victim was under 18 years of age or the parent believed the victim to be under 18 years of age.

A parent may rebut the presumption upon a specific finding in writing by the court that the parent poses no significant risk of harm to the child and that time-sharing is in the best interests of the minor child. If the presumption is rebutted, the court shall consider all time-sharing factors in subsection (3) when developing a time-sharing schedule.

6. Access to records and information pertaining to a minor child, including, but not limited to, medical, dental, and school records, may not be denied to either parent. Full rights under this subparagraph apply to either parent unless a court order specifically revokes these rights, including any restrictions on these rights as provided in a domestic violence injunction. A parent having rights under this subparagraph has the same rights upon request as to form, substance, and manner of access as are available to the other parent of a child, including, without limitation, the right to in-person communication with medical, dental, and education providers.

(3) For purposes of establishing or modifying parental responsibility and creating, developing, approving, or modifying a parenting plan, including a time-sharing schedule, which governs each parent’s relationship with his or her minor child and the relationship between each parent with regard to his or her minor child, the best interest of the child shall be the primary consideration. A determination of parental responsibility, a parenting plan, or a time-sharing schedule may not be modified without a showing of a substantial, material, and unanticipated change in circumstances and a determination that the modification is in the best interests of the child. For purposes of the modification of a parenting plan and time-sharing schedule, a parent's permanent relocation to a residence within 50 miles of the primary residence of the child is presumed to be a substantial, material, and unanticipated change in circumstances. Determination of the best interests of the child shall be made by evaluating all of the factors affecting the welfare and interests of the particular minor child and the circumstances of that family, including, but not limited to:

(a) The demonstrated capacity and disposition of each parent to facilitate and encourage a close and continuing parent-child relationship, to honor the time-sharing schedule, and to be reasonable when changes are required.

(b) The anticipated division of parental responsibilities after the litigation, including the extent to which parental responsibilities will be delegated to third parties.

(c) The demonstrated capacity and disposition of each parent to determine, consider, and act upon the needs of the child as opposed to the needs or desires of the parent.

(d) The length of time the child has lived in a stable, satisfactory environment and the desirability of maintaining continuity.

(e) The geographic viability of the parenting plan, with special attention paid to the needs of school-age children and the amount of time to be spent traveling to effectuate the parenting plan. This factor does not create a presumption for or against relocation of either parent with a child.

(f) The moral fitness of the parents.

(g) The mental and physical health of the parents.

(h) The home, school, and community record of the child.

(i) The reasonable preference of the child, if the court deems the child to be of sufficient intelligence, understanding, and experience to express a preference.

(j) The demonstrated knowledge, capacity, and disposition of each parent to be informed of the circumstances of the minor child, including, but not limited to, the child's friends, teachers, medical care providers, daily activities, and favorite things.

(k) The demonstrated capacity and disposition of each parent to provide a consistent routine for the child, such as discipline, and daily schedules for homework, meals, and bedtime.

(l) The demonstrated capacity of each parent to communicate with and keep the other parent informed of issues and activities regarding the minor child, and the willingness of each parent to adopt a unified front on all major issues when dealing with the child.

(m) Evidence of domestic violence, sexual violence, child abuse, child abandonment, or child neglect, regardless of whether a prior or pending action relating to those issues has been brought. If the court accepts evidence of prior or pending actions regarding domestic violence, sexual violence, child abuse, child abandonment, or child neglect, the court must specifically acknowledge in writing that such evidence was considered when evaluating the best interests of the child.

(n) Evidence that either parent has knowingly provided false information to the court regarding any prior or pending action regarding domestic violence, sexual violence, child abuse, child abandonment, or child neglect.

(o) The particular parenting tasks customarily performed by each parent and the division of parental responsibilities before the institution of litigation and during the pending litigation, including the extent to which parenting responsibilities were undertaken by third parties.

(p) The demonstrated capacity and disposition of each parent to participate and be involved in the child's school and extracurricular activities.

(q) The demonstrated capacity and disposition of each parent to maintain an environment for the child which is free from substance abuse.

Section 4. Paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section

61.14, Florida Statutes, is amended, and paragraph (c) is added to subsection (11) of that section, and subsections (12), (13), and (14) are added to that section, to read:

(b)1. The court may reduce or terminate an award of alimony or order reimbursement to the obligor for any amount the court determines is equitable upon specific written findings by the court that since the granting of a divorce and the award of alimony, a supportive relationship exists or ~~has~~ existed between the obligee and another ~~a~~ person at any time during the 180 days before the filing of a petition for modification of alimony ~~with whom the obligee resides~~. On the issue of whether alimony should be reduced or terminated under this paragraph, the burden is on the obligor to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that a supportive relationship exists or existed. If a supportive relationship is proven to exist or have existed, the burden shifts to the obligee to disprove, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the court should terminate an existing award of alimony.

2. In determining the extent to which ~~whether~~ an existing award of alimony should be reduced or terminated because of an alleged supportive relationship between an obligee and a person who is not related by consanguinity or affinity ~~and with whom the obligee resides~~, the court must make written findings of fact concerning the nature and the extent of the supportive relationship in question and the circumstances of the supportive relationship, including, but not limited to, the following factors ~~shall elicit the nature and extent of the relationship in question. The court shall give consideration, without limitation, to circumstances, including, but not limited to, the following, in determining the relationship of an obligee to another person~~:

a. The extent to which the obligee and the other person have held themselves out as a married couple by engaging in conduct such as using the same last name, using a common mailing address, referring to each other in terms such as "my husband" or "my wife," or otherwise conducting themselves in a manner that evidences a permanent supportive relationship.

b. The period of time that the obligee has resided with the other person in a permanent place of abode.

c. The extent to which the obligee and the other person have pooled their assets or income or otherwise exhibited financial interdependence.

d. The extent to which the obligee or the other person has supported the other, in whole or in part.

e. The extent to which the obligee or the other person has performed valuable services for the other.

f. The extent to which the obligee or the other person has performed valuable services for the other's company or employer.

g. Whether the obligee and the other person have worked together to create or enhance anything of value.

h. Whether the obligee and the other person have jointly contributed to the purchase of any real or personal property.

i. Evidence in support of a claim that the obligee and the other person have an express agreement regarding property sharing or support.

j. Evidence in support of a claim that the obligee and the other person have an implied agreement regarding property sharing or support.

k. Whether the obligee and the other person have provided support to the children of one another, regardless of any legal duty to do so.

3. This paragraph does not abrogate the requirement that every marriage in this state be solemnized under a license, does not recognize a common law marriage as valid, and does not recognize a de facto marriage. This paragraph recognizes only that relationships do exist that provide economic support equivalent to a marriage and that alimony terminable on remarriage may be reduced or terminated upon the establishment of equivalent equitable circumstances as described in this paragraph. The existence of a conjugal relationship, though it may be relevant to the nature and extent of the relationship, is not necessary for the application of the provisions of this paragraph.

(c) An obligor's subsequent remarriage or cohabitation does not constitute a basis for either party to seek a modification of an alimony award.

(12)(a) Up to 12 months before seeking to terminate alimony as provided under this section, an obligor may file a notice of retirement and intent to terminate alimony with the court and shall personally serve the obligee and his or her last known attorney of record, if such attorney is still practicing in the same county, with such notice.

(b) The obligee shall have 20 days after the date of service of the notice to request the court to enter findings that as of the date of filing of the notice:

1. The reduction or termination of alimony would result in any of the following:

a. The obligee's income would be less than 130 percent of the federal poverty guidelines for a one-person household, as published by the United States Department of Health and Human Services, based on the obligee's income and investable assets, including any retirement assets from which the obligee can access income without incurring early withdrawal penalties.

b. The obligee would be left with the inability to meet the obligee's basic needs and necessities of life, including, but not limited to, housing, utilities, food, and transportation.

c. A violation of the terms of the marital settlement agreement between the parties because the marital settlement agreement either does not allow for modification or termination of the alimony award or the proposed reduction in alimony does not comply with applicable terms for modification of alimony specified in the agreement;

2. The obligee is the full-time in-home caregiver to a fully and permanently mentally or physically disabled child who is common to the parties; or

3. The obligee is permanently mentally or physically disabled and unable to provide for his or her own support, either partially or fully.

(c) If the court makes any of the findings specified in paragraph (b), the court must consider and make written findings regarding the following factors when deciding whether to reduce either the amount or duration of alimony:

1. The duration of the marriage.

2. The financial resources of the obligee, including the nonmarital and marital assets and liabilities distributed to the obligee, as well as the obligee's role in conserving or depleting the marital assets distributed at the dissolution of marriage.

3. The sources of income available to the obligee, including income available to the obligee through investments of any asset, including retirement assets from which the obligee can access income without incurring early withdrawal penalties.

4. The effort and sacrifices of time and leisure necessary for the obligor to continue to provide such alimony and consideration of the presumption that the obligor has a right to retire when attaining full retirement age as per the Social Security Administration.

5. The age and health of the obligor.

6. The terms of the marital settlement agreement between the parties which govern modification of alimony.

(d) If the court does not make any of the findings specified in paragraph (b), the alimony award amount shall decrease by 25 percent on the date the obligor reaches 65 years of age or 1 year after the date on which the notice of retirement and intent to terminate alimony is filed, whichever occurs later, and shall continue to decrease by 25 percent each year thereafter until the date the obligor reaches 68 years of age or 4 years after the date on which the notice is filed, whichever occurs later, at which time alimony shall terminate.

(e) Notwithstanding paragraphs (a)-(d), if the obligor continues to work beyond full retirement age as determined by the United States Social Security Administration or beyond the reasonable retirement age for his or her profession or line of work as determined in paragraph (f), whichever occurs earlier, and earns active gross income of more than 50 percent of the obligor's average preretirement annual active gross income for the 3 years preceding his or her retirement age, actual retirement date, or reasonable retirement age, as applicable, the court may extend alimony until the obligor retires and reduces his or her active gross income below the 50 percent active gross income threshold established under this paragraph.

(f) If an obligor, so long as he or she is older than 65 years of age, seeks to retire at an age that is

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Present subsections (1) through (23) of section 61.046, Florida Statutes, are redesignated as subsections (2) through (24), respectively, a new subsection (1) is added to that section, and present subsection (8) of that section is amended, to read:

61.046 Definitions.—As used in this chapter, the term:

(1) "Active gross income" means salary, wages, bonuses, commissions, allowances, overtime, tips, and other similar payments and business income from self-employment, partnership, close corporations, independent contracts, and other similar sources. For purposes of this definition, "business income" means gross receipts minus ordinary and necessary expenses required to produce income and requires that such business income be derived in a way that meets any of the material participation tests outlined in the Internal Revenue Service's Publication 925 (2020), Passive Activity and At-Risk Rules.

(9)~~(8)~~ "Income" means any form of payment to an individual, regardless of source, including, but not limited to,~~:~~ wages, salary, commissions and bonuses, compensation as an independent contractor, worker's compensation, disability benefits, annuity and retirement benefits, pensions, dividends, interest, royalties, trust distributions ~~trusts~~, and any other payments, made by any person, private entity, federal or state government, or any unit of local government. United States Department of Veterans Affairs disability benefits and reemployment assistance or unemployment compensation, as defined in chapter 443, are excluded from this definition of income except for purposes of establishing an amount of support.

Section 2. Section 61.08, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

61.08 Alimony.—

(1) As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Alimony" means a court-ordered or voluntary payment of support by one spouse to the other spouse. The term includes any voluntary payment made after the date of filing an order for maintenance, spousal support, temporary support, or separate support when the payment is not intended for the benefit of a child in common.

(b) "Gross income" means gross income as determined in accordance with s. 61.30(2).

(c) "Net income" means income that is determined by subtracting allowable deductions from gross income. For purposes of this section, allowable deductions include any of the following:

1. Federal, state, or local income tax deductions, adjusted for actual filing status and allowable dependents, and income tax liabilities.

2. Federal insurance contributions or self-employment tax.

3. Mandatory union dues.

4. Mandatory retirement payments.

5. Health insurance payments, excluding payments for coverage of a minor child.

6. Court-ordered support for other children which is actually paid.

7. Spousal support paid pursuant to a court order from a previous marriage.

(2)(a) In a proceeding for dissolution of marriage, the court may grant alimony to either party in the form of~~, which alimony may be~~ bridge-the-gap, rehabilitative, or durational alimony, or a ~~permanent in nature or any~~ combination of these forms of alimony. In an ~~any~~ award of alimony, the court may order periodic payments, ~~or~~ payments in lump sum, or both.

(b) The court shall make written findings regarding the basis for awarding a combination of forms of alimony, including the type of alimony and the length of time for which the alimony is awarded. The court may award a combination of forms of alimony only to provide greater economic assistance in order to allow the recipient to achieve rehabilitation.

(c) ~~The court may consider the adultery of either spouse and the circumstances thereof in determining the amount of alimony, if any, to be awarded.~~ In all dissolution actions, the court shall include written findings of fact relative to the factors provided ~~enumerated~~ in subsection (3) ~~(2)~~ supporting the ~~an~~ award or denial of alimony.

(3)~~(2)~~ In determining whether to award alimony or maintenance, the court shall first make a specific, written factual determination as to whether the ~~either~~ party seeking alimony or maintenance has an actual need for it ~~alimony or maintenance~~ and whether the other ~~either~~ party has the ability to pay alimony or maintenance. If the court finds that the ~~a~~ party seeking alimony or maintenance has a need for it ~~alimony or maintenance~~ and that the other party has the ability to pay alimony or maintenance, then in determining the proper type and amount of alimony or maintenance under subsections (5)-(9) ~~(5)-(8)~~, the court must ~~shall~~ consider all relevant factors, including, but not limited to:

(a) The standard of living established during the marriage, including the needs and necessities of life for each party after the dissolution of marriage, taking into consideration the presumption that both parties will have a lower standard of living after the dissolution of marriage than their standard of living during the marriage. This presumption may be overcome by a preponderance of the evidence.

(b) The duration of the marriage.

(c) The age and the physical and emotional condition of each party.

(d) The financial resources of each party, including the nonmarital and the marital assets and liabilities distributed to each.

(e) The earning capacities, educational levels, vocational skills, and employability of the parties and, when applicable, the time necessary for either party to acquire sufficient education or training to enable such party to find appropriate employment.

(f) The contribution of each party to the marriage, including, but not limited to, services rendered in homemaking, child care, education, and career building of either ~~the other~~ party.

(g) The responsibilities each party will have with regard to any minor children whom the parties ~~they~~ have in common.

(h) The tax treatment and consequences to both parties of an ~~any~~ alimony award~~, including the designation of all or a portion of the payment as a nontaxable, nondeductible payment~~.

(i) All sources of income available to either party, including income available to either party through investments of any asset held by that party.

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

(j) Any other factor necessary for ~~to do~~ equity and justice between the parties, if such factor is specifically identified in the award with findings of fact justifying the application of such factor.

(4)~~(3)~~ To the extent necessary to protect an award of alimony, the obligee may ~~court may order any party who is ordered to pay alimony to~~ purchase or maintain a life insurance policy on the obligor's life in an amount adequate to ~~or a bond, or to otherwise~~ secure such alimony award. If the obligee purchases a life insurance policy, the obligor must cooperate in the process of procuring the issuance and underwriting of the life insurance policy ~~with any other assets which may be suitable for that purpose~~.

(5)~~(4)~~ For purposes of determining alimony, there is a rebuttable presumption that a short-term marriage is a marriage having a duration of less than 10 ~~7~~ years, a moderate-term marriage is a marriage having a duration between 10 ~~of greater than 7 years~~ and 20 ~~but less than 17~~ years, and a long-term marriage is a marriage having a duration of 20 ~~17~~ years or longer ~~greater~~. The length of a marriage is the period of time from the date of marriage until the date of filing of an action for dissolution of marriage.

(6)~~(5)~~ Bridge-the-gap alimony may be awarded to assist a party by providing support to allow the party to make a transition from being married to being single. Bridge-the-gap alimony is designed to assist a party with legitimate identifiable short-term needs, and the length of an award of bridge-the-gap alimony may not exceed 2 years. An award of bridge-the-gap alimony terminates upon the death of either party or upon the remarriage of the party receiving alimony. An award of bridge-the-gap alimony is ~~shall~~ not ~~be~~ modifiable in amount or duration.

(7)(a)~~(6)(a)~~ Rehabilitative alimony may be awarded to assist a party in establishing the capacity for self-support through either:

1. The redevelopment of previous skills or credentials; or

2. The acquisition of education, training, or work experience necessary to develop appropriate employment skills or credentials.

(b) In order to award rehabilitative alimony, there must be a specific and defined rehabilitative plan which shall be included as a part of any order awarding rehabilitative alimony.

(c) The length of an award of rehabilitative alimony may not exceed 5 years.

(d) An award of rehabilitative alimony may be modified or terminated in accordance with s. 61.14 based upon a substantial change in circumstances, upon noncompliance with the rehabilitative plan, or upon completion of the rehabilitative plan if the plan is completed before the length of the award of rehabilitative alimony expires.

(8)(a)~~(7)~~ Durational alimony may be awarded ~~when permanent periodic alimony is inappropriate. The purpose of durational alimony is~~ to provide a party with economic assistance for a set period of time ~~following a marriage of short or moderate duration or following a marriage of long duration if there is no ongoing need for support on a permanent basis~~. An award of durational alimony terminates upon the death of either party or upon the remarriage of the party receiving alimony. The amount of an award of durational alimony may be modified or terminated based upon a substantial change in circumstances in accordance with s. 61.14. Durational alimony may not be awarded following a marriage lasting fewer than 3 years. ~~However,~~ The length of an award of durational alimony may not ~~be modified except under exceptional circumstances and may not~~ exceed 50 percent of the length of a ~~the~~ marriage lasting between 3 and 10 years, 60 percent of the length of a marriage lasting between 10 and 20 years, or 75 percent of the length of a marriage lasting 20 years or longer. However, if the party seeking alimony is either permanently mentally or physically disabled and unable to provide for his or her own support, either partially or fully, or is the full-time in-home caregiver to a fully and permanently mentally or physically disabled child who is common to the parties, the court may extend durational alimony beyond the thresholds established in this subsection based on the duration of the marriage until the death of the child or until the court determines that there is no longer a need for durational alimony. For purposes of this subsection, the length of a marriage is the period of time beginning on the date of marriage and ending on the date an action for dissolution of marriage is filed. When awarding durational alimony, the court must make written findings that an award of another type of alimony, or a combination of the other forms of alimony, is not appropriate.

(b) The amount of durational alimony is the amount determined to be the obligee's reasonable need or an amount not to exceed 35 percent of the difference between the parties' net incomes, whichever amount is less.

(c) In determining the length of an award of durational alimony, the court shall reduce the length of an award of durational alimony for the length of time during which the obligor made temporary support payments to the obligee, either voluntarily or pursuant to a court order, after the date of filing of a petition for dissolution of marriage.

(d) In determining the extent to which alimony should be granted because a supportive relationship exists or has existed between the party seeking alimony and another person who is not related by consanguinity or affinity at any time since 180 days before the filing of the petition of dissolution of marriage, the court shall consider all relevant factors presented concerning the nature and extent of the supportive relationship in question. The burden is on the obligor to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that a supportive relationship exists. If a supportive relationship is proven to exist, the burden shifts to the obligee to disprove by a preponderance of the evidence that the court should deny or reduce the initial award of alimony. The court must make written finding of fact concerning the circumstances of the supportive relationship, including, but not limited to, the factors set forth in s. 61.14(1)(b)2.

(e) In the event that the obligor reaches full retirement age as determined by the Social Security Administration or the customary retirement age for his or her profession before the end of the durational period indicated by paragraph (a), the durational alimony shall end on such retirement date if all of the following conditions are met:

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

1. The obligor files a notice of retirement and intent to terminate alimony with the court and personally serves the alimony recipient or his or her last known attorney of record at least 1 year before the date that the obligor's retirement is intended to become effective.

2. The obligee has not contested the notice of retirement and intent to terminate alimony according to the factors specified in s. 61.14(12)(b) or the court has determined that such factors do not apply. If the court makes any of the findings specified in s. 61.14(12)(b), the court must consider and make written findings regarding the factors listed in s. 61.14(12)(c) to determine whether to extend the length of the alimony award as set forth in s. 61.08(8)(a).

However, if the obligor continues to work beyond his or her retirement age as provided under this paragraph and earns active gross income of more than 50 percent of the obligor's average preretirement annual active gross income for the 3 years preceding his or her retirement age, the court may extend alimony until the durational limitations established in this subsection have been satisfied or the obligor retires and reduces his or her active gross income below the 50 percent threshold established in this paragraph.

(9) A party against whom alimony is sought who has attained his or her full retirement age as determined by the Social Security Administration before the adjudication of the petition for dissolution of marriage may not be ordered to pay bridge-the-gap, rehabilitative, or durational alimony, unless the court determines that:

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

(a) The party seeking alimony has not reached the age to qualify for any social security retirement benefits; and

(b)1. As a result of the dissolution of marriage, the party seeking alimony would have an income less than 130 percent of the federal poverty guidelines for a one-person household, as published by the United States Department of Health and Human Services, based on the income and investable assets available after the dissolution is final, including any retirement assets from which the obligee can access income without incurring early withdrawal penalties; or

2. The party seeking alimony is the full-time in-home caregiver to a fully and permanently mentally or physically disabled child who is common to the parties, or the party is permanently and mentally or physically disabled and unable to provide for his or her own support, either partially or fully.

(10) Notwithstanding any other law, alimony may not be awarded to a party who has a monthly net income that is equal to or more than the other party's monthly net income.

(11) Social security retirement benefits may not be imputed to the obligor as demonstrated by a social security retirement benefits entitlement letter unless those benefits are actually being paid.

(12) If the obligee alleges that a physical disability has impaired his or her capability to earn income, the obligee must have qualified for benefits under the Social Security Administration Disability Insurance Program or, in the event the obligee is not eligible for the program, must demonstrate that his or her disability meets the disability qualification standards of the Social Security Administration Disability

Insurance Program.

~~(8) Permanent alimony may be awarded to provide for the needs and necessities of life as they were established during the marriage of the parties for a party who lacks the financial ability to meet his or her needs and necessities of life following a dissolution of marriage. Permanent alimony may be awarded following a marriage of long duration if such an award is appropriate upon consideration of the factors set forth in subsection (2), following a marriage of moderate duration if such an award is appropriate based upon clear and convincing evidence after consideration of the factors set forth in subsection (2), or following a marriage of short duration if there are written findings of exceptional circumstances. In awarding permanent alimony, the court shall include a finding that no other form of alimony is fair and reasonable under the circumstances of the parties. An award of permanent alimony terminates upon the death of either party or upon the remarriage of the party receiving alimony. An award may be modified or terminated based upon a substantial change in circumstances or upon the existence of a supportive relationship in accordance with s. 61.14.~~

~~(9) The award of alimony may not leave the payor with significantly less net income than the net income of the recipient unless there are written findings of exceptional circumstances.~~

be made through the appropriate depository as provided in s. 61.181.

(b) With respect to any order requiring the payment of alimony entered before January 1, 1985, upon the subsequent appearance~~,~~ on or after that date~~,~~ of one or both parties before the court having jurisdiction for the purpose of modifying or enforcing the order or in any other proceeding related to the order~~,~~ or upon the application of either party, unless ~~the provisions of~~ paragraph (c) or paragraph (d) applies ~~apply~~, the court shall modify the terms of the order as necessary to direct that payments of alimony be made through the appropriate depository as provided in s. 61.181.

(c) If there is no minor child, alimony payments need not be directed through the depository.

(d)1. If there is a minor child of the parties and both parties so request, the court may order that alimony payments need not be directed through the depository. In this case, the order of support must ~~shall~~ provide, or be deemed to provide, that either party may subsequently apply to the depository to require that payments be made through the depository. The court shall provide a copy of the order to the depository.

2. If ~~the provisions of~~ subparagraph 1. applies ~~apply~~, either party may subsequently file with the depository an affidavit alleging default or arrearages in payment and stating that the party wishes to initiate participation in the depository program. The party shall provide copies of the affidavit to the court and the other party or parties. Fifteen days after receipt of the affidavit, the depository shall notify all parties that future payments shall be directed to the

3. In IV-D cases, the IV-D agency has ~~shall have~~ the same rights as the obligee in requesting that payments be made through the depository.

(14) The court shall apply this section to all petitions for dissolution of marriage which have not been adjudicated before July 1, 2022, and to any petitions for dissolution of marriage filed on or after July 1, 2022.

Section 3. Paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section 61.14, Florida Statutes, is amended, and paragraph (c) is added to subsection (11) and subsections (12), (13), and (14) are added to that section, to read:

(1)

(b)1. The court may reduce or terminate an award of alimony or order reimbursement to the obligor for any amount the court determines is equitable upon specific written findings by the court that since the granting of a divorce and the award of alimony, a supportive relationship exists or ~~has~~ existed between the obligee and another ~~a~~ person at any time during the 180 days before the filing of a petition for modification of alimony ~~with whom the obligee resides~~. On the issue of whether alimony should be reduced or terminated under this paragraph, the burden is on the obligor to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that a supportive relationship exists or existed. If a supportive relationship is proven to exist or have existed, the burden shifts to the obligee to disprove, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the court should terminate an existing award of alimony.

2. In determining the extent to which ~~whether~~ an existing award of alimony should be reduced or terminated because of an alleged supportive relationship between an obligee and a person who is not related by consanguinity or affinity ~~and with whom the obligee resides~~, the court must make written findings of fact concerning the nature and the extent of the supportive relationship in question and the circumstances of the supportive relationship, including, but not limited to, the following factors ~~shall elicit the nature and extent of the relationship in question. The court shall give consideration, without limitation, to circumstances, including, but not limited to, the following, in determining the relationship of an obligee to another person~~:

a. The extent to which the obligee and the other person have held themselves out as a married couple by engaging in conduct such as using the same last name, using a common mailing address, referring to each other in terms such as "my husband" or "my wife," or otherwise conducting themselves in a manner that evidences a permanent supportive relationship.

b. The period of time that the obligee has resided with the other person in a permanent place of abode.

c. The extent to which the obligee and the other person have pooled their assets or income or otherwise exhibited financial interdependence.

d. The extent to which the obligee or the other person has supported the other, in whole or in part.

e. The extent to which the obligee or the other person has performed valuable services for the other.

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

f. The extent to which the obligee or the other person has performed valuable services for the other's company or employer.

g. Whether the obligee and the other person have worked together to create or enhance anything of value.

h. Whether the obligee and the other person have jointly contributed to the purchase of any real or personal property.

i. Evidence in support of a claim that the obligee and the other person have an express agreement regarding property sharing or support.

j. Evidence in support of a claim that the obligee and the other person have an implied agreement regarding property sharing or support.

k. Whether the obligee and the other person have provided support to the children of one another, regardless of any legal duty to do so.

3. This paragraph does not abrogate the requirement that every marriage in this state be solemnized under a license, does not recognize a common law marriage as valid, and does not recognize a de facto marriage. This paragraph recognizes only that relationships do exist that provide economic support equivalent to a marriage and that alimony terminable on remarriage may be reduced or terminated upon the establishment of equivalent equitable circumstances as described in this paragraph. The existence of a conjugal relationship, though it may be relevant to the nature and extent of the relationship, is not necessary for the application of the provisions of this paragraph.

(c) An obligor's subsequent remarriage or cohabitation does not constitute a basis for either party to seek a modification of an alimony award.

(12)(a) Up to 12 months before seeking to terminate alimony as provided under this section, an obligor may file a notice of retirement and intent to terminate alimony with the court and shall personally serve the obligee or his or her last known attorney of record with such notice.

(b) The obligee shall have 20 days after the date of service of the notice to request the court to enter findings that as of the date of filing of the notice:

1. The reduction or termination of alimony would result in any of the following:

a. The obligee's income would be less than 130 percent of the federal poverty guidelines for a one-person household, as published by the United States Department of Health and Human Services, based on the obligee's income and investable assets, including any retirement assets from which the obligee can access income without incurring early withdrawal penalties.

b. A violation of the terms of the marital settlement agreement between the parties because the marital settlement agreement either does not allow for modification or termination of the alimony award or the proposed reduction in alimony does not comply with applicable terms for modification of alimony specified in the agreement;

2. The obligee is the full-time in-home caregiver to a fully and permanently mentally or physically disabled child who is common to the parties; or

3. The obligee is permanently mentally or physically disabled and unable to provide for his or her own support, either partially or fully.

(c) If the court makes any of the findings specified in paragraph (b), the court must consider and make written findings regarding the following factors when deciding whether to reduce either the amount or duration of alimony:

1. The duration of the marriage.

2. The financial resources of the obligee, including the nonmarital and marital assets and liabilities distributed to the obligee, as well as the obligee's role in conserving or depleting the marital assets distributed at the dissolution of marriage.

3. The sources of income available to the obligee, including income available to the obligee through investments of any asset, including retirement assets from which the obligee can access income without incurring early withdrawal penalties.

4. The effort and sacrifices of time and leisure necessary for the obligor to continue to provide such alimony and consideration of the presumption that the obligor has a right to retire when attaining full retirement age as per the Social Security Administration.

5. The age and health of the obligor.

6. The terms of the marital settlement agreement between the parties which govern modification of alimony.

(d) If the court does not make any of the findings specified in paragraph (b), the alimony award amount shall decrease by 25 percent on the date the obligor reaches 65 years of age or 1 year after the date on which the notice of retirement and intent to terminate alimony is filed, whichever occurs later, and shall continue to decrease by 25 percent each year thereafter until the date the obligor reaches 68 years of age or 4 years after the date on which the notice is filed, whichever occurs later, at which time alimony shall terminate.

(e) Notwithstanding paragraphs (a)-(d), if the obligor continues to work beyond full retirement age as determined by the United States Social Security Administration or beyond the reasonable retirement age for his or her profession or line of work as determined in paragraph (f), whichever occurs earlier, and earns active gross income of more than 50 percent of the obligor's average preretirement annual active gross income for the 3 years preceding his or her retirement age, actual retirement date, or reasonable retirement age, as applicable, the court may extend alimony until the obligor retires and reduces his or her active gross income below the 50 percent active gross income threshold established under this paragraph.

(f) If an obligor seeks to retire at an age that is reasonable for his or her profession or line of work, but before he or she reaches 65 years of age, or if the obligor is past his or her full retirement age as determined by the Social Security Administration, the court may terminate an alimony award if it determines that the obligor's retirement is reasonable. In determining whether the obligor's retirement is reasonable, the court shall consider all of the following:

1. The obligor's age and health.

2. The obligor's motivation for retirement.

3. The obligor's profession or line of work and the typical retirement age for that profession or line of work.

4. The impact that a termination or reduction of alimony would have on the obligee. In determining the impact, the court must consider any assets accumulated or received by the obligee since the final judgment of dissolution of marriage, including any income generated by such assets and retirement assets from which the obligee can access income without incurring early withdrawal penalties, and the obligee's role in the depletion or conservation of any assets.

(g) Up to 12 months before the obligor's anticipated retirement under paragraph (f), the obligor may file a petition to modify or terminate the alimony award, effective upon his or her actual retirement date. The court shall modify or terminate the alimony award after the obligor's retirement unless the court makes written findings of fact under paragraph (f) that the obligor's retirement is not reasonable.

(13) Any amount of social security or disability benefits or retirement payments received by an obligee subsequent to an initial award of alimony constitutes a change in circumstances for which an obligor may seek modification of an alimony award.

(14) Agreements on alimony payments, voluntary or pursuant to a court order, which allow for modification or termination of alimony by virtue of either party reaching a certain age, income, or other threshold, or agreements that establish a limited period of time after which alimony is modifiable, are considered agreements that are expressly modifiable or eligible for termination for purposes of this section once the specified condition is met.

Section 4. Section 61.19, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

61.19 Entry of judgment of dissolution of marriage; ~~,~~ delay period; separate adjudication of issues.—

(1) A ~~No~~ final judgment of dissolution of marriage may not be entered until at least 20 days have elapsed from the date of filing the original petition for dissolution of marriage, ~~,~~ but the court, on a showing that injustice would result from this delay, may enter a final judgment of dissolution of marriage at an earlier date.

(2) If more than 2 years have elapsed after the date of service of the original petition for dissolution of marriage, absent a showing by either party that irreparable harm will result from granting a final judgment of dissolution of marriage, the court shall, upon request of either party, grant a final judgment of dissolution of marriage with a reservation of jurisdiction to subsequently determine all other substantive issues. Before granting the judgment, the court shall enter temporary orders necessary to protect the parties and their children, if any, which orders remain effective until all other issues are adjudicated by the court. This subsection applies to all petitions for dissolution of marriage filed on or after July 1, 2022.

Section 5. The court shall apply this act to any action pending on or after July 1, 2022.

Section 6. This act shall take effect July 1, 2022.

The Committee on Appropriations (Gruters) recommended the following:

Senate Substitute for Amendment (797882) (with title amendment)

Delete lines 316 - 625
combination of the other forms of alimony, is insufficient.

(b) The amount of durational alimony is the amount determined to be the obligee's reasonable need or an amount not to exceed 35 percent of the difference between the parties' net incomes, whichever amount is less.

(c) In determining the length of an award of durational alimony, the court shall reduce the length of an award of durational alimony for the length of time during which the obligor made temporary support payments to the obligee, either voluntarily or pursuant to a court order, after the date of filing of a petition for dissolution of marriage.

(d) In determining the extent to which alimony should be granted because a supportive relationship exists or has existed between the party seeking alimony and another person who is not related by consanguinity or affinity at any time since 180 days before the filing of the petition of dissolution of marriage, the court shall consider all relevant factors presented concerning the nature and extent of the supportive relationship in question. The burden is on the obligor to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that a supportive relationship exists. If a supportive relationship is proven to exist, the burden shifts to the obligee to disprove by a preponderance of the evidence that the court should deny or reduce the initial award of alimony. The court must make written findings of fact concerning the circumstances of the supportive relationship, including, but not limited to, the factors set forth in s. 61.14(1)(b)2.

(e) In the event that the obligor reaches full retirement age as determined by the Social Security Administration before the end of the durational period indicated by paragraph (a), and has reached at least 65 years of age, the durational alimony shall end on such retirement date if all of the following conditions are met:

1. The obligor files a notice of retirement and intent to terminate alimony with the court and personally serves the alimony recipient and his or her last known attorney of record, if such attorney is still practicing in the same county, at least 1 year before the date that the obligor's retirement is intended to become effective.

2. The obligee has not contested the notice of retirement and intent to terminate alimony according to the factors specified in s. 61.14(12)(b) or the court has determined that such factors do not apply. If the court makes any of the findings specified in s. 61.14(12)(b), the court must consider and make written findings regarding the factors listed in s. 61.14(12)(c) to determine whether to extend the length of the alimony award as set forth in s. 61.08(8)(a).

However, if the obligor continues to work beyond his or her retirement age as provided under this paragraph and earns active gross income of more than 50 percent of the obligor's average preretirement annual active gross income for the 3 years preceding his or her retirement age, the court may extend alimony until the durational limitations established in this subsection have been satisfied or the obligor retires and reduces his or her active gross income below the 50 percent threshold established in this paragraph.

(9)(a) A party against whom alimony is sought who has attained his or her full retirement age as determined by the Social Security Administration before the adjudication of the petition for dissolution of marriage may not be ordered to pay bridge-the-gap, rehabilitative, or durational alimony, unless the court determines that:

1. As a result of the dissolution of marriage, the party seeking alimony would have an income of less than 130 percent of the federal poverty guidelines for a one-person household, as published by the United States Department of Health and Human Services, based on the income and investable assets available after the dissolution is final, including any retirement assets from which the obligee can access income without incurring early withdrawal penalties;

2. The party seeking alimony would be left with the inability to meet his or her basic needs and necessities of life, including, but not limited to, housing, utilities, food, and transportation; or

3. The party seeking alimony is the full-time in-home caregiver to a fully and permanently mentally or physically disabled child who is common to the parties, or the party is permanently and mentally or physically disabled and unable to provide for his or her own support, either partially or fully.

(b) However, if the obligor continues to work beyond his or her retirement age as provided under this subsection and earns active gross income of more than 50 percent of the obligor's average preretirement annual active gross income for the 3 years preceding his or her retirement age, the court may award durational alimony until the durational limitations established in subsection (8) have been satisfied or the obligor retires and reduces his or her active gross income below the 50 percent threshold established in this paragraph.

(10) Notwithstanding any other law, alimony may not be awarded to a party who has a monthly net income that is equal to or more than the other party's monthly net income.

(11) Social security retirement benefits may not be imputed to the obligor as demonstrated by a social security retirement benefits entitlement letter unless those benefits are actually being paid.

(12) If the obligee alleges that a physical disability has impaired his or her capability to earn income, the obligee must have qualified for benefits under the Social Security Administration Disability Insurance Program or, in the event the obligee is not eligible for the program, must demonstrate that his or her disability meets the disability qualification standards of the Social Security Administration Disability Insurance Program.

~~(8) Permanent alimony may be awarded to provide for the needs and necessities of life as they were established during the marriage of the parties for a party who lacks the financial ability to meet his or her needs and necessities of life following a dissolution of marriage. Permanent alimony may be awarded following a marriage of long duration if such an award is appropriate upon consideration of the factors set forth in subsection (2), following a marriage of moderate duration if such an award is appropriate based upon clear and convincing evidence after consideration of the factors set forth in subsection (2), or following a marriage of short duration if there are written findings of exceptional circumstances. In awarding permanent alimony, the court shall include a finding that no other form of alimony is fair and reasonable under the circumstances of the parties. An award of permanent alimony terminates upon the death of either party or upon the remarriage of the party receiving alimony. An award may be modified or~~

~~terminated based upon a substantial change in circumstances or upon the existence of a supportive relationship in accordance with s. 61.14.~~

~~(9) The award of alimony may not leave the payor with significantly less net income than the net income of the recipient unless there are written findings of exceptional circumstances.~~

(13)(a) ~~(10)(a)~~ With respect to any order requiring the payment of alimony entered on or after January 1, 1985, unless ~~the provisions of~~ paragraph (c) or paragraph (d) applies ~~apply~~, the court shall direct in the order that the payments of alimony be made through the appropriate depository as provided in s. 61.181.

(b) With respect to any order requiring the payment of alimony entered before January 1, 1985, upon the subsequent appearance~~,~~ on or after that date~~,~~ of one or both parties before the court having jurisdiction for the purpose of modifying or enforcing the order or in any other proceeding related to the order~~,~~ or upon the application of either party, unless ~~the provisions of~~ paragraph (c) or paragraph (d) applies ~~apply~~, the court shall modify the terms of the order as necessary to direct that payments of alimony be made through the appropriate depository as provided in s. 61.181.

(c) If there is no minor child, alimony payments need not be directed through the depository.

(d)1. If there is a minor child of the parties and both parties so request, the court may order that alimony payments need not be directed through the depository. In this case, the order of support must ~~shall~~ provide, or be deemed to provide, that either party may subsequently apply to the depository to require that payments be made through the depository. The court shall provide a copy of the order to the depository.

2. If ~~the provisions of~~ subparagraph 1. applies ~~apply~~, either party may subsequently file with the depository an affidavit alleging default or arrearages in payment and stating that the party wishes to initiate participation in the depository program. The party shall provide copies of the affidavit to the court and the other party or parties. Fifteen days after receipt of the affidavit, the depository shall notify all parties that future payments shall be directed to the depository.

3. In IV-D cases, the IV-D agency has ~~shall have~~ the same rights as the obligee in requesting that payments be made through the depository.

(14) The court shall apply this section to all petitions for dissolution of marriage which have not been adjudicated before July 1, 2022, and to any petitions for dissolution of marriage filed on or after July 1, 2022.

Section 3. Paragraph (c) of subsection (2) and subsection (3) of section 61.13, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

(c) The court shall determine all matters relating to parenting and time-sharing of each minor child of the parties in accordance with the best interests of the child and in accordance with the Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction and Enforcement Act, except that modification of a parenting plan

and time-sharing schedule requires a showing of a substantial, material, and unanticipated change of circumstances.

1. It is the public policy of this state that each minor child has frequent and continuing contact with both parents after the parents separate or the marriage of the parties is dissolved and to encourage parents to share the rights and responsibilities, and joys, of childrearing. Unless otherwise provided in this section or agreed to by the parties, there is a presumption that equal time-sharing of a minor child is in the best interests of the minor child who is common to the parties ~~Except as otherwise provided in this paragraph, there is no presumption for or against the father or mother of the child or for or against any specific time-sharing schedule~~ when creating or modifying the parenting plan of the child.

2. The court shall order that the parental responsibility for a minor child be shared by both parents unless the court finds that shared parental responsibility would be detrimental to the child. The following evidence creates a rebuttable presumption of detriment to the child:

a. A parent has been convicted of a misdemeanor of the first degree or higher involving domestic violence, as defined in s. 741.28 and chapter 775;

b. A parent meets the criteria of s. 39.806(1)(d); or

c. A parent has been convicted of or had adjudication withheld for an offense enumerated in s. 943.0435(1)(h)1.a., and at the time of the offense:

(I) The parent was 18 years of age or older.

(II) The victim was under 18 years of age or the parent believed the victim to be under 18 years of age.

If the presumption is not rebutted after the convicted parent is advised by the court that the presumption exists, shared parental responsibility, including time-sharing with the child, and decisions made regarding the child, may not be granted to the convicted parent. However, the convicted parent is not relieved of any obligation to provide financial support. If the court determines that shared parental responsibility would be detrimental to the child, it may order sole parental responsibility and make such arrangements for time-sharing as specified in the parenting plan as will best protect the child or abused spouse from further harm. Whether or not there is a conviction of any offense of domestic violence or child abuse or the existence of an injunction for protection against domestic violence, the court shall consider evidence of domestic violence or child abuse as evidence of detriment to the child.

3. In ordering shared parental responsibility, the court may consider the expressed desires of the parents and may grant to one party the ultimate responsibility over specific aspects of the child’s welfare or may divide those responsibilities between the parties based on the best interests of the child. Areas of responsibility may include education, health care, and any other responsibilities that the court finds unique to a particular family.

4. The court shall order sole parental responsibility for a minor child to one parent, with or without time-sharing with the other parent if it is in the best interests of the minor child.

5. There is a rebuttable presumption against granting time-sharing with a minor child if a parent has been convicted of or had adjudication withheld for an offense enumerated in s. 943.0435(1)(h)1.a., and at the time of the offense:

a. The parent was 18 years of age or older.

b. The victim was under 18 years of age or the parent believed the victim to be under 18 years of age.

A parent may rebut the presumption upon a specific finding in writing by the court that the parent poses no significant risk of harm to the child and that time-sharing is in the best interests of the minor child. If the presumption is rebutted, the court shall consider all time-sharing factors in subsection (3) when developing a time-sharing schedule.

6. Access to records and information pertaining to a minor child, including, but not limited to, medical, dental, and school records, may not be denied to either parent. Full rights under this subparagraph apply to either parent unless a court order specifically revokes these rights, including any restrictions on these rights as provided in a domestic violence injunction. A parent having rights under this subparagraph has the same rights upon request as to form, substance, and manner of access as are available to the other parent of a child, including, without limitation, the right to in-person communication with medical, dental, and education providers.

(3) For purposes of establishing or modifying parental responsibility and creating, developing, approving, or modifying a parenting plan, including a time-sharing schedule, which governs each parent’s relationship with his or her minor child and the relationship between each parent with regard to his or her minor child, the best interest of the child shall be the primary consideration. A determination of parental responsibility, a parenting plan, or a time-sharing schedule may not be modified without a showing of a substantial, material, and unanticipated change in circumstances and a determination that the modification is in the best interests of the child. For purposes of the modification of a parenting plan and time-sharing schedule, a parent's permanent relocation to a residence within 50 miles of the primary residence of the child is presumed to be a substantial, material, and unanticipated change in circumstances. Determination of the best interests of the child shall be made by evaluating all of the factors affecting the welfare and interests of the particular minor child and the circumstances of that family, including, but not limited to:

(a) The demonstrated capacity and disposition of each parent to facilitate and encourage a close and continuing parent-child relationship, to honor the time-sharing schedule, and to be reasonable when changes are required.

(b) The anticipated division of parental responsibilities after the litigation, including the extent to which parental responsibilities will be delegated to third parties.

(c) The demonstrated capacity and disposition of each parent to determine, consider, and act upon the needs of the child as opposed to the needs or desires of the parent.

(d) The length of time the child has lived in a stable, satisfactory environment and the desirability of maintaining continuity.

(e) The geographic viability of the parenting plan, with special attention paid to the needs of school-age children and the amount of time to be spent traveling to effectuate the parenting plan. This factor does not create a presumption for or against relocation of either parent with a child.

(f) The moral fitness of the parents.

(g) The mental and physical health of the parents.

(h) The home, school, and community record of the child.

(i) The reasonable preference of the child, if the court deems the child to be of sufficient intelligence, understanding, and experience to express a preference.

(j) The demonstrated knowledge, capacity, and disposition of each parent to be informed of the circumstances of the minor child, including, but not limited to, the child's friends, teachers, medical care providers, daily activities, and favorite things.

(k) The demonstrated capacity and disposition of each parent to provide a consistent routine for the child, such as discipline, and daily schedules for homework, meals, and bedtime.

(l) The demonstrated capacity of each parent to communicate with and keep the other parent informed of issues and activities regarding the minor child, and the willingness of each parent to adopt a unified front on all major issues when dealing with the child.

(m) Evidence of domestic violence, sexual violence, child abuse, child abandonment, or child neglect, regardless of whether a prior or pending action relating to those issues has been brought. If the court accepts evidence of prior or pending actions regarding domestic violence, sexual violence, child abuse, child abandonment, or child neglect, the court must specifically acknowledge in writing that such evidence was considered when evaluating the best interests of the child.

(n) Evidence that either parent has knowingly provided false information to the court regarding any prior or pending action regarding domestic violence, sexual violence, child abuse, child abandonment, or child neglect.

(o) The particular parenting tasks customarily performed by each parent and the division of parental responsibilities before the institution of litigation and during the pending litigation, including the extent to which parenting responsibilities were undertaken by third parties.

(p) The demonstrated capacity and disposition of each parent to participate and be involved in the child's school and extracurricular activities.

(q) The demonstrated capacity and disposition of each parent to maintain an environment for the child which is free from substance abuse.

(r) The capacity and disposition of each parent to protect the child from the ongoing litigation as demonstrated by not discussing the litigation with the child, not sharing documents or electronic media related to the litigation with the child, and refraining from disparaging comments about the other parent to the child.

(s) The developmental stages and needs of the child and the demonstrated capacity and disposition of each parent to meet the child's developmental needs.

(t) Any other factor that is relevant to the determination of a specific parenting plan, including the time-sharing schedule.

Section 4. Paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section

61.14, Florida Statutes, is amended, and paragraph (c) is added to subsection (11) of that section, and subsections (12), (13), and (14) are added to that section, to read:

(b)1. The court may reduce or terminate an award of alimony or order reimbursement to the obligor for any amount the court determines is equitable upon specific written findings by the court that since the granting of a divorce and the award of alimony, a supportive relationship exists or ~~has~~ existed between the obligee and another ~~a~~ person at any time during the 180 days before the filing of a petition for modification of alimony ~~with whom the obligee resides~~. On the issue of whether alimony should be reduced or terminated under this paragraph, the burden is on the obligor to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that a supportive relationship exists or existed. If a supportive relationship is proven to exist or have existed, the burden shifts to the obligee to disprove, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the court should terminate an existing award of alimony.

2. In determining the extent to which ~~whether~~ an existing award of alimony should be reduced or terminated because of an alleged supportive relationship between an obligee and a person who is not related by consanguinity or affinity ~~and with whom the obligee resides~~, the court must make written findings of fact concerning the nature and the extent of the supportive relationship in question and the circumstances of the supportive relationship, including, but not limited to, the following factors ~~shall elicit the nature and extent of the relationship in question. The court shall give consideration, without limitation, to circumstances, including, but not limited to, the following, in determining the relationship of an obligee to another person~~:

a. The extent to which the obligee and the other person have held themselves out as a married couple by engaging in conduct such as using the same last name, using a common mailing address, referring to each other in terms such as "my husband" or "my wife," or otherwise conducting themselves in a manner that evidences a permanent supportive relationship.

b. The period of time that the obligee has resided with the other person in a permanent place of abode.

c. The extent to which the obligee and the other person have pooled their assets or income or otherwise exhibited financial interdependence.

d. The extent to which the obligee or the other person has supported the other, in whole or in part.

e. The extent to which the obligee or the other person has performed valuable services for the other.

f. The extent to which the obligee or the other person has performed valuable services for the other's company or employer.

g. Whether the obligee and the other person have worked together to create or enhance anything of value.

h. Whether the obligee and the other person have jointly contributed to the purchase of any real or personal property.

i. Evidence in support of a claim that the obligee and the other person have an express agreement regarding property sharing or support.

j. Evidence in support of a claim that the obligee and the other person have an implied agreement regarding property sharing or support.

k. Whether the obligee and the other person have provided support to the children of one another, regardless of any legal duty to do so.

3. This paragraph does not abrogate the requirement that every marriage in this state be solemnized under a license, does not recognize a common law marriage as valid, and does not recognize a de facto marriage. This paragraph recognizes only that relationships do exist that provide economic support equivalent to a marriage and that alimony terminable on remarriage may be reduced or terminated upon the establishment of equivalent equitable circumstances as described in this paragraph. The existence of a conjugal relationship, though it may be relevant to the nature and extent of the relationship, is not necessary for the application of the provisions of this paragraph.

(c) An obligor's subsequent remarriage or cohabitation does not constitute a basis for either party to seek a modification of an alimony award.

(12)(a) Up to 12 months before seeking to terminate alimony as provided under this section, an obligor may file a notice of retirement and intent to terminate alimony with the court and shall personally serve the obligee and his or her last known attorney of record, if such attorney is still practicing in the same county, with such notice.

(b) The obligee shall have 20 days after the date of service of the notice to request the court to enter findings that as of the date of filing of the notice:

1. The reduction or termination of alimony would result in any of the following:

a. The obligee's income would be less than 130 percent of the federal poverty guidelines for a one-person household, as published by the United States Department of Health and Human Services, based on the obligee's income and investable assets, including any retirement assets from which the obligee can access income without incurring early withdrawal penalties.

b. The obligee would be left with the inability to meet the obligee's basic needs and necessities of life, including, but not limited to, housing, utilities, food, and transportation.

c. A violation of the terms of the marital settlement agreement between the parties because the marital settlement agreement either does not allow for modification or termination of the alimony award or the proposed reduction in alimony does not comply with applicable terms for modification of alimony specified in the agreement;

2. The obligee is the full-time in-home caregiver to a fully and permanently mentally or physically disabled child who is common to the parties; or

3. The obligee is permanently mentally or physically disabled and unable to provide for his or her own support, either partially or fully.

(c) If the court makes any of the findings specified in paragraph (b), the court must consider and make written findings regarding the following factors when deciding whether to reduce either the amount or duration of alimony:

1. The duration of the marriage.

2. The financial resources of the obligee, including the nonmarital and marital assets and liabilities distributed to the obligee, as well as the obligee's role in conserving or depleting the marital assets distributed at the dissolution of marriage.

Division of Accounting and Auditing

Section 215.93, F.S., establishes the Florida Financial Management Information System (FFMIS) for the state. The intent of the FFMIS is to ensure the efficient operation of an integrated financial management information system and to provide necessary information for the effective operation of state government.[3] The Florida Accounting Information Resource Subsystem (FLAIR) is the state's accounting system, and it is a subsystem of the FFMIS.[4] The functions of FLAIR include accounting and reporting of information to producing financial statements for the state and auditing and settling claims against the state.[5] In 2014, DFS created the Florida Planning, Accounting, and Ledger Management (PALM) Project to replace the State of Florida's current accounting and cash management systems with an integrated, enterprise financial management solution that will allow the state to organize, define, and standardize its financial management processes. The Florida PALM Project is a multiyear project.[6]

The Division of Accounting and Auditing, Bureau of Financial Reporting (Bureau), is responsible for the oversight of local government financial reports and the Comprehensive Annual Financial Reports (CAFR). The Chief Financial Officer is required to publish a CAFR in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP).[7] The CAFR includes the audited financial statements, other disclosures, and supplementary information, presenting the state's financial condition and results of operations during the fiscal year.[8] The Government Accounting Standards Board (GASB) establishes accounting and financial reporting standards for U.S. state and local governments that follow GAAP and recently changed the term, "Comprehensive Annual Financial Report" (CAFR)[9] to the term, "Annual Comprehensive Financial Report" (ACFR).

Chapter 218, F.S., prescribes financial management and reporting requirements for local governments, which include counties, municipalities, and special districts. The Division of Accounting and Auditing's website provides resources to assist local governments in fulfilling their reporting requirements.[10] Local governments must submit their annual financial reports (AFRs) to the DFS and provide their audited financial statements.[11] The AFR is available to the public in the local government electronic reporting (LOGER).

In 2018,[12] legislation was enacted to require the DFS to create an interactive repository of financial statement information, known as the Florida Open Financial Statement System.[13] This system must have standardized taxonomies for state, county, municipal, and special district financial filings. The Division of Accounting & Auditing and the Office of Information Technology are designing the Florida Open Financial Statement System.[14]

Division of Rehabilitation and Liquidation

Federal law provides insurance companies may not file for bankruptcy.[15] The state, through the Division of Rehabilitation (division or receiver), is instead responsible for rehabilitating or liquidating an insurer.[16] States primarily regulate insurance companies, and the state of domicile serves as the primary regulator for insurers. The receiver administers insurance companies placed into receivership in Florida.[17]

Insurance companies in receivership fund positions within the division. Since these positions are not appropriated from state funds, the positions are not state employee positions and are not eligible for the state group insurance program.[18] Because the division must purchase health insurance in the small group market, it is unable to leverage the economies of scale, and faces yearly premium increases. The division anticipates these increases will continue to occur in the future, which ultimately affects the claimants in the receivership estates. The division is a participating entity of the Florida Retirement System.[19] The division also participates in the State's Deferred Compensation program.

Division of Funeral, Cemetery, and Consumer Services

Section 20.121(4), F.S., creates the Board of Funeral, Cemetery, and Consumer Services (board) within the Division of Funeral, Cemetery, and Consumer Services of the DFS. The board acts as the licensing and rulemaking authority for the purposes of certain matters related to examinations and other substantive requirements for licensure within the death care industry under ch. 497, F.S., including facility requirements.[20]

Section 497.141(12)(b)-(c), F.S. sets forth who may apply for which licenses.

Fees

Current law imposes a maximum charge to consumers of $50 for transference of burial rights from one purchaser to another.[21]

Licensure

There are several options available for embalmers or funeral directors to obtain reciprocal licensure in Florida.[22] One method to receive a reciprocal licensure for an embalmer is to hold a valid licensure in a state that has requirements at the time of original licensure that are substantially equivalent to or more stringent than Florida's requirements at the same time.[23]

A funeral director may apply to obtain a reciprocal licensure in Florida if the provisions of s. 497.374, F.S., are met. The applicant must hold a valid license to practice funeral directing in another state, provided that, when the applicant secured her or his original license, the requirements for licensure were substantially equivalent to or more stringent than those existing in Florida.[24]

Current law prescribes the scope of practice of funeral directing a licensed funeral director may perform.[25] These duties include:

- Selling or offering to sell funeral services;
- Planning or arranging the details of the funeral services;
- Embalming, cremation, or other services relating to the final disposition of human remains; including the removals of such remains from the state;
- Setting the time of the service;
- Establishing the type of services to be rendered;
- Acquiring the services of the clergy;
- Obtaining vital information for the filing of death certificates and burial transit permits; or
- Directing any memorial services that is held prior to or within 72 hours of the burial or cremation if such service is old or arranged by the licensee.

Division of Insurance Agents and Agencies

Chapter 626, F.S., governs the regulation of insurance field representatives, navigators, insurance administrators, unauthorized insurers and surplus lines, viatical settlements, structured settlements, and operations.[26] The powers and duties of the CFO and the DFS in part I of ch. 626, F.S., apply only with respect to insurance agents, insurance agencies, managing general agents, insurance adjusters, reinsurance intermediaries, viatical settlement brokers, customer representatives, service representatives, and agencies.[27] Further, the DFS has jurisdiction to enforce provisions of parts VIII and IX of ch. 626, F.S., with respect to persons engaged in actions for which a license issued by the DFS is required.[28] The powers and duties of the Financial Service Commission and the Office of Insurance Regulation (OIR) [29] specified in part I apply only with respect to service companies, insurance administrators, and viatical settlement providers and contracts.[30] The OIR has jurisdiction to enforce provisions of parts VIII and IX of ch. 626, F.S., with respect to persons who engage in actions for which a license or certificate of authority issued by the OIR is required.[31] However, s. 626.016, F.S., is not intended to limit the authority of the DFS and the Division of Investigative and Forensic Services within the DFS, as specified in s. 626.989, F.S.

The Division of Insurance Agent and Agency Services (division) licenses and appoints individuals and entities authorized to transact insurance in Florida as provided in s. 626.016, F.S. Further, the division receives and reviews applications for insurance licenses and oversees the examination, licensing, and continuing education of licensees. The division also conducts investigations of alleged violations of the Florida Insurance Code and refers suspected criminal violations of the Florida Insurance Code to the Division of Investigative and Forensic Services' Bureau of Insurance Fraud within the DFS or other law enforcement agencies as appropriate.[32]

Section 626.112, F.S., states that no person may be, act as, or advertise or hold himself or herself out to be an insurance agent, insurance adjuster, customer representative, service representative, or managing general agent unless he or she is currently licensed by the department and appointed by an appropriate appointing entity or person. All licenses require an appointment with the exception of insurance agency licenses.

Agents with Unaffiliated appointments

Unaffiliated insurance agents, are those licensees, except a limited lines agent, who are self-appointed and who practice as an independent consultant in the business of analyzing and abstracting insurance policies, providing insurance advice or counseling, or making specific recommendations or comparisons of insurance products for a fee established in advance in a written contract signed by the parties. An unaffiliated insurance agent may not be affiliated with an insurer, insurer-appointed insurance agent, or insurance agency contracted with or employing insurer-appointed insurance agents.[33] According to the DFS, unaffiliated appointments were intended to allow a licensee to hold their license in good standing, giving the licensee credentials in the knowledge for holding a license, without soliciting insurance coverage.[34]

Insurance Adjuster Licensure Examination

An adjuster is an individual employed by an insurer to evaluate losses and settle policyholder claims.[35] An adjuster may be licensed as either an "all-lines adjuster" or a "public adjuster."[36] An all-lines adjuster "is a person who, for money, commission, or any other thing of value, directly or indirectly undertakes on behalf of a public adjuster or an insurer to ascertain and determine the amount of any claim, loss, or damage payable under an insurance contract or undertakes to effect settlement of such claim, loss, or damage."[37] Subject to certain exceptions, a public adjuster is someone that is paid by an insured to prepare and file a claim against his or her insurer.[38]

Among other requirements, an applicant must pass an examination to obtain an adjuster's license; however, the examination requirement is waived if the applicant has attained certain professional designations that document their successful completion of professional education coursework. An examination is not required for all-lines adjuster applicants that obtains certain specified professional designations.[39] The DFS must approve the curriculum, which must include comprehensive analysis of basic property and casualty lines of insurance and testing at least equal to that of standard the DFS testing for the all-lines adjuster license.[40]

Closure of an Insurance Agency

Currently an agency is not required to provide notification to a policyholder or premium finance company or follow protocols when an agency is closing for an extended period or closing permanently.

The Division of State Fire Marshal protects people and property throughout Florida and has authority to inspect buildings, structures, equipment, vehicles and chemicals when there is reasonable cause to believe a violation of the Florida Fire Code has occurred.[41] The Division of State Fire Marshal:

- Conducts safety inspections and reviews construction plans for all state-owned buildings, regulates fireworks and the fire sprinkler industry, inspects and licenses boilers, and certifies persons working in the fire suppression industry; and
- Approves curricula and training at the Florida State Fire College and certifies that fire service members meet industry standards.[42]

Firefighter Certification

To be certified as a firefighter, a person must complete a minimum standards course and examination established by the State Fire Marshal or show proof of equivalent training in another state, and pass an exam within one year of completing the minimum standards course.[43] Additionally, the applicant must be in good physical condition, as determined by a medical examination, and have good moral character, as determined by a background investigation that includes the processing of fingerprints for a national criminal background check.[44]

To serve as an administrative and command head of a fire service provider, or to work in a position directing incident outcomes, a certified firefighter must earn a Special Certificate of Compliance.[45] Such person must be active as a firefighter, maintain a valid fire service instructor certificate and teach at least 40 hours of instruction during a four-year period, and complete a Firefighter Retention Refresher Course prior to expiration of the four-year period.[46]

To renew a certification, a firefighter must:
- Be active as a firefighter, meaning the certificate holder was employed as a firefighter or served as a volunteer firefighter for at least six months during a four-year period; or
- Hold a fire service instructor certificate and instruct at least 40 hours during a four-year period, or
- Complete a Firefighter Retention Refresher Course during the six months before the four-year period expires, or
- Retake and pass the Minimum Standards Course examination during the six months before the four-year period expires.[47]

Firefighter Assistance Grant Program

The Firefighter Assistance Grant was created to improve the emergency response capability of volunteer fire departments and combination fire departments.[48] The program is required to provide financial assistance to improve firefighter safety and to enable such fire departments to provide firefighting, emergency medical, and rescue services to their communities.[49] Funding is available for training, personal protective equipment, self-contained breathing apparatus, and fire engine pumper apparatus.[50] According to the DFS, many of the fire departments that are eligible to participate in this grant program are in rural economically challenged areas of the state and have limited funding opportunities to purchase additional crucially needed tools and equipment.[51]

Boiler Safety Act

Chapter 554, F.S., is the "Boiler Safety Act."[52] The DFS is authorized to adopt by rule a State Boiler Code for the safe construction, installation, inspection, maintenance, and repair of boilers in Florida.[53] The State Fire Marshall performs inspections to ensure the safety of boilers in public buildings.[54] Boiler inspectors must meet initial and ongoing certification requirements.[55] The DFS may impose various fees, such as, initial and annual certificates of competency, certificate inspections.

According to the DFS, some provisions within ch. 554 are outdated. For example, a requirement for American Society of Mechanical Engineers (ASME)[56] stamping of boilers between 200,000 and 400,000 BTU has been in the statute for several years but did not have a phase in date to allow for utilization of manufacturer's inventory. [57] Additionally, the carbon monoxide detector requirement of ch. 509, F.S., lacks clarity as to the enforcement ability of authorized third-party inspectors.[58]

Division of Workers' Compensation

The workers' compensation law[59] requires an employer[60] to obtain coverage for their "employees" that provides for lost income and all medically necessary remedial treatment, attendance, and care resulting from work related injuries and occupational diseases. The Division of Workers' Compensation[61] within the DFS provides regulatory oversight of the system.[62] The DFS' responsibilities include enforcing employer compliance with coverage requirements,[63] administration of the workers' compensation health care delivery system, collecting system data, educating and assisting employers and injured workers.

"Employer" also includes employment agencies, employee leasing companies, and similar agents who provide employees to other persons. s. 440.02(16), F.S. The most common exception to this is non-construction industry employers with fewer than four employees. There are a number of other exceptions, exclusions, and exemptions that affect whether an employer must provide workers' compensation coverage generally or to a particular individual. Coverage Requirements; Enforcement

Whether an employer is required to have workers' compensation insurance depends upon the employer's industry (i.e., construction, non-construction, or agricultural) and the number of employees.[64] The coverage thresholds are as follows:

- Construction – one or more "employees;"
- Non-construction – four or more "employees;" and
- Agricultural - six or more regular employees and/or 12 or more seasonal employees who work for more than 30 days.[65]

Employers may obtain coverage by purchasing a workers' compensation insurance policy from an insurer; purchasing coverage from the Workers' Compensation Joint Underwriting Association (for employers that are unable to purchase a workers' compensation insurance policy from an authorized insurance company); or qualifying as a self-insurer.[66] In order to apply for or renew an exemption from workers' compensation law, the exemption applicant must complete and submit a Notice of Election to be Exempt application online. The notice must list the name, date of birth, and driver's license number of Florida identification card number, and other specified information.[67]

The DFS has the authority to enter and inspect any place of business for purposes of ensuring employer compliance with workers' compensation law, and the DFS can request an employer's business records.[68] An employer must produce the required business records within ten business days of receiving the written request for records. The failure of an employer to comply with the workers' compensation coverage requirements is considered to pose an immediate danger to public health, safety, and welfare; the DFS must issue a Stop-Work Order within 72 hours of determination of non-compliance, which requires the employer to cease all business operations.[69] The DFS may release a Stop-Work Order when an employer provides proof of compliance and pays $1,000, as a down payment, and agrees to enter into a penalty payment agreement with the DFS for the full amount.[70] The penalty is a minimum of $1,000 and is based on the insurance premiums, which should have been paid, but were not, multiplied by two for the prior two years.[71]

[64] The terms "injured employee" and "injured worker" are used interchangeably throughout ch. 440, F.S., in relation to individuals claiming or receiving workers' compensation benefits. However, neither term is expressly defined in the workers' compensation law. Since the term "injured employee" implies a continuing employment relationship that may not in fact exist following an injury, this analysis will use the term "injured worker" exclusively, but it is intended to mean both "injured employee" and "injured worker" wherever it is used, unless the context or law requires otherwise. The term "injured employee" is not same as "employee." The former denotes one who is claiming benefits following an injury, while the latter denotes one who may be subject to the coverage requirements of the workers' compensation law, depending upon the circumstances of their employment and nature of their employer.

Reporting by Carriers and Audits by Carriers

Within three days after the employer or the employee informs the carrier of an injury, the carrier must mail to the injured worker an informational brochure approved by the DFS that provides an explanation of the rights, benefits, procedures for obtaining benefits and assistance, criminal penalties, and obligations of injured workers and their employers under the Florida Workers' Compensation Law.[72]

Further, the carrier or its third-party administrator is required to mail the same brochure annually to employers.[73]

Three-member Panel; Guides of Maximum Reimbursement Allowances; Rulemaking

Florida's workers' compensation law provides for medically necessary treatment and care of injured employees. An individual physician, hospital, ambulatory surgical center, pain program, or work-hardening program must be reimbursed at either the agreed-upon contract price or the maximum reimbursement allowance in the appropriate schedule.[74] The law provides reimbursement formulas and methodologies to compensate providers of health services, subject to maximum reimbursement allowances (MRAs).[75]

A three-member panel (panel) consisting of the Chief Financial Officer (CFO) or CFO's designee and two Governor's appointees sets the MRAs.[76] The DFS incorporates the statewide schedules of the MRAs by rule in reimbursement manuals. In establishing the MRA manuals, the panel considers the usual and customary levels of reimbursement for treatment, services, and care;[77] the cost impact to employers for providing reimbursement that ensures that injured workers have access to necessary medical care; and the financial impact of the MRAs on healthcare providers and facilities.[78] Florida law requires the panel to develop MRA manuals that are reasonable, promote the workers' compensation system's healthcare cost containment and efficiency, and are sufficient to ensure that medically necessary treatment is available for injured workers.[79]

The panel develops four different reimbursement manuals to determine statewide schedules of maximum reimbursement allowances. The healthcare provider manual limits the maximum reimbursement for licensed physicians to 110 percent of Medicare reimbursement,[80] while reimbursement for surgical procedures is limited to 140 percent of Medicare.[81] The hospital manual sets maximum reimbursement for outpatient scheduled surgeries at 60 percent of usual and customary charges,[82] while other outpatient services are limited to 75 percent of usual and

The prescription drug reimbursement manual limits reimbursement to the average wholesale price plus a $4.18 dispensing fee.[85] Repackaged or relabeled prescription medication dispensed by a dispensing practitioner has a maximum reimbursement of 112.5 percent of the average wholesale price plus an $8.00 dispensing fee.[86] Fees may not exceed the schedules adopted under Ch. 440, F.S., and department rule.[87]

Rulemaking Authority and Legislative Ratification

A rule is an "agency statement of general applicability that implements, interprets, or prescribes law or policy."[88] Rulemaking authority is delegated by the Legislature in law to an agency, and authorizes an agency to adopt, develop, establish, or otherwise create a rule.[89] An agency may not engage in rulemaking unless it has a legislative grant of authority to do so.[90] The statutory authority for rulemaking must be specific enough to guide an agency's rulemaking and an agency rule must not exceed the bounds of authority granted by the Legislature.[91]

Prior to the adoption, amendment, or repeal of any rule, an agency must file a notice of the proposed rule in the Florida Administrative Register.[92] The notice of the proposed rule must include:

- An explanation of the purpose and effect;
- The specific legal authority for the rule;
- The full text of the rule; and
- A summary of the agency's statement of estimated regulatory costs (SERC), if one is prepared.[93]

Within 21 days of the notice, the public may provide an agency with information regarding the SERC or provide proposals for a lower cost alternative to the rule.[94]

SERC Requirements

Agencies must prepare the SERC for a rule that has an adverse impact on small businesses or that increases regulatory costs more than $200,000 within one year after implementation of the rule.[95]

A SERC must include estimates of the following:
- The number of people and entities effected by the proposed rule;
- The cost to the agency and other governmental entities to implement the proposed rule;
- Transactional costs likely to be incurred for compliance; and
- An analysis of the proposed rule's impact on small businesses, counties, and cities.[96]

The SERC must also include an economic analysis on the likelihood that the proposed rule will have an adverse impact in excess of one million dollars within the first five years of implementation on:
- Economic growth, private-sector job creation or employment, or private-sector investment;
- Business competitiveness,[97] productivity, or innovation; or
- Regulatory costs, including any transactional costs.[98]

If the economic analysis results in an adverse impact or regulatory costs in excess of one million dollars within five years after implementation of the rule, then the Legislature must ratify the rule in order for it to take effect.[99]

The Legislature previously ratified Rule 69L-7.020, F.A.C., of the DFS, which incorporates by reference the 2016 Edition of the Florida Workers' Compensation Health Care Provider Manual, providing for reimbursement of healthcare providers under the increased MRAs approved by the panel. The DFS has subsequently adopted amended versions of the rule, incorporating by referenced the Manual. The updated Manual is estimated to increase workers' compensation system costs by 0.2 percent (eight million dollars).[100] According to the SERC, the revisions to the MRAs in the updated manual are projected to result in increased costs to the overall compensation system of eight million dollars over the next five years.[101]

In 2022, SB 1274 was filed, which would ratify Rule 69L-7.020, F.A.C.

The Chief Financial Officer as Agent for Service of Process on Insurers

Florida's Chief Financial Officer[102] (CFO) is the agent for service of process on all insurers applying for authority to transact insurance in this state, all licensed nonresident insurance agents, all nonresident disability insurance agents licensed pursuant to s. 626.835, F.S., any unauthorized insurer under s. 626.906, F.S. or s. 626.937, F.S., domestic reciprocal insurers,

Service of process on the CFO is made by mail, personal service, or internet-based transmission system created by the DFS.[104] Upon receipt of service of process, the CFO retains a record copy in paper or electronic form and promptly forwards one copy of the process documents to the insurer's designated process agent by registered or certified mail.[105] The CFO may also make the process documents available from a secure website created by the DFS and provide notice of availability and retrieval instructions to the insurer's designated process agent under s. 624.307(9), F.S. Under current law, service of process is considered valid and binding service on the insurer when the process documents are served on the CFO and sent or made available to the insurer pursuant to s. 624.307(9), F.S., rather than at such time the insurer receives the process documents.[106]

Recent court cases have addressed similar questions related to whether service of process on an insurer is perfected at the time served on the CFO or at the time received by the insurer. For example, in Markovits,[107] an uninsured motorist lawsuit that also involved an award of attorney fees for a rejected proposal for settlement, the court was asked to determine whether a proposal for settlement served on the insurer 91 days after service of the complaint on the CFO but 88 days after the complaint was forwarded by the CFO to the insurer, constituted valid service within a 90-day deadline for proposals for settlement on the insurer. In addition to finding statutory authority under s. 624.423(3), F.S., the court ultimately based its decision on s. 48.151(1), F.S., relating to service on statutory agents for certain persons, citing in part "[w]hen any law designates a public officer, board, agency, or commission as agent for service of process" and the person or entity so designated is served with process, then "service is valid service for all purposes," and holding that service of process is considered valid and binding on the insurer when served on the CFO.[108]

Fingerprints for Background Checks

The Florida Insurance Code authorizes the DFS to investigate any applicant or licensee, and further states that licensing statutes, which require an evaluation of an applicant's character or fitness must include the submission of fingerprints for a national criminal records check.[109] Applicants and licensees submit fingerprints to the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE), which forwards the fingerprints to the Federal Bureau of Investigations (FBI) for a federal background check.[110] The federal check is conducted through the FBI, which manages a criminal history record information (CHRI) system, through which this information can be obtained. The purpose of the CHRI system is to assure criminal history record information

Federal law authorizes the exchange of CHRI with officials of state and local governmental agencies for licensing and employment purposes.[112] However, this access can only be authorized by a state statute, which has been subsequently approved by the Attorney General of the United States. The FBI processes fingerprints only if the criteria established by the U.S. Department of Justice has been satisfied. To satisfy federal law, a state licensing statute must identify the specific categories of licenses that require the submission of fingerprints as part of an application and expressly state the applicant's fingerprints will be submitted to the FBI or submitted for a national criminal records background check.

The DFS has recommended many technical amendments to licensing laws including chs. 626 and 648, F.S., to ensure compliance with federal law and continuation of FBI background checks for applicants seeking licensure with DFS.[113]

Florida's Patient Compensation Fund

In response to the mid-1970's medical malpractice crisis, the Florida Legislature enacted comprehensive medical malpractice reforms with the passage of "The Medical Malpractice Reform Act of 1975."[114] One of the main features of the 1975 Medical Malpractice Act was the creation of the Florida Patient's Compensation Fund (Fund), which was designed to provide medical malpractice coverage to doctors, practitioners, hospitals, and health care facilities that were unable to purchase coverage in the commercial market. Participants had to show proof of $100,000 coverage from an insurer or self-insurance plan and deposit an annual fee into the Fund.[115] The Fund paid the excess over $100,000 for any judgment or settlement against a member. The Fund was capped at $25 million and could not pay more than one million dollars on a given claim in any single year.[116] The Fund commenced operations on July 1, 1975, in accordance with s. 766.105, F.S. The Fund is a political subdivision of the state; however, it is not a state agency, board, or commission.[117]

The Fund is subject to the supervision of a Board of Governors (board) consisting of 11 representatives.[118] Seven representatives, one each from the insurance industry, physicians' insurance, physicians' self-insurance, hospital insurance, hospital self-insurance, osteopathic or podiatric physicians' insurance or self-insurance, and the general public, are appointed by the CFO.[119] The Florida Bar appoints one attorney, the Florida Medical Association appoints one

The Fund attracted providers and ran smoothly for a few years but was not actuarially sound, so substantial losses began to accumulate.[121, 122] In 1982, the Fund assessed its members to cover deficits, hospitals dropped out because most of the claims were against physicians, and the Fund was unable to continue operating.[123] During its short tenure, the Fund received $72 million in membership fees and $280 million in assessments; closed 4,595 claims and paid more than $311 million to victims of medical malpractice.[124]

Initially, the Fund was scheduled for sunset in 1991 and repeal in 1995; however, during a special session in 1991 the Legislature revived and readopted all statutes that had been subject to future repeal, including Section 766.105, F.S.[125] As a result, the law has not been subject to sunset review even though the Fund has not accepted new members since June 30, 1983.[126]

Hospitals licensed pursuant to ch. 395, F.S., are mandatory members unless they can demonstrate financial responsibility to pay claims and costs described in s. 766.105(2)(c), F.S. Other health care providers[127] such as physicians, osteopaths, and professional associations are allowed to participate in the Fund. To become members of the Fund, all licensed Florida hospitals and health care providers electing to enroll in the fund must pay an annual membership fee and any applicable assessments based upon past and prospective loss and expense experience; and prior claims experience of the members covered under the fund. Members receive coverage for claims arising from rendering or failure to render medical care or services resulting in injury or death to a patient. Health care providers choose between two coverage limits afforded by the Fund. Coverage may not exceed one million dollars per claim, three million dollars annual aggregate, or two million dollars per claim, four million dollars annual aggregate. Health care providers are responsible for paying claim amounts in excess of the selected limit and the Fund is not responsible for paying punitive damages that may be awarded to plaintiffs. Coverage limits afforded by the Fund to hospitals may not exceed two and one-half million dollars per claim and does not provide an annual aggregate.[128]

[128] Section 766.105, F.S.

The OIR has supervisory authority over the Fund's Plan of Operation and any changes to the Plan of Operation, including repeal.[129]

The law requires the OIR to review any request for assessments of plan participants or refunds of plan participants, and further states the Fund is required to furnish audited financial reports annually, upon request, to any Fund participant and to the OIR and the Joint Legislative Auditing Committee.[130] The board may authorize refunds when revenues exceed known liabilities and expenses.[131] Excesses or unearned fees are refunded to members in proportion to the contributions made in accordance with procedures adopted by the board and approved by the OIR. The Fund has certified to the OIR twelve assessments, and the OIR has approved 11 refunds. [132] The last year the hospitals contributed member fees was in 1982; the last year the physician class contributed member fees was in 1983.[133] The last refund approved by the OIR was in March 2004.[134]

The Fund ceased to offer coverage effective July 1, 1983, because it failed to attain the necessary minimum membership levels to offer coverage.[135] The Fund purchased structured settlement annuities to fulfill the terms and conditions of settlement agreements with claimants in medical malpractice cases.[136] According to the DFS, the Fund has represented that there are no open or active claims that are not being serviced through a structured settlement.[137]

In 2021, an actuarial report conducted for the Fund found the Fund retains an ownership interest in 15 annuities that have an aggregate future value of $12,680,687. In the event of an insurer insolvency, many of the annuities would be covered by Florida Life and Health Insurance Guaranty Association (FLHIGA); therefore the actuary concluded Fund's exposure to contingent liability is $2,403,590. About half of the remaining annuitants were children when their parents entered into structured settlements with the Fund; therefore, some of the remaining annuities may continue for another 40 years.[138]

As of December 2020, the Fund reported a reserve for unearned fees of $15,135,541, which includes $14,888,634 held in investment accounts.[139]

Section 1 repeals s. 17.0315, F.S., relating to the Chief Financial Officer's (CFO) financial and cash management task force due to the creation of the Florida Planning, Accounting and Ledger Management (PALM) financial and cash management system and its executive steering committee. entries since PALM records debit memorandums. Sections 7 and 8 remove the term, "cash management subsystem" and replaces it with the term, "financial management system." Section 9 replaces the term, "comprehensive annual financial report, with the term, "annual comprehensive financial report," to conform to a change in Governmental Accounting Standards Board (GASB) standards. Section 10 revises the local government reporting system to designate the Florida Open Government Financial Statement System as the primary location for governmental financial reporting.

Service of Process

Section 2 amends s. 48.151, F.S., relating to service on statutory agents, to clarify that the CFO is the agent for service of process on all insurers applying for authority to transact insurance and other specified entities licensed under the Florida Insurance Code. The section also requires the Department of Financial Services (DFS or department) to create a secure online portal as the sole means to accept service of process on the CFO under this section.

Section 25 amends s. 624.307, F.S., to require any regulated person or any unauthorized insurer under s. 626.906, F.S., to appoint the CFO as its agent to receive services of all legal process. Further, the CFO must make the process available through a secure online portal to the person designated by the regulated person or unauthorized insurer to receive the process. The notice must disclose the uniform resource locater (URL) where the process may be obtained.

Section 26 amends s. 624.422, F.S., relating to service of process, to require each licensed insurer to file with the DFS designation of the name and e-mail address of the person to whom process against it served upon the CFO is to be made through the online portal. The online portal is the sole method for service of process.

Section 27 amends s. 624.423, F.S., to clarify that service of process is valid and binding upon the insurer on the date the process is served upon the CFO and is delivered to the insurer or the DFS has notified the insurer that such information has been made available upon a secured online portal.

Section 28 amends s. 624.610, F.S., relating to reinsurance, to provide conforming changes relating to service of process referencing s. 48.151(3), F.S., and to provide service to agents of insurers solely through the department's online portal.

Sections 54-56 amend ss. 626.906, 626.912, and 626.937, F.S., respectively, to provide conforming changes.

Division of Rehabilitation and Liquidation

Sections 3 and 4 amend ss. 110.123 and 110.131, F.S., respectively, to allow full-time and part-time employees, retired employees, and surviving spouses of employees of the Division of Rehabilitation and Liquidation to participate in the state group insurance program.

Rule Ratification

Section 5 amends s. 120.541, F.S., to exempt the schedules of maximum reimbursement allowances adopted by the three-member panel within the DFS from the rule ratification requirements.

Division of Workers' Compensation

Section 12 amends s. 440.02, F.S., to revise the definition of the term, "employer," to include employment agencies and employment leasing companies that provide employees to other business entities or persons. Currently, the definition includes employment agencies, employee leasing companies, and similar agents who provide employees to other persons. The term, "similar agents," is an undefined term, and is removed.

Section 13 amends s. 440.05, F.S. relating to the election of exemption from workers' compensation insurance coverage requirements to provide the following changes:

- Requires an applicant for an exemption to provide a valid driver's license number or valid identification card number as a prerequisite for the DFS to process the application. Currently, the statute does not specify such documents must be valid;
- Eliminates the requirement for an applicant for an exemption from coverage to provide a social security number as a requirement for processing the application;
- Requires an applicant for a workers' compensation exemption to certify he or she has completed an online workers' compensation coverage and compliance tutorial developed by the DFS;
- Replaces the mandatory exemption and revocation of exemption notification requirement to carriers with a carrier opt-in via electronic notification process;
- Adds disclosures to the Certificate of Election to be Exempt that provide the exemption is not a license issued by the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR) and the DBPR's website has information that can be used to verify an exemption holder's licensure status;
- Eliminates a duplicative business records requirement for exemption holders in the construction industry; and
- Eliminates the scope of business or trade to disclosure on the notice of election to be exempt.

Section 14 amends s. 440.107, F.S., relating to the DFS' powers to enforce employer compliance with coverage requirements. The bill extends the deadline for an employer to submit business records to the DFS from 10 business days to 21 days before the DFS can take an administrative action. The section eliminates the requirement for the DFS to update the Stop-Work Order database on a daily basis. The bill also clarifies an employer must pay any outstanding assessed penalty prior to entering into a new payment agreement schedule with the DFS. In addition, the bill modifies the timeframe for an employer to enter into a payment agreement schedule with the DFS or pay the penalty in full from 28 days after the service of the stop work order to within 21 days after service of the first penalty assessment. For first time employers that do not comply with coverage requirements, the timeframe to calculate a penalty for an employer's penalty formula is reduced from a 24-month period to a 12-month period, thereby reducing the penalty. The 24-month period will remain for employers who were previously issued a stop-work order or materially or understated payroll. The section allows an employer who has not been issued a Stop-Work Order or an enforcement action an opportunity to reduce their penalty by 15 percent by completing and correctly answering 80 percent of the questions from an on-line workers' compensation coverage and compliance tutorial.

Section 15 amends s. 440.13, F.S., relating to maximum reimbursement allowances for medical services by allowing a carrier to reimburse a health care provider the lesser of the billed charge of a provider or the maximum reimbursement allowance, if an agreed-upon contract price is not in effect. Currently, a carrier must reimburse a provider at the agreed-upon contract or the maximum reimbursement allowance. The section provides rulemaking authority for implementing this section. See also Section 5.

Sections 16 and 17 amend ss. 440.185 and 440.381, F.S., relating to employer and carrier reporting and carrier audits of employers, respectively. Section 16 extends the amount of time an employer has to notify a carrier of an injury from three days to three business days and authorizes a carrier to send specified information to an injured worker or employer by e-mail as an option to regular mail. Section 17 provides that a carrier must conduct a physical onsite audit of construction class employers with policies with an estimated annual premium of $10,000 or more. Currently, there is no minimum premium threshold for physical onsite audits.

Division of Funeral, Cemetery, and Consumer Services

Section 18 amends s. 497.277, F.S., to eliminate the fee cap of $50 for the transference of burial rights from the purchaser to another.

Section 19 amends s. 497.369, F.S., to revise the requirements for obtaining an embalmer's license in Florida. The changes would allow an applicant to obtain a reciprocal licensure in Florida if they held a valid license in another state and had engaged in the full-time licensed practice of embalming in that state for at least five years.

Section 20 amends s. 497.372, F.S., to revise the duties that only a licensed funeral director may perform. The changes will result in non-licensed individuals being able to handle more clerical responsibilities, including obtaining information from families for the filing of death certificates and setting a time for services. Further, the section removes the current period during which funeral directors must direct memorial services. As a result, a funeral director would be responsible for directing any memorial service arranged by the funeral establishment following burial or cremation, regardless of when the memorial service takes place.

Section 21 amends s. 497.374, F.S. to revise the requirements for a funeral director to obtain a reciprocal license by allowing individuals licensed in another state to obtain licensure in Florida if they have a current license in that state and have practiced funeral directing for at least five years. As an alternative, a funeral directors may obtain a reciprocal license if the applicant has a diploma or certificate from an accredited program of mortuary science instead of an associate degree or higher, and meets other current requirements.

Division of State Fire Marshal

Section 22 amends s. 554.108, F.S., relating to boiler inspections, to clarify a boiler with an input of 200,000 British thermal units (Btu) per hour and above, up to an input of 400,000 Btu per hour, is exempt from inspection. However, such an exempt boiler, if manufactured after July 1, 2022, must be stamped with the American Society of Mechanical Engineers (ASME) code symbol. A requirement for ASME stamping of boilers between 200,000 and 400,000 Btu has been in the statute for several years but did not have a phase in date to allow for utilization of a manufacturer's inventory. The addition of the carbon monoxide detector requirements currently found in ch. 509, F.S., clarifies the authority of authorized third party inspectors to enforce this safety feature.

Section 23 amends s. 554.111, F.S., relating to fees, clarifies an additional amount equal to the certification inspection fees may be charged when it is necessary to make a special trip for testing and verification. In addition, this section requires an application for boiler permit to include the manufacturer's data report.

Section 24 amends s. 554.114, F.S., relating to prohibited acts and penalties, to revise compliance deadlines and penalties for an insurer authorized to sell boiler insurance that fails to inspect a boiler pursuant to the requirements of this section.

Division of Insurance Agents and Agencies

Section 29 amends s. 626.015, F.S., to relating to definitions. The definition of licensing authority is created to mean the department or the office.[144] The definition of unaffiliated appointment is revised to provide an exception to the current prohibition that an unaffiliated insurance agent may not be affiliated with an insurer, insurer-appointed insurance agent, or insurance agency contracted with or employing insurer-appointed insurance agents. This change would allow a licensed adjuster to obtain an adjuster appointment in order to adjust claims on behalf of an insurer while holding an unaffiliated appointment on an agent license.

Section 30 amends s. 626.171, F.S., relating to application for licensure, to provide the fingerprinting requirements in s. 624.34, F.S., apply to all applicants for licensure under ch. 626, F.S.

Section 31 amends s. 626.172, F.S., relating to insurance agency licensure, to clarify fingerprinting must be processed in accordance with the requirements of s. 626.171(4), F.S.

Section 32 creates s. 626.173, F.S., relating to insurance agency closure, to specify an insurance agency's responsibilities, when closing or ceasing to transact business for more than 30 days. Within 35 days after the agency first ceases to transact insurance, the agency owner or an officer listed on the original application for licensure must:

- Cancel the insurance agency's license by notifying the DFS by the submission of completed form prescribed by the DFS;

[144] In this instance department means Department of Financial Services and office refers to the Office of Insurance Regulation.

- Notify all insurers with whom the agency or agent in charge are appointed, that the agency operations have ceased, the date operations ceased, the identity of any agent or agency to whom the agency's current book of business has been transferred, and the method by which the agency records may be obtained during the time stipulated in sections 626.748 and 626.561, F.S.;
- Notify all policyholders currently insured by a policy written, produced, or serviced by the agency that the agency has ceased operations, the date the operations ceased and the identity of the agency or agent to whom the agency's current book of business was transferred. If no transfer has occurred, notification should direct the policyholder to contact the insurance company that will assist the policyholder in locating a licensed agent to service the policy;
- Notify all premium finance companies through which active policies are financed, that the agency has ceased operations, the date operations ceased and the identity of the agent or agency to whom the agency's current book of business has been transferred; and
- Ensure all funds held in a fiduciary capacity are distributed to the rightful owners.

The section provides that in a proceeding initiated pursuant to ch. 120, F.S., the DFS may, impose an administrative fine against the agent in charge or director or officer found in the proceeding to have violated any provision of this section. A proceeding may not be initiated and fine may not accrue until after the person has been notified in writing of the nature of the violation, has been afforded 10 business days to correct the violation, and has failed to do so. Fines imposed pursuant to this section may not exceed the amounts specified in s. 626.681, F.S., per violation. Further, the DFS may also suspend or revoke the license of a licensee fined pursuant to this section. The section provides factors for the DFS to consider when determining the appropriateness of the penalty.

Section 33 amends s. 626.201, F.S., relating to investigations of applicants by the DFS, provides that submission of an applicant's fingerprints must be in accordance with s. 626.171(4), F.S. Further, the section provides that the expiration, nonrenewal, or surrender of a license under ch. 626, F.S., does not eliminate jurisdiction of the licensing authority to investigate and prosecute for a violation committed by the licensee while licensed under ch. 626, F.S. Further, the section provides that notwithstanding the withdrawal of a complaint, the prosecution of any matter may be initiated or continued. According to the DFS, the expiration, nonrenewal, or surrender of a license jeopardizes the licensing authority of the DFS to continue to investigate or prosecute violations committed while an individual was licensed.[145]

Section 34 amends s. 626.202, F.S., relating to fingerprinting requirements, to require that the submission of fingerprints must be in accordance with s. 626.171(4), F.S.

Section 35 amends s. 626.221, F.S., to exempt an all-lines adjuster applicant who holds a designation as a Certified All Lines Adjuster (CALA) from Kaplan Financial Education from the statutory examination requirements.

[145] The Department of Financial Services (DFS), 2022 Legislative Bill Analysis of SB 1874 (January 18, 2022) (on file with Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Agriculture, Environment, and General Government).

Section 36 amends s. 626.311, F.S., to provide a licensed adjuster may obtain an adjuster appointment in order to adjust claims on behalf of an insurer while holding an unaffiliated appointment on an agent license and may adjust claims and receive compensation as authorized.

Section 37 amends s. 626.321, F.S., to provide a conforming change regarding fingerprint requirements in s. 626.171(4), F.S.

Section 38 amends s. 626.601, F.S., to provide conforming amendment regarding fingerprint requirements provided in s. 626.171(4), F.S.

Subsection (2) of the section is amended to clarify that paragraph (2)(f) of s. 626.172, F.S., applies to the agent in full charge.

Section 41 amends s. 626.8412, F.S., to clarify that in addition to the agent, the insurance agency must also hold an appointment issued by an insurer in order to sell a title insurance policy.

Section 42 amends s. 626.8417, F.S., to allow an applicant for a title insurance license to fulfill the 40-hour course requirement in person or online by removing the requirement that it be a classroom course.

Section 43 amends s. 626.8421, F.S., to specify a title agent and a title agency must have a separate appointment as to each insurer by which they are appointed as agents.

Section 44 amends s. 626.843, F.S., relating to the renewal, continuation, reinstatement, or termination of a title insurance agent's or title agency's appointment, to require a title insurance agency to be appointed, as prescribed by section 624.501, F.S., until suspended, revoked, or otherwise terminated. Further, the section requires that title insurance agency appointments must be renewed pursuant to s. 626.381, F.S.

Section 45 amends s. 626.8433, F.S., relating to termination of appointments, to subject title insurance agencies to reporting terminations to the DFS.

Section 46 amends s. 626.8447, F.S., relating to effect of suspension or revocation upon other licensees and appointees, to subject title insurance agencies to the same provisions.

Section 47 amends s. 626.854, F.S., to prohibit compensation of a public adjuster being based on amounts attributable to additional living expenses, unless the insured agrees to a separate agreement with a prescribed disclosure. In addition, the section provides compensation of a public adjuster must be based on the recovery allocated to the insured for covered damages, exclusive of attorney fees and costs. The bill also prohibits increasing public adjuster compensation based on a claim being resolved by litigation.

Section 48 amends s. 626.8561, F.S, relating to the definition of the term, "public adjuster apprentice," to allow an adjusting firm to appoint, employ, or contract with a public adjuster apprentice. Currently, a public adjuster may only appoint an apprentice.

The section also requires that the $50,000 bond required as a condition for licensure must remain in effect for one year after the expiration or termination of the license.

Section 50 amends s. 626.8651, F.S., relating to public adjuster apprentice appointment and qualifications, to require only a public adjusting firm that has a designated primary adjuster, as required in s. 626.8695, F.S., to appoint the public adjuster apprentice, while eliminating a public all-lines adjuster's ability to appoint a public adjuster apprentice.

Further, this section requires an all lines adjuster to maintain bond coverage throughout existence of the license and for one full year after expiration or termination of the license.

Section 51 amends s. 626.8696, F.S., relating to requirements of an application for an adjusting firm license, to require the name and license number of the designated primary adjuster for each adjusting firm location as required in s. 626.8695, F.S. Further, fingerprints of each individual to be disclosed in the application (each majority owner, partner, officer, and director of the adjusting firm) must be filed with the DFS in accordance with s. 626.171(4), F.S., unless an individual is currently licensed and appointed under ch. 626, F.S. Only one of the individuals required to be listed on the application must sign the application. Currently, each owner of the firm must sign the application.

Section 52 amends s. 626.8732, F.S., relating to bond requirements for a nonresident public adjuster, to provide that the mandated bond must be maintained unimpaired throughout the existence of the license and for a period of one year following the expiration or termination of the license.

Once the agency completes the review, the agency delivers the documents to the board of governors. - Execute a legal dissolution of the fund; and
- Transfer any remaining money or assets of the fund to the CFO for deposit in the General Revenue Fund.

The section also provides s. 766.105, F.S., is repealed effective January 1, 2024, thereby terminating the Florida Patient's Compensation Fund.

Section 11 creates ss. 395.1061 and section 66 and 67 amend s. 945.6041, F.S., and 985.6441, F.S., respectively, to provide conforming changes relating to the repeal of s. 766.105, F.S., and transferring a provision relating to health care providers and their financial responsibility in complying with professional liability requirements. The provision is being transferred to s. 395.1061, F.S., because the bill repeals the current provision in s. 766.105, F.S., effective January 1, 2024.

Section 68 provides that, except as otherwise expressly provided in this act, this act takes effect July 1, 2022.

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The bill eliminates the current maximum fee of $50 to consumers for the transference of burial rights.

Reducing the penalty calculation period and increasing credits for businesses that fail to comply with the workers' compensation law, so long as the business has not previously failed to provide workers' compensation coverage for its employees, should reduce the cost of non-compliance for small businesses, particularly those in the construction industry.

Exempting schedules of maximum reimbursement for ambulatory surgical centers, healthcare providers, and hospitals from legislative ratification likely would result in increased fees to providers of healthcare, but could also force insurers to request rate increases to pay such costs.

Permitting payroll audits by mail, rather than in person, for employers in the construction industry that have an estimated annual workers' compensation premium of less than $10,000 could result in modest cost savings for insurance carriers.

Permitting unaffiliated insurance agents to adjust claims, so long as the agent is also a licensed adjuster, could create employment opportunities for persons who hold both licenses and increase the pool of adjusters who can respond in the aftermath of a large storm or catastrophic event.

Terminating the Florida Patient's Compensation Fund (fund) could result in refunds to doctors and hospitals that were members of the fund in the late 1970s and early 1980s.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill may have insignificant but indeterminate impact on state revenues and expenditures.

Service of Process

The Department of Financial Services (DFS) is required to create a secure online portal as the sole means to accept service of process on the CFO under Section 2 and Sections 25-28. The current online portal will meet this requirement. The DFS has indicated any information technology impact can be absorbed within existing resources.[146]

Workers' Compensation Insurance

The implementation of CS/SB 1874 will reduce penalties imposed on employers that do not comply with the workers' compensation insurance coverage requirements. The fiscal impact is unknown.

Firefighter Cancer Assistance Grant

The changes made to the Firefighter Assistance Grant program will allow the program to fund additional necessary tools and equipment to firefighters.

Florida Patients' Compensation Fund

Terminating the Florida Patient's Compensation Fund could result in refunds to doctors and hospitals that were members of the Fund in the late 1970s and early 1980s. In addition, the bill allows for the transfer of any remaining money or assets, after all obligations have been met, to be deposited in the General Revenue Fund.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

Section 9 amends local governmental entities annual financial reports. The Chief Financial Officer required all work product on the Florida Open Financial Statement System to be completed by December 31, 2021, including the recruitment and selection of contractors to build the eXtensible Business Reporting Language (XBRL) taxonomies and software tools. The section may need to be updated to reflect and conform to the completion of such deadlines.

Section 29 creates a definition for the term, "licensing authority." The term means the respective jurisdiction of the department or the office, as provided by law. Sections 33 and 63 of the bill amends s. 626.201, F.S., and uses the term, "licensing authority." Other existing provisions in the Florida Insurance Code use the term, "department or office." Currently, the term licensing authority is used in ss. 626.8732 and 626.8734, F.S., in the context of a licensing authority of another state. The replacement of the term, "licensing authority," with "department or office" in Sections 33 and 65, and the removal of the definition of "licensing authority" in Section 29 would provide greater clarity and consistency with the use of the term, "licensing authority," in current law.

This bill creates the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 395.1061 and 626.173.

Upon receipt of the notice of the election to be exempt, receipt of all application fees, and a determination by the department that the notice meets the requirements of this subsection, the department shall issue a certification of the election to the officer, unless the department determines that the information contained in the notice is invalid. The department shall revoke a certificate of election to be exempt from coverage upon a determination by the department that the person does not meet the requirements for exemption or that the information contained in the notice of election to be exempt is invalid. The certificate of election must list the name of the corporation listed in the request for exemption. A new certificate of election must be obtained each time the person is employed by a new or different corporation that is not listed on the certificate of election. Upon written request from a workers' compensation carrier, the department shall send thereafter an electronic notification to the carrier identifying each of its policyholders for which a notice of election to be

Section 14. Effective January 1, 2023, paragraphs (a) and (d) of subsection (7) of section 440.107, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

440.107 Department powers to enforce employer compliance with coverage requirements.—

(7)(a) Whenever the department determines that an employer who is required to secure the payment to his or her employees of the compensation provided for by this chapter has failed to secure the payment of workers' compensation required by this chapter or to produce the required business records under subsection (5) within 21 ~~10 business~~ days after receipt of the written request of the department, such failure shall be deemed an immediate serious danger to public health, safety, or welfare sufficient to justify service by the department of a stop-work order on the employer, requiring the cessation of all business operations. If the department makes such a determination, the department shall issue a stop-work order within 72 hours. The order shall take effect when served upon the employer or, for a particular employer worksite, when served at that worksite. In addition to serving a stop-work order at a particular worksite which shall be effective immediately, the department shall immediately proceed with service upon the employer which shall be effective upon all employer worksites in the state for which the employer is not in compliance. A stop-work order may be served with regard to an employer's worksite by posting a copy of the stop-work order in a conspicuous location at the worksite. Information related to an employer's stop-work order shall be made available on the division's website~~, be updated daily,~~ and remain on the website for at least 5 years. The order shall remain in effect until the department issues an order releasing the stop-work order upon a finding that the employer has come into compliance with the coverage requirements of this chapter and has paid any penalty assessed under this section. The department may issue an order of conditional release from a stop-work order to an employer upon a finding that the employer has complied with the coverage requirements of this chapter, paid a penalty of $1,000 as a down payment, and agreed to remit periodic payments of the remaining penalty amount pursuant to a payment agreement schedule with the department or pay the remaining penalty amount in full. An employer may not enter into a payment agreement schedule unless the employer has fully paid any previous penalty assessed under this section. If an order of conditional release is issued, failure by the employer to pay the penalty in full or enter into a payment agreement with the department within 21 ~~28~~ days after service of the first penalty assessment calculation ~~stop-work order~~ upon the employer, or to meet any term or condition of such penalty payment agreement, shall result in the immediate reinstatement of the stop-work order and the entire unpaid balance of the penalty shall become immediately due.

who has failed to secure the payment of compensation as required by this chapter a penalty equal to 2 times the amount the employer would have paid in premium when applying approved manual rates to the employer's payroll during periods for which it failed to secure the payment of workers' compensation required by this chapter within the preceding 12-month ~~2-year~~ period or $1,000, whichever is greater. However, for an employer who is issued a stop-work order for materially understating or concealing payroll or has been previously issued a stop-work order or an order of penalty assessment, the preceding 24-month period shall be used to calculate the penalty as specified in this subparagraph.

a. For an employer ~~employers~~ who has ~~have~~ not been previously issued a stop-work order or order of penalty assessment, the department must allow the employer to receive a credit for the initial payment of the estimated annual workers' compensation policy premium, as determined by the carrier, to be applied to the penalty. Before applying the credit to the penalty, the employer must provide the department with documentation reflecting that the employer has secured the payment of compensation pursuant to s. 440.38 and proof of payment to the carrier. In order for the department to apply a credit for an employer that has secured workers' compensation for leased employees by entering into an employee leasing contract with a licensed employee leasing company, the employer must provide the department with a written confirmation, by a representative from the employee leasing company, of the dollar or percentage amount attributable to the initial estimated workers' compensation expense for leased employees, and proof of payment to the employee leasing company. The credit may not be applied unless the employer provides the documentation and proof of payment to the department within 21 ~~28~~ days after the employer's receipt of the written request to produce business records for calculating the penalty under this subparagraph ~~service of the stop-work order or first order of penalty assessment upon the employer~~.

b. For an employer ~~employers~~ who has ~~have~~ not been previously issued a stop-work order or order of penalty assessment, the department must reduce the final assessed penalty by 25 percent if the employer has complied with administrative rules adopted pursuant to subsection (5) and has provided such business records to the department within 21 ~~10 business~~ days after the employer's receipt of the written request to produce business records for calculating the penalty under this subparagraph.

c. For an employer who has not been previously issued a stop-work order or an order of penalty assessment, the department must reduce the final assessed penalty by 15 percent if the employer correctly answers at least 80 percent of the questions from an online workers' compensation coverage and compliance tutorial, developed by the department, within 21 days after the employer's receipt of the written request to produce business records for calculating the penalty under this subparagraph. The online tutorial must be taken in a department office location identified by rule.

The $1,000 penalty shall be assessed against the employer even if the calculated penalty after the credit provided in subsubparagraph a., the ~~and~~ 25 percent reduction provided in sub-subparagraph b., and the 15 percent reduction provided in sub-subparagraph c., as applicable, have been applied is less than $1,000.

2. Any subsequent violation within 5 years after the most recent violation shall, in addition to the penalties set forth in this subsection, be deemed a knowing act within the meaning of s. 440.105.

Section 15. Subsection (12) of section 440.13, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

440.13 Medical services and supplies; penalty for violations; limitations.—

(12) CREATION OF THREE-MEMBER PANEL; GUIDES OF MAXIMUM REIMBURSEMENT ALLOWANCES.—

(a) A three-member panel is created, consisting of the Chief Financial Officer, or the Chief Financial Officer's designee, and two members to be appointed by the Governor, subject to confirmation by the Senate, one member who, on account of present or previous vocation, employment, or affiliation, shall be classified as a representative of employers, the other member who, on account of previous vocation, employment, or affiliation, shall be classified as a representative of employees. The panel shall determine statewide schedules of maximum reimbursement allowances for medically necessary treatment, care, and attendance provided by physicians, hospitals, ambulatory surgical centers, work-hardening programs, pain programs, and durable medical equipment. The maximum reimbursement allowances for inpatient hospital care shall be based on a schedule of per diem rates, to be approved by the three-member panel no later than March 1, 1994, to be used in conjunction with a precertification manual as determined by the department, including maximum hours in which an outpatient may remain in observation status, which shall not exceed 23 hours. All compensable charges for hospital outpatient care shall be reimbursed at 75 percent of usual and customary charges, except as otherwise provided by this subsection. Annually, the three-member panel shall adopt schedules of maximum reimbursement allowances for physicians, hospital inpatient care, hospital outpatient care, ambulatory surgical centers, work-hardening programs, and pain programs. An individual physician, hospital, ambulatory surgical center, pain program, or work-hardening program shall be reimbursed:

1. ~~either~~ The agreed-upon contract price; or

2. If there is no agreed-upon contract price, the lesser of the provider's billed charge or the maximum reimbursement allowance in the appropriate schedule.

(b) It is the intent of the Legislature to increase the schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances for selected physicians effective January 1, 2004, and to pay for the increases through reductions in payments to hospitals. Revisions developed pursuant to this subsection are limited to the following:

1. Payments for outpatient physical, occupational, and speech therapy provided by hospitals shall be reduced to the schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances for these services which applies to nonhospital providers.

2. Payments for scheduled outpatient nonemergency radiological and clinical laboratory services that are not provided in conjunction with a surgical procedure shall be reduced to the schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances for these services which applies to nonhospital providers.

3. Outpatient reimbursement for scheduled surgeries shall be reduced from 75 percent of charges to 60 percent of charges.

4. Maximum reimbursement for a physician licensed under chapter 458 or chapter 459 shall be increased to 110 percent of the reimbursement allowed by Medicare, using appropriate codes and modifiers or the medical reimbursement level adopted by the three-member panel as of January 1, 2003, whichever is greater.

5. Maximum reimbursement for surgical procedures shall be increased to 140 percent of the reimbursement allowed by Medicare or the medical reimbursement level adopted by the three-member panel as of January 1, 2003, whichever is greater.

(c) As to reimbursement for a prescription medication, the reimbursement amount for a prescription shall be the average wholesale price plus $4.18 for the dispensing fee. For repackaged or relabeled prescription medications dispensed by a dispensing practitioner as provided in s. 465.0276, the fee schedule for reimbursement shall be 112.5 percent of the average wholesale price, plus $8.00 for the dispensing fee. For purposes of this subsection, the average wholesale price shall be calculated by multiplying the number of units dispensed times the per-unit average wholesale price set by the original manufacturer of the underlying drug dispensed by the practitioner, based upon the published manufacturer's average wholesale price published in the Medi-Span Master Drug Database as of the date of dispensing. All pharmaceutical claims submitted for repackaged or relabeled prescription medications must include the National Drug Code of the original manufacturer. Fees for pharmaceuticals and pharmaceutical services shall be reimbursable at the applicable fee schedule amount except where the employer or carrier, or a service company, third party administrator, or any entity acting on behalf of the employer or carrier directly contracts with the provider seeking reimbursement for a lower amount.

(d) Reimbursement for all fees and other charges for such treatment, care, and attendance, including treatment, care, and attendance provided by any hospital or other health care provider, ambulatory surgical center, work-hardening program, or pain program, must not exceed the amounts provided by the uniform schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances as determined by the panel or as otherwise provided in this section. This subsection also applies to independent medical examinations performed by health care providers under this chapter. In determining the uniform schedule, the panel shall first approve the data which it finds representative of prevailing charges in the state for similar treatment, care, and attendance of injured persons. Each health care provider, health care facility, ambulatory surgical center, work-hardening program, or pain program receiving workers' compensation payments shall maintain records verifying their usual charges. In establishing the uniform schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances, the panel must consider:

1. The levels of reimbursement for similar treatment, care, and attendance made by other health care programs or third-party providers;

2. The impact upon cost to employers for providing a level of reimbursement for treatment, care, and attendance which will ensure the availability of treatment, care, and attendance required by injured workers;

3. The financial impact of the reimbursement allowances upon health care providers and health care facilities, including trauma centers as defined in s. 395.4001, and its effect upon their ability to make available to injured workers such medically necessary remedial treatment, care, and attendance. The uniform schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances must be reasonable, must promote health care cost containment and efficiency with respect to the workers' compensation health care delivery system, and must be sufficient to ensure availability of such medically necessary remedial treatment, care, and attendance to injured workers; and

4. The most recent average maximum allowable rate of increase for hospitals determined by the Health Care Board under chapter 408.

(e) In addition to establishing the uniform schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances, the panel shall:

1. Take testimony, receive records, and collect data to evaluate the adequacy of the workers' compensation fee schedule, nationally recognized fee schedules and alternative methods of reimbursement to health care providers and health care facilities for inpatient and outpatient treatment and care.

2. Survey health care providers and health care facilities to determine the availability and accessibility of workers' compensation health care delivery systems for injured workers.

3. Survey carriers to determine the estimated impact on carrier costs and workers' compensation premium rates by implementing changes to the carrier reimbursement schedule or implementing alternative reimbursement methods.

4. Submit recommendations on or before January 15, 2017, and biennially thereafter, to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives on methods to improve the workers' compensation health care delivery system.

The department, as requested, shall provide data to the panel, including, but not limited to, utilization trends in the workers' compensation health care delivery system. The department shall provide the panel with an annual report regarding the resolution of medical reimbursement disputes and any actions pursuant to subsection (8). The department shall provide administrative support and service to the panel to the extent requested by the panel and may adopt rules necessary to administer this subsection. For prescription medication purchased under the requirements of this subsection, a dispensing practitioner shall not possess such medication unless payment has been made by the practitioner, the practitioner's professional practice, or the practitioner's practice management company or employer to the supplying manufacturer, wholesaler, distributor, or drug repackager within 60 days of the dispensing practitioner taking possession of that medication.

Section 16. Subsection (3) of section 440.185, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

440.185 Notice of injury or death; reports; penalties for violations.—

(3) Within 3 business days after the employer or the employee informs the carrier of an injury, the carrier shall send by regular mail or e-mail to the injured worker an informational brochure approved by the department which sets forth in clear and understandable language an explanation of the rights, benefits, procedures for obtaining benefits and assistance, criminal penalties, and obligations of injured workers and their employers under the Florida Workers' Compensation Law. Annually, the carrier or its third-party administrator shall send by regular mail or e-mail to the employer an informational brochure approved by the department which sets forth in clear and understandable language an explanation of the rights, benefits, procedures for obtaining benefits and assistance, criminal penalties, and obligations of injured workers and their employers under the Florida Workers' Compensation Law. All such informational brochures shall contain a notice that clearly states in substance the following: "Any person who, knowingly and with intent to injure, defraud, or deceive any employer or employee, insurance company, or self-insured program, files a statement of claim containing any false or misleading information commits a felony of the third degree."

Section 17. Subsection (3) of section 440.381, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

440.381 Application for coverage; reporting payroll; payroll audit procedures; penalties.—

(3) The Financial Services Commission, in consultation with the department, shall establish by rule minimum requirements for audits of payroll and classifications ~~in order~~ to ensure that the appropriate premium is charged for workers' compensation coverage. The rules must ~~shall~~ ensure that audits performed by both carriers and employers are adequate to provide that all sources of payments to employees, subcontractors, and independent contractors are ~~have been~~ reviewed and that the accuracy of classification of employees is ~~has been~~ verified. The rules must require ~~shall provide~~ that employers in all classes other than the construction class be audited at least ~~not less frequently than~~ biennially and may provide for more frequent audits of employers in specified classifications based on factors such as amount of premium, type of business, loss ratios, or other relevant factors. ~~In no event shall~~ Employers in the construction class~~,~~ generating more than the amount of premium required to be experience rated must~~,~~ be audited at least ~~less than~~ annually. The annual audits required for construction classes must ~~shall~~ consist of physical onsite audits for policies only if the estimated annual premium is $10,000 or more. Payroll verification audit rules must include, but need not be limited to, the use of state and federal reports of employee income, payroll and other accounting records, certificates of insurance maintained by subcontractors, and duties of employees. At the completion of an audit, the employer or officer of the corporation and the auditor must print and sign their names on the audit document and attach proof of identification to the audit document.

Section 18. Subsection (2) of section 497.277, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

497.277 Other charges.—Other than the fees for the sale of burial rights, burial merchandise, and burial services, no other fee may be directly or indirectly charged, contracted for, or received by a cemetery company as a condition for a customer to use any burial right, burial merchandise, or burial service, except for:

(2) Charges paid for transferring burial rights from one purchaser to another~~; however, no such fee may exceed $50~~.

(b)1. Holds a valid license in good standing to practice embalming in another state of the United States and has engaged in the full-time, licensed practice of embalming in that state for at least 5 years~~, provided that, when the applicant secured her or his original license, the requirements for licensure were substantially equivalent to or more stringent than those existing in this state~~; or

2. 1. The license may be issued only to:

b. The lead business location of a retail vendor that sells portable electronics insurance. The lead business location must have a contractual relationship with a general lines agent.

2. Employees or authorized representatives of a licensee under subparagraph 1. may sell or offer for sale portable electronics coverage without being subject to licensure as an insurance agent if:

a. Such insurance is sold or offered for sale at a licensed location or at one of the licensee's branch locations if the branch location is appointed by the licensed lead business location or its appointing insurers;

b. The insurer issuing the insurance directly supervises or appoints a general lines agent to supervise the sale of such insurance, including the development of a training program for the employees and authorized representatives of vendors that are directly engaged in the activity of selling or offering the insurance; and

c. At each location where the insurance is offered, brochures or other written materials that provide the information required by this subparagraph are made available to all prospective customers. The brochures or written materials may include information regarding portable electronics insurance, service warranty agreements, or other incidental services or benefits offered by a licensee.

3. Individuals not licensed to sell portable electronics insurance may not be paid commissions based on the sale of such coverage. However, a licensee who uses a compensation plan for employees and authorized representatives which includes supplemental compensation for the sale of noninsurance products,

e. State that an enrolled customer may cancel coverage at any time and that the person paying the premium will receive a refund of any unearned premium.

5. A licensed and appointed general lines agent is not required to obtain a portable electronics insurance license to offer or sell portable electronics insurance at locations already licensed as an insurance agency, but may apply for a portable electronics insurance license for branch locations not otherwise licensed to sell insurance.

6. A portable electronics license authorizes the sale of individual policies or certificates under a group or master insurance policy. Such notice or correspondence may be sent on behalf of the insurer or licensee by the general lines agent appointed by the insurer to supervise the administration of the program. For purposes of this subparagraph, an enrolled customer's provision of an electronic mail address to the insurer or licensee is deemed to be consent to receive notices and correspondence by electronic means if a conspicuously located disclosure is provided to the customer indicating the same.

10. The ~~provisions of this chapter requiring submission of~~ fingerprints requirements in s. 626.171(4) do not apply to licenses issued to qualified entities under this paragraph.

11. A branch location that sells portable electronics insurance may, in lieu of obtaining an appointment from an insurer or warranty association, obtain a single appointment from the associated lead business location licensee and pay the prescribed appointment fee under s. 624.501 if the lead business location has a single appointment from each insurer or warranty association represented and such appointment applies to the lead business location and all of its branch locations. II. Present Situation:

The Chief Financial Officer (CFO) is the chief fiscal officer of Florida and is responsible for settling and approving accounts against the state and keeping all state funds and securities.[1] The CFO serves as the head of the Department of Financial Services (DFS or department). Offices and divisions within the DFS include:

- Insurance Consumer Advocate;
- Accounting and Auditing;
- Administration;
- Consumer Services;
- Funeral, Cemetery, and Consumer Services;
- Insurance Agent and Agency Services;
- Investigative and Forensic Services;
- Public Assistance Fraud;
- Rehabilitation and Liquidation;
- Risk Management;
- State Fire Marshal;
- Treasury;
- Unclaimed Property; and
- Workers' Compensation.[2]

Division of Accounting and Auditing

Section 215.93, F.S., establishes the Florida Financial Management Information System (FFMIS) for the state. The intent of the FFMIS is to ensure the efficient operation of an integrated financial management information system and to provide necessary information for the effective operation of state government.[3] The Florida Accounting Information Resource

Subsystem (FLAIR) is the state's accounting system, and it is a subsystem of the FFMIS.[4] The functions of FLAIR include accounting and reporting of information to producing financial statements for the state and auditing and settling claims against the state.[5] In 2014, DFS created the Florida Planning, Accounting, and Ledger Management (PALM) Project to replace the State of Florida's current accounting and cash management systems with an integrated, enterprise financial management solution that will allow the state to organize, define, and standardize its financial management processes. The Florida PALM Project is a multiyear project.[6]

The Division of Accounting and Auditing, Bureau of Financial Reporting (Bureau), is responsible for the oversight of local government financial reports and the Comprehensive Annual Financial Reports (CAFR). The Chief Financial Officer is required to publish a CAFR in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP).[7] The CAFR includes the audited financial statements, other disclosures, and supplementary information, presenting the state's financial condition and results of operations during the fiscal year.[8] The Government Accounting Standards Board (GASB) establishes accounting and financial reporting standards for U.S. state and local governments that follow GAAP and recently changed the term, "Comprehensive Annual Financial Report" (CAFR)[9] to the term, "Annual Comprehensive Financial Report" (ACFR).

Chapter 218, F.S., prescribes financial management and reporting requirements for local governments, which include counties, municipalities, and special districts. The Division of Accounting and Auditing's website provides resources to assist local governments in fulfilling their reporting requirements.[10] Local governments must submit their annual financial reports (AFRs) to the DFS and provide their audited financial statements.[11] The AFR is available to the public in the local government electronic reporting (LOGER).

In 2018,[12] legislation was enacted to require the DFS to create an interactive repository of financial statement information, known as the Florida Open Financial Statement System.[13] This system must have standardized taxonomies for state, county, municipal, and special district financial filings. The Division of Accounting & Auditing and the Office of Information Technology are designing the Florida Open Financial Statement System.[14]

Division of Rehabilitation and Liquidation

Federal law provides insurance companies may not file for bankruptcy.[15] The state, through the Division of Rehabilitation (division or receiver), is instead responsible for rehabilitating or liquidating an insurer.[16] States primarily regulate insurance companies, and the state of domicile serves as the primary regulator for insurers. The receiver administers insurance companies placed into receivership in Florida.[17]

Insurance companies in receivership fund positions within the division. Since these positions are not appropriated from state funds, the positions are not state employee positions and are not eligible for the state group insurance program.[18] Because the division must purchase health insurance in the small group market, it is unable to leverage the economies of scale, and faces yearly premium increases. The division anticipates these increases will continue to occur in the future, which ultimately affects the claimants in the receivership estates. The division is a participating entity of the Florida Retirement System.[19] The division also participates in the State's Deferred Compensation program.

Division of Funeral, Cemetery, and Consumer Services

Section 20.121(4), F.S., creates the Board of Funeral, Cemetery, and Consumer Services (board) within the Division of Funeral, Cemetery, and Consumer Services of the DFS. The board acts as the licensing and rulemaking authority for the purposes of certain matters related to examinations and other substantive requirements for licensure within the death care industry under ch. 497, F.S., including facility requirements.[20]

Fees

Current law imposes a maximum charge to consumers of $50 for transference of burial rights from one purchaser to another.[21]

[15] The Bankruptcy Code expressly provides that "a domestic insurance company" may not be the subject of a federal bankruptcy proceeding. 11 U.S.C. s. 109(b)(2). The exclusion of insurers from the federal bankruptcy court process is consistent with federal policy generally allowing states to regulate the business of insurance. See 15 U.S.C. ss. 1011- 1012.

Section 497.141(12)(b)-(c), F.S. sets forth who may apply for which licenses.
[21] Section 497.277(2), F.S.

Licensure

There are several options available for embalmers or funeral directors to obtain reciprocal licensure in Florida.[22] One method to receive a reciprocal licensure for an embalmer is to hold a valid licensure in a state that has requirements at the time of original licensure that are substantially equivalent to or more stringent than Florida's requirements at the same time.[23]

A funeral director may apply to obtain a reciprocal licensure in Florida if the provisions of s. 497.374, F.S., are met. The applicant must hold a valid license to practice funeral directing in another state, provided that, when the applicant secured her or his original license, the requirements for licensure were substantially equivalent to or more stringent than those existing in Florida.[24]

Current law prescribes the scope of practice of funeral directing a licensed funeral director may perform.[25] These duties include:

- Selling or offering to sell funeral services;
- Planning or arranging the details of the funeral services;
- Embalming, cremation, or other services relating to the final disposition of human remains; including the removals of such remains from the state;
- Setting the time of the service;
- Establishing the type of services to be rendered;
- Acquiring the services of the clergy;
- Obtaining vital information for the filing of death certificates and burial transit permits; or
- Directing any memorial services that is held prior to or within 72 hours of the burial or cremation if such service is old or arranged by the licensee.

Division of Insurance Agents and Agencies

Chapter 626, F.S., governs the regulation of insurance field representatives, navigators, insurance administrators, unauthorized insurers and surplus lines, viatical settlements, structured settlements, and operations.[26] The powers and duties of the CFO and the DFS in part I of ch. 626, F.S., apply only with respect to insurance agents, insurance agencies, managing general agents, insurance adjusters, reinsurance intermediaries, viatical settlement brokers, customer representatives, service representatives, and agencies.[27] Further, the DFS has jurisdiction to enforce provisions of parts VIII and IX of ch. 626, F.S., with respect to persons engaged in actions for which a license issued by the DFS is required.[28] The powers and duties of the Financial Service Commission and the Office of Insurance Regulation (OIR)[29] specified in part I apply only with respect to service companies, insurance administrators, and viatical settlement providers and contracts.[30] The OIR has jurisdiction to enforce provisions of parts VIII and IX of ch. 626, F.S., with respect to persons who engage in actions for which a license or certificate of authority issued by the OIR is required.[31] However, s. 626.016, F.S., is not intended to limit the authority of the DFS and the Division of Investigative and Forensic Services within the DFS, as specified in s. 626.989, F.S.

The Division of Insurance Agent and Agency Services (division) licenses and appoints individuals and entities authorized to transact insurance in Florida as provided in s. 626.016, F.S. Further, the division receives and reviews applications for insurance licenses and oversees the examination, licensing, and continuing education of licensees. The division also conducts investigations of alleged violations of the Florida Insurance Code and refers suspected criminal violations of the Florida Insurance Code to the Division of Investigative and Forensic Services' Bureau of Insurance Fraud within the DFS or other law enforcement agencies as appropriate.[32]

Section 626.112, F.S., states that no person may be, act as, or advertise or hold himself or herself out to be an insurance agent, insurance adjuster, customer representative, service representative, or managing general agent unless he or she is currently licensed by the department and appointed by an appropriate appointing entity or person. All licenses require an appointment with the exception of insurance agency licenses.

Agents with Unaffiliated appointments

Unaffiliated insurance agents, are those licensees, except a limited lines agent, who are self-appointed and who practice as an independent consultant in the business of analyzing and abstracting insurance policies, providing insurance advice or counseling, or making specific recommendations or comparisons of insurance products for a fee established in advance in a written contract signed by the parties. An unaffiliated insurance agent may not be affiliated with an insurer, insurer-appointed insurance agent, or insurance agency contracted with or employing insurer-appointed insurance agents.[33] According to the DFS, unaffiliated appointments were intended to allow a licensee to hold their license in good standing, giving the licensee credentials in the knowledge for holding a license, without soliciting insurance coverage.[34]

[29] Pursuant to s. 20.121(3), F.S., the Office of Insurance Regulation is an office within the Financial Services Commission (FSC). The FSC is composed of the Governor, the Attorney General, the Chief Financial Officer, and the Commissioner of Agriculture. The FSC members serve as the agency head for purposes of rulemaking under ss. 120.536-120.565, F.S.

Insurance Adjuster Licensure Examination

An adjuster is an individual employed by an insurer to evaluate losses and settle policyholder claims.[35] An adjuster may be licensed as either an "all-lines adjuster" or a "public adjuster."[36] An all-lines adjuster "is a person who, for money, commission, or any other thing of value, directly or indirectly undertakes on behalf of a public adjuster or an insurer to ascertain and determine the amount of any claim, loss, or damage payable under an insurance contract or undertakes to effect settlement of such claim, loss, or damage."[37] Subject to certain exceptions, a public adjuster is someone that is paid by an insured to prepare and file a claim against his or her insurer.[38]

Among other requirements, an applicant must pass an examination to obtain an adjuster's license; however, the examination requirement is waived if the applicant has attained certain professional designations that document their successful completion of professional education coursework. An examination is not required for all-lines adjuster applicants that obtains certain specified professional designations.[39] The DFS must approve the curriculum, which must include comprehensive analysis of basic property and casualty lines of insurance and testing at least equal to that of standard the DFS testing for the all-lines adjuster license.[40]

Closure of an Insurance Agency

Currently an agency is not required to provide notification to a policyholder or premium finance company or follow protocols when an agency is closing for an extended period or closing permanently.

Division of State Fire Marshal

The Division of State Fire Marshal protects people and property throughout Florida and has authority to inspect buildings, structures, equipment, vehicles and chemicals when there is reasonable cause to believe a violation of the Florida Fire Code has occurred.[41] The Division of State Fire Marshal:

- Conducts safety inspections and reviews construction plans for all state-owned buildings, regulates fireworks and the fire sprinkler industry, inspects and licenses boilers, and certifies persons working in the fire suppression industry; and
- Approves curricula and training at the Florida State Fire College and certifies that fire service members meet industry standards.[42]

Firefighter Certification

To be certified as a firefighter, a person must complete a minimum standards course and examination established by the State Fire Marshal or show proof of equivalent training in another state, and pass an exam within one year of completing the minimum standards course.[43] Additionally, the applicant must be in good physical condition, as determined by a medical examination, and have good moral character, as determined by a background investigation that includes the processing of fingerprints for a national criminal background check.[44]

To serve as an administrative and command head of a fire service provider, or to work in a position directing incident outcomes, a certified firefighter must earn a Special Certificate of Compliance.[45] Such person must be active as a firefighter, maintain a valid fire service instructor certificate and teach at least 40 hours of instruction during a four-year period, and complete a Firefighter Retention Refresher Course prior to expiration of the four-year period.[46]

To renew a certification, a firefighter must:
- Be active as a firefighter, meaning the certificate holder was employed as a firefighter or served as a volunteer firefighter for at least six months during a four-year period; or
- Hold a fire service instructor certificate and instruct at least 40 hours during a four-year period, or
- Complete a Firefighter Retention Refresher Course during the six months before the four-year period expires, or
- Retake and pass the Minimum Standards Course examination during the six months before the four-year period expires.[47]

Firefighter Assistance Grant Program

The Firefighter Assistance Grant was created to improve the emergency response capability of volunteer fire departments and combination fire departments.[48] The program is required to provide financial assistance to improve firefighter safety and to enable such fire departments to provide firefighting, emergency medical, and rescue services to their communities.[49] Funding is available for training, personal protective equipment, self-contained breathing apparatus, and fire engine pumper apparatus.[50] According to the DFS, many of the fire departments that are eligible to participate in this grant program are in rural economically challenged areas of the state and have limited funding opportunities to purchase additional crucially needed tools and equipment.[51]

Boiler Safety Act

Chapter 554, F.S., is the "Boiler Safety Act."[52] The DFS is authorized to adopt by rule a State Boiler Code for the safe construction, installation, inspection, maintenance, and repair of boilers in Florida.[53] The State Fire Marshall performs inspections to ensure the safety of boilers in public buildings.[54] Boiler inspectors must meet initial and ongoing certification requirements.[55] The DFS may impose various fees, such as, initial and annual certificates of competency, certificate inspections.

According to the DFS, some provisions within ch. 554 are outdated. For example, a requirement for American Society of Mechanical Engineers (ASME)[56] stamping of boilers between 200,000 and 400,000 BTU has been in the statute for several years but did not have a phase in date to allow for utilization of manufacturer's inventory. [57] Additionally, the carbon monoxide detector requirement of ch. 509, F.S., lacks clarity as to the enforcement ability of authorized third-party inspectors.[58]

Division of Workers' Compensation

The workers' compensation law[59] requires an employer[60] to obtain coverage for their "employees" that provides for lost income and all medically necessary remedial treatment, attendance, and care resulting from work related injuries and occupational diseases. The Division of Workers' Compensation[61] within the DFS provides regulatory oversight of the system.[62] The DFS' responsibilities include enforcing employer compliance with coverage requirements,[63] administration of the workers' compensation health care delivery system, collecting system data, educating and assisting employers and injured workers.

[60] Employer" means the state and all political subdivisions thereof, all public and quasi-public corporations therein, every person carrying on any employment, and the legal representative of a deceased person or the receiver or trustees of any person. "Employer" also includes employment agencies, employee leasing companies, and similar agents who provide employees to other persons. s. 440.02(16), F.S. The most common exception to this is non-construction industry employers with fewer than four employees. There are a number of other exceptions, exclusions, and exemptions that affect whether an employer must provide workers' compensation coverage generally or to a particular individual. See s. 440.02(15)–(17), F.S.

Coverage Requirements; Enforcement

Whether an employer is required to have workers' compensation insurance depends upon the employer's industry (i.e., construction, non-construction, or agricultural) and the number of employees.[64] The coverage thresholds are as follows:

- Construction – one or more "employees;"
- Non-construction – four or more "employees;" and
- Agricultural - six or more regular employees and/or 12 or more seasonal employees who work for more than 30 days.[65]

Employers may obtain coverage by purchasing a workers' compensation insurance policy from an insurer; purchasing coverage from the Workers' Compensation Joint Underwriting Association (for employers that are unable to purchase a workers' compensation insurance policy from an authorized insurance company); or qualifying as a self-insurer.[66] In order to apply for or renew an exemption from workers' compensation law, the exemption applicant must complete and submit a Notice of Election to be Exempt application online. The notice must list the name, date of birth, and driver's license number of Florida identification card number, and other specified information.[67]

The DFS has the authority to enter and inspect any place of business for purposes of ensuring employer compliance with workers' compensation law, and the DFS can request an employer's business records.[68] An employer must produce the required business records within ten business days of receiving the written request for records. The failure of an employer to comply with the workers' compensation coverage requirements is considered to pose an immediate danger to public health, safety, and welfare; the DFS must issue a Stop-Work Order within 72 hours of determination of non-compliance, which requires the employer to cease all business operations.[69] The DFS may release a Stop-Work Order when an employer provides proof of compliance and pays $1,000, as a down payment, and agrees to enter into a penalty payment agreement with the DFS for the full amount.[70] The penalty is a minimum of $1,000 and is based on the insurance premiums, which should have been paid, but were not, multiplied by two for the prior two years.[71]

[64] The terms "injured employee" and "injured worker" are used interchangeably throughout ch. 440, F.S., in relation to individuals claiming or receiving workers' compensation benefits. However, neither term is expressly defined in the workers' compensation law. Since the term "injured employee" implies a continuing employment relationship that may not in fact exist following an injury, this analysis will use the term "injured worker" exclusively, but it is intended to mean both "injured employee" and "injured worker" wherever it is used, unless the context or law requires otherwise. The term "injured employee" is not same as "employee." The former denotes one who is claiming benefits following an injury, while the latter denotes one who may be subject to the coverage requirements of the workers' compensation law, depending upon the circumstances of their employment and nature of their employer.

Reporting by Carriers and Audits by Carriers

Within three days after the employer or the employee informs the carrier of an injury, the carrier must mail to the injured worker an informational brochure approved by the DFS that provides an explanation of the rights, benefits, procedures for obtaining benefits and assistance, criminal penalties, and obligations of injured workers and their employers under the Florida Workers' Compensation Law.[72]

Further, the carrier or its third-party administrator is required to mail the same brochure annually to employers.[73]

The Chief Financial Officer as Agent for Service of Process on Insurers

Florida's Chief Financial Officer[74] (CFO) is the agent for service of process on all insurers applying for authority to transact insurance in this state, all licensed nonresident insurance agents, all nonresident disability insurance agents licensed pursuant to s. 626.835, F.S., any unauthorized insurer under s. 626.906, F.S. or s. 626.937, F.S., domestic reciprocal insurers, fraternal benefit societies under ch. 632, F.S., warranty associations under ch. 634, F.S., prepaid limited health service organizations under ch. 636, F.S., and persons required to file statements under s. 628.461, F.S.[75]

Service of process on the CFO is made by mail, personal service, or internet-based transmission system created by the DFS.[76] Upon receipt of service of process, the CFO retains a record copy in paper or electronic form and promptly forwards one copy of the process documents to the insurer's designated process agent by registered or certified mail.[77] The CFO may also make the process documents available from a secure website created by the DFS and provide notice of availability and retrieval instructions to the insurer's designated process agent under s. 624.307(9), F.S. Under current law, service of process is considered valid and binding service on the insurer when the process documents are served on the CFO and sent or made available to the insurer pursuant to s. 624.307(9), F.S., rather than at such time the insurer receives the process documents.[78]

Recent court cases have addressed similar questions related to whether service of process on an insurer is perfected at the time served on the CFO or at the time received by the insurer. For example, in Markovits,[79] an uninsured motorist lawsuit that also involved an award of attorney fees for a rejected proposal for settlement, the court was asked to determine whether a proposal for settlement served on the insurer 91 days after service of the complaint on the CFO but 88 days after the complaint was forwarded by the CFO to the insurer, constituted valid service within a 90-day deadline for proposals for settlement on the insurer. In addition to finding statutory authority under s. 624.423(3), F.S., the court ultimately based its decision on

The Florida Insurance Code authorizes the DFS to investigate any applicant or licensee, and further states that licensing statutes, which require an evaluation of an applicant's character or fitness must include the submission of fingerprints for a national criminal records check.[81] Applicants and licensees submit fingerprints to the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE), which forwards the fingerprints to the Federal Bureau of Investigations (FBI) for a federal background check.[82] The federal check is conducted through the FBI, which manages a criminal history record information (CHRI) system, through which this information can be obtained. The purpose of the CHRI system is to assure criminal history record information wherever it appears is collected, stored, and disseminated in a manner to ensure the accuracy, completeness, currency, integrity, and security of such information and to protect individual privacy.[83]

Federal law authorizes the exchange of CHRI with officials of state and local governmental agencies for licensing and employment purposes.[84] However, this access can only be authorized by a state statute, which has been subsequently approved by the Attorney General of the United States. The FBI processes fingerprints only if the criteria established by the U.S. Department of Justice has been satisfied. To satisfy federal law, a state licensing statute must identify the specific categories of licenses that require the submission of fingerprints as part of an application and expressly state the applicant's fingerprints will be submitted to the FBI or submitted for a national criminal records background check.

The DFS has recommended many technical amendments to licensing laws including chs. 626 and 648, F.S., to ensure compliance with federal law and continuation of FBI background checks for applicants seeking licensure with DFS.[85]

Florida's Patient Compensation Fund

In response to the mid-1970's medical malpractice crisis, the Florida Legislature enacted comprehensive medical malpractice reforms with the passage of "The Medical Malpractice Reform Act of 1975."[86] One of the main features of the 1975 Medical Malpractice Act was the creation of the Florida Patient's Compensation Fund (Fund), which was designed to provide medical malpractice coverage to doctors, practitioners, hospitals, and health care facilities that were unable to purchase coverage in the commercial market. Participants had to show proof of $100,000 coverage from an insurer or self-insurance plan and deposit an annual fee into the Fund.[87] The Fund paid the excess over $100,000 for any judgment or settlement against a member. The Fund was capped at $25 million and could not pay more than one million dollars on a given claim in any single year.[88] The Fund commenced operations on July 1, 1975, in accordance with s. 766.105, F.S. The Fund is a political subdivision of the state; however, it is not a state agency, board, or commission.[89]

The Fund is subject to the supervision of a Board of Governors (board) consisting of 11 representatives.[90] Seven representatives, one each from the insurance industry, physicians' insurance, physicians' self-insurance, hospital insurance, hospital self-insurance, osteopathic or podiatric physicians' insurance or self-insurance, and the general public, are appointed by the CFO.[91] The Florida Bar appoints one attorney, the Florida Medical Association appoints one physician's representative, and the Florida Hospital Association appoints two hospital representatives.[92]

The Fund attracted providers and ran smoothly for a few years but was not actuarially sound, so substantial losses began to accumulate.[93, 94] In 1982, the Fund assessed its members to cover deficits, hospitals dropped out because most of the claims were against physicians, and the Fund was unable to continue operating.[95] During its short tenure, the Fund received $72 million in membership fees and $280 million in assessments; closed 4,595 claims and paid more than $311 million to victims of medical malpractice.[96]

Initially, the Fund was scheduled for sunset in 1991 and repeal in 1995; however, during a special session in 1991 the Legislature revived and readopted all statutes that had been subject to future repeal, including Section 766.105, F.S.[97] As a result, the law has not been subject to sunset review even though the Fund has not accepted new members since June 30, 1983.[98]

Hospitals licensed pursuant to ch. 395, F.S., are mandatory members unless they can demonstrate financial responsibility to pay claims and costs described in s. 766.105(2)(c), F.S. Other health care providers[99] such as physicians, osteopaths, and professional associations are allowed to participate in the Fund. To become members of the Fund, all licensed Florida hospitals and health care providers electing to enroll in the fund must pay an annual membership fee and any applicable assessments based upon past and prospective loss and expense experience; and prior claims experience of the members covered under the fund. Members receive coverage for claims arising from rendering or failure to render medical care or services resulting in injury or death to a patient. Health care providers choose between two coverage limits afforded by the Fund. Coverage may not exceed one million dollars per claim, three million dollars annual aggregate, or two million dollars per claim, four million dollars annual aggregate. Health care providers are responsible for paying claim amounts in excess of the selected limit and the Fund is not responsible for paying punitive damages that may be awarded to plaintiffs. Coverage limits afforded by the Fund to hospitals may not exceed two and one-half million dollars per claim and does not provide an annual aggregate.[100]

The OIR has supervisory authority over the Fund's Plan of Operation and any changes to the Plan of Operation, including repeal.[101]

The law requires the OIR to review any request for assessments of plan participants or refunds of plan participants, and further states the Fund is required to furnish audited financial reports annually, upon request, to any Fund participant and to the OIR and the Joint Legislative Auditing Committee.[102] The board may authorize refunds when revenues exceed known liabilities and expenses.[103] Excesses or unearned fees are refunded to members in proportion to the contributions made in accordance with procedures adopted by the board and approved by the OIR. The Fund has certified to the OIR twelve assessments, and the OIR has approved 11 refunds. [104] The last year the hospitals contributed member fees was in 1982; the last year the physician class contributed member fees was in 1983.[105] The last refund approved by the OIR was in March 2004.[106]

The Fund ceased to offer coverage effective July 1, 1983, because it failed to attain the necessary minimum membership levels to offer coverage.[107] The Fund purchased structured settlement annuities to fulfill the terms and conditions of settlement agreements with claimants in medical malpractice cases.[108] According to the DFS, the Fund has represented that there are no open or active claims that are not being serviced through a structured settlement.[109]

In 2021, an actuarial report conducted for the Fund found the Fund retains an ownership interest in 15 annuities that have an aggregate future value of $12,680,687. In the event of an insurer insolvency, many of the annuities would be covered by Florida Life and Health Insurance Guaranty Association (FLHIGA); therefore the actuary concluded Fund's exposure to contingent liability is $2,403,590. About half of the remaining annuitants were children when their parents entered into structured settlements with the Fund; therefore, some of the remaining annuities may continue for another 40 years.[110]

As of December 2020, the Fund reported a reserve for unearned fees of $15,135,541, which includes $14,888,634 held in investment accounts.[111]

Operating costs have increased in recent years, because the board approved the general manager's request for an assistant in 2015 and approved four percent annual salary increases for the two Fund employees for 2017, 2018, 2019 and 2020.[112] The Fund contributes to an employee pension plan and pays for legal counsel, accounting and auditing, rent and utilities, travel, and insurance.[113]

The following comes from financial statements the Fund shared with its board and the OIR:

Division of State Group Insurance

The Division of State Group Insurance within the Department of Management Services administers the state group health insurance program (program) under a cafeteria plan consistent with s. 125 of the Internal Revenue Code for state employees.[114] Eligible Employees of the program include, state officers; state employees paid from "salaries and benefits" appropriation categories, regardless of the number of hours worked; retired state officers and state employees; surviving spouses of deceased state officers and state employees; certain terminated state officers and state employees; and certain state employees paid from "other-personal-services" appropriation categories.[115]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Division of Accounting and Auditing

Sections 1 and 5-9 repeals s. 17.0315, and amends ss. 215.34, 215.93, 215.94, 216.102, and 218.32, respectively, relating to financial and cash management programs and local government financial reporting. Section 1 repeals s. 17.0315, F.S., relating to the Chief Financial Officer's (CFO) financial and cash management task force due to the creation of the Florida Planning, Accounting and Ledger Management (PALM) financial and cash management system and its executive steering committee. Section 6 eliminates the requirement for an agency to post journal entries since PALM records debit memorandums. Sections 7 and 8 remove the term, "cash management subsystem" and replaces it with the term, "financial management system." Section 9 replaces the term, "comprehensive annual financial report, with the term, "annual comprehensive financial report," to conform to a change in Governmental Accounting Standards Board (GASB) standards. Section 10 revises the local government reporting system to designate the Florida Open Government Financial Statement System as the primary location for governmental financial reporting.

Service of Process

Section 2 amends s. 48.151, F.S., relating to service on statutory agents, to clarify that the CFO is the agent for service of process on all insurers applying for authority to transact insurance and other specified entities licensed under the Florida Insurance Code. The section also requires the Department of Financial Services (DFS or department) to create a secure online portal as the sole means to accept service of process on the CFO under this section.

Section 23 amends s. 624.307, F.S., to require any regulated person or any unauthorized insurer under s. 626.906, F.S., to appoint the CFO as its agent to receive services of all legal process. Further, the CFO must make the process available through a secure online portal to the person designated by the regulated person or unauthorized insurer to receive the process. The notice must disclose the uniform resource locater (URL) where the process may be obtained.

Section 24 amends s. 624.422, F.S., relating to service of process, to require each licensed insurer to file with the DFS designation of the name and e-mail address of the person to whom process against it served upon the CFO is to be made through the online portal. The online portal is the sole method for service of process.

[114] Section 110.123, F.S.
[115] Id.

Section 25 amends s. 624.423, F.S., to clarify that service of process is valid and binding upon the insurer on the date the process is served upon the CFO and is delivered to the insurer or the DFS has notified the insurer that such information has been made available upon a secured online portal.

Section 26 amends s. 624.610, F.S., relating to reinsurance, to provide conforming changes relating to service of process referencing s. 48.151(3), F.S., and to provide service to agents of insurers solely through the department's online portal.

Sections 52-54 amend ss. 626.906, 626.912, and 626.937, F.S., respectively, to provide conforming changes.

Division of Rehabilitation and Liquidation

Sections 3 and 4 amend ss. 110.123 and 110.131, F.S., respectively, to allow full-time and part-time employees, retired employees, and surviving spouses of employees of the Division of Rehabilitation and Liquidation to participate in the state group insurance program.

Division of Workers' Compensation

Section 11 amends s. 440.02, F.S., to revise the definition of the term, "employer," to include employment agencies and employment leasing companies that provide employees to other business entities or persons. Currently, the definition includes employment agencies, employee leasing companies, and similar agents who provide employees to other persons. The term, "similar agents," is an undefined term, and is removed.

Section 12 amends s. 440.05, F.S. relating to the election of exemption from workers' compensation insurance coverage requirements to provide the following changes:

- Requires an applicant for an exemption to provide a valid driver's license number or valid identification card number as a prerequisite for the DFS to process the application. Currently, the statute does not specify such documents must be valid;
- Eliminates the requirement for an applicant for an exemption from coverage to provide a social security number as a requirement for processing the application;
- Requires an applicant for a workers' compensation exemption to certify he or she has completed an online workers' compensation coverage and compliance tutorial developed by the DFS;
- Replaces the mandatory exemption and revocation of exemption notification requirement to carriers with a carrier opt-in via electronic notification process;
- Adds disclosures to the Certificate of Election to be Exempt that provide the exemption is not a license issued by the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR) and the DBPR's website has information that can be used to verify an exemption holder's licensure status;
- Eliminates a duplicative business records requirement for exemption holders in the construction industry; and

- Eliminates the scope of business or trade to disclosure on the notice of election to be exempt.

Section 13 amends s. 440.107, F.S., relating to the DFS' powers to enforce employer compliance with coverage requirements. The bill extends the deadline for an employer to submit business records to the DFS from 10 business days to 21 days before the DFS can take an administrative action. The section eliminates the requirement for the DFS to update the Stop-Work Order database on a daily basis. The bill also clarifies an employer must pay any outstanding assessed penalty prior to entering into a new payment agreement schedule with the DFS. In addition, the bill modifies the timeframe for an employer to enter into a payment agreement schedule with the DFS or pay the penalty in full from 28 days after the service of the stop work order to within 21 days after service of the first penalty assessment. For first time employers that do not comply with coverage requirements, the timeframe to calculate a penalty for an employer's penalty formula is reduced from a 24-month period to a 12-month period, thereby reducing the penalty. The 24-month period will remain for employers who were previously issued a stop-work order or materially or understated payroll. The section allows an employer who has not been issued a Stop-Work Order or an enforcement action an opportunity to reduce their penalty by 15 percent by completing and correctly answering 80 percent of the questions from an on-line workers' compensation coverage and compliance tutorial.

Sections 14 and 15 amend ss. 440.185 and 440.381, F.S., relating to employer and carrier reporting and carrier audits of employers, respectively. Section 16 extends the amount of time an employer has to notify a carrier of an injury from three days to three business days and authorizes a carrier to send specified information to an injured worker or employer by e-mail as an option to regular mail. Section 17 provides that a carrier must conduct a physical onsite audit of construction class employers with policies with an estimated annual premium of $10,000 or more. Currently, there is no minimum premium threshold for physical onsite audits.

Division of Funeral, Cemetery, and Consumer Services

Section 16 amends s. 497.277, F.S., to eliminate the fee cap of $50 for the transference of burial rights from the purchaser to another.

Section 17 amends s. 497.369, F.S., to revise the requirements for obtaining an embalmer's license in Florida. The changes would allow an applicant to obtain a reciprocal licensure in Florida if they held a valid license in another state and had engaged in the full-time licensed practice of embalming in that state for at least five years.

Section 18 amends s. 497.372, F.S., to revise the duties that only a licensed funeral director may perform. The changes will result in non-licensed individuals being able to handle more clerical responsibilities, including obtaining information from families for the filing of death certificates and setting a time for services. Further, the section removes the current period during which funeral directors must direct memorial services. As a result, a funeral director would be responsible for directing any memorial service arranged by the funeral establishment following burial or cremation, regardless of when the memorial service takes place.

Section 19 amends s. 497.374, F.S. to revise the requirements for a funeral director to obtain a reciprocal license by allowing individuals licensed in another state to obtain licensure in Florida

if they have a current license in that state and have practiced funeral directing for at least five years. As an alternative, a funeral directors may obtain a reciprocal license if the applicant has a diploma or certificate from an accredited program of mortuary science instead of an associate degree or higher, and meets other current requirements.

Division of State Fire Marshal

Section 20 amends s. 554.108, F.S., relating to boiler inspections, to clarify a boiler with an input of 200,000 British thermal units (Btu) per hour and above, up to an input of 400,000 Btu per hour, is exempt from inspection. However, such an exempt boiler, if manufactured after July 1, 2022, must be stamped with the American Society of Mechanical Engineers (ASME) code symbol. A requirement for ASME stamping of boilers between 200,000 and 400,000 Btu has been in the statute for several years but did not have a phase in date to allow for utilization of a manufacturer's inventory. The addition of the carbon monoxide detector requirements currently found in ch. 509, F.S., clarifies the authority of authorized third party inspectors to enforce this safety feature.

Section 21 amends s. 554.111, F.S., relating to fees, clarifies an additional amount equal to the certification inspection fees may be charged when it is necessary to make a special trip for testing and verification. In addition, this section requires an application for boiler permit to include the manufacturer's data report.

Section 22 amends s. 554.114, F.S., relating to prohibited acts and penalties, to revise compliance deadlines and penalties for an insurer authorized to sell boiler insurance that fails to inspect a boiler pursuant to the requirements of this section.

Division of Insurance Agents and Agencies

Section 27 amends s. 626.015, F.S., to relating to definitions. The definition of licensing authority is created to mean the department or the office.[116] The definition of unaffiliated appointment is revised to provide an exception to the current prohibition that an unaffiliated insurance agent may not be affiliated with an insurer, insurer-appointed insurance agent, or insurance agency contracted with or employing insurer-appointed insurance agents. This change would allow a licensed adjuster to obtain an adjuster appointment in order to adjust claims on behalf of an insurer while holding an unaffiliated appointment on an agent license.

Section 28 amends s. 626.171, F.S., relating to application for licensure, to provide the fingerprinting requirements in s. 624.34, F.S., apply to all applicants for licensure under ch. 626, F.S.

Section 29 amends s. 626.172, F.S., relating to insurance agency licensure, to clarify fingerprinting must be processed in accordance with the requirements of s. 626.171(4), F.S.

[116] In this instance department means Department of Financial Services and office refers to the Office of Insurance Regulation.

Section 30 creates s. 626.173, F.S., relating to insurance agency closure, to specify an insurance agency's responsibilities, when closing or ceasing to transact business for more than 30 days. Within 35 days after the agency first ceases to transact insurance, the agency owner or an officer listed on the original application for licensure must:

- Cancel the insurance agency's license by notifying the DFS by the submission of completed form prescribed by the DFS;
- Notify all insurers with whom the agency or agent in charge are appointed, that the agency operations have ceased, the date operations ceased, the identity of any agent or agency to whom the agency's current book of business has been transferred, and the method by which the agency records may be obtained during the time stipulated in sections 626.748 and 626.561, F.S.;
- Notify all policyholders currently insured by a policy written, produced, or serviced by the agency that the agency has ceased operations, the date the operations ceased and the identity of the agency or agent to whom the agency's current book of business was transferred. If no transfer has occurred, notification should direct the policyholder to contact the insurance company that will assist the policyholder in locating a licensed agent to service the policy;
- Notify all premium finance companies through which active policies are financed, that the agency has ceased operations, the date operations ceased and the identity of the agent or agency to whom the agency's current book of business has been transferred; and
- Ensure all funds held in a fiduciary capacity are distributed to the rightful owners.

The section provides that in a proceeding initiated pursuant to ch. 120, F.S., the DFS may, impose an administrative fine against the agent in charge or director or officer found in the proceeding to have violated any provision of this section. A proceeding may not be initiated and fine may not accrue until after the person has been notified in writing of the nature of the violation, has been afforded 10 business days to correct the violation, and has failed to do so. Fines imposed pursuant to this section may not exceed the amounts specified in s. 626.681, F.S., per violation. Further, the DFS may also suspend or revoke the license of a licensee fined pursuant to this section. The section provides factors for the DFS to consider when determining the appropriateness of the penalty.

Section 31 amends s. 626.201, F.S., relating to investigations of applicants by the DFS, provides that submission of an applicant's fingerprints must be in accordance with s. 626.171(4), F.S. Further, the section provides that the expiration, nonrenewal, or surrender of a license under ch. 626, F.S., does not eliminate jurisdiction of the licensing authority to investigate and prosecute for a violation committed by the licensee while licensed under ch. 626, F.S. Further, the section provides that notwithstanding the withdrawal of a complaint, the prosecution of any matter may be initiated or continued. According to the DFS, the expiration, nonrenewal, or surrender of a license jeopardizes the licensing authority of the DFS to continue to investigate or prosecute violations committed while an individual was licensed.[117]

Section 32 amends s. 626.202, F.S., relating to fingerprinting requirements, to require that the submission of fingerprints must be in accordance with s. 626.171(4), F.S.

Further, the section requires that title insurance agency appointments must be renewed pursuant to s. 626.381, F.S.

Section 43 amends s. 626.8433, F.S., relating to termination of appointments, to subject title insurance agencies to reporting terminations to the DFS.

Section 44 amends s. 626.8447, F.S., relating to effect of suspension or revocation upon other licensees and appointees, to subject title insurance agencies to the same provisions.

Section 45 amends s. 626.854, F.S., to prohibit compensation of a public adjuster being based on amounts attributable to additional living expenses, unless the insured agrees to a separate agreement with a prescribed disclosure. In addition, the section provides compensation of a public adjuster must be based on the recovery allocated to the insured for covered damages, exclusive of attorney fees and costs. The bill also prohibits increasing public adjuster compensation based on a claim being resolved by litigation.

Section 46 amends s. 626.8561, F.S, relating to the definition of the term, "public adjuster apprentice," to allow an adjusting firm to appoint, employ, or contract with a public adjuster apprentice. Currently, a public adjuster may only appoint an apprentice.

Section 47 amends s. 626.865, F.S., relating to public adjuster qualifications, to provide that a nonresident public adjuster who has been licensed and appointed on a continual basis for the previous six months to the list of licensed categories considered qualified for the public adjuster license. The section also requires that the $50,000 bond required as a condition for licensure must remain in effect for one year after the expiration or termination of the license.

Section 48 amends s. 626.8651, F.S., relating to public adjuster apprentice appointment and qualifications, to require only a public adjusting firm that has a designated primary adjuster, as required in s. 626.8695, F.S., to appoint the public adjuster apprentice, while eliminating a public all-lines adjuster's ability to appoint a public adjuster apprentice.

Further, this section requires an all lines adjuster to maintain bond coverage throughout existence of the license and for one full year after expiration or termination of the license.

Section 49 amends s. 626.8696, F.S., relating to requirements of an application for an adjusting firm license, to require the name and license number of the designated primary adjuster for each adjusting firm location as required in s. 626.8695, F.S. Further, fingerprints of each individual to be disclosed in the application (each majority owner, partner, officer, and director of the adjusting firm) must be filed with the DFS in accordance with s. 626.171(4), F.S., unless an individual is currently licensed and appointed under ch. 626, F.S. Only one of the individuals required to be listed on the application must sign the application. Currently, each owner of the firm must sign the application.

Section 50 amends s. 626.8732, F.S., relating to bond requirements for a nonresident public adjuster, to provide that the mandated bond must be maintained unimpaired throughout the existence of the license and for a period of one year following the expiration or termination of the license.

Division of State Fire Marshal

Section 56 amends s. 633.135, F.S, relating to the Firefighter Assistance Grant Program, to expand the list of purchases eligible for the grant program to include:

- Other equipment and tools that improve fire safety and fire rescue capabilities for firefighters; and

- Protective clothing and equipment compliant with NFPA 1977, "Standard on Protective Clothing Equipment for Wildland Fire Fighting and Urban Interface Fire Fighting."

Section 57 amends s. 633.216, F.S., relating to inspections of buildings and equipment; training and certification requirements, to eliminate the requirement a previously certified fire safety inspector with a lapsed certification that has lapsed for eight years or more to repeat the fire safety inspector training required by the Division of State Fire Marshal. Current law requires a certificate is valid for four years and renewal is contingent upon the completion of continuing education. An exception allowing a licensee to successfully pass the examination in lieu of the training is deleted.

Section 58 amends s. 633.408, F.S., relating to training and certification, to authorize the Division of Fire Marshal to establish the requirements of the minimum standards course by rule. The section also provides technical changes.

Section 59 amends s. 633.414, F.S., relating to retention of firefighter and volunteer firefighter certifications, to provide that the renewal requirements for the special certificate of compliance is the same as a firefighter certificate of compliance. The bill also changes the definition of an active firefighter.

Section 60 amends s. 648.34, F.S., relating to qualification of bail bond agents, to revise the fingerprinting process to be in accordance with s. 626.171(4), F.S.

Section 61 amends s. 648.355, F.S., relating to temporary limited license as limited surety agent or professional bail bond agent, to revise fingerprinting requirements to conform to s. 626.171(4), F.S.

Notwithstanding the withdrawal of a complaint, the prosecution of any matter may be initiated or continued.

Florida Patient Compensation Fund

Section 63 amends s. 766.105, F.S., relating to the Florida Patient's Compensation Fund (fund), to revise operations and duties of the board of governors of the fund and the Agency for Health Care Administration (agency) relating to financial responsibility or coverage requirements and certification of such coverage. The section provides that the agency would receive and review the documents and determine compliance. The supervision of the fund is transferred from the board of governors to the Chief Financial Officer or his or her designee.

Currently, the agency must review documentation submitted by hospitals demonstrating financial responsibility to pay claims and costs arising out of the rendering or failure to render medical services and for bodily injury or property damage to a person or property arising out of the activities of the hospital, as provided in s. 766.105(2), F.S. Once the agency completes the review, the agency delivers the documents to the board of governors. At least 60 days prior to the issuance or renewal of a hospital's license, the agency must request that the board of governors certify that each hospital complies with coverage requirements. Currently, the board of governors of the Fund are responsible for the supervision and operation of the fund.

The section provides that the fund must operate subject to the supervision of the CFO or his or her designee, subject to the policies and procedures and under the auspices of the Division of Rehabilitation and Liquidation within the DFS until the DFS executes a legal dissolution of the fund on or before December 31, 2023. Prior to the legal dissolution of the fund, DFS must:

- Obtain all existing records and retain necessary records of the fund pursuant to law;
- Identify all remaining property held by the fund and attempt to return such property to its owners and, for property that cannot be returned to the owner, transfer such property to the Division of Unclaimed Property within the DFS;
- Make a final accounting of the finances of the fund;
- Ensure that the fund has met all its obligations pursuant to structured settlements, annuities, or other instruments established to pay covered claims, and, if the fund has not done so, attempt to meet such obligations before final and complete dissolution of the fund;
- Sell or otherwise dispose of all physical assets of the fund;
- Execute a legal dissolution of the fund; and
- Transfer any remaining money or assets of the fund to the CFO for deposit in the General Revenue Fund.

The section also provides s. 766.105, F.S., is repealed effective January 1, 2024, thereby terminating the Florida Patient's Compensation Fund.

Section 10 creates ss. 395.1061 and section 64 and 65 amend s. 945.6041, F.S., and 985.6441, F.S., respectively, to provide conforming changes relating to the repeal of s. 766.105, F.S., and transferring a provision relating to health care providers and their financial responsibility in complying with professional liability requirements. The provision is being transferred to s. 395.1061, F.S., because the bill repeals the current provision in s. 766.105, F.S., effective January 1, 2024.

Section 66 provides that, except as otherwise expressly provided in this act, this act takes effect July 1, 2022.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

B. Private Sector Impact:

The bill eliminates the current maximum fee of $50 to consumers for the transference of burial rights.

Reducing the penalty calculation period and increasing credits for businesses that fail to comply with the workers' compensation law, so long as the business has not previously failed to provide workers' compensation coverage for its employees, should reduce the cost of non-compliance for small businesses, particularly those in the construction industry.

Permitting carriers to conduct offsite payroll audits by mail, rather than in person, for employers in the construction industry that have an estimated annual workers' compensation premium of less than $10,000 could result in modest cost savings for insurance carriers, that potentially could be passed through to employers.

Permitting unaffiliated insurance agents to adjust claims, so long as the agent is also a licensed adjuster, could create employment opportunities for persons who hold both licenses and increase the pool of adjusters who can respond in the aftermath of a large storm or catastrophic event.

Terminating the Florida Patient's Compensation Fund (fund) could result in refunds to doctors and hospitals that were members of the fund in the late 1970s and early 1980s.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill may have insignificant but indeterminate impact on state revenues and expenditures.

Service of Process

The Department of Financial Services (DFS) is required to create a secure online portal as the sole means to accept service of process on the CFO under Section 2 and Sections 23-26. The current online portal will meet this requirement. The DFS has indicated any information technology impact can be absorbed within existing resources.[118]

Workers' Compensation Insurance

The implementation of CS/SB 1874 will reduce penalties imposed on employers that do not comply with the workers' compensation insurance coverage requirements. The fiscal impact is unknown.

Firefighter Cancer Assistance Grant

The changes made to the Firefighter Assistance Grant program will allow the program to fund additional necessary tools and equipment to firefighters.

Florida Patients' Compensation Fund

Terminating the Florida Patient's Compensation Fund could result in refunds to doctors and hospitals that were members of the Fund in the late 1970s and early 1980s. In addition, the bill allows for the transfer of any remaining money or assets, after all obligations have been met, to be deposited in the General Revenue Fund.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

Section 8 amends local governmental entities annual financial reports. The Chief Financial Officer required all work product on the Florida Open Financial Statement System to be completed by December 31, 2021, including the recruitment and selection of contractors to build the eXtensible Business Reporting Language (XBRL) taxonomies and software tools. The section may need to be updated to reflect and conform to the completion of such deadlines.

Section 27 creates a definition for the term, "licensing authority." The term means the respective jurisdiction of the department or the office, as provided by law. Sections 31 and 61 of the bill amends s. 626.201, F.S., and uses the term, "licensing authority." Other existing provisions in the Florida Insurance Code use the term, "department or office." Currently, the term licensing authority is used in ss. 626.8732 and 626.8734, F.S., in the context of a licensing authority of another state. The replacement of the term, "licensing authority," with "department or office" in Sections 31 and 63, and the removal of the definition of "licensing authority" in Section 27 would provide greater clarity and consistency with the use of the term, "licensing authority," in current law.

This bill creates the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 395.1061 and 626.173.

This bill repeals section 17.035 of the Florida Statutes.

The certificate of election must list the name of the corporation listed in the request for exemption. A new certificate of election must be obtained each time the person is employed by a new or different corporation that is not listed on the certificate of election. Upon written request from a workers' compensation carrier, the department shall send thereafter an electronic notification to the carrier identifying each of its policyholders for which a notice of election to be exempt has been issued or for which a notice of revocation to be exempt has been received ~~A notice of the certificate of election must be sent to each workers' compensation carrier identified in the request for exemption~~. Upon filing a notice of revocation of election, an officer who is a subcontractor or an officer of a corporate subcontractor must notify her or his contractor. ~~Upon revocation of a certificate of election of exemption by the department, the department shall notify the workers' compensation carriers identified in the request for exemption.~~

(4) The notice of election to be exempt from the provisions of this chapter must contain a notice that clearly states in substance the following: "Any person who, knowingly and with intent to injure, defraud, or deceive the department or any employer or employee, insurance company, or any other person, files a notice of election to be exempt containing any false or misleading information is guilty of a felony of the third

Section 15. Effective January 1, 2023, paragraphs (a) and (d) of subsection (7) of section 440.107, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

440.107 Department powers to enforce employer compliance with coverage requirements.—

(7)(a) Whenever the department determines that an employer who is required to secure the payment to his or her employees of the compensation provided for by this chapter has failed to secure the payment of workers' compensation required by this chapter or to produce the required business records under subsection (5) within 21 ~~10 business~~ days after receipt of the written request of the department, such failure shall be deemed an immediate serious danger to public health, safety, or welfare sufficient to justify service by the department of a stop-work order on the employer, requiring the cessation of all business operations. If the department makes such a determination, the department shall issue a stop-work order within 72 hours. The order shall take effect when served upon the employer or, for a particular employer worksite, when served at that worksite. In addition to serving a stop-work order at a particular worksite which shall be effective immediately, the department shall immediately proceed with service upon the employer which shall be effective upon all employer worksites in the state for which the employer is not in compliance. A stop-work order may be served with regard to an employer's worksite by posting a copy of the stop-work order in a conspicuous location at the worksite. Information related to an employer's stop-work order shall be made available on the division's website~~, be updated daily,~~ and remain on the website for at least 5 years. The order shall remain in effect until the department issues an order releasing the stop-work order upon a finding that the employer has come into compliance with the coverage requirements of this chapter and has paid any penalty assessed under this section. The department may issue an order of conditional release from a stop-work order to an employer upon a finding that the employer has complied with the coverage requirements of this chapter, paid a penalty of $1,000 as a down payment, and agreed to remit periodic payments of the remaining penalty amount pursuant to a payment agreement schedule with the department or pay the remaining penalty amount in full. An employer may not enter into a payment agreement schedule unless the employer has fully paid any previous penalty assessed under this section. If an order of conditional release is issued, failure by the employer to pay the penalty in full or enter into a payment agreement with the department within 21 ~~28~~ days after service of the first penalty assessment calculation ~~stop-work order~~ upon the employer, or to meet any term or condition of such penalty payment agreement, shall result in the immediate reinstatement of the stop-work order and the entire unpaid balance of the penalty shall become immediately due.

(d)1. In addition to any penalty, stop-work order, or injunction, the department shall assess against an ~~any~~ employer who has failed to secure the payment of compensation as required by this chapter a penalty equal to 2 times the amount the employer would have paid in premium when applying approved manual rates to the employer's payroll during periods for which it failed to secure the payment of workers' compensation required by this chapter within the preceding 12-month ~~2 year~~ period or $1,000, whichever is greater. However, for an employer who is issued a stop-work order for materially understating or concealing payroll or has been previously issued a stop-work order or an order of penalty assessment, the preceding 24-month period shall be used to calculate the penalty as specified in this subparagraph.

a. For an employer ~~employers~~ who has ~~have~~ not been previously issued a stop-work order or order of penalty assessment, the department must allow the employer to receive a credit for the initial payment of the estimated annual workers' compensation policy premium, as determined by the carrier, to be applied to the penalty. Before applying the credit to the penalty, the employer must provide the department with documentation reflecting that the employer has secured the payment of compensation pursuant to s. 440.38 and proof of payment to the carrier. In order for the department to apply a credit for an employer that has secured workers' compensation for leased employees by entering into an employee leasing contract with a licensed employee leasing company, the employer must provide the department with a written confirmation, by a representative from the employee leasing company, of the dollar or percentage amount attributable to the initial estimated workers' compensation expense for leased employees, and proof of payment to the employee leasing company. The credit may not be applied unless the employer provides the documentation and proof of payment to the department within 21 ~~28~~ days after the employer's receipt of the written request to produce business records for calculating the penalty under this subparagraph ~~service of the stop-work order or first order of penalty assessment upon the employer~~.

b. For an employer ~~employers~~ who has ~~have~~ not been previously issued a stop-work order or order of penalty assessment, the department must reduce the final assessed penalty by 25 percent if the employer has complied with administrative rules adopted pursuant to subsection (5) and has provided such business records to the department within 21 ~~10 business~~ days after the employer's receipt of the written request to produce business records for calculating the penalty under this subparagraph.

c. For an employer who has not been previously issued a stop-work order or an order of penalty assessment, the department must reduce the final assessed penalty by 15 percent if the employer correctly answers at least 80 percent of the questions from an online workers' compensation coverage and compliance tutorial, developed by the department, within 21 days after the employer's receipt of the written request to produce business records for calculating the penalty under this subparagraph. The online tutorial must be taken in a department office location identified by rule.

The $1,000 penalty shall be assessed against the employer even if the calculated penalty after the credit provided in sub-subparagraph a., the ~~and~~ 25 percent reduction provided in sub-subparagraph b., and the 15 percent reduction provided in sub-subparagraph c., as applicable, have been applied is less than $1,000.

2. Any subsequent violation within 5 years after the most recent violation shall, in addition to the penalties set forth in this subsection, be deemed a knowing act within the meaning of s. 440.105.

Section 16. Subsection (12) of section 440.13, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

440.13 Medical services and supplies; penalty for violations; limitations.—

(12) CREATION OF THREE-MEMBER PANEL; GUIDES OF MAXIMUM REIMBURSEMENT ALLOWANCES.—

(a) A three-member panel is created, consisting of the Chief Financial Officer, or the Chief Financial Officer's designee, and two members to be appointed by the Governor, subject to confirmation by the Senate, one member who, on account of present or previous vocation, employment, or affiliation, shall be classified as a representative of employers, the other member who, on account of previous vocation, employment, or affiliation, shall be classified as a representative of employees. The panel shall determine statewide schedules of maximum reimbursement allowances for medically necessary treatment, care, and attendance provided by physicians, hospitals, ambulatory surgical centers, work-hardening programs, pain programs, and durable medical equipment. The maximum reimbursement allowances for inpatient hospital care shall be based on a schedule of per diem rates, to be approved by the three-member panel no later than March 1, 1994, to be used in conjunction with a precertification manual as determined by the department, including maximum hours in which an outpatient may remain in observation status, which shall not exceed 23 hours. All compensable charges for hospital outpatient care shall be reimbursed at 75 percent of usual and customary charges, except as otherwise provided by this subsection. Annually, the three-member panel shall adopt schedules of maximum reimbursement allowances for physicians, hospital inpatient care, hospital outpatient care, ambulatory surgical centers, work-hardening programs, and pain programs. An individual physician, hospital, ambulatory surgical center, pain program, or work-hardening program shall be reimbursed:

1. ~~either~~ The agreed-upon contract price; or

2. If there is no agreed-upon contract price, the lesser of the provider's billed charge or the maximum reimbursement allowance in the appropriate schedule.

(b) It is the intent of the Legislature to increase the schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances for selected physicians effective January 1, 2004, and to pay for the increases through reductions in payments to hospitals. Revisions developed pursuant to this subsection are limited to the following:

1. Payments for outpatient physical, occupational, and speech therapy provided by hospitals shall be reduced to the schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances for these services which applies to nonhospital providers.

2. Payments for scheduled outpatient nonemergency radiological and clinical laboratory services that are not provided in conjunction with a surgical procedure shall be reduced to the schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances for these services which applies to nonhospital providers.

3. Outpatient reimbursement for scheduled surgeries shall be reduced from 75 percent of charges to 60 percent of charges.

4. Maximum reimbursement for a physician licensed under chapter 458 or chapter 459 shall be increased to 110 percent of the reimbursement allowed by Medicare, using appropriate codes and modifiers or the medical reimbursement level adopted by the three-member panel as of January 1, 2003, whichever is greater.

5. Maximum reimbursement for surgical procedures shall be increased to 140 percent of the reimbursement allowed by Medicare or the medical reimbursement level adopted by the three-member panel as of January 1, 2003, whichever is greater.

(c) As to reimbursement for a prescription medication, the reimbursement amount for a prescription shall be the average wholesale price plus $4.18 for the dispensing fee. For repackaged or relabeled prescription medications dispensed by a dispensing practitioner as provided in s. 465.0276, the fee schedule for reimbursement shall be 112.5 percent of the average wholesale price, plus $8.00 for the dispensing fee. For purposes of this subsection, the average wholesale price shall be calculated by multiplying the number of units dispensed times the per-unit average wholesale price set by the original manufacturer of the underlying drug dispensed by the practitioner, based upon the published manufacturer's average wholesale price published in the Medi-Span Master Drug Database as of the date of dispensing. All pharmaceutical claims submitted for repackaged or relabeled prescription medications must include the National Drug Code of the original manufacturer. Fees for pharmaceuticals and pharmaceutical services shall be reimbursable at the applicable fee schedule amount except where the employer or carrier, or a service company, third party administrator, or any entity acting on behalf of the employer or carrier directly contracts with the provider seeking reimbursement for a lower amount.

(d) Reimbursement for all fees and other charges for such treatment, care, and attendance, including treatment, care, and attendance provided by any hospital or other health care provider, ambulatory surgical center, work-hardening program, or pain program, must not exceed the amounts provided by the uniform schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances as determined by the panel or as otherwise provided in this section. This subsection also applies to independent medical examinations performed by health care providers under this chapter. In determining the uniform schedule, the panel shall first approve the data which it finds representative of prevailing charges in the state for similar treatment, care, and attendance of injured persons. Each health care provider, health care facility, ambulatory surgical center, work-hardening program, or pain program receiving workers' compensation payments shall maintain records verifying their usual charges. In establishing the uniform schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances, the panel must consider:

1. The levels of reimbursement for similar treatment, care, and attendance made by other health care programs or third-party providers;

2. The impact upon cost to employers for providing a level of reimbursement for treatment, care, and attendance which will ensure the availability of treatment, care, and attendance required by injured workers;

3. The financial impact of the reimbursement allowances upon health care providers and health care facilities, including trauma centers as defined in s. 395.4001, and its effect upon their ability to make available to injured workers such medically necessary remedial treatment, care, and attendance. The uniform schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances must be reasonable, must promote health care cost containment and efficiency with respect to the workers' compensation health care delivery system, and must be sufficient to ensure availability of such medically necessary remedial treatment, care, and attendance to injured workers; and

4. The most recent average maximum allowable rate of increase for hospitals determined by the Health Care Board under chapter 408.

(e) In addition to establishing the uniform schedule of maximum reimbursement allowances, the panel shall:

1. Take testimony, receive records, and collect data to evaluate the adequacy of the workers' compensation fee schedule, nationally recognized fee schedules and alternative methods of reimbursement to health care providers and health care facilities for inpatient and outpatient treatment and care.

2. Survey health care providers and health care facilities to determine the availability and accessibility of workers' compensation health care delivery systems for injured workers.

3. Survey carriers to determine the estimated impact on carrier costs and workers' compensation premium rates by implementing changes to the carrier reimbursement schedule or implementing alternative reimbursement methods.

4. Submit recommendations on or before January 15, 2017, and biennially thereafter, to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives on methods to improve the workers' compensation health care delivery system.

The department, as requested, shall provide data to the panel, including, but not limited to, utilization trends in the workers' compensation health care delivery system. The department shall provide the panel with an annual report regarding the resolution of medical reimbursement disputes and any actions pursuant to subsection (8). The department shall provide administrative support and service to the panel to the extent requested by the panel and may adopt rules necessary to administer this subsection. For prescription medication purchased under the requirements of this subsection, a dispensing practitioner shall not possess such medication unless payment has been made by the practitioner, the practitioner's professional practice, or the practitioner's practice management company or employer to the supplying manufacturer, wholesaler, distributor, or drug repackager within 60 days of the dispensing practitioner taking possession of that medication.

Section 17. Subsection (3) of section 440.185, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

440.185 Notice of injury or death; reports; penalties for violations.—

(3) Within 3 business days after the employer or the employee informs the carrier of an injury, the carrier shall send by regular mail or e-mail to the injured worker an informational brochure approved by the department which sets forth in clear and understandable language an explanation of the rights, benefits, procedures for obtaining benefits and assistance, criminal penalties, and obligations of injured workers and their employers under the Florida Workers' Compensation Law. Annually, the carrier or its third-party administrator shall send by regular mail or e-mail to the employer an informational brochure approved by the department which sets forth in clear and understandable language an explanation of the rights, benefits, procedures for obtaining benefits and assistance, criminal penalties, and obligations of injured workers and their employers under the Florida Workers' Compensation Law. All such informational brochures shall contain a notice that clearly states in substance the following: "Any person who, knowingly and with intent to injure, defraud, or deceive any employer or employee, insurance company, or self-insured program, files a statement of claim containing any false or misleading information commits a felony of the third degree."

Section 18. Subsection (3) of section 440.381, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

440.381 Application for coverage; reporting payroll; payroll audit procedures; penalties.—

(3) The Financial Services Commission, in consultation with the department, shall establish by rule minimum requirements for audits of payroll and classifications ~~in order~~ to ensure that the appropriate premium is charged for workers' compensation coverage. The rules must ~~shall~~ ensure that audits performed by both carriers and employers are adequate to provide that all sources of payments to employees, subcontractors, and independent contractors are ~~have been~~ reviewed and that the accuracy of classification of employees is ~~has been~~ verified. The rules must require ~~shall provide~~ that employers in all classes other than the construction class be audited at least ~~not less frequently than~~ biennially and may provide for more frequent audits of employers in specified classifications based on factors such as amount of premium, type of business, loss ratios, or other relevant factors. ~~In no event shall~~ Employers in the construction class~~,~~ generating more than the amount of premium required to be experience rated must~~,~~ be audited at least ~~less than~~ annually. The annual audits required for construction classes must ~~shall~~ consist of physical onsite audits for policies only if the estimated annual premium is $10,000 or more. Payroll verification audit rules must include, but need not be limited to, the use of state and federal reports of employee income, payroll and other accounting records, certificates of insurance maintained by subcontractors, and duties of employees. At the completion of an audit, the employer or officer of the corporation and the auditor must print and sign their names on the audit document and attach proof of identification to the audit document.

1.a. That in the event of the failure of the assuming insurer to perform its obligations under the terms of the reinsurance agreement, the assuming insurer, at the request of the ceding insurer, shall submit to the jurisdiction of any court of competent jurisdiction in any state of the United States, will comply with all requirements necessary to give the court jurisdiction, and will abide by the final decision of the court or of any appellate court in the event of an appeal; and

2. This paragraph is not intended to conflict with or override the obligation of the parties to a reinsurance agreement to arbitrate their disputes, if this obligation is created in the agreement.

(4) Credit must be allowed when the reinsurance is ceded to an assuming insurer meeting the requirements of this subsection.

(d) The assuming insurer must, in a form specified by the commission:

b. The lead business location of a retail vendor that sells portable electronics insurance. The lead business location must have a contractual relationship with a general lines agent.

2. Employees or authorized representatives of a licensee under subparagraph 1. may sell or offer for sale portable electronics coverage without being subject to licensure as an insurance agent if:

a. Such insurance is sold or offered for sale at a licensed location or at one of the licensee’s branch locations if the branch location is appointed by the licensed lead business location or its appointing insurers;

b. The insurer issuing the insurance directly supervises or appoints a general lines agent to supervise the sale of such insurance, including the development of a training program for the employees and authorized representatives of vendors that are directly engaged in the activity of selling or offering the

The brochures or written materials may include information regarding portable electronics insurance, service warranty agreements, or other incidental services or benefits offered by a licensee.

3. Individuals not licensed to sell portable electronics insurance may not be paid commissions based on the sale of such coverage. However, a licensee who uses a compensation plan for employees and authorized representatives which includes supplemental compensation for the sale of noninsurance products, in addition to a regular salary or hourly wages, may include incidental compensation for the sale of portable electronics insurance as a component of the overall compensation plan.

5. A licensed and appointed general lines agent is not required to obtain a portable electronics insurance license to offer or sell portable electronics insurance at locations already licensed as an insurance agency, but may apply for a portable electronics insurance license for branch locations not otherwise licensed to sell insurance.

6. A portable electronics license authorizes the sale of individual policies or certificates under a group or master insurance policy. Such notice or correspondence may be sent on behalf of the insurer or licensee by the general lines agent appointed by the insurer to supervise the administration of the program. For purposes of this subparagraph, an enrolled customer's provision of an electronic mail address to the insurer or licensee is deemed to be consent to receive notices and correspondence by electronic means if a conspicuously located disclosure is provided to the customer indicating the same.

11. A branch location that sells portable electronics insurance may, in lieu of obtaining an appointment from an insurer or warranty association, obtain a single appointment from the associated lead business location licensee and pay the prescribed appointment fee under s. 624.501 if the lead business location has a single appointment from each insurer or warranty association represented and such appointment applies to the lead business location and all of its branch locations. COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 1940 establishes the Statewide Office of Resilience (office) within the Executive Office of the Governor. The bill provides that the office must be headed by a Chief Resilience Officer, who is appointed by and serves at the pleasure of the Governor.

The bill requires the Department of Transportation (DOT) to develop a resilience action plan for the State Highway System. The bill identifies goals of the action plan and requires it to include certain components. It also requires the DOT to submit the action plan to the Governor and the Legislature by June 20, 2023, and a status report every third year on June 30 thereafter.

The bill makes various revisions to section 380.093, Florida Statutes, relating to statewide resiliency funding and planning, including:

- Authorizing the use of Resilient Florida Grant Program funds to fund preconstruction activities for Statewide Flooding and Sea Level Rise Resilience Plan (plan) projects in municipalities and counties meeting certain population thresholds, but not for projects that adapt critical assets to flooding and sea level rise;
- Pushing back by one year (to 2023 and 2024, respectively) the dates by which the Comprehensive Statewide Flood Vulnerability and Sea Level Rise Data Set and Assessment must be completed; and
- Revising the $100 million cap on funding proposed for each year of the plan to a minimum threshold of $100 million.

The bill requires the Florida Flood Hub for Applied Research and Innovation to provide certain data to counties and municipalities for vulnerability assessments.

Beginning January 1, 2023, the bill also directs surveyors and mappers to submit digital copies of the elevation certificates they complete to the Division of Emergency Management (DEM) as outlined on the DEM's website.

The bill will likely cause the DOT to incur costs associated with developing the required resilience action plan for the State Highway System.

II. Present Situation:

Chief Resilience Officer

In January of 2019, Governor DeSantis issued Executive Order 19-12, creating the Office of Resilience and Coastal Protection to help prepare Florida's coastal communities and habitats for impacts from sea-level rise by providing funding, technical assistance, and coordination among state, regional, and local entities.[1] This office oversees a broad range of state programs.[2]

In August of 2019, the Governor appointed Florida's first Chief Resilience Officer (CRO), Dr. Julia Nesheiwat. The CRO reports directly to the Executive Office of the Governor and is tasked with preparing Florida for the environmental, physical, and economic impacts of sea level rise.[3]

In February of 2020, Dr. Nesheiwat stepped down as the CRO. Former Secretary of the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), Noah Valenstein, served as the interim CRO until he resigned in May 2021. The current Secretary of the DEP, Shawn Hamilton, served as the CRO until Governor DeSantis appointed Wesley Brooks, the current CRO, in November 2021.[4]

Statewide Resilience Programs

Department of Environmental Protection Programs

In 2021, the Legislature, recognizing that Florida is vulnerable to flooding from increasing rainfall, storm surge, and sea level rise, established several statewide resilience programs administered by the DEP.[5] Those programs include the following:

- The DEP's Resilient Florida Grant Program provides grants to counties or municipalities for community resilience planning, such as vulnerability assessments, plan development, and projects to adapt critical assets.[6] The findings of the assessments must be reported to the DEP.
- The Comprehensive Statewide Flood Vulnerability and Sea Level Rise Data Set and Assessment, which must be updated at least every five years. The DEP must:
  - By July 1, 2022, develop a statewide data set, including statewide sea level rise projections, containing information necessary to determine the risks of flooding and sea level rise to inland and coastal communities; and
  - By July 1, 2023, develop a statewide assessment, using the statewide data set, identifying vulnerable infrastructure, geographic areas, and communities. The statewide assessment must include an inventory of critical assets.
- The Statewide Flooding and Sea Level Rise Resilience Plan. By each December 1, the DEP must develop the plan on a three-year planning horizon and submit it to the Governor and Legislature. The plan must consist of ranked projects addressing the risks of flooding and sea level rise to communities in the state. The funding proposed in the plan may not exceed $100 million in one year and is subject to review and appropriation by the Legislature. Each project must have a minimum 50 percent cost-share, unless it assists or is within a financially disadvantaged small community.[7] Counties, municipalities, and regional resilience entities[8] are authorized to submit to the DEP lists of proposed projects for inclusion, and water management districts and flood control districts are authorized to submit to the DEP lists of proposed projects specifically relating to water supplies or water resources for inclusion.[9] The DEP must assess projects for inclusion by implementing a four-tiered scoring system.[10]

Department of Transportation Programs

The Department of Transportation (DOT) regulates access to the facilities forming part of the State Highway System.[11] The Florida Transportation Code[12] defines the State Highway System[13] as meaning:

- The interstate system and all other roads within the state which were under the jurisdiction of the state on June 10, 1995;
- Roads constructed by an agency of the state for the State Highway System; and [6] Section 380.093(2)(a), F.S. "Critical asset" is defined to include broad lists of assets relating to transportation, critical infrastructure, emergency facilities, natural resources, and historical and cultural resources.

[7] Section 380.093(5)(e), F.S. "Financially Disadvantaged Small Community," for purposes of s. 380.093, F.S., is defined as a municipality with a population of 10,000 or fewer and a per capita annual income that is less than the state's per capita annual income, or a county with a population of 50,000 or fewer and a per capita annual income that is less than the state's per capita annual income.
[8] Section 380.093(6), F.S. The bill authorizes the DEP to provide funding, subject to specific legislative appropriation, to regional resilience entities for providing technical assistance to counties and municipalities, coordinating multijurisdictional vulnerability assessments, and developing project proposals for the statewide resilience plan.

- Roads transferred into the state's jurisdiction after June 10, 1995 by mutual consent with another governmental entity, but not including roads transferred out of the state's jurisdiction in the same way.[14]

In April 2020, Secretary of the DOT Kevin Thibault signed Policy 000-525-053,[15] entitled Resiliency of State Transportation Infrastructure (Resiliency Policy), to make it the official policy of the DOT to consider the resiliency of the state's transportation system to support the safety, mobility, quality of life, and economic prosperity of Florida and to preserve the quality of its environment and communities.[16]

The Resiliency Policy recognizes that resiliency includes the ability of the transportation system to adapt to changing conditions and prepare for, withstand, and recover from disruption. To that end, the DOT has pledged to:[17]

- Continue to identify risks, particularly related to sea level rise, flooding, and storms; assess potential impacts; and employ strategies to avoid, mitigate, or eliminate impacts;
- Collaborate with appropriate agencies and organizations for information sharing and alignment of resiliency strategies; and
- Implement the Resiliency Policy through the DOT's long-range and modal plans; work program; asset management plans; research efforts; and internal manuals, tools, guidelines, procedures, and related documents, guiding planning, programming, project development, design, construction, operations, and maintenance.[18]

Consistent with its Resiliency Policy, the DOT is doing all of the following to advance resiliency:[19]

Division of Emergency Management Programs

The Division of Emergency Management (DEM) in the Executive Office of the Governor maintains a statewide emergency management program, and its roles include administering federal mitigation grant programs and serving as Florida's state coordinating agency for the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP).[28]

The NFIP was created by passage of the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968.[29] The NFIP is managed by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and enables homeowners, business owners, and renters in flood-prone areas to purchase flood insurance protection from the federal government.[30] Flood insurance through the NFIP is only available in communities that adopt and enforce federal floodplain management criteria.[31]

The NFIP elevation certificate is used to provide elevation information necessary to ensure compliance to community floodplain management ordinances, to determine the proper insurance premium rate, or to support a request for a Letter of Map Amendment.[32] As part of the agreement for making flood insurance available in a community, the NFIP requires each community to adopt floodplain management regulations that specify minimum requirements for reducing flood losses.[33] One such requirement is for the community to obtain the elevation of the lowest floor (including the basement) of all new and substantially improved buildings, and maintain a record of such information. The elevation certificate provides a way for a community to document compliance with the community's floodplain management ordinance.[34]

In Florida, elevation certificates must be completed by a surveyor and mapper.[35] Since January 1, 2017, surveyors and mappers are required to submit, within 30 days after completion, a copy of each elevation certificate that he or she completes to the DEM. The surveyor and mapper must retain a signed and sealed original in his or her records.[36] Elevation certificates may be submitted to the DEM using its online web application[37] developed for this purpose.[38]

Florida Flood Hub for Applied Research and Innovation

The Florida Flood Hub for Applied Research and Innovation (Flood Hub) is established within the University of South Florida (USF) College of Marine Science.[63] Its purpose is to coordinate efforts between the academic and research institutions of the state. The USF's College of Marine Science serves as the lead institution and engages other academic and research institutions, private partners, and financial sponsors to coordinate efforts to support applied research and innovation to address the flooding and sea level rise challenges of the state.[64]

In 2021, the Legislature created the Flood Hub and tasked it with all of the following minimum duties:[65]

- Organize existing data needs for a comprehensive statewide flood vulnerability and sea level rise analysis and perform a gap analysis to determine data needs;
- Develop statewide open source hydrologic models for physically-based flood frequency estimation and real-time forecasting of floods, including hydraulic models of floodplain inundation mapping, real-time compound and tidal flooding forecasts, future groundwater elevation conditions, and economic damage and loss estimates;
- Coordinate research funds from the state, the federal government, or other funding sources for related Flood Hub activities across all participating entities;
- Establish community-based programs to improve flood monitoring and prediction along major waterways, including intracoastal waterways and coastlines, of the state and to support ongoing flood research;
- Coordinate with agencies, including, but not limited to, the DEP and the water management districts;
- Share its resources and expertise;
- Assist in the development of training and in the development of a workforce in the state that is knowledgeable about flood and sea level rise research, prediction, and adaptation and mitigation strategies;
- Develop opportunities to partner with other flood and sea level rise research and innovation leaders for sharing technology or research; and

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 of the bill establishes a Statewide Office of Resilience within the Executive Office of the Governor. The bill provides that the office must be headed by a Chief Resilience Officer, who is appointed by and serves at the pleasure of the Governor.

Section 2 of the bill requires the Department of Transportation (DOT) to develop a resilience action plan for the State Highway System based on current conditions and forecasted future events. The goals of the resilience action plan are to do all of the following:

- Recommend strategies to enhance infrastructure and the operational resilience of the State Highway System, which may be incorporated into the transportation asset management plan;
- Recommend design changes for retrofitting existing and constructing new state highway facilities; and
- Enhance partnerships for collaboration to address multijurisdictional resilience needs.

The bill requires the resilience action plan to include an assessment of the State Highway System to identify roadway facilities and drainage outfalls that may be subject to vulnerabilities associated with tidal, rainfall, the combination of tidal and rainfall, and storm surge flooding, including future projections of sea-level rise, using existing data for current and forecasted future events. As part of the assessment, the DOT must do all of the following using the most up-to-date National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration precipitation frequency and sea-level rise data:

- Synthesize historical and current infrastructure resilience issues statewide;
- Evaluate alternatives for retrofitting existing systems and infrastructure;
- Develop prioritization criteria for resilience project identification;
- Develop a prioritized resilience needs project list, in addition to existing projects within the work program, with the associated costs and timeline; and
- Develop a statewide database identifying and documenting those assets vulnerable to current and future flooding. The department shall develop a cost estimate and schedule to enhance existing data to include site-specific details and existing criteria to improve the needs prioritization.

The bill requires the DOT to perform a systemic review of its policies, procedures, manuals, tools, and guidance documents to identify revisions that will facilitate cost-effective improvements to address existing and future State Highway System infrastructure vulnerabilities associated with flooding and sea-level rise.

The DOT must also provide technical assistance to local agencies and modal partners on resilience issues related to the State Highway System and the deployment of local and regional solutions.

[66] Id.

The bill requires the DOT to submit the resilience action plan to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives by June 20, 2023. Every third year on June 30 thereafter, the DOT must submit a status report reviewing updates to the action plan and the associated implementation activities.

Section 3 of the bill amends s. 380.093, F.S., relating to the Resilient Florida Grant Program; the Comprehensive Statewide Flood Vulnerability and Sea Level Rise Data Set and Assessment; the Statewide Flooding and Sea Level Rise Resilience Plan; and regional resilience entities.

The bill creates two new definitions:

- "Preconstruction activities" means activities associated with a project which occur before construction begins, including, but not limited to, design of the project, permitting for the project, surveys, site development, solicitation, public hearings, local code amendments, establishing local funding sources, and easement acquisition; and
- "Regionally significant assets" means critical assets that support the needs of communities spanning multiple geopolitical jurisdictions, including, but not limited to, regional medical centers, emergency operations centers, regional utilities, major transportation hubs and corridors, airports, and seaports.

The bill clarifies that, subject to appropriation, the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) may provide grants to a county or municipality to fund vulnerability assessments that identify or address risks of "inland or coastal" flooding and sea-level rise.

The bill provides that subject to appropriation, the DEP may also provide grants to a county or municipality to fund preconstruction activities for projects to be submitted for inclusion in the Statewide Flooding and Sea-Level Rise Resilience Plan, which are located in a municipality that has a population of 10,000 or fewer, or a county that has a population of 50,000 or fewer, according to the most recent April 1 population estimates posted on the Office of Economic and Demographic Research's website.

The bill eliminates the authorization for the DEP to provide grants to a county or municipality to fund projects to adapt critical assets to the effects of flooding and sea-level rise.

With respect to vulnerability assessments funded by the Resilient Florida Grant Program, the bill requires noncoastal communities to include the depth of rainfall-induced flooding for a 100-year storm and a 500-year storm, as defined by the applicable water management district or, if necessary, the appropriate federal agency. Projections of future rainfall conditions should be utilized, if available.

The bill provides that the DEP must complete the required comprehensive statewide flood vulnerability and sea-level rise data set by July 1, 2023, instead of July 1, 2022, and that in developing the data set, the DEP must work in coordination with the Florida Flood Hub for Applied Research and Innovation. It also requires the DEP to complete the required comprehensive statewide flood vulnerability and sea-level rise assessment by July 1, 2024, instead of July 1, 2023.

The bill provides that all eligible projects submitted to the DEP for inclusion in the statewide flooding and sea-level rise resilience plan must be ranked and included in the plan. Each plan must include:

- A detailed narrative overview describing how the plan was developed, including a description of the methodology used by the DEP to determine project eligibility;
- A description of the methodology used to rank projects;
- The specific scoring system used;
- The project proposal application form;
- A copy of each submitted project proposal application form with projects separated by "eligible" and "not eligible";
- The total number of project proposals received and deemed eligible;
- The total funding requested; and
- The total funding requested for eligible projects.

The bill provides that the preliminary plan that must be submitted by December 1, 2021, must include projects submitted by the water management districts which mitigate the risks of flooding or sea-level rise on water supplies or water resources of the state. It also provides that the plan submitted by December 1, 2023, will be an update to the preliminary plan, and pushes back by one year (to December 1, 2024) the date by which the plan must address risks of flooding and sea-level rise identified in the comprehensive flood vulnerability and sea-level rise assessment.

The bill expands the list of entities that may submit a list of proposed projects to the DEP that address risks of flooding or sea-level rise identified in the vulnerability assessments funded by the Resilient Florida Grant Program, to include special districts as defined in state law, if they are responsible for the operation and maintenance of an airport or a seaport facility. The bill also provides that for the plans submitted by December 1, 2021; December 1, 2022; and December 1, 2023, counties, municipalities, and special districts may submit projects identified in existing vulnerability assessments which do not comply with Resilient Florida Grant Program requirements.

The bill expands the list of entities that may submit a list of proposed projects to the DEP that mitigate the risks of flooding or sea-level rise on water supplies or water resources to include drainage districts, erosion control districts, and regional water supply authorities.

The bill revises the $100 million cap on funding proposed for each year of the statewide flooding and sea-level rise resilience plan to a minimum threshold of $100 million.

Section 4 of the bill requires the Florida Flood Hub for Applied Research and Innovation (Flood Hub) to provide tidal and storm surge flooding data to counties and municipalities for vulnerability assessments that are conducted pursuant to the Resilient Florida Grant Program. The Flood Hub must provide rainfall-induced and compound flooding data sets; however, more localized data or modeling may be used.

Section 5 of the bill amends existing law to direct surveyors and mappers, beginning January 1, 2023, to submit digital copies of the elevation certificates they complete to the Division of Emergency Management (DEM) as outlined on the DEM's website.

Section 6 of the bill provides an effective date of July 1, 2022.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Section 14.2031, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

14.2031 Statewide Office of Resilience.—The Statewide Office of Resilience is established within the Executive Office of the Governor. The office shall be headed by a Chief Resilience Officer, who is appointed by and serves at the pleasure of the Governor.

Section 2. Section 339.157, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

339.157 Resilience action plan.—

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

incorporated into the transportation asset management plan.

(b) Recommend design changes for retrofitting existing and constructing new state highway facilities.

(c) Enhance partnerships for collaboration to address multijurisdictional resilience needs.

(2) The resilience action plan must include all of the following components:

(a) An assessment of the State Highway System to identify roadway facilities and drainage outfalls that may be subject to vulnerabilities associated with tidal, rainfall, the combination of tidal and rainfall, and storm surge flooding, including future projections of sea-level rise, using existing data for current and forecasted future events. As part of the assessment, the department shall do all of the following using the most up-to-date National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration precipitation frequency and sea-level rise data:

1. Synthesize historical and current infrastructure resilience issues statewide.

(3) By June 20, 2023, the department shall submit the resilience action plan to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives. Every third year on June 30 thereafter, the department shall submit a status report reviewing updates to the action plan and the associated implementation activities.

Section 3. Section 380.093, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

380.093 Resilient Florida Grant Program; comprehensive statewide flood vulnerability and sea-level ~~sea level~~ rise data set and assessment; Statewide Flooding and Sea-Level ~~Sea Level~~ Rise Resilience Plan; regional resilience entities.—

(1) LEGISLATIVE INTENT.—

(a) The Legislature recognizes that this ~~the~~ state is particularly vulnerable to adverse impacts from flooding resulting from increases in frequency and duration of rainfall events, storm surge from more frequent and severe weather systems, and sea-level ~~sea level~~ rise. Such adverse impacts pose economic, social, environmental, and public health and safety challenges to this ~~the~~ state. To most effectively address these challenges, funding should be allocated in a manner that prioritizes addressing the most significant risks.

(b) The Legislature further recognizes that the adverse impacts of flooding and sea-level ~~sea level~~ rise affect coastal and inland communities all across the state. Consequently, a coordinated approach is necessary to maximize the benefit of efforts to address such impacts and to improve the state's resilience to flooding and sea-level ~~sea level~~ rise.

(c) The Legislature further recognizes that to effectively and efficiently address and prepare for the adverse impacts of flooding and sea-level ~~sea level~~ rise in this ~~the~~ state, it is necessary to conduct a comprehensive statewide assessment of the specific risks posed to this ~~the~~ state by flooding and sea-level ~~sea level~~ rise and develop a statewide coordinated approach to addressing such risks.

(2) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Critical asset" includes:

1. Transportation assets and evacuation routes, including airports, bridges, bus terminals, ports, major roadways, marinas, rail facilities, and railroad bridges.

2. Critical infrastructure, including wastewater treatment facilities and lift stations, stormwater treatment facilities and pump stations, drinking water facilities, water utility conveyance systems, electric production and supply facilities, solid and hazardous waste facilities, military installations, communications facilities, and disaster debris management sites.

3. Critical community and emergency facilities, including schools, colleges, universities, community centers, correctional facilities, disaster recovery centers, emergency medical service facilities, emergency operation centers, fire stations, health care facilities, hospitals, law enforcement facilities, local government facilities, logistical staging areas, affordable public housing, risk shelter inventory, and state government facilities.

4. Natural, cultural, and historical resources, including conservation lands, parks, shorelines, surface waters, wetlands, and historical and cultural assets.

(b) "Department" means the Department of Environmental Protection.

(c) "Preconstruction activities" means activities associated with a project which occur before construction begins, including, but not limited to, design of the project, permitting for the project, surveys, site development, solicitation, public hearings, local code amendments, establishing local funding sources, and easement acquisition.

(d) "Regionally significant assets" means critical assets that support the needs of communities spanning multiple geopolitical jurisdictions, including, but not limited to, regional medical centers, emergency operations centers, regional utilities, major transportation hubs and corridors, airports, and seaports.

(3) RESILIENT FLORIDA GRANT PROGRAM.—

(a) The Resilient Florida Grant Program is established within the department.

(b) Subject to appropriation, the department may provide grants to a county or municipality to fund:

1. The costs of community resilience planning and necessary data collection for such planning, including comprehensive plan amendments and necessary corresponding analyses that address the requirements of s. 163.3178(2)(f).~~,~~

2. Vulnerability assessments that identify or address risks of inland or coastal flooding and sea-level ~~sea level~~ rise.~~,~~

3. The development of projects, plans, and policies that allow communities to prepare for threats from flooding and sea-level ~~sea level~~ rise.~~, and~~

4. Preconstruction activities for projects to be submitted for inclusion in the Statewide Flooding and Sea-Level Rise Resilience Plan which are located in a municipality that has a population of 10,000 or fewer or a county that has a population of 50,000 or fewer, according to the most recent April 1 population estimates posted on the Office of Economic and Demographic Research's website ~~projects to adapt critical assets to the effects of flooding and sea level rise~~.

(c) A vulnerability assessment conducted pursuant to paragraph (b) must encompass the entire county or municipality; include all critical assets owned or maintained by the grant applicant; and use the most recent publicly available Digital Elevation Model and generally accepted analysis and modeling techniques. An assessment may encompass a smaller geographic area or include only a portion of the critical assets owned or maintained by the grant applicant with appropriate rationale and upon approval by the department. Locally collected elevation data may also be included as part of the assessment as long as it is submitted to the department pursuant to this paragraph.

1. The assessment must include an analysis of the vulnerability of and risks to critical assets, including regionally significant assets, owned or managed by the county or municipality.

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

2. Upon completion of a vulnerability assessment, the county or municipality shall submit to the department the following:

a. A report detailing the findings of the assessment.

b. All electronic mapping data used to illustrate flooding and sea-level ~~sea level~~ rise impacts identified in the assessment. When submitting such data, the county or municipality shall include:

(I) Geospatial data in an electronic file format suitable for input to the department's mapping tool.

2. The depth of:

a. Tidal flooding, including future high tide flooding, which must use thresholds published and provided by the department. To the extent practicable, the analysis should also geographically display the number of tidal flood days expected for each scenario and planning horizon.

b. Current and future storm surge flooding using publicly available National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration or Federal Emergency Management Agency storm surge data. The initial storm surge event used must equal or exceed the current 100-year flood event. Higher frequency storm events may be analyzed to understand the exposure of a critical asset.

c. To the extent practicable, rainfall-induced flooding using spatiotemporal analysis or existing hydrologic and hydraulic modeling results. Future boundary conditions should be modified to consider sea-level ~~sea level~~ rise and high tide conditions. Vulnerability assessments for noncoastal communities must include the depth of rainfall-induced flooding for a 100-year storm and a 500-year storm, as defined by the applicable water management district or, if necessary, the appropriate federal agency. Projections of future rainfall conditions should be utilized, if available.

(4) COMPREHENSIVE STATEWIDE FLOOD VULNERABILITY AND SEA-LEVEL ~~SEA LEVEL~~ RISE DATA SET AND ASSESSMENT.—

(a) By July 1, 2023 ~~2022~~, the department shall complete the development of a comprehensive statewide flood vulnerability and sea-level ~~sea level~~ rise data set sufficient to conduct a comprehensive statewide flood vulnerability and sea-level ~~sea level~~ rise assessment. In developing the data set, the department, in coordination with the Florida Flood Hub for Applied Research and Innovation, shall compile, analyze, and incorporate, as appropriate, information related to vulnerability assessments submitted to the department pursuant to subsection (3) or any previously completed assessments that meet the requirements of subsection (3).

1. The Chief Science Officer shall, in coordination with necessary experts and resources, develop statewide sea-level ~~sea level~~ rise projections that incorporate temporal and spatial variability, to the extent practicable, for inclusion in the data set. This subparagraph does not supersede regionally adopted projections.

2. The data set must include information necessary to determine the risks to inland and coastal communities, including, but not limited to, elevation, tidal levels, and precipitation.

(b) By July 1, 2024 ~~2023~~, the department shall complete a comprehensive statewide flood vulnerability and sea-level ~~sea level~~ rise assessment that identifies inland and coastal infrastructure, geographic areas, and communities in this ~~the~~ state that are vulnerable to flooding and sea-level ~~sea level~~ rise and the associated risks.

a. The degree to which the project addresses the risks posed by flooding and sea-level ~~sea level~~ rise identified in the local government vulnerability assessments or the comprehensive statewide flood vulnerability and sea-level ~~sea level~~ rise assessment, as applicable.

b. The degree to which the project addresses risks to regionally significant assets.

c. The degree to which the project reduces risks to areas with an overall higher percentage of vulnerable critical assets.

d. The degree to which the project contributes to existing flooding mitigation projects that reduce upland damage costs by incorporating new or enhanced structures or restoration and revegetation projects.

2. Tier 2 must account for 30 percent of the total score and consist of all of the following criteria:

a. The degree to which flooding and erosion currently affect the condition of the project area.

b. The overall readiness of the project to proceed in a timely manner, considering the project's readiness for the construction phase of development, the status of required permits, the status of any needed easement acquisition, and the availability of local funding sources.

c. The environmental habitat enhancement or inclusion of nature-based options for resilience, with priority given to state or federal critical habitat areas for threatened or endangered species.

d. The cost-effectiveness of the project.

3. Tier 3 must account for 20 percent of the total score and consist of all of the following criteria:

a. The availability of local, state, and federal matching funds, considering the status of the funding award, and federal authorization, if applicable.

b. Previous state commitment and involvement in the project, considering previously funded phases, the total amount of previous state funding, and previous partial appropriations for the proposed project.

c. The exceedance of the flood-resistant construction requirements of the Florida Building Code and applicable flood plain management regulations.

4. Tier 4 must account for 10 percent of the total score and consist of all of the following criteria:

a. The proposed innovative technologies designed to reduce project costs and provide regional collaboration.

b. The extent to which the project assists financially disadvantaged communities.

(i) The total amount of funding proposed for each year of the plan may not be less than ~~exceed~~ $100 million. Upon review and subject to appropriation, the Legislature shall approve funding for the projects as specified in the plan. COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/CS/SB 1950 makes changes to the Statewide Medicaid Managed Care (SMMC) program in anticipation of the next competitive procurement for the 2025 plan year. The bill:

- Requires provider service networks (PSNs) to be reimbursed on a prepaid basis.
- Authorizes the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) to select eligible managed care plans to provide services through a single statewide procurement and deletes the requirement that the AHCA conduct separate and simultaneous procurements for each Medicaid region.
- Authorizes the AHCA to award contracts to managed care plans on a regional or statewide basis.
- Outlines a new regional structure for plan selection under the SMMC program's Managed Medical Assistance (MMA) and Long-Term Care (LTC) programs with a minimum and maximum number of plans designated for each region. The bill provides for eight regions named by letters (Regions A-H), rather than the 11 regions named by numbers (Regions 1-11) in current law.
- Requires the AHCA to award a contract to at least one PSN in each of the eight regions under the MMA program and under the LTC program.
- Requires managed care plans to include Florida cancer hospitals that meet specified federal criteria in their networks as essential providers.

- Revises MMA plan healthy behaviors program requirements to include tobacco cessation programs, rather than smoking cessation programs, and to clarify that substance abuse programs must include opioid abuse recovery.
- Authorizes an MMA Child Welfare Specialty Plan to serve a child in a permanent guardianship situation whose parents receive payments through the Guardianship Assistance Program.
- Deletes obsolete language.

The bill has a significant negative fiscal impact to the Florida Medicaid program. See Section V of this analysis.

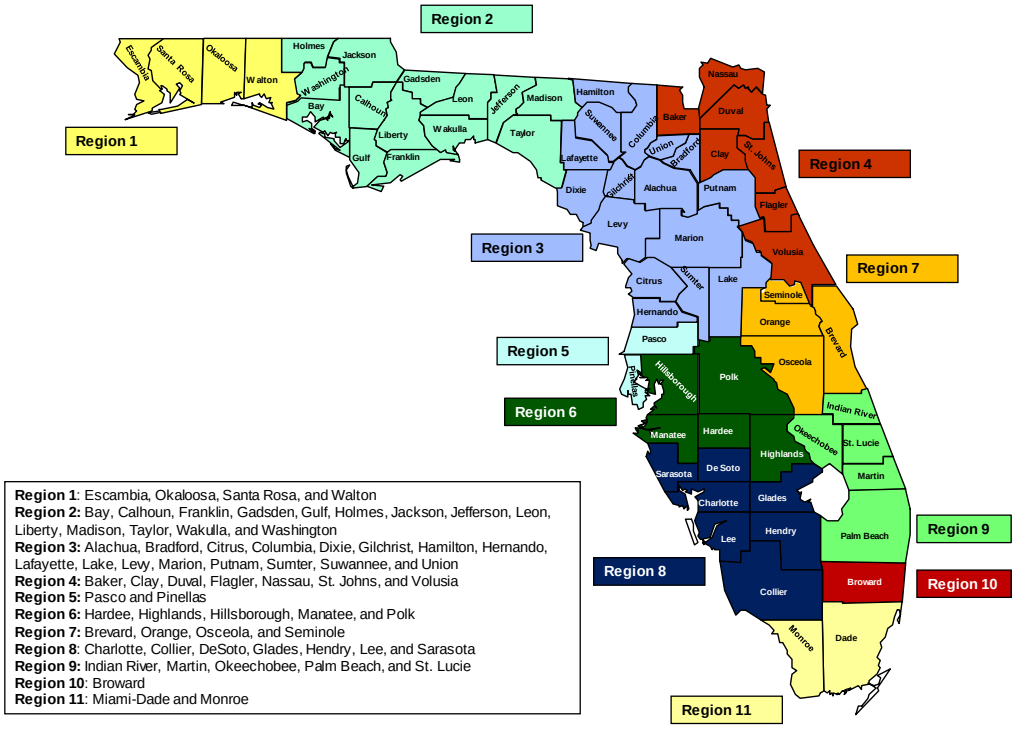
The bill takes effect on July 1, 2022.

II. Present Situation:

Florida Medicaid Program

The Medicaid program is a joint federal-state program that finances health coverage for individuals, including eligible low-income adults, children, pregnant women, elderly adults, and persons with disabilities.[1] The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) within the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) is responsible for administering the federal Medicaid program. Florida Medicaid is the health care safety net for low-income Floridians. Florida's program is administered by the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) and financed through state and federal funds.[2]

A Medicaid state plan is an agreement between a state and the federal government describing how the state administers its Medicaid programs. The state plan establishes groups of individuals covered under the Medicaid program, services that are provided, payment methodologies, and other administrative and organizational requirements.



In order to participate in Medicaid, federal law requires states to cover certain population groups (mandatory eligibility groups) and gives states the flexibility to cover other population groups (optional eligibility groups). States set individual eligibility criteria within federal minimum standards. The AHCA may seek an amendment to the state plan as necessary to comply with federal or state laws or to implement program changes. States send state plan amendments to the federal CMS for review and approval.[3]

Medicaid enrollees generally receive benefits through one of two service-delivery systems: fee-for-service or managed care. Under fee-for-service, health care providers are paid by the state Medicaid program for each service provided to a Medicaid enrollee. Under managed care, the state contracts with private managed care plans for the coordination and payment of services for Medicaid enrollees. The state pays the managed care plans a capitation payment, or fixed monthly payment, per recipient enrolled in the managed care plan.

Statewide Medicaid Managed Care (SMMC) Program

In 2011, the Legislature established the Medicaid program as a statewide, integrated managed care program for all covered services, and directed the AHCA to create the Statewide Medicaid Managed Care (SMMC) program and contract with managed care plans on a regional basis to provide services to eligible recipients.[4] The SMMC minimum benefits are authorized by federal authority and are specifically required in s. 409.973, F.S., for Managed Medical Assistance (MMA) plans and s. 409.98, F.S., for Long-Term Care (LTC) plans.

Today, the majority of Florida Medicaid recipients receive their services through a managed care plan contracted with the AHCA under the SMMC program. The SMMC program has three components:

- MMA: provides Medicaid covered medical services like doctor visits, hospital care, prescribed drugs, mental health care, and transportation to these services.[5]
- LTC: provides Medicaid LTC services like care in a nursing facility, assisted living, or at home. To get LTC you must be at least 18 years old and meet nursing home level of care (or meet hospital level of care if you have Cystic Fibrosis).[6]
- Dental: provides all Medicaid dental services for children and adults. All individuals on Medicaid must enroll in a dental plan.[7]

Eligible Plan Selection

The SMMC program was fully implemented in August 2014. During the initial SMMC procurement, the AHCA awarded contracts to 18 plans, including seven provider service networks (PSNs). By the end of the first contract period, due to various mergers, acquisitions, and conversions to HMO status, only one PSN remained.[8]

During the second procurement, beginning December 2018 and ending in December 2023, the AHCA awarded contracts to 16 plans, including five PSNs, but only three of the PSNs currently remain in the program due to mergers and acquisitions with a total of 10 health plans.[9] In 2020, the Legislature extended the allowable term of the SMMC contracts from five to six years.[10] As a result, the AHCA's current contracts will end in December 2024. The AHCA will conduct its next procurement in Fiscal Year 2022-2023 for implementation in the 2025 plan year.

Various mergers and acquisitions have occurred during the lifecycle of each SMMC contract, resulting in a situation where a majority of enrollees are receiving services from statewide plans that operate in all 11 regions. As of October 1, 2021, 40 percent of the SMMC population, including those enrolled in a specialty plan, were enrolled in a plan operating statewide and 79 percent were enrolled in a plan that operates in at least eight of the 11 regions. The chart below reflects the current operational SMMC plans in their designated regions as of October 1, 2021:[11]

Provider Service Networks (PSNs)

A PSN in the Medicaid program is a managed care plan established or organized and operated by a health care provider, or group of affiliated health care providers, which provides a substantial proportion of the health care items and services under a contract directly through the provider or affiliated group of providers and may make arrangements with physicians or other health care professionals, health care institutions, or any combination of such individuals or institutions to assume all or part of the financial risk on a prospective basis for the provision of basic health services by the physicians, by other health professionals, or through the institutions.[12] The health care providers must have a controlling interest in the governing body of the PSN. The AHCA is authorized to contract with PSNs under s. 409.912(1), F.S., and may currently reimburse PSNs on a fee-for-service basis with a shared savings settlement or on a prepaid basis with per-member, per-month payments. A PSN may be reimbursed on a fee-for-service basis for only the first two years of the plan's operation.[13]

Specialty Plans[14]

An MMA managed care plan can participate in the MMA program as a standard plan or as a specialty plan. A specialty plan is a managed care plan that serves Medicaid recipients who meet specified criteria based on age, medical condition, or diagnosis.[15] Under federal Medicaid law and the SMMC waiver, each recipient has a choice of plans and may select any available plan unless that plan is restricted by contract to a specific population that does not include the recipient.[16] If a specialty plan is available to accommodate a specific condition or diagnosis of a Medicaid recipient, the AHCA must automatically enroll the recipient in that plan unless the recipient chooses a different plan.[17] MMA specialty plans cover the same health care services as the standard MMA plans, and in addition, they must maintain a care coordination program tailored to the special needs of the plan's enrollees.

When a recipient is eligible for more than one MMA specialty plan, the AHCA uses a ranking to determine which MMA specialty plan to assign. Unless the recipient chooses to enroll in another MMA specialty plan for which he or she is eligible, or in a standard MMA plan offered in his or her region, the recipient is automatically assigned to the specialty plan listed highest on the ranking. The AHCA has awarded specialty plan contracts to serve enrollees with specialty conditions including severe mental illness, HIV/AIDS, as well as children with special health care needs, and those involved with Florida's child welfare system.

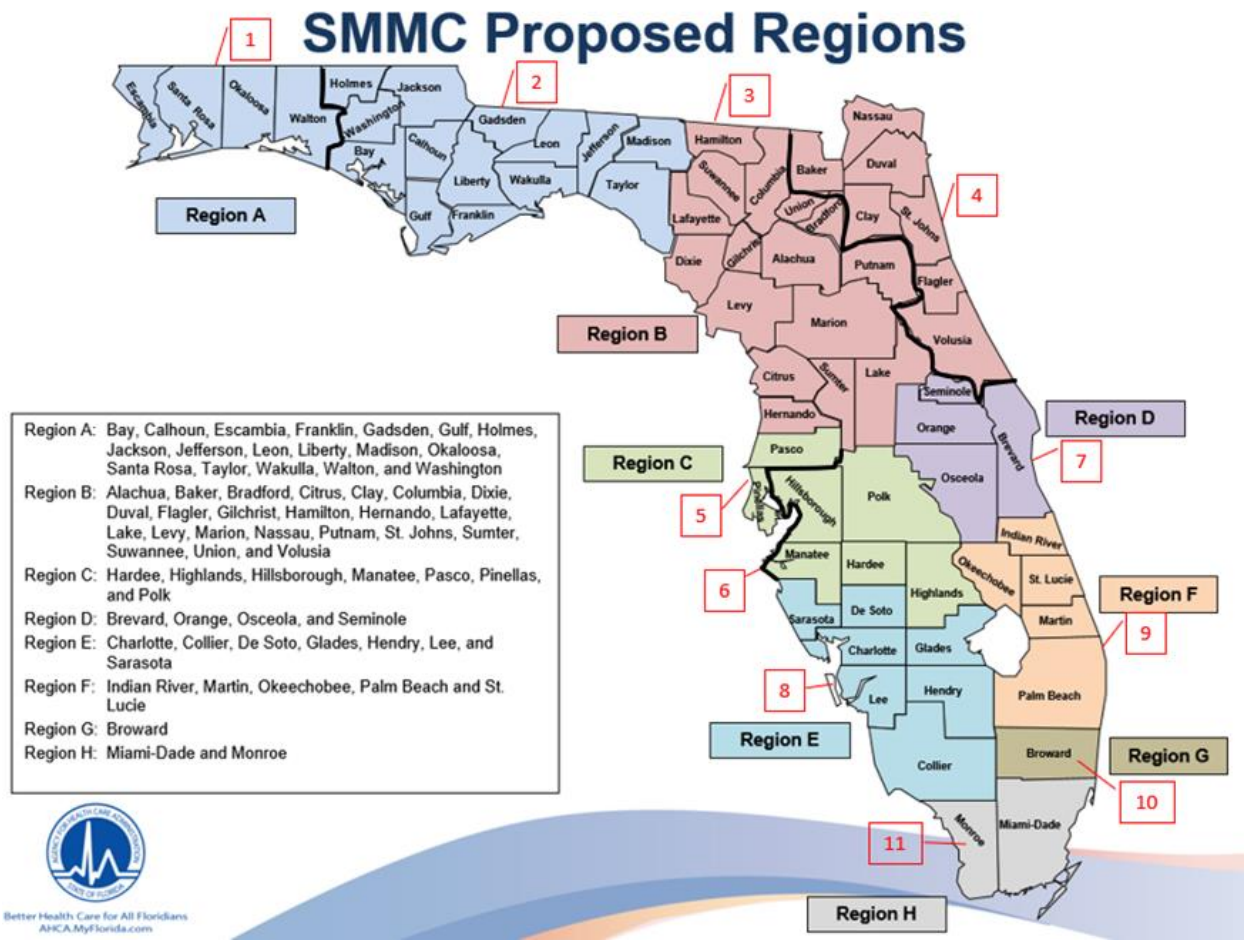
[17] Section 409.977(1), F.S.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 amends s. 409.912(1), F.S., to eliminate fee-for-service (FFS) reimbursement of provider service networks (PSNs) in conjunction with changes made to s. 409.968(2), F.S., in section 6 of the bill. Under these changes, PSNs must be reimbursed on a prepaid basis, receiving a per-member, per-month payment. This section of the bill prohibits the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) from contracting with a PSN outside of the procurement process in s. 409.966, F.S., as amended by section 4 of the bill.

Changes to this subsection relocate, but do not substantively change, language exempting PSNs from parts I and III of ch. 643, F.S.

Section 2 repeals obsolete language in s. 409.9124, F.S., relating to managed care plan reimbursement.



Section 3 amends s. 409.964, F.S., to eliminate an obsolete requirement that the AHCA provide public notice and the opportunity for public comment before seeking a waiver to implement the Statewide Medicaid Managed Care (SMMC) program. This language is obsolete as the public notice and public meeting requirements were met prior to the AHCA seeking federal authority to implement the SMMC program in 2011 and 2012.

Section 4 amends s. 409.966(2), F.S., to require the AHCA's databook consisting of Medicaid utilization and spending data (which must be published 90 days before issuing an invitation to negotiate) to include at least the 24 most recent months of data from the Medicaid Encounter Data System. This removes the requirement that the databook consist of data for the three most recent contract years, include historic fee-for-service claims, and delineate utilization by age, gender, eligibility group, geographic area, and aggregate clinical risk score.

This section of the bill deletes the requirement for the AHCA to conduct separate and simultaneous procurements for each Medicaid region and outlines a new structure for regional awards. The new structure includes eight regions named by letters (Regions A-H), rather than the 11 regions named by numbers (Regions 1-11) included in the original statute.

The following map and chart outline the eight regions proposed in the bill:[18] [18] Agency for Health Care Administration, 2022 Agency Legislative Bill Analysis for SB 1950, Jan. 19, 2022 (on file with the Senate Committee on Health Policy).

Current	Counties	Proposed
Region 1	Escambia, Okaloosa, Santa Rosa, and Walton	Region A
Region 2	Bay, Calhoun, Franklin, Gadsden, Gulf, Holmes, Jackson, Jefferson, Leon, Liberty, Madison, Taylor, Wakulla, and Washington
Region 3	Alachua, Bradford, Citrus, Columbia, Dixie, Gilchrist, Hamilton, Hernando, Lafayette, Lake, Levy, Marion, Putnam, Sumter, Suwannee, and Union	Region B
Region 4	Baker, Clay, Duval, Flagler, Nassau, St. Johns, and Volusia
Region 5	Pasco and Pinellas	Region C
Region 6	Hardee, Highlands, Hillsborough, Manatee, and Polk
Region 7	Brevard, Orange, Osceola, and Seminole	Region D
Region 8	Charlotte, Collier, DeSoto, Glades, Hendry, Lee, and Sarasota	Region E
Region 9	Indian River, Martin, Okeechobee, Palm Beach, and St. Lucie	Region F
Region 10	Broward	Region G
Region 11	Miami-Dade and Monroe	Region H

This section of the bill also deletes obsolete language in s. 409.966(3)(d), F.S., that required the AHCA to negotiate capitation rates for the first year of the first contract term and in s. 409.966(3)(e), F.S., that awarded additional contracts to plans who are awarded contracts in Regions 1 and 2. The AHCA indicates that due to the merger of Regions 1 and 2 into a single Region A, and because the bill provides for the award of statewide contracts, this provision is no longer needed.[19]

Section 5 amends s. 409.967, F.S., to delete obsolete language relating to plans contracting with hospital facilities that became licensed and operational before January 1, 2013. This section of the bill also deletes obsolete language requiring the AHCA to issue a request for information to determine whether cost savings could be achieved through oversight and management by the end of the fourth year of the first contract term.

Section 6 amends s. 409.968(2), F.S., to delete language allowing PSNs to receive fee-for-service rates with a shared savings settlement. In conjunction with changes made to s. 409.912. F.S., in section 1 of this bill, the bill requires all PSNs to be prepaid plans, receiving a per-member, per-month payment, and be negotiated pursuant to the procurement process in s. 409.966, F.S.

Section 7 amends s. 409.973, F.S., to revise language related to Healthy Behaviors programs which Managed Medical Assistance (MMA) plans are required to establish to encourage and reward healthy behaviors. The bill requires each plan to establish a "tobacco cessation program" rather than a "smoking cessation program" to ensure that each program also includes smokeless tobacco products. It also requires an MMA plan's substance abuse recovery program to include opioid abuse recovery.

This section of the bill also deletes obsolete language in 409.97(4)(b), F.S., relating to the Primary Care Initiative, which requires the plans to schedule an appointment with a primary care provider for enrollees who became eligible for Medicaid between January 1, 2014 and December 31, 2015, within 6 months of enrollment in the plan.

Section 8 amends s. 409.974(1), F.S., to outline the structure for plan selection under the MMA program. This section authorizes the AHCA to select eligible plans to provide services through a single statewide procurement and to award contracts to plans on a regional or statewide basis. It requires the AHCA to award a contract to at least one PSN in each of the 8 regions and to procure:

- 3-4 plans for Region A
- 3-6 plans for Region B
- 5-10 plans for Region C
- 3-6 plans for Region D
- 3-4 plans for Region E
- 3-5 plans for Region F
- 3-5 plans for Region G
- 5-10 plans for Region H

This section of the bill also amends s. 409.974(2), F.S., to eliminate the requirement that the AHCA exercise a preference for plans with a provider network in which over 10 percent of the providers use electronic health records. It is estimated that 80 percent of providers currently use electronic health records.[20]

Section 9 amends s. 409.975(1)(b), F.S., to expand the list of statewide essential providers to include Florida cancer hospitals that meet the criteria in 42 U.S.C. s. 1395ww(d)(1)(B)(v). Currently, Moffitt Cancer Center in Tampa and Sylvester Comprehensive Cancer Center in Miami meet this criteria. Under the bill, managed care plans would be required to include these cancer hospitals in their networks as essential providers.

Section 10 amends s. 409.977, F.S., to revise and relocate the requirement for the AHCA to maintain a recipient's enrollment in a plan if a recipient was enrolled in a plan immediately before the recipient's choice period and that plan is still available in the region, unless an applicable specialty plan is available from subsection (1) to subsection (2).

This section of the bill deletes the obsolete requirement in s. 409.977(4), F.S., for the AHCA to seek federal approval to develop and implement a process to enable a Medicaid recipient with access to employer-sponsored health care coverage to opt out of all managed care plans and to use Medicaid financial assistance to pay for the recipient's share of the cost in such employer-sponsored coverage. The AHCA has already obtained federal approval for what has come to be known as their Health Insurance Premium Payment (HIPP) program[21] and continues to implement this program.[22] As of August 2021, 53 recipients were participating in the HIPP program.[23]

This section of the bill also amends s. 409.977(5), F.S., to authorize a child welfare specialty managed care plan under contract with the MMA program to serve a child in a permanent guardianship situation.[24] Specifically, such a child must continue to be eligible for Medicaid and must receive guardianship assistance payments under the Guardianship Assistance Program. Currently, only children in foster care, extended foster care, or subsidized adoption are eligible for the child welfare specialty plan.

Section 11 amends s. 409.981, F.S., to outline the structure for plan selection under the Long-Term Care program. Tracking the structure for MMA plan selection above in section 8 of this bill, except as noted, this section authorizes the AHCA to select eligible plans to provide services through a single statewide procurement and to award contracts to plans on a regional or

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

None.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The capitation rate for children in the Child Welfare Specialty Plan is higher than the rates for most children in other plans. If children become eligible and receive services through the Child Welfare Specialty Plan as authorized in the bill, the bill will have a significant negative fiscal impact to the Florida Medicaid program. The AHCA estimates a maximum recurring fiscal impact of $12.2 million ($4.7 million General Revenue) based on a rate year 2020-2021 estimate of 4,120 children who currently would be eligible for the change in plans.[26]

The precise fiscal impact of children becoming newly eligible for the Child Welfare Specialty Plans cannot be calculated without knowing the Medicaid region in which an eligible child resides and the capitation rate category in which the child is currently categorized. This is because Medicaid capitation rates vary by region and children could be in different rate cells based on age, gender, Medicaid eligibility category, and other characteristics.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 409.912, 409.964, 409.966, 409.967, 409.968, 409.973, 409.974, 409.975, 409.977, 409.981, and 409.8132.

This bill repeals section 409.9124 of the Florida Statutes.

This bill reenacts the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 409.962, 641.19, and 430.2053.

(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

PCS (625186) by Appropriations Committee (Recommended by Appropriations Subcommittee on Health and Human Services):
The proposed committee substitute removes the achieved savings rebate provisions from the bill and maintains current law.

CS by Health Policy on January 26, 2022:
The CS corrects a drafting error in the underlying bill that would have inadvertently deleted the AHCA's existing authority to implement the HIPP program. The amendment keeps the HIPP program intact and removes obsolete language from statute regarding already-obtained federal approval to implement the program.

B. Amendments:

None.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Subsection (1) of section 409.912, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

409.912 Cost-effective purchasing of health care.—The agency shall purchase goods and services for Medicaid recipients in the most cost-effective manner consistent with the delivery of quality medical care. To ensure that medical services are effectively utilized, the agency may, in any case, require a confirmation or second physician’s opinion of the correct diagnosis for purposes of authorizing future services under the Medicaid program. This section does not restrict access to emergency services or poststabilization care services as defined in 42 C.F.R. s. 438.114. Such confirmation or second opinion shall be rendered in a manner approved by the agency. The agency shall maximize the use of prepaid per capita and prepaid aggregate fixed-sum basis services when appropriate and other alternative service delivery and reimbursement methodologies, including competitive bidding pursuant to s. 287.057, designed to facilitate the cost-effective purchase of a case-managed continuum of care. The agency shall also require providers to minimize the exposure of recipients to the need for acute inpatient, custodial, and other institutional care and the inappropriate or unnecessary use of high-cost services. The agency shall contract with a vendor to monitor and evaluate the clinical practice patterns of providers in order to identify trends that are outside the normal practice patterns of a provider’s professional peers or the national guidelines of a provider’s professional association. The vendor must be able to provide information and counseling to a provider whose practice patterns are outside the norms, in consultation with the agency, to improve patient care and reduce inappropriate utilization. The agency may mandate prior authorization, drug therapy management, or disease management participation for certain populations of Medicaid beneficiaries, certain drug classes, or particular drugs to prevent fraud, abuse, overuse, and possible dangerous drug interactions. The Pharmaceutical and Therapeutics Committee shall make recommendations to the agency on drugs for which prior authorization is required. The agency shall inform the Pharmaceutical and Therapeutics Committee of its decisions regarding drugs subject to prior authorization. The agency is authorized to limit the entities it contracts with or enrolls as Medicaid providers by developing a provider network through provider credentialing. The agency may competitively bid single-source-provider contracts if procurement of goods or services results in demonstrated cost savings to the state without limiting access to care. The agency may limit its network based on the assessment of beneficiary access to care, provider availability, provider quality standards, time and distance standards for access to care, the cultural competence of the provider network, demographic characteristics of Medicaid beneficiaries, practice and provider-to-beneficiary standards, appointment wait times, beneficiary use of services, provider turnover, provider profiling, provider licensure history, previous program integrity investigations and findings, peer review, provider Medicaid policy and billing compliance records, clinical and medical record audits, and other factors. Providers are not entitled to enrollment in the Medicaid provider network. The agency shall determine instances in which allowing Medicaid beneficiaries to purchase durable medical equipment and other goods is less expensive to the Medicaid program than long-term rental of the equipment or goods. The agency may establish rules to facilitate purchases in lieu of long-term rentals in order to protect against fraud and abuse in the Medicaid program as defined in s. 409.913. The agency may seek federal waivers necessary to administer these policies.

(1) The agency may contract with a provider service network, which must ~~may~~ be reimbursed on a ~~fee-for-service or~~ prepaid basis. ~~Prepaid~~ Provider service networks shall receive per-member, per-month payments. ~~A provider service network that does not choose to be a prepaid plan shall receive fee-for-service rates with a shared savings settlement. The fee-for-service option shall be available to a provider service network only for the first 2 years of the plan's operation or until the~~

~~contract year beginning September 1, 2014, whichever is later. The agency shall annually conduct cost reconciliations to determine the amount of cost savings achieved by fee-for-service provider service networks for the dates of service in the period being reconciled. Only payments for covered services for dates of service within the reconciliation period and paid within 6 months after the last date of service in the reconciliation period shall be included. The agency shall perform the necessary adjustments for the inclusion of claims incurred but not reported within the reconciliation for claims that could be received and paid by the agency after the 6 month claims processing time lag. The agency shall provide the results of the reconciliations to the fee-for-service provider service networks within 45 days after the end of the reconciliation period. The fee-for-service provider service networks shall review and provide written comments or a letter of concurrence to the agency within 45 days after receipt of the reconciliation results. This reconciliation shall be considered final.~~

~~(a) A provider service network which is reimbursed by the agency on a prepaid basis shall be exempt from parts I and III of chapter 641 but must comply with the solvency requirements in s. 641.2261(2) and meet appropriate financial reserve, quality assurance, and patient rights requirements as established by the agency.~~

~~(b)~~ A provider service network is a network established or organized and operated by a health care provider, or group of affiliated health care providers, which provides a substantial proportion of the health care items and services under a contract directly through the provider or affiliated group of

providers and may make arrangements with physicians or other health care professionals, health care institutions, or any combination of such individuals or institutions to assume all or part of the financial risk on a prospective basis for the provision of basic health services by the physicians, by other health professionals, or through the institutions. The health care providers must have a controlling interest in the governing body of the provider service network organization.

(a) A provider service network is exempt from parts I and III of chapter 641 but must comply with the solvency requirements in s. 641.2261(2) and meet appropriate financial reserve, quality assurance, and patient rights requirements as established by the agency.

(b) This subsection does not authorize the agency to contract with a provider service network outside of the procurement process described in s. 409.966.

Section 2. Section 409.9124, Florida Statutes, is repealed.

Section 3. Section 409.964, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

409.964 Managed care program; state plan; waivers.—The Medicaid program is established as a statewide, integrated managed care program for all covered services, including long-term care services. The agency shall apply for and implement state plan amendments or waivers of applicable federal laws and regulations necessary to implement the program. ~~Before seeking a waiver, the agency shall provide public notice and the opportunity for public comment and include public feedback in the waiver application. The agency shall hold one public meeting in each of the regions described in s. 409.966(2), and the time~~

~~period for public comment for each region shall end no sooner than 30 days after the completion of the public meeting in that region.~~

Section 4. Subsections (2), (3), and (4) of section 409.966, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

(2) ELIGIBLE PLAN SELECTION.—The agency shall select a limited number of eligible plans to participate in the Medicaid program using invitations to negotiate in accordance with s. 287.057(1)(c). At least 90 days before issuing an invitation to negotiate, the agency shall compile and publish a databook consisting of a comprehensive set of utilization and spending data consistent with actuarial rate-setting practices and standards ~~for the 3 most recent contract years consistent with the rate-setting periods for all Medicaid recipients by region or county~~. The source of the data in the databook ~~report~~ must include, at a minimum, the 24 most recent months of ~~both historic fee-for-service claims and~~ validated data from the Medicaid Encounter Data System. (h) ~~(k)~~ Region H ~~11~~, which consists of Miami-Dade and Monroe Counties.

(3) QUALITY SELECTION CRITERIA.—

(a) The invitation to negotiate must specify the criteria and the relative weight of the criteria that will be used for determining the acceptability of the reply and guiding the selection of the organizations with which the agency negotiates. In addition to criteria established by the agency, the agency shall consider the following factors in the selection of eligible plans:

1. Accreditation by the National Committee for Quality

Assurance, the Joint Commission, or another nationally recognized accrediting body.

2. Experience serving similar populations, including the organization's record in achieving specific quality standards with similar populations.

3. Availability and accessibility of primary care and specialty physicians in the provider network.

4. Establishment of community partnerships with providers that create opportunities for reinvestment in community-based services.

5. Organization commitment to quality improvement and documentation of achievements in specific quality improvement projects, including active involvement by organization leadership.

6. Provision of additional benefits, particularly dental care and disease management, and other initiatives that improve health outcomes.

7. Evidence that an eligible plan has obtained signed contracts or written agreements or ~~signed contracts or~~ has made substantial progress in establishing relationships with providers before the plan submits ~~submitting~~ a response.

8. Comments submitted in writing by any enrolled Medicaid provider relating to a specifically identified plan participating in the procurement in the same region as the submitting provider.

9. Documentation of policies and procedures for preventing fraud and abuse.

10. The business relationship an eligible plan has with any other eligible plan that responds to the invitation to negotiate.

(b) An eligible plan must disclose any business relationship it has with any other eligible plan that responds to the invitation to negotiate. The agency may not select plans in the same region for the same managed care program that have a business relationship with each other. Failure to disclose any business relationship shall result in disqualification from participation in any region for the first full contract period after the discovery of the business relationship by the agency. For the purpose of this section, "business relationship" means an ownership or controlling interest, an affiliate or subsidiary relationship, a common parent, or any mutual interest in any limited partnership, limited liability partnership, limited liability company, or other entity or business association, including all wholly or partially owned subsidiaries, majority-owned subsidiaries, parent companies, or affiliates of such entities, business associations, or other enterprises, that exists for the purpose of making a profit.

(c) After negotiations are conducted, the agency shall select the eligible plans that are determined to be responsive and provide the best value to the state. Preference shall be given to plans that:

1. Have signed contracts with primary and specialty physicians in sufficient numbers to meet the specific standards established pursuant to s. 409.967(2)(c).

2. Have well-defined programs for recognizing patient-centered medical homes and providing for increased compensation for recognized medical homes, as defined by the plan.

3. Are organizations that are based in and perform operational functions in this state, in-house or through contractual arrangements, by staff located in this state. Using a tiered approach, the highest number of points shall be awarded to a plan that has all or substantially all of its operational functions performed in the state. The second highest number of points shall be awarded to a plan that has a majority of its operational functions performed in the state. The agency may establish a third tier; however, preference points may not be awarded to plans that perform only community outreach, medical director functions, and state administrative functions in the state. For purposes of this subparagraph, operational functions include corporate headquarters, claims processing, member services, provider relations, utilization and prior authorization, case management, disease and quality functions, and finance and administration. For purposes of this subparagraph, the term "corporate headquarters" means the principal office of the organization, which may not be a subsidiary, directly or indirectly through one or more subsidiaries of, or a joint venture with, any other entity whose principal office is not located in the state.

4. Have contracts or other arrangements for cancer disease management programs that have a proven record of clinical efficiencies and cost savings.

5. Have contracts or other arrangements for diabetes disease management programs that have a proven record of clinical efficiencies and cost savings.

6. Have a claims payment process that ensures that claims that are not contested or denied will be promptly paid pursuant to s. 641.3155.

~~(d) For the first year of the first contract term, the agency shall negotiate capitation rates or fee for service payments with each plan in order to guarantee aggregate savings of at least 5 percent.~~

~~1. For prepaid plans, determination of the amount of savings shall be calculated by comparison to the Medicaid rates that the agency paid managed care plans for similar populations in the same areas in the prior year. In regions containing no prepaid plans in the prior year, determination of the amount of savings shall be calculated by comparison to the Medicaid rates established and certified for those regions in the prior year.~~

~~2. For provider service networks operating on a fee-for-service basis, determination of the amount of savings shall be calculated by comparison to the Medicaid rates that the agency paid on a fee-for-service basis for the same services in the prior year.~~

~~(c) To ensure managed care plan participation in Regions 1 and 2, the agency shall award an additional contract to each plan with a contract award in Region 1 or Region 2. Such contract shall be in any other region in which the plan submitted a responsive bid and negotiates a rate acceptable to the agency. If a plan that is awarded an additional contract pursuant to this paragraph is subject to penalties pursuant to s. 409.967(2)(i) for activities in Region 1 or Region 2, the additional contract is automatically terminated 180 days after the imposition of the penalties. The plan must reimburse the agency for the cost of enrollment changes and other transition activities.~~

(d) ~~(f)~~ The agency may not execute contracts with managed care plans at payment rates not supported by the General Appropriations Act.

(4) ADMINISTRATIVE CHALLENGE.—Any eligible plan that participates in an invitation to negotiate ~~in more than one region and is selected in at least one region~~ may not begin serving Medicaid recipients ~~in any region for which it was selected~~ until all administrative challenges to procurements required by this section to which the eligible plan is a party have been finalized. If the number of plans selected is less than the maximum amount of plans permitted in the region, the agency may contract with other selected plans in the region not participating in the administrative challenge before resolution of the administrative challenge. For purposes of this subsection, an administrative challenge is finalized if an order granting voluntary dismissal with prejudice has been entered by any court established under Article V of the State Constitution or by the Division of Administrative Hearings, a final order has been entered into by the agency and the deadline for appeal has expired, a final order has been entered by the First District Court of Appeal and the time to seek any available review by the Florida Supreme Court has expired, or a final order has been entered by the Florida Supreme Court and a warrant has been issued.

Section 5. Paragraphs (c) and (f) of subsection (2) of section 409.967, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

409.967 Managed care plan accountability.—

(2) The agency shall establish such contract requirements as are necessary for the operation of the statewide managed care program. In addition to any other provisions the agency may deem necessary, the contract must require:

(c) Access.—

1. The agency shall establish specific standards for the number, type, and regional distribution of providers in managed care plan networks to ensure access to care for both adults and children. Each plan must maintain a regionwide network of providers in sufficient numbers to meet the access standards for specific medical services for all recipients enrolled in the plan. The exclusive use of mail-order pharmacies may not be sufficient to meet network access standards. Consistent with the standards established by the agency, provider networks may include providers located outside the region. ~~A plan may contract with a new hospital facility before the date the hospital becomes operational if the hospital has commenced construction, will be licensed and operational by January 1, 2013, and a final order has issued in any civil or administrative challenge.~~ Each plan shall establish and maintain an accurate and complete electronic database of contracted providers, including information about licensure or registration, locations and hours of operation, specialty credentials and other certifications, specific performance indicators, and such other information as the agency deems necessary. The database must be available online to both the agency and the public and have the capability to compare the availability of providers to network adequacy standards and to accept and display feedback from each provider's patients. Each plan shall submit quarterly reports to the agency identifying the number of enrollees assigned to each primary care provider. The agency shall conduct, or contract for, systematic and continuous testing of the provider network databases maintained by each plan to confirm accuracy, confirm that behavioral health providers are accepting enrollees, and confirm that enrollees have access to behavioral health services.

2. Each managed care plan must publish any prescribed drug formulary or preferred drug list on the plan's website in a manner that is accessible to and searchable by enrollees and providers. The plan must update the list within 24 hours after making a change. Each plan must ensure that the prior authorization process for prescribed drugs is readily accessible to health care providers, including posting appropriate contact information on its website and providing timely responses to providers. For Medicaid recipients diagnosed with hemophilia who have been prescribed anti-hemophilic-factor replacement products, the agency shall provide for those products and hemophilia overlay services through the agency's hemophilia disease management program.

3. Managed care plans, and their fiscal agents or intermediaries, must accept prior authorization requests for any service electronically.

4. Managed care plans serving children in the care and custody of the Department of Children and Families must maintain complete medical, dental, and behavioral health encounter information and participate in making such information available to the department or the applicable contracted community-based care lead agency for use in providing comprehensive and coordinated case management. The agency and the department shall establish an interagency agreement to provide guidance for the format, confidentiality, recipient, scope, and method of information to be made available and the deadlines for submission of the data. The scope of information available to the department shall be the data that managed care plans are required to submit to the agency. The agency shall determine the plan's compliance with standards for access to medical, dental, and behavioral health services; the use of medications; and followup on all medically necessary services recommended as a result of early and periodic screening, diagnosis, and treatment.

(f) Continuous improvement.—The agency shall establish specific performance standards and expected milestones or timelines for improving performance over the term of the contract.

1. Each managed care plan shall establish an internal health care quality improvement system, including enrollee satisfaction and disenrollment surveys. The quality improvement system must include incentives and disincentives for network providers.

2. Each plan must collect and report the Health Plan Employer Data and Information Set (HEDIS) measures, as specified by the agency. These measures must be published on the plan's website in a manner that allows recipients to reliably compare the performance of plans. The agency shall use the HEDIS measures as a tool to monitor plan performance.

3. Each managed care plan must be accredited by the National Committee for Quality Assurance, the Joint Commission, or another nationally recognized accrediting body, or have initiated the accreditation process, within 1 year after the contract is executed. For any plan not accredited within 18 months after executing the contract, the agency shall suspend automatic assignment under s. 409.977 and 409.984.

~~4. By the end of the fourth year of the first contract term, the agency shall issue a request for information to determine whether cost savings could be achieved by contracting for plan oversight and monitoring, including analysis of encounter data, assessment of performance measures, and compliance with other contractual requirements.~~

Section 6. Subsection (2) of section 409.968, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

409.968 Managed care plan payments.—

(2) Provider service networks must ~~may~~ be prepaid plans and receive per-member, per-month payments negotiated pursuant to the procurement process described in s. 409.966. ~~Provider service networks that choose not to be prepaid plans shall receive fee-for-service rates with a shared savings settlement. The fee-for-service option shall be available to a provider service network only for the first 2 years of its operation. The agency shall annually conduct cost reconciliations to determine the amount of cost savings achieved by fee-for-service provider service networks for the dates of service within the period being reconciled. Only payments for covered services for dates of service within the reconciliation period and paid within 6 months after the last date of service in the reconciliation period must be included. The agency shall perform the necessary adjustments for the inclusion of claims incurred but not reported within the reconciliation period for claims that could be received and paid by the agency after the 6-month claims processing time lag. The agency shall provide the results of the~~

~~reconciliations to the fee-for-service provider service networks within 45 days after the end of the reconciliation period. The fee-for-service provider service networks shall review and provide written comments or a letter of concurrence to the agency within 45 days after receipt of the reconciliation results. This reconciliation is considered final.~~

Section 7. Subsections (3) and (4) of section 409.973, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

409.973 Benefits.—

(3) HEALTHY BEHAVIORS.—Each plan operating in the managed medical assistance program shall establish a program to encourage and reward healthy behaviors. At a minimum, each plan must establish a medically approved tobacco ~~smoking~~ cessation program, a medically directed weight loss program, and a medically approved alcohol recovery program or substance abuse recovery program that must include, but may not be limited to, opioid abuse recovery. Each plan must identify enrollees who smoke, are morbidly obese, or are diagnosed with alcohol or substance abuse in order to establish written agreements to secure the enrollees' commitment to participation in these programs.

(4) PRIMARY CARE INITIATIVE.—Each plan operating in the managed medical assistance program shall establish a program to encourage enrollees to establish a relationship with their primary care provider. Each plan shall:

(a) Provide information to each enrollee on the importance of and procedure for selecting a primary care provider, and thereafter automatically assign to a primary care provider any enrollee who fails to choose a primary care provider.

(b) If the enrollee was not a Medicaid recipient before enrollment in the plan, assist the enrollee in scheduling an appointment with the primary care provider. If possible the appointment should be made within 30 days after enrollment in the plan. ~~For enrollees who become eligible for Medicaid between January 1, 2014, and December 31, 2015, the appointment should be scheduled within 6 months after enrollment in the plan.~~

(c) Report to the agency the number of enrollees assigned to each primary care provider within the plan's network.

(d) Report to the agency the number of enrollees who have not had an appointment with their primary care provider within their first year of enrollment.

(e) Report to the agency the number of emergency room visits by enrollees who have not had at least one appointment with their primary care provider.

Section 8. Subsections (1) and (2) of section 409.974, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

409.974 Eligible plans.—

(1) ELIGIBLE PLAN SELECTION.—The agency shall select eligible plans for the managed medical assistance program through the procurement process described in s. 409.966 through a single statewide procurement. The agency may award contracts to plans selected through the procurement process either on a regional or statewide basis. The awards must include at least one provider service network in each of the eight regions outlined in this subsection. The agency shall procure:

(a) At least 3 plans and up to 4 plans for Region A.

(b) At least 3 plans and up to 6 plans for Region B.

(c) At least 5 plans and up to 10 plans for Region C.

(d) At least 3 plans and up to 6 plans for Region D.

(f) At least 3 plans and up to 5 plans for Region F.

(g) At least 3 plans and up to 5 plans for Region G.

(h) At least 5 plans and up to 10 plans for Region H. ~~The agency shall notice invitations to negotiate no later than January 1, 2013.~~

~~(a) The agency shall procure two plans for Region 1. At least one plan shall be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(b) The agency shall procure two plans for Region 2. At least one plan shall be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(c) The agency shall procure at least three plans and up to five plans for Region 3. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(d) The agency shall procure at least three plans and up to five plans for Region 4. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(e) The agency shall procure at least two plans and up to four plans for Region 5. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(f) The agency shall procure at least four plans and up to seven plans for Region 6. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(g) The agency shall procure at least three plans and up to six plans for Region 7. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(h) The agency shall procure at least two plans and up to four plans for Region 8. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(i) The agency shall procure at least two plans and up to four plans for Region 9. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(j) The agency shall procure at least two plans and up to four plans for Region 10. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(k) The agency shall procure at least five plans and up to 10 plans for Region 11. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

If no provider service network submits a responsive bid, the agency shall procure no more than one less than the maximum number of eligible plans permitted in that region. Within 12 months after the initial invitation to negotiate, the agency shall attempt to procure a provider service network. The agency shall notice another invitation to negotiate only with provider service networks in those regions where no provider service network has been selected.

(2) QUALITY SELECTION CRITERIA.—In addition to the criteria established in s. 409.966, the agency shall consider evidence that an eligible plan has written agreements or signed contracts or has made substantial progress in establishing relationships with providers before the plan submitting a response. The agency shall evaluate and give special weight to evidence of signed contracts with essential providers as defined by the agency pursuant to s. 409.975(1). ~~The agency shall exercise a preference for plans with a provider network in which over 10 percent of the providers use electronic health records, as defined in s. 408.051.~~ When all other factors are equal, the agency shall consider whether the organization has a contract to provide managed long-term care services in the same region and shall exercise a preference for such plans.

Section 9. Paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section 409.975, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

409.975 Managed care plan accountability.—In addition to the requirements of s. 409.967, plans and providers participating in the managed medical assistance program shall comply with the requirements of this section.

(1) PROVIDER NETWORKS.—Managed care plans must develop and maintain provider networks that meet the medical needs of their enrollees in accordance with standards established pursuant to s. 409.967(2)(c). Except as provided in this section, managed care plans may limit the providers in their networks based on credentials, quality indicators, and price.

(b) Certain providers are statewide resources and essential providers for all managed care plans in all regions. All managed care plans must include these essential providers in their networks. Statewide essential providers include:

1. Faculty plans of Florida medical schools.

2. Regional perinatal intensive care centers as defined in s. 383.16(2).

3. Hospitals licensed as specialty children's hospitals as defined in s. 395.002(28).

4. Accredited and integrated systems serving medically complex children which comprise separately licensed, but commonly owned, health care providers delivering at least the following services: medical group home, in-home and outpatient nursing care and therapies, pharmacy services, durable medical equipment, and Prescribed Pediatric Extended Care.

5. Florida cancer hospitals that meet the criteria in 42 U.S.C. s. 1395ww(d)(1)(B)(v).

Managed care plans that have not contracted with all statewide essential providers in all regions as of the first date of recipient enrollment must continue to negotiate in good faith. Payments to physicians on the faculty of nonparticipating Florida medical schools shall be made at the applicable Medicaid rate. Payments for services rendered by regional perinatal intensive care centers shall be made at the applicable Medicaid rate as of the first day of the contract between the agency and the plan. Except for payments for emergency services, payments to nonparticipating specialty children's hospitals shall equal the highest rate established by contract between that provider and any other Medicaid managed care plan.

Section 10. Subsections (1), (2), (4), and (5) of section 409.977, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

409.977 Enrollment.—

(1) The agency shall automatically enroll into a managed care plan those Medicaid recipients who do not voluntarily choose a plan pursuant to s. 409.969. The agency shall automatically enroll recipients in plans that meet or exceed the performance or quality standards established pursuant to s. 409.967 and may not automatically enroll recipients in a plan that is deficient in those performance or quality standards. When a specialty plan is available to accommodate a specific condition or diagnosis of a recipient, the agency shall assign the recipient to that plan. ~~In the first year of the first contract term only, if a recipient was previously enrolled in a plan that is still available in the region, the agency shall automatically enroll the recipient in that plan unless an applicable specialty plan is available.~~ Except as otherwise provided in this part, the agency may not engage in practices that are designed to favor one managed care plan over another.

(2) When automatically enrolling recipients in managed care plans, if a recipient was enrolled in a plan immediately before the recipient's choice period and that plan is still available in the region, the agency must maintain the recipient's enrollment in that plan unless an applicable specialty plan is available. Otherwise, the agency shall automatically enroll based on the following criteria:

(a) Whether the plan has sufficient network capacity to meet the needs of the recipients.

(b) Whether the recipient has previously received services from one of the plan's primary care providers.

(c) Whether primary care providers in one plan are more geographically accessible to the recipient's residence than those in other plans.

(4) The agency shall develop a process to enable a recipient with access to employer-sponsored health care coverage to opt out of all managed care plans and to use Medicaid financial assistance to pay for the recipient's share of the cost in such employer-sponsored coverage. ~~Contingent upon federal approval,~~ The agency shall also enable recipients with access to other insurance or related products providing access to health care services created pursuant to state law, including any product available under the Florida Health Choices Program, or any health exchange, to opt out. The amount of financial assistance provided for each recipient may not exceed the amount of the Medicaid premium that would have been paid to a managed care plan for that recipient. The agency shall ~~seek federal approval to~~ require Medicaid recipients with access to employer-sponsored health care coverage to enroll in that coverage and use Medicaid financial assistance to pay for the recipient's share of the cost for such coverage. The amount of financial assistance provided for each recipient may not exceed the amount of the Medicaid premium that would have been paid to a managed care plan for that recipient.

(5) Specialty plans serving children in the care and custody of the department may serve such children as long as they remain in care, including those remaining in extended foster care pursuant to s. 39.6251, or are in subsidized adoption and continue to be eligible for Medicaid pursuant to s. 409.903, or are receiving guardianship assistance payments and continue to be eligible for Medicaid pursuant to s. 409.903.

Within 12 months after the initial invitation to negotiate, the agency shall attempt to procure a

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 1950 makes changes to the Statewide Medicaid Managed Care (SMMC) program in anticipation of the next competitive procurement for the 2025 plan year. The bill:

- Requires provider service networks (PSNs) to be reimbursed on a prepaid basis.
- Authorizes the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) to select eligible managed care plans to provide services through a single statewide procurement and deletes the requirement that the AHCA conduct separate and simultaneous procurements for each Medicaid region.
- Authorizes the AHCA to award contracts to managed care plans on a regional or statewide basis.
- Outlines a new regional structure for plan selection under the SMMC program's Managed Medical Assistance (MMA) and Long-Term Care (LTC) programs with a minimum and maximum number of plans designated for each region. The bill provides for nine regions named by letters (Regions A-I), rather than the 11 regions named by numbers (Regions 1-11) in current law.
- Requires the AHCA to award a contract to at least one PSN in each of the nine regions under the MMA program and under the LTC program.
- Requires managed care plans to contract with Florida cancer hospitals that meet specified federal criteria in their networks as essential providers, and provides a payment rate for services provided without a contract.

- Revises MMA plan healthy behaviors program requirements to include tobacco cessation programs, rather than smoking cessation programs, and to clarify that substance abuse programs must include opioid abuse recovery.
- Authorizes an MMA Child Welfare Specialty Plan to serve a child in a permanent guardianship situation whose parents receive payments through the Guardianship Assistance Program.
- Deletes obsolete language.

The bill has a significant negative fiscal impact to the Florida Medicaid program. See Section V of this analysis.

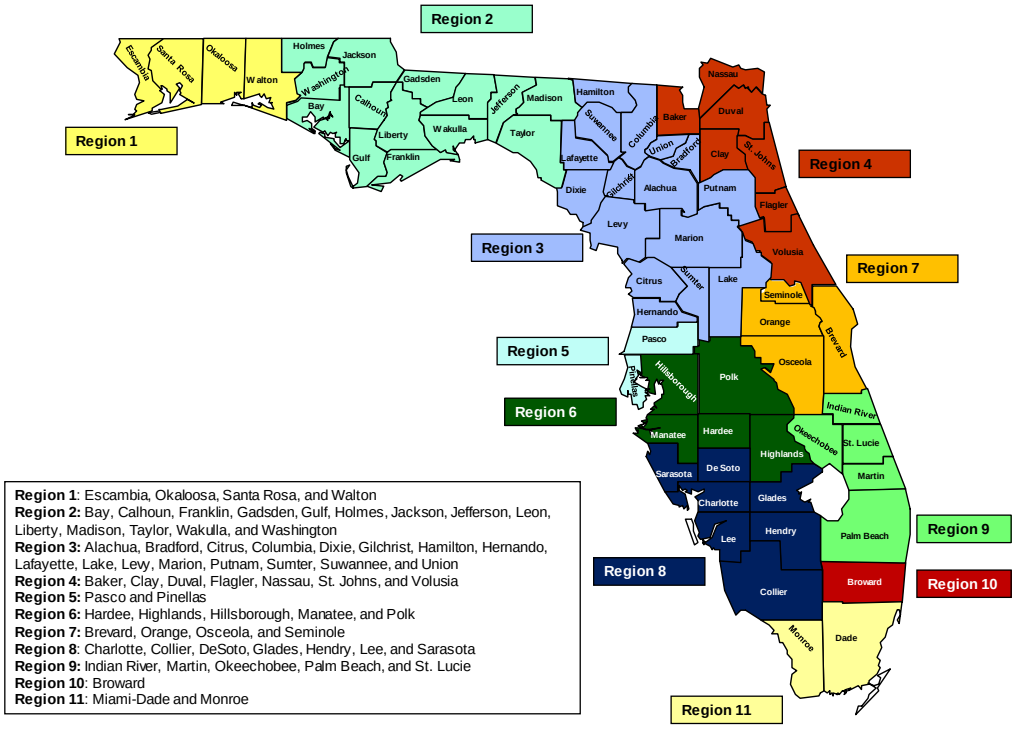
The bill takes effect on July 1, 2022.

II. Present Situation:

Florida Medicaid Program

The Medicaid program is a joint federal-state program that finances health coverage for individuals, including eligible low-income adults, children, pregnant women, elderly adults, and persons with disabilities.[1] The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) within the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) is responsible for administering the federal Medicaid program. Florida Medicaid is the health care safety net for low-income Floridians. Florida's program is administered by the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) and financed through state and federal funds.[2]

A Medicaid state plan is an agreement between a state and the federal government describing how the state administers its Medicaid programs. The state plan establishes groups of individuals covered under the Medicaid program, services that are provided, payment methodologies, and other administrative and organizational requirements.



In order to participate in Medicaid, federal law requires states to cover certain population groups (mandatory eligibility groups) and gives states the flexibility to cover other population groups (optional eligibility groups). States set individual eligibility criteria within federal minimum standards. The AHCA may seek an amendment to the state plan as necessary to comply with federal or state laws or to implement program changes. States send state plan amendments to the federal CMS for review and approval.[3]

Medicaid enrollees generally receive benefits through one of two service-delivery systems: fee-for-service or managed care. Under fee-for-service, health care providers are paid by the state Medicaid program for each service provided to a Medicaid enrollee. Under managed care, the state contracts with private managed care plans for the coordination and payment of services for Medicaid enrollees. The state pays the managed care plans a capitation payment, or fixed monthly payment, per recipient enrolled in the managed care plan.

Statewide Medicaid Managed Care (SMMC) Program

In 2011, the Legislature established the Medicaid program as a statewide, integrated managed care program for all covered services, and directed the AHCA to create the Statewide Medicaid Managed Care (SMMC) program and contract with managed care plans on a regional basis to provide services to eligible recipients.[4] The SMMC minimum benefits are authorized by federal authority and are specifically required in s. 409.973, F.S., for Managed Medical Assistance (MMA) plans and s. 409.98, F.S., for Long-Term Care (LTC) plans.

Today, the majority of Florida Medicaid recipients receive their services through a managed care plan contracted with the AHCA under the SMMC program. The SMMC program has three components:

- MMA: provides Medicaid covered medical services like doctor visits, hospital care, prescribed drugs, mental health care, and transportation to these services.[5]
- LTC: provides Medicaid LTC services like care in a nursing facility, assisted living, or at home. To get LTC you must be at least 18 years old and meet nursing home level of care (or meet hospital level of care if you have Cystic Fibrosis).[6]
- Dental: provides all Medicaid dental services for children and adults. All individuals on Medicaid must enroll in a dental plan.[7]

Eligible Plan Selection

The SMMC program was fully implemented in August 2014. During the initial SMMC procurement, the AHCA awarded contracts to 18 plans, including seven provider service networks (PSNs). By the end of the first contract period, due to various mergers, acquisitions, and conversions to HMO status, only one PSN remained.[8]

During the second procurement, beginning December 2018 and ending in December 2023, the AHCA awarded contracts to 16 plans, including five PSNs, but only three of the PSNs currently remain in the program due to mergers and acquisitions with a total of 10 health plans.[9] In 2020, the Legislature extended the allowable term of the SMMC contracts from five to six years.[10] As a result, the AHCA's current contracts will end in December 2024. The AHCA will conduct its next procurement in Fiscal Year 2022-2023 for implementation in the 2025 plan year.

Various mergers and acquisitions have occurred during the lifecycle of each SMMC contract, resulting in a situation where a majority of enrollees are receiving services from statewide plans that operate in all 11 regions. As of October 1, 2021, 40 percent of the SMMC population, including those enrolled in a specialty plan, were enrolled in a plan operating statewide and 79 percent were enrolled in a plan that operates in at least eight of the 11 regions. The chart below reflects the current operational SMMC plans in their designated regions as of October 1, 2021:[11]

Provider Service Networks (PSNs)

A PSN in the Medicaid program is a managed care plan established or organized and operated by a health care provider, or group of affiliated health care providers, which provides a substantial proportion of the health care items and services under a contract directly through the provider or affiliated group of providers and may make arrangements with physicians or other health care professionals, health care institutions, or any combination of such individuals or institutions to assume all or part of the financial risk on a prospective basis for the provision of basic health services by the physicians, by other health professionals, or through the institutions.[12] The health care providers must have a controlling interest in the governing body of the PSN. The AHCA is authorized to contract with PSNs under s. 409.912(1), F.S., and may currently reimburse PSNs on a fee-for-service basis with a shared savings settlement or on a prepaid basis with per-member, per-month payments. A PSN may be reimbursed on a fee-for-service basis for only the first two years of the plan's operation.[13]

Specialty Plans[14]

An MMA managed care plan can participate in the MMA program as a standard plan or as a specialty plan. A specialty plan is a managed care plan that serves Medicaid recipients who meet specified criteria based on age, medical condition, or diagnosis.[15] Under federal Medicaid law and the SMMC waiver, each recipient has a choice of plans and may select any available plan unless that plan is restricted by contract to a specific population that does not include the recipient.[16] If a specialty plan is available to accommodate a specific condition or diagnosis of a Medicaid recipient, the AHCA must automatically enroll the recipient in that plan unless the recipient chooses a different plan.[17] MMA specialty plans cover the same health care services as the standard MMA plans, and in addition, they must maintain a care coordination program tailored to the special needs of the plan's enrollees.

When a recipient is eligible for more than one MMA specialty plan, the AHCA uses a ranking to determine which MMA specialty plan to assign. Unless the recipient chooses to enroll in another MMA specialty plan for which he or she is eligible, or in a standard MMA plan offered in his or her region, the recipient is automatically assigned to the specialty plan listed highest on the ranking. The AHCA has awarded specialty plan contracts to serve enrollees with specialty conditions including severe mental illness, HIV/AIDS, as well as children with special health care needs, and those involved with Florida's child welfare system.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 amends s. 409.912(1), F.S., to eliminate fee-for-service (FFS) reimbursement of provider service networks (PSNs) in conjunction with changes made to s. 409.968(2), F.S., in section 6 of the bill. Under these changes, PSNs must be reimbursed on a prepaid basis, receiving a per-member, per-month payment. This section of the bill prohibits the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) from contracting with a PSN outside of the procurement process in s. 409.966, F.S., as amended by section 4 of the bill.

Changes to this subsection relocate, but do not substantively change, language exempting PSNs from parts I and III of ch. 643, F.S.

Section 2 repeals obsolete language in s. 409.9124, F.S., relating to managed care plan reimbursement.

Section 3 amends s. 409.964, F.S., to eliminate an obsolete requirement that the AHCA provide public notice and the opportunity for public comment before seeking a waiver to implement the Statewide Medicaid Managed Care (SMMC) program. This language is obsolete as the public notice and public meeting requirements were met prior to the AHCA seeking federal authority to implement the SMMC program in 2011 and 2012.

Section 4 amends s. 409.966(2), F.S., to require the AHCA's databook consisting of Medicaid utilization and spending data (which must be published 90 days before issuing an invitation to negotiate) to include at least the 24 most recent months of data from the Medicaid Encounter Data System. This removes the requirement that the databook consist of data for the three most recent contract years.

This section of the bill deletes the requirement for the AHCA to conduct separate and simultaneous procurements for each Medicaid region and outlines a new structure for regional awards. The new structure includes nine regions named by letters (Regions A-I), rather than the 11 regions named by numbers (Regions 1-11) included in the original statute.

[16] Section 409.969(1), F.S.
[17] Section 409.977(1), F.S.

The following chart outlines the nine regions proposed in the bill:[18]

Current	Counties	Proposed
Region 1	Escambia, Okaloosa, Santa Rosa, and Walton	Region A
Region 2	Bay, Calhoun, Franklin, Gadsden, Gulf, Holmes, Jackson, Jefferson, Leon, Liberty, Madison, Taylor, Wakulla, and Washington
Region 3	Alachua, Bradford, Citrus, Columbia, Dixie, Gilchrist, Hamilton, Hernando, Lafayette, Lake, Levy, Marion, Putnam, Sumter, Suwannee, and Union	Region B
Region 4	Baker, Clay, Duval, Flagler, Nassau, St. Johns, and Volusia
Region 5	Pasco and Pinellas	Region C
Region 6	Hardee, Highlands, Hillsborough, Manatee, and Polk	Region D
Current	Counties	Proposed
Region 7	Brevard, Orange, Osceola, and Seminole	Region E
Region 8	Charlotte, Collier, DeSoto, Glades, Hendry, Lee, and Sarasota	Region F
Region 9	Indian River, Martin, Okeechobee, Palm Beach, and St. Lucie	Region G
Region 10	Broward	Region H
Region 11	Miami-Dade and Monroe	Region I

This section of the bill also deletes obsolete language in s. 409.966(3)(d), F.S., that required the AHCA to negotiate capitation rates for the first year of the first contract term and in s. 409.966(3)(e), F.S., that awarded additional contracts to plans who are awarded contracts in Regions 1 and 2. The AHCA indicates that due to the merger of Regions 1 and 2 into a single Region A, and because the bill provides for the award of statewide contracts, this provision is no longer needed.[19]

Section 5 amends s. 409.967, F.S., to delete obsolete language relating to plans contracting with hospital facilities that became licensed and operational before January 1, 2013. This section of the bill also deletes obsolete language requiring the AHCA to issue a request for information to determine whether cost savings could be achieved through oversight and management by the end of the fourth year of the first contract term.

Section 6 amends s. 409.968(2), F.S., to delete language allowing PSNs to receive fee-for-service rates with a shared savings settlement. In conjunction with changes made to s. 409.912. F.S., in section 1 of this bill, the bill requires all PSNs to be prepaid plans, receiving a per-member, per-month payment, and be negotiated pursuant to the procurement process in s. 409.966, F.S.

[19] Agency for Health Care Administration, 2022 Agency Legislative Bill Analysis for SB 1950, Jan. 19, 2022 (on file with the Senate Committee on Health Policy).

Section 7 amends s. 409.973, F.S., to revise language related to Healthy Behaviors programs which Managed Medical Assistance (MMA) plans are required to establish to encourage and reward healthy behaviors. The bill requires each plan to establish a "tobacco cessation program" rather than a "smoking cessation program" to ensure that each program also includes smokeless tobacco products. It also requires an MMA plan's substance abuse recovery program to include opioid abuse recovery.

This section of the bill also deletes obsolete language in 409.97(4)(b), F.S., relating to the Primary Care Initiative, which requires the plans to schedule an appointment with a primary care provider for enrollees who became eligible for Medicaid between January 1, 2014 and December 31, 2015, within 6 months of enrollment in the plan.

Section 8 amends s. 409.974(1), F.S., to outline the structure for plan selection under the MMA program. This section authorizes the AHCA to select eligible plans to provide services through a single statewide procurement and to award contracts to plans on a regional or statewide basis. It requires the AHCA to award a contract to at least one PSN in each of the 9 regions and to procure:

- 3-4 plans for Region A
- 3-6 plans for Region B
- 3-5 plans for Region C
- 4-7 plans for Region D
- 3-6 plans for Region E
- 3-4 plans for Region F
- 3-5 plans for Region G
- 3-5 plans for Region H
- 5-10 plans for Region I

This section of the bill also amends s. 409.974(2), F.S., to eliminate the requirement that the AHCA exercise a preference for plans with a provider network in which over 10 percent of the providers use electronic health records. It is estimated that 80 percent of providers currently use electronic health records.[20]

Section 9 amends s. 409.975(1)(b), F.S., to expand the list of statewide essential providers to include Florida cancer hospitals that meet the criteria in 42 U.S.C. s. 1395ww(d)(1)(B)(v). Currently, Moffitt Cancer Center in Tampa and Sylvester Comprehensive Cancer Center in Miami meet this criteria. Under the bill, managed care plans would be required to include these cancer hospitals in their networks as essential providers.

Current law provides for how a children's hospital that is not in-network with a managed care plan must be compensated when providing services to a member of that health plan. This section of the bill also adds Florida's nationally-certified cancer hospitals, requiring non-participating cancer center reimbursement rates to be the highest rate the center negotiated with any Medicaid plan.

[20] Email from Legislative Affairs Director, Agency for Health Care Administration, to Senate Committee on Health Policy Staff (Jan. 24, 2022) (on file with the Senate Committee on Health Policy).

Section 10 amends s. 409.977, F.S., to revise and relocate the requirement for the AHCA to maintain a recipient's enrollment in a plan if a recipient was enrolled in a plan immediately before the recipient's choice period and that plan is still available in the region, unless an applicable specialty plan is available from subsection (1) to subsection (2).

This section of the bill deletes the obsolete requirement in s. 409.977(4), F.S., for the AHCA to seek federal approval to develop and implement a process to enable a Medicaid recipient with access to employer-sponsored health care coverage to opt out of all managed care plans and to use Medicaid financial assistance to pay for the recipient's share of the cost in such employer-sponsored coverage. The AHCA has already obtained federal approval for what has come to be known as their Health Insurance Premium Payment (HIPP) program[21] and continues to implement this program.[22] As of August 2021, 53 recipients were participating in the HIPP program.[23]

This section of the bill also amends s. 409.977(5), F.S., to authorize a child welfare specialty managed care plan under contract with the MMA program to serve a child in a permanent guardianship situation.[24] Specifically, such a child must continue to be eligible for Medicaid and must receive guardianship assistance payments under the Guardianship Assistance Program. Currently, only children in foster care, extended foster care, or subsidized adoption are eligible for the child welfare specialty plan.

Section 11 amends s. 409.981, F.S., to outline the structure for plan selection under the Long-Term Care program. Tracking the structure for MMA plan selection above in section 8 of this bill, except as noted, this section authorizes the AHCA to select eligible plans to provide services through a single statewide procurement and to award contracts to plans on a regional or statewide basis. It requires the AHCA to award a contract to at least one PSN in each of the nine regions and to procure:

- 3-4 plans for Region A
- 3-6 plans for Region B
- 3-5 plans for Region C
- 4-7 plans for Region D
- 3-6 plans for Region E
- 3-4 plans for Region F
- 3-5 plans for Region G
- 3-4 plans for Region H[25]

Section 15 reenacts s. 430.2053, F.S., to incorporate changes made by this act to s. 409.981, F.S., in bill section 11.

Section 16 requires the AHCA to amend existing Statewide Medicaid Managed Care (SMMC) contracts to implement several provisions of the bill to ss. 409.973, 409.975, and 409.977, F.S., and directs the AHCA to implement the procurement-related provisions for the 2025 plan year to ss. 409.966, 409.974, and 409.981, F.S. The AHCA must amend existing SMMC contracts to implement provisions of the bill related to the Healthy Behaviors programs, expansion of essential providers to include Florida's nationally-certified cancer hospitals, plan enrollment, and eligibility for the child welfare specialty plan for children in the Guardianship Assistance Program.

Section 17 provides an effective date of July 1, 2022.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The capitation rate for children in the Child Welfare Specialty Plan is higher than the rates for most children in other plans. If children become eligible and receive services through the Child Welfare Specialty Plan as authorized in the bill, the bill will have a significant negative fiscal impact to the Florida Medicaid program. The Agency for Health Care Administration estimates a maximum recurring fiscal impact of $12.2 million ($4.7 million General Revenue) based on a rate year 2020-2021 estimate of 4,120 children who currently would be eligible for the change in plans.[26]

The precise fiscal impact of children becoming newly eligible for the Child Welfare Specialty Plans cannot be calculated without knowing the Medicaid region in which an eligible child resides and the capitation rate category in which the child is currently categorized. This is because Medicaid capitation rates vary by region and children could be in different rate cells based on age, gender, Medicaid eligibility category, and other characteristics.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS/CS by Appropriations on February 28, 2022:
The committee substitute:

- Removes the achieved savings rebate provisions from the bill and maintains current law.
- Reinstates the requirement that the databook published by the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) consisting of Medicaid utilization and spending data, delineate utilization by age, gender, eligibility group, geographic area, and aggregate clinical risk score.
- Expands the eight proposed regions into nine.
- Adjusts the minimum and maximum number of plans with which the AHCA will contract to provide services to the managed medical assistance (MMA) program and long-term care (LTC) program enrollees.
- Changes the non-participating cancer center reimbursement rate to the highest rate the center negotiated with any Medicaid plan.
- Requires the AHCA to amend existing Statewide Medicaid Managed Care (SMMC) contracts to implement several provisions of the bill and directs the AHCA to implement the procurement-related provisions for the 2025 plan year.

CS by Health Policy on January 26, 2022:
The CS corrects a drafting error in the underlying bill that would have inadvertently deleted the AHCA's existing authority to implement the HIPP program. The amendment keeps the HIPP program intact and removes obsolete language from statute regarding already-obtained federal approval to implement the program.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Subsection (1) of section 409.912, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

409.912 Cost-effective purchasing of health care.—The agency shall purchase goods and services for Medicaid recipients in the most cost-effective manner consistent with the delivery of quality medical care. To ensure that medical services are effectively utilized, the agency may, in any case, require a confirmation or second physician's opinion of the correct diagnosis for purposes of authorizing future services under the Medicaid program. This section does not restrict access to emergency services or poststabilization care services as defined in 42 C.F.R. s. 438.114. Such confirmation or second opinion shall be rendered in a manner approved by the agency. The agency shall maximize the use of prepaid per capita and prepaid aggregate fixed-sum basis services when appropriate and other alternative service delivery and reimbursement methodologies, including competitive bidding pursuant to s. 287.057, designed to facilitate the cost-effective purchase of a case-managed continuum of care. The agency shall also require providers to minimize the exposure of recipients to the need for acute inpatient, custodial, and other institutional care and the inappropriate or unnecessary use of high-cost services. The agency shall contract with a vendor to monitor and evaluate the clinical practice patterns of providers in order to identify trends that are outside the normal practice patterns of a provider's professional peers or the national guidelines of a provider's professional association. The vendor must be able to provide information and counseling to a provider whose practice patterns are outside the norms, in consultation with the agency, to improve patient care and reduce inappropriate utilization. The agency may mandate prior authorization, drug therapy management, or disease management participation for certain populations of Medicaid beneficiaries, certain drug classes, or particular drugs to prevent fraud, abuse, overuse, and possible dangerous drug interactions. The Pharmaceutical and Therapeutics Committee shall make recommendations to the agency on drugs for which prior authorization is required. The agency shall inform the Pharmaceutical and Therapeutics Committee of its decisions regarding drugs subject to prior authorization. The agency is authorized to limit the entities it contracts with or enrolls as Medicaid providers by developing a provider network through provider credentialing. The agency may competitively bid single-source-provider contracts if procurement of goods or services results in demonstrated cost savings to the state without limiting access to care. The agency may limit its network based on the assessment of beneficiary access to care, provider availability, provider quality standards, time and distance standards for access to care, the cultural competence of the provider network, demographic characteristics of Medicaid beneficiaries, practice and provider-to-beneficiary standards, appointment wait times, beneficiary use of services, provider turnover, provider profiling, provider licensure history, previous program integrity investigations and findings, peer review, provider Medicaid policy and billing compliance records, clinical and medical record audits, and other factors. Providers are not entitled to enrollment in the Medicaid provider network. The agency shall determine instances in which allowing Medicaid beneficiaries to purchase durable medical equipment and other goods is less expensive to the Medicaid program than long-term rental of the equipment or goods. The agency may establish rules to facilitate purchases in lieu of long-term rentals in order to protect against fraud and abuse in the Medicaid program as defined in s. 409.913. The agency may seek federal waivers necessary to administer these policies.

(1) The agency may contract with a provider service network, which must ~~may~~ be reimbursed on a ~~fee-for-service or~~ prepaid basis. ~~Prepaid~~ Provider service networks shall receive per-member, per-month payments. ~~A provider service network that does not choose to be a prepaid plan shall receive fee-for-service rates with a shared savings settlement. The fee-for-service option shall be available to a provider service network only for the first 2 years of the plan's operation or until the~~

~~contract year beginning September 1, 2014, whichever is later. The agency shall annually conduct cost reconciliations to determine the amount of cost savings achieved by fee-for-service provider service networks for the dates of service in the period being reconciled. Only payments for covered services for dates of service within the reconciliation period and paid within 6 months after the last date of service in the reconciliation period shall be included. The agency shall perform the necessary adjustments for the inclusion of claims incurred but not reported within the reconciliation for claims that could be received and paid by the agency after the 6-month claims processing time lag. The agency shall provide the results of the reconciliations to the fee-for-service provider service networks within 45 days after the end of the reconciliation period. The fee-for-service provider service networks shall review and provide written comments or a letter of concurrence to the agency within 45 days after receipt of the reconciliation results. This reconciliation shall be considered final.~~

~~(a) A provider service network which is reimbursed by the agency on a prepaid basis shall be exempt from parts I and III of chapter 641 but must comply with the solvency requirements in s. 641.2261(2) and meet appropriate financial reserve, quality assurance, and patient rights requirements as established by the agency.~~

~~(b)~~ A provider service network is a network established or organized and operated by a health care provider, or group of affiliated health care providers, which provides a substantial proportion of the health care items and services under a contract directly through the provider or affiliated group of

providers and may make arrangements with physicians or other health care professionals, health care institutions, or any combination of such individuals or institutions to assume all or part of the financial risk on a prospective basis for the provision of basic health services by the physicians, by other health professionals, or through the institutions. The health care providers must have a controlling interest in the governing body of the provider service network organization.

(a) A provider service network is exempt from parts I and III of chapter 641 but must comply with the solvency requirements in s. 641.2261(2) and meet appropriate financial reserve, quality assurance, and patient rights requirements as established by the agency.

(b) This subsection does not authorize the agency to contract with a provider service network outside of the procurement process described in s. 409.966.

Section 2. Section 409.9124, Florida Statutes, is repealed.

Section 3. Section 409.964, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

409.964 Managed care program; state plan; waivers.—The Medicaid program is established as a statewide, integrated managed care program for all covered services, including long-term care services. The agency shall apply for and implement state plan amendments or waivers of applicable federal laws and regulations necessary to implement the program. ~~Before seeking a waiver, the agency shall provide public notice and the opportunity for public comment and include public feedback in the waiver application. The agency shall hold one public meeting in each of the regions described in s. 409.966(2), and the time~~

~~period for public comment for each region shall end no sooner than 30 days after the completion of the public meeting in that region.~~

Section 4. Subsections (2), (3), and (4) of section 409.966, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

409.966 Eligible plans; selection.—

(2) ELIGIBLE PLAN SELECTION.—The agency shall select a limited number of eligible plans to participate in the Medicaid program using invitations to negotiate in accordance with s. 287.057(1)(c). At least 90 days before issuing an invitation to negotiate, the agency shall compile and publish a databook consisting of a comprehensive set of utilization and spending data consistent with actuarial rate-setting practices and standards ~~for the 3 most recent contract years consistent with the rate-setting periods for all Medicaid recipients by region or county~~. The source of the data in the databook ~~report~~ must include, at a minimum, the 24 most recent months of ~~both historic fee-for-service claims and~~ validated data from the Medicaid Encounter Data System. The statewide managed care program includes ~~report must be available in electronic form and delineate utilization use by age, gender, eligibility group, geographic area, and aggregate clinical risk score. Separate and simultaneous procurements shall be conducted in each of~~ the following regions:

(a) Region A ~~1~~, which consists of Bay, Calhoun, Escambia, ~~Okaloosa, Santa Rosa, and Walton Counties.~~

~~(b) Region 2, which consists of Bay, Calhoun,~~ Franklin, Gadsden, Gulf, Holmes, Jackson, Jefferson, Leon, Liberty, Madison, Okaloosa, Santa Rosa, Taylor, Wakulla, Walton, and

(g) ~~(j)~~ Region G ~~10~~, which consists of Broward County.

(h) ~~(k)~~ Region H ~~11~~, which consists of Miami-Dade and Monroe Counties.

(3) QUALITY SELECTION CRITERIA.—

(a) The invitation to negotiate must specify the criteria and the relative weight of the criteria that will be used for determining the acceptability of the reply and guiding the selection of the organizations with which the agency negotiates. In addition to criteria established by the agency, the agency shall consider the following factors in the selection of eligible plans:

1. Accreditation by the National Committee for Quality

Assurance, the Joint Commission, or another nationally recognized accrediting body.

2. Experience serving similar populations, including the organization's record in achieving specific quality standards with similar populations.

3. Availability and accessibility of primary care and specialty physicians in the provider network.

4. Establishment of community partnerships with providers that create opportunities for reinvestment in community-based services.

5. Organization commitment to quality improvement and documentation of achievements in specific quality improvement projects, including active involvement by organization leadership.

6. Provision of additional benefits, particularly dental care and disease management, and other initiatives that improve health outcomes.

7. Evidence that an eligible plan has obtained signed contracts or written agreements or ~~signed contracts or~~ has made substantial progress in establishing relationships with providers before the plan submits ~~submitting~~ a response.

8. Comments submitted in writing by any enrolled Medicaid provider relating to a specifically identified plan participating in the procurement in the same region as the submitting provider.

9. Documentation of policies and procedures for preventing fraud and abuse.

10. The business relationship an eligible plan has with any other eligible plan that responds to the invitation to negotiate.

(b) An eligible plan must disclose any business relationship it has with any other eligible plan that responds to the invitation to negotiate. The agency may not select plans in the same region for the same managed care program that have a business relationship with each other. Failure to disclose any business relationship shall result in disqualification from participation in any region for the first full contract period after the discovery of the business relationship by the agency. For the purpose of this section, "business relationship" means an ownership or controlling interest, an affiliate or subsidiary relationship, a common parent, or any mutual interest in any limited partnership, limited liability partnership, limited liability company, or other entity or business association, including all wholly or partially owned subsidiaries, majority-owned subsidiaries, parent companies, or affiliates of such entities, business associations, or other enterprises, that exists for the purpose of making a profit.

(c) After negotiations are conducted, the agency shall select the eligible plans that are determined to be responsive and provide the best value to the state. Preference shall be given to plans that:

1. Have signed contracts with primary and specialty physicians in sufficient numbers to meet the specific standards established pursuant to s. 409.967(2)(c).

2. Have well-defined programs for recognizing patient-centered medical homes and providing for increased compensation for recognized medical homes, as defined by the plan.

3. Are organizations that are based in and perform operational functions in this state, in-house or through contractual arrangements, by staff located in this state. Using a tiered approach, the highest number of points shall be awarded to a plan that has all or substantially all of its operational functions performed in the state. The second highest number of points shall be awarded to a plan that has a majority of its operational functions performed in the state. The agency may establish a third tier; however, preference points may not be awarded to plans that perform only community outreach, medical director functions, and state administrative functions in the state. For purposes of this subparagraph, operational functions include corporate headquarters, claims processing, member services, provider relations, utilization and prior authorization, case management, disease and quality functions, and finance and administration. For purposes of this subparagraph, the term "corporate headquarters" means the principal office of the organization, which may not be a subsidiary, directly or indirectly through one or more subsidiaries of, or a joint venture with, any other entity whose principal office is not located in the state.

4. Have contracts or other arrangements for cancer disease management programs that have a proven record of clinical efficiencies and cost savings.

5. Have contracts or other arrangements for diabetes disease management programs that have a proven record of clinical efficiencies and cost savings.

6. Have a claims payment process that ensures that claims that are not contested or denied will be promptly paid pursuant to s. 641.3155.

~~(d) For the first year of the first contract term, the agency shall negotiate capitation rates or fee-for-service payments with each plan in order to guarantee aggregate savings of at least 5 percent.~~

~~1. For prepaid plans, determination of the amount of savings shall be calculated by comparison to the Medicaid rates that the agency paid managed care plans for similar populations in the same areas in the prior year. In regions containing no prepaid plans in the prior year, determination of the amount of savings shall be calculated by comparison to the Medicaid rates established and certified for those regions in the prior year.~~

~~2. For provider service networks operating on a fee-for-service basis, determination of the amount of savings shall be calculated by comparison to the Medicaid rates that the agency paid on a fee-for-service basis for the same services in the prior year.~~

~~(e) To ensure managed care plan participation in Regions 1 and 2, the agency shall award an additional contract to each plan with a contract award in Region 1 or Region 2. Such contract shall be in any other region in which the plan submitted a responsive bid and negotiates a rate acceptable to the agency. If a plan that is awarded an additional contract pursuant to this paragraph is subject to penalties pursuant to s. 409.967(2)(i) for activities in Region 1 or Region 2, the additional contract is automatically terminated 180 days after the imposition of the penalties. The plan must reimburse the agency for the cost of enrollment changes and other transition activities.~~

(d)~~(f)~~ The agency may not execute contracts with managed

care plans at payment rates not supported by the General Appropriations Act.

(4) ADMINISTRATIVE CHALLENGE.—Any eligible plan that participates in an invitation to negotiate ~~in more than one region and is selected in at least one region~~ may not begin serving Medicaid recipients ~~in any region for which it was selected~~ until all administrative challenges to procurements required by this section to which the eligible plan is a party have been finalized. If the number of plans selected is less than the maximum amount of plans permitted in the region, the agency may contract with other selected plans in the region not participating in the administrative challenge before resolution of the administrative challenge. For purposes of this subsection, an administrative challenge is finalized if an order granting voluntary dismissal with prejudice has been entered by any court established under Article V of the State Constitution or by the Division of Administrative Hearings, a final order has been entered into by the agency and the deadline for appeal has expired, a final order has been entered by the First District Court of Appeal and the time to seek any available review by the Florida Supreme Court has expired, or a final order has been entered by the Florida Supreme Court and a warrant has been issued.

Section 5. Paragraphs (c) and (f) of subsection (2) and subsection (3) of section 409.967, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

409.967 Managed care plan accountability.—

(2) The agency shall establish such contract requirements as are necessary for the operation of the statewide managed care program. In addition to any other provisions the agency may deem necessary, the contract must require:

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

(c) Access.—

1. The agency shall establish specific standards for the number, type, and regional distribution of providers in managed care plan networks to ensure access to care for both adults and children. Each plan must maintain a regionwide network of providers in sufficient numbers to meet the access standards for specific medical services for all recipients enrolled in the plan. The exclusive use of mail-order pharmacies may not be sufficient to meet network access standards. Consistent with the standards established by the agency, provider networks may include providers located outside the region. ~~A plan may contract with a new hospital facility before the date the hospital becomes operational if the hospital has commenced construction, will be licensed and operational by January 1, 2013, and a final order has issued in any civil or administrative challenge.~~ Each plan shall establish and maintain an accurate and complete electronic database of contracted providers, including information about licensure or registration, locations and hours of operation, specialty credentials and other certifications, specific performance indicators, and such other information as the agency deems necessary. The database must be available online to both the agency and the public and have the capability to compare the availability of providers to network adequacy standards and to accept and display feedback from each provider's patients. Each plan shall submit quarterly reports to the agency identifying the number of enrollees assigned to each primary care provider.

The agency shall conduct, or contract for, systematic and continuous testing of the provider network databases maintained by each plan to confirm accuracy, confirm that behavioral health providers are accepting enrollees, and confirm that enrollees have access to behavioral health services.

2. Each managed care plan must publish any prescribed drug formulary or preferred drug list on the plan's website in a manner that is accessible to and searchable by enrollees and providers. The plan must update the list within 24 hours after making a change. Each plan must ensure that the prior authorization process for prescribed drugs is readily accessible to health care providers, including posting appropriate contact information on its website and providing timely responses to providers. For Medicaid recipients diagnosed with hemophilia who have been prescribed anti-hemophilic-factor replacement products, the agency shall provide for those products and hemophilia overlay services through the agency's hemophilia disease management program.

3. Managed care plans, and their fiscal agents or intermediaries, must accept prior authorization requests for any service electronically.

4. Managed care plans serving children in the care and custody of the Department of Children and Families must maintain complete medical, dental, and behavioral health encounter information and participate in making such information available to the department or the applicable contracted community-based care lead agency for use in providing comprehensive and coordinated case management. The agency and the department shall establish an interagency agreement to provide guidance for the format, confidentiality, recipient, scope, and method of information to be made available and the deadlines for submission of the data. The scope of information available to the department shall be the data that managed care plans are required to submit to the agency. The agency shall determine the plan's compliance with standards for access to medical, dental, and behavioral health services; the use of medications; and followup on all medically necessary services recommended as a result of early and periodic screening, diagnosis, and treatment.

(f) Continuous improvement.—The agency shall establish specific performance standards and expected milestones or timelines for improving performance over the term of the contract.

1. Each managed care plan shall establish an internal health care quality improvement system, including enrollee satisfaction and disenrollment surveys. The quality improvement system must include incentives and disincentives for network providers.

2. Each plan must collect and report the Health Plan Employer Data and Information Set (HEDIS) measures, as specified by the agency. These measures must be published on the plan's website in a manner that allows recipients to reliably compare the performance of plans. The agency shall use the HEDIS measures as a tool to monitor plan performance.

3. Each managed care plan must be accredited by the National Committee for Quality Assurance, the Joint Commission, or another nationally recognized accrediting body, or have initiated the accreditation process, within 1 year after the contract is executed. For any plan not accredited within 18 months after executing the contract, the agency shall suspend automatic assignment under s. 409.977 and 409.984.

~~4. By the end of the fourth year of the first contract term, the agency shall issue a request for information to determine whether cost savings could be achieved by contracting for plan oversight and monitoring, including analysis of encounter data, assessment of performance measures, and compliance with other contractual requirements.~~

(3) ACHIEVED SAVINGS REBATE.—

(a) The agency is responsible for verifying the achieved savings rebate for all Medicaid prepaid plans. To assist the agency, a prepaid plan shall:

1. Submit an annual financial audit conducted by an independent certified public accountant in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards to the agency on or before June 1 for the preceding year; and

2. Submit an annual statement prepared in accordance with statutory accounting principles on or before March 1 pursuant to s. 624.424 if the plan is regulated by the Office of Insurance Regulation.

(b) The agency shall contract with independent certified public accountants to conduct compliance audits for the purpose of auditing financial information, including but not limited to: annual premium revenue, medical and administrative costs, and income or losses reported by each prepaid plan, in order to determine and validate the achieved savings rebate.

(c) Any audit required under this subsection must be conducted by an independent certified public accountant who meets criteria specified by rule. The rules must also provide that:

1. The entity selected by the agency to conduct the audit may not have a conflict of interest that might affect its ability to perform its responsibilities with respect to an examination.

2. The rates charged to the prepaid plan being audited are consistent with rates charged by other certified public accountants and are comparable with the rates charged for comparable examinations.

3. Each prepaid plan audited shall pay to the agency the expenses of the audit at the rates established by the agency by rule. Such expenses include actual travel expenses, reasonable living expense allowances, compensation of the certified public accountant, and necessary attendant administrative costs of the agency directly related to the examination. Travel expense and living expense allowances are limited to those expenses incurred on account of the audit and must be paid by the examined prepaid plan together with compensation upon presentation by the agency to the prepaid plan of a detailed account of the charges and expenses after a detailed statement has been filed by the auditor and approved by the agency.

4. All moneys collected from prepaid plans for such audits shall be deposited into the Grants and Donations Trust Fund, and the agency may make deposits into such fund from moneys appropriated for the operation of the agency.

(d) At a location in this state, the prepaid plan shall make available to the agency and the agency's contracted certified public accountant all books, accounts, documents, files, and information that relate to the prepaid plan's Medicaid transactions. Records not in the prepaid plan's immediate possession must be made available to the agency or the certified public accountant in this state within 3 days after a request is made by the agency or certified public accountant engaged by the agency. A prepaid plan has an obligation to cooperate in good faith with the agency and the certified public accountant. Failure to comply to such record requests shall be deemed a breach of contract.

(e) Once the certified public accountant completes the audit, the certified public accountant shall submit an audit report to the agency attesting to the achieved savings of the plan. The results of the audit report are dispositive.

(f) Achieved savings rebates validated by the certified public accountant are due within 30 days after the report is submitted. Except as provided in paragraph (h), the achieved savings rebate is established by determining pretax income as a percentage of revenues and applying the following income sharing ratios:

1. One hundred percent of income up to and including 3 ~~5~~ percent of revenue shall be retained by the plan.

2. Fifty percent of income above 3 ~~5~~ percent and up to 10 percent shall be retained by the plan, and the other 50 percent refunded to the state and transferred to the General Revenue Fund, unallocated.

3. One hundred percent of income above 10 percent of revenue shall be refunded to the state and transferred to the General Revenue Fund, unallocated.

(g) A plan that exceeds agency-defined quality measures in the reporting period may retain up to an additional 2 ~~1~~ percent of revenue. For the purpose of this paragraph, the quality measures must include two tiers and must include plan performance for preventing or managing complex, chronic conditions that are associated with an elevated likelihood of requiring high-cost medical treatments.

1. If the agency-defined quality or performance targets identified in tier one are met, the plan may retain up to 4 percent of revenue. Fifty percent of income above 4 percent and up to 10 percent must be retained by the plan, and the other 50 percent refunded to the state and transferred to the General Revenue Fund, unallocated.

2. If the agency-defined quality or performance targets identified in tier two are met, the plan may retain up to 5 percent of revenue. Fifty percent of income above 5 percent and up to 10 percent must be retained by the plan, and the other 50 percent refunded to the state and transferred to the General Revenue Fund, unallocated.

(h) The following may not be included as allowable expenses in calculating income for determining the achieved savings rebate:

1. Payment of achieved savings rebates.

2. Any financial incentive payments made to the plan outside of the capitation rate.

3. Any financial disincentive payments levied by the state or federal government.

4. Expenses associated with any lobbying or political activities.

5. The cash value or equivalent cash value of bonuses of any type paid or awarded to the plan's executive staff, other than base salary.

6. Reserves and reserve accounts.

7. Administrative costs, including, but not limited to, reinsurance expenses, interest payments, depreciation expenses, bad debt expenses, and outstanding claims expenses in excess of actuarially sound maximum amounts set by the agency.

The agency shall consider these and other factors in developing contracts that establish shared savings arrangements.

(i) Prepaid plans that incur a loss in the first contract year may apply the full amount of the loss as an offset to income in the second contract year.

(j) If, after an audit, the agency determines that a prepaid plan owes an additional rebate, the plan has 30 days after notification to make the payment. Upon failure to timely pay the rebate, the agency shall withhold future payments to the plan until the entire amount is recouped. If the agency determines that a prepaid plan has made an overpayment, the agency shall return the overpayment within 30 days.

Section 6. Subsection (2) of section 409.968, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

409.968 Managed care plan payments.—

(2) Provider service networks must ~~may~~ be prepaid plans and receive per-member, per-month payments negotiated pursuant to the procurement process described in s. 409.966. ~~Provider service networks that choose not to be prepaid plans shall receive fee-for-service rates with a shared savings settlement. The fee-for-service option shall be available to a provider~~

~~service network only for the first 2 years of its operation. The agency shall annually conduct cost reconciliations to determine the amount of cost savings achieved by fee-for-service provider service networks for the dates of service within the period being reconciled. Only payments for covered services for dates of service within the reconciliation period and paid within 6 months after the last date of service in the reconciliation period must be included. The agency shall perform the necessary adjustments for the inclusion of claims incurred but not reported within the reconciliation period for claims that could be received and paid by the agency after the 6 month claims processing time lag. The agency shall provide the results of the reconciliations to the fee-for-service provider service networks within 45 days after the end of the reconciliation period. The fee-for-service provider service networks shall review and provide written comments or a letter of concurrence to the agency within 45 days after receipt of the reconciliation results. This reconciliation is considered final.~~

Section 7. Subsections (3) and (4) of section 409.973, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

409.973 Benefits.—

(3) HEALTHY BEHAVIORS.—Each plan operating in the managed medical assistance program shall establish a program to encourage and reward healthy behaviors. At a minimum, each plan must establish a medically approved tobacco ~~smoking~~ cessation program, a medically directed weight loss program, and a medically approved alcohol recovery program or substance abuse recovery program that must include, but may not be limited to, opioid abuse recovery. Each plan must identify enrollees who smoke, are morbidly obese, or are diagnosed with alcohol or substance abuse in order to establish written agreements to secure the enrollees' commitment to participation in these programs.

(4) PRIMARY CARE INITIATIVE.—Each plan operating in the managed medical assistance program shall establish a program to encourage enrollees to establish a relationship with their primary care provider. Each plan shall:

(a) Provide information to each enrollee on the importance of and procedure for selecting a primary care provider, and thereafter automatically assign to a primary care provider any enrollee who fails to choose a primary care provider.

(b) If the enrollee was not a Medicaid recipient before enrollment in the plan, assist the enrollee in scheduling an appointment with the primary care provider. If possible the appointment should be made within 30 days after enrollment in the plan. ~~For enrollees who become eligible for Medicaid between January 1, 2014, and December 31, 2015, the appointment should be scheduled within 6 months after enrollment in the plan.~~

(c) Report to the agency the number of enrollees assigned to each primary care provider within the plan's network.

(d) Report to the agency the number of enrollees who have not had an appointment with their primary care provider within their first year of enrollment.

(e) Report to the agency the number of emergency room visits by enrollees who have not had at least one appointment with their primary care provider.

Section 8. Subsections (1) and (2) of section 409.974, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

409.974 Eligible plans.—

(1) ELIGIBLE PLAN SELECTION.—The agency shall select eligible plans for the managed medical assistance program through the procurement process described in s. 409.966 through a single statewide procurement. The agency may award contracts to plans selected through the procurement process either on a regional or statewide basis. The awards must include at least one provider service network in each of the eight regions outlined in this subsection. The agency shall procure:

(a) At least 3 plans and up to 4 plans for Region A.

(b) At least 3 plans and up to 6 plans for Region B.

(c) At least 5 plans and up to 10 plans for Region C.

(d) At least 3 plans and up to 6 plans for Region D.

(e) At least 3 plans and up to 4 plans for Region E.

(f) At least 3 plans and up to 5 plans for Region F.

(g) At least 3 plans and up to 5 plans for Region G.

(h) At least 5 plans and up to 10 plans for Region H. ~~The agency shall notice invitations to negotiate no later than January 1, 2013.~~

~~(a) The agency shall procure two plans for Region 1. At least one plan shall be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(b) The agency shall procure two plans for Region 2. At least one plan shall be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(e) The agency shall procure at least two plans and up to four plans for Region 5. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(f) The agency shall procure at least four plans and up to seven plans for Region 6. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(g) The agency shall procure at least three plans and up to six plans for Region 7. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(h) The agency shall procure at least two plans and up to four plans for Region 8. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(i) The agency shall procure at least two plans and up to four plans for Region 9. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(j) The agency shall procure at least two plans and up to four plans for Region 10. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(k) The agency shall procure at least five plans and up to~~

~~10 plans for Region 11. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

If no provider service network submits a responsive bid, the agency shall procure no more than one less than the maximum number of eligible plans permitted in that region. Within 12 months after the initial invitation to negotiate, the agency shall attempt to procure a provider service network. The agency shall notice another invitation to negotiate only with provider service networks in those regions where no provider service network has been selected.

(2) QUALITY SELECTION CRITERIA.—In addition to the criteria established in s. 409.966, the agency shall consider evidence that an eligible plan has written agreements or signed contracts or has made substantial progress in establishing relationships with providers before the plan submitting a response. The agency shall evaluate and give special weight to evidence of signed contracts with essential providers as defined by the agency pursuant to s. 409.975(1). ~~The agency shall exercise a preference for plans with a provider network in which over 10 percent of the providers use electronic health records, as defined in s. 408.051.~~ When all other factors are equal, the agency shall consider whether the organization has a contract to provide managed long-term care services in the same region and shall exercise a preference for such plans.

Section 9. Paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section 409.975, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

409.975 Managed care plan accountability.—In addition to the requirements of s. 409.967, plans and providers participating in the managed medical assistance program shall comply with the requirements of this section.

(1) PROVIDER NETWORKS.—Managed care plans must develop and maintain provider networks that meet the medical needs of their enrollees in accordance with standards established pursuant to s. 409.967(2)(c). Except as provided in this section, managed care plans may limit the providers in their networks based on credentials, quality indicators, and price.

(b) Certain providers are statewide resources and essential providers for all managed care plans in all regions. All managed care plans must include these essential providers in their networks. Statewide essential providers include:

1. Faculty plans of Florida medical schools.

2. Regional perinatal intensive care centers as defined in s. 383.16(2).

3. Hospitals licensed as specialty children's hospitals as defined in s. 395.002(28).

4. Accredited and integrated systems serving medically complex children which comprise separately licensed, but commonly owned, health care providers delivering at least the following services: medical group home, in-home and outpatient nursing care and therapies, pharmacy services, durable medical equipment, and Prescribed Pediatric Extended Care.

5. Florida cancer hospitals that meet the criteria in 42 U.S.C. s. 1395ww(d)(1)(B)(v).

Managed care plans that have not contracted with all statewide essential providers in all regions as of the first date of recipient enrollment must continue to negotiate in good faith. Payments to physicians on the faculty of nonparticipating Florida medical schools shall be made at the applicable Medicaid rate. Payments for services rendered by regional perinatal intensive care centers shall be made at the applicable Medicaid rate as of the first day of the contract between the agency and the plan. Except for payments for emergency services, payments to nonparticipating specialty children's hospitals shall equal the highest rate established by contract between that provider and any other Medicaid managed care plan.

Section 10. Subsections (1), (2), (4), and (5) of section 409.977, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

409.977 Enrollment.—

(1) The agency shall automatically enroll into a managed care plan those Medicaid recipients who do not voluntarily choose a plan pursuant to s. 409.969. The agency shall automatically enroll recipients in plans that meet or exceed the performance or quality standards established pursuant to s. 409.967 and may not automatically enroll recipients in a plan that is deficient in those performance or quality standards. When a specialty plan is available to accommodate a specific condition or diagnosis of a recipient, the agency shall assign the recipient to that plan. ~~In the first year of the first contract term only, if a recipient was previously enrolled in a plan that is still available in the region, the agency shall automatically enroll the recipient in that plan unless an applicable specialty plan is available.~~ Except as otherwise provided in this part, the agency may not engage in practices that are designed to favor one managed care plan over another.

(2) When automatically enrolling recipients in managed care plans, if a recipient was enrolled in a plan immediately before the recipient's choice period and that plan is still available in the region, the agency must maintain the recipient's enrollment in that plan unless an applicable specialty plan is available. Otherwise, the agency shall automatically enroll based on the following criteria:

(a) Whether the plan has sufficient network capacity to meet the needs of the recipients.

(b) Whether the recipient has previously received services from one of the plan's primary care providers.

(c) Whether primary care providers in one plan are more geographically accessible to the recipient's residence than those in other plans.

(4) The agency shall develop a process to enable a recipient with access to employer-sponsored health care coverage to opt out of all managed care plans and to use Medicaid financial assistance to pay for the recipient's share of the cost in such employer-sponsored coverage. ~~Contingent upon federal approval,~~ The agency shall also enable recipients with access to other insurance or related products providing access to health care services created pursuant to state law, including any product available under the Florida Health Choices Program, or any health exchange, to opt out. The amount of financial assistance provided for each recipient may not exceed the amount of the Medicaid premium that would have been paid to a managed care plan for that recipient. The agency shall ~~seek federal approval to~~ require Medicaid recipients with access to employer-sponsored health care coverage to enroll in that coverage and use Medicaid financial assistance to pay for the recipient's share of the cost for such coverage. The amount of financial assistance provided for each recipient may not exceed the amount of the Medicaid premium that would have been paid to a managed care plan for that recipient.

(5) Specialty plans serving children in the care and custody of the department may serve such children as long as they remain in care, including those remaining in extended foster care pursuant to s. 39.6251, or are in subsidized adoption and continue to be eligible for Medicaid pursuant to s. 409.903, or are receiving guardianship assistance payments and continue to be eligible for Medicaid pursuant to s. 409.903.

Section 11. Subsection (2) of section 409.981, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

409.981 Eligible long-term care plans.—

(2) ELIGIBLE PLAN SELECTION.—The agency shall select eligible plans for the long-term care managed care program through the procurement process described in s. 409.966 through a single statewide procurement. The agency may award contracts to plans selected through the procurement process on a regional or statewide basis. The awards must include at least one provider service network in each of the eight regions outlined in this subsection. The agency shall procure:

(a) At least 3 plans and up to 4 plans for Region A.

(b) At least 3 plans and up to 6 plans for Region B.

(c) At least 5 plans and up to 10 plans for Region C.

(d) At least 3 plans and up to 6 plans for Region D.

(e) At least 3 plans and up to 4 plans for Region E.

(f) At least 3 plans and up to 5 plans for Region F.

(g) At least 3 plans and up to 4 plans for Region G.

(h) At least 5 plans and up to 10 plans for Region H.

~~Two plans for Region 1. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(b) Two plans for Region 2. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(c) At least three plans and up to five plans for Region 3. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(d) At least three plans and up to five plans for Region 4. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service network submits a responsive bid.~~

~~(e) At least two plans and up to four plans for Region 5. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(f) At least four plans and up to seven plans for Region 6. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(g) At least three plans and up to six plans for Region 7. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(h) At least two plans and up to four plans for Region 8. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(i) At least two plans and up to four plans for Region 9. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(j) At least two plans and up to four plans for Region 10. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

~~(k) At least five plans and up to 10 plans for Region 11. At least one plan must be a provider service network if any provider service networks submit a responsive bid.~~

If no provider service network submits a responsive bid ~~in a region other than Region 1 or Region 2~~, the agency shall procure no more than one less than the maximum number of eligible plans permitted in that region. Within 12 months after the initial invitation to negotiate, the agency shall attempt to procure a provider service network. The agency shall notice another invitation to negotiate only with provider service networks in regions where no provider service network has been selected.

Section 12. Subsection (4) of section 409.8132, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations

BILL:	HB 5011
INTRODUCER:	House Appropriations Committee and Representative Trumbull
SUBJECT:	Budgeting for Inflation that Drives Elevated Needs Fund
DATE:	February 25, 2022
REVISED:	3/1/22

	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR	REFERENCE	ACTION

Please see Section IX. for Additional Information:

AMENDMENTS - Significant amendments were recommended

I. Summary:

HB 5011 creates the Budgeting for Inflation that Drives Elevated Needs Fund in the Executive Office of the Governor. The bill provides that unprecedented inflation driven by federal economic policies necessitates the need for a reserve to ensure there are sufficient funds available to allow for budget amendments when inflation-driven costs exceed appropriations in the General Appropriations Act.

This bill directs the Chief Financial Officer to immediately transfer $2 billion from the General Revenue Fund to the Fund.

Article III, s. 19(f) of the Florida Constitution requires every trust fund to be created by a three-fifths vote of the membership of each house of the Legislature in a separate bill for the sole purpose of creating a trust fund. The bill creates a trust fund; thus, it requires a three-fifths vote for final passage.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2022.

II. Present Situation:

Trust Funds

A trust fund may be created by law only by the Legislature and only if passed by a three-fifths vote of the membership of each house in a separate bill for that purpose only.[1] Except for trust funds being re-created by the Legislature, each trust fund must be created by statutory language that specifies at least the following:

[1] Article III, s. 19(f)(a) of the Florida Constitution.

- The name of the trust fund.
- The agency or branch of state government responsible for administering the trust fund.
- The requirements or purposes that the trust fund is established to meet.
- The sources of moneys to be credited to the trust fund or specific sources of receipts to be deposited in the trust fund.[2]

Pursuant to art. III, s. 19(f)(2) of the Florida Constitution, state trust funds must terminate not more than four years after the effective date of the act authorizing the initial creation of the trust fund. However, the Legislature may set a shorter period for which any trust fund is authorized.

Review of Trust Funds

Prior to the regular session of the Legislature immediately preceding the date on which any executive or judicial branch trust fund is scheduled to be terminated, the agency responsible for the administration of the trust fund and the Governor, for executive branch trust funds, or the Chief Justice, for judicial branch trust funds, must recommend to the Legislature whether a trust fund should be terminated or re-created.[3] Each recommendation must be based on a review of the purpose and use of the trust fund and a determination of whether the trust fund will continue to be necessary. A recommendation to re-create the trust fund may include suggested modifications to the purpose, sources of receipts, and allowable expenditures for the trust fund.[4]

If the trust fund is terminated, all cash balances and income of the trust fund are deposited into the General Revenue Fund.[5] The agency or Chief Justice pays the outstanding debts of the trust fund, and the Chief Financial Officer closes out and removes the trust fund from the state financial systems.[6]

Inflation

Inflation is, essentially, an increase in prices and a corresponding fall in the purchasing value of money. The United States is currently experiencing a period of heightened inflation. Economists point to a variety of factors when inflation rises, but often cite the following as factors that cause inflation – increased money supply, increased consumer spending leading to product scarcity, and supply chain issues, including gasoline costs due to limited oil production. Florida has a consensus estimating conference process that produces economic, demographic, resource-demand and revenue forecasts specifically designed to assist in the planning and budgeting process.[7] There are a total of ten consensus estimating conferences, including the Economic Estimating Conference.[8] The Economic Estimating Conference last met on December 10, 2021, to update the national economic forecast which includes a forecast of the Consumer Price Index (CPI). The CPI is a measure of the average change in prices over time in a fixed market basket of goods and services. At that meeting, the conference made a significant upward revision to its CPI forecast from 3.46 percent to 5.38 percent for FY 2021-22.[9]

Budget Amendments

The General Appropriations Act (GAA) and any other act containing appropriations is considered the original approved operating budget for operational and fixed capital expenditures.[10] To allow for some flexibility, Florida law specifies a process to allow for budget amendments to occur after the GAA becomes law. Amendments to the original operating budget can be made upon request through the Executive Office of the Governor, or through the Chief Justice of the Florida Supreme Court for amendments from the judicial branch, and the Legislative Budget Commission (LBC).[11]

Amendments to an agency's operating budget must comply with certain guidelines in order to be approved.[12] Generally, budget amendments must be consistent with legislative policy and intent. If an amendment involves a trust fund, there must be adequate and appropriate revenues available in the trust fund and the amendment must be consistent with the laws authorizing such trust fund and the laws relating to the use of the trust fund. A budget amendment must include a written description of the purpose of the proposed change, an indication of why interim budget action is necessary, and the intended recipient of any funds for contracted services.[13]

Budget amendments are prohibited which:[14]

- Restore items vetoed by the Governor;
- Initiate or commence a new program or a fixed capital outlay project or eliminate an existing program;
- Restore budget reductions which were taken after a deficit was determined to have occurred and actions were taken to reduce approved operating budgets;
- Provide funding or increase funding for any issue which was requested by an agency in their budget request which were not funded by the Legislature or that were funded at a lower level than requested;
- Provide a net increase in General Revenue Fund appropriations;
- Transfer budget between state agencies without specific statutory authorization to do so;
- Provide general salary increases which the Legislature has not authorized in the GAA;
- Would allow the use of fixed capital outlay appropriations for any other purpose; or
- Conflict with any provision of law.

[14] Sections 216.181(2), 216.221(11), and 216.292(1), F.S.

All amendments to original approved operating budgets, regardless of funding source, are subject to the notice and objection procedures in s. 216.177, F.S.[15] Generally, Florida law requires the Executive Office of the Governor or the Chief Justice of the Florida Supreme Court to provide notice of a proposed budget amendment to the chair and vice chair of the LBC in writing, at least 14 days prior to the budget action, unless a shorter period is approved in writing by the chair and vice chair or a different period is specified in law.[16]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill creates the Budgeting for Inflation that Drives Elevated Needs Fund within the Executive Office of the Governor. The bill provides that the legislature recognizes that federal economic policies have resulted in unprecedented inflation, and that Florida must take action to ensure there is a sufficient source of funds to provide flexibility for budget amendments necessary to offset inflation spikes. Budget amendments which are in excess of $1 million will require approval by the LBC pursuant to s. 216.181(11)(b), F.S.

The bill directs the Chief Financial Officer to immediately transfer $2 billion from the General Revenue Fund to the Fund.

The bill specifies that the Budgeting for Inflation that Drives Elevated Needs Fund must be terminated on July 1, 2026, unless terminated sooner. Before its scheduled termination, the bill requires the trust fund to be reviewed.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2022.

The Committee on Appropriations (Hutson) recommended the following:

Senate Amendment (with title amendment)

Delete everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. Section 216.1813, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

216.1813 Inflation Fund.—

(1) The Inflation Fund is created within the Executive Office of the Governor.

(2) The Legislature recognizes that federal economic policies have resulted in an unprecedented increase in inflation. Unwieldy federal spending during the COVID-19 pandemic has contributed to consumer prices soaring at a pace faster than that seen in over 30 years. As such, Florida must take action to ensure the existence of a sufficient source of funds, as appropriated in the General Appropriations Act, is available to provide spending flexibility if budget amendments are necessary to offset inflation spikes. The Inflation Fund is established as the primary funding source to offset budget amendments by an agency or the judicial branch which are necessary to counter increased inflation that exceeds funds appropriated in the General Appropriations Act.

(3) In accordance with s. 19(f)(2), Art. III of the State Constitution, the Inflation Fund within the Executive Office of the Governor shall, unless terminated sooner, be terminated on July 1, 2026. Before its scheduled termination, the trust fund shall be reviewed as provided in s. 215.3206(1) and (2).

Section 2. This act shall take effect July 1, 2022.

The "BIDEN" Fund represents a lack of understanding of the actual causes of inflation. It is mean-spirited + political pandering, and disrespectful to at least half of the Floridians you represent.

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations

BILL:	HB 5015
INTRODUCER:	House Appropriations Committee and Representative Perez
SUBJECT:	Evaluation of Significant State Risks
DATE:	February 25, 2022
REVISED:	3/1/22

	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR	REFERENCE	ACTION
1.	Shettle	Sadberry	AP	Fav/1 amendment

Please see Section IX. for Additional Information:

AMENDMENTS - Significant amendments were recommended

I. Summary:

HB 5015 creates the Legislative Office of Risk Assessment, a joint unit of the Legislature, which will be headed by a Chief Risk Officer. The bill requires the office to:

- Identify significant risks to the state and develop and biennially update a State Risk Register;
- Identify potential cost-effective interventions to mitigate the risks included in the State Risk Register;
- Estimate the economic damage associated with the risks identified in the State Risk Register within a 10-year and 30-year timeframe;
- Estimate the anticipated reduction in economic damage associated with the potential interventions within a 10-year and 30-year timeframe; and
- Provide the Legislature with a process and the analytical tools required to consider and manage significant risks comprehensively and not in isolation over a 10-year and 30-year period. The office must develop a support process capable of providing comparisons of the cost-effectiveness of different combinations of interventions for all risks included in the State Risk Register based on the anticipated level of economic damage in adverse cases and the investment in interventions over both a 10-year and 30-year timeframe.

By July 1, 2023, the office must submit to the Legislative Budget Commission (LBC) a State Risk Register and a list of potential cost-effective interventions to mitigate the risks include in the State Risk Register. The submission must include the estimates of the economic damage associated with the significant risks identified in the State Risk Register and the estimates of the anticipated reduction in economic damage associated with all identified interventions within a 10-year and 30-year period. The State Risk Register must be updated biennially thereafter and submitted to the LBC.

By July 1, 2024, and each July 1 thereafter, the office must prepare and submit to the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives an annual progress report, using evaluation metrics to assess the state's progress in mitigating the economic damage associated with the significant risks identified in the State Risk Register over a 10-year and 30-year period. The annual progress report must also identify emerging risks for inclusion in the next annual update to the State Risk Register.

The bill creates a Risk Estimating Conference. The bill provides that the conference must develop estimates of the economic damage associated with risks identified in the State Risk Register and the reduction in the potential economic damage associated with the risks in the State Risk Register anticipated to result from potential interventions intended to mitigate such damages.

The fiscal impact of the bill is indeterminate.

II. Present Situation:

The Office of Economic and Demographic Research is a research arm of the Legislature principally concerned with forecasting economic and social trends that affect policy making, revenues, and appropriations. Estimating conferences include those focused on criminal justice, demographics, early learning, the Florida Retirement System, and economics.[1] Such forecasts are essential for a variety of government planning and budgeting functions, including ensuring that Florida meets its constitutional balanced budget requirement.

While the state takes great measures to ensure economic and demographic forecasts are used to plan for anticipated needs of the state, there is no process to evaluate significant risks comprehensively or to evaluate interventions available to mitigate such risks. Risks to the state include cybersecurity, communicable diseases, water quality and quantity, and natural disasters among others. State reserves have been sufficient to address risks, including declared states of emergency, thus far. There is, however, no comprehensive fiscal strategy to reduce risks across the board.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill creates the Legislative Office of Risk Assessment, a joint unit of the Legislature governed by the Joint Rules of the Senate and House of Representatives. The bill provides that the office will be headed by a Chief Risk Officer, appointed by and serving at the pleasure of the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives. The Chief Risk Officer may employ qualified individuals and contract for professional services necessary to carry about the duties of the office, subject to approval of the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives.

The bill requires the office to:

[1] Consensus Estimating Conferences, EDR, http://edr.state.fl.us/Content/conferences/index.cfm (last visited February 7, 2022).

- Identify significant risks to the state and develop and biennially update a State Risk Register. The Register must identify the most significant risks to the state over a 10-year and 30-year timeframe. Risks must be measured by the estimated value of cash damages during the timeframe and by the estimated peak state gross domestic product decline during the same period.
- Identify potential cost-effective interventions to mitigate the risks included in the State Risk Register.
- Estimate the economic damage associated with the risks identified in the State Risk Register within a 10-year and 30-year timeframe.
- Estimate the anticipated reduction in economic damage associated with the potential interventions within a 10-year and 30-year timeframe.
- Provide the Legislature with a process and the analytical tools required to consider and manage significant risks comprehensively and not in isolation over a 10-year and 30-year period. The office must develop a support process capable of providing comparisons of the cost-effectiveness of different combinations of interventions for all risks included in the State Risk Register based on the anticipated level of economic damage in adverse cases and the investment in interventions over both a 10-year and 30-year timeframe.

By July 1, 2023, the office must submit to the Legislative Budget Commission (LBC) a State Risk Register and a list of potential cost-effective interventions to mitigate the risks include in the State Risk Register. The submission must include the estimates of the economic damage associated with the significant risks identified in the State Risk Register and the estimates of the anticipated reduction in economic damage associated with all identified interventions within a 10-year and 30-year period.

By July 1, 2024, and each July 1 thereafter, the office must prepare and submit to the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives an annual progress report, with the report using evaluation metrics to assess the state's progress in mitigating the economic damage associated with the significant risks identified in the State Risk Register over a 10-year and 30-year period. The annual progress report must also identify emerging risks for inclusion in the next annual update to the State Risk Register.

By July 1, 2025, and by July 1 of each odd year thereafter, the bill requires the office to submit to the LBC an updated State Risk Register. The submission must include the estimates of the economic damage associated with the significant risks identified in the State Risk Register and the estimates of the anticipated reduction in economic damage associated with all identified interventions within a 10-year and 30-year period.

The bill creates a Risk Estimating Conference. The bill provides that the conference must develop estimates of the economic damage associated with risks identified in the State Risk Register and the reduction in the potential economic damage associated with the risks in the State Risk Register anticipated to result from potential interventions intended to mitigate such damages.

I. Summary:

HB 5301 requires the Department of Management Services (DMS) to:

- Consult with the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives before closing or reopening buildings within the Capitol Center during and after a state of emergency.
- Submit a Capitol Center maintenance and upkeep report by December 1, 2022, and annually thereafter to the Governor, President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives.
- Consult with the Governor, Attorney General, Chief Financial Officer, Commissioner of Agriculture, President of the Senate, and Speaker of the House of Representatives, prior to implementing or amending a change in design or functional use of a facilities project within the Capitol Complex.

In addition, the Florida Historical Commission must provide recommendations to the Governor, Attorney General, Chief Financial Officer, Commissioner of Agriculture, President of the Senate, and Speaker of the House of Representatives on the design and placement of monuments authorized to be placed on the premises of the Capitol Complex.

The bill conforms to the proposed House of Representatives' Fiscal Year 2022-2023 General Appropriation Act (GAA). Since Fiscal Year 2016-2017, the DMS has been provided a total of $178.9 million for major repairs, maintenance, and renovation of the Capitol Complex. The GAA contains funds for the continued renovation and maintenance of the Capitol Building and grounds. S*ee* Section V, Fiscal Impact Statement.

The term shall also include the State Capital Circle Office Complex located in Leon County, Florida.[7]

The management, maintenance, and upkeep of the Capital Complex is the obligation of the DMS, which has authority to employ a superintendent of the grounds and other employees, and is authorized to designate or appoint a nonsalaried advisory committee to advise them.[8]

The DMS is authorized to allocate space to house various departments, agencies, boards, and commissions except the Supreme Court Building.[9] However, there is no statutory authority allowing the DMS to close the Capitol Center, or any other DMS managed buildings, to the public during a declared state of emergency.

Capitol Complex Monuments

A monument is defined as "a marker, statue, sculpture, plaque, or other artifice, including living plant material, placed in remembrance or recognition of a significant person or event in Florida history."[10] The DMS is required to set aside an area of the Capitol Complex to dedicate a memorial garden on which authorized monuments must be placed.[11] The construction and placement of a monument on the premises of the Capitol Complex is prohibited unless authorized by general law and unless the design and placement of the monument is approved by the DMS after considering the recommendations[12] of the Florida Historical Commission.[13] Additionally, the DMS must coordinate with the Division of Historical Resources of the Department of State regarding a monument's design and placement.[14]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill amends s. 272.09, F.S., to require the DMS to submit a Capitol Center maintenance and upkeep report by December 1, 2022, and annually thereafter to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives. The report must describe the Capitol Center maintenance and repairs provided in the prior year and planned for the upcoming year and must include the costs of prior repairs and cost estimates for future repairs. Additionally, if buildings within the Capitol Center are closed, the DMS is required to consult with the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives before reopening buildings.

Additionally, the bill specifies that any facilities project within the Capitol Complex that requires a change in design or functional use of the Capitol Complex must be developed in consultation with, and may not be implemented, changed, or amended unless approved by, the following persons:

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations

BILL:	SB 7046
INTRODUCER:	Governmental Oversight and Accountability Committee
SUBJECT:	Public Employment
DATE:	February 25, 2022
REVISED:

	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR	REFERENCE	ACTION
	McVaney	McVaney		GO Submitted as Comm. Bill/Fav
1.	Shettle	Sadberry	AP	Favorable

I. Summary:

SB 7046 establishes the contribution rates paid by employers participating in the Florida Retirement System (FRS) beginning July 1, 2022. These rates are intended to fund the full normal cost and the amortization of the unfunded actuarial liability of the FRS. With these modifications to employer contribution rates, the FRS Trust Fund will receive roughly $438 million more in revenue on an annual basis beginning July 1, 2022. The public employers that will incur these additional costs are state agencies, state universities and colleges, school districts, counties, municipalities, and other governmental entities that participate in the FRS.

The bill increases the amount of employer-paid contributions allocated to each active member's investment plan account by three percent of the member's compensation. The bill also extends the period that law enforcement officers may participate in the Deferred Option Retirement Program from 60 months to 96 months. To be eligible for this extended participation period, the law enforcement officer must be participating in DROP before July 1, 2028.

The bill requires the Department of Management Services (DMS) to conduct compensation surveys every ten years to determine the competitiveness of the State of Florida's compensation plan to the public and private employers in the state. The bill establishes survey methodology that must be included in the survey. The bill requires the DMS to provide a report of their results to the Governor and the presiding officers of the Legislature.

The bill will have a fiscal impact on state funds appropriated by the Legislature for employee benefits. The bill will increase the amounts, in the aggregate, employers participating in the FRS and the retiree health insurance subsidy program must pay for retiree benefits. See Section V.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2022.

II. Present Situation:

The Florida Retirement System (FRS)

The Florida Retirement System (FRS) was established in 1970 when the Legislature consolidated the Teachers' Retirement System, the State and County Officers and Employees' Retirement System, and the Highway Patrol Pension Fund. In 1972, the Judicial Retirement System was consolidated into the FRS, and in 2007, the Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences Supplemental Retirement Program was consolidated under the Regular Class of the FRS as a closed group.[1] The FRS is a contributory system, with active members contributing three percent of their salaries.[2]

The FRS is a multi-employer, contributory plan, governed by the Florida Retirement System Act in ch. 121, F.S. As of June 30, 2021, the FRS had 635,266 active members, 440,307 annuitants, 15,138 disabled retirees, and 31,655 active participants of the Deferred Retirement Option Program (DROP).[3] As of June 30, 2021, the FRS consisted of 985 total employers; it is the primary retirement plan for employees of state and county government agencies, district school boards, Florida College institutions, and state universities, and includes the 179 cities and 151 special districts that have elected to join the system.[4]

The membership of the FRS is divided into five membership classes:

- The Regular Class[5] consists of 541,698 active members and 7,645 in renewed membership;
- The Special Risk Class[6] includes 74,355 active members and 1,163 in renewed membership;
- The Special Risk Administrative Support Class[7] has 98 active members and 1 in renewed membership;
- The Elected Officers' Class[8] has 2,095 active members and 110 in renewed membership; and
- The Senior Management Service Class[9] has 7,875 active members and 220 in renewed membership.[10]

[2] Prior to 1975, members of the FRS were required to make employee contributions of either 4 percent for Regular Class employees or 6 percent for Special Risk Class members. Employees were again required to contribute to the system after July 1, 2011. Members in the Deferred Retirement Option Program do not contribute to the system.

[6] The Special Risk Class is for members employed as law enforcement officers, firefighters, correctional officers, probation officers, paramedics and emergency technicians, among others. Section 121.0515, F.S.

[7] The Special Risk Administrative Support Class is for a special risk member who moved or was reassigned to a nonspecial risk law enforcement, firefighting, correctional, or emergency medical care administrative support position with the same agency, or who is subsequently employed in such a position under the Florida Retirement System. Section 121.0515(8), F.S.

[8] The Elected Officers' Class includes elected state and county officers, and those elected municipal or special district officers whose governing body has chosen Elected Officers' Class participation for its elected officers. Section 121.052, F.S.

[9] The Senior Management Service Class is for members who fill senior management level positions assigned by law to the Senior Management Service Class or authorized by law as eligible for Senior Management Service designation. Section 121.055, F.S.

[10] All figures are from Florida Retirement System Pension Plan and Other State Administered Retirement Systems FY 2020-21 Annual Comprehensive Financial Report, at p. 167.

Each class is funded separately based upon the costs attributable to the members of that class.

Members of the FRS have two primary plan options available for participation:
- The defined contribution plan, also known as the Investment Plan; and
- The defined benefit plan, also known as the Pension Plan.

Investment Plan

In 2000, the Public Employee Optional Retirement Program (investment plan) was created as a defined contribution plan offered to eligible employees as an alternative to the FRS Pension Plan. The State Board of Administration (SBA) is responsible for administering the investment plan.[11] The Board of Trustees of the SBA is comprised of the Governor as chair, the Chief Financial Officer, and the Attorney General.[12]

Benefits under the investment plan accrue in individual member accounts funded by both employee and employer contributions and earnings. Benefits are provided through employee-directed investments offered by approved investment providers.

A member vests immediately in all employee contributions paid to the investment plan.[13] With respect to the employer contributions, a member vests after completing one work year of employment with an FRS employer.[14] Vested benefits are payable upon termination or death as a lump-sum distribution, direct rollover distribution, or periodic distribution.[15] The investment plan also provides disability coverage for both in-line-of-duty and regular disability retirement benefits.[16] An FRS member who qualifies for disability while enrolled in the investment plan may apply for benefits as if the employee were a member of the pension plan. If approved for retirement disability benefits, the member is transferred to the pension plan.[17]

Pension Plan

The pension plan is administered by the Secretary of Management Services (DMS) through the Division of Retirement.[19] The SBA is responsible for the management of the pension fund assets.

Any member initially enrolled in the pension plan before July 1, 2011, vests in the pension plan after completing six years of service with an FRS employer.[20] For members initially enrolled on or after July 1, 2011, the member vests in the pension plan after eight years of creditable service.[21] Benefits payable under the pension plan are calculated based on the member's years of creditable service multiplied by the service accrual rate multiplied by the member's average final compensation.[22] For most current members of the pension plan, normal retirement (when first eligible for unreduced benefits) occurs at the earliest attainment of 30 years of service or age 62.[23] For public safety employees in the Special Risk and Special Risk Administrative Support Classes, normal retirement is the earliest of 25 years of service or age 55.[24] Members initially enrolled in the pension plan on or after July 1, 2011, have longer service requirements. For members initially enrolled after that date, the member must complete 33 years of service or attain age 65, and members in the Special Risk classes must complete 30 years of service or attain age 60.[25]

Deferred Retirement Option Program

The Deferred Retirement Option Program (DROP)[26] allows an eligible member of the FRS pension plan to continue employment with an FRS-participating employer and defer receipt of retirement benefits. The deferred monthly benefits accrue, plus 1.3% annual interest, in the FRS on behalf of the member while the member participates in the DROP. Upon termination of employment, the member receives the accumulated DROP benefits and begins to receive the previously determined normal retirement benefit amounts.[27]

Eligible members may elect to participate in DROP for a period not to exceed a maximum of 60 consecutive calendar months.[28] However, instructional personnel employed by the Florida School for the Deaf and the Blind, instructional personnel in grades K-12, and personnel employed by a developmental research school may participate in DROP for up to 36 calendar months beyond the 60-month period.[29]

Optional Retirement Programs

Eligible employees may choose to participate in one of three retirement programs instead of participating in the FRS:

- Members of the Senior Management Service Class may elect to enroll in the Senior Management Service Optional Annuity Program;[30]
- Members in specified positions in the State University System may elect to enroll in the State University System Optional Retirement Program;[31] and
- Members in specified positions at a Florida College institution may elect to enroll in the State Community College System Optional Retirement Program.[32]

Contribution Rates

Employers participating in the FRS are required to contribute a specified percentage of the member's monthly compensation to the Division of Retirement to be distributed into the FRS Contributions Clearing Trust Fund. The employer contribution rate is a blended contribution rate set by statute, which is the same percentage regardless of whether the member participates in the pension plan or the investment plan.[33] The rate is determined annually based on an actuarial study by the DMS that calculates the necessary level of funding to support all of the benefit obligations under both FRS retirement plans.

In the annual actuarial valuation of the Florida Retirement System based on July 1, 2021, plan assets and liabilities, Milliman, Inc., the state actuary, determined the following key data relating to the FRS pension plan:[34]

[28] Section 121.091(13)(b), F.S.
[29] Section 121.091(13)(b)1.a., F.S.
[30] The Senior Management Service Optional Annuity Program (SMSOAP) was established in 1986 for members of the Senior Management Service Class. Employees in eligible positions may irrevocably elect to participate in the SMSOAP rather than the FRS. Effective July 1, 2017, the SMSOAP is closed to new members. Section 121.055(6), F.S.
[31] Eligible participants of the State University System Optional Retirement Program (SUSORP) are automatically enrolled in the SUSORP. However, the member must execute a contract with a SUSORP provider within the first 90 days of employment or the employee will default into the pension plan. If the employee decides to remain in the SUSORP, the decision is irrevocable and the member must remain in the SUSORP as long as the member remains in a SUSORP-eligible position. Section 121.35, F.S.
[32] If the member is eligible for participation in a State Community College System Optional Retirement Program, the member must elect to participate in the program within 90 days of employment. Unlike the other optional programs, an employee who elects to participate in this optional retirement program has one opportunity to transfer to the FRS. Section 1012.875, F.S.

The state actuary determines a rate associated with the normal cost of the pension plan (funding the prospective benefits) and a rate necessary to amortize prior unfunded actuarial liabilities (UAL) over a thirty-year period and new tranches of unfunded actuarial liabilities over a twenty-year period. The following are the current employer contribution rates[35] for each class and the blended rates recommended by the state actuary beginning in July 2022:[36]

Membership Class	Current Rates Effective July 1, 2021		Recommended Rates to be effective July 1, 2022

For all membership classes, except the DROP and certain members with renewed membership, employees contribute three percent of their compensation towards retirement.[37]

Actuarial Special Studies

The state actuary has completed an actuarial study to determine the uniform blended employer rates for each membership class and subclass of the FRS necessary to fund the current normal cost and the amortization of the unfunded actuarial liabilities of the FRS and reflecting an increase of investment plan benefits by three percent of payroll. The table below shows the incremental increases by membership class and subclass associated with the investment plan benefit increases over the blended rates recommended by the state actuary based on the 2021 Actuarial Valuation.[39]

Membership Class	Increase in Blended Normal Cost Contribution Rate
Regular Class	0.80 %
Special Risk Class	0.44%
Special Risk Admin. Support Class	0.86%
Elected Officers' Class
State	0.97%
Justice and Judges	0.51%
Local	0.99%
Senior Management Service Class	0.87%

The state actuary also has completed a special actuarial study on the recommended blended statutory rates for 2022-2023 reflecting the extension of the maximum length of DROP participation for law enforcement members by up to 36 months.[40] The study shows increases for the Special Risk Class by 0.09 percentage points in the normal cost contribution rate and 0.14 percentage points for the UAL contribution rate. An increase of 0.02 percentage points in the DROP rate is also necessary.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 amends s. 110.2035, F.S., to require the Department of Management Services (DMS) to contract with a management consulting firm no later than September 1, 2022, and every ten years thereafter, to conduct a compensation survey of classes in the Career Service, Senior Management Service, and Selected Exempt Service. The goal of the survey is to determine the competitiveness of the state's compensation plan to competing employers in the state. The section requires the following survey methodology be included:

- Geographical differentials in cost of living;
- Demand for labor; and
- Compensation plans of regional competitors.

The section requires the DMS to:
- Select at least 75 benchmark classes and ten high turnover classes that have at least 5 full-time equivalent positions for the Career Service Class survey; and
- Select at least 95 benchmark classes for the Senior Management Service and Selected Exempt Service Class survey.

The DMS must provide a report of the survey results to the Governor, President of the Senate, and Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Section 2 amends s. 121.091, F.S., to extend the maximum period of DROP participation for law enforcement members by 36 months. To be eligible for the extended period, the member must enter DROP by June 30, 2028.

Section 3 amends s. 121.71, F.S., to set the employer-paid contribution rates to the Florida Retirement System Trust Fund for each membership class and subclass of the FRS. The bill also updates the employer-paid contribution rates for each membership class to address the unfunded actuarial liabilities of the FRS.

Section 4 amends s. 121.72, F.S., to increase the amounts allocated to individual investment accounts by three percent of the member's compensation.

Section 5 provides findings that the bill fulfills an important state interest.

Section 6 provides an effective date of July 1, 2022

(13) DEFERRED RETIREMENT OPTION PROGRAM.—In general, and subject to this section, the Deferred Retirement Option Program, hereinafter referred to as DROP, is a program under which an eligible member of the Florida Retirement System may elect to participate, deferring receipt of retirement benefits while continuing employment with his or her Florida Retirement System employer. The deferred monthly benefits shall accrue in the Florida Retirement System on behalf of the member, plus interest compounded monthly, for the specified period of the DROP participation, as provided in paragraph (c). Upon termination of employment, the member shall receive the total DROP benefits and begin to receive the previously determined normal retirement benefits. Participation in the DROP does not guarantee employment for the specified period of DROP. Participation in DROP by an eligible member beyond the initial 60-month period as authorized in this subsection shall be on an annual contractual basis for all participants.

(b) Participation in DROP.—Except as provided in this paragraph, an eligible member may elect to participate in DROP for a period not to exceed a maximum of 60 calendar months.

Effective July 1, 2018, instructional personnel who are authorized to extend DROP participation beyond the 60-month period must have a termination date that is the last day of the last calendar month of the school year within the DROP extension granted by the employer. If, on July 1, 2018, the member's DROP participation has already been extended for the maximum 36 calendar months and the extension period concludes before the end of the school year, the member's DROP participation may be extended through the last day of the last calendar month of that school year. The employer shall notify the division of the change in termination date and the additional period of DROP participation for the affected instructional personnel.

b. Administrative personnel in grades K-12, as defined in s. 1012.01(3), who have a DROP termination date on or after July 1, 2018, may be authorized to extend DROP participation beyond the initial 60 calendar month period if the administrative personnel's termination date is before the end of the school year. Such administrative personnel may have DROP participation extended until the last day of the last calendar month of the school year in which their original DROP termination date occurred if a date other than the last day of the last calendar month of the school year is designated. The employer shall notify the division of the change in termination date and the additional period of DROP participation for the affected administrative personnel.

c. Effective July 1, 2022, a member of the Special Risk Class who is a law enforcement officer who meets the criteria in s. 121.0515(3)(a) may participate in DROP for up to 36 calendar months beyond the 60-month period if he or she enters DROP on or before June 30, 2028.

2. Upon deciding to participate in DROP, the member shall submit, on forms required by the division:

a. A written election to participate in DROP;

b. Selection of DROP participation and termination dates that satisfy the limitations stated in paragraph (a) and subparagraph 1. The termination date must be in a binding letter of resignation to the employer establishing a deferred termination date. The member may change the termination date within the limitations of subparagraph 1., but only with the written approval of the employer;

c. A properly completed DROP application for service retirement as provided in this section; and

d. Any other information required by the division.

3. The DROP participant is a retiree under the Florida Retirement System for all purposes, except for paragraph (5)(f) and subsection (9) and ss. 112.3173, 112.363, 121.053, and 121.122. DROP participation is final and may not be canceled by the participant after the first payment is credited during the DROP participation period. However, participation in DROP does not alter the participant's employment status, and the member is not deemed retired from employment until his or her deferred resignation is effective and termination occurs as defined in s. 121.021.

4. Elected officers are eligible to participate in DROP subject to the following:

a. An elected officer who reaches normal retirement date during a term of office may defer the election to participate until the next succeeding term in that office. An elected officer who exercises this option may participate in DROP for up to 60 calendar months or no longer than the succeeding term of office, whichever is less.

b. An elected or a nonelected participant may run for a term of office while participating in DROP and, if elected, extend the DROP termination date accordingly; however, if such additional term of office exceeds the 60-month limitation established in subparagraph 1., and the officer does not resign from office within such 60-month limitation, the retirement and the participant's DROP is null and void as provided in sub-subparagraph (c)5.d.

c. An elected officer who is dually employed and elects to participate in DROP must terminate all employment relationships as provided in s. 121.021(39) for the nonelected position within the original 60-month period or maximum participation period as provided in subparagraph 1. For DROP participation ending:

(I) Before July 1, 2010, the officer may continue employment as an elected officer as provided in s. 121.053. The elected officer shall be enrolled as a renewed member in the Elected Officers' Class or the Regular Class, as provided in ss. 121.053 and 121.122, on the first day of the month after termination of employment in the nonelected position and termination of DROP. Distribution of the DROP benefits shall be made as provided in paragraph (c).

(II) On or after July 1, 2010, the officer may continue employment as an elected officer but must defer termination as provided in s. 121.053.

Section 5. The Legislature finds that a proper and legitimate state purpose is served when employees, officers, and retirees of the state and its political subdivisions, and the dependents, survivors, and beneficiaries of such employees, officers, and retirees, are extended the basic protections afforded by governmental retirement systems. These persons must be provided benefits that are fair and adequate and that are managed, administered, and funded in an actuarially sound manner as required by s. 14, Article X of the State Constitution and part VII of chapter 112, Florida Statutes. Therefore, the Legislature determines and declares that this act fulfills an important state interest.

The bill directs the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) to erect suitable markers.

The estimated cost to the FDOT to install the designation markers required under the bill is $18,720. See the "Fiscal Impact Statement" below for details.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2022.

II. Present Situation:

Section 334.071, F.S., provides that legislative designations of transportation facilities are for honorary or memorial purposes or to distinguish a particular facility. Such designations are not to be construed as requiring any action by local governments or private parties regarding the changing of any street signs, mailing addresses, or 911 emergency telephone number system listings, unless the legislation specifically provides for such changes.[1]

When the Legislature establishes road or bridge designations, the FDOT is required to place markers only at the termini specified for each highway segment or bridge designated by the law creating the designation and to erect any other markers it deems appropriate for the transportation facility.[2]

The FDOT may not erect the markers for honorary road or bridge designations unless the affected city or county commission enacts a resolution supporting the designation. When the designated road or bridge segment is located in more than one city or county, each affected local government must pass resolutions supporting the designations before the installation of the markers.[3]

Deputy Sheriffs Donta Manuel and Jonathan Wallace

On November 28, 2007, as other deputies pursued a stolen vehicle that had just passed over "stop sticks" in the roadway on State Road 715 near Lake Okeechobee, Deputies Manuel and Wallace ran into the roadway in an attempt to remove the stop sticks. Apparently, due to the darkness, Deputies Manuel and Wallace did not perceive the speed at which the pursuing patrol cars were following behind the suspect vehicle. One of the pursuing patrol cars struck and killed both deputies. The driver of that pursuing patrol car was seriously injured and flown to a local hospital. One of the suspects in the stolen vehicle was apprehended a short time later.[4]

Deputy Manuel served with the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office (PBCSO) for 13 years. He was survived by his wife, Suzette Manuel, sons Donta and Diontray Manuel, and daughter Dashja Trawick. Deputy Wallace served with the PBSCO for 18 months. He was survived by his mother, Patricia Wallace.[5]

The bill directs the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) to erect suitable markers.

The estimated cost to the FDOT to install the designation markers required under the bill is $18,720. See the "Fiscal Impact Statement" below for details.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2022.

II. Present Situation:

Section 334.071, F.S., provides that legislative designations of transportation facilities are for honorary or memorial purposes or to distinguish a particular facility. Such designations are not to be construed as requiring any action by local governments or private parties regarding the changing of any street signs, mailing addresses, or 911 emergency telephone number system listings, unless the legislation specifically provides for such changes.[1]

When the Legislature establishes road or bridge designations, the FDOT is required to place markers only at the termini specified for each highway segment or bridge designated by the law creating the designation and to erect any other markers it deems appropriate for the transportation facility.[2]

The FDOT may not erect the markers for honorary road or bridge designations unless the affected city or county commission enacts a resolution supporting the designation. When the designated road or bridge segment is located in more than one city or county, each affected local government must pass resolutions supporting the designations before the installation of the markers.[3]

On November 28, 2007, as other deputies pursued a stolen vehicle that had just passed over "stop sticks" in the roadway on State Road 715 near Lake Okeechobee, Deputies Manuel and Wallace ran into the roadway in an attempt to remove the stop sticks. Apparently, due to the darkness, Deputies Manuel and Wallace did not perceive the speed at which the pursuing patrol cars were following behind the suspect vehicle. One of the pursuing patrol cars struck and killed both deputies. The driver of that pursuing patrol car was seriously injured and flown to a local hospital. One of the suspects in the stolen vehicle was apprehended a short time later.[4]

Deputy Manuel served with the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office (PBCSO) for 13 years. He was survived by his wife, Suzette Manuel, sons Donta and Diontray Manuel, and daughter Dashja Trawick. Deputy Wallace served with the PBSCO for 18 months. He was survived by his mother, Patricia Wallace.[5]

She also served on the board of directors for Kids Come First and Wesley House Family Services, was vice president of Samuel's House[23] executive board, and was a member of the Key West Mystic Krewe. Among the many honors for her service to the community, Ms. Cates received the Key West Business Guild's Presidential Award in 2017 and the Key West Star Award from the Chamber of Commerce in 2016. Ms. Cates passed away on December 2, 2020, and was survived by her husband, five-term Mayor Craig Cates, as well as her three daughters, grandchildren, and other extended family.[24]

Oswaldo Payá

A father, a political activist, and the founder of the Christian Liberation Movement, Oswaldo Payá was one of the first outspoken opposition members in Cuba. He was the primary organizer of the Valera Project, advocating for democratic political reforms within Cuba.[25] Mr. Payá was admired by many for his selfless dedication to protecting human rights, opposing Cuba's one-party rule, and fighting for core human and political rights. Among his many recognitions, Mr. Payá received the Sakharov Prize for Freedom of Thought from the European Parliament in

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/CS/SB 358 authorizes Florida to participate in the Professional Counselors Licensure Compact (counseling compact or compact) for the licensure of mental health counselors and makes changes to the practice acts for mental health counselors, a clinical social workers, and marriage and family therapists. The compact takes effect upon its enactment by 10 states, and to date, only two states have enacted the compact. The bill grants a licensed professional counselor who is licensed in his or her primary state of residence (the licensee's "home state") the ability to apply and be granted a privilege to practice professional counseling in another member state, both in-person and through telehealth.

The bill also:

- Requires the Department of Health (department) to report any significant investigatory information relating to a health care practitioner practicing under the compact to the compact's licensure data system.
- Provides for the participation of impaired practitioners who are practicing under the compact in impaired practitioner programs.
- Requires the Board of Clinical Social Work, Marriage and Family Therapy, and Mental Health Counseling (Board) to appoint an individual to serve as Florida's delegate on the Counseling Compact Commission (commission).
- Authorizes the Board to take adverse action against a mental health counselor's privilege to practice under the compact and authorizes the Board to impose grounds for discipline.

- Designates the state delegate and other members or employees of the commission as state agents for the purpose of applying waivers of sovereign immunity.

According to the department, the provisions of the bill relating to the compact will have a significant fiscal impact on the department requiring one additional full-time equivalent (FTE) position to support the workload associated with processing applications and issuing initial and renewal licenses and privileges to practice. The bill authorizes member states to charge a fee for granting a privilege to practice under the compact. The number of applicants for compact licensure is indeterminate and the department indicates that the fiscal impact cannot be calculated.[1]

The commission may collect an annual assessment from each member state or impose fees on other parties to cover the cost of operations and activities. The annual membership cost with the Professional Counselors Licensure Compact is unknown at this time.

The bill amends a provision authorizing the Board to make a one-time exception for mental health counselor, clinical social worker, and marriage and family therapist intern registration requirements for emergency or hardship cases by removing the requirement that the candidate pass a theory and practice examination, effective upon the act becoming a law.

The bill amends the practice acts for mental health counselors, a clinical social workers, and marriage and family therapists to replace the words "intern" and "internship" with "associate" and "associateship," effective July 1, 2022.

The bill provides an effective date contingent on the enactment of the compact into law by 10 states, except as otherwise expressly provided in the bill, and requires the department to notify the Division of Law Revision in that event.

II. Present Situation:

Occupational Licensure Compacts

Interstate compacts are authorized under the U.S. Constitution, Article I, Section 10, cl. 3.[2] Compacts that affect a power delegated to the federal government or that affect or alter the political balance within the federal system require the consent of Congress.[3] The licensing of professions is predominantly a state responsibility as each state has developed its own regulations, oversight boards, and requirements for dozens of professions and occupations.

In September 2018, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) looked at the issue of state-by-state occupational licensure and its unintended consequences. In particular, the FTC noted that state-by-state licensing can have a particularly hard effect on those in the military and their spouses who are required to move frequently, those who provide services across state lines, or deliver services through telehealth.[4] The FTC also suggested that improved licensed portability would enhance competition, choice, and access for consumers, especially where services may be in short supply.[5]

According to the Council of State Governments (CSG), since January 2016, 170 separate pieces of licensure compact legislation have been passed in the United States.[6] To date, 42 states and territories have enacted occupational licensure compacts for nurses, physicians, physical therapists, emergency medical technicians, psychologists, speech therapists, audiologists, occupational therapists, and counselors.[7]

Nurse Licensure Compact

On January 19, 2018, licensed Florida nurses became eligible to apply for a multi-state license under the enhanced Nurse Licensure Compact (eNLC.)[8] The eNLC allows registered nurses and licensed practical nurses who hold licensure in one Compact state to practice in any of the 27 Compact states without obtaining additional state licenses. The Department of Health (department) reports that the eNLC has effectively reduced regulatory requirements by eliminating the need for nurses to obtain a separate license to practice in different states.[9] Florida joined the Nurse Licensure Compact upon the passage of HB 1061 during the 2016 regular Legislative Session.[10] The eNLC was officially enacted when North Carolina Governor Roy Cooper, signed legislation to become the 26th state to join the compact on July 20, 2017.[11] That date became the effective date for the start of the compact commission, an agency governing the compact.[12]

Interstate Compact for Licensed Professional Counselors

The Interstate Compact for Licensed Professional Counselors (counseling compact or compact) will become effective after 10 states enact the legislation for the compact. The counseling compact has passed and been signed into law in two states. On May 10, 2021, Georgia Governor Brian Kemp signed HB 395 and subsequently on May 18, 2021, Maryland Gov. Larry Hogan signed SB 571/HB 736.[13] The compact has also been introduced this year in Tennessee (SB 1027 HB 0959), Nebraska (LB 554), Ohio (SB 204), and North Carolina (HB 791).[14]

Interstate Licensure Compact for Social Work[15]

The National Association of Social Workers is beginning to pursue its own Interstate Licensure Compact for Social Work. That draft compact has not yet been finalized.

Model of Marriage and Family Therapy License Portability[16]

Rather than pursue a compact, the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy has created a Model of Marriage and Family Therapy (MFT) License Portability. This portability model is a full endorsement model, meaning that a state will license an applicant as a licensed marriage and family therapist if the applicant has a valid and unrestricted license to practice marriage and family therapy in another state.

Mental Health Counseling in Florida

The licensed Mental Health Counseling profession continues to expand in Florida and has reported an average growth in recent years of more than 1,000 new licensees per year, increasing the total licensed population to 15,518 practitioners.[17]

Florida law delineates between an application by examination for initial licensure and application by endorsement for mental health counselors who have previously held an active, unencumbered, license in another state. The application for licensure as a mental health counselor includes a mandatory disclosure of criminal history, but applicants are not required to submit fingerprints to complete a criminal background check.[18] Section 456.0135, F.S., provides the department with authority to mandate criminal background checks for specified professions and mental health professions regulated by ch. 491, F.S., are not included in the list of specified professions.

Licensure of Mental Health Counselors by Examination

Pursuant to s. 491.005(4), F.S., the department shall license an applicant as a mental health counselor, if he or she:

- Pays the appropriate fee;
- Possesses a minimum of a master's degree from a regionally accredited program in Mental Health Counseling or a closely related field that consists of at least 60 semester hours or 80 quarter hours and specific graduate coursework, including: Counseling Theories and Practice, Human Growth and Development, Diagnosis and Treatment of Psychopathology, Human Sexuality, Group Theories and Practice, Individual Evaluation and Assessment, Career and Lifestyle Assessment, Research and Program Evaluation, Social and Cultural Foundations, Substance Abuse, and Legal, Ethical, and Professional Standards Issues. Beginning July 1, 2025, an applicant must have a master's degree from a program that is accredited by the

Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP) which consists of at least 60 semester hours or 80 quarter hours to be licensed;[19]
- Has had at least two years of clinical experience in mental health counseling. Initial applicants must provide documentation to demonstrate completion of a 700-hour university-sponsored clinical practicum or internship with at least 280 hours of direct client services. After graduation, registered mental health counselor interns are required to complete post-graduate supervised experience conducted under the supervision of a board-approved qualified supervisor with at least 100 hours of supervision in no less than 100 weeks. Supervision experience hours are accrued on an hour-for-hour basis by providing face-to-face psychotherapy with clients. Registered interns are required to meet with their qualified supervisor every two weeks to review cases and to receive guidance;
- Has passed the National Clinical Mental Health Counseling Examination (NCMHCE) developed by the National Board for Certified Counselors (NBCC);[20]
- Completes a three-hour course on HIV/Aids pursuant to s. 491.0065, F.S.; and
- Agrees to complete a two-hour domestic violence course within six months of licensure.[21]

Licensure of Mental Health Counselors by Endorsement

Applicants by endorsement who have practiced mental health counseling in another state for at least three out of the last five years are considered to have completed all minimum education, practicum, and supervision requirements and are required to provide limited documentation to become licensed.[22] As a method to streamline licensure for experienced mental health counselors, Florida law does not require endorsement candidates to provide proof of education nor demonstrate completion of supervised experience.[23] Pursuant to s. 491.006, F.S., the department shall license an applicant as a mental health counselor if he or she:

- Pays the appropriate fee;
- Holds a valid license to practice in another state and have practiced for at least three out of the last five years preceding licensure;
- Demonstrates, in a manner designated by rule of the Board, knowledge of the laws and rules governing the practice of mental health counseling in Florida. Rule 64B4-3.0035 requires these applicants to complete an eight hour course and obtain a passing score on a corresponding examination;
- Has passed the NCMHCE or a licensing examination substantially equivalent to the NCMHCE in another state or in this state;
- Completes a three-hour course on HIV/Aids pursuant to s. 491.0065, F.S.;
- Agrees to complete a two-hour domestic violence course within six months of licensure;[24] and

Mental Health Counseling in Florida Through Telehealth

In 2019, the Legislature passed and the Governor approved CS/CS/HB 23, which created s. 456.47, F.S. The bill became effective on July 1, 2019.[25] It authorized Florida-licensed health care providers, including mental health counselors who are either Florida-licensed or licensed under a multi-state health care licensure compact of which Florida is a member state,[26] to use telehealth to deliver health care services within their respective scopes of practice.

The bill also authorized out-of-state health care providers to use telehealth to deliver health care services to Florida patients if they register with the department or the applicable board[27] and meet certain eligibility requirements.[28] A registered out-of-state telehealth provider may use telehealth, within the relevant scope of practice established by Florida law and rule, to provide health care services to Florida patients but is prohibited from opening an office in Florida and from providing in-person health care services to patients located in Florida.

The Legislature also passed HB 7067 in 2019 that would have required an out-of-state telehealth provider to pay an initial registration fee of $150 and a biennial registration renewal fee of $150, but the bill was vetoed by the Governor and did not become law.[29]

On March 21, 2020, Surgeon General Scott Rivkees executed the department's Emergency Order 20-003[30] to authorize certain out-of-state clinical social workers, marriage and family therapists, mental health counselors, and psychologists to provide telehealth in Florida without the need to register as a telehealth provider under s. 456.47(4), F.S. These emergency orders were extended and expired on June 26, 2021.[31] Out-of-state health care practitioners are no longer authorized to perform telehealth services for patients in Florida unless they become licensed or registered in Florida.

Florida-licensed providers may not provide health care services to clients located in other states without express authorization from each state.

Sovereign Immunity

Sovereign immunity generally bars lawsuits against the state or its political subdivisions for torts committed by an officer, employee, or agent of such governments unless the immunity is expressly waived. The Florida Constitution recognizes that the concept of sovereign immunity applies to the state, although the state may waive its immunity through an enactment of general law.[32]

In 1973, the Legislature enacted s. 768.28, F.S., a partial waiver of sovereign immunity, allowing individuals to sue state government and its subdivisions.[33] According to subsection (1), individuals may sue the government under circumstances where a private person "would be liable to the claimant, in accordance with the general laws of [the] state . . ." Section 768.28(5), F.S., imposes a $200,000 limit on the government's liability to a single person, and a $300,000 total limit on liability for claims arising out of a single incident.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 creates the Professional Counselors Licensure Compact as s. 491.017, F.S., which enters Florida into the compact. The compact has 15 articles that establish the compact's administration and components and prescribe how the commission will oversee the compact and conduct its business. The table below summarizes the new statutory language, by article, which creates the components of the compact.

Provisions of the Professional Counselors Licensure Compact

Provisions of the Professional Counselors Licensure Compact
Article	Title	Description
III	State Participation	To participate in the compact, a state must currently do all of the following: • License and regulate licensed professional counselors. • Require licensees to pass a nationally recognized exam. • Require licensees to have a 60 semester hour, or 90 quarter hour, master's degree in counseling or 60 semester hours, or 90 quarter hours, of graduate coursework in relevant areas. • Require licensees to complete a supervised postgraduate professional experience, as defined by the commission. • Have a mechanism in place for receiving and investigating complaints about licensees. (Initial Florida applicants must possess a master's degree from a regionally accredited program in mental health counseling or a closely related field that consists of at least 60 semester hours or 80 quarter hours and required graduate coursework. Initial Florida applicants must also complete two years of clinical experience in mental health counseling as a registered mental health counselor intern.) A member state must: • Participate fully in the compact commission's licensure data system. • Notify the commission of any adverse action against or of current significant investigative information regarding a licensee. • Conduct criminal background checks of candidates for an initial privilege to practice. • Comply with rules of the commission, established in article IX. • Grant the privilege to practice professional counseling to a licensee holding a valid, unencumbered license in another member state. • Provide for the state's commissioner to attend the meetings of the commission. A member state may charge a fee for granting a privilege to practice. A licensed professional counselor may only utilize the compact if their home state joins the compact.
IV	Privilege to Practice	A licensee may seek a privilege to practice within a remote state. To exercise the privilege to practice professional counseling within a remote state, a licensee must:

Provisions of the Professional Counselors Licensure Compact
Article	Title	Description
		• Hold a license in his or her home state which must be a member of the compact. • Have had no encumbrance or restriction against any license or privilege to practice within the previous two years. • Meet any continuing education and jurisprudence requirements of the remote state and pay all applicable fees. • Report to the commission any adverse action, encumbrance, or restriction imposed on the licensee by a non-member state within 30 days from the date of the action. A privilege to practice is valid until the expiration date of the practitioner's home state license. A licensee providing professional counseling in a remote state under the privilege to practice must adhere to the laws and regulations of the remote state. If a licensee's home state license is encumbered, the licensee loses the privilege to practice in any remote state for the next two years. If a licensee's privilege to practice is removed by a member state, the licensee may lose their privilege to practice in member states for the next two years.
V	Obtaining a New Home State License based on a Privilege to Practice	A licensee may hold a home state license in only one member state at a time. A licensee who moves from one member state to another member state may obtain a new, expedited home state license in the new state of residence if he or she holds a privilege to practice in the new state. The licensee will be required to complete a new FBI fingerprint-based criminal background check if not previously performed, complete any required state-level background check, meet any jurisprudence requirements of the new home state, and pay all applicable fees. (Florida-licensed mental health counselors are not currently required to be fingerprinted and background-screened as a condition of licensure. See s. 456.0135, F.S. If the compact is enacted in Florida, single-state applicants and registered interns would not be required to submit to a criminal history check, but applicants under the compact would be.) If a new home state license is granted, the former home state must convert the former home state license into a privilege to practice.

Article	Title	Description
VI	Active Duty Military Personnel and their Spouses	Active duty military personnel, or their spouse, may designate a home state where the individual has a current license in good standing. This state serves as the individual's home state for the duration of the service member's active duty.
VII	Compact Privilege to Practice Telehealth	Member states must recognize the right of a licensed professional counselor to practice professional counseling in any member state through telehealth under a privilege to practice. A licensee providing telehealth services in a remote state must adhere to the laws and regulations of that state.
VIII	Adverse Actions	Only a practitioner's home state has the power to take adverse action against a home state license. Home states must give the same priority and effect to reported conduct received from a member state as it would if the conduct had occurred within the home state. The home state must apply its own state laws to determine appropriate action in such cases. Remote states may take adverse action against a counselor's privilege to practice within that member state and may issue enforceable subpoenas for witnesses and evidence from other member states. A member state, if authorized by state law, may recover from the affected licensed professional counselor the costs of investigations and dispositions of any cases resulting from adverse action taken against that licensed professional counselor. Member states shall share any investigative, litigation, or compliance materials in furtherance of any joint or individual investigation initiated under the compact. If a member state takes adverse action, it must promptly notify the administrator of the data system. The administrator shall promptly notify the licensee's home state of any adverse actions by remote states. The bill maintains the right for state boards to require licensees to participate in impaired practitioner programs.
IX	Establishment of Counseling Compact Commission	The Counseling Compact Commission (commission) is established by the member states as a joint public agency. Judicial proceedings by or against the commission must be brought solely and exclusively in a court of competent jurisdiction where the principal office of the commission is located. The commission may waive venue and jurisdictional defenses to the extent that it adopts or consents to participate in alternative dispute resolution proceedings. Nothing in the compact may be construed as a waiver of sovereign immunity. Each member state is entitled to one delegate appointed by each member state's licensing board who must be either a licensed professional counselor, a public member, or an administrator of the board. Each delegate has one vote on commission affairs. The commission is directed to establish a term of office for delegates and may establish term limits. The commission must meet at least once during each calendar year and all meetings must be open to the public. The commission, or the executive committee of the commission may convene in a closed, nonpublic meeting under certain circumstances. (See "Public Records/Open Meetings Issues" in Section IV of this analysis.) The commission must keep detailed minutes. The commission may establish and maintain a code of ethics, bylaws, rules, a budget, financial records, and may initiate or prosecute legal proceedings or actions in the name of the commission, in order to carry out the compact. The commission must select an executive committee composed of up to eleven members: seven members of the commission and up to four ex-officio, nonvoting members from four recognized national professional counselor organizations. The executive committee must meet at least annually and must, at a minimum, do all of the following: • Make recommendations to the commission for any changes to the rules, bylaws, compact legislation, fees paid by member states, and fees charged to licensees for the privilege to practice. • Prepare and recommend the budget. • Maintain financial records. • Monitor compliance of member states and provide compliance reports to the commission. • Establish additional committees as necessary. The commission must pay or provide for the payment of certain reasonable expenses and may accept appropriate revenue. The commission may not incur obligations of any kind before securing funds adequate to meet the same. Receipts and disbursements of funds handled by the commission must be audited annually by a certified or licensed public accountant. The commission may levy and collect an annual assessment from each member state or impose fees on other parties to cover the cost of the operations and activities of the commission and its staff. Such assessments and fees must be in a total amount sufficient to cover its annual budget as approved each year for which revenue is not provided by other sources. The aggregate annual assessment amount must be allocated based on a formula to be determined by the commission, which must adopt a rule binding on all member states. Commission members and employees are immune from liability related to their positions except in cases of wanton misconduct.

X	Data System	The Commission must provide for the development, operation, and maintenance of a coordinated database and reporting system (the data system) containing licensure, adverse action, and investigative information on all licensed professional counselors in member states. A member state must submit a uniform data set to the data system on all licensees to whom the compact is applicable, as required by the rules of the commission. Investigative information pertaining to a licensee in any member state may be made available only to other member states. The commission must promptly notify all member states of any adverse action taken against a licensee or an individual applying for a license. Member states reporting information to the data system may designate information that may not be shared with the public without the express permission of the reporting state. (See "Public Records/Open Meetings Issues" in Section IV of this analysis.)
XI	Rulemaking	The Commission shall adopt reasonable rules to effectively and efficiently achieve the purposes of the compact. If the commission issues a rule that exceeds its authority under the compact, such a rule is void and has no force or effect. Rules carry the force of law in all member states. If a majority of the legislatures of member states reject a rule by enactment of a statute or a resolution in the same manner used to adopt the compact within 4 years after the date of the adoption of a rule, such rule does not have further force or effect in any member state. Before adoption of a final rule by the commission, and at least 30 days in advance of the meeting at which the rule will be considered and voted upon, the commission must file a notice of proposed rulemaking, which must include the text of the proposed rule, on the commission's website and on the website of each member state's professional licensing board. Interested persons may submit notice to the commission of their intention to attend a public hearing and may submit written comments before the commission may adopt a proposed rule. The commission must grant an opportunity for a public hearing if it is requested by at least 25 independent persons, a state or federal governmental subdivision or agency, or an association that has at least 25 members. Rules may be grouped at public hearings for the convenience of the commission. The commission may consider and adopt an emergency rule without prior notice, opportunity for comment, or hearing under certain circumstances.

XII	Oversight; Default, Technical Assistance, and Termination Dispute Resolution; and Enforcement	If the commission determines that a member state has defaulted in the performance of its obligations or responsibilities under the compact or adopted rules, the commission must provide written notice, remedial training, and technical assistance to the state. If a state fails to cure a default, the defaulting state may be terminated from the compact upon an affirmative vote of a majority of the member states and only after all other means of securing compliance have been exhausted. The commission shall attempt to resolve any compact-related disputes that may arise between states. The commission is responsible for enforcing the provisions and rules of the compact.
XIII	Date of Implementation of the Counseling Compact Commission and Associated Rules, Withdrawal, and Amendment	The compact becomes effective on the date on which the compact is enacted into law in the 10th member state. Thereafter, the commission must meet and exercise rulemaking powers necessary for the implementation and administration of the compact. States that join the compact after this date are subject to the rules of the commission as they exist on the date when the compact becomes law in that state. Member states withdraw from the compact by enacting a statute repealing the compact. A state's withdrawal takes effect 6 months after enactment of the repealing statute. The member states may amend the compact, but changes do not take effect until enacted into the laws of all member states.

Article	Title	Description
XIV	Binding Effect of Compact and Other Laws	A licensee providing professional counseling services in a remote state under the privilege to practice must adhere to the laws and regulations, including scope of practice, of the remote state. All rules and bylaws properly adopted by the commission are binding on the member states. In the event of a conflict between a law of a member state and the compact, the state law is superseded to the extent of the conflict.
IV	Construction and Severability	The compact is to be liberally construed so as to effectuate its purposes. The compact's provisions are severable. If a provision of the compact is declared to conflict with the United States Constitution, all other provisions remain valid for all member states. If a provision is held contrary to a member state's constitution, the compact retains its full force in all other states, and all other provisions remain valid in the affected state.

Section 491.004(5), F.S., requires the Board of Clinical Social Work, Marriage & Family Therapy, and Mental Health Counseling to adopt rules to implement and enforce the provisions of ch. 491, F.S. Section 1 of the bill creates s. 491.017, F.S., thereby requiring the Board to adopt rules to implement and enforce the compact.

Section 2 amends s. 456.073, F.S., to require the department to report any significant investigatory information relating to a health care practitioner practicing under the compact to the data system. Investigatory information is typically gathered as the department investigates complaints and assesses the need to discipline a licensee.

Section 3 amends s. 456.076, F.S., to require a consultant (who operates an approved impaired practitioner program) entering into a participant contract with an impaired practitioner who is practicing under the compact, to establish terms in the monitoring contract that include the impaired practitioner's withdrawal from all practice under the compact.

Section 4 amends s. 491.003, F.S., to amend the definitions section within the practice acts for mental health counselors, a clinical social workers, and marriage and family therapists to replace the words "intern" and "internship" with "associate" and "associateship," effective July 1, 2022.

Section 5 amends s. 491.004, F.S., to require the Board to appoint an individual to serve as the state's delegate on the commission.

Section 6 amends 491.0045, F.S., to amend a provision authorizing the Board to make a one-time exception for mental health counselor, clinical social worker, and marriage and family therapist intern registration requirements for emergency or hardship cases by removing the requirement that the candidate pass the theory and practice examination described in s. 491.005(1)(d), (3)(d), and (4)(d), F.S., effective upon the date the act becomes a law.

Section 7 amends s. 491.005, F.S., to exempt a person licensed as a mental health counselor in another state who is practicing under the compact pursuant to s. 491.017, F.S., and only within the scope provided therein, from licensure by examination requirements, as applicable.

Section 8 amends s. 491.006, F.S., to exempt a person licensed as a mental health counselor in another state who is practicing under the compact pursuant to s. 491.017, F.S., and only within the scope provided therein, from licensure by endorsement requirements, as applicable.

Section 9 amends s. 491.009, F.S., to authorize the Board to take adverse action against a mental health counselor's privilege to practice under the compact and authorizes the Board impose grounds for discipline if the mental health counselor commits an act specified in subsection (1) of this section or in s. 456.072(1), F.S.

Section 10 amends s. 768.28, F.S., to designate as agents of the state, the individual appointed as the state's delegate on the commission when serving in that capacity, and any administrator, officer, executive director, employee, or representative of the commission, when acting within the scope of his or her employment, duties, or responsibilities in this state, for the purpose of applying waivers of sovereign immunity. This section also requires the commission to pay certain claims or judgments and authorizes the commission to maintain insurance coverage to pay such claims or judgments.

Section 11 requires the department to notify the Division of Law Revision upon the enactment of the compact into law by 10 states.

Sections 12 through 18 amend the practice acts for mental health counselors, a clinical social workers, and marriage and family therapists to replace the words "intern" and "internship" with "associate" and "associateship," effective July 1, 2022.

Section 19 provides an effective date contingent on the enactment of the compact into law by 10 states, except as otherwise expressly provided in the bill.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

A counselor's personal identifying information, other than the counselor's name, licensure status, or licensure number, may be entered into the system by the Department of Health (department) or the Board or may be obtained by the department or the Board from the data system as reported by another state.

A meeting or a portion of a meeting of the commission, or the executive committee of the commission may be closed if the commission's legal counsel or designee has certified that the meeting may be closed because the commission or executive committee of the commission must discuss any of the following:

- Pending litigation to which the commission is presently a party before a court or administrative agency in accordance with s. 286.011(8).
- Negotiation of contracts under competitive solicitation as provided in s. 286.0113(2).
- Disclosure of trade secrets or commercial or financial information that is privileged or confidential.
- Records made exempt under this section.
- Matters specifically exempted from disclosure by federal or member state law.

All minutes and documents of a closed meeting must remain under seal, subject to release by a majority vote of the commission or order of a court of competent jurisdiction.

These issues are addressed in linked bill, SB 590.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

Article VII, Section 19, of the State Constitution requires that the imposition of, or the authorization of, a new state tax or fee, as well as an increased state tax or fee, must be approved by two-thirds of the membership of each house of the Legislature and must be contained in a separate bill that contains no other subject. Article VII, Section 19(d)(1) of the State Constitution defines "fee" to mean "any charge or payment required by law, including any fee for service, fee or cost for licenses, and charge for service." The bill authorizes the counseling compact commission and the Board of Clinical Social Work, Marriage and Family Therapy, and Mental Health Counseling to impose a new state tax or fee.

The bill authorizes member states to charge a fee for granting a privilege to practice in their state. The bill requires a licensee seeking to practice under the compact to pay any applicable fees, including any state fee, for the privilege to practice. The bill requires a compact counselor who changes his or her primary state of residence by moving between two member states to pay all applicable fees to his or her new home state.

The bill authorizes the commission to levy and collect an annual assessment from each member state or impose fees on other parties to cover the cost of the operations and activities of the commission and its staff. Such assessments and fees must be in a total amount sufficient to cover its annual budget as approved each year for which revenue is not provided by other sources. The aggregate annual assessment amount must be allocated based on a formula to be determined by the commission, which must adopt a rule binding on all member states.

Section 491.004(5), F.S., requires the Board to adopt rules to implement and enforce the provisions of ch. 491, F.S. Section 1 of the bill creates the Professional Counseling Licensure Compact as s. 491.017, F.S., thereby requiring the Board to adopt rules to implement and enforce the compact, which may include the imposition of a fee for granting a privilege to practice in this state granting and a fee to cover the cost of the operations and activities of the commission, pursuant to the compact.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

The compact authorizes the commission to "adopt reasonable rules to effectively and efficiently achieve the purposes of the compact," and these rules carry the force of law in member states, which is potentially an unlawful delegation of legislative authority. If enacted into law, the state will bind itself to rules not yet promulgated and adopted by the commission.

The Legislature delegated similar rulemaking powers to the Nurse Licensure Compact when it adopted the compact language into statute. The rules adopted by the Nurse Licensure Compact are now applicable to Florida without the Legislature's subsequent approval, similar to what the state would encounter with the counseling compact adoption and included rulemaking provision. In the case of the counseling compact, should Florida find that rules adopted by the commission are not acceptable, the compact provides a mechanism for a majority of state legislatures to override commission rules. Furthermore, the state maintains the ability to withdraw from the compact.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

PCS/CS/SB 358 authorizes the commission to levy and collect an annual assessment from each member state or impose fees on other parties to cover the cost of the operations and activities of the commission and its staff. Such assessments and fees must be in a total amount sufficient to cover its annual budget as approved each year for which revenue is not provided by other sources. The aggregate annual assessment amount must be allocated based on a formula to be determined by the commission, which must adopt a rule binding on all member states.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The bill could lead to more licensed mental health counselors practicing in Florida. It could also lead to more Florida-licensed mental health counselors practicing through telehealth and providing care to patients in other member states. The fiscal result to the private sector is indeterminate.

C. Government Sector Impact:[34]

The Department of Health (department) reports that its Division of Medical Quality Assurance (MQA) may experience an increase in revenues if the compact is enacted in Florida, as the bill authorizes member states to charge a fee for granting a privilege to practice under the compact. The number of applicants for compact licensure is indeterminate and a fiscal impact cannot be calculated.

MQA may experience a recurring increase in workload associated with processing applications and issuing initial and renewal licenses to participate in the compact. The department projects needing a minimum of one full-time equivalent (FTE), a Regulatory Specialist III (PG 19), with a projected cost of $71,147 ($48,963/Salary $21,878/Expense $306/HR).

MQA may experience a recurring increase in workload associated with the additional complaints and investigations due to the new compact license. At this time, the impact is indeterminate.

The bill authorizes the commission to levy and collect an annual assessment from each member state. The annual membership cost with the Licensed Professional Counselors Compact is unknown at this time, yet the department anticipates that existing budget authority is adequate to absorb this recurring cost.

If the bill is enacted and if the compact becomes effective, MQA will experience a non-recurring increase in workload and costs associated with updating the Licensing and Enforcement Information Database System, Online Service Portal, Cognitive Virtual Agent, Continuing Education Tracking System, License Verification Search Site, and board website to support multistate licensing. Additionally, MQA will be required to establish a process for sharing information with the data system and update existing data exchange services with the Agency for Health Care Administration.

The total estimated cost for the first year is $71,147 in the following categories:

- Salary- $48,963/Recurring
- Expense- $17,229/Recurring $4,649/Non-Recurring
- Human Resources - $306/Recurring

Section 491.004(5), F.S., requires the Board of Clinical Social Work, Marriage and Family Therapy, and Mental Health Counseling to adopt rules to implement and enforce the provisions of ch. 491, F.S. Section 1 of the bill creates the Professional Counseling Licensure Compact as s. 491.017, F.S., thereby requiring the Board to adopt rules to implement and enforce the compact, once it becomes effective.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

The counseling compact model compact legislation[35] defines a "licensed professional counselor" as a counselor licensed by a member state, regardless of the title used by that State, to independently assess, diagnose, and treat behavioral health conditions." Under Florida law, a mental health counselor, clinical social worker, and a marriage and family therapist may be interpreted to fit the definition of a licensed professional counselor. For this reason, the bill defines a "licensed professional counselor" as "a mental health counselor licensed under chapter 491 or a counselor licensed by a member state, regardless of the title used by that state, to independently assess, diagnose, and treat behavioral health conditions."

This means that in Florida, only a licensed mental health counselor may apply for and be granted a privilege to practice in another member state. In other member states, a professional who meets that member state's definition of a licensed professional counselor, regardless of what title the professional holds, may apply for and be granted a privilege to practice in another member state. To be granted a privilege to practice under the compact, a licensed professional counselor applicant must pass a nationally recognized exam approved by the compact commission, have 60 hours of graduate coursework in specified topic areas or have a master's degree in counseling; and have completed supervised postgraduate professional experience as defined by the commission.

The bill acknowledges that a person from another member state who is granted a privilege to practice in Florida may be licensed as a practitioner other than a mental health counselor. If it is the intent that a licensed professional counselor be granted a privilege to practice in this state only if he or she holds a license that is substantially similar to that of a Florida mental health counselor, then this bill should be amended.

record information from the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the agency responsible for retaining that state's criminal records.

1. A member state must fully implement a criminal background check requirement, within a timeframe established by rule, by receiving the results of the Federal Bureau of Investigation record search and shall use the results in making licensure decisions.

2. Communication between a member state and the commission and among member states regarding the verification of eligibility for licensure through the compact may not include any information received from the Federal Bureau of Investigation relating to a federal criminal records check performed by a member state under Public Law 92-544.

(5) Nothing in this compact affects the requirements established by a member state for the issuance of a single state license.

(6) A professional counselor license issued by a home state to a resident of that state must be recognized by each member state as authorizing that licensed professional counselor to practice professional counseling, under a privilege to practice, in each member state.

(b) Have a valid United States Social Security Number or national provider identifier.

(c) Be eligible for a privilege to practice in any member state in accordance with subsections (4), (7), and (8).

(d) Have not had any encumbrance or restriction against any license or privilege to practice within the preceding 2 years.

(i) Report to the commission any adverse action, encumbrance, or restriction on a license taken by any nonmember state within 30 days after the action is taken.

(2) The privilege to practice is valid until the expiration date of the home state license. The licensee must continue to meet the criteria specified in subsection (1) to renew the privilege to practice in the remote state.

(3) For purposes of the compact, the practice of professional counseling occurs in the state where the client is located at the time of the counseling services. The compact does not affect the regulatory authority of states to protect public health and safety through their own system of state licensure.

(4) A licensee providing professional counseling in a remote state under the privilege to practice must adhere to the laws and regulations of the remote state.

(5) A licensee providing professional counseling services in a remote state is subject to that state's regulatory authority. A remote state may, in accordance with due process and that state's laws, remove a licensee's privilege to practice in the remote state for a specified period of time, impose fines, or take any other action necessary to protect the health and safety of its residents. The licensee may be ineligible for a privilege to practice in any member state until the specific time for removal has passed and all fines are paid.

(6) If a home state license is encumbered, a licensee loses the privilege to practice in any remote state until both of the following conditions are met:

(a) The home state license is no longer encumbered.

(b) The licensee has not had any encumbrance or restriction against any license or privilege to practice within the preceding 2 years.

(7) Once an encumbered license in the licensee's home state is restored to good standing, the licensee may obtain a privilege to practice in any remote state if he or she meets the requirements of subsection (1).

(8) If a licensee's privilege to practice in any remote state is removed, the individual may lose the privilege to practice in all other remote states until all of the following conditions are met:

(a) The specified period of time for which the privilege to practice was removed has ended.

(b) The licensee has paid all fines imposed.

(c) The licensee has not had any encumbrance or restriction against any license or privilege to practice within the preceding 2 years.

ARTICLE V

OBTAINING A NEW HOME STATE LICENSE BASED ON A PRIVILEGE TO PRACTICE

(1) A licensed professional counselor may hold a home state license, which allows for a privilege to practice in other member states, in only one member state at a time.

(2) If a licensed professional counselor changes his or her primary state of residence by moving between two member states, then the licensed professional counselor must file an application for obtaining a new home state license based on a privilege to practice, pay all applicable fees, and notify the current and new home state in accordance with applicable rules adopted by the commission.

(3) Upon receipt of an application for obtaining a new home state license based on a privilege to practice, the new home state must verify that the licensed professional counselor meets the criteria outlined in article IV through the data system. The new home state does not need to seek primary source verification for information obtained from the data system, except for the following:

(a) A Federal Bureau of Investigation fingerprint-based criminal background check, if not previously performed or updated pursuant to applicable rules adopted by the commission in accordance with Public Law 92-544;

(b) Any other criminal background check as required by the new home state; and

(c) Proof of completion of any requisite jurisprudence requirements of the new home state.

(4) The former home state shall convert the former home state license into a privilege to practice once the new home state has activated the new home state license in accordance with applicable rules adopted by the commission.

(5) Notwithstanding any other provision of the compact, if the licensed professional counselor does not meet the criteria in article IV, the new home state may apply its own requirements for issuing a new single state license.

(6) The licensed professional counselor must pay all applicable fees to the new home state in order to be issued a new home state license for purposes of the compact.

(7) If a licensed professional counselor changes his or her primary state of residence by moving from a member state to a nonmember state or from a nonmember state to a member state, the new state's own criteria apply for issuance of a single state license in the new state.

(8) The compact does not interfere with a licensee's ability to hold a single state license in multiple states. However, for the purposes of the compact, a licensee may have only one home state license.

(9) The compact does not affect the requirements established by a member state for the issuance of a single state license.

ARTICLE VI

ACTIVE DUTY MILITARY PERSONNEL AND THEIR SPOUSES

Active duty military personnel, or their spouse, shall designate a home state where the individual has a current license in good standing. The individual may retain the home state license designation during the period the service member is on active duty. Subsequent to designating a home state, the individual may change his or her home state only through application for licensure in the new state or through the process outlined in article V.

ARTICLE VII

COMPACT PRIVILEGE TO PRACTICE TELEHEALTH

(1) Member states shall recognize the right of a licensed professional counselor, licensed by a home state in accordance with article III and under rules adopted by the commission, to practice professional counseling in any member state through telehealth under a privilege to practice as provided in the compact and rules adopted by the commission.

(2) A licensee providing professional counseling services in a remote state through telehealth under the privilege to practice must adhere to the laws and rules of the remote state.

ARTICLE VIII

ADVERSE ACTIONS

(1) In addition to the other powers conferred by state law, a remote state has the authority, in accordance with existing state due process law, to do any of the following:

(a) Take adverse action against a licensed professional counselor's privilege to practice within that member state.

(b) Issue subpoenas for both hearings and investigations that require the attendance and testimony of witnesses or the production of evidence. Subpoenas issued by a licensing board in a member state for the attendance and testimony of witnesses or the production of evidence from another member state must be enforced in the latter state by any court of competent jurisdiction, according to the practice and procedure of that court applicable to subpoenas issued in proceedings pending before it. The issuing authority shall pay any witness fees, travel expenses, mileage, and other fees required by the service statutes of the state in which the witnesses or evidence is located.

(2) Only the home state has the power to take adverse action against a licensed professional counselor's license issued by the home state.

(3) For purposes of taking adverse action, the home state shall give the same priority and effect to reported conduct received from a member state as it would if the conduct had occurred within the home state. The home state shall apply its own state laws to determine appropriate action in such cases.

(4) The home state shall complete any pending investigations of a licensed professional counselor who changes primary state of residence during the course of the investigations. The home state may also take appropriate action and shall promptly report the conclusions of the investigations to the administrator of the data system. The administrator of the data system shall promptly notify the new home state of any adverse actions.

(5) A member state, if authorized by state law, may recover from the affected licensed professional counselor the costs of investigations and dispositions of any cases resulting from adverse action taken against that licensed professional counselor.

(6) A member state may take adverse action against a licensed professional counselor based on the factual findings of a remote state, provided that the member state follows its own statutory procedures for taking adverse action.

(7)(a) In addition to the authority granted to a member state by its respective professional counseling practice act or other applicable state law, any member state may participate with other member states in joint investigations of licensees.

(b) Member states shall share any investigative, litigation, or compliance materials in furtherance of any joint or individual investigation initiated under the compact.

(8) If adverse action is taken by the home state against the license of a professional counselor, the licensed professional counselor's privilege to practice in all other member states must be deactivated until all encumbrances have been removed from the home state license. All home state disciplinary orders that impose adverse action against the license of a professional counselor must include a statement that the licensed professional counselor's privilege to practice is deactivated in all member states while the order is in effect.

(9) If a member state takes adverse action, it must promptly notify the administrator of the data system. The administrator shall promptly notify the licensee's home state of any adverse actions by remote states.

(10) Nothing in the compact overrides a member state's decision to allow a licensed professional counselor to participate in an alternative program in lieu of adverse action.

ARTICLE IX

(c) The commission may levy and collect an annual assessment from each member state or impose fees on other parties to cover the cost of the operations and activities of the commission and its staff. Such assessments and fees must be in a total amount sufficient to cover its annual budget as approved each year for which revenue is not provided by other sources. The aggregate annual assessment amount must be allocated based on a formula to be determined by the commission, which shall adopt a rule binding on all member states.

(d) The commission may not incur obligations of any kind before securing the funds adequate to meet the same; nor may the commission pledge the credit of any of the member states, except by and with the authority of the member state.

(e) The commission shall keep accurate accounts of all receipts and disbursements. The receipts and disbursements of the commission are subject to the audit and accounting procedures established under its bylaws. (7) QUALIFIED IMMUNITY, DEFENSE, AND INDEMNIFICATION.—

(a) The members, officers, executive director, employees, and representatives of the commission are immune from suit and liability, either personally or in their official capacity, for any claim for damage to or loss of property or personal injury or other civil liability caused by or arising out of any actual or alleged act, error, or omission that occurred, or that the person against whom the claim is made had a reasonable basis for believing occurred, within the scope of commission employment, duties, or responsibilities. This paragraph may not be construed to protect any such person from suit or liability for any damage, loss, injury, or liability caused by the intentional or willful or wanton misconduct of that person.

(b) The commission shall defend any member, officer, executive director, employee, or representative of the commission in any civil action seeking to impose liability arising out of any actual or alleged act, error, or omission that occurred, or that the person against whom the claim is made had a reasonable basis for believing occurred, within the scope of commission employment, duties, or responsibilities, provided that the actual or alleged act, error, or omission did not result from that person's intentional or willful or wanton misconduct. This paragraph may not be construed to prohibit that person from retaining his or her own counsel.

(c) The commission shall indemnify and hold harmless any member, officer, executive director, employee, or representative of the commission for the amount of any settlement or judgment obtained against that person arising out of any actual or alleged act, error, or omission that occurred, or that such person had a reasonable basis for believing occurred, within the scope of commission employment, duties, or responsibilities, provided that the actual or alleged act, error, or omission did not result from the intentional or willful or wanton misconduct of that person.

ARTICLE X

(4) The commission shall promptly notify all member states of any adverse action taken against a licensee or an individual applying for a license. Adverse action information pertaining to a licensee in any member state must be made available to any other member state.

(5) Member states reporting information to the data system may designate information that may not be shared with the public without the express permission of the reporting state.

(6) Any information submitted to the data system which is subsequently required to be expunged by the laws of the member state reporting the information must be removed from the data system.

ARTICLE XI

RULEMAKING

(1) The commission shall adopt reasonable rules to effectively and efficiently achieve the purposes of the compact. If, however, the commission exercises its rulemaking authority in a manner that is beyond the scope of the purposes of the compact, or the powers granted hereunder, then such an action by the commission is invalid and has no force or effect.

(2) The commission shall exercise its rulemaking powers pursuant to the criteria set forth in this article and the rules adopted thereunder. Rules and amendments become binding as of the date specified in each rule or amendment.

(3) If a majority of the legislatures of the member states rejects a rule by enactment of a statute or resolution in the same manner used to adopt the compact within 4 years after the date of adoption of the rule, such rule does not have further force and effect in any member state.

(4) Rules or amendments to the rules must be adopted at a regular or special meeting of the commission.

(5) Before adoption of a final rule by the commission, and at least 30 days in advance of the meeting at which the rule will be considered and voted upon, the commission shall file a notice of proposed rulemaking:

(a) On the website of the commission or other publicly accessible platform; and

(b) On the website of each member state's professional counseling licensing board or other publicly accessible platform or in the publication in which each state would otherwise publish proposed rules.

(6) The notice of proposed rulemaking must include:

(a) The proposed time, date, and location of the meeting in which the rule will be considered and voted upon;

(b) The text of the proposed rule or amendment and the reason for the proposed rule;

(c) A request for comments on the proposed rule from any interested person; and

(d) The manner in which interested persons may submit notice to the commission of their intention to attend the public hearing and any written comments.

(7) Before adoption of a proposed rule, the commission must allow persons to submit written data, facts, opinions, and arguments, which must be made available to the public.

(8) The commission shall grant an opportunity for a public hearing before it adopts a rule or an amendment if a hearing is requested by:

(a) At least 25 persons who submit comments independently of each other;

(b) A state or federal governmental subdivision or agency; or

(c) An association that has at least 25 members.

(9) If a hearing is held on the proposed rule or amendment, the commission must publish the place, time, and date of the scheduled public hearing. If the hearing is held through electronic means, the commission must publish the mechanism for access to the electronic hearing.

(a) All persons wishing to be heard at the hearing must notify the executive director of the commission or other designated member in writing of their desire to appear and testify at the hearing at least 5 business days before the scheduled date of the hearing.

(b) Hearings must be conducted in a manner providing each person who wishes to comment a fair and reasonable opportunity to comment orally or in writing.

(c) All hearings must be recorded. A copy of the recording must be made available on request.

(d) This section may not be construed to require a separate hearing on each rule. Rules may be grouped at hearings required by this section for the convenience of the commission.

(10) If the commission does not receive a written notice of intent to attend the public hearing by interested parties, the commission may proceed with adoption of the proposed rule without a public hearing.

(11) Following the scheduled hearing date, or by the close of business on the scheduled hearing date if the hearing was not held, the commission shall consider all written and oral comments received.

(12) The commission, by majority vote of all members, shall take final action on the proposed rule and shall determine the effective date of the rule based on the rulemaking record and the full text of the rule.

(13) Upon determination that an emergency exists, the commission may consider and adopt an emergency rule without prior notice, opportunity for comment, or hearing, provided that the usual rulemaking procedures provided in the compact and in this section are retroactively applied to the rule as soon as reasonably possible, but no later than 90 days after the effective date of the rule. For purposes of this subsection, an emergency rule is one that must be adopted immediately in order to:

(a) Meet an imminent threat to public health, safety, or welfare;

(b) Prevent a loss of commission or member state funds;

(c) Meet a deadline for the adoption of an administrative rule established by federal law or rule; or

(d) Protect public health and safety.

(14) The commission or an authorized committee of the commission may direct revisions to a previously adopted rule or amendment for purposes of correcting typographical errors, errors in format, errors in consistency, or grammatical errors.

Public notice of any revision must be posted on the website of the commission. Revisions are subject to challenge by any person for a period of 30 days after posting. A revision may be challenged only on grounds that the revision results in a material change to a rule. A challenge must be made in writing and delivered to the chair of the commission before the end of the notice period. If a challenge is not made, the revision takes effect without further action. If a revision is challenged, the revision may not take effect without the approval of the commission.

ARTICLE XII

OVERSIGHT; DEFAULT, TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE, AND TERMINATION; DISPUTE RESOLUTION; AND ENFORCEMENT

(1) OVERSIGHT.—

(a) The executive, legislative, and judicial branches of state government in each member state shall enforce the compact and take all actions necessary and appropriate to effectuate the compact's purposes and intent. The compact and the rules adopted thereunder have standing as statutory law.

(b) All courts shall take judicial notice of the compact and the rules in any judicial or administrative proceeding in a member state pertaining to the subject matter of the compact which may affect the powers, responsibilities, or actions of the commission.

(c) The commission is entitled to receive service of process in any judicial or administrative proceeding specified in paragraph (b) and has standing to intervene in such a proceeding for all purposes. Failure to provide service of process to the commission renders a judgment or an order void as to the commission, the compact, or adopted rules.

(2) DEFAULT, TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE, AND TERMINATION.—

(a) If the commission determines that a member state has defaulted in the performance of its obligations or responsibilities under the compact or adopted rules, the commission must:

1. Provide written notice to the defaulting state and other member states of the nature of the default, the proposed means of curing the default, and any other action to be taken by the commission; and

2. Provide remedial training and specific technical assistance regarding the default.

(b) If a state in default fails to cure the default, the defaulting state may be terminated from the compact upon an affirmative vote of a majority of the member states, and all rights, privileges, and benefits conferred by the compact are terminated on the effective date of termination. A cure of the default does not relieve the offending state of obligations or liabilities incurred during the period of default.

(c) Termination of membership in the compact may be imposed only after all other means of securing compliance have been exhausted. The commission shall submit a notice of intent to suspend or terminate a defaulting member state to that state's governor, to the majority and minority leaders of that state's legislature, and to each member state.

(d) A member state that has been terminated is responsible for all assessments, obligations, and liabilities incurred through the effective date of termination, including obligations that extend beyond the effective date of termination.

(e) The commission may not bear any costs related to a member state that is found to be in default or that has been terminated from the compact, unless agreed upon in writing between the commission and the defaulting member state.

(f) The defaulting member state may appeal the action of the commission by petitioning the United States District Court for the District of Columbia or the federal district where the commission has its principal offices. The prevailing party must be awarded all costs of such litigation, including reasonable attorney fees.

(3) DISPUTE RESOLUTION.—

(a) Upon request by a member state, the commission shall attempt to resolve disputes related to the compact which arise among member states and between member and nonmember states.

(b) The commission shall adopt rules providing for both mediation and binding dispute resolution for disputes as appropriate.

(4) ENFORCEMENT.—

(a) The commission, in the reasonable exercise of its discretion, shall enforce the provisions and rules of the compact.

(b) By majority vote, the commission may initiate legal action in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia or the federal district where the commission has its principal offices against a member state in default to enforce compliance with the compact and its adopted rules and bylaws. The relief sought may include both injunctive relief and damages. If judicial enforcement is necessary, the prevailing party must be awarded all costs of such litigation, including reasonable attorney fees.

(c) The remedies under this article are not the exclusive remedies to the commission. The commission may pursue any other remedies available under federal or state law.

ARTICLE XIII
DATE OF IMPLEMENTATION OF THE COUNSELING COMPACT COMMISSION AND ASSOCIATED RULES, WITHDRAWAL, AND AMENDMENT

(1) The compact becomes effective on the date on which the compact is enacted into law in the 10th member state. The provisions that become effective at that time are limited to the powers granted to the commission relating to assembly and the adoption of rules. Thereafter, the commission shall meet and exercise rulemaking powers necessary for implementation and administration of the compact.

(2) Any state that joins the compact subsequent to the commission's initial adoption of the rules is subject to the rules as they exist on the date on which the compact becomes law in that state. Any rule that has been previously adopted by the commission has the full force and effect of law on the day the compact becomes law in that state.

(3) Any member state may withdraw from the compact by enacting a statute repealing the compact.

(a) A member state's withdrawal does not take effect until 6 months after enactment of the repealing statute.

(b) Withdrawal does not affect the continuing requirement of the withdrawing state's professional counseling licensing board to comply with the investigative and adverse action reporting requirements of the compact before the effective date of withdrawal.

(4) The compact may not be construed to invalidate or prevent any professional counseling licensure agreement or other cooperative arrangement between a member state and a nonmember state which does not conflict with the compact.

(5) The compact may be amended by the member states. An amendment to the compact is not effective and binding upon any member state until it is enacted into the laws of all member states.

ARTICLE XIV

BINDING EFFECT OF COMPACT AND OTHER LAWS

(1) A licensee providing professional counseling services in a remote state under the privilege to practice shall adhere to the laws and regulations, including scope of practice, of the remote state.

(2) The compact does not prevent the enforcement of any other law of a member state which is not inconsistent with the compact.

(3) Any laws in a member state which conflict with the compact are superseded to the extent of the conflict.

(4) Any lawful actions of the commission, including all rules and bylaws properly adopted by the commission, are binding on the member states.

(5) All permissible agreements between the commission and the member states are binding in accordance with their terms.

(6) If any provision of the compact exceeds the constitutional limits imposed on the legislature of any member state, the provision shall be ineffective to the extent of the conflict with the constitutional provision in question in that member state.

ARTICLE XV

CONSTRUCTION AND SEVERABILITY

The compact must be liberally construed so as to effectuate the purposes thereof. The provisions of the compact are severable, and if any phrase, clause, sentence, or provision of the compact is declared to be contrary to the constitution of any member state or of the United States or the applicability thereof to any government, agency, person, or circumstance is held invalid, the validity of the remainder of the compact and the applicability thereof to any government, agency, person, or circumstance is not affected thereby. If the compact is held contrary to the constitution of any member state, the compact remains in full force and effect as to the remaining member states and in full force and effect as to the member state affected as to all severable matters.

Section 2. Subsection (10) of section 456.073, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

(10) The complaint and all information obtained pursuant to the investigation by the department are confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) until 10 days after probable cause has been found to exist by the probable cause panel or by the department, or until the regulated professional or subject of the investigation waives his or her privilege of confidentiality, whichever occurs first. The department shall report any significant investigation information relating to a nurse holding a multistate license to the coordinated licensure information system pursuant to s. 464.0095, and any significant investigatory information relating to a health care practitioner practicing under the Professional Counselors Licensure Compact to the data system pursuant to s. 491.017 instead of this subsection. Upon completion of the investigation and a recommendation by the department to find probable cause, and pursuant to a written request by the subject or the subject's attorney, the department shall provide the subject an opportunity to inspect the investigative file or, at the subject's expense, forward to the subject a copy of the investigative file. Notwithstanding s. 456.057, the subject may inspect or receive a copy of any expert witness report or patient record connected with the investigation if the subject agrees in writing to maintain the confidentiality of any information received under this subsection until 10 days after probable cause is found and to maintain the confidentiality of patient records pursuant to s. 456.057. The subject may file a written response to the information contained in the investigative file. Such response must be filed within 20 days of mailing by the department, unless an extension of time has been granted by the department. This subsection does not prohibit the department from providing such information to any law enforcement agency or to any other regulatory agency.

Section 3. Subsection (5) of section 456.076, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

456.076 Impaired practitioner programs.—

(5) A consultant shall enter into a participant contract with an impaired practitioner and shall establish the terms of monitoring and shall include the terms in a participant contract. In establishing the terms of monitoring, the consultant may consider the recommendations of one or more approved evaluators, treatment programs, or treatment providers. A consultant may modify the terms of monitoring if the consultant concludes, through the course of monitoring, that extended, additional, or amended terms of monitoring are required for the protection of the health, safety, and welfare of the public. If the impaired practitioner is a health care practitioner practicing under the Professional Counselors Licensure Compact pursuant to s. 491.017, the terms of the monitoring contract must include the impaired practitioner's withdrawal from all practice under the compact in this state.

The board may make a one-time exception to the requirements of this subsection in emergency or hardship cases, as defined by board rule.

(7) An individual who has held a provisional license issued by the board may not apply for an associate ~~intern~~ registration in the same profession.

Section 13. Effective July 1, 2022, paragraph (c) of subsection (1), paragraph (c) of subsection (3), and paragraphs (b) and (c) of subsection (4) of section 491.005, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

491.005 Licensure by examination.—

(1) CLINICAL SOCIAL WORK.—Upon verification of documentation and payment of a fee not to exceed $200, as set by board rule, plus the actual per applicant cost to the department for purchase of the examination from the American Association of State Social Worker's Boards or a similar national organization, the department shall issue a license as a clinical social worker to an applicant who the board certifies:

(c) Has had at least 2 years of clinical social work experience, which took place subsequent to completion of a graduate degree in social work at an institution meeting the accreditation requirements of this section, under the supervision of a licensed clinical social worker or the equivalent who is a qualified supervisor as determined by the board. An individual who intends to practice in Florida to satisfy clinical experience requirements must register pursuant to s. 491.0045 before commencing practice. If the applicant's graduate program was not a program which emphasized direct clinical patient or client health care services as described in subparagraph (b)2., the supervised experience requirement must take place after the applicant has completed a minimum of 15 semester hours or 22 quarter hours of the coursework required. A doctoral associateship ~~internship~~ may be applied toward the clinical social work experience requirement. A licensed mental health professional must be on the premises when clinical services are provided by a registered associate ~~intern~~ in a private practice setting.

(3) MARRIAGE AND FAMILY THERAPY.—Upon verification of documentation and payment of a fee not to exceed $200, as set by board rule, plus the actual cost of the purchase of the examination from the Association of Marital and Family Therapy Regulatory Board, or similar national organization, the department shall issue a license as a marriage and family therapist to an applicant who the board certifies:

(c) Has had at least 2 years of clinical experience during which 50 percent of the applicant's clients were receiving marriage and family therapy services, which must be at the post-master's level under the supervision of a licensed marriage and family therapist with at least 5 years of experience, or the equivalent, who is a qualified supervisor as determined by the board. An individual who intends to practice in Florida to satisfy the clinical experience requirements must register pursuant to s. 491.0045 before commencing practice. If a graduate has a master's degree with a major emphasis in marriage and family therapy or a closely related field which did not include all of the coursework required by paragraph (b), credit for the post-master's level clinical experience may not commence until the applicant has completed a minimum of 10 of the courses required by paragraph (b), as determined by the board, and at least 6 semester hours or 9 quarter hours of the course credits must have been completed in the area of marriage and family systems, theories, or techniques. Within the 2 years of required experience, the applicant shall provide direct individual, group, or family therapy and counseling to cases including those involving unmarried dyads, married couples, separating and divorcing couples, and family groups that include children. A doctoral associateship ~~internship~~ may be applied toward the clinical experience requirement. A licensed mental health professional must be on the premises when clinical services are provided by a registered associate ~~intern~~ in a private practice setting.

For the purposes of dual licensure, the department shall license as a marriage and family therapist any person who meets the requirements of s. 491.0057. Fees for dual licensure may not exceed those stated in this subsection.

(4) MENTAL HEALTH COUNSELING.—Upon verification of documentation and payment of a fee not to exceed $200, as set by board rule, plus the actual per applicant cost of purchase of the examination from the National Board for Certified Counselors or its successor organization, the department shall issue a license as a mental health counselor to an applicant who the board certifies:

(b)1. Has a minimum of an earned master's degree from a mental health counseling program accredited by the Council for the Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs which consists of at least 60 semester hours or 80 quarter hours of clinical and didactic instruction, including a course in human sexuality and a course in substance abuse. If the master's degree is earned from a program related to the practice of mental health counseling which is not accredited by the Council for the Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs, then the coursework and practicum, associateship ~~internship~~, or fieldwork must consist of at least 60 semester hours or 80 quarter hours and meet all of the following requirements:

a. Thirty-three semester hours or 44 quarter hours of graduate coursework, which must include a minimum of 3 semester hours or 4 quarter hours of graduate-level coursework in each of the following 11 content areas: counseling theories and practice; human growth and development; diagnosis and treatment of psychopathology; human sexuality; group theories and practice; individual evaluation and assessment; career and lifestyle assessment; research and program evaluation; social and cultural foundations; substance abuse; and legal, ethical, and professional standards issues in the practice of mental health counseling. Courses in research, thesis or dissertation work, practicums, associateships ~~internships~~, or fieldwork may not be applied toward this requirement.

b. A minimum of 3 semester hours or 4 quarter hours of graduate-level coursework addressing diagnostic processes, including differential diagnosis and the use of the current diagnostic tools, such as the current edition of the American Psychiatric Association's Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders. The graduate program must have emphasized the common core curricular experience.

c. The equivalent, as determined by the board, of at least 700 hours of university-sponsored supervised clinical practicum, associateship ~~internship~~, or field experience that includes at least 280 hours of direct client services, as required in the accrediting standards of the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs for mental health counseling programs. This experience may not be used to satisfy the post-master's clinical experience requirement.

2. Has provided additional documentation if a course title that appears on the applicant's transcript does not clearly identify the content of the coursework. The documentation must include, but is not limited to, a syllabus or catalog description published for the course.

Education and training in mental health counseling must have been received in an institution of higher education that, at the time the applicant graduated, was fully accredited by a regional accrediting body recognized by the Council for Higher Education

Accreditation or its successor organization or publicly recognized as a member in good standing with the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada, or an institution of higher education located outside the United States and Canada which, at the time the applicant was enrolled and at the time the applicant graduated, maintained a standard of training substantially equivalent to the standards of training of those institutions in the United States which are accredited by a regional accrediting body recognized by the Council for Higher Education Accreditation or its successor organization. Such foreign education and training must have been received in an institution or program of higher education officially recognized by the government of the country in which it is located as an institution or program to train students to practice as mental health counselors. The applicant has the burden of establishing that the requirements of this provision have been met, and the board shall require documentation, such as an evaluation by a foreign equivalency determination service, as evidence that the applicant's graduate degree program and education were equivalent to an accredited program in this country. Beginning July 1, 2025, an applicant must have a master's degree from a program that is accredited by the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs which consists of at least 60 semester hours or 80 quarter hours to apply for licensure under this paragraph.

(c) Has had at least 2 years of clinical experience in mental health counseling, which must be at the post-master's level under the supervision of a licensed mental health counselor or the equivalent who is a qualified supervisor as determined by the board. An individual who intends to practice in Florida to satisfy the clinical experience requirements must register pursuant to s. 491.0045 before commencing practice. If a graduate has a master's degree with a major related to the practice of mental health counseling which did not include all the coursework required under sub-subparagraphs (b)1.a. and b., credit for the post-master's level clinical experience may not commence until the applicant has completed a minimum of seven of the courses required under sub-subparagraphs (b)1.a. and b., as determined by the board, one of which must be a course in psychopathology or abnormal psychology. A doctoral associateship ~~internship~~ may be applied toward the clinical experience requirement. A licensed mental health professional must be on the premises when clinical services are provided by a registered associate ~~intern~~ in a private practice setting.

Section 14. Effective July 1, 2022, paragraphs (f), (n), (o), (p), (r), (s), and (u) of subsection (1) of section 491.009, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

If the licensee, registered associate ~~intern~~, or certificateholder refuses to comply with such order, the department's order directing the examination may be enforced by filing a petition for enforcement in the circuit court in the circuit in which the licensee, registered associate ~~intern~~, or certificateholder resides or does business. The licensee, registered associate ~~intern~~, or certificateholder against whom the petition is filed may ~~shall~~ not be named or identified by initials in any public court records or documents, and the proceedings must ~~shall~~ be closed to the public. COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 358 authorizes Florida to participate in the Professional Counselors Licensure Compact (counseling compact or compact) for the licensure of mental health counselors and makes changes to the practice acts for mental health counselors, a clinical social workers, and marriage and family therapists. The compact takes effect upon its enactment by 10 states, and to date, only two states have enacted the compact. The bill grants a licensed professional counselor who is licensed in his or her primary state of residence (the licensee's "home state") the ability to apply and be granted a privilege to practice professional counseling in another member state, both in-person and through telehealth.

The bill also:

- Requires the Department of Health (department) to report any significant investigatory information relating to a health care practitioner practicing under the compact to the compact's licensure data system.
- Provides for the participation of impaired practitioners who are practicing under the compact in impaired practitioner programs.
- Requires the Board of Clinical Social Work, Marriage and Family Therapy, and Mental Health Counseling (Board) to appoint an individual to serve as Florida's delegate on the Counseling Compact Commission (commission).
- Authorizes the Board to take adverse action against a mental health counselor's privilege to practice under the compact and authorizes the Board to impose grounds for discipline.

- Designates the state delegate and other members or employees of the commission as state agents for the purpose of applying waivers of sovereign immunity.

According to the department, the provisions of the bill relating to the compact will have a significant fiscal impact on the department requiring one additional full-time equivalent (FTE) position to support the workload associated with processing applications and issuing initial and renewal licenses and privileges to practice. The bill authorizes member states to charge a fee for granting a privilege to practice under the compact. The number of applicants for compact licensure is indeterminate and the department indicates that the fiscal impact cannot be calculated.[1]

The commission may collect an annual assessment from each member state or impose fees on other parties to cover the cost of operations and activities. The annual membership cost with the Professional Counselors Licensure Compact is unknown at this time.

The bill amends a provision authorizing the Board to make a one-time exception for mental health counselor, clinical social worker, and marriage and family therapist intern registration requirements for emergency or hardship cases by removing the requirement that the candidate pass a theory and practice examination, effective upon the act becoming a law.

The bill amends the practice acts for mental health counselors, a clinical social workers, and marriage and family therapists to replace the words "intern" and "internship" with "associate" and "associateship," effective July 1, 2022.

The bill provides an effective date contingent on the enactment of the compact into law by 10 states, except as otherwise expressly provided in the bill, and requires the department to notify the Division of Law Revision in that event.

II. Present Situation:

Occupational Licensure Compacts

Interstate compacts are authorized under the U.S. Constitution, Article I, Section 10, cl. 3.[2] Compacts that affect a power delegated to the federal government or that affect or alter the political balance within the federal system require the consent of Congress.[3] The licensing of professions is predominantly a state responsibility as each state has developed its own regulations, oversight boards, and requirements for dozens of professions and occupations.

In September 2018, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) looked at the issue of state-by-state occupational licensure and its unintended consequences. In particular, the FTC noted that state-by-state licensing can have a particularly hard effect on those in the military and their spouses who are required to move frequently, those who provide services across state lines, or deliver services through telehealth.[4] The FTC also suggested that improved licensed portability would enhance competition, choice, and access for consumers, especially where services may be in short supply.[5]

According to the Council of State Governments (CSG), since January 2016, 170 separate pieces of licensure compact legislation have been passed in the United States.[6] To date, 42 states and territories have enacted occupational licensure compacts for nurses, physicians, physical therapists, emergency medical technicians, psychologists, speech therapists, audiologists, occupational therapists, and counselors.[7]

Nurse Licensure Compact

On January 19, 2018, licensed Florida nurses became eligible to apply for a multi-state license under the enhanced Nurse Licensure Compact (eNLC.)[8] The eNLC allows registered nurses and licensed practical nurses who hold licensure in one Compact state to practice in any of the 27 Compact states without obtaining additional state licenses. The Department of Health (department) reports that the eNLC has effectively reduced regulatory requirements by eliminating the need for nurses to obtain a separate license to practice in different states.[9] Florida joined the Nurse Licensure Compact upon the passage of HB 1061 during the 2016 regular Legislative Session.[10] The eNLC was officially enacted when North Carolina Governor Roy Cooper, signed legislation to become the 26th state to join the compact on July 20, 2017.[11] That date became the effective date for the start of the compact commission, an agency governing the compact.[12]

Interstate Compact for Licensed Professional Counselors

The Interstate Compact for Licensed Professional Counselors (counseling compact or compact) will become effective after 10 states enact the legislation for the compact. The counseling compact has passed and been signed into law in two states. On May 10, 2021, Georgia Governor Brian Kemp signed HB 395 and subsequently on May 18, 2021, Maryland Gov. Larry Hogan signed SB 571/HB 736.[13] The compact has also been introduced this year in Tennessee (SB 1027 HB 0959), Nebraska (LB 554), Ohio (SB 204), and North Carolina (HB 791).[14]

Interstate Licensure Compact for Social Work[15]

The National Association of Social Workers is beginning to pursue its own Interstate Licensure Compact for Social Work. That draft compact has not yet been finalized.

Model of Marriage and Family Therapy License Portability[16]

Rather than pursue a compact, the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy has created a Model of Marriage and Family Therapy (MFT) License Portability. This portability model is a full endorsement model, meaning that a state will license an applicant as a licensed marriage and family therapist if the applicant has a valid and unrestricted license to practice marriage and family therapy in another state.

Mental Health Counseling in Florida

The licensed Mental Health Counseling profession continues to expand in Florida and has reported an average growth in recent years of more than 1,000 new licensees per year, increasing the total licensed population to 15,518 practitioners.[17]

Florida law delineates between an application by examination for initial licensure and application by endorsement for mental health counselors who have previously held an active, unencumbered, license in another state. The application for licensure as a mental health counselor includes a mandatory disclosure of criminal history, but applicants are not required to submit fingerprints to complete a criminal background check.[18] Section 456.0135, F.S., provides the department with authority to mandate criminal background checks for specified professions and mental health professions regulated by ch. 491, F.S., are not included in the list of specified professions.

Licensure of Mental Health Counselors by Examination

Pursuant to s. 491.005(4), F.S., the department shall license an applicant as a mental health counselor, if he or she:

- Pays the appropriate fee;
- Possesses a minimum of a master's degree from a regionally accredited program in Mental Health Counseling or a closely related field that consists of at least 60 semester hours or 80 quarter hours and specific graduate coursework, including: Counseling Theories and Practice, Human Growth and Development, Diagnosis and Treatment of Psychopathology, Human Sexuality, Group Theories and Practice, Individual Evaluation and Assessment, Career and Lifestyle Assessment, Research and Program Evaluation, Social and Cultural Foundations, Substance Abuse, and Legal, Ethical, and Professional Standards Issues. Beginning July 1, 2025, an applicant must have a master's degree from a program that is accredited by the

Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP) which consists of at least 60 semester hours or 80 quarter hours to be licensed;[19]
- Has had at least two years of clinical experience in mental health counseling. Initial applicants must provide documentation to demonstrate completion of a 700-hour university-sponsored clinical practicum or internship with at least 280 hours of direct client services. After graduation, registered mental health counselor interns are required to complete post-graduate supervised experience conducted under the supervision of a board-approved qualified supervisor with at least 100 hours of supervision in no less than 100 weeks. Supervision experience hours are accrued on an hour-for-hour basis by providing face-to-face psychotherapy with clients. Registered interns are required to meet with their qualified supervisor every two weeks to review cases and to receive guidance;
- Has passed the National Clinical Mental Health Counseling Examination (NCMHCE) developed by the National Board for Certified Counselors (NBCC);[20]
- Completes a three-hour course on HIV/Aids pursuant to s. 491.0065, F.S.; and
- Agrees to complete a two-hour domestic violence course within six months of licensure.[21]

Licensure of Mental Health Counselors by Endorsement

Applicants by endorsement who have practiced mental health counseling in another state for at least three out of the last five years are considered to have completed all minimum education, practicum, and supervision requirements and are required to provide limited documentation to become licensed.[22] As a method to streamline licensure for experienced mental health counselors, Florida law does not require endorsement candidates to provide proof of education nor demonstrate completion of supervised experience.[23] Pursuant to s. 491.006, F.S., the department shall license an applicant as a mental health counselor if he or she:
- Pays the appropriate fee;
- Holds a valid license to practice in another state and have practiced for at least three out of the last five years preceding licensure;
- Demonstrates, in a manner designated by rule of the Board, knowledge of the laws and rules governing the practice of mental health counseling in Florida. Rule 64B4-3.0035 requires these applicants to complete an eight hour course and obtain a passing score on a corresponding examination;
- Has passed the NCMHCE or a licensing examination substantially equivalent to the NCMHCE in another state or in this state;
- Completes a three-hour course on HIV/Aids pursuant to s. 491.0065, F.S.;
- Agrees to complete a two-hour domestic violence course within six months of licensure;[24] and
- Holds a license in good standing and is not under investigation in Florida or another jurisdiction for an act which would constitute a violation of ch. 491, F.S.

Mental Health Counseling in Florida through Telehealth

In 2019, the Legislature passed and the Governor approved CS/CS/HB 23, which created s. 456.47, F.S. The bill became effective on July 1, 2019.[25] It authorized Florida-licensed health care providers, including mental health counselors who are either Florida-licensed or licensed under a multi-state health care licensure compact of which Florida is a member state,[26] to use telehealth to deliver health care services within their respective scopes of practice.

The bill also authorized out-of-state health care providers to use telehealth to deliver health care services to Florida patients if they register with the department or the applicable board[27] and meet certain eligibility requirements.[28] A registered out-of-state telehealth provider may use telehealth, within the relevant scope of practice established by Florida law and rule, to provide health care services to Florida patients but is prohibited from opening an office in Florida and from providing in-person health care services to patients located in Florida.

The Legislature also passed HB 7067 in 2019 that would have required an out-of-state telehealth provider to pay an initial registration fee of $150 and a biennial registration renewal fee of $150, but the bill was vetoed by the Governor and did not become law.[29]

On March 21, 2020, Surgeon General Scott Rivkees executed the department's Emergency Order 20-003[30] to authorize certain out-of-state clinical social workers, marriage and family therapists, mental health counselors, and psychologists to provide telehealth in Florida without the need to register as a telehealth provider under s. 456.47(4), F.S. These emergency orders were extended and expired on June 26, 2021.[31] Out-of-state health care practitioners are no longer authorized to perform telehealth services for patients in Florida unless they become licensed or registered in Florida.

Florida-licensed providers may not provide health care services to clients located in other states without express authorization from each state.

Sovereign Immunity

expressly waived. The Florida Constitution recognizes that the concept of sovereign immunity applies to the state, although the state may waive its immunity through an enactment of general law.[32]

In 1973, the Legislature enacted s. 768.28, F.S., a partial waiver of sovereign immunity, allowing individuals to sue state government and its subdivisions.[33] According to subsection (1), individuals may sue the government under circumstances where a private person "would be liable to the claimant, in accordance with the general laws of [the] state . . ." Section 768.28(5), F.S., imposes a $200,000 limit on the government's liability to a single person, and a $300,000 total limit on liability for claims arising out of a single incident.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 creates the Professional Counselors Licensure Compact as s. 491.017, F.S., which enters Florida into the compact. The compact has 15 articles that establish the compact's administration and components and prescribe how the commission will oversee the compact and conduct its business. The table below summarizes the new statutory language, by article, which creates the components of the compact.

Provisions of the Professional Counselors Licensure Compact
Article	Title	Description
		• Require licensees to pass a nationally recognized exam. • Require licensees to have a 60 semester hour, or 90 quarter hour, master's degree in counseling or 60 semester hours, or 90 quarter hours, of graduate coursework in relevant areas. • Require licensees to complete a supervised postgraduate professional experience, as defined by the commission. • Have a mechanism in place for receiving and investigating complaints about licensees. (Initial Florida applicants must possess a master's degree from a regionally accredited program in mental health counseling or a closely related field that consists of at least 60 semester hours or 80 quarter hours and required graduate coursework. Initial Florida applicants must also complete two years of clinical experience in mental health counseling as a registered mental health counselor intern.) A member state must: • Participate fully in the compact commission's licensure data system. • Notify the commission of any adverse action against or of current significant investigative information regarding a licensee. • Conduct criminal background checks of candidates for an initial privilege to practice. • Comply with rules of the commission, established in article IX. • Grant the privilege to practice professional counseling to a licensee holding a valid, unencumbered license in another member state. • Provide for the state's commissioner to attend the meetings of the commission. A member state may charge a fee for granting a privilege to practice. A licensed professional counselor may only utilize the compact if their home state joins the compact.
IV	Privilege to Practice	A licensee may seek a privilege to practice within a remote state. To exercise the privilege to practice professional counseling within a remote state, a licensee must: • Hold a license in his or her home state which must be a member of the compact. • Have had no encumbrance or restriction against any license or privilege to practice within the previous two years.

Provisions of the Professional Counselors Licensure Compact
Article	Title	Description
		• Meet any continuing education and jurisprudence requirements of the remote state and pay all applicable fees. • Report to the commission any adverse action, encumbrance, or restriction imposed on the licensee by a non-member state within 30 days from the date of the action. A privilege to practice is valid until the expiration date of the practitioner's home state license. A licensee providing professional counseling in a remote state under the privilege to practice must adhere to the laws and regulations of the remote state. If a licensee's home state license is encumbered, the licensee loses the privilege to practice in any remote state for the next two years. If a licensee's privilege to practice is removed by a member state, the licensee may lose their privilege to practice in member states for the next two years.
V	Obtaining a New Home State License based on a Privilege to Practice	A licensee may hold a home state license in only one member state at a time. A licensee who moves from one member state to another member state may obtain a new, expedited home state license in the new state of residence if he or she holds a privilege to practice in the new state. The licensee will be required to complete a new FBI fingerprint-based criminal background check if not previously performed, complete any required state-level background check, meet any jurisprudence requirements of the new home state, and pay all applicable fees. (Florida-licensed mental health counselors are not currently required to be fingerprinted and background-screened as a condition of licensure. See s. 456.0135, F.S. If the compact is enacted in Florida, single-state applicants and registered interns would not be required to submit to a criminal history check, but applicants under the compact would be.) If a new home state license is granted, the former home state must convert the former home state license into a privilege to practice.
VI	Active Duty Military Personnel and their Spouses	Active duty military personnel, or their spouse, may designate a home state where the individual has a current license in good standing. This state serves as the individual's home state for the duration of the service member's active duty.

Article	Title	Description
VII	Compact Privilege to Practice Telehealth	Member states must recognize the right of a licensed professional counselor to practice professional counseling in any member state through telehealth under a privilege to practice. A licensee providing telehealth services in a remote state must adhere to the laws and regulations of that state.
VIII	Adverse Actions	Only a practitioner's home state has the power to take adverse action against a home state license. Home states must give the same priority and effect to reported conduct received from a member state as it would if the conduct had occurred within the home state. The home state must apply its own state laws to determine appropriate action in such cases. Remote states may take adverse action against a counselor's privilege to practice within that member state and may issue enforceable subpoenas for witnesses and evidence from other member states. A member state, if authorized by state law, may recover from the affected licensed professional counselor the costs of investigations and dispositions of any cases resulting from adverse action taken against that licensed professional counselor. Member states shall share any investigative, litigation, or compliance materials in furtherance of any joint or individual investigation initiated under the compact. If a member state takes adverse action, it must promptly notify the administrator of the data system. The administrator shall promptly notify the licensee's home state of any adverse actions by remote states. The bill maintains the right for state boards to require licensees to participate in impaired practitioner programs.
IX	Establishment of Counseling Compact Commission	The Counseling Compact Commission (commission) is established by the member states as a joint public agency. Judicial proceedings by or against the commission must be brought solely and exclusively in a court of competent jurisdiction where the principal office of the commission is located. The commission may waive venue and jurisdictional defenses to the extent that it adopts or consents to participate in alternative dispute resolution proceedings. Nothing in the compact may be construed as a waiver of sovereign immunity.

Provisions of the Professional Counselors Licensure Compact
Article	Title	Description
		Each member state is entitled to one delegate appointed by each member state's licensing board who must be either a licensed professional counselor, a public member, or an administrator of the board. Each delegate has one vote on commission affairs. The commission is directed to establish a term of office for delegates and may establish term limits. The commission must meet at least once during each calendar year and all meetings must be open to the public. The commission, or the executive committee of the commission may convene in a closed, nonpublic meeting under certain circumstances. (See "Public Records/Open Meetings Issues" in Section IV of this analysis.) The commission must keep detailed minutes. The commission may establish and maintain a code of ethics, bylaws, rules, a budget, financial records, and may initiate or prosecute legal proceedings or actions in the name of the commission, in order to carry out the compact. The commission must select an executive committee composed of up to eleven members: seven members of the commission and up to four ex-officio, nonvoting members from four recognized national professional counselor organizations. The executive committee must meet at least annually and must, at a minimum, do all of the following: • Make recommendations to the commission for any changes to the rules, bylaws, compact legislation, fees paid by member states, and fees charged to licensees for the privilege to practice. • Prepare and recommend the budget. • Maintain financial records. • Monitor compliance of member states and provide compliance reports to the commission. • Establish additional committees as necessary. The commission must pay or provide for the payment of certain reasonable expenses and may accept appropriate revenue. The commission may not incur obligations of any kind before securing funds adequate to meet the same. Receipts and disbursements of funds handled by the commission must be audited annually by a certified or licensed public accountant. The commission may levy and collect an annual assessment from each member state or impose fees on other parties to cover the cost of the operations and activities of the commission and its staff. Such assessments and fees must be in a total amount sufficient to cover its annual budget as approved each year for which revenue is not provided by other sources. The aggregate annual assessment amount must be allocated based on a formula to be determined by the commission, which must adopt a rule binding on all member states. Commission members and employees are immune from liability related to their positions except in cases of wanton misconduct.

X	Data System	The Commission must provide for the development, operation, and maintenance of a coordinated database and reporting system (the data system) containing licensure, adverse action, and investigative information on all licensed professional counselors in member states. A member state must submit a uniform data set to the data system on all licensees to whom the compact is applicable, as required by the rules of the commission. Investigative information pertaining to a licensee in any member state may be made available only to other member states. The commission must promptly notify all member states of any adverse action taken against a licensee or an individual applying for a license. Member states reporting information to the data system may designate information that may not be shared with the public without the express permission of the reporting state. (See "Public Records/Open Meetings Issues" in Section IV of this analysis.)
XI	Rulemaking	The Commission shall adopt reasonable rules to effectively and efficiently achieve the purposes of the compact. If the commission issues a rule that exceeds its authority under the compact, such a rule is void and has no force or effect. Rules carry the force of law in all member states. If a majority of the legislatures of member states reject a rule by enactment of a statute or a resolution in the same manner used to adopt the compact within 4 years after the date of the adoption of a rule, such rule does not have further force or effect in any member state. Before adoption of a final rule by the commission, and at least 30 days in advance of the meeting at which the rule will be considered and voted upon, the commission must file a notice of proposed rulemaking, which must include the text of the proposed rule, on the commission's website and on the website of each member state's professional licensing board. Interested persons may submit notice to the commission of their intention to attend a public hearing and may submit written comments before the commission may adopt a proposed rule. The commission must grant an opportunity for a public hearing if it is requested by at least 25 independent persons, a state or federal governmental subdivision or agency, or an association that has at least 25 members. Rules may be grouped at public hearings for the convenience of the commission. The commission may consider and adopt an emergency rule without prior notice, opportunity for comment, or hearing under certain circumstances.

XII	Oversight; Default, Technical Assistance, and Termination Dispute Resolution; and Enforcement	If the commission determines that a member state has defaulted in the performance of its obligations or responsibilities under the compact or adopted rules, the commission must provide written notice, remedial training, and technical assistance to the state. If a state fails to cure a default, the defaulting state may be terminated from the compact upon an affirmative vote of a majority of the member states and only after all other means of securing compliance have been exhausted. The commission shall attempt to resolve any compact-related disputes that may arise between states. The commission is responsible for enforcing the provisions and rules of the compact.
XIII	Date of Implementation of the Counseling Compact Commission and Associated Rules, Withdrawal, and Amendment	The compact becomes effective on the date on which the compact is enacted into law in the 10th member state. Thereafter, the commission must meet and exercise rulemaking powers necessary for the implementation and administration of the compact. States that join the compact after this date are subject to the rules of the commission as they exist on the date when the compact becomes law in that state. Member states withdraw from the compact by enacting a statute repealing the compact. A state's withdrawal takes effect 6 months after enactment of the repealing statute. The member states may amend the compact, but changes do not take effect until enacted into the laws of all member states.
XIV	Binding Effect of Compact and Other Laws	A licensee providing professional counseling services in a remote state under the privilege to practice must adhere to the laws and regulations, including scope of practice, of the remote state.

Provisions of the Professional Counselors Licensure Compact
Article	Title	Description
		All rules and bylaws properly adopted by the commission are binding on the member states. In the event of a conflict between a law of a member state and the compact, the state law is superseded to the extent of the conflict.
IV	Construction and Severability	The compact is to be liberally construed so as to effectuate its purposes. The compact's provisions are severable. If a provision of the compact is declared to conflict with the United States Constitution, all other provisions remain valid for all member states. If a provision is held contrary to a member state's constitution, the compact retains its full force in all other states, and all other provisions remain valid in the affected state.

Section 491.004(5), F.S., requires the Board of Clinical Social Work, Marriage & Family Therapy, and Mental Health Counseling to adopt rules to implement and enforce the provisions of ch. 491, F.S. Section 1 of the bill creates s. 491.017, F.S., thereby requiring the Board to adopt rules to implement and enforce the compact.

Section 2 amends s. 456.073, F.S., to require the department to report any significant investigatory information relating to a health care practitioner practicing under the compact to the data system. Investigatory information is typically gathered as the department investigates complaints and assesses the need to discipline a licensee.

Section 3 amends s. 456.076, F.S., to require a consultant (who operates an approved impaired practitioner program) entering into a participant contract with an impaired practitioner who is practicing under the compact, to establish terms in the monitoring contract that include the impaired practitioner's withdrawal from all practice under the compact.

Section 4 amends s. 491.003, F.S., to amend the definitions section within the practice acts for mental health counselors, a clinical social workers, and marriage and family therapists to replace the words "intern" and "internship" with "associate" and "associateship," effective July 1, 2022.

Section 5 amends s. 491.004, F.S., to require the Board to appoint an individual to serve as the state's delegate on the commission.

Section 6 amends 491.0045, F.S., to amend a provision authorizing the Board to make a one-time exception for mental health counselor, clinical social worker, and marriage and family therapist intern registration requirements for emergency or hardship cases by removing the requirement that the candidate pass the theory and practice examination described in s. 491.005(1)(d), (3)(d), and (4)(d), F.S., effective upon the date the act becomes a law.

Section 7 amends s. 491.005, F.S., to exempt a person licensed as a mental health counselor in another state who is practicing under the compact pursuant to s. 491.017, F.S., and only within the scope provided therein, from licensure by examination requirements, as applicable.

Section 8 amends s. 491.006, F.S., to exempt a person licensed as a mental health counselor in another state who is practicing under the compact pursuant to s. 491.017, F.S., and only within the scope provided therein, from licensure by endorsement requirements, as applicable.

Section 9 amends s. 491.009, F.S., to authorize the Board to take adverse action against a mental health counselor's privilege to practice under the compact and authorizes the Board impose grounds for discipline if the mental health counselor commits an act specified in subsection (1) of this section or in s. 456.072(1), F.S.

Section 10 amends s. 768.28, F.S., to designate as agents of the state, the individual appointed as the state's delegate on the commission when serving in that capacity, and any administrator, officer, executive director, employee, or representative of the commission, when acting within the scope of his or her employment, duties, or responsibilities in this state, for the purpose of applying waivers of sovereign immunity. This section also requires the commission to pay certain claims or judgments and authorizes the commission to maintain insurance coverage to pay such claims or judgments.

Section 11 requires the department to notify the Division of Law Revision upon the enactment of the compact into law by 10 states.

Sections 12 through 18 amend the practice acts for mental health counselors, a clinical social workers, and marriage and family therapists to replace the words "intern" and "internship" with "associate" and "associateship," effective July 1, 2022.

Section 19 provides an effective date contingent on the enactment of the compact into law by 10 states, except as otherwise expressly provided in the bill.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

A counselor's personal identifying information, other than the counselor's name, licensure status, or licensure number, may be entered into the system by the Department of Health (department) or the Board or may be obtained by the department or the Board from the data system as reported by another state.

A meeting or a portion of a meeting of the commission, or the executive committee of the commission may be closed if the commission's legal counsel or designee has certified that the meeting may be closed because the commission or executive committee of the commission must discuss any of the following:

- Pending litigation to which the commission is presently a party before a court or administrative agency in accordance with s. 286.011(8).
- Negotiation of contracts under competitive solicitation as provided in s. 286.0113(2).
- Disclosure of trade secrets or commercial or financial information that is privileged or confidential.
- Records made exempt under this section.
- Matters specifically exempted from disclosure by federal or member state law.

All minutes and documents of a closed meeting must remain under seal, subject to release by a majority vote of the commission or order of a court of competent jurisdiction.

These issues are addressed in linked bill, SB 590.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

Article VII, s. 19, of the State Constitution requires that the imposition of, or the authorization of, a new state tax or fee, as well as an increased state tax or fee, must be approved by two-thirds of the membership of each house of the Legislature and must be contained in a separate bill that contains no other subject. Article VII, s. 19(d)(1) of the State Constitution defines "fee" to mean "any charge or payment required by law, including any fee for service, fee or cost for licenses, and charge for service." The bill authorizes the counseling compact commission and the Board of Clinical Social Work, Marriage and Family Therapy, and Mental Health Counseling to impose a new state tax or fee.

The bill authorizes member states to charge a fee for granting a privilege to practice in their state. The bill requires a licensee seeking to practice under the compact to pay any applicable fees, including any state fee, for the privilege to practice. The bill requires a compact counselor who changes his or her primary state of residence by moving between two member states to pay all applicable fees to his or her new home state.

The bill authorizes the commission to levy and collect an annual assessment from each member state or impose fees on other parties to cover the cost of the operations and activities of the commission and its staff. Such assessments and fees must be in a total amount sufficient to cover its annual budget as approved each year for which revenue is not provided by other sources. The aggregate annual assessment amount must be allocated based on a formula to be determined by the commission, which must adopt a rule binding on all member states.

Section 491.004(5), F.S., requires the Board to adopt rules to implement and enforce the provisions of ch. 491, F.S. Section 1 of the bill creates the Professional Counseling Licensure Compact as s. 491.017, F.S., thereby requiring the Board to adopt rules to implement and enforce the compact, which may include the imposition of a fee for granting a privilege to practice in this state granting and a fee to cover the cost of the operations and activities of the commission, pursuant to the compact.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

The compact authorizes the commission to "adopt reasonable rules to effectively and efficiently achieve the purposes of the compact," and these rules carry the force of law in member states, which is potentially an unlawful delegation of legislative authority. If enacted into law, the state will bind itself to rules not yet promulgated and adopted by the commission.

The Legislature delegated similar rulemaking powers to the Nurse Licensure Compact when it adopted the compact language into statute. The rules adopted by the Nurse Licensure Compact are now applicable to Florida without the Legislature's subsequent approval, similar to what the state would encounter with the counseling compact adoption and included rulemaking provision. In the case of the counseling compact, should Florida find that rules adopted by the commission are not acceptable, the compact provides a mechanism for a majority of state legislatures to override commission rules. Furthermore, the state maintains the ability to withdraw from the compact.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

CS/CS/SB 358 authorizes the commission to levy and collect an annual assessment from each member state or impose fees on other parties to cover the cost of the operations and activities of the commission and its staff. Such assessments and fees must be in a total amount sufficient to cover its annual budget as approved each year for which revenue is not provided by other sources. The aggregate annual assessment amount must be allocated based on a formula to be determined by the commission, which must adopt a rule binding on all member states.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The bill could lead to more licensed mental health counselors practicing in Florida. It could also lead to more Florida-licensed mental health counselors practicing through telehealth and providing care to patients in other member states. The fiscal result to the private sector is indeterminate.

C. Government Sector Impact:[34]

The Department of Health (department) reports that its Division of Medical Quality Assurance (MQA) may experience an increase in revenues if the compact is enacted in Florida, as the bill authorizes member states to charge a fee for granting a privilege to practice under the compact. The number of applicants for compact licensure is indeterminate and a fiscal impact cannot be calculated.

[34] Supra note 1.

MQA may experience a recurring increase in workload associated with processing applications and issuing initial and renewal licenses to participate in the compact. The department projects needing a minimum of one full-time equivalent (FTE), a Regulatory Specialist III (PG 19), with a projected cost of $71,147 ($48,963/Salary $21,878/Expense $306/HR).

MQA may experience a recurring increase in workload associated with the additional complaints and investigations due to the new compact license. At this time, the impact is indeterminate.

The bill authorizes the commission to levy and collect an annual assessment from each member state. The annual membership cost with the Licensed Professional Counselors Compact is unknown at this time, yet the department anticipates that existing budget authority is adequate to absorb this recurring cost.

If the bill is enacted and if the compact becomes effective, MQA will experience a non-recurring increase in workload and costs associated with updating the Licensing and Enforcement Information Database System, Online Service Portal, Cognitive Virtual Agent, Continuing Education Tracking System, License Verification Search Site, and board website to support multistate licensing. Additionally, MQA will be required to establish a process for sharing information with the data system and update existing data exchange services with the Agency for Health Care Administration.

The total estimated cost for the first year is $71,147 in the following categories:

- Salary- $48,963/Recurring
- Expense- $17,229/Recurring $4,649/Non-Recurring
- Human Resources - $306/Recurring

Section 491.004(5), F.S., requires the Board of Clinical Social Work, Marriage and Family Therapy, and Mental Health Counseling to adopt rules to implement and enforce the provisions of ch. 491, F.S. Section 1 of the bill creates the Professional Counseling Licensure Compact as s. 491.017, F.S., thereby requiring the Board to adopt rules to implement and enforce the compact, once it becomes effective.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

The counseling compact model compact legislation[35] defines a "licensed professional counselor" as a counselor licensed by a member state, regardless of the title used by that State, to independently assess, diagnose, and treat behavioral health conditions." Under Florida law, a mental health counselor, clinical social worker, and a marriage and family therapist may be interpreted to fit the definition of a licensed professional counselor. For this reason, the bill defines a "licensed professional counselor" as "a mental health counselor licensed under chapter 491 or a counselor licensed by a member state, regardless of the title used by that state, to independently assess, diagnose, and treat behavioral health conditions."

This means that in Florida, only a licensed mental health counselor may apply for and be granted a privilege to practice in another member state. In other member states, a professional who meets that member state's definition of a licensed professional counselor, regardless of what title the professional holds, may apply for and be granted a privilege to practice in another member state. To be granted a privilege to practice under the compact, a licensed professional counselor applicant must pass a nationally recognized exam approved by the compact commission, have 60 hours of graduate coursework in specified topic areas or have a master's degree in counseling; and have completed supervised postgraduate professional experience as defined by the commission.

The bill acknowledges that a person from another member state who is granted a privilege to practice in Florida may be licensed as a practitioner other than a mental health counselor. If it is the intent that a licensed professional counselor be granted a privilege to practice in this state only if he or she holds a license that is substantially similar to that of a Florida mental health counselor, then this bill should be amended.

Statutes Affected:

This bill creates section 491.017 of the Florida Statutes.

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 456.073, 456.076, 491.003, 491.004, 491.0045, 491.005, 491.006, 491.009, 491.012, 491.014, 491.0145, 491.0149, and 768.28.

(e) Have a mechanism in place for receiving and investigating complaints about licensees.

(2) A member state shall do all of the following:

(a) Participate fully in the commission's data system, including using the commission's unique identifier as defined in rules adopted by the commission.

(b) Notify the commission, in compliance with the terms of the compact and rules adopted by the commission, of any adverse action or the availability of investigative information regarding a licensee.

(c) Implement or utilize procedures for considering the criminal history records of applicants for an initial privilege to practice. These procedures must include the submission of fingerprints or other biometric-based information by applicants for the purpose of obtaining an applicant's criminal history record information from the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the agency responsible for retaining that state's criminal records.

1. A member state must fully implement a criminal background check requirement, within a timeframe established by rule, by receiving the results of the Federal Bureau of Investigation record search and shall use the results in making licensure decisions.

2. Communication between a member state and the commission and among member states regarding the verification of eligibility for licensure through the compact may not include any information received from the Federal Bureau of Investigation relating to a federal criminal records check performed by a member state under Public Law 92-544.

(4) Individuals not residing in a member state may continue to apply for a member state's single state license as provided under the laws of each member state. However, the single state license granted to these individuals may not be recognized as granting a privilege to practice professional counseling under the compact in any other member state.

(5) Nothing in this compact affects the requirements established by a member state for the issuance of a single state license.

(6) A professional counselor license issued by a home state to a resident of that state must be recognized by each member state as authorizing that licensed professional counselor to practice professional counseling, under a privilege to practice, in each member state.

ARTICLE IV

PRIVILEGE TO PRACTICE

(1) To exercise the privilege to practice under the terms and provisions of the compact, the licensee must meet all of the following criteria:

(a) Hold a license in the home state.

(b) Have a valid United States Social Security Number or national provider identifier.

(c) Be eligible for a privilege to practice in any member state in accordance with subsections (4), (7), and (8).

(d) Have not had any encumbrance or restriction against any license or privilege to practice within the preceding 2 years.

(e) Notify the commission that the licensee is seeking the privilege to practice within a remote state.

(f) Pay any applicable fees, including any state fee, for the privilege to practice.

(g) Meet any continuing education requirements established by the home state.

(h) Meet any jurisprudence requirements established by the remote state in which the licensee is seeking a privilege to practice.

(i) Report to the commission any adverse action, encumbrance, or restriction on a license taken by any nonmember state within 30 days after the action is taken.

(2) The privilege to practice is valid until the expiration date of the home state license. The licensee must continue to meet the criteria specified in subsection (1) to renew the privilege to practice in the remote state.

(3) For purposes of the compact, the practice of professional counseling occurs in the state where the client is located at the time of the counseling services. The compact does not affect the regulatory authority of states to protect public health and safety through their own system of state licensure.

(4) A licensee providing professional counseling in a remote state under the privilege to practice must adhere to the laws and regulations of the remote state.

(5) A licensee providing professional counseling services in a remote state is subject to that state's regulatory authority. A remote state may, in accordance with due process and that state's laws, remove a licensee's privilege to practice in the remote state for a specified period of time, impose fines, or take any other action necessary to protect the health and safety of its residents. The licensee may be ineligible for a privilege to practice in any member state until the specific time for removal has passed and all fines are paid.

(6) If a home state license is encumbered, a licensee loses the privilege to practice in any remote state until both of the following conditions are met:

(a) The home state license is no longer encumbered.

(b) The licensee has not had any encumbrance or restriction against any license or privilege to practice within the preceding 2 years.

(7) Once an encumbered license in the licensee's home state is restored to good standing, the licensee may obtain a privilege to practice in any remote state if he or she meets the requirements of subsection (1).

(8) If a licensee's privilege to practice in any remote state is removed, the individual may lose the privilege to practice in all other remote states until all of the following conditions are met:

(a) The specified period of time for which the privilege to practice was removed has ended.

(b) The licensee has paid all fines imposed.

(c) The licensee has not had any encumbrance or restriction against any license or privilege to practice within the preceding 2 years.

(9) Once the requirements of subsection (8) have been met, the licensee may obtain a privilege to practice in a remote state if he or she meets the requirements in subsection (1).

ARTICLE V

OBTAINING A NEW HOME STATE LICENSE BASED ON A PRIVILEGE TO PRACTICE

(1) A licensed professional counselor may hold a home state license, which allows for a privilege to practice in other member states, in only one member state at a time.

(2) If a licensed professional counselor changes his or her primary state of residence by moving between two member states, then the licensed professional counselor must file an application for obtaining a new home state license based on a privilege to practice, pay all applicable fees, and notify the current and new home state in accordance with applicable rules adopted by the commission.

(3) Upon receipt of an application for obtaining a new home state license based on a privilege to practice, the new home state must verify that the licensed professional counselor meets the criteria outlined in article IV through the data system. The new home state does not need to seek primary source verification for information obtained from the data system, except for the following:

(a) A Federal Bureau of Investigation fingerprint-based criminal background check, if not previously performed or updated pursuant to applicable rules adopted by the commission in accordance with Public Law 92-544;

(b) Any other criminal background check as required by the new home state; and

(c) Proof of completion of any requisite jurisprudence requirements of the new home state.

(4) The former home state shall convert the former home state license into a privilege to practice once the new home state has activated the new home state license in accordance with applicable rules adopted by the commission.

(5) Notwithstanding any other provision of the compact, if the licensed professional counselor does not meet the criteria in article IV, the new home state may apply its own requirements for issuing a new single state license.

(6) The licensed professional counselor must pay all applicable fees to the new home state in order to be issued a new home state license for purposes of the compact.

(7) If a licensed professional counselor changes his or her primary state of residence by moving from a member state to a nonmember state or from a nonmember state to a member state, the new state's own criteria apply for issuance of a single state license in the new state.

(8) The compact does not interfere with a licensee's ability to hold a single state license in multiple states. However, for the purposes of the compact, a licensee may have only one home state license.

(9) The compact does not affect the requirements established by a member state for the issuance of a single state license.

ARTICLE VI

ACTIVE DUTY MILITARY PERSONNEL AND THEIR SPOUSES

Active duty military personnel, or their spouse, shall designate a home state where the individual has a current license in good standing. The individual may retain the home state license designation during the period the service member is on active duty. Subsequent to designating a home state, the individual may change his or her home state only through application for licensure in the new state or through the process outlined in article V.

ARTICLE VII

COMPACT PRIVILEGE TO PRACTICE TELEHEALTH

(1) Member states shall recognize the right of a licensed professional counselor, licensed by a home state in accordance with article III and under rules adopted by the commission, to practice professional counseling in any member state through telehealth under a privilege to practice as provided in the compact and rules adopted by the commission.

(2) A licensee providing professional counseling services in a remote state through telehealth under the privilege to practice must adhere to the laws and rules of the remote state.

ARTICLE VIII

ADVERSE ACTIONS

(1) In addition to the other powers conferred by state law, a remote state has the authority, in accordance with existing state due process law, to do any of the following:

(a) Take adverse action against a licensed professional counselor's privilege to practice within that member state.

(b) Issue subpoenas for both hearings and investigations that require the attendance and testimony of witnesses or the production of evidence. Subpoenas issued by a licensing board in a member state for the attendance and testimony of witnesses or the production of evidence from another member state must be enforced in the latter state by any court of competent jurisdiction, according to the practice and procedure of that court applicable to subpoenas issued in proceedings pending before it. The issuing authority shall pay any witness fees, travel expenses, mileage, and other fees required by the service statutes of the state in which the witnesses or evidence is located.

(2) Only the home state has the power to take adverse action against a licensed professional counselor's license issued by the home state.

(3) For purposes of taking adverse action, the home state shall give the same priority and effect to reported conduct received from a member state as it would if the conduct had occurred within the home state. The home state shall apply its own state laws to determine appropriate action in such cases.

(4) The home state shall complete any pending investigations of a licensed professional counselor who changes primary state of residence during the course of the investigations. The home state may also take appropriate action and shall promptly report the conclusions of the investigations to the administrator of the data system. The administrator of the data system shall promptly notify the new home state of any adverse actions.

(5) A member state, if authorized by state law, may recover from the affected licensed professional counselor the costs of investigations and dispositions of any cases resulting from adverse action taken against that licensed professional counselor.

(6) A member state may take adverse action against a licensed professional counselor based on the factual findings of a remote state, provided that the member state follows its own statutory procedures for taking adverse action.

(7)(a) In addition to the authority granted to a member state by its respective professional counseling practice act or other applicable state law, any member state may participate with other member states in joint investigations of licensees.

(b) Member states shall share any investigative, litigation, or compliance materials in furtherance of any joint or individual investigation initiated under the compact.

(8) If adverse action is taken by the home state against the license of a professional counselor, the licensed professional counselor's privilege to practice in all other member states must be deactivated until all encumbrances have been removed from the home state license. All home state disciplinary orders that impose adverse action against the license of a professional counselor must include a statement that the licensed professional counselor's privilege to practice is deactivated in all member states while the order is in effect.

(9) If a member state takes adverse action, it must promptly notify the administrator of the data system. The administrator shall promptly notify the licensee's home state of any adverse actions by remote states.

(10) Nothing in the compact overrides a member state's decision to allow a licensed professional counselor to participate in an alternative program in lieu of adverse action.

audited annually by a certified or licensed public accountant, and the report of the audit must be included in and become part of the annual report of the commission.

(7) QUALIFIED IMMUNITY, DEFENSE, AND INDEMNIFICATION.—

(a) The members, officers, executive director, employees, and representatives of the commission are immune from suit and liability, either personally or in their official capacity, for any claim for damage to or loss of property or personal injury or other civil liability caused by or arising out of any actual or alleged act, error, or omission that occurred, or that the person against whom the claim is made had a reasonable basis for believing occurred, within the scope of commission employment, duties, or responsibilities. This paragraph may not be construed to protect any such person from suit or liability for any damage, loss, injury, or liability caused by the intentional or willful or wanton misconduct of that person.

(b) The commission shall defend any member, officer, executive director, employee, or representative of the commission in any civil action seeking to impose liability arising out of any actual or alleged act, error, or omission that occurred, or that the person against whom the claim is made had a reasonable basis for believing occurred, within the scope of commission employment, duties, or responsibilities, provided that the actual or alleged act, error, or omission did not result from that person's intentional or willful or wanton misconduct. This paragraph may not be construed to prohibit that person from retaining his or her own counsel.

(c) The commission shall indemnify and hold harmless any member, officer, executive director, employee, or representative of the commission for the amount of any settlement or judgment obtained against that person arising out of any actual or alleged act, error, or omission that occurred, or that such person had a reasonable basis for believing occurred, within the scope of commission employment, duties, or responsibilities, provided that the actual or alleged act, error, or omission did not result from the intentional or willful or wanton misconduct of that person.

ARTICLE X

DATA SYSTEM

(1) The commission shall provide for the development, operation, and maintenance of a coordinated database and reporting system containing licensure, adverse action, and investigative information on all licensed professional counselors in member states.

(2) Notwithstanding any other provision of state law to the contrary, a member state shall submit a uniform data set to the data system on all licensees to whom the compact is applicable, as required by the rules of the commission, including all of the following:

(a) Identifying information.

(b) Licensure data.

(c) Adverse actions against a license or privilege to practice.

(d) Nonconfidential information related to alternative program participation.

(e) Any denial of application for licensure and the reason for such denial.

(f) Current significant investigative information.

(g) Other information that may facilitate the administration of the compact, as determined by the rules of the commission.

(3) Investigative information pertaining to a licensee in any member state may be made available only to other member states.

(4) The commission shall promptly notify all member states of any adverse action taken against a licensee or an individual applying for a license. Adverse action information pertaining to a licensee in any member state must be made available to any other member state.

(5) Member states reporting information to the data system may designate information that may not be shared with the public without the express permission of the reporting state.

(6) Any information submitted to the data system which is subsequently required to be expunged by the laws of the member state reporting the information must be removed from the data system.

ARTICLE XI

RULEMAKING

(1) The commission shall adopt reasonable rules to effectively and efficiently achieve the purposes of the compact. If, however, the commission exercises its rulemaking authority in a manner that is beyond the scope of the purposes of the compact, or the powers granted hereunder, then such an action by the commission is invalid and has no force or effect.

(2) The commission shall exercise its rulemaking powers pursuant to the criteria set forth in this article and the rules adopted thereunder. Rules and amendments become binding as of the date specified in each rule or amendment.

(3) If a majority of the legislatures of the member states rejects a rule by enactment of a statute or resolution in the same manner used to adopt the compact within 4 years after the date of adoption of the rule, such rule does not have further force and effect in any member state.

(4) Rules or amendments to the rules must be adopted at a regular or special meeting of the commission.

(5) Before adoption of a final rule by the commission, and at least 30 days in advance of the meeting at which the rule will be considered and voted upon, the commission shall file a notice of proposed rulemaking:

(a) On the website of the commission or other publicly accessible platform; and

(b) On the website of each member state's professional counseling licensing board or other publicly accessible platform or in the publication in which each state would otherwise publish proposed rules.

(6) The notice of proposed rulemaking must include:

(a) The proposed time, date, and location of the meeting in which the rule will be considered and voted upon;

(b) The text of the proposed rule or amendment and the reason for the proposed rule;

(c) A request for comments on the proposed rule from any interested person; and

(d) The manner in which interested persons may submit notice to the commission of their intention to attend the public hearing and any written comments.

(7) Before adoption of a proposed rule, the commission must allow persons to submit written data, facts, opinions, and arguments, which must be made available to the public.

(8) The commission shall grant an opportunity for a public hearing before it adopts a rule or an amendment if a hearing is requested by:

(a) At least 25 persons who submit comments independently of each other;

(b) A state or federal governmental subdivision or agency; or

(c) An association that has at least 25 members.

(9) If a hearing is held on the proposed rule or amendment, the commission must publish the place, time, and date of the scheduled public hearing. If the hearing is held through electronic means, the commission must publish the mechanism for access to the electronic hearing.

(a) All persons wishing to be heard at the hearing must notify the executive director of the commission or other designated member in writing of their desire to appear and testify at the hearing at least 5 business days before the scheduled date of the hearing.

(b) Hearings must be conducted in a manner providing each person who wishes to comment a fair and reasonable opportunity to comment orally or in writing.

(c) All hearings must be recorded. A copy of the recording must be made available on request.

(d) This section may not be construed to require a separate hearing on each rule. Rules may be grouped at hearings required by this section for the convenience of the commission.

(10) If the commission does not receive a written notice of intent to attend the public hearing by interested parties, the commission may proceed with adoption of the proposed rule without a public hearing.

(11) Following the scheduled hearing date, or by the close of business on the scheduled hearing date if the hearing was not held, the commission shall consider all written and oral comments received.

(12) The commission, by majority vote of all members, shall take final action on the proposed rule and shall determine the effective date of the rule based on the rulemaking record and the full text of the rule.

(13) Upon determination that an emergency exists, the commission may consider and adopt an emergency rule without prior notice, opportunity for comment, or hearing, provided that the usual rulemaking procedures provided in the compact and in this section are retroactively applied to the rule as soon as reasonably possible, but no later than 90 days after the effective date of the rule. For purposes of this subsection, an emergency rule is one that must be adopted immediately in order to:

(a) Meet an imminent threat to public health, safety, or welfare;

(b) Prevent a loss of commission or member state funds;

(c) Meet a deadline for the adoption of an administrative rule established by federal law or rule; or

(d) Protect public health and safety.

(14) The commission or an authorized committee of the commission may direct revisions to a previously adopted rule or amendment for purposes of correcting typographical errors, errors in format, errors in consistency, or grammatical errors. Public notice of any revision must be posted on the website of the commission. Revisions are subject to challenge by any person for a period of 30 days after posting. A revision may be challenged only on grounds that the revision results in a material change to a rule. A challenge must be made in writing and delivered to the chair of the commission before the end of the notice period. If a challenge is not made, the revision takes effect without further action. If a revision is challenged, the revision may not take effect without the approval of the commission.

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

ARTICLE XII

OVERSIGHT; DEFAULT, TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE, AND TERMINATION; DISPUTE RESOLUTION; AND ENFORCEMENT

(1) OVERSIGHT.—

(a) The executive, legislative, and judicial branches of state government in each member state shall enforce the compact and take all actions necessary and appropriate to effectuate the compact's purposes and intent. The compact and the rules adopted thereunder have standing as statutory law.

(b) All courts shall take judicial notice of the compact and the rules in any judicial or administrative proceeding in a member state pertaining to the subject matter of the compact which may affect the powers, responsibilities, or actions of the commission.

(c) The commission is entitled to receive service of process in any judicial or administrative proceeding specified in paragraph (b) and has standing to intervene in such a proceeding for all purposes. Failure to provide service of process to the commission renders a judgment or an order void as to the commission, the compact, or adopted rules.

(2) DEFAULT, TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE, AND TERMINATION.—

(a) If the commission determines that a member state has defaulted in the performance of its obligations or responsibilities under the compact or adopted rules, the commission must:

1. Provide written notice to the defaulting state and other member states of the nature of the default, the proposed means of curing the default, and any other action to be taken by the commission; and

2. Provide remedial training and specific technical assistance regarding the default.

(b) If a state in default fails to cure the default, the defaulting state may be terminated from the compact upon an affirmative vote of a majority of the member states, and all rights, privileges, and benefits conferred by the compact are terminated on the effective date of termination. A cure of the default does not relieve the offending state of obligations or liabilities incurred during the period of default.

(c) Termination of membership in the compact may be imposed only after all other means of securing compliance have been exhausted. The commission shall submit a notice of intent to suspend or terminate a defaulting member state to that state's governor, to the majority and minority leaders of that state's legislature, and to each member state.

(d) A member state that has been terminated is responsible for all assessments, obligations, and liabilities incurred through the effective date of termination, including obligations that extend beyond the effective date of termination.

(e) The commission may not bear any costs related to a member state that is found to be in default or that has been terminated from the compact, unless agreed upon in writing between the commission and the defaulting member state.

(f) The defaulting member state may appeal the action of the commission by petitioning the United States District Court for the District of Columbia or the federal district where the commission has its principal offices. The prevailing party must be awarded all costs of such litigation, including reasonable attorney fees.

(3) DISPUTE RESOLUTION.—

(a) Upon request by a member state, the commission shall attempt to resolve disputes related to the compact which arise among member states and between member and nonmember states.

(b) The commission shall adopt rules providing for both mediation and binding dispute resolution for disputes as appropriate.

(4) ENFORCEMENT.—

(a) The commission, in the reasonable exercise of its discretion, shall enforce the provisions and rules of the compact.

(b) By majority vote, the commission may initiate legal action in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia or the federal district where the commission has its principal offices against a member state in default to enforce compliance with the compact and its adopted rules and bylaws. The relief sought may include both injunctive relief and damages. If judicial enforcement is necessary, the prevailing party must be awarded all costs of such litigation, including reasonable attorney fees.

(c) The remedies under this article are not the exclusive remedies to the commission. The commission may pursue any other remedies available under federal or state law.

ARTICLE XIII

DATE OF IMPLEMENTATION OF THE COUNSELING COMPACT COMMISSION AND ASSOCIATED RULES, WITHDRAWAL, AND AMENDMENT

(1) The compact becomes effective on the date on which the compact is enacted into law in the 10th member state. The provisions that become effective at that time are limited to the powers granted to the commission relating to assembly and the adoption of rules. Thereafter, the commission shall meet and exercise rulemaking powers necessary for implementation and administration of the compact.

(2) Any state that joins the compact subsequent to the commission's initial adoption of the rules is subject to the rules as they exist on the date on which the compact becomes law in that state. Any rule that has been previously adopted by the commission has the full force and effect of law on the day the compact becomes law in that state.

(3) Any member state may withdraw from the compact by enacting a statute repealing the compact.

(a) A member state's withdrawal does not take effect until 6 months after enactment of the repealing statute.

(b) Withdrawal does not affect the continuing requirement of the withdrawing state's professional counseling licensing board to comply with the investigative and adverse action reporting requirements of the compact before the effective date of withdrawal.

(4) The compact may not be construed to invalidate or prevent any professional counseling licensure agreement or other cooperative arrangement between a member state and a nonmember state which does not conflict with the compact.

(5) The compact may be amended by the member states. An amendment to the compact is not effective and binding upon any member state until it is enacted into the laws of all member states.

ARTICLE XIV

BINDING EFFECT OF COMPACT AND OTHER LAWS

(1) A licensee providing professional counseling services in a remote state under the privilege to practice shall adhere to the laws and regulations, including scope of practice, of the remote state.

(2) The compact does not prevent the enforcement of any other law of a member state which is not inconsistent with the compact.

(3) Any laws in a member state which conflict with the compact are superseded to the extent of the conflict.

(4) Any lawful actions of the commission, including all rules and bylaws properly adopted by the commission, are binding on the member states.

(5) All permissible agreements between the commission and the member states are binding in accordance with their terms.

(6) If any provision of the compact exceeds the constitutional limits imposed on the legislature of any member state, the provision shall be ineffective to the extent of the conflict with the constitutional provision in question in that member state.

ARTICLE XV

CONSTRUCTION AND SEVERABILITY

The compact must be liberally construed so as to effectuate the purposes thereof. The provisions of the compact are severable, and if any phrase, clause, sentence, or provision of the compact is declared to be contrary to the constitution of any member state or of the United States or the applicability thereof to any government, agency, person, or circumstance is held invalid, the validity of the remainder of the compact and the applicability thereof to any government, agency, person, or circumstance is not affected thereby. If the compact is held contrary to the constitution of any member state, the compact remains in full force and effect as to the remaining member states and in full force and effect as to the member state affected as to all severable matters.

Section 2. Subsection (10) of section 456.073, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

456.073 Disciplinary proceedings.—Disciplinary proceedings for each board shall be within the jurisdiction of the department.

(10) The complaint and all information obtained pursuant to the investigation by the department are confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) until 10 days after probable cause has been found to exist by the probable cause panel or by the department, or until the regulated professional or subject of the investigation waives his or her privilege of confidentiality, whichever occurs first. The department shall report any significant investigation information relating to a nurse holding a multistate license to the coordinated licensure information system pursuant to s. 464.0095, and any significant investigatory information relating to a health care practitioner practicing under the Professional Counselors Licensure Compact to the data system pursuant to s. 491.017. Upon completion of the investigation and a recommendation by the department to find probable cause, and pursuant to a written request by the subject or the subject's attorney, the department shall provide the subject an opportunity to inspect the investigative file or, at the subject's expense, forward to the subject a copy of the investigative file. Notwithstanding s. 456.057, the subject may inspect or receive a copy of any expert witness report or patient record connected with the investigation if the subject agrees in writing to maintain the confidentiality of any information received under this subsection until 10 days after probable cause is found and to maintain the confidentiality of patient records pursuant to s. 456.057. The subject may file a written response to the information contained in the investigative file. Such response must be filed within 20 days of mailing by the department, unless an extension of time has been granted by the department. This subsection does not prohibit the department from providing such information to any law enforcement agency or to any other regulatory agency.

Section 3. Subsection (5) of section 456.076, Florida

Statutes, is amended to read:

456.076 Impaired practitioner programs.—

(5) A consultant shall enter into a participant contract with an impaired practitioner and shall establish the terms of monitoring and shall include the terms in a participant contract. In establishing the terms of monitoring, the consultant may consider the recommendations of one or more approved evaluators, treatment programs, or treatment providers. A consultant may modify the terms of monitoring if the consultant concludes, through the course of monitoring, that extended, additional, or amended terms of monitoring are required for the protection of the health, safety, and welfare of the public. If the impaired practitioner is a health care practitioner practicing under the Professional Counselors Licensure Compact pursuant to s. 491.017, the terms of the monitoring contract must include the impaired practitioner's withdrawal from all practice under the compact.

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations

BILL:	SB 390
INTRODUCER:	Senator Book and others
SUBJECT:	Restraint of Students with Disabilities in Public Schools
DATE:	February 27, 2022
REVISED:

	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR	REFERENCE	ACTION
1.	Brick	Bouck	ED	Favorable
2.	Grace	Elwell	AED	Recommend: Favorable
3.	Grace	Sadberry	AP	Favorable

I. Summary:

SB 390 prohibits the use of mechanical restraint on students with disabilities by school personnel except for school resource officers, school safety officers, school guardians, or school security guards, who may use mechanical restraint in the exercise of their duties to restrain students in grades 6 through 12.

The bill does not have an impact on state revenues or expenditures.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2022.

II. Present Situation:

The Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA)[1] was enacted to ensure that all children with a disability have available to them a free appropriate public education and related services designed to meet their unique needs and prepare them for further education, employment, and independent living; and ensuring that the rights of children with disabilities and parents of such children are protected.[2] Accordingly, Florida law specifies conditions regarding the use of restraint and seclusion on students with a disability.

School District Responsibilities

School districts are required to have policies and procedures governing the use of restraint on students with disabilities, including the designation of school personnel authorized to use positive behavioral interventions and supports and restraint.

[1] 20 U.S.C. s. 1400 et seq.

[2] U.S. Department of Education, IDEA Purpose, https://sites.ed.gov/idea/about-idea (last visited Jan. 27, 2022).

Prohibitions on the use of Restraint

Authorized school personnel may only use mechanical or physical restraint after all positive behavioral interventions and supports have been exhausted and only when there is an imminent risk of serious injury. The use of restraint must end once the imminent risk of serious injury has ended.

School personnel are prohibited from using certain methods of restraint. Specifically, personnel may never use:

- Restraint to inflict pain to induce compliance.
- Restraint for student discipline.
- Mechanical or physical restraint techniques or devices such as straightjackets, zip ties, handcuffs, or tie downs in a manner that may obstruct or restrict breathing or blood flow or that place a student in a face down position with the student's hands restrained behind the student's back.

Reporting of Incidents of Restraint

Florida law requires a school to prepare an incident report within 24 hours after a student is released from restraint or seclusion. The incident report must contain:

- The name, age, grade, ethnicity, and disability of the student restrained or secluded.
- The date and time of the event and the duration of the restraint or seclusion.
- A description of the type of restraint.
- A description of the incident. [3]

During August through December of the 2021-2022 school year, school districts reported 2,579 incidents of restraint on 1,853 students. Approximately three to five percent of the incidents involved mechanical restraint.[4]

Safe-School Officers

For the protection and safety of school personnel, property, students, and visitors, each district school board and school district superintendent is required to partner with law enforcement agencies or security agencies to establish or assign one or more safe-school officers options at each school facility within the district, including charter schools. These options include:

- Establishing a School Resource Officer (SRO) program through a cooperative agreement with law enforcement agencies. SROs are certified law enforcement officers who must meet specified screening requirements and also complete mental health crisis intervention training.
- Commissioning one or more school safety officers. School safety officers are certified law enforcement officers with the power of arrest on district school property, who are employed by either a law enforcement agency or by the district school board. School safety officers must undergo the same screening requirements and crisis intervention training as an SRO.
- Participating in the Coach Aaron Feis Guardian Program.

- Contracting with a security agency to employ as a school security guard an individual who holds a Class "D" and Class "G" license and completes the same training and evaluation requirements as a school guardian.

Employing a school guardian is an option for district school boards to meet the safe-school officer requirements in law.[5] Persons certified as school guardians have no authority to act in any law enforcement capacity except to the extent necessary to prevent or abate an active assailant incident.[6]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

SB 390 prohibits the use of mechanical restraint on students with disabilities by school personnel except for school resource officers, school safety officers, school guardians, or school security guards, who may use mechanical restraint in the exercise of their duties to restrain students in grades 6 through 12.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2022.

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to restraint of students with disabilities in public schools; amending s. 1003.573, F.S.; prohibiting school personnel from using mechanical restraint on students with disabilities; providing exceptions; conforming provisions to changes made by the act; providing an effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Subsection (3) of section 1003.573, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

1003.573 Seclusion and restraint of students with disabilities in public schools.—

(3) RESTRAINT.—

(a) School personnel may not use mechanical restraint. This paragraph does not apply to school resource officers, school safety officers, school guardians, or school security guards as described in s. 1006.12, who may use mechanical restraint in the exercise of their powers and duties to restrict students in grades 6 through 12.

(b) Authorized school personnel may use physical restraint only when all positive behavior interventions and supports have been exhausted. Physical restraint may be used only when there is an imminent risk of serious injury and must ~~shall~~ be discontinued as soon as the threat posed by the dangerous behavior has dissipated. ~~Techniques or devices such as straightjackets, zip ties, handcuffs, or tie downs may not be used in ways that may obstruct or restrict breathing or blood flow or that place a student in a facedown position with the student's hands restrained behind the student's back.~~ Physical restraint techniques may not be used to inflict pain to induce compliance.

(c) ~~(b)~~ Notwithstanding the authority provided in s. 1003.32, physical restraint may ~~shall~~ be used only to protect the safety of students, school personnel, or others and may not be used for student discipline or to correct student noncompliance.

(d) ~~(c)~~ The degree of force applied during physical restraint must be only that degree of force necessary to protect the student or others from imminent risk of serious injury.

Section 2. This act shall take effect July 1, 2022.

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/CS/SB 398 revises the current requirement for an annual minimum commitment by the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) of at least 15 percent of revenues deposited into State Transportation Trust Fund (STTF) for specified public transportation projects, by imposing a maximum commitment of no more than 25 percent of such revenues, excluding state revenues used for matching federal grants, unless otherwise specified in the General Appropriations Act.

The bill also clarifies the FDOT's authority to engage in "progressive" design-build contracting as an innovative technique of highway and bridge design and construction, exempts certain progressive design-build contracts from an existing cap on innovative contracts, and removes a limitation on design-build contracting to certain types of projects.

The bill clarifies that stipends paid by the FDOT to non-selected design-build firms that have submitted responsive proposals for construction contracts contained in the FDOT's legislatively approved work program are not subject to existing documentation and notification requirements for stipend payments made by the FDOT to resolve a bid protest through a settlement.

Additionally, the bill revises authorization for an applying contractor who desires to bid exclusively on construction contracts with proposed budget estimates of $2 million (rather than $1 million) to submit reviewed (rather than audited, certified) annual or reviewed interim financial statements prepared by a certified public accountant. The bill also authorizes an applicant for an FDOT contractor certificate of qualification to submit with a timely submitted application a request to keep an existing certificate, with the current maximum capacity rating, in place until the expiration date.

Further, the bill repeals a current provision of law providing temporary confidential and exempt status from public records requirements for a document that reveals the identity of a person who has requested or obtained a bid package, plan, or specifications pertaining to any project to be let by the FDOT.

The fiscal impact of the bill is indeterminate. Please see the "Fiscal Impact Statement" for details.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2022.

II. Present Situation:

For ease of organization and readability, the present situation is discussed below in conjunction with the effect of the proposed changes.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Public Transportation Funding from the State Transportation Trust Fund (Section 1)

Present Situation

Section 206.46(1), F.S., creates the STTF, and all moneys in the trust fund must be used for transportation purposes, as provided by law, under the direction of the FDOT. The FDOT is required to annually commit from the STTF a minimum of 15 percent of all state revenues deposited into the trust fund for public transportation projects in accordance with ch 311, F.S. (relating to seaport programs and facilities), ss. 332.003-332.007, F.S. (relating to airports), ch. 341, F.S. (relating to public transit), and ch. 343, F.S. (relating to regional transportation).

Projects eligible for funding under ch. 311, F.S., include, for example, transportation facilities (e.g., roads) within the jurisdiction of a port, under the Florida Seaport Transportation and Economic Development Program.[1] Sections 332.003-332.007, F.S., make up the Florida Airport Development and Assistance Act, which provides funding for projects at public airports such as

[1] While bus service to and from a port could qualify as an eligible project, a variety of other projects are also eligible, such as dredging or deepening of channels, turning basins, or harbors; acquisition of land to be used for port purposes; and construction of wharves, docks, and cruise terminals. See s. 311.07(3)(b), F.S., for a full list of projects eligible for grant funding under the Florida Seaport Transportation and Economic Development Program.

airport master planning,[2] airport development,[3] and airport discretionary capacity improvements.[4]

Chapter 341, F.S., relating to "public transit" (the transporting of people by conveyances, or a system of conveyances, traveling on land or water, local or regional in nature, and available for use by the public, including paratransit)[5] could include projects such as a public transit capital project,[6] a commuter assistance project,[7] a transit corridor project,[8] or an intercity bus service project.[9]

Chapter 343, F.S., relating to regional transportation, establishes the South Florida Regional Transportation Authority, the Central Florida Regional Transportation Authority, and the Tampa Bay Regional Transit Authority. As an example of currently authorized uses of public transportation funding in the context of regional transportation, s. 343.58(4), F.S., requires specified amounts to be transferred from the STTF to the South Florida Regional Transportation Authority, which operates Tri-Rail, a passenger rail service in Broward, Palm Beach, and Miami-Dade Counties. As another example, s. 341.303, F.S., authorizes specified funding from the STTF for SunRail, a passenger rail system currently operating in Volusia, Seminole, Orange, and Osceola counties.

Various projects under these programs may be eligible for use of state revenues in the STTF to match available federal funds.

The 15-percent public transportation requirement does not apply to certain STTF revenues. Current law contains a number of provisions exempting certain revenue from the 15-percent public transportation requirement, such as those from rental car surcharges under s. 212.0606, F.S.; from initial registration fees under s. 320.072, F.S.; and from local option fuel taxes under s. 215.211, F.S. The FDOT advises that while state revenues in Fiscal Year 2022-

2023 are projected at over $4.7 billion, more than $1.4 billion (30 percent) of that revenue is exempt.[10]

In addition, while some revenue streams are exempt from the 15-percent requirement, a requirement for use of a given revenue stream for public transportation may still be present. For example, s. 201.15, F.S., requires 10 percent of documentary tax proceeds deposited into the STTF to be used for the New Starts Program and s. 339.0801, F.S., requires $10 million annually from tag and title fees to be used for the Seaport Investment Program.

According to FDOT, "[i]t is important to note that some of the state funds allocated for public transportation are allocated to comply with the 15% requirement specified in s. 206.46(3), F.S., while other state funds are allocated to comply with statutory use requirements for documentary stamp taxes, tag and title fees, and initial registration fees."[11]

The FDOT reports public transportation programming as of July 1, 2021 (in millions) as follows:[12]

State Funds Programmed for Public Transportation

FY	Total Public Transportation	Part of the 15-Percent Requirement	Percent Programmed Subject to the 15-Percent Requirement
2016-2017	$648.0	$487.6	16.8

2024-2025	$770.8	$551.9	15.9
2025-2026	$877.1	$587.3	16.6

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 1 of the bill amends s. 206.46(3), F.S., to provide a cap on the amount of state revenues deposited into the STTF that can be used for public transportation projects of 25 percent. Unless otherwise specified in the General Appropriations Act, the FDOT must commit at least 15 percent, but no more than 25 percent, of state revenues for such projects. The calculation for purposes of determining the allowable funding range for the specified projects would not include the amount of state revenues used for federal grant matching.

Design-Build, Progressive Design-Build, and Innovative Contracting (Sections 2 and 3)

Present Situation

The FDOT is generally authorized to enter into construction and maintenance contracts and must ensure that all project descriptions, including design plans, "are complete, accurate, and up to date prior to the advertisement for bids on such projects."[13]

Current law also authorizes the FDOT, if it determines that doing so is in the public interest, to combine the design and construction phases of a building, a major bridge, a limited access facility, or a rail corridor project into a single contract, referred to as a "design-build" contract.[14]

The FDOT is also authorized to establish a program for transportation projects that demonstrate innovative techniques of highway and bridge design, construction, maintenance, and finance. The innovations must intend to measure resiliency and structural integrity and control time and cost increases on construction projects. These techniques may include state-of-the-art technology for pavement, safety, and other aspects of highway and bridge design, construction, and maintenance; innovative bidding and financing techniques; accelerated construction procedures; and techniques that have the potential to reduce project life cycle costs.[15]

To the maximum extent practical, the FDOT must use existing processes to award and administer construction and maintenance contracts. If the FDOT intends to use specific innovative techniques, it must document the need for any exceptions to current law that would otherwise prohibit use of the techniques.

The FDOT is limited to $120 million annually for the purposes of contracting for innovative transportation projects. However, the annual cap currently does not apply to:

- Turnpike Enterprise projects, and
- Low-bid design-build milling and resurfacing contracts.[16]

According to the Design-Build Institute of America (DBIA), design-build projects enable the project owner to manage only one contract, with the designer and contractor working together from the beginning and providing consensus project recommendations to fit the owner's schedule and budget. The entire team addresses any necessary changes, which leads "to collaborative problem-solving and innovation...." This method of project delivery, the DBIA asserts, creates an inherent "culture of collaboration."[17] As described by the DBIA, the "progressive" type of design-build contract "uses a qualifications-based or best value selection, followed by a process whereby the owner then 'progresses' towards a design and contract price with the team (thus the term 'Progressive')."[18]

The Florida Transportation Builders' Association (FTBA) advises that traditional design-build contracting has produced nearly two decades of successful projects and that progressive design-build contracting represents an evolution from traditional design-build, allowing better allocation and management of unforeseen conditions and risks[19] encountered during the design of the project. Once the design-build firm is selected based on qualifications, including past performance, the firm then works collaboratively with the FDOT to "progress or advance" the design until the design contains sufficient detail to competitively bid the work.[20] As opposed to the FDOT's general contracting authority, under which design plans must be complete, accurate, and up to date prior to advertising for bids, pricing in a progressive design-build contract is delayed until design is closer to completion.

The FTBA further advises that progressive design-build contracting is already being used by the Greater Orlando Aviation Authority and the Tampa International Airport Authority.[21] According to the DBIA, at least two other states are currently authorized to engage in some form of progressive design-build contracting.[22]

Based on a review of the FDOT's Work Program Instructions for development of the Tentative Work Program for Fiscal Years 2022-2023 – 2026-2027, the FDOT, if not already in use under its existing design-build authority, appears to be contemplating the use of "progressive" design-build contracts under its authorization to undertake transportation projects that demonstrate innovative techniques of highway and bridge design, construction, maintenance, and finance.[23] Such contracting under current law would be subject to the $120 million statutory cap.

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 2 of the bill amends s. 337.025, F.S., relating to the FDOT's authority to undertake innovative transportation projects, to expressly authorize the FDOT to use progressive design-build contacts for such projects.

The bill authorizes the FDOT, if it determines that doing so is in the best interests of the public, to combine the design and construction phases of a project into a single contract and select the design-build firm in the early stages of a project to ensure that the firm is part of the collaboration and development of the design as part of a step-by-step progression through construction. The bill refers to such a contract as a progressive design-build contract.

The bill requires the selection and award processes for a progressive design-build contract to involve a two-phase process. In the first phase, the FDOT must competitively award the contract to a design-build firm based upon the firm's qualifications. In phase two, the selected firm must competitively bid construction trade subcontractor packages and, based upon these bids, negotiate with the FDOT for a fixed price or a guaranteed maximum price that meets the project budget and scope as advertised in the request for qualifications.

In addition, the bill exempts progressive design-build contracts for complex, high-risk projects with a minimum contract value of $400 million from the annual $120 million cap on innovative contracting.

Section 3 of the bill amends s. 337.11(7), F.S., relating to the FDOT's authority to engage in design-build contracting, to allow the FDOT to combine the design and construction phases of any project into a single contract, not just for a building, a major bridge, a limited access facility, or a rail corridor project.

Though the bill repeals the exemption for low-bid design-build milling and resurfacing contracts from the $120 million cap on innovative transportation project, by removing the limitation on design-build contracting to the design and construction phases of a building, a major bridge, a limited access facility, or a rail corridor project, "traditional" low-bid design-build milling and resurfacing contracts would not be subject to the cap. The FDOT would be authorized to use "traditional" design-build contracting for any type of project. These "traditional" (or non-innovative) contracts would not be included in the $120 million annual cap on innovative contracting, as is the case under current law for certain projects as discussed above.

Under the bill, the FDOT would be authorized to use progressive design-build contracting as an innovative contracting technique, subject to the $120 million annual cap. The annual cap on innovative contracting would continue to be inapplicable to Turnpike Enterprise projects and would be inapplicable to progressive design-build contracts for complex, high-risk projects with a minimum contract value of $400 million.

FDOT Contracting and Procurement Authority/Settlements and Stipends (Section 4)

Present Situation

When the FDOT determines that doing so is in the best interest of the public and intends, through a settlement, to pay a non-selected responsive bidder a total sum of $1 million or more, including any amount paid pursuant to s. 334.049, F.S. (patents, copyrights, trademarks, and trade secrets), s. 337.11(8), F.S. (stipends to non-selected, responsive design-build firms), or any other law, current law requires the FDOT to:[24]

- Document in a written memorandum by the FDOT secretary the specific reasons that such settlement and payment to a non-selected responsive bidder is in the best interest of the state. The written memorandum must be included and maintained in the permanent procurement files of the FDOT and must include:

[24] Section 337.1101(1), F.S.

  - A description of the property rights, patent rights, copyrights, trademarks, or the engineering design or other design work that the department will acquire or retain as a result of such settlement; and
  - The specific appropriation in the existing General Appropriations Act which the department intends to use to provide such payment.
- Provide prior written notification to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Senate and House of Representatives minority leaders, the chair and vice chair of the Legislative Budget Commission, and the Attorney General at least 5 business days, or as soon thereafter as practicable, before the FDOT makes the settlement agreement final. Such written notification must include the written memorandum described above.
- Provide written notification of such discussions to the same individuals at the time settlement discussions regarding any such payment have begun in earnest.

The FDOT is separately authorized, when the FDOT determines that doing so is in the best interest of the public, to pay a stipend to non-selected design-build firms that have submitted responsive proposals to the FDOT for construction contracts.[25] These projects are included in the FDOT's legislatively approved work program. The decision and amount of a stipend must be based on the FDOT's analysis of the estimated proposal development costs and the anticipated degree of engineering design during the procurement process. The FDOT retains the right to use the designs in the proposals from responsive non-selected design-build firms that accept a stipend.

A review of the FDOT's work program instructions suggests that the amount of a stipend to be paid is noted in the request for proposals for a design-build project. The FDOT enters into a stipend agreement with each firm after the proposals are "shortlisted,"[26] and each agreement states that the firm that receives the project contract award will not get the stipend. The non-selected firms then submit an invoice within two weeks after the project contract is executed and are paid the stipend amount noted in the request for proposals.[27]

While the FDOT might settle a bid protest through payment of a stipend, in contrast to any amounts paid by the FDOT that would trigger the documentation and notice requirements for a settlement, stipends paid by the FDOT pursuant to its separate authority are authorized payments arrived at by contract during the procurement process.

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 4 of the bill amends s. 337.1101(1), F.S., to clarify that stipends paid by the FDOT to non-selected design-build firms that have submitted responsive proposals for construction contracts contained in the FDOT's legislatively approved work program are not subject to existing documentation and notification requirements for stipend payments made by the FDOT to resolve a bid protest through a settlement. If the FDOT pays a stipend to settle a bid protest in an amount that triggers the requirements, the FDOT must continue to comply with the documentation and notification requirements.

Contractor Certificates of Qualification (Section 5)

Present Situation

Current law requires any contractor desiring to bid on any FDOT construction contract in excess of $250,000 to first be certified by the FDOT as qualified pursuant to s. 337.14, F.S., and the FDOT's rules.[28] When applying to the FDOT, each application for certification must be accompanied by the contractor's latest annual financial statement, which must have been completed within the last 12 months. If the application or the annual financial statement shows the contractor's financial condition more than four months prior to the date on which the FDOT receives the application, the contractor must also submit an interim financial statement and an updated application.[29] Each required annual or interim financial statement must be audited and accompanied by the opinion of a certified public accountant (CPA). However, an applying contractor who desires to bid exclusively for the performance of construction contracts with proposed budget estimates of less than $1 million may submit reviewed annual or reviewed interim financial statements prepared by a CPA.[30]

The FDOT's rules include requirements with respect to the equipment, past record, experience, financial resources, and organizational personnel of the applying contractor which are necessary to perform the specific class of work for which the contractor seeks certification. In so doing, the FDOT verifies and evaluates whether an applicant is competent and responsible and possesses the necessary financial resources to perform the requested work.[31]

Part of the latter inquiry involves whether an applicant has the financial resources sufficient to establish a maximum capacity rating (MCR), which is defined as the total aggregate dollar amount of uncompleted work an applicant may have under contract at any one time as a prime contractor and/or subcontractor, regardless of the work location and with whom the applicant contracted.[32] According to the FDOT's rules, the MCR is established by a formula, one element of which is the "ability factor." The FDOT's rules require an applicant's maximum capacity rating to be reduced by the total value of their current uncompleted work, producing the applicant's "current capacity," or bidding capacity. Under the rule, the current capacity must be amended immediately upon issuance of a new certificate of qualification, regardless of whether the existing certificate has expired.[33]

Currently, if an applicant for a certificate of qualification is found to possess the prescribed qualifications, the FDOT must issue the applicant a certificate, which, unless revoked by the FDOT for good cause, is valid for a period of 18 months after the date of the applicant's financial statement, or such shorter period as the FDOT prescribes. Submission of an application

[28] Rule Chapter 14-22, F.A.C.
[29] The interim statements must cover the period from the end date of the annual statement and must show the financial condition of the applying contractor no more than four months prior to the date the FDOT receives the interim statement but, upon request of the applicant, an application and accompanying annual or interim financial statement received by the FDOT within 15 days after either four-month period is considered timely.
[30] A reviewed annual or reviewed interim financial statement is less expensive than an audited, certified annual or interim financial statement.
[31] Rule 14-22.003(1), F.A.C.
[32] Rule 14.22-003(1)(d) and (2), F.A.C.
[33] Rule 14-22.006(1), F.A.C.

does not affect expiration of the certificate and, as of July 1, 2021, does not affect the ability factor of the applicant or the maximum capacity rating of the applicant.[34]

The FTBA advises the FDOT has requested revision of the current language to address overlapping certificates of qualification and any changes in the amount of new work that a firm can bid, due to a revised maximum capacity rating. As an example, the FTBA describes a potential situation in which a firm is allowed to bid on a $1 million contract under its existing certificate of qualification and then is later found nonresponsive when a new certificate is issued to the firm during the time leading up to the submission of a bid, due to a revised (lower) capacity rating.[35]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 5 of the bill amends s. 337.14, F.S, to increase from $1 million to $2 million the proposed budget estimate amount for triggering authorization of an applying contractor to submit reviewed annual or reviewed interim financial statements prepared by a CPA, instead of audited, certified statements. An applying contractor who desires to bid exclusively on construction contracts with proposed budget estimates of $2 million or less may submit reviewed annual or reviewed interim financial statements prepared by a CPA.

The bill also repeals the current provisions providing that submission of an application does not affect the ability factor or the maximum capacity rating of an applicant for an FDOT certificate of qualification. Instead, the bill authorizes an applicant to submit a written request to the FDOT with a timely submitted application to keep an existing certificate in place until its expiration date. If the FDOT approves the request, the applicant's current maximum capacity rating must remain in place until expiration of the current certification. In the absence of the FDOT's approval and in accordance with the FDOT's existing rules, the current capacity must be amended immediately upon issuance of a new certificate of qualification, regardless of whether the existing certificate has expired. The bill also makes a conforming change to the statute.

Public Records Exemption/Confidentiality of Identities of Bidders (Section 6)

Present Situation

Section 336.168(1) and (3), F.S., establish confidential and exempt status from public records requirements of s. 119.07(1), F.S., for:

- A document or electronic file revealing the FDOT's official cost estimate of a project until the contract for the project has been executed or until the project is no longer under active consideration; and
- The FDOT's bid analysis and monitoring system, including all system documentation, input, computer processes and programs, electronic data files, and output. This does not apply to the actual source documents, unless otherwise exempted under other provisions of law.

[34] Section 337.14(4), F.S. See s. 10, ch. 2021-188, Laws of Fla., which added the ability factor and MCR as things not being affected by the submission of an application.
[35] See FTBA email to Transportation Committee staff, November 30, 2021 (on file in the Senate Transportation Committee).

Section 337.168(2), F.S., currently provides that a document[36] revealing the identity of persons who have requested or obtained bid packages, plans, or specifications pertaining to any project to be let by the department is confidential and exempt from the provisions of s. 119.07(1), F.S., for the period which begins two working days before the deadline for obtaining bid packages, plans, or specifications and ends with the letting of the bid. A document that reveals the identity before the two working days before the deadline for obtaining bid packages, plans, or specifications remains a public record.

The FDOT maintains a website that lists the identity of those who have requested or obtained bid packages for a given project.[37] The lists contain for each person a vendor identification number, an indication of the name of the entity that ordered the documents, and a shipping address and phone number for each. The lists do not appear to contain any information which would be exempt other any other provisions of law. The FDOT advises the lists are published daily, except for during the two-day confidential period defined in current law, and a comprehensive list is then published after the letting occurs.[38]

The issue appears to relate to small contractors, who use the identities of potential bidders for the purpose of submitting sub-contract bids to general contractors for their use in preparing bids for FDOT projects.[39]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 6 of the bill amends s. 337.168(2), F.S., to repeal the temporary public records exemption for a document revealing the identity of persons who have requested or obtained bid packages, plans, or specifications pertaining to any project to be let by the FDOT. According to the FTBA, this revision provides full transparency as to the identity of potential bidders during the entire procurement process.[40]

Effective Date (Section 7)

The bill is effective July 1, 2022.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

[36] The FDOT advises that many documents submitted by contractors contain both exempt and non-exempt information. Telephone conversation between FDOT staff and Senate Transportation Committee staff, November 24, 2021. In accordance with s. 119.07(1)(d), F.S., the FDOT would be required to redact any information contained in a document that reveals the identity of persons who have requested or obtained bid packages if the information is exempt under any other provision of law.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None. The bill does not expand public records exemptions.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

None identified.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The fiscal impact of the revisions relating to FDOT contractor certificates of qualification is indeterminate.

Increasing the budget estimate amount for construction contracts from $1 million to $2 million for certain contractors exclusively bidding, allowing these additional contractors to submit reviewed financial statements should reduce the costs on these contractors to submit bids. A reviewed annual or reviewed interim financial statement is less expensive than an audited, certified annual or interim financial statement.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The impact on current funding levels, if any, of imposing a maximum commitment of no more than 25 percent of state revenues in the STTF for the identified public transportation projects, excluding those used for matching federal grants, as well as any effect on other projects in the work program, is dependent on funding levels selected by the FDOT within the authorized range. To the extent that funding for public transportation projects is increased above currently programmed levels within the cap, other projects in the work program may be impacted.

The fiscal impact of the revisions relating to design-build, progressive design-build, and innovative contracting is indeterminate, as the number and details of any such contracts to be undertaken by the FDOT is unknown.

The fiscal impact of the revisions relating to FDOT contractor certificates of qualification, if any, is indeterminate. The FDOT may incur expenses associated with revising Rule Chapter 14-22 of the Florida Administrative Code relating to contractor qualification. These expenses, if rule revision is necessary, are expected to be absorbed within existing resources.

The FDOT may experience an indeterminate, but likely insignificant negative fiscal impact associated with responding to requests for documents that reveal the identity of a potential bidder on a transportation project, including, if necessary, redacting any information contained in a document which is made exempt under any other provisions of law, for a two-day period during which such a record would have been exempt under current law.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

The FDOT has raised concerns regarding the 25-percent public transportation funding cap imposed by the bill, relating to decreased long-term flexibility in preparing the work program.[41]

Current law requires the FDOT to adopt by rule procedures for administering design-build contracts and specifies what must be minimally included in the procedures.[42] As drafted, the bill is unclear as to whether the procedures adopted to administer design-build contracts also apply to progressive-design build contracts. Failure to adopt by rule any procedures applicable to progressive design-build contracts could result in a challenge under the Administrative Procedures Act.[43] An amendment to existing s. 377.11(7)((b), F.S., to expressly include progressive design-build contracts in the rulemaking requirement may be in order.

The FDOT has also expressed concerns regarding the repeal of the temporary public records exemption for the identity of persons who have requested bid packages, relating to a potential negative impact on the procurement process.[44]

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 206.46, 337.025, 337.11, 337.1101, 337.14, and 337.168.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

PCS (353234) by Appropriations Committee (Recommended by Subcommittee on Transportation, Tourism and Economic Development):
The proposed committee substitute:

- Increases the minimum contract value of certain progressive design-build contracts that are exempt from the annual cap on innovative transportation projects, from $250 million contract value to a $400 contract value.
- Moves the amendatory provisions allowing the FDOT to enter into progressive design-build contracts from s. 377.11, F.S., to being amended into s. 337.025, F.S.
- Clarifies that stipends paid by the FDOT to non-selected design-build firms that have submitted responsive proposals for construction contracts contained in the FDOT's legislatively-approved work program are not subject to existing documentation and notification requirements for stipend payments made by the FDOT to resolve a bid protest through a settlement.
- Increases from $1 million to $2 million the proposed budget estimate amount for triggering authorization of an applying contractor to submit reviewed annual or reviewed interim financial statements prepared by a CPA, instead of audited, certified statements.

CS by Transportation on December 1, 2021:
The committee substitute:

- Modifies the minimum 15-percent and maximum 25-percent commitment of state revenues in the STTF for the specified public transportation projects if otherwise provided in the General Appropriations Act.
- Includes progressive design-build contracting as an authorized innovative technique of highway and bridge design and construction projects, excludes certain progressive design-build contracts from an annual $120 million cap on innovative transportation projects, and removes inapplicability of the cap to low-bid design-build milling and resurfacing contracts.
- Removes a limitation on the FDOT's authority to combine the design and construction phases (a "design-build" project) to a building, a major bridge, a limited access facility, or a rail corridor project, authorizing the FDOT to combine the design and construction phases of any type of project into a single design-build contract.
- Authorizes the FDOT, if it determines that doing so is in the best interests of the public, to use progressive design-build contracting, using a specified two-phase process, the first involving the design-build firm's qualifications and, the second involving negotiations on price.
- Removes the maximum capacity rating of an applicant for a contractor certificate of qualification as factors that do not affect the expiration of a certificate, authorizes an applicant to submit a request to keep an existing certificate of qualification in place until the expiration date and, if approved by the FDOT, keep the current maximum capacity rating of the applicant in place until expiration of the current certificate of qualification.

- Removes the entire subsection of current law containing the temporary public records exemption for a document revealing the identity of persons who have requested or obtained bid packages, plans, or specifications pertaining to any project to be let by the FDOT, instead of leaving unnecessary language deeming such a document to be a public record.
- Removes from the bill authorization of the FDOT to use moneys in the STTF to pay for work zone speed enforcement by entering into an agreement with the FHP.

The Committee on Appropriations (Hooper) recommended the following:

Senate Amendment (with title amendment)

Delete everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. Section 334.066, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

334.066 Implementing Solutions from Transportation Research and Evaluating Emerging Technologies Living Lab.—

(1) The Implementing Solutions from Transportation Research and Evaluating Emerging Technologies Living Lab (I-STREET) is established within the University of Florida.

639566

(2) At a minimum, I-STREET shall:

(a) Conduct and facilitate research on issues related to innovative transportation mobility and safety technology development and deployment in this state and serve as an information exchange and depository for the most current information pertaining to transportation research, education, workforce development, and related issues.

(b) Be a continuing resource for the Legislature, the department, local governments, the nation's metropolitan regions, and the private sector in the area of transportation and related research.

(c) Promote intercampus transportation and related research activities among Florida universities to enhance the ability of these universities to attract federal and private sector funding for transportation and related research.

(d) Provide by July 1, 2023, and each July 1 thereafter, to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives a comprehensive report that outlines its clearly defined goals and its efforts and progress on reaching those goals.

(3) An advisory board shall be created to periodically review and advise I-STREET concerning its research program. The board shall consist of nine members with expertise in transportation-related areas, as follows:

(a) A member appointed by the President of the Senate.

(b) A member appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

(c) The Secretary of Transportation or his or her designee.

639566

(d) The Secretary of Economic Opportunity or his or her designee.

(e) A member of the Florida Transportation Commission.

(f) Four members nominated by the University of Florida's College of Engineering and approved by the university's president. The College of Engineering's nominees may include representatives of the University of Florida, other academic and research institutions, or private entities.

Section 2. Section 337.025, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

337.025 Innovative transportation projects; department to establish program.—

(1) The department may establish a program for transportation projects demonstrating innovative techniques of highway and bridge design, construction, maintenance, and finance which have the intended effect of measuring resiliency and structural integrity and controlling time and cost increases on construction projects. Such techniques may include, but are not limited to, state-of-the-art technology for pavement, safety, and other aspects of highway and bridge design, construction, and maintenance; innovative bidding and financing techniques; progressive design-build contracts as specified in subsection (2); accelerated construction procedures; and those techniques that have the potential to reduce project life cycle costs. To the maximum extent practical, the department must use the existing process to award and administer construction and maintenance contracts. When specific innovative techniques are to be used, the department is not required to adhere to those provisions of law that would prevent, preclude, or in any way prohibit the department from using the innovative technique. However, before using an innovative technique that is inconsistent with another provision of law, the department must document in writing the need for the exception and identify what benefits the traveling public and the affected community are anticipated to receive. The department may enter into no more than $120 million in contracts awarded annually for the purposes authorized by this section.

(2) If the department determines that it is in the best interests of the public, the department may combine the design and construction phases of a project into a single contract and select the design-build firm in the early stages of a project to ensure that the design-build firm is part of the collaboration and development of the design as part of a step-by-step progression through construction. Such contract is referred to as a progressive design-build contract. For progressive design-build contracts, the selection and award processes must include a two-phase process. For phase one, the department shall competitively award the contract to a design-build firm based upon qualifications. For phase two, the design-build firm shall competitively bid construction trade subcontractor packages and, based upon these bids, negotiate with the department a fixed firm price or guaranteed maximum price that meets the project budget and scope as advertised in the request for qualifications.

(3) The annual cap on contracts provided in subsection (1) does not apply to:

(a) Turnpike enterprise projects.

(b) Progressive design-build contracts for complex, high-risk projects with a minimum contract value of $400 million ~~Low-bid design-build milling and resurfacing contracts~~.

639566

Section 3. Section 337.107, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

337.107 Contracts for right-of-way services.—

(1) The department may enter into contracts pursuant to s. 287.055 for right-of-way services on transportation corridors and transportation facilities. Right-of-way services include negotiation and acquisition services, appraisal services, demolition and removal of improvements, and asbestos-abatement services.

(2) For a construction project funded in the first 3 years of the department's adopted work program, a landowner with land contiguous to a limited access facility may be allowed, under a department-issued permit, to remove vegetation designated to be removed as part of the construction project on a department right-of-way in an area associated with a limited access facility, within the same limits of removal as identified in the final plans of the project.

Section 4. Present subsections (15) and (16) of section 337.11, Florida Statutes, are redesignated as subsections (16) and (17), a new subsection (15) is added to that section, and paragraphs (a) and (b) of subsection (7) of that section are amended, to read:

337.11 Contracting authority of department; bids; emergency repairs, supplemental agreements, and change orders; combined design and construction contracts; progress payments; records; requirements of vehicle registration.—

(7)(a) If the department determines that it is in the best interests of the public, the department may combine the design and construction phases of a ~~building, a major bridge, a limited access facility, or a rail corridor~~ project into a single contract. Such contract is referred to as a design-build contract. Design-build contracts may be advertised and awarded notwithstanding the requirements of paragraph (3)(c). However, construction activities may not begin on any portion of such projects for which the department has not yet obtained title to the necessary rights-of-way and easements for the construction of that portion of the project has vested in the state or a local governmental entity and all railroad crossing and utility agreements have been executed. Title to rights-of-way shall be deemed to have vested in the state when the title has been dedicated to the public or acquired by prescription.

(b) The department shall adopt by rule procedures for administering design-build contracts, including progressive design-build contracts. Such procedures shall include, but not be limited to:

1. Prequalification requirements.

2. Public announcement procedures.

3. Scope of service requirements.

4. Letters of interest requirements.

5. Short-listing criteria and procedures.

6. Bid proposal requirements.

7. Technical review committee.

8. Selection and award processes.

9. Stipend requirements.

(15) Each contract let by the department for performance of bridge construction or maintenance over navigable waters must contain a provision requiring marine general liability insurance, in an amount to be determined by the department, which covers third-party personal injury and property damage caused by vessels used by the contractor in the performance of the work.

Section 5. Subsection (1) of section 337.1101, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

337.1101 Contracting and procurement authority of the department; settlements; notification required.—

(1) When the department, or any entity or enterprise within the department, determines that it is in the best interest of the public to resolve a protest filed in accordance with s. 120.57(3) of the award of a contract being procured pursuant to s. 337.11 or related to the purchase of personal property or contractual services being procured pursuant to s. 287.057, through a settlement that requires the department to pay a nonselected responsive bidder a total sum of $1 million or more, including any amount paid pursuant to s. 334.049, any amount paid pursuant to s. 337.11(8) which is not included in the department's work program approved by the Legislature as part of the General Appropriations Act, or any amount paid pursuant to any other law, the department must:

(a) Document in a written memorandum by the secretary the specific reasons that such settlement and payment to a nonselected responsive bidder is in the best interest of the state. The written memorandum must be included and maintained in the department's permanent files concerning the procurement and must include:

1. A description of the property rights, patent rights, copyrights, trademarks, or the engineering design or other design work that the department will acquire or retain as a result of such settlement; and

2. The specific appropriation in the existing General Appropriations Act which the department intends to use to provide such payment.

(b) Provide prior written notification to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Senate and House of Representatives minority leaders, the chair and vice chair of the Legislative Budget Commission, and the Attorney General at least 5 business days, or as soon thereafter as practicable, before the department makes the settlement agreement final. Such written notification must include the written memorandum required pursuant to paragraph (a).

(c) Provide, at the time settlement discussions regarding any such payment have begun in earnest, written notification of such discussions to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Senate and House of Representatives minority leaders, the chair and vice chair of the Legislative Budget Commission, and the Attorney General.

Section 6. Subsections (1), (4), and (7) of section 337.14, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

337.14 Application for qualification; certificate of qualification; restrictions; request for hearing.—

(1) Any contractor desiring to bid for the performance of any construction contract in excess of $250,000 which the department proposes to let must first be certified by the department as qualified pursuant to this section and rules of the department. The rules of the department must address the qualification of contractors to bid on construction contracts in excess of $250,000 and must include requirements with respect to the equipment, past record, experience, financial resources, and organizational personnel of the applying contractor which are necessary to perform the specific class of work for which the contractor seeks certification. Any contractor who desires to bid on contracts in excess of $50 million and who is not qualified and in good standing with the department as of January 1, 2019, must first be certified by the department as qualified and must have satisfactorily completed two projects, each in excess of $15 million, for the department or for any other state department of transportation. The department may limit the dollar amount of any contract upon which a contractor is qualified to bid or the aggregate total dollar volume of contracts such contractor is allowed to have under contract at any one time. Each applying contractor seeking qualification to bid on construction contracts in excess of $250,000 shall furnish the department a statement under oath, on such forms as the department may prescribe, setting forth detailed information as required on the application. Each application for certification must be accompanied by audited, certified financial statements prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and auditing standards by a certified public accountant licensed in this state or another state. The audited, certified financial statements must be for the applying contractor and must have been prepared within the immediately preceding 12 months. The department may not consider any financial information of the parent entity of the applying contractor, if any. The department may not certify as qualified any applying contractor who fails to submit the audited, certified financial statements required by this subsection. If the application or the annual financial statement shows the financial condition of the applying contractor more than 4 months before the date on which the application is received by the department, the applicant must also submit interim audited, certified financial statements prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and auditing standards by a certified public accountant licensed in this state or another state. The interim financial statements must cover the period from the end date of the annual statement and must show the financial condition of the applying contractor no more than 4 months before the date that the interim financial statements are received by the department. However, upon the request of the applying contractor, an application and accompanying annual or interim financial statement received by the department within 15 days after either 4-month period under this subsection shall be considered timely. An applying contractor desiring to bid exclusively for the performance of construction contracts with proposed budget estimates of less than $2 ~~$1~~ million may submit reviewed annual or reviewed interim financial statements prepared by a certified public accountant. The information required by this subsection is confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1). The department shall act upon the application for qualification within 30 days after the department determines that the application is complete. The department may waive the requirements of this subsection for projects having a contract price of $500,000 or less if the department determines that the project is of a noncritical nature and the waiver will not endanger public health, safety, or property.

(4) If the applicant is found to possess the prescribed qualifications, the department shall issue to him or her a certificate of qualification that, unless thereafter revoked by the department for good cause, will be valid for a period of 18 months after the date of the applicant's financial statement or such shorter period as the department prescribes. Submission of an application does ~~and subsequent approval do~~ not affect expiration of the certificate of qualification~~, the ability factor of the applicant, or the maximum capacity rating of the applicant~~. An applicant may submit a written request with a timely submitted application to keep an existing certificate of qualification in place until the expiration date. If the request is approved by the department, the current maximum capacity rating of the applicant must remain in place until expiration of the current certificate of qualification. If the department finds that an application is incomplete or contains inadequate information or information that cannot be verified, the department may request in writing that the applicant provide the necessary information to complete the application or provide the source from which any information in the application may be verified. If the applicant fails to comply with the initial written request within a reasonable period of time as specified therein, the department shall request the information a second time. If the applicant fails to comply with the second request within a reasonable period of time as specified therein, the application shall be denied.

(7) A "contractor" as defined in s. 337.165(1)(d) or his or her "affiliate" as defined in s. 337.165(1)(a) qualified with the department under this section may not also qualify under s. 287.055 or s. 337.105 to provide testing services, construction, engineering, and inspection services to the department. This limitation does not apply to any design-build, including progressive design-build, prequalification under s. 337.11(7) and does not apply when the department otherwise determines by written order entered at least 30 days before advertisement that the limitation is not in the best interests of the public with respect to a particular contract for testing services, construction, engineering, and inspection services. This subsection does not authorize a contractor to provide testing services, or provide construction, engineering, and inspection services, to the department in connection with a construction contract under which the contractor is performing any work. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, for a project that is wholly or partially funded by the department and administered by a local governmental entity, except for a seaport listed in s. 311.09 or an airport as defined in s. 332.004, the entity performing design and construction engineering and inspection services may not be the same entity.

Section 7. Section 337.168, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

337.168 Confidentiality of official estimates~~, identities of potential bidders,~~ and bid analysis and monitoring system.—

(1) A document or electronic file revealing the official cost estimate of the department of a project is confidential and exempt from the provisions of s. 119.07(1) until the contract for the project has been executed or until the project is no longer under active consideration.

(2) ~~A document that reveals the identity of a person who has requested or obtained a bid package, plan, or specifications pertaining to any project to be let by the department is confidential and exempt from the provisions of s. 119.07(1) for the period that begins 2 working days before the deadline for obtaining bid packages, plans, or specifications and ends with the letting of the bid. A document that reveals the identity of a person who has requested or obtained a bid package, plan, or specifications pertaining to any project to be let by the department before the 2 working days before the deadline for obtaining bid packages, plans, or specifications remains a public record subject to s. 119.07(1).~~

~~(3)~~ The bid analysis and monitoring system of the department is confidential and exempt from the provisions of s. 119.07(1). This exemption applies to all system documentation, input, computer processes and programs, electronic data files, and output, but does not apply to the actual source documents, unless otherwise exempted under other provisions of law.

Section 8. Subsection (3) of section 338.165, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

338.165 Continuation of tolls.—

(3) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the department, including the turnpike enterprise, shall index toll rates on existing toll facilities to the annual Consumer Price Index or similar inflation indicators. Toll rate adjustments for inflation under this subsection may be made no more frequently than once a year and must be made no less frequently than once every 10 ~~5~~ years ~~as necessary to accommodate cash toll rate schedules~~. Toll rates may be increased beyond these limits as directed by bond documents, covenants, or governing body authorization or pursuant to department administrative rule.

Section 9. This act shall take effect July 1, 2022.

35 (May 4, 2021).

(2) The Legislature recognizes that the original expressway system previously operated by the former Miami-Dade County Expressway Authority is owned by the department. The transfer agreement dated December 10, 1996, entered into by the department and the former Miami-Dade County Expressway Authority, transferred only operational and financial control of the expressways owned by the department.

(3) The Legislature recognizes the Miami-Dade County Expressway Authority was dissolved by chapter 2019-169, Laws of Florida, and all assets, employees, contracts, rights, and liabilities were purportedly transferred to the Greater Miami Expressway Agency. All assets, employees, contracts, rights, and liabilities previously owned or controlled by the former Miami-Dade County Expressway Authority, including, without limitation, those previously transferred to the Greater Miami Expressway Agency, are transferred back to the reestablished Greater Miami Expressway Agency created in s. 348.0304 on the effective date of this act.

(4) It is the intent of the Legislature to confirm that the Greater Miami Expressway Agency that was created by chapter 2019-169, Florida Statutes, is hereby reestablished. The Greater Miami Expressway Agency is the state agency that shall govern the expressway system within the geographical boundaries of Miami-Dade County and the portion of northeast Monroe County which includes County Road 94 and the portion of Monroe County bounded on the north and east by the borders of Monroe County and on the south and west by County Road 94. It is further the express intent of the Legislature that the Greater Miami

Expressway Agency created by this law is an agency of the state and not subject to any county's home rule powers.

Section 14. Effective upon this act becoming a law, subsection (1) and paragraphs (a) and (b) of subsection (2) of section 348.0304, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

Each member may only serve two terms of 4 years each, except there is no restriction on the term of the department's district secretary for the district serving Miami-Dade County. Four members shall be appointed by the Governor, one of whom must be a member of the metropolitan planning organization for Miami-Dade ~~the~~ County. Two members, who must be residents of an unincorporated portion of the geographic area

129426

(b) Initial appointments to the governing body of the agency shall be made by July 31, 2019. For the initial appointments:

1. The Governor shall appoint one member for a term of 1 year, one member for a term of 2 years, one member for a term of 3 years, and one member for a term of 4 years.

348.0306 Purposes and powers.—

(b) The agency, in the construction of an expressway system, may ~~shall~~ construct expressways. Construction of an expressway system may be completed in segments, phases, or stages in a manner that will permit the expansion of these segments, phases, or stages to the desired expressway configuration. The agency, in the construction of an expressway system, may construct any extensions of, additions to, or improvements to the expressway system or appurtenant facilities, including all necessary approaches, roads, bridges, and avenues of access, with such changes, modifications, or revisions of the project that are deemed desirable and proper. For new capacity projects, the agency shall use the department's design standards and, to the maximum extent practicable, design facilities such as the department would for high-speed limited access facilities. The agency may only add additional expressways to an expressway system, under the terms and conditions set forth in this act, with the prior express written consent of the board of county commissioners of Miami-Dade ~~the~~ County or Monroe County, as applicable, and only if such additional expressways lack adequate committed funding for implementation, are financially feasible, and are compatible with the existing plans, projects, and programs of the agency.

(2) The agency may exercise all powers necessary, appurtenant, convenient, or incidental to the carrying out of its purposes, including, but not limited to, the following rights and powers:

(f) To borrow money, make and issue negotiable notes, bonds, refund bonds, and other evidence of indebtedness of the agency, which bonds or other evidence of indebtedness may be issued pursuant to the State Bond Act or, in the alternative, pursuant to s. 348.0309(2) to finance or refinance additions, extensions, or improvements to the expressway system within the geographic boundaries of the agency, and to provide for the security of the bonds or other evidence of indebtedness and the rights and remedies of the holders of the bonds or other evidence of indebtedness. Any bonds or other evidence of indebtedness pledging the full faith and credit of the state may only be issued pursuant to the State Bond Act.

1. The agency shall reimburse the counties ~~county~~ in which it exists for any sums expended from any county gasoline tax funds used for payment of such obligations. Any county gasoline tax funds so disbursed shall be repaid in accordance with the terms of any lease-purchase or interlocal agreement with any county or the department together with interest, at the rate agreed to in such agreement. In no event shall any county gasoline tax funds be more than a secondary pledge of revenues for repayment of any obligations issued pursuant to this part.

2. The agency may refund any bonds previously issued, to the extent allowable by federal tax laws, to finance or refinance an expressway system located within the geographic boundaries of the agency regardless of whether the bonds being refunded were issued by such agency, an agency of the state, or a county.

(6) Notwithstanding subsection (3) or any other provision of law to the contrary, the agency may not undertake any construction that is not consistent with both the metropolitan planning organization's transportation improvement program and the county's comprehensive plan in an area served by the agency.

(8) The governing body of a ~~the~~ county served by the agency may enter into an interlocal agreement with the agency pursuant to s. 163.01 for the joint performance or performance by either governmental entity of any corporate function of the county or agency necessary or appropriate to enable the agency to fulfill the powers and purposes of this part and promote the efficient and effective transportation of persons and goods in such county.

(b) Consideration of the financial feasibility of such a program as reported by the Auditor General as required by this act; and

(c) Consideration of the impact of such a program to the financial feasibility of prioritized projects that have been allocated funds for a project development and an environmental study but are not contained in the 5-year work program on July

1, 2019.

(2) Monthly rebates shall be credited to the account of each SunPass holder who incurs $12.50 or more in tolls on the expressway system each month and whose SunPass is registered to a motor vehicle registered to an address in the geographic area described in s. 348.0304(1) ~~county~~.

Section 17. Effective upon this act becoming a law, paragraph (c) of subsection (2) of section 348.0309, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

348.0309 Bonds.—

(c) Such bonds shall be sold by the agency at public sale by competitive bid. However, if the agency, after receipt of a written recommendation from a financial adviser, determines by official action after public hearing by a two-thirds vote of all voting members of the agency that a negotiated sale of the bonds is in the best interest of the agency, the agency may negotiate for sale of the bonds with the underwriter or underwriters designated by the agency and the counties ~~county~~ in which the agency exists. The agency shall provide specific findings in a resolution as to the reasons requiring the negotiated sale, which resolution shall incorporate and have attached thereto the written recommendation of the financial adviser required by this subsection.

The report shall be posted on the agency's website.

Section 19. Effective upon this act becoming a law, subsection (1) of section 348.0318, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

348.0318 This part complete and additional authority.—

(1) The powers conferred by this part are in addition and supplemental to the existing powers of the department and the governing body of the agency, and this part may not be construed as repealing any of the provisions of any other law, general, special, or local, but to supersede such other laws in the exercise of the powers provided in this part and to provide a complete method for the exercise of the powers granted in this part. The extension and improvement of the expressway system, and the issuance of bonds pursuant to this part to finance all or part of the cost of the system, may be accomplished upon compliance with the provisions of this part without regard to or necessity for compliance with the provisions, limitations, or restrictions contained in any other general, special, or local law, including, but not limited to, s. 215.821, and no approval of any bonds issued under this part by the qualified electors or qualified electors who are freeholders in the state or in Miami-Dade County, in Monroe County, or in any other political subdivision of the state, is required for the issuance of such bonds pursuant to this part, including, but not limited to, s. 215.821.

Section 20. The Division of Law Revision is directed to replace the phrase "the effective date of this act" wherever it occurs in this act with the date this act becomes a law.

Section 21. Except as otherwise expressly provided in this act and except for this section, which shall take effect upon this act becoming a law, this act shall take effect July 1, 2022.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Subsection (3) of section 206.46, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

206.46 State Transportation Trust Fund.—

(3) Unless otherwise specified in the General Appropriations Act, each fiscal year, at least ~~a minimum of~~ 15 percent but not more than 25 percent of all state revenues deposited into the State Transportation Trust Fund, excluding state revenues used for matching federal grants, shall be committed annually by the department for public transportation projects in accordance with chapter 311, ss. 332.003-332.007, chapter 341, and chapter 343.

Section 2. Section 337.025, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

337.025 Innovative transportation projects; department to establish program.—

(1) The department may establish a program for transportation projects demonstrating innovative techniques of highway and bridge design, construction, maintenance, and finance which have the intended effect of measuring resiliency and structural integrity and controlling time and cost increases on construction projects. Such techniques may include, but are not limited to, state-of-the-art technology for pavement, safety, and other aspects of highway and bridge design, construction, and maintenance; innovative bidding and financing techniques; progressive design-build contracts as specified in subsection (2); accelerated construction procedures; and those techniques that have the potential to reduce project life cycle costs. To the maximum extent practical, the department must use the existing process to award and administer construction and maintenance contracts. When specific innovative techniques are to be used, the department is not required to adhere to those provisions of law that would prevent, preclude, or in any way prohibit the department from using the innovative technique. However, before using an innovative technique that is inconsistent with another provision of law, the department must document in writing the need for the exception and identify what benefits the traveling public and the affected community are anticipated to receive. The department may enter into no more than $120 million in contracts awarded annually for the purposes authorized by this section.

(2) If the department determines that it is in the best interests of the public, the department may combine the design and construction phases of a project into a single contract and select the design-build firm in the early stages of a project to ensure that the design-build firm is part of the collaboration and development of the design as part of a step-by-step progression through construction. Such contract is referred to as a progressive design-build contract. For progressive design-build contracts, the selection and award processes must include a two-phase process. For phase one, the department shall competitively award the contract to a design-build firm based upon qualifications. For phase two, the design-build firm shall competitively bid construction trade subcontractor packages and, based upon these bids, negotiate with the department a fixed firm price or guaranteed maximum price that meets the project budget and scope as advertised in the request for qualifications.

(3) The annual cap on contracts provided in subsection (1) does not apply to:

(a) Turnpike enterprise projects.

(b) Progressive design-build contracts for complex, high-risk projects with a minimum contract value of $400 million ~~Low-bid design-build milling and resurfacing contracts~~.

Section 3. Paragraph (a) of subsection (7) of section 337.11, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

337.11 Contracting authority of department; bids; emergency repairs, supplemental agreements, and change orders; combined design and construction contracts; progress payments; records; requirements of vehicle registration.—

(7)(a) If the department determines that it is in the best interests of the public, the department may combine the design and construction phases of a ~~building, a major bridge, a limited access facility, or a rail corridor~~ project into a single contract. Such contract is referred to as a design-build contract. Design-build contracts may be advertised and awarded notwithstanding the requirements of paragraph (3)(c). However, construction activities may not begin on any portion of such projects for which the department has not yet obtained title to the necessary rights-of-way and easements for the construction of that portion of the project has vested in the state or a local governmental entity and all railroad crossing and utility agreements have been executed. Title to rights-of-way shall be deemed to have vested in the state when the title has been dedicated to the public or acquired by prescription.

Section 4. Subsection (1) of section 337.1101, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

337.1101 Contracting and procurement authority of the department; settlements; notification required.—

(1) When the department, or any entity or enterprise within the department, determines that it is in the best interest of the public to resolve a protest filed in accordance with s. 120.57(3) of the award of a contract being procured pursuant to s. 337.11 or related to the purchase of personal property or contractual services being procured pursuant to s. 287.057, through a settlement that requires the department to pay a nonselected responsive bidder a total sum of $1 million or more, including any amount paid pursuant to s. 334.049, any amount paid pursuant to s. 337.11(8) which is not included in the department's work program approved by the Legislature as part of the General Appropriations Act, or any amount paid pursuant to any other law, the department must:

(a) Document in a written memorandum by the secretary the specific reasons that such settlement and payment to a nonselected responsive bidder is in the best interest of the state. The written memorandum must be included and maintained in the department's permanent files concerning the procurement and must include:

1. A description of the property rights, patent rights, copyrights, trademarks, or the engineering design or other design work that the department will acquire or retain as a result of such settlement; and

2. The specific appropriation in the existing General Appropriations Act which the department intends to use to provide such payment.

(b) Provide prior written notification to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Senate and House of Representatives minority leaders, the chair and vice chair of the Legislative Budget Commission, and the Attorney General at least 5 business days, or as soon thereafter as practicable, before the department makes the settlement agreement final. Such written notification must include the written memorandum required pursuant to paragraph (a).

(c) Provide, at the time settlement discussions regarding any such payment have begun in earnest, written notification of such discussions to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Senate and House of Representatives minority leaders, the chair and vice chair of the Legislative Budget Commission, and the Attorney General.

Section 5. Subsections (1), (4), and (7) of section 337.14, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

337.14 Application for qualification; certificate of qualification; restrictions; request for hearing.—

(1) Any contractor desiring to bid for the performance of any construction contract in excess of $250,000 which the department proposes to let must first be certified by the department as qualified pursuant to this section and rules of the department. The rules of the department must address the qualification of contractors to bid on construction contracts in excess of $250,000 and must include requirements with respect to the equipment, past record, experience, financial resources, and organizational personnel of the applying contractor which are necessary to perform the specific class of work for which the contractor seeks certification. Any contractor who desires to bid on contracts in excess of $50 million and who is not qualified and in good standing with the department as of January 1, 2019, must first be certified by the department as qualified and must have satisfactorily completed two projects, each in excess of $15 million, for the department or for any other state department of transportation. The department may limit the dollar amount of any contract upon which a contractor is qualified to bid or the aggregate total dollar volume of contracts such contractor is allowed to have under contract at any one time. Each applying contractor seeking qualification to bid on construction contracts in excess of $250,000 shall furnish the department a statement under oath, on such forms as the department may prescribe, setting forth detailed information as required on the application. Each application for certification must be accompanied by audited, certified financial statements prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and auditing standards by a certified public accountant licensed in this state or another state. The audited, certified financial statements must be for the applying contractor and must have been prepared within the immediately preceding 12 months. The department may not consider any financial information of the parent entity of the applying contractor, if any. The department may not certify as qualified any applying contractor who fails to submit the audited, certified financial statements required by this subsection. If the application or the annual financial statement shows the financial condition of the applying contractor more than 4 months before the date on which the application is received by the department, the applicant must also submit interim audited, certified financial statements prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and auditing standards by a certified public accountant licensed in this state or another state. The interim financial statements must cover the period from the end date of the annual statement and must show the financial condition of the applying contractor no more than 4 months before the date that the interim financial statements are received by the department. However, upon the request of the applying contractor, an application and accompanying annual or interim financial statement received by the department within 15 days after either 4-month period under this subsection shall be considered timely. An applying contractor desiring to bid exclusively for the performance of construction contracts with proposed budget estimates of less than $2 ~~$1~~ million may submit reviewed annual or reviewed interim financial statements prepared by a certified public accountant. The information required by this subsection is confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1). The department shall act upon the application for qualification within 30 days after the department determines that the application is complete. The department may waive the requirements of this subsection for projects having a contract price of $500,000 or less if the department determines that the project is of a noncritical nature and the waiver will not endanger public health, safety, or property.

(4) If the applicant is found to possess the prescribed qualifications, the department shall issue to him or her a certificate of qualification that, unless thereafter revoked by the department for good cause, will be valid for a period of 18 months after the date of the applicant's financial statement or such shorter period as the department prescribes. Submission of an application does ~~and subsequent approval do~~ not affect expiration of the certificate of qualification~~, the ability factor of the applicant, or the maximum capacity rating of the applicant~~. An applicant may submit a written request with a timely submitted application to keep an existing certificate of qualification in place until the expiration date. If the request is approved by the department, the current maximum capacity rating of the applicant must remain in place until expiration of the current certificate of qualification. If the department finds that an application is incomplete or contains inadequate information or information that cannot be verified, the department may request in writing that the applicant provide the necessary information to complete the application or provide the source from which any information in the application may be verified. If the applicant fails to comply with the initial written request within a reasonable period of time as specified therein, the department shall request the information a second time. If the applicant fails to comply with the second request within a reasonable period of time as specified therein, the application shall be denied.

(7) A "contractor" as defined in s. 337.165(1)(d) or his or her "affiliate" as defined in s. 337.165(1)(a) qualified with the department under this section may not also qualify under s. 287.055 or s. 337.105 to provide testing services, construction, engineering, and inspection services to the department. This limitation does not apply to any design-build, including progressive design-build, prequalification under s. 337.11(7) and does not apply when the department otherwise determines by written order entered at least 30 days before advertisement that the limitation is not in the best interests of the public with respect to a particular contract for testing services, construction, engineering, and inspection services. This subsection does not authorize a contractor to provide testing services, or provide construction, engineering, and inspection services, to the department in connection with a construction contract under which the contractor is performing any work. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, for a project that is wholly or partially funded by the department and administered by a local governmental entity, except for a seaport listed in s. 311.09 or an airport as defined in s. 332.004, the entity performing design and construction engineering and inspection services may not be the same entity.

Section 6. Section 337.168, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

337.168 Confidentiality of official estimates~~, identities of potential bidders,~~ and bid analysis and monitoring system.—

(1) A document or electronic file revealing the official cost estimate of the department of a project is confidential and exempt from the provisions of s. 119.07(1) until the contract for the project has been executed or until the project is no longer under active consideration.

(2) ~~A document that reveals the identity of a person who has requested or obtained a bid package, plan, or specifications pertaining to any project to be let by the department is confidential and exempt from the provisions of s. 119.07(1) for the period that begins 2 working days before the deadline for obtaining bid packages, plans, or specifications and ends with the letting of the bid. A document that reveals the identity of a person who has requested or obtained a bid package, plan, or specifications pertaining to any project to be let by the department before the 2 working days before the deadline for obtaining bid packages, plans, or specifications remains a public record subject to s. 119.07(1).~~

~~(3)~~ The bid analysis and monitoring system of the department is confidential and exempt from the provisions of s. 119.07(1). This exemption applies to all system documentation, input, computer processes and programs, electronic data files, and output, but does not apply to the actual source documents, unless otherwise exempted under other provisions of law.

Section 7. This act shall take effect July 1, 2022.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 398 revises the current requirement for an annual minimum commitment by the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) of at least 15 percent of revenues deposited into State Transportation Trust Fund (STTF) for specified public transportation projects, by imposing a maximum commitment of no more than 25 percent of such revenues, excluding state revenues used for matching federal grants, unless otherwise specified in the General Appropriations Act.

The bill also clarifies the FDOT's authority to engage in "progressive" design-build contracting as an innovative technique of highway and bridge design and construction, exempts certain progressive design-build contracts from an existing cap on innovative contracts, and removes a limitation on design-build contracting to certain types of projects.

The bill clarifies that stipends paid by the FDOT to non-selected design-build firms that have submitted responsive proposals for construction contracts contained in the FDOT's legislatively approved work program are not subject to existing documentation and notification requirements for stipend payments made by the FDOT to resolve a bid protest through a settlement.

Additionally, the bill revises authorization for an applying contractor who desires to bid exclusively on construction contracts with proposed budget estimates of $2 million (rather than $1 million) to submit reviewed (rather than audited, certified) annual or reviewed interim financial statements prepared by a certified public accountant. The bill also authorizes an applicant for an FDOT contractor certificate of qualification to submit with a timely submitted application a request to keep an existing certificate, with the current maximum capacity rating, in place until the expiration date.

Further, the bill repeals a current provision of law providing temporary confidential and exempt status from public records requirements for a document that reveals the identity of a person who has requested or obtained a bid package, plan, or specifications pertaining to any project to be let by the FDOT.

The fiscal impact of the bill is indeterminate. Please see the "Fiscal Impact Statement" for details.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2022.

II. Present Situation:

For ease of organization and readability, the present situation is discussed below in conjunction with the effect of the proposed changes.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Public Transportation Funding from the State Transportation Trust Fund (Section 1)

Present Situation

Section 206.46(1), F.S., creates the STTF, and all moneys in the trust fund must be used for transportation purposes, as provided by law, under the direction of the FDOT. The FDOT is required to annually commit from the STTF a minimum of 15 percent of all state revenues deposited into the trust fund for public transportation projects in accordance with ch 311, F.S. (relating to seaport programs and facilities), ss. 332.003-332.007, F.S. (relating to airports), ch. 341, F.S. (relating to public transit), and ch. 343, F.S. (relating to regional transportation).

Projects eligible for funding under ch. 311, F.S., include, for example, transportation facilities (e.g., roads) within the jurisdiction of a port, under the Florida Seaport Transportation and Economic Development Program.[1] Sections 332.003-332.007, F.S., make up the Florida Airport Development and Assistance Act, which provides funding for projects at public airports such as

[1] While bus service to and from a port could qualify as an eligible project, a variety of other projects are also eligible, such as dredging or deepening of channels, turning basins, or harbors; acquisition of land to be used for port purposes; and construction of wharves, docks, and cruise terminals. See s. 311.07(3)(b), F.S., for a full list of projects eligible for grant funding under the Florida Seaport Transportation and Economic Development Program.

airport master planning,[2] airport development,[3] and airport discretionary capacity improvements.[4]

Chapter 341, F.S., relating to "public transit" (the transporting of people by conveyances, or a system of conveyances, traveling on land or water, local or regional in nature, and available for use by the public, including paratransit)[5] could include projects such as a public transit capital project,[6] a commuter assistance project,[7] a transit corridor project,[8] or an intercity bus service project.[9]

Chapter 343, F.S., relating to regional transportation, establishes the South Florida Regional Transportation Authority, the Central Florida Regional Transportation Authority, and the Tampa Bay Regional Transit Authority. As an example of currently authorized uses of public transportation funding in the context of regional transportation, s. 343.58(4), F.S., requires specified amounts to be transferred from the STTF to the South Florida Regional Transportation Authority, which operates Tri-Rail, a passenger rail service in Broward, Palm Beach, and Miami-Dade Counties. As another example, s. 341.303, F.S., authorizes specified funding from the STTF for SunRail, a passenger rail system currently operating in Volusia, Seminole, Orange, and Osceola counties.

Various projects under these programs may be eligible for use of state revenues in the STTF to match available federal funds.

The 15-percent public transportation requirement does not apply to certain STTF revenues. Current law contains a number of provisions exempting certain revenue from the 15-percent public transportation requirement, such as those from rental car surcharges under s. 212.0606, F.S.; from initial registration fees under s. 320.072, F.S.; and from local option fuel taxes under s. 215.211, F.S. The FDOT advises that while state revenues in Fiscal Year 2022-

2023 are projected at over $4.7 billion, more than $1.4 billion (30 percent) of that revenue is exempt.[10]

In addition, while some revenue streams are exempt from the 15-percent requirement, a requirement for use of a given revenue stream for public transportation may still be present. For example, s. 201.15, F.S., requires 10 percent of documentary tax proceeds deposited into the STTF to be used for the New Starts Program and s. 339.0801, F.S., requires $10 million annually from tag and title fees to be used for the Seaport Investment Program.

According to FDOT, "[i]t is important to note that some of the state funds allocated for public transportation are allocated to comply with the 15% requirement specified in s. 206.46(3), F.S., while other state funds are allocated to comply with statutory use requirements for documentary stamp taxes, tag and title fees, and initial registration fees."[11]

The FDOT reports public transportation programming as of July 1, 2021 (in millions) as follows:[12]

State Funds Programmed for Public Transportation

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 1 of the bill amends s. 206.46(3), F.S., to provide a cap on the amount of state revenues deposited into the STTF that can be used for public transportation projects of 25 percent. Unless otherwise specified in the General Appropriations Act, the FDOT must commit at least 15 percent, but no more than 25 percent, of state revenues for such projects. The calculation for purposes of determining the allowable funding range for the specified projects would not include the amount of state revenues used for federal grant matching.

Design-Build, Progressive Design-Build, and Innovative Contracting (Sections 2 and 3)

Present Situation

The FDOT is generally authorized to enter into construction and maintenance contracts and must ensure that all project descriptions, including design plans, "are complete, accurate, and up to date prior to the advertisement for bids on such projects."[13]

Current law also authorizes the FDOT, if it determines that doing so is in the public interest, to combine the design and construction phases of a building, a major bridge, a limited access facility, or a rail corridor project into a single contract, referred to as a "design-build" contract.[14]

The FDOT is also authorized to establish a program for transportation projects that demonstrate innovative techniques of highway and bridge design, construction, maintenance, and finance. The innovations must intend to measure resiliency and structural integrity and control time and cost increases on construction projects. These techniques may include state-of-the-art technology for pavement, safety, and other aspects of highway and bridge design, construction, and maintenance; innovative bidding and financing techniques; accelerated construction procedures; and techniques that have the potential to reduce project life cycle costs.[15]

To the maximum extent practical, the FDOT must use existing processes to award and administer construction and maintenance contracts. If the FDOT intends to use specific innovative techniques, it must document the need for any exceptions to current law that would otherwise prohibit use of the techniques.

The FDOT is limited to $120 million annually for the purposes of contracting for innovative transportation projects. However, the annual cap currently does not apply to:

- Turnpike Enterprise projects, and
- Low-bid design-build milling and resurfacing contracts.[16]

According to the Design-Build Institute of America (DBIA), design-build projects enable the project owner to manage only one contract, with the designer and contractor working together from the beginning and providing consensus project recommendations to fit the owner's schedule and budget. The entire team addresses any necessary changes, which leads "to collaborative problem-solving and innovation...." This method of project delivery, the DBIA asserts, creates an inherent "culture of collaboration."[17] As described by the DBIA, the "progressive" type of design-build contract "uses a qualifications-based or best value selection, followed by a process whereby the owner then 'progresses' towards a design and contract price with the team (thus the term 'Progressive')."[18]

The Florida Transportation Builders' Association (FTBA) advises that traditional design-build contracting has produced nearly two decades of successful projects and that progressive design-build contracting represents an evolution from traditional design-build, allowing better allocation and management of unforeseen conditions and risks[19] encountered during the design of the project. Once the design-build firm is selected based on qualifications, including past performance, the firm then works collaboratively with the FDOT to "progress or advance" the design until the design contains sufficient detail to competitively bid the work.[20] As opposed to the FDOT's general contracting authority, under which design plans must be complete, accurate, and up to date prior to advertising for bids, pricing in a progressive design-build contract is delayed until design is closer to completion.

The FTBA further advises that progressive design-build contracting is already being used by the Greater Orlando Aviation Authority and the Tampa International Airport Authority.[21] According to the DBIA, at least two other states are currently authorized to engage in some form of progressive design-build contracting.[22]

Based on a review of the FDOT's Work Program Instructions for development of the Tentative Work Program for Fiscal Years 2022-2023 – 2026-2027, the FDOT, if not already in use under its existing design-build authority, appears to be contemplating the use of "progressive" design-build contracts under its authorization to undertake transportation projects that demonstrate innovative techniques of highway and bridge design, construction, maintenance, and finance.[23] Such contracting under current law would be subject to the $120 million statutory cap.

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 2 of the bill amends s. 337.025, F.S., relating to the FDOT's authority to undertake innovative transportation projects, to expressly authorize the FDOT to use progressive design-build contacts for such projects.

The bill authorizes the FDOT, if it determines that doing so is in the best interests of the public, to combine the design and construction phases of a project into a single contract and select the design-build firm in the early stages of a project to ensure that the firm is part of the collaboration and development of the design as part of a step-by-step progression through construction. The bill refers to such a contract as a progressive design-build contract.

The bill requires the selection and award processes for a progressive design-build contract to involve a two-phase process. In the first phase, the FDOT must competitively award the contract to a design-build firm based upon the firm's qualifications. In phase two, the selected firm must competitively bid construction trade subcontractor packages and, based upon these bids, negotiate with the FDOT for a fixed price or a guaranteed maximum price that meets the project budget and scope as advertised in the request for qualifications.

In addition, the bill exempts progressive design-build contracts for complex, high-risk projects with a minimum contract value of $400 million from the annual $120 million cap on innovative contracting.

Section 3 of the bill amends s. 337.11(7), F.S., relating to the FDOT's authority to engage in design-build contracting, to allow the FDOT to combine the design and construction phases of any project into a single contract, not just for a building, a major bridge, a limited access facility, or a rail corridor project.

Though the bill repeals the exemption for low-bid design-build milling and resurfacing contracts from the $120 million cap on innovative transportation project, by removing the limitation on design-build contracting to the design and construction phases of a building, a major bridge, a limited access facility, or a rail corridor project, "traditional" low-bid design-build milling and resurfacing contracts would not be subject to the cap. The FDOT would be authorized to use "traditional" design-build contracting for any type of project. These "traditional" (or non-innovative) contracts would not be included in the $120 million annual cap on innovative contracting, as is the case under current law for certain projects as discussed above.

Under the bill, the FDOT would be authorized to use progressive design-build contracting as an innovative contracting technique, subject to the $120 million annual cap. The annual cap on innovative contracting would continue to be inapplicable to Turnpike Enterprise projects and would be inapplicable to progressive design-build contracts for complex, high-risk projects with a minimum contract value of $400 million.

FDOT Contracting and Procurement Authority/Settlements and Stipends (Section 4)

Present Situation

When the FDOT determines that doing so is in the best interest of the public and intends, through a settlement, to pay a non-selected responsive bidder a total sum of $1 million or more, including any amount paid pursuant to s. 334.049, F.S. (patents, copyrights, trademarks, and trade secrets), s. 337.11(8), F.S. (stipends to non-selected, responsive design-build firms), or any other law, current law requires the FDOT to:[24]

- Document in a written memorandum by the FDOT secretary the specific reasons that such settlement and payment to a non-selected responsive bidder is in the best interest of the state. The written memorandum must be included and maintained in the permanent procurement files of the FDOT and must include:

[24] Section 337.1101(1), F.S.

  - A description of the property rights, patent rights, copyrights, trademarks, or the engineering design or other design work that the department will acquire or retain as a result of such settlement; and
  - The specific appropriation in the existing General Appropriations Act which the department intends to use to provide such payment.
- Provide prior written notification to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Senate and House of Representatives minority leaders, the chair and vice chair of the Legislative Budget Commission, and the Attorney General at least 5 business days, or as soon thereafter as practicable, before the FDOT makes the settlement agreement final. Such written notification must include the written memorandum described above.
- Provide written notification of such discussions to the same individuals at the time settlement discussions regarding any such payment have begun in earnest.

The FDOT is separately authorized, when the FDOT determines that doing so is in the best interest of the public, to pay a stipend to non-selected design-build firms that have submitted responsive proposals to the FDOT for construction contracts.[25] These projects are included in the FDOT's legislatively approved work program. The decision and amount of a stipend must be based on the FDOT's analysis of the estimated proposal development costs and the anticipated degree of engineering design during the procurement process. The FDOT retains the right to use the designs in the proposals from responsive non-selected design-build firms that accept a stipend.

A review of the FDOT's work program instructions suggests that the amount of a stipend to be paid is noted in the request for proposals for a design-build project. The FDOT enters into a stipend agreement with each firm after the proposals are "shortlisted,"[26] and each agreement states that the firm that receives the project contract award will not get the stipend. The non-selected firms then submit an invoice within two weeks after the project contract is executed and are paid the stipend amount noted in the request for proposals.[27]

While the FDOT might settle a bid protest through payment of a stipend, in contrast to any amounts paid by the FDOT that would trigger the documentation and notice requirements for a settlement, stipends paid by the FDOT pursuant to its separate authority are authorized payments arrived at by contract during the procurement process.

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 4 of the bill amends s. 337.1101(1), F.S., to clarify that stipends paid by the FDOT to non-selected design-build firms that have submitted responsive proposals for construction contracts contained in the FDOT's legislatively approved work program are not subject to existing documentation and notification requirements for stipend payments made by the FDOT to resolve a bid protest through a settlement. If the FDOT pays a stipend to settle a bid protest in an amount that triggers the requirements, the FDOT must continue to comply with the documentation and notification requirements.

Contractor Certificates of Qualification (Section 5)

Present Situation

Current law requires any contractor desiring to bid on any FDOT construction contract in excess of $250,000 to first be certified by the FDOT as qualified pursuant to s. 337.14, F.S., and the FDOT's rules.[28] When applying to the FDOT, each application for certification must be accompanied by the contractor's latest annual financial statement, which must have been completed within the last 12 months. If the application or the annual financial statement shows the contractor's financial condition more than four months prior to the date on which the FDOT receives the application, the contractor must also submit an interim financial statement and an updated application.[29] Each required annual or interim financial statement must be audited and accompanied by the opinion of a certified public accountant (CPA). However, an applying contractor who desires to bid exclusively for the performance of construction contracts with proposed budget estimates of less than $1 million may submit reviewed annual or reviewed interim financial statements prepared by a CPA.[30]

The FDOT's rules include requirements with respect to the equipment, past record, experience, financial resources, and organizational personnel of the applying contractor which are necessary to perform the specific class of work for which the contractor seeks certification. In so doing, the FDOT verifies and evaluates whether an applicant is competent and responsible and possesses the necessary financial resources to perform the requested work.[31]

Part of the latter inquiry involves whether an applicant has the financial resources sufficient to establish a maximum capacity rating (MCR), which is defined as the total aggregate dollar amount of uncompleted work an applicant may have under contract at any one time as a prime contractor and/or subcontractor, regardless of the work location and with whom the applicant contracted.[32] According to the FDOT's rules, the MCR is established by a formula, one element of which is the "ability factor." The FDOT's rules require an applicant's maximum capacity rating to be reduced by the total value of their current uncompleted work, producing the applicant's "current capacity," or bidding capacity. Under the rule, the current capacity must be amended immediately upon issuance of a new certificate of qualification, regardless of whether the existing certificate has expired.[33]

Currently, if an applicant for a certificate of qualification is found to possess the prescribed qualifications, the FDOT must issue the applicant a certificate, which, unless revoked by the FDOT for good cause, is valid for a period of 18 months after the date of the applicant's financial statement, or such shorter period as the FDOT prescribes. Submission of an application

[28] Rule Chapter 14-22, F.A.C.
[29] The interim statements must cover the period from the end date of the annual statement and must show the financial condition of the applying contractor no more than four months prior to the date the FDOT receives the interim statement but, upon request of the applicant, an application and accompanying annual or interim financial statement received by the FDOT within 15 days after either four-month period is considered timely.
[30] A reviewed annual or reviewed interim financial statement is less expensive than an audited, certified annual or interim financial statement.

does not affect expiration of the certificate and, as of July 1, 2021, does not affect the ability factor of the applicant or the maximum capacity rating of the applicant.[34]

The FTBA advises the FDOT has requested revision of the current language to address overlapping certificates of qualification and any changes in the amount of new work that a firm can bid, due to a revised maximum capacity rating. As an example, the FTBA describes a potential situation in which a firm is allowed to bid on a $1 million contract under its existing certificate of qualification and then is later found nonresponsive when a new certificate is issued to the firm during the time leading up to the submission of a bid, due to a revised (lower) capacity rating.[35]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 5 of the bill amends s. 337.14, F.S, to increase from $1 million to $2 million the proposed budget estimate amount for triggering authorization of an applying contractor to submit reviewed annual or reviewed interim financial statements prepared by a CPA, instead of audited, certified statements. An applying contractor who desires to bid exclusively on construction contracts with proposed budget estimates of $2 million or less may submit reviewed annual or reviewed interim financial statements prepared by a CPA.

The bill also repeals the current provisions providing that submission of an application does not affect the ability factor or the maximum capacity rating of an applicant for an FDOT certificate of qualification. Instead, the bill authorizes an applicant to submit a written request to the FDOT with a timely submitted application to keep an existing certificate in place until its expiration date. If the FDOT approves the request, the applicant's current maximum capacity rating must remain in place until expiration of the current certification. In the absence of the FDOT's approval and in accordance with the FDOT's existing rules, the current capacity must be amended immediately upon issuance of a new certificate of qualification, regardless of whether the existing certificate has expired. The bill also makes a conforming change to the statute.

Public Records Exemption/Confidentiality of Identities of Bidders (Section 6)

Present Situation

Section 336.168(1) and (3), F.S., establish confidential and exempt status from public records requirements of s. 119.07(1), F.S., for:

- A document or electronic file revealing the FDOT's official cost estimate of a project until the contract for the project has been executed or until the project is no longer under active consideration; and
- The FDOT's bid analysis and monitoring system, including all system documentation, input, computer processes and programs, electronic data files, and output. This does not apply to the actual source documents, unless otherwise exempted under other provisions of law.

[34] Section 337.14(4), F.S. See s. 10, ch. 2021-188, Laws of Fla., which added the ability factor and MCR as things not being affected by the submission of an application.
[35] See FTBA email to Transportation Committee staff, November 30, 2021 (on file in the Senate Transportation Committee).

Section 337.168(2), F.S., currently provides that a document[36] revealing the identity of persons who have requested or obtained bid packages, plans, or specifications pertaining to any project to be let by the department is confidential and exempt from the provisions of s. 119.07(1), F.S., for the period which begins two working days before the deadline for obtaining bid packages, plans, or specifications and ends with the letting of the bid. A document that reveals the identity before the two working days before the deadline for obtaining bid packages, plans, or specifications remains a public record.

The FDOT maintains a website that lists the identity of those who have requested or obtained bid packages for a given project.[37] The lists contain for each person a vendor identification number, an indication of the name of the entity that ordered the documents, and a shipping address and phone number for each. The lists do not appear to contain any information which would be exempt other any other provisions of law. The FDOT advises the lists are published daily, except for during the two-day confidential period defined in current law, and a comprehensive list is then published after the letting occurs.[38]

The issue appears to relate to small contractors, who use the identities of potential bidders for the purpose of submitting sub-contract bids to general contractors for their use in preparing bids for FDOT projects.[39]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 6 of the bill amends s. 337.168(2), F.S., to repeal the temporary public records exemption for a document revealing the identity of persons who have requested or obtained bid packages, plans, or specifications pertaining to any project to be let by the FDOT. According to the FTBA, this revision provides full transparency as to the identity of potential bidders during the entire procurement process.[40]

Effective Date (Section 7)

The bill is effective July 1, 2022.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

[36] The FDOT advises that many documents submitted by contractors contain both exempt and non-exempt information. Telephone conversation between FDOT staff and Senate Transportation Committee staff, November 24, 2021. In accordance with s. 119.07(1)(d), F.S., the FDOT would be required to redact any information contained in a document that reveals the identity of persons who have requested or obtained bid packages if the information is exempt under any other provision of law.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None. The bill does not expand public records exemptions.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

None identified.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The fiscal impact of the revisions relating to FDOT contractor certificates of qualification is indeterminate.

Increasing the budget estimate amount for construction contracts from $1 million to $2 million for certain contractors exclusively bidding, allowing these additional contractors to submit reviewed financial statements should reduce the costs on these contractors to submit bids. A reviewed annual or reviewed interim financial statement is less expensive than an audited, certified annual or interim financial statement.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The impact on current funding levels, if any, of imposing a maximum commitment of no more than 25 percent of state revenues in the STTF for the identified public transportation projects, excluding those used for matching federal grants, as well as any effect on other projects in the work program, is dependent on funding levels selected by the FDOT within the authorized range. To the extent that funding for public transportation projects is increased above currently programmed levels within the cap, other projects in the work program may be impacted.

The fiscal impact of the revisions relating to design-build, progressive design-build, and innovative contracting is indeterminate, as the number and details of any such contracts to be undertaken by the FDOT is unknown.

The fiscal impact of the revisions relating to FDOT contractor certificates of qualification, if any, is indeterminate. The FDOT may incur expenses associated with revising Rule Chapter 14-22 of the Florida Administrative Code relating to contractor qualification. These expenses, if rule revision is necessary, are expected to be absorbed within existing resources.

The FDOT may experience an indeterminate, but likely insignificant negative fiscal impact associated with responding to requests for documents that reveal the identity of a potential bidder on a transportation project, including, if necessary, redacting any information contained in a document which is made exempt under any other provisions of law, for a two-day period during which such a record would have been exempt under current law.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

The FDOT has raised concerns regarding the 25-percent public transportation funding cap imposed by the bill, relating to decreased long-term flexibility in preparing the work program.[41]

Current law requires the FDOT to adopt by rule procedures for administering design-build contracts and specifies what must be minimally included in the procedures.[42] As drafted, the bill is unclear as to whether the procedures adopted to administer design-build contracts also apply to progressive-design build contracts. Failure to adopt by rule any procedures applicable to progressive design-build contracts could result in a challenge under the Administrative Procedures Act.[43] An amendment to existing s. 377.11(7)((b), F.S., to expressly include progressive design-build contracts in the rulemaking requirement may be in order.

The FDOT has also expressed concerns regarding the repeal of the temporary public records exemption for the identity of persons who have requested bid packages, relating to a potential negative impact on the procurement process.[44]

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 206.46, 337.025, 337.11, 337.1101, 337.14, and 337.168.

CS/CS by Appropriations on February 28, 2022:
The committee substitute:

- Increases the minimum contract value of certain progressive design-build contracts that are exempt from the annual cap on innovative transportation projects, from $250 million contract value to a $400 contract value.
- Moves the amendatory provisions allowing the FDOT to enter into progressive design-build contracts from s. 377.11, F.S., to being amended into s. 337.025, F.S.
- Clarifies that stipends paid by the FDOT to non-selected design-build firms that have submitted responsive proposals for construction contracts contained in the FDOT's legislatively-approved work program are not subject to existing documentation and notification requirements for stipend payments made by the FDOT to resolve a bid protest through a settlement.
- Increases from $1 million to $2 million the proposed budget estimate amount for triggering authorization of an applying contractor to submit reviewed annual or reviewed interim financial statements prepared by a CPA, instead of audited, certified statements.

CS by Transportation on December 1, 2021:
The committee substitute:

- Modifies the minimum 15-percent and maximum 25-percent commitment of state revenues in the STTF for the specified public transportation projects if otherwise provided in the General Appropriations Act.
- Includes progressive design-build contracting as an authorized innovative technique of highway and bridge design and construction projects, excludes certain progressive design-build contracts from an annual $120 million cap on innovative transportation projects, and removes inapplicability of the cap to low-bid design-build milling and resurfacing contracts.
- Removes a limitation on the FDOT's authority to combine the design and construction phases (a "design-build" project) to a building, a major bridge, a limited access facility, or a rail corridor project, authorizing the FDOT to combine the design and construction phases of any type of project into a single design-build contract.
- Authorizes the FDOT, if it determines that doing so is in the best interests of the public, to use progressive design-build contracting, using a specified two-phase process, the first involving the design-build firm's qualifications and, the second involving negotiations on price.
- Removes the maximum capacity rating of an applicant for a contractor certificate of qualification as factors that do not affect the expiration of a certificate, authorizes an applicant to submit a request to keep an existing certificate of qualification in place until the expiration date and, if approved by the FDOT, keep the current maximum capacity rating of the applicant in place until expiration of the current certificate of qualification.

- Removes the entire subsection of current law containing the temporary public records exemption for a document revealing the identity of persons who have requested or obtained bid packages, plans, or specifications pertaining to any project to be let by the FDOT, instead of leaving unnecessary language deeming such a document to be a public record.
- Removes from the bill authorization of the FDOT to use moneys in the STTF to pay for work zone speed enforcement by entering into an agreement with the FHP.

Such contract is referred to as a progressive design-build contract. For progressive design-build contracts, the selection and award processes must include a two-phase process. For phase one, the department shall competitively award the contract to a design-build firm based upon qualifications. For phase two, the design-build firm shall competitively bid construction trade subcontractor packages and, based upon these bids, negotiate with the department a fixed firm price or guaranteed maximum price that meets the project budget and scope as advertised in the request for qualifications.
