COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/HJR 1 proposes an amendment to the Florida Constitution to authorize the Legislature to provide, through general law, for all levies other than school district levies, an additional homestead exemption on the value greater than $100,000 and up to $150,000 for a classroom teacher, law enforcement officer, correctional officer, firefighter, emergency medical technician, paramedic, child welfare services professional, active duty member of the United States Armed Forces, or a member of the Florida National Guard. Property maintained as a homestead by the owner for a person legally or naturally dependent upon the owner is eligible for the exemption.

The Revenue Estimating Conference (REC) analyzed a prior version of the joint resolution and concluded that it does not have a fiscal impact absent legislative implementation. However, if the joint resolution is approved by the electors, and the implementing bill, CS/CS/HB 1563, becomes law, the bill will reduce local property tax revenue for all levies other than school district levies by $85.9 million beginning in Fiscal Year 2023-2024.

If adopted by the Legislature, the proposed amendment will be submitted to Florida's electors for approval or rejection at the next general election in November 2022.

If approved by at least 60 percent of the electors, the proposed amendment will take effect on January 1, 2023.

II. Present Situation:

General Overview of Property Taxation

The ad valorem tax or "property tax" is an annual tax levied by counties, municipalities, school districts, and some special districts. The tax is based on the taxable value of property as of January 1 of each year.[1] The property appraiser annually determines the assessed or "just value"[2] of property within the taxing jurisdiction and then applies relevant exclusions, assessment limitations, and exemptions to determine the property's "taxable value."[3] Tax bills are mailed in November of each year based on the previous January 1 valuation and payment is due by March 31.

The Florida Constitution prohibits the state from levying ad valorem taxes[4] and limits the Legislature's authority to provide for property valuations at less than just value, unless expressly authorized.[5]

The just valuation standard generally requires the property appraiser to consider the highest and best use of property;[6] however, the Florida Constitution authorizes certain types of property to be valued based on their current use (classified use assessments), which often result in lower assessments. Properties that receive classified use treatment in Florida include: agricultural land, land producing high water recharge to Florida's aquifers, and land used exclusively for noncommercial recreational purposes; land used for conservation purposes; historic properties when authorized by the county or municipality; and certain working waterfront property.[7]

Property Tax Exemptions for Homestead Property

Homestead Exemption

Every person having legal or equitable title to real estate and who maintains thereon his or her permanent residence or the permanent residence of a dependent (homestead property) is eligible for a homestead tax exemption of up to $25,000. The exemption applies to all ad valorem taxes levied, including levies by school districts.[8] An additional homestead exemption of up to $25,000 applies to the property's value between $50,000 and $75,000.[9] Unlike the first $25,000, the additional $25,000 exemption does not apply to ad valorem taxes levied by school districts.

[1] Both real property and tangible personal property are subject to tax. Section 192.001(12), F.S., defines "real property" as land, buildings, fixtures, and all other improvements to land. Section 192.001(11)(d), F.S., defines "tangible personal property" as all goods, chattels, and other articles of value capable of manual possession and whose chief value is intrinsic to the article itself.

[2] Property must be valued at "just value" for purposes of property taxation, unless the Florida Constitution provides otherwise. FLA. CONST. art VII, s. 4. Just value has been interpreted by the courts to mean the fair market value that a willing buyer would pay a willing seller for the property in an arm's-length transaction. See Walter v. Shuler, 176 So. 2d 81 (Fla. 1965); Deltona Corp. v. Bailey, 336 So. 2d 1163 (Fla. 1976); Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co. v. Dade County, 275 So. 2d 4 (Fla. 1973).

Additional Homestead Exemptions for Certain Persons

The Florida Constitution authorizes the Legislature to provide additional property tax exemptions for the following persons who maintain property as a homestead:

- Counties and municipalities may grant exemptions to persons aged 65 years or over whose household income does not exceed $20,000 (low-income seniors).[10]
- A veteran or first responder[11] with a total and permanent service-connected disability is entitled to a complete exemption for the property.[12]
- A veteran with a total service-connected disability that confines him or her to a wheelchair is entitled to a complete exemption for the property. Upon the veteran's death, the exemption carries over to the veteran's unremarried surviving spouse.[13]
- A veteran disabled to a degree of 10 percent or more by misfortune or during wartime service is entitled to an exemption for any property up to $5,000. Upon the death of the veteran, the exemption carries over to the veteran's unremarried surviving spouse.[14]
- The unremarried surviving spouse of a veteran or first responder who died while on active duty is entitled to a complete exemption for the property if the veteran was a permanent resident of Florida on the day he or she died.[15]

Tax Discount on Homestead Property for a Combat-disabled Veteran

In addition to the property tax exemptions described above, certain combat-disabled veterans are entitled to a discount on their homestead property taxes.[16] The discount is calculated as a percentage equal to the percentage of the veteran's permanent, service-connected disability.[17] The discount is applied as a reduction to the taxable value of the homestead property.[18]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The joint resolution proposes an amendment to the Florida Constitution to authorize the Legislature to provide, through general law, for all levies other than school district levies, an additional homestead exemption on the value greater than $100,000 and up to $150,000. Persons eligible for the exemption include classroom teachers, law enforcement officers, correctional officers, firefighters, emergency medical technicians, paramedics, child welfare services professionals, active duty members of the United States Armed Forces, members of the Florida National Guard, or a person legally or naturally dependent upon the owner.

If adopted by the Legislature, the proposed amendment will be submitted to Florida's electors for approval or rejection at the next general election in November 2022.

If approved by at least 60 percent of the electors, the proposed amendment will take effect January 1, 2023.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

The mandate provisions in Article VII, section 18 of the Florida Constitution, do not apply to joint resolutions.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

Article XI, s. 1 of the Florida Constitution authorizes the Legislature to propose amendments to the Florida Constitution by joint resolution approved by a three-fifths vote of the membership of each house. Article XI, s. 5(a) of the Florida Constitution requires the amendment be placed before the electorate at the next general election[19] held more than 90 days after the proposal has been filed with the Secretary of State or at a special election held for that purpose. Constitutional amendments submitted to the electors must be printed in clear and unambiguous language on the ballot.[20]

Article XI, s. 5(d) of the Florida Constitution requires proposed amendments or constitutional revisions to be published in a newspaper of general circulation in each county where a newspaper is published. The amendment or revision must be published once in the 10th week and again in the 6th week immediately preceding the week the election is held.

Article XI, s. 5(e) of the Florida Constitution requires approval by 60 percent of voters for a constitutional amendment to take effect. The amendment, if approved, becomes effective on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in January following the election, or on such other date as may be specified in the amendment.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

The Revenue Estimating Conference (REC) analyzed a prior version of the joint resolution and concluded that it does not have a fiscal impact absent legislative implementation. However, if the joint resolution is approved by the electors, and the implementing bill, CS/CS/HB 1563, becomes law, the bill will reduce local property tax revenue for all levies other than school district levies by $85.9 million beginning in Fiscal Year 2023-2024.

B. Private Sector Impact:

None.

C. Government Sector Impact:

Article XI, s. 5(d) of the Florida Constitution requires proposed amendments or constitutional revisions to be published in a newspaper of general circulation in each county where a newspaper is published. The amendment or revision must be published in the 10th week and again in the 6th week immediately preceding the week the election is held.

The Division of Elections (division) within the Department of State pays for publication costs to advertise all constitutional amendments in both English and Spanish, [21] typically paid from non-recurring General Revenue funds.[22] Accurate cost estimates for the next constitutional amendment advertising cannot be determined until the total number of amendments to be advertised is known and updated quotes are obtained from newspapers.

There is an unknown additional cost for the printing and distributing of the constitutional amendments, in poster or booklet form, in English and Spanish, for each of the 67 Supervisors of Elections to post or make available at each polling room or each voting site, as required by s. 101.171, F.S. Historically, the division has printed and distributed booklets that include the ballot title, ballot summary, text of the constitutional amendment, and, if applicable, the financial impact statement. Beginning in 2020, the summary of such financial information statements was also included as part of the booklets.[23]

House Joint Resolution

A joint resolution proposing an amendment to Section 6 of Article VII and the creation of a new section in Article XII of the State Constitution to authorize the legislature, by general law, for all levies other than school district levies, to grant an additional homestead property tax exemption on $50,000 of the assessed value of homestead property owned by classroom teachers, law enforcement officers, correctional officers, firefighters, emergency medical technicians, paramedics, child welfare services professionals, active duty members of the United States Armed Forces, and Florida National Guard members.

Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

That the following amendment to Section 6 of Article VII and the creation of a new section in Article XII of the State Constitution are agreed to and shall be submitted to the electors of this state for approval or rejection at the next general election or at an earlier special election specifically authorized by law for that purpose:

ARTICLE VII

FINANCE AND TAXATION

FLORIDA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

CS/CS/HJR 1 2022

SECTION 6. Homestead exemptions.—

(a) Every person who has the legal or equitable title to real estate and maintains thereon the permanent residence of the owner, or another legally or naturally dependent upon the owner, shall be exempt from taxation thereon, except assessments for special benefits, up to the assessed valuation of twenty-five thousand dollars and, for all levies other than school district levies, on the assessed valuation greater than fifty thousand dollars and up to seventy-five thousand dollars, upon establishment of right thereto in the manner prescribed by law. The real estate may be held by legal or equitable title, by the entireties, jointly, in common, as a condominium, or indirectly by stock ownership or membership representing the owner's or member's proprietary interest in a corporation owning a fee or a leasehold initially in excess of ninety-eight years. The exemption shall not apply with respect to any assessment roll until such roll is first determined to be in compliance with the provisions of section 4 by a state agency designated by general law. This exemption is repealed on the effective date of any amendment to this Article which provides for the assessment of homestead property at less than just value.

(b) Not more than one exemption shall be allowed any individual or family unit or with respect to any residential unit. No exemption shall exceed the value of the real estate assessable to the owner or, in case of ownership through stock or membership in a corporation, the value of the proportion which the interest in the corporation bears to the assessed value of the property.

(c) By general law and subject to conditions specified therein, the Legislature may provide to renters, who are permanent residents, ad valorem tax relief on all ad valorem tax levies. Such ad valorem tax relief shall be in the form and amount established by general law.

(d) The legislature may, by general law, allow counties or municipalities, for the purpose of their respective tax levies and subject to the provisions of general law, to grant either or both of the following additional homestead tax exemptions:

(1) An exemption not exceeding fifty thousand dollars to a person who has the legal or equitable title to real estate and maintains thereon the permanent residence of the owner, who has attained age sixty-five, and whose household income, as defined by general law, does not exceed twenty thousand dollars; or

(2) An exemption equal to the assessed value of the property to a person who has the legal or equitable title to real estate with a just value less than two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, as determined in the first tax year that the owner applies and is eligible for the exemption, and who has maintained thereon the permanent residence of the owner for not less than twenty-five years, who has attained age sixty-five, and whose household income does not exceed the income limitation prescribed in paragraph (1).

The general law must allow counties and municipalities to grant these additional exemptions, within the limits prescribed in this subsection, by ordinance adopted in the manner prescribed by general law, and must provide for the periodic adjustment of the income limitation prescribed in this subsection for changes in the cost of living.

(e)(1) Each veteran who is age 65 or older who is partially or totally permanently disabled shall receive a discount from the amount of the ad valorem tax otherwise owed on homestead property the veteran owns and resides in if the disability was combat related and the veteran was honorably discharged upon separation from military service. The discount shall be in a percentage equal to the percentage of the veteran's permanent, service-connected disability as determined by the United States Department of Veterans Affairs. To qualify for the discount granted by this paragraph, an applicant must submit to the county property appraiser, by March 1, an official letter from the United States Department of Veterans Affairs stating the percentage of the veteran's service-connected disability and such evidence that reasonably identifies the disability as combat related and a copy of the veteran's honorable discharge. If the property appraiser denies the request for a discount, the appraiser must notify the applicant in writing of the reasons for the denial, and the veteran may reapply. The Legislature may, by general law, waive the annual application requirement in subsequent years.

(2) If a veteran who receives the discount described in paragraph (1) predeceases his or her spouse, and if, upon the death of the veteran, the surviving spouse holds the legal or beneficial title to the homestead property and permanently resides thereon, the discount carries over to the surviving spouse until he or she remarries or sells or otherwise disposes of the homestead property. If the surviving spouse sells or otherwise disposes of the property, a discount not to exceed the dollar amount granted from the most recent ad valorem tax roll may be transferred to the surviving spouse's new homestead property, if used as his or her permanent residence and he or she has not remarried.

(3) This subsection is self-executing and does not require implementing legislation.

(f) By general law and subject to conditions and limitations specified therein, the Legislature may provide ad valorem tax relief equal to the total amount or a portion of the ad valorem tax otherwise owed on homestead property to:

(1) The surviving spouse of a veteran who died from service-connected causes while on active duty as a member of the United States Armed Forces.

(2) The surviving spouse of a first responder who died in the line of duty.

(3) A first responder who is totally and permanently disabled as a result of an injury or injuries sustained in the line of duty. Causal connection between a disability and service in the line of duty shall not be presumed but must be determined as provided by general law. For purposes of this paragraph, the term "disability" does not include a chronic condition or chronic disease, unless the injury sustained in the line of duty was the sole cause of the chronic condition or chronic disease.

As used in this subsection and as further defined by general law, the term "first responder" means a law enforcement officer, a correctional officer, a firefighter, an emergency medical technician, or a paramedic, and the term "in the line of duty" means arising out of and in the actual performance of duty required by employment as a first responder.

(g) By general law and subject to conditions and limitations specified therein, for all levies other than school district levies, the legislature may provide an additional homestead exemption on the assessed valuation of greater than one hundred thousand dollars and up to one hundred fifty thousand dollars to a classroom teacher, a law enforcement officer, a correctional officer, a firefighter, an emergency medical technician, a paramedic, a child welfare services professional, an active duty member of the United States Armed Forces, or a member of the Florida National Guard who has the legal or equitable title to real estate and maintains thereon the permanent residence of the owner, or another legally or naturally dependent upon the owner.

ARTICLE XII

SCHEDULE

Additional homestead property tax exemption for specified critical public services workforce.—This section and the amendment to Section 6 of Article VII, authorizing the legislature, for all levies other than school district levies, to grant an additional homestead property tax exemption on $50,000 of the assessed value of homestead property owned by classroom teachers, law enforcement officers, correctional officers, firefighters, emergency medical technicians, paramedics, child welfare services professionals, active duty members of the United States Armed Forces, and members of the Florida National Guard, shall take effect January 1, 2023.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the following statement be placed on the ballot:

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

ARTICLE XII

ADDITIONAL HOMESTEAD PROPERTY TAX EXEMPTION FOR SPECIFIED CRITICAL PUBLIC SERVICES WORKFORCE.—Proposing an amendment to the State Constitution to authorize the Legislature, by general law, to grant an additional homestead tax exemption for nonschool levies of up to $50,000 of the assessed value of homestead property owned by classroom teachers, law enforcement officers, correctional officers, firefighters, emergency medical technicians, paramedics, child welfare services professionals, active duty members of the United States Armed Forces, and Florida National Guard members. This amendment shall take effect January 1, 2023.

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations

BILL:	CS/HB 3
INTRODUCER:	Appropriations Committee; and Representative Leek and others
SUBJECT:	Law Enforcement Officer, Benefits, Recruitment, and Training
DATE:	February 25, 2022 REVISED:

	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR	REFERENCE	ACTION
1.	Grace/Hrdlicka	Sadberry	AP	Favorable

I. Summary:

CS/HB 3 provides law enforcement agencies with additional tools to bolster the recruitment and retention of qualified officers by providing financial incentives, enhanced training, expanded educational opportunities, and recognition that honors law enforcement officers' service to the state of Florida. The bill:

- Creates the Florida Law Enforcement Recruitment Bonus Program to provide one-time bonus payments of up to $5,000 to newly employed law enforcement officers in Florida;
- Creates the Florida Law Enforcement Academy Scholarship Program to cover tuition, fees, and up to $1,000 of eligible education expenses for trainees enrolled in a law enforcement officer basic recruit training program;
- Creates a reimbursement program to pay for up to $1,000 of equivalency training costs for certified law enforcement officers who relocate to Florida or members of the special operations forces who become full-time law enforcement officers;
- Provides law enforcement officers who adopt a child from within the state child welfare system with a $25,000 benefit for adopting a child with special needs or a $10,000 benefit for adopting a child without special needs;
- Makes dependent children of law enforcement officers eligible to receive a Family Empowerment Scholarship to attend a private school;
- Increases the base salary for each county sheriff by $5,000;
- Exempts veterans and applicants with an associate degree or higher from taking the basic skills test as a prerequisite to entering a law enforcement officer basic recruit training program;
- Requires that law enforcement officers receive training in health and wellness principles as part of their initial certification training and continued employment training;
- Allows law enforcement officers or former law enforcement officers to receive postsecondary credit at Florida public postsecondary educational institutions for training and experience acquired while serving;
- Encourages each district school board to establish public safety telecommunication training programs and law enforcement explorer programs in public schools; and

- Designates May 1 of each year as "Law Enforcement Appreciation Day."

The fiscal impact of the bill is indeterminate. See Section V. Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill takes effect on July 1, 2022.

II. Present Situation:

Law enforcement agencies across the United States have reported difficulty in attracting and retaining qualified law enforcement officers. According to a 2019 survey conducted by the International Association of Chiefs of Police, 78 percent of law enforcement agencies experienced difficulty in recruiting qualified candidates, 50 percent of agencies reported having to change employment policies in order to expand the pool of eligible recruits, and 25 percent reported having to reduce or eliminate certain law enforcement services or units due to staffing difficulties. [1]

The emergence of COVID-19 in early 2020 exacerbated the difficulty in recruiting law enforcement officers. In a survey conducted in September 2020, the number of law enforcement agencies reporting difficulty in recruiting qualified officers increased to 86 percent.[2] Law enforcement agencies have reported a variety of reasons for the difficulty in maintaining full staffing levels, including the negative public perception of law enforcement officers, an increase in retirements, decreased interest in law enforcement careers, the economy and availability of open positions in other occupations, and the lengthy background check and hiring process. Although law enforcement agencies have attempted to address the problem in a variety of ways, such as by offering hiring incentives, relaxing automatic candidate disqualifiers, providing more flexible work schedules, increasing fringe benefits, and expanding recruitment campaigns, many agencies are still unable to recruit enough qualified officers. [3]

The remaining present situation for the relevant portions of the bill is discussed under the Effect of Proposed Changes of this bill analysis.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

This bill provides law enforcement agencies with additional tools to bolster the recruitment and retention of qualified officers by providing financial incentives, enhanced training, expanded educational opportunities, and recognition that honors law enforcement officers' service to the state of Florida.

Florida Law Enforcement Recruitment Bonus Payment Program (Section 3)

Present Situation

In an effort to reduce staffing shortages, many law enforcement agencies offer financial incentives to recruit new law enforcement officers.[4] For example, the Orange County Sheriff's Office is offering a $2,500 signing bonus for candidates with two or more years of full-time law enforcement experience and $1,500 for all other candidates.[5] In an attempt to attract new officers, the City of Ft. Myers is offering relocation assistance of up to $5,000 for out-of-state candidates and up to $3,000 for in-state candidates, as well as a $1,000 signing bonus for newly hired officers.[6]

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill creates s. 445.08, F.S., to establish the Law Enforcement Recruitment Bonus Payment Program (Bonus Program) within the Department of Economic Opportunity (DEO). The bill creates the Bonus Program to administer one-time bonus payments of up to $5,000 to newly employed officers in Florida, subject to legislative appropriation.[7] The bill defines a "newly employed officer" as a person who gains or is appointed to full-time employment as a certified law enforcement officer[8] with a Florida criminal justice employing agency[9] on or after July 1, 2022, and who has never before been employed as a law enforcement officer in this state.

The bill requires bonus payments to be prorated based on the funds appropriated for the Bonus Program. The bill requires the DEO to develop an annual plan for administering the Bonus Program and distributing bonus payments to eligible officers. At a minimum, the DEO's annual plan must include:

- The method for determining the estimated number of newly employed officers to gain or be appointed to full-time employment during the applicable fiscal year.
- The minimum eligibility requirements a newly employed officer must meet to receive and retain a bonus payment, which must include:
  - Obtaining certification as a law enforcement officer.

[7] The bonus payment must be adjusted to include an amount to include any FICA due.
[8] "Law enforcement officer" means any person who is elected, appointed, or employed full time by any municipality or the state or any political subdivision thereof; who is vested with authority to bear arms and make arrests; and whose primary responsibility is the prevention and detection of crime or the enforcement of the penal, criminal, traffic, or highway laws of the state. This definition includes all certified supervisory and command personnel whose duties include, in whole or in part, the supervision, training, guidance, and management responsibilities of full-time law enforcement officers, part-time law enforcement officers, or auxiliary law enforcement officers but does not include support personnel employed by the employing agency. Section 943.10(1), F.S.
[9] "Employing agency" means any agency or unit of government or any municipality or the state or any political subdivision thereof, or any agent thereof, which has constitutional or statutory authority to employ or appoint persons as officers. The term also includes any private entity which has contracted with the state or county for the operation and maintenance of a nonjuvenile detention facility. Section 943.10(4), F.S.

    - Gaining full-time employment with a Florida criminal justice agency.
    - Maintaining continuous full-time employment with one or more Florida criminal justice agencies for at least 2 years from the date on which the officer obtained certification, provided that an officer employed by more than one criminal justice agency may not have a break in service longer than 15 days when transitioning between employers.
- The method that will be used to determine the bonus payment amount to be distributed to each newly employed officer.
- The method that will be used to distribute bonus payments to employing law enforcement agencies for distribution to eligible officers.
- The estimated cost to the DEO associated with developing and administering the program and distributing bonus payment funds.
- The method by which an officer must reimburse the state if he or she received a bonus payment but failed to maintain continuous employment for the required 2-year period. An officer is not required to reimburse the state if he or she is discharged from employment with a law enforcement agency for a reason other than misconduct.

The bill requires the DEO to submit the annual plan to the Executive Office of the Governor's Office of Policy and Budget, the chair of the Senate Appropriations Committee, and the chair of the House of Representatives Appropriations Committee by October 1 of each year. Agencies employing eligible individuals and the Criminal Justice Standards and Training Commission (CJSTC) must assist the DEO with collecting any required information and distributing payments. The bill authorizes the DEO to submit budget amendments as necessary to release funds appropriated for the Bonus Program to criminal justice employing agencies.

The Bonus Program expires on July 1, 2025.

Florida Law Enforcement Academy Scholarship Program (Section 11)

Present Situation

Prior to being certified as a law enforcement officer in Florida, a person must complete a basic recruit training program unless he or she can claim an exemption.[10] A trainee may either pay the costs of tuition out-of-pocket, or, pursuant to s. 943.16, F.S., an employing agency may sponsor a trainee to pay the costs of his or her tuition.[11] A trainee who is sponsored by an employing agency is required to maintain employment with that agency for at least 2 years after graduation from the basic recruit training program. In most cases, if a trainee fails to maintain employment for the 2-year period, he or she is required to reimburse the employing agency for the full cost of tuition and other course expenses.[12]

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill creates s. 1009.896, F.S., which, beginning with the 2022-2023 academic year, creates the Florida Law Enforcement Academy Scholarship Program (Scholarship Program) to assist in [10] Section 943.13(9), F.S. See heading Equivalency Training Reimbursement, infra.

[11] Section 943.16(1), F.S.
[12] Section 943.16(2), F.S. A trainee is not required to reimburse the employing agency if he or she terminates employment with the employing agency and resigns his or her law enforcement certification or if the trainee terminates employment due to hardship or extenuating circumstances. Section 943.16(6) and (7), F.S.

the recruitment of law enforcement officers by providing a scholarship to trainees that enroll in approved law enforcement officer basic recruitment training programs. The Scholarship Program is administered by the Department of Education (DOE), in consultation with the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE), according to the rules and procedures established by the State Board of Education (SBE). The bill requires scholarships to be awarded on a first-come, first-served basis based on the date the DOE receives each completed application. Scholarships are contingent upon an appropriation by the Legislature. To be eligible for a scholarship, a trainee must:

- Be enrolled at a basic recruit training program approved by the CJSTC at a Florida College System (FCS) institution or school district technical center.
- Not be sponsored by an employing agency that is already covering the costs of training.

The bill provides for a scholarship award in an amount equal to the costs and specified fees which are necessary to complete the basic recruit training program, less any state financial aid received by a trainee. A nonresident may apply for a scholarship, but the bill prohibits such an award from including the additional out-of-state student fee. In addition to tuition and fees, a trainee is also eligible for up to $1,000 for educational expenses, including the officer certification examination fee,[13] textbooks, uniforms, ammunition, required insurance, and any other costs or fees for consumable materials required to complete the basic recruit training program.

Law Enforcement Equivalency Training Reimbursement (Section 12)

Present Situation

A person may be exempt from completing all or part of a law enforcement officer basic recruit training program if he or she:

- Has completed a comparable basic recruit training program in another state or with the federal government and served as a full-time sworn officer in another state for at least 1 year, provided there is no more than an 8-year break in employment;
- Served in the special operations forces[14] for a minimum of 5 years, provided there is no more than a 4-year break from special operations service; or
- Was previously certified as a law enforcement officer in Florida but is on inactive status with more than a 4-year break in service, but no more than an 8-year break in service.[15]

To claim an exemption, a person must document the reason he or she is requesting an exemption on an FDLE-issued form and submit the form to his or her employing agency, training center, or [13] The fee is $100. See Florida Department of Law Enforcement, State Officer Certification Exam, https://www.fdle.state.fl.us/CJSTC/Exam/Exam-Home.aspx#:~:text=The%20SOCE%20is%20administered%20on,taking%20the%20SOCE%20is%20%24100 (last visited Feb. 24, 2022).

[14] "Special operations forces" means those active and reserve component forces of the military services designated by the Secretary of Defense and specifically organized, trained, and equipped to conduct and support special operations. The term includes, but is not limited to, servicemembers of the U.S. Army Special Forces and the U.S. Army 75th Ranger Regiment; the U.S. Navy SEALs and Special Warfare Combatant-Craft Crewmen; the U.S. Air Force Combat Control, Pararescue, and Tactical Air Control Party specialists; the U.S. Marine Corps Critical Skills Operators; and any other component of the U.S. Special Operations Command approved by the CJSTC. Section 943.10(22), F.S.

criminal justice selection center for initial verification. The form is then forwarded to the CJSTC for final approval. If a person receives an exemption from basic recruit training, he or she has 1 year to complete any additional training, if required; to demonstrate proficiency in high-liability training areas; and to pass the officer certification examination.[16]

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill creates s. 1009.8961, F.S., which, beginning with the 2022-2023 academic year, requires the DOE, in consultation with the FDLE, to reimburse the costs of equivalency training for certified law enforcement officers from other states who relocate to Florida and for members of the special operations forces who are transitioning into service as full-time law enforcement officers. To be eligible for such reimbursement, an applicant's employing agency must certify that he or she:

- Qualifies for an exemption from the basic recruit training program.
- Is not sponsored by the employing agency already to cover the costs of training.

The bill provides that applicants may be reimbursed up to $1,000 for eligible expenses, contingent upon appropriation. Reimbursement is awarded on a first-come, first-served basis for costs or fees incurred by an applicant for:

- Equivalency assessment tests.
- Equivalency training.
- The law enforcement officer certification examination.

College Credit for Law Enforcement Training (Section 10)

Present Situation

Section 1004.096, F.S., requires the Board of Governors (BOG) to adopt regulations and the SBE to adopt rules to create a process to allow eligible servicemembers or veterans of the U.S. Armed Forces to earn postsecondary credit across all Florida public postsecondary educational institutions for college-level training and education acquired in the military. These regulations and rules include procedures for credential evaluation and the uniform award of postsecondary credit or career education clock hours, including, but not limited to, equivalency and alignment of military coursework with appropriate postsecondary courses and course descriptions. State universities, FCS institutions, and career centers are required to award postsecondary credit or career education clock hours for courses taken and occupations held by individuals during their service in the military based on the rules and regulations adopted by the BOG and the SBE.[17]

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill creates s. 1004.098, F.S., which requires the BOG and the SBE to adopt rules to create a process to allow eligible law enforcement officers or former law enforcement officers to earn postsecondary credit across all Florida public postsecondary educational institutions for college-level training and education acquired while serving as a law enforcement officer. Such regulations and rules must include procedures for credential evaluation and the uniform award of postsecondary credit or career education clock hours, including, but not limited to, equivalency and alignment of law enforcement training with appropriate postsecondary courses and course descriptions.

[16] Section 943.131, F.S.

The bill requires the Articulation Coordinating Committee[18] (ACC) to convene a workgroup by September 1, 2022, to develop a process for determining postsecondary course equivalencies and the minimum postsecondary credit or career education clock hours that must be awarded for law enforcement training and experience. The workgroup is composed of the following 14 members:

- The chair of the ACC, or his or her designee, who shall serve as chair.
- Four members representing academic affairs administrators and faculty from state universities, appointed by the chair of the BOG.
- Four members representing academic affairs administrators and faculty from FCS institutions, appointed by the chair of the SBE.
- Two members representing faculty from career centers, appointed by the SBE.
- A representative from the Florida Sheriffs Association.
- A representative from the Florida Police Chiefs Association.
- A representative from the CJSTC.

The workgroup must provide recommendations to the BOG and the SBE by March 1, 2023. The bill requires the ACC to approve within 1 year a prioritized list of postsecondary course equivalencies and the minimum postsecondary credit or career education clock hours that must be awarded for law enforcement training and experience. The list must be updated annually. The bill requires state universities, FCS institutions, and career centers to award postsecondary credit or career education clock hours for law enforcement training and experience based on the rules and regulations adopted by the BOG and the SBE.

Adoption Benefits (Section 2)

Present Situation

Section 409.1664, F.S., provides a one-time, lump-sum monetary benefit to a qualifying adoptive employee,[19] veteran, or servicemember who adopts a child within Florida's child welfare system[20] of $10,000 for adopting a child who has special needs[21] or $5,000 for adopting a child who does not have special needs.

[18] The Articulation Coordinating Committee is a K-20 advisory body appointed by the Commissioner of Education. It is comprised of representatives from all levels of public and private education: the State University System, the FCS, independent postsecondary institutions, public schools, nonpublic schools, and career centers. There is also an additional member representing students. Florida Department of Education, Articulation Coordinating Committee, http://www.fldoe.org/policy/articulation/committees/articulation-coordinating-committee-ov/meetings.stml (last visited Feb. 24, 2022).

[19] "Qualifying adoptive employee" means a full-time or part-time employee of a state agency, a charter school, or the Florida Virtual School, who is not an independent contractor and who adopts a child within the child welfare system pursuant to ch 63, F.S. Section 409.1664(1)(b), F.S.

[20] "Child within the child welfare system" means a special needs child and any other child who was removed from the child's caregiver due to abuse or neglect and whose permanent custody has been awarded to the department or to a licensed child-placing agency. Section 409.166(2)(c), F.S.

[21] For purposes of the adoption benefit program, a child who has special needs is a child whose permanent custody has been awarded to the Department of Children and Families or to a licensed child-placing agency and who has established significant emotional ties with his or her foster parents or is not likely to be adopted. Section 409.166(2), F.S.

Adoption benefits are awarded on a first-come, first-served basis and subject to appropriation.[22] To obtain the adoption benefit, a qualifying adoptive employee must apply to his or her agency head or to his or her school director. A veteran or servicemember must apply directly to the Department of Children and Families to receive the benefit.[23]

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill amends s. 409.1664, F.S., to add law enforcement officers who are domiciled in Florida and who adopt children on or after July 1, 2022, eligible for the one-time, lump-sum monetary benefits. The benefit is $25,000 for adopting a child who has special needs and $10,000 for adopting a child who does not have special needs. The bill requires a law enforcement officer to apply to FDLE to obtain the adoption benefit.

Sheriff Salaries (Section 1)

Present Situation

Article VIII, section 1(d) of the Florida Constitution establishes the office of sheriff in each county. Article II, section 5(c) of the Florida Constitution provides that the powers, duties, compensation, and method of payment of state and county officers, including the sheriff, are fixed by law. Section 145.071, F.S., provides a schedule for calculating the salary of each sheriff based on county population as follows:

Population Group	County Population Range		Base Salary	Group Rate
	Minimum	Maximum
I	0	49,999	$23,350	$0.07875
II	50,000	99,999	$26,500	$0.06300
III	100,000	199,999	$29,650	$0.02625

A sheriff's salary is calculated by adjusting the base salary for a sheriff's county to reflect the actual population within the given range,[24] then, to account for inflation, multiplying the result by several factors that are provided in statute.[25]

The compensation requirements apply to sheriffs in all counties of the state, except those sheriffs from counties:

- Whose salaries are not subject to being set by the Legislature because of the provisions of a county home rule charter;[26] or

[26] There are currently 20 charter counties in Florida: Alachua, Brevard, Broward, Charlotte, Clay, Columbia, Hillsborough, Lee, Leon, Miami-Dade, Orange, Osceola, Palm Beach, Pinellas, Polk, Sarasota, Seminole, Volusia, and Wakulla. Florida

- With a consolidated form of government as provided in ch. 67-1320, Laws of Florida.[27]

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill amends s. 145.071, F.S., to increase the base salary for a sheriff in each of the six population groups by $5,000 as follows:

Population Group	County Population Range		Base Salary	Group Rate
	Minimum	Maximum
I	0	49,999	$28,350	$0.07875

Law Enforcement Training and Education

Basic Abilities Test Exemption (Section 5)

Present Situation

The CJSTC was established for the purpose of ensuring criminal justice officers in Florida are ethical, qualified, and well-trained.[28] As part of its responsibility in establishing training standards for law enforcement officers, the CJSTC is required to design, implement, maintain, evaluate, and revise entry requirements for the basic recruit training program.[29]
Section 943.17(1)(g), F.S., requires the CJSTC to limit entry to basic recruit training programs to those persons who have passed a basic skills examination and assessment instrument, commonly referred to as the Basic Abilities Test (BAT).[30] Out-of-state law enforcement officers, federal officers, certain members of the special operations forces, and previously certified Florida law enforcement officers may qualify for an exemption from the BAT as part of the equivalency of training process.[31]

The BAT is a 97 question, 90 minute examination that measures "minimum competencies" as adopted by the CJSTC in three sections: behavioral attributes, memorization, and cognitive abilities.[32] A candidate must receive a score of 70 of higher across all three sections of the BAT to pass the examination.[33] According to FDLE, the pass rate for the law enforcement BAT from FY 2016-17 – FY 2020-21 is 88.31 percent.[34]

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill amends s. 943.17, F.S., to exempt a person who is a veteran or who holds an associate degree or higher from an accredited college or university from taking the BAT prior to enrolling in a basic recruit training program.

Law Enforcement Training – Health and Wellness (Section 6)

Present Situation

The basic recruit training program for initial certification as a law enforcement officer is 770 hours and consists of the following topics: introduction to law enforcement; legal; interactions in a diverse community; interviewing and report writing; fundamentals of patrol; calls for service; criminal investigations; crime scene to courtroom; critical incidents; traffic and DUI stops; and traffic crash investigations.[35]

After an officer obtains initial certification, as a condition of continued employment or appointment as a law enforcement officer, s. 943.135, F.S., requires the officer to receive at least 40 hours of continued employment training every four years. Current law requires the CJSTC to develop continued education training relating to several topics, such as training for diabetic emergencies,[36] juvenile sexual offender investigations,[37] and interpersonal skills relating to diverse populations.[38] The employing agency must document that the continued employment training is job-related and consistent with the needs of the employing agency and report training completion to the CJSTC.

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill creates s. 943.1745, F.S., which requires the CJSTC, in consultation with the Florida State University Institute for Justice Research and Development and the Resiliency Behind the Badge Training Program,[39] to develop a training program relating to officer health and wellness principles. At a minimum, the training must include:

- Strategies to better understand when to seek professional help and what kind of professional help to seek; and

By July 1, 2023, the bill requires the CJSTC to incorporate a training component relating to officer health and wellness principles into the course curriculum required for a law enforcement officer to obtain his or her initial certification and as part of the 40 hours of required instruction for continued employment or appointment as a law enforcement officer.

Family Empowerment Scholarship Program (Section 7)

Present Situation

The Family Empowerment Scholarship (FES) Program was established in 2019 to provide educational options to eligible children of families with limited financial resources (known as FES-Educational Options or EO). For the 2019-2020 academic year, the law allowed 18,000 scholarships to be awarded. Beginning in the 2020-2021 academic year, the maximum number of students participating in the FES-EO Program may annually increase by 1 percent of the state's total public school enrollment. Beginning in the 2021-2022 academic year, a scholarship recipient meeting one of the statutorily-identified criteria is excluded from the maximum number of students allowed to participate.[40]

A student is eligible for the FES-EO Program if the student:
- Is on the direct certification list[41] or the student's household income level does not exceed 185 percent of the federal poverty level;
- Is currently placed, or during the previous state fiscal year was placed, in foster care or in out-of-home care;
- Has a household income level that does not exceed 375 percent of the federal poverty level or an adjusted maximum percent of the federal poverty level that is increased by 25 percentage points in the fiscal year following any fiscal year in which more than five percent of the authorized FES scholarships have not been funded;
- Is a sibling of a student who is participating in the FES Program and such siblings reside in the same household; or
- Is a dependent child of a member of the U.S. Armed Forces.[42]

A student must use the FES-EO Program funds to pay tuition and fees at an eligible private school or to pay for transportation to a public school or lab school that is different from the school to which the student is assigned. Scholarship awards remain in effect until a student returns to a public school, graduates from high school, or reaches the age of 21, whichever occurs first.[43]

Beginning in the 2021-2022 academic year, the FES Program was expanded to include existing scholarship programs for students with disabilities (known as FES-Unique Abilities or UA).[44] For the 2021-2022 academic year, scholarships for up to 20,000 students can be awarded, and beginning in the 2022-2023 academic year, the maximum number of students with disabilities participating in the FES-UA Program may annually increase by 1 percent or the state's total exceptional student education enrollments, not including gifted students. Certain statutorily-identified students are excluded from the maximum number of students participating in the FES-UA Program.[45]

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill amends s. 1002.394, F.S., to expand eligibility for the FES-EO Program to include dependent children of law enforcement officers. The bill also excludes dependent children of law enforcement officers from the maximum number of students participating in both the FES-EO and FES-UA Programs.

Public Safety Training in Public Schools

911 Public Safety Telecommunication Training Programs (Section 8)

Present Situation

Section 401.465(2)(a), F.S., requires any person employed as a 911 public safety telecommunicator to be certified by the Department of Health (DOH). A "911 public safety telecommunicator" is a public safety dispatcher or 911 operator whose duties and responsibilities include:

- The answering, receiving, transferring, and dispatching functions related to 911 calls;
- Dispatching law enforcement officers, fire rescue services, emergency medical services, and other public safety services to the scene of an emergency;
- Providing real-time information from federal, state, and local crime databases; or
- Supervising or serving as the command officer to a person or persons having such duties and responsibilities.[46]

To be certified as a 911 public safety telecommunicator, a person must:

- Complete a 911 public safety telecommunication training program;[47]
- Certify that he or she is not addicted to alcohol or any controlled substance;
- Certify that he or she is free from any physical or mental defect that might impair the person's ability to perform his or her duties; and [47] "Public safety telecommunication training program" means a 911 emergency public safety telecommunication training program that the DOH determines to be equivalent to the public safety telecommunication training program curriculum framework developed by the DOE and consists of not less than 232 hours. Section 401.465(1)(c), F.S.

- Submit a completed application and application fee to the DOH.[48]

911 public safety telecommunicator training programs are offered by law enforcement and public safety agencies, FCS institutions, technical colleges, and some public high schools.

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill creates s. 1003.4933, F.S., to encourage each district school board to establish a public safety telecommunication training program in at least one public high school in a school district or to partner with an existing public safety telecommunication training program operated by a law enforcement agency or FCS institution. The bill requires a school district to allow a student attending a public high school in the district to attend a public safety telecommunication training program at another public high school in the district unless:

- The student's school offers a public safety telecommunication training program;
- The student does not meet the minimum enrollment qualifications for the public safety telecommunication training program; or
- Scheduling of the student's courses of study does not allow the student to attend the public safety telecommunication training program at another public high school in the district.

Law Enforcement Explorer Programs (Section 9)

Present Situation

Law enforcement explorer programs provide young adults between the ages of 14 and 21 with the opportunity to receive experience and training in the law enforcement profession. Participants in explorer programs receive training in the basics of law enforcement, including patrol procedures, traffic control, firearm safety, first aid, and radio procedures. Explorers also may assist certified law enforcement officers in controlled settings, such as assisting with crowd control at parades and athletic events.[49] In Florida, Explorer programs are offered by both sheriff's offices and municipal police departments.[50]

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill creates s. 1003.49966, F.S., to encourage each district school board to partner with a law enforcement agency to offer a law enforcement explorer program at public middle and high schools, either by integrating the explorer program into existing curriculum or by offering an explorer program as an elective course or an after-school activity. The bill requires a district school board to award course credit if an explorer program is offered as an elective course.

Law Enforcement Appreciation Day (Section 4)

Present Situation

In 1972, the Florida Legislature designated the month of May as "Law Enforcement Appreciation Month."[51] Pursuant to s. 683.11, F.S.:

> [t]he Governor and the mayor of each municipality may issue annually a proclamation designating the month of May as 'Law Enforcement Appreciation Month' and urging all civic, fraternal, and religious organizations and public and private educational institutions to recognize and observe this occasion through appropriate programs, meetings, services, or celebrations in which state, county, and local law enforcement officers are invited to participate.

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill amends s. 683.11, F.S., to designate May 1 of each year "Law Enforcement Appreciation Day" in Florida and authorizes the Governor and mayor of each municipality to annually issue such a proclamation.

Effective Date (Section 13)

The bill takes effect on July 1, 2022.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

Article VII, s. 18(a) of the Florida Constitution provides that counties and municipalities are not bound by general law requiring such counties or municipalities to spend funds. However, the local governments may be bound if the Legislature has determined that the law fulfills an important state interest and approves the law requiring such expenditure by two-thirds vote of the membership each house of the Legislature. Additionally, the mandates requirements do not apply to laws having an insignificant impact, which is $2.3 million or less for Fiscal Year 2022-2023.[52] The impact of this provisions of this bill related to increasing the base salary of sheriffs if unknown.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

None identified.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

Law enforcement officers, both current and new to the state or profession, will benefit from various provisions of this bill through reimbursements of training expenses, exemptions from certain training, or benefits for their children.

C. Government Sector Impact:

Florida Law Enforcement Recruitment Bonus Program

While it is unclear how many new individuals may be recruited into law enforcement in Florida, law enforcement data illustrates a 5-year average of approximately 2,711 initial law enforcement certifications annually. Based upon this historical data, a $5,000 bonus payment indicates the state could expect to expend approximately $13.6 million annually on bonuses for recruitment purposes.

The bill specifies that a one-time bonus payment of up to $5,000 could be provided to newly employed law enforcement officers within the state, contingent upon annual appropriation by the Legislature, and that payments must be prorated subject to the amount appropriated for the program. Neither the bill nor SB 2500 include an appropriation for this program. However, HB 5001 includes an appropriation of $20 million.

Additionally, workload created within the Department of Economic Opportunity associated with administering the program is also indeterminate. However, administering this law enforcement bonus program can likely be handled within existing resources, similar to how the department has managed the pandemic first responder's bonus payment program in Fiscal Year 2021-2022.

Florida Law Enforcement Academy Scholarship Program

The in-state tuition rate for a career certificate at a FCS institution or a school district career center is $2.33 per contact hour.[53] The law enforcement basic recruit training program is 770 contact hours. This equates to an average in-state program tuition cost of $1,794.

The bill specifies that awarded scholarship amounts are equal to tuition and specified fees and up to $1,000 for eligible expenses. Costs associated with out-of-state fees for nonresident trainees are excluded. Furthermore, the bill provides any potential expenditures for the scholarship program are contingent upon annual appropriation by the Legislature on a first-come, first-served basis. Neither the bill nor SB 2500 include an appropriation for this program. However, HB 5001 includes an appropriation of $5 million.

Equivalency Training Reimbursement Program

Equivalency training or assessments conducted at a FCS institution or school district technical center could be subject to the tuition and fees of the respective postsecondary institution. The officer certification examination is administered electronically by a third party contract provider at authorized testing sites throughout the state. The standard fee for taking the exam is $100, plus any additional fees that may be assessed by individual testing sites.[54]

The bill specifies that the reimbursement for equivalency training is contingent upon annual appropriation by the Legislature. Neither the bill nor SB 2500 include an appropriation for this program. However, HB 5001 includes an appropriation of $1 million.

Adoption Benefits

The bill adds law enforcement officers to the list of individuals who may receive an adoption benefit pursuant to s. 409.1664, F.S. The payment of adoption benefits pursuant to s. 409.1664, F.S., is contingent upon an annual appropriation by the Legislature. Neither the bill nor SB 2500 include an appropriation for this program. However, HB 5001 includes an appropriation of about $3 million.

Sheriff Salaries

The fiscal impact on counties related to sheriff salary increases is indeterminate. The bill increases sheriffs' base salaries by $5,000. The annual salary for each sheriff is based on a statutory formula contained in ss. 145.071 and 145.19, F.S. In September of each year, the Office of Economic and Demographic Research issues a report which contains the annual formula-based calculations of the salaries of elected county constitutional officers.[55]

[53] Section 1009.22(3)(c), F.S.

Law Enforcement Training

The FDLE estimates that nonrecurring costs for developing the basic skills and continued education training required by the bill, as well as nonrecurring updates to the department's information technology systems will cost $54,291.[56] This cost can be absorbed within existing resources.

Family Empowerment Scholarship Program

Expanding the Family Empowerment Scholarship Program will have an indeterminate fiscal impact to the Florida Education Finance Program (FEFP). The FEFP is the primary funding source for K-12 education in Florida, to include both the FES-EO and FES-UA Programs. It is currently unknown how many of the 52,383 law enforcement officers[57] currently in Florida may be eligible and enroll his or her student in either the FES-EO or FES-UA Program. It is also unknown how many of these individuals already participate in the FES-EO or FES-UA Program. To the extent that law enforcement officers opt to enroll into the program, the fiscal impact on the FEFP is indeterminate.

For each FES-EO scholarship awarded to a dependent child of a law enforcement officer who was not funded in the FEFP for the 2021-2022 academic year or was not already participating in the FES-EO Program, there may be a fiscal impact to the FEFP.

For the FES-UA Program, the bill excludes scholarships awarded to dependent children of law enforcement officers from the maximum number of allowable participants. It is unclear how many current FES-UA scholarships would now be excluded from the maximum number participating cap in addition to how many new FES-UA scholarships will be awarded that are also excluded from the cap. Both types would have a potential fiscal impact to the FEFP.

The PreK-12 Enrollment Impact Conference will meet on Friday, February 25, 2022, to estimate any impact of the bill.

College Credit for Law Enforcement Training

The fiscal impact on state funding pertaining to students taking fewer credit or clock hours is indeterminate. By requiring the Board of Governors to adopt regulations and the State Board of Education to adopt rules to allow eligible law enforcement officers to earn postsecondary credit for college-level training and education, the bill could decrease the amount of time and cost for officers to receive a postsecondary degree. This may result in a slight decrease of tuition and fee revenue for state postsecondary education entities.

system who has special needs described in s. 409.166(2)(a)2. is eligible to receive a lump-sum monetary benefit in the amount of $25,000 per such child, subject to applicable taxes. A qualifying adoptive employee, veteran, or servicemember who adopts a child within the child welfare system who does not have special needs described in s. 409.166(2)(a)2. is eligible to receive a lump-sum monetary benefit in the amount of $5,000 per such child, subject to applicable taxes. A law enforcement officer who adopts a child within the child welfare system who does not have special needs described in s. 409.166(2)(a)2. is eligible to receive a lump-sum monetary benefit in the amount of $10,000 per each such child, subject to applicable taxes. A qualifying adoptive employee of a charter school or the Florida Virtual School may retroactively apply for the monetary benefit provided in this subsection if such employee was employed by a charter school or the Florida Virtual School when he or she adopted a child within the child welfare system pursuant to chapter 63 on or after July 1, 2015. A veteran or servicemember may apply for the monetary benefit provided in this subsection if he or she is domiciled in this state and adopts a child within the child welfare system pursuant to chapter 63 on or after July 1, 2020. A law enforcement officer may apply for the monetary benefit provided in this subsection if he or she is domiciled in this state and adopts a child within the child welfare system pursuant to chapter 63 on or after July 1, 2022.

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

(a) Benefits paid to a qualifying adoptive employee who is a part-time employee must be prorated based on the qualifying adoptive employee's full-time equivalency at the time of applying for the benefits.

(b) Monetary benefits awarded under this subsection are limited to one award per adopted child within the child welfare system.

(c) The payment of a lump-sum monetary benefit for adopting a child within the child welfare system under this section is subject to a specific appropriation to the department for such purpose.

(3) A qualifying adoptive employee must apply to his or her agency head, or to his or her school director in the case of a qualifying adoptive employee of a charter school or the Florida Virtual School, to obtain the monetary benefit provided in subsection (2). A veteran or servicemember must apply to the department to obtain the benefit. A law enforcement officer must apply to the Department of Law Enforcement to obtain the benefit. Applications must be on forms approved by the department and must include a certified copy of the final order of adoption naming the applicant as the adoptive parent. Monetary benefits shall be approved on a first-come, first-served basis based upon the date that each fully completed application is received by the department.

(4) This section does not preclude a qualifying adoptive employee, veteran, ~~or~~ servicemember, or law enforcement officer from receiving adoption assistance for which he or she may qualify under s. 409.166 or any other statute that provides financial incentives for the adoption of children.

(6) The department may adopt rules to administer this section. The rules may provide for an application process such as, but not limited to, an open enrollment period during which qualifying adoptive employees, veterans, ~~or~~ servicemembers, or law enforcement officers may apply for monetary benefits under this section.

Section 3. Section 445.08, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

445.08 Florida Law Enforcement Recruitment Bonus Payment Program.—

(1) For the purposes of this section, the term:

(a) "Commission" means the Criminal Justice Standards and Training Commission within the Department of Law Enforcement.

(b) "Employing agency" has the same meaning as provided in s. 943.10(4).

(c) "Law enforcement officer" has the same meaning as provided in s. 943.10(1).

(d) "Newly employed officer" means a person who gains or is appointed to full-time employment as a certified law enforcement officer with a Florida criminal justice employing agency on or after July 1, 2022, and who has never before been employed as a law enforcement officer in this state.

(e) "Program" means the Florida Law Enforcement Recruitment Bonus Payment Program.

(2) There is created within the department the Florida Law Enforcement Recruitment Bonus Payment Program, to aid in the recruitment of law enforcement officers within the state. The purpose of the program is to administer one-time bonus payments of up to $5,000 to each newly employed officer within the state. Bonus payments provided to eligible newly employed officers are contingent upon legislative appropriations and shall be prorated subject to the amount appropriated for the program.

(3) Each bonus payment shall be adjusted to include 7.65 percent for the officer's share of Federal Insurance Contribution Act tax on the payment.

(4) The department shall develop an annual plan for the administration of the program and distribution of bonus payments. Applicable employing agencies shall assist the department with the collection of any data necessary to determine bonus payment amounts and to distribute the bonus payments, and shall otherwise provide the department with any information or assistance needed to fulfill the requirements of this section. At a minimum, the plan must include:

(a) The method for determining the estimated number of newly employed officers to gain or be appointed to full-time employment during the applicable fiscal year.

CODING: Words stricken are deletions; words underlined are additions.

(b) The minimum eligibility requirements a newly employed officer must meet to receive and retain a bonus payment, which must include:

1. Obtaining certification for employment or appointment as a law enforcement officer pursuant to s. 943.1395.

2. Gaining full-time employment with a Florida criminal justice agency.

3. Maintaining continuous full-time employment with a Florida criminal justice agency for at least 2 years from the date on which the officer obtained certification. The required 2-year employment period may be satisfied by maintaining employment at one or more employing agencies, but such period must not contain any break in service longer than 15 calendar days.

(c) The method that will be used to determine the bonus payment amount to be distributed to each newly employed officer.

(d) The method that will be used to distribute bonus payments to applicable employing agencies for distribution to eligible officers. Such method should prioritize distributing bonus payments to eligible officers in the most efficient and quickest manner possible.

(e) The estimated cost to the department associated with developing and administering the program and distributing bonus payment funds.

(f) The method by which an officer must reimburse the state if he or she received a bonus payment under the program, but failed to maintain continuous employment for the required 2-year period. Reimbursement shall not be required if an officer is discharged by his or her employing agency for a reason other than misconduct as designated on the affidavit of separation completed by the employing agency and maintained by the commission.

The department may establish other criteria deemed necessary to determine bonus payment eligibility and distribution.

(5) The department shall consult quarterly with the commission to verify the certification of newly employed officers and affidavits of separation submitted to the commission which detail officer misconduct.

(6) The department shall submit the plan to the Executive Office of the Governor's Office of Policy and Budget, the chair of the Senate Appropriations Committee, and the chair of the House Appropriations Committee by October 1 of each year. The department is authorized to submit budget amendments pursuant to chapter 216 as necessary to release appropriated funds for distribution to applicable employing agencies under this program.

(7) The funding allocation for the bonus payments must be used solely to comply with the requirements of this section, but applicable collective bargaining units are not otherwise precluded from wage negotiation.

(8) The department shall adopt rules to implement this section.

(9) This section expires July 1, 2025.

Section 4. Section 683.11, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

683.11 Law Enforcement Appreciation Day and Law Enforcement Appreciation Month.—

(1) May 1 of each year is hereby designated as "Law Enforcement Appreciation Day."

(2)~~(1)~~ The month of May of each year is hereby designated as "Law Enforcement Appreciation Month."

(3)~~(2)~~ The Governor and the mayor of each municipality may issue annually a proclamation designating May 1 as "Law Enforcement Appreciation Day" and the month of May as "Law Enforcement Appreciation Month" and urging all civic, fraternal, and religious organizations and public and private educational institutions to recognize and observe this occasion through appropriate programs, meetings, services, or celebrations in which state, county, and local law enforcement officers are invited to participate.

Section 5. Paragraph (g) of subsection (1) of section 943.17, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

943.17 Basic recruit, advanced, and career development training programs; participation; cost; evaluation.—The commission shall, by rule, design, implement, maintain, evaluate, and revise entry requirements and job-related curricula and performance standards for basic recruit, advanced, and career development training programs and courses. The rules shall include, but are not limited to, a methodology to assess relevance of the subject matter to the job, student performance, and instructor competency.

(1) The commission shall:

(g) Assure that entrance into the basic recruit training program for law enforcement and correctional officers be limited to those who have passed a basic skills examination and assessment instrument, based on a job task analysis in each discipline and adopted by the commission. However, a person is not required to take the basic skills examination and assessment instrument before entering a law enforcement officer basic recruit training program if he or she is a veteran as defined in s. 1.01(14) or holds an associate degree or higher from an accredited college or university.

Section 6. Section 943.1745, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

943.1745 Training relating to officer health and wellness principles.—

(1) By July 1, 2023, the commission shall incorporate into the course curriculum required for initial certification of a law enforcement officer instruction on health and wellness principles specific to the law enforcement profession. The commission shall consult with the Florida State University Institute for Justice Research and Development and the Resiliency Behind the Badge training program to develop the basic skills training component relating to officer health and wellness principles. The training must include, but need not be limited to, understanding the role secondary trauma and work related incidents have on the personal life of an officer; methods for identifying and addressing personal and work related stressors; strategies to better understand when to seek professional help and what kind of professional help to seek; and strategies to normalize conversations about stress, trauma, and mental health within the law enforcement community.

(2) By July 1, 2023, the commission shall by rule require that each law enforcement officer receive, as part of the 40 hours of required instruction for continued employment or appointment as an officer, instruction on health and wellness principles specific to the law enforcement profession. The commission shall consult with the Florida State University Institute for Justice Research and Development and the Resiliency Behind the Badge training program to develop the training component relating to officer health and wellness principles. The training must include, but need not be limited to, understanding the role secondary trauma and work related incidents have on the personal life of an officer; methods for identifying and addressing personal and work related stressors; strategies to better understand when to seek professional help and what kind of professional help to seek; and strategies to normalize conversations about stress, trauma, and mental health within the law enforcement community.

Section 7. Paragraphs (k) and (l) of subsection (2) of section 1002.394, Florida Statutes, are redesignated as paragraphs (l) and (m), respectively, a new paragraph (k) is added to that subsection, and paragraph (a) of subsection (3) and subsection (12) of that section are amended, to read:

1002.394 The Family Empowerment Scholarship Program.—

(2) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section, the term:

(k) "Law enforcement officer" has the same meaning as provided in s. 943.10(1).

(3) SCHOLARSHIP ELIGIBILITY.—

(a) A parent of a student may request and receive from the state a scholarship for the purposes specified in paragraph (4)(a) if:

1. The student is on the direct certification list pursuant to s. 1002.395(2)(c) or the student's household income level does not exceed 185 percent of the federal poverty level;

2. The student is currently placed, or during the previous state fiscal year was placed, in foster care or in out-of-home care as defined in s. 39.01;

3. The student's household income level does not exceed

375 percent of the federal poverty level or an adjusted maximum percent of the federal poverty level that is increased by 25 percentage points in the fiscal year following any fiscal year in which more than 5 percent of the available scholarships authorized under paragraph (12)(a) have not been funded;

4. The student is a sibling of a student who is participating in the scholarship program under this subsection and such siblings reside in the same household; or

5. The student is a dependent child of a member of the United States Armed Forces.

6. The student is a dependent child of a law enforcement officer.

Priority must be given to a student whose household income level does not exceed 185 percent of the federal poverty level or who is in foster care or out-of-home care.

(12) SCHOLARSHIP FUNDING AND PAYMENT.—

(a)1. Scholarships for students determined eligible pursuant to paragraph (3)(a) are established for up to 18,000 students annually beginning in the 2019-2020 school year. Beginning in the 2020-2021 school year, the maximum number of students participating in the scholarship program under this section shall annually increase by 1.0 percent of the state's total public school student enrollment. An eligible student who meets any of the following requirements shall be excluded from the maximum number of students if the student:

a. Received a scholarship pursuant to s. 1002.395 during the previous school year but did not receive a renewal scholarship based solely on the eligible nonprofit scholarship-funding organization's lack of available funds after the organization fully exhausted its efforts to use funds available for awards under ss. 1002.395 and 1002.40(11)(i). Eligible nonprofit scholarship-funding organizations with students who meet the criterion in this subparagraph must annually notify the department in a format and by a date established by the department. The maximum number of scholarships awarded pursuant to this subparagraph shall not exceed 15,000 per school year;

b. Is a dependent child of a law enforcement officer or a member of the United States Armed Forces, a foster child, or an adopted child; or

c. Is determined eligible pursuant to subparagraph (3)(a)1. or subparagraph (3)(a)2. and either spent the prior school year in attendance at a Florida public school or, beginning in the 2022-2023 school year, is eligible to enroll in kindergarten. For purposes of this subparagraph, the term "prior school year in attendance" means that the student was enrolled and reported by a school district for funding during either the preceding October or February Florida Education Finance Program surveys in kindergarten through grade 12, which includes time spent in a Department of Juvenile Justice commitment program if funded under the Florida Education Finance Program.

2. The scholarship amount provided to a student for any single school year shall be for tuition and fees for an eligible private school, not to exceed annual limits, which shall be determined in accordance with this subparagraph. The calculated amount for a participating student shall be based upon the grade level and school district in which the student was assigned as 100 percent of the funds per unweighted full-time equivalent in the Florida Education Finance Program for a student in the basic program established pursuant to s. 1011.62(1)(c)1., plus a per-full-time equivalent share of funds for all categorical programs, except for the Exceptional Student Education Guaranteed Allocation.

3. The amount of the scholarship shall be the calculated amount or the amount of the private school's tuition and fees, whichever is less. The amount of any assessment fee required by the participating private school and any costs to provide a digital device, including Internet access, if necessary, to the student may be paid from the total amount of the scholarship.

4. A scholarship of $750 may be awarded to a student who is determined eligible pursuant to subparagraph (3)(a)1. or subparagraph (3)(a)2. and enrolled in a Florida public school that is different from the school to which the student was assigned or in a lab school as defined in s. 1002.32 if the school district does not provide the student with transportation to the school.

5. Upon notification from the organization on July 1, September 1, December 1, and February 1 that an application has been approved for the program, the department shall verify that the student is not prohibited from receiving a scholarship pursuant to subsection (6). The organization must provide the department with the documentation necessary to verify the student's participation. Upon verification, the department shall transfer, from state funds only, the amount calculated pursuant to subparagraph 2. to the organization for quarterly disbursement to parents of participating students each school year in which the scholarship is in force. For a student exiting a Department of Juvenile Justice commitment program who chooses to participate in the scholarship program, the amount of the Family Empowerment Scholarship calculated pursuant to subparagraph 2. must be transferred from the school district in which the student last attended a public school before commitment to the Department of Juvenile Justice. When a student enters the scholarship program, the organization must receive all documentation required for the student's participation, including the private school's and the student's fee schedules, at least 30 days before the first quarterly scholarship payment is made for the student.

6. The initial payment shall be made after the organization's verification of admission acceptance, and subsequent payments shall be made upon verification of continued enrollment and attendance at the private school. Payment must be by individual warrant made payable to the student's parent or by funds transfer or any other means of payment that the department deems to be commercially viable or cost-effective. If the payment is made by warrant, the warrant must be delivered by the organization to the private school of the parent's choice, and the parent shall restrictively endorse the warrant to the private school. An organization shall ensure that the parent to whom the warrant is made has restrictively endorsed the warrant to the private school for deposit into the account of the private school or that the parent has approved a funds transfer before any scholarship funds are deposited.

(b)1. Scholarships for students determined eligible pursuant to paragraph (3)(b) are established for up to 20,000 students annually beginning in the 2021-2022 school year. Beginning in the 2022-2023 school year, the maximum number of students participating in the scholarship program under this section shall annually increase by 1.0 percent of the state's total exceptional student education full-time equivalent student enrollment, not including gifted students. An eligible student who meets any of the following requirements shall be excluded from the maximum number of students if the student:

a. Received specialized instructional services under the Voluntary Prekindergarten Education Program pursuant to s.

1002.66 during the previous school year and the student has a current IEP developed by the local school board in accordance with rules of the State Board of Education;

b. Is a dependent child of a law enforcement officer or a member of the United States Armed Forces, a foster child, or an adopted child;

c. Spent the prior school year in attendance at a Florida public school or the Florida School for the Deaf and the Blind. For purposes of this subparagraph, the term "prior school year in attendance" means that the student was enrolled and reported by:

(I) A school district for funding during either the preceding October or February Florida Education Finance Program surveys in kindergarten through grade 12, which includes time spent in a Department of Juvenile Justice commitment program if funded under the Florida Education Finance Program;

(II) The Florida School for the Deaf and the Blind during the preceding October or February student membership surveys in kindergarten through grade 12;

(III) A school district for funding during the preceding October or February Florida Education Finance Program surveys, was at least 4 years of age when enrolled and reported, and was eligible for services under s. 1003.21(1)(e); or

(IV) Received a John M. McKay Scholarship for Students with Disabilities in the 2021-2022 school year.

2. For a student who has a Level I to Level III matrix of services or a diagnosis by a physician or psychologist, the calculated scholarship amount for a student participating in the program must be based upon the grade level and school district in which the student would have been enrolled as the total funds per unweighted full-time equivalent in the Florida Education Finance Program for a student in the basic exceptional student education program pursuant to s. 1011.62(1)(c)1. and (e)1.c., plus a per full-time equivalent share of funds for all categorical programs, as funded in the General Appropriations Act, except that for the exceptional student education guaranteed allocation as provided in s. 1011.62(1)(e)1.c. and 2., the funds must be allocated based on the school district's average exceptional student education guaranteed allocation funds per exceptional student education full-time equivalent student.

3. For a student with a Level IV or Level V matrix of services, the calculated scholarship amount must be based upon the school district to which the student would have been assigned as the total funds per full-time equivalent for the Level IV or Level V exceptional student education program pursuant to s. 1011.62(1)(c)2.a. or b., plus a per-full time equivalent share of funds for all categorical programs, as funded in the General Appropriations Act.

4. For a student who received a Gardiner Scholarship pursuant to s. 1002.385 in the 2020-2021 school year, the amount shall be the greater of the amount calculated pursuant to subparagraph 2. or the amount the student received for the 2020-2021 school year.

5. For a student who received a John M. McKay Scholarship pursuant to s. 1002.39 in the 2020-2021 school year, the amount shall be the greater of the amount calculated pursuant to subparagraph 2. or the amount the student received for the 2020-2021 school year.

6. Upon notification from an organization on July 1, September 1, December 1, and February 1 that an application has been approved for the program, the department shall verify that the student is not prohibited from receiving a scholarship pursuant to subsection (6). The organization must provide the department with the documentation necessary to verify the student's participation.

7. Upon verification, the department shall release, from state funds only, the student's scholarship funds to the organization, to be deposited into the student's account in four equal amounts no later than September 1, November 1, February 1, and April 1 of each school year in which the scholarship is in force.

8. Accrued interest in the student's account is in addition to, and not part of, the awarded funds. Program funds include both the awarded funds and accrued interest.

9. The organization may develop a system for payment of benefits by funds transfer, including, but not limited to, debit cards, electronic payment cards, or any other means of payment which the department deems to be commercially viable or cost-effective. A student's scholarship award may not be reduced for debit card or electronic payment fees. Commodities or services related to the development of such a system must be procured by competitive solicitation unless they are purchased from a state term contract pursuant to s. 287.056.

10. Moneys received pursuant to this section do not constitute taxable income to the qualified student or the parent of the qualified student.

Section 8. Section 1003.4933, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

1003.4933 911 public safety telecommunication training programs.—

(1)(a) Each district school board is encouraged to establish a public safety telecommunication training program as defined in s. 401.465 in at least one public high school in the district.

(b) The district school board may partner with an existing public safety telecommunication training program operated by a law enforcement agency or Florida College System Institution.

(2)(a) A school district shall allow a student attending a public high school in the district to enroll in the public safety telecommunication training program at another public high school in the district unless:

1. The student's school offers a public safety telecommunication training program;

2. The student does not meet the minimum enrollment qualifications for the public safety telecommunication training program; or

3. Scheduling of the student's courses of study does not allow the student to attend the public safety telecommunication training program at another public high school in the district.

(b) This subsection does not require a school district to provide transportation for a student to attend the public safety telecommunication training program at another public high school in the district.

Section 9. Section 1003.49966, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

1003.49966 Law Enforcement Explorer Program.—

(1) Each district school board is encouraged to partner with a law enforcement agency to offer a law enforcement explorer program at public middle and high schools in the state to educate students about law enforcement careers and the criminal justice system.

(2) A law enforcement explorer program may be integrated into existing curriculum, offered as an elective course, or offered as an after-school program.

(3) If a district school board offers a law enforcement explorer program as an elective course, a student enrolled in such course shall receive middle school or high school course credit for successful completion of the course.

Section 10. Section 1004.098, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

1004.098 College credit for law enforcement training.—

(1) As used in this section:

(a) "Law enforcement officer" has the same meaning as provided in s. 943.10(1).

(b) "Law enforcement training and experience" means training courses, specialized assignments or work experience, and other similar activities performed by a person during his or her service as a law enforcement officer that require education beyond the basic skills of an officer.

(2) The Board of Governors shall adopt regulations and the State Board of Education shall adopt rules that create a process that enables eligible law enforcement officers or former law enforcement officers to earn uniform postsecondary credit across all Florida public postsecondary educational institutions for college-level training and education acquired while serving as a law enforcement officer. The regulations and rules shall include procedures for credential evaluation and the uniform award of postsecondary credit or career education clock hours, including, but not limited to, equivalency and alignment of law enforcement training with appropriate postsecondary courses and course descriptions.

(3) The Articulation Coordinating Committee shall convene a workgroup by September 1, 2022, which is responsible for developing a process for determining postsecondary course equivalencies and the minimum postsecondary credit or career education clock hours that must be awarded for law enforcement training and experience.

(a) The workgroup shall be composed of the following 14 members:

1. The chair of the Articulation Coordinating Committee, or his or her designee, who shall serve as chair.

2. Four members representing academic affairs administrators and faculty from state universities, appointed by the chair of the Board of Governors.

3. Four members representing academic affairs administrators and faculty from Florida College System institutions, appointed by the chair of the State Board of Education.

4. Two members representing faculty from career centers, appointed by the State Board of Education.

5. A representative from the Florida Sheriffs Association.

6. A representative from the Florida Police Chiefs Association.

7. A representative from the Criminal Justice Standards and Training Commission.

(b) The Office of K-20 Articulation shall provide administrative support for the workgroup.

(c) The workgroup shall establish a process for prioritizing and determining postsecondary course equivalencies and the minimum postsecondary credit or career education clock hours that must be awarded for law enforcement training and experience. The workgroup shall provide recommendations to the Board of Governors and the State Board of Education by March 1, 2023, for approval at the next meeting of each board to allow for adequate public notice. The workgroup shall terminate upon submission of its recommendations.

(d) Upon approval of the workgroup's recommendations by the Board of Governors and the State Board of Education, the Articulation Coordinating Committee shall facilitate the review of law enforcement training and experience for postsecondary course equivalencies and the minimum postsecondary credit or career education clock hours that must be awarded in accordance with the approved process.

(e) Within 1 year after approval of the workgroup's recommendations by the Board of Governors and the State Board of Education pursuant to paragraph (c), the Articulation Coordinating Committee shall approve a prioritized list of postsecondary course equivalencies and the minimum postsecondary credit or career education clock hours that must be awarded for law enforcement training and experience. The list must be updated annually. The Board of Governors and the State Board of Education shall timely adopt the list approved by the Articulation Coordinating Committee at the next meeting of each board to allow for adequate public notice. For the purpose of statewide application, postsecondary course equivalencies and the minimum postsecondary credit or career education clock hours that must be awarded for law enforcement training and experience shall be delineated by the State Board of Education and the Board of Governors in the statewide articulation agreement required by s. 1007.23(1).

(f) State universities, Florida College System institutions, and career centers must award postsecondary credit or career education clock hours for law enforcement training and experience based on the list adopted by the Board of Governors and the State Board of Education pursuant to paragraph (e) if the credit or career education clock hours are applicable toward the student's degree or certificate. Institutions may award additional postsecondary credit or career education clock hours if appropriate. Credit or career education clock hours awarded in accordance with minimum postsecondary credit and clock hour requirements, respectively, are guaranteed to transfer to other state universities, Florida College System institutions, and career centers.

Section 11. Section 1009.896, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

1009.896 Florida Law Enforcement Academy Scholarship Program.—

(1) As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Commission" means the Criminal Justice Standards and Training Commission within the Department of Law Enforcement.

(b) "Department" means the Department of Education.

(c) "Employing agency" has the same meaning as provided in s. 943.10(4).

(d) "Law enforcement officer" has the same meaning as provided in s. 943.10(1).

(e) "Scholarship program" means the Florida Law Enforcement Academy Scholarship Program.

(2) Beginning with the 2022-2023 academic year, the Florida Law Enforcement Academy Scholarship Program is created to assist in the recruitment of law enforcement officers within the state by providing financial assistance to trainees who enroll in a commission-approved law enforcement officer basic recruit training program.

(3) The department shall administer the scholarship program, in consultation with the Department of Law Enforcement, according to the rules and procedures established by the State Board of Education.

(4) The scholarship shall be awarded on a first-come, first-served basis based on the date the department receives each completed application, and is contingent upon an appropriation by the Legislature.

(5) To be eligible for the scholarship award a trainee must:

(a) Be enrolled in a commission-approved basic recruit training program at a Florida College System institution or school district technical center for the purposes of meeting the minimum qualifications under s. 943.13(9) for employment or appointment as a law enforcement officer.

(b) Not be sponsored by an employing agency that is already covering the cost of a basic recruit training program.

(6) The award to eligible trainees shall be an amount equal to any costs and fees described in this subsection which are necessary to complete the basic recruit training program, less any state financial aid received by the trainee. The award to trainees shall cover:

(a) The cost of tuition.

(b) Any applicable fees required by ss. 1009.22(3), (5), (6), and (7), and 1009.23 (3), (4), (7), (8), (10), and (11); however, any award for a nonresident trainee shall not include the out-of-state fee.

(c) Up to $1,000 for eligible expenses including:

1. The officer certification examination fee established pursuant to s. 943.1397.

2. Textbooks.

3. Uniforms.

4. Ammunition.

5. Required insurance.

6. Any other costs or fees for necessary consumable materials required to complete the basic recruit training program.

(7) The State Board of Education shall adopt rules necessary to administer this section.

Section 12. Section 1009.8961, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

1009.8961 Reimbursement for out-of-state and special operations forces law enforcement equivalency training.—

(1) As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Commission" means the Criminal Justice Standards and Training Commission within the Department of Law Enforcement.

(b) "Department" means the Department of Education.

(c) "Employing agency" has the same meaning as provided in s. 943.10(4).

(d) "Law enforcement officer" has the same meaning as provided in s. 943.10(1).

(e) "Special operations forces" has the same meaning as provided in s. 943.10(22).

(2) Beginning with the 2022-2023 academic year, the department, in consultation with the Department of Law Enforcement, shall reimburse eligible applicants who relocate from outside the state or who transition from service in the special operations forces to become a full-time law enforcement officer within this state for eligible expenses incurred while obtaining a Florida law enforcement officer certification.

(3) To be eligible for reimbursement under this section, an applicant's employing agency must certify that he or she:

(a) Meets the requirements of s. 943.131(2) to qualify for an exemption from the basic recruit training program.

(b) Was not sponsored by the employing agency to cover the cost of any commission required training.

(4) Reimbursement shall be awarded on a first-come, first-served basis based on the date the department received each completed application and is contingent upon an appropriation by the Legislature.

(5) Eligible applicants may be reimbursed for eligible costs and fees up to $1,000, which include any cost or fee incurred for:

(a) Any equivalency assessment administered to determine required equivalency training.

(b) Any equivalency training required by the commission.

(c) The law enforcement officer certification examination.

(6) The State Board of Education shall adopt rules necessary to administer this section.

Section 13. This act shall take effect July 1, 2022.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/SB 196 designates the Florida Housing Finance Corporation (Florida Housing) as the state fiscal agency authorized to make constitutional determinations of fiscal sufficiency in connection with their issuance of bonds. Currently, such determinations must be made by the State Board of Administration (SBA). To complement this change, the bill also removes a reference to SBA rules in the statute governing Florida Housing's Guarantee Program.

The bill amends definitions and regulations related to the qualified contract process by which Florida Housing seeks a purchaser for an affordable housing development. Additionally, the bill proscribes what happens to the affordable housing development's extended use period if a qualified contract does not close. If the reason is generally due to actions by the owner, then the extended use period continues. If contract does not close for other reasons, and Florida Housing is unable to find another purchaser within a 1-year period, then the extended use period ends.

The bill also repeals provisions that limit Elderly Housing Community Loan program loans to $750,000 per housing community and the requirements for such loans.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2022.

II. Present Situation:

The Florida Housing Finance Corporation (Florida Housing) is a public corporation created by the Legislature to assist in providing a range of affordable housing opportunities for Florida residents. Florida Housing administers federal and state resources to make loans, guarantees of loans, and to issue bonds to finance the development and preservation of affordable homeowner and rental housing and assist homebuyers with financing and down payment assistance.[1]

Florida Housing Bond Issuance

Florida Housing facilitates the issuance of bonds by serving in a conduit capacity. Each bond indenture is for a single purpose entity and the bonds are secured solely by the revenues, assets, and guarantees associated with each bond.[2] The bonds are not an obligation of the state as they are not secured by the full faith and credit of the state.[3]

Section 420.509, F.S., designates the State Board of Administration (SBA) as the state fiscal agency to make the determination required by s. 16, Art. VII of the State Constitution, in connection with the issuance of Florida Housing bonds. The required fiscal determination is that in no state fiscal year will the debt service requirements of the bonds proposed to be issued, and all other bonds secured by the same pledged revenues, exceed the pledged revenues available for such debt service requirements. This section also authorizes Florida Housing to bear interest on the bonds that are issued. However, the rate or rates may not exceed the interest rate limitation set forth in s. 215.84(3), F.S.,[4] unless authorized by the SBA.[5]

Before a bond is issued, Florida Housing's Board of Directors approves the requirements for a bond financed development at a public meeting. Upon the Board's approval, a fiscal sufficiency report is prepared by a third party and submitted to the SBA for approval. The Governor and the Florida Cabinet, functioning as the SBA Board of Trustees, must place the report on the agenda for the next scheduled SBA Board of Trustees meeting, and only upon approval by the SBA Board of Trustees can the bond transaction proceed to closing.[6] Florida Housing has stated that this mechanism can produce significant delays in bond issuance due to timing differences between the various board meetings.

Florida Affordable Housing Guarantee Program

The Florida Affordable Housing Guarantee Program was created in 1992 to work in concert with federal, state, and local government financing sources to effectively lower the overall cost of borrowing capital for the construction and rehabilitation of affordable multifamily rental housing.[7] These cost savings were achieved by the Guarantee Program guaranteeing the payment of mortgages that secure multifamily mortgage revenue bonds, thus raising the loan's rating and reducing the overall cost of borrowing. In 2009, Florida Housing's board of directors officially suspended the Guarantee Program due to continually low interest rates, which prompted developers to refinance properties outside of the Guarantee Program. Currently, just one multifamily rental property holds an outstanding guarantee from this program.[8]

State Apartment Incentive Loan (SAIL) Program

The SAIL Program is administered by Florida Housing and provides low-interest loans on a competitive basis to multifamily affordable housing developers.[9] These funds often serve to bridge the gap between the development's primary financing and the total cost of the development. SAIL dollars are available for developers proposing to construct or substantially rehabilitate multifamily rental housing.[10]

Elderly Housing Community Loan (EHCL) Program

During the first six months of funding availability each year, program funds are made available for developers who provide set-asides for certain tenant groups. Included among these are elderly persons. The EHCL program offers up to $750,000 in loans to make substantial life, safety, or security related improvements to existing affordable rental housing for the elderly. Unused funds designated for EHCL return to the SAIL program.[11]

Loans made through this program must meet several statutory requirements. Recipients must commit to matching at least 5% of the loan amount and have the primary mortgagee review and approve the developer's application for this loan. The Florida Housing establishes the interest rate, which may not exceed 3 percent, and the loan term, which may not exceed 15 years[12] and is based on a credit analysis of the applicant. The corporation may forgive indebtedness for a share of the loan attributable to the units in a project reserved for extremely-low-income elderly by nonprofit organizations where the project has provided affordable housing to the elderly for 15 years or more. A nonprofit organization or sponsor may not use the proceeds of the loan to pay for administrative costs, routine maintenance, or new construction.

After 14 years the owner of an affordable housing development may request that the Florida Housing seek a purchaser who will continue to operate the affordable portions of the development as affordable housing – this is referred to as the "qualified contract process." Many developments, particularly those that receive the most lucrative LIHTC, waive the right to enter this process when contracting with the Florida Housing for the credits and must remain affordable housing for the duration of the agreed upon time. After a developer requests a qualified contract, if the Florida Housing is unable to present a buyer during the subsequent 1-year period, the extended use period of the property as affordable housing will end and the property can be utilized for market-rate housing.[15]

This "qualified contract process" relies on the Florida Housing marketing the property and returning to the owner with a "bona fide contract," showing that the Florida Housing has found a buyer in order to maintain the affordable housing requirement. The "bona fide contract" is an offer to purchase an affordable housing development for a price equal to or exceeding the qualified contract amount (or purchase price) that is made by a purchaser with the intent that the offer will result in the execution of a valid and binding contract.[16] The price for the affordable housing portion of the sale is set according to a formula designed to give the owner an inflation-adjusted return on its original equity contribution.[17] This calculation may result in a price that exceeds the market price of the development as affordable housing.

The bona fide contract, as provided by Florida administrative rule is, a contract for sale that:[18]

- Is signed by the purchaser;
- Provides that the acceptance of the contract is contingent upon approval by the Florida Housing;
- Requires an initial earnest money deposit from the purchaser of $50,000 to be made with an escrow agent; and [13] Low Income Housing Tax Credits are provided by the federal government to rental housing developers in exchange for a commitment to provide affordable rents and are usually sold to investors to raise project equity. The LIHTC program is governed by the U.S. Department of Treasury and Florida's allocation is administered by the Florida Housing. Under the LIHTC program, successful applicants are provided with a dollar-for-dollar reduction in federal tax liability in exchange for the development or rehabilitation of units to be occupied by very low- and low-income households. See Florida Housing Finance Corporation, Housing Credits, available at https://www.floridahousing.org/programs/developers-multifamily-programs/low-income-housing-tax-credits (last visited February 3, 2022).

- Obligates the purchaser to make a second earnest money deposit equal to 3 percent of the qualified contract price to be deposited within 15 business days of the end of the due diligence period.

The initial and second earnest money deposits are not refundable unless the seller fails to deliver insurable title or defaults. A contract that meets these terms is deemed a qualified contract and the Florida Housing is deemed to have met its responsibility to present the owner with a qualified contract.[19]

If the Florida Housing is able to procure a purchaser and present the owner with such a bona fide contract within the 1-year period, regardless of whether the owner accepts, rejects, or fails to act upon the contract, the property will continue to be subject to its extended use agreement as affordable housing. If the owner accepts the offer, the property will be sold to the purchaser. If the owner rejects the offer or fails to act upon the offer, the owner will continue to be subject to the extended use agreement and cannot submit another qualified contract request for the development.[20]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Qualified Contract Process

The bill changes the process for qualified contracts for affordable housing projects.

Section 1 amends s. 420.503, F.S., to define the terms "bona fide contract" and "qualified contract". These definitions exist currently only in administrative rule.

Generally under current law, the "bona fide contact" is an agreement to negotiate the purchase of a development. The bill changes this administrative definition to mean "a complete and negotiated commercial reasonable contract for sale." Final acceptance of the contract is contingent upon:

- Being signed by the purchaser and the seller;
- Requiring an initial, nonrefundable earnest money deposit from the purchaser of $50,000 to be made with an escrow agent, unless waived by the seller; and
- Obligating the purchaser to make a second, nonrefundable earnest money deposit equal to 3 percent of the qualified contract price to be deposited within 15 business days of the end of the due diligence period, unless waived by the seller and subject to rights reserved by the purchaser in the event of seller failure to deliver insurable title or default.

Under the bill, similar to the administrative rule, the initial and second earnest money deposits are nonrefundable. However, under the bill the bona fide contract can include a provision that allows the initial and second earnest money deposits to be refundable:

- If the seller fails to deliver insurable title at closing;

[20] Fla. Admin. Code R. 67-48.031(11).

- If the seller terminates a fully executed contract due to a reason other than default of the purchaser (it is unclear if the "fully executed contract" refers to the bona fide contract or another contract, like the qualified contract discussed below);
- As provided in the contract; or
- If the owner defaults.

Currently an owner/seller must accept a bona fide contract that meets certain requirements; under the bill, an owner would not be obligated to accept a bona fide contract presented by the Florida Housing. The changes from current administrative definitions also allow the waiver of the requirements to place the initial and second earnest money deposits in escrow and allow such deposits to be refunded for additional reasons.

The bill defines "qualified contract" has having "the same meaning as in 26 U.S.C. s. 42(h)(6)(F) in effect on the date of the preliminary determination certificate for the low-income housing tax credits for the development that is the subject of the qualified contract request." The definition requires the Florida Housing to deem a bona fide contract to be a qualified contract at the time the second earnest money deposit is deposited in escrow in accordance with the terms of the bona fide contract and, in such event, the Florida Housing is deemed to have fulfilled its responsibility to present the owner with a qualified contract.

Section 4 amends s. 420.5099, F.S., related to allocation of low-income housing tax credits, to determine what happens to the extended use agreement, that is the affordability period, in the event that a qualified contract does not close.

Under the bill, if a qualified contract fails to close due to (1) a default of the owner, (2) the termination by the owner due to a reason other than the purchaser's default, or (3) as otherwise provided for in the bona fide contract, then the development must remain subject to the extended use agreement and the owner is considered to have waived all rights to a qualified contract request. If a qualified contract fails to close for any other reason, the qualified contract process continues and the Florida Housing must continue to seek valid offers through the 1-year period. If no other qualified contract is presented to the owner during the 1-year period, the project must be treated as if no qualified contract had been presented, and the extended use period is terminated. In effect, this would end the affordability of the housing and allow the units to be provided at market rate.

Section 6 amends s. 420.628, F.S., to correct a cross reference.

Elderly Housing Community Loan Program

Section 2 amends s. 420.5078(5)(e), F.S., to repeal the requirements for these loans. The bill preserves the requirement that a certain amount of money be set aside for loans related to building preservation, health, life safety, and sanitation repairs and improvements, but removes statutory guidelines for the terms and requirements related to those loans.

Bond Issuance

Section 3 amends s. 420.509, F.S., to designate Florida Housing as the state fiscal agency to make the determination required by s. 16, Art. VII of the State Constitution, in connection with the issuance of Florida Housing bonds and removes the authority of the SBA to authorize an interest rate in excess of the maximum.

The section also allows, where applicable, Florida Housing to use the interest rate limitation on bond issuance set forth in ss. 159.825 or 215.84, F.S., as applicable. This change allows Florida Housing to bear higher interest on taxable bonds without seeking SBA approval.

Section 5 amends s. 420.5092, F.S., to remove the requirement for the Florida Housing Guarantee Program, now suspended, that the program's fund's financial rating remain consistent with rules adopted by the SBA. This is a technical change to conform to the bill's removal of the SBA from oversight responsibility.

Effective Date

Section 7 provides that the bill takes effect July 1, 2022.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

The bill defines "qualified contract" to mean the same as in federal law "in effect on the date of the preliminary determination certificate…" Generally, the legislature may not delegate its power to another branch of government, including the federal government.[21] "Where a statute generally incorporates a federal law or regulation, to avoid holding the subject statute unconstitutional, Florida courts interpret the statute as incorporating only the federal law in effect on the date of adoption of the Florida Statute."[22] It is unknown what changes, if any, that Congress may make to the federal law cited in the bill.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The effect of repealing the requirements for the EHCL program is unclear because it is unknown what administrative rules the Florida Housing will adopt, if it changes existing rules based on the current law. By repealing the limit on the amount of the loan, it is possible that larger loans could be made leading to more repairs for this type of housing; however the size of the loans may in turn limit the number of developments that can be repaired in any given yet. The effect on the repair and improvement of current developments with set-asides for the elderly is unknown.

The change of the definitions and application of the bona fide contract and the qualified contract may benefit owners of affordable housing developments that are at their 14-year periods of affordability. The provisions may make it easier for the owner to divest itself of an affordable housing development. This may limit the amount of affordable housing units available in the future.

C. Government Sector Impact:

According to the Florida Housing, the current multi-layer review process can cause unpredictable delays and subject transactions to market volatility. This bill would ameliorate that concern and positively impact Florida Housing's ability to reliably issue bonds.[23]

The changes in the bill to the bona fide contract and qualified contract process may result in more owners entering the process, requiring Florida Housing to incur additional administrative costs in order to find purchasers and eligible offers.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

[22] Abbott Lab'ys v. Mylan Pharms., Inc., 15 So. 3d 642, 655 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2009). "…the Legislature may adopt provisions of federal statutes and administrative rules made by a federal administrative body, 'that are in existence and in effect at the time the legislature acts, but it would be an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power for the legislature to adopt in advance any federal act or the ruling of any federal administrative body that Congress or such administrative body might see fit to adopt in the future.'" Freimuth v. State, 272 So. 2d 473, 476 (Fla. 1972)

[23] Florida Housing Finance Corporation, SB 196 Talking Points, (November 11, 2021) on file with the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Transportation, Tourism, and Economic Development.

VII. Related Issues:

The definition of "qualified contract" requires Florida Housing to deem a bona fide contract to be a qualified contract at the time the second earnest money deposit is deposited in escrow in accordance with the terms of the bona fide contract. However, the bill appears to create a conflict with the definition of "bona fide contract" which allows the waiver of the earnest money deposits. If the deposit is waived, then it is unclear when the Florida Housing must deem a bona fide contract to be a qualified contract.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 420.509 and 420.5092.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

PCS (518736) by Appropriations Committee (Recommended CS by Appropriations Subcommittee on Transportation, Tourism and Economic Development):
The proposed committee substitute repeals provisions that limit Elderly Housing Community Loan Program loans to $750,000 per housing community and the provisions related to how such loans can be made. .

The committee substitute also amends definitions and regulations related to the qualified contract process, by which the Florida Housing seeks a purchaser for an affordable housing development. The changes affect when such a contract is entered and the operation of deposits related to the purchase.

B. Amendments:

None.

(4) "Bona fide contract" means a certain and unambiguous offer to purchase the development for an amount equaling or exceeding the qualified contract purchase price which is made in good faith by a qualified purchaser with the intent that such offer result in the execution of an enforceable, valid, and binding contract to purchase and which includes:

(a) A requirement for the purchaser to make an initial nonrefundable earnest money deposit of at least $50,000, to be placed in escrow, unless waived in writing by the owner; and

(b) A requirement for the purchaser to make a second nonrefundable earnest money deposit equal to 3 percent of the qualified contract price within 15 business days after the end of the due diligence period, unless waived in writing by the owner and subject to any rights reserved by the purchaser in the event of the owner's failure to deliver insurable title or in the event of the owner's default.

A bona fide contract may require that the initial earnest money deposit and the second earnest money deposit be refundable in the event of the owner's failure to deliver insurable title at closing; the owner's termination of a fully executed contract due to a reason other than the default of the purchaser, or as may be provided for in the contract; or the owner's default.

Present paragraphs (d) through (n) of subsection (5) of section 420.9075, Florida Statutes, are redesignated as paragraphs (e) through (o), respectively, a new paragraph (d) is added to that subsection, and paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) and present paragraph (n) of that subsection are amended, to read:

420.9075 Local housing assistance plans; partnerships.—

(5) The following criteria apply to awards made to eligible sponsors or eligible persons for the purpose of providing eligible housing:

(a) A percentage ~~At least 65 percent~~ of the funds made available in each county and eligible municipality from the local housing distribution must be reserved for home ownership for eligible persons.

(b) A percentage ~~Up to 25 percent~~ of the funds made available in each county and eligible municipality from the local housing distribution may be reserved for rental housing for eligible persons or for the purposes enumerated in s. 420.9072(7)(b).

(c) A percentage ~~At least 75 percent~~ of the funds made available in each county and eligible municipality from the local housing distribution must be reserved for construction, rehabilitation, or emergency repair of affordable, eligible housing.

(d) Beginning July 1, 2023, the corporation shall set the percentages in paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) based on the housing policy recommendations and best practices developed by the Shimberg Center for Affordable Housing pursuant to s. 420.6075(3)(c). The corporation shall reevaluate the percentages and adjust as necessary.

(o) ~~(n)~~ Funds from the local housing distribution not used to meet the criteria established in paragraph (a) or paragraph (c) or not used for the administration of a local housing assistance plan must be used for housing production and finance activities, including, but not limited to, financing preconstruction activities or the purchase of existing units, providing rental housing, and providing home ownership training to prospective home buyers and owners of homes assisted through the local housing assistance plan.

1. Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (c), program income as defined in s. 420.9071(26) may also be used to fund activities described in this paragraph.

2. When preconstruction due-diligence activities conducted as part of a preservation strategy show that preservation of the units is not feasible and will not result in the production of an eligible unit, such costs shall be deemed a program expense rather than an administrative expense if such program expenses do not exceed 3 percent of the annual local housing distribution.

3. If both an award under the local housing assistance plan and federal low-income housing tax credits are used to assist a project and there is a conflict between the criteria prescribed in this subsection and the requirements of s. 42 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, the county or eligible municipality may resolve the conflict by giving precedence to the requirements of s. 42 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, in lieu of following the criteria prescribed in this subsection with the exception of paragraphs (a) and (h) ~~(g) of this subsection~~.

4. Each county and each eligible municipality may award funds as a grant for construction, rehabilitation, or repair as part of disaster recovery or emergency repairs or to remedy accessibility or health and safety deficiencies. Any other grants must be approved as part of the local housing assistance plan.

Section 6. Subsection (27) of section 420.9071, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

420.9071 Definitions.—As used in ss. 420.907-420.9079, the term:

(27) "Recaptured funds" means funds that are recouped by a county or eligible municipality in accordance with the recapture provisions of its local housing assistance plan pursuant to s. 420.9075(5)(k) ~~s. 420.9075(5)(j)~~ from eligible persons or eligible sponsors, which funds were not used for assistance to an eligible household for an eligible activity, when there is a default on the terms of a grant award or loan award.

qualified contract does not close for specified reasons; providing requirements for the corporation and an owner if a qualified contract does not close for any other reason; providing construction if no other qualified contract is presented to the owner within a certain period; amending s. 420.5092, F.S.; conforming a provision to changes made by the act; amending s. 420.628, F.S.; conforming a cross-reference; providing an effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Present subsections (4) through (34) and (35) through (43) of section 420.503, Florida Statutes, are redesignated as subsections (5) through (35) and (37) through (45), respectively, new subsections (4) and (36) are added to that section, and present subsection (15) of that section is amended, to read:

420.503 Definitions.—As used in this part, the term:

(4) "Bona fide contract" means a complete and negotiated commercially reasonable contract for sale signed by the owner and the purchaser which states that final acceptance of the contract is contingent upon approval by the corporation and which includes:

(a) A requirement for the purchaser to make an initial nonrefundable earnest money deposit of at least $50,000, to be placed in escrow, unless waived in writing by the owner; and

(b) A requirement for the purchaser to make a second nonrefundable earnest money deposit equal to 3 percent of the

qualified contract price within 15 business days after the end of the due diligence period, unless waived in writing by the owner and subject to any rights reserved by the purchaser in the event of the owner's failure to deliver insurable title or in the event of the owner's default.

A bona fide contract may require that the initial earnest money deposit and the second earnest money deposit be refundable in the event of the owner's failure to deliver insurable title at closing; the owner's termination of a fully executed contract due to a reason other than the default of the purchaser, or as may be provided for in the contract; or the owner's default.

(16)~~(15)~~ "Elderly" means persons 62 years of age or older; however, this definition does not prohibit housing from being deemed housing for the elderly as defined in subsection (21) ~~(20)~~ if such housing otherwise meets the requirements of subsection (21) ~~(20)~~.

(36) "Qualified contract" has the same meaning as in 26 U.S.C. s. 42(h)(6)(F) in effect on the date of the preliminary determination certificate for the low-income housing tax credits for the development that is the subject of the qualified contract request. The corporation shall deem a bona fide contract to be a qualified contract at the time the second earnest money deposit is deposited in escrow in accordance with the terms of the bona fide contract and, in such event, the corporation is deemed to have fulfilled its responsibility to present the owner with a qualified contract.

Section 2. Subsection (3) of section 420.5087, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

420.5087 State Apartment Incentive Loan Program.—There is hereby created the State Apartment Incentive Loan Program for the purpose of providing first, second, or other subordinated mortgage loans or loan guarantees to sponsors, including for-profit, nonprofit, and public entities, to provide housing affordable to very-low-income persons.

(3) During the first 6 months of loan or loan guarantee availability, program funds shall be made available for use by sponsors who provide the housing set-aside required in subsection (2) for the tenant groups designated in this subsection. The funds made available to each of these groups shall be determined using the most recent statewide very-low-income rental housing market study available at the time of publication of each notice of fund availability required by paragraph (6)(b). The funds made available within each notice of fund availability to the tenant groups in paragraphs (b)-(e) may not be less than 10 percent of the funds available at that time. Any increase in funding required to reach the required minimum must be taken from the tenant group that would receive the largest percentage of available funds in accordance with the study. The funds made available within each notice of fund availability to the tenant group in paragraph (a) may not be less than 5 percent of the funds available at that time. The tenant groups are:

(a) Commercial fishing workers and farmworkers;

(b) Families;

(c) Persons who are homeless;

(d) Persons with special needs; and

(e) Elderly persons. Ten percent of the amount made available for the elderly shall provide loans to sponsors of housing for the elderly for the purpose of making building preservation, health, or sanitation repairs or improvements which are required by federal, state, or local regulation or code, or lifesafety or security-related repairs or improvements to such housing. ~~Such a loan may not exceed $750,000 per housing community for the elderly. In order to receive the loan, the sponsor of the housing community must make a commitment to match at least 5 percent of the loan amount to pay the cost of such repair or improvement. The corporation shall establish the rate of interest on the loan, which may not exceed 3 percent, and the term of the loan, which may not exceed 15 years; however, if the lien of the corporation's encumbrance is subordinate to the lien of another mortgagee, then the term may be made coterminous with the longest term of the superior lien. The term of the loan shall be based on a credit analysis of the applicant. The corporation may forgive indebtedness for a share of the loan attributable to the units in a project reserved for extremely-low-income elderly by nonprofit organizations, as defined in s. 420.0004(5), where the project has provided affordable housing to the elderly for 15 years or more. The corporation shall establish, by rule, the procedure and criteria for receiving, evaluating, and competitively ranking all applications for loans under this paragraph. A loan application must include evidence of the first mortgagee's having reviewed and approved the sponsor's intent to apply for a loan. A nonprofit organization or sponsor may not use the proceeds of the loan to pay for administrative costs, routine maintenance, or new construction.~~

Section 3. Subsections (2) and (4) of section 420.509,

Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

420.509 Revenue bonds.—

(2) The corporation ~~State Board of Administration~~ is designated as the state fiscal agency to make the determinations required by s. 16, Art. VII of the State Constitution in connection with the issuance of such bonds that in no state fiscal year will the debt service requirements of the bonds proposed to be issued and all other bonds secured by the same pledged revenues exceed the pledged revenues available for such debt service requirements. The corporation's board of directors ~~State Board of Administration~~ may delegate to its executive director the authority and power to perform that function ~~without further review of the agency~~. The determinations pursuant to this subsection ~~paragraph~~ are limited to a review of the matters essential to making the determinations required by s. 16, Art. VII of the State Constitution. The executive director shall report annually to the board ~~State Board of Administration~~ and the Legislature regarding the number of bond issues considered and the determination with respect thereto.

(4) Bonds of the corporation may:

(a) Bear interest at a rate or rates not exceeding the interest rate limitation set forth in s. 159.825 or s. 215.84, as applicable ~~s. 215.84(3), unless the State Board of Administration authorizes an interest rate in excess of such maximum~~;

(b) Have such provisions for payment at maturity and redemption before maturity at such time or times and at such price or prices; and the state as the board determines by resolution.

(c) Be payable at such place or places within or without

Section 4. Present subsection (7) of section 420.5099, Florida Statutes, is redesignated as subsection (8), and a new subsection (7) is added to that section, to read:

420.5099 Allocation of the low-income housing tax credit.—

(7) For the further purpose of implementing this program in this state, if a qualified contract does not close due to a default of the owner, the termination by the owner due to a reason other than the purchaser's default, or as otherwise provided for in the bona fide contract, the development must remain subject to the extended use agreement, and the owner is deemed to have waived any right or option to submit another qualified contract request for the development. If a qualified contract does not close for any other reason, the corporation must continue to seek offers at the qualified contract price through the end of the 1-year period, and the owner's obligation to cooperate in the marketing of the project must continue. If no other qualified contract is presented to the owner during the 1-year period, the project must be treated as if no qualified contract had been presented, and the extended use period is terminated.

Section 5. Paragraph (b) of subsection (6) of section 420.5092, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

(b) If the claims payment obligations under affordable housing guarantees from amounts on deposit in the guarantee fund would cause the claims paying rating assigned to the guarantee fund to be less than the third-highest rating classification of any nationally recognized rating service, which classifications being consistent with s. 215.84(3) ~~and rules adopted thereto by the State Board of Administration~~, the corporation shall certify to the Chief Financial Officer the amount of such claims payment obligations. Upon receipt of such certification, the Chief Financial Officer shall transfer to the guarantee fund, from the first available taxes distributed to the State Housing Trust Fund pursuant to s. 201.15(4)(c) and (d) during the ensuing state fiscal year, the amount certified as necessary to meet such obligations, such transfer to be subordinate to any transfer referenced in paragraph (a) and not to exceed 50 percent of the amounts distributed to the State Housing Trust Fund pursuant to s. 201.15(4)(c) and (d) during the preceding state fiscal year.

Section 6. Subsection (2) of section 420.628, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

420.628 Affordable housing for children and young adults leaving foster care; legislative findings and intent.—

(2) Young adults who leave the child welfare system meet the definition of eligible persons under ss. 420.503(18) and 420.9071(11) ~~ss. 420.503(17) and 420.9071(11)~~ for affordable housing, and are encouraged to participate in federal, state, and local affordable housing programs. Students deemed to be eligible occupants under 26 U.S.C. s. 42(i)(3)(D) shall be considered eligible persons for purposes of all projects funded under this chapter.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 196 designates the Florida Housing Finance Corporation (Florida Housing) as the state fiscal agency authorized to make constitutional determinations of fiscal sufficiency in connection with their issuance of bonds. Currently, such determinations must be made by the State Board of Administration (SBA). To complement this change, the bill also removes a reference to SBA rules in the statute governing Florida Housing's Guarantee Program.

The bill amends definitions and regulations related to the qualified contract process by which Florida Housing seeks a purchaser for an affordable housing development. Additionally, the bill proscribes what happens to the affordable housing development's extended use period if a qualified contract does not close. If the reason is generally due to actions by the owner, then the extended use period continues. If contract does not close for other reasons, and Florida Housing is unable to find another purchaser within a 1-year period, then the extended use period ends.

The bill also repeals provisions that limit Elderly Housing Community Loan program loans to $750,000 per housing community and the requirements for such loans.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2022.

II. Present Situation:

The Florida Housing Finance Corporation (Florida Housing) is a public corporation created by the Legislature to assist in providing a range of affordable housing opportunities for Florida residents. Florida Housing administers federal and state resources to make loans, guarantees of loans, and to issue bonds to finance the development and preservation of affordable homeowner and rental housing and assist homebuyers with financing and down payment assistance.[1]

Florida Housing Bond Issuance

Florida Housing facilitates the issuance of bonds by serving in a conduit capacity. Each bond indenture is for a single purpose entity and the bonds are secured solely by the revenues, assets, and guarantees associated with each bond.[2] The bonds are not an obligation of the state as they are not secured by the full faith and credit of the state.[3]

Section 420.509, F.S., designates the State Board of Administration (SBA) as the state fiscal agency to make the determination required by s. 16, Art. VII of the State Constitution, in connection with the issuance of Florida Housing bonds. The required fiscal determination is that in no state fiscal year will the debt service requirements of the bonds proposed to be issued, and all other bonds secured by the same pledged revenues, exceed the pledged revenues available for such debt service requirements. This section also authorizes Florida Housing to bear interest on the bonds that are issued. However, the rate or rates may not exceed the interest rate limitation set forth in s. 215.84(3), F.S.,[4] unless authorized by the SBA.[5]

Before a bond is issued, Florida Housing's Board of Directors approves the requirements for a bond financed development at a public meeting. Upon the Board's approval, a fiscal sufficiency report is prepared by a third party and submitted to the SBA for approval. The Governor and the Florida Cabinet, functioning as the SBA Board of Trustees, must place the report on the agenda for the next scheduled SBA Board of Trustees meeting, and only upon approval by the SBA Board of Trustees can the bond transaction proceed to closing.[6] Florida Housing has stated that this mechanism can produce significant delays in bond issuance due to timing differences between the various board meetings.

Florida Affordable Housing Guarantee Program

The Florida Affordable Housing Guarantee Program was created in 1992 to work in concert with federal, state, and local government financing sources to effectively lower the overall cost of borrowing capital for the construction and rehabilitation of affordable multifamily rental housing.[7] These cost savings were achieved by the Guarantee Program guaranteeing the payment of mortgages that secure multifamily mortgage revenue bonds, thus raising the loan's rating and reducing the overall cost of borrowing. In 2009, Florida Housing's board of directors officially suspended the Guarantee Program due to continually low interest rates, which prompted developers to refinance properties outside of the Guarantee Program. Currently, just one multifamily rental property holds an outstanding guarantee from this program.[8]

State Apartment Incentive Loan (SAIL) Program

The SAIL Program is administered by Florida Housing and provides low-interest loans on a competitive basis to multifamily affordable housing developers.[9] These funds often serve to bridge the gap between the development's primary financing and the total cost of the development. SAIL dollars are available for developers proposing to construct or substantially rehabilitate multifamily rental housing.[10]

Elderly Housing Community Loan (EHCL) Program

During the first six months of funding availability each year, program funds are made available for developers who provide set-asides for certain tenant groups. Included among these are elderly persons. The EHCL program offers up to $750,000 in loans to make substantial life, safety, or security related improvements to existing affordable rental housing for the elderly. Unused funds designated for EHCL return to the SAIL program.[11]

Loans made through this program must meet several statutory requirements. Recipients must commit to matching at least 5% of the loan amount and have the primary mortgagee review and approve the developer's application for this loan. The Florida Housing establishes the interest rate, which may not exceed 3 percent, and the loan term, which may not exceed 15 years[12] and is based on a credit analysis of the applicant. The corporation may forgive indebtedness for a share of the loan attributable to the units in a project reserved for extremely-low-income elderly by nonprofit organizations where the project has provided affordable housing to the elderly for 15 years or more. A nonprofit organization or sponsor may not use the proceeds of the loan to pay for administrative costs, routine maintenance, or new construction.

After 14 years the owner of an affordable housing development may request that the Florida Housing seek a purchaser who will continue to operate the affordable portions of the development as affordable housing – this is referred to as the "qualified contract process." Many developments, particularly those that receive the most lucrative LIHTC, waive the right to enter this process when contracting with the Florida Housing for the credits and must remain affordable housing for the duration of the agreed upon time. After a developer requests a qualified contract, if the Florida Housing is unable to present a buyer during the subsequent 1-year period, the extended use period of the property as affordable housing will end and the property can be utilized for market-rate housing.[15]

This "qualified contract process" relies on the Florida Housing marketing the property and returning to the owner with a "bona fide contract," showing that the Florida Housing has found a buyer in order to maintain the affordable housing requirement. The "bona fide contract" is an offer to purchase an affordable housing development for a price equal to or exceeding the qualified contract amount (or purchase price) that is made by a purchaser with the intent that the offer will result in the execution of a valid and binding contract.[16] The price for the affordable housing portion of the sale is set according to a formula designed to give the owner an inflation-adjusted return on its original equity contribution.[17] This calculation may result in a price that exceeds the market price of the development as affordable housing.

The bona fide contract, as provided by Florida administrative rule is, a contract for sale that:[18]

- Is signed by the purchaser;
- Provides that the acceptance of the contract is contingent upon approval by the Florida Housing;
- Requires an initial earnest money deposit from the purchaser of $50,000 to be made with an escrow agent; and [13] Low Income Housing Tax Credits are provided by the federal government to rental housing developers in exchange for a commitment to provide affordable rents and are usually sold to investors to raise project equity. The LIHTC program is governed by the U.S. Department of Treasury and Florida's allocation is administered by the Florida Housing. Under the LIHTC program, successful applicants are provided with a dollar-for-dollar reduction in federal tax liability in exchange for the development or rehabilitation of units to be occupied by very low- and low-income households. See Florida Housing Finance Corporation, Housing Credits, available at https://www.floridahousing.org/programs/developers-multifamily-programs/low-income-housing-tax-credits (last visited February 3, 2022).

- Obligates the purchaser to make a second earnest money deposit equal to 3 percent of the qualified contract price to be deposited within 15 business days of the end of the due diligence period.

The initial and second earnest money deposits are not refundable unless the seller fails to deliver insurable title or defaults. A contract that meets these terms is deemed a qualified contract and the Florida Housing is deemed to have met its responsibility to present the owner with a qualified contract.[19]

If the Florida Housing is able to procure a purchaser and present the owner with such a bona fide contract within the 1-year period, regardless of whether the owner accepts, rejects, or fails to act upon the contract, the property will continue to be subject to its extended use agreement as affordable housing. If the owner accepts the offer, the property will be sold to the purchaser. If the owner rejects the offer or fails to act upon the offer, the owner will continue to be subject to the extended use agreement and cannot submit another qualified contract request for the development.[20]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Qualified Contract Process

The bill changes the process for qualified contracts for affordable housing projects.

Section 1 amends s. 420.503, F.S., to define the terms "bona fide contract" and "qualified contract". These definitions exist currently only in administrative rule.

Generally under current law, the "bona fide contact" is an offer to negotiate the purchase of a development in order to maintain its affordable housing status. The bill changes this administrative definition to mean "a certain and unambiguous offer to purchase the development, for an amount equaling or exceeding the qualified contract purchase price which is made in good faith by the qualified purchaser with the intent that such offer results in the execution of an enforceable, valid, and binding contract."

The bona fide contract must include:

- Requiring an initial, nonrefundable earnest money deposit from the purchaser of $50,000 to be made with an escrow agent, unless waived by the seller; and
- Obligating the purchaser to make a second, nonrefundable earnest money deposit equal to 3 percent of the qualified contract price to be deposited within 15 business days of the end of the due diligence period, unless waived by the seller and subject to rights reserved by the purchaser in the event of seller failure to deliver insurable title or default.

[20] Fla. Admin. Code R. 67-48.031(11).

Under the bill, similar to the administrative rule, the initial and second earnest money deposits are nonrefundable. However, under the bill the bona fide contract can include a provision that allows the initial and second earnest money deposits to be refundable:

- If the seller fails to deliver insurable title at closing;
- If the seller terminates a fully executed contract due to a reason other than default of the purchaser (it is unclear if the "fully executed contract" refers to the bona fide contract or another contract, like the qualified contract discussed below);
- As provided in the contract; or
- If the owner defaults.

The changes from current administrative definitions also allow the waiver of the requirements to place the initial and second earnest money deposits in escrow and allow such deposits to be refunded for additional reasons.

The bill defines "qualified contract" has having "the same meaning as in 26 U.S.C. s. 42(h)(6)(F) in effect on the date of the preliminary determination certificate for the low-income housing tax credits for the development that is the subject of the qualified contract request, unless the Internal Revenue Code requires a different statute or regulation to apply to the development." The definition requires the Florida Housing to deem a bona fide contract to be a qualified contract at the time the second earnest money deposit is deposited in escrow in accordance with the terms of the bona fide contract and, in such event, the Florida Housing is deemed to have fulfilled its responsibility to present the owner with a qualified contract.

The terms created by the bill are circular, in that the term "bona fide contract" means an offer to purchase the development for a certain amount related to a "qualified contract"; and the term "qualified contract" includes within the meaning that a bona fide contract is deemed a qualified contract when certain actions occur.

Section 4 amends s. 420.5099, F.S., related to allocation of low-income housing tax credits, to determine what happens to the extended use agreement, that is the affordability period, in the event that a qualified contract does not close.

Under the bill, if a qualified contract fails to close due to (1) a default of the owner, (2) the termination by the owner due to a reason other than the purchaser's default, or (3) as otherwise provided for in the bona fide contract, then the development must remain subject to the extended use agreement and the owner is considered to have waived all rights to a qualified contract request. If a qualified contract fails to close for any other reason, the qualified contract process continues and the Florida Housing must continue to seek valid offers through the 1-year period. If no other qualified contract is presented to the owner during the 1-year period, the project must be treated as if no qualified contract had been presented, and the extended use period is terminated. In effect, this would end the affordability of the housing and allow the units to be provided at market rate.

Section 6 amends s. 420.628, F.S., to correct a cross reference.

Elderly Housing Community Loan Program

Section 2 amends s. 420.5078(5)(e), F.S., to repeal the requirements for these loans. The bill preserves the requirement that a certain amount of money be set aside for loans related to building preservation, health, life safety, and sanitation repairs and improvements, but removes statutory guidelines for the terms and requirements related to those loans.

Bond Issuance

Section 3 amends s. 420.509, F.S., to designate Florida Housing as the state fiscal agency to make the determination required by s. 16, Art. VII of the State Constitution, in connection with the issuance of Florida Housing bonds and removes the authority of the SBA to authorize an interest rate in excess of the maximum.

The section also allows, where applicable, Florida Housing to use the interest rate limitation on bond issuance set forth in ss. 159.825 or 215.84, F.S., as applicable. This change allows Florida Housing to bear higher interest on taxable bonds without seeking SBA approval.

Section 5 amends s. 420.5092, F.S., to remove the requirement for the Florida Housing Guarantee Program, now suspended, that the program's fund's financial rating remain consistent with rules adopted by the SBA. This is a technical change to conform to the bill's removal of the SBA from oversight responsibility.

Effective Date

Section 7 provides that the bill takes effect July 1, 2022.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

The bill defines "qualified contract" to mean the same as in federal law "in effect on the date of the preliminary determination certificate…" Generally, the legislature may not delegate its power to another branch of government, including the federal government.[21] "Where a statute generally incorporates a federal law or regulation, to avoid holding the subject statute unconstitutional, Florida courts interpret the statute as incorporating only the federal law in effect on the date of adoption of the Florida Statute."[22] It is unknown what changes, if any, that Congress may make to the federal law cited in the bill.

Further, the definition of qualified contract created in the bill is tied to the definition in federal law, "unless the Internal Revenue Code requires a different statute or regulation to apply to the development." It is unclear what other statutes or regulations that may include and therefore what the definition of qualified contract may include.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The effect of repealing the requirements for the EHCL program is unclear because it is unknown what administrative rules the Florida Housing will adopt, if it changes existing rules based on the current law. By repealing the limit on the amount of the loan, it is possible that larger loans could be made leading to more repairs for this type of housing; however the size of the loans may in turn limit the number of developments that can be repaired in any given yet. The effect on the repair and improvement of current developments with set-asides for the elderly is unknown.

The change of the definitions and application of the bona fide contract and the qualified contract may benefit owners of affordable housing developments that are at their 14-year periods of affordability. The provisions may make it easier for the owner to divest itself of an affordable housing development. This may limit the amount of affordable housing units available in the future.

C. Government Sector Impact:

According to the Florida Housing, the current multi-layer review process can cause unpredictable delays and subject transactions to market volatility. This bill would ameliorate that concern and positively impact Florida Housing's ability to reliably issue bonds.[23]

"…the Legislature may adopt provisions of federal statutes and administrative rules made by a federal administrative body, 'that are in existence and in effect at the time the legislature acts, but it would be an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power for the legislature to adopt in advance any federal act or the ruling of any federal administrative body that Congress or such administrative body might see fit to adopt in the future.'" *Freimuth v. The changes in the bill to the bona fide contract and qualified contract process may result in more owners entering the process, requiring Florida Housing to incur additional administrative costs in order to find purchasers and eligible offers.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

The definition of "qualified contract" requires Florida Housing to deem a bona fide contract to be a qualified contract at the time the second earnest money deposit is deposited in escrow in accordance with the terms of the bona fide contract. However, the bill appears to create a conflict with the definition of "bona fide contract" which allows the waiver of the earnest money deposits. If the deposit is waived, then it is unclear when the Florida Housing must deem a bona fide contract to be a qualified contract.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 420.509 and 420.5092.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS by Appropriations on February 28, 2022:
The committee substitute repeals provisions that limit Elderly Housing Community Loan Program loans to $750,000 per housing community and the provisions related to how such loans can be made.

The committee substitute also amends definitions and regulations related to the qualified contract process, by which the Florida Housing seeks a purchaser for an affordable housing development. The changes affect when such a contract is entered and the operation of deposits related to the purchase.

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations

BILL:	PCS/SB 268 (430822)
INTRODUCER:	Appropriations Committee (Recommended by Appropriations Subcommittee on Education); and Senator Diaz
SUBJECT:	Proclamation of "Victims of Communism Day"

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/SB 268 requires the Governor to annually issue a proclamation designating November 7 as "Victims of Communism Day" and calls for public schools to suitably observe such day as a day honoring the 100 million people who fell victim to communist regimes across the world.

Beginning in the 2023-2024 school year, the bill requires high school students enrolled in the United States Government class required for a standard high school diploma to receive at least 45 minutes of instruction on Victims of Communism Day on topics related to communist regimes and how victims suffered under communist regimes. The State Board of Education must adopt revised social studies standards to include the new required instruction by April 1, 2023.

The bill does not have an impact on state revenues or expenditures. See Section V. Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill takes effect upon becoming a law.

II. Present Situation:

Legal Holidays and Special Observance Days

Chapter 683, F.S., establishes legal holidays and special observance days in Florida. Legal holidays are listed in s. 683.01, F.S., while ss. 683.04 – 683.333, F.S., establish special observance days.

Section 683.01, F.S., enumerates legal holidays, which under Florida law are also public holidays. This section also provides that if any legal holiday falls on a Sunday, the next following Monday is deemed a public holiday. Florida currently has 21 legal holidays:

- Sunday, the first day of each week;
- New Year's Day, January 1;
- Birthday of Martin Luther King, Jr., January 15;
- Birthday of Robert E. Lee, January 19;
- Lincoln's Birthday, February 12;
- Susan B. Anthony's Birthday, February 15;
- Washington's Birthday, the third Monday in February;
- Good Friday;
- Pascua Florida Day, April 2;
- Confederate Memorial Day, April 26;
- Memorial Day, the last Monday in May;
- Birthday of Jefferson Davis, June 3;
- Flag Day, June 14;
- Independence Day, July 4;
- Labor Day, the first Monday in September;
- Columbus Day and Farmers' Day, the second Monday in October;
- Veterans' Day, November 11;
- General Election Day;
- Thanksgiving Day, the fourth Thursday in November;
- Christmas Day, December 25; and
- Shrove Tuesday, sometimes also known as "Mardi Gras," in counties where carnival associations are organized for the purpose of celebrating the same. [1]

Under s. 683.02, F.S., whenever a contract is to be performed in the state and reference is made to "legal holidays," the term includes the holidays designated in s. 683.01, F.S., and any other holidays designed in law. Alternatively, a legal holiday designation does not necessarily make a day a paid holiday for public employees. Section 110.117, F.S., establishes which legal holidays are paid holidays for the employees of all state branches and agencies.[2] Likewise, the court system does not necessarily use the legal holidays described in s. 683.01, F.S., while computing time frames for matters in civil and criminal procedure.[3]

Chapter 683, F.S., includes 34 special observances.[4] Unlike legal holidays, special observances do not directly affect the definition of "legal holidays" in contracts. Special observance days may apply throughout the state, or they may be limited to particular counties. For example, "Gasparilla Day"[5] is a legal holiday observed only in Hillsborough County, while "Bill of Rights Day,"[6] if issued by the Governor, is observed throughout the state. Examples of other special observances include:

- Law Enforcement Memorial Day.[7]
- Patriots' Day.[8]
- Medal of Honor Day.[9]
- Juneteenth Day.[10]

Communism

Communism is a political and economic philosophy that aims to replace private property and a profit-based economy with public ownership and communal control of the major means of production and society's natural resources. Karl Marx and his associate, Friedrich Engels, blamed capitalism for the unfavorable and often-hazardous conditions of workers during the Industrial Revolution. They presented this critique of capitalism in their widely circulated pamphlet, Manifesto of the Communist Party. [11]

One facet of the communist theory is that the proletariat would capture political power, abolish private property ownership, and take the private property of the bourgeoisie. Communism postulates that the taking and abolishment of private property by the proletariat would result in shared ownership of the means of production, ushering the world into a communal economic and societal utopia with equality for all.[12]

Before the full establishment of communism, however, the communist theory suggests that a transitional dictatorship of the proletariat may be necessary.[13] Communist movements throughout history have been unable to transition out of state control and dictatorship into the utopia of equality promised by communism and instead have universally devolved into tyranny and state-sanctioned murder of its own citizens.[14]

Bolshevik Revolution

The Bolshevik Revolution, also known as the October Revolution, was the second of two revolutions in Russia in 1917. The Bolshevik Revolution was a revolution led by Vladimir Lenin in Russia against the ruling Russian Parliament. The coup began on November 7, 1917, when the Bolsheviks led the forces into Petrograd, then the capital of Russia. The Bolsheviks occupied government buildings and other locations across Petrograd. The coup led to the Russian Civil War and eventually the creation of the Soviet Union. The event inspired and ignited communist movements around the world. [15] However, instead of the expected dictatorship of the majority class of proletarians, the revolution resulted in a political party that claimed to represent proletarian interests.[16]

Victims of Communism

In addition to violations of freedom of speech, freedom of religion, loss of property rights, and the criminalization of ordinary economic activity, communist regimes in the 20th century intentionally killed their own citizens.[17] One researcher compiled data from 1900 to 1987 related to state-sanctioned killings to provide a metric to consider when reflecting on the victims of communism.

This researcher concluded that the Soviet Union is approximately responsible for the deaths of over 61 million people. "Stalin himself is responsible for almost 43 million of these. Most of the deaths, around 39 million, are due to lethal forced labor in gulag and transit thereto." The researcher found that Communist China (1923 – 1949) was responsible for about 3.5 million deaths, and the People's Republic of China (PRC) (1949 – present) was responsible for an additional 35.2 million deaths.

In Cambodia, Pol Pot and the Khmer Rouge likely killed about 2 million Cambodians from April 1975 through December 1978, out of a population of around 7 million – calculated annually, about 8 percent of the population died each year. During this time, the odds of an average Cambodian surviving Pol Pot's rule was slightly over two to one.

In sum, from 1900 to 1987, communist dictators and regimes were responsible for the death of approximately 110 million individuals. [18] In 1993, Congress made similar findings and authorized a national memorial to honor victims of communism. In addition to death, Congress found that "the imperialist regimes of international communism have brutally suppressed the human rights, national independence, religious liberty, intellectual freedom, and cultured life of the peoples of over 40 captive nations." The purpose of the memorial is to permanently honor the sacrifices of these victims "so that never again will nations and peoples allow so evil a tyranny to terrorize the world." [19]

Victims of Communism Day

The first national day recognizing victims of communism was November 7, 2017. Currently, three states have officially recognized November 7 as "Victims of Communism Memorial Day," and ten other states currently have legislation filed to follow suit.[20]

Required Instruction

Between 1961[21] and 1991,[22] Florida required the teaching of a 30-hour course of study for all students enrolled in public high schools entitled "Americanism vs. Communism." The instruction included the history, doctrines, objectives and techniques of communism with particular emphasis upon the dangers of communism, the ways to fight communism, the evils of communism, the fallacies of communism, and the false doctrines of communism.[23]

Requirements for a Standard High School Diploma

Beginning with students entering grade 9 in the 2013-2014 school year, receipt of a standard high school diploma requires successful completion of 24 credits, an International Baccalaureate curriculum, or an Advanced International Certificate of Education curriculum. Of the 24 required credits, three credits must be in social studies, including at least one credit in United States History, one credit in World History, one-half credit in Economics, and one-half credit in United States Government.

The course in United States Government must include a comparative discussion of political ideologies, such as communism and totalitarianism, that conflict with the principles of freedom and democracy essential to the founding principles of the United States.[24] Course standards include evaluating and defending positions on the founding ideals and principles of American Government, explaining how nations are governed differently, and comparing indicators of democratization in other countries, among others.[25] Course standards for World History include comparing the philosophies of capitalism, socialism, and communism; identifying factors that led to the decline and fall of communism in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe; and analyzing the successes and failures of democratic reform efforts in Africa, Asia, the Caribbean, and Latin America.[26]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

This bill requires the Governor to annually proclaim November 7 as "Victims of Communism Day" and calls for public schools to suitably observe such day as a day honoring the 100 million people who fell victim to communist regimes across the world. The bill also requires Victims of Communism Day to be suitably observed by public exercise at the State Capitol and elsewhere as the Governor may designate.

The bill specifies that if November 7 falls on a day that is not a school day, Victims of Communism Day must be observed in the schools on the preceding school day or on such school day as may be designated by local school authorities.

Beginning in the 2023-2024 school year, the bill requires high school students enrolled in the United States Government course required for a standard high school diploma to receive at least 45 minutes of instruction on Victims of Communism Day on topics such as Mao Zedong and the Cultural Revolution, Joseph Stalin and the Soviet System, Fidel Castro and the Cuban Revolution, Vladimir Lenin and the Russian Revolution, Pol Pot and the Khmer Rouge, and Nicolás Maduro and the Chavismo movement and how victims suffered under these regimes through poverty, starvation, migration, systemic lethal violence, and suppression of speech.

The bill requires the State Board of Education to adopt revised social studies standards to include the new required instruction in the United States Government course by April 1, 2023.

The bill takes effect upon becoming law.

Proposed Committee Substitute by the Committee on Appropriations (Appropriations Subcommittee on Education)

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to the proclamation of "Victims of Communism Day"; creating s. 683.334, F.S.; requiring the Governor to annually proclaim November 7 as "Victims of Communism Day"; requiring the day to be observed in public schools and by public exercise; requiring a day other than November 7 to be observed by public schools under a specified circumstance; requiring certain high school students to receive specified instruction on Victims of Communism Day; requiring the State Board of Education to adopt specified revised social studies standards; providing an effective date.

WHEREAS, more than 100 years have passed since the Bolshevik Revolution in Russia and the formation of the first communist government under Vladimir Lenin, leading to decades of oppression and violence under communist regimes throughout the world, and

WHEREAS, based on the economic philosophy of Karl Marx, communism has proven incompatible with the ideals of liberty, prosperity, and dignity of human life and has given rise to such infamous totalitarian dictators as Joseph Stalin, Vladimir Lenin, Mao Zedong, and Pol Pot, and

WHEREAS, communist regimes worldwide have killed more than 100 million people and subjected countless others to exploitation and unspeakable atrocities, with victims representing many different ethnicities, creeds, and backgrounds, and

WHEREAS, through false promises of equality and liberation or through coercion, brutality, and fear, communist regimes have systematically robbed their own citizens of the rights of freedom of worship, freedom of speech, and freedom of association, and

WHEREAS, many victims of communism were persecuted as political prisoners for speaking out against these regimes, and others were killed in genocidal state-sponsored purges of undesirable groups, and

WHEREAS, in addition to violating basic human rights, communist regimes have suppressed intellectual freedom, cultural life, and self-determination movements in more than 40 nations, NOW, THEREFORE,

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Section 683.334, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

683.334 Victims of Communism Day.—

(1) The Governor shall annually proclaim November 7 as "Victims of Communism Day," which must be suitably observed in the public schools of this state as a day honoring the 100 million people who fell victim to communist regimes across the world and which must be suitably observed by public exercise at the State Capitol and elsewhere as the Governor may designate.

(2) If November 7 falls on a day that is not a school day, Victims of Communism Day must be observed in the public schools in this state on the preceding school day or on such school day as may be designated by local school authorities.

(3)(a) Beginning in the 2023-2024 school year, high school students enrolled in the United States Government class required by s. 1003.4282(3)(d) must receive at least 45 minutes of instruction on Victims of Communism Day to include topics such as Mao Zedong and the Cultural Revolution, Joseph Stalin and the Soviet System, Fidel Castro and the Cuban Revolution, Vladimir Lenin and the Russian Revolution, Pol Pot and the Khmer Rouge, and Nicolás Maduro and the Chavismo movement, and how victims suffered under these regimes through poverty, starvation, migration, systemic lethal violence, and suppression of speech.

(b) No later than April 1, 2023, the State Board of Education must adopt revised social studies standards for inclusion in the United States Government course required by s. 1003.4282(3)(d) which incorporate the requirements of this subsection.

Section 2. This act shall take effect upon becoming a law.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 268 requires the Governor to annually issue a proclamation designating November 7 as "Victims of Communism Day" and calls for public schools to suitably observe such day as a day honoring the 100 million people who fell victim to communist regimes across the world.

Beginning in the 2023-2024 school year, the bill requires high school students enrolled in the United States Government class required for a standard high school diploma to receive at least 45 minutes of instruction on Victims of Communism Day on topics related to communist regimes and how victims suffered under communist regimes. The State Board of Education must adopt revised social studies standards to include the new required instruction by April 1, 2023.

The bill does not have an impact on state revenues or expenditures. See Section V. Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill takes effect upon becoming a law.

II. Present Situation:

Legal Holidays and Special Observance Days

Chapter 683, F.S., establishes legal holidays and special observance days in Florida. Legal holidays are listed in s. 683.01, F.S., while ss. 683.04 – 683.333, F.S., establish special observance days.

Section 683.01, F.S., enumerates legal holidays, which under Florida law are also public holidays. This section also provides that if any legal holiday falls on a Sunday, the next following Monday is deemed a public holiday. Florida currently has 21 legal holidays:

- Sunday, the first day of each week;
- New Year's Day, January 1;
- Birthday of Martin Luther King, Jr., January 15;
- Birthday of Robert E. Lee, January 19;
- Lincoln's Birthday, February 12;
- Susan B. Anthony's Birthday, February 15;
- Washington's Birthday, the third Monday in February;
- Good Friday;
- Pascua Florida Day, April 2;
- Confederate Memorial Day, April 26;
- Memorial Day, the last Monday in May;
- Birthday of Jefferson Davis, June 3;
- Flag Day, June 14;
- Independence Day, July 4;
- Labor Day, the first Monday in September;
- Columbus Day and Farmers' Day, the second Monday in October;
- Veterans' Day, November 11;
- General Election Day;
- Thanksgiving Day, the fourth Thursday in November;
- Christmas Day, December 25; and
- Shrove Tuesday, sometimes also known as "Mardi Gras," in counties where carnival associations are organized for the purpose of celebrating the same. [1]

Under s. 683.02, F.S., whenever a contract is to be performed in the state and reference is made to "legal holidays," the term includes the holidays designated in s. 683.01, F.S., and any other holidays designed in law. Alternatively, a legal holiday designation does not necessarily make a day a paid holiday for public employees. Section 110.117, F.S., establishes which legal holidays are paid holidays for the employees of all state branches and agencies.[2] Likewise, the court system does not necessarily use the legal holidays described in s. 683.01, F.S., while computing time frames for matters in civil and criminal procedure.[3]

Chapter 683, F.S., includes 34 special observances.[4] Unlike legal holidays, special observances do not directly affect the definition of "legal holidays" in contracts. Special observance days may apply throughout the state, or they may be limited to particular counties. For example, "Gasparilla Day"[5] is a legal holiday observed only in Hillsborough County, while "Bill of Rights Day,"[6] if issued by the Governor, is observed throughout the state. Examples of other special observances include:

- Law Enforcement Memorial Day.[7]
- Patriots' Day.[8]
- Medal of Honor Day.[9]
- Juneteenth Day.[10]

Communism

Communism is a political and economic philosophy that aims to replace private property and a profit-based economy with public ownership and communal control of the major means of production and society's natural resources. Karl Marx and his associate, Friedrich Engels, blamed capitalism for the unfavorable and often-hazardous conditions of workers during the Industrial Revolution. They presented this critique of capitalism in their widely circulated pamphlet, Manifesto of the Communist Party. [11]

One facet of the communist theory is that the proletariat would capture political power, abolish private property ownership, and take the private property of the bourgeoisie. Communism postulates that the taking and abolishment of private property by the proletariat would result in shared ownership of the means of production, ushering the world into a communal economic and societal utopia with equality for all.[12]

Before the full establishment of communism, however, the communist theory suggests that a transitional dictatorship of the proletariat may be necessary.[13] Communist movements throughout history have been unable to transition out of state control and dictatorship into the utopia of equality promised by communism and instead have universally devolved into tyranny and state-sanctioned murder of its own citizens.[14]

Bolshevik Revolution

The Bolshevik Revolution, also known as the October Revolution, was the second of two revolutions in Russia in 1917. The Bolshevik Revolution was a revolution led by Vladimir Lenin in Russia against the ruling Russian Parliament. The coup began on November 7, 1917, when the Bolsheviks led the forces into Petrograd, then the capital of Russia. The Bolsheviks occupied government buildings and other locations across Petrograd. The coup led to the Russian Civil War and eventually the creation of the Soviet Union. The event inspired and ignited communist movements around the world. [15] However, instead of the expected dictatorship of the majority class of proletarians, the revolution resulted in a political party that claimed to represent proletarian interests.[16]

Victims of Communism

In addition to violations of freedom of speech, freedom of religion, loss of property rights, and the criminalization of ordinary economic activity, communist regimes in the 20th century intentionally killed their own citizens.[17] One researcher compiled data from 1900 to 1987 related to state-sanctioned killings to provide a metric to consider when reflecting on the victims of communism.

This researcher concluded that the Soviet Union is approximately responsible for the deaths of over 61 million people. "Stalin himself is responsible for almost 43 million of these. Most of the deaths, around 39 million, are due to lethal forced labor in gulag and transit thereto." The researcher found that Communist China (1923 – 1949) was responsible for about 3.5 million deaths, and the People's Republic of China (PRC) (1949 – present) was responsible for an additional 35.2 million deaths.

In Cambodia, Pol Pot and the Khmer Rouge likely killed about 2 million Cambodians from April 1975 through December 1978, out of a population of around 7 million – calculated annually, about 8 percent of the population died each year. During this time, the odds of an average Cambodian surviving Pol Pot's rule was slightly over two to one.

In sum, from 1900 to 1987, communist dictators and regimes were responsible for the death of approximately 110 million individuals. [18] In 1993, Congress made similar findings and authorized a national memorial to honor victims of communism. In addition to death, Congress found that "the imperialist regimes of international communism have brutally suppressed the human rights, national independence, religious liberty, intellectual freedom, and cultured life of the peoples of over 40 captive nations." The purpose of the memorial is to permanently honor the sacrifices of these victims "so that never again will nations and peoples allow so evil a tyranny to terrorize the world."[19]

Victims of Communism Day

The first national day recognizing victims of communism was November 7, 2017. Currently, three states have officially recognized November 7 as "Victims of Communism Memorial Day," and ten other states currently have legislation filed to follow suit.[20]

Required Instruction

Between 1961[21] and 1991,[22] Florida required the teaching of a 30-hour course of study for all students enrolled in public high schools entitled "Americanism vs. Communism." The instruction included the history, doctrines, objectives and techniques of communism with particular emphasis upon the dangers of communism, the ways to fight communism, the evils of communism, the fallacies of communism, and the false doctrines of communism.[23]

Requirements for a Standard High School Diploma

Beginning with students entering grade 9 in the 2013-2014 school year, receipt of a standard high school diploma requires successful completion of 24 credits, an International Baccalaureate curriculum, or an Advanced International Certificate of Education curriculum. Of the 24 required credits, three credits must be in social studies, including at least one credit in United States History, one credit in World History, one-half credit in Economics, and one-half credit in United States Government.

The course in United States Government must include a comparative discussion of political ideologies, such as communism and totalitarianism, that conflict with the principles of freedom and democracy essential to the founding principles of the United States.[24] Course standards include evaluating and defending positions on the founding ideals and principles of American Government, explaining how nations are governed differently, and comparing indicators of democratization in other countries, among others.[25] Course standards for World History include comparing the philosophies of capitalism, socialism, and communism; identifying factors that led to the decline and fall of communism in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe; and analyzing the successes and failures of democratic reform efforts in Africa, Asia, the Caribbean, and Latin America.[26]

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations

BILL:	CS/CS/SB 466
INTRODUCER:	Appropriations Committee; Health Policy Committee; and Senator Torres and others
SUBJECT:	Military Medics and Corpsmen of Florida Program
DATE:	March 2, 2022 REVISED:

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 466 creates the Military Corpsmen and Medics Program of Florida (MCMF program) within the Department of Health (DOH) to assist military-trained veterans and their spouses in identifying and applying for health care and health care-related employment and licensure, and identifying educational and training opportunities.

The bill requires the DOH to establish the MCMF Program Office of Veterans Advocacy (MCMF office) to provide information, guidance, and assistance with the licensure application process or with expedited licensure to military trained health care veterans and their spouses. The MCMF office must refer veterans and their spouses to the Department of Economic Opportunity (DEO) for assistance in resume writing and proofreading, job application completion, and interviewing skills and techniques.

The bill requires Florida is for Veterans Inc. (FIFVs), to establish, and maintain a statewide list of health care providers who agree to participate in the program and assist such providers in recruiting and hiring military-trained health care veterans and their spouses.

The bill authorizes the Board of Governors (BOG) and the State Board of Education (SBE) to create a process that enables military-trained health care veterans to earn uniform postsecondary educational credit for college-level education and training acquired while in the military.

The bill requires State universities, Florida College System Institutions, career centers, training schools, and training programs to award postsecondary education credit and career education and academic and clinical clock hours for certain courses taken and training received during military service.

The bill takes effect on July 1, 2022.

II. Present Situation:

The Department of Economic Opportunity

The Department of Economic Opportunity (DEO) assists the Governor in advancing Florida's economy by championing the state's economic development vision and by administering state and federal programs and initiatives to help visitors, citizens, businesses, and communities.

Jobs for Veterans' State Grant

The DEO administers, the Jobs for Veterans' State Grant program in coordination with 24 Local Workforce Development Boards to promote and maximize the employment of Florida's veteran population. The Jobs for Veterans' State Grant provides federal funding to support the staffing of Disabled Veterans' Outreach Program Specialists, Local Veterans' Employment Representatives, and Consolidated Positions throughout the CareerSource Florida Career Center Network.

The Jobs for Veterans' State Grant also supports the State Veterans' Program Office which is comprised of the State Veterans Program Coordinator, Regional Veterans Program Coordinators, and Intensive Service Coordinators. The State Veterans' Program Office ensures consistency and excellence in program service delivery through the provision of technical assistance, policy, training, and monitoring.

Florida's Jobs for Veterans' State Grant program prepares veterans, transitioning service members, and eligible spouses for meaningful careers through the development of a proactive employment plan and through connection to a career center and community resources to obtain and maintain employment.

The DEO Veterans' Employment Services and Programs include, but are not limited to the following services:

- Intensive case management services to veterans with significant barriers to employment including:
  - On-the-job training development;
  - Non-paid work experience;
  - Selective job placement;
  - Counseling;
  - Follow-up services;
  - Job-seeking skills training;
  - Job analysis; and
  - Labor market information.
- Outreach to employers to increase employment opportunities for veterans;

- Priority enrollment and participation in all USDOL funded employment and training programs, including technology-assisted activities; and

The VA Veteran Readiness and Employment (VR&E) Program is an employment and training program to assist disabled veterans who are being trained/retrained and rehabilitated for new careers by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs. VR&E services include on-the-job training development, non-paid work experience, selective job placement, case management, counseling, follow-up services, provision of job-seeking skills training, job analysis, labor market information, etc.

The Military Family Employment Advocacy Program delivers employment assistance services, including interviewing, assessment, counseling, job search and placement assistance, labor market information, resume assistance, etc., through Military Family Employment Advocates co-located within selected career centers. Spouses and dependents of active-duty military personnel, Florida National Guard members, and military reservists are eligible for assistance through this program.

The Employ Florida Vets portal is a function of the Employ Florida system and is tailored specifically to the needs and interests of veterans. One specific function is to translate Military Specialty Codes (represents military employment classification) into equivalent civilian job titles.

Florida Is For Veterans, Inc. (FIFV)

Section 295.21, F.S., created "Florida Is For Veterans, Inc.," within the Florida Department of Veteran Affairs as a separate nonprofit corporation to help military veterans transition to civilian life or moving to Florida through career service initiatives. FIFV's mission is to promote the value of military skill sets to businesses, assist in training veterans to match marketplace needs, and enhance entrepreneurial skills of veterans.

All agencies of the state are authorized and directed to provide technical assistance to FIFV and identify agency programs to provide assistance or benefits to veterans who are located in or considering relocation to the state. The FDVA may authorize the FIFV to use of FDVA property, facilities, and personnel services, as prescribed by contract.[1]

United States Armed Forces

The U.S. Armed Forces (U.S.A.F.) is made up of six military branches: Air Force, Army, Coast Guard, Marine Corps, Navy and, most recently, Space Force. The secretary of the U.S. Department of Defense (DoD) has control over the military and each branch, except the Coast Guard, which is under the Department of Homeland Security (DHS). With more than two million civilian and military employees, the U.S. DoD is the world's largest employer.[2]

Enlisted Members vs. Officers

Joining the U.S. Armed Forces as an enlisted member or an officer has a significant impact on the type of experience and training a new recruit receives. All enlisted jobs require a high school diploma, although, with certain exceptions, a passing General Education Development (GED) test score is acceptable. While enlisted careers do include infantry roles, most jobs involve hands-on training for mechanical, transportation, human service, or office fields that transfer to the civilian world.

Almost all officer positions require a four-year college degree or equivalent. Officers are the managers of the military, acting in leadership roles that require planning, directing operations, and making critical decisions. Officer positions also include careers that require advanced degrees, such as law and medicine.[3]

Florida's Department of Health (DOH)

The Legislature created the DOH to protect and promote the health, safety, and welfare of all residents and visitors in the state.[4] The DOH is charged with the regulation of health practitioners for the preservation of the health, safety, and welfare of the public. The Division of Medical Quality Assurance (MQA) is responsible for the boards[5] and professions within the DOH.[6]

Health Care Practitioner Regulation

The DOH, Division of MQA, provides health care practitioner regulation and support to health care licensure boards and councils. Boards are responsible for approving or denying an applicant's license based upon:

- Reviewing applicant qualifications specified in statute;
- Reviewing continuing education courses and practitioners;
- Promulgating administrative rules authorized by statute;
- Determining probable cause in cases resulting from complaints; and
- Disciplining practitioners found to be in violation of applicable laws.

The Division of MQA licenses and regulates seven types of health care facilities and more than 200 license types in over 40 professions, while partnering with 22 boards and four councils.[7]

Health Care Practitioner Scope of Practice

The scope of practice for a regulated health care profession includes activities and procedures that a person with a specified level of education, training, and competency is authorized to perform under laws and rules of the state in which the person practices. Scope of practice can also incorporate conditions that may limit the exercise of authorized activities and procedures.[8] Licensed health care practitioners[9] in Florida may only perform that which is authorized by the scope of practice for their profession. Individuals who perform functions outside of their scope of practice are subject to discipline. Individuals who perform tasks that are specific to a scope of practice identified in statute without required licensure may be considered to be performing unlicensed activities in violation of law.[10]

The Board of Medicine

The Florida Board of Medicine (BOM) functions within the DOH/MQA, and is composed of 15 members appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. Twelve members of the BOM must be licensed physicians in good standing who are state residents and have been actively engaged in the practice or teaching of medicine for at least four years immediately preceding their appointment. Of the members, one must be a full-time faculty member of a Florida medical school; one must be in private practice; one must be a full-time staff member of a statutory teaching hospital; and at least one must be a graduate of a foreign medical school. The remaining three members are consumer members who are residents of the state and have never been licensed health care practitioners. One member must be a health care risk manager and at least one member must be 60 years of age or older.

Practice of Medicine

A physician is a person who is licensed to practice medicine in Florida. Practice of medicine includes the diagnosis, treatment, operation, or prescription for disease, pain, injury, deformity, or other physical or mental condition.[11]

Allopathic standards of practice and standards of care for particular practice settings include, but are not limited to, education and training, equipment and supplies, medications including anesthetics, assistance of and delegation to other personnel, transfer agreements, sterilization,

The Federation acts as a collective voice for 70 member medical boards in promoting high standards for medical licensure and practice. The Guidelines recommend that State regulators and legislators review various factors when considering scope of practice initiatives in the interest of public health and patient safety.

[9] Section 456.001, F.S., defines a "health care practitioner" to mean any person licensed under chapter 457 (acupuncture); chapter 458 (medical practice); chapter 459 (osteopathic medicine); chapter 460 (chiropractic medicine); chapter 461 (podiatric medicine); chapter 462 (naturopathy); chapter 463 (optometry); chapter 464 (nursing); chapter 465 (pharmacy); chapter 466 (dentistry, dental hygiene, and dental laboratories); chapter 467 (midwifery); part I, part II, part III, part V, part X, part XIII, or part XIV of chapter 468 (speech-language pathology, nursing home administration, occupational therapy, respiratory therapy, dietetics and nutrition practice, athletic trainers, orthotics, prosthetics, and pedorthics); chapter 478 (electrolysis); chapter 480 (massage therapy); part I, part II, or part III of chapter 483 (clinical laboratory personnel, medical physicists, genetic counseling); chapter 484 (dispensing of optical devices and hearing aids); chapter 486 (physical therapy practice); chapter 490 (psychological services); or chapter 491 (clinical, counseling, and psychotherapy).

records, performance of complex or multiple procedures, informed consent, and policy and procedure manuals.[12]

The Practice of Nursing

The scope of practice of nursing varies based on the type of education, training, and nursing licensure held by the health care practitioner.

Licensed Practical Nurse (LPN)

An LPN may perform selected acts, including:
- The administration of treatments and medications;
- The promotion of wellness, maintenance of health, and prevention of illness of others under the direction of a registered nurse, a licensed physician, a licensed osteopathic physician, a licensed podiatric physician, or a licensed dentist; and
- The teaching of general principles of health and wellness to the public and students other than nursing students.[13]

Qualifications and training for licensure for an LPN, in accordance with s. 464.003, F.S., includes the following minimum education qualifications and exam requirements, with noted alternative methods to meet requirements:
- Graduation from a Florida approved, or accredited LPN nursing education program as defined in s. 464.003, F.S.;
- Graduation from an Accreditation Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN) or Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education (CCNE) accredited LPN nursing program that has been issued a National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX) code by the National Council of State Boards of Nursing (NCSBN);
- Graduation from an LPN nursing education program that is approved or recognized by the jurisdiction in which it is based and that has been issued an NCLEX code by the NCBSN;
- Graduation from a military nursing education program that has been issued an NCLEX code by NCSBN;
- Graduation from a non-NCSBN jurisdiction (e.g. Puerto Rico), or international nursing education program that the Board of Nursing (BON) determines to be equivalent to an approved program; or
- Successful completion of courses in a registered nursing education program that are equivalent to a practical nursing education program – Practical Nurse Examination based on practical nursing Equivalency (PNEQ).

An LPN may also qualify for licensure in Florida by meeting endorsement qualifications (holding a valid license in another state and meeting other minimum qualifications) or by Nurse Licensure Compact.

All nursing programs requesting Board of Nursing approval must conform to the state Department of Education curriculum framework. Required content of a practical nursing [12] Section 458.331(1)(v), F.S.

[13] Section 464.003(18), F.S.

program must cover medical, surgical, obstetrical, pediatric, geriatric, acute care in long term care and community settings; personal, family, and community health concepts; nutrition; human growth and development; body structure and function; interpersonal relationship skills; mental health concepts; pharmacology and medication administration; and legal aspects of nursing. Additionally, the curriculum must include at least 50% clinical training.[14]

Certified Nursing Assistant (CNA)

A CNA may provide care and assistance to persons with tasks related to activities of daily living. These tasks include personal care, maintaining mobility, nutrition and hydration, toileting and elimination, assistive devices, safety and cleanliness, data gathering, reporting abnormal signs and symptoms, postmortem care, patient socialization and reality orientation, end-of-life care, cardiopulmonary resuscitation and emergency care, residents' or patients' rights, and documentation of nursing-assistant services. Other tasks may be performed upon completion of training beyond the minimum qualifications for initial certification and upon validation of competence in that skill by an RN.[15]

Qualifications and training for licensure for a CNA, in accordance with s. 464.203, F.S., include the following education qualifications and exam requirements, with noted alternative methods to meet requirements.

- Successfully complete an approved training program and a minimum score on the nursing assistant competency examination;
- Achieve a minimum score, established by rule of the board, on the nursing assistant competency examination, and have a high school diploma, or its equivalent; or is at least 18 years of age;
- Complete curriculum developed under the Enterprise Florida Jobs and Education Partnership Grant and a minimum score on the nursing assistant competency examination; or
- Qualify for licensure by endorsement if currently certified in another state or territory of the U.S. or District of Columbia and successfully complete criminal history and discipline history requirements.

The CNA Examination must consist of a written exam and a clinical skills test. Both must be passed within a two-year period in order to achieve certification. General areas of competency of the written exam include: the role of the nursing assistant; promotion of safety; promotion of function and health of patients; and basic and specific nursing care for patients with changes in health. For the written exam, the BON accepts a minimum passing score of 76 percent.[16]

The CNA clinical skills exam includes four test areas: personal care, promotion of function, health and safety; reporting and recording; and hand washing. If an applicant fails to pass the CNA competency examination three times, the applicant is not eligible for reexamination unless the applicant completes an approved training program.[17]

Emergency Medical Services (EMS)

The Legislature created ch. 401, F.S., in 1973 to establish a statewide organized and regulated system of regional EMS providers with two major objectives:

- To develop a statewide system of emergency medical telecommunications to maximize the use of existing radio channels to provide faster and more effective EMS to the general population;[18] and
- To protect and enhance public health, safety, and welfare with the establishment of a statewide EMS plan to:
  - Monitor the quality of patient care delivered by each licensed service;
  - Certify EMS personnel;
  - Create an EMS advisory council;
  - Develop a comprehensive statewide injury-prevention program; and
  - Develop minimum standards for EMS providers, personnel, vehicles, services, medical direction, and inspections.[19]

The Legislature further created the Florida Emergency Medical Services Grant Act.[20] This law authorizes the DOH to make grants to local agencies, EMS organizations, and youth athletic organizations to provide EMS, including emergency medical dispatch, and work with local EMS organizations to expand the use of automated external defibrillator (AED) devices.[21]

Emergency Medical Service Providers

Entities that provide prehospital or interfacility advanced life support (ALS) services or basic life support (BLS) transportation services must be licensed as a BLS service or an ALS service, or both.[22]

Emergency Medical Technician (EMT)

An EMT is certified by the DOH to perform BLS techniques.[23] BLS techniques include treatment of medical emergencies by a certified EMT qualified in the use of techniques of patient assessment, CPR, splinting, obstetrical assistance, bandaging, administration of oxygen, application of medical anti-shock trousers, administration of a subcutaneous injection using an auto-injector of epinephrine for an anaphylactic reaction, and other techniques described in the U.S. DOT, EMT Basic Training Course Curriculum (EMT-BTCC).[24]

Qualifications and training for an EMT, in accordance with s. 401.27, F.S., include the following minimum requirements:

- Out of state or military applicants trained in accordance with either the 1994 U.S. DOT EMT-Basic National Standard Curriculum or the January 2009 U.S. DOT National EMS

Education Standards and who currently hold a valid EMT certification from the National Registry of Emergency Medical Technicians (NR-EMT);
- Completion of an emergency medical technician training course equivalent to the most recent emergency medical technician basic training course of the U.S. DOT, within one year after course completion have passed an examination for an emergency medical technician, and hold either a current American Heart Association cardiopulmonary resuscitation course card or an American Red Cross cardiopulmonary resuscitation course card or its equivalent.

To be eligible for an EMT certification in Florida, an applicant must:
- Submit a completed application;
- Submit proof to the Certification Unit of meeting required professional education in one of the following ways:
  - Florida Trained – Successful completion of EMT course from a DOH approved program within two years of passing the examination;
  - Out-of-State Trained – Submit proof of current NR-EMT certification;
  - Florida Paramedic Certification. A Florida certified paramedic may use his or her paramedic certificate, provided it is current and in good standing, to satisfy professional education requirements for certification as an EMT; or
  - If the applicant was initially trained in Florida, received a Florida EMT certification, but did not maintain certification, the applicant may apply by Out of State Certification and submit a copy of either:
    - An American Red Cross CPR for Professional Rescuer card; or
    - An American Heart Association BLS for the Healthcare Provider.

Paramedic

A certified paramedic may perform both BLS and ALS.[25] ALS includes the assessment or treatment by a certified paramedic qualified in the use of techniques such as endotracheal intubation, the administration of drugs or intravenous fluids, telemetry, cardiac monitoring, cardiac defibrillation, and other techniques described in the EMT-Paramedic National Standard Curriculum or the National EMS Education Standards, pursuant to DOH administrative rules.[26]

A member of the U.S. Armed Forces, on active duty, who at the time he or she became a member, was in good standing with the DOH, and certified to practice as an EMT or paramedic in Florida remains in good standing without registering, paying dues or fees, or performing any other act, as long as he or she is an active duty member of the U.S. Armed Forces, and for a period of six months after discharge from active duty.[27]

Protection of the public is incumbent upon the accurate determination that a health care professional is qualified to practice the health care profession for which they are seeking licensure. Florida statutes delineate minimum qualifications for each license based on the profession and the associated scope of practice. However, all professions have the same general categories of requirements for licensure, including:

[25] Section 401.23(17), F.S.
[26] Section 401.23(1), F.S.
[27] Section 401.271, F.S.

- Minimum educational requirements, which may also encompass an internship program or residency training.
- Successful examination completion. Most health care professions require successful completion of a national examination to demonstrate competency.
- Criminal history evaluation. All applicants are required to disclose prior criminal history, and professions identified in s. 456.0135, F.S., require electronic fingerprint submission. Certain criminal activity reflected in the history may preclude licensure.
- Disciplinary history evaluation. Disciplinary history evaluation includes all prior licensure in any profession in any jurisdiction. Certain types of discipline may preclude licensure.
- Health history evaluation. Applicants are required to disclose health history, including evidence of impairment. Boards evaluate the disclosure to determine if the applicant is safe to practice prior to making a final licensure determination.

To be eligible for a paramedic certification in Florida, an applicant must:
- Submit a completed application;
- Possess a high school diploma or GED;
- Submit proof to the Certification Unit of meeting the required professional education in one of the following ways:
  - Florida Trained - Successful completion of a paramedic course from an approved program within two years of passing the examination;
  - Out of State Certification – Proof of current NR-EMT certification; or
  - Health Professional Licensure – A Florida licensed physician, physician assistant, dentist, or registered nurse may apply for certification as a paramedic and subsequently challenge the paramedic exam, provided he or she holds a Florida EMT certificate which is current, in good standing, and has successfully completed an advance cardiac life support course.[28]

The Florida Department of Education

The Department of Education (DOE) serves as the single repository of education data from school districts, state and community colleges, universities, and independent postsecondary institutions, allowing the DOE to track student performance over time and across varying education sectors. The DOE administers a statewide reading initiative for Florida's public schools, and among community groups and volunteer organizations that support them, with a goal of having every child able to read at or above grade level; and serves approximately 2.8 million students, 4,400 public schools, 28 colleges, 202,500 instructional staff, 46,000 college professors and administrators, and 340,000 full-time staff throughout the state, the DOE enhances the economic self-sufficiency of Floridians through programs and services geared toward college, workforce education, apprenticeships, job-specific skills, and career development.

The Articulation Coordination Committee

In 1996, the Articulation Coordinating Committee (ACC) directed an effort to establish a list of common prerequisite courses for every university degree program. Specifically, s. 1007.25(5), F.S., directs the DOE to "identify common prerequisite courses and course substitutions for degree programs across all institutions." These common degree program prerequisites must be offered and accepted by all state universities and community colleges, except in cases approved by the State Board of Education (SBE) and the Board of Governors (BOG). The statute also directs the department to develop a centralized database containing the list of approved courses and courses substitutions that meet the prerequisite requirements for each baccalaureate degree program. Required completion of common prerequisites is further addressed in SBE Rule 6A-10.024 and BOG Articulation Regulation.

The mission of the Office of Articulation is to facilitate the effective and efficient progression and transfer of students through Florida's K-20 education system. Through the work of the ACC, a K-20 advisory body appointed by the Commissioner of Education, the office coordinates ways to help students move easily from institution to institution and from one level of education to the next.

The ACC serves as an advisory board to the SBE and the BOG on postsecondary transition issues. The committee provides a unique K-20 forum for cross-sector collaboration that informs the policy decisions of the SBE and the BOG regarding the implementation of the statewide articulation agreement. The ACC reports to the commissioner and comprises of the following members: two members each representing the State University System (SUS), the Florida College System (FCS), public career and technical education, public K-12 education, and non-public education, and one member representing students.

The ACC is responsible for reviewing and monitoring the different components of Florida's articulation system and making policy recommendations to facilitate seamless articulation between and among public schools, career and technical education centers, FCS institutions, state universities, and nonpublic postsecondary institutions. For instance, the ACC annually reviews statewide articulation agreements as well as the statewide course numbering system, the levels of courses, and the application of transfer credit requirements among public and non-public institutions participating in the statewide course numbering system.

Section 1007.096, F.S., requires the BOG, in consultation with the Florida Department of Veterans' Affairs, to adopt regulations, and the SBE to adopt rules that create a process that enables eligible servicemembers or veterans of the United States Armed Forces to earn uniform postsecondary credit across all Florida public postsecondary educational institutions for college-level training and education acquired in the military. The regulations and rules must include procedures for credential evaluation and the uniform award of postsecondary credit or career education clock hours, including, but not limited to, equivalency and alignment of military coursework with appropriate postsecondary courses and course descriptions.

The ACC is responsible for developing a process for determining postsecondary course equivalencies and the minimum postsecondary credit or career education clock hours that must be awarded for courses taken and occupations held by individuals during their service in the military.

The ACC workgroup is composed of the following 13 members who establish a process for prioritizing and determining postsecondary course equivalencies and the minimum postsecondary credit or career education clock hours that must be awarded for courses taken and occupations held by individuals during their service in the military. The workgroup then provides recommendations to the BOG and the SBE for approval at the next meeting of each board to allow for adequate public notice. Upon approval of the workgroup's recommendations by the BOG and the SBE, the ACC facilitates the review of courses taken and occupations held by individuals during their service in the military for postsecondary course equivalencies and the minimum postsecondary credit or career education clock hours that must be awarded in accordance with the approved process.

Within one year after approval of the workgroup's recommendations by the BOG and the SBE, the ACC must approve a prioritized list of postsecondary course equivalencies and the minimum postsecondary credit or career education clock hours that must be awarded for courses taken and occupations held by individuals during their service in the military. The list must be updated annually. The BOG and the SBE must timely adopt the list approved by the ACC at the next meeting of each board to allow for adequate public notice. The postsecondary course equivalencies and the minimum postsecondary credit or career education clock hours must be awarded for courses taken and occupations held by individuals during their service in the military as delineated by the SBE and the BOG in the statewide articulation agreement

State universities, Florida College System institutions, and career centers must award postsecondary credit or career education clock hours for courses taken and occupations held by individuals during their service in the military based on the list adopted by the BOG and the SBE if the credit or career education clock hours are applicable toward the student's degree or certificate. Institutions may award additional postsecondary credit or career education clock hours if appropriate. Credit or career education clock hours awarded in accordance with minimum postsecondary credit and clock hour require.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Military Corpsmen and Medics Program of Florida

Program Purpose

The bill creates the Military Corpsmen and Medics Program of Florida (MCMF program) within the Department of Health (DOH) to assist military-trained veterans and their spouses in identifying and applying for health care and health care-related employment and licensure, and identifying educational and training opportunities.

Definitions

A military-trained veteran is a person who:

- Has served within the preceding consecutive 12 months as an Army Combat Medic Specialist, Air Force or Space Force Aerospace Medical Service Technician, Navy or Fleet Marine Force Hospital Corpsman, or Coast Guard Health Services Technician;
- Was discharged or separated from military service under conditions other than dishonorable or upgraded to an honorable discharge;

A participating health care provider is:
- A physician licensed under chs. 458, or 459, F.S.;
- A professional corporation or partnership of a licensed physicians licensed under ch. 458 or ch. 459, F.S.;
- A hospital or ambulatory surgical center licensed under ch. 395, F.S.;
- An office registered under s. 458.328 or s. 459.0138, F.S;
- A company with a medical facility for its employees which is supervised by at least one licensed physician; or
- A facility licensed under ch. 395, F.S., which offers medical services to the public and is supervised by at least one licensed physician.

A veteran as referenced in the bill means a former member of the Florida National Guard who was discharged or separated from service under conditions other than dishonorable or upgraded to an honorable discharge, or as the term "veteran" is defined in s. 1.01(14), F.S., which means a person who served in the active military, naval, or air service and who was honorably discharged or released or who later received an upgraded discharge.

Program Components

The bill requires the DOH to establish the MCMF Program Office of Veterans Advocacy (MCMF office) to provide information, guidance, and assistance with the licensure application process or with expedited licensure to military trained health care veterans and their spouses.

The MCMF office must be headed by a MCMF Program Veterans' Advocate (MCMF advocate) who has an understanding of the practice requirements of the DOH recognized licensed occupations and professions, and certain military training and educational opportunities. The MCMF advocate must collaborate with the United States Department of Defense, The Department of Veterans ' Affairs, the DEO, Florida is for Veterans, Inc., the Department of Education, and other stakeholders to further the mission of the program.

The MCMF advocate duties include, but are not limited to the following, as they relate to military trained health care veterans and their spouses:
- Provide information, guidance, direction, and assistance, as appropriate, with health care or health care related licensure applications or with expedited licensing requirements;
- Provide information on statewide educational and training opportunities and resources;
- Provide information on education and training required to obtain a license in a health care or health care-related field; and
- Provide information on the expedited state licensure qualifications for certain health care fields.

The MCMF office must refer veterans and their spouses to the Department of Economic Opportunity (DEO) for assistance in resume writing and proofreading, job application completion, and interviewing skills and techniques.

Additional Assistance for Veterans and their Spouses

Veterans who do not meet definition of the term "military-trained health care veteran" but who served in a health care related field may receive assistance from the MCMF program through the DEO in resume writing, mentorship, and obtaining employment with participating health care providers.

The MCMF Program through the Department of Economic Opportunity shall assist veterans and their spouses who have gained management experience or have completed an advanced degree in finding civilian health care leadership and management employment opportunities in a variety of health care and health care-related disciplines.

The bill grants rulemaking authority to the DOH to implement the provisions of the bill.

Florida is for Veterans, Inc.

The bill amends s. 295.22, F.S., to require Florida is for Veterans, Inc. (FIFVs), to collaborate with the DOH to implement the MCMF program, in coordination with the DEO and MCMF office. Specifically, FIFVs is required to:

- Recruit, establish, and maintain a statewide list of participating health care providers who agree to employ qualified veterans.
- Assist participating health care providers in recruiting and hiring military-trained health care veterans and their spouses.
- Provide assistance and mentorship in resume writing and proof reading, interview training, and application assistance to military-trained veterans and their spouses. FIFV is authorized to coordinate with the Department of Economic Opportunity (DEO) to make referrals for such assistance.
- Assist certified military-trained veterans and their spouses in identifying participating health care providers for potential employment.
- Assist military-trained veterans and their spouses, who have gained management experience or have an advanced degree, in finding civilian healthcare leadership and management employment.

Department of Education

The bill creates s. 1004.0963, F.S., authorizing the Board of Governors (BOG) and the State Board of Education (SBE) to create a process that enables military-trained health care veterans to earn uniform postsecondary educational credit for college-level education and training acquired while in the military.

The bill requires the Articulation Coordinating Committee to convene a workgroup by July 15, 2023, to develop a process for determining postsecondary educational course equivalencies and minimum educational credit or career education and academic and clinical clock hours that may be awarded for courses taken and occupations held during military service. The Articulation Coordinating Committee must approve a prioritized list of such equivalencies, based on the recommendations made by the workgroup, and the list must be updated on an annual basis. The bill authorizes the Articulation Coordinating Committee to form a subcommittee for carry out the duties as they relate to the bill.

The office of K-20 Articulation must provide administrative support to the workgroup. The workgroup must be composed of the following 10 members:

- The chair of the Articulation Coordinating Committee;
- One member, appointed by the BOG, representing academic affairs administrators and faculty with expertise in health care.
- One member, appointed by the SBE, representing academic affairs administrators and faculty with expertise in health care.
- One member, appointed by the SBE, representing faculty from career centers with expertise in health care.
- Two members, appointed the Executive Director of the Florida Department of Veteran Affairs, representing veterans familiar with military educational training.
- Four faculty members, appointed by the DOH, representing health care professions.

The list of approved educational course equivalencies and educational credit for courses taken and occupations held during military service must be delineated in the statewide articulation agreement. State universities, Florida College System Institutions, career centers, training schools, and training programs must award postsecondary education credit and career education and academic and clinical clock hours for certain courses taken and training received during military service.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2022.

3. A hospital or ambulatory surgical center licensed under chapter 395;

4. An office registered under s. 458.328 or s. 459.0138;

5. A commercial enterprise having medical facilities for its employees which are supervised by one or more physicians licensed under chapter 458 or osteopathic physicians licensed under chapter 459; or

6. A facility licensed under chapter 395 which offers medical services to the public and is supervised by one or more physicians licensed under chapter 458 or osteopathic physicians licensed under chapter 459.

(e) "Veteran" has the same meaning as in s. 1.01(14) and includes a former member of the Florida National Guard who was discharged or separated from service under conditions other than dishonorable or upgraded to an honorable discharge.

(3) ESTABLISHMENT.—The department, in collaboration with the Department of Veterans' Affairs, Florida Is For Veterans, Inc., and the Department of Economic Opportunity, may establish and administer the Military Corpsmen and Medics of Florida (MCMF) Program.

(4) PURPOSES.—The purposes of the MCMF Program include, but are not limited to, the following:

(a) Assisting military-trained health care veterans and their spouses in identifying and applying for health care-related employment and health care licensure and to connect veterans who have military health care training and who are seeking employment in health care fields with health care organizations seeking to hire dedicated, well-trained workers.

(b) Meeting the health care workforce demands of this state by facilitating access to training and education in health care and health care-related fields for veterans and their spouses and to promote the health care licensing programs provided by the state.

(c) Assisting military-trained health care veterans and their spouses in identifying health care and health care-related industries, occupations, and professions within this state which they may be immediately qualified to apply for, or apply for licensure for, based on previous civilian or military health care training.

(d) Assisting military-trained health care veterans and their spouses in identifying health care and health care-related education and training programs within this state which will recognize veterans' and their spouses' medical skills and allow such veterans and spouses to build on those skills in order to gain employment and work toward obtaining appropriate health care license as that term is defined in s 456.001(5).

(e) Assisting military-trained health care veterans and their spouses in identifying and applying for health care and health care-related employment and licensure programs.

(f) Meeting the health care workforce demands of this state by facilitating access to training and education in health care and health care-related fields and promoting health care licensing programs provided in this state.

(g) Assisting military-trained health care veterans and their spouses with licensure under ss. 456.024 and 456.0241, if applicable.

(5) PROGRAM COMPONENTS.—The MCMF Program shall consist of the following components:

501066

(a) The MCMF Program Office of Veterans Advocacy within the Department of Health.—

1. There is created within the department the MCMF Program Office of Veterans Advocacy.

2. The MCMF Program Office of Veterans Advocacy shall be headed by a MCMF Program Veterans' Advocate, who shall serve on a full-time basis and shall carry out its purposes and functions in accordance with state and federal law.

3. The MCMF Program Veterans' Advocate shall be designated by the department and must manage the development and maintenance of the program through ongoing collaboration with the United States Department of Defense, the Department of Veterans' Affairs, the Department of Economic Opportunity, Florida Is For Veterans, Inc., the Department of Education, and any other identified stakeholders to further the mission of the program.

4. The MCMF Program Veterans' Advocate must possess significant advocacy skills and an understanding of the following:

a. The Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery (ASVAB);

or her spouse needs guidance, direction, and assistance.

d. Referring any requests to the Department of Economic Opportunity to assist military-trained health care veterans and their spouses in resume writing and proofreading, job application completion, and interviewing skills and techniques.

(b) No veteran left behind.—Veterans who do not meet the definition of the term "military-trained health care veteran" but who have served in health care-related fields shall receive assistance from the MCMF Program through the Department of Economic Opportunity in resume writing, mentorship, and obtaining employment with participating health care providers.

(c) Health care leadership.—The MCMF Program through the Department of Economic Opportunity shall assist veterans and their spouses who have gained management experience or have completed an advanced degree in finding civilian health care leadership and management employment opportunities in a variety of health care and health care-related disciplines.

(d) Promote participating health care providers.—Florida Is For Veterans, Inc., in coordination with the Department of Economic Opportunity, the Department of Health, and the MCMF Program Office of Veterans Advocacy, shall work to fulfill the MCMF Program purposes as set forth in s. 295.126(2) and to recruit, establish, and maintain a statewide list of the MCMF Program participating health care providers as defined in s. 295.126(2)(d) which it will make available to the department, the MCMF Program Office, and veterans and their spouses upon request.

trained health care veterans and their spouses.

(7) RULEMAKING AUTHORITY.—The department may adopt rules pursuant to ss. 120.536(1) and 120.54 to implement this section.

Section 2. Paragraph (g) is added to subsection (3) of section 295.22, Florida Statutes, to read:

295.22 Veterans Employment and Training Services Program.—

(3) ADMINISTRATION.—Florida Is For Veterans, Inc., shall administer the Veterans Employment and Training Services Program and perform all of the following functions:

(g) Collaborate with the Department of Health to implement the Military Corpsmen and Medics of Florida (MCMF) Program, in coordination with the Department of Economic Opportunity and the MCMF Program Office of Veterans Advocacy, to assist in fulfilling the purposes of the MCMF Program as set forth in s. 295.126(4). The corporation shall:

1. Recruit, establish, and maintain a statewide list, by geographical area, of MCMF Program participating health care providers as defined in s. 295.126(2)(d) in furtherance of the Legislature's intent to provide preference, priority, and available waivers to military-trained health care veterans and their spouses for certain educational requirements in hiring practices set forth in ss. 295.065, 295.07, 295.08, and 295.085. Participating health care providers shall agree to employ the MCMF Program participants, and Florida Is For Veterans, Inc., shall make the list available to military-trained health care veterans and their spouses upon request.

2. Assist participating health care providers in recruiting and hiring military-trained health care veterans and their spouses by connecting them with suitable applicants for employment.

3. Provide, through the Department of Economic Opportunity or the United States Department of Defense's SkillBridge program, instruction and proofreading for resume writing, training in interviewing skills, and assistance with application completion to military-trained health care veterans and their spouses.

4. Provide, through the Department of Economic Opportunity or the United States Department of Defense's SkillBridge program, mentorship services, including, but not limited to, tutoring in interviewing skills and techniques, to assist in obtaining employment with participating health care providers.

5. Assist the MCMF Program military-trained health care veterans and their spouses who hold an MCMF Military Apprentice License Health Care Certificate in identifying participating health care providers for potential employment, including providing assistance with resume writing, application completion, and interviewing skills.

6. Assist the MCMF Program military-trained health care veterans and their spouses, who have gained management experience or have completed an advanced degree in finding civilian health care leadership and management employment in a variety of health care and health care-related disciplines.

7. The Department of Economic Opportunity may adopt rules pursuant to ss. 120.536(1) and 120.54 to implement this section.

Section 3. Section 1004.0963, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

1004.0963 Postsecondary credit for health care and health care-related military training and education courses.—

(1) In consultation with the Department of Veterans' Affairs and the Department of Health, the Board of Governors shall adopt regulations, and the State Board of Education shall adopt rules, to create a process that enables eligible military-trained health care veterans as defined in s. 295.126(2)(c) to earn uniform postsecondary educational credit across all Florida public or private postsecondary educational institutions for college-level education and training acquired while serving in the military. The regulations and rules must include procedures for credential evaluation and the uniform award of postsecondary educational credit and career education academic and clinical clock hours, including, but not limited to, equivalency and alignment of military coursework with appropriate postsecondary educational courses and course descriptions. The regulations and rules must provide for procedures to develop systematically coordinated educational course equivalencies to be set out in the statewide articulation agreement required by s. 1007.23(1) which enable eligible military-trained health care veterans as defined in s. 295.126(2)(c) to earn uniform educational course credit and uniform academic and clinical clock hours across all Florida public colleges, universities, training schools, and training programs for the education and training acquired in the military.

(2) The Health Care Articulation Coordinating Committee shall convene a workgroup by July 15, 2023, which is responsible for developing a process for determining postsecondary educational course equivalencies and the minimum postsecondary educational credit for career education and academic or clinical clock hours which must be awarded for courses taken and occupations held by individuals during their service in the military.

(a) The workgroup shall be composed of the following members:

1. The chair of the Health Care Articulation Coordinating Committee or his or her designee, who shall serve as chair.

2. One member representing academic affairs administrators and faculty from state universities with expertise in health care and health care-related industries, occupations, and professions, appointed by the chair of the Board of Governors.

3. One member representing academic affairs administrators and faculty from Florida College System institutions with expertise in health care and health care-related industries, occupations, and professions, appointed by the chair of the State Board of Education.

4. One member representing faculty from career centers with expertise in health care and health care-related industries, occupations, and professions, appointed by the State Board of Education.

5. Two members representing veterans familiar with the Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery (ASVAB); the Armed Forces Qualification Test (AFQT); the Military Occupational Code (MOC) categories; and the training received by veterans in various MOC categories, appointed by the executive director of the Department of Veterans' Affairs.

6. Four faculty members appointed by the appropriate Department of Health boards, or by the department if there is no board, to represent public and private colleges, universities, training schools, and training programs of this state which train emergency medical technicians, opticians, paramedics, licensed practical nurses, registered nurses, and radiologic technologists, or other health care or health care-related industries, occupations, or professions as deemed appropriate by the department.

(b) The Office of K-20 Articulation shall provide administrative support for the workgroup.

(c) The workgroup shall establish a process for prioritizing and determining postsecondary educational course equivalencies and the minimum postsecondary educational credit or career education and academic and clinical clock hours that must be awarded for courses taken and training received for occupations performed by individuals during their service in the military. The workgroup shall provide recommendations to the Board of Governors and the State Board of Education by December 1, 2024, for approval at the next meeting of each board to allow for adequate public notice.

(d) Upon approval of the workgroup's recommendations, the Health Care Articulation Coordinating Committee must facilitate the review of courses taken and occupations held by individuals during their service in the military for postsecondary educational course equivalencies and the minimum postsecondary educational credit or career education and academic or clinical clock hours that must be awarded in accordance with the approved process.

(e) Within 1 year after approval of the workgroup's recommendations, the Health Care Articulation Coordinating Committee must approve a prioritized list of systematically coordinated postsecondary educational course equivalencies and the minimum postsecondary educational credit for military career education and training and academic and clinical clock hours that must be awarded for courses taken and occupations held by individuals during their service in the military. The list must be updated annually. The Board of Governors, the Department of Health boards or the department if there is no board, and the State Board of Education must timely adopt the list approved by the Health Care Articulation Coordinating Committee at the next meeting of each board to allow for adequate public notice. For the purpose of statewide application, postsecondary educational course equivalencies and the minimum postsecondary educational credit, career education, and academic and clinical clock hours that must be awarded for courses taken and the training received for occupations performed by individuals during service in the military must be delineated by the State Board of Education and the Board of Governors in the statewide articulation agreement required by s. 1007.23(1).

(f) State universities, Florida College System institutions, career centers, training schools, and training programs must award postsecondary educational credit and academic and clinical clock hours for courses taken and training received for occupations performed by individuals during service in the military based on the list adopted by the Board of Governors, the State Board of Education, and the Department of Health boards, or the department if there is no board, pursuant to paragraph (e) if the educational credit or career education and academic or clinical clock hours can be applied toward the student’s degree or certificate.

(g) Institutions may award additional postsecondary educational credit and academic and clinical clock hours, if appropriate. Educational credit or academic and clinical clock hours awarded in accordance with minimum postsecondary educational credit and academic or clinical clock hour requirements, respectively, are guaranteed to transfer to other state universities, Florida College System institutions, career centers, training schools, and training programs.

Section 4. This act shall take effect July 1, 2022.

The Committee on Appropriations (Torres) recommended the following:

Senate Substitute for Amendment (501066) (with title amendment)

Delete everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. Section 295.126, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

295.126 Military Corpsmen and Medics of Florida (MCMF) Program.—

(1) LEGISLATIVE INTENT.—It is the intent of the Legislature

to assist military-trained health care veterans and their spouses in finding employment in this state's health care and health care-related industries, occupations, and professions as they transition to civilian life and to offer educational credit to military-trained health care veterans for their service in the United States military, to be applied toward the education and training required in this state to attain a health care or health care-related license to enter a health care or health care-related industry, occupation, or profession in this state.

(2) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Department" means the Department of Health.

(b) "License" has the same meaning as in s. 456.001(5).

(c) "Military-trained health care veteran" means a person who:

1. Has served within the preceding consecutive 12 months as an Army Combat Medic Specialist, a Navy or Fleet Marine Force Hospital Corpsman, an Air Force or Space Force Aerospace Medical Service Technician, or a Coast Guard Health Services Technician, or in other military positions similar to civilian X-ray technicians, dental assistants, medical assistants, or phlebotomists; and

2. Was discharged or separated from military service under conditions other than dishonorable or upgraded to an honorable discharge.

(d) "Participating health care provider" means:

1. A physician licensed under chapter 458 or an osteopathic physician licensed under chapter 459;

2. A professional corporation or partnership of physicians licensed under chapter 458 or osteopathic physicians licensed under chapter 459;

3. A hospital or ambulatory surgical center licensed under chapter 395;

4. An office registered under s. 458.328 or s. 459.0138;

5. A commercial enterprise having medical facilities for its employees which are supervised by one or more physicians licensed under chapter 458 or osteopathic physicians licensed under chapter 459; or

6. A facility licensed under chapter 395 which offers medical services to the public and is supervised by one or more physicians licensed under chapter 458 or osteopathic physicians licensed under chapter 459.

(e) "Veteran" has the same meaning as in s. 1.01(14) and includes a former member of the Florida National Guard who was discharged or separated from service under conditions other than dishonorable or upgraded to an honorable discharge.

(3) ESTABLISHMENT.—The department, in collaboration with the Department of Veterans' Affairs, Florida Is For Veterans, Inc., and the Department of Economic Opportunity, shall establish and administer the Military Corpsmen and Medics of Florida (MCMF) Program.

(4) PURPOSES.—The purposes of the MCMF Program include, but are not limited to, the following:

(a) Assisting military-trained health care veterans and their spouses in identifying and applying for health care-related employment and health care licensure and to connect veterans who have military health care training and who are seeking employment in health care fields with health care organizations seeking to hire dedicated, well-trained workers.

(b) Meeting the health care workforce demands of this state by facilitating access to training and education in health care and health care-related fields for veterans and their spouses and to promote the health care licensing programs provided by the state.

(c) Assisting military-trained health care veterans and their spouses in identifying health care and health care-related industries, occupations, and professions within this state for which they may be immediately qualified to apply or apply for licensure based on previous civilian or military health care training.

(d) Assisting military-trained health care veterans and their spouses in identifying health care and health care-related education and training programs within this state which will recognize veterans' and their spouses' medical skills and allow such veterans and spouses to build on those skills in order to gain employment and work toward obtaining an appropriate health care license.

(e) Assisting military-trained health care veterans and their spouses with licensure under ss. 456.024 and 456.0241, if applicable.

(5) PROGRAM COMPONENTS.—The MCMF Program shall consist of the following components:

(a) Office of Veterans Advocacy.—

1. There is created within the department the MCMF Program Office of Veterans Advocacy.

2. The office shall be headed by a MCMF Program Veterans' Advocate, who shall serve on a full-time basis and shall carry out the purposes and functions of the office in accordance with state and federal law.

3. The department shall designate the MCMF Program Veterans' Advocate, who shall manage the development and maintenance of the program through ongoing collaboration with the United States Department of Defense, the Department of Veterans' Affairs, the Department of Economic Opportunity, Florida Is For Veterans, Inc., the Department of Education, and any other identified stakeholders to further the mission of the program.

4. The MCMF Program Veterans' Advocate must possess significant advocacy skills and an understanding of the following:

a. The Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery;

b. The Armed Forces Qualification Test;

c. The Military Occupational Code (MOC) categories;

d. The training received by veterans in various MOC categories; and

e. The practice requirements of the various comparable department-recognized, licensed occupations and professions.

5. The duties of the MCMF Program Veterans' Advocate include, but are not limited to, the following:

a. Providing information, guidance, direction, and assistance as needed with the licensure application process or with expedited licensing, as appropriate, to military-trained health care veterans and their spouses transitioning into civilian health care and health care-related industries, occupations, and professions;

b. Providing specific information, including available statewide educational and training opportunities and resources for which military-trained health care veterans and their spouses may immediately qualify, on the department's website and in pamphlet format;

c. Providing guidance, direction, and assistance as needed, including specific information on the department's website and in pamphlet format, for military-trained health care veterans and their spouses on additional education and training required to obtain licensure for health care and health care-related occupations and professions and whether such veterans and spouses may qualify for expedited state licensure in the following health care and health care-related occupations:

(I) Licensed registered or practical nurse under ss. 464.008, 464.009, 464.0095, and 456.024;

(II) Optician under s. 484.007;

(III) Certain radiological personnel under part IV of chapter 468;

(IV) Emergency medical technician under ss. 401.23(11) and 401.27;

(V) Paramedic under ss. 401.23(17) and 401.27; and

(VI) Any other health care license type for which the department finds a military-trained health care veteran or his or her spouse needs guidance, direction, and assistance.

d. Referring any requests to the Department of Economic Opportunity to assist military-trained health care veterans and their spouses in resume writing and proofreading, job application completion, and interviewing skills and techniques.

assistance from the MCMF Program through the Department of Economic Opportunity in resume writing and proofreading, mentorship, and obtaining employment with participating health care providers.

(c) Health care leadership.—The MCMF Program, through the Department of Economic Opportunity, shall assist veterans and their spouses who have gained management experience or have completed an advanced degree in finding civilian health care leadership and management employment opportunities in a variety of health care and health care-related disciplines.

(d) Promote participating health care providers.—Florida Is For Veterans, Inc., in coordination with the Department of Economic Opportunity, the Department of Health, and the MCMF Program Office of Veterans Advocacy, shall work to fulfill the purposes of the program and to recruit, establish, and maintain a statewide list of the MCMF Program participating health care providers which it shall make available to the department, the MCMF Program, and veterans and their spouses upon request.

(6) FEES.—The department shall waive all application fees, certificate fees, and unlicensed activity fees for military-trained health care veterans and their spouses.

(7) RULEMAKING AUTHORITY.—The department may adopt rules pursuant to ss. 120.536(1) and 120.54 to implement this section.

Section 2. Paragraph (g) is added to subsection (3) of section 295.22, Florida Statutes, to read:

295.22 Veterans Employment and Training Services Program.—

(3) ADMINISTRATION.—Florida Is For Veterans, Inc., shall administer the Veterans Employment and Training Services Program and perform all of the following functions:

(g) Assist the Department of Health in fulfilling the purposes of the Military Corpsmen and Medics of Florida (MCMF) Program as set forth in s. 295.126(4). The corporation shall:

1. Recruit health care providers to participate in the MCMF Program and establish and maintain a statewide list, by geographical area, of such participating health care providers as defined in s. 295.126(2) in furtherance of the Legislature's intent to provide preference, priority, and available waivers to military-trained health care veterans as defined in s. 295.126(2) and their spouses for certain educational requirements in the hiring practices set forth in ss. 295.065, 295.07, 295.08, and 295.085. Florida Is For Veterans, Inc., shall make the list available to military-trained health care veterans and their spouses upon request.

2. Assist participating health care providers in recruiting and hiring military-trained health care veterans and their spouses by connecting such health care providers with suitable applicants for employment.

3. Assist a military-trained health care veteran participating in the program, or the veteran's spouse, in identifying participating health care providers for potential employment, including providing assistance with resume writing and proofreading, application completion, and interviewing skills. Florida Is For Veterans, Inc., may consult and coordinate with the Department of Economic Opportunity to make referrals for such assistance.

4. Assist the MCMF Program military-trained health care veterans and their spouses who have gained management experience or have completed an advanced degree in finding civilian health care leadership and management employment in a variety of health care and health care-related disciplines. Florida Is For Veterans, Inc., may consult and coordinate with the Department of Economic Opportunity to make referrals for such assistance.

Section 3. Section 1004.0963, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

(1) As used in this section, the term "department boards" means any Department of Health board or the department if there is no board.

(2) In consultation with the Department of Veterans' Affairs and the Department of Health, the Board of Governors shall adopt regulations, and the State Board of Education shall adopt rules, to create a process that enables eligible military-trained health care veterans as defined in s. 295.126(2) to earn uniform postsecondary educational credit across all Florida public postsecondary educational institutions for college-level education and training acquired while serving in the military. The regulations and rules must include procedures for credential evaluation and the uniform award of postsecondary educational credit and career education academic and clinical clock hours, including, but not limited to, equivalency and alignment of military coursework with appropriate postsecondary educational courses and course descriptions. The regulations and rules must provide for procedures to develop systematically coordinated educational course equivalencies to be set out in the statewide articulation agreement required by s. 1007.23(1) which enable eligible military-trained health care veterans to earn uniform educational course credit and uniform academic and clinical clock hours across all Florida public colleges, universities, training schools, and training programs for education and training acquired in the military.

(3) The Articulation Coordinating Committee shall convene a workgroup by July 15, 2023, which is responsible for developing a process for determining postsecondary educational course equivalencies and the minimum postsecondary educational credit for career education and academic and clinical clock hours which must be awarded for courses taken and occupations performed by individuals during their service in the military.

(a) The workgroup shall be composed of the following members:

1. The chair of the Articulation Coordinating Committee or his or her designee, who shall serve as chair.

2. One member representing academic affairs administrators and faculty from state universities with expertise in health care and health care-related industries, occupations, and professions, appointed by the chair of the Board of Governors.

3. One member representing academic affairs administrators and faculty from Florida College System institutions with expertise in health care and health care-related industries, occupations, and professions, appointed by the chair of the State Board of Education.

4. One member representing faculty from career centers with expertise in health care and health care-related industries, occupations, and professions, appointed by the State Board of Education.

5. Two members representing veterans familiar with the Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery; the Armed Forces Qualification Test; the Military Occupational Code (MOC) categories; and the training received by veterans in various MOC categories, appointed by the executive director of the Department of Veterans' Affairs.

6. Four faculty members appointed by the appropriate department boards to represent state universities, Florida College System institutions, career centers, training schools, and training programs of this state which train emergency medical technicians, opticians, paramedics, licensed practical nurses, registered nurses, and radiologic technologists, or other health care or health care-related industries, occupations, or professions as deemed appropriate by the department.

(b) The Office of K-20 Articulation shall provide administrative support for the workgroup.

(c) The workgroup shall establish a process for prioritizing and determining postsecondary educational course equivalencies and the minimum postsecondary educational credit or career education and academic and clinical clock hours that must be awarded for courses taken and training received for occupations performed by individuals during their service in the military. The workgroup shall provide recommendations to the Board of Governors and the State Board of Education by December 1, 2024, for approval at the next meeting of each board to allow for adequate public notice.

(d) Upon approval of the workgroup's recommendations, the Articulation Coordinating Committee must facilitate the review of courses taken and occupations performed by individuals during their service in the military for postsecondary educational course equivalencies and the minimum postsecondary educational credit or career education and academic and clinical clock hours that must be awarded in accordance with the approved process.

(e) Within 1 year after approval of the workgroup's recommendations, the Articulation Coordinating Committee must approve a prioritized list of systematically coordinated postsecondary educational course equivalencies and the minimum postsecondary educational credit for military career education and training and academic and clinical clock hours that must be awarded for courses taken and occupations performed by individuals during their service in the military. The list must be updated annually. The Board of Governors, the department boards, and the State Board of Education must timely adopt the list approved by the Articulation Coordinating Committee at the next meeting of each board to allow for adequate public notice. For the purpose of statewide application, postsecondary educational course equivalencies and the minimum postsecondary educational credit, career education, and academic and clinical clock hours that must be awarded for courses taken and the training received for occupations performed by individuals during service in the military must be delineated by the State Board of Education and the Board of Governors in the statewide articulation agreement required by s. 1007.23(1).

(f) State universities, Florida College System institutions, career centers, training schools, and training programs must award postsecondary educational credit and academic and clinical clock hours for courses taken and training received for occupations performed by individuals during service in the military based on the list adopted by the Board of Governors, the State Board of Education, and the department boards pursuant to paragraph (e) if the educational credit or career education and academic and clinical clock hours can be applied toward the student's degree or certificate.

(g) Postsecondary institutions may award additional educational credit and academic and clinical clock hours, if appropriate. Educational credit or academic and clinical clock hours awarded in accordance with minimum postsecondary educational credit and academic and clinical clock hour requirements, respectively, are guaranteed to transfer to other state universities, Florida College System institutions, career centers, training schools, and training programs.

(h) The Articulation Coordinating Committee may form a subcommittee to carry out the committee's duties under this subsection.

Section 4. This act shall take effect July 1, 2022.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Section 295.126, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

295.126 Military Medics and Corpsmen of Florida (MMACOF) program.—

(1) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Department" means the Department of Health.

(b) "Military-trained health care veteran" means a person who:

1. Has served within the preceding consecutive 12 months as a medic in the United States Army, a medical technician in the United States Air Force, a hospital corpsman in the United States Navy, or a health services technician in the United States Coast Guard;

2. Was discharged or separated from military service under conditions other than dishonorable;

3. Has received "MMACOF Health Care Program Qualified" status from the department under paragraph (3)(a);

4. Is enrolled, on at least a half-time basis, in an approved and accredited Florida health care education and training program specific to the health care field for which the department has issued the veteran his or her "MMACOF Health Care Program Qualified" status; and

5. Has applied for and received approval from the department for the MMACOF Health Care Certification program.

(c) "Participating health care provider" means:

1. A physician licensed under chapter 458 or an osteopathic physician licensed under chapter 459;

2. A professional corporation or partnership of physicians licensed under chapter 458 or osteopathic physicians licensed under chapter 459;

3. A hospital or ambulatory surgical center licensed under chapter 395;

4. An office registered under s. 458.328 or s. 459.0138;

5. A commercial enterprise having medical facilities for its employees, which are supervised by one or more physicians licensed under chapter 458 or osteopathic physicians licensed under chapter 459; or

6. A facility licensed under chapter 395 which offers medical services to the public and is supervised by one or more physicians licensed under chapter 458 or osteopathic physicians licensed under chapter 459.

(d) "Veteran" has the same meaning as in s. 1.01(14) or means a former member of the Florida National Guard.

(2) PROGRAM ESTABLISHMENT AND PURPOSES.—The department, in collaboration with Florida Is For Veterans, Inc., may establish and administer the Military Medics and Corpsmen of Florida (MMACOF) program. The purpose of the program is to offer clinical, leadership, and nonclinical career pathways to veterans and their spouses seeking careers in health care or health care-related fields within this state.

(3) PROGRAM COMPONENTS.—The MMACOF program shall consist of the following components:

(a) MMACOF Health Care Certification program.—

1. Florida Is For Veterans, Inc., shall recruit and review the military eligibility of veterans according to the military requirements for acceptance into the MMACOF Health Care Certification program.

2. Florida Is For Veterans, Inc., shall assist each individual veteran in completing a department MMACOF Health Care Certification program application form, which must be developed by the department and each board, or the department if there is no board. The department shall waive the application fee, certificate fee, and unlicensed activity fee for such applicants.

3. The MMACOF Health Care Certification program application must include, but is not limited to, the following information:

a. The individual's civilian and military education; health care education and training; a list of practice skills regularly performed in the military during service as a medic in the United States Army, a medical technician in the United States Air Force, a hospital corpsman in the United States Navy, or a health services technician in the United States Coast Guard; and any other health care-related education or experience the individual has received as a civilian or as an active duty servicemember; and

b.(I) A disclosure by the MMACOF Health Care Certification program applicant stating whether he or she is currently enrolled, on at least a half-time basis, in an approved and accredited Florida health care education and training program for a specified health care practice area listed in subparagraph 6., and the status of that enrollment; or

(II) If the MMACOF Health Care Certification program applicant is not currently enrolled in an approved and accredited Florida health care education and training program, the applicant's preference for the health care practice area in which he or she seeks to pursue future education and training and, if known, which approved and accredited Florida health care education and training program he or she plans to enter under the MMACOF Health Care Certification program.

4. Florida Is For Veterans, Inc., shall recruit, establish, and maintain a statewide list of MMACOF Health Care Certification program participating health care providers. Participating health care providers must agree to employ unlicensed but military-trained health care veterans who hold an MMACOF Health Care Certificate in specific health care fields; are qualified to perform specific health care skills under the direct supervision of a licensed health care provider in the specific field, and are enrolled on at least a half-time basis in an approved and accredited Florida health care education and training program for the health care field specified on the veteran's MMACOF Health Care Certificate.

5. Florida Is For Veterans, Inc., shall assist veterans who hold an MMACOF Health Care Certificate in identifying participating health care providers for potential employment, including providing assistance with resume writing, application completion, and interviewing skills.

6. The Board of Medicine shall review, in consultation with any other professional board it deems appropriate, each veteran's individual MMACOF Health Care Certification program application and, based on criteria set forth in board rule, shall determine within 30 days in which of the following health care practice areas the individual veteran is eligible to practice under the direct supervision of a health care practitioner, as defined by the specific profession's practice act, while the veteran is enrolled on at least a half-time basis in an approved and accredited Florida health care education and training program for one of the following practice areas:

a. Certified nursing assistant;

b. Dental assistant;

c. Dental hygienist;

d. Emergency medical technologist;

e. Licensed practical nurse;

f. Laboratory technologist;

g. Medical assistant;

h. Optician;

i. Physician assistant;

j. Occupational therapy assistant;

k. Radiologic technologist;

l. Registered nurse;

m. Respiratory care or therapy technician;

n. Paramedic;

o. Pharmacy technician;

p. Physical therapist assistant; or

q. Physical therapist.

7. The Board of Medicine shall delineate the practice skills that the military-trained health care veteran is permitted to perform under the direct supervision of a licensed health care practitioner in the field in which the veteran is to practice.

8. Once the Board of Medicine has determined from the information submitted by the MMACOF Health Care Certification program applicant that he or she has sufficient civilian or military health care education and training in one or more health care practice areas set out in subparagraph 6., the veteran's application shall be given "MMACOF Health Care Program Qualified" status, and the veteran shall be notified of this status in writing within 14 days. The department must also provide the veteran with a list of practice skills the Board of Medicine has determined he or she has experience to perform under direct supervision when employed by a participating health care provider after obtaining his or her MMACOF Health Care Certificate. The notification to the veteran of "MMACOF Health Care Program Qualified" status must include instructions on how the veteran may obtain an MMACOF Health Care Certificate.

9. The Board of Medicine's initial determination of the veteran's "MMACOF Program Health Care Qualified" status expires 18 months after its first issuance, unless the veteran applies for an MMACOF Health Care Certificate before the expiration date.

10. To obtain an MMACOF Health Care Certificate, a veteran whose MMACOF Health Care Certification application is in "MMACOF Program Health Care Qualified" status must provide to the department documentation of his or her enrollment on at least a half-time basis, signed by the registrar or similar representative of the approved and accredited Florida health care education and training program, for his or her approved health care field on a form or in the manner prescribed by department rule.

11. Upon receipt by the department of the veteran's proof of at least half-time enrollment in an approved and accredited Florida health care education and training program for the health care field for which the veteran is "MMACOF Program Health Care Qualified," the department may issue to the veteran an MMACOF Health Care Certificate that qualifies the unlicensed veteran for employment with a participating health care provider in a position matching the health care field listed on the veteran's MMACOF Health Care Certificate.

12. The veteran's MMACOF Health Care Certificate is valid for the length of time the veteran remains actively enrolled on at least a half-time basis in an approved and accredited Florida health care education and training program, and he or she may continue to practice the skills approved by the Board of Medicine in a participating civilian health care provider setting while enrolled on at least a one-half time basis in an accredited and approved Florida health care educational and training program or accredited nursing program, as provided by s. 464.019(4)(a).

13. The department shall provide by rule a method for annual renewal of military-trained health care veterans' MMACOF Program Health Care Certifications.

14. A MMACOF Health Care Certificateholder must provide the department and Florida Is For Veterans, Inc., with the following information within 10 days after civilian employment under his or her MMACOF Health Care Certificate with a participating health care provider:

a. The name, address, and telephone number of the participating health care provider that employs the military-trained health care veteran; and

b. The name and phone number of a contact health care provider who is responsible for supervising the military-trained health care veteran and who shall be in possession of a copy of the list of practice skills for which the board has determined the military-trained health care veteran has sufficient experience to perform under supervision with his or her MMACOF Health Care Certificate.

15. An MMACOF Health Care Certificateholder must notify the department and Florida Is For Veterans, Inc., in writing within 10 days after:

a. The military-trained health care veteran's termination of his or her employment with a participating health care provider; or

b. The military-trained health care veteran's failure to remain in or maintain active enrollment on at least a half-time basis in an approved and accredited Florida health care education and training program.

16. A participating health care provider that employs a military-trained health care veteran in any capacity must notify the department and Florida Is For Veterans, Inc., in writing within 10 days after the employment termination of a military-trained health care veteran, including the reasons for the termination.

17. An approved and accredited Florida health care education and training program that has enrolled a military-trained health care veteran who holds a MMACOF Health Care Certificate and who is employed by a participating health care provider must notify the department and Florida Is For Veterans, Inc., in writing within 10 days after the:

a. Termination of the military-trained health care veteran's enrollment from the approved and accredited Florida health care education and training program for any reason, specifying the reasons for termination;

b. Military-trained health care veteran's enrollment dropping below a half-time basis; or

c. Military-trained health care veteran's class absences being of sufficient number to cause the military-trained health care veteran to drop or fail classes, dropping his or her enrollment to less than a half-time basis.

18. The following acts constitute grounds for denial of an MMACOF Health Care Certificate or disciplinary action, as specified in s. 456.072(2):

a. Obtaining or attempting to obtain an MMACOF Health Care Certificate by bribery, fraud, or knowing misrepresentation.

b. Having an MMACOF Health Care Certificate revoked, suspended, or otherwise acted against, including denial, in another jurisdiction.

c. Being convicted or found guilty of, or entering a plea of nolo contendere to, regardless of adjudication, a crime in any jurisdiction which relates to practicing as a military-trained health care veteran under an MMACOF Health Care Certificate.

d. Willfully making or filing a false report or record,

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

willfully failing to file a report or record that directly relates to practicing as a military-trained health care veteran under an MMACOF Health Care Certificate, or willfully impeding or obstructing the filing of a report or record required by another person.

e. Circulating false, misleading, or deceptive advertising.

f. Engaging in unprofessional conduct, including any departure from or failure to conform to acceptable standards related to practicing as a military-trained health care veteran under an MMACOF Health Care Certificate.

g. Engaging or attempting to engage in the illegal possession, sale, or distribution of any illegal or controlled substance.

h. Willfully failing to report any known violation of chapter 457; chapter 458; chapter 459; chapter 460; chapter 461; chapter 462; chapter 463; chapter 464; chapter 465; chapter 466; chapter 467; part I, part II, part III, part V, part X, part XIII, or part XIV of chapter 468; chapter 478; chapter 480; part I, part II, or part III of chapter 483; chapter 484; chapter 486; chapter 490; or chapter 491.

i. Engaging in the delivery of military-trained health care skills without an active MMACOF Health Care Certificate.

j. Failing to perform any statutory or legal obligation placed upon a military-trained health care veteran.

k. Accepting and performing professional responsibilities that the certificateholder knows, or has reason to know, he or she is not competent to perform.

l. Delegating military-trained health care skills to a person the certificateholder knows, or has reason to know, is unqualified by training, experience, or licensure to perform.

m. Being judicially determined mentally incompetent.

n. Being unable to practice as a military-trained health care veteran with reasonable skill and safety because of a mental or physical condition or illness or the use of alcohol, controlled substances, or any other substance that impairs one's ability to practice.

o. Disclosing the identity of or information about a patient without written permission, except for information that does not identify a patient and is used for training purposes in an approved training program.

p. Violating any provision of this section or chapter 456, or any rules adopted pursuant thereto.

q. The department may, upon probable cause, compel a certificateholder to submit to a mental or physical examination by physicians designated by the department. The cost of an examination shall be borne by the certificateholder, and his or her failure to submit to such an examination shall constitute an admission of the allegations against him or her, consequent upon which a default and a final order may be entered without the taking of testimony or presentation of evidence, unless the failure was due to circumstances beyond his or her control.

r. A certificateholder disciplined under this paragraph shall, at reasonable intervals, be afforded an opportunity to demonstrate that he or she can resume the practice as a military-trained health care veteran with reasonable skill and safety.

s. In any proceeding under this subparagraph, the record of proceedings or the orders entered by the board may not be used against a certificateholder in any other proceeding.

19. The department or Board of Medicine may enter an order denying certification or imposing any of the penalties in s. 456.072(2) against any applicant for certification who is found guilty of any of the violations specified in s. 456.072(1).

20. The department or Board of Medicine may not issue or reinstate a military-trained health care veteran's MMACOF Health Care Certificate to a person it deemed unqualified until it is satisfied that such person has complied with the terms and conditions of the final order and that the certificateholder can safely practice as a military-trained health care veteran.

21. The Board of Medicine may, by rule, establish guidelines for the disposition of disciplinary cases involving specific violations. The guidelines may include minimum and maximum fines, periods of supervision during probation, or conditions upon probation or reissuance of a military-trained health care veteran's MMACOF Health Care Certificate.

(b) No Veteran Left Behind.—Veterans who do not meet the definition of the term "military-trained health care veteran" but who have served in health care-related fields shall receive assistance from the MMACOF program in resume writing, mentorship, and obtaining employment with participating health care providers.

(c) Health Care Leadership.—The MMACOF program shall assist veterans and their spouses, in the course of the veterans' military service, who have gained management experience or have completed any advanced degree in finding civilian health care leadership and management employment in a variety of health care disciplines.

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

(4) RULEMAKING AUTHORITY.—The department and the Board of Medicine may adopt rules pursuant to ss. 120.536(1) and 120.54 to implement this section.

Section 2. Subsection (2) of section 295.21, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

(2) PURPOSE.—

(a) The purpose of the corporation is to promote Florida as a veteran-friendly state that seeks to provide veterans with employment opportunities and that promotes the hiring of veterans by the business community. The corporation shall encourage retired and recently separated military personnel to remain in the state or to make the state their permanent residence. The corporation shall promote the value of military skill sets to businesses in the state, assist in tailoring the training of veterans to match the needs of the employment marketplace, and enhance the entrepreneurial skills of veterans.

(b) A subprogram dedicated to health care services employment may be created under the Veterans Employment and Training Services Program. The purpose of the health care service program is to link veterans who have armed service health care training and who are seeking employment in health care fields to health care organizations seeking to hire dedicated, well-trained workers. The program is to meet the health care workforce demands of this state by facilitating access to training and education in health fields for veterans and to promote the health care licensing programs provided by the state.

AMENDMENTS - Significant amendments were recommended

I. Summary:

SB 536 amends the Administrative Procedures Act (APA). The APA contains a uniform set of procedures that agencies must follow when exercising rulemaking authority delegated by the Legislature. This bill amends the APA rulemaking process and provides a new mechanism for agencies to review, revise, and repeal their rules. The bill:

- Requires each agency to review its rules for consistency with the powers and duties granted by the agency's enabling statutes. If, after reviewing a rule, the agency determines substantive changes to update a rule are not required, the agency must repromulgate the rule.
- Specifies the economic impacts and compliance costs an agency must consider in creating a statement of estimated regulatory costs (SERC). Each agency is required to have a website where each of its SERCs may be viewed in their entirety.
- Requires an agency, in all notices of rulemaking which include material incorporated by reference, to submit the incorporated material in the prescribed electronic format to the Department of State with the full text available for free public access through an electronic hyperlink.
- Requires changes to material incorporated by reference to be in a strike-through and underline format.
- Requires the annual regulatory plan to identify and describe each rule, by rule number or proposed rule number, which the agency expects to develop, adopt, or repeal for the 12-month period beginning October 1 and ending September 30. The bill also requires the annual regulatory plan to contain a declaration that the agency head and the general counsel understand that regulatory accountability is necessary to ensure public confidence in the integrity of state government and to that end the agency is diligently working toward lowering the total number of rules adopted.

- Specifies that an adverse impact on small business exists if certain specific criteria is met.
- Specifies that a lower cost regulatory alternative may be submitted after a notice of proposed rule or a notice of change.
- Defines the term "technical change" and requires technical changes to be documented in the history of the rule.
- Requires a notice of rule development and a notice of proposed rule to include the proposed rule number.
- Requires a period of at least seven days between the publication of a notice of rule development and a notice of proposed rule.
- Requires the Joint Administrative Procedures Committee to review all existing rules.

The bill may have a negative fiscal impact on state government. However, the impact is indeterminate and not expected to impact agencies until a late date. See Section V, Fiscal Impact Statement.

II. Present Situation:

The Administrative Procedures Act - Overview

The Administrative Procedure Act, which is commonly referred to as the "APA," is contained in ch. 120, F.S. The first version of the APA was adopted in 1961 in an attempt to produce a comprehensive and uniform administrative process, or framework, to govern executive branch agency actions. The "modern version" of the APA was adopted in 1974 and is amended almost every year. In addition to creating a standardized process for agencies to enact rules and issue orders, the APA also provides citizens the opportunity to be involved and challenge agency decisions.[1]

The Florida Constitution vests in the Legislature the sole authority to create laws.[2] However, the Legislature may delegate to agencies in the executive branch the quasi-legislative ability, or authority, to create rules and not be in violation of the separation of powers doctrine. Almost 100 years ago, in 1930, the Florida Supreme Court noted

> The Legislature is in session only during limited periods, and statutes cannot always anticipate and provide for complicated and contingent conditions in governmental affairs; therefore functions that are quasi legislative in their nature are with appropriate limitations conferred by statute upon administrative officers to effectuate the statutory purpose.[3]

The Legislature establishes the regulatory program to be implemented and the agencies supply the details. Even though rules are created by executive agencies, it is the legislative branch that maintains ownership over the product that is eventually adopted and promulgated.[4] When the Legislature enacts statutes granting power to the executive branch, the statutes "must clearly announce adequate standards to guide…in the execution of the powers delegated."[5]

The First District Court of Appeal noted in Gopman v. Department of Education,[6] that the APA "presumptively governs the exercise of all authority statutorily vested in the executive branch of state government." Accordingly, the APA is the "mechanism used by state agencies to adopt rules."[7]

A detailed description of the present situation for each section of the bill is included in the "Effect of Proposed Changes" section of this bill analysis.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Rulemaking

Present Situation

Delegation of Authority

The Legislature, as the sole branch of government having the inherent power to create laws,[8] may delegate to agencies in the executive branch the quasi-legislative ability, or authority, to create rules.[9] As the Florida Supreme Court has noted

> Rulemaking is a derivative of lawmaking. An agency is empowered to adopt rules if two requirements are satisfied. First, there must be a statutory grant of rulemaking authority, and second, there must be a specific law to be implemented.[10]

The Administrative Procedure Act (APA)[11] sets forth the uniform set of procedures agencies must follow when exercising delegated rulemaking authority.

Rules

A rule is an agency statement of general applicability that interprets, implements, or prescribes law or policy, including the procedure and practice requirements of an agency as well as certain types of forms.[12]

Rulemaking Authority

Rulemaking authority is delegated by the Legislature through statute and authorizes agencies to "adopt, develop, establish, or otherwise create"[13] rules. Usually, the Legislature delegates rulemaking authority to a given agency because an agency has "expertise in a particular area for which they are charged with oversight."[14] Agencies do not have the discretion in and of themselves to engage in rulemaking.[15] To adopt a rule, an agency must have a general grant of authority to implement a specific law by rulemaking.[16] The grant of rulemaking authority itself need not be detailed. The specific statute being interpreted or implemented through rulemaking must provide specific standards and guidelines to preclude the administrative agency from exercising unbridled discretion in creating policy or applying the law.[17]

Rulemaking Process – Filing a Notice of Rule Development

An agency begins the formal rulemaking process[18] by filing a notice of rule development of proposed rules in the Florida Administrative Register (FAR) indicating the subject area to be addressed by the rule development and including a short, plain explanation of the purpose and effect of the proposed rule.[19] The notice may include the preliminary text of the proposed rule, but it is not necessary. Such notice is required for all rulemaking, except for rule repeals.

Rulemaking Process – Filing a Notice of Proposed Rule

Next, an agency must file, upon approval of the agency head, a notice of proposed rule.[20] The notice of proposed rule is published by the Department of State (DOS) in the FAR[21] and must contain the full text of the proposed rule or amendment and a summary thereof.[22] Before 2012, the FAR was published weekly, resulting in a period of at least seven days between the publication of a notice of rule development and a notice of proposed rule.[23] In 2012, the Legislature passed HB 541 (2012) that changed the FAR from a weekly publication to a publication that is continuously revised and, as a result, eliminated the seven-day period between the two notices.[24]

Agency Hearing

After publication of a notice of proposed rule, an agency must hold a hearing on the proposed rule if a person requests a hearing within 21 days.[25] If, after the hearing is held or after the time for requesting a hearing has expired, the agency does not change the rule, other than a technical change, the agency must file a notice stating no changes have been made to the rule with the Joint Administrative Procedures Committee (JAPC) at least seven days before filing the rule for adoption.[26] However, if a hearing is requested, the agency may, based upon the comments received at the hearing, publish a notice of change.[27]

Petition Alternative

As an alternative to the agency initiated process delineated above, a person regulated by the agency or having a substantial interest in an agency rule may petition the agency to adopt, amend, or repeal a rule.[28] The petitioner must specify the proposed rule and action requested.[29] The agency can either initiate rulemaking or decline to do so; however, if the agency chooses the latter, it must issue a written statement of the reasons for the denial.[30]

Rule Adoption

Once an agency has completed the steps of rulemaking, the agency may file for rule adoption with the DOS and the rule becomes effective 20 days later, unless a different date is indicated in the rule.[31] Most adopted rules are published in the Florida Administrative Code (FAC).[32]

Challenging a Rule for Invalid Delegation of Authority

The validity of a rule or a proposed rule may be challenged at the Division of Administrative Hearings (DOAH)[33] as an invalid delegation of legislative authority.[34] An invalid delegation of legislative authority is an action that goes beyond the powers, functions, and duties delegated by the Legislature.[35] A rule or proposed rule is an invalid delegation of legislative authority if any of the following applies:

- The agency has materially failed to follow the rulemaking procedures or requirements in the APA.
- The agency has exceeded its grant of rulemaking authority.
- The rule enlarges, modifies, or contravenes the specific provisions of the law implemented.
- The rule is vague, fails to establish adequate standards for agency decisions, or vests the agency with unbridled discretion.
- The rule is arbitrary or capricious.

- The rule imposes regulatory costs on the regulated person, county, or municipality that could have been reduced by the adoption of less costly alternatives that substantially accomplish the statutory objectives.[36]

Hearing Before an Administrative Law Judge

An administrative law judge (ALJ) at the DOAH hears the rule challenge in a de novo proceeding and, within 30 days after the hearing, makes a determination on the rule's validity based upon a preponderance of the evidence standard. The petitioner and the agency whose rule is challenged are adverse parties.[37] The ALJ's decision constitutes final agency action, which means an agency may not alter the decision after its issuance,[38] but an agency may appeal the decision to the District Court of Appeal where the agency maintains its headquarters.[39]

Effect of Proposed Changes (Section 2)

The bill requires a notice of proposed rule to be filed within 12 months after a notice of rule development. If a notice of proposed rule is not filed within 12 months after the notice of rule development, the agency must withdraw the rule and give notice of the withdrawal in the next issue of the FAR. The bill also reestablishes the mandatory seven-day period between the publication of a notice of rule development and the publication of a notice of proposed rule in the FAR.

The bill further requires that a proposed rule be withdrawn if, after issuing a notice of proposed rule, the agency fails to adopt it within the prescribed timeframes in the APA. Once an agency has exceeded the timeframe to adopt the rule, the bill requires the JAPC to notify the agency of the failure. If the agency has not withdrawn the rule within 30 days following the notice, the JAPC must notify the DOS that the date for adoption of the rule has expired. The DOS must then publish a notice of withdrawal of the proposed rule.

The bill requires a notice of rule development and a notice of proposed rule to include the proposed rule number.

The bill also requires an agency to file a copy of a petition to initiate rulemaking with the JAPC.

Finally, the bill defines the term "technical change" to mean a change limited to correcting grammatical, typographical, and similar errors not affecting the substance of the rule.

Joint Administrative Procedures Committee

Present Situation

Background

The JAPC is a standing committee of the Legislature established by joint rule and created to maintain a continuous review of administrative rules, the statutory authority upon which those rules are based, and the administrative rulemaking process.[40] Specifically, the JAPC may examine existing rules and must examine each proposed rule to determine whether:

- The rule is an invalid exercise of delegated legislative authority.
- The statutory authority for the rule has been repealed.
- The rule reiterates or paraphrases statutory material.
- The rule is in proper form.
- The notice given prior to adoption was sufficient.
- The rule is consistent with expressed legislative intent.
- The rule is necessary to accomplish the apparent or expressed objectives of the specific provision of law that the rule implements.
- The rule is a reasonable implementation of the law as it affects the convenience of the general public or persons particularly affected by the rule.
- The rule could be made less complex or more easily comprehensible to the general public.
- The rule's statement of estimated regulatory cost complies with the requirements of the APA and whether the rule does not impose regulatory costs on the regulated person, county, or municipality that could be reduced by the adoption of less costly alternatives that substantially accomplish the statutory objectives.
- The rule will require additional appropriations.[41]

Effect of Proposed Changes (Section 5)

The bill removes the permissive authority of the JAPC to examine existing rules and makes such examination mandatory to align with the JAPC's mandate to examine proposed rules.

Agency Review of Rules

Present Situation

The APA requires each agency to annually review its rules.[42] Although an agency may amend or repeal the rule, rules generally do not expire or sunset and many agencies have adopted rules that have not been updated in years.

Effect of Proposed Changes (Section 4)

The bill creates a process called "repromulgation," whereby each agency is required to review its rules for consistency with the powers and duties granted by the agency's enabling statutes. If, after reviewing the rule, the agency determines that substantive changes are not required, the agency must repromulgate the rule to reflect the date of the review. The bill defines the term "repromulgation" to mean the publication and adoption of an existing rule following an agency's review of the rule for consistency with the powers and duties granted by its enabling statute. Each agency must review its rules according to the following schedule:

- If the rule was adopted before January 1, 2014, within five years after July 1, 2022; or
- If the rule was adopted on or after January 1, 2014, within 10 years after the rule is adopted.

[41] Section 120.545(1), F.S.
[42] See s. 120.74. F.S.

An agency, before repromulgation of a rule and upon approval of its agency head, must:

- Publish a notice of repromulgation in the FAR, which is not required to include the text of the rule; and
- File the rule with the DOS. The rule may not be filed for repromulgation less than 28 days before or more than 90 days after the publication of the notice.

An agency must file a notice of repromulgation with the JAPC at least 14 days before filing the rule with the DOS. The JAPC must certify at the time of filing whether the agency has responded to all of the JAPC's material or written inquiries. The bill specifies that a repromulgated rule is not subject to the hearing requirements of the APA nor is it subject to challenge as a proposed rule.

The bill requires each agency, upon approval of the agency head, to submit three certified copies of the repromulgated rule it proposes to adopt with the DOS and one certified copy of any material incorporated by reference in the rule. The repromulgated rule is adopted upon its filing with the DOS and becomes effective 20 days later. The DOS must then update the history note of the rule in the FAC to reflect the new effective date. The bill requires the DOS to adopt rules to implement the bill's repromulgation provision by December 31, 2022.

If an agency fails to meet the deadline to review the rule or the timeframe to file the rule for repromulgation, the rule is deemed repealed. After such a failure, the JAPC notifies the DOS that the agency has elected to repeal the rule. Thereafter, the DOS must publish a notice of the repeal in the next issue of the FAR and the rule is then stricken from the files of the DOS and the agency.

Statement of Estimated Regulatory Cost

Present Situation

A statement of estimated regulatory cost (SERC) is an agency estimate of the potential impact of a proposed rule on the public, particularly the potential costs to the public of complying with the rule as well as to the agency and other governmental entities to implement the rule.[43] Agencies are encouraged to prepare a SERC before adopting, amending, or repealing any rule.[44] However, a SERC is required if the proposed rule will have an adverse impact on small businesses or increase regulatory costs by more than $200,000 in the aggregate in this state within one year after implementation of the rule.[45] If the agency revises a rule before adoption and the revision increases the regulatory costs of the rule, the agency must revise the SERC to reflect that alteration.[46]

A SERC must include:

- A good faith estimate of the number of people and entities affected by the proposed rule;
- A good faith estimate of the cost to the agency and other governmental entities to implement the proposed rule;

[43] Section 120.541(2), F.S.
[44] Section 120.54(3)(b)1., F.S.
[45] Id.
[46] Section 120.541(1)(c), F.S.

- A good faith estimate of transactional costs likely to be incurred by people, entities, and governmental agencies for compliance; and
- An analysis of the proposed rule's impact on small businesses, small counties, and small municipalities.[47]

The SERC must also include an economic analysis on the likelihood that the proposed rule will have an adverse impact in excess of $1 million within the first five years after implementation on:

- Economic growth, private-sector job creation or employment, or private-sector investment;
- Business competitiveness, productivity, or innovation; or
- Regulatory costs, including any transactional costs.[48]

If the economic analysis results in an adverse impact or regulatory costs in excess of $1 million within five years after implementation of the rule, then the rule must be ratified by the Legislature in order to take effect.[49]

An agency's failure to prepare an SERC can be raised in a proceeding at the DOAH to invalidate a rule as an invalid exercise of delegated legislative authority, if it is raised within one year after the effective date of the rule and is raised by a person whose substantial interests are affected by the regulatory costs of the rule.[50]

Effect of Proposed Changes (Section 3)

The bill requires each agency to have a website where each of its SERCs may be viewed in their entirety. The DOS must include on the FAR website the agency website addresses where the SERCs can be viewed. An agency must provide in its notice of proposed rule the agency website address where the SERC can be viewed. If an agency revises a SERC, it must provide a notice that a revision has been made and include an agency website address where the revision can be viewed for publication on the FAR website.

The bill clarifies the elements an agency must consider in a SERC when evaluating the economic impacts of the rule. Specifically, the bill requires agency estimates of economic, market, and small business impacts likely to result from compliance with the proposed rule to consider elements such as:

- Increased or decreased consumer prices or value of goods and services;
- Increased costs due to obtaining substitute or alternative products or services;
- The value of time expended by business owners and other business personnel to comply with the proposed rule;
- Capital costs incurred to comply with the proposed rule; and
- Other impacts suggested by the rules ombudsman or interested persons.

[49] Section 120.541(3), F.S.
[50] Section 120.541(1)(f), F.S.

In addition, the bill replaces the term "transactional costs" with "compliance costs," requires agencies to consider all direct and indirect costs of compliance, and provides 18 specific types of compliance costs as examples for agencies to consider in their evaluation, including:

- Filing fees;
- Costs of obtaining a license;
- Costs to obtain, install, and maintain equipment necessary for compliance;
- Costs related to accounting, financial, and information management processes, as well as other administrative processes;
- Labor costs;
- Costs of education, training, and testing necessary for compliance; and
- Allocation of administrative and other overhead costs.

The bill allows agencies to survey individuals, businesses, business organizations, counties, and municipalities to collect data helpful to estimate and analyze the costs and impacts of the proposed rule. Each notice of proposed rule must also contain a summary of the SERC describing the regulatory impact of the proposed rule in readable language. Additionally, if an agency holds a hearing on a proposed rule, the bill requires the agency to ensure that the person responsible for preparing the SERC be made available to respond to questions or comments.

Lower Cost Regulatory Alternative

Present Situation

A person substantially affected by a proposed rule may, within 21 days after the publication of a notice of adoption, amendment, or repeal of a rule, submit a lower cost regulatory alternative (LCRA).[51] The LCRA must be a written proposal, made in good faith, which substantially accomplishes the objectives of the law being implemented.[52] A LCRA may recommend that a rule not be adopted at all, if it explains how the "lower costs and objectives of the law will be achieved by not adopting any rule."[53] If a LCRA is submitted to an agency, the agency must prepare an SERC if one has not been previously prepared, or revise its prior SERC, and either adopt the LCRA or provide a statement to explain the reasons for rejecting the LCRA.[54] Additionally, if a LCRA is submitted, the 90-day period for filing a rule is extended an additional 21 days.[55] At least 21 days before filing a rule for adoption, an agency that is required to revise an SERC in response to a LCRA must provide the SERC to the person who submitted the LCRA and to the JAPC and must provide notice on the agency's website that it is available to the public.[56]

Just as in the case of an agency's failure to prepare a SERC, an agency's failure to respond to a LCRA may be raised in a proceeding at the DOAH to invalidate a rule as an invalid delegation of legislative authority if it is raised within one year after the effective date of the rule and is raised by a person whose substantial interests are affected by the regulatory costs of the rule.[57]

Effect of Proposed Changes (Section 3)

The bill specifies that a LCRA may be submitted after a notice of proposed rule or a notice of change. If submitted after the latter, the LCRA is deemed to have been made in good faith only if the person reasonably believes, and the proposal states the reasons for believing, that the proposed rule as changed by the notice of change increases the regulatory costs or creates an adverse impact on small business.

The bill allows an agency receiving a LCRA to have the choice of modifying the proposed rule to reduce regulatory costs in addition to either adopting the LCRA or stating its reasons for rejecting it in favor of the proposed rule. If the rule is modified, the agency must revise its SERC, if one has been prepared. If the agency rejects the LCRA or modifies the proposed rule, the agency must state its reasons for rejecting the LCRA in favor of the proposed or modified rule. When a SERC is revised because a change to a proposed rule increases the projected regulatory costs or the agency modified the rule in response to a LCRA, a summary of the revised SERC must be included in subsequent published rulemaking notices. Under the bill, the revised SERC must be provided to the rules ombudsman, the party that submitted the LCRA, and the JAPC, and must be published in the same manner as the original SERC.

The bill requires an agency to provide a copy of a LCRA to the JAPC at least 21 days before filing the rule for adoption.

Emergency Rules

Present Situation

Agencies are authorized to respond to immediate dangers to the public health, safety, or welfare by adopting emergency rules.[58] Emergency rules are not adopted using the same procedures required of other rules.[59] The notice of the emergency rule and the text of the rule is published in the first available issue of the FAR, however, there is no requirement that an emergency rule be published in the FAC.[60] The agency must publish prior to, or contemporaneous with, the rule's promulgation the specific facts and reasons for finding an immediate danger to the public health, safety, or welfare.[61] The agency's findings of immediate danger are judicially reviewable.[62] Emergency rules are effective immediately, or on a date less than 20 days after filing if specified in rule,[63] but are only effective for a period of no longer than 90 days.[64] An emergency rule is not renewable, except when the agency has initiated rulemaking to adopt rules relating to the subject of the emergency rule and a challenge to the proposed rules has been filed and remains pending or the proposed rules are awaiting ratification by the Legislature.[65]

Effect of Proposed Changes (Sections 2 and 3)

The bill requires emergency rules to be published in the FAC. The bill also allows an agency to make technical changes to the emergency rule within the first seven days after adoption and prohibits an agency from superseding an emergency rule currently in effect. The bill clarifies that an emergency rule is not subject to the legislative ratification process.[66]

Small Business Impact in Rulemaking

Present Situation

Each agency, before the adoption, amendment, or repeal of a rule, must consider the impact of the rule on small businesses.[67] If the agency determines that the proposed action will affect small businesses, the agency must send written notice to the rules ombudsman[68] in the Executive Office of the Governor at least 28 days before the intended action.[69] The agency must adopt the regulatory alternatives offered by the rules ombudsman if it finds the alternatives are feasible and consistent with the stated objectives of the proposed rule and would reduce the impact on small businesses.[70]

If the agency does not adopt the alternatives offered, before rule adoption or amendment, the agency must file a detailed written statement with the JAPC explaining the reasons for failure to adopt such alternatives.[71]

Effect of Proposed Changes (Section 2)

The bill requires an adverse impact on small business to be found if:

- An owner, officer, operator, or manager of a small business must complete any education, training, or testing to comply with the proposed rule in the first year;

[65] Id.

[67] Section 120.54(3)(b)2., F.S.

[68] The Governor must appoint a rules ombudsman in the Executive Office of the Governor for purposes of considering the impact of agency rules on the state citizens and businesses. The rules ombudsman must carry out the duties related to rule adoption procedures with respect to small businesses; review agency rules that adversely or disproportionately impact businesses, particularly those relating to small and minority businesses; and make recommendations on any existing or proposed rules to alleviate unnecessary or disproportionate adverse effects to business. Each agency must cooperate fully with the rules ombudsman in identifying such rules and take the necessary steps to waive, modify, or otherwise minimize the adverse effects of any such rules. [69] Section 120.54(3)(b)2.b.(I), F.S.

[71] Section 120.54(3)(b)2.b.(III), F.S.

- An owner, officer, operator, or manager of a small business is likely to expend 10 hours or purchase professional advice to understand and comply with the rule in the first year;
- Taxes or fees assessed on transactions are likely to increase by $500 or more in the aggregate in one year because of the rule;
- Prices charged for goods and services are restricted or are likely to increase because of the rule;
- Specially trained, licensed, or tested employees will be required;
- Operating costs are expected to increase by at least $1,000 annually; or
- Capital expenditures in excess of $1,000 are necessary to comply with the rule.

If the rules ombudsman of the Executive Office of the Governor provides a regulatory alternative to the agency to lessen the impact of the rule on small businesses, the bill requires the agency to provide the regulatory alternative to the JAPC at least 21 days before filing the rule for adoption.

Incorporation by Reference

Present Situation

The APA allows an agency to incorporate material external to the text of the rule by reference.[72] The material to be incorporated must exist on the date the rule is adopted.[73] If after the rule has been adopted the agency wishes to alter the material incorporated by reference, the rule itself must be amended for the change to be effective.[74] However, an agency rule that incorporates another rule by reference automatically incorporates subsequent amendments to the referenced rule.[75] A rule cannot be amended by reference only.[76] An agency may not incorporate a rule by reference unless:

- The material has been submitted in the prescribed electronic format to the DOS and the full text of the material can be made available for free public access through an electronic hyperlink from the rule making the reference in the FAC; or
- The agency has determined that posting the material publicly on the Internet would constitute a violation of federal copyright law, in which case a statement stating such, along with the address of locations at the DOS and the agency at which the material is available for public inspection and examination, must be included in the notice.[77]

The DOS has adopted a rule governing the requirements for materials incorporated by reference through an adopted rule.[78] The rule requires each agency incorporating material by reference in an administrative rule to certify that the materials incorporated have been filed with the DOS electronically or, if the agency claims the posting of the material would constitute a violation of federal copyright law, the location where the public may view the material.[79]

[79] Rule 1-1.013(5)(d), F.A.C.

Effect of Proposed Changes (Section 2)

Beginning July 1, 2022, the bill requires an agency, in all notices of rulemaking, repromulgated rules, or rule modifications which include material incorporated by reference, to submit the incorporated material in the prescribed electronic format to the DOS with the full text available for free public access through an electronic hyperlink. Alternatively, if an agency determines that posting the incorporated material on the Internet would constitute a violation of federal copyright law, the agency must include in the notice a statement to that effect, along with the addresses of locations at the DOS and the agency at which the material is available for public inspection and examination.

The bill requires the DOS to prescribe by rule that material incorporated by reference included in a notice of proposed rule and a notice of change be formatted in such a way that additions to the text appear underlined and deletions appear as text stricken through.

Annual Regulatory Review

Present Situation

Annually, each agency must prepare a regulatory plan that includes a list of each law enacted during the previous 12 months, which creates or modifies the duties or authority of the agency, and state whether the agency must adopt rules to implement the newly adopted laws.[80] The plan must also include a list of each additional law not otherwise listed that the agency expects to implement by rulemaking before the following July 1, except emergency rules.[81] The plan must include a certification by the agency head or, if the agency head is a collegial body, the presiding officer, and the individual acting as principal legal advisor to the agency verifying the persons have reviewed the plan, verifying the agency regularly reviews all of its rules, and identifying the period during which all rules have most recently been reviewed to determine if the rules remain consistent with the agency's rulemaking authority and the laws implemented.[82] By October 1 of each year, the plan must be published on the agency's website or on another state website established for publication of administrative law records with a hyperlink to the plan.[83] The agency must also deliver a copy of the certification to the JAPC and publish a notice in the FAR identifying the date of publication of the agency's regulatory plan.[84]

Effect of Proposed Changes (Section 7)

The bill replaces the requirement that the annual regulatory plan include a listing of each law it expects to implement with rulemaking with the requirement that the plan identify and describe each rule, by rule number or proposed rule number, that the agency expects to develop, adopt, or repeal for the 12-month period beginning October 1 and ending September 30. The annual regulatory plan must identify any rules required to be repromulgated for the 12-month period.

The bill also requires that the annual regulatory plan contain a declaration that the agency head and the general counsel understand that regulatory accountability is necessary to ensure public confidence in the integrity of state government and to that end the agency is diligently working toward lowering the total number of rules adopted. The bill requires the declaration to contain the total number of rules adopted and repealed during the previous 12 months.

Florida Administrative Code

Present Situation

The FAC is an electronic compilation of all rules adopted by each agency and maintained by the DOS.[85] The DOS retains the copyright over the FAC.[86]

Each rule in the FAC must cite the grant of rulemaking authority and the specific law implemented.[87] Rules applicable to only one school district, community college district, or county or state university rules relating to internal personnel or business and finance are not required to be included in the FAC.[88] The DOS is required to publish the following information at the beginning of each section of the code concerning an agency:

- The address and telephone number of the executive offices of the agency.
- The manner by which the agency indexes its rules.
- A listing of all rules of that agency excluded from publication in the FAC and a statement as to where those rules may be inspected.[89]

The DOS is required to adopt rules allowing adopted rules and materials incorporated by reference to be filed in electronic form.[90] Further, the DOS is required to prescribe by rule the style and form required for rules, notices, and other materials submitted for filing in the FAC.[91] The rule the DOS has adopted requires rules that are being amended to be coded by underlining new text and by striking through deleted text.[92]

Effect of Proposed Changes (Section 6)

The bill requires the FAC be published once daily, by no later than 8 a.m. If, after publication, a rule is corrected and replaced, the FAC must indicate the rule has been republished and indicate the DOS has corrected it. The bill also requires the history note appended to each rule include the date of any technical changes to the rule and provides such change does not affect the rule's effective date.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

None.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill may have an indeterminate, negative fiscal impact on state government. The bill requires each agency to review and repromulgate its rules, includes additional requirements to comply with notice, publication, and hearing requirements of rules, and includes additional requirements for SERCs. Agencies will likely be required to spend funds to implement the requirements of the bill. Whether these new requirements could be absorbed within each agency's existing resources is not known. For example, regulatory agencies such as the Department of Business and Professional Regulation and the Department of Health may need additional personnel to comply with repromulgation of rules. However, the bill specifies that agencies have to complete rule review within five years for rules adopted before January 1, 2014, and within 10 years for rules adopted after January 1, 2014. Agencies should have sufficient time to request additional funding or personnel through the Legislative Budget Request process should it be determined additional funding or personnel will be required to implement the provisions of the bill.

The Department of State may have additional costs associated with publishing the specified material in the bill.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

Several sections of the bill could be revised for clarity or consistency.

- Line 120 – The definition of "repromulgation" should be amended for consistency with the provisions in line 891 by adding the phrase "of a notice of repromulgation" so that the definition would read:

> (16) "Repromulgation" means the publication of a notice of repromulgation and adoption of an existing rule following an agency's review of the rule for consistency with the powers an duties granted by its enabling statute.

- Lines 206-209 should be amended to clarify that a notice of a proposed rule is "published" rather than "filed."
- Lines 918 – 957 contain s. 120.545, F.S., "Committee review of agency rules." This provision could be amended to give the JAPC permission to examine a rule that has not been reviewed and amended, repealed, or repromulgated pursuant to the deadlines set forth in s. 120.5435, F.S. As such, the failure to repromulgate would result in an objection by the JAPC rather than an automatic repeal.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 120.52, 120.54, 120.541, 120.545, 120.55, 120.74, 120.80, 120.81, 420.9072, 420.9075, and 443.091.

This bill creates section 120.5435 of the Florida Statutes.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

None.

B. Amendments:

Barcode 734958 by Appropriations on February 28, 2022:
The amendment:

- Removes the repromulgation process and replaces it with additional requirements for the annual regulatory plan.

- Removes a provision that would have required automatic repeal of a rule if it was not repromulgated and instead authorizes JAPC to file an objection if JAPC identifies a rule as inconsistent with the powers and duties granted by law.
- Provides that the annual regulatory plan must now include an agency review of all of its current rules for consistency with the powers and duties granted by law before July 1, 2027, and requires rules to be reviewed every 10 years thereafter.
- Requires an agency to deliver a written explanation upon request by designated persons for failing to comply with the annual regulatory plan requirements.
- Clarifies that a notice of proposed rule must be published at least seven days after the publication of the notice of rule development.
- Requires an agency to provide a copy of any offered regulatory alternative to JAPC at least 21 days before filing the rule for adoption.

The Committee on Appropriations (Diaz) recommended the following:

Senate Amendment (with title amendment)

Delete everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. Present subsections (20), (21), and (22) of section 120.52, Florida Statutes, are redesignated as subsections (21), (22), and (23), respectively, and a new subsection (20) is added to that section, to read:

120.52 Definitions.—As used in this act:

(20) "Technical change" means a change limited to correcting grammatical, typographical, or similar errors not affecting the substance of the rule.

Section 2. Subsections (2) and (3) and paragraph (a) of subsection (7) of section 120.54, Florida Statutes, are amended, and paragraphs (e), (f), and (g) are added to subsection (4) of that section, to read:

120.54 Rulemaking.—

(2) RULE DEVELOPMENT; WORKSHOPS; NEGOTIATED RULEMAKING.—

(a)1. Except when the intended action is the repeal of a rule, agencies shall provide notice of the development of proposed rules by publication of a notice of rule development in the Florida Administrative Register before providing notice of a proposed rule as required by paragraph (3)(a). The notice of rule development must ~~shall~~ indicate the subject area to be addressed by rule development, provide a short, plain explanation of the purpose and effect of the proposed rule, cite the grant of rulemaking authority for the proposed rule and the law being implemented ~~specific legal authority for the proposed rule~~, and include the proposed rule number and the preliminary text of the proposed rule ~~rules~~, if available, or a statement of how a person may promptly obtain, without cost, a copy of any preliminary draft, when ~~if~~ available.

2. If a notice of a proposed rule is not filed within 12 months after the notice of rule development, the agency shall withdraw the rule and give notice of the withdrawal in the next available issue of the Florida Administrative Register.

(b) All rules should be drafted in readable language. The language is readable if:

1. It avoids the use of obscure words and unnecessarily long or complicated constructions; and

2. It avoids the use of unnecessary technical or specialized language that is understood only by members of particular trades or professions.

(c) An agency may hold public workshops for purposes of rule development. If requested in writing by any affected person, an agency must hold public workshops, including workshops in various regions of the state or the agency's service area, for purposes of rule development ~~if requested in writing by any affected person~~, unless the agency head explains in writing why a workshop is unnecessary. The explanation is not final agency action subject to review pursuant to ss. 120.569 and 120.57. The failure to provide the explanation when required may be a material error in procedure pursuant to s. 120.56(1)(c). When a workshop or public hearing is held, the agency must ensure that the persons responsible for preparing the proposed rule are available to explain the agency's proposal and to respond to questions or comments regarding the rule being developed. The workshop may be facilitated or mediated by a neutral third person, or the agency may employ other types of dispute resolution alternatives for the workshop that are appropriate for rule development. Notice of a workshop for rule development must ~~workshop shall~~ be by publication in the Florida Administrative Register not fewer ~~less~~ than 14 days before ~~prior to~~ the date on which the workshop is scheduled to be held and must ~~shall~~ indicate the subject area that ~~which~~ will be addressed; the agency contact person; and the place, date, and time of the workshop.

and adopting rules. The agency should consider the use of negotiated rulemaking when complex rules are being drafted or strong opposition to the rules is anticipated. The agency should consider, but is not limited to considering, whether a balanced committee of interested persons who will negotiate in good faith can be assembled, whether the agency is willing to support the work of the negotiating committee, and whether the agency can use the group consensus as the basis for its proposed rule. Negotiated rulemaking uses a committee of designated representatives to draft a mutually acceptable proposed rule.

2. An agency that chooses to use the negotiated rulemaking process described in this paragraph shall publish in the Florida Administrative Register a notice of negotiated rulemaking that includes a listing of the representative groups that will be invited to participate in the negotiated rulemaking process. Any person who believes that his or her interest is not adequately represented may apply to participate within 30 days after publication of the notice. All meetings of the negotiating committee shall be noticed and open to the public pursuant to ~~the provisions of~~ this chapter. The negotiating committee shall be chaired by a neutral facilitator or mediator.

3. The agency's decision to use negotiated rulemaking, its selection of the representative groups, and approval or denial of an application to participate in the negotiated rulemaking process are not agency action. ~~Nothing in~~ This subparagraph is not intended to affect the rights of a substantially ~~an~~ affected person to challenge a proposed rule developed under this paragraph in accordance with s. 120.56(2).

(3) ADOPTION PROCEDURES.—

(a) Notices.—

1. Before ~~Prior to~~ the adoption, amendment, or repeal of any rule other than an emergency rule, an agency, upon approval of the agency head, shall give notice of its intended action, setting forth a short, plain explanation of the purpose and effect of the proposed action; the proposed rule number and the full text of the proposed rule or amendment and a summary thereof; a reference to the grant of rulemaking authority pursuant to which the rule is adopted; and a reference to the section or subsection of the Florida Statutes or the Laws of Florida being implemented or interpreted. The notice must include a summary of the agency's statement of the estimated regulatory costs, if one has been prepared, based on the factors set forth in s. 120.541(2), which describes the regulatory impact of the proposed rule in readable language; an agency website address where the statement of estimated regulatory costs can be viewed in its entirety, if one has been prepared; a statement that any person who wishes to provide the agency with information regarding the statement of estimated regulatory costs, or to provide a proposal for a lower cost regulatory alternative as provided by s. 120.541(1), must do so in writing within 21 days after publication of the notice; and a statement as to whether, based on the statement of the estimated regulatory costs or other information expressly relied upon and described by the agency if no statement of regulatory costs is required, the proposed rule is expected to require legislative ratification pursuant to s. 120.541(3). The notice must state the procedure for requesting a public hearing on the proposed rule. Except when the intended action is the repeal of a rule, the notice must include a reference both to the date on which and to the place where the notice of rule development that is required by subsection (2) appeared.

2. The notice shall be published in the Florida Administrative Register at least 7 days after the publication of the notice of rule development and at least ~~not less than~~ 28 days before ~~prior to~~ the intended action. The proposed rule, including all materials proposed to be incorporated by reference and the statement of estimated regulatory costs, if one has been prepared, must ~~shall~~ be available for inspection and copying by the public at the time of the publication of notice. After December 31, 2022, material proposed to be incorporated by reference in the notice required by this paragraph must be made available in the manner prescribed by sub-subparagraph (1)(i)3.a. or sub-subparagraph (1)(i)3.b.

3. The notice shall be mailed to all persons named in the proposed rule and mailed or delivered electronically to all persons who, at least 14 days before publication of the notice ~~prior to such mailing~~, have made requests of the agency for advance notice of its proceedings. The agency shall also give such notice as is prescribed by rule to those particular classes of persons to whom the intended action is directed.

4. The adopting agency shall file with the committee, at least 21 days before ~~prior to~~ the proposed adoption date, a copy of each rule it proposes to adopt; a copy of any material incorporated by reference in the rule; a detailed written statement of the facts and circumstances justifying the proposed rule; a copy of any statement of estimated regulatory costs that has been prepared pursuant to s. 120.541; a statement of the

5. If any of the information, other than substantive changes to the rule text, which is required to be included in the notice required by subparagraph 1. is omitted or is incorrect, the agency must publish a notice of correction. A notice of correction does not affect the timeframes for filing the rule for adoption as set forth in paragraph (e). Technical changes are not required to be published as a notice of correction.

(b) Special matters to be considered in rule adoption.—

1. Statement of estimated regulatory costs.—Before the adoption, amendment, or repeal of any rule other than an emergency rule, an agency is encouraged to prepare a statement of estimated regulatory costs of the proposed rule, as provided by s. 120.541. However, an agency must prepare a statement of estimated regulatory costs of the proposed rule, as provided by s. 120.541, if:

a. The proposed rule will have an adverse impact on small business; or

b. The proposed rule is likely to directly or indirectly increase regulatory costs in excess of $200,000 in the aggregate in this state within 1 year after the implementation of the rule.

2. Small businesses, small counties, and small cities.—

a. For purposes of this subsection and s. 120.541(2), an adverse impact on small businesses, as defined in s. 288.703 or sub-subparagraph b., exists if, for any small business:

(I) An owner, officer, operator, or manager must complete any education, training, or testing to comply with the rule in the first year or is likely to spend at least 10 hours or purchase professional advice to understand and comply with the rule in the first year;

(II) Taxes or fees assessed on transactions are likely to increase by $500 or more in the aggregate in 1 year because of the rule;

(III) Prices charged for goods and services are restricted or are likely to increase because of the rule;

(IV) Specially trained, licensed, or tested employees will be required because of the rule;

(V) Operating costs are expected to increase by at least $1,000 annually because of the rule; or

(VI) Capital expenditures in excess of $1,000 are necessary to comply with the rule.

b. Each agency, before the adoption, amendment, or repeal of a rule, shall consider the impact of the rule on small businesses as defined in ~~by~~ s. 288.703 and the impact of the rule on small counties or small cities as defined in ~~by~~ s. 120.52. Whenever practicable, an agency shall tier its rules to reduce disproportionate impacts on small businesses, small counties, or small cities to avoid regulating small businesses, small counties, or small cities that do not contribute significantly to the problem the rule is designed to address. An agency may define "small business" to include businesses employing more than 200 persons, may define "small county" to include those with populations of more than 75,000, and may define "small city" to include those with populations of more than 10,000, if it finds that such a definition is necessary to adapt a rule to the needs and problems of small businesses, small counties, or small cities. The agency shall consider each of the following methods for reducing the impact of the proposed rule on small businesses, small counties, and small cities, or any combination of these entities:

(I) Establishing less stringent compliance or reporting requirements in the rule.

(II) Establishing less stringent schedules or deadlines in the rule for compliance or reporting requirements.

(III) Consolidating or simplifying the rule's compliance or reporting requirements.

(IV) Establishing performance standards or best management practices to replace design or operational standards in the rule.

(V) Exempting small businesses, small counties, or small cities from any or all requirements of the rule.

c.(I) ~~b.(I)~~ If the agency determines that the proposed action will affect small businesses as defined by the agency as provided in sub-subparagraph b. ~~a.~~, the agency shall send written notice of the rule to the rules ombudsman in the Executive Office of the Governor at least 28 days before the intended action.

(II) Each agency shall adopt those regulatory alternatives offered by the rules ombudsman in the Executive Office of the Governor and provided to the agency no later than 21 days after the rules ombudsman's receipt of the written notice of the rule which it finds are feasible and consistent with the stated objectives of the proposed rule and which would reduce the impact on small businesses. When regulatory alternatives are offered by the rules ombudsman in the Executive Office of the Governor, the 90-day period for filing the rule in subparagraph (e)2. is extended for a period of 21 days. At least 21 days before filing the rule for adoption, the agency shall provide a copy of any regulatory alternative offered to the agency to the committee.

(III) If an agency does not adopt all alternatives offered pursuant to this sub-subparagraph, it shall, before rule adoption or amendment and pursuant to subparagraph (d)1., file a detailed written statement with the committee explaining the reasons for failure to adopt such alternatives. Within 3 working days after the filing of such notice, the agency shall send a copy of such notice to the rules ombudsman in the Executive Office of the Governor.

(c) Hearings.—

1. If the intended action concerns any rule other than one relating exclusively to procedure or practice, the agency shall, on the request of any affected person received within 21 days after the date of publication of the notice of intended agency action, give affected persons an opportunity to present evidence and argument on all issues under consideration. The agency may schedule a public hearing on the proposed rule and, if requested by any affected person, shall schedule a public hearing on the proposed rule. When a public hearing is held, the agency must ensure that staff are available to explain the agency's proposal and to respond to questions or comments regarding the proposed rule. If the agency head is a board or other collegial body created under s. 20.165(4) or s. 20.43(3)(g), and one or more

requested public hearings is scheduled, the board or other collegial body shall conduct at least one of the public hearings itself and may not delegate this responsibility without the consent of those persons requesting the public hearing. Any material pertinent to the issues under consideration submitted to the agency within 21 days after the date of publication of the notice or submitted to the agency between the date of publication of the notice and the end of the final public hearing shall be considered by the agency and made a part of the record of the rulemaking proceeding.

2. Rulemaking proceedings shall be governed solely by the provisions of this section unless a person timely asserts that the person’s substantial interests will be affected in the proceeding and affirmatively demonstrates to the agency that the proceeding does not provide adequate opportunity to protect those interests. If the agency determines that the rulemaking proceeding is not adequate to protect the person’s interests, it shall suspend the rulemaking proceeding and convene a separate proceeding under the provisions of ss. 120.569 and 120.57. The agency shall publish notice of convening a separate proceeding in the Florida Administrative Register. Similarly situated persons may be requested to join and participate in the separate proceeding. Upon conclusion of the separate proceeding, the rulemaking proceeding shall be resumed. All timelines in this section are tolled during any suspension of the rulemaking proceeding under this subparagraph, beginning on the date the notice of convening a separate proceeding is published and resuming on the day after the conclusion of the separate proceeding.

(d) Modification or withdrawal of proposed rules.—

1. After the final public hearing on the proposed rule, or after the time for requesting a hearing has expired, if the proposed rule has not been changed from the proposed rule as previously filed with the committee, or contains only technical changes, the adopting agency shall file a notice to that effect with the committee at least 7 days before ~~prior to~~ filing the proposed rule for adoption. Any change, other than a technical change ~~that does not affect the substance of the rule~~, must be supported by the record of public hearings held on the proposed rule, must be in response to written material submitted to the agency within 21 days after the date of publication of the notice of intended agency action or submitted to the agency between the date of publication of the notice and the end of the final public hearing, or must be in response to a proposed objection by the committee. Any change, other than a technical change, to a statement of estimated regulatory costs requires a notice of change. In addition, ~~when~~ any change, other than a technical change, to the text of ~~is made in~~ a proposed rule or any material incorporated by reference requires~~, other than a technical change,~~ the adopting agency to ~~shall~~ provide a copy of a notice of change by certified mail or actual delivery to any person who requests it in writing no later than 21 days after the notice required in paragraph (a). The agency shall file the notice of change with the committee, along with the reasons for the change, and provide the notice of change to persons requesting it, at least 21 days before ~~prior to~~ filing the proposed rule for adoption. The notice of change shall be published in the Florida Administrative Register at least 21

days before ~~prior to~~ filing the proposed rule for adoption. The notice of change must include a summary of any revision to a statement of estimated regulatory costs required by s. 120.541(1)(c). This subparagraph does not apply to emergency rules adopted pursuant to subsection (4). After December 31, 2022, material proposed to be incorporated by reference in the notice required by this paragraph must be made available in the manner prescribed by sub-subparagraph (1)(i)3.a. or sub-subparagraph (1)(i)3.b.

2. After the notice required by paragraph (a) and before ~~prior to~~ adoption, the agency may withdraw the proposed rule in whole or in part.

3. After the notice required by paragraph (a), the agency shall withdraw the proposed rule if the agency has failed to adopt it within the prescribed timeframes in this chapter. The committee shall notify the agency that it has exceeded the timeframe to adopt the proposed rule. If, 30 days after notice by the committee, the agency has not given notice of the withdrawal of the rule, the committee shall notify the Department of State that the date for adoption of the rule has expired, and the Department of State shall publish a notice of withdrawal of the proposed rule.

4.~~3.~~ After adoption and before the rule becomes effective, a rule may be modified or withdrawn only in the following circumstances:

a. When the committee objects to the rule;

b. When a final order, which is not subject to further appeal, is entered in a rule challenge brought pursuant to s. 120.56 after the date of adoption but before the rule becomes effective pursuant to subparagraph (e)6.;

c. If the rule requires ratification, when more than 90 days have passed since the rule was filed for adoption without the Legislature ratifying the rule, in which case the rule may be withdrawn but may not be modified; or

d. When the committee notifies the agency that an objection to the rule is being considered, in which case the rule may be modified to extend the effective date by not more than 60 days.

5.~~4.~~ The agency shall give notice of its decision to withdraw or modify a rule in the first available issue of the publication in which the original notice of rulemaking was published, shall notify those persons described in subparagraph (a)3. in accordance with the requirements of that subparagraph, and shall notify the Department of State if the rule is required to be filed with the Department of State.

6.~~5.~~ After a rule has become effective, it may be repealed or amended only through the rulemaking procedures specified in this chapter.

(e) Filing for final adoption; effective date.—

1. If the adopting agency is required to publish its rules in the Florida Administrative Code, the agency, upon approval of the agency head, shall file with the Department of State three certified copies of the rule it proposes to adopt; one copy of any material incorporated by reference in the rule, certified by the agency; a summary of the rule; a summary of any hearings held on the rule; and a detailed written statement of the facts and circumstances justifying the rule. Agencies not required to publish their rules in the Florida Administrative Code shall file one certified copy of the proposed rule, and the other material required by this subparagraph, in the office of the agency head, and such rules shall be open to the public.

2. A rule may not be filed for adoption less than 28 days or more than 90 days after the notice required by paragraph (a), until 21 days after the notice of change required by paragraph (d), until 14 days after the final public hearing, until 21 days after a statement of estimated regulatory costs required under s. 120.541 has been provided to all persons who submitted a lower cost regulatory alternative and made available to the public at a readily accessible page on the agency's website, or until the administrative law judge has rendered a decision under s. 120.56(2), whichever applies. When a required notice of change is published before ~~prior to~~ the expiration of the time to file the rule for adoption, the period during which a rule must be filed for adoption is extended to 45 days after the date of publication. If notice of a public hearing is published before ~~prior to~~ the expiration of the time to file the rule for adoption, the period during which a rule must be filed for adoption is extended to 45 days after adjournment of the final hearing on the rule, 21 days after receipt of all material authorized to be submitted at the hearing, or 21 days after receipt of the transcript, if one is made, whichever is latest. The term "public hearing" includes any public meeting held by any agency at which the rule is considered. If a petition for an administrative determination under s. 120.56(2) is filed, the period during which a rule must be filed for adoption is extended to 60 days after the administrative law judge files the final order with the clerk or until 60 days after subsequent judicial review is complete.

3. At the time a rule is filed, the agency shall certify that the time limitations prescribed by this paragraph have been complied with, that all statutory rulemaking requirements have been met, and that there is no administrative determination pending on the rule.

4. At the time a rule is filed, the committee shall certify whether the agency has responded in writing to all material and timely written comments or written inquiries made on behalf of the committee. The Department of State shall reject any rule that is not filed within the prescribed time limits; that does not comply with all statutory rulemaking requirements and rules of the Department of State; upon which an agency has not responded in writing to all material and timely written inquiries or written comments; upon which an administrative determination is pending; or which does not include a statement of estimated regulatory costs, if required.

5. If a rule has not been adopted within the time limits imposed by this paragraph or has not been adopted in compliance with all statutory rulemaking requirements, the agency proposing the rule shall withdraw the proposed rule and give notice of its action in the next available issue of the Florida Administrative Register.

6. The proposed rule shall be adopted on being filed with the Department of State and become effective 20 days after being filed, on a later date specified in the notice required by subparagraph (a)1., on a date required by statute, or upon ratification by the Legislature pursuant to s. 120.541(3). Rules not required to be filed with the Department of State shall become effective when adopted by the agency head, on a later date specified by rule or statute, or upon ratification by the Legislature pursuant to s. 120.541(3). If the committee notifies an agency that an objection to a rule is being considered, the agency may postpone the adoption of the rule to accommodate review of the rule by the committee. When an agency postpones adoption of a rule to accommodate review by the committee, the 90-day period for filing the rule is tolled until the committee notifies the agency that it has completed its review of the rule.

For the purposes of this paragraph, the term "administrative determination" does not include subsequent judicial review.

(4) EMERGENCY RULES.—

(e) Emergency rules shall be published in the Florida Administrative Code.

(f) An agency may not supersede an emergency rule currently in effect.

(g) An agency may make technical changes to an emergency rule within the first 7 days after the rule is adopted and must publish a notice of the technical change in the Florida Administrative Register.

(7) PETITION TO INITIATE RULEMAKING.—

(a) Any person regulated by an agency or having substantial interest in an agency rule may petition an agency to adopt, amend, or repeal a rule or to provide the minimum public information required by this chapter. The petition shall specify the proposed rule and action requested. The agency shall file a copy of the petition with the committee. Not later than 30 calendar days following the date of filing a petition, the agency shall initiate rulemaking proceedings under this chapter, otherwise comply with the requested action, or deny the petition with a written statement of its reasons for the denial.

Section 3. Section 120.541, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

120.541 Statement of estimated regulatory costs.—

(1)(a) Within 21 days after publication of the notice of a proposed rule or notice of change ~~required under s. 120.54(3)(a)~~, a substantially affected person may submit to an agency a good faith written proposal for a lower cost regulatory alternative to a proposed rule which substantially accomplishes the objectives of the law being implemented. The agency shall provide a copy of any proposal for a lower cost regulatory alternative to the committee at least 21 days before filing the rule for adoption. The proposal may include the alternative of not adopting any rule if the proposal explains how the lower costs and objectives of the law will be achieved by not adopting any rule. If submitted after a notice of change, a proposal for a lower cost regulatory alternative is deemed to be made in good faith only if the person reasonably believes, and the proposal states the person’s reasons for believing, that the proposed rule as changed by the notice of change increases the regulatory costs or creates an adverse impact on small businesses that was not created by the previous proposed rule. If such a proposal is submitted, the 90-day period for filing the rule is extended 21 days. Upon the submission of the lower cost regulatory alternative, the agency shall prepare a statement of estimated regulatory costs as provided in subsection (2), or shall revise its prior statement of estimated regulatory costs, and ~~either~~

adopt the alternative proposal, reject the alternative proposal, or modify the proposed rule to reduce the regulatory costs. If the agency rejects the alternative proposal or modifies the proposed rule, the agency shall ~~or~~ provide a statement of the reasons for rejecting the alternative in favor of the proposed rule.

(b) If a proposed rule will have an adverse impact on small business or if the proposed rule is likely to directly or indirectly increase regulatory costs in excess of $200,000 in the aggregate within 1 year after the implementation of the rule, the agency shall prepare a statement of estimated regulatory costs as required by s. 120.54(3)(b).

(c) The agency shall revise a statement of estimated regulatory costs if any change to the rule made under s. 120.54(3)(d) increases the regulatory costs of the rule or if the rule is modified in response to the submission of a lower cost regulatory alternative. A summary of the revised statement must be included with any subsequent notice published under s. 120.54(3).

(d) At least 21 days before filing the proposed rule for adoption, an agency that is required to revise a statement of estimated regulatory costs shall provide the statement to the person who submitted the lower cost regulatory alternative, to the rules ombudsman in the Executive Office of the Governor, and to the committee. The revised statement shall be published and made available in the same manner as the original statement of estimated regulatory costs ~~and shall provide notice on the agency's website that it is available to the public~~.

agency to prepare and publish a statement of estimated regulatory costs or to respond to a written lower cost regulatory alternative as provided in this subsection is a material failure to follow the applicable rulemaking procedures or requirements set forth in this chapter.

(f) An agency's failure to prepare and publish a statement of estimated regulatory costs or to respond to a written lower cost regulatory alternative may not be raised in a proceeding challenging the validity of a rule pursuant to s. 120.52(8)(a) unless:

1. Raised in a petition filed no later than 1 year after the effective date of the rule; and

2. Raised by a person whose substantial interests are affected by the rule's regulatory costs.

(g) A rule that is challenged pursuant to s. 120.52(8)(f) may not be declared invalid unless:

1. The issue is raised in an administrative proceeding within 1 year after the effective date of the rule;

2. The challenge is to the agency's rejection of a lower cost regulatory alternative offered under paragraph (a) or s. 120.54(3)(b)2.c. ~~s. 120.54(3)(b)2.b.~~; and

3. The substantial interests of the person challenging the rule are materially affected by the rejection.

(2) A statement of estimated regulatory costs must ~~shall~~ include:

(a) An economic analysis showing whether the rule directly or indirectly:

1. Is likely to have an adverse impact on economic growth, private sector job creation or employment, or private sector investment in excess of $1 million in the aggregate within 5 years after the implementation of the rule;

2. Is likely to have an adverse impact on business competitiveness, including the ability of persons doing business in the state to compete with persons doing business in other states or domestic markets, productivity, or innovation in excess of $1 million in the aggregate within 5 years after the implementation of the rule; or

3. Is likely to increase regulatory costs, including all ~~any transactional~~ costs and impacts estimated in the statement of estimated regulatory costs, in excess of $1 million in the aggregate within 5 years after the implementation of the rule.

(b) A good faith estimate of the number of individuals, small businesses, and other entities likely to be required to comply with the rule, together with a general description of the types of individuals likely to be affected by the rule.

(c) A good faith estimate of the cost to the agency, and to any other state and local government entities, of implementing and enforcing the proposed rule, and any anticipated effect on state or local revenues.

(d) A good faith estimate of the compliance ~~transactional~~ costs likely to be incurred by individuals and entities, including local government entities, required to comply with the requirements of the rule. ~~As used in this section, "transactional costs" are direct costs that are readily ascertainable based upon standard business practices, and include filing fees, the cost of obtaining a license, the cost of equipment required to be installed or used or procedures required to be employed in complying with the rule, additional~~

~~operating costs incurred, the cost of monitoring and reporting, and any other costs necessary to comply with the rule.~~

(e) An analysis of the impact on small businesses as defined in ~~by~~ s. 288.703~~,~~ and an analysis of the impact on small counties and small cities as defined in s. 120.52. The impact analysis for small businesses must include the basis for the agency's decision not to implement alternatives that would reduce adverse impacts on small businesses.

(f) Any additional information that the agency determines may be useful.

(g) In the statement or revised statement, whichever applies, a description of any regulatory alternatives submitted under paragraph (1)(a) and a statement adopting the alternative or a statement of the reasons for rejecting the alternative in favor of the proposed rule.

(3) If the adverse impact or regulatory costs of the rule exceed any of the criteria established in paragraph (2)(a), the rule shall be submitted to the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives no later than 30 days before ~~prior to~~ the next regular legislative session, and the rule may not take effect until it is ratified by the Legislature.

(4) Subsection (3) does not apply to the adoption of:

(a) Federal standards pursuant to s. 120.54(6).

(b) Triennial updates of and amendments to the Florida Building Code which are expressly authorized by s. 553.73.

(c) Triennial updates of and amendments to the Florida Fire Prevention Code which are expressly authorized by s. 633.202.

(d) Emergency rules adopted pursuant to s. 120.54(4).

(5) For purposes of subsections (2) and (3), adverse impacts and regulatory costs likely to occur within 5 years after implementation of the rule include adverse impacts and regulatory costs estimated to occur within 5 years after the effective date of the rule. However, if any provision of the rule is not fully implemented upon the effective date of the rule, the adverse impacts and regulatory costs associated with such provision must be adjusted to include any additional adverse impacts and regulatory costs estimated to occur within 5 years after implementation of such provision.

(6)(a) In evaluating the impacts described in paragraphs (2)(a) and (e), an agency shall include good faith estimates of market impacts likely to result from compliance with the proposed rule, including:

1. Increased customer charges for goods or services.

2. Decreased market value of goods or services produced, provided, or sold.

3. Increased costs resulting from the purchase of substitute or alternative goods or services.

4. The reasonable value of time to be spent by owners, officers, operators, and managers to understand and comply with the proposed rule, including, but not limited to, time to be spent to complete required education, training, or testing.

5. Capital costs.

6. Any other impacts suggested by the rules ombudsman in the Executive Office of the Governor or interested persons.

(b) In estimating and analyzing the information required in paragraphs (2)(b)-(e), the agency may use surveys of individuals, businesses, business organizations, counties, and municipalities to collect data helpful to estimate and analyze the costs and impacts.

(c) In estimating compliance costs under paragraph (2)(d), the agency shall consider, among other matters, all direct and indirect costs necessary to comply with the proposed rule that are readily ascertainable based upon standard business practices, including, but not limited to, costs related to:

1. Filing fees.

2. Expenses to obtain a license.

3. Necessary equipment.

4. Installation, utilities, and maintenance of necessary equipment.

5. Necessary operations and procedures.

6. Accounting, financial, information management, and other administrative processes.

7. Other processes.

8. Labor based on relevant rates of wages, salaries, and benefits.

9. Materials and supplies.

10. Capital expenditures, including financing costs.

11. Professional and technical services, including contracted services necessary to implement and maintain compliance.

12. Monitoring and reporting.

13. Qualifying and recurring education, training, and testing.

14. Travel.

15. Insurance and surety requirements.

16. A fair and reasonable allocation of administrative costs and other overhead.

17. Reduced sales or other revenues.

18. Other items suggested by the rules ombudsman in the Executive Office of the Governor or any interested person, business organization, or business representative.

(7)(a) The Department of State shall include on the Florida Administrative Register website the agency website addresses where statements of estimated regulatory costs may be viewed in their entirety.

(b) An agency that prepares a statement of estimated regulatory costs must provide, as part of the notice required under s. 120.54(3)(a), the agency website address where the statement of estimated regulatory costs can be read in its entirety to the Department of State for publication in the Florida Administrative Register.

(c) If an agency revises its statement of estimated regulatory costs, the agency must provide notice that a revision has been made as provided in s. 120.54(3)(d). Such notice must include the agency website address where the revision can be viewed in its entirety.

Section 4. Subsections (1) and (2) of section 120.545, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

120.545 Committee review of agency rules.—

(1) As a legislative check on legislatively created authority, the committee shall examine each existing rule and proposed rule, except for those proposed rules exempted by s. 120.81(1)(e) and (2), and its accompanying material, and each emergency rule, ~~and may examine any existing rule,~~ for the purpose of determining whether:

(a) The rule is an invalid exercise of delegated legislative authority.

(b) The statutory authority for the rule has been repealed.

(c) The rule reiterates or paraphrases statutory material.

(d) The rule is in proper form.

(e) The notice given before ~~prior to~~ its adoption was sufficient to give adequate notice of the purpose and effect of the rule.

(f) The rule is consistent with expressed legislative intent pertaining to the specific provisions of law which the rule implements.

(g) The rule is necessary to accomplish the apparent or expressed objectives of the specific provision of law which the rule implements.

(h) The rule is a reasonable implementation of the law as it affects the convenience of the general public or persons particularly affected by the rule.

(i) The rule could be made less complex or more easily comprehensible to the general public.

(j) The rule’s statement of estimated regulatory costs complies with the requirements of s. 120.541 and whether the rule does not impose regulatory costs on the regulated person, county, or city which could be reduced by the adoption of less costly alternatives that substantially accomplish the statutory objectives.

(k) The rule will require additional appropriations.

(l) If the rule is an emergency rule, there exists an emergency justifying the adoption of such rule, the agency is within its statutory authority, and the rule was adopted in compliance with the requirements and limitations of s. 120.54(4).

(2) The committee may request from an agency such information as is reasonably necessary for examination of a rule as required by subsection (1). The committee shall consult with legislative standing committees having jurisdiction over the subject areas. If the committee objects to a rule, the committee shall, within 5 days after the objection, certify that fact to the agency whose rule has been examined and include with the certification a statement detailing its objections with particularity. The committee may file an objection for the failure of an agency to repeal or amend an existing rule which the committee identifies as being inconsistent with the powers and duties granted by its enabling statute or having no enabling statute. The committee shall notify the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the Senate of any objection to an agency rule concurrent with certification of that fact to the agency. Such notice shall include a copy of the rule and the statement detailing the committee's objections to the rule.

Section 5. Paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of subsection (1) of section 120.55, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

120.55 Publication.—

(1) The Department of State shall:

adopted, all history notes as authorized in s. 120.545(7), complete indexes to all rules and any material incorporated by reference contained in the code, and any other material required or authorized by law or deemed useful by the department. The electronic code shall display each rule chapter currently in effect in browse mode and allow full text search of the code and each rule chapter. The department may contract with a publishing firm for a printed publication; however, the department shall retain responsibility for the code as provided in this section. The electronic publication shall be the official compilation of the administrative rules of this state. The Department of State shall retain the copyright over the Florida Administrative Code.

2. Not publish in the Florida Administrative Code rules general in form but applicable to only one school district, community college district, or county, or a part thereof, or state university rules relating to internal personnel or business and finance ~~shall not be published in the Florida Administrative Code~~. Exclusion from publication in the Florida Administrative Code does ~~shall~~ not affect the validity or effectiveness of such rules.

3. At the beginning of the section of the code dealing with an agency that files copies of its rules with the department, ~~the department shall~~ publish the address and telephone number of the executive offices of each agency, the manner by which the agency indexes its rules, a listing of all rules of that agency excluded from publication in the code, a listing of all forms and material incorporated by reference adopted by rule which are used by the agency, and a statement as to where those rules may be inspected.

4. Not publish forms ~~shall not be published~~ in the Florida Administrative Code. However,~~; but~~ any form that ~~which~~ an agency uses in its dealings with the public, along with any accompanying instructions, shall be filed with the committee before it is used. Any form or instruction which meets the definition of the term "rule" as defined ~~provided~~ in s. 120.52 shall be incorporated by reference into the appropriate rule. The reference shall specifically state that the form is being incorporated by reference and shall include the number, title, and effective date of the form and an explanation of how the form may be obtained. Each form created by an agency which is incorporated by reference in a rule notice of which is given under s. 120.54(3)(a) after December 31, 2007, must clearly display the number, title, and effective date of the form and the number of the rule in which the form is incorporated.

5. Require all materials incorporated by reference in any part of an adopted rule after December 31, 2022, ~~The department shall allow adopted rules and material incorporated by reference~~ to be filed in the manner prescribed by s. 120.54(1)(i)3.a. or b. ~~electronic form as prescribed by department rule.~~ When a rule is filed for adoption with incorporated material in electronic form, the department's publication of the Florida Administrative Code on its website must contain a hyperlink from the incorporating reference in the rule directly to that material. The department may not allow hyperlinks from rules in the Florida Administrative Code to any material other than that filed with and maintained by the department, but may allow hyperlinks to incorporated material maintained by the department from the adopting agency's website or other sites.

6. Include the date of any technical changes to a rule in the history note of the rule in the Florida Administrative Code. A technical change does not affect the effective date of the rule. A technical change made after the adoption of a rule must be published as a notice of correction.

(b)1. Electronically publish on a website managed by the department a continuous revision and publication entitled the "Florida Administrative Register," which shall serve as the official publication. The Florida Administrative Register shall be published once daily by 8 a.m. If after publication, a rule is corrected and replaced, the Florida Administrative Register shall indicate:

a. That the Florida Administrative Register has been republished.

b. The rule that has been corrected by the Department of State.

2. The Florida Administrative Register ~~and~~ must contain:

a.~~1.~~ All notices required by s. 120.54(2) and (3)(a), showing the text of all rules proposed for consideration.

b.~~2.~~ All notices of public meetings, hearings, and workshops conducted in accordance with s. 120.525, including a statement of the manner in which a copy of the agenda may be obtained.

c.~~3.~~ A notice of each request for authorization to amend or repeal an existing uniform rule or for the adoption of new uniform rules.

d.~~4.~~ Notice of petitions for declaratory statements or administrative determinations.

e.~~5.~~ A summary of each objection to any rule filed by the 734958

Administrative Procedures Committee.

f.~~6.~~ A list of rules filed for adoption in the previous 7 days.

g.~~7.~~ A list of all rules filed for adoption pending legislative ratification under s. 120.541(3). A rule shall be removed from the list once notice of ratification or withdrawal of the rule is received.

h.~~8.~~ Any other material required or authorized by law or deemed useful by the department.

The department may contract with a publishing firm for a printed publication of the Florida Administrative Register and make copies available on an annual subscription basis.

(c) Prescribe by rule the style and form required for rules, notices, and other materials submitted for filing, including a rule requiring documents created by an agency that are proposed to be incorporated by reference in notices published pursuant to s. 120.54(3)(a) and (d) to be coded in the same manner as notices published pursuant to s. 120.54(3)(a)1.

Section 6. Section 120.74, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

120.74 Agency annual rulemaking and regulatory plans; reports.—

(1) REGULATORY PLAN.—By October 1 of each year, each agency shall prepare a regulatory plan.

(a) The plan must include a listing of each law enacted or amended during the previous 12 months which creates or modifies the duties or authority of the agency. If the Governor or the Attorney General provides a letter to the committee stating that a law affects all or most agencies, the agency may exclude the law from its plan. For each law listed by an agency under this paragraph, the plan must state:

1. Whether the agency must adopt rules to implement the law.

2. If rulemaking is necessary to implement the law:

a. Whether a notice of rule development has been published and, if so, the citation to such notice in the Florida Administrative Register.

b. The date by which the agency expects to publish the notice of proposed rule under s. 120.54(3)(a).

3. If rulemaking is not necessary to implement the law, a concise written explanation of the reasons why the law may be implemented without rulemaking.

(b) The plan must also identify and describe each rule, including each rule number or proposed rule number, that ~~include a listing of each law not otherwise listed pursuant to paragraph (a) which~~ the agency expects to develop, adopt, or repeal for the 12-month period beginning on October 1 and ending on September 30 ~~implement by rulemaking before the following July 1~~, excluding emergency rules ~~except emergency rulemaking~~. For each rule identified and described ~~law listed~~ under this paragraph, the plan must state whether the rulemaking is intended to simplify, clarify, increase efficiency, improve coordination with other agencies, reduce regulatory costs, or delete obsolete, unnecessary, or redundant rules.

(c) The plan must include any desired update to the prior year's regulatory plan or supplement published pursuant to subsection (7). If, in a prior year, a law was identified under this paragraph or under subparagraph (a)1. as a law requiring rulemaking to implement but a notice of proposed rule has not been published:

1. The agency shall identify and again list such law, noting the applicable notice of rule development by citation to the Florida Administrative Register; or

2. If the agency has subsequently determined that rulemaking is not necessary to implement the law, the agency shall identify such law, reference the citation to the applicable notice of rule development in the Florida Administrative Register, and provide a concise written explanation of the reason why the law may be implemented without rulemaking.

(d)1. The plan must include a schedule for the agency to review its rules for consistency with the powers and duties granted by the enabling statutes in accordance with this paragraph. Each agency must review all of its rules existing before July 1, 2022, in accordance with this paragraph by July 1, 2027. All rules adopted on or after July 1, 2022, and all existing rules reviewed initially by July 1, 2027, shall be reviewed every 10 years after their respective dates of adoption or review. This schedule shall be updated on an annual basis to ensure that all rules are reviewed every 10 years after their respective dates of adoption or review.

2. The plan must include an index and summary of rules reviewed during the previous year listed by number and title. The index must indicate:

a. The rules reviewed pursuant to this paragraph that are consistent with the powers and duties granted by the enabling

b. The rules reviewed pursuant to this paragraph that require amendments to remove portions of the rule that are inconsistent with the powers and duties granted by the enabling statute. A summary of the required amendments and a schedule for such rulemaking shall be provided.

c. The rules reviewed pursuant to this paragraph that will be repealed in their entirety because there is no enabling statute. A schedule for the repeal of such rules shall be provided.

d. A list of all statutes and laws, or parts thereof, that grant duplicative, redundant, or unused rulemaking authority, as set out in s. 11.242(5)(j), and a recommendation as to what statutes, laws, or parts thereof, should be repealed. The agency must also provide the list to the Division of Law Revision.

(e) The plan must include a certification executed on behalf of the agency by both the agency head, or, if the agency head is a collegial body, the presiding officer; and the individual acting as principal legal advisor to the agency head. The certification must declare:

1. ~~Verify~~ That the persons executing the certification have reviewed the plan.

2. ~~Verify~~ That the agency regularly reviews all of its rules and identify the period during which all rules have most recently been reviewed to determine if the rules remain consistent with the agency's rulemaking authority and the laws implemented.

3. That the agency understands that regulatory accountability is necessary to ensure public confidence in the integrity of state government and, to that end, the agency is diligently working toward reducing the number of regulatory requirements consistent with the agency's rulemaking authority and the laws implemented.

4. The total number of rules adopted and repealed during the previous 12 months.

5. That all actions set forth in the prior annual regulatory plan have been completed or are on a schedule to be completed.

6. That all materials incorporated by reference in the rules reviewed are available in the manner prescribed by s. 120.54(1)(i)3.a. or b.

(2) PUBLICATION AND DELIVERY TO THE COMMITTEE.—

(a) By October 1 of each year, each agency shall:

1. Publish its regulatory plan on its website or on another state website established for publication of administrative law records. A clearly labeled hyperlink to the current plan must be included on the agency's primary website homepage.

2. Electronically deliver to the committee a copy of the certification required in paragraph (1)(e) ~~(1)(d)~~.

3. Publish in the Florida Administrative Register a notice identifying the date of publication of the agency's regulatory plan. The notice must include a hyperlink or website address providing direct access to the published plan.

(b) To satisfy the requirements of paragraph (a), a board established under s. 20.165(4), and any other board or commission receiving administrative support from the Department of Business and Professional Regulation, may coordinate with the Department of Business and Professional Regulation, and a board established under s. 20.43(3)(g) may coordinate with the Department of Health, for inclusion of the board's or commission's plan and notice of publication in the coordinating department's plan and notice and for the delivery of the required documentation to the committee.

(c) A regulatory plan prepared under subsection (1) and any regulatory plan published under this chapter before July 1, 2014, shall be maintained at an active website for 10 years after the date of initial publication on the agency's website or another state website.

(3) DEPARTMENT REVIEW OF BOARD PLAN.—By October 15 of each year:

(a) For each board established under s. 20.165(4) and any other board or commission receiving administrative support from the Department of Business and Professional Regulation, the Department of Business and Professional Regulation shall file with the committee a certification that the department has reviewed each board's and commission's regulatory plan. A certification may relate to more than one board or commission.

(b) For each board established under s. 20.43(3)(g), the Department of Health shall file with the committee a certification that the department has reviewed the board's regulatory plan. A certification may relate to more than one board.

(4) DEADLINE FOR RULE DEVELOPMENT.—By November 1 of each year, each agency shall publish a notice of rule development under s. 120.54(2) for each law identified in the agency's regulatory plan pursuant to subparagraph (1)(a)1. for which rulemaking is necessary to implement but for which the agency did not report the publication of a notice of rule development under subparagraph (1)(a)2.

(5) DEADLINE TO PUBLISH PROPOSED RULE.—For each law for which implementing rulemaking is necessary as identified in the agency's plan pursuant to subparagraph (1)(a)1. or subparagraph (1)(c)1., the agency shall publish a notice of proposed rule pursuant to s. 120.54(3)(a) by April 1 of the year following the deadline for the regulatory plan. This deadline may be extended if the agency publishes a notice of extension in the Florida Administrative Register identifying each rulemaking proceeding for which an extension is being noticed by citation to the applicable notice of rule development as published in the Florida Administrative Register. The agency shall include a concise statement in the notice of extension identifying any issues that are causing the delay in rulemaking. An extension shall expire on October 1 after the April 1 deadline, provided that the regulatory plan due on October 1 may further extend the rulemaking proceeding by identification pursuant to subparagraph (1)(c)1. or conclude the rulemaking proceeding by identification pursuant to subparagraph (1)(c)2. A published regulatory plan may be corrected at any time to accomplish the purpose of extending or concluding an affected rulemaking proceeding and is deemed corrected as of the October 1 due date. Upon publication of a correction, the agency shall publish in the Florida Administrative Register a notice of the date of the correction identifying the affected rulemaking proceeding by applicable citation to the Florida Administrative Register.

(6) CERTIFICATIONS.—Each agency shall file a certification with the committee upon compliance with subsection (4) and upon filing a notice under subsection (5) of either a deadline extension or a regulatory plan correction. A certification may relate to more than one notice or contemporaneous act. The date or dates of compliance shall be noted in each certification.

(7) SUPPLEMENTING THE REGULATORY PLAN.—After publication of the regulatory plan, the agency shall supplement the plan within 30 days after a bill becomes a law if the law is enacted before the next regular session of the Legislature and the law substantively modifies the agency's specifically delegated legal duties, unless the law affects all or most state agencies as identified by letter to the committee from the Governor or the Attorney General. The supplement must include the information required in paragraph (1)(a) and shall be published as required in subsection (2), but no certification or delivery to the committee is required. The agency shall publish in the Florida Administrative Register notice of publication of the supplement, and include a hyperlink on its website or web address for direct access to the published supplement. For each law reported in the supplement, if rulemaking is necessary to implement the law, the agency shall publish a notice of rule development by the later of the date provided in subsection (4) or 60 days after the bill becomes a law, and a notice of proposed rule shall be published by the later of the date provided in subsection (5) or 120 days after the bill becomes a law. The proposed rule deadline may be extended to the following October 1 by notice as provided in subsection (5). If such proposed rule has not been filed by October 1, a law included in a supplement shall also be included in the next annual plan pursuant to subsection (1).

requirement of subsection (1), paragraph (2)(a), or subsection (5), within 15 days after written demand from the committee or from the chair of any other legislative committee, the agency shall deliver a written explanation of the reasons for noncompliance to the committee, the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the chair of any legislative committee requesting the explanation of the reasons for noncompliance.

(9) EDUCATIONAL UNITS.—This section does not apply to educational units.

Section 7. This act shall take effect July 1, 2022.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Present subsections (16) through (19) and (20) through (22) of section 120.52, Florida Statutes, are redesignated as subsections (17) through (20) and subsections

(22) through (24), respectively, and new subsections (16) and (21) are added to that section, to read:

120.52 Definitions.—As used in this act:

(16) "Repromulgation" means the publication and adoption of an existing rule following an agency's review of the rule for consistency with the powers and duties granted by its enabling statute.

(21) "Technical change" means a change limited to correcting grammatical, typographical, or similar errors not affecting the substance of the rule.

Section 2. Paragraph (i) of subsection (1), subsections (2) and (3), and paragraph (a) of subsection (7) of section 120.54, Florida Statutes, are amended, and paragraphs (e) and (f) are added to subsection (4) of that section, to read:

120.54 Rulemaking.—

(1) GENERAL PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO ALL RULES OTHER THAN EMERGENCY RULES.—

(i)1. A rule may incorporate material by reference but only as the material exists on the date the rule is adopted. For purposes of the rule, changes in the material are not effective unless the rule is amended to incorporate the changes.

2. An agency rule that incorporates by specific reference another rule of that agency automatically incorporates subsequent amendments to the referenced rule unless a contrary intent is clearly indicated in the referencing rule. A notice of amendments to a rule that has been incorporated by specific reference in other rules of that agency must explain the effect of those amendments on the referencing rules.

3. In rules adopted after December 31, 2010, and rules repromulgated on or after July 1, 2022, material may not be incorporated by reference unless:

a. The material has been submitted in the prescribed electronic format to the Department of State and the full text of the material can be made available for free public access through an electronic hyperlink from the rule making the reference in the Florida Administrative Code; or

b. The agency has determined that posting the material on the Internet for purposes of public examination and inspection would constitute a violation of federal copyright law, in which case a statement to that effect, along with the address of locations at the Department of State and the agency at which the material is available for public inspection and examination, must be included in the notice required by subparagraph (3)(a)1.

4. A rule may not be amended by reference only. Amendments must set out the amended rule in full in the same manner as required by the State Constitution for laws.

5. Notwithstanding any contrary provision in this section, when an adopted rule of the Department of Environmental Protection or a water management district is incorporated by reference in the other agency's rule to implement a provision of part IV of chapter 373, subsequent amendments to the rule are not effective as to the incorporating rule unless the agency incorporating by reference notifies the committee and the Department of State of its intent to adopt the subsequent amendment, publishes notice of such intent in the Florida Administrative Register, and files with the Department of State a copy of the amended rule incorporated by reference. Changes in the rule incorporated by reference are effective as to the other agency 20 days after the date of the published notice and filing with the Department of State. The Department of State shall amend the history note of the incorporating rule to show the effective date of such change. Any substantially affected person may, within 14 days after the date of publication of the notice of intent in the Florida Administrative Register, file an objection to rulemaking with the agency. The objection shall specify the portions of the rule incorporated by reference to which the person objects and the reasons for the objection. The agency does ~~shall~~ not have the authority under this subparagraph to adopt those portions of the rule specified in such objection. The agency shall publish notice of the objection and of its action in response in the next available issue of the Florida Administrative Register.

6. The Department of State may adopt by rule requirements for incorporating materials pursuant to this paragraph.

(2) RULE DEVELOPMENT; WORKSHOPS; NEGOTIATED RULEMAKING.—

(a)1. Except when the intended action is the repeal of a rule, agencies shall provide notice of the development of proposed rules by publication of a notice of rule development in the Florida Administrative Register before providing notice of a proposed rule as required by paragraph (3)(a). The notice of rule development must ~~shall~~ indicate the subject area to be addressed by rule development, provide a short, plain explanation of the purpose and effect of the proposed rule, cite the grant of rulemaking authority for the proposed rule and the law being implemented ~~specific legal authority for the proposed rule~~, and include the proposed rule number and the preliminary text of the proposed rules, if available, or a statement of how a person may promptly obtain, without cost, a copy of any preliminary draft, when ~~if~~ available.

2. If a notice of a proposed rule is not filed within 12 months after the notice of rule development, the agency must withdraw the rule and give notice of the withdrawal in the next available issue of the Florida Administrative Register.

(b) All rules must ~~should~~ be drafted in readable language. The language is readable if:

1. It avoids the use of obscure words and unnecessarily long or complicated constructions; and

2. It avoids the use of unnecessary technical or specialized language that is understood only by members of particular trades or professions.

(c) An agency may hold public workshops for purposes of rule development. If requested in writing by any affected person, an agency must hold public workshops, including workshops in various regions of the state or the agency's service area, for purposes of rule development ~~if requested in writing by any affected person~~, unless the agency head explains in writing why a workshop is unnecessary. The explanation is not final agency action subject to review pursuant to ss. 120.569 and 120.57. The failure to provide the explanation when required may be a material error in procedure pursuant to s. 120.56(1)(c). When a workshop or public hearing is held, the agency must ensure that the persons responsible for preparing the proposed rule are available to receive public input, to explain the agency's proposal, and to respond to questions or comments regarding the rule being developed. The workshop may be facilitated or mediated by a neutral third person, or the agency may employ other types of dispute resolution alternatives for the workshop which ~~that~~ are appropriate for rule development. Notice of a workshop for rule development must ~~workshop shall~~ be by publication in the Florida Administrative Register not less than 14 days before ~~prior to~~ the date on which the workshop is scheduled to be held and must ~~shall~~ indicate the subject area that ~~which~~ will be addressed; the agency contact person; and the place, date, and time of the workshop.

(d)1. An agency may use negotiated rulemaking in developing and adopting rules. The agency should consider the use of negotiated rulemaking when complex rules are being drafted or strong opposition to the rules is anticipated. The agency should consider, but is not limited to considering, whether a balanced committee of interested persons who will negotiate in good faith can be assembled, whether the agency is willing to support the work of the negotiating committee, and whether the agency can use the group consensus as the basis for its proposed rule. Negotiated rulemaking uses a committee of designated representatives to draft a mutually acceptable proposed rule.

2. An agency that chooses to use the negotiated rulemaking process described in this paragraph shall publish in the Florida Administrative Register a notice of negotiated rulemaking which ~~that~~ includes a listing of the representative groups that will be invited to participate in the negotiated rulemaking process. Any person who believes that his or her interest is not adequately represented may apply to participate within 30 days after publication of the notice. All meetings of the negotiating committee shall be noticed and open to the public pursuant to ~~the provisions of~~ this chapter. The negotiating committee shall be chaired by a neutral facilitator or mediator.

3. The agency's decision to use negotiated rulemaking, its selection of the representative groups, and approval or denial of an application to participate in the negotiated rulemaking process are not agency action. ~~Nothing in~~ This subparagraph is not intended to affect the rights of a substantially ~~an~~ affected person to challenge a proposed rule developed under this paragraph in accordance with s. 120.56(2).

(3) ADOPTION PROCEDURES.—

(a) Notices.—

provided by s. 120.541(1), must do so in writing within 21 days after publication of the notice; and a statement as to whether, based on the statement of the estimated regulatory costs or other information expressly relied upon and described by the agency if no statement of regulatory costs is required, the proposed rule is expected to require legislative ratification pursuant to s. 120.541(3). The notice must state the procedure for requesting a public hearing on the proposed rule. Except when the intended action is the repeal of a rule, the notice must include a reference both to the date on which and to the place where the notice of rule development that is required by subsection (2) appeared.

2. The notice shall be published in the Florida Administrative Register at least 7 days after the publication of the notice of rule development and at least ~~not less than~~ 28 days before ~~prior to~~ the intended action. The proposed rule, including all materials proposed to be incorporated by reference and the statement of estimated regulatory costs, if one has been prepared, must ~~shall~~ be available for inspection and copying by the public at the time of the publication of notice. Material proposed to be incorporated by reference in the notice must be made available in the manner prescribed by sub-subparagraph (1)(i)3.a. or sub-subparagraph (1)(i)3.b.

3. The notice shall be mailed to all persons named in the proposed rule and mailed or delivered electronically to all persons who, at least 14 days before publication of the notice ~~prior to such mailing~~, have made requests of the agency for advance notice of its proceedings. The agency shall also give such notice as is prescribed by rule to those particular classes of persons to whom the intended action is directed.

4. The adopting agency shall file with the committee, at least 21 days before ~~prior to~~ the proposed adoption date, a copy of each rule it proposes to adopt; a copy of any material incorporated by reference in the rule; a detailed written statement of the facts and circumstances justifying the proposed rule; a copy of any statement of estimated regulatory costs that has been prepared pursuant to s. 120.541; a statement of the extent to which the proposed rule relates to federal standards or rules on the same subject; and the notice required by subparagraph 1.

(b) Special matters to be considered in rule adoption.—

1. Statement of estimated regulatory costs.—Before the adoption , amendment, or repeal of any rule other than an emergency rule, an agency is encouraged to prepare a statement of estimated regulatory costs of the proposed rule, as provided by s. 120.541. However, an agency must prepare a statement of estimated regulatory costs of the proposed rule, as provided by s. 120.541, if:

a. The proposed rule will have an adverse impact on small business; or

b. The proposed rule is likely to directly or indirectly increase regulatory costs in excess of $200,000 in the aggregate in this state within 1 year after the implementation of the rule.

2. Small businesses, small counties, and small cities.—

a. For purposes of this subsection and s. 120.541(2), an adverse impact on small businesses, as defined in s. 288.703 or sub-subparagraph b., exists if, for any small business:

(I) An owner, an officer, an operator, or a manager must complete any education, training, or testing to comply with the rule in the first year or is likely to spend at least 10 hours or to purchase professional advice to understand and comply with the rule in the first year;

(II) Taxes or fees assessed on transactions are likely to increase by $500 or more in the aggregate in 1 year;

(III) Prices charged for goods and services are restricted or are likely to increase because of the rule;

(IV) Specially trained, licensed, or tested employees will be required because of the rule;

(V) Operating costs are expected to increase by at least $1,000 annually because of the rule; or

(VI) Capital expenditures in excess of $1,000 are necessary to comply with the rule.

b. Each agency, before the adoption, amendment, or repeal of a rule, shall consider the impact of the rule on small businesses as defined in ~~by~~ s. 288.703 and the impact of the rule on small counties or small cities as defined in ~~by~~ s. 120.52. Whenever practicable, an agency shall tier its rules to reduce disproportionate impacts on small businesses, small counties, or small cities to avoid regulating small businesses, small counties, or small cities that do not contribute significantly to the problem the rule is designed to address. An agency may define "small business" to include businesses employing more than 200 persons, may define "small county" to include those with populations of more than 75,000, and may define "small city" to include those with populations of more than 10,000, if the agency ~~it~~ finds that such a definition is necessary to adapt a rule to the needs and problems of small businesses, small counties, or small cities. The agency shall consider each of the following methods for reducing the impact of the proposed rule on small businesses, small counties, and small cities, or any combination of these entities:

(I) Establishing less stringent compliance or reporting requirements in the rule.

(II) Establishing less stringent schedules or deadlines in the rule for compliance or reporting requirements.

(III) Consolidating or simplifying the rule's compliance or reporting requirements.

(IV) Establishing performance standards or best management practices to replace design or operational standards in the rule.

(V) Exempting small businesses, small counties, or small cities from any or all requirements of the rule.

c.(I)~~b.(I)~~ If the agency determines that the proposed action will affect small businesses as defined by the agency as provided in sub-subparagraph b. ~~a.~~, the agency must ~~shall~~ send written notice of the rule to the rules ombudsman in the Executive Office of the Governor at least 28 days before the intended action.

(II) Each agency shall adopt those regulatory alternatives offered by the rules ombudsman in the Executive Office of the Governor and provided to the agency no later than 21 days after the rules ombudsman's receipt of the written notice of the rule which it finds are feasible and consistent with the stated objectives of the proposed rule and which would reduce the impact on small businesses. When regulatory alternatives are offered by the rules ombudsman in the Executive Office of the Governor, the 90-day period for filing the rule in subparagraph (e)2. is extended for a period of 21 days. The agency shall provide notice to the committee of any regulatory alternative offered to the agency pursuant to this sub-subparagraph at least 21 days before filing the rule for adoption.

(III) If an agency does not adopt all alternatives offered pursuant to this sub-subparagraph, it shall, before rule adoption or amendment and pursuant to subparagraph (d)1., file a detailed written statement with the committee explaining the reasons for failure to adopt such alternatives. Within 3 working days after the filing of such notice, the agency shall send a copy of such notice to the rules ombudsman in the Executive Office of the Governor.

(c) Hearings.—

1. If the intended action concerns any rule other than one relating exclusively to procedure or practice, the agency shall, on the request of any affected person received within 21 days after the date of publication of the notice of intended agency action, give affected persons an opportunity to present evidence and argument on all issues under consideration. The agency may schedule a public hearing on the proposed rule and, if requested by any affected person, shall schedule a public hearing on the proposed rule. When a public hearing is held, the agency must ensure that the persons responsible for preparing the proposed rule and the statement of estimated regulatory costs, if one has been prepared, ~~staff~~ are available to explain the agency's proposal and to respond to questions or comments regarding the proposed rule, the statement of estimated regulatory costs, if one has been prepared, and the agency's decision whether to adopt a lower cost regulatory alternative submitted pursuant to s. 120.541(1)(a). If the agency head is a board or other collegial body created under s. 20.165(4) or s. 20.43(3)(g), and one or more requested public hearings is scheduled, the board or other collegial body shall conduct at least one of the public hearings itself and may not delegate this responsibility without the consent of those persons requesting the public hearing. Any material pertinent to the issues under consideration submitted to the agency within 21 days after the date of publication of the notice or submitted to the agency between the date of publication of the notice and the end of the final public hearing shall be considered by the agency and made a part of the record of the rulemaking proceeding.

2. Rulemaking proceedings shall be governed solely by the provisions of this section unless a person timely asserts that the person's substantial interests will be affected in the proceeding and affirmatively demonstrates to the agency that the proceeding does not provide adequate opportunity to protect those interests. If the agency determines that the rulemaking proceeding is not adequate to protect the person's interests, it shall suspend the rulemaking proceeding and convene a separate proceeding under ~~the provisions of~~ ss. 120.569 and 120.57. The agency shall publish notice of convening a separate proceeding in the Florida Administrative Register. Similarly situated persons may be requested to join and participate in the separate proceeding. Upon conclusion of the separate proceeding, the rulemaking proceeding shall be resumed. All timelines in this section are tolled during any suspension of the rulemaking proceeding under this subparagraph, beginning on the date the notice of convening a separate proceeding is published and resuming on the day after the conclusion of the separate proceeding.

(d) Modification or withdrawal of proposed rules.—

1. After the final public hearing on the proposed rule, or after the time for requesting a hearing has expired, if the proposed rule text has not been changed from that of the proposed rule as previously filed with the committee, or contains only technical changes, the adopting agency shall file a notice to that effect with the committee at least 7 days before ~~prior to~~ filing the proposed rule for adoption. Any change, other than a technical change ~~that does not affect the substance of the rule~~, must be supported by the record of public hearings held on the proposed rule, must be in response to written material submitted to the agency within 21 days after the date of publication of the notice of intended agency action or submitted to the agency between the date of publication of the notice and the end of the final public hearing, or must be in response to a proposed objection by the committee. Any change, other than a technical change, to a statement of estimated regulatory costs requires a notice of change. In addition, ~~when~~ any change, other than a technical change, to the text of ~~is made in~~ a proposed rule or any material incorporated by reference requires~~, other than a technical change,~~ the adopting agency to ~~shall~~ provide a copy of a notice of change by certified mail or actual delivery to any person who requests it in writing no later than 21 days after the notice required in paragraph (a). The agency shall file the notice of change with the committee, along with the reasons for the change, and provide the notice of change to persons requesting it, at least 21 days before ~~prior to~~ filing the proposed rule for adoption. The notice of change shall be published in the Florida Administrative Register at least 21 days before ~~prior to~~ filing the proposed rule for adoption. The notice of change must include a summary of any revision to a statement of estimated regulatory costs required by s. 120.541(1)(c). This subparagraph does not apply to emergency rules adopted pursuant to subsection (4). Material proposed to be incorporated by reference in the notice required by this subparagraph must be made available in the manner prescribed by sub-subparagraph (1)(i)3.a. or sub-subparagraph (1)(i)3.b.

2. After the notice required by paragraph (a) and before ~~prior to~~ adoption, the agency may withdraw the proposed rule in whole or in part.

3. After the notice required by paragraph (a), the agency must withdraw the proposed rule if the agency has failed to adopt it within the prescribed timeframes in this chapter. The committee shall notify the agency that it has exceeded the timeframe to adopt the proposed rule. If, 30 days after notice by the committee, the agency has not given notice of the withdrawal of the rule, the committee must notify the Department of State that the date for adoption of the rule has expired, and the Department of State shall publish a notice of withdrawal of the proposed rule.

4.~~3.~~ After adoption and before the rule becomes effective, a rule may be modified or withdrawn only in the following circumstances:

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

a. When the committee objects to the rule;

b. When a final order, which is not subject to further appeal, is entered in a rule challenge brought pursuant to s. 120.56 after the date of adoption but before the rule becomes effective pursuant to subparagraph (e)6.;

c. If the rule requires ratification, when more than 90 days have passed since the rule was filed for adoption without the Legislature ratifying the rule, in which case the rule may be withdrawn but may not be modified; or

d. When the committee notifies the agency that an objection to the rule is being considered, in which case the rule may be modified to extend the effective date by not more than 60 days.

5.~~4.~~ The agency shall give notice of its decision to withdraw or modify a rule in the first available issue of the publication in which the original notice of rulemaking was published, shall notify those persons described in subparagraph (a)3. in accordance with the requirements of that subparagraph, and shall notify the Department of State if the rule is required to be filed with the Department of State.

6.~~5.~~ After a rule has become effective, it may be repealed or amended only through the rulemaking procedures specified in this chapter.

(e) Filing for final adoption; effective date.—

1. If the adopting agency is required to publish its rules in the Florida Administrative Code, the agency, upon approval of the agency head, must ~~shall~~ file with the Department of State three certified copies of the rule it proposes to adopt; one copy of any material incorporated by reference in the rule, certified by the agency; a summary of the rule; a summary of any hearings held on the rule; and a detailed written statement of the facts and circumstances justifying the rule. Agencies not required to publish their rules in the Florida Administrative Code shall file one certified copy of the proposed rule, and the other material required by this subparagraph, in the office of the agency head, and such rules shall be open to the public.

2. A rule may not be filed for adoption less than 28 days or more than 90 days after the notice required by paragraph (a), until 21 days after the notice of change required by paragraph (d), until 14 days after the final public hearing, until 21 days after a statement of estimated regulatory costs required under s. 120.541 has been provided to all persons who submitted a lower cost regulatory alternative and made available to the public at a readily accessible page on the agency's website, or until the administrative law judge has rendered a decision under s. 120.56(2), whichever applies. When a required notice of change is published before ~~prior to~~ the expiration of the time to file the rule for adoption, the period during which a rule must be filed for adoption is extended to 45 days after the date of publication. If notice of a public hearing is published before ~~prior to~~ the expiration of the time to file the rule for adoption, the period during which a rule must be filed for adoption is extended to 45 days after adjournment of the final hearing on the rule, 21 days after receipt of all material authorized to be submitted at the hearing, or 21 days after receipt of the transcript, if one is made, whichever is latest. The term "public hearing" includes any public meeting held by any agency at which the rule is considered. If a petition for an administrative determination under s. 120.56(2) is filed, the period during which a rule must be filed for adoption is extended to 60 days after the administrative law judge files the final order with the clerk or until 60 days after subsequent judicial review is complete.

3. At the time a rule is filed, the agency shall certify that the time limitations prescribed by this paragraph have been complied with, that all statutory rulemaking requirements have been met, and that there is no administrative determination pending on the rule.

4. At the time a rule is filed, the committee shall certify whether the agency has responded in writing to all material and timely written comments or written inquiries made on behalf of the committee. The Department of State shall reject any rule that is not filed within the prescribed time limits; that does not comply with all statutory rulemaking requirements and rules of the Department of State; upon which an agency has not responded in writing to all material and timely written inquiries or written comments; upon which an administrative determination is pending; or which does not include a statement of estimated regulatory costs, if required.

5. If a rule has not been adopted within the time limits imposed by this paragraph or has not been adopted in compliance with all statutory rulemaking requirements, the agency proposing the rule must ~~shall~~ withdraw the proposed rule and give notice of its action in the next available issue of the Florida Administrative Register.

6. The proposed rule shall be adopted upon ~~on~~ being filed with the Department of State and become effective 20 days after being filed, on a later date specified in the notice required by subparagraph (a)1., on a date required by statute, or upon ratification by the Legislature pursuant to s. 120.541(3). Rules not required to be filed with the Department of State shall become effective when adopted by the agency head, on a later date specified by rule or statute, or upon ratification by the Legislature pursuant to s. 120.541(3). If the committee notifies an agency that an objection to a rule is being considered, the agency may postpone the adoption of the rule to accommodate review of the rule by the committee. When an agency postpones adoption of a rule to accommodate review by the committee, the 90-day period for filing the rule is tolled until the committee notifies the agency that it has completed its review of the rule.

For the purposes of this paragraph, the term "administrative determination" does not include subsequent judicial review.

(4) EMERGENCY RULES.—

(e) Emergency rules shall be published in the Florida Administrative Code.

(f) An agency may not supersede an emergency rule currently in effect. Technical changes to an emergency rule may be made within the first 7 days after adoption of the rule.

(7) PETITION TO INITIATE RULEMAKING.—

(a) Any person regulated by an agency or having substantial interest in an agency rule may petition an agency to adopt, amend, or repeal a rule or to provide the minimum public information required by this chapter. The petition shall specify the proposed rule and action requested. The agency shall file a copy of the petition with the committee. Not later than 30 calendar days following the date of filing a petition, the agency shall initiate rulemaking proceedings under this chapter, otherwise comply with the requested action, or deny the petition with a written statement of its reasons for the denial.

Section 3. Section 120.541, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

120.541 Statement of estimated regulatory costs.—

(1)(a) Within 21 days after publication of the notice of a proposed rule or notice of change ~~required under s. 120.54(3)(a)~~, a substantially affected person may submit to an agency a good faith written proposal for a lower cost regulatory alternative to a proposed rule which substantially accomplishes the objectives of the law being implemented. The agency shall provide a copy of any proposal for a lower cost regulatory alternative to the committee at least 21 days before filing the rule for adoption. The proposal may include the alternative of not adopting any rule if the proposal explains how the lower costs and objectives of the law will be achieved by not adopting any rule. If submitted after a notice of change, a proposal for a lower cost regulatory alternative is deemed to be made in good faith only if the person reasonably believes, and the proposal states the person's reasons for believing, that the proposed rule as changed by the notice of change increases the regulatory costs or creates an adverse impact on small businesses which was not created by the previous proposed rule. If such a proposal is submitted, the 90-day period for filing the rule is extended 21 days. Upon the submission of the lower cost regulatory alternative, the agency shall prepare a statement of estimated regulatory costs as provided in subsection (2), or shall revise its prior statement of estimated regulatory costs, and either adopt the alternative proposal, reject the alternative proposal, or modify the proposed rule to reduce the regulatory costs. If the agency rejects the alternative proposal or modifies the proposed rule, the agency must ~~or~~ provide a statement of the reasons for rejecting the alternative in favor of the proposed rule.

(b) If a proposed rule will have an adverse impact on small business or if the proposed rule is likely to directly or indirectly increase regulatory costs in excess of $200,000 in the aggregate within 1 year after the implementation of the rule, the agency shall prepare a statement of estimated regulatory costs as required by s. 120.54(3)(b).

(c) The agency shall revise a statement of estimated regulatory costs if any change to the rule made under s. 120.54(3)(d) increases the regulatory costs of the rule or if the rule is modified in response to the submission of a lower cost regulatory alternative. A summary of the revised statement must be included with any subsequent notice published under s. 120.54(3).

(d) At least 21 days before filing the proposed rule for adoption, an agency that is required to revise a statement of estimated regulatory costs shall provide the statement to the person who submitted the lower cost regulatory alternative, to the rules ombudsman in the Executive Office of the Governor, and to the committee. The revised statement shall be published and made available in the same manner as the original statement of estimated regulatory costs ~~and shall provide notice on the agency's website that it is available to the public~~.

(e) Notwithstanding s. 120.56(1)(c), the failure of the agency to prepare and publish a statement of estimated regulatory costs or to respond to a written lower cost regulatory alternative as provided in this subsection is a material failure to follow the applicable rulemaking procedures or requirements set forth in this chapter.

(f) An agency's failure to prepare a statement of estimated regulatory costs or to respond to a written lower cost regulatory alternative may not be raised in a proceeding challenging the validity of a rule pursuant to s. 120.52(8)(a) unless:

1. Raised in a petition filed no later than 1 year after the effective date of the rule; and

2. Raised by a person whose substantial interests are affected by the rule's regulatory costs.

(g) A rule that is challenged pursuant to s. 120.52(8)(f) may not be declared invalid unless:

1. The issue is raised in an administrative proceeding within 1 year after the effective date of the rule;

2. The challenge is to the agency's rejection of a lower cost regulatory alternative offered under paragraph (a) or s. 120.54(3)(b)2.c. ~~s. 120.54(3)(b)2.b.~~; and

3. The substantial interests of the person challenging the rule are materially affected by the rejection.

(2) A statement of estimated regulatory costs must ~~shall~~ include:

(a) An economic analysis showing whether the rule directly or indirectly:

1. Is likely to have an adverse impact on economic growth, private sector job creation or employment, or private sector investment in excess of $1 million in the aggregate within 5 years after the implementation of the rule;

2. Is likely to have an adverse impact on business competitiveness, including the ability of persons doing business in the state to compete with persons doing business in other states or domestic markets, productivity, or innovation in excess of $1 million in the aggregate within 5 years after the implementation of the rule; or

3. Is likely to increase regulatory costs, including all ~~any transactional~~ costs and impacts estimated in the statement, in excess of $1 million in the aggregate within 5 years after the implementation of the rule.

(b) A good faith estimate of the number of individuals, small businesses, and other entities likely to be required to comply with the rule, together with a general description of the types of individuals likely to be affected by the rule.

(c) A good faith estimate of the cost to the agency, and to any other state and local government entities, of implementing and enforcing the proposed rule, and any anticipated effect on state or local revenues.

(d) A good faith estimate of the compliance ~~transactional~~ costs likely to be incurred by individuals and entities, including local government entities, required to comply with the requirements of the rule. ~~As used in this section, "transactional costs" are direct costs that are readily ascertainable based upon standard business practices, and include filing fees, the cost of obtaining a license, the cost of equipment required to be installed or used or procedures~~

~~required to be employed in complying with the rule, additional operating costs incurred, the cost of monitoring and reporting, and any other costs necessary to comply with the rule.~~

(e) An analysis of the impact on small businesses as defined by s. 288.703, and an analysis of the impact on small counties and small cities as defined in s. 120.52. The impact analysis for small businesses must include the basis for the agency's decision not to implement alternatives that would reduce adverse impacts on small businesses.

(f) Any additional information that the agency determines may be useful.

(g) In the statement or revised statement, whichever applies, a description of any regulatory alternatives submitted under paragraph (1)(a) and a statement adopting the alternative or a statement of the reasons for rejecting the alternative in favor of the proposed rule.

(3) If the adverse impact or regulatory costs of the rule exceed any of the criteria established in paragraph (2)(a), the rule shall be submitted to the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives no later than 30 days before ~~prior to~~ the next regular legislative session, and the rule may not take effect until it is ratified by the Legislature.

(4) Subsection (3) does not apply to the adoption of:

(a) Federal standards pursuant to s. 120.54(6).

(b) Triennial updates of and amendments to the Florida Building Code which are expressly authorized by s. 553.73.

(c) Triennial updates of and amendments to the Florida Fire Prevention Code which are expressly authorized by s. 633.202.

(d) Emergency rules adopted pursuant to s. 120.54(4).

(5) For purposes of subsections (2) and (3), adverse impacts and regulatory costs likely to occur within 5 years after implementation of the rule include adverse impacts and regulatory costs estimated to occur within 5 years after the effective date of the rule. However, if any provision of the rule is not fully implemented upon the effective date of the rule, the adverse impacts and regulatory costs associated with such provision must be adjusted to include any additional adverse impacts and regulatory costs estimated to occur within 5 years after implementation of such provision.

(6)(a) In evaluating the impacts described in paragraphs (2)(a) and (2)(e), an agency shall include good faith estimates of market impacts likely to result from compliance with the proposed rule, including:

1. Increased customer charges for goods or services.

2. Decreased market value of goods or services produced, provided, or sold.

3. Increased costs resulting from the purchase of substitute or alternative goods or services.

4. The reasonable value of time to be spent by owners, officers, operators, and managers to understand and comply with the proposed rule, including, but not limited to, time to be spent to complete required education, training, or testing.

5. Capital costs.

6. Any other impacts suggested by the rules ombudsman in the Executive Office of the Governor or interested persons.

(b) In estimating and analyzing the information required in paragraphs (2)(b)-(e), the agency may use surveys of individuals, businesses, business organizations, counties, or municipalities to collect data useful to estimate and analyze the costs and impacts.

(c) In estimating compliance costs under paragraph (2)(d), the agency shall consider, among other matters, all direct and indirect costs necessary to comply with the proposed rule which are readily ascertainable based upon standard business practices, including, but not limited to, costs related to:

1. Filing fees.

2. Expenses to obtain a license.

3. Necessary equipment.

4. Installation, utilities, and maintenance of necessary equipment.

5. Necessary operations and procedures.

6. Accounting, financial, information management, and other administrative processes.

7. Other processes.

8. Labor based on relevant rates of wages, salaries, and benefits.

9. Materials and supplies.

10. Capital expenditures, including financing costs.

11. Professional and technical services, including contracted services necessary to achieve and maintain compliance.

12. Monitoring and reporting.

13. Qualifying and recurring education, training, and testing.

14. Travel.

15. Insurance and surety requirements.

16. A fair and reasonable allocation of administrative costs and other overhead.

17. Reduced sales or other revenues.

18. Other items suggested by the rules ombudsman in the Executive Office of the Governor or any interested person, business organization, or business representative.

(7)(a) The Department of State shall include on the Florida Administrative Register website the agency website addresses where statements of estimated regulatory costs can be viewed in their entirety.

(b) As part of the notice required under s. 120.54(3)(a), an agency that prepares a statement of estimated regulatory costs must provide to the Department of State for publication in the Florida Administrative Register the agency website address where the statement of estimated regulatory costs can be read in its entirety.

(c) If an agency revises its statement of estimated regulatory costs, the agency must provide notice that a revision has been made as provided in s. 120.54(3)(d). Such notice must include the agency website address where the revision can be viewed in its entirety.

Section 4. Section 120.5435, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

120.5435 Repromulgation of rules.—

(1) It is the intent of the Legislature that each agency periodically review its rules for consistency with the powers and duties granted by its enabling statutes.

(2) If an agency determines after review that substantive changes to update a rule are not required, the agency must repromulgate the rule to reflect the date of the review. Each agency shall review its rules pursuant to this section either 5 years after July 1, 2022, if the rule was adopted before January 1, 2014, or 10 years after the rule was adopted, if the rule was adopted on or after January 1, 2014. Failure of an agency to adhere to the deadlines imposed in this section constitutes the repeal of any affected rule. In the event of such a failure, the committee shall notify the Department of State that the agency, by its failure to repromulgate the affected rule, has elected to repeal the rule. Upon receipt of the committee's notice, the Department of State shall publish a notice to that effect in the next available issue of the Florida Administrative Register. Upon publication of the notice, the rule shall be stricken from the files of the Department of State and the files of the agency.

(3) Before repromulgation of a rule, the agency must, upon approval by the agency head or his or her designee:

(a) Publish a notice of repromulgation in the Florida Administrative Register. A notice of repromulgation is not required to include the text of the rule being repromulgated.

(b) File the rule for repromulgation with the Department of State. A rule may not be filed for repromulgation fewer than 28 days, nor more than 90 days, after the date of publication of the notice required by paragraph (a).

(4) The agency shall file a notice of repromulgation with the committee at least 14 days before filing the rule for repromulgation. At the time the rule is filed for repromulgation, the committee shall certify whether the agency has responded in writing to all material and timely written comments or written inquiries made on behalf of the committee.

(5) A repromulgated rule is not subject to challenge as a proposed rule pursuant to s. 120.56(2).

(6) The hearing requirements of s. 120.54 do not apply to repromulgation of a rule.

(7)(a) The agency, upon approval of the agency head or his or her designee, shall file with the Department of State three certified copies of the repromulgated rule it proposes to adopt and one certified copy of any material incorporated by reference in the rule.

(b) The repromulgated rule shall be adopted upon filing with the Department of State and becomes effective 20 days after the date it is filed.

(c) The Department of State shall update the history note of the rule in the Florida Administrative Code to reflect the effective date of the repromulgated rule.

(8) The Department of State shall adopt rules to implement this section by December 31, 2022.

Section 5. Subsection (1) of section 120.545, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

120.545 Committee review of agency rules.—

(1) As a legislative check on legislatively created authority, the committee shall examine each existing rule and proposed rule, except for those proposed rules exempted by s. 120.81(1)(e) and (2), and its accompanying material, and each emergency rule, ~~and may examine any existing rule,~~ for the purpose of determining whether:

(a) The rule is an invalid exercise of delegated legislative authority.

(b) The statutory authority for the rule has been repealed.

(c) The rule reiterates or paraphrases statutory material.

(d) The rule is in proper form.

(e) The notice given before ~~prior to~~ its adoption was sufficient to give adequate notice of the purpose and effect of the rule.

(f) The rule is consistent with expressed legislative intent pertaining to the specific provisions of law which the rule implements.

(g) The rule is necessary to accomplish the apparent or expressed objectives of the specific provision of law which the rule implements.

(h) The rule is a reasonable implementation of the law as it affects the convenience of the general public or persons particularly affected by the rule.

(i) The rule could be made less complex or more easily comprehensible to the general public.

(j) The rule's statement of estimated regulatory costs complies with the requirements of s. 120.541 and whether the rule does not impose regulatory costs on the regulated person, county, or city which could be reduced by the adoption of less costly alternatives that substantially accomplish the statutory objectives.

(k) The rule will require additional appropriations.

(l) If the rule is an emergency rule, there exists an emergency justifying the adoption of such rule, the agency is within its statutory authority, and the rule was adopted in compliance with the requirements and limitations of s. 120.54(4).

Section 6. Paragraphs (a) and (c) of subsection (1) of section 120.55, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

120.55 Publication.—

(1) The Department of State shall:

(a)1. Through a continuous revision and publication system, compile and publish electronically, on a website managed by the department, the "Florida Administrative Code." The Florida Administrative Code shall contain all rules adopted by each agency, citing the grant of rulemaking authority and the specific law implemented pursuant to which each rule was adopted, all history notes as authorized in s. 120.545(7), complete indexes to all rules contained in the code, and any other material required or authorized by law or deemed useful by the department. The electronic code shall display each rule chapter currently in effect in browse mode and allow full text search of the code and each rule chapter. The department may contract with a publishing firm for a printed publication; however, the department shall retain responsibility for the code as provided in this section. The electronic publication shall be the official compilation of the administrative rules of this state. The Florida Administrative Code shall be published once daily by 8 a.m. If, after publication, a rule is corrected and replaced, the Florida Administrative Code must indicate:

a. That the Florida Administrative Code has been republished.

b. The rule that has been corrected by the Department of State.

The Department of State shall retain the copyright over the Florida Administrative Code.

2. Not publish in the Florida Administrative Code rules general in form but applicable to only one school district, community college district, or county, or a part thereof, or state university rules relating to internal personnel or business and finance ~~shall not be published in the Florida Administrative Code~~. Exclusion from publication in the Florida Administrative Code does ~~shall~~ not affect the validity or effectiveness of such rules.

3. At the beginning of the section of the code dealing with an agency that files copies of its rules with the department, ~~the department shall~~ publish the address and telephone number of the executive offices of each agency, the manner by which the agency indexes its rules, a listing of all rules of that agency excluded from publication in the code, and a statement as to where those rules may be inspected.

4. Not publish forms ~~shall not be published~~ in the Florida Administrative Code; but any form which an agency uses in its dealings with the public, along with any accompanying instructions, shall be filed with the committee before it is used. Any form or instruction which meets the definition of "rule" provided in s. 120.52 shall be incorporated by reference into the appropriate rule. The reference shall specifically state that the form is being incorporated by reference and shall include the number, title, and effective date of the form and an explanation of how the form may be obtained. Each form created by an agency which is incorporated by reference in a rule notice of which is given under s. 120.54(3)(a) after December 31, 2007, must clearly display the number, title, and effective date of the form and the number of the rule in which the form is incorporated.

5. Require all materials incorporated by reference in any part of an adopted rule and in any part of a repromulgated rule ~~The department shall allow adopted rules and material incorporated by reference~~ to be filed in the manner prescribed by s. 120.54(1)(i)3.a. or s. 120.54(1)(i)3.b. ~~electronic form as prescribed by department rule.~~ When a rule is filed for adoption or repromulgation with incorporated material in electronic form, the department's publication of the Florida Administrative Code on its website must contain a hyperlink from the incorporating reference in the rule directly to that material. The department may not allow hyperlinks from rules in the Florida Administrative Code to any material other than that filed with and maintained by the department, but may allow hyperlinks to incorporated material maintained by the department from the adopting agency's website or other sites.

6. Include the date of any technical changes to a rule in the history note of the rule in the Florida Administrative Code. A technical change does not affect the effective date of the rule.

(c) Prescribe by rule the style and form required for rules, notices, and other materials submitted for filing, including a rule requiring documents created by an agency which are proposed to be incorporated by reference in notices published pursuant to s. 120.54(3)(a) and (d) to be coded in the same manner as notices published pursuant to s. 120.54(3)(a)1.

Section 7. Subsection (1) and paragraph (a) of subsection (2) of section 120.74, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

120.74 Agency annual rulemaking and regulatory plans; reports.—

(1) REGULATORY PLAN.—By October 1 of each year, each agency shall prepare a regulatory plan.

(a) The plan must include a listing of each law enacted or amended during the previous 12 months which creates or modifies the duties or authority of the agency. If the Governor or the Attorney General provides a letter to the committee stating that a law affects all or most agencies, the agency may exclude the law from its plan. For each law listed by an agency under this paragraph, the plan must state:

1. Whether the agency must adopt rules to implement the law.

2. If rulemaking is necessary to implement the law:

a. Whether a notice of rule development has been published and, if so, the citation to such notice in the Florida Administrative Register.

b. The date by which the agency expects to publish the notice of proposed rule under s. 120.54(3)(a).

3. If rulemaking is not necessary to implement the law, a concise written explanation of the reasons why the law may be implemented without rulemaking.

(b) The plan must also identify and describe each rule, including each rule number or proposed rule number, ~~include a listing of each law not otherwise listed pursuant to paragraph (a)~~ which the agency expects to develop, adopt, or repeal for the 12-month period beginning on October 1 and ending on September 30 ~~implement by rulemaking before the following July 1~~, excluding emergency rules ~~except emergency rulemaking~~. For each rule ~~law~~ listed under this paragraph, the plan must state whether the rulemaking is intended to simplify, clarify, increase efficiency, improve coordination with other agencies, reduce regulatory costs, or delete obsolete, unnecessary, or redundant rules.

(c) The plan must include any desired update to the prior year's regulatory plan or supplement published pursuant to subsection (7). If, in a prior year, a law was identified under this paragraph or under subparagraph (a)1. as a law requiring rulemaking to implement but a notice of proposed rule has not been published:

1. The agency shall identify and again list such law, noting the applicable notice of rule development by citation to the Florida Administrative Register; or

2. If the agency has subsequently determined that rulemaking is not necessary to implement the law, the agency shall identify such law, reference the citation to the applicable notice of rule development in the Florida Administrative Register, and provide a concise written explanation of the reason why the law may be implemented without rulemaking.

(d) The plan must identify any rules required to be repromulgated pursuant to s. 120.5435 for the 12-month period beginning on October 1 and ending on September 30.

(e)~~(d)~~ The plan must include a certification executed on behalf of the agency by both the agency head, or, if the agency head is a collegial body, the presiding officer; and the individual acting as principal legal advisor to the agency head. The certification must declare:

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

1. ~~Verify~~ That the persons executing the certification have reviewed the plan.

2. ~~Verify~~ That the agency regularly reviews all of its rules and identify the period during which all rules have most recently been reviewed to determine if the rules remain consistent with the agency's rulemaking authority and the laws implemented.

3. That the agency understands that regulatory accountability is necessary to ensure public confidence in the integrity of state government and, to that end, the agency is diligently working toward lowering the total number of rules adopted.

4. The total number of rules adopted and repealed during the previous 12 months.

(2) PUBLICATION AND DELIVERY TO THE COMMITTEE.—

(a) By October 1 of each year, each agency shall:

1. Publish its regulatory plan on its website or on another state website established for publication of administrative law records. A clearly labeled hyperlink to the current plan must be included on the agency's primary website homepage.

2. Electronically deliver to the committee a copy of the certification required in paragraph (1)(e) ~~(1)(d)~~.

3. Publish in the Florida Administrative Register a notice identifying the date of publication of the agency's regulatory plan. The notice must include a hyperlink or website address providing direct access to the published plan.

Section 8. Subsection (11) of section 120.80, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

120.80 Exceptions and special requirements; agencies.—

(11) NATIONAL GUARD.—Notwithstanding s. 120.52(17) ~~s. 120.52(16)~~, the enlistment, organization, administration, equipment, maintenance, training, and discipline of the militia, National Guard, organized militia, and unorganized militia, as provided by s. 2, Art. X of the State Constitution, are not rules as defined by this chapter.

Section 9. Paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of section 120.81, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

120.81 Exceptions and special requirements; general areas.—

(1) EDUCATIONAL UNITS.—

(c) Notwithstanding s. 120.52(17) ~~s. 120.52(16)~~, any tests, test scoring criteria, or testing procedures relating to student assessment which are developed or administered by the Department of Education pursuant to s. 1003.4282, s. 1008.22, or s. 1008.25, or any other statewide educational tests required by law, are not rules.

Section 10. Paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section 420.9072, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

420.9072 State Housing Initiatives Partnership Program.—The State Housing Initiatives Partnership Program is created for the purpose of providing funds to counties and eligible municipalities as an incentive for the creation of local housing partnerships, to expand production of and preserve affordable housing, to further the housing element of the local government comprehensive plan specific to affordable housing, and to increase housing-related employment.

(1)(a) In addition to the legislative findings set forth in s. 420.6015, the Legislature finds that affordable housing is most effectively provided by combining available public and private resources to conserve and improve existing housing and provide new housing for very-low-income households, low-income households, and moderate-income households. The Legislature intends to encourage partnerships in order to secure the benefits of cooperation by the public and private sectors and to reduce the cost of housing for the target group by effectively combining all available resources and cost-saving measures. The Legislature further intends that local governments achieve this combination of resources by encouraging active partnerships between government, lenders, builders and developers, real estate professionals, advocates for low-income persons, and community groups to produce affordable housing and provide related services. Extending the partnership concept to encompass cooperative efforts among small counties as defined in s. 120.52 ~~s. 120.52(19)~~, and among counties and municipalities is specifically encouraged. Local governments are also intended to establish an affordable housing advisory committee to recommend monetary and nonmonetary incentives for affordable housing as provided in s. 420.9076.

Section 11. Subsection (7) of section 420.9075, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

420.9075 Local housing assistance plans; partnerships.—

(7) The moneys deposited in the local housing assistance trust fund shall be used to administer and implement the local housing assistance plan. The cost of administering the plan may not exceed 5 percent of the local housing distribution moneys and program income deposited into the trust fund. A county or an eligible municipality may not exceed the 5-percent limitation on administrative costs, unless its governing body finds, by resolution, that 5 percent of the local housing distribution plus 5 percent of program income is insufficient to adequately pay the necessary costs of administering the local housing assistance plan. The cost of administering the program may not exceed 10 percent of the local housing distribution plus 5 percent of program income deposited into the trust fund, except that small counties, as defined in s. 120.52 ~~s. 120.52(19)~~, and eligible municipalities receiving a local housing distribution of up to $350,000 may use up to 10 percent of program income for administrative costs.

Section 12. Paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of section 443.091, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

443.091 Benefit eligibility conditions.—

(1) An unemployed individual is eligible to receive benefits for any week only if the Department of Economic Opportunity finds that:

(d) She or he is able to work and is available for work. In order to assess eligibility for a claimed week of unemployment, the department shall develop criteria to determine a claimant's ability to work and availability for work. A claimant must be actively seeking work in order to be considered available for work. This means engaging in systematic and sustained efforts to find work, including contacting at least five prospective employers for each week of unemployment claimed. The department may require the claimant to provide proof of such efforts to the one-stop career center as part of reemployment services. A claimant's proof of work search efforts may not include the same prospective employer at the same location in 3 consecutive weeks, unless the employer has indicated since the time of the initial contact that the employer is hiring. The department shall conduct random reviews of work search information provided by claimants. As an alternative to contacting at least five prospective employers for any week of unemployment claimed, a claimant may, for that same week, report in person to a one-stop career center to meet with a representative of the center and access reemployment services of the center. The center shall keep a record of the services or information provided to the claimant and shall provide the records to the department upon request by the department. However:

1. Notwithstanding any other provision of this paragraph or paragraphs (b) and (e), an otherwise eligible individual may not be denied benefits for any week because she or he is in training with the approval of the department, or by reason of s. 443.101(2) relating to failure to apply for, or refusal to accept, suitable work. Training may be approved by the department in accordance with criteria prescribed by rule. A claimant's eligibility during approved training is contingent upon satisfying eligibility conditions prescribed by rule.

2. Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, an otherwise eligible individual who is in training approved under s. 236(a)(1) of the Trade Act of 1974, as amended, may not be determined ineligible or disqualified for benefits due to enrollment in such training or because of leaving work that is not suitable employment to enter such training. As used in this subparagraph, the term "suitable employment" means work of a substantially equal or higher skill level than the worker's past adversely affected employment, as defined for purposes of the Trade Act of 1974, as amended, the wages for which are at least 80 percent of the worker's average weekly wage as determined for purposes of the Trade Act of 1974, as amended.

3. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, an otherwise eligible individual may not be denied benefits for any week because she or he is before any state or federal court pursuant to a lawfully issued summons to appear for jury duty.

4. Union members who customarily obtain employment through a union hiring hall may satisfy the work search requirements of this paragraph by reporting daily to their union hall.

5. The work search requirements of this paragraph do not apply to persons who are unemployed as a result of a temporary layoff or who are claiming benefits under an approved short-time compensation plan as provided in s. 443.1116.

6. In small counties as defined in s. 120.52 ~~s. 120.52(19)~~, a claimant engaging in systematic and sustained efforts to find work must contact at least three prospective employers for each week of unemployment claimed.

7. The work search requirements of this paragraph do not apply to persons required to participate in reemployment services under paragraph (e).

Section 13. This act shall take effect July 1, 2022.

LEGISLATIVE ACTION

Senate	.	House
Comm: FAV	.
02/28/2022	.

The Committee on Appropriations (Diaz) recommended the following:

Senate Amendment (with title amendment)

Delete everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. Present subsections (20), (21), and (22) of section 120.52, Florida Statutes, are redesignated as subsections (21), (22), and (23), respectively, and a new subsection (20) is added to that section, to read:

120.52 Definitions.—As used in this act:

(20) "Technical change" means a change limited to correcting grammatical, typographical, or similar errors not affecting the substance of the rule.

Section 2. Subsections (2) and (3) and paragraph (a) of subsection (7) of section 120.54, Florida Statutes, are amended, and paragraphs (e), (f), and (g) are added to subsection (4) of that section, to read:

120.54 Rulemaking.—

(a)1. Except when the intended action is the repeal of a rule, agencies shall provide notice of the development of proposed rules by publication of a notice of rule development in the Florida Administrative Register before providing notice of a proposed rule as required by paragraph (3)(a). The notice of rule development must ~~shall~~ indicate the subject area to be addressed by rule development, provide a short, plain explanation of the purpose and effect of the proposed rule, cite the grant of rulemaking authority for the proposed rule and the law being implemented ~~specific legal authority for the proposed rule~~, and include the proposed rule number and the preliminary text of the proposed rule ~~rules~~, if available, or a statement of how a person may promptly obtain, without cost, a copy of any preliminary draft, when ~~if~~ available.

2. If a notice of a proposed rule is not filed within 12 months after the notice of rule development, the agency shall withdraw the rule and give notice of the withdrawal in the next available issue of the Florida Administrative Register.

(b) All rules should be drafted in readable language. The language is readable if:

1. It avoids the use of obscure words and unnecessarily long or complicated constructions; and

2. It avoids the use of unnecessary technical or specialized language that is understood only by members of particular trades or professions.

(c) An agency may hold public workshops for purposes of rule development. If requested in writing by any affected person, an agency must hold public workshops, including workshops in various regions of the state or the agency's service area, for purposes of rule development ~~if requested in writing by any affected person~~, unless the agency head explains in writing why a workshop is unnecessary. The explanation is not final agency action subject to review pursuant to ss. 120.569 and 120.57. The failure to provide the explanation when required may be a material error in procedure pursuant to s. 120.56(1)(c). When a workshop or public hearing is held, the agency must ensure that the persons responsible for preparing the proposed rule are available to explain the agency's proposal and to respond to questions or comments regarding the rule being developed. The workshop may be facilitated or mediated by a neutral third person, or the agency may employ other types of dispute resolution alternatives for the workshop that are appropriate for rule development. Notice of a workshop for rule development must ~~workshop shall~~ be by publication in the Florida Administrative Register not fewer ~~less~~ than 14 days before ~~prior to~~ the date on which the workshop is scheduled to be held and must ~~shall~~ indicate the subject area that ~~which~~ will be addressed; the agency contact person; and the place, date, and time of the workshop.

and adopting rules. The agency should consider the use of negotiated rulemaking when complex rules are being drafted or strong opposition to the rules is anticipated. The agency should consider, but is not limited to considering, whether a balanced committee of interested persons who will negotiate in good faith can be assembled, whether the agency is willing to support the work of the negotiating committee, and whether the agency can use the group consensus as the basis for its proposed rule. Negotiated rulemaking uses a committee of designated representatives to draft a mutually acceptable proposed rule.

2. An agency that chooses to use the negotiated rulemaking process described in this paragraph shall publish in the Florida Administrative Register a notice of negotiated rulemaking that includes a listing of the representative groups that will be invited to participate in the negotiated rulemaking process. Any person who believes that his or her interest is not adequately represented may apply to participate within 30 days after publication of the notice. All meetings of the negotiating committee shall be noticed and open to the public pursuant to ~~the provisions of~~ this chapter. The negotiating committee shall be chaired by a neutral facilitator or mediator.

3. The agency's decision to use negotiated rulemaking, its selection of the representative groups, and approval or denial of an application to participate in the negotiated rulemaking process are not agency action. ~~Nothing in~~ This subparagraph is not intended to affect the rights of a substantially ~~an~~ affected person to challenge a proposed rule developed under this paragraph in accordance with s. 120.56(2).

(3) ADOPTION PROCEDURES.—

(a) Notices.—

1. Before ~~Prior to~~ the adoption, amendment, or repeal of any rule other than an emergency rule, an agency, upon approval of the agency head, shall give notice of its intended action, setting forth a short, plain explanation of the purpose and effect of the proposed action; the proposed rule number and the full text of the proposed rule or amendment and a summary thereof; a reference to the grant of rulemaking authority pursuant to which the rule is adopted; and a reference to the section or subsection of the Florida Statutes or the Laws of Florida being implemented or interpreted. The notice must include a summary of the agency's statement of the estimated regulatory costs, if one has been prepared, based on the factors set forth in s. 120.541(2), which describes the regulatory impact of the proposed rule in readable language; an agency website address where the statement of estimated regulatory costs can be viewed in its entirety, if one has been prepared; a statement that any person who wishes to provide the agency with information regarding the statement of estimated regulatory costs, or to provide a proposal for a lower cost regulatory alternative as provided by s. 120.541(1), must do so in writing within 21 days after publication of the notice; and a statement as to whether, based on the statement of the estimated regulatory costs or other information expressly relied upon and described by the agency if no statement of regulatory costs is required, the proposed rule is expected to require legislative ratification pursuant to s. 120.541(3). The notice must state the procedure for requesting a public hearing on the proposed rule. Except when the intended action is the repeal of a rule, the notice must include a reference both to the date on which and to the place where the notice of rule development that is required by subsection (2) appeared.

2. The notice shall be published in the Florida Administrative Register at least 7 days after the publication of the notice of rule development and at least ~~not less than~~ 28 days before ~~prior to~~ the intended action. The proposed rule, including all materials proposed to be incorporated by reference and the statement of estimated regulatory costs, if one has been prepared, must ~~shall~~ be available for inspection and copying by the public at the time of the publication of notice. After December 31, 2022, material proposed to be incorporated by reference in the notice required by this paragraph must be made available in the manner prescribed by sub-subparagraph (1)(i)3.a. or sub-subparagraph (1)(i)3.b.

3. The notice shall be mailed to all persons named in the proposed rule and mailed or delivered electronically to all persons who, at least 14 days before publication of the notice ~~prior to such mailing~~, have made requests of the agency for advance notice of its proceedings. The agency shall also give such notice as is prescribed by rule to those particular classes of persons to whom the intended action is directed.

4. The adopting agency shall file with the committee, at least 21 days before ~~prior to~~ the proposed adoption date, a copy of each rule it proposes to adopt; a copy of any material incorporated by reference in the rule; a detailed written statement of the facts and circumstances justifying the proposed rule; a copy of any statement of estimated regulatory costs that has been prepared pursuant to s. 120.541; a statement of the

5. If any of the information, other than substantive changes to the rule text, which is required to be included in the notice required by subparagraph 1. is omitted or is incorrect, the agency must publish a notice of correction. A notice of correction does not affect the timeframes for filing the rule for adoption as set forth in paragraph (e). Technical changes are not required to be published as a notice of correction.

(b) Special matters to be considered in rule adoption.—

1. Statement of estimated regulatory costs.—Before the adoption, amendment, or repeal of any rule other than an emergency rule, an agency is encouraged to prepare a statement of estimated regulatory costs of the proposed rule, as provided by s. 120.541. However, an agency must prepare a statement of estimated regulatory costs of the proposed rule, as provided by s. 120.541, if:

a. The proposed rule will have an adverse impact on small business; or

b. The proposed rule is likely to directly or indirectly increase regulatory costs in excess of $200,000 in the aggregate in this state within 1 year after the implementation of the rule.

2. Small businesses, small counties, and small cities.—

a. For purposes of this subsection and s. 120.541(2), an adverse impact on small businesses, as defined in s. 288.703 or sub-subparagraph b., exists if, for any small business:

(I) An owner, officer, operator, or manager must complete any education, training, or testing to comply with the rule in the first year or is likely to spend at least 10 hours or purchase professional advice to understand and comply with the rule in the first year;

(II) Taxes or fees assessed on transactions are likely to increase by $500 or more in the aggregate in 1 year because of the rule;

(III) Prices charged for goods and services are restricted or are likely to increase because of the rule;

(IV) Specially trained, licensed, or tested employees will be required because of the rule;

(V) Operating costs are expected to increase by at least $1,000 annually because of the rule; or

(VI) Capital expenditures in excess of $1,000 are necessary to comply with the rule.

b. Each agency, before the adoption, amendment, or repeal of a rule, shall consider the impact of the rule on small businesses as defined in ~~by~~ s. 288.703 and the impact of the rule on small counties or small cities as defined in ~~by~~ s. 120.52. Whenever practicable, an agency shall tier its rules to reduce disproportionate impacts on small businesses, small counties, or small cities to avoid regulating small businesses, small counties, or small cities that do not contribute significantly to the problem the rule is designed to address. An agency may define "small business" to include businesses employing more than 200 persons, may define "small county" to include those with populations of more than 75,000, and may define "small city" to include those with populations of more than 10,000, if it finds that such a definition is necessary to adapt a rule to the needs and problems of small businesses, small counties, or small cities. The agency shall consider each of the following methods for reducing the impact of the proposed rule on small businesses, small counties, and small cities, or any combination of these entities:

(I) Establishing less stringent compliance or reporting requirements in the rule.

(II) Establishing less stringent schedules or deadlines in the rule for compliance or reporting requirements.

(III) Consolidating or simplifying the rule's compliance or reporting requirements.

(IV) Establishing performance standards or best management practices to replace design or operational standards in the rule.

(V) Exempting small businesses, small counties, or small cities from any or all requirements of the rule.

c.(I) ~~b.(I)~~ If the agency determines that the proposed action will affect small businesses as defined by the agency as provided in sub-subparagraph b. ~~a.~~, the agency shall send written notice of the rule to the rules ombudsman in the Executive Office of the Governor at least 28 days before the intended action.

(II) Each agency shall adopt those regulatory alternatives offered by the rules ombudsman in the Executive Office of the Governor and provided to the agency no later than 21 days after the rules ombudsman's receipt of the written notice of the rule which it finds are feasible and consistent with the stated objectives of the proposed rule and which would reduce the impact on small businesses. When regulatory alternatives are offered by the rules ombudsman in the Executive Office of the Governor, the 90-day period for filing the rule in subparagraph (e)2. is extended for a period of 21 days. At least 21 days before filing the rule for adoption, the agency shall provide a copy of any regulatory alternative offered to the agency to the committee.

(III) If an agency does not adopt all alternatives offered pursuant to this sub-subparagraph, it shall, before rule adoption or amendment and pursuant to subparagraph (d)1., file a detailed written statement with the committee explaining the reasons for failure to adopt such alternatives. Within 3 working days after the filing of such notice, the agency shall send a copy of such notice to the rules ombudsman in the Executive Office of the Governor.

(c) Hearings.—

1. If the intended action concerns any rule other than one relating exclusively to procedure or practice, the agency shall, on the request of any affected person received within 21 days after the date of publication of the notice of intended agency action, give affected persons an opportunity to present evidence and argument on all issues under consideration. The agency may schedule a public hearing on the proposed rule and, if requested by any affected person, shall schedule a public hearing on the proposed rule. When a public hearing is held, the agency must ensure that staff are available to explain the agency's proposal and to respond to questions or comments regarding the proposed rule. If the agency head is a board or other collegial body created under s. 20.165(4) or s. 20.43(3)(g), and one or more

requested public hearings is scheduled, the board or other collegial body shall conduct at least one of the public hearings itself and may not delegate this responsibility without the consent of those persons requesting the public hearing. Any material pertinent to the issues under consideration submitted to the agency within 21 days after the date of publication of the notice or submitted to the agency between the date of publication of the notice and the end of the final public hearing shall be considered by the agency and made a part of the record of the rulemaking proceeding.

2. Rulemaking proceedings shall be governed solely by the provisions of this section unless a person timely asserts that the person’s substantial interests will be affected in the proceeding and affirmatively demonstrates to the agency that the proceeding does not provide adequate opportunity to protect those interests. If the agency determines that the rulemaking proceeding is not adequate to protect the person’s interests, it shall suspend the rulemaking proceeding and convene a separate proceeding under the provisions of ss. 120.569 and 120.57. The agency shall publish notice of convening a separate proceeding in the Florida Administrative Register. Similarly situated persons may be requested to join and participate in the separate proceeding. Upon conclusion of the separate proceeding, the rulemaking proceeding shall be resumed. All timelines in this section are tolled during any suspension of the rulemaking proceeding under this subparagraph, beginning on the date the notice of convening a separate proceeding is published and resuming on the day after the conclusion of the separate proceeding.

(d) Modification or withdrawal of proposed rules.—

1. After the final public hearing on the proposed rule, or after the time for requesting a hearing has expired, if the proposed rule has not been changed from the proposed rule as previously filed with the committee, or contains only technical changes, the adopting agency shall file a notice to that effect with the committee at least 7 days before ~~prior to~~ filing the proposed rule for adoption. Any change, other than a technical change ~~that does not affect the substance of the rule~~, must be supported by the record of public hearings held on the proposed rule, must be in response to written material submitted to the agency within 21 days after the date of publication of the notice of intended agency action or submitted to the agency between the date of publication of the notice and the end of the final public hearing, or must be in response to a proposed objection by the committee. Any change, other than a technical change, to a statement of estimated regulatory costs requires a notice of change. In addition, ~~when~~ any change, other than a technical change, to the text of ~~is made in~~ a proposed rule or any material incorporated by reference requires~~, other than a technical change,~~ the adopting agency to ~~shall~~ provide a copy of a notice of change by certified mail or actual delivery to any person who requests it in writing no later than 21 days after the notice required in paragraph (a). The agency shall file the notice of change with the committee, along with the reasons for the change, and provide the notice of change to persons requesting it, at least 21 days before ~~prior to~~ filing the proposed rule for adoption. The notice of change shall be published in the Florida Administrative Register at least 21

days before ~~prior to~~ filing the proposed rule for adoption. The notice of change must include a summary of any revision to a statement of estimated regulatory costs required by s. 120.541(1)(c). This subparagraph does not apply to emergency rules adopted pursuant to subsection (4). After December 31, 2022, material proposed to be incorporated by reference in the notice required by this paragraph must be made available in the manner prescribed by sub-subparagraph (1)(i)3.a. or sub-subparagraph (1)(i)3.b.

2. After the notice required by paragraph (a) and before ~~prior to~~ adoption, the agency may withdraw the proposed rule in whole or in part.

3. After the notice required by paragraph (a), the agency shall withdraw the proposed rule if the agency has failed to adopt it within the prescribed timeframes in this chapter. The committee shall notify the agency that it has exceeded the timeframe to adopt the proposed rule. If, 30 days after notice by the committee, the agency has not given notice of the withdrawal of the rule, the committee shall notify the Department of State that the date for adoption of the rule has expired, and the Department of State shall publish a notice of withdrawal of the proposed rule.

4.~~3.~~ After adoption and before the rule becomes effective, a rule may be modified or withdrawn only in the following circumstances:

a. When the committee objects to the rule;

b. When a final order, which is not subject to further appeal, is entered in a rule challenge brought pursuant to s. 120.56 after the date of adoption but before the rule becomes effective pursuant to subparagraph (e)6.;

c. If the rule requires ratification, when more than 90 days have passed since the rule was filed for adoption without the Legislature ratifying the rule, in which case the rule may be withdrawn but may not be modified; or

d. When the committee notifies the agency that an objection to the rule is being considered, in which case the rule may be modified to extend the effective date by not more than 60 days.

5.~~4.~~ The agency shall give notice of its decision to withdraw or modify a rule in the first available issue of the publication in which the original notice of rulemaking was published, shall notify those persons described in subparagraph (a)3. in accordance with the requirements of that subparagraph, and shall notify the Department of State if the rule is required to be filed with the Department of State.

6.~~5.~~ After a rule has become effective, it may be repealed or amended only through the rulemaking procedures specified in this chapter.

(e) Filing for final adoption; effective date.—

1. If the adopting agency is required to publish its rules in the Florida Administrative Code, the agency, upon approval of the agency head, shall file with the Department of State three certified copies of the rule it proposes to adopt; one copy of any material incorporated by reference in the rule, certified by the agency; a summary of the rule; a summary of any hearings held on the rule; and a detailed written statement of the facts and circumstances justifying the rule. Agencies not required to publish their rules in the Florida Administrative Code shall file one certified copy of the proposed rule, and the other material required by this subparagraph, in the office of the agency head, and such rules shall be open to the public.

2. A rule may not be filed for adoption less than 28 days or more than 90 days after the notice required by paragraph (a), until 21 days after the notice of change required by paragraph (d), until 14 days after the final public hearing, until 21 days after a statement of estimated regulatory costs required under s. 120.541 has been provided to all persons who submitted a lower cost regulatory alternative and made available to the public at a readily accessible page on the agency's website, or until the administrative law judge has rendered a decision under s. 120.56(2), whichever applies. When a required notice of change is published before ~~prior to~~ the expiration of the time to file the rule for adoption, the period during which a rule must be filed for adoption is extended to 45 days after the date of publication. If notice of a public hearing is published before ~~prior to~~ the expiration of the time to file the rule for adoption, the period during which a rule must be filed for adoption is extended to 45 days after adjournment of the final hearing on the rule, 21 days after receipt of all material authorized to be submitted at the hearing, or 21 days after receipt of the transcript, if one is made, whichever is latest. The term "public hearing" includes any public meeting held by any agency at which the rule is considered. If a petition for an administrative determination under s. 120.56(2) is filed, the period during which a rule must be filed for adoption is extended to 60 days after the administrative law judge files the final order with the clerk or until 60 days after subsequent judicial review is complete.

3. At the time a rule is filed, the agency shall certify that the time limitations prescribed by this paragraph have been complied with, that all statutory rulemaking requirements have been met, and that there is no administrative determination pending on the rule.

4. At the time a rule is filed, the committee shall certify whether the agency has responded in writing to all material and timely written comments or written inquiries made on behalf of the committee. The Department of State shall reject any rule that is not filed within the prescribed time limits; that does not comply with all statutory rulemaking requirements and rules of the Department of State; upon which an agency has not responded in writing to all material and timely written inquiries or written comments; upon which an administrative determination is pending; or which does not include a statement of estimated regulatory costs, if required.

5. If a rule has not been adopted within the time limits imposed by this paragraph or has not been adopted in compliance with all statutory rulemaking requirements, the agency proposing the rule shall withdraw the proposed rule and give notice of its action in the next available issue of the Florida Administrative Register.

6. The proposed rule shall be adopted on being filed with the Department of State and become effective 20 days after being filed, on a later date specified in the notice required by subparagraph (a)1., on a date required by statute, or upon ratification by the Legislature pursuant to s. 120.541(3). Rules not required to be filed with the Department of State shall become effective when adopted by the agency head, on a later date specified by rule or statute, or upon ratification by the Legislature pursuant to s. 120.541(3). If the committee notifies an agency that an objection to a rule is being considered, the agency may postpone the adoption of the rule to accommodate review of the rule by the committee. When an agency postpones adoption of a rule to accommodate review by the committee, the 90-day period for filing the rule is tolled until the committee notifies the agency that it has completed its review of the rule.

For the purposes of this paragraph, the term "administrative determination" does not include subsequent judicial review.

(4) EMERGENCY RULES.—

(e) Emergency rules shall be published in the Florida Administrative Code.

(f) An agency may not supersede an emergency rule currently in effect.

(g) An agency may make technical changes to an emergency rule within the first 7 days after the rule is adopted and must publish a notice of the technical change in the Florida Administrative Register.

(7) PETITION TO INITIATE RULEMAKING.—

(a) Any person regulated by an agency or having substantial interest in an agency rule may petition an agency to adopt, amend, or repeal a rule or to provide the minimum public information required by this chapter. The petition shall specify the proposed rule and action requested. The agency shall file a copy of the petition with the committee. Not later than 30 calendar days following the date of filing a petition, the agency shall initiate rulemaking proceedings under this chapter, otherwise comply with the requested action, or deny the petition with a written statement of its reasons for the denial.

Section 3. Section 120.541, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

120.541 Statement of estimated regulatory costs.—

(1)(a) Within 21 days after publication of the notice of a proposed rule or notice of change ~~required under s. 120.54(3)(a)~~, a substantially affected person may submit to an agency a good faith written proposal for a lower cost regulatory alternative to a proposed rule which substantially accomplishes the objectives of the law being implemented. The agency shall provide a copy of any proposal for a lower cost regulatory alternative to the committee at least 21 days before filing the rule for adoption. The proposal may include the alternative of not adopting any rule if the proposal explains how the lower costs and objectives of the law will be achieved by not adopting any rule. If submitted after a notice of change, a proposal for a lower cost regulatory alternative is deemed to be made in good faith only if the person reasonably believes, and the proposal states the person’s reasons for believing, that the proposed rule as changed by the notice of change increases the regulatory costs or creates an adverse impact on small businesses that was not created by the previous proposed rule. If such a proposal is submitted, the 90-day period for filing the rule is extended 21 days. Upon the submission of the lower cost regulatory alternative, the agency shall prepare a statement of estimated regulatory costs as provided in subsection (2), or shall revise its prior statement of estimated regulatory costs, and ~~either~~

adopt the alternative proposal, reject the alternative proposal, or modify the proposed rule to reduce the regulatory costs. If the agency rejects the alternative proposal or modifies the proposed rule, the agency shall ~~or~~ provide a statement of the reasons for rejecting the alternative in favor of the proposed rule.

(b) If a proposed rule will have an adverse impact on small business or if the proposed rule is likely to directly or indirectly increase regulatory costs in excess of $200,000 in the aggregate within 1 year after the implementation of the rule, the agency shall prepare a statement of estimated regulatory costs as required by s. 120.54(3)(b).

(c) The agency shall revise a statement of estimated regulatory costs if any change to the rule made under s. 120.54(3)(d) increases the regulatory costs of the rule or if the rule is modified in response to the submission of a lower cost regulatory alternative. A summary of the revised statement must be included with any subsequent notice published under s. 120.54(3).

(d) At least 21 days before filing the proposed rule for adoption, an agency that is required to revise a statement of estimated regulatory costs shall provide the statement to the person who submitted the lower cost regulatory alternative, to the rules ombudsman in the Executive Office of the Governor, and to the committee. The revised statement shall be published and made available in the same manner as the original statement of estimated regulatory costs ~~and shall provide notice on the agency's website that it is available to the public~~.

agency to prepare and publish a statement of estimated regulatory costs or to respond to a written lower cost regulatory alternative as provided in this subsection is a material failure to follow the applicable rulemaking procedures or requirements set forth in this chapter.

(f) An agency's failure to prepare and publish a statement of estimated regulatory costs or to respond to a written lower cost regulatory alternative may not be raised in a proceeding challenging the validity of a rule pursuant to s. 120.52(8)(a) unless:

1. Raised in a petition filed no later than 1 year after the effective date of the rule; and

2. Raised by a person whose substantial interests are affected by the rule's regulatory costs.

(g) A rule that is challenged pursuant to s. 120.52(8)(f) may not be declared invalid unless:

1. The issue is raised in an administrative proceeding within 1 year after the effective date of the rule;

2. The challenge is to the agency's rejection of a lower cost regulatory alternative offered under paragraph (a) or s. 120.54(3)(b)2.c. ~~s. 120.54(3)(b)2.b.~~; and

3. The substantial interests of the person challenging the rule are materially affected by the rejection.

(2) A statement of estimated regulatory costs must ~~shall~~ include:

(a) An economic analysis showing whether the rule directly or indirectly:

1. Is likely to have an adverse impact on economic growth, private sector job creation or employment, or private sector investment in excess of $1 million in the aggregate within 5 years after the implementation of the rule;

2. Is likely to have an adverse impact on business competitiveness, including the ability of persons doing business in the state to compete with persons doing business in other states or domestic markets, productivity, or innovation in excess of $1 million in the aggregate within 5 years after the implementation of the rule; or

3. Is likely to increase regulatory costs, including all ~~any transactional~~ costs and impacts estimated in the statement of estimated regulatory costs, in excess of $1 million in the aggregate within 5 years after the implementation of the rule.

(b) A good faith estimate of the number of individuals, small businesses, and other entities likely to be required to comply with the rule, together with a general description of the types of individuals likely to be affected by the rule.

(c) A good faith estimate of the cost to the agency, and to any other state and local government entities, of implementing and enforcing the proposed rule, and any anticipated effect on state or local revenues.

(d) A good faith estimate of the compliance ~~transactional~~ costs likely to be incurred by individuals and entities, including local government entities, required to comply with the requirements of the rule. ~~As used in this section, "transactional costs" are direct costs that are readily ascertainable based upon standard business practices, and include filing fees, the cost of obtaining a license, the cost of equipment required to be installed or used or procedures required to be employed in complying with the rule, additional~~

~~operating costs incurred, the cost of monitoring and reporting, and any other costs necessary to comply with the rule.~~

(e) An analysis of the impact on small businesses as defined in ~~by~~ s. 288.703~~,~~ and an analysis of the impact on small counties and small cities as defined in s. 120.52. The impact analysis for small businesses must include the basis for the agency's decision not to implement alternatives that would reduce adverse impacts on small businesses.

(f) Any additional information that the agency determines may be useful.

(g) In the statement or revised statement, whichever applies, a description of any regulatory alternatives submitted under paragraph (1)(a) and a statement adopting the alternative or a statement of the reasons for rejecting the alternative in favor of the proposed rule.

(3) If the adverse impact or regulatory costs of the rule exceed any of the criteria established in paragraph (2)(a), the rule shall be submitted to the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives no later than 30 days before ~~prior to~~ the next regular legislative session, and the rule may not take effect until it is ratified by the Legislature.

(4) Subsection (3) does not apply to the adoption of:

(a) Federal standards pursuant to s. 120.54(6).

(b) Triennial updates of and amendments to the Florida Building Code which are expressly authorized by s. 553.73.

(c) Triennial updates of and amendments to the Florida Fire Prevention Code which are expressly authorized by s. 633.202.

(d) Emergency rules adopted pursuant to s. 120.54(4).

(5) For purposes of subsections (2) and (3), adverse impacts and regulatory costs likely to occur within 5 years after implementation of the rule include adverse impacts and regulatory costs estimated to occur within 5 years after the effective date of the rule. However, if any provision of the rule is not fully implemented upon the effective date of the rule, the adverse impacts and regulatory costs associated with such provision must be adjusted to include any additional adverse impacts and regulatory costs estimated to occur within 5 years after implementation of such provision.

(6)(a) In evaluating the impacts described in paragraphs (2)(a) and (e), an agency shall include good faith estimates of market impacts likely to result from compliance with the proposed rule, including:

1. Increased customer charges for goods or services.

2. Decreased market value of goods or services produced, provided, or sold.

3. Increased costs resulting from the purchase of substitute or alternative goods or services.

4. The reasonable value of time to be spent by owners, officers, operators, and managers to understand and comply with the proposed rule, including, but not limited to, time to be spent to complete required education, training, or testing.

5. Capital costs.

6. Any other impacts suggested by the rules ombudsman in the Executive Office of the Governor or interested persons.

(b) In estimating and analyzing the information required in paragraphs (2)(b)-(e), the agency may use surveys of individuals, businesses, business organizations, counties, and municipalities to collect data helpful to estimate and analyze the costs and impacts.

(c) In estimating compliance costs under paragraph (2)(d), the agency shall consider, among other matters, all direct and indirect costs necessary to comply with the proposed rule that are readily ascertainable based upon standard business practices, including, but not limited to, costs related to:

1. Filing fees.

2. Expenses to obtain a license.

3. Necessary equipment.

4. Installation, utilities, and maintenance of necessary equipment.

5. Necessary operations and procedures.

6. Accounting, financial, information management, and other administrative processes.

7. Other processes.

8. Labor based on relevant rates of wages, salaries, and benefits.

9. Materials and supplies.

10. Capital expenditures, including financing costs.

11. Professional and technical services, including contracted services necessary to implement and maintain compliance.

12. Monitoring and reporting.

13. Qualifying and recurring education, training, and testing.

14. Travel.

15. Insurance and surety requirements.

16. A fair and reasonable allocation of administrative costs and other overhead.

17. Reduced sales or other revenues.

18. Other items suggested by the rules ombudsman in the Executive Office of the Governor or any interested person, business organization, or business representative.

(7)(a) The Department of State shall include on the Florida Administrative Register website the agency website addresses where statements of estimated regulatory costs may be viewed in their entirety.

(b) An agency that prepares a statement of estimated regulatory costs must provide, as part of the notice required under s. 120.54(3)(a), the agency website address where the statement of estimated regulatory costs can be read in its entirety to the Department of State for publication in the Florida Administrative Register.

(c) If an agency revises its statement of estimated regulatory costs, the agency must provide notice that a revision has been made as provided in s. 120.54(3)(d). Such notice must include the agency website address where the revision can be viewed in its entirety.

Section 4. Subsections (1) and (2) of section 120.545, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

120.545 Committee review of agency rules.—

(1) As a legislative check on legislatively created authority, the committee shall examine each existing rule and proposed rule, except for those proposed rules exempted by s. 120.81(1)(e) and (2), and its accompanying material, and each emergency rule, ~~and may examine any existing rule,~~ for the purpose of determining whether:

(a) The rule is an invalid exercise of delegated legislative authority.

(b) The statutory authority for the rule has been repealed.

(c) The rule reiterates or paraphrases statutory material.

(d) The rule is in proper form.

(e) The notice given before ~~prior to~~ its adoption was sufficient to give adequate notice of the purpose and effect of the rule.

(f) The rule is consistent with expressed legislative intent pertaining to the specific provisions of law which the rule implements.

(g) The rule is necessary to accomplish the apparent or expressed objectives of the specific provision of law which the rule implements.

(h) The rule is a reasonable implementation of the law as it affects the convenience of the general public or persons particularly affected by the rule.

(i) The rule could be made less complex or more easily comprehensible to the general public.

(j) The rule’s statement of estimated regulatory costs complies with the requirements of s. 120.541 and whether the rule does not impose regulatory costs on the regulated person, county, or city which could be reduced by the adoption of less costly alternatives that substantially accomplish the statutory objectives.

(k) The rule will require additional appropriations.

(l) If the rule is an emergency rule, there exists an emergency justifying the adoption of such rule, the agency is within its statutory authority, and the rule was adopted in compliance with the requirements and limitations of s. 120.54(4).

(2) The committee may request from an agency such information as is reasonably necessary for examination of a rule as required by subsection (1). The committee shall consult with legislative standing committees having jurisdiction over the subject areas. If the committee objects to a rule, the committee shall, within 5 days after the objection, certify that fact to the agency whose rule has been examined and include with the certification a statement detailing its objections with particularity. The committee may file an objection for the failure of an agency to repeal or amend an existing rule which the committee identifies as being inconsistent with the powers and duties granted by its enabling statute or having no enabling statute. The committee shall notify the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the Senate of any objection to an agency rule concurrent with certification of that fact to the agency. Such notice shall include a copy of the rule and the statement detailing the committee's objections to the rule.

Section 5. Paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of subsection (1) of section 120.55, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

120.55 Publication.—

(1) The Department of State shall:

adopted, all history notes as authorized in s. 120.545(7), complete indexes to all rules and any material incorporated by reference contained in the code, and any other material required or authorized by law or deemed useful by the department. The electronic code shall display each rule chapter currently in effect in browse mode and allow full text search of the code and each rule chapter. The department may contract with a publishing firm for a printed publication; however, the department shall retain responsibility for the code as provided in this section. The electronic publication shall be the official compilation of the administrative rules of this state. The Department of State shall retain the copyright over the Florida Administrative Code.

2. Not publish in the Florida Administrative Code rules general in form but applicable to only one school district, community college district, or county, or a part thereof, or state university rules relating to internal personnel or business and finance ~~shall not be published in the Florida Administrative Code~~. Exclusion from publication in the Florida Administrative Code does ~~shall~~ not affect the validity or effectiveness of such rules.

3. At the beginning of the section of the code dealing with an agency that files copies of its rules with the department, ~~the department shall~~ publish the address and telephone number of the executive offices of each agency, the manner by which the agency indexes its rules, a listing of all rules of that agency excluded from publication in the code, a listing of all forms and material incorporated by reference adopted by rule which are used by the agency, and a statement as to where those rules may be inspected.

4. Not publish forms ~~shall not be published~~ in the Florida Administrative Code. However,~~; but~~ any form that ~~which~~ an agency uses in its dealings with the public, along with any accompanying instructions, shall be filed with the committee before it is used. Any form or instruction which meets the definition of the term "rule" as defined ~~provided~~ in s. 120.52 shall be incorporated by reference into the appropriate rule. The reference shall specifically state that the form is being incorporated by reference and shall include the number, title, and effective date of the form and an explanation of how the form may be obtained. Each form created by an agency which is incorporated by reference in a rule notice of which is given under s. 120.54(3)(a) after December 31, 2007, must clearly display the number, title, and effective date of the form and the number of the rule in which the form is incorporated.

5. Require all materials incorporated by reference in any part of an adopted rule after December 31, 2022, ~~The department shall allow adopted rules and material incorporated by reference~~ to be filed in the manner prescribed by s. 120.54(1)(i)3.a. or b. ~~electronic form as prescribed by department rule.~~ When a rule is filed for adoption with incorporated material in electronic form, the department's publication of the Florida Administrative Code on its website must contain a hyperlink from the incorporating reference in the rule directly to that material. The department may not allow hyperlinks from rules in the Florida Administrative Code to any material other than that filed with and maintained by the department, but may allow hyperlinks to incorporated material maintained by the department from the adopting agency's website or other sites.

6. Include the date of any technical changes to a rule in the history note of the rule in the Florida Administrative Code. A technical change does not affect the effective date of the rule. A technical change made after the adoption of a rule must be published as a notice of correction.

(b)1. Electronically publish on a website managed by the department a continuous revision and publication entitled the "Florida Administrative Register," which shall serve as the official publication. The Florida Administrative Register shall be published once daily by 8 a.m. If after publication, a rule is corrected and replaced, the Florida Administrative Register shall indicate:

a. That the Florida Administrative Register has been republished.

b. The rule that has been corrected by the Department of State.

2. The Florida Administrative Register ~~and~~ must contain:

a.~~1.~~ All notices required by s. 120.54(2) and (3)(a), showing the text of all rules proposed for consideration.

b.~~2.~~ All notices of public meetings, hearings, and workshops conducted in accordance with s. 120.525, including a statement of the manner in which a copy of the agenda may be obtained.

c.~~3.~~ A notice of each request for authorization to amend or repeal an existing uniform rule or for the adoption of new uniform rules.

d.~~4.~~ Notice of petitions for declaratory statements or administrative determinations.

e.~~5.~~ A summary of each objection to any rule filed by the 734958

Administrative Procedures Committee.

f.~~6.~~ A list of rules filed for adoption in the previous 7 days.

g.~~7.~~ A list of all rules filed for adoption pending legislative ratification under s. 120.541(3). A rule shall be removed from the list once notice of ratification or withdrawal of the rule is received.

h.~~8.~~ Any other material required or authorized by law or deemed useful by the department.

The department may contract with a publishing firm for a printed publication of the Florida Administrative Register and make copies available on an annual subscription basis.

(c) Prescribe by rule the style and form required for rules, notices, and other materials submitted for filing, including a rule requiring documents created by an agency that are proposed to be incorporated by reference in notices published pursuant to s. 120.54(3)(a) and (d) to be coded in the same manner as notices published pursuant to s. 120.54(3)(a)1.

Section 6. Section 120.74, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

120.74 Agency annual rulemaking and regulatory plans; reports.—

(1) REGULATORY PLAN.—By October 1 of each year, each agency shall prepare a regulatory plan.

(a) The plan must include a listing of each law enacted or amended during the previous 12 months which creates or modifies the duties or authority of the agency. If the Governor or the Attorney General provides a letter to the committee stating that a law affects all or most agencies, the agency may exclude the law from its plan. For each law listed by an agency under this paragraph, the plan must state:

1. Whether the agency must adopt rules to implement the law.

2. If rulemaking is necessary to implement the law:

a. Whether a notice of rule development has been published and, if so, the citation to such notice in the Florida Administrative Register.

b. The date by which the agency expects to publish the notice of proposed rule under s. 120.54(3)(a).

3. If rulemaking is not necessary to implement the law, a concise written explanation of the reasons why the law may be implemented without rulemaking.

(b) The plan must also identify and describe each rule, including each rule number or proposed rule number, that ~~include a listing of each law not otherwise listed pursuant to paragraph (a) which~~ the agency expects to develop, adopt, or repeal for the 12-month period beginning on October 1 and ending on September 30 ~~implement by rulemaking before the following July 1~~, excluding emergency rules ~~except emergency rulemaking~~. For each rule identified and described ~~law listed~~ under this paragraph, the plan must state whether the rulemaking is intended to simplify, clarify, increase efficiency, improve coordination with other agencies, reduce regulatory costs, or delete obsolete, unnecessary, or redundant rules.

(c) The plan must include any desired update to the prior year's regulatory plan or supplement published pursuant to subsection (7). If, in a prior year, a law was identified under this paragraph or under subparagraph (a)1. as a law requiring rulemaking to implement but a notice of proposed rule has not been published:

1. The agency shall identify and again list such law, noting the applicable notice of rule development by citation to the Florida Administrative Register; or

2. If the agency has subsequently determined that rulemaking is not necessary to implement the law, the agency shall identify such law, reference the citation to the applicable notice of rule development in the Florida Administrative Register, and provide a concise written explanation of the reason why the law may be implemented without rulemaking.

(d)1. The plan must include a schedule for the agency to review its rules for consistency with the powers and duties granted by the enabling statutes in accordance with this paragraph. Each agency must review all of its rules existing before July 1, 2022, in accordance with this paragraph by July 1, 2027. All rules adopted on or after July 1, 2022, and all existing rules reviewed initially by July 1, 2027, shall be reviewed every 10 years after their respective dates of adoption or review. This schedule shall be updated on an annual basis to ensure that all rules are reviewed every 10 years after their respective dates of adoption or review.

2. The plan must include an index and summary of rules reviewed during the previous year listed by number and title. The index must indicate:

a. The rules reviewed pursuant to this paragraph that are consistent with the powers and duties granted by the enabling

b. The rules reviewed pursuant to this paragraph that require amendments to remove portions of the rule that are inconsistent with the powers and duties granted by the enabling statute. A summary of the required amendments and a schedule for such rulemaking shall be provided.

c. The rules reviewed pursuant to this paragraph that will be repealed in their entirety because there is no enabling statute. A schedule for the repeal of such rules shall be provided.

d. A list of all statutes and laws, or parts thereof, that grant duplicative, redundant, or unused rulemaking authority, as set out in s. 11.242(5)(j), and a recommendation as to what statutes, laws, or parts thereof, should be repealed. The agency must also provide the list to the Division of Law Revision.

(e) The plan must include a certification executed on behalf of the agency by both the agency head, or, if the agency head is a collegial body, the presiding officer; and the individual acting as principal legal advisor to the agency head. The certification must declare:

1. ~~Verify~~ That the persons executing the certification have reviewed the plan.

2. ~~Verify~~ That the agency regularly reviews all of its rules and identify the period during which all rules have most recently been reviewed to determine if the rules remain consistent with the agency's rulemaking authority and the laws implemented.

3. That the agency understands that regulatory accountability is necessary to ensure public confidence in the integrity of state government and, to that end, the agency is diligently working toward reducing the number of regulatory requirements consistent with the agency's rulemaking authority and the laws implemented.

4. The total number of rules adopted and repealed during the previous 12 months.

5. That all actions set forth in the prior annual regulatory plan have been completed or are on a schedule to be completed.

6. That all materials incorporated by reference in the rules reviewed are available in the manner prescribed by s. 120.54(1)(i)3.a. or b.

(2) PUBLICATION AND DELIVERY TO THE COMMITTEE.—

(a) By October 1 of each year, each agency shall:

1. Publish its regulatory plan on its website or on another state website established for publication of administrative law records. A clearly labeled hyperlink to the current plan must be included on the agency's primary website homepage.

2. Electronically deliver to the committee a copy of the certification required in paragraph (1)(e) ~~(1)(d)~~.

3. Publish in the Florida Administrative Register a notice identifying the date of publication of the agency's regulatory plan. The notice must include a hyperlink or website address providing direct access to the published plan.

(b) To satisfy the requirements of paragraph (a), a board established under s. 20.165(4), and any other board or commission receiving administrative support from the Department of Business and Professional Regulation, may coordinate with the Department of Business and Professional Regulation, and a board established under s. 20.43(3)(g) may coordinate with the Department of Health, for inclusion of the board's or commission's plan and notice of publication in the coordinating department's plan and notice and for the delivery of the required documentation to the committee.

(c) A regulatory plan prepared under subsection (1) and any regulatory plan published under this chapter before July 1, 2014, shall be maintained at an active website for 10 years after the date of initial publication on the agency's website or another state website.

(3) DEPARTMENT REVIEW OF BOARD PLAN.—By October 15 of each year:

(a) For each board established under s. 20.165(4) and any other board or commission receiving administrative support from the Department of Business and Professional Regulation, the Department of Business and Professional Regulation shall file with the committee a certification that the department has reviewed each board's and commission's regulatory plan. A certification may relate to more than one board or commission.

(b) For each board established under s. 20.43(3)(g), the Department of Health shall file with the committee a certification that the department has reviewed the board's regulatory plan. A certification may relate to more than one board.

(4) DEADLINE FOR RULE DEVELOPMENT.—By November 1 of each year, each agency shall publish a notice of rule development under s. 120.54(2) for each law identified in the agency's regulatory plan pursuant to subparagraph (1)(a)1. for which rulemaking is necessary to implement but for which the agency did not report the publication of a notice of rule development under subparagraph (1)(a)2.

(5) DEADLINE TO PUBLISH PROPOSED RULE.—For each law for which implementing rulemaking is necessary as identified in the agency's plan pursuant to subparagraph (1)(a)1. or subparagraph (1)(c)1., the agency shall publish a notice of proposed rule pursuant to s. 120.54(3)(a) by April 1 of the year following the deadline for the regulatory plan. This deadline may be extended if the agency publishes a notice of extension in the Florida Administrative Register identifying each rulemaking proceeding for which an extension is being noticed by citation to the applicable notice of rule development as published in the Florida Administrative Register. The agency shall include a concise statement in the notice of extension identifying any issues that are causing the delay in rulemaking. An extension shall expire on October 1 after the April 1 deadline, provided that the regulatory plan due on October 1 may further extend the rulemaking proceeding by identification pursuant to subparagraph (1)(c)1. or conclude the rulemaking proceeding by identification pursuant to subparagraph (1)(c)2. A published regulatory plan may be corrected at any time to accomplish the purpose of extending or concluding an affected rulemaking proceeding and is deemed corrected as of the October 1 due date. Upon publication of a correction, the agency shall publish in the Florida Administrative Register a notice of the date of the correction identifying the affected rulemaking proceeding by applicable citation to the Florida Administrative Register.

(6) CERTIFICATIONS.—Each agency shall file a certification with the committee upon compliance with subsection (4) and upon filing a notice under subsection (5) of either a deadline extension or a regulatory plan correction. A certification may relate to more than one notice or contemporaneous act. The date or dates of compliance shall be noted in each certification.

(7) SUPPLEMENTING THE REGULATORY PLAN.—After publication of the regulatory plan, the agency shall supplement the plan within 30 days after a bill becomes a law if the law is enacted before the next regular session of the Legislature and the law substantively modifies the agency's specifically delegated legal duties, unless the law affects all or most state agencies as identified by letter to the committee from the Governor or the Attorney General. The supplement must include the information required in paragraph (1)(a) and shall be published as required in subsection (2), but no certification or delivery to the committee is required. The agency shall publish in the Florida Administrative Register notice of publication of the supplement, and include a hyperlink on its website or web address for direct access to the published supplement. For each law reported in the supplement, if rulemaking is necessary to implement the law, the agency shall publish a notice of rule development by the later of the date provided in subsection (4) or 60 days after the bill becomes a law, and a notice of proposed rule shall be published by the later of the date provided in subsection (5) or 120 days after the bill becomes a law. The proposed rule deadline may be extended to the following October 1 by notice as provided in subsection (5). If such proposed rule has not been filed by October 1, a law included in a supplement shall also be included in the next annual plan pursuant to subsection (1).

requirement of subsection (1), paragraph (2)(a), or subsection (5), within 15 days after written demand from the committee or from the chair of any other legislative committee, the agency shall deliver a written explanation of the reasons for noncompliance to the committee, the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the chair of any legislative committee requesting the explanation of the reasons for noncompliance.

(9) EDUCATIONAL UNITS.—This section does not apply to educational units.

Section 7. This act shall take effect July 1, 2022.

January 25, 2022

Honorable Senator Kelli Stargel
Chair
Committee on Appropriations

Honorable Chair Stargel,

I respectfully request that SB 536 Administrative Procedures be placed in the next committee agenda.

Administrative Procedures applies certain provisions applicable to all rules other than emergency rules to repromulgated rules. It requires an agency to provide notice of a regulatory alternative to the Administrative Procedures Committee within a certain timeframe. It also requires an agency to provide a copy of any proposal for a lower cost regulatory alternative to the committee within a certain timeframe. The agency reviews the repromulgation of rules that do not require substantive changes within a specified timeframe and requires an agency to identify and describe each rule it plans to develop, adopt, or repeal during the forthcoming year in the agency's annual regulatory plan.

Sincerely,

Senator Manny Diaz, Jr.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 554 provides an education benefit to certain veterans who are residents and enrolled in a program of education approved by the federal educational assistance program. The bill would increase what is provided in federal law for educational benefits to achieve a 100 percent award for tuition and fees. To qualify, the veteran must have been:

- Determined by the United States Department of Veterans Affairs to have a service-connected total and permanent disability rating of 100 percent for compensation;
- Determined to have a service-connected total and permanent disability rating of 100 percent and have received disability retirement pay from a branch of the United States Armed Services; or
- Issued a valid identification card by the state Department of Veterans' Affairs which identifies the veteran as having a 100 percent, service-connected permanent and total disability rating for compensation; or who has a service-connected total and permanent disability rating of 100 percent and receives disability retirement pay from a branch of the United States Armed Forces.

Beginning with the 2022-2023 academic year, a disabled veteran who receives a tuition benefit to attend a state university, a Florida College System institution, a career center operated by a school district, or a charter technical career center under the Post-9/11 Veterans Educational Assistance Act of 2008, but who does not qualify for the 100 percent eligibility tier federally, is eligible for tuition and fees. The monetary award is equal to the difference between the portion of tuition and fees authorized under federal law and the full amount of tuition and fees charged by the institution attended. The bill specifies that the amount awarded by the state is not to be determined until after federal benefits are applied.

Each educational institution included in this bill must annually report to the Board of Governors of the State University System and the State Board of Education, as appropriate, the number and value of all fee waivers granted.

The bill provides that a disabled veteran who receives this award must remain in compliance with other statutory requirements applying to veterans and other students who receive educational benefits.

The bill does not have an impact on state revenues or expenditures. See Section V. Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2022.

II. Present Situation:

Post-9/11 Veterans Educational Assistance Act of 2008 (38 U.S.C. 3313)

Congress enacted the Post-9/11 Veterans' Educational Assistance Act (Act) of 2008, also known as the Post-9/11 GI Bill (GI Bill), which took effect August 1, 2009.[1] The Act provides up to 36 months of educational benefits at a program of education to veterans and servicemembers and their dependent children.[2]

At the time of its passage:

> It was recognized that veterans and servicemembers would be eligible for U.S. Department of Education (ED) student financial aid benefits such as Pell Grants and Stafford Loans; U.S. Department of Defense (DOD) educational assistance; and various state, local, and other federal benefits in addition to the basic Post-9/11 GI Bill Benefits.[3]

To qualify for a benefit under the Act, a veteran or servicemember must:

- Serve an aggregate minimum of 90 days active duty after September 10, 2001;
- Have been honorably discharged or released for a service-connected disability after serving a minimum of 30 continuous days on active duty after September 10, 2001; or
- Be a Purple Heart recipient for service after September 10, 2001, and have been honorably discharged.

[1] Pub. L. No. 110-252, 122 STAT. 2323. The GI Bill has since been amended by the Post-9/11 Veterans Assistance Improvements Act of 2010.

[2] In addition to tuition and fees, educational benefits include payment for housing, books, supplies, and other education-related expenditures.

[3] Cassandria Dortch, Congressional Research Service, The Post-9/11 GI Bill: A Primer (Updated Sept. 23, 2021), pg. 1; available at https://fas.org/sgp/crs/misc/R42755.pdf (Last visited Dec. 9, 2021). At that time, members of Congress hoped that a benefit exceeding amounts available under the other GI Bills would mitigate the higher unemployment rate amongst veterans in contrast to non-veterans of the same age group.

A qualifying veteran or servicemember may transfer the education benefits to a dependent child. [4]

The Congressional Research Service estimates in FY2022, the program will benefit over 600,000 individuals and expend almost $10 billion.

The percentage of maximum benefits payable under the GI Bill varies and is primarily based on an individual's aggregate length of active duty service. Duration of service as it relates to the maximum benefit payable by percentage currently includes:[5]

Number of Months Served	Percentage of Maximum Benefit Payable
At least 30 continuous days active duty and discharged due to service-connected disability, or	100
At least 36 months of active duty	100
Between 30 and up to 36 months active duty	90
Between 24 and up to 30 months active duty	80
Between 18 and up to 24 months active duty	70
Between 6 and up to 18 months active duty	60
Between 90 days and up to 6 months active duty	50

Amendments to the Post-9/11 Veterans Educational Assistance Act of 2008

Since it was enacted, the Post-9/11 Veterans Educational Assistance Act of 2008 has been amended multiple times. Two of these amending acts are detailed below.

Post-9/11 Veterans Educational Assistance Improvements Act of 2010

The Post-9/11 Veterans Educational Assistance Improvements Act of 2010 (Act) amended the Post-9/11 Veterans Educational Assistance Act of 2008 to, in part:

- Revise the method used by an institution to report the net cost of tuition and fees;
- Expand the definition of "active duty" to include certain servicemembers;
- Expand applicability to include certain dependents and spouses; and
- Expand payment of tuition and fees for programs other than degreed programs, including those pursued on a half-time basis or less, resident training, distance learning, apprenticeships or other on-the-job training, flight training, or correspondence.[6]

Forever GI Bill Stem Extension

Congress passed the Forever GI Bill Stem Extension Act (Act)[7], effective August 1, 2019, to encourage veterans to pursue fields that typically require greater than the 36 months of benefits provided under the Post-9/11 GI Bill. The Act provides an extension of benefits for a veteran pursuing an educational degree in science, technology, engineering, or math. This extension will pay up to 9 months of additional benefits, or up to a maximum lump sum of $30,000. [8]

Disabled Veterans in Florida

The population of veterans in Florida with a 100 percent disability rating is numbered at 55,440 veterans, as of the latest data from 2019. Counties with the highest population of these veterans are Brevard (2,665), Broward (2,897), Duval (2,900), Hillsborough (4,702), Miami-Dade (2,895), Orange (3,101), and Pinellas (3,012).[9]

Residency

Section 1009.21, F.S., defines the term "legal resident," for determination of in-state tuition, a person who has maintained his or her residence in the state for the preceding year, has purchased a home occupied as a residence, or has established domicile in the state.[10] To prove domicile, a person must file a sworn statement with the clerk of the circuit court attesting that either he or she resides in and maintains a place of abode in the county intending to maintain it as a permanent home, or that he or she has established a domicile in the state but maintains at least an additional abode out-of-state; that the place of abode in the state constitutes the predominant and principal home; and that he or she intends to continue it permanently. The sworn statement establishing domicile must include a statement that the person is a bona fide resident of the state, along with the address of residence, prior residence, and the place or places where he or she maintains another abode.[11]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

This bill provides an education benefit to certain veterans who are residents and enrolled in a program of education approved by the federal educational assistance program, pursuant to 38 U.S.C. 3313. The bill would increase what is provided in federal law for educational benefits to achieve a 100 percent award for tuition and fees. To qualify, the veteran must have been: Determined by the United States Department of Veterans Affairs to have a service-connected total and permanent disability rating of 100 percent for compensation;

- Determined to have a service-connected total and permanent disability rating of 100 percent and have received disability retirement pay from a branch of the United States Armed Services; or
- Issued a valid identification card by the state Department of Veterans' Affairs which identifies the veteran as having a 100 percent, service-connected permanent and total disability rating for compensation; or who has a service-connected total and permanent disability rating of 100 percent and receives disability retirement pay from a branch of the United States Armed Forces.

Beginning with the 2022-2023 academic year, a disabled veteran who receives a tuition benefit to attend a state university, a Florida College System institution, a career center operated by a school district, or a charter technical career center under the Post-9/11 Veterans Educational Assistance Act of 2008, but who does not qualify for the 100 percent eligibility tier federally, is eligible for an award of tuition and fees. The award is equal to the difference between the portion of tuition and fees authorized under federal law and the full amount of tuition and fees charged by the institution attended. The bill specifies that the amount awarded by the state is not to be determined until after federal benefits are applied.

Each educational institution included in this bill must report annually to the Board of Governors of the State University System and the State Board of Education, as appropriate, the number and value of all fee waivers granted.

The bill requires the Board of Governors and the State Board of Education to, as appropriate, adopt regulations and rules to administer these provisions.

A disabled veteran who receives this award must remain in compliance with other statutory requirements applying to veterans and other students who receive educational benefits.[12]

The bill takes effect July 1, 2023.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

[12] Section 295.03, F.S., requires the withdrawal of benefits for a veteran who violates the ordinary and minimum requirements of the institution on discipline and scholarship. Section 295.04(4), F.S., requires a veteran to be in good standing with the institution to receive an educational benefit. Section 295.05, F.S., requires a veteran receiving benefits to be enrolled according to the customary rules and requirements of the institution. Section 1009.40, F.S. provides general requirements for a student (veteran or nonveteran) to be eligible for state financial aid and tuition assistance grants.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

None identified.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The bill is expected to reduce the costs of tuition, fees, and other education benefits for qualifying veterans.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The Department of Education provides that public postsecondary institutions are expected to incur an increase in expenditures which will be the difference between the Post-9/11 GI benefits and full tuition and fee charges.[13]

Specifically, the expenditure is estimated to cost $100,000 in cash and recurring dollars starting in Fiscal Year 2022-2023.[14]

A cost may also result from public postsecondary institutions having to adjust their process for applicants and include this waiver in financial aid packages. These costs would be absorbed by each institution.

The Department of Education expects a technological impact to the agency due to having to compile and maintain a record of eligible veterans for purposes of the reporting requirement. Any impact would be absorbed by the agency. [15]

The Department of Veterans Affairs expects a minimal fiscal impact based on the new requirement of the department having to certify a veteran as 100-percent disabled.[16]

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to educational opportunities for disabled veterans; creating s. 295.011, F.S.; defining the term "disabled veteran"; providing that disabled veterans receiving certain federal educational assistance benefits are eligible to receive a waiver for the remaining cost of tuition and fees at certain institutions; providing a calculation for waiver amounts; requiring the amount awarded by the state to be contingent on the application of specified federal benefits; requiring certain institutions to submit an annual report to the Board of Governors and the State Board of Education; requiring the boards to respectively adopt regulations and rules; specifying applicability of other laws; providing an effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Section 295.011, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

295.011 Disabled veterans; education.—

(1) As used in this section, the term "disabled veteran" means an individual who is a resident of this state pursuant to s. 1009.21 and is:

(a) Determined by the United States Department of Veterans Affairs to have a service-connected total and permanent disability rating of 100 percent for compensation;

(b) Determined to have a service-connected total and

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 988 establishes the "No Patient Left Alone Act" (Act), creating sections 408.823 and 408.8235, Florida Statutes. Specifically, the bill:

- Requires long-term care providers[1], hospitals, and hospice facilities to develop and establish visitation policies and procedures, make them easily accessible from the home page of their websites within a specified time, and submit them to the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) when applying for initial licensure, licensure renewal, or change of ownership, and make them available for review upon request at any time.
- Provides requirements for visitation policies and procedures.
- Authorizes long-term care providers to require visitors to sign and certify that they will follow the policies and procedures and to suspend in-person visitation of specific visitors, with exceptions, under certain circumstances.
- Requires the AHCA to dedicate a stand-alone page on its website to explain long-term care provider visitation rights authorized under this Act and provide a portal and phone number for individuals to report violations.
- Clarifies the Act prevails over any conflicting or inconsistent provisions of state law.

[1] A "long-term care provider" is defined as an intermediate care facility for the developmentally disabled licensed and certified under part VIII of chapter 400, a developmental disabilities center as defined in s. 393.063, F.S., a nursing home facility licensed under part II of chapter 400, or an assisted living facility licensed under part I of chapter 429.

The bill has no fiscal impact on state revenues or state expenditures.[2]

The bill takes effect upon becoming a law.

II. Present Situation:

General Timeline of the Emergence of the COVID-19 Pandemic

The first signs of COVID-19 appeared in December of 2019 in the city of Wuhan, China, as a pneumonia virus of unknown origin. By early January, 2020, Chinese authorities identified a novel coronavirus as the cause of the outbreak. Shortly thereafter, the first cases of COVID-19—officially named by the World Health Organization (WHO) on February 11, 2020—were detected in Japan and Thailand. On January 20, 2020, the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention confirmed the first case of COVID-19 in the United States appearing in Washington State. On January 31, 2020, the U.S. Secretary of Health and Human Services (HHS) declared COVID-19 a public health emergency and on March 11, 2020, the WHO declared COVID-19 a pandemic.[3]

Ten days prior, on March 1, 2020, Florida Surgeon General Scott Rivkees declared a public health emergency.[4] The public health emergency was renewed multiple times and remained in effect until it was allowed to expire on June 26, 2021.[5] Under the authority granted to the Governor, the AHCA, and the Department of Health (DOH), as well as other executive agencies, numerous emergency measures were put in place to slow the spread of COVID-19 and to protect the public health, including restricting visitation in certain health care and long term care facilities.

Florida Visitation Restrictions during COVID-19

On March 15, 2020, the Florida Division of Emergency Management (DEM) issued emergency order (EO) 20-006 which required every facility, as defined in the EO, in Florida to prohibit the entry of any individual to the facility except in specified circumstances. For the purposes of the EO, the term "facility" included:

- Group Home Facilities;
- Developmental Disabilities Centers;
- Nursing Homes;
- Homes for Special Services;
- Long-Term Care Hospitals;
- Transitional Living Facilities;

- Intermediate Care Facilities for the Developmentally Disabled;
- Assisted Living Facilities (ALF);
- Adult Mental Health and Treatment Facilities;
- Adult Forensic Facilities;
- Civil Facilities; and
- Adult Family-Care Homes.

The EO provided exceptions for allowing entry in the following circumstances:
- Family members, friends, and visiting residents in end-of-life situations;
- Hospice or palliative care workers caring for residents in end-of-life situations;
- Any individuals providing necessary health care to a resident;
- Facility staff;
- Facility residents;
- Attorneys of record for a resident in an Adult Mental Health and Treatment Facility for court matters, if virtual or telephonic means were unavailable; and
- Representatives of the federal or state governments seeking entry as part of their official duties.

The EO also specified that the allowed individuals would remain prohibited from entering if:
- They were infected with COVID-19 and had not had two consecutive negative tests separated by 24 hours;
- They were showing signs or symptoms of respiratory infection;
- They had been in contact with a person known to be infected with COVID-19 in the past 14 days and had not tested negative for COVID-19;
- They had traveled through any airport in the previous 14 days; or
- They had traveled on a cruise ship in the previous 14 days.

The order was extended by EO 20-007 on May 18, 2020. On September 1, 2020, the DEM issued EO 20-009 which extended and modified the provisions of the previous two EOs by allowing essential caregivers and compassionate care visitors under specified circumstances, and on October 22, 2020, the DEM issued EO 20-011, which extended and modified the previous EOs by adding general visitors under specified circumstances. Finally, on March 22, 2021, the DEM issued EO 21-001, which rescinded the previous EOs prohibiting visitation and instead required all affected facilities to maintain visitation and infection control policies in accordance with all state and federal laws.

Current Status of Visitation in Florida

The availability and accessibility of visitation in Florida's health care facilities varies widely between facility type and from facility to facility, depending on each facility's visitation policies.

Certain types of facilities, such as nursing homes[6] and hospitals,[7] must adhere to federal guidelines for visitation, while other types, such as ALFs, are not federally regulated and operate solely under a license issued by the state.

Many factors affect how a facility may go about allowing or restricting visitation. At a minimum, a facility must follow the applicable laws and rules that govern its license type and, generally, a facility may exceed those minimum standards. However, when it comes to allowing or disallowing visitation, it is possible for a facility to become too restrictive. For example, the HHS Office for Civil Rights has investigated complaints stemming from hospitals in Connecticut and Massachusetts where disabled patients were denied the right to bring a caretaker with them into the hospital.[8] Overall, visitation policies will likely vary from facility to facility, and each facility will likely approach creating its visitation policies differently depending on what type of facility it is, the type of patients or residents the facility has, the laws and rules that affect that type of facility, the mindset of the individuals who create the policies for the facility, and many other factors.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 2 creates s. 408.823, F.S., to:

- Define "long-term care provider" as an intermediate care facility for the developmentally disabled licensed and certified under part VIII of chapter 400, a developmental disabilities center as defined in s. 393.063, a nursing home facility licensed under part II of chapter 400, or an assisted living facility licensed under part I of chapter 429.
- Require each long-term care provider, no later than 30 days after the effective date of this Act, to develop and establish visitation policies and procedures that, at a minimum, include:
  - Infection control and education policies for visitors;
  - Screening, personal protective equipment, and other infection control recommendations for visitors;
  - Recommendations on the length of visits or number of visitors allowed which must meet or exceed the standards specified in ss. 400.022(1)(b) and 429.28(1)(d); and
  - Designation of a person who is responsible for ongoing assurance that staff adhere to the policies and procedures.

[6] Federal guidelines for nursing homes require that all facilities must allow indoor visitation and, although there is no limit on the number of visitors a resident can have, all visits should be conducted in a manner that adheres to core principles of COVID-19 infection prevention. See Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services, Nursing Home Visitation – COVID-19 (revised), first published Sep. 17, 2020, last revised Dec. 11, 2021, available at https://www.cms.gov/files/document/qso-20-39-nh-revised.pdf (last visited Jan. 10, 2022).

[7] Under the federal government's phased approach to reopening (see https://trumpwhitehouse.archives.gov/openingamerica/, last visited Jan. 10, 2022), unrestricted hospital visitation has been available since entering phase 3. Additionally, except for Long-Term Care Hospitals, Florida has not restricted visitation in hospitals. Currently, although visitation is not restricted, many hospitals are using enhanced visitation protocols due to the recent spike in COVID-19 cases caused by the Omicron variant. See: Hospital visitation policies tightened in South Florida as COVID omicron variant spreads, South Florida Sun Sentinel, Mary Lou Cruz, Jan. 5, 2022, available at https://www.sun-sentinel.com/coronavirus/fl-ne-coronavirus-hospital-rules-20210724-omq3lxv6pvbufedbvkgckn6a4u-story.html (last visited Jan. 10, 2022)

- Specify that policies and procedures may not be more stringent than safety protocols established for the provider's staff and may not require visitors to submit proof of any vaccination or immunization. They must also allow visitors to physically touch the resident or client, unless the resident or client objects.
- Authorize long-term care providers to require visitors to sign and certify that the visitors agree to follow visitation policies and procedures.
- Require long-term care providers to submit their visitation policies and procedures to the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) when applying for initial licensure, licensure renewal, or change of ownership, and make them available for review upon request at any time.
- Authorize a long-term care provider to suspend in-person visits if the visitor violates policies and procedures. A long-term care provider's policies and procedures must allow for in-person visitation in all of the following circumstances, regardless of a suspension of visitation rights based on violations of the provider's infection control policies and procedures, unless the resident or client objects:
  - End-of-life situations.
  - A resident or client who was living with his or her family before recently being admitted to the provider's care and is struggling with the change in environment and lack of in-person family support.
  - Making major medical decisions regarding the resident or client.
  - A resident or client is grieving the loss of a friend or family member who recently died.
  - A resident or client needs cueing or encouragement to eat or drink which a family member or caregiver previously provided.
  - A resident or client who used to talk and interact with others and is experiencing emotional distress, seldom speaking, or crying more frequently than he or she did previously.
- Require long-term care providers, within 24 hours after establishing policies and procedures, to make this information easily accessible from the homepage of their websites.
- Require the AHCA to dedicate a stand-alone page on its website to explain long-term care provider visitation rights authorized under this Act and to provide a portal and phone number for individuals to report violations.
- Clarify this section prevails over any conflicting or inconsistent provisions of state law.

Section 3 creates s. 408.8235, F.S., to:

- Require each hospital licensed under chapter 395, and hospice facility licensed under part IV of chapter 400, no later than 30 days after the effective date of this Act, to develop and establish visitation policies and procedures that, at a minimum, include:
  - Infection control and education policies for visitors;
  - Screening, personal protective equipment, and other infection control recommendations for visitors;
  - Recommendations on the length of visits or number of visitors; and
  - Designation of a person in the hospital or hospice facility who is responsible for ongoing assurance that staff adhere to the policies and procedures.
- Specify that policies and procedures may not require visitors to submit proof of any vaccination or immunization and must allow visitors to physically touch the patient, unless the patient objects.

- Require visitation policies and procedures to allow for in-person visitation in all of the following circumstances, unless the patient objects:
  - End-of-life situations.
  - For hospitals, childbirth, including labor and delivery. The policies and procedures must allow visitation for at least one companion.
  - Making major medical decisions regarding the patient.
  - Pediatric patients.
- Require hospitals and hospice facilities to submit their visitation policies and procedures to the AHCA when applying for initial licensure, licensure renewal, or change of ownership, and make them available for review upon request at any time; and within 24 hours after establishing policies and procedures, make this information easily accessible from the homepage of their websites.
- Clarify this section prevails over any conflicting or inconsistent provisions of state law.

Sections 4 directs the Division of Law Revision to replace the phrase "30 days after the effective date of this act" wherever it occurs in this Act with the date 30 days after this Act becomes a law.

Section 5 provides the Act takes effect upon becoming a law.

(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS/CS by Appropriations on February 28, 2022:
The committee substitute:

- Establishes requirements for visitation policies and procedures and revises requirements for visitation protocols.
- Removes the approval of visitation policies by the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) and the requirements for the AHCA to investigate a report of a violation, impose fines for violations, and adopt rules.
- Clarifies the bill applies to long-term care providers, including ICF/DDs, developmental disability centers, nursing home facilities, and assisted living facilities, as well as hospitals and hospice facilities.
- Requires long-term care providers, hospitals, and hospice facilities to develop visitation policies and procedures and make them easily accessible from the home page of their respective websites, as well as to submit them to the AHCA when applying for initial licensure, licensure renewal, or change of ownership, and make them available for review upon request at any time.
- Authorizes long-term care providers to require visitors to sign and certify that they will follow the policies and procedures and suspend in-person visitation of specific visitors, with exceptions, under certain circumstances.

[9] Agency for Health Care Administration, Fiscal Impact Statement for SB 988, Feb. 25, 2022 (on file with the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Health and Human Services).

- Requires the AHCA to dedicate a stand-alone page on its website to explain the long-term care provider visitation rights authorized under this Act and to provide a portal and phone number for individuals to report violations.
- Clarifies the Act prevails over any conflicting or inconsistent provisions of state law.
- Directs the Division of Law Revision to replace the phrase "30 days after the effective date of this act" wherever it occurs with the date 30 days after the bill becomes a law.
- Changes the effective date from July 1, 2022, to upon becoming a law.

CS by Health Policy on January 13, 2022:
The CS clarifies that only providers that admit clients to their facilities or that serve clients as residents in their facilities are required to allow visitation.

Senate Amendment (with title amendment)

Delete everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. This act may be cited as the "No Patient Left Alone Act."

Section 2. Section 408.823, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

408.823 Long-term care visitation rights.—

(1) As used in this section, the term "long-term care provider" means an intermediate care facility for the developmentally disabled which is licensed and certified under part VIII of chapter 400, a developmental disabilities center as defined in s. 393.063, a nursing home facility licensed under part II of chapter 400, or an assisted living facility licensed under part I of chapter 429.

(2)(a) No later than 30 days after the effective date of this act, each long-term care provider shall develop and establish visitation policies and procedures. The policies and procedures must, at a minimum, include infection control and education policies for visitors; screening, personal protective equipment, and other infection control recommendations for visitors; recommendations on the length of visits or number of visitors allowed which must meet or exceed the standards specified in ss. 400.022(1)(b) and 429.28(1)(d); and designation of a person who is responsible for ongoing assurance that staff adhere to the policies and procedures. The policies and procedures may not be more stringent than safety protocols established for the provider's staff and may not require visitors to submit proof of any vaccination or immunization. The policies and procedures must allow visitors to physically touch the resident or client, unless the resident or client objects.

(b) The policies and procedures may require visitors to sign and certify that the visitors agree to follow the long-term care provider's policies and procedures.

(c) Long-term care providers shall submit their visitation policies and procedures to the agency when applying for initial licensure, licensure renewal, or change of ownership. The provider must make the visitation policies and procedures available for review upon agency request at any time.

(d) A long-term care provider may suspend in-person visits of a specific visitor if the visitor violates the provider's policies and procedures. However, a long-term care provider's policies and procedures must allow for in-person visitation in all of the following circumstances, regardless of a suspension of visitation rights based on violations of the provider's infection control policies and procedures, unless the resident or client objects:

1. End-of-life situations.

2. A resident or client who was living with his or her family before being admitted to the provider's care is struggling with the change in environment and lack of in-person family support.

3. Making major medical decisions regarding the resident or client.

4. A resident or client is grieving the loss of a friend or family member who recently died.

5. A resident or client needs cueing or encouragement to eat or drink which was previously provided by a family member or caregiver.

6. A resident or client who used to talk and interact with others is experiencing emotional distress, seldom speaking, or crying more frequently than he or she did previously.

(e) Within 24 hours after establishing the policies and procedures under this section, long-term care providers must make this information easily accessible from the homepage of their websites.

(3) The agency shall dedicate a stand-alone page on its website to explain visitation rights authorized under this section and s. 408.8235 and to provide a portal and phone number for individuals to report violations.

(4) This section prevails over any conflicting or inconsistent provisions of state law.

Section 3. Section 408.8235, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

408.8235 Hospital and hospice visitation rights.—

(1)(a) No later than 30 days after the effective date of this act, each hospital licensed under chapter 395 and hospice facility licensed under part IV of chapter 400 shall develop and establish visitation policies and procedures. The policies and procedures must, at a minimum, include infection control and education policies for visitors; screening, personal protective equipment, and other infection control recommendations for visitors; recommendations on the length of visits or number of visitors; and designation of the person in the hospital or hospice facility who is responsible for ongoing assurance that staff adhere to the policies and procedures. The visitation policies and procedures may not require visitors to submit proof of any vaccination or immunization and must allow visitors to physically touch the patient, unless the patient objects.

(b) The visitation policies and procedures required by this section must allow for in-person visitation in all of the following circumstances, unless the patient objects:

1. End-of-life situations.

2. For hospitals, childbirth, including labor and delivery. The policies and procedures must allow visitation for at least one companion during this circumstance.

799882

3. Making major medical decisions regarding the patient.

4. Pediatric patients.

(c) Hospitals and hospice facilities shall submit their visitation policies and procedures to the agency when applying for initial licensure, licensure renewal, or change of ownership. The hospital or hospice facility must make the visitation policies and procedures available for review upon agency request at any time.

(d) Within 24 hours after establishing the policies and procedures under this section, hospitals and hospice facilities must make this information easily accessible from the homepage of their websites.

(2) This section prevails over any conflicting or inconsistent provisions of state law.

Section 4. The Division of Law Revision is directed to replace the phrase "30 days after the effective date of this act" wherever it occurs in this act with the date 30 days after this act becomes a law.

Section 5. This act shall take effect upon becoming a law.

WHEREAS, the COVID-19 pandemic has caused great uncertainty and anxiety across this state and has significantly affected patients and residents in health care facilities, and

WHEREAS, health care facilities have made great efforts to keep patients and employees in a safe environment and have attempted to minimize, to the extent possible, the risk of spread of COVID-19, and

WHEREAS, these prevention measures have had many unintended consequences for patients and residents of these facilities who were not diagnosed with COVID-19, and

WHEREAS, patients and residents of health care facilities who were not diagnosed with COVID-19 were prohibited from having any visitors, including a spouse, parent, close family member, guardian, health care agent, or caregiver, as a result of COVID-19 prevention measures, and

WHEREAS, many families have been unable to be physically present with their loved ones while they were in a hospital, long-term care facility, or residential treatment setting for mental illnesses, developmental or intellectual disabilities, or substance use disorders, and have been limited to electronic video communications, if any, and

WHEREAS, the patients and residents affected by these restrictions include adults, minors, and individuals with intellectual or developmental disabilities, and

WHEREAS, the Legislature finds that it is in the best interest of the state and its residents that the patients and residents of health care facilities be allowed visitation by visitors of their choosing during their hospitalization or residential treatment, NOW, THEREFORE,

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. This act may be cited as the "No Patient Left Alone Act."

Section 2. Section 408.823, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

408.823 Client visitation rights.—

(1) A provider shall allow clients to receive visitors during their admission to, or residency at, the provider's facility in accordance with agency rules.

(2) If circumstances require a provider to restrict public access to the facility due to health or safety concerns, the provider must develop alternate visitation protocols that allow visitation to the greatest extent possible while maintaining client health and safety.

(3) A provider that admits clients to its facility or serves clients who are residents in the provider's facility must allow in-person visits in all of the following circumstances:

(a) End-of-life situations.

(b) A client who was living with his or her family before recently being admitted to the provider's facility is struggling with the change in environment and lack of physical family support.

(c) A client is grieving the loss of a friend or family member who recently died.

(d) A client needs cueing or encouragement to eat or drink which was previously provided by a family member or caregiver, and the client is experiencing weight loss or dehydration.

(e) A client who used to talk and interact with others is experiencing emotional distress, is seldom speaking, or is crying more frequently than he or she did previously.

(f) Any other circumstance the agency deems appropriate.

(4) To ensure the health and safety of clients, a provider may require visitors to adhere to infection control protocols, including passing a health screening and wearing personal protective equipment while on the premises of the provider's facility. A provider may refuse visitation if the visitor does not pass a health screening or refuses to comply with the provider's infection control protocols.

(5) Providers shall submit their visitation policies to the agency by January 1 each year for approval. If the agency finds any provision of a provider's visitation policy deficient or not in compliance with this section or the agency's rules, the provider must submit an updated policy conforming such provision within 30 days after the agency's notice.

(6) Providers must notify clients and, if possible, their family members or caregivers of their visitation rights under this section and provide them with the contact information for the agency and the link to the dedicated webpage on the agency's website specified in subsection (7).

(7) The agency must dedicate a webpage on its website to explain visitation rights authorized under this section and provide a method for individuals to report violations of this section to the agency. The agency shall investigate a report of a violation within 30 days after receiving the report.

(8) A violation of this section or the rules adopted pursuant hereto constitutes a class III violation as specified in s. 408.813. If a provider does not correct a violation in the time specified by the agency or repeats a violation, the agency must impose an administrative fine of at least $500 per violation. Each occurrence and each day that the violation continues constitutes a separate violation.

(9) The agency shall adopt rules to implement this section.

Section 3. This act shall take effect July 1, 2022.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 1010 requires the Department of Health (department) to develop and maintain an electronic database of information related to uterine fibroids. The bill requires specified health care providers to submit to the department information on the diagnosis or treatment of women with uterine fibroids for inclusion in the database. The bill defines health care providers as physicians or physician assistants licensed under chapters 458 or 459, Florida Statutes, and advanced practice registered nurses licensed under chapter 464, Florida Statutes.

The bill prohibits the database from including personal identifying information. The bill requires the department to develop and include information related to uterine fibroids in its women's health care educational materials currently made available to the public. The information must include possible risk factors for developing uterine fibroids and the range of available treatment options that are considered alternatives to a hysterectomy.

The bill provides an appropriation for the 2022-2023 fiscal year, including $121,852 in recurring funds and $681,048 in nonrecurring funds from the General Revenue Fund to the department and one full-time equivalent position with associated salary rate of 55,212.

The department estimates a fiscal impact of $1.4 million to procure, develop, and implement the required database, as well as training health care providers on the bill's new reporting requirement. See section V of this analysis.

The bill provides an effective date of July 1, 2022.

II. Present Situation:

The Department of Health

The Legislature created the department to protect and promote the health of all residents and visitors in the state.[1] The department is charged with the regulation of health care practitioners for the preservation of the health, safety, and welfare of the public. The Public Health Research Unit is located within the Division of Community Health Promotion within the department.[2]

Public Health Research

In 1999, the Legislature established the Lawton Chiles Endowment Fund and the Florida Biomedical Research Program to support research initiatives that address the health care problems of Floridians in the areas of cancer, cardiovascular disease, stroke, and pulmonary disease.[3] The Biomedical Research Program, within the division of Public Health Research in the department, administers annual funding opportunities for research grant applications, monitors research grants, evaluates progress of research grant project aims, and provides research consultations and technical assistance. Annual reports are submitted to the Florida Legislature on research progress. The goals of the research grants are to find new discoveries leading to the prevention, treatment, and cures for cancer, tobacco-related diseases, and Alzheimer's disease.

This program is also responsible for the department Institutional Review Board (IRB) and the Human Research Protection Program, which provides research consultations and technical assistance concerning applications for research reviewed by the IRB. The IRB reviews research projects that involve clients, data, facilities, and staff.

The Biomedical Research Program also provides two educational programs to enrich the department's internal research capacity: the Research Excellence Initiative and Florida Health Grand Rounds.

The Research Excellence Initiative is a year-long education program for the department professionals conducting research, epidemiology, and program evaluation. The initiative builds skills and ability for quality and innovative research with emphasis on research integrity, research ethics, and regulatory requirements. The Research Excellence Initiative is now in its fourth year.[4]

The Florida Health Grand Rounds is a webinar series held in the fall and spring semesters in partnership with Florida university-based researchers and hosted by the department. The topics have a broad focus, touching on emerging, innovative, and cross-cutting areas of public health. Florida Health Grand Rounds provides an opportunity for Florida researchers to highlight and share their work with the department staff.[5]

Biomedical Research Program

The Florida Legislature has long recognized the need to support vital research conducted in both academic and private institutions throughout the state through the William G. "Bill" Bankhead Jr. and David Coley Cancer Research Program (Bankhead-Coley Program); the James and Esther King Biomedical Research Program (King Program); and the Live Like Bella Pediatric Cancer Research Initiative (Bella Initiative), the latter of which is funded through the Bankhead-Coley Program, is now in its fifth year, and is the only state-funded pediatric cancer research program in the U.S.[6]

Total funding, in the amount of $18,505,007, was awarded to Bankhead-Coley and King Program and Bella Initiative grantees. This funding, during Fiscal Year 2020-2021, resulted in 13 Bankhead-Coley, 12 King, and 11 Bella Initiative new research grants. These awards are made to universities and cancer research centers across the state to support researchers for improving prevention, diagnosis, and treatment.[7]

Research grants are awarded through a competitive peer review process. Awards are based on scientific merit as determined via independent peer review by experts located outside Florida who are free from conflicts of interest. Full-time researchers at any Florida-based university or established research institution are eligible to apply. All researchers provide a legislative report that is used to produce an annual report.[8]

Uterine Fibroids

Uterine fibroid lesions were initially known as the "uterine stone." The term "fibroid" was first introduced in the 1860s. Uterine fibroids are the most common pelvic tumors among women of reproductive age, affecting more than 70 percent of women worldwide, particularly women of color.

Although benign, uterine fibroids are associated with significant morbidity; they are the primary indication for hysterectomy and a major source of gynecologic and reproductive dysfunction, ranging from menorrhagia[9] and pelvic pain to infertility, recurrent miscarriage, and preterm labor. The annual U.S. health care costs associated with uterine fibroids have been estimated at approximately $34 billion. Uterine fibroids thus represent significant societal health and financial burdens on the U.S. health care system and economy.[10]

Diagnosis and Treatment

The growth of fibroids that originate from the uterine's smooth muscle tissue (myometrium) is dependent on estrogen and progesterone. Fibroids are rare before puberty, increase in prevalence during the reproductive years, and decrease in size after menopause. Uterine fibroids are classified based on location: subserosal (projecting outside the uterus), intramural (within the myometrium), and submucosal (projecting into the uterine cavity).

The symptoms and treatment options for fibroids are affected by size, number, and location. The most common symptom is abnormal uterine bleeding, usually manifesting as excessive menstrual bleeding. Other symptoms include pelvic pressure, bowel dysfunction, urinary frequency and urgency, urinary retention, low back pain, constipation, and painful intercourse.

Treatment of uterine fibroids should be tailored to the size and location of the tumors; the patient's age, symptoms, desire to maintain fertility, and access to treatment; and the physician's experience. The ideal treatment satisfies four goals: relief of signs and symptoms, sustained reduction of the size of fibroids, maintenance of fertility (if desired), and avoidance of harm.[11]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill creates s. 381.9312, F.S., which requires the department to develop and maintain an electronic database of information related to uterine fibroids. The purpose of the database is to encourage research relating to the diagnosis and treatment of uterine fibroids and ensure that women are provided with the relevant information and health care necessary to prevent and treat uterine fibroids.

The bill defines "health care provider" to include physicians or physician assistants licensed under chs. 458 or 459, F.S., or an advanced practice registered nurse registered under chapter 464, F.S.; and a "uterine fibroid" as a noncancerous growth of the uterus that often appears during a woman's childbearing years.

The database must include, but need not be limited to, all of the following information:

- Incidence and prevalence of women diagnosed with uterine fibroids in Florida;
- Demographic attributes of women diagnosed with uterine fibroids in Florida; and
- Treatments and procedures for uterine fibroids used by health care providers in Florida.

A health care provider who diagnoses or treats a woman with uterine fibroids must submit information relating to such diagnosis or treatment to the department in a form and manner prescribed by the department rule for inclusion in the database. Such information may be submitted along with any reports or other information that the health care provider is required to submit to the department pursuant to state law.

The database may not include any personal identifying information of women diagnosed with or treated for uterine fibroids.

The department must develop and include information related to uterine fibroids in its women's health care educational materials currently made available to the public. The information must include, but need not be limited to:
- The possible risk factors of developing uterine fibroids; and
- The range of available treatment options that are considered alternatives to a hysterectomy.

For the 2022-2023 fiscal year, the sums of $121,852 in recurring funds and $681,048 in nonrecurring funds from the General Revenue Fund are appropriated to the department and one full-time equivalent position with associated salary rate of 55,212 is authorized for the purpose of implementing this act.

The bill provides an effective date of July 1, 2022.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/CS/SB 1040, known as the "Protect Our Loved Ones" Act, authorizes a local law enforcement agency to develop and maintain a database, known as the "Special Needs Registry", of persons who may have developmental, psychological, or other disabilities or conditions.

Parents and guardians may voluntarily enroll minors and incapacitated individuals in the registry. The registry may include:

- An enrollee's demographic and contact information, and information related to the enrollee's disability or condition;
- Contact information of persons who have enrolled individuals on the registry; and
- Certification of the disability or condition.

The bill provides notification requirements for enrollment onto the registry and a process for removing oneself from the registry.

The bill authorizes local law enforcement agencies to provide information from the registry to law enforcement officers to assist in performance of their official duties.

The bill does not have a fiscal impact on state government. The bill may have a negative yet indeterminate fiscal impact on those law enforcement agencies that choose to create and maintain a Special Needs Registry.
The bill takes effect January 1, 2023.

II. Present Situation:

Developmental Disabilities

Developmental disabilities[1] include autism, cerebral palsy, spina bifida, intellectual disabilities, Down syndrome, Prader-Willi syndrome, and Phelan-McDermid syndrome.[2]

Cerebral palsy[3] is a group of disabling symptoms of extended duration, which results from damage to the developing brain that may occur before, during, or after birth and that results in the loss or impairment of control over voluntary muscles.[4]

Spina bifida[5] is a birth defect in the vertebral column in which part of the spinal cord, which is normally protected within the vertebral column, is exposed. Spina bifida is caused by the failure of the neural tube to close during embryonic development. The neural tube is the embryonic structure that gives rise to the brain and spinal cord. People with spina bifida can have difficulty with bladder and bowel incontinence, cognitive (learning) problems, and limited mobility.[6]

Individuals suffering from intellectual disabilities have significantly sub-average general intellectual functioning existing concurrently with deficits in adaptive behavior, which manifests before the age of 18.[7] Such individuals have certain limitations in both mental functioning and in adaptive skills such as communicating, self-care, and social skills. These limitations will cause a person to learn and develop more slowly. People with intellectual disabilities may take longer to learn to speak, walk, and take care of their personal needs such as dressing or eating.[8]

Down syndrome is a genetic disorder caused when abnormal cell division results in extra genetic material from chromosome 21. This genetic disorder, also known as trisomy 21, varies in

[1] Developmental disability is defined as a disorder or syndrome that is attributable to intellectual disability, cerebral palsy, autism, spina bifida, Down syndrome, Phelan-McDermid syndrome, or Prader-Willi syndrome; that manifests before the age of 18; and that constitutes a substantial handicap that can reasonably be expected to continue indefinitely.

The term "significantly sub-average general intellectual functioning" means performance that is two or more standard deviations from the mean score on a standardized intelligence test specified in the rules of the agency.

severity, causes lifelong intellectual disability and developmental delays, and, in some people, causes health problems.[9]

Prader-Willi syndrome[10] is a complex genetic condition that affects many parts of the body. In infancy, this condition is characterized by weak muscle tone, feeding difficulties, poor growth, and delayed development. Beginning in childhood, affected individuals develop an insatiable appetite and chronic overeating. As a result, most experience rapid weight gain leading to obesity. People with Prader-Willi syndrome typically have an intellectual disability or a learning disability and behavioral problems.[11]

Phelan-McDermid syndrome[12] is a rare condition due to a chromosomal abnormality. Symptoms vary in range and severity but often include low muscle tone, difficulty moving, absent-to-severely delayed speech, autistic features, moderate-to-profound intellectual disability, and epilepsy.[13]

Autism

Autism is a pervasive, neurologically-based developmental disability of extended duration that has onset during infancy or childhood, which causes severe learning, communication, and behavioral disorders.[14] Autism spectrum disorder (ASD) includes autism, Asperger's syndrome, and any other pervasive developmental disorder.[15] The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) estimates that approximately one in 44 children has ASD.[16] The CDC also estimates that over 5.4 million adults have ASD.[17]

Interactions with Law Enforcement for Individuals with Autism

A person's developmental disability may make interactions with law enforcement more challenging. For example, identifying a person with an ASD can be confusing to any person unfamiliar with the condition, including law enforcement. Law enforcement can mistake the signs of autism with behaviors typically associated with those of criminals.[18] Common attributes of autism are communication differences and behaviors or thinking that are repetitive or restricted to an area of interest. These traits could be interpreted by law enforcement as not being compliant with questioning or direct instructions. A characteristic of ASD known as escalation poses a particular problem in encounters with law enforcement.[19] Escalation describes the response of a person with ASD under stress or in an unfamiliar situation.[20] Overwhelmed by the barrage of sensory information, a person with ASD may attempt to flee the uncomfortable situation, become combative, or simply shut down.[21] The individual may cover his or her ears and shriek, not knowing how or where to get help.[22] The presence of police lights and sirens, uniforms, loud and unfamiliar voices, or barking dogs often makes a difficult situation worse by contributing to the individual's sensory overload.[23]

Mental Health and Mental Illness

Mental health is a state of well-being in which the individual realizes his or her own abilities, can cope with the normal stresses of life, can work productively and fruitfully, and is able to contribute to his or her community.[24]

The primary indicators used to evaluate an individual's mental health are:

- Emotional well-being- Perceived life satisfaction, happiness, cheerfulness, peacefulness;
- Psychological well-being- Self-acceptance, personal growth including openness to new experiences, optimism, hopefulness, purpose in life, control of one's environment, spirituality, self-direction, and positive relationships; and
- Social well-being- Social acceptance, beliefs in the potential of people and society as a whole, personal self-worth and usefulness to society, sense of community.

Mental illness is collectively all diagnosable mental disorders or health conditions that are characterized by alterations in thinking, mood, or behavior (or some combination thereof) associated with distress or impaired functioning.[25] Thus, mental health refers to an individual's mental state of well-being whereas mental illness signifies an alteration of that well-being. Mental illness affects millions of people in the United States each year. Nearly one in five adults lives with a mental illness.[26] During their childhood and adolescence, almost half of children will experience a mental disorder, though the proportion experiencing severe impairment during childhood and adolescence is much lower, at about 22 percent.[27]

Some examples of common mental health illnesses or disorders that can negatively impact how a person interacts with others, such as law enforcement officers, include schizophrenia, bipolar disorder, borderline personality disorder, and antisocial personality disorder.[28]

Alzheimer's Disease

Alzheimer's disease is a form of dementia, a general term for memory loss. It is a progressive brain disorder that damages and eventually destroys brain cells, leading to memory loss and changes in the functions of the brain. In the early stages of Alzheimer's disease, memory loss is mild; in late-stages, individuals lose the ability to carry on a conversation and respond to their environment. Currently, the disease has no cure, but treatment can temporarily slow the worsening of symptoms.[29]

Florida has an increasing number of individuals with Alzheimer's disease. An estimated 580,000 Floridians have Alzheimer's disease.[30] The projected number of Floridians with Alzheimer's disease is estimated to increase by 24% to 720,000 individuals by 2025.[31]

Interactions with Law Enforcement for Individuals with Alzheimer's and Dementia

Many behaviors associated with Alzheimer's disease and dementia tend to increase a person's chance of interacting with law enforcement. Because these individuals are often unable to explain their unusual behavior, their actions are more easily misunderstood.[32] Common instances that can cause someone with Alzheimer's disease to interact with law enforcement include wandering, auto accidents, erratic driving, accidental breaking and entering due to confusion, and unintentional shoplifting.[33]

Florida Crime Information Center (FCIC) System

The Florida Crime Information Center (FCIC) system is an electronic database that provides criminal justice agencies with access to federal and state criminal justice information. The FCIC is managed by FDLE and contains information as reported to FDLE by law enforcement agencies through the state.[34]

Voluntary Registry Systems

Law enforcement agencies nationwide have begun utilizing voluntary registry systems that provide officers with relevant information on individuals with special needs, including those with Alzheimer's disease.[35] Law enforcement agencies have found that such registries can:

- Promote community safety;
- Improve officer safety;
- Increase the speed and efficiency in which officers are able to respond, decreasing department liability;
- Reduce strain on department resources, both human and financial, during emergencies;
- Give community members peace of mind; and
- Promote community partnerships in responding to special needs community members.[36]

Voluntary registry systems allow law enforcement to obtain information that assists in response to calls for service involving individuals with conditions such as Alzheimer's disease.[37]

Voluntary registry systems have also proven helpful in responding to individuals in other special needs populations. Departments utilize the system for community members living with ASD, developmental disabilities, attention deficit/hyperactivity disorder (ADHD), epilepsy, brain injury, mental illness, and other disabilities that may affect the way individuals interact and respond to law enforcement officers and other first responders.[38]

Project Safe and Sound

In 2007, the Polk County Sheriff's Office (PCSO) began utilizing a voluntary registry system, called Project Safe and Sound (PSS), which provides bracelets to registrants in an effort to help identify wandering individuals with Alzheimer's disease and special needs children. [39] Caregivers choosing to participate are asked to complete an application/authorization form which requires specific information about the child or adult being registered. The agency then enters the information into the PSS database, making the information accessible to all Polk County first responders. After the information is entered, the special needs person will be issued a "Safe & Sound" bracelet, which includes an assigned number. The bracelet also includes emergency contact information engraved on the plate of the bracelet. In the event a special needs child or adult wanders off and is found, responding law enforcement personnel will be able to contact the PCSO and confirm the identity of the individual.[40] First responders will be provided the caregiver's contact information so that the special needs person can be reunited with their caregiver.[41]

The PCSO was highlighted in A Guide to Law Enforcement on Voluntary Registry Programs for Vulnerable Adults for using existing grant funds to build and sustain the PSS program and leveraging a partnership with a local engraver who engraves PSS bracelets with ID numbers at no cost to the program.[42]

Florida Special Needs Registry

The DOH, in coordination with its county health departments and each local emergency management agency in the state, developed a registry for persons with special needs to register with their local emergency management agency to receive assistance during a disaster. The statewide registry provides first responders with valuable information to prepare for disasters or other emergencies.[43] All records, data, information, correspondence, and communications relating to the registry are confidential and exempt from Florida's public records laws.[44]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill creates s. 402.88, F.S., providing that the bill may be cited as the "Protect Our Loved Ones Act." The bill authorizes a local law enforcement agency to develop and maintain a database, known as the "Special Needs Registry" of persons who may have developmental, psychological, or other disability or condition that may be relevant to their interactions with a law enforcement officer, including but not limited to, a confirmed diagnosis of the following:

- Autism spectrum disorder;
- Alzheimer's disease;
- Dementia;
- Bipolar disorder; and
- Down syndrome.

Confirmation of a disability or condition must be certified by a licensed physician or licensed physician assistant or a licensed advanced practice registered nurse. Confirmation of a psychological condition must be certified by a licensed psychologist, licensed mental health counselor, or a psychiatrist.

Any adult with a disability may enroll himself or herself in the registry. If an individual with a disability is a minor or has been declared incapacitated a parent or legal guardian may enroll the individual in the registry.

An adult enrolled onto the registry by another person must be notified of that enrollment by the local law enforcement agency in writing within five business days after such enrollment. A minor enrolled onto the registry must be notified of that enrollment by the local law enforcement agency in writing within five business days after his or her 18th birthday.

[42] The IACP Guide at 32 and 24.
[43] Florida Department of Health, Florida Special Needs Registry, available at: https://snr.flhealthresponse.com/ (last visited February 17, 2022).
[44] Sections 252.905, and 252.355(4), F.S., both provide a public records exemption for information related to the Florida Special Needs Registry.

A minor or an incapacitated individual may be removed from the registry by his or her parent or legal guardian. A competent person who is 18 years old may remove himself or herself from the registry. Upon a verbal or written request for removal of a person from the registry, a local law enforcement agency must remove an individual's information from the registry within five business days after the request is made.

The registry may include, but is not limited to the following:

- An enrollee's demographic and contact information, and information related to the enrollee's disability or condition;
- Contact information of those who have enrolled individuals on the registry;
- Any additional information including the certification of the condition or disability; and

The information provided to law enforcement officers under the bill may assist officers in their official duties by preparing them to respectfully and appropriately interact with an individual enrolled in the registry who has a relevant disability or condition.

The bill takes effect January 1, 2023.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

The bill does not appear to require cities and counties to expend funds or limit their authority to raise revenue or receive state-shared revenues as specified by Article VII, Section 18 of the Florida Constitution.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

None identified.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

None.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill does not have a fiscal impact on state government. The bill may have a negative yet indeterminate fiscal impact on those law enforcement agencies that choose to create and maintain a Special Needs Registry.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill creates section 402.88 of the Florida Statutes.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

PCS (751752) by Appropriations Committee (Recommended by Appropriations Subcommittee on Health and Human Services):
The proposed committee substitute:

- Authorizes a local law enforcement agency, rather than the DOH, to develop and maintain Special Persons Registry databases. Each local law enforcement agency has discretion in whether or not they wish to establish such a database.
- Revises who can enroll an individual in the registry. If an individual with a disability is a minor or has been declared incapacitated a parent or legal guardian may enroll the individual in the registry. Deletes caregivers from the list of persons that may enroll an individual on the registry.
- Requires that an individual be notified in writing by the local law enforcement agency that they have been enrolled in the registry. A minor must be notified in writing that they are enrolled in the registry five days after his or her 18th birthday.
- Revises who can be enrolled onto the registry from those who may have a developmental, psychological, or other disability or condition to those with a confirmed diagnosis. Confirmation of the disability or condition must be made by a licensed physician, physician's assistant, or advanced practice registered nurse. Confirmation of a psychological condition must be made by a certified psychologist, mental health counselor, or a psychiatrist.
- Provides a means to remove an individual from the registry. Specifically:

- Any competent person over the age of 18 years old may remove oneself from the registry.
- A minor may be removed by his or her parents or legal guardian.
- An incapacitated adult may be removed by his or her legal guardian.

- Requires a law enforcement agency to remove a person from the registry upon a verbal or written request. The person must be removed from the registry within five business days after the request is made.
- Revises the information that may be included in the registry. Specifically:
  - Adds the certification of the condition or disability.
  - Removes a provision allowing any information requested by the DOH or the FDLE or otherwise held by a law enforcement agency, a county emergency management agency, or a local fire department for the purpose of assisting law enforcement officers, emergency medical personnel, or fire personnel in responding to a call.
- Authorizes a local law enforcement agency, rather than the FDLE, to provide relevant information from the registry to a law enforcement officer engaged in his or her official duties.
- Removes from the underlying bill a requirement that the DOH provide certain information to a law enforcement officer engaged in their duties upon an officer's request made through the Florida Crime Information Center.
- Revises the effective date from March 1, 2023, to January 1, 2023.

CS by Children, Families, and Elder Affairs on February 8, 2022:
The Committee Substitute:
- Changes the name of the voluntary registry created by the bill from "Registry of Persons with Special Needs" to the "Special Persons Registry".
- Changes the entity creating and maintaining the registry from the APD to the DOH.
- Revises the effective date to March 1, 2023.

B. Amendments:

None.

This Senate Bill Analysis does not reflect the intent or official position of the bill's introducer or the Florida Senate.

Proposed Committee Substitute by the Committee on Appropriations (Appropriations Subcommittee on Health and Human Services)

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to The Special Persons Registry; providing a short title; creating s. 402.88, F.S.; authorizing local law enforcement agencies to develop and maintain a database, to be known as the "The Special Persons Registry," for a specified purpose; providing for enrollment in and removal from the registry; specifying information the registry may include; authorizing local law enforcement agencies to provide relevant information from the registry to law enforcement officers under certain circumstances; providing an effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. This act may be cited as the "Protect Our Loved Ones Act."

Section 2. Section 402.88, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

402.88 Special Persons Registry in interactions with law enforcement.—

(1)(a) A local law enforcement agency may develop and maintain a database, to be known as "The Special Persons Registry," listing persons who have developmental, psychological, or other disabilities or conditions that may be relevant to their interactions with law enforcement officers. Persons with any type of confirmed developmental, psychological, or other disability or condition, including, but not limited to, autism spectrum disorder, Alzheimer's disease or a dementia-related disorder, bipolar disorder, or Down syndrome, may be enrolled in the registry. The confirmation of the disability or condition must be certified by a physician or physician assistant licensed under chapter 458 or chapter 459 or an advanced practice registered nurse licensed under chapter 464. In the case of psychological conditions, the confirmation of the condition must be certified by a psychologist licensed under chapter 490, a mental health counselor licensed under chapter 491, or a psychiatrist as defined in s. 394.455. An adult with a disability may enroll himself or herself in the registry. If a person with a disability has been declared incapacitated under chapter 744, a parent or legal guardian of the person may enroll him or her in the registry.

(b) A minor with a disability may be enrolled in the registry by his or her parent or legal guardian. An adult enrolled by another person must be notified of that enrollment by the local law enforcement agency in writing at his or her address of record within 5 business days after enrollment in the registry. A minor who was enrolled by another person must be notified by the agency in writing of that enrollment at his or her address of record within 5 business days after his or her 18th birthday.

(c) A registration is valid until the person is removed from the registry. A minor or an incapacitated adult may be removed from the registry by the minor's parent or legal guardian or the adult's legal guardian, respectively. A competent person who has reached 18 years of age may also choose to have his or her name removed from the registry. Upon a verbal or written request for removal of a person from the registry, the local law enforcement agency must remove the person's information from the registry within 5 business days after the request is made.

(2) The registry may include, but need not be limited to, any of the following information:

(a) The listed person's name, contact information, personal identifying information, and disability or condition that may be relevant to interactions with law enforcement officers.

(b) If a person did not enroll himself or herself, the name, contact information, and personal identifying information of the person who enrolled the listed person in the registry.

(c) Any additional information provided, including the certification of the condition or disability.

(3) The local law enforcement agency may provide relevant information from the registry to a law enforcement officer engaged in his or her official duties.

Section 3. This act shall take effect January 1, 2023.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 1040, known as the "Protect Our Loved Ones" Act, requires the Florida Department of Health (DOH) to develop and maintain a database, known as the "Special Needs Registry", of persons who may have developmental, psychological, or other disabilities or conditions.

Parents, guardians, and caregivers may voluntarily enroll individuals in the registry. The registry may include:

- An enrollee's demographic and contact information, and information related to the enrollee's disability or condition;
- Contact information of caregivers who have enrolled individuals on the registry; and
- Certain information requested by the DOH or the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE).

The bill requires the FDLE to provide information from the registry to law enforcement officers to assist in performance of their official duties.

The costs of creating and maintaining the registry will have a significant fiscal impact on the DOH. See Section V. Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill takes effect March 1, 2023.

II. Present Situation:

Developmental Disabilities

Developmental disabilities[1] include autism, cerebral palsy, spina bifida, intellectual disabilities, Down syndrome, Prader-Willi syndrome, and Phelan-McDermid syndrome.[2]

Cerebral palsy[3] is a group of disabling symptoms of extended duration, which results from damage to the developing brain that may occur before, during, or after birth and that results in the loss or impairment of control over voluntary muscles.[4]

Spina bifida[5] is a birth defect in the vertebral column in which part of the spinal cord, which is normally protected within the vertebral column, is exposed. Spina bifida is caused by the failure of the neural tube to close during embryonic development. The neural tube is the embryonic structure that gives rise to the brain and spinal cord. People with spina bifida can have difficulty with bladder and bowel incontinence, cognitive (learning) problems, and limited mobility.[6]

Individuals suffering from intellectual disabilities have significantly sub-average general intellectual functioning existing concurrently with deficits in adaptive behavior, which manifests before the age of 18.[7] Such individuals have certain limitations in both mental functioning and in adaptive skills such as communicating, self-care, and social skills. These limitations will cause a person to learn and develop more slowly. People with intellectual disabilities may take longer to learn to speak, walk, and take care of their personal needs such as dressing or eating.[8]

Down syndrome is a genetic disorder caused when abnormal cell division results in extra genetic material from chromosome 21. This genetic disorder, also known as trisomy 21, varies in severity, causes lifelong intellectual disability and developmental delays, and, in some people, causes health problems.[9]

[1] Developmental disability is defined as a disorder or syndrome that is attributable to intellectual disability, cerebral palsy, autism, spina bifida, Down syndrome, Phelan-McDermid syndrome, or Prader-Willi syndrome; that manifests before the age of 18; and that constitutes a substantial handicap that can reasonably be expected to continue indefinitely.

For the purposes of this definition, the term "adaptive behavior" means the effectiveness or degree with which an individual meets the standards of personal independence and social responsibility expected of his or her age, cultural group, and community. The term "significantly sub-average general intellectual functioning" means performance that is two or more standard deviations from the mean score on a standardized intelligence test specified in the rules of the agency.

Prader-Willi syndrome[10] is a complex genetic condition that affects many parts of the body. In infancy, this condition is characterized by weak muscle tone, feeding difficulties, poor growth, and delayed development. Beginning in childhood, affected individuals develop an insatiable appetite and chronic overeating. As a result, most experience rapid weight gain leading to obesity. People with Prader-Willi syndrome typically have an intellectual disability or a learning disability and behavioral problems.[11]

Phelan-McDermid syndrome[12] is a rare condition due to a chromosomal abnormality. Symptoms vary in range and severity but often include low muscle tone, difficulty moving, absent-to-severely delayed speech, autistic features, moderate-to-profound intellectual disability, and epilepsy.[13]

Autism

Autism is a pervasive, neurologically-based developmental disability of extended duration that has onset during infancy or childhood, which causes severe learning, communication, and behavioral disorders.[14] Autism spectrum disorder (ASD) includes autism, Asperger's syndrome, and any other pervasive developmental disorder.[15] The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) estimates that approximately one in 44 children has ASD.[16] The CDC also estimates that over 5.4 million adults have ASD.[17]

Interactions with Law Enforcement for Individuals with Autism

A person's developmental disability may make interactions with law enforcement more challenging. For example, identifying a person with an ASD can be confusing to any person unfamiliar with the condition, including law enforcement. Law enforcement can mistake the signs of autism with behaviors typically associated with those of criminals.[18] Common attributes of autism are communication differences and behaviors or thinking that are repetitive or restricted to an area of interest. These traits could be interpreted by law enforcement as not being compliant with questioning or direct instructions. A characteristic of ASD known as escalation

[10] Prader-Willi syndrome is defined in statute as an inherited condition typified by neonatal hypotonia with failure to thrive, hyperphagia or an excessive drive to eat which leads to obesity usually at 18 to 36 months of age, mild to moderate intellectual disability, hypogonadism, short stature, mild facial dysmorphism, and a characteristic neurobehavior. [12] Phelan-McDermid Syndrome is defined in statute as a disorder caused by the loss of the terminal segment of the long arm of chromosome 22, which occurs near the end of the chromosome at a location designated q13.3, typically leading to developmental delay, intellectual disability, dolicocephaly, hypotonia, or absent or delayed speech. poses a particular problem in encounters with law enforcement.[19] Escalation describes the response of a person with ASD under stress or in an unfamiliar situation.[20] Overwhelmed by the barrage of sensory information, a person with ASD may attempt to flee the uncomfortable situation, become combative, or simply shut down.[21] The individual may cover his or her ears and shriek, not knowing how or where to get help.[22] The presence of police lights and sirens, uniforms, loud and unfamiliar voices, or barking dogs often makes a difficult situation worse by contributing to the individual's sensory overload.[23]

Mental Health and Mental Illness

Mental health is a state of well-being in which the individual realizes his or her own abilities, can cope with the normal stresses of life, can work productively and fruitfully, and is able to contribute to his or her community.[24]

The primary indicators used to evaluate an individual's mental health are:

- Emotional well-being- Perceived life satisfaction, happiness, cheerfulness, peacefulness;
- Psychological well-being- Self-acceptance, personal growth including openness to new experiences, optimism, hopefulness, purpose in life, control of one's environment, spirituality, self-direction, and positive relationships; and
- Social well-being- Social acceptance, beliefs in the potential of people and society as a whole, personal self-worth and usefulness to society, sense of community.

Mental illness is collectively all diagnosable mental disorders or health conditions that are characterized by alterations in thinking, mood, or behavior (or some combination thereof) associated with distress or impaired functioning.[25] Thus, mental health refers to an individual's mental state of well-being whereas mental illness signifies an alteration of that well-being. Mental illness affects millions of people in the United States each year. Nearly one in five adults lives with a mental illness.[26] During their childhood and adolescence, almost half of children will experience a mental disorder, though the proportion experiencing severe impairment during childhood and adolescence is much lower, at about 22 percent.[27]

Some examples of common mental health illnesses or disorders that can negatively impact how a person interacts with others, such as law enforcement officers, include schizophrenia, bipolar disorder, borderline personality disorder, and antisocial personality disorder.[28]

Alzheimer's Disease

Alzheimer's disease is a form of dementia, a general term for memory loss. It is a progressive brain disorder that damages and eventually destroys brain cells, leading to memory loss and changes in the functions of the brain. In the early stages of Alzheimer's disease, memory loss is mild; in late-stages, individuals lose the ability to carry on a conversation and respond to their environment. Currently, the disease has no cure, but treatment can temporarily slow the worsening of symptoms.[29]

Florida has an increasing number of individuals with Alzheimer's disease. An estimated 580,000 Floridians have Alzheimer's disease.[30] The projected number of Floridians with Alzheimer's disease is estimated to increase by 24% to 720,000 individuals by 2025.[31]

Interactions with Law Enforcement for Individuals with Alzheimer's and Dementia

Many behaviors associated with Alzheimer's disease and dementia tend to increase a person's chance of interacting with law enforcement. Because these individuals are often unable to explain their unusual behavior, their actions are more easily misunderstood.[32] Common instances that can cause someone with Alzheimer's disease to interact with law enforcement include wandering, auto accidents, erratic driving, accidental breaking and entering due to confusion, and unintentional shoplifting.[33]

Florida Crime Information Center (FCIC) System

The Florida Crime Information Center (FCIC) system is an electronic database that provides criminal justice agencies with access to federal and state criminal justice information. The FCIC is managed by FDLE and contains information as reported to FDLE by law enforcement agencies through the state.[34]

Voluntary Registry Systems

Law enforcement agencies nationwide have begun utilizing voluntary registry systems that provide officers with relevant information on individuals with special needs, including those with Alzheimer's disease.[35] Law enforcement agencies have found that such registries can:

- Promote community safety;
- Improve officer safety;
- Increase the speed and efficiency in which officers are able to respond, decreasing department liability;
- Reduce strain on department resources, both human and financial, during emergencies;
- Give community members peace of mind; and
- Promote community partnerships in responding to special needs community members.[36]

Voluntary registry systems allow law enforcement to obtain information that assists in response to calls for service involving individuals with conditions such as Alzheimer's disease.[37]

Voluntary registry systems have also proven helpful in responding to individuals in other special needs populations. Departments utilize the system for community members living with ASD, developmental disabilities, attention deficit/hyperactivity disorder (ADHD), epilepsy, brain injury, mental illness, and other disabilities that may affect the way individuals interact and respond to law enforcement officers and other first responders.[38]

Project Safe and Sound

In 2007, the Polk County Sheriff's Office (PCSO) began utilizing a voluntary registry system, called Project Safe and Sound (PSS), which provides bracelets to registrants in an effort to help identify wandering individuals with Alzheimer's disease and special needs children. [39] Caregivers choosing to participate are asked to complete an application/authorization form which requires specific information about the child or adult being registered. The agency then enters the information into the PSS database, making the information accessible to all Polk County first responders. After the information is entered, the special needs person will be issued a "Safe & Sound" bracelet, which includes an assigned number. The bracelet also includes emergency contact information engraved on the plate of the bracelet. In the event a special needs child or adult wanders off and is found, responding law enforcement personnel will be able to contact the PCSO and confirm the identity of the individual.[40] First responders will be provided the caregiver's contact information so that the special needs person can be reunited with their caregiver.[41]

The PCSO was highlighted in A Guide to Law Enforcement on Voluntary Registry Programs for Vulnerable Adults for using existing grant funds to build and sustain the PSS program and leveraging a partnership with a local engraver who engraves PSS bracelets with ID numbers at no cost to the program.[42]

Florida Special Needs Registry

The DOH, in coordination with its county health departments and each local emergency management agency in the state, developed a registry for persons with special needs to register with their local emergency management agency to receive assistance during a disaster. The statewide registry provides first responders with valuable information to prepare for disasters or other emergencies.[43] All records, data, information, correspondence, and communications relating to the registry are confidential and exempt from Florida's public records laws.[44]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill creates s. 402.88, F.S., providing that the bill may be cited as the "Protect Our Loved Ones Act." The bill requires the DOH to develop and maintain a database, known as the "Special Needs Registry" of persons who may have developmental, psychological, or other disabilities or conditions that may be relevant to their interactions with law enforcement officers, including but not limited to:

- Autism spectrum disorder;
- Alzheimer's disease;
- Dementia;
- Bipolar disorder; and
- Down syndrome.

Parents, guardians, and caregivers may voluntarily enroll individuals in the registry, and persons 18 and older may self-enroll. The registry may include:

- An enrollee's demographic and contact information, and information related to the enrollee's disability or condition;
- Contact information of those who have enrolled individuals on the registry;
- Any additional information provided by an enrollee or their caregiver; and
- Any information requested by the DOH or the FDLE or otherwise held by a:
  - Law enforcement agency;
  - County emergency management agency; or
  - Local fire department for the purpose of assisting any of the following in responding to call for service:
    - Assisting law enforcement officers;
    - Emergency medical personnel; or
    - Fire personnel.

[42] The IACP Guide at 32 and 24.
[43] Florida Department of Health, Florida Special Needs Registry, available at: https://snr.flhealthresponse.com/ (last visited February 17, 2022).
[44] Sections 252.905, and 252.355(4), F.S., both provide a public records exemption for information related to the Florida Special Needs Registry.

The bill requires the FDLE to provide relevant information from the registry to law enforcement officers in performance of their official duties. The bill also requires the DOH to provide such information to a law enforcement officer engaged in their duties upon an officer's request made through the FCIC.

The information provided to law enforcement officers under the bill may assists officers by preparing them to respectfully and appropriately interact with an individual enrolled in the registry who has a relevant condition.

The bill takes effect March 1, 2023.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

The bill does not appear to require cities and counties to expend funds or limit their authority to raise revenue or receive state-shared revenues as specified by Article VII, Section 18 of the Florida Constitution.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

None identified.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

None.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill will have a significant negative fiscal impact on the Department of Health. To build a new system or modify the current Florida Special Needs Registry, and maintain and manage the registry the DOH estimates a cost of $1.2 million over two years and two full-time-equivalent positions. The current Florida Special Needs Registry is funded from federal preparedness grants. Any new system or modifications would require a separate funding source.[45]

According to the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE) the bill will require the development of an interface with the registry at an estimated cost of $80,000.[46]

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill creates section 402.88 of the Florida Statutes.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS by Children, Families, and Elder Affairs on February 8, 2022:
The Committee Substitute:
- Changes the name of the voluntary registry created by the bill from "Registry of Persons with Special Needs" to the "Special Persons Registry".
- Changes the entity creating and maintaining the registry from the APD to the DOH.
- Revises the effective date to March 1, 2023.

B. Amendments:

None.

spectrum disorder, Alzheimer's disease, dementia, bipolar disorder, and Down syndrome. Persons may also enroll themselves if they are 18 years of age or older. The registry may include, but need not be limited to, any of the following information:

(a) An enrollee's name, contact information, personal identifying information, and disability or condition that may be relevant to interactions with law enforcement officers.

(b) If a person did not enroll themselves, the name, contact information, and personal identifying information of the parent, guardian, or caregiver who enrolled the person in the registry.

(c) Any additional information provided by an enrollee or an enrollee's parent, guardian, or caregiver.

(d) Any information requested by the Department of Health or the Department of Law Enforcement or otherwise held by a law enforcement agency, a county emergency management agency, or a local fire department for the purpose of assisting law enforcement officers, emergency medical personnel, or fire personnel in responding to a call for service.

(2) The Department of Law Enforcement shall provide information from the registry to law enforcement officers to assist officers in the performance of their official duties. The registry shall provide such relevant information to a law enforcement officer engaged in his or her official duties upon an officer's request made through the Florida Crime Information Center.

Section 3. This act shall take effect March 1, 2023.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/CS/SB 1042 creates an exemption from the public records requirements of section 119.07(1), Florida Statutes, and section 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution for the following information relating to the enrollment of individuals on the Special Needs Registry (SNR) created by SB 1040:

- Records;
- Data;
- Information;
- Correspondence; and
- Communications.

The bill also applies the exemption to any locally maintained registry that is substantially similar to the SNR. The bill specifies that such information may not be disclosed except, upon request, to:

- A law enforcement agency;
- A county emergency management agency;
- A local fire department; or
- As otherwise specifically authorized by the bill.

The bill provides for an Open Government Sunset review and contains a statement of public necessity as required by the State Constitution.

The bill also applies the exemption retroactively to confidential and exempt information held by one of the agency entities listed above before, on, or after the effective date of the act.

The bill is not expected to have a fiscal impact. See Section V. Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill provides that the act shall take effect on the same date that SB 1040 or similar legislation takes effect, if such legislation is adopted in the same legislative session or an extension thereof and becomes law. CS/CS/SB 1040 has an effective date of January 1, 2023.

II. Present Situation:

Access to Public Records - Generally

The Florida Constitution provides that the public has the right to inspect or copy records made or received in connection with official governmental business.[1] The right to inspect or copy applies to the official business of any public body, officer, or employee of the state, including all three branches of state government, local governmental entities, and any person acting on behalf of the government.[2]

Additional requirements and exemptions related to public records are found in various statutes and rules, depending on the branch of government involved. For instance, section 11.0431, F.S., provides public access requirements for legislative records. Relevant exemptions are codified in s. 11.0431(2)-(3), F.S., and adopted in the rules of each house of the legislature.[3] Florida Rule of Judicial Administration 2.420 governs public access to judicial branch records.[4] Lastly, chapter 119, F.S., known as the Public Records Act, provides requirements for public records held by executive agencies.

Executive Agency Records – The Public Records Act

The Public Records Act provides that all state, county and municipal records are open for personal inspection and copying by any person, and that providing access to public records is a duty of each agency.[5]

Section 119.011(12), F.S., defines "public records" to include:

[1] FLA. CONST. art. I, s. 24(a).
[2] Id.
[3] See Rule 1.48, Rules and Manual of the Florida Senate, (2018-2020) and Rule 14.1, Rules of the Florida House of Representatives, Edition 2, (2018-2020)
[4] State v. Wooten, 260 So. 3d 1060 (Fla. 4th DCA 2018).
[5] Section 119.01(1), F.S. Section 119.011(2), F.S., defines "agency" as "any state, county, district, authority, or municipal officer, department, division, board, bureau, commission, or other separate unit of government created or established by law including, for the purposes of this chapter, the Commission on Ethics, the Public Service Commission, and the Office of Public Counsel, and any other public or private agency, person, partnership, corporation, or business entity acting on behalf of any public agency."

> All documents, papers, letters, maps, books, tapes, photographs, films, sound recordings, data processing software, or other material, regardless of the physical form, characteristics, or means of transmission, made or received pursuant to law or ordinance or in connections with the transaction of official business by any agency.

The Florida Supreme Court has interpreted this definition to encompass all materials made or received by an agency in connection with official business that are used to "perpetuate, communicate, or formalize knowledge of some type."[6]

The Florida Statutes specify conditions under which public access to public records must be provided. The Public Records Act guarantees every person's right to inspect and copy any public record at any reasonable time, under reasonable conditions, and under supervision by the custodian of the public record.[7] A violation of the Public Records Act may result in civil or criminal liability.[8]

The Legislature may exempt public records from public access requirements by passing a general law by a two-thirds vote of both the House and the Senate.[9] The exemption must state with specificity the public necessity justifying the exemption and must be no broader than necessary to accomplish the stated purpose of the exemption.[10]

General exemptions from the public records requirements are contained in the Public Records Act.[11] Specific exemptions often are placed in the substantive statutes relating to a particular agency or program.[12]

When creating a public records exemption, the Legislature may provide that a record is "exempt" or "confidential and exempt." There is a difference between records the Legislature has determined to be exempt from the Public Records Act and those which the Legislature has determined to be exempt from the Public Records Act and confidential.[13] Records designated as "confidential and exempt" are not subject to inspection by the public and may only be released under the circumstances defined by statute.[14] Records designated as "exempt" may be released at the discretion of the records custodian under certain circumstances.[15]

Open Government Sunset Review Act

The provisions of s. 119.15, F.S., known as the Open Government Sunset Review Act[16] (the Act), prescribe a legislative review process for newly created or substantially amended[17] public records or open meetings exemptions, with specified exceptions.[18] The Act requires the repeal of such exemption on October 2nd of the fifth year after creation or substantial amendment, unless the Legislature reenacts the exemption.[19]

The Act provides that a public records or open meetings exemption may be created or maintained only if it serves an identifiable public purpose and is no broader than is necessary.[20] An exemption serves an identifiable purpose if it meets one of the following purposes and the Legislature finds that the purpose of the exemption outweighs open government policy and cannot be accomplished without the exemption:

- It allows the state or its political subdivisions to effectively and efficiently administer a governmental program, and administration would be significantly impaired without the exemption;[21]
- It protects sensitive, personal information, the release of which would be defamatory, cause unwarranted damage to the good name or reputation of the individual, or would jeopardize the individual's safety. If this public purpose is cited as the basis of an exemption, however, only personal identifying information is exempt;[22] or
- It protects information of a confidential nature concerning entities, such as trade or business secrets.[23]

The Act also requires specified questions to be considered during the review process.[24] In examining an exemption, the Act directs the Legislature to question the purpose and necessity of reenacting the exemption.

If the exemption is continued and expanded, then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are required.[25] If the exemption is continued without substantive changes or if

Autism

Autism is a pervasive, neurologically-based developmental disability of extended duration that has onset during infancy or childhood, which causes severe learning, communication, and behavioral disorders.[27] Autism spectrum disorder (ASD) includes autism, Asperger's syndrome, and any other pervasive developmental disorder.[28] The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) estimates that approximately one in 44 children has ASD.[29] The CDC also estimates that over 5.4 million adults have ASD.[30]

Interactions with Law Enforcement for Individuals with Autism

A person's developmental disability may make interactions with law enforcement more challenging. For example, identifying a person with an ASD can be confusing to any person unfamiliar with the condition, including law enforcement. Law enforcement can mistake the signs of autism with behaviors typically associated with those of criminals.[31] Common attributes of autism are communication differences and behaviors or thinking that are repetitive or restricted to an area of interest. These traits could be interpreted by law enforcement as not being compliant with questioning or direct instructions. A characteristic of ASD known as escalation poses a particular problem in encounters with law enforcement.[32] Escalation describes the response of a person with ASD under stress or in an unfamiliar situation.[33] Overwhelmed by the barrage of sensory information, a person with ASD may attempt to flee the uncomfortable situation, become combative, or simply shut down.[34] The individual may cover his or her ears and shriek, not knowing how or where to get help.[35] The presence of police lights and sirens, uniforms, loud and unfamiliar voices, or barking dogs often makes a difficult situation worse by contributing to the individual's sensory overload.[36]

Alzheimer's Disease

Alzheimer's disease is a form of dementia, a general term for memory loss. It is a progressive brain disorder that damages and eventually destroys brain cells, leading to memory loss and changes in the functions of the brain. In the early stages of Alzheimer's disease, memory loss is mild; in late-stages, individuals lose the ability to carry on a conversation and respond to their environment. Currently, the disease has no cure, but treatment can temporarily slow the worsening of symptoms.[37]

Florida has an increasing number of individuals with Alzheimer's disease. An estimated 580,000 Floridians have Alzheimer's disease.[38] The projected number of Floridians with Alzheimer's disease is estimated to increase by 24% to 720,000 individuals by 2025.[39]

Interactions with Law Enforcement for Individuals with Alzheimer's and Dementia

Many behaviors associated with Alzheimer's disease and dementia tend to increase a person's chance of interacting with law enforcement. Because these individuals are often unable to explain their unusual behavior, their actions are more easily misunderstood.[40] Common instances that can cause someone with Alzheimer's disease to interact with law enforcement include wandering, auto accidents, erratic driving, accidental breaking and entering due to confusion, and unintentional shoplifting.[41]

Voluntary Registry Systems

Law enforcement agencies nationwide have begun utilizing voluntary registry systems that provide officers with relevant information on individuals with special needs, including those with Alzheimer's disease.[42] Law enforcement agencies have found that such registries can:

- Promote community safety;
- Improve officer safety;
- Increase the speed and efficiency in which officers are able to respond, decreasing department liability;
- Reduce strain on department resources (human and financial) during emergencies;
- Give community members peace of mind; and
- Promote community partnerships in responding to special needs community members.[43]

Voluntary registry systems allow law enforcement to obtain information that assists in response to calls for service involving individuals with conditions such as Alzheimer's disease.[44]

Voluntary registry systems have also proven helpful in responding to individuals in other special needs populations. Departments utilize the system for community members living with ASD, developmental disabilities, attention deficit/ hyperactivity disorder (ADHD), epilepsy, brain injury, mental illness, and other disabilities that may affect the way individuals interact and respond to law enforcement officers and other first responders.[45]

Confidentiality of Information

Voluntary registry systems generally contain large amounts of personal and sensitive information. Confidentiality concerns, coupled with a general fear of law enforcement prevalent in some communities, could hinder community willingness to participate in voluntary registry programs.[46] Some community members may be hesitant to participate due to fear exploitation of registry data.[47] Others fear that registry information collected may be used to violate the rights of special needs individuals by inappropriately releasing the information to outside parties and entities.[48]

Some agencies utilizing voluntary registry systems use disclaimers, waivers, or releases on voluntary registry systems' registration forms or questionnaires to notify registrants that providing data is voluntary and to ensure that registrants and their caregivers know that information will be used solely for the purpose of assisting first responders in providing service.[49] Other individuals have also expressed concerns regarding Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) compliance of registry information collection and storage.[50]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill amends the proposed s. 402.88, F.S., which would be created by SB 1040. The bill creates an exemption from the public records requirements of s. 119.07(1), F.S., and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution for the following information relating to the enrollment of individuals on the Special Needs Registry (SNR) created by SB 1040:

- Records;
- Data;
- Information;
- Correspondence; and
- Communications.

The bill also applies the exemption to any locally maintained registry that is substantially similar to the SNR. The bill specifies that such information may not be disclosed except, upon request, to:

[50] Id.

- A law enforcement agency;
- A county emergency management agency;
- A local fire department.

Any of the above-listed agency entities are permitted to disclose information otherwise deemed confidential and exempt by the bill to others not specifically listed only under the following circumstances:

- With the express written consent of the registry enrollee or the legally authorized representative of such enrollee;
- In a medical emergency;
- By court order upon a finding of good cause;
- To another governmental agency when needed for the performance of its duties and responsibilities; or
- In the interest of public safety, to;
  - Assist in locating the enrollee; or
  - Promote the safety or well-being of the enrollee, as determined by the law enforcement agency.

The bill includes a public necessity statement, specifying the need to make all records, data, information, correspondence, and communications relating the enrollment of persons in the SNR confidential and exempt from Florida's public records laws. The bill provides that such records are likely to include confidential medical information and sensitive personal information of individuals on the SNR. The bill states that the potential disclosure of such information will deter enrollment, thereby depriving law enforcement of information which would enable them to interact with those eligible for enrollment in safe and appropriate ways.

The bill is subject to the Open Government Sunset Review Act and will stand repealed on October 2, 2027, unless reviewed and saved from repeal by the Legislature.

The bill also applies the exemption retroactively to confidential and exempt information held by one of the agency entities listed above before, on, or after the effective date of the act.

The bill provides that the act shall take effect on the same date that SB 1040 or similar legislation takes effect, if such legislation is adopted in the same legislative session or an extension thereof and becomes law.

CS/CS/SB 1040 has an effective date of January 1, 2023.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

The bill does not appear to require cities and counties to expend funds or limit their authority to raise revenue or receive state-shared revenues as specified by Art. VII, s. 18 of the Florida Constitution.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

Vote Requirement

Article I, s. 24(c) of the State Constitution requires a two-thirds vote of the members present and voting for final passage of a bill creating or expanding an exemption to the public records requirements. This bill enacts a new exemption for records, data, information, correspondence, and communication relating to the enrollment of individuals on the SNR. Thus, the bill requires a two-thirds vote to be enacted.

Public Necessity Statement

Article I, s. 24(c) of the State Constitution requires a bill creating or expanding an exemption to the public records requirements to state with specificity the public necessity justifying the exemption. Section 2 of the bill contains a statement of public necessity for the exemption.

Breadth of Exemption

Article I, s. 24(c) of the State Constitution requires an exemption to the public records requirements to be no broader than necessary to accomplish the stated purpose of the law. The purpose of the law is to protect sensitive personal information, and confidential medical information, of individuals enrolled in the SNR. This bill exempts only such information from the public records requirements. The exemption does not appear to be broader than necessary to accomplish the purpose of the law.

(Appropriations Subcommittee on Health and Human Services)

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to public records; amending s. 402.88, F.S.; providing an exemption from public records requirements for all records, data, information, correspondence, and communications relating to the enrollment of persons in the Special Persons Registry maintained by the Department of Health; providing exceptions; authorizing law enforcement agencies, county emergency management agencies, and local fire departments to further disclose confidential and exempt information under certain circumstances; providing for future legislative review and repeal of the exemption; providing a statement of public necessity; providing applicability; providing a contingent effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Subsection (4) is added to section 402.88, Florida Statutes, as created by SB 1040 or similar legislation, to read:

402.88 Special Persons Registry in interactions with law enforcement; public records exemption.—

(4)(a) All records, data, information, correspondence, and communications relating to the enrollment of persons as provided in subsection (1) and such information included in any locally maintained registry that is substantially similar to the registry in subsections (1) and (2) are confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution and may not be disclosed except, upon request, to a law enforcement agency, a county emergency management agency, or a local fire department, or as otherwise specifically authorized by this section.

(b) A law enforcement agency, county emergency management agency, or local fire department in possession of materials described in paragraph (a) may further disclose information contained in such materials to others not specifically listed only as follows:

1. With the express written consent of the registry enrollee or the legally authorized representative of such enrollee;

2. In a medical emergency;

3. By court order upon a finding of good cause;

4. To another governmental agency in the performance of its duties and responsibilities; or

5. In the interest of public safety, to assist in locating the enrollee, or to promote the safety or well-being of the enrollee, as determined by the law enforcement agency.

(c) This subsection is subject to the Open Government Sunset Review Act in accordance with s. 119.15 and shall stand repealed on October 2, 2027, unless reviewed and saved from repeal through reenactment by the Legislature.

Section 2. The Legislature finds that it is a public necessity to make all records, data, information, correspondence, and communications relating to the enrollment of persons in the Special Persons Registry under s. 402.88, Florida Statutes, confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1), Florida Statutes, and s. 24(a), Article I of the State Constitution. Such records would likely include confidential medical information and sensitive personal information about the persons listed in the registry. The potential disclosure of such information would deter persons from being enrolled in the registry, which would then deprive law enforcement officers of information that would better enable them to interact with such persons in safe and appropriate ways.

Section 3. The exemption created in s. 402.88(4), Florida Statutes, applies retroactively to such confidential and exempt information held by a law enforcement agency, a county emergency management agency, or a local fire department before, on, or after the effective date of this act.

Section 4. This act shall take effect on the same date that SB 1040 or similar legislation takes effect, if such legislation is adopted in the same legislative session or an extension thereof and becomes a law.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 1042 creates an exemption from the public records requirements of section 119.07(1), Florida Statutes, and section 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution for the following information relating to the enrollment of individuals on the Special Needs Registry (SNR) created by SB 1040:

- Records;
- Data;
- Information;
- Correspondence; and
- Communications.

The bill also applies the exemption to any locally maintained registry that is substantially similar to the SNR. The bill specifies that such information may not be disclosed except, upon request, to:

- A law enforcement agency;
- A county emergency management agency;
- A local fire department; or
- As otherwise specifically authorized by the bill.

The bill provides for an Open Government Sunset review and contains a statement of public necessity as required by the State Constitution.

The bill also applies the exemption retroactively to confidential and exempt information held by one of the agency entities listed above before the effective date of the act.

The bill is not expected to have a fiscal impact. See Section V. Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill provides that the act shall take effect on the same date that SB 1040 or similar legislation takes effect, if such legislation is adopted in the same legislative session or an extension thereof and becomes law. SB 1040 has an effective date of March 1, 2023.

II. Present Situation:

Access to Public Records - Generally

The Florida Constitution provides that the public has the right to inspect or copy records made or received in connection with official governmental business.[1] The right to inspect or copy applies to the official business of any public body, officer, or employee of the state, including all three branches of state government, local governmental entities, and any person acting on behalf of the government.[2]

Additional requirements and exemptions related to public records are found in various statutes and rules, depending on the branch of government involved. For instance, section 11.0431, F.S., provides public access requirements for legislative records. Relevant exemptions are codified in s. 11.0431(2)-(3), F.S., and adopted in the rules of each house of the legislature.[3] Florida Rule of Judicial Administration 2.420 governs public access to judicial branch records.[4] Lastly, chapter 119, F.S., known as the Public Records Act, provides requirements for public records held by executive agencies.

Executive Agency Records – The Public Records Act

The Public Records Act provides that all state, county and municipal records are open for personal inspection and copying by any person, and that providing access to public records is a duty of each agency.[5]

Section 119.011(12), F.S., defines "public records" to include:

> All documents, papers, letters, maps, books, tapes, photographs, films, sound recordings, data processing software, or other material, regardless of > the physical form, characteristics, or means of transmission, made or received pursuant to law or ordinance or in connections with the transaction of official business by any agency.

[4] State v. Wooten, 260 So. 3d 1060 (Fla. 4th DCA 2018).
[5] Section 119.01(1), F.S. Section 119.011(2), F.S., defines "agency" as "any state, county, district, authority, or municipal officer, department, division, board, bureau, commission, or other separate unit of government created or established by law including, for the purposes of this chapter, the Commission on Ethics, the Public Service Commission, and the Office of Public Counsel, and any other public or private agency, person, partnership, corporation, or business entity acting on behalf of any public agency."

The Florida Supreme Court has interpreted this definition to encompass all materials made or received by an agency in connection with official business that are used to "perpetuate, communicate, or formalize knowledge of some type."[6]

The Florida Statutes specify conditions under which public access to public records must be provided. The Public Records Act guarantees every person's right to inspect and copy any public record at any reasonable time, under reasonable conditions, and under supervision by the custodian of the public record.[7] A violation of the Public Records Act may result in civil or criminal liability.[8]

The Legislature may exempt public records from public access requirements by passing a general law by a two-thirds vote of both the House and the Senate.[9] The exemption must state with specificity the public necessity justifying the exemption and must be no broader than necessary to accomplish the stated purpose of the exemption.[10]

General exemptions from the public records requirements are contained in the Public Records Act.[11] Specific exemptions often are placed in the substantive statutes relating to a particular agency or program.[12]

When creating a public records exemption, the Legislature may provide that a record is "exempt" or "confidential and exempt." There is a difference between records the Legislature has determined to be exempt from the Public Records Act and those which the Legislature has determined to be exempt from the Public Records Act and confidential.[13] Records designated as "confidential and exempt" are not subject to inspection by the public and may only be released under the circumstances defined by statute.[14] Records designated as "exempt" may be released at the discretion of the records custodian under certain circumstances.[15]

Open Government Sunset Review Act

The provisions of s. 119.15, F.S., known as the Open Government Sunset Review Act[16] (the Act), prescribe a legislative review process for newly created or substantially amended[17] public records or open meetings exemptions, with specified exceptions.[18] The Act requires the repeal of such exemption on October 2nd of the fifth year after creation or substantial amendment, unless the Legislature reenacts the exemption.[19]

The Act provides that a public records or open meetings exemption may be created or maintained only if it serves an identifiable public purpose and is no broader than is necessary.[20] An exemption serves an identifiable purpose if it meets one of the following purposes and the Legislature finds that the purpose of the exemption outweighs open government policy and cannot be accomplished without the exemption:

- It allows the state or its political subdivisions to effectively and efficiently administer a governmental program, and administration would be significantly impaired without the exemption;[21]
- It protects sensitive, personal information, the release of which would be defamatory, cause unwarranted damage to the good name or reputation of the individual, or would jeopardize the individual's safety. If this public purpose is cited as the basis of an exemption, however, only personal identifying information is exempt;[22] or
- It protects information of a confidential nature concerning entities, such as trade or business secrets.[23]

The Act also requires specified questions to be considered during the review process.[24] In examining an exemption, the Act directs the Legislature to question the purpose and necessity of reenacting the exemption.

If the exemption is continued and expanded, then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are required.[25] If the exemption is continued without substantive changes or if the exemption is continued and narrowed, then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote

Autism

Autism is a pervasive, neurologically-based developmental disability of extended duration that has onset during infancy or childhood, which causes severe learning, communication, and behavioral disorders.[27] Autism spectrum disorder (ASD) includes autism, Asperger's syndrome, and any other pervasive developmental disorder.[28] The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) estimates that approximately one in 44 children has ASD.[29] The CDC also estimates that over 5.4 million adults have ASD.[30]

Interactions with Law Enforcement for Individuals with Autism

A person's developmental disability may make interactions with law enforcement more challenging. For example, identifying a person with an ASD can be confusing to any person unfamiliar with the condition, including law enforcement. Law enforcement can mistake the signs of autism with behaviors typically associated with those of criminals.[31] Common attributes of autism are communication differences and behaviors or thinking that are repetitive or restricted to an area of interest. These traits could be interpreted by law enforcement as not being compliant with questioning or direct instructions. A characteristic of ASD known as escalation poses a particular problem in encounters with law enforcement.[32] Escalation describes the response of a person with ASD under stress or in an unfamiliar situation.[33] Overwhelmed by the barrage of sensory information, a person with ASD may attempt to flee the uncomfortable situation, become combative, or simply shut down.[34] The individual may cover his or her ears and shriek, not knowing how or where to get help.[35] The presence of police lights and sirens, uniforms, loud and unfamiliar voices, or barking dogs often makes a difficult situation worse by contributing to the individual's sensory overload.[36]

Alzheimer's Disease

Alzheimer's disease is a form of dementia, a general term for memory loss. It is a progressive brain disorder that damages and eventually destroys brain cells, leading to memory loss and changes in the functions of the brain. In the early stages of Alzheimer's disease, memory loss is mild; in late-stages, individuals lose the ability to carry on a conversation and respond to their environment. Currently, the disease has no cure, but treatment can temporarily slow the worsening of symptoms.[37]

Florida has an increasing number of individuals with Alzheimer's disease. An estimated 580,000 Floridians have Alzheimer's disease.[38] The projected number of Floridians with Alzheimer's disease is estimated to increase by 24% to 720,000 individuals by 2025.[39]

Interactions with Law Enforcement for Individuals with Alzheimer's and Dementia

Many behaviors associated with Alzheimer's disease and dementia tend to increase a person's chance of interacting with law enforcement. Because these individuals are often unable to explain their unusual behavior, their actions are more easily misunderstood.[40] Common instances that can cause someone with Alzheimer's disease to interact with law enforcement include wandering, auto accidents, erratic driving, accidental breaking and entering due to confusion, and unintentional shoplifting.[41]

Voluntary Registry Systems

Law enforcement agencies nationwide have begun utilizing voluntary registry systems that provide officers with relevant information on individuals with special needs, including those with Alzheimer's disease.[42] Law enforcement agencies have found that such registries can:

- Promote community safety;
- Improve officer safety;
- Increase the speed and efficiency in which officers are able to respond, decreasing department liability;
- Reduce strain on department resources (human and financial) during emergencies;
- Give community members peace of mind; and
- Promote community partnerships in responding to special needs community members.[43]

Voluntary registry systems allow law enforcement to obtain information that assists in response to calls for service involving individuals with conditions such as Alzheimer's disease.[44]

Voluntary registry systems have also proven helpful in responding to individuals in other special needs populations. Departments utilize the system for community members living with ASD, developmental disabilities, attention deficit/ hyperactivity disorder (ADHD), epilepsy, brain injury, mental illness, and other disabilities that may affect the way individuals interact and respond to law enforcement officers and other first responders.[45]

Confidentiality of Information

Voluntary registry systems generally contain large amounts of personal and sensitive information. Confidentiality concerns, coupled with a general fear of law enforcement prevalent in some communities, could hinder community willingness to participate in voluntary registry programs.[46] Some community members may be hesitant to participate due to fear exploitation of registry data.[47] Others fear that registry information collected may be used to violate the rights of special needs individuals by inappropriately releasing the information to outside parties and entities.[48]

Some agencies utilizing voluntary registry systems use disclaimers, waivers, or releases on voluntary registry systems' registration forms or questionnaires to notify registrants that providing data is voluntary and to ensure that registrants and their caregivers know that information will be used solely for the purpose of assisting first responders in providing service.[49] Other individuals have also expressed concerns regarding Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) compliance of registry information collection and storage.[50]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill amends the proposed s. 402.88, F.S., which would be created by SB 1040. The bill creates an exemption from the public records requirements of s. 119.07(1), F.S., and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution for the following information relating to the enrollment of individuals on the SNR created by SB 1040:

- Records;
- Data;
- Information;
- Correspondence; and
- Communications.

The bill also applies the exemption to any locally maintained registry that is substantially similar to the SNR. The bill specifies that such information may not be disclosed except, upon request, to:

- A law enforcement agency;
- A county emergency management agency;
- A local fire department.

[50] Id.

Any of the above-listed agency entities are permitted to disclose information otherwise deemed confidential and exempt by the bill to others not specifically listed only under the following circumstances:

- With the express written consent of the registry enrollee or the legally authorized representative of such enrollee;
- In a medical emergency;
- By court order upon a finding of good cause;
- To another governmental agency when needed for the performance of its duties and responsibilities; or
- In the interest of public safety, to;
  - Assist in locating the enrollee; or
  - Promote the safety or well-being of the enrollee, as determined by the law enforcement agency.

The bill includes a public necessity statement, specifying the need to make all records, data, information, correspondence, and communications relating the enrollment of persons in the SNR confidential and exempt from Florida's public records laws. The bill provides that such records are likely to include confidential medical information and sensitive personal information of individuals on the SNR. The bill states that the potential disclosure of such information will deter enrollment, thereby depriving law enforcement of information which would enable them to interact with those eligible for enrollment in safe and appropriate ways.

The bill is subject to the Open Government Sunset Review Act and will stand repealed on October 2, 2027, unless reviewed and saved from repeal by the Legislature.

The bill also applies the exemption retroactively to confidential and exempt information held by one of the agency entities listed above before the effective date of the act.

The bill provides that the act shall take effect on the same date that SB 1040 or similar legislation takes effect, if such legislation is adopted in the same legislative session or an extension thereof and becomes law.

SB 1040 has an effective date of March 1, 2023.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

The bill does not appear to require cities and counties to expend funds or limit their authority to raise revenue or receive state-shared revenues as specified by Article VII, Section 18 of the Florida Constitution.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

Vote Requirement

Article I, s. 24(c) of the State Constitution requires a two-thirds vote of the members present and voting for final passage of a bill creating or expanding an exemption to the public records requirements. This bill enacts a new exemption for records, data, information, correspondence, and communication relating to the enrollment of individuals on the SNR. Thus, the bill requires a two-thirds vote to be enacted.

Public Necessity Statement

Article I, s. 24(c) of the State Constitution requires a bill creating or expanding an exemption to the public records requirements to state with specificity the public necessity justifying the exemption. Section 2 of the bill contains a statement of public necessity for the exemption.

Breadth of Exemption

Article I, s. 24(c) of the State Constitution requires an exemption to the public records requirements to be no broader than necessary to accomplish the stated purpose of the law. The purpose of the law is to protect sensitive personal information, and confidential medical information, of individuals enrolled in the SNR. This bill exempts only such information from the public records requirements. The exemption does not appear to be broader than necessary to accomplish the purpose of the law.

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to public records; amending s. 402.88, F.S.; providing an exemption from public records requirements for all records, data, information, correspondence, and communications relating to the enrollment of persons in the Special Persons Registry maintained by the Department of Health; providing exceptions; authorizing law enforcement agencies, county emergency management agencies, and local fire departments to further disclose confidential and exempt information under certain circumstances; providing for future legislative review and repeal of the exemption; providing a statement of public necessity; providing for retroactive application; providing a contingent effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Subsection (3) is added to section 402.88, Florida Statutes, as created by SB 1040 or similar legislation, to read:

402.88 Special Persons Registry for interactions with law enforcement; public records exemption.—

(3)(a) All records, data, information, correspondence, and communications relating to the enrollment of persons as provided in subsection (1) and such information included in any locally maintained registry that is substantially similar to the registry in subsection (1) are confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution and may not be disclosed except, upon request, to a law enforcement agency, a county emergency management agency, or a local fire department, or as otherwise specifically authorized by this section.

(b) A law enforcement agency, county emergency management agency, or local fire department in possession of materials described in paragraph (a) may further disclose information contained in such materials to others not specifically listed only as follows:

1. With the express written consent of the registry enrollee or the legally authorized representative of such enrollee;

2. In a medical emergency;

3. By court order upon a finding of good cause;

4. To another governmental agency in the performance of its duties and responsibilities; or

5. In the interest of public safety, to assist in locating the enrollee, or to promote the safety or well-being of the enrollee, as determined by the law enforcement agency.

(c) This subsection is subject to the Open Government Sunset Review Act in accordance with s. 119.15 and shall stand repealed on October 2, 2027, unless reviewed and saved from repeal through reenactment by the Legislature.

Section 2. The Legislature finds that it is a public necessity to make all records, data, information, correspondence, and communications relating to the enrollment of persons in the Special Persons Registry under s. 402.88, Florida Statutes, confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1), Florida Statutes, and s. 24(a), Article I of the State Constitution.

Such records would likely include confidential medical information and sensitive personal information about the persons listed in the registry. The potential disclosure of such information would deter persons from being enrolled in the registry, which would then deprive law enforcement officers of information that would better enable them to interact with such persons in safe and appropriate ways.

Section 3. The exemption created in s. 402.88(3), Florida Statutes, applies retroactively to such confidential and exempt information held by a law enforcement agency, a county emergency management agency, or a local fire department before the effective date of this act.

Section 4. This act shall take effect on the same date that SB 1040 or similar legislation takes effect, if such legislation is adopted in the same legislative session or an extension thereof and becomes a law.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/CS/SB 1078 provides that new soil and water conservation districts (SWCDs) whose district boundaries are wholly located in one county must be subdivided into five numbered subdivisions that match, as practicable, the boundaries of either the five county commission districts or five school board districts within the county. If neither the county commission nor the school board is subdivided into five districts or the SWCD is comprised of multiple counties, the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services shall subdivide the SWCD into five numbered subdivisions as nearly equal in area as practicable.

The bill allows one SWCD supervisor to be elected from each of the five numbered subdivisions, and provides for staggered terms for supervisors.

The bill requires SWCD supervisors to be eligible voters who reside within the numbered subdivision from which they are elected and be actively engaged or retired after ten years of being engaged in, agriculture as defined by section 570.02, Florida Statutes; or be employed by an agricultural producer; or own, lease, or actively be employed on land classified as agricultural under section 193.461, Florida Statutes, which makes an annual gross revenue of more than $500,000. Candidates will be required to file a statement affirming they meet the qualifications to serve as a supervisor. If a subdivision does not have a qualified candidate one week before the qualifying period, any eligible candidate within a district may seek to be elected in that subdivision.

The bill provides that each supervisor shall be elected at the 2022 general election. The bill provides that by January 1, 2023, an SWCD in existence on July 1, 2022, which was not initially subdivided, must be subdivided in the manner provided by the bill.

The bill has no fiscal impact on state revenues or expenditures.

II. Present Situation:

Special Districts

A special district is a unit of local government created for a particular purpose, with jurisdiction to operate within a limited geographic boundary.[1] Special districts are created by general law, special act, local ordinance, or by rule of the governor and cabinet.[2] A special district has only those powers expressly provided by, or reasonably implied from, the authority provided in the district's charter.[3] Special districts provide specific municipal services in addition to, or in place of, those provided by a municipality or county.[4] Special districts are funded through the imposition of ad valorem taxes, fees, or charges on the users of those services as authorized by law.[5]

A dependent special district is a special district where:
- The membership of the governing body is identical to the governing body of a single county or municipality,
- All members of the governing body are appointed by the governing body of a single county or municipality,
- Members of the district's governing body are removable at will by the governing body of a single county or municipality, or
- The district's budget is subject to the approval of the governing body of a single county or municipality.[6]

An independent special district is any district that is not a dependent special district.[7]

According to the Department of Economic Opportunity's (DEO's) Special District Accountability Program Official List of Special Districts, as of January 18, 2022, the state had 1,835 special districts.[8] There were 1,217 independent special districts and 618 dependent districts.[9] Special districts are governed generally by the Uniform Special District Accountability Act (act).[10] The act centralizes provisions governing special districts and applies to the formation,[11] governance,[12] administration,[13] supervision,[14] merger,[15] and dissolution[16] of special districts, unless otherwise expressly provided in law.[17]

Soil and Water Conservation Districts

There are 56 active soil and water conservation districts (SWCDs).[18] All SWCDs are created by the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services (DACS) upon petition by landowners in the proposed district.[19] The DACS must provide for an annual audit of the accounts of receipts and disbursements for each district.[20]

SWCDs' stated purpose is to provide assistance, guidance, and education to landowners, land occupiers, the agricultural industry, and the general public in implementing land and water resource protection practices.[21] In order to do this, the SWCDs partner with a variety of entities, including the DACS and its Office of Agricultural Policy, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the Natural Resources Conservation Service, the National Association of Conservation Districts, the Association of Florida Conservation Districts, the Florida Conservation District Employees Association, the University of Florida's Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences, the Florida Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), the water management districts, the Florida Farm Bureau, the DEO, and counties.[22]

The authority of the SWCDs overlaps significantly with other land and water resource management agencies, such as the DEP,[23] the DEO,[24] and the water management districts.[25] Due to this jurisdictional overlap, the SWCDs today primarily focus on working with private and public landowners to provide technical and financial assistance for conservation, execute lease agreements, and manage publicly owned land.[26] Some other activities of the SWCDs include:

Soil and Water Conservation District Supervisors

Supervisors are members of the governing bodies of the SWCDs.[28] An SWCD supervisor election is held every two years at the same time as the general election.[29] In the case of a newly created SWCD participating in a regular election for the first time, three groups of candidates are elected for terms of four years, and two groups are elected for initial terms of two years.[30]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 amends s. 582.15, F.S., to provide that new soil and water conservation districts (SWCDs) that are wholly located within one county must be subdivided into five numbered subdivisions that match, as practicable, the boundaries of either the five county commission districts or five school board districts within the county. If neither the county commission nor the school board is subdivided into five districts or the SWCD is comprised of multiple counties, the DACS shall subdivide the district into five numbered subdivisions as nearly equal in area as practicable to ensure geographical representation within the SWCD's governing body.

Section 2 amends s. 582.18, F.S., to allow one SWCD supervisor to be elected from each of the five numbered subdivisions created by the DACS. The bill provides that, in the case of the first regular election for a new SWCD, candidates shall be elected from district subdivisions 1, 3, and 5 for terms of four years and candidates shall be elected from district subdivisions 2 and 4 for initial terms of two years.

Section 3 amends s. 582.19, F.S., to require the SWCD supervisors to be eligible voters who reside within the numbered subdivision from which they are elected and be actively engaged or retired after 10 years of being engaged in, agriculture as defined by s. 570.02, F.S.; be employed by an agricultural producer; or own, lease, or actively be employed on land classified as agricultural under section 193.461, Florida Statutes, which makes an annual gross revenue of more than $500,000. Candidates will be required to file a statement affirming they meet the qualifications to serve as a supervisor. If a subdivision does not have a qualified candidate one week before the qualifying period, any eligible candidate within a district may seek to be elected in that subdivision.

Section 4 provides that supervisors of the SWCDs must seek to be elected in the 2022 general election. The bill provides that by January 1, 2023, a district in existence on July 1, 2022, which was not subdivided in its initial creation, must be subdivided into five numbered subdivisions that match, as practicable, the boundaries of either the five county commission districts or five school board districts in the county. If neither the county commission nor the school board is subdivided into five districts, the DACS shall subdivide the district into five numbered subdivisions as nearly equal in area as practicable.

The bill adds that the following procedures apply to the election of supervisors of the SWCDs subdivided by the DACS pursuant to the above paragraph:

- SWCD governing body seats 1, 3, and 5, which have terms that initially expired in January 2025 or 2027, as applicable, shall represent district subdivisions 1, 3, and 5, respectively. Such seats shall be filled for a four-year term.
- SWCD governing body seats 2 and 4, which have terms that initially expired in January 2025 or 2027, as applicable, shall represent district subdivisions 2 and 4, respectively. Such seats shall be filled for a two-year term to achieve staggered terms; thereafter the seats shall be filled for four-year terms.

Section 5 provides that the bill takes effect upon becoming law.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS/CS/CS by Appropriations on February 28, 2022:
The committee substitute:

- Provides that if the SWCD boundaries are not wholly located in one county the district will be divided into five districts as determined by DACS.
- Reduces the number of years a person must have been actively engaged in agriculture to qualify for a supervisor position from 15 to 10.
- Adds that a person may qualify for a supervisor position if they own, lease, or actively are employed on land classified as agricultural, which makes an annual profit of more than $500,000.
- Provides that if a person owns, leases, or is actively employed on land classified as agricultural, they may be eligible to be a supervisor if the land makes an annual gross revenue, rather than an annual profit, of more than $500,000.

CS/CS by Ethics and Elections on February 8, 2022:
The committee substitute:

- Clarifies that candidates for supervisor of Soil and Water Conservation Districts must be eligible voters of the subdivision they will be elected from, and actively engaged in, or retired after 15 years being engaged in, agriculture per s. 570.02, F.S., or employed by agricultural producer.

- Provides that if a subdivision does not have a qualified candidate one week before the qualifying period, any qualified candidate in the district can seek to be elected in that subdivision.
- Requires candidates for supervisors to submit a statement affirming they meet the requirements per statute.
- Requires all supervisors to seek election in the 2022 general election.

CS by Environment and Natural Resources on January 24, 2022:
The committee substitute:
- Provides that new soil and water conservation districts (SWCD) must be subdivided into five numbered subdivisions that match, as practicable, the boundaries of either the five county commission districts or five school board districts within the county. If neither the county commission nor the school board is subdivided into five districts, the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services shall subdivide the SWCD into five numbered subdivisions as nearly equal in area as practicable to ensure geographical representation within the SWCD's governing body.
- Allows one SWCD supervisor to be elected from each of the five numbered subdivisions.
- Provides for staggered terms for SWCD supervisors.
- Requires SWCD supervisors to be eligible voters who reside within the numbered subdivision from which they are elected and to be actively engaged in the business of farming or animal husbandry.
- Provides that the term of a supervisor serving on an SWCD governing body at the time the amended bill becomes a law expires on January 10, 2023.
- Provides that by January 1, 2023, an SWCD in existence on July 1, 2022, which was not subdivided in its initial creation, must be subdivided into five numbered subdivisions in the manner previously stated and provides for staggered terms of the SWCD supervisors.

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to soil and water conservation districts; amending s. 582.15, F.S.; providing for the subdivision of certain proposed soil and water conservation districts; requiring the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services to subdivide certain proposed soil and water conservation districts; amending s. 582.18, F.S.; requiring the supervisors of each soil and water conservation district to be elected from each of the district's subdivisions; providing for the initial terms of office of candidates elected in each district subdivision; amending s. 582.19, F.S.; providing qualification requirements for supervisors to serve on the governing body of a soil and water conservation district; requiring candidates to submit a specified affirmation at the time of qualifying; requiring all supervisors of soil and water conservation district governing bodies to be elected at the 2022 general election; specifying that subsequent elections will be held according to certain provisions; providing for the subdivision of certain soil and water conservation districts by a specified date; requiring the department to subdivide certain soil and water conservation districts by a specified date; providing transitional provisions regarding the implementation of newly subdivided districts and the election of supervisors; providing an effective date.

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

582-02834-22 20221078c2

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Subsection (4) is added to section 582.15, Florida Statutes, to read:

582.15 Organization of district, etc.—

(4) After the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services has determined that operation of a proposed district is administratively practicable and feasible, the district shall be subdivided into five numbered subdivisions that match, as practicable, the boundaries of either the five county commission districts or five school board districts within the county. When neither the county commission nor the school board is subdivided into five districts, the department shall subdivide the district into five numbered subdivisions as nearly equal in area as practicable to ensure geographical representation within that soil and water conservation district's governing body.

Section 2. Subsection (1) of section 582.18, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

582.18 Election of supervisors of each district.—

(1) The election of supervisors for each soil and water conservation district shall be held every 2 years, with one supervisor elected from each of the five numbered subdivisions created by the department pursuant to s. 582.15(4). The elections shall be held at the time of the general election provided for by s. 100.041. The office of the supervisor of a soil and water conservation district is a nonpartisan office, and candidates for such office are prohibited from campaigning or qualifying for election based on party affiliation.

(a) Each candidate for supervisor for such district must

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

~~shall~~ qualify as directed by chapter 99.

(b) Each nominee who collects or expends campaign contributions shall conduct her or his campaign for supervisor of a soil and water conservation district in accordance with the provisions of chapter 106. Candidates who neither receive contributions nor make expenditures, other than expenditures for verification of signatures on petitions, are exempt from the provisions of chapter 106 requiring establishment of bank accounts and appointment of a campaign treasurer, but shall file periodic reports as required by s. 106.07.

(c) The names of all nominees on behalf of whom such nominating petitions have been filed shall appear upon ballots in accordance with the general election laws. All qualified electors residing within the district shall be eligible to vote in such election. The candidates who receive the largest number of the votes cast from each group of candidates in such election shall be the elected supervisors from such group for such district. In the case of a newly created district participating in a regular election for the first time, ~~three groups of~~ candidates shall be elected from district subdivisions 1, 3, and 5 for terms of 4 years, and candidates ~~two groups~~ shall be elected from district subdivisions 2 and 4 for initial terms of 2 years. Each candidate elected shall assume office on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in January following the election.

Section 3. Subsection (1) of section 582.19, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

582.19 Qualifications and tenure of supervisors.—

(1) The governing body of the district shall consist of five supervisors, elected as provided in s. 582.18 ~~hereinabove~~.

(a) To qualify to serve on the governing body of a district, a supervisor must:

1. Be an eligible voter who resides within the numbered subdivision from which she or he is elected; and

2. Be actively engaged in, or retired after 15 years of being engaged in, agriculture as defined in s. 570.02 or be employed by an agricultural producer.

(b) If, 1 week before the qualifying period, a district subdivision does not have a candidate who meets the qualification requirements of subparagraph (a)1., any eligible voter who resides in the district and who meets the qualification requirements of subparagraph (a)2. may seek to be elected in that district subdivision.

(c) At the time of qualifying, a candidate for supervisor shall submit an affirmation in substantially the following form:

State of Florida County of ....

Statement of Candidate for Supervisor of Soil and Water Conservation District

I, ...(Name of candidate)..., a candidate for Supervisor of Soil and Water Conservation District, meet the qualifications pursuant to s. 582.19(1), Florida Statutes, to serve on the governing body of the Soil and Water Conservation District.

...(Signature of candidate)...

...(Address)...

Sworn to and subscribed before me this .... day of ....., ...(year)...., at .... County, Florida.

Section 4. (1) Each supervisor for a soil and water conservation district governing body shall be elected at the 2022 general election. After the 2022 general election, candidates shall be elected pursuant to s. 582.18(1)(c), Florida Statutes, as amended by this act, and subsection (3).

(2) By January 1, 2023, a district in existence on July 1, 2022, which was not subdivided in its initial creation pursuant to chapter 582, Florida Statutes, must be subdivided into five numbered subdivisions that match, as practicable, the boundaries of either the five county commission districts or five school board districts in the county. When neither the county commission nor the school board is subdivided into five districts, the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services shall subdivide the district into five numbered subdivisions as nearly equal in area as practicable to ensure geographical representation within that soil and water conservation district's governing body.

(3) The following procedures apply to the election of supervisors of soil and water conservation districts subdivided by the department pursuant to subsection (2):

(a) District governing body seats 1, 3, and 5, which have terms that initially expired in January 2025 or 2027, as applicable depending on the year in which the district was formed, shall represent district subdivisions 1, 3, and 5, respectively. Such seats shall be filled for a term of 4 years.

(b) District governing body seats 2 and 4, which have terms that initially expired in January 2025 or 2027, as applicable depending on the year in which the district was formed, shall represent district subdivisions 2 and 4, respectively. Such seats shall initially be filled for a term of 2 years in order to achieve staggered terms; thereafter, any such seats shall be filled for a term of 4 years as provided under s. 582.19, Florida Statutes.

Section 5. This act shall take effect upon becoming a law.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/CS/SB 1292 modifies provisions in several areas related to the prevention of various forms of fraud. The bill:

- Requires the electronic credentialing system administered by the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles (DHSMV) to display driver vehicle registration and insurance information, provide the driver notice of any lapse in insurance coverage, and allow the driver to use the system to update policy information;
- Requires the DHSMV to provide recommendations on the means by which the DHSMV, law enforcement agencies, and other entities authorized by the DHSMV may electronically verify a driver's compliance with chapter 324, Florida Statutes, the Financial Responsibility Law of 1955;
- Requires a seller of any service contract with an automatic renewal provision to allow a consumer to cancel the contract in the same manner, and by the same means, as the contract was executed;
- Subjects a public adjuster, public adjuster apprentice, or other person not otherwise exempt from licensure as a public adjuster, to a fine not to exceed $20,000 per act for a violation of prohibited acts under section 626.854, Florida Statutes, during a state of emergency;
- Authorizes the Department of Financial Services (DFS) to impose a $2,000 per day administrative fine on an insurer that fails or refuses to comply with section 633.126, Florida

Statutes, related to fraudulent insurance claims and crimes with respect to a fire and explosion;
- Authorizes the DFS Division of Investigative and Forensic Services (DIFS) to adopt rules to administer section 633.126, Florida Statutes, related to fraudulent insurance claims and crimes with respect to a fire and explosion;
- Requires a motor vehicle service agreement company's written advertisement to fully disclose in at least 12-point, boldface font, the name, address, and Florida Company Code of the motor vehicle service agreement company;
- Requires a motor vehicle service agreement company's radio or television advertisement to fully disclose the full legal name of the licensed salesperson or the motor vehicle agreement company;
- Requires a motor vehicle service agreement company's telephone solicitation fully identify the soliciting licensed salesperson's full legal name and license number at the beginning of the telephone solicitation, and the salesperson's telephone number when the telephone solicitation ends;
- Clarifies a written advertisement does not include material prepared and presented to a consumer at the point of sale of the product to be covered by warranty or service agreement.
- Provides a technical change under section 775.15, Florida Statutes, related to time limitations for prosecuting criminal offenses, to allow separate prosecutions of workers' compensation fraud under section 440.105, Florida Statutes, and false and fraudulent insurance claims under section 817.234, Florida Statutes, within five years of a violation of either section; and
- Authorizes an insurer damaged as a result of insurance fraud to recover reasonable investigation and litigation expense, including attorney fees, at the trial and appellate court, if the insurer had reported the possible fraudulent insurance act to the DIFS and the possible fraudulent insurance act was criminally adjudicated as guilty.

The bill has an indeterminate, yet potentially negative impact on state revenues and expenditures. See Section V. Fiscal Impact Statement below.

The bill takes effect upon becoming a law, except as otherwise provided.

II. Present Situation:

Electronic Credentialing System

The 2021 Legislature[1] created the electronic credentialing system within the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles (DHSMV) for purposes of establishing a secure and uniform system for issuing an optional digital proof of driver license or identification card.[2] The electronic credentialing system may not retain internet protocol addresses, geolocation data, or other information that describes the location, computer, computer system, or computer network from which a customer accesses the system.[3]

Required Notification of New, Cancelled, Nonrenewed, and Lapsed Motor Vehicle Insurance Coverages

Section 324.0221, F.S., requires insurers to report new, cancelled, or nonrenewed personal injury protection or property damage insurance coverages to DHSMV within 10 days. Prior to notifying the DHSMV, the insurer must provide the named insured, or the first-named insured in the case of a commercial fleet policy, with written notice the cancellation or nonrenewal will be reported to the DHSMV. The notice must also inform the named insured that failure to maintain personal injury protection and property damage insurance coverages on a motor vehicle when required by law may result in the loss of registration and driving privileges in Florida and inform the named insured of the amount of any reinstatement fees.

Service Contracts with Automatic Renewal Provisions

Florida law governs the automatic renewal provisions of service contracts such that a service contract may automatically renew at the end of its term without any additional action required by either party under certain circumstances.

If the automatic renewal provision renews a service contract for more than one month and caused the service contract to be in effect for more than six months after the service contract was executed, the seller must clearly and conspicuously disclose the automatic renewal provision to the consumer. Renewal is effective unless the consumer does not give notice to the seller of intent to terminate the service contract.[4] However, in the case of a service contract with a term of 12 months that automatically renews for more than one month, the seller must provide written or electronic notification to consumers no more than 60 and no less than 30 days prior to the cancellation deadline pursuant to the automatic renewal provision.[5]

Violations of the disclosure and notice requirements void an automatic renewal provision, rendering it unenforceable,[6] unless the seller demonstrates:

- It has established and implemented written procedures to comply with, and enforce, the requirements as part of their routine business practice;
- The failure to comply was the result of error; and
- It has provided, as part of its routine business practice, a refund or credit for the unearned portion of the renewed contract, starting from the date the seller is notified of the error. [7]

The Department of Financial Services

The Department of Financial Services (DFS) is statutorily responsible for:

- Carrying out the state's accounting and auditing functions, including preparing the state's Comprehensive Annual Financial Report; monitoring state contracts; and making payment for state expenditures;
- Implementing state fire prevention and control measures, including the investigation of arson and other suspicious fires; training and certification of firefighter candidates; and regulation of explosive storage and use;
- Operating the state's risk management program and securing insurance and reinsurance for covered state liabilities;
- Managing the state Treasury and directing safekeeping and the investment of all state funds;
- Managing the deferred compensation program for state employees;
- Investigating fraud, including insurance fraud, public assistance fraud, and false claims against the state;
- Regulating cemeteries and funeral homes;
- Licensing and oversight of insurance agents and agencies;
- Ensuring Florida employers provide workers' compensation coverage for their employees in a cost effective manner;
- Assisting consumers in the resolution of issues pertaining to insurance and funeral services; and
- Collecting and returning unclaimed property belonging to Florida residents.[14]

The DFS is composed of the following divisions and offices:

- Accounting and Auditing;
- Administration;
- Consumer Services;
- Funeral, Cemetery, and Consumer Services;
- Insurance Agent and Agency Services;
- Insurance Consumer Advocate;
- Investigative and Forensic Services;
- Public Assistance Fraud;
- Rehabilitation and Liquidation;
- Risk Management;
- State Fire Marshal;
- Treasury;
- Unclaimed Property; and

[12] Pursuant to s. 366.02(2), F.S., any municipal electric utility, investor-owner electric utility, or rural electric cooperative which owns, maintains, or operates an electric generation, transmission, or distribution system within the state.
[13] Pursuant to s. 180.05, F.S., any company or corporation duly authorized under the laws of the state to construct or operate water works systems, sewerage systems, sewage treatment works, garbage collection, and garbage disposal plants.

- Workers' Compensation.[15]

The DFS Division of Investigative and Forensic Services

The Division of Investigative and Forensic Services (DIFS) houses all law enforcement and forensic components residing within the DFS. The DIFS has broad authority to investigate a wide range of fraudulent and criminal acts within and outside the state including, but not limited to, insurance fraud; workers' compensation fraud investigations; fire, arson, and explosives investigations; and fire and explosive sample analysis.[16] The DIFS also refers any records tending to show criminal violations to state or federal law enforcement or prosecutorial agencies, and provides investigative to those agencies as required, when the DIFS believes that a criminal law of the state has been violated.[17]

The DFIS is composed of the following bureaus and offices:
- Forensic Services;
- Fire, Arson, and Explosives Investigations;
- Fiscal Integrity;
- Insurance Fraud; and
- Workers' Compensation Fraud.[18]

The DFS Division of State Fire Marshal

The Division of State Fire Marshal (State Fire Marshal) works to reduce the loss of life and property to fire and other disasters statewide through internal and external leadership, standards and training, and prevention and education. The State Fire Marshal has the expressed authority to enforce all laws and adopted rules related to:
- The prevention of fire and explosion through the regulation of conditions which could cause fire or explosion, the spread of fire, and panic resulting therefrom;
- Installation and maintenance of fire alarm systems and fire protection systems, including fire suppression systems, fire-extinguishing equipment, and fire sprinkler systems;
- Servicing, repairing, recharging, testing, marking, inspecting, installing, maintaining, and tagging of fire extinguishers, preengineered systems, and individually designed fire protection systems;
- The training and licensing of persons engaged in the business of servicing, repairing, recharging, testing, marking, inspecting, installing, maintaining, and tagging of fire extinguishers, preengineered systems, and individually designed fire protection systems;
- The maintenance of fire cause and loss records; and
- Suppression of arson and the investigation of the cause, origin, and circumstances of fire.[19]

The State Fire Marshal is composed of the Bureau of Fire Prevention and the Bureau of Fire Standards and Training.[20]

Authority of the DFS to Compel Production of Records Related to Insurance Fraud and Arson Investigations

Under s. 633.126, F.S., the State Fire Marshal and DIFS investigators may request any insurance company or its agent, adjuster, employee, or attorney, investigating a claim under an insurance policy or contract with respect to a fire or explosion to release any information whatsoever in the possession of the insurance company or its agent, adjuster, employee, or attorney relative to a loss from that fire or explosion. A person who willfully refuses to release any information requested by a State Fire Marshal or DISF investigator commits a first degree misdemeanor.[21]

Regulation of Insurance Adjusters

Florida law requires all insurance adjusters to be licensed by the DFS and appointed by the appropriate entity or person[22] in order to adjust claims. General requirements for licensure include submitting an application; paying required fees; satisfying pre-licensing examination requirements, when applicable; complying with requirements as to knowledge, experience, or instruction; and submitting fingerprints.[23]

Under s. 626.864, F.S., there are both public adjusters and all-lines adjuster license types, with all-lines appointments further divided into independent adjusters,[24] company employee adjusters,[25] and public adjuster apprentices.[26] The same adjuster may not be concurrently licensed as a public adjuster and an all-lines adjuster.[27] In the case of an all-lines adjuster, the adjuster may be appointed as an independent adjuster, company employee adjuster, or public adjuster apprentice, but not more than one concurrently.[28]

A public adjuster is any person, other than a licensed attorney, who, for compensation, prepares, completes, or files an insurance claim form for an insured or third-party claimant in negotiating or settling an insurance claim on behalf of an insured or third party.[29] Public adjusters operate independently and are not affiliated with any insurer.

An all-lines adjuster is any person who, for compensation, ascertains and determines the amount of any claim, loss, or damage payable under an insurance contract or settles such claim, loss, or damage on behalf of a public adjuster or insurer.[30]

[21] Section 633.126(9), F.S.

An independent adjuster is any person who is self-employed or employed by an independent adjusting firm and who works for an insurer to ascertain and determine the amount of an insurance claim, loss, or damage, or to settle an insurance claim under an insurance contract.[31]

A company employee adjuster is any person employed in-house by an insurer, or a wholly owned subsidiary of the insurer, who ascertains and determines the amount of an insurance claim, loss, or damage, or settles such claim, loss or damage.[32]

Discretion of the DFS to Act against Licensees

Section 626.621, F.S., grants the DFS discretion, under certain circumstances, to deny applications for, revoke, or refuse to renew, the licenses or appointments of agents, adjusters, customer representatives, service representatives, and managing general agents. Examples of circumstances that can lead to such agency action include violation of the Florida Insurance Code, violation of lawful orders or rules of the DFS, and engaging in unfair and deceptive trade practices.[33]

Discretion of the DFS to Act against Public Adjusters

Section 626.854, F.S., grants the DFS discretion to discipline public adjusters who engage in certain prohibited acts. In addition to denying, suspending, or revoking a license, the DFS may subject public adjusters, public adjuster apprentices, and other persons not otherwise exempt from licensure, to a fine not exceed $10,000 per prohibited act. Examples of prohibited acts under s. 626.854, F.S., include unfair and deceptive insurance trade practices or offering inducements in exchange for inspecting a residential property owner's roof or making an insurance claim for damage to a residential property owner's roof.

Motor Service Agreement Company Advertisements

Motor vehicle service agreements provide vehicle owners with protection when the manufacturer's warranty expires. A motor vehicle service agreement indemnifies the vehicle owner (or holder of the agreement) against loss caused by failure of any mechanical or other component part, or any mechanical or other component part that does not function as it was originally intended.[34] Motor vehicle service agreements can only be sold by a licensed and appointed salesperson.[35] Salespersons are licensed in the same manner as insurance representatives under ch. 626, F.S., with some exceptions to the requirements applied to insurance representatives.[36]

It is a second degree misdemeanor for a motor vehicle service agreement company or salesperson to issue or cause to be issued an advertisement that:

- Does not fully disclose in boldfaced type the name, address, and license number of the service agreement company;

[31] Section 626.855, F.S.
[32] Section 626.856, F.S.
[33] Chapters 624-632, 634, 635, 636, 641, 642, 648, and 651 constitute the "Florida Insurance Code."
[34] Section 634.011(8), F.S.
[35] Section 634.031, F.S.
[36] Section 634.171, F.S.

- In any respect is in violation of or does not comply with the Motor Vehicle Service Agreement Companies law, applicable provision of the Florida Insurance Code, or applicable rule of the Financial Services Commission;
- Is ambiguous, misleading, or deceptive; or
- Is false, deceptive, or misleading with respect to:
  - The service agreement company's affiliation with a motor vehicle manufacturer;
  - The service agreement company's possession of information regarding a motor vehicle owner's current motor vehicle manufacturer's original equipment warranty;
  - The expiration of a motor vehicle owner's current motor vehicle manufacturer's original equipment warranty; or
  - Any requirement that the motor vehicle owner register for a new motor vehicle service agreement with the company in order to maintain coverage under the current motor vehicle service agreement or manufacturer's original equipment warranty. [37]

The DFS also has the enforcement authority to deny, suspend, revoke, or refuse to renew or continue the appointment or license of any motor vehicle service agreement company or salesperson that violates these advertising disclosure requirements.[38]

Time Limitations for Prosecuting Workers' Compensation Fraud and False and Fraudulent Insurance Claims

Under s. 775.15(11), F.S., a prosecution for workers' compensation fraud under s. 440.105, F.S., and false and fraudulent insurance claims under s. 817.234, F.S., must be commenced within five years after the violation is committed. There is general confusion as to whether the intent of the subsection is to tie the two violations together under a single prosecution within the five-year time limitation, or whether violations under either statute may be prosecuted separately within the five-year time limitation.

Attorney Fees for False and Fraudulent Insurance Claims

Under current law, an insurer damaged as a result of a false or fraudulent insurance claim can bring a cause of action to recover compensatory damages plus all reasonable investigation and litigation expenses, including attorneys' fees, at the trial and appellate courts, after there has been a criminal adjudication of guilt.[39]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 creates s. 324.252, F.S., related to electronic insurance verification, to require the electronic credentialing system administered by the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles (DHSMV) to display driver vehicle registration and insurance information, provide the driver with notification on any lapse in insurance coverages, and allow the driver to update his or her policy information via the electronic credentialing system.

[37] Section 634.095(3), F.S.
[38] Section 634.095, F.S.
[39] Section 817.234, F.S.

The bill requires the DHSMV to provide recommendations on the means by which the DHSMV, law enforcement agencies, and other entities authorized by the DHSMV may electronically verify a driver's compliance with ch. 324, F.S., the Financial Responsibility Law of 1955.

Section 2 amends s. 501.165, F.S., related to automatic renewals of service contracts, to require a service contract seller to allow a consumer to cancel a service contract with an automatic renewal provision in the same manner, and by the same means, as the service contract was executed.

Section 3 amends s. 626.854(22), F.S., related to prohibited acts by public adjusters, to subject public adjusters, public adjuster apprentices, and other persons not otherwise exempt from licensure, to a fine not to exceed $20,000 per act for a violation of prohibited acts under the subsection during a state of emergency declared either by executive order or proclamation of the Governor.

Section 4 amends s. 633.126, F.S., related to investigations of fraudulent insurance claims and crimes with respect to a fire or explosion, to authorize the DFS to impose an administrative fine of not more than $2,000 per day on an insurer that fails or otherwise refuses to comply with this section.

The bill grants the Division of Investigative and Forensic Services (DIFS) rulemaking authority to administer this section, provided any rules may not enlarge upon or extend the provisions of this section, identify specific factors that determine the grade of penalty, and specify mitigating and aggravating factors for any violation.

Section 5 amends s. 634.095, F.S., related to prohibited acts by motor vehicle service agreement companies, to require a written advertisement fully disclose in at least 12-point, boldface font, the name, address, and Florida Company Code of the motor vehicle service agreement company.

The bill clarifies a written advertisement does not include material prepared and presented to a consumer at the point of sale of the product to be covered by warranty or service agreement.

The bill requires a radio or television advertisement to fully disclose the full legal name of the licensed salesperson or the motor vehicle agreement company.

The bill also requires a telephone solicitation fully identify the soliciting licensed salesperson's full legal names and license number at the beginning of the telephone solicitation, and the salesperson's telephone number when the telephone solicitation ends. The telephone number may be the number on file with the DFS or the number at which the salesperson may be contacted.

Under s. 634.095, F.S., any service agreement company or salesperson that engages in violations of this act is, in addition to any applicable denial, suspension, revocation, or refusal to renew or continue any appointment or license, guilty of a second degree misdemeanor, punishable as provided in s. 775.082, F.S., or s. 775.083, F.S.

This section is effective March 1, 2023.

Section 6 amends s. 775.15, F.S., related to time limitations for prosecuting criminal offenses, to provide a technical change allowing separate prosecutions of violations of s. 440.105, F.S., or s. 817.234, F.S., within five years of a violation of either section.

Section 7 amends s. 817.234, F.S., related to false and fraudulent insurance claims, to provide an insurer damaged as a result of insurance fraud may recover reasonable investigation and litigation expense, including attorney fees, at the trial and appellate court, if the insurer had reported the possible fraudulent insurance act to DIFS and the possible fraudulent insurance act was criminally adjudicated as guilty.

Section 8 provides that except as otherwise expressly provided for in this act, this act is effective upon becoming a law.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

Section 7 of the bill allows insurers to recover reasonable investigation and litigation expenses, including attorney fees, at the trial and appellate courts, due to criminal adjudication of guilt related to fraudulent insurance claims. Recovery of such expenses is reliant upon the insurer reporting possible false and fraudulent claims to the Division of Investigative and Forensic Services

C. Government Sector Impact:

Section 3 of the bill adds a cap on fines of $20,000 for unlicensed activity during a state of emergency. The Department of Financial Services (DFS) has indicated should there be unlicensed activity, this change could create a minimal impact to revenues.

In addition, Section 4 of the bill gives the DFS authority to assess an administrative fine up to $2,000 per day against insurers who do not comply with reporting requirements. The DFS does not anticipate a significant fiscal impact from this change.

The Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles estimates the bill has a fiscal impact of $400,000 to one million dollars. The amount is indeterminate as the technology is new and the cost is unknown.[40]

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 501.165, 626.854, 633.126, 634.095, 775.15, and 817.234.

This bill creates section 324.252 of the Florida Statutes.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Section 324.252, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

324.252 Electronic insurance verification.—

(1) In order to empower drivers in this state and reduce the incidence of automobile insurance fraud within this state, by July 1, 2023, the electronic credentialing system, as defined in s. 322.032(1), must display driver vehicle registration and insurance information, provide a driver with notification of any lapse in his or her insurance coverage needed for compliance with the financial responsibility requirements of this chapter, and allow the driver to update his or her policy information via the system.

(2) By October 1, 2023, the department shall provide the Legislature with recommendations on the means by which the department, law enforcement agencies, and other entities authorized by the department may electronically verify a driver's compliance with the financial responsibility requirements of this chapter.

Section 2. Subsection (2) of section 501.165, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

501.165 Automatic renewal of service contracts.—

(2) SERVICE CONTRACTS WITH AUTOMATIC RENEWAL PROVISIONS.—

(a) A ~~Any~~ seller that sells, leases, or offers to sell or lease any service to a consumer pursuant to a service contract that has an automatic renewal provision, unless the consumer cancels that contract, shall disclose the automatic renewal provision clearly and conspicuously in the contract or contract offer.

(b) A ~~Any~~ seller that sells or offers to sell any service to a consumer pursuant to a service contract the term of which is a specified period of 12 months or more and that automatically renews for a specified period of more than 1 month, unless the consumer cancels the contract, shall provide the consumer with written or electronic notification of the automatic renewal provision. Notification shall be provided to the consumer no less than 30 days or no more than 60 days before the cancellation deadline pursuant to the automatic renewal provision. Such notification shall disclose clearly and conspicuously:

1. That unless the consumer cancels the contract the contract will automatically renew.

2. Methods by which the consumer may obtain details of the automatic renewal provision and cancellation procedure, whether by contacting the seller at a specified telephone number or address, by referring to the contract, or by any other method.

(c) A seller that fails to comply with the requirements of this subsection violates ~~is in violation of~~ this subsection unless the seller demonstrates that:

1. As part of the seller's routine business practice, the seller has established and implemented written procedures to comply with this section and enforces compliance with the procedures;

2. Any failure to comply with this subsection is the result of error; and

3. As part of the seller's routine business practice, where an error has caused the failure to comply with this subsection, the unearned portion of the contract subject to the automatic renewal provision is refunded as of the date on which the seller is notified of the error.

(d) A seller who enters into or renews any service contract with a consumer which includes an automatic renewal provision must allow the consumer to cancel the service contract in the same manner, and by the same means, as the consumer manifested his or her acceptance of the service contract.

(e) This subsection does not apply to:

1. A financial institution as defined in s. 655.005 or any depository institution as defined in 12 U.S.C. s. 1813(c)(2).

2. A foreign bank maintaining a branch or agency licensed under the laws of any state of the United States.

3. Any subsidiary or affiliate of an entity described in subparagraph 1. or subparagraph 2.

4. A health studio as defined in s. 501.0125.

5. Any entity licensed under chapter 624, chapter 627, chapter 634, chapter 636, or chapter 641.

6. Any electric utility as defined in s. 366.02.

7. Any private company as defined in s. 180.05 providing services described in chapter 180 which is competing against a governmental entity or has a governmental entity providing billing services on its behalf.

(f) ~~(e)~~ A violation of this subsection renders the automatic renewal provision void and unenforceable.

Section 3. Paragraphs (b) and (c) of subsection (22) of section 626.854, Florida Statutes, are amended, and paragraph (a) of that subsection is republished, to read:

626.854 "Public adjuster" defined; prohibitions.—The Legislature finds that it is necessary for the protection of the public to regulate public insurance adjusters and to prevent the unauthorized practice of law.

(22)(a) Any following act by a public adjuster, a public adjuster apprentice, or a person acting on behalf of a public adjuster or public adjuster apprentice is prohibited and shall result in discipline as applicable under this part:

1. Offering to a residential property owner a rebate, gift, gift card, cash, coupon, waiver of any insurance deductible, or any other thing of value in exchange for:

a. Allowing a contractor, a public adjuster, a public adjuster apprentice, or a person acting on behalf of a public adjuster or public adjuster apprentice to conduct an inspection of the residential property owner's roof; or

b. Making an insurance claim for damage to the residential property owner's roof.

2. Offering, delivering, receiving, or accepting any compensation, inducement, or reward for the referral of any services for which property insurance proceeds would be used for roofing repairs or replacement.

(b) Notwithstanding the fine set forth in s. 626.8698, a public adjuster or public adjuster apprentice may be subject to a fine not to exceed $10,000 per act for a violation of this subsection and a fine not to exceed $20,000 per act for a violation of this subsection that occurs during a state of emergency declared by executive order or proclamation of the Governor pursuant to s. 252.36.

(c) A person who engages in an act prohibited by this subsection and who is not a public adjuster or a public adjuster apprentice, or is not otherwise exempt from licensure, is guilty of the unlicensed practice of public adjusting and may be:

1. Subject to all applicable penalties set forth in this part.

2. Notwithstanding subparagraph 1., subject to a fine not to exceed $10,000 per act for a violation of this subsection and a fine not to exceed $20,000 per act for a violation of this subsection that occurs during a state of emergency declared by executive order or proclamation of the Governor pursuant to s. 252.36.

Section 4. Subsection (9) of section 633.126, Florida Statutes, is amended, subsection (10) is added to that section, and subsection (2) of that section is republished, to read:

633.126 Investigation of fraudulent insurance claims and crimes; immunity of insurance companies supplying information.—

(2) If an insurance company has reason to suspect that a fire or explosion loss to its insured's real or personal property was caused by intentional means, the company shall notify the State Fire Marshal and shall furnish her or him with all material acquired by the company during its investigation. The State Fire Marshal may adopt rules to implement this subsection.

(9) If an insurance company fails or otherwise refuses to comply with this section, the department may impose an administrative fine of not more than $2,000 per day for such failure until the department deems the insurance company to be in compliance ~~A person who willfully violates this section commits a misdemeanor of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083~~.

(10) The Division of Investigative and Forensic Services may adopt reasonable rules as are necessary to administer this section. Such rules must meet all of the following requirements:

(a) They may not enlarge upon or extend the provisions of this section.

(b) They must identify specific factors that determine the grades of penalty.

(c) They must specify mitigating and aggravating factors for a violation of this section.

Section 5. Effective March 1, 2023, present paragraphs (b), (c), and (d) of subsection (3) of section 634.095, Florida Statutes, are redesignated as paragraphs (d), (e), and (f), respectively, new paragraphs (b) and (c) are added to that subsection, and paragraph (a) of that subsection is amended, to read:

634.095 Prohibited acts.—Any service agreement company or salesperson that engages in one or more of the following acts is, in addition to any applicable denial, suspension, revocation, or refusal to renew or continue any appointment or license, guilty of a misdemeanor of the second degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083:

(3) Issuing or causing to be issued any advertisement which:

(a) Does not fully disclose in a written advertisement, in at least 12-point, boldface ~~boldfaced~~ type, the name, address, and Florida Company Code ~~license number~~ of the service agreement company. As used in this paragraph, the term "written advertisement" does not include material prepared for a specific consumer and presented to that consumer at the point of sale of the product to be covered by a warranty or service agreement.

(b) Does not fully disclose in a radio or television advertisement the full legal name of the licensed salesperson or the service agreement company.

(c) Does not fully identify the soliciting licensed salesperson's full legal name and license number when the salesperson begins, and the soliciting salesperson's telephone number when the salesperson concludes, each outbound telephone solicitation. For the purposes of this paragraph, the actual telephone number of the salesperson may be the number on file with the department or the number at which the salesperson may be contacted.

Section 6. Subsection (11) of section 775.15, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

775.15 Time limitations; general time limitations; exceptions.—

(11) A prosecution for a felony violation of s. 440.105 or s. 817.234 ~~ss. 440.105 and 817.234~~ must be commenced within 5 years after the violation is committed.

Section 7. Subsection (5) of section 817.234, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

817.234 False and fraudulent insurance claims.—

(5)(a) Any insurer damaged as a result of a violation of any provision of this section when there has been a criminal adjudication of guilt shall have a cause of action to recover compensatory damages, plus all reasonable investigation and litigation expenses, including attorney ~~attorneys'~~ fees, at the trial and appellate courts.

(b) If an insurer damaged as a result of a violation of any provision of this section has reported the possible fraudulent insurance act to the Division of Investigative and Forensic Services pursuant to s. 626.9891 and if there has been a criminal adjudication of guilt, the insurer is entitled to recover reasonable investigation and litigation expenses, including attorney fees, at the trial and appellate courts.

Section 8. Except as otherwise expressly provided in this act, this act shall take effect upon becoming a law.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 1292 modifies provisions in several areas related to the prevention of various forms of fraud. The bill:

- Requires the electronic credentialing system administered by the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles (DHSMV) to display driver vehicle registration and insurance information, provide the driver notice of any lapse in insurance coverage, and allow the driver to use the system to update policy information;
- Requires the DHSMV to provide recommendations on the means by which the DHSMV, law enforcement agencies, and other entities authorized by the DHSMV may electronically verify a driver's compliance with chapter 324, Florida Statutes, the Financial Responsibility Law of 1955;
- Requires a seller of any service contract with an automatic renewal provision to allow a consumer to cancel the contract in the same manner, and by the same means, as the contract was executed;
- Subjects a public adjuster, public adjuster apprentice, or other person not otherwise exempt from licensure as a public adjuster, to a fine not to exceed $20,000 per act for a violation of prohibited acts under section 626.854, Florida Statutes, during a state of emergency;
- Authorizes the Department of Financial Services (DFS) to impose a $2,000 per day administrative fine on an insurer that fails or refuses to comply with section 633.126, Florida

Statutes, related to fraudulent insurance claims and crimes with respect to a fire and explosion;
- Authorizes the DFS Division of Investigative and Forensic Services (DIFS) to adopt rules to administer section 633.126, Florida Statutes, related to fraudulent insurance claims and crimes with respect to a fire and explosion;
- Requires a motor vehicle service agreement company's written advertisement to fully disclose in at least 12-point, boldface font, the name, address, and Florida Company Code of the motor vehicle service agreement company;
- Requires a motor vehicle service agreement company's radio or television advertisement to fully disclose the full legal name of the licensed salesperson or the motor vehicle agreement company;
- Requires a motor vehicle service agreement company's telephone solicitation fully identify the soliciting licensed salesperson's full legal name and license number at the beginning of the telephone solicitation, and the salesperson's telephone number when the telephone solicitation ends;
- Clarifies a written advertisement does not include material prepared and presented to a consumer at the point of sale of the product to be covered by warranty or service agreement.
- Provides a technical change under section 775.15, Florida Statutes, related to time limitations for prosecuting criminal offenses, to allow separate prosecutions of workers' compensation fraud under section 440.105, Florida Statutes, and false and fraudulent insurance claims under section 817.234, Florida Statutes, within five years of a violation of either section; and
- Authorizes an insurer damaged as a result of insurance fraud to recover reasonable investigation and litigation expense, including attorney fees, at the trial and appellate court, if the insurer had reported the possible fraudulent insurance act to the DIFS and the possible fraudulent insurance act was criminally adjudicated as guilty.

The bill has an indeterminate, yet potentially negative impact on state revenues and expenditures. The bill provides an appropriation of $1,413,270 to implement certain provisions of the bill. See Section V. Fiscal Impact Statement below.

The bill takes effect upon becoming a law, except as otherwise provided.

II. Present Situation:

Electronic Credentialing System

The 2021 Legislature[1] created the electronic credentialing system within the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles (DHSMV) for purposes of establishing a secure and uniform system for issuing an optional digital proof of driver license or identification card.[2] The electronic credentialing system may not retain internet protocol addresses, geolocation data, or other information that describes the location, computer, computer system, or computer network from which a customer accesses the system.[3]

Required Notification of New, Cancelled, Nonrenewed, and Lapsed Motor Vehicle Insurance Coverages

Section 324.0221, F.S., requires insurers to report new, cancelled, or nonrenewed personal injury protection or property damage insurance coverages to DHSMV within 10 days. Prior to notifying the DHSMV, the insurer must provide the named insured, or the first-named insured in the case of a commercial fleet policy, with written notice the cancellation or nonrenewal will be reported to the DHSMV. The notice must also inform the named insured that failure to maintain personal injury protection and property damage insurance coverages on a motor vehicle when required by law may result in the loss of registration and driving privileges in Florida and inform the named insured of the amount of any reinstatement fees.

Service Contracts with Automatic Renewal Provisions

Florida law governs the automatic renewal provisions of service contracts such that a service contract may automatically renew at the end of its term without any additional action required by either party under certain circumstances.

If the automatic renewal provision renews a service contract for more than one month and caused the service contract to be in effect for more than six months after the service contract was executed, the seller must clearly and conspicuously disclose the automatic renewal provision to the consumer. Renewal is effective unless the consumer does not give notice to the seller of intent to terminate the service contract.[4] However, in the case of a service contract with a term of 12 months that automatically renews for more than one month, the seller must provide written or electronic notification to consumers no more than 60 and no less than 30 days prior to the cancellation deadline pursuant to the automatic renewal provision.[5]

Violations of the disclosure and notice requirements void an automatic renewal provision, rendering it unenforceable,[6] unless the seller demonstrates:

- It has established and implemented written procedures to comply with, and enforce, the requirements as part of their routine business practice;
- The failure to comply was the result of error; and
- It has provided, as part of its routine business practice, a refund or credit for the unearned portion of the renewed contract, starting from the date the seller is notified of the error. [7]

The Department of Financial Services

The Department of Financial Services (DFS) is statutorily responsible for:

- Carrying out the state's accounting and auditing functions, including preparing the state's Comprehensive Annual Financial Report; monitoring state contracts; and making payment for state expenditures;
- Implementing state fire prevention and control measures, including the investigation of arson and other suspicious fires; training and certification of firefighter candidates; and regulation of explosive storage and use;
- Operating the state's risk management program and securing insurance and reinsurance for covered state liabilities;
- Managing the state Treasury and directing safekeeping and the investment of all state funds;
- Managing the deferred compensation program for state employees;
- Investigating fraud, including insurance fraud, public assistance fraud, and false claims against the state;
- Regulating cemeteries and funeral homes;
- Licensing and oversight of insurance agents and agencies;
- Ensuring Florida employers provide workers' compensation coverage for their employees in a cost effective manner;
- Assisting consumers in the resolution of issues pertaining to insurance and funeral services; and
- Collecting and returning unclaimed property belonging to Florida residents.[14]

The DFS is composed of the following divisions and offices:

- Accounting and Auditing;
- Administration;
- Consumer Services;
- Funeral, Cemetery, and Consumer Services;
- Insurance Agent and Agency Services;
- Insurance Consumer Advocate;
- Investigative and Forensic Services;
- Public Assistance Fraud;
- Rehabilitation and Liquidation;
- Risk Management;
- State Fire Marshal;
- Treasury;
- Unclaimed Property; and

[12] Pursuant to s. 366.02(2), F.S., any municipal electric utility, investor-owner electric utility, or rural electric cooperative which owns, maintains, or operates an electric generation, transmission, or distribution system within the state.
[13] Pursuant to s. 180.05, F.S., any company or corporation duly authorized under the laws of the state to construct or operate water works systems, sewerage systems, sewage treatment works, garbage collection, and garbage disposal plants.

- Workers' Compensation.[15]

The DFS Division of Investigative and Forensic Services

The Division of Investigative and Forensic Services (DIFS) houses all law enforcement and forensic components residing within the DFS. The DIFS has broad authority to investigate a wide range of fraudulent and criminal acts within and outside the state including, but not limited to, insurance fraud; workers' compensation fraud investigations; fire, arson, and explosives investigations; and fire and explosive sample analysis.[16] The DIFS also refers any records tending to show criminal violations to state or federal law enforcement or prosecutorial agencies, and provides investigative to those agencies as required, when the DIFS believes that a criminal law of the state has been violated.[17]

The DFIS is composed of the following bureaus and offices:
- Forensic Services;
- Fire, Arson, and Explosives Investigations;
- Fiscal Integrity;
- Insurance Fraud; and
- Workers' Compensation Fraud.[18]

The DFS Division of State Fire Marshal

The Division of State Fire Marshal (State Fire Marshal) works to reduce the loss of life and property to fire and other disasters statewide through internal and external leadership, standards and training, and prevention and education. The State Fire Marshal has the expressed authority to enforce all laws and adopted rules related to:
- The prevention of fire and explosion through the regulation of conditions which could cause fire or explosion, the spread of fire, and panic resulting therefrom;
- Installation and maintenance of fire alarm systems and fire protection systems, including fire suppression systems, fire-extinguishing equipment, and fire sprinkler systems;
- Servicing, repairing, recharging, testing, marking, inspecting, installing, maintaining, and tagging of fire extinguishers, preengineered systems, and individually designed fire protection systems;
- The training and licensing of persons engaged in the business of servicing, repairing, recharging, testing, marking, inspecting, installing, maintaining, and tagging of fire extinguishers, preengineered systems, and individually designed fire protection systems;
- The maintenance of fire cause and loss records; and
- Suppression of arson and the investigation of the cause, origin, and circumstances of fire.[19]

The State Fire Marshal is composed of the Bureau of Fire Prevention and the Bureau of Fire Standards and Training.[20]

Authority of the DFS to Compel Production of Records Related to Insurance Fraud and Arson Investigations

Under s. 633.126, F.S., the State Fire Marshal and DIFS investigators may request any insurance company or its agent, adjuster, employee, or attorney, investigating a claim under an insurance policy or contract with respect to a fire or explosion to release any information whatsoever in the possession of the insurance company or its agent, adjuster, employee, or attorney relative to a loss from that fire or explosion. A person who willfully refuses to release any information requested by a State Fire Marshal or DISF investigator commits a first degree misdemeanor.[21]

Regulation of Insurance Adjusters

Florida law requires all insurance adjusters to be licensed by the DFS and appointed by the appropriate entity or person[22] in order to adjust claims. General requirements for licensure include submitting an application; paying required fees; satisfying pre-licensing examination requirements, when applicable; complying with requirements as to knowledge, experience, or instruction; and submitting fingerprints.[23]

Under s. 626.864, F.S., there are both public adjusters and all-lines adjuster license types, with all-lines appointments further divided into independent adjusters,[24] company employee adjusters,[25] and public adjuster apprentices.[26] The same adjuster may not be concurrently licensed as a public adjuster and an all-lines adjuster.[27] In the case of an all-lines adjuster, the adjuster may be appointed as an independent adjuster, company employee adjuster, or public adjuster apprentice, but not more than one concurrently.[28]

A public adjuster is any person, other than a licensed attorney, who, for compensation, prepares, completes, or files an insurance claim form for an insured or third-party claimant in negotiating or settling an insurance claim on behalf of an insured or third party.[29] Public adjusters operate independently and are not affiliated with any insurer.

An all-lines adjuster is any person who, for compensation, ascertains and determines the amount of any claim, loss, or damage payable under an insurance contract or settles such claim, loss, or damage on behalf of a public adjuster or insurer.[30]

[21] Section 633.126(9), F.S.
[22] See s. 626.015(4), F.S., defining "appointment" as the authority given by an insurer or employer to a licensee to adjust claims on behalf of an insurer or employer.

[28] Section 626.864(3), F.S.
[29] Section 626.854(1), F.S.
[30] Section 626.8548, F.S.

An independent adjuster is any person who is self-employed or employed by an independent adjusting firm and who works for an insurer to ascertain and determine the amount of an insurance claim, loss, or damage, or to settle an insurance claim under an insurance contract.[31]

A company employee adjuster is any person employed in-house by an insurer, or a wholly owned subsidiary of the insurer, who ascertains and determines the amount of an insurance claim, loss, or damage, or settles such claim, loss or damage.[32]

Discretion of the DFS to Act against Licensees

Section 626.621, F.S., grants the DFS discretion, under certain circumstances, to deny applications for, revoke, or refuse to renew, the licenses or appointments of agents, adjusters, customer representatives, service representatives, and managing general agents. Examples of circumstances that can lead to such agency action include violation of the Florida Insurance Code, violation of lawful orders or rules of the DFS, and engaging in unfair and deceptive trade practices.[33]

Discretion of the DFS to Act against Public Adjusters

Section 626.854, F.S., grants the DFS discretion to discipline public adjusters who engage in certain prohibited acts. In addition to denying, suspending, or revoking a license, the DFS may subject public adjusters, public adjuster apprentices, and other persons not otherwise exempt from licensure, to a fine not exceed $10,000 per prohibited act. Examples of prohibited acts under s. 626.854, F.S., include unfair and deceptive insurance trade practices or offering inducements in exchange for inspecting a residential property owner's roof or making an insurance claim for damage to a residential property owner's roof.

Motor Service Agreement Company Advertisements

Motor vehicle service agreements provide vehicle owners with protection when the manufacturer's warranty expires. A motor vehicle service agreement indemnifies the vehicle owner (or holder of the agreement) against loss caused by failure of any mechanical or other component part, or any mechanical or other component part that does not function as it was originally intended.[34] Motor vehicle service agreements can only be sold by a licensed and appointed salesperson.[35] Salespersons are licensed in the same manner as insurance representatives under ch. 626, F.S., with some exceptions to the requirements applied to insurance representatives.[36]

It is a second degree misdemeanor for a motor vehicle service agreement company or salesperson to issue or cause to be issued an advertisement that:

- Does not fully disclose in boldfaced type the name, address, and license number of the service agreement company;

[31] Section 626.855, F.S.
[32] Section 626.856, F.S.
[33] Chapters 624-632, 634, 635, 636, 641, 642, 648, and 651 constitute the "Florida Insurance Code."
[34] Section 634.011(8), F.S.
[35] Section 634.031, F.S.
[36] Section 634.171, F.S.

- In any respect is in violation of or does not comply with the Motor Vehicle Service Agreement Companies law, applicable provision of the Florida Insurance Code, or applicable rule of the Financial Services Commission;
- Is ambiguous, misleading, or deceptive; or
- Is false, deceptive, or misleading with respect to:
  - The service agreement company's affiliation with a motor vehicle manufacturer;
  - The service agreement company's possession of information regarding a motor vehicle owner's current motor vehicle manufacturer's original equipment warranty;
  - The expiration of a motor vehicle owner's current motor vehicle manufacturer's original equipment warranty; or
  - Any requirement that the motor vehicle owner register for a new motor vehicle service agreement with the company in order to maintain coverage under the current motor vehicle service agreement or manufacturer's original equipment warranty. [37]

The DFS also has the enforcement authority to deny, suspend, revoke, or refuse to renew or continue the appointment or license of any motor vehicle service agreement company or salesperson that violates these advertising disclosure requirements.[38]

Time Limitations for Prosecuting Workers' Compensation Fraud and False and Fraudulent Insurance Claims

Under s. 775.15(11), F.S., a prosecution for workers' compensation fraud under s. 440.105, F.S., and false and fraudulent insurance claims under s. 817.234, F.S., must be commenced within five years after the violation is committed. There is general confusion as to whether the intent of the subsection is to tie the two violations together under a single prosecution within the five-year time limitation, or whether violations under either statute may be prosecuted separately within the five-year time limitation.

Attorney Fees for False and Fraudulent Insurance Claims

Under current law, an insurer damaged as a result of a false or fraudulent insurance claim can bring a cause of action to recover compensatory damages plus all reasonable investigation and litigation expenses, including attorneys' fees, at the trial and appellate courts, after there has been a criminal adjudication of guilt.[39]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 creates s. 324.252, F.S., related to electronic insurance verification, to require the electronic credentialing system administered by the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles (DHSMV) to display driver vehicle registration and insurance information, provide the driver with notification on any lapse in insurance coverages, and allow the driver to update his or her policy information via the electronic credentialing system.

[37] Section 634.095(3), F.S.
[38] Section 634.095, F.S.
[39] Section 817.234, F.S.

The bill requires the DHSMV to provide recommendations on the means by which the DHSMV, law enforcement agencies, and other entities authorized by the DHSMV may electronically verify a driver's compliance with ch. 324, F.S., the Financial Responsibility Law of 1955.

Section 2 amends s. 501.165, F.S., related to automatic renewals of service contracts, to require a service contract seller to allow a consumer to cancel a service contract with an automatic renewal provision in the same manner, and by the same means, as the service contract was executed.

Section 3 amends s. 626.854(22), F.S., related to prohibited acts by public adjusters, to subject public adjusters, public adjuster apprentices, and other persons not otherwise exempt from licensure, to a fine not to exceed $20,000 per act for a violation of prohibited acts under the subsection during a state of emergency declared either by executive order or proclamation of the Governor.

Section 4 amends s. 633.126, F.S., related to investigations of fraudulent insurance claims and crimes with respect to a fire or explosion, to authorize the DFS to impose an administrative fine of not more than $2,000 per day on an insurer that fails or otherwise refuses to comply with this section.

The bill grants the Division of Investigative and Forensic Services (DIFS) rulemaking authority to administer this section, provided any rules may not enlarge upon or extend the provisions of this section, identify specific factors that determine the grade of penalty, and specify mitigating and aggravating factors for any violation.

Section 5 amends s. 634.095, F.S., related to prohibited acts by motor vehicle service agreement companies, to require a written advertisement fully disclose in at least 12-point, boldface font, the name, address, and Florida Company Code of the motor vehicle service agreement company.

The bill clarifies a written advertisement does not include material prepared and presented to a consumer at the point of sale of the product to be covered by warranty or service agreement.

The bill requires a radio or television advertisement to fully disclose the full legal name of the licensed salesperson or the motor vehicle agreement company.

The bill also requires a telephone solicitation fully identify the soliciting licensed salesperson's full legal names and license number at the beginning of the telephone solicitation, and the salesperson's telephone number when the telephone solicitation ends. The telephone number may be the number on file with the DFS or the number at which the salesperson may be contacted.

Under s. 634.095, F.S., any service agreement company or salesperson that engages in violations of this act is, in addition to any applicable denial, suspension, revocation, or refusal to renew or continue any appointment or license, guilty of a second degree misdemeanor, punishable as provided in s. 775.082, F.S., or s. 775.083, F.S.

This section is effective March 1, 2023.

Section 6 amends s. 775.15, F.S., related to time limitations for prosecuting criminal offenses, to provide a technical change allowing separate prosecutions of violations of s. 440.105, F.S., or s. 817.234, F.S., within five years of a violation of either section.

Section 7 amends s. 817.234, F.S., related to false and fraudulent insurance claims, to provide an insurer damaged as a result of insurance fraud may recover reasonable investigation and litigation expense, including attorney fees, at the trial and appellate court, if the insurer had reported the possible fraudulent insurance act to DIFS and the possible fraudulent insurance act was criminally adjudicated as guilty.

Section 8 transfers by nonoperating budget authority, the nonrecurring sum of $1,413,270 for Fiscal Year 2022-2023 from the DFS' Insurance Regulatory Trust Fund to the DHSMV's Highway Safety Operating Trust Fund for implementation of the electronic automobile insurance credentialing provisions of s. 324.252, F.S.

Section 9 provides the nonrecurring sum of $1,413,270 from the DHSMV's Highway Safety Operating Trust Fund is appropriated to the DHSMV's Information Systems Administration for implementation of the electronic automobile credentialing system.

Section 10 provides that except as otherwise expressly provided for in this act, this act is effective upon becoming a law.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

Section 7 of the bill allows insurers to recover reasonable investigation and litigation expenses, including attorney fees, at the trial and appellate courts, due to criminal adjudication of guilt related to fraudulent insurance claims. Recovery of such expenses is reliant upon the insurer reporting possible false and fraudulent claims to the Division of Investigative and Forensic Services

C. Government Sector Impact:

Section 3 of the bill adds a cap on fines of $20,000 for unlicensed activity during a state of emergency. The Department of Financial Services (DFS) has indicated should there be unlicensed activity, this change could create a minimal impact to revenues.

In addition, Section 4 of the bill gives the DFS authority to assess an administrative fine up to $2,000 per day against insurers who do not comply with reporting requirements. The DFS does not anticipate a significant fiscal impact from this change.

The Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles (DHSMV estimates the bill has a nonrecurring cost of $1,413,270 for implementation and a recurring cost of $200,00 for annual system operations and maintenance.[40]

The bill directs the DFS to transfer, by non-operating budget authority, $1,413,270 in nonrecurring funds from the DFS' Insurance Regulatory Trust Fund to the DHSMV's Highway Safety Operating Trust Fund to implement s. 324.252, F.S.

In addition, the bill appropriates funds for implementation of the electronic insurance credentialing system by appropriating $1,413,270 in nonrecurring funds the DHSMV's Information Systems Administration budget entity for the purpose of implementing the electronic insurance credentialing system. The DHSMV has indicated the annual cost of system operation and maintenance can be absorbed within existing resources.[41]

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Section 324.252, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

324.252 Electronic insurance verification.—

(1) In order to empower drivers in this state and reduce the incidence of automobile insurance fraud within this state, by July 1, 2023, the electronic credentialing system, as defined in s. 322.032(1), must display driver vehicle registration and insurance information, provide a driver with notification of any lapse in his or her insurance coverage needed for compliance with the financial responsibility requirements of this chapter, and allow the driver to update his or her policy information via the system.

(2) By October 1, 2023, the department shall provide the Legislature with recommendations on the means by which the department, law enforcement agencies, and other entities authorized by the department may electronically verify a driver's compliance with the financial responsibility requirements of this chapter.

Section 2. Subsection (2) of section 501.165, Florida

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

Statutes, is amended to read:

501.165 Automatic renewal of service contracts.—

(2) SERVICE CONTRACTS WITH AUTOMATIC RENEWAL PROVISIONS.—

(a) A ~~Any~~ seller that sells, leases, or offers to sell or lease any service to a consumer pursuant to a service contract that has an automatic renewal provision, unless the consumer cancels that contract, shall disclose the automatic renewal provision clearly and conspicuously in the contract or contract offer.

(b) A ~~Any~~ seller that sells or offers to sell any service to a consumer pursuant to a service contract the term of which is a specified period of 12 months or more and that automatically renews for a specified period of more than 1 month, unless the consumer cancels the contract, shall provide the consumer with written or electronic notification of the automatic renewal provision. Notification shall be provided to the consumer no less than 30 days or no more than 60 days before the cancellation deadline pursuant to the automatic renewal provision. Such notification shall disclose clearly and conspicuously:

1. That unless the consumer cancels the contract the contract will automatically renew.

2. Methods by which the consumer may obtain details of the automatic renewal provision and cancellation procedure, whether by contacting the seller at a specified telephone number or address, by referring to the contract, or by any other method.

(c) A seller that fails to comply with the requirements of this subsection violates ~~is in violation of~~ this subsection unless the seller demonstrates that:

1. As part of the seller's routine business practice, the seller has established and implemented written procedures to comply with this section and enforces compliance with the procedures;

2. Any failure to comply with this subsection is the result of error; and

3. As part of the seller's routine business practice, where an error has caused the failure to comply with this subsection, the unearned portion of the contract subject to the automatic renewal provision is refunded as of the date on which the seller is notified of the error.

(d) A seller shall allow a consumer to cancel a service contract that has an automatic renewal provision in the same manner, and by the same means, as the service contract was entered into.

(e) This subsection does not apply to:

1. A financial institution as defined in s. 655.005 or any depository institution as defined in 12 U.S.C. s. 1813(c)(2).

2. A foreign bank maintaining a branch or agency licensed under the laws of any state of the United States.

3. Any subsidiary or affiliate of an entity described in subparagraph 1. or subparagraph 2.

4. A health studio as defined in s. 501.0125.

5. Any entity licensed under chapter 624, chapter 627, chapter 634, chapter 636, or chapter 641.

6. Any electric utility as defined in s. 366.02.

7. Any private company as defined in s. 180.05 providing services described in chapter 180 which is competing against a governmental entity or has a governmental entity providing billing services on its behalf.

(f)~~(c)~~ A violation of this subsection renders the automatic renewal provision void and unenforceable.

Section 3. Paragraphs (b) and (c) of subsection (22) of section 626.854, Florida Statutes, are amended, and paragraph (a) of that subsection is republished, to read:

626.854 "Public adjuster" defined; prohibitions.—The Legislature finds that it is necessary for the protection of the public to regulate public insurance adjusters and to prevent the unauthorized practice of law.

(22)(a) Any following act by a public adjuster, a public adjuster apprentice, or a person acting on behalf of a public adjuster or public adjuster apprentice is prohibited and shall result in discipline as applicable under this part:

1. Offering to a residential property owner a rebate, gift, gift card, cash, coupon, waiver of any insurance deductible, or any other thing of value in exchange for:

a. Allowing a contractor, a public adjuster, a public adjuster apprentice, or a person acting on behalf of a public adjuster or public adjuster apprentice to conduct an inspection of the residential property owner's roof; or

b. Making an insurance claim for damage to the residential property owner's roof.

2. Offering, delivering, receiving, or accepting any compensation, inducement, or reward for the referral of any services for which property insurance proceeds would be used for roofing repairs or replacement.

(b) Notwithstanding the fine set forth in s. 626.8698, a public adjuster or public adjuster apprentice may be subject to a fine not to exceed $10,000 per act for a violation of this subsection and a fine not to exceed $20,000 per act for a violation of this subsection that occurs during a state of emergency declared by executive order or proclamation of the Governor pursuant to s. 252.36.

(c) A person who engages in an act prohibited by this subsection and who is not a public adjuster or a public adjuster apprentice, or is not otherwise exempt from licensure, is guilty of the unlicensed practice of public adjusting and may be:

1. Subject to all applicable penalties set forth in this part.

2. Notwithstanding subparagraph 1., subject to a fine not to exceed $10,000 per act for a violation of this subsection and a fine not to exceed $20,000 per act for a violation of this subsection that occurs during a state of emergency declared by executive order or proclamation of the Governor pursuant to s. 252.36.

Section 4. Present subsections (7), (8), and (9) of section 626.989, Florida Statutes, are redesignated as subsections (9), (10), and (11), respectively, new subsections (7) and (8) and subsection (12) are added to that section, and subsection (6) of that section is amended, to read:

626.989 Investigation by department or Division of Investigative and Forensic Services; compliance; immunity; confidential information; reports to division; division investigator's power of arrest.—

(6) Any person, other than an insurer, agent, or other person licensed under the code, or an employee thereof, having knowledge or who believes that a fraudulent insurance act or any other act or practice which, upon conviction, constitutes a felony or a misdemeanor under the code, or under s. 817.234, is being or has been committed may send to the Division of Investigative and Forensic Services a report or information pertinent to such knowledge or belief and such additional information relative thereto as the department may request. Any professional practitioner licensed or regulated by the Department of Business and Professional Regulation, except as otherwise provided by law, any medical review committee as defined in s. 766.101, any private medical review committee, and any insurer, agent, or other person licensed under the code, or an employee thereof, having knowledge or who believes that a fraudulent insurance act or any other act or practice which, upon conviction, constitutes a felony or a misdemeanor under the code, or under s. 817.234, is being or has been committed shall send to the Division of Investigative and Forensic Services a report or information pertinent to such knowledge or belief and such additional information relative thereto as the department may require.

(7) If an insurer fails or otherwise refuses to comply with this section, the department may impose an administrative fine of not more than $2,000 per day for such failure until the department deems the insurer to be in compliance.

(8) The Division of Investigative and Forensic Services shall review such information or reports and select such information or reports as, in its judgment, may require further investigation. It shall then cause an independent examination of the facts surrounding such information or report to be made to determine the extent, if any, to which a fraudulent insurance act or any other act or practice which, upon conviction, constitutes a felony or a misdemeanor under the code, or under s. 817.234, is being committed. The Division of Investigative and Forensic Services shall report any alleged violations of law which its investigations disclose to the appropriate licensing agency and state attorney or other prosecuting agency having jurisdiction with respect to any such violation, as provided in s. 624.310. If prosecution by the state attorney or other prosecuting agency having jurisdiction with respect to such violation is not begun within 60 days of the division's report, the state attorney or other prosecuting agency having jurisdiction with respect to such violation shall inform the division of the reasons for the lack of prosecution.

(12) The Division of Investigative and Forensic Services may adopt reasonable rules as are necessary to administer this section. Such rules must meet all of the following requirements:

(a) They may not enlarge upon or extend the provisions of this section.

(b) They must identify specific factors that determine the grades of penalty.

(c) They must specify mitigating and aggravating factors for a violation of this section.

Section 5. Subsection (9) of section 633.126, Florida Statutes, is amended, subsection (10) is added to that section, and subsection (2) of that section is republished, to read:

633.126 Investigation of fraudulent insurance claims and crimes; immunity of insurance companies supplying information.—

(2) If an insurance company has reason to suspect that a fire or explosion loss to its insured's real or personal property was caused by intentional means, the company shall notify the State Fire Marshal and shall furnish her or him with all material acquired by the company during its investigation. The State Fire Marshal may adopt rules to implement this subsection.

(9) If an insurance company fails or otherwise refuses to comply with this section, the department may impose an administrative fine of not more than $2,000 per day for such failure until the department deems the insurance company to be in compliance ~~A person who willfully violates this section commits a misdemeanor of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083~~.

(10) The Division of Investigative and Forensic Services may adopt reasonable rules as are necessary to administer this section. Such rules must meet all of the following requirements:

(a) They may not enlarge upon or extend the provisions of this section.

(b) They must identify specific factors that determine the grades of penalty.

(c) They must specify mitigating and aggravating factors for a violation of this section.

Section 6. Effective January 1, 2023, present paragraphs (b), (c), and (d) of subsection (3) of section 634.095, Florida Statutes, are redesignated as paragraphs (d), (e), and (f), respectively, new paragraphs (b) and (c) are added to that subsection, and paragraph (a) of that subsection is amended, to read:

634.095 Prohibited acts.—Any service agreement company or salesperson that engages in one or more of the following acts is, in addition to any applicable denial, suspension, revocation, or refusal to renew or continue any appointment or license, guilty of a misdemeanor of the second degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083:

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

(3) Issuing or causing to be issued any advertisement that ~~which~~:

(a) Does not fully disclose in a written advertisement, in at least 12-point, boldface ~~boldfaced~~ type, the name, address, and Florida Company Code ~~license number~~ of the service agreement company.

(b) Does not fully disclose in a radio or television advertisement the full legal name of the licensed salesperson or the service agreement company.

(c) Does not fully identify the soliciting licensed salesperson's full legal name and license number when the salesperson begins, and the soliciting salesperson's telephone number when the salesperson concludes, each outbound telephone solicitation. For the purposes of this paragraph, the actual telephone number of the salesperson may be the number on file with the department or the number at which the salesperson may be contacted.

Section 7. Subsection (11) of section 775.15, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

775.15 Time limitations; general time limitations; exceptions.—

(11) A prosecution for a felony violation of s. 440.105 or s. 817.234 ~~ss. 440.105 and 817.234~~ must be commenced within 5 years after the violation is committed.

Section 8. Subsection (5) of section 817.234, Florida

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

Statutes, is amended to read:

817.234 False and fraudulent insurance claims.—

(5)(a) Any insurer damaged as a result of a violation of any provision of this section when there has been a criminal adjudication of guilt shall have a cause of action to recover compensatory damages, plus all reasonable investigation and litigation expenses, including attorney ~~attorneys'~~ fees, at the trial and appellate courts.

(b) If an insurer damaged as a result of a violation of any provision of this section has reported the possible fraudulent insurance act to the Division of Investigative and Forensic Services pursuant to s. 626.9891 and if there has been a criminal adjudication of guilt, the insurer is entitled to recover reasonable investigation and litigation expenses, including attorney fees, at the trial and appellate courts.

Section 9. Except as otherwise expressly provided in this act, this act shall take effect upon becoming a law.

Anita,

I've attached the estimate costs for the insurance portion of the mobile DL. We estimate a non-recurring cost of $1.4 million and a recurring cost of $200K. As we spoke about earlier, if DFS can pick up the non-recurring portion, Highway Safety could pick up the recurring cost in our contracted services category for ISA. We would just need the budget authority to do so.

Let us know if you have any questions.

Thanks!

DFS Portion

Total Non Recurring Cost	$1,413,270

HSOTF Portion

Total Recurring Cost	$200,000

Current recurring cost is an estimate for increase in maintenance fees plus recurring messaging costs
We would use contracted services for the Highway Safety Recurring portion.

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations

BILL:	CS/CS/SB 1302

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 1302 amends section 943.0595, Florida Statutes, to expand provisions relating to the eligibility of automatic sealing of criminal history records by providing that the court must seal criminal history records that are eligible for automatic sealing. Currently, the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE) is the only entity required to automatically seal certain criminal history records under this section.

Additionally, the bill expands the process and effect of automatic sealing by directing the clerk of court, upon the disposition of a criminal case resulting in a criminal history record eligible for automatic sealing, to seal the criminal history record. Currently, the clerk of court transmits certified copies of such dispositions to the FDLE, and the FDLE seals the criminal history record.

The bill provides that the court may disclose a record it has automatically sealed in the same manner as a record sealed pursuant to section 943.059, Florida Statutes, relating to court ordered sealing.

The bill may have an indeterminate negative fiscal impact on the clerks of court and the courts. See Section V. Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2022.

II. Present Situation:

Sealing of Criminal History Records

A criminal history record is any nonjudicial record maintained by a criminal justice agency[1] containing criminal history information.[2] Criminal history information is information collected by criminal justice agencies on persons, which consists of identifiable descriptions and notations of arrests, detentions, indictments, information, or other formal criminal charges and disposition thereof. [3]

A criminal history record of an adult is generally a public record unless sealed or expunged.[4] The "sealing of a criminal history record" means the preservation of a record under such circumstances that it is secure and inaccessible to any person not having a legal right of access to the record or the information contained and preserved therein.[5]

Automatic Sealing of Criminal History Record

The FDLE must automatically seal a criminal history record that does not result from an indictment, information, or other charging document for a forcible felony[6] or for other specified offenses,[7] if:

- An indictment, information, or other charging document was not filed or issued in the case giving rise to the criminal history record;
- An indictment, information, or other charging document was filed in the case giving rise to the criminal history record, but was dismissed or nolle prosequi by the state attorney or statewide prosecutor or was dismissed by a court of competent jurisdiction;[8]
- A not guilty verdict was rendered by a judge or jury;[9] or

---

[1] Section 943.045(11), F.S., provides that "criminal justice agency" means: a court; the FDLE; the Department of Juvenile Justice; the protective investigations component of the Department of Children and Families, which investigates the crimes of abuse and neglect; any other governmental agency or subunit thereof that performs the administration of criminal justice pursuant to a statute or rule of court and that allocates a substantial part of its annual budget to the administration of criminal justice; or the investigations component of the Department of Financial Services which investigates the crimes of fraud and official misconduct in all public assistance given to residents of this state or provided to others by this state.
[2] Section 943.045(6), F.S.
[3] Section 943.045(5), F.S. The term does not include identification information, such as biometric records, if the information does not indicate involvement of the person in the criminal justice system.
[4] Section 943.045(16), F.S. The "expunction of a criminal history record" means the court-ordered physical destruction or obliteration of a record or portion of a record by any criminal justice agency having custody thereof, or as prescribed by the court issuing the order. Criminal history records in the custody of the department must be retained in all cases for purposes of evaluating subsequent requests by the subject of the record for sealing or expunction, or for purposes of recreating the record in the event an order to expunge is vacated by a court of competent jurisdiction
[5] Section 943.045(19), F.S.
[6] Section 776.08, F.S., provides that a "forcible felony" means treason; murder; manslaughter; sexual battery; carjacking; home-invasion robbery; robbery; burglary; arson; kidnapping; aggravated assault; aggravated battery; aggravated stalking; aircraft piracy; unlawful throwing, placing, or discharging of a destructive device or bomb; and any other felony which involves the use or threat of physical force or violence against any individual.
[7] Specified offenses include certain sexual offenses provided in s. 943.0435(1)(h)1.a.(I), F.S.
[8] Section 943.0595(2)(a)2., F.S., provides a person is not eligible for automatic sealing if the dismissal was pursuant to ss. 916.145 or 985.19, F.S., relating to adjudication of incompetency to proceed.
[9] Section 943.059(2)(a)3., F.S., provides a person is not eligible for automatic sealing under this section if the defendant was found not guilty by reason of insanity.

- A judgment of acquittal was rendered by a judge.[10]

There is no limitation on the number of times a person may obtain an automatic sealing for an eligible criminal history record.[11] The clerk of court must transmit a certified copy of the disposition of the criminal history record to the FDLE, which must seal the record. The automatic sealing of such records does not require sealing by the court or other criminal justice agencies, or that such record be surrendered to the court, and such record must continue to be maintained by the department and other criminal justice agencies.[12]

Records automatically sealed by the FDLE have the same effect, and the department may disclose such record in the same manner as a record ordered sealed by the court under s. 943.059, F.S.[13]

Court Ordered Sealing

A person seeking the court ordered sealing of a record must first obtain a certificate of eligibility from the FDLE, and file a petition with the court for an order to seal his or her criminal history record.[14] The FDLE must issue a certificate of eligibility if the person meets the statutory eligibility requirements,[15] submits a certified copy of the disposition of charge to which the petition pertains, and remits a $75 processing fee to the FDLE.[16]

The court, at its sole discretion, may deny a petition to seal a criminal history record.[17] If the court grants the petition, the clerk of court must certify copies of the order to the appropriate state attorney, statewide prosecutor and arresting agency, and any other agency that the records of the court reflect has received the criminal history record from the court.[18]

A criminal history record that is ordered sealed, is confidential and exempt from Florida's public records laws.[19] The following persons and entities may access a sealed criminal history record:

- The subject of the record;
- His or her attorney;

[10] Section 943.0595(2), F.S.
[11] Section 943.0595(2)(b), F.S.
[12] Section 943.0595(3), F.S.
[13] Section 943.0595(3)(c), F.S.
[14] Section 943.059, F.S.
[15] Section 943.059(1), F.S., provides that a person is eligible to petition a court to seal a criminal history record when: The criminal history record is not ineligible for court-ordered sealing under s. 943.0584, F.S; the person has never, before the date the application for a certificate of eligibility is filed, been adjudicated guilty in this state of a criminal offense or been adjudicated delinquent in this state for committing any felony or any of the specified misdemeanor offenses, unless the record of such adjudication for delinquency has been expunged pursuant to s. 943.0515, F.S.; the person has not been adjudicated guilty or delinquent for committing any of the acts stemming from the arrest or alleged criminal activity to which the petition to seal pertains; the person is no longer under court supervision for the arrest or alleged criminal activity to which the petition to seal pertains; or the person has never secured a prior sealing or expunction of a criminal history record under ss. 943.059 or 943.0585, F.S.
[16] Section 943.059(2), F.S.
[17] Section 943.059(5), F.S.
[18] Section 943.059(5), F.S. The arresting agency is responsible for forwarding the order to any other agency to which the arresting agency disseminated the criminal history record information. The FDLE must forward the order to seal to the Federal Bureau of investigation.
[19] Sections 943.059(6) and 119.07(1), F.S.; Art. I, s. 24(a), Fla. Const.

- Criminal justice agencies for criminal justice purposes, which include conducting a criminal history background check for approval of firearms purchases or transfers;
- Judges in the state courts system for assisting in their case-related decision-making responsibilities; and
- Certain enumerated entities[20] for licensing, access authorization, and employment purposes.[21]

If a criminal history record is sealed, the subject of the record may lawfully deny or fail to acknowledge the arrests covered by the sealed record, with exceptions for certain state employment positions, professional licensing purposes, purchasing a firearm, applying for a concealed weapons permit, seeking expunction, or if the subject is a defendant in a criminal prosecution.[22]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill amends s. 943.0595, F.S., to expand provisions relating to the eligibility of automatic sealing of criminal history records by providing that the court must seal criminal history records eligible for automatic sealing.

Additionally, the bill expands the process and effect of automatic sealing by directing the clerk of court, upon the disposition of a criminal case resulting in a criminal history record eligible for automatic sealing, to seal the criminal history record.

The bill provides that the court may disclose a record it has automatically sealed in the same manner, as a record sealed pursuant to s. 943.059, F.S., relating to court ordered sealing.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2022.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

[20] Enumerated entities include criminal justice agencies, The Florida Bar, Department of Children and Families, the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation within the Department of Education, the Agency for Health Care Administration, the Agency for Persons with Disabilities, the Department of Health, the Department of Elderly Affairs, Department of Juvenile Justice, the Department of Education, a district school board, a university laboratory school, a charter school, a private or parochial school, a local governmental entity that licenses child care facilities, the Division of Insurance Agent and Agency Services within the Department of Financial Services, and the Bureau of License Issuance of the Division of Licensing within the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services.
[21] Section 943.059(6), F.S.
[22] Id.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

None.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill may have an indeterminate negative fiscal impact on the clerks of court and the courts. The bill may result in an increased workload to the clerks of court by directing them, upon the disposition of a criminal case resulting in a criminal history record eligible for automatic sealing, to seal the criminal history record. The bill may also result in an increased workload to the courts by requiring that they must seal criminal history records eligible for automatic sealing.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

The bill directs the court and the clerk of court to automatically seal a criminal history record eligible for automatic sealing under s. 943.0595, F.S. The Supreme Court of Florida has held that legislation directing the court to expunge judicial records was unconstitutional, and stated that "the judicial department of government has the inherent power and duty to keep records of its proceedings." Johnson v. State, 336 So. 2d 93 (1976). The definition of "criminal history record," is clear that it is a nonjudicial record. It is unclear what nonjudicial record the court, or clerk of court as extension of the court, may have in its possession.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends section 943.0595 of the Florida Statutes.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS/CS by Appropriations on February 28, 2022:
The committee substitute:

- Removes language related to general licensing and court ordered sealing.
- Amends sections relating to automatic sealing of a criminal history record to specify that the court and clerk of court must automatically seal a criminal history record that is eligible for automatic sealing.

CS by Regulated Industries on January 18, 2022:
The committee substitute:

- Extends the requirements in the bill to license applications submitted to the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR). The effect of the bill is limited to boards within the DBPR. Some professions are licensed by DBPR and not boards.
- Clarifies that the DBPR or its boards or agents may not use, distribute, or disseminate the specified criminal history information by removing an incorrect reference to "political subdivisions."
- Expands the license review process in the bill to include all of an applicant's criminal history that is not exempted by the bill. The bill limited the review process to applicants with a felony criminal history.
- Removes from the bill the requirement that the DBPR or board, when it denies a license application solely or in part on the basis of the applicant's prior criminal record, give the applicant written notice of the applicant's eligibility for other licenses or professions and the earliest date the applicant may reapply for a license.

B. Amendments:

None.

The Committee on Appropriations (Burgess) recommended the following:

Senate Amendment (with title amendment)

Delete everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. Subsections (2) and (3) of section 943.0595, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

943.0595 Automatic sealing of criminal history records.—

(2) ELIGIBILITY.—

(a) The department and a court shall automatically seal a criminal history record that does not result from an indictment, information, or other charging document for a forcible felony as defined in s. 776.08 or for an offense enumerated in s. 943.0435(1)(h)1.a.(I), if:

761772

1. An indictment, information, or other charging document was not filed or issued in the case giving rise to the criminal history record.

2. An indictment, information, or other charging document was filed in the case giving rise to the criminal history record, but was dismissed or nolle prosequi by the state attorney or statewide prosecutor or was dismissed by a court of competent jurisdiction. However, a person is not eligible for automatic sealing under this section if the dismissal was pursuant to s. 916.145 or s. 985.19.

3. A not guilty verdict was rendered by a judge or jury. However, a person is not eligible for automatic sealing under this section if the defendant was found not guilty by reason of insanity.

4. A judgment of acquittal was rendered by a judge.

(b) There is no limitation on the number of times a person may obtain an automatic sealing for a criminal history record described in paragraph (a).

(3) PROCESS FOR AND EFFECT OF AUTOMATIC SEALING.—

(a) Upon the disposition of a criminal case resulting in a criminal history record eligible for automatic sealing under paragraph (2)(a), the clerk of the court shall seal the criminal history record and shall transmit a certified copy of the disposition of the criminal history record to the department, which shall seal the criminal history record upon receipt of the certified copy.

(b) Automatic sealing of a criminal history record does not require sealing by ~~the court or other~~ criminal justice agencies, or that such record be surrendered to the court, and such record shall continue to be maintained by the department and other criminal justice agencies.

(c) Except as provided in this section, automatic sealing of a criminal history record shall have the same effect, and the department and a court may disclose such a record in the same manner, as a record sealed under s. 943.059.

Section 2. This act shall take effect July 1, 2022.

And the title is amended as follows:

Delete everything before the enacting clause and insert:

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to criminal history records; amending s. 943.0595, F.S.; requiring a court to automatically seal certain criminal history records that meet specified criteria; requiring the clerk of the court to seal certain criminal history records; conforming provisions to changes made by the act; providing an effective date.

By the Committee on Regulated Industries; and Senator Burgess

580-02079-22 20221302c1

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to criminal history information; amending s. 455.213, F.S.; prohibiting an applicable board, or the Department of Business and Professional Regulation if there is no such board, from inquiring into or considering the conviction history of an applicant for licensure until it is determined that the applicant is otherwise qualified; revising professions for licensure eligibility; removing a provision relating to licensure of other professions offered to certain inmates under certain circumstances; prohibiting the use of a conviction, or other adjudication, for a crime before the date an application is received as being grounds for denial of a license; authorizing an applicable board, or the department if there is no board, to consider an applicant's criminal history only if such criminal history directly relates to the practice of the applicable profession; prohibiting the use, distribution, and dissemination of specified criminal records; removing a provision authorizing an applicable board to consider an applicant's criminal history if the history has been found to relate to good moral character; prohibiting the applicable board, or the department if there is no board, from denying an application for licensure of a person based solely or in part on an applicant's criminal history; providing an exception; providing requirements for determining if such criminal history directly relates to the practice of the applicable profession; providing requirements if the applicable board, or the department if there is no board, intends to deny an application for license based solely or in part on the applicant's prior conviction; amending s. 943.059, F.S.; providing requirements for court-ordered sealing of certain records that were automatically sealed by the Department of Law Enforcement under specified provisions; providing an effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Present paragraphs (b) through (e) of subsection (3) of section 455.213, Florida Statutes, are redesignated as paragraphs (c) through (f), respectively, a new paragraph (b) and paragraph (g) are added to that subsection, and paragraph (a) and present paragraph (b) of that subsection are amended, to read:

455.213 General licensing provisions.—

(3)(a) Notwithstanding any other law, the applicable board, or the department if there is no board, shall use the process in this subsection for review of an applicant's criminal record to determine his or her eligibility for licensure.

(b) The applicable board, or the department if there is no board, may not inquire into or consider the conviction history of an applicant for licensure until the applicant is determined to be otherwise qualified for licensure. ~~as:~~

~~1. A barber under chapter 476;~~

~~2. A cosmetologist or cosmetology specialist under chapter~~

~~j. Underground utility and excavation contractor; or~~

~~k. Other specialty contractors; or~~

~~4. Any other profession for which the department issues a license, provided the profession is offered to inmates in any correctional institution or correctional facility as vocational training or through an industry certification program.~~

(c)1.~~(b)1.~~ A conviction, or any other adjudication, for a crime ~~more than 5 years~~ before the date the application is received by the applicable board, or the department if there is no board, may not be grounds for denial of a license ~~specified in paragraph (a)~~. For purposes of this subsection ~~paragraph~~, the term "conviction" means a determination of guilt that is the result of a plea or trial, regardless of whether adjudication is withheld. This subparagraph ~~paragraph~~ does not limit the applicable board, or the department if there is no board, from considering an applicant's criminal history that includes a crime listed in s. 775.21(4)(a)1. or s. 776.08 at any time, but only if such criminal history has been found to directly relate to the practice of the applicable profession.

2. Notwithstanding subparagraph 1., the following criminal history may not be used, distributed, or disseminated by the department or a board or its agents in connection with an application for licensure:

a. An arrest without a valid conviction.

b. Convictions that have been sealed, dismissed, or expunged.

c. Misdemeanor convictions without incarceration.

d. Noncriminal infractions.

(g) The applicable board, or the department if there is no board, may not deny an application for a license solely or in part on the basis of an applicant's criminal history unless the criminal history directly relates to the practice of the applicable profession for which the license is sought or held.

1. In determining if a criminal history directly relates to the practice of the applicable profession for which the license is sought or held, the applicable board, or the department if there is no board, shall consider:

a. The nature and seriousness of the conviction.

b. Whether the conviction directly relates to the practice of the applicable profession for which the license is sought or held.

c. Whether the duties and responsibilities of the profession provide the opportunity for the same or a similar offense to occur.

d. Whether circumstances leading to the offense for which the person was convicted will recur in the profession.

e. The age of the person at the time the offense was committed.

f. The length of time since the conviction.

g. All circumstances relative to the offense, including mitigating circumstances or social conditions surrounding the commission of the offense.

h. Evidence of mitigation or rehabilitation and the applicant's current ability to practice the profession competently in accordance with the actual practice of the profession.

2. If the applicable board, or the department if there is no board, intends to deny an application for a license solely or in part on the basis of the applicant's criminal history, it must notify the applicant in writing of its intent before making a final decision. Such notice must do all of the following:

a. Identify the reasons for the potential denial.

b. Provide a copy of any criminal history record.

c. Provide examples of evidence of mitigation or rehabilitation and the current ability to practice the profession competently in accordance with the actual practice of the profession, which the applicant may voluntarily provide.

(I) An applicant who has been convicted of an offense that directly relates to the practice of the applicable profession for which a license is sought may not be denied the license if he or she can show evidence of mitigation or rehabilitation and the current ability to practice the profession competently in accordance with the actual practice of the profession.

(II) The applicant shall have 10 business days after issuance of the notice to respond with any information, including challenging the accuracy of the information and submitting evidence of mitigation or rehabilitation and his or her current ability to practice the profession competently in accordance with the actual practice of the profession.

(III) Evidence of mitigation or rehabilitation and the applicant's current ability to practice the profession competently in accordance with the actual practice of the profession may be established by:

(A) Proof of compliance with the terms and conditions of probation or parole; or

(B) Other evidence, including, but not limited to, letters of reference or program or education certificates.

(IV) If an applicable board, or the department if there is no board, denies an application for a license solely or in part on the basis of the applicant's criminal history, it must notify the applicant in writing of all of the following:

(A) Final denial.

(B) Appeal process ~~The applicable board may consider the criminal history of an applicant for licensure under subparagraph (a)3. if such criminal history has been found to relate to good moral character~~.

Section 2. Present paragraph (b) of subsection (2) of section 943.059, Florida Statutes, is redesignated as paragraph (c), and paragraph (f) is added to subsection (1) and a new paragraph (b) is added to subsection (2) of that section, to read:

943.059 Court-ordered sealing of criminal history records.—

(1) ELIGIBILITY.—A person is eligible to petition a court to seal a criminal history record when:

(f) Notwithstanding paragraphs (b) and (e), if a criminal history record has been automatically sealed pursuant to s. 943.0595 and the subject of the sealed record presents a record of the sealing by the department described in paragraph (2)(b) to the court, the court shall grant the sealing of the criminal history record.

(2) CERTIFICATE OF ELIGIBILITY.—Before petitioning the court to seal a criminal history record, a person seeking to seal a criminal history record must apply to the department for a certificate of eligibility for sealing. The department shall adopt rules relating to the application for and issuance of certificates of eligibility for sealing.

(b) Notwithstanding paragraph (a), the department shall also issue a certificate of eligibility for sealing to a person who is the subject of a criminal history record that has been sealed by the department pursuant to s. 943.0595. This certificate must indicate that the record has been sealed by the department and is only valid for court-ordered sealing under paragraph (1)(f) of a record already sealed pursuant to s. 943.0595.

Section 3. This act shall take effect July 1, 2022.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 1382 makes various changes to statutes relating to the Department of Revenue (Department). The bill largely amends details related to the Department's rights and obligations before, during, and after an audit.

Regarding audits, the bill:

- Clarifies activities the Department may engage in during the 60-day waiting period between notifying the taxpayer of its intent to audit and beginning the audit;
- Excludes from evidence during litigation documents withheld during an audit;
- Provides that, in certain situations, the failure of a taxpayer to provide documents creates a presumption that the resulting proposed final agency action by the Department is correct;
- Expands the Department's authority to serve subpoenas in certain situations;
- Revises several situations when the time limit to complete an audit is tolled;
- Allows the Department to immediately suspend a dealer's resale certificate during audits relating to the sale of alcoholic beverages;
- Allows the Division of Alcoholic Beverages and Tobacco within the Department of Business and Professional Regulation to suspend or revoke a dealer's license if the dealer's resale certificate has been suspended;
- Allows the Department to reopen a final assessment for the purpose of adjusting liability under certain circumstances;

- Allows the Department to include all taxes, penalties, interest, costs, and fees authorized by law in a garnishment or levy; and
- Provides rulemaking and emergency rulemaking authority.

The bill also makes changes including clarifications, corrections, deletions of obsolete language, and cross-reference corrections.

The Revenue Estimating Conference has not determined the fiscal impact of the bill. Staff estimates that the bill will increase General Revenue Fund receipts by an indeterminate amount in Fiscal Years 2022-2023 through 2026-2027.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2022.

II. Present Situation:

The present situation for each issue is described below in Section III, Effect of Proposed Changes.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Sections 1 & 2 – Exclusion of Records in Litigation

Present Situation: Current law provides that a taxpayer may contest the legality of any assessment or denial of any refund of tax, fee, surcharge, permit, interest, or penalty under the Department of Revenue's (Department) purview by filing an action in circuit court, or alternatively, the taxpayer may file a petition under the applicable provisions of ch. 120, F.S.[1]

Taxpayers who do not provide records during an audit as required by law are subject to the Department issuing an estimated assessment. In litigation, some taxpayers will selectively provide records to challenge the estimated assessment even though the estimate was created because of the taxpayer's own willful non-compliance with records laws.[2]

Proposed Changes: The bill amends ss. 72.011(1)(c) and 120.80, F.S., to provide that a taxpayer may not submit records pertaining to an assessment or refund claim as evidence in any proceeding under s. 72.011, F.S., or any administrative proceeding under s. 120.80, F.S., if those records were available to, or required to be kept by, the taxpayer and were not timely provided to the Department when requested during the audit or protest period and before submission of a petition for hearing pursuant to ch. 120, F.S., or the filing of an action under s. 72.011(1)(a), F.S., unless the taxpayer demonstrates good cause for its failure to provide the records to the Department. The bill specifies that good cause may include, but is not limited to, circumstances when a taxpayer was unable to originally provide records under extraordinary circumstances.[3]

[1] Section 72.011(1), F.S.
[2] Department of Revenue, 2022 Agency Legislative Bill Analysis, SB 1382, available at http://abar.laspbs.state.fl.us/ABAR/Attachment.aspx?ID=33394 (last accessed Feb. 4, 2022).
[3] The term "extraordinary circumstances" means "the occurrence of events beyond the control of the taxpayer, such as, but not limited to, the death of the taxpayer, acts of war or terrorism, natural disasters, fire, or other casualty, or the nonfeasance or misfeasance of the taxpayer's employees or representatives responsible for compliance with s. 125.0104, s. 125.0108, or chapter 212." Section 213.21(10)(d)2., F.S.

Sections 3 & 9 – Pre-Audit Preparation

Present Situation: The Department is required to provide notification to a taxpayer of an audit at least 60 days before the audit begins.[4] This 60-day period gives the taxpayer time to gather and prepare records, meet with their accountant, or secure the assistance of a professional. Some practitioners have argued that the Department can have no contact with the taxpayer during this 60-day period, even to answer questions asked by the taxpayer. It has also been argued that the Department must refrain from reviewing its own records or records voluntarily provided by the taxpayer prior to the end of the 60-day period or preparing internally for the audit.[5]

Proposed Changes: The bill creates ss. 202.34(4)(f), and 212.13(5)(f), F.S., to clarify activities the Department may engage in during the 60-day period. The bill provides that the Department may:

- Confirm receipt of the notification of intent to audit;
- Answer any questions raised by the taxpayer or taxpayer representative;
- Confirm date and location of the audit;
- Confirm the way the taxpayer would like to provide records;
- Discuss the scope of the audit;
- Review records voluntarily provided by the taxpayer;
- Review records already in the Department's possession; and
- Review publicly available information.

If the taxpayer has not previously waived the 60-day period notice and believes the Department has commenced the audit before the 61st day, the taxpayer must object in writing to the Department before the issuance of an assessment or else the objection is waived. If the objection is not waived and it is determined the audit was commenced before the 61st day after the issuance of the notice of intent to audit, the 1-year tolling period[6] is considered lifted for the number of days equal to the difference between the date the audit commenced and the 61st day after the date of the Department's notice of intent to audit.

The bill provides that the Department may adopt rules to administer ss. 202.34 and 212.13, F.S.

Sections 4, 5, 7, 10, 11, 16, and 19 – Estimates, Delivery of Administrative Subpoenas, and Extension of Tolling

Present Situation: The Department has the statutory authority to issue an "administrative subpoena" to compel production of records and documents when taxpayers refuse to provide books and records, despite the legal requirement to do so.[7] However, this tool is rarely used because a court proceeding on the administrative subpoena will cause the Department to fail other statutory deadlines and may run out the statute of limitations on the audit assessment.

[5] Supra Note 2
[6] Section 213.345, F.S.
[7] Section 202.36(4), F.S.

Instead, the Department uses its authority to issue an estimated assessment which results in the use of additional resources for both the taxpayer and the Department in resolving disputed issues.[8]

Proposed Change: The bill amends ss. 202.36(4)(a), 206.14(4), 211.125(3)(b)3., 212.14(7)(a), and 220.735(4), F.S., to provide that the failure of a taxpayer to provide documents available to, or required to be kept by, the taxpayer and requested by a subpoena creates a rebuttable presumption that the resulting proposed final agency action by the Department, as to the requested documents, is correct and that the requested documents not produced by the taxpayer would be adverse to the taxpayer's position as to the proposed final agency action. The Department may make an assessment from an estimate based upon the best information available if a taxpayer fails to provide documents requested by a subpoena. The Department is required to inform the taxpayer of the reason for the estimate and certain related information. The information is considered prima facie correct, and the taxpayer has the burden of showing any error in it.

For purposes of ss. 202.36 and 212.14, F.S., the presumption and authority to create estimates are not triggered merely because a taxpayer or its representative requests a conference to negotiate the production of a sample of records demanded by a subpoena.

Present Situation: For the purpose of administering and enforcing the provisions of the revenue laws of this state, the Department's Executive Director, or any of his or her assistants designated in writing by the Executive Director, is authorized to serve subpoenas and subpoenas duces tecum issued by the state attorney relating to investigations concerning the taxes enumerated in s. 213.05, F.S.[9]

Proposed Change: Section 11 creates s. 213.051(2), F.S. to provide that in addition to the procedures for service prescribed by ch. 48, F.S., the department may serve subpoenas it issues pursuant to ss. 202.36, 206.14, 211.125, 212.14, and 220.735, F.S., upon any business registered with the Department at the address on file with the Department if it received correspondence from the business from that address within 30 days before issuance of the subpoena or if the address is listed with the Department of State Division of Corporations as a principal or business address. If a business' address is not in this state, service is made upon proof of delivery by certified or registered mail or under the notice provisions of s. 213.0537, F.S.

Present Situation: The statute of limitations for assessment and refund purposes is tolled for a period of 1 year if the Department has issued a notice of intent to conduct an audit or investigation of a taxpayer's account within the applicable period of time provided by s. 95.091(3) or 215.26(2), F.S.[10]

Proposed Changes: Section 16 amends s. 213.345, F.S., to provide that the 1-year period is tolled upon receipt of written objections to the subpoena and for the entire pendency of any action that seeks an order to enforce compliance with or to challenge any subpoena issued by the

[8] Supra Note 2
[9] Section 213.051, F.S.
[10] Section 213.345, F.S.

Department compelling the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of books, records, written materials, and electronically recorded information.

The bill further provides that if the Department issues a notice explaining its audit findings under s. 213.34(2)(a), F.S., based on an estimate because the taxpayer has failed or refuses to provide records, the audit will be deemed to have commenced for purposes of s. 213.345, F.S. In the event the Department issues an assessment beyond the tolling period, the assessment will be considered late and the assessment shall be reduced by the amount of those taxes, penalties, and interest for reporting periods outside of the limitations period, as modified by any other tolling or extension provisions.

Section 6 – Pollutants Tax Registration Fees

Present Situation: An entity must pay a $30 registration fee when requesting a pollutants tax license.[11] However, these registration fees were previously repealed.[12]

Proposed Change: Section 6 amends s. 206.9931, F.S., to remove obsolete language related to pollutants tax registration fees.

Section 8 – Affidavit for Non-Resident Purchasers of Boats and Aircrafts

Current Situation: Nonresident purchasers of boats and aircraft are required to sign an affidavit attesting that they have read the provisions of s. 212.05, F.S., in its entirety, in order to claim an exemption from sales tax. Section 212.05, F.S., is lengthy and includes many provisions that are not applicable to the purchaser of a boat or aircraft.

Proposed Changes: Section 8 amends s. 212.05(1)(a)2.d., F.S., by removing the requirement that a purchaser attests to having read statutory provisions and replacing that language with the requirement that the nonresident purchaser complete an affidavit that affirms that the nonresident purchaser qualifies for exemption from sales tax pursuant to s. 212.05(1)(a)2., F.S., and attesting that the nonresident purchaser will provide the documentation required to substantiate the exemption claimed under s. 212.05(1)(a)2., F.S.

Section 9 – Records related to Alcohol and Tobacco Dealers

Present Situation: Dealers must maintain records as required by the Department for the reasonable administration of ch. 212, F.S.[13] During sales tax audits by the Department, some dealers selling alcoholic beverages and tobacco advise Department auditors that they have no records as to purchases, sales, or tax collected for these regulated products. Florida tax and alcohol and beverage laws require dealers to maintain and produce certain records. Without records, the Department is unable to conduct the audit and must resort to estimating the dealer's compliance.[14]

[11] Section 206.9931, F.S.
[12] Chapter 2017-36, L.O.F.
[13] Section 212.13(2), F.S.
[14] Supra Note 2.

Proposed Changes: Section 9 creates s. 212.13(2)(b), F.S., which will allow the Department, during the course of an audit, to suspend a dealer's privilege to hold a resale certificate and purchase products tax exempt for resale when a dealer[15] asserts that they have no records or refuse to provide records related to their purchase and/or sale of alcoholic beverages and tobacco. The dealer would still be able to purchase non-alcohol and non-tobacco products and take a credit for taxes paid against sales tax collected and remitted on the resale of the products. The Department is required to notify the Division of Alcoholic Beverages and Tobacco within the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (Division) when a dealer's resale certificate is suspended and to publish a list of such dealers. The bill authorizes the Division to suspend a dealer's license if the dealer's resale certificate was suspended in the course of the dealer's first audit, or to revoke the dealer's license if the dealer's resale certificate was suspended and the audit was not the dealer's first audit before the Department. The bill requires the Division to lift a suspension of the license and the Department to lift a suspension of a resale certificate if the dealer takes certain actions. The bill requires the Division to include notice of such suspension in its license verification database or to provide a link to the Department's publish list from the Division's license verification page. A transferor is prohibited from accepting orders from and delivering alcoholic beverages to a dealer whose resale certificate has been suspended within 7 days after the date on which the dealer is added to the Department's published list, and a transferor who sells alcoholic beverages to such a dealer is not responsible for any tax, penalty, or interest due if the alcoholic beverages are delivered no more than 7 days after the date of publication of the suspension. The Department may adopt rules to implement s. 212.13(2)(b), F.S.

Section 12 – Confidentiality and Information Sharing

Present Situation: Taxpayer information received by the Department is generally confidential and exempt from public records requirements.[16] This confidential treatment and exemption from public records requirements extends to all information contained in returns, reports, accounts, declarations, investigative reports, and letters of technical advice.[17] The Department is authorized to make confidential information available as specified under Florida law.[18]

Proposed Changes: Section 12 creates s. 213.053(21), F.S., to require the Department to publish a list of dealers whose resale certificates have been suspended pursuant to s. 212.13(2)(b). The bill specifies information that must be contained in the list and requires the Department to update the list daily as needed. The Department is authorized to adopt rules to administer s. 213.053(21), F.S.

Section 13 – Rulemaking Authority and Emergency Rules

Present Situation: The Department has received at least one final order from the Division of Administrative Hearings (DOAH) holding that the Department may not rely on a general grant of rulemaking authority to adopt a rule implementing other specific revenue laws. The First District Court of Appeal has ruled inconsistently on this issue. It appears that a grant of rulemaking [15] "Dealer" means a dealer, as defined in s. 212.06, F.S., which is licensed under chapter 561.

[16] Section 213.053(2)(a), F.S.
[17] Id.
[18] See s. 213.053, F.S.

authority and a specific law to be implemented has been confused by some courts to require a grant of specific rulemaking authority.[19] Most revenue laws, especially those predating the administrative procedures act, do not contain specific rulemaking authority for each provision.

Current law provides emergency rulemaking authority for revenue laws effective less than 60 days after the end of the session in which the change enacted.[20] This provision fails to include many revenue laws, which typically have an October 1 effective date or changes with an "upon becoming law" effective date when the bill is not transferred to the Governor from the Legislature for a number of weeks or months, delaying the Department's ability to begin rulemaking.

Proposed Changes: Section 13 amends s. 213.06(2), F.S., to authorize the Executive Director of the Department to adopt emergency rules when the effective date of a legislative change occurs sooner than 120 days after the close of the Legislative Session in which enacted or after the Governor approves or fails to veto the legislative change, whichever is later, and the change affects a tax rate or a collection or reporting procedure which affects a substantial number of dealers or persons subject to the tax change or procedure.

Emergency rules adopted under s. 213.06(2), F.S., are exempt from s. 120.54(4)(c), F.S., remain in effect for 6 months or until replaced by rules adopted under the nonemergency rulemaking procedures of the Administrative Procedure Act, and may be renewed for no more than 3 additional 6-month periods during the pendency of procedures to adopt permanent rules addressing the subject of the emergency rules.

The bill also creates subsection 213.06(3), F.S., which provides that the grants of rulemaking authority in s. 213.06(1) and (2), F.S., are sufficient to allow the Department to adopt rules implementing all revenue laws administered by the Department. Each revenue law administered by the Department is an enabling statute authorizing the Department to implement it, regardless of whether the enabling statute contains its own grant of rulemaking authority.

Section 14 – Informal Compromises and Reopening of Final Assessments

Present Situation: Current Florida law requires taxpayers to maintain and provide records related to tax compliance and to provide those records during audit. While there are no specific statutory penalties imposed solely for failure to keep and provide records, delinquency penalties may be imposed up to 50 percent of any tax due. The Department is required to compromise 25 percent of the delinquency penalty if the Department determines that compliance errors were due to reasonable cause and not willful negligence, willful neglect, or fraud.[21] The Department has discretion to compromise the remaining 25 percent for the same reason. Without records, the Department is forced to estimate any potential liability, and a determination regarding reasonable cause and penalty compromise is nearly impossible.

[19] Supra Note 2.
[20] Section 213.06(2), F.S.
[21] Section 213.21(3)(a), F.S.

Current law does not provide the Department with the authority to reopen a final assessment for purposes of adjusting or compromising the liability, other than to resolve the outstanding liability for collectability.[22]

Proposed Changes: Section 14 amends s. 213.21(3)(a), F.S., to provide that a taxpayer's liability for penalties under any of the chapters specified in s. 72.011(1), F.S., greater than 25 percent of the tax must be settled or compromised if the Department determines that the noncompliance is not due to willful negligence, willful neglect, or fraud. In addition, a taxpayer's liability for penalties up to and including 25 percent of the tax may be settled or compromised if the Department determines that reasonable cause exists and the penalties greater than 25 percent of the tax were compromised because the noncompliance is not due to willful negligence, willful neglect, or fraud. The bill creates a rebuttable presumption that a taxpayer's noncompliance is due to willful negligence, willful neglect, or fraud when adequate records as requested by the Department are not provided to the Department before the issuance of an assessment. The presumption may be rebutted by showing reasonable cause why adequate records were not provided or available to the taxpayer.

Section 14 also creates s. 213.21(11), F.S., to provide that following the expiration of time for a taxpayer to challenge an assessment or a denial of a refund as provided in s. 72.011, F.S., the Department may consider a request to settle or compromise any tax, interest, penalty, or other liability under s. 213.21, F.S., if the taxpayer demonstrates that the failure to initiate a timely challenge was due to a qualified event that directly impacted compliance with that section. For purposes of s. 213.21(11), F.S., a qualified event is limited to the occurrence of events during an audit or the expired protest period which were beyond the control of the taxpayer, including, but not limited to, the death or life-threatening injury or illness of the taxpayer or an immediate family member of the taxpayer; the death or life-threatening injury or illness of the responsible party that controlled, managed, or directed the affected business entity; acts of war or terrorism; natural disasters; fire; or other catastrophic loss. The Department may not consider a request received more than 180 days after the expiration of time allowed under s. 72.011, F.S.

The bill creates s. 213.21(12), F.S., to provide that any decision by the Department regarding a taxpayer's request to compromise or settle a liability under this s. 213.21, F.S., is not a final order subject to review under ch. 120, F.S.

Section 15 – Tolling Periods, Exit Conferences, and Automatic Repayment of Overpayments

Present Situation: The Department is required to issue an assessment capable of becoming final 60 days prior to the end of the tolling of the audit period. The Department's rules provide taxpayers with a notice prior to the issuance of the Notice of Proposed Assessment and 30 days to request a conference with the auditor to resolve as many issues as possible before the taxpayer must take more formal actions to contest the assessment. Additional documentation is often provided during this period resulting in revisions to the liability. The statute does not require this pre-notice and does not allow for an extension of the tolling of the statute of limitations during this process.

[22] Section 213.21, F.S.

A District Court decision held that an assessment was untimely where the assessment was not issued 60 days prior to the expiration of an extended statute of limitations.[23] This decision is inconsistent with the operation of other statutes controlling application of the statute of limitations on the audit process and creates an inconsistency with assessments issued without an extension. The confusion makes it less likely for the Department to engage in extensions at the request of taxpayers and may result in less opportunity for taxpayers to resolve issues in the field.[24]

When a compliance audit results in an overpayment, credit, or refund, except for corporate income/franchise tax,[25] the taxpayer is required to complete an Application for Refund before the refund can be issued by the Department.[26]

Proposed Changes: Section 15 amends s. 213.34(2), F.S., to provide that during the course of an audit, but before the issuance of an assessment other than a jeopardy assessment, the Department shall issue to the taxpayer a notice explaining the audit findings. No later than 30 days after the issuance of the notice, the taxpayer may request in writing an exit conference at a mutually agreeable date and time with the Department's audit staff to discuss the audit findings. The exit conference must be conducted no later than 30 days after a request for the conference, unless the taxpayer and the Department enter into an agreement to extend the audit tolling period pursuant to s. 213.23, F.S. The taxpayer shall be given an opportunity at or before the exit conference to provide additional information and documents to the Department to rebut the audit findings. Upon the mutual written agreement between the Department and the taxpayer to extend the audit tolling period pursuant to s. 213.23, F.S., the exit conference may be continued to allow the taxpayer additional time to provide information and documents to the Department.
The Department shall review any information provided by the taxpayer and, if the Department revises the audit findings, a copy of the revised audit findings must be provided to the taxpayer. Such revision of the audit findings does not provide a right to any additional conference.

Section 15 also provides that if an exit conference is timely requested in writing, the limitations in s. 95.091(3), F.S., are tolled an additional 60 days. If the Department fails to offer a taxpayer the opportunity to hold an exit conference despite a timely written request, the limitations period in s. 95.091(3), F.S., may not be tolled for the additional 60 days. If the assessment is issued outside of the limitations period, the assessment must be reduced by the amount of those taxes, penalties, and interest for reporting periods outside of the limitations period, as modified by any other tolling or extension provisions.

If a request for an exit conference is not timely made, the right to a conference is waived.
A taxpayer may also affirmatively waive its right to an exit conference. Failure to hold an exit conference does not preclude the Department from issuing an assessment.

The Department may adopt rules to implement s. 213.34(2), F.S.

[23] Verizon Business Purchasing, LLC, v. Dept. of Revenue, 164 So.3d 806 (Fla. 1 DCA 2015).
[24] Supra Note 2.
[25] Chapter 220, F.S.
[26] Section 213.285(6), F.S.

Section 15 also creates s. 213.34(5), F.S., which provides that if, after offsetting the overpayment of any tax during an audit against a deficiency of any tax, penalty, or interest during the same audit period, the Department's audit finds that the tax paid is more than the correct amount, the Department must refund the overpayment that is within the applicable period provided by s. 215.26, F.S. Such action by the Department does not prevent a taxpayer from challenging the amount of the refund pursuant to chs. 72 and 120, F.S., or applying for a refund of additional tax within the applicable period. This provision will eliminate the requirement for a taxpayer to submit a refund application to obtain a refund discovered as the result of a compliance audit.

Section 17 – Garnishment

Present Situation: The Department has the authority to issue a levy upon credits, other personal property, or debts belonging to a delinquent taxpayer. The Department may levy for any taxes, penalties, and interest; however, the Department does not have the authority to levy for fees (e.g., administrative collection processing fee (ACP fee), warrant filing fees, or any other fee or cost that might be enacted into the Florida Statutes), additional daily accrued interest, or the authority to issue notices to levy (garnishments) by electronic means. [27] As a result, the Department typically continues with collection efforts for these additional fees after the initial levy is complete.

Proposed Changes: Section 17 amends s. 213.67, F.S., to authorize the Department to include all taxes, penalties, interest, costs, and fees authorized by law to be included in a garnishment or levy, which has the effect of avoiding multiple collection efforts for additional amounts. The bill allows the executive director of the Department, or his or her designee, to give notice of the amount of such delinquency by certified mail. The bill also allows the Department to deliver its notices of levy by certified mail, personal service, or electronic means, as requested by many financial institutions.

Section 18 – Methods of Accounting

Present Situation: A taxpayer may report any portion of its income for long-term contracts for Florida purposes on the percentage of completion method of accounting if the taxpayer reports any portion of its income for long-term contracts on the completed contract method of accounting for federal purposes.[28] The completed contract method of accounting is obsolete and has not been available since 1989. Florida law also references Treasury Regulation 1.451-3, which has been repurposed by the Internal Revenue Service.[29]

Proposed Changes: Section 18 repeals s. 220.42(3), F.S., and a reference to that subsection within s. 220.42(1), F.S.

Section 20 – Pandemic Benefit Charges Clarification

Present Situation: Employers file quarterly reports listing their employees and the wages paid to those employees. A tax rate is issued to each employer every year, and the tax due is determined by multiplying that tax rate by the amount of taxable wages reported by the employer. Reemployment tax is only imposed on the first $7,000 of wages.[30] A new employer is assigned a tax rate of 2.7 percent.[31] This tax rate is in effect for 8 chargeable quarters (approximately 2 ½ years), at which time the employer is eligible for an earned rate which can vary from the statutory minimum (0.1 percent) to the statutory maximum (5.4 percent) of taxable wages. One of the factors used in calculating the earned rate is the amount of reemployment assistance benefits paid to the employer's ex-employees.

In the 2021 Legislative Session, the rate calculation was amended to exclude benefit charges from the benefits paid during the period beginning April 1, 2020, and ending December 31, 2020, for rates effective through December 31, 2025.[32] The amendment also included a provision that repealed this exclusion if the balance of the Unemployment Trust Fund exceeds $4,071,519,600 on June 30 of any year, which could be interpreted to result in the inclusion of all benefit charges that were previously excluded, thereby substantially increasing tax rates.

Proposed Changes: Section 20 amends s. 443.131, F.S., to clarify that the rate calculation, in determining the contribution rate for rates effective January 1, 2021, through December 31, 2025, and regardless of whether certain provisions are repealed, shall exclude any benefit that is excluded by the multipliers under s. 443.131(b)1. and 2. and shall exclude benefits paid as a result of a governmental order related to COVID-19 to close or reduce capacity of a business before the date of the repeal. Therefore, for the calculation of rates through 2025, the Department will exclude benefit charges from the second through fourth quarters of 2020, even if the balance of the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund exceeds $4,071,519,600.

Section 21 – Federally Required Offset Program

Present Situation: Federal law requires states to participate in the Treasury Offset Program (TOP) in order to receive grants for the administration of the reemployment assistance program. The TOP requires states to send a list of delinquent employers to Treasury, which intercepts any federal income tax refund and sends it to the states to offset the employers' reemployment tax debt.[33] Current state law does not specifically give the Department the authority to participate in the intercept program or provide the legal authority to adopt any needed rules regarding the intercept program.[34]

Proposed Changes: Section 21 requires the Department to comply with the requirements of the TOP as it pertains to the recovery of unemployment compensation debts as required by the United States Department of Labor pursuant to 26 U.S.C. s. 6402. The Department is also provided the authority to adopt rules to implement this provision.

Section 22 provides an effective date of July 1, 2022.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

Article VII, s. 18 of the Florida Constitution requires a two-thirds vote of the membership of each house of the Legislature to pass legislation requiring counties and municipalities to spend funds, limit their ability to raise revenue, or reduce the percentage of a state tax shared with them. The bill does not require counties and municipalities to spend funds, limit their ability to raise revenue, or reduce the percentage of a shared state tax. Therefore, the provisions of Article VII, section 18 of the Florida Constitution do not apply.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

Laws that create or raise state taxes or fees must be passed by two-thirds vote of the membership of each house of the Legislature in a separate bill that contains no other subject.[35] The bill does not increase any taxes or fees; therefore, the increased tax or fee requirements do not apply.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

None identified.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

The Revenue Estimating Conference has not determined the fiscal impact of the bill. Staff estimates that the bill will increase General Revenue Fund receipts by an indeterminate amount in Fiscal Years 2022-2023 through 2026-2027.[36]

B. Private Sector Impact:

None.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The Department of Revenue has analyzed the bill and expects implementation to cost less than $25,000.[37]

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

The bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 72.011, 120.80, 202.34, 202.36, 206.14, 206.9931, 211.125, 212.05, 212.13, 212.14, 213.051, 213.053, 213.06, 213.21, 213.34, 213.345, 213.67, 220.42, 220.735, 443.131, and 443.171.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS by Appropriations on February 28, 2022:
The committee substitute:

- Specifies the meaning of "good cause" in relation to when a taxpayer fails to provide records to the Department;
- Provides that the taxpayer has the burden of showing error in assessments made by the Department;
- Authorizes, rather than requires, the Department to issue a notice of intent to suspend a dealer's resale certificate if the dealer fails to produce records or shows reasonable cause for not producing records;
- Authorizes the Division to suspend a dealer's license and provides a procedure to lift such suspension;
- Authorizes the Division to revoke a dealer's license;
- Prohibits transferors from accepting orders from and delivering alcoholic beverages to a dealer more than 7 days after the Department publishes a list identifying that the dealer's resale certificate has been suspended;
- Specifies that service by the Department of a subpoena may be made upon proof of delivery by registered mail if a business' address is not in Florida;
- Requires, rather than authorizing, the Department to publish a list of dealers whose resale certificates have been suspended;

- Specifies that a qualified event is not limited to the list of events specified in statute relating to a taxpayer's challenge to an assessment or denial of a refund by the Department;
- Specifies that the executive director of the Department may give a notice of a delinquency and a notice of levy by certified mail;
- Revises the computation of contribution rates for rates effective January 1, 2021, through December 31, 2025, of employers for reemployment benefits; and
- Makes other technical and conforming changes.

CS by Finance and Tax on February 10, 2022:
The CS:
- Primarily conforms the bill to CS/HB 1041;
- Adds provisions to allow judges and presiding officers to determine good cause for a taxpayer's failure to provide records under certain circumstances;
- Removes the provision relating to emergency rulemaking powers of agencies headed by the Governor and the Cabinet;
- Removes the provision to clarify that the parties to any document evidencing the transfer of real property must establish the consideration before the transfer or the delivery of any document evidencing the transfer of the real property;
- Revises the process relating to when taxpayers object to audits;
- Revises the process relating to when taxpayers fail to provide documents requested by subpoena issued under specified sections of law;
- Deletes the repeal of a tax exemption for building materials used in the rehabilitation of real property located in an enterprise zone;
- Creates definitions relating to dealers licensed under ch. 561; adds language to clarify that the removal of resale certificates of dealers operates in the context of an audit when the taxpayer has refused to provide records after a formal demand; provides an opportunity for the taxpayer to challenge the action in the DOAH; provides a mechanism to inform wholesale distributors of the removal of the resale certificate; and authorizes the Department to implement rules;
- Authorizes the Department to share certain information relating to dealers and to adopt rules;
- Increases the timeframe in which a taxpayer may request conferences and the timeframe in which conferences must occur;
- Removes the section of the bill relating to the State Fire Marshal regulatory assessment and surcharge as well as the conforming sections;
- Revises the effective date to July 1, 2022; and
- Makes other conforming and technical changes.

The Committee on Appropriations (Gruters) recommended the following:

Senate Amendment (with title amendment)

Delete everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. Paragraph (c) is added to subsection (1) of section 72.011, Florida Statutes, to read:

72.011 Jurisdiction of circuit courts in specific tax matters; administrative hearings and appeals; time for commencing action; parties; deposits.—

(c) A taxpayer may not submit records pertaining to an assessment or refund claim as evidence in any proceeding under this section if those records were available to, or required to be kept by, the taxpayer and were not timely provided to the Department of Revenue after a written request for the records during the audit or protest period and before submission of a petition for hearing pursuant to chapter 120 or the filing of an action under paragraph (a), unless the taxpayer demonstrates to the court or presiding officer good cause for its failure to previously provide such records to the department. Good cause may include, but is not limited to, circumstances where a taxpayer was unable to originally provide records under extraordinary circumstances as defined in s. 213.21(10)(d)2.

Section 2. Paragraph (b) of subsection (14) of section 120.80, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

120.80 Exceptions and special requirements; agencies.—

(14) DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE.—

(b) Taxpayer contest proceedings.—

1. In any administrative proceeding brought pursuant to this chapter as authorized by s. 72.011(1), the taxpayer shall be designated the "petitioner" and the Department of Revenue shall be designated the "respondent," except that for actions contesting an assessment or denial of refund under chapter 207, the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles shall be designated the "respondent," and for actions contesting an assessment or denial of refund under chapters 210, 550, 561, 562, 563, 564, and 565, the Department of Business and Professional Regulation shall be designated the "respondent."

2. In any such administrative proceeding, the applicable department’s burden of proof, except as otherwise specifically provided by general law, shall be limited to a showing that an assessment has been made against the taxpayer and the factual and legal grounds upon which the applicable department made the assessment.

3.a. Before ~~Prior to~~ filing a petition under this chapter, the taxpayer shall pay to the applicable department the amount of taxes, penalties, and accrued interest assessed by that department which are not being contested by the taxpayer. Failure to pay the uncontested amount shall result in the dismissal of the action and imposition of an additional penalty of 25 percent of the amount taxed.

b. The requirements of s. 72.011(2) and (3)(a) are jurisdictional for any action under this chapter to contest an assessment or denial of refund by the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles, or the Department of Business and Professional Regulation.

4. Except as provided in s. 220.719, further collection and enforcement of the contested amount of an assessment for nonpayment or underpayment of any tax, interest, or penalty shall be stayed beginning on the date a petition is filed. Upon entry of a final order, an agency may resume collection and enforcement action.

5. The prevailing party, in a proceeding under ss. 120.569 and 120.57 authorized by s. 72.011(1), may recover all legal costs incurred in such proceeding, including reasonable attorney ~~attorney’s~~ fees, if the losing party fails to raise a justiciable issue of law or fact in its petition or response.

6. Upon review pursuant to s. 120.68 of final agency action concerning an assessment of tax, penalty, or interest with respect to a tax imposed under chapter 212, or the denial of a refund of any tax imposed under chapter 212, if the court finds that the Department of Revenue improperly rejected or modified a conclusion of law, the court may award reasonable attorney ~~attorney's~~ fees and reasonable costs of the appeal to the prevailing appellant.

7. A taxpayer may not submit records pertaining to an assessment or refund claim as evidence in any proceeding brought pursuant to this chapter as authorized by s. 72.011(1) if those records were available to, or required to be kept by, the taxpayer and were not timely provided to the Department of Revenue after a written request for the records during the audit or protest period and before submission of a petition for hearing under this chapter, unless the taxpayer demonstrates good cause to the presiding officer for its failure to previously provide such records to the department. Good cause may include, but is not limited to, circumstances where a taxpayer was unable to originally provide records under extraordinary circumstances as defined in s. 213.21(10)(d)2.

Section 3. Paragraph (f) is added to subsection (4) of section 202.34, Florida Statutes, and subsection (6) is added to that section, to read:

202.34 Records required to be kept; power to inspect; audit procedure.—

(4)

(f) Once the notification required by paragraph (a) is issued, the department, at any time, may respond to contact initiated by a taxpayer to discuss the audit, and the taxpayer

604478

may provide records or other information, electronically or otherwise, to the department. The department may examine, at any time, documentation and other information voluntarily provided by the taxpayer, its representative, or other parties; information already in the department's possession; or publicly available information. The department's examination of such information does not mean an audit has commenced if the review takes place within 60 days after the notice of intent to conduct an audit. The requirement in paragraph (a) does not limit the department in making initial contact with the taxpayer to confirm receipt of the notification or to confirm the date that the audit will begin. If the taxpayer has not previously waived the 60-day notice period and believes the department commenced the audit prior to the 61st day, the taxpayer must object in writing to the department before the issuance of an assessment or the objection is waived. If the objection is not waived and it is determined that the audit was commenced before the 61st day after the issuance of the notice of intent to audit, the tolling period provided for in s. 213.345 is considered lifted for the number of days equal to the difference between the date the audit commenced and the 61st day after the date of the department's notice of intent to audit.

(6) The department may adopt rules to administer this section.

Section 4. Paragraph (a) of subsection (4) of section 202.36, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

202.36 Departmental powers; hearings; distress warrants; bonds; subpoenas and subpoenas duces tecum.—

(4)(a) The department may issue subpoenas or subpoenas duces tecum compelling the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of books, records, written materials, and electronically recorded information. Subpoenas must be issued with the written and signed approval of the executive director or his or her designee on a written and sworn application by any employee of the department. The application must set forth the reason for the application, the name of the person subpoenaed, the time and place of appearance of the witness, and a description of any books, records, or electronically recorded information to be produced, together with a statement by the applicant that the department has unsuccessfully attempted other reasonable means of securing information and that the testimony of the witness or the written or electronically recorded materials sought in the subpoena are necessary for the collection of taxes, penalty, or interest or the enforcement of the taxes levied or administered under this chapter. A subpoena shall be served in the manner provided by law and by the Florida Rules of Civil Procedure and shall be returnable only during regular business hours and at least 20 calendar days after the date of service of the subpoena. Any subpoena to which this subsection applies must identify the taxpayer to whom the subpoena relates and to whom the records pertain and must provide other information to enable the person subpoenaed to locate the records required under the subpoena. The department shall give notice to the taxpayer to whom the subpoena relates within 3 days after the day on which the service of the subpoena is made. Within 14 days after service of the subpoena, the person to whom the subpoena is directed may serve written objection to the inspection or copying of any of the designated materials. If objection is made, the department may not inspect or copy the materials, except pursuant to an order of the circuit court. If an objection is made, the department may petition any circuit court for an order to comply with the subpoena. The subpoena must contain a written notice of the right to object to the subpoena. Every subpoena served upon the witness or custodian of records must be accompanied by a copy of ~~the provisions of~~ this subsection. If a person refuses to obey a subpoena or subpoena duces tecum, the department may apply to any circuit court of this state to enforce compliance with the subpoena. Witnesses are entitled to be paid a mileage allowance and witness fees as authorized for witnesses in civil cases. The failure of a taxpayer to provide documents available to, or required to be kept by, the taxpayer and requested by a subpoena issued under this section creates a rebuttable presumption that the resulting proposed final agency action by the department, as to the requested documents, is correct and that the requested documents not produced by the taxpayer would be adverse to the taxpayer's position as to the proposed final agency action. If a taxpayer fails to provide documents requested by a subpoena issued under this section, the department may make an assessment from an estimate based upon the best information then available to it for the taxable period of retail sales of the taxpayer, together with any accrued interest and penalties. The department shall inform the taxpayer of the reason for the estimate and the information and methodology used to derive the estimate. The assessment shall be considered prima facie correct, and the taxpayer shall have the burden of showing any error in it. The presumption and authority to use estimates for the purpose of an assessment under this paragraph do not apply solely because a taxpayer or its representative requests a conference to negotiate the production of a sample of records demanded by a subpoena.

Section 5. Subsection (4) of section 206.14, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

206.14 Inspection of records; audits; hearings; forms; rules and regulations.—

(4) If any person unreasonably refuses access to such records, books, papers or other documents, or equipment, or if any person fails or refuses to obey such subpoenas duces tecum or to testify, except for lawful reasons, before the department or any of its authorized agents, the department shall certify the names and facts to the clerk of the circuit court of any county; and the circuit court shall enter such order against such person in the premises as the enforcement of this law and justice requires. The failure of a taxpayer to provide documents available to, or required to be kept by, the taxpayer and requested by a subpoena issued under this section creates a rebuttable presumption that the resulting proposed final agency action by the department, as to the requested documents, is correct and that the requested documents not produced by the taxpayer would be adverse to the taxpayer’s position as to the proposed final agency action. If a taxpayer fails to provide documents requested by a subpoena issued under this section, the department may make an assessment from an estimate of the taxpayer’s liability based upon the best information then available to it. The department shall inform the taxpayer of the reason for the estimate and the information and methodology used to derive the estimate. The assessment shall be considered prima facie correct, and the taxpayer shall have the burden of showing any error in it. The presumption and authority to use estimates for the purpose of an assessment under this paragraph do not apply solely because a taxpayer or its representative requests a conference to negotiate the production of a sample of records demanded by a subpoena.

Section 6. Subsection (1) of section 206.9931, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

206.9931 Administrative provisions.—

(1) Any person producing in, importing into, or causing to be imported into this state taxable pollutants for sale, use, or otherwise and who is not registered or licensed pursuant to other parts of this chapter is hereby required to register and become licensed for the purposes of this part. Such person shall register as either a producer or importer of pollutants and shall be subject to all applicable registration and licensing provisions of this chapter, as if fully set out in this part and made expressly applicable to the taxes imposed herein, including, but not limited to, ss. 206.02, 206.021, 206.022, 206.025, 206.03, 206.04, and 206.05. For the purposes of this section, registrations required exclusively for this part shall be made within 90 days of July 1, 1986, for existing businesses, or before ~~prior to~~ the first production or importation of pollutants for businesses created after July 1, 1986. ~~The fee for registration shall be $30.~~ Failure to timely register is a misdemeanor of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083.

Section 7. Paragraph (b) of subsection (3) of section

211.125, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

211.125 Administration of law; books and records; powers of the department; refunds; enforcement provisions; confidentiality.—

(3)

(b) The department may ~~shall have the power to~~ inspect or examine the books, records, or papers of any operator, producer, purchaser, royalty interest owner, taxpayer, or transporter of taxable products which are reasonably required for the purposes of this part and may require such person to testify under oath or affirmation or to answer competent questions touching upon such person's business or production of taxable products in this ~~the~~ state.

1. The department may issue subpoenas to compel third parties to testify or to produce records or other evidence held by them.

2. Any duly authorized representative of the department may administer an oath or affirmation.

3. If any person fails to comply with a request of the department for the inspection of records, fails to give testimony or respond to competent questions, or fails to comply with a subpoena, a circuit court having jurisdiction over such person may, upon application by the department, issue orders necessary to secure compliance. The failure of a taxpayer to provide documents available to, or required to be kept by, the taxpayer and requested by a subpoena issued under this section creates a rebuttable presumption that the resulting proposed final agency action by the department, as to the requested documents, is correct and that the requested documents not produced by the taxpayer would be adverse to the taxpayer's position as to the proposed final agency action. If a taxpayer fails to provide documents requested by a subpoena issued under this section, the department may make an assessment from an estimate based upon the best information then available to it. The department shall inform the taxpayer of the reason for the estimate and the information and methodology used to derive the estimate. The assessment shall be considered prima facie correct, and the taxpayer shall have the burden of showing any error in it.

Section 8. Paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section 212.05, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

212.05 Sales, storage, use tax.—It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that every person is exercising a taxable privilege who engages in the business of selling tangible personal property at retail in this state, including the business of making or facilitating remote sales; who rents or furnishes any of the things or services taxable under this chapter; or who stores for use or consumption in this state any item or article of tangible personal property as defined herein and who leases or rents such property within the state.

(1) For the exercise of such privilege, a tax is levied on each taxable transaction or incident, which tax is due and payable as follows:

(a)1.a. At the rate of 6 percent of the sales price of each item or article of tangible personal property when sold at retail in this state, computed on each taxable sale for the purpose of remitting the amount of tax due the state, and including each and every retail sale.

b. Each occasional or isolated sale of an aircraft, boat, mobile home, or motor vehicle of a class or type which is required to be registered, licensed, titled, or documented in this state or by the United States Government is ~~shall be~~ subject to tax at the rate provided in this paragraph. The department shall by rule adopt any nationally recognized publication for valuation of used motor vehicles as the reference price list for any used motor vehicle which is required to be licensed pursuant to s. 320.08(1), (2), (3)(a), (b), (c), or (e), or (9). If any party to an occasional or isolated sale of such a vehicle reports to the tax collector a sales price which is less than 80 percent of the average loan price for the specified model and year of such vehicle as listed in the most recent reference price list, the tax levied under this paragraph shall be computed by the department on such average loan price unless the parties to the sale have provided to the tax collector an affidavit signed by each party, or other substantial proof, stating the actual sales price. Any party to such sale who reports a sales price less than the actual sales price is guilty of a misdemeanor of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083. The department shall collect or attempt to collect from such party any delinquent sales taxes. In addition, such party shall pay any tax due and any penalty and interest assessed plus a penalty equal to twice the amount of the additional tax owed. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Department of Revenue may waive or compromise any penalty imposed pursuant to this subparagraph.

2. This paragraph does not apply to the sale of a boat or aircraft by or through a registered dealer under this chapter to a purchaser who, at the time of taking delivery, is a nonresident of this state, does not make his or her permanent place of abode in this state, and is not engaged in carrying on in this state any employment, trade, business, or profession in which the boat or aircraft will be used in this state, or is a corporation none of the officers or directors of which is a resident of, or makes his or her permanent place of abode in, this state, or is a noncorporate entity that has no individual vested with authority to participate in the management, direction, or control of the entity's affairs who is a resident of, or makes his or her permanent abode in, this state. For purposes of this exemption, either a registered dealer acting on his or her own behalf as seller, a registered dealer acting as broker on behalf of a seller, or a registered dealer acting as broker on behalf of the nonresident purchaser may be deemed to be the selling dealer. This exemption is ~~shall~~ not ~~be~~ allowed unless:

a. The nonresident purchaser removes a qualifying boat, as described in sub-subparagraph f., from this ~~the~~ state within 90 days after the date of purchase or extension, or the nonresident purchaser removes a nonqualifying boat or an aircraft from this state within 10 days after the date of purchase or, when the boat or aircraft is repaired or altered, within 20 days after completion of the repairs or alterations; or if the aircraft will be registered in a foreign jurisdiction and:

(I) Application for the aircraft's registration is properly filed with a civil airworthiness authority of a foreign jurisdiction within 10 days after the date of purchase;

(II) The nonresident purchaser removes the aircraft from this ~~the~~ state to a foreign jurisdiction within 10 days after the date the aircraft is registered by the applicable foreign airworthiness authority; and

 604478

(III) The aircraft is operated in this ~~the~~ state solely to remove it from this ~~the~~ state to a foreign jurisdiction.

For purposes of this sub-subparagraph, the term "foreign jurisdiction" means any jurisdiction outside of the United States or any of its territories;

b. The nonresident purchaser, within 90 days after ~~from~~ the date of departure, provides the department with written proof that the nonresident purchaser licensed, registered, titled, or documented the boat or aircraft outside this ~~the~~ state. If such written proof is unavailable, within 90 days the nonresident purchaser must ~~shall~~ provide proof that the nonresident purchaser applied for such license, title, registration, or documentation. The nonresident purchaser shall forward to the department proof of title, license, registration, or documentation upon receipt;

c. The nonresident purchaser, within 30 days after removing the boat or aircraft from this state ~~Florida~~, furnishes the department with proof of removal in the form of receipts for fuel, dockage, slippage, tie-down, or hangaring from outside of this state ~~Florida~~. The information so provided must clearly and specifically identify the boat or aircraft;

d. The selling dealer, within 30 days after the date of sale, provides to the department a copy of the sales invoice, closing statement, bills of sale, and the original affidavit signed by the nonresident purchaser affirming that the nonresident purchaser qualifies for exemption from sales tax pursuant to this subparagraph and attesting that the nonresident purchaser will provide the documentation required to substantiate the exemption claimed under this subparagraph ~~attesting that he or she has read the provisions of this section~~;

e. The seller makes a copy of the affidavit a part of his or her record for as long as required by s. 213.35; and

f. Unless the nonresident purchaser of a boat of 5 net tons of admeasurement or larger intends to remove the boat from this state within 10 days after the date of purchase or when the boat is repaired or altered, within 20 days after completion of the repairs or alterations, the nonresident purchaser applies to the selling dealer for a decal which authorizes 90 days after the date of purchase for removal of the boat. The nonresident purchaser of a qualifying boat may apply to the selling dealer within 60 days after the date of purchase for an extension decal that authorizes the boat to remain in this state for an additional 90 days, but not more than a total of 180 days, before the nonresident purchaser is required to pay the tax imposed by this chapter. The department is authorized to issue decals in advance to dealers. The number of decals issued in advance to a dealer shall be consistent with the volume of the dealer’s past sales of boats which qualify under this sub-subparagraph. The selling dealer or his or her agent shall mark and affix the decals to qualifying boats in the manner prescribed by the department, before delivery of the boat.

(I) The department is hereby authorized to charge dealers a fee sufficient to recover the costs of decals issued, except the extension decal shall cost $425.

(II) The proceeds from the sale of decals will be deposited into the administrative trust fund.

(III) Decals shall display information to identify the boat as a qualifying boat under this sub-subparagraph, including, but not limited to, the decal’s date of expiration.

(IV) The department is authorized to require dealers who purchase decals to file reports with the department and may prescribe all necessary records by rule. All such records are subject to inspection by the department.

(V) Any dealer or his or her agent who issues a decal falsely, fails to affix a decal, mismarks the expiration date of a decal, or fails to properly account for decals will be considered prima facie to have committed a fraudulent act to evade the tax and will be liable for payment of the tax plus a mandatory penalty of 200 percent of the tax, and shall be liable for fine and punishment as provided by law for a conviction of a misdemeanor of the first degree, as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083.

(VI) Any nonresident purchaser of a boat who removes a decal before permanently removing the boat from this ~~the~~ state, or defaces, changes, modifies, or alters a decal in a manner affecting its expiration date before its expiration, or who causes or allows the same to be done by another, will be considered prima facie to have committed a fraudulent act to evade the tax and will be liable for payment of the tax plus a mandatory penalty of 200 percent of the tax, and shall be liable for fine and punishment as provided by law for a conviction of a misdemeanor of the first degree, as provided in s. 775.082 or s.

775.083.

(VII) The department is authorized to adopt rules necessary to administer and enforce this subparagraph and to publish the necessary forms and instructions.

(VIII) The department is hereby authorized to adopt emergency rules pursuant to s. 120.54(4) to administer and enforce ~~the provisions of~~ this subparagraph.

If the nonresident purchaser fails to remove the qualifying boat from this state within the maximum 180 days after purchase or a nonqualifying boat or an aircraft from this state within 10 days after purchase or, when the boat or aircraft is repaired or altered, within 20 days after completion of such repairs or alterations, or permits the boat or aircraft to return to this state within 6 months after ~~from~~ the date of departure, except as provided in s. 212.08(7)(fff), or if the nonresident purchaser fails to furnish the department with any of the documentation required by this subparagraph within the prescribed time period, the nonresident purchaser is ~~shall be~~ liable for use tax on the cost price of the boat or aircraft and, in addition thereto, payment of a penalty to the Department of Revenue equal to the tax payable. This penalty shall be in lieu of the penalty imposed by s. 212.12(2). The maximum 180-day period following the sale of a qualifying boat tax-exempt to a nonresident may not be tolled for any reason.

Section 9. Subsections (2) and (5) of section 212.13, Florida Statutes, are amended, and subsection (7) is added to that section, to read:

212.13 Records required to be kept; power to inspect; audit

procedure.—

(2)(a) Each dealer, as defined in this chapter, shall secure, maintain, and keep as long as required by s. 213.35 a complete record of tangible personal property or services received, used, sold at retail, distributed or stored, leased or rented by said dealer, together with invoices, bills of lading, gross receipts from such sales, and other pertinent records and papers as may be required by the department for the reasonable administration of this chapter. All such records must be made available to the department at reasonable times and places and by reasonable means, including in an electronic format when so kept by the dealer. Any dealer subject to this chapter who violates this subsection commits a misdemeanor of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083. If, however, any subsequent offense involves intentional destruction of such records with an intent to evade payment of or deprive the state of any tax revenues, such subsequent offense is a felony of the third degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083.

(b)1. As used in this paragraph, the term:

a. "Dealer" means a dealer, as defined in s. 212.06(2), which is licensed under chapter 561.

b. "Division" means the Division of Alcoholic Beverages and Tobacco of the Department of Business and Professional Regulation.

c. "Transferor" means an entity or person, licensed under chapter 561, who sells and delivers alcoholic beverages to a dealer for purposes of resale.

2. Dealers shall maintain records of all monthly sales and all monthly purchases of alcoholic beverages and produce such records for inspection by the department. During the course of an audit, if the department has made a formal demand for such records and a dealer has failed to comply with such a demand, the department may issue a written request for such records to the dealer, allowing the dealer an additional 20 days to provide the requested records or show reasonable cause why the records cannot be produced. If the dealer fails to produce the requested records or show reasonable cause why the records cannot be produced, the department may issue a notice of intent to suspend the dealer's resale certificate. The dealer shall then have 20 days to file a petition with the department challenging the proposed action pursuant to s. 120.569. If the dealer fails to timely file a petition or the department prevails in a proceeding challenging the notice, the department shall suspend the resale certificate.

3. If a dealer's resale certificate is suspended under this subsection in the course of the dealer's first audit before the department for sales and use tax, the failure of a dealer to comply is deemed sufficient cause under s. 561.29(1)(a) for the division to suspend the dealer's license and the department shall promptly notify the division and the dealer of such failure for further appropriate action by the division. The division shall lift the suspension of the license and the department shall lift the suspension of the resale certificate if the dealer provides the necessary records to conduct the audit prior to issuance of an estimated assessment, posts a bond with the department in the amount of an estimated assessment to ensure payment of the assessment, or fully pays any tax, penalties, and interest owed.

4. If a dealer's resale certificate is suspended under this subsection and the audit is not the dealer's first audit before the department for sales and use tax, such failure is sufficient cause under s. 561.29(1)(a) for the division to revoke the dealer's license and the department shall promptly notify the division and the dealer of such failure for further appropriate action by the division.

5. The department shall notify the division when a dealer's resale certificate is suspended and shall publish a list of dealers whose resale certificates have been suspended as authorized by s. 213.053(21). The division shall include notice of such suspension in its license verification database or provide a link to the department's published list from the division's license verification page.

6. A transferor may not accept orders from or deliver alcoholic beverages to a dealer more than 7 days, inclusive of any Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, after the date the department publishes the list under subparagraph 5. identifying that the dealer's resale certificate has been suspended.

7. A transferor who sells alcoholic beverages to a dealer whose resale certificate has been suspended is not responsible for any tax, penalty, or interest due if the alcoholic beverages are delivered no more than 7 days, inclusive of any Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, after the date of publication of the suspension.

8. The department may adopt rules to implement this paragraph.

(5)(a) The department shall send written notification at least 60 days before ~~prior to~~ the date an auditor is scheduled to begin an audit, informing the taxpayer of the audit. The department is not required to give 60 days' prior notification of a forthcoming audit in any instance in which the taxpayer requests an emergency audit.

(b) Such written notification must ~~shall~~ contain:

1. The approximate date on which the auditor is scheduled to begin the audit.

2. A reminder that all of the records, receipts, invoices, resale certificates, and related documentation of the taxpayer must be made available to the auditor.

3. Any other requests or suggestions the department may deem necessary.

(c) Only records, receipts, invoices, resale certificates, and related documentation that ~~which~~ are available to the auditor when such audit begins are ~~shall be~~ deemed acceptable for the purposes of conducting such audit. A resale certificate containing a date before ~~prior to~~ the date the audit commences is ~~shall be~~ deemed acceptable documentation of the specific transaction or transactions which occurred in the past, for the purpose of conducting an audit.

(d) The provisions of this chapter concerning fraudulent or improper records, receipts, invoices, resale certificates, and related documentation ~~shall~~ apply when conducting any audit.

(e) The requirement in paragraph (a) of 60 days' written notification does not apply to the distress or jeopardy situations referred to in s. 212.14 or s. 212.15.

(f) Once the notification required by paragraph (a) is issued, the department, at any time, may respond to contact initiated by a taxpayer to discuss the audit, and the taxpayer may provide documentation or other information, electronically or otherwise, to the department. The department may examine, at any time, documentation and other information voluntarily provided by the taxpayer, its representative, or other parties; information already in the department's possession; or publicly available information. The department's examination of such information does not mean an audit has commenced if the review takes place within 60 days after the notice of intent to conduct an audit. The requirement in paragraph (a) does not limit the department in making initial contact with the taxpayer to confirm receipt of the notification or to confirm the date that the audit will begin. If the taxpayer has not previously waived the 60-day notice period and believes the department commenced the audit prior to the 61st day, the taxpayer must object in writing to the department before the issuance of an assessment or else the objection is waived. If the objection is not waived and it is determined that the audit was commenced before the 61st day after the issuance of the notice of intent to audit, the tolling period provided for in s. 213.345 is considered lifted for the number of days equal to the difference between the date the audit commenced and the 61st day after the date of the department's notice of intent to audit.

(7) The department may adopt rules to administer this section.

Section 10. Paragraph (a) of subsection (7) of section 212.14, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

212.14 Departmental powers; hearings; distress warrants; bonds; subpoenas and subpoenas duces tecum.—

(7)(a) For purposes of collection and enforcement of taxes, penalties, and interest levied under this chapter, the department may issue subpoenas or subpoenas duces tecum compelling the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of books, records, written materials, and electronically recorded information. Subpoenas shall be issued with the written and signed approval of the executive director or his or her designee on written and sworn application by any employee of the department. The application must set forth the reason for the application, the name of the person subpoenaed, the time and place of appearance of the witness, and a description of any books, records, or electronically recorded information to be produced, together with a statement by the applicant that the department has unsuccessfully attempted other reasonable means of securing information and that the testimony of the witness or the written or electronically recorded materials sought in the subpoena are necessary for the collection of taxes, penalty, or interest or the enforcement of the taxes levied under this chapter. A subpoena must ~~shall~~ be served in the manner provided by law and by the Florida Rules of Civil Procedure and is ~~shall be~~ returnable only during regular business hours and at least 20 calendar days after the date of service of the subpoena. Any subpoena to which this subsection applies must ~~shall~~ identify the taxpayer to whom the subpoena relates and to whom the records pertain and must ~~shall~~ provide other information to enable the person subpoenaed to locate the records required under the subpoena. The department shall give notice to the taxpayer to whom the subpoena relates within 3 days after ~~of~~ the day on which the service of the subpoena is made. Within 14 days after service of the subpoena, the person to whom the subpoena is directed may serve written objection to inspection or copying of any of the designated materials. If objection is made, the department is ~~shall~~ not ~~be~~ entitled to inspect and copy the materials, except pursuant to an order of the circuit court. If an objection is made, the department may petition any circuit court for an order to comply with the subpoena. The subpoena must ~~shall~~ contain a written notice of the right to object to the subpoena. Every subpoena served upon the witness or records custodian must be accompanied by a copy of ~~the provisions of~~ this subsection. If a person refuses to obey a subpoena or subpoena duces tecum, the department may apply to any circuit court of this state to enforce compliance with the subpoena. Witnesses must ~~shall~~ be paid mileage and witness fees as authorized for witnesses in civil cases. The failure of a taxpayer to provide documents available to, or required to be kept by, the taxpayer and requested by a subpoena issued under this section creates a rebuttable presumption that the resulting proposed final agency action by the department, as to the requested documents, is correct and that the requested documents not produced by the taxpayer would be adverse to the taxpayer's position as to the proposed final agency action. If a taxpayer fails to provide documents requested by a subpoena issued under this section, the department may make an assessment from an estimate based upon the best information then available to it for the taxable period of retail sales of the taxpayer, together with any accrued interest and penalties. The department shall inform the taxpayer of the reason for the estimate and the information and methodology used to derive the estimate. The assessment shall be considered prima facie correct, and the taxpayer shall have the burden of showing any error in it. The presumption and authority to use estimates for the purpose of an assessment under this paragraph do not apply solely because a taxpayer or its representative requests a conference to negotiate the production of a sample of records demanded by a subpoena.

Section 11. Section 213.051, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

213.051 Service of subpoenas.—

(1) For the purpose of administering and enforcing ~~the provisions of~~ the revenue laws of this state, the executive director of the Department of Revenue, or any of his or her assistants designated in writing by the executive director, may ~~shall be authorized to~~ serve subpoenas and subpoenas duces tecum issued by the state attorney relating to investigations concerning the taxes enumerated in s. 213.05.

(2) In addition to the procedures for service prescribed by chapter 48, the department may serve subpoenas it issues pursuant to ss. 202.36, 206.14, 211.125, 212.14, and 220.735 upon any business registered with the department at the address on file with the department if it received correspondence from the business from that address within 30 days after issuance of the subpoena or if the address is listed with the Department of State Division of Corporations as a principal or business address. If a business' address is not in this state, service is made upon proof of delivery by certified or registered mail or under the notice provisions of s. 213.0537.

Section 12. Present subsections (21) and (22) of section

604478

213.053, Florida Statutes, are redesignated as subsections (22) and (23), respectively, and a new subsection (21) is added to that section, to read:

213.053 Confidentiality and information sharing.—

(21)(a) The department shall publish a list of dealers whose resale certificates have been suspended pursuant to s. 212.13(2)(b). The list may contain the name of the dealer, including the name under which the dealer does business; the address of the dealer; the dealer's employer identification number or other taxpayer identification number; and the date on which the dealer was added to the list.

(b) The department shall update the list daily as needed to reflect additions to and deletions from the list.

(c) The department may adopt rules to administer this subsection.

Section 13. Section 213.06, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

213.06 Rules of department; circumstances requiring emergency rules.—

(1) The Department of Revenue may ~~has the authority to~~ adopt rules pursuant to ss. 120.536(1) and 120.54 to implement provisions of the revenue laws.

(2) The executive director of the department may adopt emergency rules pursuant to s. 120.54 on behalf of the department when the effective date of a legislative change occurs sooner than 120 ~~60~~ days after the close of a legislative session in which enacted or after the Governor approves or fails to veto the legislative change, whichever is later, and the change affects a tax rate or a collection or reporting procedure which affects a substantial number of dealers or persons subject to the tax change or procedure. The Legislature finds that such circumstances qualify as an exception to the prerequisite of a finding of immediate danger to the public health, safety, or welfare as set forth in s. 120.54(4)(a) and qualify as circumstances requiring an emergency rule. Emergency rules adopted under this subsection are exempt from s. 120.54(4)(c), remain in effect for 6 months or until replaced by rules adopted under the nonemergency rulemaking procedures of the Administrative Procedure Act, and may be renewed for no more than 3 additional 6-month periods during the pendency of procedures to adopt permanent rules addressing the subject of the emergency rules.

(3) The grants of rulemaking authority in subsections (1) and (2) are sufficient to allow the department to adopt rules implementing all revenue laws administered by the department. Each revenue law administered by the department is an enabling statute authorizing the department to implement it, regardless of whether the enabling statute contains its own grant of rulemaking authority.

Section 14. Paragraph (b) of subsection (1) and paragraph (a) of subsection (3) of section 213.21, Florida Statutes, are amended, and subsections (11) and (12) are added to that section, to read:

213.21 Informal conferences; compromises.—

(b) The statute of limitations upon the issuance of ~~final~~ assessments and the period for filing a claim for refund as required by s. 215.26(2) for any transactions occurring during the audit period shall be tolled during the period in which the taxpayer is engaged in a procedure under this section.

(3)(a) A taxpayer's liability for any tax or interest specified in s. 72.011(1) may be compromised by the department upon the grounds of doubt as to liability for or collectibility of such tax or interest. A taxpayer's liability for interest under any of the chapters specified in s. 72.011(1) shall be settled or compromised in whole or in part whenever or to the extent that the department determines that the delay in the determination of the amount due is attributable to the action or inaction of the department. A taxpayer's liability for penalties under any of the chapters specified in s. 72.011(1) greater than 25 percent of the tax must ~~may~~ be settled or compromised if ~~it is determined by~~ the department determines that the noncompliance is not due to ~~reasonable cause and not to~~ willful negligence, willful neglect, or fraud. In addition, a taxpayer's liability for penalties under any of the chapters specified in s. 72.011(1) up to and including 25 percent of the tax may be settled or compromised if the department determines that reasonable cause exists and the penalties greater than 25 percent of the tax were compromised because the noncompliance is not due to willful negligence, willful neglect, or fraud. There is a rebuttable presumption that a taxpayer's noncompliance is due to willful negligence, willful neglect, or fraud when adequate records as requested by the department are not provided to the department before the issuance of an assessment. The presumption may be rebutted by a showing of reasonable cause why adequate records as requested were not provided or were unavailable to the taxpayer. The facts and circumstances are subject to de novo review ~~to determine the existence of reasonable cause~~ in any administrative proceeding or judicial action challenging an assessment of penalty under any of the chapters specified in s. 72.011(1). A taxpayer who establishes reasonable reliance on the written advice issued by the department to the taxpayer is ~~will be~~ deemed to have shown reasonable cause for the noncompliance. ~~In addition, a taxpayer's liability for penalties under any of the chapters specified in s. 72.011(1) in excess of 25 percent of the tax shall be settled or compromised if the department determines that the noncompliance is due to reasonable cause and not to willful negligence, willful neglect, or fraud.~~ The department shall maintain records of all compromises, and the records shall state the basis for the compromise. The records of compromise under this paragraph are ~~shall~~ not ~~be~~ subject to disclosure pursuant to s. 119.07(1) and are ~~shall be~~ considered confidential information governed by ~~the provisions of~~ s. 213.053.

(11) Following the expiration of time for a taxpayer to challenge an assessment or a denial of a refund as provided in s. 72.011, the department may consider a request to settle or compromise any tax, interest, penalty, or other liability under this section if the taxpayer demonstrates that the failure to initiate a timely challenge was due to a qualified event that directly impacted compliance with that section. For purposes of this subsection, a qualified event is limited to the occurrence of events during an audit or the expired protest period which were beyond the control of the taxpayer, including, but not limited to, the death or life-threatening injury or illness of the taxpayer or an immediate family member of the taxpayer; the death or life-threatening injury or illness of the responsible party that controlled, managed, or directed the affected business entity; acts of war or terrorism; natural disasters; fire; or other catastrophic loss. The department may not consider a request received more than 180 days after the expiration of time allowed under s. 72.011.

(12) Any decision by the department regarding a taxpayer's request to compromise or settle a liability under this section is not a final order subject to review under chapter 120.

Section 15. Section 213.34, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

213.34 Authority to audit.—

(1) The Department of Revenue may ~~shall have the authority to~~ audit and examine the accounts, books, or records of all persons ~~who are~~ subject to a revenue law made applicable to this chapter, or otherwise placed under the control and administration of the department, for the purpose of ascertaining the correctness of any return which has been filed or payment which has been made, or for the purpose of making a return where none has been made.

(2) The department, or its duly authorized agents, may inspect such books and records necessary to ascertain a taxpayer's compliance with the revenue laws of this state, provided that the department's power to make an assessment or grant a refund has not terminated under s. 95.091(3).

(a) During the course of an audit, but before the issuance of an assessment other than a jeopardy assessment, the department shall issue to the taxpayer a notice explaining the audit findings. No later than 30 days after the issuance of the notice, the taxpayer may request in writing an exit conference at a mutually agreeable date and time with the department's audit staff to discuss the audit findings. The exit conference must be conducted no later than 30 days after a request for the conference, unless the taxpayer and the department enter into an agreement to extend the audit tolling period pursuant to s. 213.23. The taxpayer shall be given an opportunity at or before the exit conference to provide additional information and documents to the department to rebut the audit findings. Upon the mutual written agreement between the department and the taxpayer to extend the audit tolling period pursuant to s. 213.23, the exit conference may be continued to allow the taxpayer additional time to provide information and documents to the department. The department shall review any information provided by the taxpayer and, if the department revises the audit findings, a copy of the revised audit findings must be provided to the taxpayer. Such revision of the audit findings does not provide a right to any additional conference.

(b) If an exit conference is timely requested in writing, the limitations in s. 95.091(3) are tolled an additional 60 days. If the department fails to offer a taxpayer the opportunity to hold an exit conference despite a timely written request, the limitations period in s. 95.091(3) may not be tolled for the additional 60 days. If the assessment is issued outside of the limitations period, the assessment must be reduced by the amount of those taxes, penalties, and interest for reporting periods outside of the limitations period, as modified by any other tolling or extension provisions.

(c) If a request for an exit conference is not timely made, the right to a conference is waived. A taxpayer may also affirmatively waive its right to an exit conference. Failure to hold an exit conference does not preclude the department from issuing an assessment.

(d) The department may adopt rules to implement this subsection.

(3) The department may correct by credit or refund any overpayment of tax, penalty, or interest revealed by an audit and shall make assessment of any deficiency in tax, penalty, or interest determined to be due.

(4) Notwithstanding ~~the provisions of~~ s. 215.26, the department shall offset the overpayment of any tax during an audit period against a deficiency of any tax, penalty, or interest determined to be due during the same audit period.

(5) After the application of subsection (4), if the department's audit finds that the tax paid is more than the correct amount, the department must refund the overpayment that is within the applicable period provided by s. 215.26. Such action by the department does not prevent a taxpayer from challenging the amount of the refund pursuant to chapters 72 and 120 or applying for a refund of additional tax within the applicable period.

Section 16. Section 213.345, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

213.345 Tolling of periods during an audit.—The limitations in s. 95.091(3) and the period for filing a claim for refund as required by s. 215.26(2) are ~~shall be~~ tolled for a period of 1 year if the Department of Revenue has, on or after July 1, 1999, issued a notice of intent to conduct an audit or investigation of the taxpayer's account within the applicable period of time. The 1-year period is tolled upon receipt of written objections to the subpoena and for the entire pendency of any action that seeks an order to enforce compliance with or to challenge any subpoena issued by the department compelling the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of books, records, written materials, and electronically recorded information. The department must commence an audit within 120 days after it issues a notice of intent to conduct an audit, unless the taxpayer requests a delay. If the taxpayer does not request a delay and the department does not begin the audit within 120 days after issuing the notice, the tolling period terminates ~~shall terminate~~ unless the taxpayer and the department enter into an agreement to extend the period pursuant to s. 213.23. If the department issues a notice explaining its audit findings under s. 213.34(2)(a) based on an estimate because the taxpayer has failed or refuses to provide records, the audit will be deemed to have commenced for purposes of this section. In the event the department issues an assessment beyond the tolling period, the assessment will be considered late and the assessment shall be reduced by the amount of those taxes, penalties, and interest for reporting periods outside of the limitations period, as modified by any other tolling or extension provisions.

Section 17. Subsections (1), (3), and (6) of section 213.67, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

213.67 Garnishment.—

(1) If a person is delinquent in the payment of any taxes,

604478

939 penalties, ~~and~~ interest, additional daily accrued interest, 940 costs, and fees owed to the department, the executive director 941 or his or her designee may give notice of the amount of such 942 delinquency by certified or registered mail, by personal 943 service, or by electronic means, including, but not limited to, 944 facsimile transmissions, electronic data interchange, or use of 945 the Internet, to all persons having in their possession or under 946 their control any credits or personal property, exclusive of 947 wages, belonging to the delinquent taxpayer, or owing any debts 948 to such delinquent taxpayer at the time of receipt by them of 949 such notice. Thereafter, any person ~~who has been~~ notified may 950 not transfer or make any other disposition of such credits, 951 other personal property, or debts until the executive director 952 or his or her designee consents to a transfer or disposition or 953 until 60 days after the receipt of such notice. However, the 954 credits, other personal property, or debts that exceed the 955 delinquent amount stipulated in the notice are not subject to 956 this section, wherever held, if the taxpayer does not have a 957 prior history of tax delinquencies. If during the effective 958 period of the notice to withhold, any person so notified makes 959 any transfer or disposition of the property or debts required to 960 be withheld under this section, he or she is liable to the state 961 for any indebtedness owed to the department by the person with 962 respect to whose obligation the notice was given to the extent 963 of the value of the property or the amount of the debts thus 964 transferred or paid if, solely by reason of such transfer or 965 disposition, the state is unable to recover the indebtedness of 966 the person with respect to whose obligation the notice was 967 given. If the delinquent taxpayer contests the intended levy in circuit court or under chapter 120, the notice under this section remains effective until that final resolution of the contest. Any financial institution receiving such notice maintains ~~will maintain~~ a right of setoff for any transaction involving a debit card occurring on or before the date of receipt of such notice.

(3) During the last 30 days of the 60-day period set forth in subsection (1), the executive director or his or her designee may levy upon such credits, other personal property, or debts. The levy must be accomplished by delivery of a notice of levy by certified or registered mail, by personal service, or by electronic means, including, but not limited to, facsimile transmission or electronic data exchange. Upon receipt of the notice of levy, ~~which~~ the person possessing the credits, other personal property, or debts shall transfer them to the department or pay to the department the amount owed to the delinquent taxpayer.

(6)(a) Levy may be made under subsection (3) upon credits, other personal property, or debt of any person with respect to any unpaid tax, penalties, ~~and~~ interest, additional daily accrued interest, costs, and fees only after the executive director or his or her designee has notified such person in writing of the intention to make such levy.

(b) No less than 30 days before the day of the levy, the notice of intent to levy required under paragraph (a) must ~~shall~~ be given in person or sent by certified or registered mail to the person’s last known address.

(c) The notice required in paragraph (a) must include a brief statement that sets forth in simple and nontechnical

terms:

1. The provisions of this section relating to levy and sale of property;

2. The procedures applicable to the levy under this section;

3. The administrative and judicial appeals available to the taxpayer with respect to such levy and sale, and the procedures relating to such appeals; and

4. Any ~~The~~ alternatives~~, if any,~~ available to taxpayers which could prevent levy on the property.

Section 18. Section 220.42, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

220.42 Methods of accounting.—

(1) For purposes of this code, a taxpayer's method of accounting must ~~shall~~ be the same as such taxpayer's method of accounting for federal income tax purposes~~, except as provided in subsection (3)~~. If no method of accounting has been regularly used by a taxpayer, net income for purposes of this code must ~~shall~~ be computed by the ~~such~~ method that ~~as in the opinion of~~ the department determines most fairly reflects income.

(2) If a taxpayer's method of accounting is changed for federal income tax purposes, the taxpayer's method of accounting for purposes of this code must ~~shall~~ be similarly changed.

~~(3) Any taxpayer which has elected for federal income tax purposes to report any portion of its income on the completed contract method of accounting under Treasury Regulation 1.451-3(b)(2) may elect to return the income so reported on the percentage of completion method of accounting under Treasury Regulation 1.451-3(b)(1), provided the taxpayer regularly~~

604478

~~maintains its books of account and reports to its shareholders on the percentage of completion method. The election provided by this subsection shall be allowed only if it is made, in such manner as the department may prescribe, not later than the due date, including any extensions thereof, for filing a return for the taxpayer's first taxable year under this code in which a portion of its income is returned on the completed contract method of accounting for federal tax purposes. An election made pursuant to this subsection shall apply to all subsequent taxable years of the taxpayers unless the department consents in writing to its revocation.~~

Section 19. Subsection (4) is added to section 220.735, Florida Statutes, to read:

220.735 Production of witnesses and records.—

(4) The failure of a taxpayer to provide documents available to, or required to be kept by, the taxpayer and requested by a subpoena issued under this section creates a rebuttable presumption that the resulting proposed final agency action by the department, as to the requested documents, is correct and that the requested documents not produced by the taxpayer would be adverse to the taxpayer's position as to the proposed final agency action. If a taxpayer fails to provide documents requested by a subpoena issued under this section, the department may determine the amount of tax due according to its best judgement and may issue a notice of deficiency to the taxpayer, setting forth the amount of tax, interest, and any penalties proposed to be assessed. The department shall inform the taxpayer of the reason for the estimate and the information and methodology used to derive the estimate. The assessment shall be considered prima facie correct, and the taxpayer shall have the burden of showing any error in it.

Section 20. Paragraph (e) of subsection (3) of section 443.131, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

443.131 Contributions.—

(3) VARIATION OF CONTRIBUTION RATES BASED ON BENEFIT EXPERIENCE.—

(e) Assignment of variations from the standard rate.—

1. As used in this paragraph, the terms "total benefit payments," "benefits paid to an individual," and "benefits charged to the employment record of an employer" mean the amount of benefits paid to individuals multiplied by:

a. For benefits paid before ~~prior to~~ July 1, 2007, 1.

b. For benefits paid during the period beginning on July 1, 2007, and ending March 31, 2011, 0.90.

c. For benefits paid after March 31, 2011, 1.

d. For benefits paid during the period beginning April 1, 2020, and ending December 31, 2020, 0.

e. For benefits paid during the period beginning January 1, 2021, and ending June 30, 2021, 1, except as otherwise adjusted in accordance with paragraph (f).

2. For the calculation of contribution rates effective January 1, 2012, and thereafter:

a. The tax collection service provider shall assign a variation from the standard rate of contributions for each calendar year to each eligible employer. In determining the contribution rate, varying from the standard rate to be assigned each employer, adjustment factors computed under sub-sub-subparagraphs (I)-(IV) are added to the benefit ratio. This addition shall be accomplished in two steps by adding a variable adjustment factor and a final adjustment factor. The sum of these adjustment factors computed under sub-sub-subparagraphs (I)-(IV) shall first be algebraically summed. The sum of these adjustment factors shall next be divided by a gross benefit ratio determined as follows: Total benefit payments for the 3-year period described in subparagraph (b)3. are charged to employers eligible for a variation from the standard rate, minus excess payments for the same period, divided by taxable payroll entering into the computation of individual benefit ratios for the calendar year for which the contribution rate is being computed. The ratio of the sum of the adjustment factors computed under sub-sub-subparagraphs (I)-(IV) to the gross benefit ratio is multiplied by each individual benefit ratio that is less than the maximum contribution rate to obtain variable adjustment factors; except that if the sum of an employer’s individual benefit ratio and variable adjustment factor exceeds the maximum contribution rate, the variable adjustment factor is reduced in order for the sum to equal the maximum contribution rate. The variable adjustment factor for each of these employers is multiplied by his or her taxable payroll entering into the computation of his or her benefit ratio. The sum of these products is divided by the taxable payroll of the employers who entered into the computation of their benefit ratios. The resulting ratio is subtracted from the sum of the adjustment factors computed under sub-sub-subparagraphs (I)-(IV) to obtain the final adjustment factor. The variable adjustment factors and the final adjustment factor must be computed to five decimal places and rounded to the fourth decimal place. This final adjustment factor is added to the variable adjustment factor and benefit ratio of each employer to obtain each employer's contribution rate. An employer's contribution rate may not, however, be rounded to less than 0.1 percent. Regardless of whether subparagraph 5. is repealed as provided in subparagraph 6., in determining the contribution rate for rates effective January 1, 2021, through December 31, 2025, varying from the standard rate that would otherwise ~~to~~ be assigned, the computation shall exclude any benefit that is excluded by the multipliers under subparagraph (b)2. and subparagraph 1. and ~~The computation of the contribution rate, varying from the standard rate to be assigned,~~ shall also exclude any benefit paid as a result of a governmental order related to COVID-19 to close or reduce capacity of a business before the date of the repeal. In addition, the contribution rate for the 2021 and 2022 calendar years shall be calculated without the application of the positive adjustment factor in sub-sub-subparagraph (III).

(I) An adjustment factor for noncharge benefits is computed to the fifth decimal place and rounded to the fourth decimal place by dividing the amount of noncharge benefits during the 3-year period described in subparagraph (b)3. by the taxable payroll of employers eligible for a variation from the standard rate who have a benefit ratio for the current year which is less than the maximum contribution rate. For purposes of computing this adjustment factor, the taxable payroll of these employers is the taxable payrolls for the 3 years ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of the same calendar year. As used in this sub-sub-subparagraph, the term "noncharge benefits" means benefits paid to an individual, as adjusted pursuant to subparagraph (b)2. and subparagraph 1., from the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund which were not charged to the employment record of any employer, but excluding any benefit paid as a result of a governmental order related to COVID-19 to close or reduce capacity of a business.

(II) An adjustment factor for excess payments is computed to the fifth decimal place, and rounded to the fourth decimal place by dividing the total excess payments during the 3-year period described in subparagraph (b)3. by the taxable payroll of employers eligible for a variation from the standard rate who have a benefit ratio for the current year which is less than the maximum contribution rate. For purposes of computing this adjustment factor, the taxable payroll of these employers is the same figure used to compute the adjustment factor for noncharge benefits under sub-sub-subparagraph (I). As used in this sub-subparagraph, the term "excess payments" means the amount of benefits charged to the employment record of an employer, as adjusted pursuant to subparagraph (b)2. and subparagraph 1., during the 3-year period described in subparagraph (b)3., but excluding any benefit paid as a result of a governmental order related to COVID-19 to close or reduce capacity of a business, less the product of the maximum contribution rate and the employer's taxable payroll for the 3 years ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of the same calendar year. As used in this sub-sub-subparagraph, the term "total excess payments" means the sum of the individual employer excess payments for

1171 those employers that were eligible for assignment of a 1172 contribution rate different from the standard rate.
1173 (III) With respect to computing a positive adjustment 1174 factor:
1175 (A) Beginning January 1, 2012, if the balance of the 1176 Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund on September 30 of the 1177 calendar year immediately preceding the calendar year for which 1178 the contribution rate is being computed is less than 4 percent
1179 of the taxable payrolls for the year ending June 30 as reported 1180 to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of that 1181 calendar year, a positive adjustment factor shall be computed.
1182 The positive adjustment factor is computed annually to the fifth 1183 decimal place and rounded to the fourth decimal place by 1184 dividing the sum of the total taxable payrolls for the year
1185 ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the 1186 tax collection service provider by September 30 of that calendar 1187 year into a sum equal to one-fifth of the difference between the 1188 balance of the fund as of September 30 of that calendar year and 1189 the sum of 5 percent of the total taxable payrolls for that 1190 year. The positive adjustment factor remains in effect for 1191 subsequent years until the balance of the Unemployment
1192 Compensation Trust Fund as of September 30 of the year
1193 immediately preceding the effective date of the contribution 1194 rate equals or exceeds 4 percent of the taxable payrolls for the 1195 year ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to 1196 the tax collection service provider by September 30 of that 1197 calendar year.
1198 (B) Beginning January 1, 2018, and for each year
1199 thereafter, the positive adjustment shall be computed by dividing the sum of the total taxable payrolls for the year ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of that calendar year into a sum equal to one-fourth of the difference between the balance of the fund as of September 30 of that calendar year and the sum of 5 percent of the total taxable payrolls for that year. The positive adjustment factor remains in effect for subsequent years until the balance of the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund as of September 30 of the year immediately preceding the effective date of the contribution rate equals or exceeds 4 percent of the taxable payrolls for the year ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of that calendar year.

(IV) If, beginning January 1, 2015, and each year thereafter, the balance of the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund as of September 30 of the year immediately preceding the calendar year for which the contribution rate is being computed exceeds 5 percent of the taxable payrolls for the year ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of that calendar year, a negative adjustment factor must be computed. The negative adjustment factor shall be computed annually beginning on January 1, 2015, and each year thereafter, to the fifth decimal place and rounded to the fourth decimal place by dividing the sum of the total taxable payrolls for the year ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of the calendar year into a sum equal to one-fourth of the difference between the balance of the fund as of September 30 of the current calendar year and 5 percent of the total taxable payrolls of that year. The negative adjustment factor remains in effect for subsequent years until the balance of the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund as of September 30 of the year immediately preceding the effective date of the contribution rate is less than 5 percent, but more than 4 percent of the taxable payrolls for the year ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of that calendar year. The negative adjustment authorized by this section is suspended in any calendar year in which repayment of the principal amount of an advance received from the federal Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund under 42 U.S.C. s. 1321 is due to the Federal Government.

(V) The maximum contribution rate that may be assigned to an employer is 5.4 percent, except employers participating in an approved short-time compensation plan may be assigned a maximum contribution rate that is 1 percent greater than the maximum contribution rate for other employers in any calendar year in which short-time compensation benefits are charged to the employer’s employment record.

(VI) As used in this subsection, “taxable payroll” shall be determined by excluding any part of the remuneration paid to an individual by an employer for employment during a calendar year in excess of the first $7,000. Beginning January 1, 2012, “taxable payroll” shall be determined by excluding any part of the remuneration paid to an individual by an employer for employment during a calendar year as described in s. 443.1217(2). For the purposes of the employer rate calculation that will take effect in January 1, 2012, and in January 1, 2013, the tax collection service provider shall use the data available for taxable payroll from 2009 based on excluding any part of the remuneration paid to an individual by an employer for employment during a calendar year in excess of the first $7,000, and from 2010 and 2011, the data available for taxable payroll based on excluding any part of the remuneration paid to an individual by an employer for employment during a calendar year in excess of the first $8,500.

b. If the transfer of an employer's employment record to an employing unit under paragraph (g) which, before the transfer, was an employer, the tax collection service provider shall recompute a benefit ratio for the successor employer based on the combined employment records and reassign an appropriate contribution rate to the successor employer effective on the first day of the calendar quarter immediately after the effective date of the transfer.

3. The tax collection service provider shall reissue rates for the 2021 calendar year. However, an employer shall continue to timely file its employer's quarterly reports and pay the contributions due in a timely manner in accordance with the rules of the Department of Economic Opportunity. The Department of Revenue shall post the revised rates on its website to enable employers to securely review the revised rates. For contributions for the first quarter of the 2021 calendar year, if any employer remits to the tax collection service provider an amount in excess of the amount that would be due as calculated pursuant to this paragraph, the tax collection service provider shall refund the excess amount from the amount erroneously collected. Notwithstanding s. 443.141(6), refunds issued through August 31, 2021, for first quarter 2021 contributions must be paid from the General Revenue Fund.

4. The tax collection service provider shall calculate and assign contribution rates effective January 1, 2022, through December 31, 2022, excluding any benefit charge that is excluded by the multipliers under subparagraph (b)2. and subparagraph 1.; without the application of the positive adjustment factor in sub-sub-subparagraph 2.a.(III); and without the inclusion of any benefit charge directly related to COVID-19 as a result of a governmental order to close or reduce capacity of a business, as determined by the Department of Economic Opportunity, for each employer ~~who is~~ eligible for a variation from the standard rate pursuant to paragraph (d). The Department of Economic Opportunity shall provide the tax collection service provider with all necessary benefit charge information by August 1, 2021, including specific information for adjustments related to COVID-19 charges resulting from a governmental order to close or reduce capacity of a business, to enable the tax collection service provider to calculate and issue tax rates effective January 1, 2022. The tax collection service provider shall calculate and post rates for the 2022 calendar year by March 1, 2022.

5. Subject to subparagraph 6., the tax collection service provider shall calculate and assign contribution rates effective January 1, 2023, through December 31, 2025, excluding any benefit charge that is excluded by the multipliers under subparagraph (b)2. and subparagraph 1.; without the application of the positive adjustment factor in sub-sub-subparagraph

2.a.(III); and without the inclusion of any benefit charge directly related to COVID-19 as a result of a governmental order to close or reduce capacity of a business, as determined by the Department of Economic Opportunity, for each employer ~~who is~~ eligible for a variation from the standard rate pursuant to paragraph (d). The Department of Economic Opportunity shall provide the tax collection service provider with all necessary benefit charge information by August 1 of each year, including specific information for adjustments related to COVID-19 charges resulting from a governmental order to close or reduce capacity of a business, to enable the tax collection service provider to calculate and issue tax rates effective the following January.

6. If the balance of the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund on June 30 of any year exceeds $4,071,519,600, subparagraph 5. is repealed for rates effective the following years. The Office of Economic and Demographic Research shall advise the tax collection service provider of the balance of the trust fund on June 30 by August 1 of that year. After the repeal of subparagraph 5. and notwithstanding the dates specified in that subparagraph, the tax collection service provider shall calculate and assign contribution rates for each subsequent calendar year as otherwise provided in this section.

Section 21. Paragraph (a) of subsection (9) of section 443.171, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

443.171 Department of Economic Opportunity and commission; powers and duties; records and reports; proceedings; state-federal cooperation.—

(9) STATE-FEDERAL COOPERATION.—

(a)1. In the administration of this chapter, the Department of Economic Opportunity and its tax collection service provider shall cooperate with the United States Department of Labor to the fullest extent consistent with this chapter and shall take those actions, through the adoption of appropriate rules, administrative methods, and standards, necessary to secure for this state all advantages available under the provisions of federal law relating to reemployment assistance.

2. In the administration of the provisions in s. 443.1115, which are enacted to conform with the Federal-State Extended Unemployment Compensation Act of 1970, the department shall take those actions necessary to ensure that those provisions are interpreted and applied to meet the requirements of the federal act as interpreted by the United States Department of Labor and to secure for this state the full reimbursement of the federal share of extended benefits paid under this chapter which is reimbursable under the federal act.

3. The department and its tax collection service provider shall comply with the regulations of the United States Department of Labor relating to the receipt or expenditure by this state of funds granted under federal law; shall submit the reports in the form and containing the information the United States Department of Labor requires; and shall comply with directions of the United States Department of Labor necessary to assure the correctness and verification of these reports.

4. The department and its tax collection service provider shall comply with the requirements of the federal Treasury Offset Program as it pertains to the recovery of unemployment compensation debts as required by the United States Department of Labor pursuant to 26 U.S.C. s. 6402. The department or the tax collection service provider may adopt rules to implement this subparagraph.

Section 22. This act shall take effect July 1, 2022.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Paragraph (c) is added to subsection (1) of section 72.011, Florida Statutes, to read:

72.011 Jurisdiction of circuit courts in specific tax matters; administrative hearings and appeals; time for commencing action; parties; deposits.—

(c) A taxpayer may not submit records pertaining to an assessment or refund claim as evidence in any proceeding under this section if those records were available to, or required to be kept by, the taxpayer and were not timely provided to the Department of Revenue after a written request for the records during the audit or protest period and before submission of a petition for hearing pursuant to chapter 120 or the filing of an action under paragraph (a), unless the taxpayer demonstrates to the court or presiding officer good cause for its failure to previously provide such records to the department.

Section 2. Paragraph (b) of subsection (14) of section 120.80, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

120.80 Exceptions and special requirements; agencies.—

(14) DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE.—

(b) Taxpayer contest proceedings.—

1. In any administrative proceeding brought pursuant to this chapter as authorized by s. 72.011(1), the taxpayer shall be designated the "petitioner" and the Department of Revenue shall be designated the "respondent," except that for actions contesting an assessment or denial of refund under chapter 207, the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles shall be designated the "respondent," and for actions contesting an assessment or denial of refund under chapters 210, 550, 561, 562, 563, 564, and 565, the Department of Business and Professional Regulation shall be designated the "respondent."

2. In any such administrative proceeding, the applicable department's burden of proof, except as otherwise specifically provided by general law, shall be limited to a showing that an assessment has been made against the taxpayer and the factual and legal grounds upon which the applicable department made the assessment.

3.a. Before ~~Prior to~~ filing a petition under this chapter, the taxpayer shall pay to the applicable department the amount of taxes, penalties, and accrued interest assessed by that department which are not being contested by the taxpayer.

Failure to pay the uncontested amount shall result in the dismissal of the action and imposition of an additional penalty of 25 percent of the amount taxed.

b. The requirements of s. 72.011(2) and (3)(a) are jurisdictional for any action under this chapter to contest an assessment or denial of refund by the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles, or the Department of Business and Professional Regulation.

4. Except as provided in s. 220.719, further collection and enforcement of the contested amount of an assessment for nonpayment or underpayment of any tax, interest, or penalty shall be stayed beginning on the date a petition is filed. Upon entry of a final order, an agency may resume collection and enforcement action.

5. The prevailing party, in a proceeding under ss. 120.569 and 120.57 authorized by s. 72.011(1), may recover all legal costs incurred in such proceeding, including reasonable attorney ~~attorney's~~ fees, if the losing party fails to raise a justiciable issue of law or fact in its petition or response.

6. Upon review pursuant to s. 120.68 of final agency action concerning an assessment of tax, penalty, or interest with respect to a tax imposed under chapter 212, or the denial of a refund of any tax imposed under chapter 212, if the court finds that the Department of Revenue improperly rejected or modified a conclusion of law, the court may award reasonable attorney ~~attorney's~~ fees and reasonable costs of the appeal to the prevailing appellant.

7. A taxpayer may not submit records pertaining to an assessment or refund claim as evidence in any proceeding brought pursuant to this chapter as authorized by s. 72.011(1) if those records were available to, or required to be kept by, the taxpayer and were not timely provided to the Department of Revenue after a written request for the records during the audit or protest period and before submission of a petition for hearing under this chapter, unless the taxpayer demonstrates good cause to the presiding officer for its failure to previously provide such records to the department.

Section 3. Paragraph (f) is added to subsection (4) of section 202.34, Florida Statutes, and subsection (6) is added to that section, to read:

202.34 Records required to be kept; power to inspect; audit procedure.—

(f) Once the notification required by paragraph (a) is issued, the department, at any time, may respond to contact initiated by a taxpayer to discuss the audit, and the taxpayer may provide records or other information, electronically or otherwise, to the department. The department may examine, at any time, documentation and other information voluntarily provided by the taxpayer, its representative, or other parties; information already in the department's possession; or publicly available information. The department's examination of such information does not mean an audit has commenced if the review takes place within 60 days after the notice of intent to conduct an audit. The requirement in paragraph (a) does not limit the department in making initial contact with the taxpayer to confirm receipt of the notification or to confirm the date that the audit will begin. If the taxpayer has not previously waived the 60-day notice period and believes the department commenced the audit prior to the 61st day, the taxpayer must object in writing to the department before the issuance of an assessment or the objection is waived. If the objection is not waived and it is determined that the audit was commenced before the 61st day after the issuance of the notice of intent to audit, the tolling period provided for in s. 213.345 is considered lifted for the number of days equal to the difference between the date the audit commenced and the 61st day after the date of the department's notice of intent to audit.

(6) The department may adopt rules to administer this section.

Section 4. Paragraph (a) of subsection (4) of section 202.36, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

202.36 Departmental powers; hearings; distress warrants; bonds; subpoenas and subpoenas duces tecum.—

(4)(a) The department may issue subpoenas or subpoenas duces tecum compelling the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of books, records, written materials, and electronically recorded information. Subpoenas must be issued with the written and signed approval of the executive director or his or her designee on a written and sworn application by any employee of the department. The application must set forth the reason for the application, the name of the person subpoenaed, the time and place of appearance of the witness, and a description of any books, records, or electronically recorded information to be produced, together with a statement by the applicant that the department has unsuccessfully attempted other reasonable means of securing information and that the testimony of the witness or the written or electronically recorded materials sought in the subpoena are necessary for the collection of taxes, penalty, or interest or the enforcement of the taxes levied or administered under this chapter. A subpoena shall be served in the manner provided by law and by the Florida Rules of Civil Procedure and shall be returnable only during regular business hours and at least 20 calendar days after the date of service of the subpoena. Any subpoena to which this subsection applies must identify the taxpayer to whom the subpoena relates and to whom the records pertain and must provide other information to enable the person subpoenaed to locate the records required under the subpoena. The department shall give notice to the taxpayer to whom the subpoena relates within 3 days after the day on which the service of the subpoena is made. Within 14 days after service of the subpoena, the person to whom the subpoena is directed may serve written objection to the inspection or copying of any of the designated materials. If objection is made, the department may not inspect or copy the materials, except pursuant to an order of the circuit court. If an objection is made, the department may petition any circuit court for an order to comply with the subpoena. The subpoena must contain a written notice of the right to object to the subpoena. Every subpoena served upon the witness or custodian of records must be accompanied by a copy of ~~the provisions of~~ this subsection. If a person refuses to obey a subpoena or subpoena duces tecum, the department may apply to any circuit court of this state to enforce compliance with the subpoena. Witnesses are entitled to be paid a mileage allowance and witness fees as authorized for witnesses in civil cases. The failure of a taxpayer to provide documents available to, or required to be kept by, the taxpayer and requested by a subpoena issued under this section creates a rebuttable presumption that the resulting proposed final agency action by the department, as to the requested documents, is correct and that the requested documents not produced by the taxpayer would be adverse to the taxpayer's position as to the proposed final agency action. If a taxpayer fails to provide documents requested by a subpoena issued under this section, the department may make an assessment from an estimate based upon the best information then available to it for the taxable period of retail sales of the taxpayer, together with any accrued interest and penalties. The department shall inform the taxpayer of the reason for the estimate and the information and methodology used to derive the estimate. Such assessment shall be deemed prima facie correct, and the burden to show the contrary rests upon the dealer or other person. The presumption and authority to use estimates for the purpose of assessment under this paragraph do not apply solely because a taxpayer or its representative requests a conference to negotiate the production of a sample of records demanded by a subpoena.

Section 5. Subsection (4) of section 206.14, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

206.14 Inspection of records; audits; hearings; forms; rules and regulations.—

(4) If any person unreasonably refuses access to such records, books, papers or other documents, or equipment, or if any person fails or refuses to obey such subpoenas duces tecum or to testify, except for lawful reasons, before the department or any of its authorized agents, the department shall certify the names and facts to the clerk of the circuit court of any county; and the circuit court shall enter such order against such person in the premises as the enforcement of this law and justice requires. The failure of a taxpayer to provide documents available to, or required to be kept by, the taxpayer and requested by a subpoena issued under this section creates a rebuttable presumption that the resulting proposed final agency action by the department, as to the requested documents, is correct and that the requested documents not produced by the taxpayer would be adverse to the taxpayer's position as to the proposed final agency action. If a taxpayer fails to provide documents requested by a subpoena issued under this section, the department may make an assessment from an estimate of the taxpayer's liability based upon the best information then available to it. The department shall inform the taxpayer of the reason for the estimate and the information and methodology used to derive the estimate. Such assessment shall be deemed prima facie correct, and the burden to show the contrary rests upon the dealer or other person. The presumption and authority to use estimates for the purpose of assessment under this paragraph do not apply solely because a taxpayer or its representative requests a conference to negotiate the production of a sample of records demanded by a subpoena.

Section 6. Subsection (1) of section 206.9931, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

206.9931 Administrative provisions.—

(1) Any person producing in, importing into, or causing to be imported into this state taxable pollutants for sale, use, or otherwise and who is not registered or licensed pursuant to other parts of this chapter is hereby required to register and become licensed for the purposes of this part. Such person shall register as either a producer or importer of pollutants and shall be subject to all applicable registration and licensing provisions of this chapter, as if fully set out in this part and made expressly applicable to the taxes imposed herein, including, but not limited to, ss. 206.02, 206.021, 206.022, 206.025, 206.03, 206.04, and 206.05. For the purposes of this section, registrations required exclusively for this part shall be made within 90 days of July 1, 1986, for existing businesses, or before ~~prior to~~ the first production or importation of pollutants for businesses created after July 1, 1986. ~~The fee for registration shall be $30.~~ Failure to timely register is a misdemeanor of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083.

Section 7. Paragraph (b) of subsection (3) of section 211.125, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

211.125 Administration of law; books and records; powers of the department; refunds; enforcement provisions; confidentiality.—

(3)

(b) The department may ~~shall have the power to~~ inspect or examine the books, records, or papers of any operator, producer, purchaser, royalty interest owner, taxpayer, or transporter of taxable products which are reasonably required for the purposes of this part and may require such person to testify under oath or affirmation or to answer competent questions touching upon such person's business or production of taxable products in this

~~the~~ state.

1. The department may issue subpoenas to compel third parties to testify or to produce records or other evidence held by them.

2. Any duly authorized representative of the department may administer an oath or affirmation.

3. If any person fails to comply with a request of the department for the inspection of records, fails to give testimony or respond to competent questions, or fails to comply with a subpoena, a circuit court having jurisdiction over such person may, upon application by the department, issue orders necessary to secure compliance. The failure of a taxpayer to provide documents available to, or required to be kept by, the taxpayer and requested by a subpoena issued under this section creates a rebuttable presumption that the resulting proposed final agency action by the department, as to the requested documents, is correct and that the requested documents not produced by the taxpayer would be adverse to the taxpayer's position as to the proposed final agency action. If a taxpayer fails to provide documents requested by a subpoena issued under this section, the department may make an assessment from an estimate based upon the best information then available to it. The department shall inform the taxpayer of the reason for the estimate and the information and methodology used to derive the estimate. Such assessment shall be considered prima facie correct, and the taxpayer shall have the burden of showing any error in it.

Section 8. Paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section 212.05, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

212.05 Sales, storage, use tax.—It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that every person is exercising a taxable privilege who engages in the business of selling tangible personal property at retail in this state, including the business of making or facilitating remote sales; who rents or furnishes any of the things or services taxable under this chapter; or who stores for use or consumption in this state any item or article of tangible personal property as defined herein and who leases or rents such property within the state.

(1) For the exercise of such privilege, a tax is levied on each taxable transaction or incident, which tax is due and payable as follows:

(a)1.a. At the rate of 6 percent of the sales price of each item or article of tangible personal property when sold at retail in this state, computed on each taxable sale for the purpose of remitting the amount of tax due the state, and including each and every retail sale.

b. Each occasional or isolated sale of an aircraft, boat, mobile home, or motor vehicle of a class or type which is required to be registered, licensed, titled, or documented in this state or by the United States Government is ~~shall be~~ subject to tax at the rate provided in this paragraph. The department shall by rule adopt any nationally recognized publication for valuation of used motor vehicles as the reference price list for any used motor vehicle which is required to be licensed pursuant to s. 320.08(1), (2), (3)(a), (b), (c), or (e), or (9). If any party to an occasional or isolated sale of such a vehicle reports to the tax collector a sales price which is less than 80 percent of the average loan price for the specified model and year of such vehicle as listed in the most recent reference price list, the tax levied under this paragraph shall be computed by the department on such average loan price unless the parties to the sale have provided to the tax collector an affidavit signed by each party, or other substantial proof, stating the actual sales price. Any party to such sale who reports a sales price less than the actual sales price is guilty of a misdemeanor of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083. The department shall collect or attempt to collect from such party any delinquent sales taxes. In addition, such party shall pay any tax due and any penalty and interest assessed plus a penalty equal to twice the amount of the additional tax owed. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Department of Revenue may waive or compromise any penalty imposed pursuant to this subparagraph.

2. This paragraph does not apply to the sale of a boat or aircraft by or through a registered dealer under this chapter to a purchaser who, at the time of taking delivery, is a nonresident of this state, does not make his or her permanent place of abode in this state, and is not engaged in carrying on in this state any employment, trade, business, or profession in which the boat or aircraft will be used in this state, or is a corporation none of the officers or directors of which is a resident of, or makes his or her permanent place of abode in, this state, or is a noncorporate entity that has no individual vested with authority to participate in the management, direction, or control of the entity's affairs who is a resident of, or makes his or her permanent abode in, this state. For purposes of this exemption, either a registered dealer acting on his or her own behalf as seller, a registered dealer acting as broker on behalf of a seller, or a registered dealer acting as broker on behalf of the nonresident purchaser may be deemed to be the selling dealer. This exemption is ~~shall~~ not ~~be~~ allowed unless:

a. The nonresident purchaser removes a qualifying boat, as described in sub-subparagraph f., from this ~~the~~ state within 90 days after the date of purchase or extension, or the nonresident purchaser removes a nonqualifying boat or an aircraft from this state within 10 days after the date of purchase or, when the boat or aircraft is repaired or altered, within 20 days after completion of the repairs or alterations; or if the aircraft will be registered in a foreign jurisdiction and:

(I) Application for the aircraft's registration is properly filed with a civil airworthiness authority of a foreign jurisdiction within 10 days after the date of purchase;

(II) The nonresident purchaser removes the aircraft from this ~~the~~ state to a foreign jurisdiction within 10 days after the date the aircraft is registered by the applicable foreign airworthiness authority; and

(III) The aircraft is operated in this ~~the~~ state solely to remove it from this ~~the~~ state to a foreign jurisdiction.

For purposes of this sub-subparagraph, the term "foreign jurisdiction" means any jurisdiction outside of the United States or any of its territories;

b. The nonresident purchaser, within 90 days after ~~from~~ the date of departure, provides the department with written proof that the nonresident purchaser licensed, registered, titled, or documented the boat or aircraft outside this ~~the~~ state. If such written proof is unavailable, within 90 days the nonresident purchaser must ~~shall~~ provide proof that the nonresident purchaser applied for such license, title, registration, or documentation. The nonresident purchaser shall forward to the department proof of title, license, registration, or documentation upon receipt;

c. The nonresident purchaser, within 30 days after removing the boat or aircraft from this state ~~Florida~~, furnishes the department with proof of removal in the form of receipts for fuel, dockage, slippage, tie-down, or hangaring from outside of this state ~~Florida~~. The information so provided must clearly and specifically identify the boat or aircraft;

d. The selling dealer, within 30 days after the date of sale, provides to the department a copy of the sales invoice, closing statement, bills of sale, and the original affidavit signed by the nonresident purchaser affirming that the nonresident purchaser qualifies for exemption from sales tax pursuant to this subparagraph and attesting that the nonresident purchaser will provide the documentation required to substantiate the exemption claimed under this subparagraph ~~attesting that he or she has read the provisions of this section~~;

e. The seller makes a copy of the affidavit a part of his or her record for as long as required by s. 213.35; and

f. Unless the nonresident purchaser of a boat of 5 net tons of admeasurement or larger intends to remove the boat from this state within 10 days after the date of purchase or when the boat is repaired or altered, within 20 days after completion of the repairs or alterations, the nonresident purchaser applies to the selling dealer for a decal which authorizes 90 days after the date of purchase for removal of the boat. The nonresident purchaser of a qualifying boat may apply to the selling dealer within 60 days after the date of purchase for an extension decal that authorizes the boat to remain in this state for an additional 90 days, but not more than a total of 180 days, before the nonresident purchaser is required to pay the tax imposed by this chapter. The department is authorized to issue decals in advance to dealers. The number of decals issued in advance to a dealer shall be consistent with the volume of the dealer's past sales of boats which qualify under this sub-subparagraph. The selling dealer or his or her agent shall mark and affix the decals to qualifying boats in the manner prescribed by the department, before delivery of the boat.

(I) The department is hereby authorized to charge dealers a fee sufficient to recover the costs of decals issued, except the extension decal shall cost $425.

(II) The proceeds from the sale of decals will be deposited into the administrative trust fund.

(III) Decals shall display information to identify the boat as a qualifying boat under this sub-subparagraph, including, but not limited to, the decal's date of expiration.

(IV) The department is authorized to require dealers who purchase decals to file reports with the department and may prescribe all necessary records by rule. All such records are subject to inspection by the department.

(V) Any dealer or his or her agent who issues a decal falsely, fails to affix a decal, mismarks the expiration date of a decal, or fails to properly account for decals will be considered prima facie to have committed a fraudulent act to evade the tax and will be liable for payment of the tax plus a mandatory penalty of 200 percent of the tax, and shall be liable for fine and punishment as provided by law for a conviction of a misdemeanor of the first degree, as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083.

(VI) Any nonresident purchaser of a boat who removes a decal before permanently removing the boat from this ~~the~~ state, or defaces, changes, modifies, or alters a decal in a manner affecting its expiration date before its expiration, or who causes or allows the same to be done by another, will be considered prima facie to have committed a fraudulent act to evade the tax and will be liable for payment of the tax plus a mandatory penalty of 200 percent of the tax, and shall be liable for fine and punishment as provided by law for a conviction of a misdemeanor of the first degree, as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083.

(VII) The department is authorized to adopt rules necessary to administer and enforce this subparagraph and to publish the necessary forms and instructions.

(VIII) The department is hereby authorized to adopt emergency rules pursuant to s. 120.54(4) to administer and enforce ~~the provisions of~~ this subparagraph.

If the nonresident purchaser fails to remove the qualifying boat from this state within the maximum 180 days after purchase or a nonqualifying boat or an aircraft from this state within 10 days after purchase or, when the boat or aircraft is repaired or altered, within 20 days after completion of such repairs or alterations, or permits the boat or aircraft to return to this state within 6 months after ~~from~~ the date of departure, except as provided in s. 212.08(7)(fff), or if the nonresident purchaser fails to furnish the department with any of the documentation required by this subparagraph within the prescribed time period, the nonresident purchaser is ~~shall be~~ liable for use tax on the cost price of the boat or aircraft and, in addition thereto, payment of a penalty to the Department of Revenue equal to the tax payable. This penalty shall be in lieu of the penalty imposed by s. 212.12(2). The maximum 180-day period following the sale of a qualifying boat tax-exempt to a nonresident may not be tolled for any reason.

Section 9. Subsections (2) and (5) of section 212.13, Florida Statutes, are amended, and subsection (7) is added to that section, to read:

212.13 Records required to be kept; power to inspect; audit procedure.—

(2)(a) Each dealer, as defined in this chapter, shall secure, maintain, and keep as long as required by s. 213.35 a complete record of tangible personal property or services received, used, sold at retail, distributed or stored, leased or rented by said dealer, together with invoices, bills of lading, gross receipts from such sales, and other pertinent records and papers as may be required by the department for the reasonable administration of this chapter. All such records must be made available to the department at reasonable times and places and by reasonable means, including in an electronic format when so kept by the dealer. Any dealer subject to this chapter who violates this subsection commits a misdemeanor of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083. If, however, any subsequent offense involves intentional destruction of such records with an intent to evade payment of or deprive the state of any tax revenues, such subsequent offense is a felony of the third degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083.

(b)1. As used in this paragraph, the term:

a. "Dealer" means a dealer, as defined in s. 212.06, which is licensed under chapter 561.

b. "Division" means the Division of Alcoholic Beverages and Tobacco of the Department of Business and Professional Regulation.

c. "Transferor" means an entity or person, licensed under chapter 561, who sells and delivers alcoholic beverages to a dealer for purposes of resale.

2. Dealers shall maintain records of all monthly sales and all monthly purchases of alcoholic beverages and produce such records for inspection by the department. During the course of an audit, if the department has made a formal demand for such records and a dealer has failed to comply with such a demand, the department may issue a written request for such records to the dealer, allowing the dealer an additional 20 days to provide the requested records or show reasonable cause why the records cannot be produced. If the dealer fails to produce the requested records or show reasonable cause why the records cannot be produced, the department shall issue a notice of intent to suspend the dealer's resale certificate. The dealer shall then have 20 days to file a petition with the department challenging the proposed action pursuant to s. 120.569. If the dealer fails to timely file a petition or the department prevails in a proceeding challenging the notice, the department shall suspend the resale certificate. The failure of a dealer to comply with such a request is also deemed sufficient cause under s. 561.29(1)(a), and the department shall promptly notify the division and the dealer of such failure for further appropriate action by the division.

3. The department shall notify the division when a dealer's resale certificate is suspended, and shall publish a list of dealers whose resale certificates have been suspended as permitted by s. 213.053(21). The division shall include notice of such suspension in its license verification database, or provide a link to the department's published list from the division's license verification page.

4. A transferor is allowed 7 days, inclusive of any Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, after the date of publication to the department's list that the resale certificate of a dealer has been suspended to discontinue accepting orders from and delivering alcohol beverages to the dealer.

5. A transferor who sells alcoholic beverages to a dealer whose resale certificate has been suspended is not responsible for any tax, penalty, or interest due if the alcoholic beverages are delivered no more than 7 days, inclusive of any Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, after the date of publication of the suspension.

6. The department may adopt rules to implement this paragraph.

(5)(a) The department shall send written notification at least 60 days before ~~prior to~~ the date an auditor is scheduled to begin an audit, informing the taxpayer of the audit. The department is not required to give 60 days' prior notification of a forthcoming audit in any instance in which the taxpayer requests an emergency audit.

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

(b) Such written notification must ~~shall~~ contain:

1. The approximate date on which the auditor is scheduled to begin the audit.

2. A reminder that all of the records, receipts, invoices, resale certificates, and related documentation of the taxpayer must be made available to the auditor.

3. Any other requests or suggestions the department may deem necessary.

(c) Only records, receipts, invoices, resale certificates, and related documentation that ~~which~~ are available to the auditor when such audit begins are ~~shall be~~ deemed acceptable for the purposes of conducting such audit. A resale certificate containing a date before ~~prior to~~ the date the audit commences is ~~shall be~~ deemed acceptable documentation of the specific transaction or transactions which occurred in the past, for the purpose of conducting an audit.

(d) The provisions of this chapter concerning fraudulent or improper records, receipts, invoices, resale certificates, and related documentation ~~shall~~ apply when conducting any audit.

(e) The requirement in paragraph (a) of 60 days' written notification does not apply to the distress or jeopardy situations referred to in s. 212.14 or s. 212.15.

(f) Once the notification required by paragraph (a) is issued, the department, at any time, may respond to contact initiated by a taxpayer to discuss the audit, and the taxpayer may provide documentation or other information, electronically or otherwise, to the department. The department may examine, at any time, documentation and other information voluntarily provided by the taxpayer, its representative, or other parties; information already in the department's possession; or publicly available information. The department's examination of such information does not mean an audit has commenced if the review takes place within 60 days after the notice of intent to conduct an audit. The requirement in paragraph (a) does not limit the department in making initial contact with the taxpayer to confirm receipt of the notification or to confirm the date that the audit will begin. If the taxpayer has not previously waived the 60-day notice period and believes the department commenced the audit prior to the 61st day, the taxpayer must object in writing to the department before the issuance of an assessment or else the objection is waived. If the objection is not waived and it is determined that the audit was commenced before the 61st day after the issuance of the notice of intent to audit, the tolling period provided for in s. 213.345 is considered lifted for the number of days equal to the difference between the date the audit commenced and the 61st day after the date of the department's notice of intent to audit.

(7) The department may adopt rules to administer this section.

Section 10. Paragraph (a) of subsection (7) of section 212.14, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

212.14 Departmental powers; hearings; distress warrants; bonds; subpoenas and subpoenas duces tecum.—

(7)(a) For purposes of collection and enforcement of taxes, penalties, and interest levied under this chapter, the department may issue subpoenas or subpoenas duces tecum compelling the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of books, records, written materials, and electronically recorded information. Subpoenas shall be issued with the written and signed approval of the executive director or his or her designee on written and sworn application by any employee of the department. The application must set forth the reason for the application, the name of the person subpoenaed, the time and place of appearance of the witness, and a description of any books, records, or electronically recorded information to be produced, together with a statement by the applicant that the department has unsuccessfully attempted other reasonable means of securing information and that the testimony of the witness or the written or electronically recorded materials sought in the subpoena are necessary for the collection of taxes, penalty, or interest or the enforcement of the taxes levied under this chapter. A subpoena must ~~shall~~ be served in the manner provided by law and by the Florida Rules of Civil Procedure and is ~~shall be~~ returnable only during regular business hours and at least 20 calendar days after the date of service of the subpoena. Any subpoena to which this subsection applies must ~~shall~~ identify the taxpayer to whom the subpoena relates and to whom the records pertain and must ~~shall~~ provide other information to enable the person subpoenaed to locate the records required under the subpoena. The department shall give notice to the taxpayer to whom the subpoena relates within 3 days after ~~of~~ the day on which the service of the subpoena is made. Within 14 days after service of the subpoena, the person to whom the subpoena is directed may serve written objection to inspection or copying of any of the designated materials. If objection is made, the department is ~~shall~~ not ~~be~~ entitled to inspect and copy the materials, except pursuant to an order of the circuit court. If an objection is made, the department may petition any circuit court for an order to comply with the subpoena. The subpoena must ~~shall~~ contain a written notice of the right to object to the subpoena. Every subpoena served upon the witness or records custodian must be accompanied by a copy of ~~the provisions of~~ this subsection. If a person refuses to obey a subpoena or subpoena duces tecum, the department may apply to any circuit court of this state to enforce compliance with the subpoena. Witnesses must ~~shall~~ be paid mileage and witness fees as authorized for witnesses in civil cases. The failure of a taxpayer to provide documents available to, or required to be kept by, the taxpayer and requested by a subpoena issued under this section creates a rebuttable presumption that the resulting proposed final agency action by the department, as to the requested documents, is correct and that the requested documents not produced by the taxpayer would be adverse to the taxpayer's position as to the proposed final agency action. If a taxpayer fails to provide documents requested by a subpoena issued under this section, the department may make an assessment from an estimate based upon the best information then available to it for the taxable period of retail sales of the taxpayer, together with any accrued interest and penalties. The department shall inform the taxpayer of the reason for the estimate and the information and methodology used to derive the estimate. Such assessment shall be deemed prima facie correct, and the burden to show the contrary rests upon the dealer or other person. The presumption and authority to use estimates for the purpose of assessment under this paragraph do not apply solely because a taxpayer or its representative requests a conference to negotiate the production of a sample of records demanded by a subpoena.

Section 11. Section 213.051, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

213.051 Service of subpoenas.—

(1) For the purpose of administering and enforcing ~~the provisions of~~ the revenue laws of this state, the executive director of the Department of Revenue, or any of his or her assistants designated in writing by the executive director, may ~~shall be authorized to~~ serve subpoenas and subpoenas duces tecum issued by the state attorney relating to investigations concerning the taxes enumerated in s. 213.05.

(2) In addition to the procedures for service prescribed by chapter 48, the department may serve subpoenas it issues pursuant to ss. 202.36, 206.14, 211.125, 212.14, and 220.735 upon any business registered with the department at the address on file with the department if it received correspondence from the business from that address within 30 days after issuance of the subpoena or if the address is listed with the Department of State Division of Corporations as a principal or business address. If a business' address is not in this state, service is made upon proof of delivery by certified mail or under the notice provisions of s. 213.0537.

Section 12. Present subsections (21) and (22) of section

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

213.053, Florida Statutes, are redesignated as subsections (22) and (23), respectively, and a new subsection (21) is added to that section, to read:

213.053 Confidentiality and information sharing.—

(21)(a) The department may publish a list of dealers whose resale certificates have been suspended pursuant to s. 212.13(2)(b). The list may contain the name of the dealer, including the name under which the dealer does business; the address of the dealer; the dealer's employer identification number or other taxpayer identification number; and the date on which the dealer was added to the list.

(b) The department shall update the list daily as needed to reflect additions to and deletions from the list.

(c) The department may adopt rules to administer this subsection.

Section 13. Section 213.06, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

213.06 Rules of department; circumstances requiring emergency rules.—

(1) The Department of Revenue may ~~has the authority to~~ adopt rules pursuant to ss. 120.536(1) and 120.54 to implement provisions of the revenue laws.

(2) The executive director of the department may adopt emergency rules pursuant to s. 120.54 on behalf of the department when the effective date of a legislative change occurs sooner than 120 ~~60~~ days after the close of a legislative session in which enacted or after the Governor approves or fails to veto the legislative change, whichever is later, and the change affects a tax rate or a collection or reporting procedure which affects a substantial number of dealers or persons subject to the tax change or procedure. The Legislature finds that such circumstances qualify as an exception to the prerequisite of a finding of immediate danger to the public health, safety, or welfare as set forth in s. 120.54(4)(a) and qualify as circumstances requiring an emergency rule. Emergency rules adopted under this subsection are exempt from s. 120.54(4)(c), remain in effect for 6 months or until replaced by rules adopted under the nonemergency rulemaking procedures of the Administrative Procedure Act, and may be renewed for no more than 3 additional 6-month periods during the pendency of procedures to adopt permanent rules addressing the subject of the emergency rules.

(3) The grants of rulemaking authority in subsections (1) and (2) are sufficient to allow the department to adopt rules implementing all revenue laws administered by the department. Each revenue law administered by the department is an enabling statute authorizing the department to implement it, regardless of whether the enabling statute contains its own grant of rulemaking authority.

Section 14. Paragraph (b) of subsection (1) and paragraph (a) of subsection (3) of section 213.21, Florida Statutes, are amended, and subsections (11) and (12) are added to that section, to read:

213.21 Informal conferences; compromises.—

(b) The statute of limitations upon the issuance of ~~final~~ assessments and the period for filing a claim for refund as required by s. 215.26(2) for any transactions occurring during the audit period shall be tolled during the period in which the taxpayer is engaged in a procedure under this section.

(3)(a) A taxpayer's liability for any tax or interest specified in s. 72.011(1) may be compromised by the department upon the grounds of doubt as to liability for or collectibility of such tax or interest. A taxpayer's liability for interest under any of the chapters specified in s. 72.011(1) shall be settled or compromised in whole or in part whenever or to the extent that the department determines that the delay in the determination of the amount due is attributable to the action or inaction of the department. A taxpayer's liability for penalties under any of the chapters specified in s. 72.011(1) greater than 25 percent of the tax must ~~may~~ be settled or compromised if ~~it is determined by~~ the department determines that the noncompliance is not due to ~~reasonable cause and not to~~ willful negligence, willful neglect, or fraud. In addition, a taxpayer's liability for penalties under any of the chapters specified in s. 72.011(1) up to and including 25 percent of the tax may be settled or compromised if the department determines that reasonable cause exists and the penalties greater than 25 percent of the tax were compromised because the noncompliance is not due to willful negligence, willful neglect, or fraud. There is a rebuttable presumption that a taxpayer's noncompliance is due to willful negligence, willful neglect, or fraud when adequate records as requested by the department are not provided to the department before the issuance of an assessment. The presumption may be rebutted by a showing of reasonable cause why adequate records as requested were not provided or were unavailable to the taxpayer. The facts and circumstances are subject to de novo review ~~to determine the existence of reasonable cause~~ in any administrative proceeding or judicial action challenging an assessment of penalty under any of the chapters specified in s. 72.011(1). A taxpayer who establishes reasonable reliance on the written advice issued by the department to the taxpayer is ~~will be~~ deemed to have shown reasonable cause for the noncompliance. ~~In addition, a taxpayer's liability for penalties under any of the chapters specified in s. 72.011(1) in excess of 25 percent of the tax shall be settled or compromised if the department determines that the noncompliance is due to reasonable cause and not to willful negligence, willful neglect, or fraud.~~ The department shall maintain records of all compromises, and the records shall state the basis for the compromise. The records of compromise under this paragraph are ~~shall~~ not ~~be~~ subject to disclosure pursuant to s. 119.07(1) and are ~~shall be~~ considered confidential information governed by ~~the provisions of~~ s. 213.053.

(11) Following the expiration of time for a taxpayer to challenge an assessment or a denial of a refund as provided in s. 72.011, the department may consider a request to settle or compromise any tax, interest, penalty, or other liability under this section if the taxpayer demonstrates that the failure to initiate a timely challenge was due to a qualified event that directly impacted compliance with that section. For purposes of this subsection, a qualified event is limited to the occurrence of events during an audit or the expired protest period which were beyond the control of the taxpayer, including the death or life-threatening injury or illness of the taxpayer or an immediate family member of the taxpayer; the death or life-threatening injury or illness of the responsible party that controlled, managed, or directed the affected business entity; acts of war or terrorism; natural disasters; fire; or other catastrophic loss. The department may not consider a request received more than 180 days after the expiration of time allowed under s. 72.011.

(12) Any decision by the department regarding a taxpayer's request to compromise or settle a liability under this section is not a final order subject to review under chapter 120.

Section 15. Section 213.34, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

213.34 Authority to audit.—

(1) The Department of Revenue may ~~shall have the authority to~~ audit and examine the accounts, books, or records of all persons ~~who are~~ subject to a revenue law made applicable to this chapter, or otherwise placed under the control and administration of the department, for the purpose of ascertaining the correctness of any return which has been filed or payment which has been made, or for the purpose of making a return where none has been made.

(2) The department, or its duly authorized agents, may inspect such books and records necessary to ascertain a taxpayer's compliance with the revenue laws of this state, provided that the department's power to make an assessment or grant a refund has not terminated under s. 95.091(3).

(a) During the course of an audit, but before the issuance of an assessment other than a jeopardy assessment, the department shall issue to the taxpayer a notice explaining the audit findings. No later than 30 days after the issuance of the notice, the taxpayer may request in writing an exit conference at a mutually agreeable date and time with the department's audit staff to discuss the audit findings. The exit conference must be conducted no later than 30 days after a request for the conference, unless the taxpayer and the department enter into an agreement to extend the audit tolling period pursuant to s. 213.23. The taxpayer shall be given an opportunity at or before the exit conference to provide additional information and documents to the department to rebut the audit findings. Upon the mutual written agreement between the department and the taxpayer to extend the audit tolling period pursuant to s. 213.23, the exit conference may be continued to allow the taxpayer additional time to provide information and documents to the department. The department shall review any information provided by the taxpayer and, if the department revises the audit findings, a copy of the revised audit findings must be provided to the taxpayer. Such revision of the audit findings does not provide a right to any additional conference.

(b) If an exit conference is timely requested in writing, the limitations in s. 95.091(3) are tolled an additional 60 days. If the department fails to offer a taxpayer the opportunity to hold an exit conference despite a timely written request, the limitations period in s. 95.091(3) may not be tolled for the additional 60 days. If the assessment is issued outside of the limitations period, the assessment must be reduced by the amount of those taxes, penalties, and interest for reporting periods outside of the limitations period, as modified by any other tolling or extension provisions.

(c) If a request for an exit conference is not timely made, the right to a conference is waived. A taxpayer may also affirmatively waive its right to an exit conference. Failure to hold an exit conference does not preclude the department from issuing an assessment.

(d) The department may adopt rules to implement this subsection.

(3) The department may correct by credit or refund any overpayment of tax, penalty, or interest revealed by an audit and shall make assessment of any deficiency in tax, penalty, or interest determined to be due.

(4) Notwithstanding ~~the provisions of~~ s. 215.26, the department shall offset the overpayment of any tax during an audit period against a deficiency of any tax, penalty, or interest determined to be due during the same audit period.

(5) After the application of subsection (4), if the department's audit finds that the tax paid is more than the correct amount, the department must refund the overpayment that is within the applicable period provided by s. 215.26. Such action by the department does not prevent a taxpayer from challenging the amount of the refund pursuant to chapters 72 and 120 or applying for a refund of additional tax within the applicable period.

Section 16. Section 213.345, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

213.345 Tolling of periods during an audit.—The limitations in s. 95.091(3) and the period for filing a claim for refund as required by s. 215.26(2) are ~~shall be~~ tolled for a period of 1 year if the Department of Revenue has, on or after July 1, 1999, issued a notice of intent to conduct an audit or investigation of the taxpayer's account within the applicable period of time. The 1-year period is tolled upon receipt of written objections to the subpoena and for the entire pendency of any action that seeks an order to enforce compliance with or to challenge any subpoena issued by the department compelling the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of books, records, written materials, and electronically recorded information. The department must commence an audit within 120 days after it issues a notice of intent to conduct an audit, unless the taxpayer requests a delay. If the taxpayer does not request a delay and the department does not begin the audit within 120 days after issuing the notice, the tolling period terminates ~~shall terminate~~ unless the taxpayer and the department enter into an agreement to extend the period pursuant to s. 213.23. If the department issues a notice explaining its audit findings under s. 213.34(2)(a) based on an estimate because the taxpayer has failed or refuses to provide records, the audit will be deemed to have commenced for purposes of this section. In the event the department issues an assessment beyond the tolling period, the assessment will be considered late and the assessment shall be reduced by the amount of those taxes, penalties, and interest for reporting periods outside of the limitations period, as modified by any other tolling or extension provisions.

Section 17. Subsections (1), (3), and (6) of section 213.67, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

213.67 Garnishment.—

(1) If a person is delinquent in the payment of any taxes,

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

penalties, ~~and~~ interest, additional daily accrued interest, costs, and fees owed to the department, the executive director or his or her designee may give notice of the amount of such delinquency by registered mail, by personal service, or by electronic means, including, but not limited to, facsimile transmissions, electronic data interchange, or use of the Internet, to all persons having in their possession or under their control any credits or personal property, exclusive of wages, belonging to the delinquent taxpayer, or owing any debts to such delinquent taxpayer at the time of receipt by them of such notice. Thereafter, any person ~~who has been~~ notified may not transfer or make any other disposition of such credits, other personal property, or debts until the executive director or his or her designee consents to a transfer or disposition or until 60 days after the receipt of such notice. However, the credits, other personal property, or debts that exceed the delinquent amount stipulated in the notice are not subject to this section, wherever held, if the taxpayer does not have a prior history of tax delinquencies. If during the effective period of the notice to withhold, any person so notified makes any transfer or disposition of the property or debts required to be withheld under this section, he or she is liable to the state for any indebtedness owed to the department by the person with respect to whose obligation the notice was given to the extent of the value of the property or the amount of the debts thus transferred or paid if, solely by reason of such transfer or disposition, the state is unable to recover the indebtedness of the person with respect to whose obligation the notice was given. If the delinquent taxpayer contests the intended levy in circuit court or under chapter 120, the notice under this section remains effective until that final resolution of the contest. Any financial institution receiving such notice maintains ~~will maintain~~ a right of setoff for any transaction involving a debit card occurring on or before the date of receipt of such notice.

(3) During the last 30 days of the 60-day period set forth in subsection (1), the executive director or his or her designee may levy upon such credits, other personal property, or debts. The levy must be accomplished by delivery of a notice of levy by registered mail, by personal service, or by electronic means, including, but not limited to, facsimile transmission or electronic data exchange. Upon receipt of the notice of levy, ~~which~~ the person possessing the credits, other personal property, or debts shall transfer them to the department or pay to the department the amount owed to the delinquent taxpayer.

(6)(a) Levy may be made under subsection (3) upon credits, other personal property, or debt of any person with respect to any unpaid tax, penalties, ~~and~~ interest, additional daily accrued interest, costs, and fees only after the executive director or his or her designee has notified such person in writing of the intention to make such levy.

(b) No less than 30 days before the day of the levy, the notice of intent to levy required under paragraph (a) must ~~shall~~ be given in person or sent by certified or registered mail to the person's last known address.

(c) The notice required in paragraph (a) must include a brief statement that sets forth in simple and nontechnical terms:

1. The provisions of this section relating to levy and sale of property;

2. The procedures applicable to the levy under this section;

3. The administrative and judicial appeals available to the taxpayer with respect to such levy and sale, and the procedures relating to such appeals; and

4. Any ~~The~~ alternatives~~, if any,~~ available to taxpayers which could prevent levy on the property.

Section 18. Section 220.42, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

220.42 Methods of accounting.—

(1) For purposes of this code, a taxpayer's method of accounting must ~~shall~~ be the same as such taxpayer's method of accounting for federal income tax purposes~~, except as provided in subsection (3)~~. If no method of accounting has been regularly used by a taxpayer, net income for purposes of this code must ~~shall~~ be computed by the ~~such~~ method that ~~as in the opinion of~~ the department determines most fairly reflects income.

(2) If a taxpayer's method of accounting is changed for federal income tax purposes, the taxpayer's method of accounting for purposes of this code must ~~shall~~ be similarly changed.

~~(3) Any taxpayer which has elected for federal income tax purposes to report any portion of its income on the completed contract method of accounting under Treasury Regulation 1.451-3(b)(2) may elect to return the income so reported on the percentage of completion method of accounting under Treasury Regulation 1.451-3(b)(1), provided the taxpayer regularly maintains its books of account and reports to its shareholders~~

~~on the percentage of completion method. The election provided by this subsection shall be allowed only if it is made, in such manner as the department may prescribe, not later than the due date, including any extensions thereof, for filing a return for the taxpayer's first taxable year under this code in which a portion of its income is returned on the completed contract method of accounting for federal tax purposes. An election made pursuant to this subsection shall apply to all subsequent taxable years of the taxpayers unless the department consents in writing to its revocation.~~

Section 19. Subsection (4) is added to section 220.735, Florida Statutes, to read:

220.735 Production of witnesses and records.—

(4) The failure of a taxpayer to provide documents available to, or required to be kept by, the taxpayer and requested by a subpoena issued under this section creates a rebuttable presumption that the resulting proposed final agency action by the department, as to the requested documents, is correct and that the requested documents not produced by the taxpayer would be adverse to the taxpayer's position as to the proposed final agency action. If a taxpayer fails to provide documents requested by a subpoena issued under this section, the department may determine the amount of tax due according to its best judgement and may issue a notice of deficiency to the taxpayer, setting forth the amount of tax, interest, and any penalties proposed to be assessed. The department shall inform the taxpayer of the reason for the estimate and the information and methodology used to derive the estimate. Such assessment shall be prima facie correct, and the burden to show the contrary rests upon the taxpayer.

Section 20. Paragraph (e) of subsection (3) of section 443.131, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

443.131 Contributions.—

(3) VARIATION OF CONTRIBUTION RATES BASED ON BENEFIT EXPERIENCE.—

(e) Assignment of variations from the standard rate.—

1. As used in this paragraph, the terms "total benefit payments," "benefits paid to an individual," and "benefits charged to the employment record of an employer" mean the amount of benefits paid to individuals multiplied by:

a. For benefits paid before ~~prior to~~ July 1, 2007, 1.

b. For benefits paid during the period beginning on July 1, 2007, and ending March 31, 2011, 0.90.

c. For benefits paid after March 31, 2011, 1.

d. For benefits paid during the period beginning April 1, 2020, and ending December 31, 2020, 0.

e. For benefits paid during the period beginning January 1, 2021, and ending June 30, 2021, 1, except as otherwise adjusted in accordance with paragraph (f).

2. For the calculation of contribution rates effective January 1, 2012, and thereafter:

a. The tax collection service provider shall assign a variation from the standard rate of contributions for each calendar year to each eligible employer. In determining the contribution rate, varying from the standard rate to be assigned each employer, adjustment factors computed under sub-sub-subparagraphs (I)-(IV) are added to the benefit ratio. This addition shall be accomplished in two steps by adding a variable adjustment factor and a final adjustment factor. The sum of these adjustment factors computed under sub-sub-subparagraphs (I)-(IV) shall first be algebraically summed. The sum of these adjustment factors shall next be divided by a gross benefit ratio determined as follows: Total benefit payments for the 3-year period described in subparagraph (b)3. are charged to employers eligible for a variation from the standard rate, minus excess payments for the same period, divided by taxable payroll entering into the computation of individual benefit ratios for the calendar year for which the contribution rate is being computed. The ratio of the sum of the adjustment factors computed under sub-sub-subparagraphs (I)-(IV) to the gross benefit ratio is multiplied by each individual benefit ratio that is less than the maximum contribution rate to obtain variable adjustment factors; except that if the sum of an employer's individual benefit ratio and variable adjustment factor exceeds the maximum contribution rate, the variable adjustment factor is reduced in order for the sum to equal the maximum contribution rate. The variable adjustment factor for each of these employers is multiplied by his or her taxable payroll entering into the computation of his or her benefit ratio. The sum of these products is divided by the taxable payroll of the employers who entered into the computation of their benefit ratios. The resulting ratio is subtracted from the sum of the adjustment factors computed under sub-sub-subparagraphs (I)-(IV) to obtain the final adjustment factor. The variable adjustment factors and the final adjustment factor must be computed to five decimal places and rounded to the fourth decimal place. This final adjustment factor is added to the variable adjustment factor and benefit ratio of each employer to obtain each employer's contribution rate. An employer's contribution rate may not, however, be rounded to less than 0.1 percent. In determining the contribution rate, varying from the standard rate to be assigned, the computation shall exclude any benefit that is excluded by the multipliers under subparagraph (b)2. and subparagraph 1. for rates effective January 1, 2021, through December 31, 2025, notwithstanding the repeal of subparagraph 5. as provided in chapter 2021-2, Laws of Florida. The computation of the contribution rate, varying from the standard rate to be assigned, shall also exclude any benefit paid as a result of a governmental order related to COVID-19 to close or reduce capacity of a business. In addition, the contribution rate for the 2021 and 2022 calendar years shall be calculated without the application of the positive adjustment factor in sub-sub-subparagraph (III).

(I) An adjustment factor for noncharge benefits is computed to the fifth decimal place and rounded to the fourth decimal place by dividing the amount of noncharge benefits during the 3-year period described in subparagraph (b)3. by the taxable payroll of employers eligible for a variation from the standard rate who have a benefit ratio for the current year which is less than the maximum contribution rate. For purposes of computing this adjustment factor, the taxable payroll of these employers is the taxable payrolls for the 3 years ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of the same calendar year. As used in this sub-sub-subparagraph, the term "noncharge benefits" means benefits paid to an individual, as adjusted pursuant to subparagraph (b)2. and subparagraph 1., from the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund which were not charged to the employment record of any employer, but excluding any benefit paid as a result of a governmental order related to COVID-19 to close or reduce capacity of a business.

(II) An adjustment factor for excess payments is computed to the fifth decimal place, and rounded to the fourth decimal place by dividing the total excess payments during the 3-year period described in subparagraph (b)3. by the taxable payroll of employers eligible for a variation from the standard rate who have a benefit ratio for the current year which is less than the maximum contribution rate. For purposes of computing this adjustment factor, the taxable payroll of these employers is the same figure used to compute the adjustment factor for noncharge benefits under sub-sub-subparagraph (I). As used in this sub-subparagraph, the term "excess payments" means the amount of benefits charged to the employment record of an employer, as adjusted pursuant to subparagraph (b)2. and subparagraph 1., during the 3-year period described in subparagraph (b)3., but excluding any benefit paid as a result of a governmental order related to COVID-19 to close or reduce capacity of a business, less the product of the maximum contribution rate and the employer's taxable payroll for the 3 years ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of the same calendar year. As used in this sub-sub-subparagraph, the term "total excess payments" means the sum of the individual employer excess payments for those employers that were eligible for assignment of a contribution rate different from the standard rate.

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

(III) With respect to computing a positive adjustment factor:

(A) Beginning January 1, 2012, if the balance of the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund on September 30 of the calendar year immediately preceding the calendar year for which the contribution rate is being computed is less than 4 percent of the taxable payrolls for the year ending June 30 as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of that calendar year, a positive adjustment factor shall be computed. The positive adjustment factor is computed annually to the fifth decimal place and rounded to the fourth decimal place by dividing the sum of the total taxable payrolls for the year ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of that calendar year into a sum equal to one-fifth of the difference between the balance of the fund as of September 30 of that calendar year and the sum of 5 percent of the total taxable payrolls for that year. The positive adjustment factor remains in effect for subsequent years until the balance of the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund as of September 30 of the year immediately preceding the effective date of the contribution rate equals or exceeds 4 percent of the taxable payrolls for the year ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of that calendar year.

(B) Beginning January 1, 2018, and for each year thereafter, the positive adjustment shall be computed by dividing the sum of the total taxable payrolls for the year ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of that calendar year into a sum equal to one-fourth of the difference between the balance of the fund as of September 30 of that calendar year and the sum of 5 percent of the total taxable payrolls for that year. The positive adjustment factor remains in effect for subsequent years until the balance of the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund as of September 30 of the year immediately preceding the effective date of the contribution rate equals or exceeds 4 percent of the taxable payrolls for the year ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of that calendar year.

(IV) If, beginning January 1, 2015, and each year thereafter, the balance of the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund as of September 30 of the year immediately preceding the calendar year for which the contribution rate is being computed exceeds 5 percent of the taxable payrolls for the year ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of that calendar year, a negative adjustment factor must be computed. The negative adjustment factor shall be computed annually beginning on January 1, 2015, and each year thereafter, to the fifth decimal place and rounded to the fourth decimal place by dividing the sum of the total taxable payrolls for the year ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of the calendar year into a sum equal to one-fourth of the difference between the balance of the fund as of September 30 of the current calendar year and 5 percent of the total taxable payrolls of that year. The negative adjustment factor remains in effect for subsequent years until the balance of the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund as of September 30 of the year immediately preceding the effective date of the contribution rate is less than 5 percent, but more than 4 percent of the taxable payrolls for the year ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of that calendar year. The negative adjustment authorized by this section is suspended in any calendar year in which repayment of the principal amount of an advance received from the federal Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund under 42 U.S.C. s. 1321 is due to the Federal Government.

(V) The maximum contribution rate that may be assigned to an employer is 5.4 percent, except employers participating in an approved short-time compensation plan may be assigned a maximum contribution rate that is 1 percent greater than the maximum contribution rate for other employers in any calendar year in which short-time compensation benefits are charged to the employer's employment record.

(VI) As used in this subsection, "taxable payroll" shall be determined by excluding any part of the remuneration paid to an individual by an employer for employment during a calendar year in excess of the first $7,000. Beginning January 1, 2012, "taxable payroll" shall be determined by excluding any part of the remuneration paid to an individual by an employer for employment during a calendar year as described in s. 443.1217(2). For the purposes of the employer rate calculation that will take effect in January 1, 2012, and in January 1, 2013, the tax collection service provider shall use the data available for taxable payroll from 2009 based on excluding any part of the remuneration paid to an individual by an employer for employment during a calendar year in excess of the first $7,000, and from 2010 and 2011, the data available for taxable payroll based on excluding any part of the remuneration paid to an individual by an employer for employment during a calendar year in excess of the first $8,500.

b. If the transfer of an employer's employment record to an employing unit under paragraph (g) which, before the transfer, was an employer, the tax collection service provider shall recompute a benefit ratio for the successor employer based on the combined employment records and reassign an appropriate contribution rate to the successor employer effective on the first day of the calendar quarter immediately after the effective date of the transfer.

3. The tax collection service provider shall reissue rates for the 2021 calendar year. However, an employer shall continue to timely file its employer's quarterly reports and pay the contributions due in a timely manner in accordance with the rules of the Department of Economic Opportunity. The Department of Revenue shall post the revised rates on its website to enable employers to securely review the revised rates. For contributions for the first quarter of the 2021 calendar year, if any employer remits to the tax collection service provider an amount in excess of the amount that would be due as calculated pursuant to this paragraph, the tax collection service provider shall refund the excess amount from the amount erroneously collected. Notwithstanding s. 443.141(6), refunds issued through August 31, 2021, for first quarter 2021 contributions must be paid from the General Revenue Fund.

4. The tax collection service provider shall calculate and assign contribution rates effective January 1, 2022, through December 31, 2022, excluding any benefit charge that is excluded by the multipliers under subparagraph (b)2. and subparagraph 1.; without the application of the positive adjustment factor in sub-sub-subparagraph 2.a.(III); and without the inclusion of any benefit charge directly related to COVID-19 as a result of a governmental order to close or reduce capacity of a business, as determined by the Department of Economic Opportunity, for each employer ~~who is~~ eligible for a variation from the standard rate pursuant to paragraph (d). The Department of Economic Opportunity shall provide the tax collection service provider with all necessary benefit charge information by August 1, 2021, including specific information for adjustments related to COVID-19 charges resulting from a governmental order to close or reduce capacity of a business, to enable the tax collection service provider to calculate and issue tax rates effective January 1, 2022. The tax collection service provider shall calculate and post rates for the 2022 calendar year by March 1, 2022.

5. Subject to subparagraph 6., the tax collection service provider shall calculate and assign contribution rates effective January 1, 2023, through December 31, 2025, excluding any benefit charge that is excluded by the multipliers under subparagraph (b)2. and subparagraph 1.; without the application of the positive adjustment factor in sub-sub-subparagraph 2.a.(III); and without the inclusion of any benefit charge directly related to COVID-19 as a result of a governmental order to close or reduce capacity of a business, as determined by the Department of Economic Opportunity, for each employer ~~who is~~ eligible for a variation from the standard rate pursuant to paragraph (d). The Department of Economic Opportunity shall provide the tax collection service provider with all necessary benefit charge information by August 1 of each year, including specific information for adjustments related to COVID-19 charges resulting from a governmental order to close or reduce capacity of a business, to enable the tax collection service provider to calculate and issue tax rates effective the following January.

6. If the balance of the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund on June 30 of any year exceeds $4,071,519,600, subparagraph 5. is repealed for rates effective the following years. The Office of Economic and Demographic Research shall advise the tax collection service provider of the balance of the trust fund on June 30 by August 1 of that year. After the repeal of subparagraph 5. and notwithstanding the dates specified in that subparagraph, the tax collection service provider shall calculate and assign contribution rates for each subsequent calendar year as otherwise provided in this section.

Section 21. Paragraph (a) of subsection (9) of section 443.171, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

443.171 Department of Economic Opportunity and commission; powers and duties; records and reports; proceedings; state-federal cooperation.—

(9) STATE-FEDERAL COOPERATION.—

(a)1. In the administration of this chapter, the Department of Economic Opportunity and its tax collection service provider shall cooperate with the United States Department of Labor to the fullest extent consistent with this chapter and shall take those actions, through the adoption of appropriate rules, administrative methods, and standards, necessary to secure for this state all advantages available under the provisions of federal law relating to reemployment assistance.

2. In the administration of the provisions in s. 443.1115, which are enacted to conform with the Federal-State Extended Unemployment Compensation Act of 1970, the department shall take those actions necessary to ensure that those provisions are interpreted and applied to meet the requirements of the federal act as interpreted by the United States Department of Labor and to secure for this state the full reimbursement of the federal share of extended benefits paid under this chapter which is reimbursable under the federal act.

3. The department and its tax collection service provider shall comply with the regulations of the United States Department of Labor relating to the receipt or expenditure by this state of funds granted under federal law; shall submit the reports in the form and containing the information the United States Department of Labor requires; and shall comply with directions of the United States Department of Labor necessary to assure the correctness and verification of these reports.

4. The department and its tax collection service provider shall comply with the requirements of the federal Treasury Offset Program as it pertains to the recovery of unemployment compensation debts as required by the United States Department of Labor pursuant to 26 U.S.C. s. 6402. The department or the tax collection service provider may adopt rules to implement this subparagraph.

Section 22. This act shall take effect July 1, 2022.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/CS/SB 1426 creates the concept of water quality enhancement areas (WQEAs). A WQEA is a natural system that is constructed, operated, managed, and maintained pursuant to a permit to provide offsite, compensatory, regional treatment within an identified enhancement service area and enhancement credits.

The bill provides that construction, operation, management, and maintenance of a WQEA must be approved through the environmental resource permitting (ERP) process. The bill sets out requirements for a water quality credit program based on the development of WQEAs and authorizes the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) to develop rules to implement the program. Water quality enhancement credits may be sold only to governmental entities.

The bill makes clarifications regarding incentives for the use of graywater technologies.

According to the DEP, the department would incur costs from operating the WQEA program, as the program would need eight additional staff members and associated travel. The total financial impact for these positions including salaries, benefits, expenses, and travel costs would be approximately $878,275 annually.

II. Present Situation:

Water Quality and Nutrients

Phosphorous and nitrogen are naturally present in water and are essential nutrients for the healthy growth of plant and animal life.[1] The correct balance of both nutrients is necessary for a healthy ecosystem; however, excessive amounts can cause significant water quality problems.

Phosphorous and nitrogen are derived from natural and human-made sources. Human-made sources include sewage disposal systems (wastewater treatment facilities and septic systems), overflows of storm and sanitary sewers (untreated sewage), agricultural production and irrigation practices, and stormwater runoff.[2]

Excessive nutrient loads may result in harmful algal blooms, nuisance aquatic weeds, and the alteration of the natural community of plants and animals. Dense, harmful algal blooms can also cause human health problems, fish kills, problems for water treatment plants, and impairment of the aesthetics and taste of waters. Growth of nuisance aquatic weeds tends to increase in nutrient-enriched waters, which can impact recreational activities.[3]

Total Maximum Daily Loads

A total maximum daily load (TMDL), which must be adopted by rule, is a scientific determination of the maximum amount of a given pollutant that can be absorbed by a waterbody and still meet water quality standards.[4] Waterbodies or sections of waterbodies that do not meet the established water quality standards are deemed impaired. Pursuant to the federal Clean Water Act, the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) must establish a TMDL for impaired waterbodies.[5] A TMDL for an impaired waterbody is the sum of the individual waste load allocations for point sources and the load allocations for nonpoint sources and natural background.[6] Point sources are discernible, confined, and discrete conveyances including pipes, ditches, and tunnels. Nonpoint sources are unconfined sources that include runoff from agricultural lands or residential areas.[7]

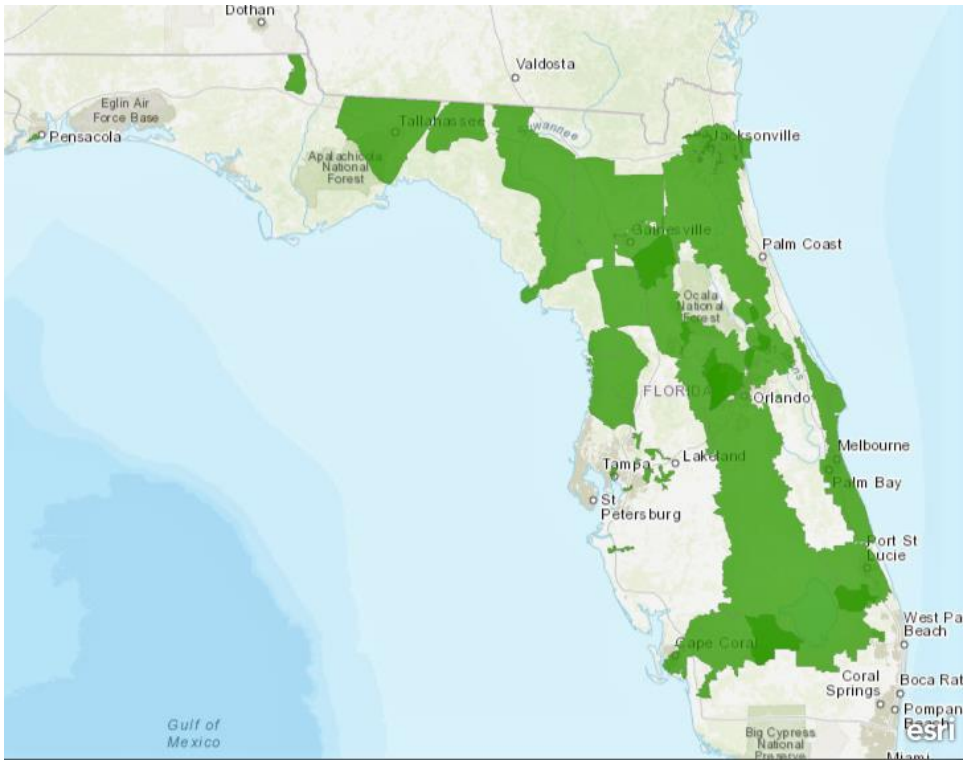
Nonpoint sources of pollution are sources of pollution that are not point sources. Nonpoint sources can include runoff from agricultural lands or residential areas; oil, grease and toxic materials from urban runoff; and sediment from improperly managed construction sites.

Basin Management Action Plans and Best Management Practices

The DEP is the lead agency in coordinating the development and implementation of TMDLs.[8] Basin management action plans (BMAPs) are one of the primary mechanisms DEP uses to achieve TMDLs. BMAPs are plans that address the entire pollution load, including point and nonpoint discharges,[9] for a watershed or a specific waterbody. BMAPs generally include:

- Permitting and other existing regulatory programs, including water quality based effluent limitations;
- Best management practices (BMPs) and non-regulatory and incentive-based programs, including cost-sharing, waste minimization, pollution prevention, agreements, and public education;
- Public works projects, including capital facilities; and
- Land acquisition.[10]



A BMAP equitably allocates pollutant reductions to individual basins, to all basins as a whole, or to each identified point source or category of nonpoint sources.[11] Then, the BMAP establishes the schedule for implementing projects and activities to meet the pollution reduction allocations. The BMAP development process provides an opportunity for local stakeholders, local government, community leaders, and the public to determine and share water quality cleanup responsibilities collectively.[12]

BMAPs must include milestones for implementation and water quality improvement.[13] They must also include an associated water quality monitoring component sufficient to evaluate whether reasonable progress in pollutant load reductions is being achieved over time. An assessment of progress toward these milestones must be conducted every five years, and revisions to the BMAP must be made as appropriate.[14]

Producers of nonpoint source pollution included in a BMAP must comply with the established pollutant reductions by either implementing the appropriate BMPs or by conducting water quality monitoring.[15] A nonpoint source discharger may be subject to enforcement action by the DEP or a water management district (WMD) based on a failure to implement these requirements.[16] BMPs are designed to reduce the amount of nutrients, sediments, and pesticides

[8] Section 403.061, F.S. DEP has the power and the duty to control and prohibit pollution of air and water in accordance with the law and rules adopted and promulgated by it. Furthermore, s. 403.061(21), F.S., allows DEP to advise, consult, cooperate, and enter into agreements with other state agencies, the federal government, other states, interstate agencies, etc.

Reasonable Assurance Plans

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency allows states to place certain impaired waterbodies into Category 4b for Clean Water Act section 303(d) reporting purposes, meaning that the establishment of a TMDL is not required for an impaired waterbody if other required control measures are expected to result in the attainment of water quality standards in a reasonable period of time.[19]

A Reasonable Assurance Plan (RAP) is a control measure that the DEP may implement for Category 4b impaired waterbodies.[20] The DEP first determines if a waterbody is impaired or may be reasonably expected to become impaired within the next five years.[21] If a waterbody fits this criteria, the DEP evaluates whether existing or proposed technology-based effluent limitations and other pollution control programs are sufficient to result in the attainment of water quality standards. If the waterbody is expected to attain water quality standards in the future and to make reasonable progress towards attainment of those standards in a certain timeframe, the waterbody will not require a TMDL. The DEP's decision must be based on a plan that provides reasonable assurance that proposed pollution control mechanisms and expected water quality improvements in the waterbody will attain water quality standards.[22] The graphic on the right shows the RAP boundaries in the outlined areas without a grid.[23]

Planning Units

A planning unit is either an individual large tributary basin or a group of smaller adjacent tributary basins with similar characteristics.[24] Planning units help organize information and management strategies around prominent watershed characteristics, and they provide a more detailed geographic basis for identifying and assessing water quality improvement activities.[25] The graphic on the next page shows the state's planning units.[26]

Stormwater Management

Stormwater is the flow of water resulting from, and immediately following, a rainfall event.[27] When stormwater falls on pavement, buildings, and other impermeable surfaces, the runoff flows quickly and can pick up sediment, trash, chemicals, and other pollutants.[28] Stormwater is a major source of water pollution in Florida.[29]

The regulatory programs that address reductions in water quality caused by stormwater are the federal National Pollution Discharge Elimination System (NPDES), which regulates discharges of pollutants into waters of the United States,[30] and the state Environmental Resource Permitting (ERP) Program, which regulates activities involving the alteration of surface water flows.[31]

The NPDES regulates stormwater pollution from certain municipal storm sewer systems and runoff from certain construction and industrial activities.[32] The state's ERP program regulates activities that create stormwater runoff, as well as dredging and filling in wetlands and other surface waters.[33] ERPs aim to prevent flooding, protect wetlands and other surface waters, and protect water quality from stormwater pollution.[34] The DEP, the WMDs, and local governments implement the ERP program.[35]

The DEP and the WMDs may require ERPs and impose reasonable conditions:

- To ensure that construction or alteration of stormwater management systems and related structures is consistent with applicable law and not harmful to water resources;[36] and
- For the maintenance or operation of such structures.[37]

The DEP's stormwater rules are technology-based effluent limitations, rather than water quality-based effluent limitations.[38] This means that stormwater rules rely on design criteria for BMPs to achieve a performance standard for pollution reduction, rather than specifying the amount of a specific pollutant that may be discharged to a waterbody and still ensure that the waterbody attains water quality standards.[39] The rules contain minimum stormwater treatment performance standards, which require design and performance criteria for new stormwater management systems to achieve at least 80 percent reduction of the average annual load of pollutants that would cause or contribute to violations of state water quality standards.[40]

The DEP and the WMDs require applicants to provide reasonable assurance that state water quality standards will not be violated.[41] If a stormwater management system is designed in accordance with the stormwater treatment requirements and criteria adopted by the DEP or the WMDs, then the system design is presumed not to cause or contribute to violations of applicable state water quality standards.[42] If a stormwater management system is constructed, operated, and maintained for stormwater treatment in accordance with a valid permit or exemption, then the stormwater discharged from the system is presumed not to cause or contribute to violations of applicable state water quality standards.[43] If an applicant is unable to meet water quality standards because existing ambient water quality does not meet standards, the DEP or a WMD must consider mitigation measures that cause a net improvement of the water quality in the waterbody that does not meet the standards.[44]

2020 Stormwater Rulemaking

In 2020, the Florida Legislature passed CS/SB 712, the Clean Waterways Act, to address known sources of nutrient pollution in waterways and to strengthen regulatory requirements.[45] The Clean Waterways Act required the DEP and the WMDs to update stormwater regulations to reflect the latest scientific information. In response, the DEP created the Clean Waterways Act Stormwater Rulemaking Technical Advisory Committee (TAC). The TAC's goal is to develop and provide consensus stormwater rulemaking recommendations for the DEP and the WMDs.[46] The TAC's initial discussion topics were as follows:

- Options for identifying stormwater design criteria and BMPs that are effective for increasing nutrient removal from stormwater runoff;
- Measures for consistent application of the net improvement performance standard to ensure significant reductions of any pollutant loadings to a waterbody thought to be impaired by stormwater runoff; and
- Changes to improve existing stormwater operation regulations to ensure water resources are protected by the rulemaking directed under the Clean Waterways Act.[47]

Water Quality Credit Trading

Water quality credit trading is a market-based approach to water quality improvements that can be used to control pollutants from sources that collectively worsen water quality conditions.[48] Water quality credit trading allows one source of pollution to control a pollutant at levels greater than required and to sell the resulting water quality credits to another source to supplement its level of treatment to comply with pollutant regulations.[49] This practice must result in water quality that is as good as or better than what would be achieved through meeting pollutant level requirements and must not create pollutant hotspots.[50] Water quality credit trades may result in a broad area of water quality improvement, while causing acute or chronic localized effects, or hotpots.[51]

The Florida Statutes provide a framework for water quality credit trading in the state. The DEP is the agency responsible for authorizing water quality credit trading in adopted BMAPs and for establishing the pollutant load reduction value of water quality credits.[52] The DEP cannot participate in the establishment of water quality credit prices. Water quality credit sellers are responsible for achieving the load reductions on which the water quality credits are based and complying with the terms of the DEP authorization and any trading agreements into which they have entered; buyers are responsible for complying with the terms of the DEP water discharge permit.[53] Land set-asides and land use modification not otherwise required by state law or a permit, including constructed wetlands or other water quality improvement projects, that reduce nutrient loads into impaired surface waters may be used for water quality credit trading.[54] In the past, water quality credits have been traded in the state, however there are no water quality credits available for trade as of January 28, 2022.[55]

Mitigation Banking

Generally, mitigation banking is a practice in which an environmental enhancement and preservation project is conducted by a public agency or private entity to provide mitigation for unavoidable wetland impacts within a defined mitigation service area.[56] The bank is the site itself, and the currency sold by the banker to the impact permittee is a credit, representing the wetland ecological value equivalent to the complete restoration of one acre.[57] The number of potential credits permitted for the bank, and the credit debits required for impact permits, are determined by the permitting agencies.[58]

Creation of a mitigation bank in Florida requires both a permit from the DEP or a WMD, and federal approval of a mitigation bank instrument from several agencies led by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers (USACE), in a joint state/federal interagency review team.[59] Through this process, depending on agency approval, a mitigation bank may provide mitigation for permittees under both the federal and state permitting programs.

Requirements for permitting mitigation banks differ between mitigation bank instruments issued by the USACE and state permits issued by the DEP or the WMDs. Under the federal process, a mitigation banking instrument serves as the legal document for the establishment, operation, and use of a mitigation bank.[60] They are approved by an interagency review team, through procedures involving public notice and comment.[61] Mitigation banking instruments must include

Under Florida law, to obtain a mitigation bank permit, the applicant must provide reasonable assurance that the mitigation bank will:

- Improve ecological conditions of the regional watershed;
- Provide viable and sustainable ecological and hydrological functions for the proposed mitigation service area;
- Be effectively managed in perpetuity;
- Not destroy areas with high ecological value;
- Achieve mitigation success; and
- Be adjacent to lands that will not adversely affect the long-term viability of the mitigation bank due to unsuitable land uses or conditions.[63]

The applicant must also provide reasonable assurance that:

- Any surface water management system that will be constructed, altered, operated, maintained, abandoned, or removed within a mitigation bank will meet the requirements of part IV of ch. 373, F.S., which regulates management and storage of surface waters, and rules adopted thereunder;
- The applicant has sufficient legal or equitable interest in the property to ensure perpetual protection and management of the land within a mitigation bank; and
- The applicant can meet the financial responsibility requirements prescribed for mitigation banks.[64]

Graywater, Residential Systems, and Development Incentives

Graywater is the part of domestic sewage that is not carried off by toilets, urinals, and kitchen drains. It includes waste from the bath, lavatory, laundry, and sink, except for kitchen sink waste.[65] Graywater installations occur in both residential and non-residential installations and the capture, treatment, and reuse of graywater yields usable water that would otherwise be directed to the sewer.[66] Reusing graywater also reduces the use of potable water for non-potable needs and conserves fresh water.[67]

The Florida Building Code specifies that graywater may only be used for flushing of toilets and urinals. Any discharge from the building must be connected to a public sewer or an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system in accordance with Department of Health regulations in chapter 64E-6 of the Florida Administrative Code.[68] Graywater systems in Florida have several requirements: the graywater must be filtered, disinfected, and dyed; and storage reservoirs must have drains and overflow pipes which must be indirectly connected to the sanitary drainage system.[69]

To encourage adoption of residential graywater reuse, states, counties, municipalities, or special districts are required to implement incentives for the use of graywater technologies.[70] To do this, they must authorize the use of residential graywater technologies in their respective jurisdictions and provide specific density or intensity bonuses to developers or homebuilders if a certain percentage of a proposed or existing development will have a graywater system installed.[71]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 creates s. 373.4134, F.S. to authorize the creation of water quality enhancement areas (WQEAs). The bill lists the following legislative findings:

- Water quality will be improved and adverse water quality impacts of activities regulated under provisions of law relating to the management and storage of surface waters may be offset by WQEAs that provide offsite compensatory treatment;
- An expansion of existing authority for regional treatment to include offsite compensatory treatment in WQEAs to make water quality enhancement credits available for purchase by governmental entities to address impacts regulated by provisions of law relating to the management and storage of surface waters is needed;
- WQEAs will improve the certainty and long-term viability of water quality treatment systems;
- WQEAs are a valuable tool to assist governmental entities in satisfying the net improvement performance standard[72] to ensure significant reductions of pollutant loadings; and
- WQEAs that provide credits to governmental entities seeking permits under this bill and governmental entities seeking to meet an assigned basin management action plan (BMAP) allocation or reasonable assurance plan (RAP) are considered an appropriate and permittable option.

The bill provides the following definitions:

- "Enhancement credit" means a standard unit of measure which represents a quantity of pollutant removed;
- "Governmental entities" means any political subdivision of this state, including any state agency, department, county, municipality, special district, school district, utility authority, or other authority or instrumentality, agency, unit, or department thereof;

[71] Id.
[72] If the applicant is unable to meet water quality standards because existing ambient water quality does not meet standards, the governing board or DEP shall consider mitigation measures proposed by or acceptable to the applicant that cause net improvement of the water quality in the receiving body of water for those parameters which do not meet standards. Section 373.414(1)(b)3., F.S.

- "Natural system" means an ecological system supporting aquatic and wetland-dependent natural resources, including fish and aquatic and wetland –dependant wildlife habitats;
- "Water quality enhancement area" means a natural system constructed, operated, managed, and maintained pursuant to a permit issued under this part for the purpose of providing offsite, compensatory, regional treatment within an identified enhancement service area, for which enhancement credits may be provided; and
- "Water quality enhancement area permit" means a permit issued for a WQEA which authorizes its construction, operation, management, and maintenance and the purchase and sale of credits.

The bill provides that the construction, operation, management, and maintenance of a WQEA must be approved through the environmental resource permitting (ERP) process. Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) rules pertaining to ERPs apply to WQEAs and credits. The bill provides that WQEA credits may be sold only to governmental entities. It provides that a WQEA must address contributions of pollutants or other constituents for those parameters in an enhancement service area that do not meet state water quality criteria. Further, the bill requires that a WQEA must use, create, or improve natural systems to improve water quality.

The bill allows a governmental entity to use a WQEA for its own water quality needs. However it may not act as a sponsor to construct, operate, manage, maintain, or market credits to third parties. Further, the bill prevents a local government from requiring a permit or otherwise regulating the operation of WQEAs. It provides that the issuance of a WQEA permit does not preclude the responsibility of an applicant to obtain other applicable federal, state, and local permits for the construction activities associated with the WQEA.

To obtain a WQEA permit, the bill directs an applicant to provide reasonable assurances that the proposed WQEA will:

- Meet the requirements for issuance of an ERP;
- Benefit water quality in the enhancement service area;
- Achieve defined performance or success criteria for the reduction of pollutants or other constituents that prevent receiving waters from meeting state water quality criteria;
- Ensure long-term pollutant reduction through effective operation and maintenance in perpetuity by designation of a responsible long-term maintenance entity supported by an endowment or other long-term financial assurance sufficient to assure perpetual operation and maintenance;
- Demonstrate sufficient legal or equitable interest in the property to ensure access and perpetual protection and management of land within the WQEA; and
- Provide for permanent preservation of the site through a conservation easement.

The bill requires a WQEA permit to provide for the assessment, valuation, and award of credits based on units of pollutant removed. It requires the DEP to base its determination of the award of enhancement credits on standard numerical models or analytical tools that establish the WQEAs ability to remove pollutants or constituents.

The bill requires that if a BMAP exists for the watershed in which the WQEA is located, the applicant must use the same numerical models or analytical tools used for the BMAP in WQEA permit application. If a BMAP does not exist for the watershed in which the WQEA is located, the bill provides that the applicant, with the approval of the DEP, may submit as part of the permit application model parameters and results used by the DEP to develop a BMAP for a watershed with similar characteristics and pollutants as that where the WQEA is to be located. The bill requires that if the DEP determines that its numerical model or analytical tool used for a BMAP is not appropriate for the proposed WQEA, the applicant must use a standard numerical model of analytical tool for the WQEA.

It requires a WQEA application to include the following information to assist the DEP in determining credits:

- Rainfall data over the longest period of record available collected from the closest site to the proposed WQEA, preferably within the same drainage basin;
- Anticipated average annual water quality and quantity inflows to the proposed WQEA, based on published local data collected over a period of record that most closely matches the rainfall data;
- Site-specific conditions affecting the anticipated performance of the proposed WQEA, including the proposed treatment type and anticipated associated reduction rates, as demonstrated by the performance of other areas where the treatment type has been established and operating over a minimum of two consecutive wet and dry seasons; and
- Data from collection stations approved by the DEP in sites that the DEP deems sufficient to determine flows and local water quality conditions.

The bill provides that an issuance of a WQEA permit does not preclude the responsibility of an applicant to obtain other applicable federal, state, and local permits for the construction activities associated with the WQEA.

The bill provides that an applicant for a WQEA permit must propose a performance and success criteria monitoring and verification plan, with protocols to be implemented once the WQEA and sufficient to demonstrate that the area is meeting defined performance or success criteria for the reduction of pollutants or contaminants for which the credits were awarded by the DEP.

The bill provides that if a permittee fails to comply with the conditions of a WQEA permit, the DEP must revoke the permittee's ability to sell enhancement credits until the WQEA is compliant with the permit conditions.

The bill directs the DEP or the water management districts to authorize the sale and use of credits to governmental entities to offset adverse water quality impacts of activities regulated under the bill or to assist entities seeking to meet an assigned BMAP allocation or RAP. The bill allows an applicant to use water quality improvement projects that use natural systems or land use modifications, including constructed wetlands or minor impoundments that reduce pollutants to a receiving water body, to generate credits if approved by the DEP. The bill provides that a WQEA may not be located on lands purchased for conservation thorough the Florida Forever Act or Florida Preservation 2000 Act. The bill directs the DEP to provide for and maintain a ledger that tracks the award, release, and use of credits. In furtherance of the ledger requirement, the bill directs a WQEA operator to notify the DEP of the amount of credits sold or used within 30 days of the date the credits transaction is completed. It also directs a water management district that authorizes credit use to report to the DEP the amount of credits used by an applicant.

The bill provides that reductions in pollutant loading required under any state regulatory program are not eligible to be considered as credits. It specifies that credits may not be used by point source dischargers to satisfy regulatory requirements other than those necessary to obtain an ERP for construction and operation of the surface water management system of the site. The bill provides that use of credits is voluntary, and any landowner, discharger, or other responsible person implementing applicable management strategies specified in a BMAP or RAP may not be required to use credits to reduce pollutant loads to achieve pollutant reductions. Further, the bill provides that a local government may not deny the use of credits due to the location of the WQEA outside the jurisdiction of the local government.

The bill provides that the authority granted to the DEP by this bill is supplemental to the authority granted under the statutes regulating water quality credit trading. It authorizes the DEP to adopt rules to implement WQEAs.

Section 2 amends s. 403.892, F.S., to add to a condition to qualify for graywater technology use incentives that each residence forming part of a multifamily project must be serviced by its own residential graywater system or a master graywater collection and re-use system for the entire project. The bill also clarifies that the maintenance of the graywater system is the responsibility of the owner. The bill provides that the graywater technology use incentives do not apply to multifamily projects that are more than five stories and clarifies that whether a dwelling is occupied by an owner is not an eligibility criterion for a developer or homebuilder to receive incentives. The bill also corrects a reference.

Section 3 directs the DEP to adopt and modify rules relating to mitigation banks and activities in surface waters and wetlands to ensure that required financial assurances are equivalent and sufficient to provide for the long-term management of mitigation measures. The bill requires the DEP, in consultation with the water management districts, to include this required rulemaking in existing active rulemaking or to complete rule development by June 30, 2023.

Section 4 provides that the bill will take effect upon becoming law.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

Indeterminate.

C. Government Sector Impact:

Local governments may experience a negative fiscal impact from loss of permit application fees for stormwater treatment due to the bill preventing local governments from requiring water quality treatment to be located within their jurisdiction.[73] Other fiscal effects are indeterminate.

The state government may experience revenue increases from WQEA permit application fees. These fees would be based on acreage and would likely range from $420 to $14,000. The number of applicants is unknown. The new permit application fees would be deposited into the Permit Fee Trust Fund.[74]

According to the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), it would incur costs from operating the WQEA program, because it would need eight additional staff members and associated travel. The total financial impact for these positions including salaries, benefits, expenses, and travel costs would be approximately $878,275 annually.[75]

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

The Department of Environmental Protection has identified numerous issues, as provided in its analysis.[76]

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill creates section 373.4134 of the Florida Statutes.

This bill substantially amends section 403.892 of the Florida Statutes.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

PCS (666660) by Appropriations Committee (Recommended CS by Appropriations Subcommittee on Agriculture, Environment, and General Government):
The proposed committee substitute:

- Removes definitions for "enhancement service area" and "planning unit" from the underlying bill.
- Adds definition for "natural system".
- Adds that the DEP must use standard numerical models that establish a WQEA's ability to remove pollutants in its determination of the award of credits. The models may be based on basin management action plan (BMAP) numerical models for the watershed where the WQEA is located, a similar numerical model if no BMAP exists for a particular watershed, or a standard numerical model if a similar model is not appropriate.
- Removes from the underlying bill the provision that an enhancement service area must be based on a BMAP, reasonable assurance plan, or planning unit.
- Requires a WQEA permit applicant to propose a performance and success criteria monitoring and verification plan.
- Requires the DEP to revoke a permittee's ability to sell enhancement credits if the permittee fails to comply with WQEA permit conditions until the WQEA is in compliance.
- Removes exceptions in the underlying bill that would allow a WQEA to provide credits outside of an enhancement service area.
- Adds that before approving the use of enhancement credits, the DEP or water management district must determine that the enhancement credits are appropriate for a specific permit use.
- Adds that WQEAs may not be located on lands purchased for conservation pursuant to the Florida Forever Act or the Florida Preservation 2000 Act.
- Removes the section in the underlying bill authorizing the DEP to enter into agreements and contracts with public and private entities to accept and expand donations, grants of funds, and payments to expedite the evaluation of the entity's application for a dredge and fill permit or an environmental resource permit.
- Deletes the $2.04 million appropriation for 24 full-time equivalent positions in the underlying bill.

CS by Environment and Natural Resources on February 1, 2022:
The committee substitute:

- Specifies that only governmental entities may purchase and use water quality enhancement (WQEA) credits.
- Defines "governmental entity" as any political subdivision of the state, including any state agency, department, county, municipality, special district, school district, utility authority, or other authority or instrumentality, agency, unit, or department thereof.
- Removes the prohibition against water quality enhancement credits being used to compensate for wetland or other surface water impacts.
- Deletes the exception that allows water quality enhancement credit use outside of the enhancement service area for projects with total adverse impacts of less than one acre.
- Adds that DEP may enter into agreements and contracts with public or private entities to accept and expend donations, grants, and payments to expedite the evaluation of the entity's application for dredge and fill or environmental resource permits.
- Amends a condition to qualify for incentives for the use of graywater technologies to add that each residence that is part of a multifamily project will be serviced by either its own residential graywater system or a master graywater collection and reuse system for the entire project.
- Directs DEP to adopt and modify rules relating to mitigation banks and activities in surface waters and wetlands to ensure that required financial assurances are equivalent and sufficient to provide for the long-term management of mitigation measures.
- Appropriates $2.04 million in recurring funds, effective July 1, 2022, from the Grants and Donations Trust Fund to DEP and authorizes 24 full-time positions to evaluate dredge and fill and environmental resource permits for entities with which DEP has entered into agreements or contracts.

governmental entities seeking to meet an assigned basin management action plan allocation or reasonable assurance plan or for the purpose of achieving net improvement pursuant to s. 373.414(1)(b)3. after the governmental entity has provided reasonable assurance of meeting department rules for design and construction of all onsite stormwater management, or for the purpose of providing offsite stormwater treatment pursuant to s. 311.106 or s. 373.413(6) or meeting environmental resource permit rules adopted pursuant to this part.

(c) A water quality enhancement area must be used to address contributions of one or more pollutants or other constituents in the watershed, basin, sub-basin, targeted restoration area, waterbody, or section of waterbody, as determined by the department, in which the water quality enhancement area is located which do not meet applicable state water quality criteria.

(d) A water quality enhancement area must be employed to use, create, or improve natural systems in order to improve water quality.

(e) A governmental entity may use a water quality enhancement area for its own water quality needs. However, a governmental entity may not act as a sponsor to construct, operate, manage, or maintain a water quality enhancement area or market enhancement credits to third parties.

(f) A local government may not require a permit or otherwise impose regulations governing the operation of a water quality enhancement area.

(g) This section does not eliminate the obligation of an applicant for a water quality enhancement area permit or an applicant proposing to use enhancement credits to comply with all requirements of this part pertaining to adverse impacts to water quality in receiving waters and adjacent lands or wetlands.

(4) WATER QUALITY ENHANCEMENT AREA PERMIT.—

(a) To obtain a water quality enhancement area permit, the 638546 applicant must provide reasonable assurances that the proposed water quality enhancement area will be used to:

1. Meet the requirements for issuance of an environmental resource permit;

2. Benefit water quality in the watershed in which the water quality enhancement area is located;

3. Meet defined performance or success criteria for the reduction of one or more pollutants or other constituents that prevent receiving waters from meeting applicable state water quality criteria;

4. Ensure long-term pollutant reduction through effective operation and maintenance in perpetuity by designation of a responsible long-term maintenance entity supported by an endowment or other long-term financial assurance sufficient to assure perpetual operation and maintenance;

5. Demonstrate sufficient legal or equitable interest in the property to ensure access to and perpetual protection and management of the land within the water quality enhancement area; and

6. Provide for permanent preservation of the water quality enhancement area which meets the requirements of s. 704.06.

(b) The water quality enhancement area permit must provide for the assessment, valuation, and award of credits based on units of pollutant removed.

(c) The department shall base its determination of the award of enhancement credits on standard numerical models or analytical tools that establish the water quality enhancement area’s ability to remove pollutants or constituents.

1. Where a basin management action plan exists for the watershed in which the water quality enhancement area is located, the applicant must use the same numerical models or analytical tools used for that basin management action plan in the water quality enhancement area permit application.

2. If a basin management action plan does not exist for the watershed in which the water quality enhancement area is located, the applicant, with the approval of the department, may submit as part of the water quality enhancement area permit application model parameters and results used in a numerical model or analytical tool used by the department to develop a basin management action plan for a watershed with similar physical characteristics and pollutants as that where the proposed water quality enhancement area is to be located.

3. If the department determines that its numerical model or analytical tool used for a basin management action plan is not appropriate for the proposed water quality enhancement area, the applicant must use a standard numerical model or analytical tool for the proposed water quality enhancement area.

4. To assist the department in evaluating and determining enhancement credits, a water quality enhancement area permit application must include the numerical model or analytical tool results used to establish the water quality enhancement area's efficacy. Supporting information must include, but need not be limited to:

a. Rainfall data over the longest period of record available, collected from the closest site to the proposed water quality enhancement area, preferably within the same drainage basin.

b. Anticipated average annual water quality and quantity inflows to the proposed water quality enhancement area, based on published local data collected over a period of record which most closely matches the rainfall data under this paragraph.

c. Site-specific conditions affecting the anticipated performance of the proposed water quality enhancement area, including the proposed treatment type and the anticipated associated reduction rates, as demonstrated by the performance of other areas where the treatment type has been established and operating over a minimum of two consecutive wet and dry seasons.

d. Data provided pursuant to sub-subparagraphs a. and b. must be from monitoring stations the department deems sufficient to determine flows and local water quality conditions.

(d) The issuance of a water quality enhancement area permit under this section does not preclude the responsibility of an applicant to obtain other applicable federal, state, and local permits for the construction activities associated with the water quality enhancement area.

(5) WATER QUALITY ENHANCEMENT SERVICE AREA.—The department shall establish a water quality enhancement service area for each water quality enhancement area. Enhancement credits may be withdrawn and used only to address adverse impacts in the enhancement service area. The boundaries of the enhancement service area shall depend upon the geographic area where the enhancement area could reasonably be expected to address adverse impacts. Enhancement service areas may overlap, and enhancement service areas for two or more enhancement areas may be approved for a regional watershed.

analytical tools used for that basin management action plan in the water quality enhancement area permit application.

2. If a basin management action plan does not exist for the watershed in which the water quality enhancement area is located, the applicant, with the approval of the department, may submit as part of the water quality enhancement area permit application model parameters and results used in a numerical model or analytical tool used by the department to develop a basin management action plan for a watershed with similar physical characteristics and pollutants as that where the proposed water quality enhancement area is to be located.

3. If the department determines that its numerical model or analytical tool used for a basin management action plan is not appropriate for the proposed water quality enhancement area, the applicant must use a standard numerical model or analytical tool for the proposed water quality enhancement area.

4. To assist the department in evaluating and determining enhancement credits, a water quality enhancement area permit application must include the numerical model or analytical tool results used to establish the water quality enhancement area's efficacy. Supporting information must include, but need not be limited to:

a. Rainfall data over the longest period of record available, collected from the closest site to the proposed water quality enhancement area, preferably within the same drainage basin.

b. Anticipated average annual water quality and quantity inflows to the proposed water quality enhancement area, based on published local data collected over a period of record which most closely matches the rainfall data under this paragraph.

c. Site-specific conditions affecting the anticipated performance of the proposed water quality enhancement area, including the proposed treatment type and the anticipated associated reduction rates, as demonstrated by the performance of other areas where the treatment type has been established and operating over a minimum of two consecutive wet and dry seasons.

5. Data provided pursuant to sub-subparagraphs 4.a. and 4.b. must be from monitoring stations the department deems sufficient to determine flows and local water quality conditions.

(d) The issuance of a water quality enhancement area permit under this section does not preclude the responsibility of an applicant to obtain other applicable federal, state, and local permits for the construction activities associated with the water quality enhancement area.

(5) WATER QUALITY ENHANCEMENT SERVICE AREA.—The department shall establish a water quality enhancement service area for each water quality enhancement area. Enhancement credits may be withdrawn and used only to address adverse impacts in the enhancement service area. The boundaries of the enhancement service area shall depend upon the geographic area where the enhancement area could reasonably be expected to address adverse impacts. Enhancement service areas may overlap, and enhancement service areas for two or more enhancement areas may be approved for a regional watershed.

(6) MONITORING AND VERIFICATION.—

(a) An applicant for a water quality enhancement area permit must propose a performance and success criteria

monitoring and verification plan, with protocols to be implemented once the water quality enhancement area is operational. The protocols must be appropriate for the water quality enhancement area and sufficient to demonstrate that the area is meeting defined performance or success criteria for the reduction of pollutants or contaminants for which credits are awarded by the department.

(b) If a permittee fails to comply with the conditions of a water quality enhancement area permit, the department must revoke the permittee's ability to sell enhancement credits until the water quality enhancement area is compliant with the permit conditions.

(7) ENHANCEMENT CREDITS.—

(a) The department or water management district shall authorize the sale and use of enhancement credits to governmental entities to address adverse water quality impacts of activities regulated under this part or to assist governmental entities seeking to meet required nonpoint source contribution reductions assigned in a basin management action plan or reasonable assurance plan pursuant to s. 403.067.

(b) Before approving the use of enhancement credits, the department or water management district must determine that the enhancement credits used by an applicant seeking a permit under this part are appropriate for a specific permit use.

(c) Water quality improvement projects using natural systems or land use modifications, including, but not limited to, constructed wetlands or minor impoundments that reduce pollutants to a receiving water body, may be used by an applicant to generate enhancement credits if approved by the department. Water quality enhancement areas may not be located on lands purchased for conservation pursuant to the Florida Forever Act or the Florida Preservation 2000 Act.

(d) The department shall provide for and maintain a ledger that tracks the award, release, and use of enhancement credits.

1. A water management district that authorizes applicants seeking permits under this part to use enhancement credits to address water quality impacts must report to the department the amount of enhancement credits used by the applicants.

2. The operator of a water quality enhancement area shall notify the department of the amount of enhancement credits sold or used within 30 days after the date the enhancement credit transaction is completed.

(e) Reductions in pollutant loading required under any state regulatory program are not eligible to be considered as enhancement credits.

(f) Enhancement credits may not be used by point source dischargers to satisfy regulatory requirements other than those necessary to obtain an environmental resource permit for construction and operation of the surface water management system of the site.

(g) Use of enhancement credits made available by water quality enhancement areas is voluntary.

(h) Any landowner, discharger, or other responsible person regulated under this part or s. 403.067 implementing applicable management strategies specified in an adopted basin management action plan or reasonable assurance plan may not be required by any permit or other enforcement action to use enhancement credits to reduce pollutant loads to achieve the pollutant reductions established pursuant to s. 403.067.

(i) A local government may not deny the use of enhancement credits due to the location of the water quality enhancement area outside the jurisdiction of the local government.

(j) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, nothing in this section may be construed to limit or restrict the authority of the department to deny the use of enhancement credits when the department is not reasonably assured that the use of the credits will not cause or contribute to a violation of water quality standards, even if the project being implemented by the governmental entity is within the enhancement service area. If the department receives a request for the use of enhancement credits and it determines that their use will not cause or contribute to a violation of water quality standards, the department may allow their use.

(8) AUTHORITY.—The authority granted to the department under this section is supplemental to the authority granted under s. 403.067(8).

(9) RULES.—The department shall adopt rules to implement this section. This section may not be implemented until the department adopts such rules.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Section 373.4134, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

373.4134 Water quality enhancement areas.—

(1) LEGISLATIVE FINDINGS AND INTENT.—The Legislature finds that:

(a) Water quality will be improved and adverse water quality impacts of activities regulated under this part may be offset by the construction, operation, maintenance, and long-term management of water quality enhancement areas that provide offsite compensatory treatment.

(b) An expansion of existing authority for regional treatment to include offsite compensatory treatment in water quality enhancement areas to make credits available for purchase by governmental entities to address impacts regulated under this part is needed.

(c) The construction, operation, maintenance, and long-term management of water quality enhancement areas pursuant to this section will improve the certainty and long-term viability of water quality treatment systems.

(d) Water quality enhancement areas are a valuable tool to assist governmental entities in satisfying the net improvement performance standard pursuant to s. 373.414(1)(b)3. to ensure significant reductions of pollutant loadings.

(e) Water quality enhancement areas that provide water quality enhancement credits to governmental entities seeking permits under this part and to governmental entities seeking to meet an assigned basin management action plan allocation or reasonable assurance plan pursuant to s. 403.067 are considered an appropriate and permittable option.

(2) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Enhancement credit" means a standard unit of measure which represents a quantity of pollutant removed.

(b) "Governmental entity" means any political subdivision of the state, including any state agency, department, agency of the state, county, municipality, special district, school district, utility authority, or other authority or instrumentality, agency, unit, or department thereof.

(c) "Natural system" means an ecological system supporting aquatic and wetland-dependent natural resources, including fish and aquatic and wetland-dependent wildlife habitats.

(d) "Water quality enhancement area" means a natural system constructed, operated, managed, and maintained for the purpose of providing offsite regional treatment for which enhancement credits may be provided pursuant to a water quality enhancement area permit issued under this section.

(e) "Water quality enhancement area permit" means an environmental resource permit issued for a water quality enhancement area which authorizes the construction, operation, management, and maintenance of an enhancement area and the purchase and sale of enhancement credits.

(3) WATER QUALITY ENHANCEMENT AREAS.—

(a) The construction, operation, management, and maintenance of a water quality enhancement area must be approved through the environmental resource permitting process.

(b) Water quality enhancement credits may be sold only to governmental entities.

(c) A water quality enhancement area must be used to address contributions of one or more pollutants or other constituents in the watershed in which the water quality enhancement area is located which do not meet applicable state water quality criteria.

(d) A water quality enhancement area must be employed to use, create, or improve natural systems in order to improve water quality.

(e) A governmental entity may use a water quality enhancement area for its own water quality needs. However, a governmental entity may not act as a sponsor to construct, operate, manage, or maintain a water quality enhancement area or market enhancement credits to third parties.

(f) A local government may not require a permit or otherwise impose regulations governing the operation of a water quality enhancement area.

(g) This section does not eliminate the obligation of an applicant for a water quality enhancement area permit or an applicant proposing to use enhancement credits to comply with all requirements of this part pertaining to adverse impacts to water quality in receiving waters and adjacent lands or wetlands.

(4) WATER QUALITY ENHANCEMENT AREA PERMIT.—

(a) To obtain a water quality enhancement area permit, the applicant must provide reasonable assurances that the proposed water quality enhancement area will be used to:

1. Meet the requirements for issuance of an environmental resource permit;

2. Benefit water quality in the watershed in which the water quality enhancement area is located;

3. Meet defined performance or success criteria for the reduction of one or more pollutants or other constituents that prevent receiving waters from meeting applicable state water quality criteria;

4. Ensure long-term pollutant reduction through effective operation and maintenance in perpetuity by designation of a responsible long-term maintenance entity supported by an endowment or other long-term financial assurance sufficient to assure perpetual operation and maintenance;

5. Demonstrate sufficient legal or equitable interest in the property to ensure access and perpetual protection and management of the land within the water quality enhancement area; and

6. Provide for permanent preservation of the water quality enhancement area which meets the requirements of s. 704.06.

(b) The water quality enhancement area permit must provide for the assessment, valuation, and award of credits based on units of pollutant removed.

(c) The department shall base its determination of the award of enhancement credits on standard numerical models or analytical tools that establish the water quality enhancement area's ability to remove pollutants or constituents.

1. Where a basin management action plan exists for the watershed in which the water quality enhancement area is located, the applicant must use the same numerical models or analytical tools used for that basin management action plan in the water quality enhancement area permit application.

2. If a basin management action plan does not exist for the watershed in which the water quality enhancement area is located, the applicant, with the approval of the department, may submit as part of the water quality enhancement area permit application model parameters and results used in a numerical model or analytical tool used by the department to develop a basin management action plan for a watershed with similar physical characteristics and pollutants as that where the proposed water quality enhancement area is to be located.

3. If the department determines that its numerical model or analytical tool used for a basin management action plan is not appropriate for the proposed water quality enhancement area, the applicant must use a standard numerical model or analytical tool for the proposed water quality enhancement area.

4. To assist the department in evaluating and determining enhancement credits, a water quality enhancement area permit application must include the numerical model or analytical tool results used to establish the water quality enhancement area's efficacy. Supporting information must include, but need not be limited to:

a. Rainfall data over the longest period of record available, collected from the closest site to the proposed water quality enhancement area, preferably within the same drainage basin.

b. Anticipated average annual water quality and quantity inflows to the proposed water quality enhancement area, based on published local data collected over a period of record which most closely matches the rainfall data under this paragraph.

c. Site-specific conditions affecting the anticipated performance of the proposed water quality enhancement area, including the proposed treatment type and the anticipated associated reduction rates, as demonstrated by the performance of other areas where the treatment type has been established and operating over a minimum of two consecutive wet and dry seasons.

d. Data provided pursuant to sub-subparagraphs a. and b. must be from monitoring stations the department deems sufficient to determine flows and local water quality conditions.

(d) The issuance of a water quality enhancement area permit under this section does not preclude the responsibility of an applicant to obtain other applicable federal, state, and local permits for the construction activities associated with the water quality enhancement area.

(5) MONITORING AND VERIFICATION.—

(a) An applicant for a water quality enhancement area permit must propose a performance and success criteria monitoring and verification plan, with protocols to be implemented once the water quality enhancement area is operational. The protocols must be appropriate for the water quality enhancement area and sufficient to demonstrate that the area is meeting defined performance or success criteria for the reduction of pollutants or contaminants for which credits are awarded by the department.

(b) If a permittee fails to comply with the conditions of a water quality enhancement area permit, the department must revoke the permittee’s ability to sell enhancement credits until the water quality enhancement area is compliant with the permit conditions.

(6) ENHANCEMENT CREDITS.—

(a) The department or water management district shall authorize the sale and use of enhancement credits to governmental entities to address adverse water quality impacts of activities regulated under this part or to assist governmental entities seeking to meet required nonpoint source contribution reductions assigned in a basin management action plan or reasonable assurance plan pursuant to s. 403.067.

(b) Before approving the use of enhancement credits, the department or water management district must determine that the enhancement credits used by an applicant seeking a permit under this part are appropriate for a specific permit use.

(c) Water quality improvement projects using natural systems or land use modifications, including, but not limited to, constructed wetlands or minor impoundments that reduce pollutants to a receiving water body, may be used by an applicant to generate enhancement credits if approved by the department. Water quality enhancement areas may not be located on lands purchased for conservation pursuant to the Florida Forever Act or the Florida Preservation 2000 Act.

(d) The department shall provide for and maintain a ledger that tracks the award, release, and use of enhancement credits.

1. A water management district that authorizes applicants seeking permits under this part to use enhancement credits to address water quality impacts must report to the department the amount of enhancement credits used by the applicants.

2. The operator of a water quality enhancement area shall notify the department of the amount of enhancement credits sold or used within 30 days after the date the enhancement credit transaction is completed.

(e) Reductions in pollutant loading required under any state regulatory program are not eligible to be considered as enhancement credits.

(f) Enhancement credits may not be used by point source dischargers to satisfy regulatory requirements other than those necessary to obtain an environmental resource permit for construction and operation of the surface water management system of the site.

(g) Use of enhancement credits made available by water quality enhancement areas is voluntary.

(h) Any landowner, discharger, or other responsible person regulated under this part or s. 403.067 implementing applicable management strategies specified in an adopted basin management action plan or reasonable assurance plan may not be required by any permit or other enforcement action to use enhancement credits to reduce pollutant loads to achieve the pollutant reductions established pursuant to s. 403.067.

(i) A local government may not deny the use of enhancement credits due to the location of the water quality enhancement area outside the jurisdiction of the local government.

(7) AUTHORITY.—The authority granted to the department under this section is supplemental to the authority granted under s. 403.067(8).

(8) RULES.—The department may adopt rules to implement this section.

Section 2. Paragraph (b) of subsection (1) and paragraphs (a), (b), and (d) of subsection (3) of section 403.892, Florida Statutes, are amended, and subsection (6) is added to that section, to read:

403.892 Incentives for the use of graywater technologies.—

(1) As used in this section, the term:

(b) "Graywater" has the same meaning as in s. 381.0065(2)(f) ~~s. 381.0065(2)(c)~~.

(3) To qualify for the incentives under subsection (2), the developer or homebuilder must certify to the applicable governmental entity as part of its application for development approval or amendment of a development order that all of the following conditions are met:

(a) The proposed or existing development has at least 25 single-family residential homes that are either detached or multifamily dwellings. ~~This paragraph does not apply to multifamily projects over five stories in height.~~

(b) Each single-family residential home or residence will have its own residential graywater system ~~that is~~ dedicated for its use. Each residence forming part of a multifamily project will be serviced by either its own residential graywater system dedicated for its use or a master graywater collection and reuse system for the entire project.

(d) The required maintenance of the graywater system will be the responsibility of the owner ~~residential homeowner~~.

(6) This section does not apply to multifamily projects more than five stories in height. Whether a dwelling is occupied by an owner is not an eligibility criterion for a developer or homebuilder to receive the incentives authorized pursuant to this section.

Section 3. The Department of Environmental Protection shall adopt and modify rules adopted pursuant to ss. 373.4136 and 373.414, Florida Statutes, to ensure that required financial assurances are equivalent and sufficient to provide for the long-term management of mitigation permitted under ss. 373.4136 and 373.414, Florida Statutes. The department, in consultation with the water management districts, shall include the rulemaking required by this section in existing active rulemaking or shall complete rule development by June 30, 2023.

Section 4. This act shall take effect upon becoming a law.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 1426 creates the concept of water quality enhancement areas (WQEAs). A WQEA is a natural system that is constructed, operated, managed, and maintained pursuant to a permit to provide offsite, compensatory, regional treatment within an identified enhancement service area and enhancement credits.

The bill provides that construction, operation, management, and maintenance of a WQEA must be approved through the environmental resource permitting (ERP) process. The bill sets out requirements for a water quality credit program based on the development of WQEAs and authorizes the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) to develop rules to implement the program. Water quality enhancement credits may be sold only to governmental entities.

The bill makes clarifications regarding incentives for the use of graywater technologies.

According to the DEP, the department would incur costs from operating the WQEA program, as the program would need eight additional staff members and associated travel. The total financial impact for these positions including salaries, benefits, expenses, and travel costs would be approximately $878,275 annually.

II. Present Situation:

Water Quality and Nutrients

Phosphorous and nitrogen are naturally present in water and are essential nutrients for the healthy growth of plant and animal life.[1] The correct balance of both nutrients is necessary for a healthy ecosystem; however, excessive amounts can cause significant water quality problems.

Phosphorous and nitrogen are derived from natural and human-made sources. Human-made sources include sewage disposal systems (wastewater treatment facilities and septic systems), overflows of storm and sanitary sewers (untreated sewage), agricultural production and irrigation practices, and stormwater runoff.[2]

Excessive nutrient loads may result in harmful algal blooms, nuisance aquatic weeds, and the alteration of the natural community of plants and animals. Dense, harmful algal blooms can also cause human health problems, fish kills, problems for water treatment plants, and impairment of the aesthetics and taste of waters. Growth of nuisance aquatic weeds tends to increase in nutrient-enriched waters, which can impact recreational activities.[3]

Total Maximum Daily Loads

A total maximum daily load (TMDL), which must be adopted by rule, is a scientific determination of the maximum amount of a given pollutant that can be absorbed by a waterbody and still meet water quality standards.[4] Waterbodies or sections of waterbodies that do not meet the established water quality standards are deemed impaired. Pursuant to the federal Clean Water Act, the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) must establish a TMDL for impaired waterbodies.[5] A TMDL for an impaired waterbody is the sum of the individual waste load allocations for point sources and the load allocations for nonpoint sources and natural background.[6] Point sources are discernible, confined, and discrete conveyances including pipes, ditches, and tunnels. Nonpoint sources are unconfined sources that include runoff from agricultural lands or residential areas.[7]

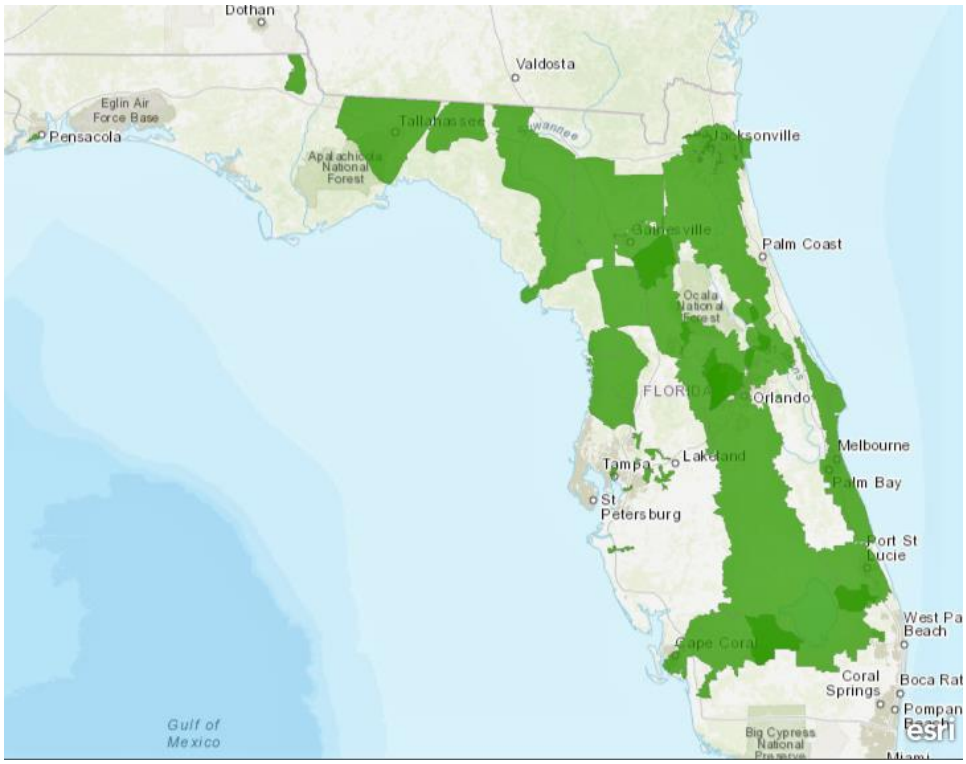
Nonpoint sources of pollution are sources of pollution that are not point sources. Nonpoint sources can include runoff from agricultural lands or residential areas; oil, grease and toxic materials from urban runoff; and sediment from improperly managed construction sites.

Basin Management Action Plans and Best Management Practices

The DEP is the lead agency in coordinating the development and implementation of TMDLs.[8] Basin management action plans (BMAPs) are one of the primary mechanisms DEP uses to achieve TMDLs. BMAPs are plans that address the entire pollution load, including point and nonpoint discharges,[9] for a watershed or a specific waterbody. BMAPs generally include:

- Permitting and other existing regulatory programs, including water quality based effluent limitations;
- Best management practices (BMPs) and non-regulatory and incentive-based programs, including cost-sharing, waste minimization, pollution prevention, agreements, and public education;
- Public works projects, including capital facilities; and
- Land acquisition.[10]



A BMAP equitably allocates pollutant reductions to individual basins, to all basins as a whole, or to each identified point source or category of nonpoint sources.[11] Then, the BMAP establishes the schedule for implementing projects and activities to meet the pollution reduction allocations. The BMAP development process provides an opportunity for local stakeholders, local government, community leaders, and the public to determine and share water quality cleanup responsibilities collectively.[12]

BMAPs must include milestones for implementation and water quality improvement.[13] They must also include an associated water quality monitoring component sufficient to evaluate whether reasonable progress in pollutant load reductions is being achieved over time. An assessment of progress toward these milestones must be conducted every five years, and revisions to the BMAP must be made as appropriate.[14]

Producers of nonpoint source pollution included in a BMAP must comply with the established pollutant reductions by either implementing the appropriate BMPs or by conducting water quality monitoring.[15] A nonpoint source discharger may be subject to enforcement action by the DEP or a water management district (WMD) based on a failure to implement these requirements.[16] BMPs are designed to reduce the amount of nutrients, sediments, and pesticides

[8] Section 403.061, F.S. DEP has the power and the duty to control and prohibit pollution of air and water in accordance with the law and rules adopted and promulgated by it. Furthermore, s. 403.061(21), F.S., allows DEP to advise, consult, cooperate, and enter into agreements with other state agencies, the federal government, other states, interstate agencies, etc.

Reasonable Assurance Plans

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency allows states to place certain impaired waterbodies into Category 4b for Clean Water Act section 303(d) reporting purposes, meaning that the establishment of a TMDL is not required for an impaired waterbody if other required control measures are expected to result in the attainment of water quality standards in a reasonable period of time.[19]

A Reasonable Assurance Plan (RAP) is a control measure that the DEP may implement for Category 4b impaired waterbodies.[20] The DEP first determines if a waterbody is impaired or may be reasonably expected to become impaired within the next five years.[21] If a waterbody fits this criteria, the DEP evaluates whether existing or proposed technology-based effluent limitations and other pollution control programs are sufficient to result in the attainment of water quality standards. If the waterbody is expected to attain water quality standards in the future and to make reasonable progress towards attainment of those standards in a certain timeframe, the waterbody will not require a TMDL. The DEP's decision must be based on a plan that provides reasonable assurance that proposed pollution control mechanisms and expected water quality improvements in the waterbody will attain water quality standards.[22] The graphic on the right shows the RAP boundaries in the outlined areas without a grid.[23]

Planning Units

A planning unit is either an individual large tributary basin or a group of smaller adjacent tributary basins with similar characteristics.[24] Planning units help organize information and management strategies around prominent watershed characteristics, and they provide a more detailed geographic basis for identifying and assessing water quality improvement activities.[25] The graphic on the next page shows the state's planning units.[26]

Stormwater Management

Stormwater is the flow of water resulting from, and immediately following, a rainfall event.[27] When stormwater falls on pavement, buildings, and other impermeable surfaces, the runoff flows quickly and can pick up sediment, trash, chemicals, and other pollutants.[28] Stormwater is a major source of water pollution in Florida.[29]

The regulatory programs that address reductions in water quality caused by stormwater are the federal National Pollution Discharge Elimination System (NPDES), which regulates discharges of pollutants into waters of the United States,[30] and the state Environmental Resource Permitting (ERP) Program, which regulates activities involving the alteration of surface water flows.[31]

The NPDES regulates stormwater pollution from certain municipal storm sewer systems and runoff from certain construction and industrial activities.[32] The state's ERP program regulates activities that create stormwater runoff, as well as dredging and filling in wetlands and other surface waters.[33] ERPs aim to prevent flooding, protect wetlands and other surface waters, and protect water quality from stormwater pollution.[34] The DEP, the WMDs, and local governments implement the ERP program.[35]

The DEP and the WMDs may require ERPs and impose reasonable conditions:

- To ensure that construction or alteration of stormwater management systems and related structures is consistent with applicable law and not harmful to water resources;[36] and
- For the maintenance or operation of such structures.[37]

The DEP's stormwater rules are technology-based effluent limitations, rather than water quality-based effluent limitations.[38] This means that stormwater rules rely on design criteria for BMPs to achieve a performance standard for pollution reduction, rather than specifying the amount of a specific pollutant that may be discharged to a waterbody and still ensure that the waterbody attains water quality standards.[39] The rules contain minimum stormwater treatment performance standards, which require design and performance criteria for new stormwater management systems to achieve at least 80 percent reduction of the average annual load of pollutants that would cause or contribute to violations of state water quality standards.[40]

The DEP and the WMDs require applicants to provide reasonable assurance that state water quality standards will not be violated.[41] If a stormwater management system is designed in accordance with the stormwater treatment requirements and criteria adopted by the DEP or the WMDs, then the system design is presumed not to cause or contribute to violations of applicable state water quality standards.[42] If a stormwater management system is constructed, operated, and maintained for stormwater treatment in accordance with a valid permit or exemption, then the stormwater discharged from the system is presumed not to cause or contribute to violations of applicable state water quality standards.[43] If an applicant is unable to meet water quality standards because existing ambient water quality does not meet standards, the DEP or a WMD must consider mitigation measures that cause a net improvement of the water quality in the waterbody that does not meet the standards.[44]

2020 Stormwater Rulemaking

In 2020, the Florida Legislature passed CS/SB 712, the Clean Waterways Act, to address known sources of nutrient pollution in waterways and to strengthen regulatory requirements.[45] The Clean Waterways Act required the DEP and the WMDs to update stormwater regulations to reflect the latest scientific information. In response, the DEP created the Clean Waterways Act Stormwater Rulemaking Technical Advisory Committee (TAC). The TAC's goal is to develop and provide consensus stormwater rulemaking recommendations for the DEP and the WMDs.[46] The TAC's initial discussion topics were as follows:

- Options for identifying stormwater design criteria and BMPs that are effective for increasing nutrient removal from stormwater runoff;
- Measures for consistent application of the net improvement performance standard to ensure significant reductions of any pollutant loadings to a waterbody thought to be impaired by stormwater runoff; and
- Changes to improve existing stormwater operation regulations to ensure water resources are protected by the rulemaking directed under the Clean Waterways Act.[47]

Water Quality Credit Trading

Water quality credit trading is a market-based approach to water quality improvements that can be used to control pollutants from sources that collectively worsen water quality conditions.[48] Water quality credit trading allows one source of pollution to control a pollutant at levels greater than required and to sell the resulting water quality credits to another source to supplement its level of treatment to comply with pollutant regulations.[49] This practice must result in water quality that is as good as or better than what would be achieved through meeting pollutant level requirements and must not create pollutant hotspots.[50] Water quality credit trades may result in a broad area of water quality improvement, while causing acute or chronic localized effects, or hotpots.[51]

The Florida Statutes provide a framework for water quality credit trading in the state. The DEP is the agency responsible for authorizing water quality credit trading in adopted BMAPs and for establishing the pollutant load reduction value of water quality credits.[52] The DEP cannot participate in the establishment of water quality credit prices. Water quality credit sellers are responsible for achieving the load reductions on which the water quality credits are based and complying with the terms of the DEP authorization and any trading agreements into which they have entered; buyers are responsible for complying with the terms of the DEP water discharge permit.[53] Land set-asides and land use modification not otherwise required by state law or a permit, including constructed wetlands or other water quality improvement projects, that reduce nutrient loads into impaired surface waters may be used for water quality credit trading.[54] In the past, water quality credits have been traded in the state, however there are no water quality credits available for trade as of January 28, 2022.[55]

Mitigation Banking

Generally, mitigation banking is a practice in which an environmental enhancement and preservation project is conducted by a public agency or private entity to provide mitigation for unavoidable wetland impacts within a defined mitigation service area.[56] The bank is the site itself, and the currency sold by the banker to the impact permittee is a credit, representing the wetland ecological value equivalent to the complete restoration of one acre.[57] The number of potential credits permitted for the bank, and the credit debits required for impact permits, are determined by the permitting agencies.[58]

Creation of a mitigation bank in Florida requires both a permit from the DEP or a WMD, and federal approval of a mitigation bank instrument from several agencies led by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers (USACE), in a joint state/federal interagency review team.[59] Through this process, depending on agency approval, a mitigation bank may provide mitigation for permittees under both the federal and state permitting programs.

Requirements for permitting mitigation banks differ between mitigation bank instruments issued by the USACE and state permits issued by the DEP or the WMDs. Under the federal process, a mitigation banking instrument serves as the legal document for the establishment, operation, and use of a mitigation bank.[60] They are approved by an interagency review team, through procedures involving public notice and comment.[61] Mitigation banking instruments must include certain detailed elements, such as a comprehensive mitigation plan including financial assurances, and a credit release schedule that is tied to the achievement of specific milestones.[62]

Under Florida law, to obtain a mitigation bank permit, the applicant must provide reasonable assurance that the mitigation bank will:

- Improve ecological conditions of the regional watershed;
- Provide viable and sustainable ecological and hydrological functions for the proposed mitigation service area;
- Be effectively managed in perpetuity;
- Not destroy areas with high ecological value;
- Achieve mitigation success; and
- Be adjacent to lands that will not adversely affect the long-term viability of the mitigation bank due to unsuitable land uses or conditions.[63]

The applicant must also provide reasonable assurance that:

- Any surface water management system that will be constructed, altered, operated, maintained, abandoned, or removed within a mitigation bank will meet the requirements of part IV of ch. 373, F.S., which regulates management and storage of surface waters, and rules adopted thereunder;
- The applicant has sufficient legal or equitable interest in the property to ensure perpetual protection and management of the land within a mitigation bank; and
- The applicant can meet the financial responsibility requirements prescribed for mitigation banks.[64]

Graywater, Residential Systems, and Development Incentives

Graywater is the part of domestic sewage that is not carried off by toilets, urinals, and kitchen drains. It includes waste from the bath, lavatory, laundry, and sink, except for kitchen sink waste.[65] Graywater installations occur in both residential and non-residential installations and the capture, treatment, and reuse of graywater yields usable water that would otherwise be directed to the sewer.[66] Reusing graywater also reduces the use of potable water for non-potable needs and conserves fresh water.[67]

The Florida Building Code specifies that graywater may only be used for flushing of toilets and urinals. Any discharge from the building must be connected to a public sewer or an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system in accordance with Department of Health regulations in chapter 64E-6 of the Florida Administrative Code.[68] Graywater systems in Florida have several requirements: the graywater must be filtered, disinfected, and dyed; and storage reservoirs must have drains and overflow pipes which must be indirectly connected to the sanitary drainage system.[69]

To encourage adoption of residential graywater reuse, states, counties, municipalities, or special districts are required to implement incentives for the use of graywater technologies.[70] To do this, they must authorize the use of residential graywater technologies in their respective jurisdictions and provide specific density or intensity bonuses to developers or homebuilders if a certain percentage of a proposed or existing development will have a graywater system installed.[71]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 creates s. 373.4134, F.S. to authorize the creation of water quality enhancement areas (WQEAs). The bill lists the following legislative findings:

- Water quality will be improved and adverse water quality impacts of activities regulated under provisions of law relating to the management and storage of surface waters may be offset by WQEAs that provide offsite compensatory treatment;
- An expansion of existing authority for regional treatment to include offsite compensatory treatment in WQEAs to make water quality enhancement credits available for purchase by governmental entities to address impacts regulated by provisions of law relating to the management and storage of surface waters is needed;
- WQEAs will improve the certainty and long-term viability of water quality treatment systems;
- WQEAs are a valuable tool to assist governmental entities in satisfying the net improvement performance standard[72] to ensure significant reductions of pollutant loadings; and
- WQEAs that provide credits to governmental entities seeking permits under this bill and governmental entities seeking to meet an assigned basin management action plan (BMAP) allocation or reasonable assurance plan (RAP) are considered an appropriate and permittable option.

The bill provides the following definitions:

- "Enhancement credit" means a standard unit of measure which represents a quantity of pollutant removed;
- "Governmental entities" means any political subdivision of this state, including any state agency, department, county, municipality, special district, school district, utility authority, or other authority or instrumentality, agency, unit, or department thereof;

[70] Section 403.892(2), F.S.
[71] Id.
[72] If the applicant is unable to meet water quality standards because existing ambient water quality does not meet standards, the governing board or DEP shall consider mitigation measures proposed by or acceptable to the applicant that cause net improvement of the water quality in the receiving body of water for those parameters which do not meet standards. Section 373.414(1)(b)3., F.S.

- "Natural system" means an ecological system supporting aquatic and wetland-dependent natural resources, including fish and aquatic and wetland –dependant wildlife habitats;
- "Water quality enhancement area" means a natural system constructed, operated, managed, and maintained pursuant to a permit issued under this part for the purpose of providing offsite, compensatory, regional treatment within an identified enhancement service area, for which enhancement credits may be provided; and
- "Water quality enhancement area permit" means a permit issued for a WQEA which authorizes its construction, operation, management, and maintenance and the purchase and sale of credits.

The bill provides that the construction, operation, management, and maintenance of a WQEA must be approved through the environmental resource permitting (ERP) process. Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) rules pertaining to ERPs apply to WQEAs and credits. The bill provides that WQEA credits may be sold only to governmental entities seeking to meet an assigned BMAP allocation or reasonable assurance plan or for the purpose of achieving net water quality improvement after the governmental entity has provided reasonable assurance of meeting department rules for design and construction of all onsite stormwater management. It provides that a WQEA must address contributions of pollutants or other constituents for those parameters in an enhancement service area that do not meet state water quality criteria. Further, the bill requires that a WQEA must use, create, or improve natural systems to improve water quality.

The bill allows a governmental entity to use a WQEA for its own water quality needs. However it may not act as a sponsor to construct, operate, manage, maintain, or market credits to third parties. Further, the bill prevents a local government from requiring a permit or otherwise regulating the operation of WQEAs. It provides that the issuance of a WQEA permit does not preclude the responsibility of an applicant to obtain other applicable federal, state, and local permits for the construction activities associated with the WQEA.

To obtain a WQEA permit, the bill directs an applicant to provide reasonable assurances that the proposed WQEA will:

- Meet the requirements for issuance of an ERP;
- Benefit water quality in the enhancement service area;
- Achieve defined performance or success criteria for the reduction of pollutants or other constituents that prevent receiving waters from meeting state water quality criteria;
- Ensure long-term pollutant reduction through effective operation and maintenance in perpetuity by designation of a responsible long-term maintenance entity supported by an endowment or other long-term financial assurance sufficient to assure perpetual operation and maintenance;
- Demonstrate sufficient legal or equitable interest in the property to ensure access and perpetual protection and management of land within the WQEA; and
- Provide for permanent preservation of the site through a conservation easement.

The bill requires a WQEA permit to provide for the assessment, valuation, and award of credits based on units of pollutant removed. It requires the DEP to base its determination of the award of enhancement credits on standard numerical models or analytical tools that establish the WQEAs ability to remove pollutants or constituents.

The bill requires that if a BMAP exists for the watershed in which the WQEA is located, the applicant must use the same numerical models or analytical tools used for the BMAP in WQEA permit application. If a BMAP does not exist for the watershed in which the WQEA is located, the bill provides that the applicant, with the approval of the DEP, may submit as part of the permit application model parameters and results used by the DEP to develop a BMAP for a watershed with similar characteristics and pollutants as that where the WQEA is to be located. The bill requires that if the DEP determines that its numerical model or analytical tool used for a BMAP is not appropriate for the proposed WQEA, the applicant must use a standard numerical model of analytical tool for the WQEA.

It requires a WQEA application to include the following information to assist the DEP in determining credits:

- Rainfall data over the longest period of record available collected from the closest site to the proposed WQEA, preferably within the same drainage basin;
- Anticipated average annual water quality and quantity inflows to the proposed WQEA, based on published local data collected over a period of record that most closely matches the rainfall data;
- Site-specific conditions affecting the anticipated performance of the proposed WQEA, including the proposed treatment type and anticipated associated reduction rates, as demonstrated by the performance of other areas where the treatment type has been established and operating over a minimum of two consecutive wet and dry seasons; and
- Data from collection stations approved by the DEP in sites that the DEP deems sufficient to determine flows and local water quality conditions.

The bill provides that an issuance of a WQEA permit does not preclude the responsibility of an applicant to obtain other applicable federal, state, and local permits for the construction activities associated with the WQEA.

The bill provides that the DEP shall establish a water quality enhancement service area for each WQEA. Enhancement credits may be withdrawn and used only to address adverse impacts in the water quality enhancement service area. The boundaries of the enhancement service area shall depend upon the geographic areas where the enhancement area could reasonably be expected to address adverse impacts. The bill provides that the enhancement service areas may overlap, and enhancement service areas for two or more enhancement areas may be approved for a regional watershed.

The bill provides that an applicant for a WQEA permit must propose a performance and success criteria monitoring and verification plan, with protocols to be implemented once the WQEA and sufficient to demonstrate that the area is meeting defined performance or success criteria for the reduction of pollutants or contaminants for which the credits were awarded by the DEP.

The bill provides that if a permittee fails to comply with the conditions of a WQEA permit, the DEP must revoke the permittee's ability to sell enhancement credits until the WQEA is compliant with the permit conditions.

The bill directs the DEP or the water management districts to authorize the sale and use of credits to governmental entities to offset adverse water quality impacts of activities regulated under the bill or to assist entities seeking to meet an assigned BMAP allocation or RAP. The bill allows an applicant to use water quality improvement projects that use natural systems or land use modifications, including constructed wetlands or minor impoundments that reduce pollutants to a receiving water body, to generate credits if approved by the DEP. The bill provides that a WQEA may not be located on lands purchased for conservation thorough the Florida Forever Act or Florida Preservation 2000 Act. The bill directs the DEP to provide for and maintain a ledger that tracks the award, release, and use of credits. In furtherance of the ledger requirement, the bill directs a WQEA operator to notify the DEP of the amount of credits sold or used within 30 days of the date the credits transaction is completed. It also directs a water management district that authorizes credit use to report to the DEP the amount of credits used by an applicant.

The bill provides that reductions in pollutant loading required under any state regulatory program are not eligible to be considered as credits. It specifies that credits may not be used by point source dischargers to satisfy regulatory requirements other than those necessary to obtain an ERP for construction and operation of the surface water management system of the site. The bill provides that use of credits is voluntary, and any landowner, discharger, or other responsible person implementing applicable management strategies specified in a BMAP or RAP may not be required to use credits to reduce pollutant loads to achieve pollutant reductions. Further, the bill provides that a local government may not deny the use of credits due to the location of the WQEA outside the jurisdiction of the local government.

The bill provides that notwithstanding any other provision of law, nothing in this section may be construed to limit or restrict the authority of the DEP to deny use of enhancement credits when the DEP is not reasonably assured that the use of the credits will not cause or contribute to a violation of water quality standards, even if the project being implemented by the governmental entity is within the enhancement service area. If the DEP receives a request for the use of enhancement credits and the DEP determines that their use will not cause or contribute to a violation of water quality standards, the DEP my allow their use

The bill provides that the authority granted to the DEP by this bill is supplemental to the authority granted under the statutes regulating water quality credit trading. It authorizes the DEP to adopt rules to implement WQEAs and provides that this section may not be implemented until the DEP adopts such rules.

Section 2 amends s. 403.892, F.S., to add to a condition to qualify for graywater technology use incentives that each residence forming part of a multifamily project must be serviced by its own residential graywater system or a master graywater collection and re-use system for the entire project. The bill also clarifies that the maintenance of the graywater system is the responsibility of the owner. The bill provides that apartments may be included in a proposed or existing development as one of the conditions met to qualify for incentives for the use of graywater technologies and clarifies that whether a dwelling is occupied by an owner is not an eligibility criterion for a developer or homebuilder to receive incentives. The bill provides that an operation and maintenance manual will be supplied to either the initial owner of the residence or the initial owner of a multifamily project that will be serviced by a master graywater collection and reuse system. The bill also corrects a reference.

Section 3 directs the DEP to adopt and modify rules relating to mitigation banks and activities in surface waters and wetlands to ensure that required financial assurances are equivalent and sufficient to provide for the long-term management of mitigation measures. The bill requires the DEP, in consultation with the water management districts, to include this required rulemaking in existing active rulemaking or to complete rule development by June 30, 2023.

Section 4 provides that the bill will take effect upon becoming law.

C. Government Sector Impact:

Local governments may experience a negative fiscal impact from loss of permit application fees for stormwater treatment due to the bill preventing local governments from requiring water quality treatment to be located within their jurisdiction.[73] Other fiscal effects are indeterminate.

[73] DEP, House Bill 965 Legislative Analysis (Jan. 7, 2022) (on file with the Senate Committee on Environment and Natural Resources).

The state government may experience revenue increases from WQEA permit application fees. These fees would be based on acreage and would likely range from $420 to $14,000. The number of applicants is unknown. The new permit application fees would be deposited into the Permit Fee Trust Fund.[74]

According to the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), it would incur costs from operating the WQEA program, because it would need eight additional staff members and associated travel. The total financial impact for these positions including salaries, benefits, expenses, and travel costs would be approximately $878,275 annually.[75]

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS/CS by Appropriations on February 28, 2022:
The committee substitute:

- Removes definitions for "enhancement service area" and "planning unit" from the underlying bill.
- Adds definition for "natural system".
- Adds that the DEP must use standard numerical models that establish a WQEA's ability to remove pollutants in its determination of the award of credits. The models may be based on basin management action plan (BMAP) numerical models for the watershed where the WQEA is located, a similar numerical model if no BMAP exists for a particular watershed, or a standard numerical model if a similar model is not appropriate.
- Removes from the underlying bill the provision that an enhancement service area must be based on a BMAP, reasonable assurance plan, or planning unit.

[74] Id.
[75] Id.
[76] Id.

- Clarifies what governmental entities and under what circumstances water quality enhancement credits can be sold to governmental entities.
- Clarifies the areas in which a water quality enhancement area may be used to address pollutants.
- Requires a WQEA permit applicant to propose a performance and success criteria monitoring and verification plan.
- Requires the DEP to revoke a permittee's ability to sell enhancement credits if the permittee fails to comply with WQEA permit conditions until the WQEA is in compliance.
- Removes exceptions in the underlying bill that would allow a WQEA to provide credits outside of an enhancement service area.
- Adds that before approving the use of enhancement credits, the DEP or water management district must determine that the enhancement credits are appropriate for a specific permit use.
- Creates a water quality enhancement service area for each water quality enhancement area.
- Adds that WQEAs may not be located on lands purchased for conservation pursuant to the Florida Forever Act or the Florida Preservation 2000 Act.
- Provides that the DEP may not implement WQEA provisions until rules are adopted.

Provides that apartments may be included in a proposed or existing development as one of the conditions met to qualify for incentives for the use of graywater technologies.

- Provides that an operation and maintenance manual will be supplied to either the initial owner of the residence or the initial owner of a multifamily project that will be serviced by a master graywater collection and reuse system.
- Removes the section in the underlying bill authorizing the DEP to enter into agreements and contracts with public and private entities to accept and expand donations, grants of funds, and payments to expedite the evaluation of the entity's application for a dredge and fill permit or an environmental resource permit.
- Deletes the $2.04 million appropriation for 24 full-time equivalent positions in the underlying bill.

CS by Environment and Natural Resources on February 1, 2022:

The committee substitute:

- Specifies that only governmental entities may purchase and use water quality enhancement (WQEA) credits.
- Defines "governmental entity" as any political subdivision of the state, including any state agency, department, county, municipality, special district, school district, utility authority, or other authority or instrumentality, agency, unit, or department thereof.
- Removes the prohibition against water quality enhancement credits being used to compensate for wetland or other surface water impacts.
- Deletes the exception that allows water quality enhancement credit use outside of the enhancement service area for projects with total adverse impacts of less than one acre.
- Adds that DEP may enter into agreements and contracts with public or private entities to accept and expend donations, grants, and payments to expedite the evaluation of the entity's application for dredge and fill or environmental resource permits.

- Amends a condition to qualify for incentives for the use of graywater technologies to add that each residence that is part of a multifamily project will be serviced by either its own residential graywater system or a master graywater collection and reuse system for the entire project.
- Directs DEP to adopt and modify rules relating to mitigation banks and activities in surface waters and wetlands to ensure that required financial assurances are equivalent and sufficient to provide for the long-term management of mitigation measures.
- Appropriates $2.04 million in recurring funds, effective July 1, 2022, from the Grants and Donations Trust Fund to DEP and authorizes 24 full-time positions to evaluate dredge and fill and environmental resource permits for entities with which DEP has entered into agreements or contracts.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Section 373.4134, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

373.4134 Water quality enhancement areas.—

(1) LEGISLATIVE FINDINGS AND INTENT.—The Legislature finds that:

(a) Water quality will be improved and adverse water quality impacts of activities regulated under this part may be offset by the construction, operation, maintenance, and long-term management of water quality enhancement areas that provide offsite compensatory treatment.

(b) An expansion of existing authority for regional treatment to include offsite compensatory treatment in water quality enhancement areas to make credits available for purchase by governmental entities to offset impacts regulated under this part is needed.

(c) The construction, operation, maintenance, and long-term management of water quality enhancement areas pursuant to this section will improve the certainty and long-term viability of water quality treatment systems.

(d) Water quality enhancement areas are a valuable tool to assist governmental entities in satisfying the net improvement performance standard pursuant to s. 373.414(1)(b)3. to ensure significant reductions of pollutant loadings.

(e) Water quality enhancement areas that provide water quality enhancement credits to governmental entities seeking permits under this part and to governmental entities seeking to meet an assigned basin management action plan allocation or reasonable assurance plan pursuant to s. 403.067 are considered an appropriate and permittable option.

(2) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Enhancement credit" means a standard unit of measure which represents a quantity of pollutant removed.

(b) "Enhancement service area" means the geographic area where the water quality enhancement area can reasonably be expected to offset adverse water quality impacts.

(c) "Governmental entity" means any political subdivision of this state, including any state agency, department, county, municipality, special district, school district, utility authority, or other authority or instrumentality, agency, unit, or department thereof.

(d) "Planning unit" means the total maximum daily load planning unit that is an individual tributary basin or a group of smaller adjacent tributary basins with similar characteristics.

(e) "Water quality enhancement area" means a natural system constructed, operated, managed, and maintained pursuant to a permit issued under this section for the purpose of providing offsite, compensatory, regional treatment within an identified enhancement service area, for which enhancement credits may be provided.

(f) "Water quality enhancement area permit" means a permit issued for a water quality enhancement area which authorizes the construction, operation, management, and maintenance of the area and the purchase and sale of enhancement credits.

(3) WATER QUALITY ENHANCEMENT AREAS.—

(a) The construction, operation, management, and maintenance of a water quality enhancement area must be approved through the environmental resource permitting process. Department rules pertaining to environmental resource permits apply to water quality enhancement areas and enhancement credits.

(b) Water quality enhancement credits may be sold only to governmental entities.

(c) A water quality enhancement area must address contributions of pollutants for those parameters in an enhancement service area which do not meet state water quality standards.

(d) A water quality enhancement area must use, create, or improve natural systems in order to improve water quality.

(e) A governmental entity may use a water quality enhancement area for its own water quality needs. However, a governmental entity may not act as a sponsor to construct, operate, manage, maintain, or market enhancement credits to third parties.

(f) A local government may not require a permit or otherwise impose regulations governing the operation of a water quality enhancement area.

(4) WATER QUALITY ENHANCEMENT AREA PERMIT.—

(a) To obtain a water quality enhancement area permit, the applicant must provide reasonable assurances that the proposed water quality enhancement area will:

1. Meet the requirements for issuance of an environmental resource permit.

2. Benefit water quality in the enhancement service area.

3. Achieve defined performance or success criteria for the reduction of pollutants or other constituents that prevent receiving waters from meeting state water quality standards.

4. Assure long-term pollutant reduction through effective operation and maintenance in perpetuity by designation of a responsible long-term maintenance entity supported by an endowment or other long-term financial assurance sufficient to assure perpetual maintenance.

5. Demonstrate sufficient legal or equitable interest in the property to ensure access and perpetual protection and management of the land within the water quality enhancement area.

6. Provide for permanent preservation of the site pursuant to s. 704.06.

(b) The water quality enhancement area permit must provide for the assessment, valuation, and award of credits based on units of pollutant removed. To assist the department in determining enhancement credits, a water quality enhancement area application must include the following information:

1. Rainfall data over the longest period of record available, collected from the closest site to the proposed water quality enhancement area, preferably within the same drainage basin.

2. Anticipated average annual water quality and quantity inflows to the proposed water quality enhancement area, based on published local data collected over a period of record that most closely matches the rainfall data under this paragraph.

3. Site-specific conditions affecting the anticipated performance of the proposed water quality enhancement area, including the proposed treatment type and anticipated associated reduction rates, as demonstrated by the performance of other areas where the treatment type has been established and operating over a minimum of two consecutive wet and dry seasons.

4. Data from collection stations approved in advance by the department in sites that the department deems sufficient to determine flows and local water quality conditions.

(c) The issuance of a water quality enhancement area permit under this section does not preclude the responsibility of an applicant to obtain other applicable federal, state, and local permits for the construction activities associated with the water quality enhancement area.

(5) ENHANCEMENT SERVICE AREA.—

(a) An enhancement service area must be based on a basin management action plan or reasonable assurance plan boundary adopted by the department. If the department does not adopt a basin management action plan or reasonable assurance plan boundary, the enhancement service area must be the planning unit.

(b) A water quality enhancement area may provide enhancement credits only in an enhancement service area, except for:

1. Projects with adverse impacts located partially within the enhancement service area.

2. Linear projects, such as roadways, transmission lines, distribution lines, pipelines, railways, or seaports listed in s. 311.09(1).

(c) Once an enhancement service area has been established by the department, the enhancement service area must be accepted by all water management districts and local governments.

(6) ENHANCEMENT CREDITS.—

(a) The department or water management district shall authorize the sale and use of enhancement credits to governmental entities to offset adverse water quality impacts of activities regulated under this part or to assist governmental entities seeking to meet an assigned basin management action plan allocation or reasonable assurance plan pursuant to s. 403.067.

(b) Water quality improvement projects using natural systems or land use modifications, including, but not limited to, constructed wetlands or minor impoundments that reduce pollutants to a receiving water body, may be used by an applicant to generate enhancement credits if approved by the department.

(c) The department shall provide for and maintain a ledger that tracks the award, release, and use of enhancement credits.

1. The operator of a water quality enhancement area shall notify the department of the amount of enhancement credits sold or used within 30 days of the date the enhancement credit transaction is completed.

2. A water management district that authorizes applicants seeking permits under this part to use enhancement credits to offset water quality impacts must report to the department the amount of enhancement credits used by the applicant.

(d) Reductions in pollutant loading required under any state regulatory program are not eligible to be considered as enhancement credits.

(e) Enhancement credits may not be used by point source dischargers to satisfy regulatory requirements other than those necessary to obtain an environmental resource permit for construction and operation of the surface water management system of the site.

(f) Use of enhancement credits made available by water quality enhancement areas is voluntary.

(g) Any landowner, discharger, or other responsible person regulated under this part or s. 403.067 implementing applicable management strategies specified in an adopted basin management action plan or reasonable assurance plan may not be required by any permit or other enforcement action to use enhancement credits to reduce pollutant loads to achieve the pollutant reductions established pursuant to s. 403.067.

(h) A local government may not deny the use of enhancement credits due to the location of the water quality enhancement area outside the jurisdiction of the local government.

(7) AUTHORITY.—The authority granted to the department under this section is supplemental to the authority granted under s. 403.067(8).

(8) RULES.—The department may adopt rules to implement this section.

Section 2. Subsection (22) of section 403.061, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

403.061 Department; powers and duties.—The department shall have the power and the duty to control and prohibit pollution of air and water in accordance with the law and rules adopted and promulgated by it and, for this purpose, to:

(22)(a) Advise, consult, cooperate, and enter into agreements and contracts with other agencies of the state, the Federal Government, other states, interstate agencies, groups, political subdivisions, and industries affected by the provisions of this act, rules, or policies of the department. However, the secretary of the department shall not enter into any interstate agreement relating to the transport of ozone precursor pollutants, nor modify its rules based upon a recommendation from the Ozone Transport Assessment Group or any other such organization that is not an official subdivision of the United States Environmental Protection Agency but which studies issues related to the transport of ozone precursor pollutants, without prior review and specific legislative approval.

(b) Enter into agreements and contracts with public or private entities to accept and expend donations, grants of funds, and payments to expedite the evaluation of the entity's application for a permit under s. 373.4131 or s. 373.4146. Such agreements and contracts must be effective for at least 3 years. Permit evaluations under this paragraph must follow the same permit application evaluation procedures as those for an entity that does not have an agreement or a contract with the department. The department shall ensure that agreements and contracts entered into under this paragraph do not substantively or procedurally affect the impartial evaluation of the entity's permit application. Such active agreements and contracts must be posted on the department's website.

The department shall implement such programs in conjunction with its other powers and duties and shall place special emphasis on reducing and eliminating contamination that presents a threat to humans, animals or plants, or to the environment.

Section 3. Paragraph (b) of subsection (1) and paragraphs (a), (b), and (d) of subsection (3) of section 403.892, Florida Statutes, are amended, and subsection (6) is added to that section, to read:

403.892 Incentives for the use of graywater technologies.—

(1) As used in this section, the term:

(b) "Graywater" has the same meaning as in s. 381.0065(2)(f) ~~s. 381.0065(2)(c)~~.

(3) To qualify for the incentives under subsection (2), the developer or homebuilder must certify to the applicable governmental entity as part of its application for development approval or amendment of a development order that all of the following conditions are met:

(a) The proposed or existing development has at least 25 single-family residential homes that are either detached or multifamily dwellings. ~~This paragraph does not apply to multifamily projects over five stories in height.~~

(b) Each single-family residential home or residence will have its own residential graywater system ~~that is~~ dedicated for its use. Each residence forming part of a multifamily project will be serviced by either its own residential graywater system dedicated for its use or a master graywater collection and reuse system for the entire project.

(d) The required maintenance of the graywater system will be the responsibility of the owner ~~residential homeowner~~.

(6) This section does not apply to multifamily projects more than five stories in height. Whether a dwelling is occupied by an owner is not an eligibility criterion for a developer or homebuilder to receive the incentives authorized pursuant to this section.

Section 4. The Department of Environmental Protection shall adopt and modify rules adopted pursuant to ss. 373.4136 and 373.414, Florida Statutes, to ensure that required financial assurances are equivalent and sufficient to provide for the long-term management of mitigation permitted under ss. 373.4136 and 373.414, Florida Statutes. The department, in consultation with the water management districts, shall include the rulemaking required by this section in existing active rulemaking or shall complete rule development by June 30, 2023.

Section 5. Effective July 1, 2022, the sum of $2.04 million in recurring funds from the Grants and Donations Trust Fund is appropriated to the Department of Environmental Protection, and 24 full-time equivalent positions are authorized, to evaluate applications for permits issued under ss. 373.4131 and 373.4146, Florida Statutes, for entities with which the department has entered into agreements or contracts under s. 403.061(22), Florida Statutes. To obtain and retain such positions, the department may increase the maximum rate of basic pay up to 30 percent for each position.

Section 6. This act shall take effect upon becoming a law.

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations

BILL:	SB 1476
INTRODUCER:	Senator Wright
SUBJECT:	Prescription Drug Coverage
DATE:	February 25, 2022
REVISED:

	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR	REFERENCE	ACTION
1.	Johnson	Knudson	BI	Favorable
2.	Sanders	Betta	AEG	Recommend: Favorable
3.	Sanders	Sadberry	AP	Favorable

I. Summary:

SB 1476 revises provisions of the Florida Insurance Code (code) relating to the oversight of pharmacy benefit managers (PBMs) by the Office of Insurance Regulation (OIR). Specifically, the bill:

- Authorizes the OIR to conduct market conduct examinations of PBMs to determine compliance with applicable provisions of the code;
- Requires a health insurer or health maintenance organizations (HMO), and any entity acting on their behalf, including a PBM, to comply with the pharmacy audit provisions;
- Authorizes an audited pharmacy to appeal certain final audit findings made by health insurers or HMO, or PBM acting on their behalf; and
- Provides a person who fails to register with the OIR while operating as a PBM is subject to a $10,000 fine for each violation.

The bill has an indeterminate, yet negative impact to state revenue and expenditures. The OIR estimates contracting with a pharmacist to provide oversight of PBM market conduct examinations and respond to complaints involving pharmacy audits will cost $125,000 to $200,000 annually.

The Division of State Group Insurance program may experience an indeterminate, yet negative fiscal impact relating to administrative costs of any market conduct examination of its PBM by the OIR. To the extent such examination occurs, such costs are passed down to participants of the program.

The bill is effective July 1, 2022.

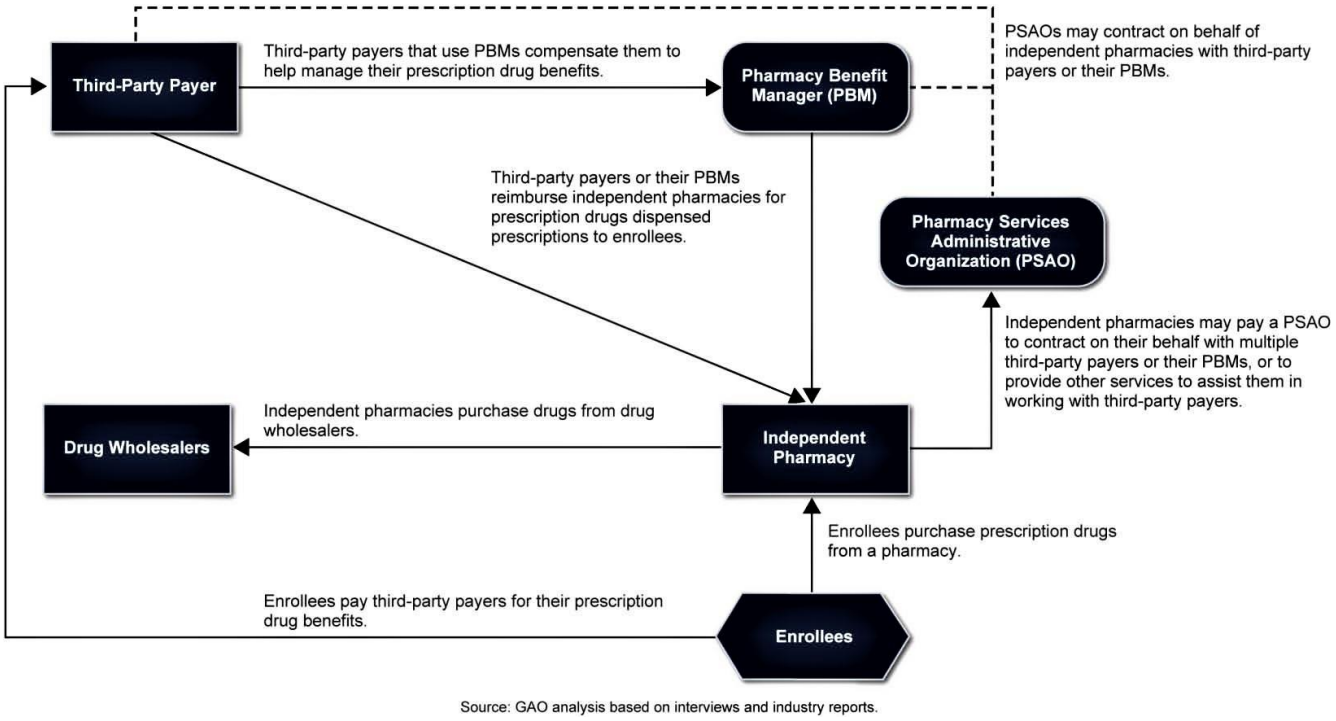
II. Present Situation:

National Health Care Expenditures in 2020[1]

Health care spending in the United States increased 9.7 percent to reach $4.1 trillion in 2020, a much faster rate than the 4.3 percent increase experienced in 2019. Gross Domestic Product declined 2.2 percent in 2020, leading to a sharp increase in the share of the overall economy related to health care spending—from 17.6 percent in 2019 to 19.7 percent in 2020. The acceleration in national health spending in 2020 was primarily due to a 36.0 percent increase in federal expenditures for health care that occurred largely in response to the COVID-19 pandemic.

In regards to retail prescription drugs, spending increased 3.0 percent to $348.4 billion in 2020, a slower rate than in 2019 when spending increased 4.3 percent. The slowdown was a result of a 4.2 percent decline in out-of-pocket expenditures, which resulted from slower overall utilization and an increased use of coupons, which lowers point-of-sale expenditures for consumers.

The Prescription Drug Supply Chain



In recent years, the affordability of prescription drugs has gained attention, resulting in pharmacy benefit managers (PBMs) and drug manufacturers coming under scrutiny as policymakers have attempted to understand their role in the drug supply chain. Many stakeholders (drug manufacturers, drug wholesalers, pharmacy services administrative organizations, pharmacy benefit managers, health plans, employers, and consumers) are involved with, and pay different prices for, prescription drugs as they move from the drug manufacturer to the insured.

Due to a lack of transparency in the marketplace, it can be difficult to determine the final price of a prescription drug. The final price of a drug may include rebates and discounts to insurers, health maintenance organizations (HMOs), or pharmacy benefit managers that are not disclosed.[2] Market participants, such as drug wholesalers, may add their own markups and fees, and drug manufacturers may offer direct consumer discounts, such as prescription drug coupons that can be redeemed when filling a particular prescription at a pharmacy.[3]

Some independent pharmacies may contract with pharmacy services administrative organizations (PSAO) to interact on their behalf with other stakeholders, such as drug wholesalers and third-party payers, such as large private and public health plans and their PBMs.[4] The PSAOs develop networks of pharmacies by signing contractual agreements with each pharmacy that authorizes them to negotiate with third-party payers on the pharmacy's behalf. Drug wholesalers and independent pharmacy cooperatives owned the majority of PSAOs in operation in 2011 or 2012.[5] Health insurers, HMOs, or self-insured employers may contract with PBMs to manage their

A Study of 15 Large Employer Plans[7]

In response to concerns about rising drug costs, a recent study evaluated drug utilization from plan sponsors to estimate savings from reducing the use of high cost, low-value drugs and described some of the cost concerns and challenges relating to the drug supply chain, as follows:

> PBMs negotiate with pharmaceutical manufacturers for price discounts, which are typically paid as rebates based on sales volumes driven by formulary placement. Rebates can reduce the final net price to the plan sponsor and may be passed on to patients. However, in exchange for low administration fees, plan sponsors allow PBMs to keep a portion of the negotiated rebates and other fees. Contracts between PBMs and plan sponsors contain rebate guarantees, perpetuating the demand for high-rebate drugs by encouraging PBMs to maximize rebate revenue, giving preference to some drugs over others on formularies based on rebate revenue rather than their value and final cost to the patient or plan sponsor. Additionally, PBMs earn revenue from "spread" pricing, which is the difference between what PBMs pay pharmacies on behalf of plan sponsors > and what PBMs are reimbursed by the plan sponsor. This also encourages PBMs to prioritize higher-cost drugs to allow for a larger spread.

The report further describes additional factors that may increase costs for employers and insureds:

> [P]lan sponsors often allow broad formularies that include wasteful drugs because they are concerned that employees will be disappointed if their prescribed drugs are not covered. Doctors prescribe these drugs because they are often unaware of drug costs. Pharmaceutical manufacturers contribute to these patterns by promoting their products through "detailers" — pharmaceutical salespeople calling on doctors — when less costly alternatives may be clinically appropriate for patients. Plan sponsors have addressed the resulting high spending by increasing patient cost-sharing on lower-value drugs. Manufacturers counteract cost-sharing and formulary management tools by flooding the market with copayment coupons that undermine the benefit structure put in place by plan sponsors.[8]

Pharmacy Benefit Managers

Many public and private employers and health plans contract with PBMs to help manage drug costs.[9] Some of the services provided by the PBMs include processing pharmacy claims; providing mail-order pharmacy services to their customers; negotiating rebates (discounts paid by a drug manufacturer to a PBM), developing pharmacy networks, creating drug formularies; reviewing drug utilization; and providing disease management.[10] Generally, a contract between a PBM and a health plan or an employer specifies the amount a plan or an employer will pay a PBM for brand name and generic drugs and specify certain savings guarantees.[11] A recent report found that PBMs passed through 78 percent of manufacturer rebates to health plans in 2012 and 91 percent in 2016.[12] For the same period, the report noted manufacturer rebates grew from $39.7 billion to $89.5 billion, and played a growing role in partially offsetting increases in list prices, which the study noted have risen more quickly than overall retail prescription drug spending.[13]

In recent years, significant consolidations in the PBM industry have occurred. Further, many health insurers are acquiring PBMs. Many entities have cited reducing drug cost as a factor for many of the acquisitions.[14] In 2020, three PBMs, CVS Health (including Caremark and Aetna), the Express Scripts business of Cigna, and the OptumRx business of the Unitedhealth Group, were estimated to process about 77 percent of all equivalent prescription claims.[15] The remaining estimated 22 percent was processed by Humana Pharmacy Solutions (eight percent), Medimpact Healthcare Systems (six percent), Prime Therapeutics (four percent), and all other PBMs and cash pay (four percent). In 2018, three PBMs processed about 76 percent of all equivalent prescription claims: CVS Health (including Caremark and Aetna), Express Scripts, and OptumRx (UnitedHealth). [16]

Reimbursement of Pharmacies by PBMs

Generally, the maximum allowable cost (MAC) price represents the upper limit price a plan will pay or reimburse for generic drugs and sometimes brand drugs that have generic versions available (multisource brands).[17] A PBM can maintain multiple MAC lists, each tied to the requirements of a particular employee benefit plan or other payer.[18] A MAC pricing list is a cost management tool that is developed from a proprietary survey of wholesale prices existing in the marketplace, taking into account market share, inventory, reasonable profit margins, and other factors.[19] One of the goals of the MAC pricing list is to ensure the pharmacy or their buying groups are motivated to seek and purchase generic drugs at the lowest price.[20] If a pharmacy procures a higher-priced product, the pharmacy may not make as much profit or, in some instances, may lose money on that specific purchase.[21]

Retail Pharmacies

Independent pharmacies are a type of retail pharmacy with a physical store location—often in rural and underserved areas—that dispense medications to consumers, including both prescription and over-the-counter drugs. [22] Nationwide, the number of independent pharmacies in the United States continues to decline. In 2010, there were 23,106 independent pharmacies; by 2017, that number had dropped to 21,909.[23] As of June 2021, there were 19,397 independent pharmacies.[24]

The decision of employers, HMOs, or insurers to contract with PBMs may shift business away from smaller, local retail pharmacies that are also known as independent pharmacies. Historically, independent pharmacies were important health care providers in their communities and their pharmacists had long-term relationships with their patients.[25] However, many independent pharmacies have closed in recent years because of the competition resulting from the proliferation of large, chain retail pharmacies[26] that can negotiate with PBMs at deeply discounted reimbursement levels based on large volume sales.

Further, innovations and greater competition in the pharmacy marketplace are occurring. In 2018, Amazon acquired PillPack, a mail-order pharmacy, which has pharmacy licenses in all 50 states.[27] Further, many digital pharmacies are entering the marketplace and focus on certain strategies, such as:

- Home delivery of individual prescriptions;
- Operating at least one brick-and mortar retail location (so that the pharmacy can remain in a PBM's network);
- Dispensing 30-day prescriptions, not 90-day maintenance prescriptions;
- Offering a mobile application so consumers can manage their account, order prescription refills, and schedule delivery; and
- Providing telehealth consultations with prescribers.[28]

Federal Oversight of Health Insurance

On March 23, 2010, the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (PPACA) was signed into law.[29] Among its significant changes to the U.S. health insurance system are requirements for health insurers to make coverage available to all individuals and employers, without exclusions for preexisting medical conditions and without basing premiums on any health-related factors. [30] The PPACA imposes many other requirements on qualified health plans offered by individual and group plans, including required benefits, reporting of medical loss ratios, and internal and external appeals of adverse benefit determinations.[31]

Medical Loss Ratios, Rebates, and Spread Pricing

If an insurer or HMO spends less than 80 percent in the individual or small group market (85 percent in the large group market) of premium dollar on medical care and efforts to improve the quality of care, the HMO or insurer must refund the portion of premium that exceeds this limit.[32] The 80 percent (or 85 percent) is the medical loss ratio[33] (MLR). The PBMs must report rebate information to the health insurers and HMOs, and the insurer or HMO includes this information as a deduction from the amount of incurred claims in the MLR reporting to the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS).[34]

Insurer Reporting of Health Plan Spending on Drugs

Beginning in 2021, federal law requires a group health plan or health insurance issuer offering group or individual health insurance coverage to report to the Secretary of the Department of Labor and the Secretary of the Department of Treasury the following information with respect to the health plan or coverage in the previous plan year:

- The 50 brand prescription drugs most frequently dispensed and the total number of paid claims for each drug;
- The 50 most costly prescription drugs by total annual spending;
- The 50 prescription drugs with the greatest increase in plan expenditures over the preceding plan year;
- Total spending on health care services by such plan or coverage, categorized by type of costs, including hospital, health care provider, clinical services, prescription drugs, and other medical costs;
- Spending on prescription drugs by the plan or coverage, and the enrollees;
- Average monthly premium paid by the employer and by participants and beneficiaries; and
- Impact of rebates, fees and other remuneration paid by drug manufacturers on premiums and out-of-pocket costs.[35]

Office of Insurance Regulation

The OIR is responsible for the regulation of insurers, HMOs, and other risk-bearing entities.[36] Prior to transacting insurance in Florida or operating a HMO, an insurer or HMO, respectively must meet certain requirements to obtain a certificate of authority from the OIR.[37]
Section 624.3161, F.S., authorizes the OIR to conduct market conduct examinations of insurers.[38] The entity subject to an examination is responsible for the payment of the examination costs, as provided in s. 624.320, F.S.

Oversight of PBMs

A PBM is a person or entity doing business in Florida, which contracts to administer prescription drug benefits on behalf of a health insurer or a HMO to insureds or subscribers of this state.[39] The PBMs are required to register with the Office of Insurance Regulation (OIR).[40] The registration process requires an applicant to remit a nonrefundable fee not to exceed $500, a copy of certain corporate documents, and a completed registration form. The current registration fee is five dollars.[41] Initial registration and registration certificate renewals are valid for two years and are nontransferable.[42] Currently, 66 pharmacy benefit managers have a letter of registration with the OIR.[43]

Mandatory Contractual Provisions. The Insurance Code[44] mandates contracts between health insurers or HMOs and PBMs contain certain provisions. However, there is no statutory penalty if the PBM does not comply with these contractual provisions. These mandatory contractual provisions require the PBM to:

- Update the maximum allowable cost (MAC) pricing information at least once every seven calendar days;
- Maintain a process that will eliminate drugs from the MAC lists or modify drug prices in a timely manner to remain consistent with changes in pricing data;
- Not limit a pharmacist's ability to disclose whether the cost-sharing obligation exceeds the retail price for a covered prescription drug, and the availability of a more affordable alternative drug, pursuant to s. 465.0244, F.S.; and
- Not require an insured to pay for a prescription drug at the point of sale in an amount that exceeds the lesser of:
  - The applicable cost sharing amount; or
  - The retail price of the drug in the absence of prescription drug coverage.

Maximum Allowable Cost. Current law defines the term, "maximum allowable cost" (MAC) as the per-unit amount that a PBM reimburses a pharmacist for a prescription drug, excluding dispensing fees, prior to the application of copayments, coinsurance, and other cost-sharing charges, if any.[45]

Payment of claims. Current law requires a PBM, acting on behalf of an insurer or HMO, to pay a provider's claim within a prescribed time.[46] Further, the Department of Financial Services (DFS) reviews alleged violations, relating to claims of providers not paid or denied by the insurer or HMO.[47]

Florida Pharmacy Audits

Pursuant to ch. 465, F.S., the Florida Pharmacy Act, a "pharmacy" includes a community pharmacy, an institutional pharmacy, a nuclear pharmacy, a special pharmacy, and an Internet pharmacy. The term "community pharmacy" includes every location where medicinal drugs are compounded, dispensed, stored, or sold or where prescriptions are filled or dispensed on an outpatient basis.[48] The term, "independent pharmacy," is not defined.

Pharmacies are subject to routine audits by an insurer, HMO, or a PBM acting on behalf of an insurer or HMO. Audits of pharmacies are conducted to determine compliance with respect to billing, reimbursement, and other contractual requirements.[49] Section 465.1885, F.S., prescribes the following rights of a pharmacy in connection with an audit conducted directly or indirectly by an insurance company, a managed care company, or a PBM:

- To be notified at least seven calendar days before the initial onsite audit;
- To have the onsite audit scheduled after the first three calendar days of a month unless the pharmacist consents otherwise;
- To have the audit period limited to 24 months after the date a claim is submitted to or adjudicated by the entity;
- To have an audit that requires clinical or professional judgment conducted by or in consultation with a pharmacist;
- To use the written and verifiable records of a hospital, physician, or other authorized practitioner, which are transmitted by any means of communication, to validate the pharmacy records in accordance with state and federal law;
- To be reimbursed for a claim that was retroactively denied for a clerical error, typographical error, scrivener's error, or computer error if the prescription was properly and correctly dispensed, unless a pattern of such errors exists, fraudulent billing is alleged, or the error results in actual financial loss to the entity;
- To receive the preliminary audit report within 120 days after the conclusion of the audit;
- To produce documentation to address a discrepancy or audit finding within 10 business days after the preliminary audit report is delivered to the pharmacy;
- To receive the final audit report within six months after receiving the preliminary audit report; and
- To have recoupment or penalties based on actual overpayments and not according to the accounting practice of extrapolation.[50]

However, neither the Department of Health nor the Board of Pharmacy has authority under ch. 465, F.S., the Florida Pharmacy Act, to enforce these provisions against any entity not complying with these requirements.

providers and health plans to resolve claim disputes that are not resolved by the provider and the health plan.[51] The agency contracts with an independent dispute resolution organization to assist health care providers and health plans in order to resolve claim disputes. These services are available to Medicaid managed care providers and health plans. Claims submitted to managed care plans that have been denied in full or in part, or allegedly underpaid or overpaid, may be eligible for dispute under the arbitration process.[52]

State Group Insurance Program

Under the authority of s. 110.123, F.S., the Department of Management Services (department), through the Division of State Group Insurance (DSGI), administers the state group insurance program under a cafeteria plan consistent with s. 125, Internal Revenue Code to provide medical and prescription drug benefits for state employees and state university employees. To administer the program, the department contracts with third-party administrators for self-insured health plans, fully insured HMOs, and a pharmacy benefits manager (PBM) for the self-insured State Employees' Prescription Drug Program (program) pursuant to s. 110.12315, F.S. The current PBM for the state employees' prescription drug plan is CaremarkPCS Health, LLC (CVS Caremark).[53]

2020 U.S. Supreme Court Decision

In 2015, Arkansas enacted a law[54] that effectively requires PBMs to reimburse Arkansas pharmacies at a price equal to or higher than the pharmacy's acquisition cost. To accomplish this result, the law requires PBMs to update their MAC lists in a timely manner when drug prices increase, and to provide pharmacies with an administrative appeal process to challenge MAC reimbursement rates that are below the pharmacies' acquisition costs.[55] If a pharmacy could not have acquired the drug at a lower price from its typical wholesaler, a PBM must increase its reimbursement rate to cover the pharmacy's acquisition cost.[56] A PBM must also allow pharmacies to "reverse and rebill" each reimbursement claim affected by the pharmacy's inability to procure the drug from its typical wholesaler at a price equal to or less than the MAC reimbursement price.[57] Lastly, the law allows a pharmacy to decline to sell a drug to a consumer if the relevant PBM will reimburse the pharmacy at less than its acquisition cost.[58]

In late 2020, the U.S. Supreme Court decided that Arkansas' law regulating PBMs was not preempted by the federal Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA)[59] because the Arkansas law has neither an impermissible connection with nor reference to ERISA[60] and is therefore not preempted.[61]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 amends s. 624.3161, F.S., to authorize the Office of Insurance Regulation (OIR) to conduct market conduct examinations of pharmacy benefits managers (PBMs). This section currently authorizes the OIR to examine insurers and other specified entities.

Section 2 amends s. 624.490, F.S., to provide a person who fails to register with the OIR while operating as pharmacy benefit manager is subject to a fine of $10,000 per violation.

Section 3 transfers s. 465.1885, F.S., renumbers the section as s. 624.491, F.S., and amends the section to clarify the existing rights of a pharmacy, relating to a pharmacy audit, are statutory requirements for an insurer or health maintenance organization (HMO), or any entity acting on behalf of the insurer or HMO, including but not limited to a PBM, conducting a pharmacy audit. The section specifies:

- Prior notice requirements for onsite audits;
- Audit date scheduling requirements;
- Use of a consulting pharmacist;
- Limitation on the duration of the audit period;
- Use of written and verifiable records of health care providers to validate pharmacy records;
- Retroactive reimbursement for claims denied for certain errors;
- Deadline for the provision of preliminary audits;
- Allowance for production of preliminary documentation to rebut an audit finding;
- Deadline for production of the final audit; and
- Methodology for calculating final recoupment and penalties.

The section authorizes a pharmacy to appeal final audit findings as to whether a claim payment is due and the amount of a claim payment is due with the Statewide Provider and Health Plan Claim Dispute Resolution Program at the Agency for Health Care Administration pursuant to s. 408.7057, F.S.

The section provides a health insurer or HMO that, under terms of a contract, transfers to a PBM the obligation to pay a pharmacy licensed under ch. 465, F.S., for any pharmacy claim arising from services provided to or for the benefit of an insured or subscriber remains responsible for a violation of this section.

Section 4 provides that this bill takes effect July 1, 2022.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The bill clarifies statutory provisions relating to pharmacy audits to impose audit requirements rather than rights, which will provide greater transparency regarding the audit process. The bill provides pharmacies with a process to appeal pharmacy benefits manager (PBM) audit filings related to claim payments with the Statewide Provider and Health Plan Claim Dispute Resolution Program.

Since the bill authorizes the Office of Insurance Regulation (OIR) to conduct market conduct examinations of PBMs, the bill will increase the administrative costs of health insurers, health maintenance organizations (HMOs), and PBMs to the extent PBMs are examined. Entities examined by the OIR are responsible for the payment of the examination expenses.[62]

[62] Section 624.6131(4), F.S.

C. Government Sector Impact:

Office of Insurance Regulation[63]

The OIR estimates a recurring negative fiscal impact of $125,000 to $200,000 as the OIR will need to contract with a pharmacist in order to obtain pharmacy related training, provide oversight of PBM market conducted examinations, and respond to complaints involving pharmacy audits.

Department of Management Services/Division of State Group Insurance

The costs of a PBM market conduct examination conducted by the OIR could result in an indeterminate increase in administrative costs of the program's PBM. These costs could be recouped from individuals enrolled in the Division of State Group Insurance program.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

Section 3 requires a health insurer or health maintenance organizations (HMO), and any entity acting on their behalf, including a pharmacy benefit manager (PBM), to comply with the pharmacy audit provisions. However, no penalty is authorized for noncompliance.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 624.3161 and 624.490.

This bill transfers, renumbers, and amends section 465.1885 of the Florida Statutes to section 624.491 of the Florida Statutes.

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations

BILL:	CS/CS/HB 1557
INTRODUCER:	Judiciary Committee; Education & Employment Committee; and Representative Harding and others
SUBJECT:	Parental Rights in Education
DATE:	February 25, 2022
REVISED:

	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR	REFERENCE	ACTION
1.	Palazesi/Grace	Sadberry	AP	Favorable

I. Summary:

CS/CS/HB 1557 specifies how a parent's fundamental right to make decisions regarding the care and upbringing of his or her child must be addressed in the public school setting. The bill requires that school districts adopt procedures for notifying parents if there is a change in their student's services or monitoring related to a student's mental, emotional, or physical health or well-being. All procedures adopted under the bill must reinforce the fundamental right of parents to make decisions regarding the upbringing and control of their children by requiring school district personnel to encourage students to discuss issues related to his or her well-being with his or her parent.

The bill prohibits school districts from maintaining procedures that withhold information, or encourage students to withhold information, related to a student's mental, emotional, or physical health or well-being from parents. A school district may only withhold information if a prudent person would reasonably believe that disclosure would subject the student to abuse, abandonment, or neglect.

The bill prohibits instruction on sexual orientation or gender identity in kindergarten through grade 3 or in a manner that is not age-appropriate or developmentally appropriate for students.

At the beginning of each school year, a school district must notify parents of all health care services offered at their student's school and provide the parent the opportunity to individually consent to, or decline, each service. Additionally, schools may not administer a questionnaire or health screening form to a student in kindergarten through grade 3 without first receiving consent from the student's parent.

All school district student support services training must adhere to guidelines, standards, and frameworks established by the Department of Education (DOE). By June 30, 2023, the DOE must review and update, as necessary, all relevant guidelines, standards, and frameworks for compliance with this bill.

The bill creates a cause of action for parents that permits them to enforce their rights through declaratory and injunctive relief. A prevailing parent is entitled to attorney fees and court costs and may be awarded damages.

The bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact. See Section V. Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill has an effective date of July 1, 2022.

II. Present Situation:

Constitutional Rights of Parents

It is well settled that the interest of parents in the care, custody, and control of their children is perhaps the oldest of the recognized fundamental liberty interests protected by the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution.[1] This fundamental liberty interest is rooted in the fundamental right of privacy in making important decisions relating to marriage, family relationships, and child rearing and education.[2] The United States Supreme Court has explained the fundamental nature of this right is rooted in history and tradition:

> The history and culture of Western civilization reflect a strong tradition of parental concern for the nurture and upbringing of their children. This primary role of the parents in the upbringing of their children is now established beyond debate as an enduring American tradition. [3]

The Florida Supreme Court has likewise recognized that parents have a fundamental liberty interest in determining the care and upbringing of their children.[4] These rights may not be intruded upon absent a compelling state interest.[5] According to the Florida Supreme Court, when analyzing a statute that infringes on the fundamental right of privacy, the applicable standard of review requires that the statute survive the highest level of scrutiny:

[1] Santosky v. Kramer, 455 U.S. 745, 748 and 753 (1982) (holding the fundamental liberty interest of natural parents in the care custody, and management of their child is protected by the Fourteenth Amendment, and termination of any parental rights requires due process proceedings); Troxel v. Granville, 530 U.S. 57, 66 (2000) (holding there is a fundamental right under the Fourteenth Amendment for parents to oversee the care, custody, and control of their children).

[2] Carey v. Population Svcs. Int'l, 431 US 678, 684-685 (1977) (recognizing the right of privacy in personal decisions relating to marriage, family relationships, child rearing, and education); See Wisconsin v. Yoder, 406, U.S. 205, 232-33 (1972) (holding a state law requiring that children attend school past eight grade violates the parents' constitutional right to direct the religious upbringing of their children); See Parham v. J.R., 442 U.S. 584, 602 (1979) (recognizing the presumption that parents act in their children's best interest); Meyer v. Nebraska, 262 U.S. 390, 400-01 (1923) (affirming that the Constitution protects the preferences of the parent in education over those of the state); Pierce v. Society of Sisters, 268 U.S. 510, 534-35 (1925) (recognizing the right of parents to direct the upbringing of and education of their children).

[3] Wisconsin v. Yoder, 406, U.S. 205, 232 (1972).

[4] Beagle v. Beagle, 678 So. 2d 1271, 1272 (Fla. 1996) (holding a state law violated a parent's constitutional right to privacy by imposing grandparent visitation rights over objection of the parent without evidence of harm to the child or other compelling state interest).

[5] Id. See, e.g., Shevin v. Byron, Harless, Schaffer, Reid & Assocs., Inc., 379 So. 2d 633, 637 (Fla. 1980) and Belair v. Drew, 776 So. 2d 1105, 1107 (Fla. 5th DCA 2001).

> The right of privacy is a fundamental right which we believe demands the compelling state interest standard. This test shifts the burden of proof to the state to justify an intrusion on privacy. The burden can be met by demonstrating that the challenged regulation serves a compelling state interest and accomplishes its goal through the use of the least intrusive means. [6]

The United States Supreme Court has held that students in schools are 'persons' under the constitution and that they are possessed of fundamental rights which the state must respect.[7] Florida's constitution provides broad protections to its citizen's right to privacy[8] and the Florida Supreme Court has held that such protections extend to minors.[9] However, the rights to privacy granted to minors do not invalidate a state's effort to protect minors from the conduct of others[10] nor do they necessarily override the fundamental rights of parents related to child rearing.[11]

Parents' Bill of Rights

Overview

In 2021,[12] the legislature created the Parents' Bill of Rights which enumerates parental rights with respect to a minor child for education, health care, and criminal justice procedures.[13] The bill prohibits the state, its political subdivisions, any other governmental entities and any other institutions from infringing upon the fundamental right of a parent to direct the upbringing, education, health care, and mental health of his or her minor child without demonstrating a compelling state interest for such actions.[14]

Additionally, the Legislature found that important information relating to a minor child should not be withheld, either inadvertently or purposefully, from his or her parent, including information relating to the minor child's health, well-being, and education, while the minor child is in the custody of the school district. Therefore, the Legislature established a consistent mechanism for parents to be notified of information relating to the health and well-being of their minor children.[15]

Parents' Rights Related to Education of their Child

The Parents' Bill of Rights enumerates several rights of a parent, such as:

---

[6] Winfield v. Division of Pari-Mutuel Wagering, Dept. of Bus. Regulation, 477 So. 2d 544, 547 (Fla. 1985).
[7] Tinker v. Des Moines Indep. Cmty. Sch. Dist., 393 U.S. 503, 511 (1969).

[11] Frazier ex rel. Frazier v. Winn, 535 F.3d 1279, 1285 (11th Cir. 2008) (holding that a law requiring a parent's approval for a student to refuse to stand during the pledge of allegiance survived a facial challenge as the rights of a parent to raise their children would control in a substantial number of cases). The court did acknowledge that in individual cases, such as those involving mature high school students, the balance of rights between parents, the school, and the student could favor the student. Id.

- The right to direct the education and care of his or her minor child.
- The right to direct the upbringing and the moral or religious training of the minor child.
- The right, pursuant to s. 1002.20(13), F.S., to access and review all school records relating to the minor child.
- The right to make health care decisions for his or her minor child, unless otherwise prohibited by law.
- The right to access and review all medical records of the minor child, unless prohibited by law or if the parent is the subject of an investigation of a crime committed against the minor child and a law enforcement agency or official requests that the information not be released.[16]

The Parents' Bill of Rights is not exhaustive but, unless required by law, the rights of a parent of a minor child in Florida may not be limited or denied.[17] To this end, any employee of the state, or any of its political subdivisions, or any governmental entity may be subject to disciplinary action if they encourage or coerce a minor child to withhold information from his or her parent.[18]

However, the law specifies that it does not:

- Authorize a parent of a minor child in this state to engage in conduct that is unlawful or to abuse or neglect his or her minor child in violation of general law.
- Condone, authorize, approve, or apply to a parental action or decision that would end life.
- Prohibit a court of competent jurisdiction, law enforcement officer, or employees of a government agency that is responsible for child welfare from acting in his or her official capacity within the reasonable and prudent scope of his or her authority.
- Prohibit a court of competent jurisdiction from issuing an order that is otherwise permitted by law. [19]

In addition to the above enumerated rights, the Parents' Bill of Rights requires Florida's school districts to adopt policies designed to promote parental involvement in the public school system. Such policies must provide for:

- A plan, pursuant to s. 1002.23, F.S., for parental participation in schools to improve parent and teacher cooperation in such areas as homework, school attendance, and discipline.
- A procedure, pursuant to s. 1002.20(19)(b), F.S., for a parent to learn about his or her child's course of study, including the source of any supplemental education materials.
- Procedures for a parent to object to instructional materials, pursuant to s. 1006.28(2)(a)2., F.S. Such objections may be based on beliefs regarding morality, sex, and religion or the belief that such materials are harmful.
- Procedures, pursuant to s. 1002.20(3)(d), F.S., for a parent to withdraw his or her student from any portion of the school district's comprehensive health education required under s. 1003.42(2)(n), F.S., that relates to sex education or instruction in acquired immune deficiency syndrome education or any instruction regarding sexuality if the parent provides a written objection to his or her child's participation. Such procedures must provide for a parent to be notified in advance of such course content so that he or she may withdraw his or her student from those portions of the course.

- Procedures, pursuant to s. 1006.195(1)(a), F.S., for a parent to learn about the nature and purpose of clubs and activities offered at his or her child's school, including those that are extracurricular or part of the school curriculum. 20

Parents must be explicitly notified about a number of parental rights and responsibilities set forth in the education code.[21] A school district may comply with these notice requirements by providing information to parents electronically or by publishing it to their website.[22]

Parental Consent for Healthcare Services in Schools

Parental Consent for Medical Treatment

Parents generally have the right to be informed about, and give consent for, proposed medical procedures on their children. However, the state also has an obligation to ensure that children receive reasonable medical treatment that is necessary for the preservation of life.[23] The state's interest diminishes as the severity of an affliction and the likelihood of death increase:[24]

> There is a substantial distinction in the State's insistence that human life be saved where the affliction is curable, as opposed to the State interest where . . . the issue is not whether, but when, for how long and at what cost to the individual . . . life may be briefly extended.

A parent may reject medical treatment for a child and the state may not interfere with such decision if the evidence is not sufficiently compelling to establish the primacy of the state's interest, or that the child's own welfare would be best served by such treatment.[25]

In 2021,[26] the Parents' Bill of Rights established parental consent requirements for health care services. Specifically, unless otherwise permitted by law, without written, parental consent:[27]
- A health care practitioner,[28] or an individual employed by such health care practitioner, may not provide or solicit or arrange to provide health care services or prescribe medicinal drugs to a minor.
- A provider[29] may not allow a medical procedure to be performed on a minor child in its facility.

[20] Section 1014.05(1), F.S.
[21] Section 1014.05(1)(f), F.S. For example, school district must provide notice about the right to exempt their student from immunizations, the right to inspect school district instructional materials, and the right to opt out of any school district data collection not required by law. Id.

[28] Section 456.001, F.S.
[29] "Provider" means any activity, service, agency, or facility regulated by the agency and listed in s. 408.802, F.S.

It is a first-degree misdemeanor to violate these parental consent requirements, subject to a fine of up to $1,000 and imprisonment of up to one year,[30] and health care practitioners may also be subject to disciplinary action[31] for such violations.[32]

Medical Treatment without Parental Consent

Physicians, paramedics, emergency medical technicians, or other emergency medical services personnel are authorized to provide emergency medical care or treatment to a minor without parental consent when a child has been injured in an accident or is suffering from an acute illness, disease, or condition and delaying treatment would endanger the health or physical well-being of the minor.[33] Even in emergency situations, medical treatment can only be provided without parental consent if:

- The child's condition has rendered him or her unable to reveal the identity of his or her parents, guardian, or legal custodian, and such information is unknown to any person who accompanied the child to the hospital.
- The parents, guardian, or legal custodian cannot be immediately located by telephone at their place of residence or business. [34]

The hospital must notify the parent or legal guardian as soon as possible after the emergency medical care or treatment is administered and document in the hospital records the reason parental consent was not initially obtained. This must include a statement from the attending physician that immediate emergency medical care or treatment was necessary for the child's health or physical well-being.[35]

Current law establishes a list of people, by priority, who may consent to the medical care or treatment of a minor in instances where the treatment provider is unable to contact the parent or legal guardian and the provider has not been given contrary instructions.[36] Specifically, the following people may consent, in this order:[37]

- A health care surrogate or a person with power of attorney to provide medical consent for the minor;[38]
- The stepparent;
- The grandparent of the minor;
- An adult brother or sister of the minor; or
- An adult aunt or uncle of the minor.

[30] Section 1014.06(5), F.S.
[31] Section 456.072(1), F.S., provides grounds for disciplinary action against health care practitioners. Section 408.813, F.S., authorizes the Agency for Health Care Administration to impose administrative fines against providers for violations of its regulations. See e.g. rule 64B9-8.006, F.A.C. If a parent or legal guardian cannot be reached while the child is committed to the Department of Children Families or the Department of Juvenile Justice,[39] then the following individuals may consent to the medical care or treatment of a minor, unless the parent or legal guardian has expressly stated otherwise:[40]

- The caseworker, juvenile probation officer, or person primarily responsible for the case management of the child.
- The administrator of the state-licensed facility[41] or state-contracted or state-operated delinquency residential treatment facility where the child is committed.

In both of these instances, the treatment provider must document the reasonable attempts made to contact the parent or legal guardian in the minor's treatment records, and must notify the parent or legal guardian as soon as possible after the medical care or treatment is administered.[42]

The Parents' Bill of Rights consent requirements specifically do not apply to health care related to an abortion.[43] Additionally, the Parents' Bill of Rights created an exception for parental consent requirements for a clinical laboratory, unless the services provided are delivered through a direct encounter with the minor at the clinical laboratory facility.[44]

School District Compliance with Parental Consent for Health Care Services

Public schools in Florida offer a wide range of health care services to students ranging from treatment of minor cuts and scrapes to vision, hearing, scoliosis, and other screenings to the administration of immunizations and emotional and mental health counseling. To comply with the requirement for parental consent when providing health care services to minors, school districts have developed parental consent forms. In some instances, parents are provided the opportunity to consent individually to services provided at schools.[45] However, some school district consent forms provide for a blanket consent to all health care services provided through the school district.[46]

Special Magistrate

A special magistrate is a public officer belonging to the civil organization of the state, and invested with powers and functions which may be either judicial, legislative, or executive.[47]

There is one instance in the education code establishing a special magistrate, to resolve differences relating to specific types of charter schools.[48] In such instance, the Commissioner of Education is required to appoint a special magistrate who is a member of The Florida Bar in good standing and who has at least 5 years' experience in administrative law. The special magistrate must hold hearings to determine facts relating to the dispute and to render a recommended decision for resolution to the State Board of Education (SBE). The special magistrate may administer oaths and issue subpoenas on behalf of the parties to the dispute or on his or her own behalf. Within 15 calendar days after the close of the final hearing, the special magistrate must transmit a recommended decision to the SBE and to the representatives of both parties. The SBE must approve or reject the recommended decision at its next regularly scheduled meeting that is more than 7 calendar days and no more than 30 days after the date the recommended decision is transmitted.[49]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

This bill specifies how a parent's fundamental right to make decisions regarding the care and upbringing of his or her child must be addressed in the public school setting. The bill requires that school districts adopt procedures for notifying parents if there is a change in the student's services or monitoring related to a student's mental, emotional, or physical health or well-being. The procedures must reinforce the fundamental right of parents to make decisions regarding the upbringing and control of their children by requiring school district personnel to encourage students to discuss issues related to their well-being with their parent or facilitate a discussion with the parent. However, the procedures may not prohibit parents from accessing any of their student's education and health records created, maintained, or used by the school district.

The bill expressly prohibits a school district from adopting any procedures or student support forms that:

- Require district personnel to withhold from a parent information about his or her student's mental, emotional, or physical health or well-being; or
- Encourage or have the effect of encouraging a student to withhold from a parent such information.

The bill bars school personnel from discouraging or prohibiting the notification of parents or parental involvement in critical decisions affecting a student's mental, emotional, or physical health or well-being. However, the bill allows such information to be withheld if a reasonably prudent person would believe that such disclosure would result in abuse, abandonment, or neglect of the student.

[49] Id.

Additionally, the bill prohibits classroom instruction by school personnel and third parties about sexual orientation or gender identity in kindergarten through grade 3 or in a manner that is not age-appropriate or developmentally appropriate for students in accordance with state standards.

The bill requires school districts, at the beginning of each school year, to notify parents of each health care service available to their student through the school district and permit parents to consent to, or decline, each service individually. However, the bill specifies that consent to a service does not waive the parent's right to access his or her student's educational or health records or to be notified about changes in services or monitoring. The bill also requires school districts to obtain parental consent before administering a student well-being questionnaire or health screening form to a student in kindergarten through grade 3. A copy of the questionnaire or health screening form must be provided to the parent in advance.

The bill requires each school district to adopt procedures for a parent to notify the principal or designee of concerns regarding the provisions in the bill, and the process for resolving concerns within seven days of the complaint.

At a minimum the procedures must require that within 30 days after notification by the parent that the concern is unresolved, the district must either resolve the concern or provide a reason for not resolving the concern. If the concern is not resolved, a parent may:

- Request the Commissioner of Education to appoint a special magistrate who is a member of The Florida Bar in good standing and who has at least five years' experience in administrative law. The special magistrate must render a recommended decision for resolution to the State Board of Education (SBE) within 30 days after receipt of the request by the parent. The SBE must approve or reject the recommended decision at its next regularly scheduled meeting between 7 and 30 days after the recommendation. The costs of the special magistrate are the responsibility of the school district.
- Bring an action against the school district to obtain a declaratory judgment that the school district procedure or practice violates the provision in the bill and seek injunctive relief. A court may award damages and must award reasonable attorney fees and court costs to a parent who receives declaratory or injunctive relief.

The bill requires each school district to adopt policies to notify parents of these complaint procedures. The bill also specifies that the actions established in the bill do not abridge or alter rights of action or remedies in equity already existing under the common law or general law.

The bill requires that all student support training provided by school districts to school personnel adhere to guidelines, standards, and frameworks established by the Department of Education. The DOE is required to review and update, as necessary, by June 30, 2023, for compliance with the provisions of this bill, the following:

- School counseling frameworks and standards;
- Educator practices and professional conduct principles; and

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to parental rights in education; amending s. 1001.42, F.S.; requiring district school boards to adopt procedures that comport with certain provisions of law for notifying a student's parent of specified information; requiring such procedures to reinforce the fundamental right of parents to make decisions regarding the upbringing and control of their children in a specified manner; prohibiting the procedures from prohibiting a parent from accessing certain records; providing construction; prohibiting a school district from adopting procedures or student support forms that prohibit school district personnel from notifying a parent about specified information or that encourage or have the effect of encouraging a student to withhold from a parent such information; prohibiting school district personnel from discouraging or prohibiting parental notification and involvement in critical decisions affecting a student's mental, emotional, or physical well-being; providing construction; prohibiting classroom discussion about sexual orientation or gender identity in certain grade levels or in a specified manner; requiring certain training developed or provided by a school district to adhere to standards established by the Department of Education; requiring school districts to notify parents of healthcare services and provide parents the opportunity to consent or decline such services; providing that a specified parental consent does not wave certain parental rights; requiring school districts to provide parents with certain questionnaires or health screening forms and obtain parental permission before administering such questionnaires and forms; requiring school districts to adopt certain procedures for resolving specified parental concerns; requiring resolution within a specified timeframe; requiring the Commissioner of Education to appoint a special magistrate for unresolved concerns; providing requirements for the special magistrate; requiring the State Board of Education to approve or reject the special magistrate's recommendation within specified timeframe; requiring school districts to bear the costs of the special magistrate; requiring the State Board of Education to adopt rules; providing requirements for such rules; authorizing a parent to bring an action against a school district to obtain a declaratory judgment that a school district procedure or practice violates certain provisions of law; providing for the additional award of injunctive relief, damages, and reasonable attorney fees and court costs to certain parents; requiring school district to adopt policies to notify parents of certain rights; providing construction; requiring the department to review and update, as necessary, specified materials by a certain date; providing an effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Paragraph (c) is added to subsection (8) of section 1001.42, Florida Statutes, to read:

1001.42 Powers and duties of district school board.—The district school board, acting as a board, shall exercise all powers and perform all duties listed below:

(8) STUDENT WELFARE.—

(c)1. In accordance with the rights of parents enumerated in ss. 1002.20 and 1014.04, adopt procedures for notifying a student's parent if there is a change in the student's services or monitoring related to the student's mental, emotional, or physical health or well-being and the school's ability to provide a safe and supportive learning environment for the student. The procedures must reinforce the fundamental right of parents to make decisions regarding the upbringing and control of their children by requiring school district personnel to encourage a student to discuss issues relating to his or her well-being with his or her parent or to facilitate discussion of the issue with the parent. The procedures may not prohibit parents from accessing any of their student's education and health records created, maintained, or used by the school district, as required by s. 1002.22(2).

2. A school district may not adopt procedures or student support forms that prohibit school district personnel from notifying a parent about his or her student's mental, emotional, or physical health or well-being, or a change in related services or monitoring, or that encourage or have the effect of encouraging a student to withhold from a parent such information. School district personnel may not discourage or prohibit parental notification of and involvement in critical decisions affecting a student's mental, emotional, or physical health or well-being. This subparagraph does not prohibit a school district from adopting procedures that permit school personnel to withhold such information from a parent if a reasonably prudent person would believe that disclosure would result in abuse, abandonment, or neglect, as those terms are defined in s. 39.01.

3. Classroom instruction by school personnel or third parties on sexual orientation or gender identity may not occur in kindergarten through grade 3 or in a manner that is not age-appropriate or developmentally appropriate for students in accordance with state standards.

4. Student support services training developed or provided by a school district to school district personnel must adhere to student services guidelines, standards, and frameworks established by the Department of Education.

5. At the beginning of the school year, each school district shall notify parents of each healthcare service offered at their student's school and the option to withhold consent or decline any specific service. Parental consent to a health care service does not waive the parent's right to access his or her student's educational or health records or to be notified about a change in his or her student's services or monitoring as provided by this paragraph.

6. Before administering a student well-being questionnaire or health screening form to a student in kindergarten through grade 3, the school district must provide the questionnaire or health screening form to the parent and obtain the permission of the parent.

7. Each school district shall adopt procedures for a parent to notify the principal, or his or her designee, regarding concerns under this paragraph at his or her student's school and the process for resolving those concerns within 7 calendar days after notification by the parent.

a. At a minimum, the procedures must require that within 30 days after notification by the parent that the concern remains unresolved, the school district must either resolve the concern or provide a statement of the reasons for not resolving the concern.

b. If a concern is not resolved by the school district, a parent may:

(I) Request the Commissioner of Education to appoint a special magistrate who is a member of The Florida Bar in good standing and who has at least 5 years' experience in administrative law. The special magistrate shall determine facts relating to the dispute over the school district procedure or practice, consider information provided by the school district, and render a recommended decision for resolution to the State Board of Education within 30 days after receipt of the request by the parent. The State Board of Education must approve or reject the recommended decision at its next regularly scheduled meeting that is more than 7 calendar days and no more than 30 days after the date the recommended decision is transmitted. The costs of the special magistrate shall be borne by the school district. The State Board of Education shall adopt rules, including forms, necessary to implement this subparagraph.

(II) Bring an action against the school district to obtain a declaratory judgment that the school district procedure or practice violates this paragraph and seek injunctive relief. A court may award damages and shall award reasonable attorney fees and court costs to a parent who receives declaratory or injunctive relief.

c. Each school district shall adopt policies to notify parents of the procedures required under this subparagraph.

d. Nothing contained in this subparagraph shall be construed to abridge or alter rights of action or remedies in equity already existing under the common law or general law.

Section 2. By June 30, 2023, the Department of Education shall review and update, as necessary, school counseling frameworks and standards; educator practices and professional conduct principles; and any other student services personnel guidelines, standards, or frameworks in accordance with the requirements of this act.

Section 3. This act shall take effect July 1, 2022.

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations

BILL:	CS/CS/HB 1563
INTRODUCER:	State Affairs Committee; Ways & Means Committee; and Representative Tomkow and others
SUBJECT:	Homestead Property Tax Exemptions for Classroom Teachers, Law Enforcement Officers, Firefighters, Child Welfare Professionals, and Servicemembers
DATE:	February 28, 2022 REVISED:

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/HB 1563 is linked to CS/CS/HJR 1, which proposes an amendment to the Florida Constitution to authorize the Legislature to provide a new homestead tax exemption for classroom teachers, law enforcement officers, firefighters, emergency medical technicians, paramedics, child welfare professionals, and active duty members of the United States Armed Forces, or members of the Florida National Guard.

The bill provides that any of the defined people who hold legal or beneficial title in equity to real property in this state and makes such property their or their dependent's permanent residence is entitled to an exemption of up to $50,000 on the property's value between $100,000 and $150,000, for all levies other than school district levies.

The bill directs the Legislature to appropriate money to fiscally constrained counties to offset reductions in ad valorem tax revenue resulting from the homestead exemption. Distributions to fiscally constrained counties will be made beginning in Fiscal Year 2023-2024.

The bill is contingent upon elector approval of a joint resolution substantively the same as HJR 1. If the electors approve the joint resolution, the Revenue Estimating Conference estimates that the bill will reduce local property tax revenue for all levies other than school district levies by $85.9 million beginning in Fiscal Year 2023-2024.

The bill will take effect on the effective date of the amendment proposed by CS/CS/HJR 1 or a similar joint resolution having substantially the same specific intent and purpose. If approved by the electors in the next general election in November 2022, the proposed amendment (CS/CS/HJR 1) and CS/CS/HB 1563 will take effect on January 1, 2023.

II. Present Situation:

General Overview of Property Taxation

The ad valorem tax or "property tax" is an annual tax levied by counties, municipalities, school districts, and some special districts. The tax is based on the taxable value of property as of January 1 of each year.[1] The property appraiser annually determines the assessed or "just value"[2] of property within the taxing jurisdiction and then applies relevant exclusions, assessment limitations, and exemptions to determine the property's "taxable value."[3] Tax bills are mailed in November of each year based on the previous January 1 valuation and payment is due by March 31.

The Florida Constitution prohibits the state from levying ad valorem taxes[4] and limits the Legislature's authority to provide for property valuations at less than just value, unless expressly authorized.[5]

The just valuation standard generally requires the property appraiser to consider the highest and best use of property;[6] however, the Florida Constitution authorizes certain types of property to be valued based on their current use (classified use assessments), which often result in lower assessments. Properties that receive classified use treatment in Florida include: agricultural land, land producing high water recharge to Florida's aquifers, and land used exclusively for noncommercial recreational purposes; land used for conservation purposes; historic properties when authorized by the county or municipality; and certain working waterfront property.[7]

Persons eligible for a property tax exemption must file an application with the property appraiser on or before March 1 of each year in which the exemption is claimed, unless such requirement has been waived by a county.[8]

[1] Both real property and tangible personal property are subject to tax. Section 192.001(12), F.S., defines "real property" as land, buildings, fixtures, and all other improvements to land. Section 192.001(11)(d), F.S., defines "tangible personal property" as all goods, chattels, and other articles of value capable of manual possession and whose chief value is intrinsic to the article itself.

[2] Property must be valued at "just value" for purposes of property taxation, unless the Florida Constitution provides otherwise. FLA. CONST. art VII, s. 4. Just value has been interpreted by the courts to mean the fair market value that a willing buyer would pay a willing seller for the property in an arm's-length transaction. See Walter v. Shuler, 176 So. 2d 81 (Fla. 1965); Deltona Corp. v. Bailey, 336 So. 2d 1163 (Fla. 1976); Southern Bell Tel. & Tel. Co. v. Dade County, 275 So. 2d 4 (Fla. 1973).

Property Tax Exemptions for Homestead Property

Homestead Exemption

Every person having legal or equitable title to real estate and who maintains thereon his or her permanent residence or the permanent residence of a dependent (homestead property) is eligible for a homestead tax exemption of up to $25,000. The exemption applies to all ad valorem taxes levied, including levies by school districts.[9] An additional homestead exemption of up to $25,000 applies to the property's value between $50,000 and $75,000.[10] Unlike the first $25,000, the additional $25,000 exemption does not apply to ad valorem taxes levied by school districts.

Additional Homestead Exemptions for Certain Persons

The Florida Constitution authorizes the Legislature to provide additional property tax exemptions for the following persons who maintain property as a homestead:

- Counties and municipalities may grant exemptions to persons aged 65 years or over whose household income does not exceed $20,000 (low-income seniors).[11]
- A veteran or first responder[12] with a total and permanent service-connected disability is entitled to a complete exemption for the property.[13]
- A veteran with a total service-connected disability that confines him or her to a wheelchair is entitled to a complete exemption for the property. Upon the veteran's death, the exemption carries over to the veteran's unremarried surviving spouse.[14]
- A veteran disabled to a degree of 10 percent or more by misfortune or during wartime service is entitled to an exemption for any property up to $5,000. Upon the death of the veteran, the exemption carries over to the veteran's unremarried surviving spouse.[15]
- The unremarried surviving spouse of a veteran or first responder who died while on active duty is entitled to a complete exemption for the property if the veteran was a permanent resident of Florida on the day he or she died.[16]

Tax Discount on Homestead Property for a Combat-disabled Veteran

In addition to the property tax exemptions described above, certain combat-disabled veterans are entitled to a discount on their homestead property taxes.[17] The discount is calculated as a percentage equal to the percentage of the veteran's permanent, service-connected disability.[18] The discount is applied as a reduction to the taxable value of the homestead property.[19]

Fiscally Constrained Counties

Fiscally constrained counties are counties entirely within a Rural Area of Opportunity or where a 1 mill levy would raise no more than $5 million in annual tax revenue.[20] A Rural Area of Opportunity is a rural community or region that has been adversely affected by extraordinary economic events, severe distresses, natural disasters or that presents unique economic development opportunities of regional impact, as designated by the Governor.[21]

Florida's fiscally constrained counties are: Baker, Bradford, Calhoun, Columbia, Desoto, Dixie, Franklin, Gadsden, Gilchrist, Glades, Gulf, Hamilton, Hardee, Hendry, Highlands, Holmes, Jackson, Jefferson, Lafayette, Levy, Liberty, Madison, Okeechobee, Putnam, Suwannee, Taylor, Union, Wakulla, and Washington.[22]

The Legislature annually appropriates money to fiscally constrained counties to offset ad valorem tax revenue reductions caused by various amendments to the Florida Constitution.[23] In order to receive an offset distribution, fiscally constrained counties must annually provide the Department of Revenue with an estimate of the expected reduction in ad valorem tax revenues that are directly attributable to specified revisions of Article VII of the Florida Constitution.[24] This prevents such amendments related to property tax from negatively affecting fiscally constrained county tax revenues.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill creates an additional homestead exemption for classroom teachers, law enforcement officers, firefighters, emergency medical technicians, paramedics, child welfare professionals, active duty members of the United States Armed Forces, or members of the Florida National Guard to exempt up to $50,000 of the assessed value of the property greater than $100,000.

In order to receive the exemption, the qualifying person must be employed on January 1 in a full-time position in one of the above-described qualifying professions.

The bill provides the following definitions:

- "Child welfare professional" means a state employee engaged in child welfare services as defined in s. 402.40(2), F.S., who holds a child welfare certification as defined in s. 402.40(2), F.S.;

[23] See s. 218.125, F.S.
[24] Section 218.125(2), F.S.

- "Classroom teacher" means a staff member assigned the professional activity of instructing K-12 students in courses and classroom situations, including basic instruction, exceptional student education, and career education;
- "Firefighter" means an individual who holds a current and valid Firefighter Certificate of Compliance or Special Certificate of Compliance issued by the division under s. 633.408, F.S.;
- "Law enforcement officer" means a law enforcement officer[25] or correctional officer[26] as defined by s. 943.10, F.S.; and
- "Servicemember" means a person serving as an active duty member of the United States Armed Forces or as a member of the Florida National Guard.

The bill prohibits a county from waiving the requirement that an annual application be made.

A person identified as receiving but not entitled to the exemption for any year in the prior 10 years is subject to repayment of the taxes exempted, plus a penalty of the unpaid taxes of 50 percent and 15 percent interest. Persons who knowingly and willfully give false information for the purpose of claiming the exemption are guilty of a first degree misdemeanor, punishable as provided by law or by fine not to exceed $5,000.

The bill directs the Legislature to appropriate money, beginning in Fiscal Year 2023-2024, to fiscally constrained counties to offset any reductions in ad valorem tax revenue resulting from the homestead exemption provided by the proposed constitutional amendment. The amount appropriated to each county is based on the county's proportion of the total reduction and is calculated as 95 percent of the estimated reduction in taxable value multiplied by the lesser of the 2023 millage rate or the millage rate for each taxing jurisdiction in the current year.

The bill authorizes the Department of Revenue to adopt emergency rules to administer the bill.

The bill will take effect on the effective date of the constitutional amendment proposed by CS/SJR 1746 and first applies to the 2023 tax roll.

[25] Section 943.10(1), F.S.: "Law enforcement officer" means any person who is elected, appointed, or employed full time by any municipality or the state or any political subdivision thereof; who is vested with authority to bear arms and make arrests; and whose primary responsibility is the prevention and detection of crime or the enforcement of the penal, criminal, traffic, or highway laws of the state. This definition includes all certified supervisory and command personnel whose duties include, in whole or in part, the supervision, training, guidance, and management responsibilities of full-time law enforcement officers, part-time law enforcement officers, or auxiliary law enforcement officers but does not include support personnel employed by the employing agency.

[26] Section 943.10(2), F.S.: "Correctional officer" means any person who is appointed or employed full time by the state or any political subdivision thereof, or by any private entity which has contracted with the state or county, and whose primary responsibility is the supervision, protection, care, custody, and control, or investigation, of inmates within a correctional institution; however, the term "correctional officer" does not include any secretarial, clerical, or professionally trained personnel.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

Article VII, s. 18(b) of the Florida Constitution provides that, except upon the approval of each house of the Legislature by a two-thirds vote of the membership, the Legislature may not enact, amend, or repeal any general law if the anticipated effect of doing so would be to reduce the authority that municipalities or counties have to raise revenue in the aggregate, as such authority existed on February 1, 1989. However, the mandates requirements do not apply to laws having an insignificant impact,[27, 28] which is $2.3 million for Fiscal Year 2022-2023.[29]

The Revenue Estimating Conference determined that the reduction to local property tax revenue will be $85.9 million beginning in Fiscal Year 2023-2024 if the joint resolution is approved by the electorate. Therefore, the mandates provisions of Art. VII, s. 18 of the Florida Constitution may apply.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

The bill does not create or raise a state tax or fee. Therefore, the requirements of Art. VII, s. 19 of the Florida Constitution do not apply.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

The bill is contingent upon elector approval of a joint resolution substantively the same as HJR 1. If the electors approve the joint resolution, the Revenue Estimating Conference estimates that the bill will reduce local property tax revenue for all levies other than school district levies by $85.9 million beginning in Fiscal Year 2023-2024.

B. Private Sector Impact:

If the proposed amendment (CS/CS/HJR 1) is approved by 60 percent of voters in November 2022, qualifying homeowners will be entitled to reduced property taxation.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill requires the Legislature to appropriate money to fiscally constrained counties beginning in Fiscal Year 2023-2024, which is estimated by the REC to be $3.8 million.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

The bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 196.011 and 218.125.

The bill creates section 196.077 of the Florida Statutes.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS by Finance and Tax on February 10, 2022:
The CS:

- Requires an appropriation to fiscally constrained counties, beginning in FY 2023-2024, to offset the reductions in ad valorem tax revenue resulting from the new homestead exemption.
- Requires the distribution to occur in January of each fiscal year to each fiscally constrained county based on each county's proportion of the total reduction.
- Calculates the reduction as 95 percent of the estimated reduction in taxable value multiplied by the lesser of the 2023 millage rate or the millage rate for each taxing jurisdiction in the current year.

B. Amendments:

None.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Paragraph (b) of subsection (1) and paragraph (a) of subsection (9) of section 196.011, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

196.011 Annual application required for exemption.—

(b) The form to apply for an exemption under s. 196.031, s. 196.077, s. 196.081, s. 196.091, s. 196.101, s. 196.102, s. 196.173, or s. 196.202 must include a space for the applicant to list the social security number of the applicant and of the applicant's spouse, if any. If an applicant files a timely and otherwise complete application, and omits the required social security numbers, the application is incomplete. In that event, the property appraiser shall contact the applicant, who may refile a complete application by April 1. Failure to file a complete application by that date constitutes a waiver of the exemption privilege for that year, except as provided in subsection (7) or subsection (8).

(9)(a) A county may, at the request of the property appraiser and by a majority vote of its governing body, waive the requirement that an annual application or statement be made for exemption of property within the county after an initial application is made and the exemption granted. The waiver under this subsection of the annual application or statement requirement applies to all exemptions under this chapter except the exemptions ~~exemption~~ under ss. 196.077 and 196.1995 ~~s. 196.1995~~. Notwithstanding such waiver, refiling of an application or statement shall be required when any property granted an exemption is sold or otherwise disposed of, when the ownership changes in any manner, when the applicant for homestead exemption ceases to use the property as his or her homestead, or when the status of the owner changes so as to change the exempt status of the property. In its deliberations on whether to waive the annual application or statement requirement, the governing body shall consider the possibility of fraudulent exemption claims which may occur due to the waiver of the annual application requirement. The owner of any property granted an exemption who is not required to file an annual application or statement shall notify the property appraiser promptly whenever the use of the property or the status or condition of the owner changes so as to change the exempt status of the property. If any property owner fails to so notify the property appraiser and the property appraiser determines that for any year within the prior 10 years the owner was not entitled to receive such exemption, the owner of the property is subject to the taxes exempted as a result of such failure plus 15 percent interest per annum and a penalty of 50 percent of the taxes exempted. Except for homestead exemptions controlled by s. 196.161, the property appraiser making such determination shall record in the public records of the county a notice of tax lien against any property owned by that person or entity in the county, and such property must be identified in the notice of tax lien. Such property is subject to the payment of all taxes and penalties. Such lien when filed shall attach to any property, identified in the notice of tax lien, owned by the person who illegally or improperly received the exemption. If such person no longer owns property in that county but owns property in some other county or counties in the state, the property appraiser shall record a notice of tax lien in such other county or counties, identifying the property owned by such person or entity in such county or counties, and it shall become a lien against such property in such county or counties.

Section 2. Section 196.077, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

196.077 Additional homestead exemption for classroom teachers, law enforcement officers, firefighters, emergency medical technicians, paramedics, child welfare professionals, and servicemembers.—

(1) As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Child welfare professional" means a state employee engaged in child welfare services, as defined in s. 402.40(2), who holds a child welfare certification, as defined in s. 402.40(2).

(b) "Classroom teacher" means a staff member assigned the professional activity of instructing K-12 students in courses in classroom situations, including basic instruction, exceptional student education, and career education.

(c) "Emergency medical technician" has the same meaning as in s. 401.23.

(d) "Firefighter" has the same meaning as in s. 633.102.

(e) "Full-time position" has the same meaning as in s. 110.107.

(f) "Law enforcement officer" means a law enforcement officer or correctional officer as those terms are defined in s. 943.10(1) and (2).

(g) "Paramedic" has the same meaning as in s. 401.23.

Section 3. Section 218.125, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

218.125 Offset for tax loss associated with certain constitutional amendments affecting fiscally constrained counties.—

(1)(a) Beginning in the 2010-2011 fiscal year, the Legislature shall appropriate moneys to offset the reductions in ad valorem tax revenue experienced by fiscally constrained counties, as defined in s. 218.67(1), which occur as a direct result of the implementation of revisions of ss. 3(f) and 4(b) of Art. VII of the State Constitution which were approved in the general election held in November 2008. The moneys appropriated for this purpose shall be distributed in January of each fiscal year among the fiscally constrained counties based on each county's proportion of the total reduction in ad valorem tax revenue resulting from the implementation of the revisions.

(b) Beginning in the 2023-2024 fiscal year, the Legislature shall appropriate moneys to offset the reductions in ad valorem tax revenue experienced by fiscally constrained counties, as described in s. 218.67(1), which occur as a direct result of the implementation of the addition of s. 6(g) of Art. VII of the State Constitution which was approved in the general election held in November 2022. The moneys appropriated for this purpose shall be distributed in January of each fiscal year among the fiscally constrained counties based on each county's proportion of the total reduction in ad valorem tax revenue resulting from the implementation of s. 6(g) of Art. VII of the State Constitution.

(2) On or before November 15 of each year, each fiscally constrained county shall apply to the Department of Revenue to participate in the distribution of the appropriation and provide documentation supporting the county's estimated reduction in ad valorem tax revenue in the form and manner prescribed by the Department of Revenue. The documentation must include an estimate of the reduction in taxable value directly attributable to revisions of Art. VII of the State Constitution for all county taxing jurisdictions within the county and shall be prepared by the property appraiser in each fiscally constrained county. The documentation must also include the county millage rates applicable in all such jurisdictions for the current year and the prior year, rolled-back rates determined as provided in s. 200.065 for each county taxing jurisdiction, and maximum millage rates that could have been levied by majority vote pursuant to s. 200.065(5).

(a) For purposes of paragraph (1)(a) ~~this section~~, each fiscally constrained county's reduction in ad valorem tax revenue shall be calculated as 95 percent of the estimated reduction in taxable value multiplied by the lesser of the 2010 applicable millage rate or the applicable millage rate for each county taxing jurisdiction in the current year. If a fiscally constrained county fails to apply for the distribution, its share shall revert to the fund from which the appropriation was made.

(b) For purposes of paragraph (1)(b), each fiscally constrained county's reduction in ad valorem tax revenue shall be calculated as 95 percent of the estimated reduction in taxable value multiplied by the lesser of the 2022 applicable millage rate or the applicable millage rate for each county taxing jurisdiction in the current year. If a fiscally constrained county fails to apply for the distribution, its share shall revert to the fund from which the appropriation was made.

Section 4. (1) The Department of Revenue may, and all conditions are deemed met, to adopt emergency rules pursuant to s. 120.54(4), Florida Statutes, to administer this act.

(2) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, emergency rules adopted pursuant to this section are effective for 6

Section 5. The amendments made by this act to s. 196.011, Florida Statutes and the creation by this act of s. 196.077, Florida Statutes, first apply to the 2023 tax roll.

Section 6. This act shall take effect on the effective date of the amendment to the State Constitution proposed by HJR 1 or a similar joint resolution having substantially the same specific intent and purpose, if such amendment to the State Constitution is approved at the next general election or at an earlier special election specifically authorized by law for that purpose.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 1610 provides property tax relief to parcel owners affected by a sudden and unforeseen collapse of a residential building. The bill requires the tax collector to abate all property taxes and non-ad valorem assessments for each affected parcel and the property appraiser must notify all parcel owners of the abatement. Parcel owners are not required to remit payment and tax collectors and property appraisers may not issue tax notices.

The section of the Florida Statutes being created by the bill is repealed December 31, 2023, unless reenacted by the Legislature.

The Revenue Estimating Conference estimated that the bill will reduce local property tax revenue by $0.8 million in Fiscal Year 2022-2023 and by an insignificant amount each year thereafter. School district revenue is estimated to decrease by $0.3 million in Fiscal Year 2022-2023.

The bill takes effect upon becoming a law and applies retroactively to January 1, 2021.

II. Present Situation:

General Overview of Property Taxation

The ad valorem tax or "property tax" is an annual tax levied by counties, municipalities, school districts, and some special districts. The tax is based on the taxable value of property as of January 1 of each year.[1] The property appraiser annually determines the assessed or "just value"[2] of property within the taxing jurisdiction and then applies relevant exclusions, assessment limitations, and exemptions to determine the property's "taxable value."[3] Tax bills are mailed in November of each year based on the previous January 1 valuation and payment is due by March 31.

The Florida Constitution prohibits the state from levying ad valorem taxes[4] and limits the Legislature's authority to provide for property valuations at less than just value, unless expressly authorized.[5]

The just valuation standard generally requires the property appraiser to consider the highest and best use of property;[6] however, the Florida Constitution authorizes certain types of property to be valued based on their current use (classified use assessments), which often result in lower assessments. Properties that receive classified use treatment in Florida include: agricultural land, land producing high water recharge to Florida's aquifers, and land used exclusively for noncommercial recreational purposes; land used for conservation purposes; historic properties when authorized by the county or municipality; and certain working waterfront property.[7]

Tax Abatement for Natural Disasters

The Legislature has provided tax relief for property damaged by natural disasters on at least five occasions.[8] In 1988, the Legislature provided an abatement of taxes for properties damaged by windstorms or tornadoes.[9] To receive the abatement, the property owner was required to file an application with the property appraiser by March 1 of the year following the year in which the windstorm or tornado occurred.[10] After making a determination on the validity of the application, the property appraiser was directed to issue an official statement to the tax collector containing the number of months the property was uninhabitable due to the damage or

[1] Both real property and tangible personal property are subject to tax. Section 192.001(12), F.S., defines "real property" as land, buildings, fixtures, and all other improvements to land. Section 192.001(11)(d), F.S., defines "tangible personal property" as all goods, chattels, and other articles of value capable of manual possession and whose chief value is intrinsic to the article itself.

[2] Property must be valued at "just value" for purposes of property taxation, unless the Florida Constitution provides otherwise. FLA. CONST. art VII, s. 4. Just value has been interpreted by the courts to mean the fair market value that a willing buyer would pay a willing seller for the property in an arm's-length transaction. *See Walter v. destruction, the value of the property prior to the damage or destruction, the total taxes due on the property as reduced by the number of months the property was uninhabitable, and the amount of the reduction in taxes.[11]

Upon receipt of the official statement, the tax collector reduced the amount of taxes due on the property on the tax collection roll and informed the board of county commissioners and the Department of Revenue (DOR) of the total reduction in taxes for all property in the county receiving the abatement.[12] The law was applied retroactively to January 1, 1988, and included a repeal effective July 1, 1989.[13] The language was removed from statute in 1992.[14]

Most recently, the Legislature applied a similar process to abate taxes for homestead parcels damaged or destroyed by Hurricanes Hermine and Matthew in 2016 or Hurricane Irma in 2017. If the residential improvement was rendered uninhabitable for at least 30 days due to such a hurricane, taxes initially levied in 2019 could be abated.[15] The Legislature was required to appropriate funds to fiscally constrained counties to offset the reduction in ad valorem tax revenue resulting from the abatement.[16]

The Value Adjustment Board Process

Each county has a Value Adjustment Board (VAB), comprised of two members of the governing body of the county, one member of the school board, and two citizen members appointed by the governing body of the county.[17] The county clerk acts as the clerk of the VAB.[18] A property owner may initiate an assessment valuation challenge by filing a petition with the clerk of the VAB within 25 days after the mailing of the TRIM notice.[19]

The clerk of the VAB will schedule the petition for a hearing, during which a special magistrate will hear testimony and make a recommendation to the VAB on how the petition should be resolved.[20] The VAB renders a written decision within 20 calendar days after the last day the VAB is in session.[21] The decision of the VAB must contain findings of fact and conclusions of law and must include reasons for upholding or overturning the determination of the property appraiser.[22] The clerk of the VAB, upon issuance of a decision, must notify each taxpayer and the property appraiser of the decision of the VAB.[23]

Champlain Towers South

On the morning of June 24, 2021, a 12-story condominium in Surfside, Florida unexpectedly experienced structural failure and partially collapsed, resulting in the death of ninety-eight people. The standing portion of the building, rendered uninhabitable, was demolished 10 days later.

Alongside an extensive emergency management effort, the Governor issued Executive Order 21-160 to suspend deadlines related to property tax administration for taxpayers whose property was destroyed or rendered uninhabitable by the collapse.[24] The suspensions include deadlines regarding the notification and collection of ad valorem taxes. The executive order also requested "the Florida Legislature to explore additional legislative acts as may be necessary to alleviate the taxpayers' property tax obligations."[25]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill creates s. 197.319, F.S., to provide tax relief to parcel owners affected by a sudden and unforeseen collapse of a residential building. The bill requires the tax collector to abate all taxes and non-ad valorem assessments for destroyed parcels and the property appraiser must notify the owners of the abatement.

The bill defines "residential improvement" to mean a multistory residential building comprised of at least 50 dwelling units. The condition of the residential improvement on the January 1 of the year the property was destroyed must have been in such a state that the residential improvement had no value due to a latent defect of the property not readily discernable by inspection.

Parcel owners whose property tax is abated are not required to make a payment and property appraisers and tax collectors are prohibited from issuing tax notices.

The bill requires value adjustment boards to dismiss petitions from parcel owners challenging the value of the parcel for the year of the collapse.

For purposes of determining the "Save Our Homes" assessment limitation for property newly homesteaded by an affected parcel owner, the property appraiser shall look to the just value and assessed value of the destroyed parcel on the January 1 of the year preceding the year of the destruction.

The bill requires tax collectors to refund tax payments made for taxes levied in the year of collapse.

The section of the Florida Statutes being created by the bill is repealed December 31, 2023, unless reenacted by the Legislature.

[25] Id., s.2.

The bill takes effect upon becoming a law and applies retroactively to January 1, 2021.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

Article VII, s. 18 (b) of the Florida Constitution provides that except upon approval of each house of the Legislature by two-thirds vote of the membership, the legislature may not enact, amend, or repeal any general law if the anticipated effect of doing so would be to reduce the authority that municipalities or counties have to raise revenue in the aggregate, as such authority existed on February 1, 1989. However, the mandate requirement does not apply to laws having an insignificant impact,[26, 27] which for Fiscal Year 2022-2023, is forecast at $2.3 million.[28]

The Revenue Estimating Conference's estimate of the reduction to local property tax revenue is less than $2.3 million. Therefore, this bill is not a mandate subject to the provisions of Article VII, s. of the Florida Constitution.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

This bill does not create or raise a state tax or fee. Therefore, the requirements of Article VII, s. 19 of the Florida Constitution do not apply.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

None identified.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

The Revenue Estimating Conference estimated that the bill will reduce local property tax revenue by $0.8 million in Fiscal Year 2022-2023 and by an insignificant amount each [26] FLA. CONST. art. VII, s. 18(d).

[27] An insignificant fiscal impact is the amount not greater than the average statewide population for the applicable fiscal year multiplied by $0.10. See Florida Senate Committee on Community Affairs, Interim Report 2012-115: Insignificant Impact, (September 2011), available at: http://www.flsenate.gov/PublishedContent/Session/2012/InterimReports/2012-115ca.pdf (last visited Jan. 26, 2022).

year thereafter. School district revenue is estimated to decrease by $0.3 million in Fiscal Year 2022-2023.

B. Private Sector Impact:

Property owners who apply for and receive the tax abatement authorized by the bill will benefit by a reduced tax burden.

C. Government Sector Impact:

None.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill creates section 197.319 of the Florida Statutes.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS/CS by Appropriations on February 28, 2022:
The committee substitute makes technical changes to clarify that a property appraiser should look to the value of the destroyed parcel to determine the Save Our Homes benefit that can be transferred to a new homestead. The CS clarifies that eligible persons may receive a refund of non-ad valorem assessments, along with property taxes.

CS by Finance and Tax on February 10, 2022:
The CS:

- Abates all taxes and non-ad valorem assessments for property destroyed by a sudden and unforeseen collapse.
- Defines a residential improvement as a multistory residential building consisting of at least 50 dwelling units.
- Requires the condition of the building on the January 1 immediately preceding the collapse to have had no value due to a latent defect not readily discernable by inspection.
- Does not require parcel owners to remit a payment.
- Prohibits property appraisers and tax collectors to issue tax notices.

- Requires the property appraiser to notify the taxpayer that all taxes and non-ad valorem assessments have been abated for the year in which the property was destroyed.
- Requires the value adjustment board to dismiss petitions pertaining to a challenge by a parcel owner.
- Instructs property appraisers to use the values from the year before the collapse to determine the assessed value for those who establish a new homestead and wish to transfer their "Save Our Homes" benefit to the new property.
- Requires tax collectors to refund any payments made for the taxes levied in the year in which the property collapsed.
- Repeals this section December 31, 2023, unless reviewed and saved from repeal.

B. Amendments:

593-02948-22 20221610c1

read:

197.319 Abatement of ad valorem taxes and non-ad valorem assessments following destruction caused by a sudden and unforeseen collapse.—

(1) As used in this section, the term "residential improvement" means a multistory residential building that consists of at least 50 dwelling units.

(2) Each parcel owned and assessed as homestead property under s. 193.155 or as nonhomestead residential property under s. 193.1554 which is within a residential improvement that is destroyed due to a sudden and unforeseen collapse of the residential improvement or due to the subsequent demolition of the residential improvement after such collapse is eligible for an abatement of all taxes and non-ad valorem assessments for the year in which the destruction occurred if the property appraiser determines that the condition of the residential improvement on the January 1 immediately preceding the collapse was such that the residential improvement had no value due to a latent defect of the property not readily discernable by inspection.

(a) The property appraiser shall provide to the tax collector an official written statement that provides the information necessary for the tax collector to abate the taxes and non-ad valorem assessments for each parcel owner.

(b) For parcels meeting the requirements of this subsection, a parcel owner is not required to remit a payment, the property appraiser may not issue a notice of proposed property taxes pursuant to s. 200.069, and the tax collector may not issue a tax notice pursuant to s. 197.322. In lieu of the notice of proposed property taxes, the property appraiser must notify the taxpayer that all taxes and non-ad valorem assessments have been abated for the year in which the property was destroyed. If a parcel owner files a petition to the value adjustment board concerning the value of the parcel for the year of the collapse, the value adjustment board must dismiss the petition.

(3) For purposes of determining the assessed value under s. 193.155(8) of a new homestead established by an owner of a parcel within the destroyed residential improvement, the just value and assessed value of the parcel on the January 1 of the year preceding the year of the destruction must be used.

(4) Tax payments received by the tax collector for taxes levied in the year of collapse on parcels meeting the requirements of subsection (2) are eligible for a refund upon application made to the tax collector. For purposes of this subsection, the parcel owner or the parcel owner's legal representative may apply for a refund.

(5) This section is repealed December 31, 2023, unless reviewed and saved from repeal through reenactment by the Legislature.

Section 2. This act applies retroactively to January 1, 2021.

Section 3. This act shall take effect upon becoming a law.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 1670 modifies cybersecurity training and reporting standards for state agencies and local governments.

The State Cybersecurity Act requires the Florida Digital Service (FLDS) and the heads of state agencies to meet certain requirements to enhance the cybersecurity of state agencies. Currently, state agencies must provide cybersecurity training to their employees, report cybersecurity incidents, and adopt cybersecurity standards. However, there are no such requirements for counties and municipalities (local governments).

Current law regarding state or local government cybersecurity does not specifically address ransomware, which is a form of malware designed to encrypt files on a device, rendering any files unusable. Malicious actors then demand ransom in exchange for decryption.

The bill prohibits state agencies and local governments from paying or otherwise complying with a ransomware incident.

The bill defines the severity level of a cybersecurity incident in accordance with the National Cyber Incident Response Plan. State agencies and local governments must report all ransomware incidents and high severity level cybersecurity incidents to the Cybersecurity Operations Center (CSOC) and the Cybercrime Office within the Florida Department of Law Enforcement as soon as possible but no later than a time certain. Local governments must also report to the sheriff.

The bill requires state agencies to report low level cybersecurity incidents and provides that local governments may report such incidents. The bill also requires state agencies and local governments to submit after-action reports to the FLDS following a cybersecurity or ransomware incident.

The bill requires the CSOC to notify the Legislature of high severity level cybersecurity incidents. The notice must contain a high-level overview of the incident and its likely effects. In addition, the CSOC must provide the Legislature and the Cybersecurity Advisory Council (CAC) with a consolidated incident report on a quarterly basis.

The bill requires state agency and local government employees to undergo certain cybersecurity training within 30 days of employment and annually thereafter.

The bill requires local governments to adopt cybersecurity standards that safeguard the local government's data, information technology (IT), and IT resources.

The bill expands the purpose of the CAC to include advising local governments on cybersecurity and requires the CAC to examine reported cybersecurity and ransomware incidents to develop best practice recommendations. The CAC must submit an annual comprehensive report regarding ransomware to the Governor and Legislature.

The bill establishes penalties and fines for certain ransomware offenses against a government entity.

The bill will likely have a negative fiscal impact on state and local government expenditures; however, the bill may also have a positive fiscal impact on the state due to the punitive fine established in the bill. See Fiscal Analysis & Economic Impact Statement.

The bill's effective date is July 1, 2022.

II. Present Situation:

General Background

Ransomware is a form of malware[1] that is used by malicious actors to encrypt files on devices, networks, or computer systems, rendering the files on those systems unusable. The malicious actors then demand ransom in exchange for decryption or the return of an individual's or an organization's files. Ransomware actors will also often threaten to sell or leak the data or information if the demanded ransom is not paid.

The number of ransomware incidents continues to rise, with 2,474 incidents reported with adjusted losses of over $29.1 million,[2] a figure that is likely under-inclusive, as technology experts believe that many ransomware attacks go unreported out of embarrassment by victims who decline to report. In its reporting, the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) formally describes ransomware as:

[1] "Malware" means hardware, firmware, or software that is intentionally included or inserted in a system for a harmful purpose. See https://csrc.nist.gov/glossary/term/malware (last visited Feb. 4, 2022).

> A type of malicious software, or malware, that encrypts data on a computer making it unusable. A malicious cybercriminal holds the data hostage until the ransom is paid. If the ransom is not paid, the victim's data remains unavailable. Cyber criminals may also pressure victims to pay the ransom by threatening to destroy the victim's data or to release it to the public.[3]

The Internet Crime Complaint Center (IC3), housed within the FBI received a record number of complaints from the American public in 2020: 791,790, with the reported losses attached to those complaints exceeding $4.1 billion.[4] This represents a 69 percent increase in total complaints from 2019.

Recent ransomware attacks that impacted the American economy include:

- The Colonial Pipeline shutdown in May 2021, which disrupted the flow of refined gasoline and jet fuel through 5,500 miles of pipeline from Texas to New York.[5]
  - Colonial supplied 45 percent of the East Coast's fuel supply.
  - As a private company, Colonial had no duty to report; however, the FBI and federal investigative agencies at the time did confirm involvement in the investigation.[6]
  - A ransom of 75 Bitcoin was paid a day after Colonial's network system was breached, and a total ransom, which was the equivalent of nearly $5 million in cryptocurrency was eventually paid for the software decryption key to unlock its networks.[7]
- JBS, the world's largest meat processing plant, was hit by a ransomware attack in June 2021:[8]
  - The plant is responsible for supplying one quarter of America's beef.[9]
  - The likely Russian-based hackers threatened disruption or deletion of network files unless a ransom was paid.
  - Ultimately, JBS paid a ransom in Bitcoin of $11 million to resolve the cyberattack.[10]

Specifically, in Florida, recent cybersecurity and ransomware incidents include:

- A February 2021 intrusion into the City of Oldsmar's water system. The remote hacker briefly increased the amount of sodium hydroxide (lye) from 100 parts per million to 11,100 parts per million, more than 100 times the normal level. The increased amount was caught before the public was harmed.

- The St. Lucie County's Sheriff's Department was hit by a cyberattack in December 2020 when public records were taken and held for $1 million ransom and sheriff employees briefly resorted to filing reports using pen and paper instead.
- In Wakulla County in 2019, the school district's insurer paid a Bitcoin ransom to hackers to bring its computers back online during the first few weeks of the 2019-2020 school year.

Colonial Pipeline and JBS are just two examples from the thousands of other reports investigated by the IC3 in 2021. The United States is the number one target for cyberattacks with expected increases in both cyberattacks and particularly, ransomware attacks, according to statistics from the University of West Florida's Center for Cybersecurity.[11]

National Institute for Standards and Technology Cybersecurity Framework

The National Institute for Standards and Technology (NIST) is a non-regulatory federal agency housed within the United States Department of Commerce. The NIST is charged with providing a prioritized, flexible, repeatable, performance-based, and cost-effective framework that helps owners and operators of critical infrastructure identify, assess, and manage cyber risk. While the framework was developed with critical infrastructure in mind, it can be used by organizations in any sector of the economy or society.[12] The framework is designed to complement, and not replace, an organization's own unique approach to cybersecurity risk management. As such, there are a variety of ways to use the framework and the decision about how to apply it is left to the implementing organization. For example, an organization may use its current processes and consider the framework to identify opportunities to strengthen its cybersecurity risk management. Overall, the framework provides an outline of best practices that helps organizations decide where to focus resources for cybersecurity protection.[13]

National Cyber Incident Response Plan

The National Cyber Incident Response Plan (NCIRP) was developed according to the direction of Presidential Policy Directive (PPD)-41,[14] by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security. The NCIRP is part of the broader National Preparedness System and establishes the strategic framework for a whole-of-Nation approach to mitigating, responding to, and recovering from cybersecurity incidents posing risk to critical infrastructure.[15] The NCIRP is not a tactical or operational plan; rather, it serves as the primary strategic framework for stakeholders to understand how federal departments and agencies and other national-level partners provide resources to support response operations. The NCIRP was developed in coordination with federal, state, local, and private sector entities and is designed to interface with industry best practice standards for cybersecurity, including the NIST Cybersecurity Framework.

The NCIRP adopted a common schema for describing the severity of cybersecurity incidents affecting the U.S. The schema establishes a common framework to evaluate and assess cybersecurity incidents to ensure that all departments and agencies have a common view of the severity of a given incident; urgency required for responding to a given incident; seniority level necessary for coordinating response efforts; and level of investment required for response efforts.[16]

Florida Information Protection Act of 2014

The Florida Information Protection Act of 2014[17] requires notice be given to affected customers and the Department of Legal Affairs (DLA) when a breach of personal information occurs. The notice must be provided within 30 days of the discovery of the breach or the belief that a breach has occurred, unless law enforcement has requested a delay for investigative purposes or for other good cause. State law requires Florida's Attorney General to file with the Legislature, every February 1st, a report identifying any governmental entities that have reported any breaches of security of themselves or by any of its third-party agents in the preceding calendar year. Additionally, the Attorney General must report on any breaches by any governmental entities affecting more than 500 individuals in this state as expeditiously as possible, but not later than 30 days after the determination of the breach or reason to believe the breach has occurred. An extension of up to 15 days may be granted if good cause is provided in writing to the DLA.

Enforcement authority is provided to the DLA under the Florida Deceptive and Unfair Trade Practices Act to prosecute violations. Violators may be subject to civil penalties if a breach notification is not provided on a timely basis, but there are not civil penalties for the timely report of a security breach. There are exceptions for those entities that are also required to report breaches to federal regulators.

Data Breach Reporting Within Florida Law

Florida is within the FBI's top ten states for total number of victims reporting a data breach for 2020, falling behind only California with 53,793 victims[18] and is fourth in the total amount of victim loss reported at $295 million for 2020.[19]

The Attorney General's office website posts notices and news releases relating to several multi-state settlements because of data breaches which are listed through litigation settlements and press releases on the site. [20]

Information Technology Management

The Department of Management Services (DMS)[21] oversees information technology (IT)[22] governance and security for the executive branch of state government. The Florida Digital Service (FLDS) within the DMS was established by the Legislature in 2020 to replace the [22] The term "information technology" means equipment, hardware, software, firmware, programs, systems, networks, infrastructure, media, and related material used to automatically, electronically, and wirelessly collect, receive, access, transmit, display , store, record, retrieve, analyze, evaluate, process, classify, manipulate, manage, assimilate, control, communicate, exchange, convert, converge, interface, switch, or disseminate information of any kind or form. Division of State Technology.[23] The head of FLDS is appointed by the Secretary of Management Services[24] and serves as the state chief information officer (CIO).[25]

The FLDS was created to propose innovative solutions that securely modernize state government, including technology and information services, to achieve value through digital transformation and interoperability, and to fully support Florida's cloud first policy.[26] Accordingly, the DMS through the FLDS has the following powers, duties, and functions:

- Develop IT policy for the management of the state's IT resources.
- Develop an enterprise architecture.
- Establish project management and oversight standards with which state agencies[27] must comply when implementing IT projects.
- Perform project oversight on state agency IT projects that have a total cost of $10 million or more and that are funded in the General Appropriations Act or any other law.[28]
- Identify opportunities for standardization and consolidation of IT services that support interoperability, Florida's cloud first policy, and business functions and operations that are common across state agencies.[29]

State Cybersecurity Act

The State Cybersecurity Act[30] requires the DMS and the heads of state agencies[31] to meet certain requirements to enhance the cybersecurity[32] of state agencies. Specifically, the DMS, acting through the FLDS must:

- Establish standards and processes for assessing state agency cybersecurity risks and determining appropriate security measures consistent with generally accepted best practices for cybersecurity, including the NIST cybersecurity framework.

[27] "State agency" means any official, officer, commission, board, authority, council, committee, or department of the executive branch of state government; the Justice Administrative Commission; and the Public Service Commission. The term does not include university boards of trustees, state universities, the Department of Legal Affairs, the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, or the Department of Financial Services. Section 282.0041(33), F.S.
[28] For the Department of Financial Services, the Department of Legal Affairs, and the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, Florida Digital Service (FLDS) provides project oversight on information technology (IT) projects that have a total cost of $20 million or more. [31] For purposes of the State Cybersecurity Act, the term "state agency" includes the Department of Legal Affairs, the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, and the Department of Financial Services. Section 282.318(2), F.S.
[32] "Cybersecurity" means the protection afforded to an automated information system in order to attain the applicable objectives of preserving the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of data, information, and information technology resources. Section 282.0041(8), F.S.

- Adopt rules to mitigate risk, support a security governance framework, and safeguard state agency digital assets, data,[33] information, and IT resources[34] to ensure availability, confidentiality, and integrity.
- Designate a chief information security officer (CISO) responsible for the development, operation, and oversight of cybersecurity for state technology systems. The CISO must be notified of all confirmed or suspected incidents or threats of state agency IT resources and must report such information to the CIO and the Governor.
- Develop and annually update a statewide cybersecurity strategic plan that includes security goals and objectives for cybersecurity, including the identification and mitigation of risk, proactive protections against threats, tactical risk detection, threat reporting, and response and recovery protocols for cyber incidents.[35]
- Develop and publish for use by state agencies a cybersecurity governance framework.
- Assist state agencies in complying with the State Cybersecurity Act.
- In collaboration with the Cybercrime Office within the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE), annually provide training for state agency information security managers and computer security incident response team members that contains training on cybersecurity, including cybersecurity threats, trends, and best practices.
- Annually review the strategic and operational cybersecurity plans of state agencies.
- Track, in coordination with agency inspectors general, state agencies' implementation of remediation plans.
- Provide cybersecurity training to all state agency technology professionals that develops, assesses, and documents competencies by role and skill level. The training may be provided in collaboration with the Cybercrime Office, a private sector entity, or an institution of the state university system.
- Operate and maintain a Cybersecurity Operations Center led by the CISO to serve as a clearinghouse for threat information and to coordinate with the FDLE to support state agency response to cybersecurity incidents.
- Lead an Emergency Support Function under the state comprehensive emergency management plan.[36]

The State Cybersecurity Act requires the head of each state agency to designate an information security manager to administer the cybersecurity program of the state agency.[37] In addition, the head of each state agency must:

- Establish an agency cybersecurity incident response team in consultation with FLDS and the Cybercrime Office. The agency cybersecurity incident response team must convene upon notification of a cybersecurity incident and must immediately report all confirmed or suspected incidents to the CISO.

[33] "Data" means a subset of structured information in a format that allows such information to be electronically retrieved and transmitted. Section 282.0041(9), F.S.
[34] "Information technology resources" means data processing hardware and software and services, communications, supplies, personnel, facility resources, maintenance, and training. Section 282.0041(22), F.S.
[35] "Incident" means a violation or imminent threat of violation, whether such violation is accidental or deliberate, of information technology resources, security, policies, or practices. An imminent threat of violation refers to a situation in which the state agency has a factual basis for believing that a specific incident is about to occur.
Section 282.0041(19), F.S.
[36] Section 282.318(3), F.S.
[37] Section 282.318(4)(a), F.S.

- Annually submit to the DMS the state agency's strategic and operational cybersecurity plans.
- Conduct and update every three years a comprehensive risk assessment to determine the security threats to the data, information, and IT resources of the state agency.
- Develop and periodically update written internal policies and procedures, including procedures for reporting cybersecurity incidents and breaches to the FLDS and the Cybercrime Office.
- Implement managerial, operational, and technical safeguards and risk assessment remediation plans recommended by the DMS to address identified risks to the data, information, and IT resources of the agency.
- Ensure that periodic internal audits and evaluations of the agency's cybersecurity program for the data, information, and IT resources of the agency are conducted.
- Ensure that the cybersecurity requirements included as written specifications within a solicitation, contract, and service-level agreement of IT and IT resources and services meet or exceed applicable state and federal laws, regulations, and standards for cybersecurity, including the NIST cybersecurity framework.
- Provide cybersecurity awareness training to all state agency employees within 30 days of commencing employment concerning cybersecurity risks and the responsibility of employees to comply with policies, standards, guidelines, and operating procedures adopted by the state agency to reduce those risks. The training may be provided in collaboration with the Cybercrime Office, a private sector entity, or an institution of the state university system.
- Develop a process that is consistent with the rules and guidelines established by the FLDS for detecting, reporting, and responding to threats, breaches, or cybersecurity incidents.[38]

Florida Cybersecurity Advisory Council

The Florida Cybersecurity Advisory Council (CAC) within the DMS[39] assists state agencies in protecting IT resources from cyber threats and incidents.[40] The CAC must assist the FLDS in implementing best cybersecurity practices, taking into consideration the final recommendations of the Florida Cybersecurity Task Force – a task force created to review and assess the state's cybersecurity infrastructure, governance, and operations.[41] The CAC meets at least quarterly to:

- Review existing state agency cybersecurity policies.
- Assess ongoing risks to state agency IT.
- Recommend a reporting and information sharing system to notify state agencies of new risks.
- Recommend data breach simulation exercises.
- Assist the FLDS in developing cybersecurity best practice recommendations for state agencies, including continuous risk monitoring, password management, and protecting data in legacy and new systems.
- Examine inconsistencies between state and federal law regarding cybersecurity.[42]

The CAC must work with the NIST and other federal agencies, private sector businesses, and private security experts to identify which local infrastructure sectors, not covered by federal law, are at the greatest risk of cyber-attacks and to identify categories of critical infrastructure as critical cyber infrastructure if cyber damage to the infrastructure could result in catastrophic consequences.[43]

Beginning June 30, 2022, and each June 30 thereafter, the CAC must submit to the Legislature any recommendations considered necessary by the CAC to address cybersecurity.[44]

Offenses against Users of Computers

Florida law criminalizes the following acts involving a computer,[45] computer system,[46] computer network,[47] or electronic device[48] when done knowingly, willfully, and without authorization:

- Accessing[49] or causing to be accessed any computer, computer system, computer network, or electronic device with knowledge that such access is unauthorized or the manner or use exceeds authorization.
- Disrupting or denying the ability to transmit data to or from an authorized user of a computer, computer system, computer network, or electronic device under certain circumstances.
- Destroying, taking, injuring, or damaging computers, computer systems, computer networks, or electronic devices.
- Introducing a computer contaminant into a computer, computer system, computer network, or electronic device.
- Engaging in audio or video surveillance of an individual by accessing one of the inherent features or components of a computer, computer system, computer network, or electronic device, including accessing the data or information stored by a third party.[50]

[43] Section 282.319(10), F.S.
[44] Section 282.319(11), F.S.
[45] "Computer" means an internally programmed, automatic device that performs data processing. Section 815.03(2), F.S.
[46] "Computer system" means a device or collection of devices, including support devices, one or more of which contain computer programs, electronic instructions, or input data and output data, and which perform functions, including, but not limited to, logic, arithmetic, data storage, retrieval, communication, or control. The term does not include calculators that are not programmable and that are not capable of being used in conjunction with external files. Section 815.03(7), F.S.
[47] "Computer network" means a system that provides a medium for communication between one or more computer systems or electronic devices, including communication with an input or output device such as a display terminal, printer, or other electronic equipment that is connected to the computer systems or electronic devices by physical or wireless telecommunication facilities. Section 815.03(4), F.S.
[48] "Electronic device" means a device or a portion of a device that is designed for and capable of communicating across a computer network with other computers or devices for the purpose of transmitting, receiving, or storing data, including, but not limited to, a cellular telephone, tablet, or other portable device designed for and capable of communicating with or across a computer network and that is actually used for such purpose. Section 815.03(9), F.S.
[49] "Accessing" means approaching, instructing, communicating with, storing data in, retrieving data from, or otherwise making use of any resources of a computer, computer system, computer network, or electronic device. Section 815.03(1), F.S.
[50] Section 815.06(2), F.S.

In general, such conduct against a computer user is a third degree felony,[51] punishable by up to five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.[52] However, the crime may be enhanced to a second[53] or first[54] degree felony with aggravating factors, such as excessive damage or endangering a human life.[55]

Unfunded Local Government Mandates

An unfunded mandate on local government is defined in Florida's Constitution as a general law which requires counties or municipalities to spend its funds, limits their ability to raise revenue, or limits their ability to receive sales tax revenue. Adopted by Florida voters in 1990, Article VII, Section 18(a) of the Florida Constitution states that no county or municipality shall be bound by any general law requiring such county or municipality to spend its funds or to take an action requiring the expenditure of funds except under certain conditions. The review process is only applied to general laws applicable to cities and counties and not to special districts or school districts.

Article VII, s. 18 of the Florida Constitution requires also that such laws fulfill an important state interest and meet one of the following conditions for constitutionality:

- The Legislature has provided or will provide the estimated amount of funds necessary to fund the mandated activity or program;
- The Legislature has provided or will provide the county or municipality the authorization to enact a funding source not available to them before February 1, 1989, that can be used to generate the amount of funds sufficient to meet the mandate by a simple majority vote for the governing body;
- The law passes by a two-thirds membership vote of each house of the Legislature;
- The expenditure is required to comply with a law that applies to all persons similarly situated, including the state and local governments; or
- The law is required to comply with a federal requirement or is required to comply with a federal entitlement.

If none of the constitutional exceptions or exemptions apply, and if the bill becomes law, cities and counties are not bound by the law[56] unless the Legislature has determined that the bill fulfills an important state interest and approves the bill by a two-thirds vote of the membership of each house. A Legislature can meet the condition "meets an important state interest" through a legislative declaration and a declaratory statement that the legislation does meet an important state interest.

[51] Section 815.06(3)(a), F.S.
[52] Section 775.082 and 775.083, F.S.
[53] A second degree felony is punishable by up to 15 years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Sections 775.082 and 775.083, F.S.
[54] A first degree felony is punishable by up to 30 years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Sections 775.082 and 775.083, F.S.
[55] Section 815.06(3)(b) and (3)(c), F.S.
[56] Although the constitution says, "[n]o county or municipality shall be bound by any general law" that is a mandate, the circuit court's ruling was much broader in that it ordered SB 360 expunged completely from the official records of the state.

A mandate can still be prohibited if the effect of its enactment results in a reduction in the county or municipality's authority to raise total aggregate revenues or is a reduction in the total percentage share of revenue as it existed on February 1, 1989.

Mandates can be exempted in certain circumstances, such as, if the law is being enacted during a declared fiscal emergency, when offsetting revenues are provided for, or when the fiscal impact is considered insignificant. The Legislature interprets insignificant fiscal impact to mean an amount not greater than the average statewide population for the applicable fiscal year times 10 cents (currently $2.3 million); the average fiscal impact, including any offsetting effects over the long term, is also considered.[57]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Ransomware Incident

The bill defines "ransomware incident" to mean a malicious cybersecurity incident in which a person or entity introduces software that gains unauthorized access to or encrypts, modifies, or otherwise renders unavailable a state agency's or local government's[58] data and thereafter the person or entity demands a ransom to restore access to the data, prevent publication of the data, or otherwise remediate the impact of the software. The bill prohibits a state agency or local government experiencing a ransomware incident from paying or otherwise complying with the demanded ransom.

Cybersecurity and Ransomware Incident Notification

The bill defines the severity level of a cybersecurity incident in accordance with the National Cyber Incident Response Plan (NCIRP) as follows:

- Level 5: An emergency-level incident within the specified jurisdiction if the incident poses an imminent threat to the provision of wide-scale critical infrastructure services; national, state, or local security; or the lives of the country's, state's, or local government's citizens.
- Level 4: A severe-level incident if the incident is likely to result in a significant impact within the affected jurisdiction which affects the public health or safety; national, state, or local security; economic security; or individual civil liberties.
- Level 3: A high-level incident if the incident is likely to result in a demonstrable impact in the affected jurisdiction to public health or safety; national, state, or local security; economic security; civil liberties; or public confidence.
- Level 2: A medium-level incident if the incident may impact public health or safety; national, state, or local security; economic security; civil liberties; or public confidence.
- Level 1: A low-level incident if the incident is unlikely to impact public health or safety; national, state, or local security; economic security; or public confidence.

[57] Guidelines issued in 1991 by then-Senate President Gwen Margolis and Speaker of the House Wetherell (1991); Comm. [58] The bill defines "local government" to mean a county or a municipality.

The bill requires state agencies and local governments to report all ransomware incidents as soon as possible, but no later than 12 hours after discovery of the incident. It also requires state agencies and local governments to report cybersecurity incidents determined to be of severity level three, four, or five as soon as possible, but no later than 48 hours after discovery of the incident. Local governments may report cybersecurity incidents determined to be of severity level one or two and state agencies are required to report such incidents as soon as possible. State agencies and local governments report the incidents to the Cybersecurity Operations Center (CSOC) and Cybercrime Office; however, local governments are also required to report to the sheriff that has jurisdiction over the local government.

The bill specifies the information that must be reported in a cybersecurity or ransomware incident report by a state agency or local government. The incident report must include, at a minimum:

- A summary of the facts surrounding the cybersecurity or ransomware incident.
- The date on which the state agency or local government most recently backed up its data, the physical location of the backup, if the backup was affected, and if the backup was created using cloud computing.
- The types of data compromised by the cybersecurity or ransomware incident.
- The estimated fiscal impact of the cybersecurity or ransomware incident.
- In the case of a ransomware incident, the details of the ransom demanded.
- If the reporting entity is a local government, a statement requesting or declining assistance from the CSOC, Cybercrime Office, or sheriff.

The bill requires the CSOC to notify the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of any cybersecurity incident with a severity level of three, four, or five within 12 hours of receiving the state agency or local government incident report. The notification must include a high-level description of the incident and the likely effects. In addition, the CSOC must provide consolidated incident reports to the President of the Senate, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and Cybersecurity Advisory Council (CAC) on a quarterly basis. The consolidated incident reports to the CAC may not contain any state agency or local government name, network information, or system identifying information, but must contain sufficient relevant information to allow the CAC to fulfill its responsibilities.

After-action Reports

The bill requires state agencies and local governments to submit an after-action report to Florida Digital Service (FLDS) within one week of the remediation of a cybersecurity or ransomware incident. The after-action report must summarize the incident, the incident's resolution, and any insights gained as a result of the incident. By December 1, 2022, the FLDS must establish guidelines and processes for submitting after-action reports.

Cybersecurity Training

The bill requires the FLDS to develop a basic and advanced cybersecurity training curriculum. All local government employees with access to the local government's network must complete the basic training curriculum, and local government technology professionals and employees with access to highly sensitive information must complete the advanced training curriculum. The trainings must be completed by employees within 30 days of commencing employment and on an annual basis thereafter. The bill authorizes the FLDS to provide the cybersecurity trainings in collaboration with the Cybercrime Office, a private sector entity, or an institution of the State University System.

The bill requires the advanced cybersecurity training currently provided by the FLDS to state agency technology professionals to be provided on an annual basis and to be provided to employees with access to highly sensitive information. In addition, state agency heads must provide the basic cybersecurity training that is currently provided to agency employees on an annual basis.

The bill requires the advanced cybersecurity training curriculum provided to certain state and local government employees to include training on the identification of each cybersecurity incident severity level.

Local Government Cybersecurity Standards

The bill requires local governments to adopt cybersecurity standards that safeguard the local government's data, IT, and IT resources to ensure availability, confidentiality, and integrity. The standards must be consistent with generally accepted best practices for cybersecurity, including the National Institute for Standards and Technology (NIST) cybersecurity framework. Counties with a population of 75,000 or more and municipalities with a population of 25,000 or more must adopt the standards by January 1, 2024. Counties with a population less than 75,000 and municipalities with a population less than 25,000 must adopt the standards by January 1, 2025. The bill requires each local government to notify the FLDS when it has adopted the standards.

Florida Cybersecurity Advisory Council

The bill provides that one of the purposes of the CAC is to advise local governments on cybersecurity, including cybersecurity threats, trends, and best practices. In addition, the bill requires the CAC to review information relating to cybersecurity and ransomware incidents reported by state agencies and local governments to determine commonalities and develop best practice recommendations for those entities. The CAC must recommend any additional information that should be reported by a local government to the FLDS as part of a cybersecurity or ransomware incident report.

Beginning December 1, 2022, and each December 1 thereafter, the CAC must prepare and submit a comprehensive report to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives that includes data, trends, analysis, findings, and recommendations for state and local action regarding ransomware incidents. At a minimum, the report must include:

- Descriptive statistics, including the amount of ransom requested, duration of the incident, and overall monetary cost to taxpayers of the incident.
- A detailed statistical analysis of the circumstances that lead to the ransomware incident which does not include the name of the state agency or local government, network information, or system identifying information.

- Statistical analysis of the level of cybersecurity employee training and frequency of data backup for the state agencies or local governments that reported incidents.
- Specific issues identified with current policy, procedure, rule, or statute and recommendations to address those issues.
- Other recommendations to prevent ransomware incidents.
- The bill specifies that, for purposes of the CAC's charter, the term "state agency" includes the Department of Legal Affairs, the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, and the Department of Financial Services.

Ransomware Offense

The bill provides that a person who willfully, knowingly, and without authorization introduces a computer contaminant that gains unauthorized access to, encrypts, modifies, or otherwise renders unavailable data, programs, or supporting documentation residing or existing within a computer, computer system, computer network, or electronic device owned or operated by a government entity46 and demands a ransom to prevent the publication of or restore access to the data, programs, or supporting documentation or to otherwise remediate the impact of the computer contaminant commits a ransomware offense. The bill provides that a ransomware offense is punishable as a first degree felony. The bill further provides that an employee or contractor of a government entity, with access to the government entity's network, who willfully and knowingly aids or abets another in the commission of a ransomware offense against the government entity commits a felony of the first degree. In addition to any other penalties imposed, the convicted person must pay a fine equal to twice the amount demanded in the ransomware offense, the proceeds of which will be deposited into the General Revenue Fund.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

The county/municipality mandates provision of Art. VII, s. 18 of the Florida Constitution may apply because the bill places cybersecurity related requirements on local governments, including completing cybersecurity trainings, adopting cybersecurity standards, reporting ransomware and certain cybersecurity incidents, and submitting after-action reports; however, an exemption may apply if the costs related to those cybersecurity requirements are insignificant. An exception may apply because similarly situated entities are required to comply with the same cybersecurity requirements and the bill provides an important state interest determination. An exception may also apply because the General Appropriations Act provides estimated funds to cover the mandate.

The fiscal impact to the local governments is indeterminate as the number of impacted individuals is unknown.

The bill does not clearly define which entities within local government are covered by the requirements. For Fiscal Year 2020-2021, the total FTEs employed in Florida's 67 counties was reported as 158,685[59] and, for municipal governments, the total FTEs reported was 107,137.[60]

Expenditure of funds would be required of all counties and local governments similarly situated in that all counties and local governments would be required to comply in the same manner, which may remove the local mandate issue. Additionally, the fiscal impact to the local government may be insignificant depending on the format and type of training developed. Whether this requirement would meet the threshold to be considered a mandate is indeterminate.

The bill includes a statement that the act fulfills an important state interest.

workforce that would be required to participate in either the new employee component or the annual training.

There may be long-term indeterminate savings in funds and resources to the state, local, or county governments if the cybersecurity trainings result in fewer cybersecurity attacks, reductions in the loss of data, or mitigation of third party computer breaches.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

In describing the types of training to be delivered to local government employees, Section 2 of the bill does not define "persons with access to highly sensitive information" who would undergo additional training.

It is also unclear as to who is responsible for the delivery of the referenced cybersecurity training. Section (2) states that the Florida Digital Service may provide the training in collaboration with other defined entities. The statement implies that the Florida Digital Service is tasked with providing the training to applicable local government employees.

VII. Related Issues:

The bill requires that training be created and provided for certain employees of state and local government. The definition of local government is not provided. State statutes provide several provisions or definitions of "local government" depending on the context or legislative intent, which include or exclude other public institutions, such as schools, higher education entities, special districts, or councils.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends section 282.318 of the Florida Statutes.

This bill creates section 282.3185 of the Florida Statutes.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS/CS by Appropriations on February 28, 2022:
The committee substitute:

- Requires state agencies and local government entities to report cybersecurity and ransomware incidents to the Cybersecurity Operations Center (CSOC) and the Cybercrime office of the Department of Law Enforcement;
- Defines the level of severity of a cybersecurity incident in accordance with the U.S. Department of Homeland Security's National Cyber Incident Response Plan;
- Requires the advanced cybersecurity training offered to specified state agency and local government employees to include training on the cybersecurity incident severity levels;

- Differentiates reporting requirements based on the level of severity of a cybersecurity incident;
- Requires the Legislature to only be notified of high severity level cybersecurity incidents;
- Requires the CSOC to provide the Legislature and Cybersecurity Advisory Council (CAC) with a consolidated incident report on a quarterly basis;
- Requires local government entities to adopt cybersecurity standards that align with the National Institute for Standards and Technology and to provide notification to the Florida Digital Service when such standards are adopted;
- Expands the purpose of the CAC to include advising local governments on cybersecurity and requires the CAC to examine reported cybersecurity and ransomware incidents to develop best practice recommendations;
- Requires the CAC to submit an annual comprehensive report regarding ransomware to the Governor and Legislature; and
- Establishes penalties and fines for certain ransomware offenses against a government entity.

CS by Military and Veterans Affairs, Space, and Domestic Security on February 8, 2022:

The Committee adopted a CS which:

- Modifies s. 282.318, F.S., to direct the Florida Digital Service (FDS) to provide cybersecurity training for all state agency technology employees and employees with access to highly sensitive information within the first 30 days of employment and then annually thereafter;
- Defines "local government" to mean any county or municipality";
- Creates s. 282.3185, F.S., and directs FDS to develop a basic and advanced cybersecurity training curriculum for local government employees with access to the local network or have access to highly sensitive information for completion within 30 days of employment and then annually thereafter; and
- Allows training to be provided by the Cybercrime Office of the FDLE, a private sector entity, or an institution of the state university system.

The CS includes a statement that the Legislature finds that the act fulfills an important state interest.

The effective date of the act is July 1, 2022.

The Committee on Appropriations (Hutson) recommended the following:

Senate Amendment (with title amendment)

Delete everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. Present subsections (28) through (37) of section 282.0041, Florida Statutes, are redesignated as subsections (29) through (38), respectively, a new subsection (28) is added to that section, and subsection (19) of that section is amended, to read:

282.0041 Definitions.—As used in this chapter, the term:

(19) "Incident" means a violation or imminent threat of violation, whether such violation is accidental or deliberate, of information technology resources, security, policies, or practices. An imminent threat of violation refers to a situation in which a ~~the~~ state agency, county, or municipality has a factual basis for believing that a specific incident is about to occur.

(28) "Ransomware incident" means a malicious cybersecurity incident in which a person or entity introduces software that gains unauthorized access to or encrypts, modifies, or otherwise renders unavailable a state agency's, county's, or municipality's data and thereafter the person or entity demands a ransom to prevent the publication of the data, restore access to the data, or otherwise remediate the impact of the software.

Section 2. Paragraphs (c) and (g) of subsection (3) and paragraphs (i) and (j) of subsection (4) of section 282.318, Florida Statutes, are amended, and paragraph (k) is added to subsection (4) of that section, to read:

282.318 Cybersecurity.—

(3) The department, acting through the Florida Digital Service, is the lead entity responsible for establishing standards and processes for assessing state agency cybersecurity risks and determining appropriate security measures. Such standards and processes must be consistent with generally accepted technology best practices, including the National Institute for Standards and Technology Cybersecurity Framework, for cybersecurity. The department, acting through the Florida Digital Service, shall adopt rules that mitigate risks; safeguard state agency digital assets, data, information, and information technology resources to ensure availability, confidentiality, and integrity; and support a security governance framework. The department, acting through the Florida Digital Service, shall also:

(c) Develop and publish for use by state agencies a cybersecurity governance framework that, at a minimum, includes guidelines and processes for:

1. Establishing asset management procedures to ensure that an agency's information technology resources are identified and managed consistent with their relative importance to the agency's business objectives.

2. Using a standard risk assessment methodology that includes the identification of an agency's priorities, constraints, risk tolerances, and assumptions necessary to support operational risk decisions.

3. Completing comprehensive risk assessments and cybersecurity audits, which may be completed by a private sector vendor, and submitting completed assessments and audits to the department.

4. Identifying protection procedures to manage the protection of an agency's information, data, and information technology resources.

5. Establishing procedures for accessing information and data to ensure the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of such information and data.

6. Detecting threats through proactive monitoring of events, continuous security monitoring, and defined detection processes.

7. Establishing agency cybersecurity incident response teams and describing their responsibilities for responding to cybersecurity incidents, including breaches of personal information containing confidential or exempt data.

8. Recovering information and data in response to a cybersecurity incident. The recovery may include recommended improvements to the agency processes, policies, or guidelines.

9. Establishing a cybersecurity incident reporting process that includes procedures ~~and tiered reporting timeframes~~ for notifying the department and the Department of Law Enforcement of cybersecurity incidents. ~~The tiered reporting timeframes shall be based upon the level of severity of the cybersecurity incidents being reported.~~

a. The level of severity of the cybersecurity incident is defined by the National Cyber Incident Response Plan of the United States Department of Homeland Security as follows:

(I) Level 5 is an emergency-level incident within the specified jurisdiction that poses an imminent threat to the provision of wide-scale critical infrastructure services; national, state, or local government security; or the lives of the country's, state's, or local government's residents.

(II) Level 4 is a severe-level incident that is likely to result in a significant impact in the affected jurisdiction to public health or safety; national, state, or local security; economic security; or civil liberties.

(III) Level 3 is a high-level incident that is likely to result in a demonstrable impact in the affected jurisdiction to public health or safety; national, state, or local security; economic security; civil liberties; or public confidence.

(IV) Level 2 is a medium-level incident that may impact public health or safety; national, state, or local security; economic security; civil liberties; or public confidence.

(V) Level 1 is a low-level incident that is unlikely to impact public health or safety; national, state, or local security; economic security; civil liberties; or public confidence.

b. The cybersecurity incident reporting process must specify the information that must be reported by a state agency following a cybersecurity incident or ransomware incident, which, at a minimum, must include the following:

(I) A summary of the facts surrounding the cybersecurity incident or ransomware incident.

(II) The date on which the state agency most recently backed up its data, the physical location of the backup, if the backup was affected, and if the backup was created using cloud computing.

(III) The types of data compromised by the cybersecurity incident or ransomware incident.

(IV) The estimated fiscal impact of the cybersecurity incident or ransomware incident.

(V) In the case of a ransomware incident, the details of the ransom demanded.

c.(I) A state agency shall report all ransomware incidents and any cybersecurity incident determined by the state agency to be of severity level 3, 4, or 5 to the Cybersecurity Operations Center and the Cybercrime Office of the Department of Law Enforcement as soon as possible but no later than 48 hours after discovery of the cybersecurity incident and no later than 12 hours after discovery of the ransomware incident. The report must contain the information required in sub-subparagraph b.

(II) The Cybersecurity Operations Center shall notify the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of any severity level 3, 4, or 5 incident as soon as possible but no later than 12 hours after receiving a state agency's incident report. The notification must include a high-level description of the incident and the likely effects.

d. A state agency shall report a cybersecurity incident determined by the state agency to be of severity level 1 or 2 to the Cybersecurity Operations Center and the Cybercrime Office of the Department of Law Enforcement as soon as possible. The report must contain the information required in sub-subparagraph b.

e. The Cybersecurity Operations Center shall provide a consolidated incident report on a quarterly basis to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Florida Cybersecurity Advisory Council. The report provided to the Florida Cybersecurity Advisory Council may not contain the name of any agency, network information, or system identifying information but must contain sufficient relevant information to allow the Florida Cybersecurity Advisory Council to fulfill its responsibilities as required in s. 282.319(9).

10. Incorporating information obtained through detection and response activities into the agency's cybersecurity incident response plans.

11. Developing agency strategic and operational cybersecurity plans required pursuant to this section.

12. Establishing the managerial, operational, and technical safeguards for protecting state government data and information technology resources that align with the state agency risk management strategy and that protect the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of information and data.

13. Establishing procedures for procuring information technology commodities and services that require the commodity or service to meet the National Institute of Standards and Technology Cybersecurity Framework.

14. Submitting after-action reports following a cybersecurity incident or ransomware incident. Such guidelines and processes for submitting after-action reports must be developed and published by December 1, 2022.

(g) Annually provide cybersecurity training to all state agency technology professionals and employees with access to highly sensitive information which ~~that~~ develops, assesses, and documents competencies by role and skill level. The cybersecurity training curriculum must include training on the identification of each cybersecurity incident severity level referenced in sub-subparagraph (c)9.a. The training may be provided in collaboration with the Cybercrime Office of the Department of Law Enforcement, a private sector entity, or an institution of the State University System.

(4) Each state agency head shall, at a minimum:

(i) Provide cybersecurity awareness training to all state agency employees within ~~in the first~~ 30 days after commencing employment, and annually thereafter, concerning cybersecurity risks and the responsibility of employees to comply with policies, standards, guidelines, and operating procedures adopted by the state agency to reduce those risks. The training may be provided in collaboration with the Cybercrime Office of the Department of Law Enforcement, a private sector entity, or an institution of the State University System.

(j) Develop a process for detecting, reporting, and responding to threats, breaches, or cybersecurity incidents which is consistent with the security rules, guidelines, and processes established by the department through the Florida Digital Service.

1. All cybersecurity incidents and ransomware incidents ~~breaches~~ must be reported by state agencies. Such reports ~~to the Florida Digital Service within the department and the Cybercrime Office of the Department of Law Enforcement and~~ must comply with the notification procedures and reporting timeframes established pursuant to paragraph (3)(c).

2. For cybersecurity breaches, state agencies shall provide notice in accordance with s. 501.171.

(k) Submit to the Florida Digital Service, within 1 week after the remediation of a cybersecurity incident or ransomware incident, an after-action report that summarizes the incident, the incident's resolution, and any insights gained as a result of the incident.

Section 3. Section 282.3185, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

282.3185 Local government cybersecurity.—

(1) SHORT TITLE.—This section may be cited as the "Local Government Cybersecurity Act."

(2) DEFINITION.—As used in this section, the term "local government" means any county or municipality.

(3) CYBERSECURITY TRAINING.—

(a) The Florida Digital Service shall:

1. Develop a basic cybersecurity training curriculum for local government employees. All local government employees with access to the local government's network must complete the basic cybersecurity training within 30 days after commencing employment and annually thereafter.

2. Develop an advanced cybersecurity training curriculum for local governments which is consistent with the cybersecurity training required under s. 282.318(3)(g). All local government technology professionals and employees with access to highly sensitive information must complete the advanced cybersecurity training within 30 days after commencing employment and annually thereafter.

(b) The Florida Digital Service may provide the cybersecurity training required by this subsection in collaboration with the Cybercrime Office of the Department of Law Enforcement, a private sector entity, or an institution of the State University System.

(4) CYBERSECURITY STANDARDS.—

(a) Each local government shall adopt cybersecurity standards that safeguard its data, information technology, and information technology resources to ensure availability, confidentiality, and integrity. The cybersecurity standards must be consistent with generally accepted best practices for cybersecurity, including the National Institute of Standards and Technology Cybersecurity Framework.

(b) Each county with a population of 75,000 or more must adopt the cybersecurity standards required by this subsection by January 1, 2024. Each county with a population of less than 75,000 must adopt the cybersecurity standards required by this subsection by January 1, 2025.

(c) Each municipality with a population of 25,000 or more must adopt the cybersecurity standards required by this subsection by January 1, 2024. Each municipality with a population of less than 25,000 must adopt the cybersecurity standards required by this subsection by January 1, 2025.

(d) Each local government shall notify the Florida Digital Service of its compliance with this subsection as soon as possible.

(5) INCIDENT NOTIFICATION.—

(a) A local government shall provide notification of a cybersecurity incident or ransomware incident to the Cybersecurity Operations Center, Cybercrime Office of the Department of Law Enforcement, and sheriff who has jurisdiction over the local government in accordance with paragraph (b). The notification must include, at a minimum, the following information:

1. A summary of the facts surrounding the cybersecurity incident or ransomware incident.

2. The date on which the local government most recently backed up its data, the physical location of the backup, if the backup was affected, and if the backup was created using cloud computing.

3. The types of data compromised by the cybersecurity incident or ransomware incident.

4. The estimated fiscal impact of the cybersecurity incident or ransomware incident.

5. In the case of a ransomware incident, the details of the ransom demanded.

6. A statement requesting or declining assistance from the Cybersecurity Operations Center, the Cybercrime Office of the Department of Law Enforcement, or the sheriff who has jurisdiction over the local government.

(b)1. A local government shall report all ransomware incidents and any cybersecurity incident determined by the local government to be of severity level 3, 4, or 5 as provided in s. 282.318(3)(c) to the Cybersecurity Operations Center, the Cybercrime Office of the Department of Law Enforcement, and the sheriff who has jurisdiction over the local government as soon as possible but no later than 48 hours after discovery of the cybersecurity incident and no later than 12 hours after discovery of the ransomware incident. The report must contain the information required in paragraph (a).

2. The Cybersecurity Operations Center shall notify the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of any severity level 3, 4, or 5 incident as soon as possible but no later than 12 hours after receiving a local government's incident report. The notification must include a high-level description of the incident and the likely effects.

(c) A local government may report a cybersecurity incident determined by the local government to be of severity level 1 or 2 as provided in s. 282.318(3)(c) to the Cybersecurity Operations Center, the Cybercrime Office of the Department of Law Enforcement, and the sheriff who has jurisdiction over the local government. The report shall contain the information required in paragraph (a).

(d) The Cybersecurity Operations Center shall provide a consolidated incident report on a quarterly basis to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Florida Cybersecurity Advisory Council. The report provided to the Florida Cybersecurity Advisory Council may not contain the name of any local government, network information, or system identifying information but must contain sufficient relevant information to allow the Florida Cybersecurity Advisory Council to fulfill its responsibilities as required in s. 282.319(9).

(6) AFTER-ACTION REPORT.—A local government must submit to the Florida Digital Service, within 1 week after the remediation of a cybersecurity incident or ransomware incident, an after-action report that summarizes the incident, the incident's resolution, and any insights gained as a result of the incident. By December 1, 2022, the Florida Digital Service shall establish guidelines and processes for submitting an after-action report.

Section 4. Section 282.3186, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

282.3186 Ransomware incident compliance.—A state agency as defined in s. 282.318(2), a county, or a municipality experiencing a ransomware incident may not pay or otherwise comply with a ransom demand.

Section 5. Subsection (2) of section 282.319, Florida Statutes, is amended, and paragraphs (g) and (h) are added to subsection (9) and subsections (12) and (13) are added to that section, to read:

282.319 Florida Cybersecurity Advisory Council.—

(2) The purpose of the council is to:

(a) Assist state agencies in protecting their information technology resources from cybersecurity ~~cyber~~ threats and incidents.

(b) Advise counties and municipalities on cybersecurity, including cybersecurity threats, trends, and best practices.

(9) The council shall meet at least quarterly to:

(g) Review information relating to cybersecurity incidents and ransomware incidents to determine commonalities and develop best practice recommendations for state agencies, counties, and municipalities.

(h) Recommend any additional information that a county or municipality should report to the Florida Digital Service as part of its cybersecurity incident or ransomware incident notification pursuant to s. 282.3185.

(12) Beginning December 1, 2022, and each December 1 thereafter, the council shall submit to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives a comprehensive report that includes data, trends, analysis, findings, and recommendations for state and local action regarding ransomware incidents. At a minimum, the report must include:

(a) Descriptive statistics including the amount of ransom requested, duration of the ransomware incident, and overall monetary cost to taxpayers of the ransomware incident.

(b) A detailed statistical analysis of the circumstances that led to the ransomware incident which does not include the name of the state agency, county, or municipality; network information; or system identifying information.

(c) A detailed statistical analysis of the level of cybersecurity employee training and frequency of data backup for the state agency, county, or municipality that reported the ransomware incident.

(d) Specific issues identified with current policies, procedures, rules, or statutes and recommendations to address such issues.

(e) Any other recommendations to prevent ransomware incidents.

(13) For purposes of this section, the term "state agency" has the same meaning as provided in s. 282.318(2).

Section 6. Section 815.062, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

815.062 Offenses against governmental entities.—

(1) As used in this section, the term "governmental entity" means any official, officer, commission, board, authority, council, committee, or department of the executive, judicial, or legislative branch of state government; any state university; or any county or municipality, special district, water management district, or other political subdivision of the state.

(2) A person who willfully, knowingly, and without authorization introduces a computer contaminant that gains unauthorized access to, encrypts, modifies, or otherwise renders unavailable data, programs, or supporting documentation residing or existing within a computer, computer system, computer network, or electronic device owned or operated by a governmental entity and demands a ransom to prevent the publication of or restore access to the data, programs, or supporting documentation or to otherwise remediate the impact of the computer contaminant commits a felony of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082, s. 775.083, or s. 775.084.

(3) An employee or contractor of a governmental entity with access to the governmental entity's network who willfully and knowingly aids or abets another in the commission of a violation of subsection (2) commits a felony of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082, s. 775.083, or s. 775.084.

(4) In addition to any other penalty imposed, a person convicted of a violation of this section must pay a fine equal to twice the amount of the ransom demand. Moneys recovered under this subsection shall be deposited into the General Revenue Fund.

Section 7. The Legislature finds and declares that this act fulfills an important state interest.

Section 8. This act shall take effect July 1, 2022.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 1694 adds language to section 282.3185, Florida Statutes, as created by CS/CS/SB 1670, to create a public records and meetings exemption for information relating to a cybersecurity incident or ransomware incident held by a political subdivision[1] or state agency to the extent that a disclosure of such information would facilitate unauthorized access to or the unauthorized modification, disclosure, or destruction of physical or virtual data or information technology resources as defined in the exemption. It also provides a general public records exemption for coverage limits and deductible or self-insurance amounts of insurance or other risk mitigation coverages acquired for the protection of IT systems, operational technology systems, or data of an agency. The bill:

- Allows for information that has been made confidential and exempt under section 119.07(1), Florida Statutes, and Article I, section 24(a) of the State Constitution to be disclosed in limited circumstances by a political subdivision or state agency in the furtherance of its or the other agency's official or statutory duties or responsibilities;
- Requires that any portion of a meeting, as well as transcripts and recordings of said meeting, that includes the discussion of the referenced cybersecurity or ransomware incident information also be made exempt from sections 286.011 and 119.07(1), Florida Statutes, and Article I, section 24(a) of the State Constitution;

[1] "Political subdivision" means a separate agency or unit of local government created or established by law and includes, but is not limited to, the following and the officers thereof: authority, board, branch, bureau, city, commission, consolidated government, county, department, district, institution, metropolitan government, municipality, office, officer, public corporation, town, or village. Section 11.45(1)(k), F.S.

- Prohibits any portion of an exempt public meeting from being off the record; and
- Requires any portion of an exempted public meeting to be recorded and transcribed.

The exemption provided under the bill shall stand repealed effective October 2, 2027, unless reviewed and saved from repeal through reenactment by the Legislature.

The bill provides a statement of public necessity that the public records exemption is necessary as disclosure of information relating to cybersecurity and ransomware incidents held by a political subdivision or the state could include information that could facilitate unauthorized access to, or modification, disclosure or destruction of information, information technology, or information resources. The bill includes a statement of public necessity for the closure of portions of public meetings where confidential and exempt information is disclosed making the meeting exempt from section 286.011, Florida Statutes.

The effective date of this act is the same date on which CS/CS/SB 1670 or similar legislation takes effect, if such legislation takes effect in the same legislative session or an extension thereof and becomes a law.

II. Present Situation:

Access to Public Records - Generally

The Florida Constitution provides that the public has the right to inspect or copy records made or received in connection with official governmental business.[2] The right to inspect or copy applies to the official business of any public body, officer, or employee of the state, including all three branches of state government, local governmental entities, and any person acting on behalf of the government.[3]

Additional requirements and exemptions related to public records are found in various statutes and rules, depending on the branch of government involved. For instance, s. 11.0431, F.S., provides public access requirements for legislative records. Relevant exemptions are codified in s. 11.0431(2)-(3), F.S., and adopted in the rules of each house of the legislature.[4] Florida Rule of Judicial Administration 2.420 governs public access to judicial branch records.[5] Lastly, ch. 119, F.S., known as the Public Records Act, provides requirements for public records held by agencies.

Agency Records – The Public Records Act

The Public Records Act provides that all state, county, and municipal records are open for personal inspection and copying by any person, and that providing access to public records is a duty of each agency.[6]

Section 119.011(12), F.S., defines "public records" to include:

> All documents, papers, letters, maps, books, tapes, photographs, films, sound recordings, data processing software, or other material, regardless of the physical form, characteristics, or means of transmission, made or received pursuant to law or ordinance or in connections with the transaction of official business by any agency.

The Florida Supreme Court has interpreted this definition to encompass all materials made or received by an agency in connection with official business that are used to "perpetuate, communicate, or formalize knowledge of some type."[7]

The Florida Statutes specify conditions under which public access to public records must be provided. The Public Records Act guarantees every person's right to inspect and copy any public record at any reasonable time, under reasonable conditions, and under supervision by the custodian of the public record.[8] A violation of the Public Records Act may result in civil or criminal liability.[9]

The Legislature may exempt public records from public access requirements by passing a general law by a two-thirds vote of both the House and the Senate.[10] The exemption must state with specificity the public necessity justifying the exemption and must be no broader than necessary to accomplish the stated purpose of the exemption.[11]
General exemptions from the public records requirements are contained in the Public Records Act.[12] Specific exemptions often are placed in the substantive statutes relating to a particular agency or program.[13]

---

[6] Section 119.011(2), F.S., defines "agency" as "any state, county, district, authority, or municipal officer, department, division, board, bureau, commission, or other separate unit of government created or established by law including, for the purposes of this chapter, the Commission on Ethics, the Public Service Commission, and the Office of Public Counsel, and any other public or private agency, person, partnership, corporation, or business entity acting on behalf of any public agency."

[8] Section 119.07(1)(a), F.S.
[9] Section 119.10, F.S. Public records laws are found throughout the Florida Statutes, as are the penalties for violating those laws.
[10] FLA. CONST. art. I, s. 24(c).
[11] Id. See, e.g., Halifax Hosp. Medical Center v. News-Journal Corp., 724 So. 2d 567 (Fla. 1999) (holding that a public meetings exemption was unconstitutional because the statement of public necessity did not define important terms and did not justify the breadth of the exemption); Baker County Press, Inc. v. Baker County Medical Services, Inc., 870 So. 2d 189 (Fla. 1st DCA 2004) (holding that a statutory provision written to bring another party within an existing public records exemption is unconstitutional without a public necessity statement).
[12] See, e.g., s. 119.071, F.S.
[13] See, e.g., s. 213.053(2)(a), F.S., (exempting from public disclosure information contained in tax returns received by the Department of Revenue).

When creating a public records exemption, the Legislature may provide that a record is "exempt" or "confidential and exempt." There is a difference between records the Legislature has determined to be exempt from the Public Records Act and those that the Legislature has determined to be exempt from the Public Records Act and confidential.[14] Records designated as "confidential and exempt" are not subject to inspection by the public and may only be released under the circumstances defined by statute.[15] Records designated as "exempt" may be released at the discretion of the records custodian under certain circumstances.[16]

Current Cybersecurity Information Exemptions

Statutory exemptions for state agencies and utilities owned or operated by local governments related to information technology are contained in ss. 282.318(5) through (10) and 119.0713(5), F.S., respectively. The current statutory language does not directly address information related to cybersecurity incidents or ransomware incidents.

Portions of records held by a state agency[17] that contain network schematics, hardware and software configurations, or encryption, or that identify detection, investigation, or response practices for suspected or confirmed cybersecurity[18] incidents,[19] including suspected or confirmed breaches,[20] are confidential and exempt[21] from public record requirements if the disclosure of such records would facilitate unauthorized access to or the unauthorized modification, disclosure, or destruction of:

- Data[22] or information, whether physical or virtual; or [14] WFTV, Inc. v. The Sch. Bd. of Seminole County, 874 So. 2d 48, 53 (Fla. 5th DCA 2004).

[15] Id.
[16] Williams v. City of Minneola, 575 So. 2d 683 (Fla. 5th DCA 1991).
[17] "State agency" means any official, officer, commission, board, authority, council, committee, or department of the executive branch of state government; the Justice Administrative Commission; and the Public Service Commission. The term includes the Department of Legal Affairs, The Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, and the Department of Financial Services. The term does not include university boards of trustees or state universities. See s. 282.0041(33), F.S.
[18] "Cybersecurity" means the protection afforded to an automated information system in order to attain the applicable objectives of preserving the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of data, information, and information technology resources. See s. 282.0041(8), F.S.
[19] "Incident" means a violation or imminent threat of violation, whether such violation is accidental or deliberate, of information technology resources, security, policies, or practices. An imminent threat of violation refers to a situation in which the state agency has a factual basis for believing that a specific incident is about to occur. See s. 282.0041(19), F.S.
[20] "Breach" means unauthorized access of data in electronic form containing personal information. Good faith access of personal information by an employee or agent of the covered entity does not constitute a breach of security, provided that the information is not used for a purpose unrelated to the business or subject to further unauthorized use. See s. 282.0041(3), F.S.
[21] There is a difference between records the Legislature designates exempt from public record requirements and those the Legislature deems confidential and exempt. A record classified as exempt from public disclosure may be disclosed under certain circumstances. See WFTV, Inc. v. Sch. Bd. of Seminole, 874 So.2d 48, 53 (Fla. 5th DCA 2004), review denied 892 So.2d 1015 (Fla. 2004); City of Rivera Beach v. Barfield, 642 So.2d 1135 (Fla. 4th DCA 1994); Williams v. City of Minneola, 575 So.2d 683, 687 (Fla. 5th DCA 1991). If the Legislature designates a record as confidential and exempt from public disclosure, such record may not be released by the custodian of public records to anyone other than the persons or entities specifically designated in statute. See Op. Att'y Gen. Fla. 04-09 (2004).
[22] "Data" means a subset of structured information in a format that allows such information to be electronically retrieved and transmitted. See s. 282.0041(9), F.S.

- Information technology (IT) resources,[23] which includes:
  - Information relating to the security of the agency's technologies, processes, and practices designed to protect networks, computers, data processing software, and data from attack, damage, or unauthorized access; or
  - Security information, whether physical or virtual, which relates to the agency's existing or proposed IT[24] systems.[25,26]

In addition, any portion of a public meeting that would reveal any of the above-described confidential and exempt records is exempt from public meeting requirements. Any portion of an exempt meeting must be recorded and transcribed. The recordings and transcripts are confidential and exempt from public record requirements unless a court of competent jurisdiction, following an in camera review, determines that the meeting was not restricted to the discussion of confidential and exempt data and information. If such a judicial determination occurs, only the portion of the recording or transcript that reveals nonexempt data may be disclosed.[27]

The confidential and exempt cybersecurity information must be available to the Auditor General, the Cybercrime Office within the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE), the Florida Digital Service (FLDS),[28] and for agencies under the jurisdiction of the Governor, the Chief Inspector General. In addition, the records may be made available to a local government, another state agency, or a federal agency for cybersecurity purposes or in the furtherance of the state agency's official duties.[29]

Information related to the security of a utility[30] owned or operated by a unit of local government[31] that is designed to protect the utility's networks, computers, programs, and data from attack, damage or unauthorized access, is exempt from public record requirements to the extent disclosure of such information would facilitate the alteration, disclosure, or destruction of data or IT resources.[32]

[23] "Information technology resources" means data processing hardware and software and services, communications, supplies, personnel, facility resources, maintenance, and training. See s. 282.0041(22), F.S.

[24] "Information technology" means equipment, hardware, software, firmware, programs, systems, networks, infrastructure, media, and related material used to automatically, electronically, and wirelessly collect, receive, access, transmit, display, store, record, retrieve, analyze, evaluate, process, classify, manipulate, manage, assimilate, control, communicate, exchange, convert, converge, interface, switch, or disseminate information of any kind or form. See s. 282.0041(20), F.S.

[25] Florida law provides a similar public record exemption for state university and Florida College System institutions. See s 1004.055, F.S.

[26] Section 282.318(5), F.S.

[27] Section 282.318(7), F.S. Florida law provides a similar public meeting exemption for state university and Florida College system institutions, see s. 1004.055, F.S.

[28] Florida Digital Service (FLDS) (formerly the Division of State Technology) is a subdivision of the Department of Management Services (DMS) and is charged with overseeing the state's information technology (IT) resources. Section 20.22(2)(b), F.S.

[29] Section 282.318(8), F.S.

[30] "Utility" means a person or entity that provides electricity, natural gas, telecommunications, water, chilled water, reuse water, or wastewater. Section 119.011(15), F.S.

[31] "Unit of local government" means a county, municipality, special district, local agency, authority, consolidated city - county government, or any other local governmental body or public body corporate or politic authorized or created by general or special law. Section 119.0713(2)(a), F.S.

[32] Section 119.0713 (5)(a)1., F.S.

In addition, information related to the security of existing or proposed IT systems or industrial control technology systems of a utility owned or operated by a unit of local government is exempt from public record requirements to the extent disclosure would facilitate unauthorized access to, and the alternation or destruction of, such IT systems in a manner that would adversely impact the safe and reliable operations of the IT systems and the utility.[33]

Current law also provides a public record exemption for certain cybersecurity information held by supervisor of elections that mirrors the public record exemption for state agencies, as described above.[34] The confidential and exempt information must be made available to the Auditor General and may be made available to another governmental entity for cybersecurity purposes or in the furtherance of the entity's official duties.[35]

Open Meetings Laws

The Florida Constitution provides that the public has a right to access governmental meetings.[36] Each collegial body must provide notice of its meetings to the public and permit the public to attend any meeting at which official acts are taken or at which public business is transacted or discussed.[37] This applies to the meetings of any collegial body of the executive branch of state government, counties, municipalities, school districts, or special districts.[38]

Public policy regarding access to government meetings also is addressed in the Florida Statutes. Section 286.011, F.S., known as the "Government in the Sunshine Law,"[39] or the "Sunshine Law,"[40] requires all meetings of any board or commission of any state or local agency or authority at which official acts are to be taken be open to the public.[41] The board or commission must provide the public reasonable notice of such meetings.[42] Public meetings may not be held at any location that discriminates on the basis of sex, age, race, creed, color, origin, or economic status or which operates in a manner that unreasonably restricts the public's access to the facility.[43] Minutes of a public meeting must be promptly recorded and open to public inspection.[44] Failure to abide by open meetings requirements will invalidate any resolution, rule,

[38] Id. Meetings of the Legislature are governed by Article III, section 4(e) of the Florida Constitution, which states: "The rules of procedure of each house shall further provide that all prearranged gatherings, between more than two members of the legislature, or between the governor, the president of the senate, or the speaker of the house of representatives, the purpose of which is to agree upon formal legislative action that will be taken at a subsequent time, or at which formal legislative action is taken, regarding pending legislation or amendments, shall be reasonably open to the public."

or formal action adopted at a meeting.[45] A public officer or member of a governmental entity who violates the Sunshine Law is subject to civil and criminal penalties.[46]

The Legislature may create an exemption to open meetings requirements by passing a general law by at least a two-thirds vote of each house of the Legislature.[47] The exemption must explicitly lay out the public necessity justifying the exemption and must be no broader than necessary to accomplish the stated purpose of the exemption.[48] A statutory exemption that does not meet these two criteria may be unconstitutional and may not be judicially saved.[49]

The Open Government Sunset Review Act (act) prescribes a legislative review process for newly created or substantially amended public records exemptions,[50] with specified exceptions.[51] It requires the automatic repeal of such exemption on October 2nd of the fifth year after creation or substantial amendment, unless the Legislature reenacts the exemption.[52] The act provides that a public records exemption may be created or maintained only if it serves an identifiable public purpose and is no broader than is necessary to meet such public purpose.[53]

Open Government Sunset Review Act

The provisions of s. 119.15, F.S., known as the Open Government Sunset Review Act[54] (act), prescribe a legislative review process for newly created or substantially amended[55] public records or open meetings exemptions, with specified exceptions.[56] The Act requires the repeal of such exemption on October 2nd of the fifth year after creation or substantial amendment, unless the Legislature reenacts the exemption.[57]

[54] Section 119.15, F.S.
[55] An exemption is considered to be substantially amended if it is expanded to include more records or information or to include meetings as well as records. Section 119.15(4)(b), F.S.
[56] Section 119.15(2)(a) and (b), F.S., provides that exemptions required by federal law or applicable solely to the Legislature or the State Court System are not subject to the Open Government Sunset Review Act.
[57] Section 119.15(3), F.S.

The Act provides that a public records or open meetings exemption may be created or maintained only if it serves an identifiable public purpose and is no broader than is necessary.[58] An exemption serves an identifiable purpose if it meets one of the following purposes and the Legislature finds that the purpose of the exemption outweighs open government policy and cannot be accomplished without the exemption:

- It allows the state or its political subdivisions to effectively and efficiently administer a governmental program, and administration would be significantly impaired without the exemption;[59]
- It protects sensitive, personal information, the release of which would be defamatory, cause unwarranted damage to the good name or reputation of the individual, or would jeopardize the individual's safety. If this public purpose is cited as the basis of an exemption, however, only personal identifying information is exempt;[60] or
- It protects information of a confidential nature concerning entities, such as trade or business secrets.[61]

The act also requires specified questions to be considered during the review process.[62] In examining an exemption, the act directs the Legislature to question the purpose and necessity of reenacting the exemption.

If the exemption is continued and expanded, then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are required.[63] If the exemption is continued without substantive changes or if the exemption is continued and narrowed, then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are not required. If the Legislature allows an exemption to expire, the previously exempt records will remain exempt unless otherwise provided by law.[64]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

A public records and meeting exemption is added to s. 282.3185, F.S., as newly created in the linked substantive bill, CS/CS/SB1670, as subsection (3).

Public Records Exemption

The public records exemption under the bill makes confidential and exempt from public records inspection and copying those records held by a state agency or political subdivision relating to

[58] Section 119.15(6)(b), F.S.
[59] Section 119.15(6)(b)1., F.S.
[60] Section 119.15(6)(b)2., F.S.
[61] Section 119.15(6)(b)3., F.S.
[62] Section 119.15(6)(a), F.S. The specified questions are:
- What specific records or meetings are affected by the exemption?
- Whom does the exemption uniquely affect, as opposed to the general public?
- What is the identifiable public purpose or goal of the exemption?
- Can the information contained in the records or discussed in the meeting be readily obtained by alternative means? If so, how?
- Is the record or meeting protected by another exemption?
- Are there multiple exemptions for the same type of record or meeting that it would be appropriate to merge?

[63] See generally s. 119.15, F.S.
[64] Section 119.15(7), F.S.

cybersecurity or ransomware incidents to the extent that disclosure of such information would facilitate unauthorized access to the unauthorized modification, disclosure, or destruction of:

- Data or information, whether physical or virtual; or
- Information technology resources, including but not limited to:
  - Security of local government resources, processes, and practices designed to protect networks, computers, data processing software, and data from attack, damage, or unauthorized access; and
  - Information relating to a local government's existing or proposed information technology systems.

Information that is made confidential and exempt may be disclosed by another a state agency or political subdivision or to another state agency or political subdivision in furtherance of its official duties and responsibilities.

Public Meetings Exemption

The bill also creates a meetings exemption establishing that any portion of a meeting that would reveal information that has been made confidential and exempt under this bill is exempt from s. 286.011, F.S. and s. 24(b), Art. I of the State Constitution. The bill prohibits any portion of an exempted meeting from being off the record and requires a recording and transcript of any closed meeting. The recording and the transcript are also confidential and exempt under s. 119.07(1), F.S. and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution.

Review Date

The exemptions created under the bill are subject to the Open Government Sunshine Review Act and shall stand repealed as of October 2, 2027, unless reviewed and saved from repeal through reenactment by the Legislature.

Statement of Important Public Necessity and Importance

The Legislature finds that this public records and meetings exemption serves an important public necessity as the information held by a political subdivision or a state agency related to cybersecurity or ransomware incidents, if released, could allow others to identify vulnerabilities in the computer network systems of state agencies and political subdivisions. Identification of these vulnerabilities could facilitate the unauthorized access, modification, disclosure, or destruction of data, information, or information technology in government network systems and could impair the administration of vital programs.

The Legislature also finds that the public meetings exemption in the bill is a public necessity and that any portion of a meeting in which confidential and exempt information is discussed should be exempt from s. 286.011, F.S., and s. 24(b), Art. I of the State Constitution. The failure to close that portion of the meeting would defeat the underlying purpose of the exemption and could result in the release of highly sensitive information relating to cybersecurity incidents and ransomware incidents in state or political subdivision computer network systems.

The Legislature states the public records and meetings exemptions are of the utmost importance and are a public necessity.

The public records exemption shall take effect upon the same date as the effective date of CS/CS/SB 1670 or similar legislation, if such legislation is adopted in the same legislative session or an extension thereof and becomes law.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

Vote Requirement

Article I, s. 24(c) of the State Constitution requires a two-thirds vote of the members present and voting for final passage of a bill creating or expanding an exemption to the public records and meetings requirements. This bill enacts new public records and meeting exemptions covering cybersecurity and ransomware incidents where information such as computer network systems, local government technology, data, and transcripts or recordings of any portions of meetings in which the covered subjects or data and its impact on state agencies and local governments is discussed.

Public Necessity Statement

Article I, s. 24(c) of the State Constitution requires a bill creating or expanding an exemption to the public records requirements to state with specificity the public necessity justifying the exemption. Section 2 of the bill contains statements of public necessity for the exemption by the Legislature, including a finding this exemption serves an important public necessity as information held by a political subdivision or a state agency as relating to cybersecurity or ransomware incidents, if released, could allow others to identify vulnerabilities in these computer network systems and facilitate further unauthorized breaches into the state's or political subdivision's data, information, information technology resources. Identification of additional vulnerabilities of political subdivisions and state agencies are identified specifically in CS/CS/SB 1670 should the data and resources from a cybersecurity or ransomware incident not be protected as are the potentially consequences should such information be publicly available.

The bill also provides a statement of public necessity for closed public meetings when confidential and exempt information relating to the cybersecurity and ransomware incidents are discussed. Any recordings and transcripts from these meetings in which exempt information is discussed is also made confidential and exempt. The meetings exemption is drawn to close only that portion of any meeting in which the confidential information is discussed and requires that closed meetings be transcribed and recorded.

The Legislature states that public records and meetings exemptions in the bill are of the utmost importance and are a public necessity.

Breadth of Exemption

Article I, s. 24(c) of the State Constitution requires an exemption to the public records requirements to be no broader than necessary to accomplish the stated purpose of the law. The purpose of the proposed exemption is to protect data that may have been involved in data breaches, mitigate future data breaches that may involve the same entity, and ensure the security of the existing computer systems, computer network, or electronic devices. This bill draws a narrow exemption for specific types of data and information technology tools held by state agencies and local governments. Furthermore, the bill requires the transcription of any closed meeting as a record of events should there be any questions later and, for certain meetings, a recording is also required.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

If information is protected from public release, more individuals or entities that are the subject of cybersecurity attacks or ransomware incidents may come forward to law enforcement or state agencies for assistance.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill could have an insignificant negative fiscal impact on the state and local governments because staff responsible for complying with public record requests may require training related to creation of the public record exemption. In addition, state and local governments could incur costs associated with redacting the confidential and exempt information prior to releasing a record. The costs, however, would be absorbed, as they are part of the day-to-day responsibilities of the agencies.

Disclosure of cybersecurity and ransomware incidents can expose state agencies and political subdivisions to future attacks as such information and data can make these entities vulnerable helping to facilitate the unauthorized access to or modification of state and local governmental entity computer networks and systems. Release of data and information can result in further data breaches as these vulnerabilities become public.

If information is protected from public release, more individuals or entities that are the subject of cybersecurity attacks or ransomware incidents may come forward to law enforcement or state agencies for assistance.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends section 282.3185 of the Florida Statutes, as created by CS/SB 1670.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS/CS by Appropriations on February 28, 2022:
The committee substitute adds a general public record exemption in ch. 119, F.S., for information held by an agency before, on, or after July 1, 2022, regarding the coverage limits and deductible or self-insurance amounts of insurance or other risk mitigation.

CS by Military and Veterans Affairs, Space, and Domestic Security on February 8, 2022:
CS/SB 1694 narrows the public records and meetings exemption for information relating to a cybersecurity incident or ransomware incident held by a political subdivision or state agency to the extent that a disclosure of such information would facilitate unauthorized access to or the unauthorized modification, disclosure, or destruction of physical or virtual data or information technology resources as defined in the exemption.

CS/SB 1694:

- Allows for information which has been made confidential and exempt under s. 119.07(1), F.S., and Art. I, of the State Constitution to be disclosed in limited circumstances by a political subdivision or state agency in the furtherance of it's or the other agency's official duties;
- Prohibits any portion of an exempt public meeting from being off the record;
- Requires any portion of an exempted public meeting to be recorded and transcribed;
- Maintains the repeal effective date of October 2, 2027, unless reviewed and saved from repeal through reenactment by the Legislature;

- Provides a revised statement of public necessity that the public records exemption is necessary as disclosure of information relating to cybersecurity and ransomware incidents held by a political subdivision or the state could include information that could facilitate unauthorized access to, or modification, disclosure or destruction of information, information technology, or information resources;
- Includes a statement of public necessity relating to the closure of public meetings where any portion of a meeting in which this confidential and exempt information is discussed be made exempt from s. 286.011, F.S., including any recordings or transcripts; and
- Adds the linked substantive bill number, CS/SB 1670.

The Committee on Appropriations (Hutson) recommended the following:

Senate Amendment (with title amendment)

Delete everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. Section 119.0725, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

119.0725 Agency cybersecurity information; public records exemption; public meetings exemption.—

(1) As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Breach" means unauthorized access of data in electronic form containing personal information. Good faith access of personal information by an employee or agent of an agency does not constitute a breach, provided that the information is not used for a purpose unrelated to the business or subject to further unauthorized use.

(b) "Critical infrastructure" means existing and proposed information technology and operational technology systems and assets, whether physical or virtual, the incapacity or destruction of which would negatively affect security, economic security, public health, or public safety.

(c) "Cybersecurity" has the same meaning as in s. 282.0041.

(d) "Data" has the same meaning as in s. 282.0041.

(e) "Incident" means a violation or imminent threat of violation, whether such violation is accidental or deliberate, of information technology resources, security, policies, or practices. As used in this paragraph, the term "imminent threat of violation" means a situation in which the agency has a factual basis for believing that a specific incident is about to occur.

(f) "Information technology" has the same meaning as in s. 282.0041.

(g) "Operational technology" means the hardware and software that cause or detect a change through the direct monitoring or control of physical devices, systems, processes, or events.

(2) The following information held by an agency is confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution:

(a) Coverage limits and deductible or self-insurance amounts of insurance or other risk mitigation coverages acquired for the protection of information technology systems, operational technology systems, or data of an agency.

570256

(b) Information relating to critical infrastructure.

(c) Network schematics, hardware and software configurations, or encryption information or information that identifies detection, investigation, or response practices for suspected or confirmed cybersecurity incidents, including suspected or confirmed breaches, if the disclosure of such information would facilitate unauthorized access to or unauthorized modification, disclosure, or destruction of:

1. Data or information, whether physical or virtual; or

2. Information technology resources, which include an agency's existing or proposed information technology systems.

(3) Any portion of a meeting that would reveal information made confidential and exempt under subsection (2) is exempt from s. 286.011 and s. 24(b), Art. I of the State Constitution. An exempt portion of a meeting may not be off the record and must be recorded and transcribed. The recording and transcript are confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution.

(4) The public records exemptions contained in this section apply to information held by an agency before, on, or after July 1, 2022.

(5)(a) Information made confidential and exempt pursuant to this section shall be made available to a law enforcement agency, the Auditor General, the Cybercrime Office of the Department of Law Enforcement, the Florida Digital Service within the Department of Management Services, and, for agencies under the jurisdiction of the Governor, the Chief Inspector General.

(b) Such confidential and exempt information may be disclosed by an agency in the furtherance of its official duties and responsibilities or to another agency or governmental entity in the furtherance of its statutory duties and responsibilities.

(6) Agencies may report information about cybersecurity incidents in the aggregate.

(7) This section is subject to the Open Government Sunset Review Act in accordance with s. 119.15 and shall stand repealed on October 2, 2027, unless reviewed and saved from repeal through reenactment by the Legislature.

Section 2. Subsection (13) of section 98.015, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

98.015 Supervisor of elections; election, tenure of office, compensation, custody of registration-related documents, office hours, successor, seal; appointment of deputy supervisors; duties~~; public records exemption~~.—

~~(13)(a) Portions of records held by a supervisor of elections which contain network schematics, hardware and software configurations, or encryption, or which identify detection, investigation, or response practices for suspected or confirmed information technology security incidents, including suspected or confirmed breaches, are confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution, if the disclosure of such records would facilitate unauthorized access to or the unauthorized modification, disclosure, or destruction of:~~

~~1. Data or information, whether physical or virtual; or~~

570256

~~2. Information technology resources as defined in s. 119.011(9), which includes:~~

~~a. Information relating to the security of a supervisor of elections' technology, processes, and practices designed to protect networks, computers, data processing software, and data from attack, damage, or unauthorized access; or~~

~~b. Security information, whether physical or virtual, which relates to a supervisor of elections' existing or proposed information technology systems.~~

~~(b) The portions of records made confidential and exempt in paragraph (a) shall be available to the Auditor General and may be made available to another governmental entity for information technology security purposes or in the furtherance of the entity's official duties.~~

~~(c) The public record exemption in paragraph (a) applies to records held by a supervisor of elections before, on, or after the effective date of the exemption.~~

~~(d) This subsection is subject to the Open Government Sunset Review Act in accordance with s. 119.15 and shall stand repealed on October 2, 2026, unless reviewed and saved from repeal through reenactment by the Legislature.~~

Section 3. Subsections (6) and (11) of section 282.318, Florida Statutes, are renumbered as subsections (5) and (10), respectively, and present subsections (5), (7), (8), (9), and (10) of that section are amended to read:

282.318 Cybersecurity.—

~~(5) Portions of records held by a state agency which contain network schematics, hardware and software configurations, or encryption, or which identify detection,~~

570256

~~investigation, or response practices for suspected or confirmed cybersecurity incidents, including suspected or confirmed breaches, are confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution, if the disclosure of such records would facilitate unauthorized access to or the unauthorized modification, disclosure, or destruction of:~~

~~(a) Data or information, whether physical or virtual; or~~

~~(b) Information technology resources, which includes:~~

~~1. Information relating to the security of the agency's technologies, processes, and practices designed to protect networks, computers, data processing software, and data from attack, damage, or unauthorized access; or~~

~~2. Security information, whether physical or virtual, which relates to the agency's existing or proposed information technology systems.~~

(6)~~(7)~~ Those portions of a public meeting as specified in s. 286.011 which would reveal records which are confidential and exempt under subsection (5) ~~or subsection (6)~~ are exempt from s. 286.011 and s. 24(b), Art. I of the State Constitution. No exempt portion of an exempt meeting may be off the record. All exempt portions of such meeting shall be recorded and transcribed. Such recordings and transcripts are confidential and exempt from disclosure under s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution unless a court of competent jurisdiction, after an in camera review, determines that the meeting was not restricted to the discussion of data and information made confidential and exempt by this section. In the event of such a judicial determination, only that portion of the recording and transcript which reveals nonexempt data and information may be disclosed to a third party.

(7)~~(8)~~ The portions of records made confidential and exempt in subsections (5) and~~,~~ (6)~~, and (7)~~ shall be available to the Auditor General, the Cybercrime Office of the Department of Law Enforcement, the Florida Digital Service within the department, and, for agencies under the jurisdiction of the Governor, the Chief Inspector General. Such portions of records may be made available to a local government, another state agency, or a federal agency for cybersecurity purposes or in furtherance of the state agency's official duties.

(8)~~(9)~~ The exemptions contained in subsections (5) and~~,~~ (6)~~, and (7)~~ apply to records held by a state agency before, on, or after the effective date of this exemption.

(9)~~(10)~~ Subsections (5) and~~,~~ (6)~~, and (7)~~ are subject to the Open Government Sunset Review Act in accordance with s. 119.15 and shall stand repealed on October 2, 2025, unless reviewed and saved from repeal through reenactment by the Legislature.

Section 4. (1) The Legislature finds that it is a public necessity that the following information held by an agency be made confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1), Florida Statutes, and s. 24(a), Article I of the State Constitution:

(a) Coverage limits and deductible or self-insurance amounts of insurance or other risk mitigation coverages acquired for the protection of information technology systems, operational technology systems, or data of an agency.

(b) Information relating to critical infrastructure.

(c) Network schematics, hardware and software configurations, or encryption information or information that identifies detection, investigation, or response practices for suspected or confirmed cybersecurity incidents, including suspected or confirmed breaches, if the disclosure of such information would facilitate unauthorized access to or unauthorized modification, disclosure, or destruction of:

570256

1. Data or information, whether physical or virtual; or

2. Information technology resources, which include an agency's existing or proposed information technology systems.

Release of such information could place an agency at greater risk of breaches, cybersecurity incidents, and ransomware attacks. Such information could be used by criminals to identify any vulnerabilities that may exist in an agency's security system, thereby compromising the integrity of the agency's information technology, operational technology, and data. If information related to the coverage limits and deductible or self-insurance amounts of cybersecurity insurance were disclosed, it could give cybercriminals an understanding of the monetary sum an agency can afford or may be willing to pay as a result of a ransomware attack at the expense of the taxpayer. In addition, critical infrastructure information is a vital component of public safety and, if made publicly available, could aid in the planning of, training for, and execution of cyberattacks, thereby increasing the ability of persons to harm individuals in this state. The recent cybersecurity hacking and shutdown of the Colonial Pipeline by the criminal enterprise DarkSide in 2021 and the infiltration of the Bowman Avenue Dam in Rye Brook, New York, by Iranian hackers in 2013 provide evidence that such criminal capabilities exist. These events also show the crippling effect that cyberattacks on critical infrastructure may have. Further, the release of network schematics, hardware and software configurations, or encryption information or information that identifies detection, investigation, or response practices for suspected or confirmed cybersecurity incidents, including suspected or confirmed breaches, would facilitate unauthorized access to or the unauthorized modification, disclosure, or destruction of data or information, whether physical or virtual, or information technology resources. Such information also includes proprietary information about the security of an agency's system. The disclosure of such information could compromise the integrity of an agency's data, information, or information technology resources, which would significantly impair the administration of vital governmental programs. Therefore, this information should be made confidential and exempt in order to protect the agency's data, information, and information technology resources.

(2) The Legislature also finds that it is a public necessity that any portion of a meeting that would reveal the confidential and exempt information be made exempt from s. 286.011, Florida Statutes, and s. 24(b), Article I of the State Constitution, and that any recordings and transcripts of the closed portion of a meeting be made confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1), Florida Statutes, and s. 24(a), Article I of the State Constitution. The failure to close that portion of a meeting at which confidential and exempt information would be revealed, and prevent the disclosure of the recordings and transcripts of those portions of a meeting, would defeat the purpose of the underlying public records exemption and could result in the release of highly sensitive information related to the cybersecurity of an agency system.

(3) For these reasons, the Legislature finds that these public records and public meetings exemptions are of the utmost importance and are a public necessity.

Section 5. This act shall take effect on the same date that SB 1670 or similar legislation takes effect, if such legislation is adopted in the same legislative session or an extension thereof and becomes law.

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to public records and public meetings; amending s. 282.3185, F.S.; providing an exemption from public records requirements for certain information related to a cybersecurity incident or ransomware incident held by a political subdivision or state agency; authorizing the disclosure of the confidential and exempt information under certain circumstances; providing an exemption from public meetings requirements for portions of a meeting that would reveal certain information related to a cybersecurity incident or ransomware incident held by a political subdivision or state agency; requiring the recording and transcribing of exempt portions of such meetings; providing an exemption from public records requirements for such recordings and transcripts; providing for future legislative review and repeal of the exemptions; providing a statement of public necessity; providing a contingent effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Subsection (3) is added to section 282.3185, Florida Statutes, as created by SB 1670, 2022 Regular Session, to read:

282.3185 Local government cybersecurity.—

(3)(a) Information related to a cybersecurity incident or ransomware incident held by a political subdivision or state agency is confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s.

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

583-02824-22 20221694c1

24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution to the extent that disclosure of such information would facilitate unauthorized access to or the unauthorized modification, disclosure, or destruction of:

1. Data or information, whether physical or virtual; or

2. Information technology resources, including, but not limited to, the following:

a. Information relating to the security of the local government's technologies, processes, and practices designed to protect networks, computers, data processing software, and data from attack, damage, or unauthorized access.

b. Security information, whether physical or virtual, which relates to the local government's existing or proposed information technology systems.

(b) Information made confidential and exempt under paragraph (a) may be disclosed by a political subdivision or state agency:

1. In the furtherance of its official duties and responsibilities.

2. To another governmental entity in the furtherance of its statutory duties and responsibilities.

(c) Any portion of a meeting that would reveal information made confidential and exempt under paragraph (a) is exempt from s. 286.011 and s. 24(b), Art. I of the State Constitution. An exempt portion of a meeting may not be off the record and must be recorded and transcribed. The recording and transcript are confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution.

(d) This subsection is subject to the Open Government

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

Sunset Review Act in accordance with s. 119.15 and shall stand repealed on October 2, 2027, unless reviewed and saved from repeal through reenactment by the Legislature.

Section 2. The Legislature finds that it is a public necessity that information related to a cybersecurity incident or ransomware incident held by a political subdivision or state agency be made confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1), Florida Statutes, and s. 24(a), Article I of the State Constitution to the extent that disclosure of such information would facilitate unauthorized access to or the unauthorized modification, disclosure, or destruction of data or information, whether physical or virtual, or information technology resources. Such information includes proprietary information about the security of a government system, and disclosure of that information could result in the identification of vulnerabilities and further breaches of the government system. In addition, the disclosure of such information could compromise the integrity of a government's data, information, or information technology resources, which would significantly impair the administration of vital programs. Therefore, this information should be made confidential and exempt in order to protect the government's data, information, and information technology resources. The Legislature also finds that it is a public necessity that any portion of a meeting in which the confidential and exempt information is discussed be made exempt from s. 286.011, Florida Statutes, and s. 24(b), Article I of the State Constitution, and that any recordings and transcripts of those portions of a meeting in which the confidential and exempt information is discussed be made confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1), Florida Statutes, and s. 24(a), Article I of the State Constitution. The failure to close that portion of a meeting at which confidential and exempt information is discussed, and prevent the disclosure of the recordings and transcripts of those portions of a meeting, would defeat the purpose of the underlying public records exemption and could result in the release of highly sensitive information related to the cybersecurity of a government system. For these reasons, the Legislature finds that these public records and public meetings exemptions are of the utmost importance and are a public necessity.

Section 3. This act shall take effect on the same date that SB 1670 or similar legislation takes effect, if such legislation is adopted in the same legislative session or an extension thereof and becomes a law.

AMENDMENTS - Significant amendments were recommended

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 1710 requires the Florida Clerks of Court Operations Corporation (the CCOC) and clerks of court to establish a statewide database of guardianship information.

The bill:

- Requires the database to be interoperable with the data systems of each circuit court;
- Provides for the minimum database data points and requires the database to be searchable by certain data points;
- Requires the Office of Public and Professional Guardians (OPPG) to share professional guardian registration and data; and
- Requires the OPPG to publish professional guardian registration profiles on its website with certain minimum information requirements.

The bill is anticipated to have a significant negative fiscal impact on the CCOC and the clerks of court due to the cost of creating and maintaining the database and guardian registration profiles. Additionally, the bill has a significant negative fiscal impact on the DOEA related to the transmission of data to the CCOC and clerks of court, and from publishing professional guardian profiles on their website. See Section V. Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill is effective July 1, 2022.

II. Present Situation:

Guardianship

When an individual is unable to make legal decisions regarding his or her person or property, a guardian may be appointed to act on his or her behalf. A guardian is someone who is appointed by the court to act on behalf of a ward (an individual who has been adjudicated incapacitated) regarding his or her person or property or both.[1] Adjudicating a person totally incapacitated and in need of a guardian deprives a person of his or her civil and legal rights.[2] The Legislature has recognized that the least restrictive form of guardianship should be used to ensure the most appropriate level of care and the protection of that person's rights.[3]

The process to determine an individual's incapacity and the subsequent appointment of a guardian begins with a verified petition detailing the factual information supporting the reasons the petitioner believes the individual to be incapacitated, including the rights the alleged incapacitated person is incapable of exercising.[4] Once a person has been adjudicated incapacitated, termed a "ward", the court appoints a guardian and the letters of guardianship are issued.[5] The order appointing a guardian must be consistent with the ward's welfare and safety, must be the least restrictive appropriate alternative, and must reserve to the ward the right to make decisions in all matters commensurate with his or her ability to do so.[6]

Types of Guardians

Two Main Forms of Guardianship

There are two main forms of guardianship:
- Guardianship over the person; or
- Guardianship over the property, which may be limited or plenary.[7]

For adults, a guardianship may be established when a person has demonstrated that he or she is unable to manage his or her own affairs. If the adult is competent, this can be accomplished voluntarily.[8] However, when an individual's mental competence is in question, an involuntary guardianship may be established through the adjudication of incompetence which is determined by a court appointed examination committee.[9]

Natural Guardians

Parents are considered natural guardians of their biological and adopted children, up until the time that their children cease to be minors, or unless the parents' parental rights have been terminated.[10]

Guardian Advocates

Guardian advocates are appointed by the court for persons with developmental disabilities.[11] A circuit court may appoint a guardian advocate, without an adjudication of incapacity, for a developmentally disabled individual if the person:

- Lacks the capacity to do some, but not all, of the tasks necessary to care for his or her person, property, or estate; or
- Has voluntarily petitioned for the appointment of a guardian advocate.[12]

Voluntary Guardians

A court may appoint a voluntary guardian for a person who:

- Is incapable of the care, custody, and management of his or her estate by reason of age or physical infirmity; and
- Has voluntarily petitioned for the appointment.[13]

The petition must be accompanied by a certificate of a licensed physician specifying that he or she has examined the petitioner and that the petitioner is competent to understand the nature of the guardianship and his or her delegation of authority.[14] Notice of hearing on any petition for appointment and for authority to act must be given to the petitioner and to any person requested by the petitioner.[15] Such request may be made in the petition for appointment of guardian or in a subsequent written request for notice signed by the petitioner.[16]

Unless the voluntary guardianship is limited, a voluntary guardian appointed has the same duties and responsibilities as are provided by law for plenary guardians of the property.[17] A voluntary guardianship may be terminated by the ward by filing a notice with the court that the voluntary guardianship is terminated.[18]

Successor Guardians

A successor guardian must be appointed and duly qualified before a guardian can be relieved of their duties.[19] A successor guardian can only be appointed if a guardian dies, becomes incapacitated, or is removed. Successor guardians are governed by the laws concerning guardianships.[20]

Appointment of a Guardian

The following may be appointed guardian of a ward:

- Any resident of Florida who is 18 years of age or older and has full legal rights and capacity;
- A nonresident if he or she is related to the ward by blood, marriage, or adoption;
- A trust company, a state banking corporation, or state savings association, or a national banking association or federal savings and loan association, provided the entity is authorized and qualified to exercise fiduciary powers in Florida;
- A nonprofit corporation organized for religious or charitable purposes and existing under the laws of Florida;
- A judge who is related to the ward by blood, marriage, or adoption, or has a close relationship with the ward or the ward's family, if he or she serves without compensation;
- A provider of health care services to the ward, whether direct or indirect, when the court specifically finds that there is no conflict of interest with the ward's best interests; or
- A for-profit corporation that meets certain qualifications, including being wholly owned by the person who is the circuit's public guardian in the circuit where the corporate guardian is appointed.[21]

Guardians[22] who are not professional guardians are required to complete eight hours of instruction and training through a course approved by the chief judge of the circuit court and taught by a court-approved organization within four months after being appointed to a ward.[23] The instruction and training must cover:

- The legal duties and responsibilities of the guardian;
- The rights of the ward;
- The availability of local resources to aid the ward; and
- The preparation of habilitation plans and annual guardianship reports, including financial accounting for the ward's property.[24]

Examining Committees

Section 744.331, F.S., sets forth the procedures for determining whether a person is incapacitated. The notice of filing of a petition to determine incapacity and the petition for appointment of a guardian must be read to the alleged incapacitated person.[25] The alleged incapacitated person must be provided with an attorney, who cannot serve as the guardian or counsel for the guardian.[26] Within five days of filing a petition for determination of incapacity, the court must appoint an examining committee consisting of three members, which must include a psychiatrist or physician and two other persons, such as a psychologist, a nurse, social worker, gerontologist, or other qualified persons with sufficient knowledge, skill, experience, or training.[27]

Each committee member must examine the person and then issue a report evaluating the person's mental health, functional ability, and physical health.[28] The examining committee members must each submit their examining reports within 15 days after appointment.[29] Within three days after the report is filed and at least 10 days before the hearing, a copy of the committee member's report must be served on the petitioner and on the attorney for the alleged incapacitated person.[30] If the committee determines that the person is not incapacitated in any respect, the court must dismiss the petition.[31] However, if at least two of the three examining committee members conclude the person is incapacitated in some respect, the court proceeds to a hearing on the petition and makes a final determination based on the evidence presented by the parties.[32]

Emergency Temporary Guardianship

A court may appoint an emergency temporary guardian[33] for an allegedly incapacitated person upon a finding that there appears to be an imminent danger that:

- The physical or mental health or safety of the person will be seriously impaired; or
- The person's property is in danger of being wasted, misappropriated, or lost unless immediate action is taken.[34]

Under those circumstances, a court may appoint an emergency temporary guardian after the filing of a petition for determination of incapacity and before the appointment of a guardian.[35] The court must appoint counsel to represent the alleged incapacitated person during the proceedings.[36] Further, the court may appoint an emergency temporary guardian on its own motion if no petition for appointment of guardian has been filed when the order determining incapacity is entered.[37]

Office of Public and Professional Guardians

In 1999, the Legislature created the "Public Guardianship Act" and established the Statewide Public Guardianship Office (SPGO) within the DOEA.[38] In 2016, the Legislature renamed the Statewide Public Guardianship Office within the DOEA as the Office of Public and Professional Guardians (OPPG), required OPPG to regulate professional guardians and investigate complaints, and added six full-time equivalent positions to the OPPG, including an attorney and investigators.[39] The OPPG appoints local public guardian offices to provide guardianship services to people who have neither adequate income nor assets to afford a private guardian, nor any willing family or friend to serve.[40]

There are 17 public guardian offices that serve all 67 counties.[41] Since 2016, approximately 550 professional guardians have registered with the OPPG.[42]

Complaint Investigations

Any person may submit a complaint against a professional guardian to the OPPG. Once the OPPG receives a complaint, it is required to:

- Review and, if determined legally sufficient,[43] investigate complaints against professional guardians;
- Initiate an investigation no later than 10 business days after the OPPG receives a complaint;
- Complete and provide initial investigative findings and recommendations, if any, to the professional guardian and person filing the complaint within 60 days;
- Obtain supporting information, including interviewing the ward, family member, or interested party, or documentation to determine the legal sufficiency of a complaint;
- Dismiss any complaint that is not legally sufficient; and
- Coordinate with the clerks of court to avoid duplication of duties.

According to the DOEA, the annual numbers of complaints filed against a guardian or involving a guardianship since 2016 are as follows:

- 183 in 2016;
- 132 in 2017;
- 56 in 2018;
- 113 in 2019;
- 169 in 2020; and
- 89 in the first 6-months of 2021.[44]

The annual number of public records requests regarding OPPG complaints since 2017 are as follows:

- 17 in 2017;
- 11 in 2018;
- 63 in 2019;
- 31 in 2020; and

Public and Professional Guardians

A professional guardian is a guardian who has at any time rendered services to three or more wards as their guardian; however, a person serving as a guardian for two or more relatives is not considered a professional guardian.[46] A public guardian is considered a professional guardian for purposes of regulation, education, and registration.[47]

Registration

A professional guardian must register with the OPPG annually.[48] As part of the registration, the professional guardian must:

- Provide sufficient information to identify the professional guardian;
- Complete a minimum of 40 hours of instruction and training through a course approved or offered by the OPPG;[49]
- Successfully pass an examination approved by the DOEA to demonstrate competency to act as a professional guardian;
- Undergo a criminal background check by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Florida Department of Law Enforcement;
- Submit to a credit history check; and
- Maintain a current blanket bond.[50, 51]

Guardians registered with the OPPG must complete a minimum of 16 hours of continuing education every two calendar years after the year in which the initial 40-hour educational requirement is met. The ward's assets may not be used to pay for such education.[52]

Guardians seeking appointment by the court and all employees of a professional guardian who have a fiduciary responsibility to the ward must submit to a credit history check and undergo a level 2 background screening.[53] The DOEA must ensure the clerks of the court and the chief judge of each judicial circuit receive information about each registered professional guardian.[54]

The executive director of the OPPG may deny registration to a professional guardian if the executive director determines that the guardian's proposed registration, including the guardian's credit or criminal investigations, indicates that registering the professional guardian would [50] Section 744.2003(2), F.S., further requires the bond to be maintained by the guardian in an amount not less than $50,000 and must cover all wards for whom the guardian has been appointed at any given time. The liability of the provider of the bond is limited to the face amount of the bond, regardless of the number of wards for whom the professional guardian has been appointed.

violate any provision of ch. 744, F.S.[55] The OPPG is required to report any suspension or revocation of a professional guardian's registration to the court of competent jurisdiction for any guardianship case to which the professional guardian is currently appointed.[56]

Responsibilities of the Clerk of the Circuit Court

In addition to the duty to serve as the custodian of the guardianship files, the clerk must review each initial and annual guardianship report to ensure that it contains required information about the ward.[57] Guardians are required to file initial reports and annual reports consisting of accounting or guardianship plans after they are appointed to a ward.[58] The initial guardianship report, for a guardian of a ward's property, must consist of a verified inventory of such property.[59] For a guardian of a person, the initial guardianship report must consist of an initial guardianship plan, including details such as where the ward will live and any medical or social services the ward may need.[60] Annual plans must consist of an annual accounting of the ward's property and the process by which the ward is being served by the guardian.[61]

The clerk is required to complete his or her review of the initial or annual report within 30 days after the filing of such reports.[62] The clerk is also required to audit the verified inventory and accountings report within 90 days of its filing, and report his or her findings to the court.[63] The clerk must notify the court when a required report is not timely filed by a guardian.[64]

If the clerk has reason to believe further review is appropriate, the clerk may request and review records and documents that reasonably impact guardianship assets, including, but not limited to, the beginning inventory balance and any fees charged to the guardianship.[65]

If a guardian fails to produce records and documents to the clerk upon request, the clerk may request the court to enter an order requiring a guardian to file the report.[66] The judge may also impose sanctions on the guardian, which may include contempt, removal of the guardian, and fines.[67]

Florida Clerks of Court Operations Corporation

The Legislature created the CCOC in 2003.[68] It is a public corporation organized to perform the specific functions assigned in ss. 28.35, 28.36, and 28.37, F.S., which outline the CCOC's duties, the clerks' budget procedure for court-related functions, and how fines, fees, service charges, and costs are to be remitted to the state.[69] All clerks of the circuit court are members and hold their position and authority as ex officio members.[70] The responsibilities assigned to the CCOC are performed by an executive council composed of eight clerks from various size populations and three ex officio members designated by the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.[71]

In general terms, the CCOC was created to provide professional budget support to the 67 clerks of court and ensure that resources are fairly and equitably distributed for the operation of the courts.[72] The CCOC's duties include, but are not limited to:

- Recommending to the Legislature changes in the amounts of various court-related fines, fees, service charges, and costs that are established in law to ensure that the clerks have reasonable and adequate funding to perform their court-related functions.
- Developing and certifying a uniform system of workload measures and workload standards for court-related functions.
- Entering into a contract with the Department of Financial Services to audit the court-related expenditures of individual clerks.
- Approving the proposed budgets submitted by clerks.[73]

When approving the clerks' proposed budgets, the CCOC must ensure that the total combined budgets of the clerks do not exceed:

- The total estimated revenues from fees, service charges, costs, and fines for court-related functions that are available for court-related expenditures (as determined by the most recent Revenue Estimating Conference);
- The total of unspent budgeted funds for court-related functions carried forward by the clerks from the previous county fiscal year; and
- The balance of funds remaining in the Clerks of Court Trust Fund after funds are transferred to General Revenue as required by law.[74]

Guardianship Improvement Task Force

In the summer of 2021, the Florida Court Clerks and Comptrollers organized the Guardianship Improvement Task Force (Task Force), which examined numerous aspects of Florida's guardianship system and laws.[75] The Task Force was formed with the goal of studying the current status of guardianships in Florida and making recommendations to improve the safety of wards across Florida.[76] The Task Force was comprised of 22 members, including judges, clerks of court, members of the Legislature, attorneys, state agencies, and numerous others.[77]

Task Force Report

On November 15, 2021, the Task Force finalized a report summarizing their work and containing numerous legislative recommendations.[78] Recommendations encompassed the following nine focus areas:

- Statewide Guardianship Data Transparency;
- Statewide Uniformity in Forms, Processes, and Practices;
- Increased Oversight, Safeguards, and Court Monitoring Practices Across the State;
- Preserving the Rights, Dignity, and Autonomy of Alleged and Adjudged Incapacitated Persons;
- Ensuring the Use of Least Restrictive Alternatives (including Advance Directives and Supported Decision-Making);
- Health and Residential Care "Pipeline to Guardianship";
- Enhanced Education and Qualification Requirements of Professionals and Parties in Guardianship;
- Increased Accessibility and Transparency of Professional Guardians and the Guardianship Process; and
- Need for Additional Workgroup(s) Responsible for Assessing Florida's Guardianship System.[79]

The report concluded that the most significant issue addressed by the Task Force was the need for a method to improve the availability of data in order to document problems within Florida's guardianship system.[80] The report further stated that a great deal of basic information related to guardianship cases is not readily available, including but not limited to:

- The number of people under guardianship;
- The number of guardians across the state;
- How many cases each guardian has under their purview;
- How much money and property are under the control of guardians across the state; and
- Information related to wards.[81]

According to the report, one topic of concern identified was the potential failure by the courts, clerks of court, and/or court monitors to report situations of abuse, neglect, or exploitation to Florida's Central Abuse Hotline.[82] Without any formalized method for data collection by the courts in each guardianship case, the Task Force concluded that there is no way to determine whether the courts, clerks, and court monitors are complying with their mandatory reporting obligations provided under s. 415.1034, F.S.[83]

Ultimately, the Task Force made the following four recommendations in the area of data transparency:

- Create a statewide data collection system for all guardianship cases;
- Require that every judicial circuit collect and report information in all guardianship cases regarding the existence of advance directives, powers of attorney, health care surrogate designations, and other similar legal documents, whether the document was honored (in part or total), and any reason given by the court for not honoring the document;
- Require that every judicial circuit collect and report guardianship case information and changes to the Office of Public and Professional Guardians (OPPG); and
- Require that OPPG promptly notify the chief judge in any judicial circuit in which a professional guardian is currently serving and/or has previously served as a guardian in a case of any verified findings of misconduct, disciplinary records, or removal of the guardian for cause by any other court.[84]

The report also noted that exactly how widespread and extensive such abuses by guardians may be remains is unknown, due in part to a lack of available data.[85] Relevant questions regarding the demographics of Florida's professional guardians include:

- How many professional guardians in Florida are also public guardians?
- How many professional guardians in Florida maintain dual (state or federal) licenses, such as attorneys barred to practice in Florida?
- How many professional guardians also serve as representative payees in non-guardianship cases?
- How many professional guardians in Florida take on pro bono cases?
- How many professional guardians are compensated by hospitals, assisted living facilities, or other health or residential care providers to serve as a guardian in specific cases?

To address these issues, the Task Force recommended the creation of a publicly accessible, online database regarding the registration, qualifications, and disciplinary/removal history for all professional guardians.[86]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

- The bill creates s. 744.2112, F.S., requiring the CCOC and clerks of court to establish a statewide database of guardianship information to facilitate improved court oversight of guardianships. The database must be interoperable with existing data systems of each circuit court, and must include, at a minimum:
- Professional guardian registration and disciplinary data;

[83] Section 415.1034, F.S., provides that any person who knows, or has reasonable cause to suspect, that a vulnerable adult has been or is being abused, neglected, or exploited must immediately report such knowledge or suspicion to the central abuse hotline.
[84] The Final Report at p. 29-38.
[85] Id. at p. 85.
[86] Id. at p. 84.

- Information related to the status of guardian compliance; and
- Information related to the status of statutorily required reports and submissions.

The database must be searchable by, at a minimum:
- Petitioner;
- Ward and ward demographic information;
- Guardian and guardian location;
- Counsel;
- Other parties to each case;
- Judge; and
- Circuit.

The CCOC and clerks of court will need to identify specific data points to include within the database beyond those listed above.

The bill also requires the OPPG to share registration and disciplinary data with the CCOC and clerks of court. The bill also requires the OPPG to publish public professional guardian registration profiles on its website. The profiles must be accessible and searchable by the public and include, at a minimum:
- Information that identifies the guardian;
- Documentation proving bonding and educational requirements have been met;
- Sufficient information to distinguish a guardian providing guardianship services as a public guardian, individually, through a:
  - Partnership;
  - Corporation; or
  - Any other business organization;
- Substantiated complaints against the guardian, if any; and
- Disciplinary actions taken by the DOEA against the guardian, if any.

The bill is effective July 1, 2022.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

The bill requires clerks of court to gather and compile data, which will likely result in an unknown cost to counties throughout the state as a result of increased workload. Further, the bill requires the CCOC to establish a database. To the extent that the bill results in increased workload, it may conflict with the provisions of Article VII, Section 18 of the Florida Constitution by requiring counties to expend funds.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

None identified.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

None.

C. Government Sector Impact:

House Bill 1349, the substantially similar companion bill to CS/CS/SB 1710 provides the Florida Clerk of Courts Operations Corporation (CCOC) with $2.4 million in nonrecurring general revenue funds to establish the database. The HB also provides $340,000 ($40,000 recurring and $300,000 nonrecurring) general revenue funds to the Florida Department of Elderly Affairs to implement the bill.

The CCOC may have recurring costs associated with maintenance of the database and the clerk of courts may have recurring costs associated with an increase in workload related to compiling data, yet those costs are currently indeterminate.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

The bill creates section 744.2112 of the Florida Statutes.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS by Children, Families, and Elder Affairs on January 25, 2022:
The CS:

- Requires the CCOC and clerks of court to create and maintain a guardianship database, rather than the DOEA as under the original bill;
- Requires the database to have the ability to generate statewide and circuit-level statistical data of assistance to the courts and the DOEA;
- Requires the database to be interoperable with existing data systems in each circuit court;
- Requires the database to include and be searchable by minimum data points;
- Requires the OPPG to share registration and disciplinary data with the CCOC and clerks of court;
- Requires the OPPG to publish public professional guardian registration profiles on its website;
- Requires the profiles to be accessible and searchable by the public and to include certain minimum information;
- Removes conforming provisions made in ss. 744.2001, 744.362, 744.363, 744.365, and 744.367, F.S.;
- Removes legislative findings and intent;
- Removes dates specifying when data must be submitted to the DOEA and published; and
- Removes language specifying that any information which, pursuant to s. 119.071, F.S., is exempt from public records disclosure requirements when held by a reporting agency retains that exempt status after being submitted to the DOEA.

B. Amendments:

Barcode 208562 by Appropriations on February 28, 2022:
The amendment:

- Requires the Florida Clerks of Court Operation Corporation (CCOC), on or after July 1, 2023, to create a limited access statewide database for the judiciary to increase judicial oversight and a publicly searchable website and database to increase transparency with the public.
- Requires the judicial oversight database to be accessible only by the judiciary and their direct staff to perform court personnel's duties.
- Provides an enumerated list of data elements that must, at a minimum, be included and list of searchable elements that must, at a minimum, be included in the judicial oversight database.
- Requires the COCC, on or after July 1, 2023, to also create a publicly accessible and searchable webpage that contains specified guardian information.
- Requires the CCOC to generate and publish monthly reports of statistical data and generate other reports upon request by certain entities.

- Requires the CCOC to work with stakeholders to develop proposed lists of data elements for inclusion in the judicial oversight and publicly searchable databases and provide the lists to the Governor and Legislature by January 1, 2023.
- Requires the OPPAGA to conduct a comparative analysis and to study trends in the use of Florida's guardianship system and provide an annual report to the Governor and the Legislature beginning in 2024 through 2027.
- Provides rule making authority the Department of Elderly Affairs (DOEA) to implement the bill.
- Provides a $2.4 million nonrecurring general revenue appropriation to the CCOC to develop the databases. Provides $340,000, of which $300,000 is nonrecurring, to the DOEA to implement the provisions of the bill.

Senate Amendment (with title amendment)

Delete everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. Section 744.2112, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

744.2112 Guardianship Data Collection and transparency.—

(1)(a) On or after July 1, 2023, the Florida Clerks of Court Operations Corporation and the clerks of court shall establish a statewide database of guardianship information that shall be accessible to and searchable by the courts to facilitate improving court oversight of guardianship cases. The database must meet interoperability standards defined by the Florida Courts Technology Commission such that each circuit court can easily access the data for regular use in judicial proceedings. The database must include, at a minimum, all of the following:

1. The status of each professional guardian's bond, registration data, substantiated disciplinary history provided by the Office of Public and Professional Guardians, and the grounds that constitute the misconduct leading to the discipline.

2. Information regarding the status of each guardian's compliance with the statutory qualifications for guardianship.

3. The status of statutorily required annual registrations for the professional guardian as required by section 744.2002(2), and the status of reports and submissions statutorily required under chapter 744.

(b) The database must be searchable by, at a minimum, the name of the petitioner, ward, guardian, guardian advocate, legal counsel for all parties, and other parties to a case; the demographic information of the ward; the guardian's location; and the name of the judge and circuit in which the case is brought. The database must have the ability to generate statewide and circuit-level statistical data to provide assistance to the courts. The Office of Public and Professional Guardians is directed to share professional guardian registration and substantiated disciplinary data with the Florida Clerks of Court Operations Corporation for the purposes of inclusion in the database pursuant to this subsection.

(2) On or after July 1, 2023, the Office of Public and Professional Guardians shall publish a profile of each registered professional guardian on its website. The profiles must be accessible to and searchable by the public and must include, at a minimum, the information submitted to the Office of Public and Professional Guardians under section 744.2002, whether any complaints against the professional guardian have been substantiated, and any disciplinary actions taken by the Department of Elderly Affairs. The department may adopt rules to implement the provisions of this subsection.

(3)(a) Beginning July 1, 2024, and annually thereafter through July 1, 2027, the Florida Clerks of Court Operation Corporation shall compile and report data maintained in the database that has been collected from the clerks of court and the department and submit such data to the Office of Program Policy Analysis and Governmental Accountability (OPPAGA).

(b) The OPPAGA must analyze the consolidated data compiled in accordance with paragraph (a) to evaluate trends in the use and effectiveness of guardianships in this state and conduct a comparative analysis of guardianship laws in other states. In conducting the report, the OPPAGA shall consult with the Office of State Courts Administration, the Florida Clerks of Court Operation Corporation, the clerks of the court, and the department. The OPPAGA shall submit a report containing findings and recommendations to the Governor, the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives by October 15, 2024, and annually thereafter through October 15, 2027.

(c) The reports provided under paragraphs (a) and (b) must not contain personal identifying information of wards.

Section 2. For the 2022-2023 fiscal year, the sum of $2,400,000 in nonrecurring funds is appropriated from the General Revenue Fund to the Justice Administrative Commission for distribution to the Florida Clerks of Court Operations Corporation for the purpose of implementing this act.

Section 3. For the 2022-2023 fiscal year, the sums of $40,000 in recurring funds and $300,000 in nonrecurring funds are appropriated from the General Revenue Fund to the Department of Elderly Affairs for the purpose of implementing this act.

Section 4. This act shall take effect July 1, 2022.

Senate Substitute for Amendment (483144) (with title amendment)

Delete everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. Section 744.2112, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

744.2112 Guardianship data collection and transparency.—

(1)(a) On or after July 1, 2023, the Florida Clerks of Court Operations Corporation and the clerks of court shall establish a statewide database of guardianship information to facilitate improving court oversight of guardianship cases. The database must meet interoperability standards defined by the Florida Courts Technology Commission, such that each circuit court can easily access the data for regular use in judicial proceedings under this chapter. The database must include, at a minimum, all of the following:

208562

1. The status of each professional guardian's bond and registration data.

2. Substantiated disciplinary data of each professional guardian provided by the Office of Public and Professional Guardians and the grounds for such discipline.

3. Information regarding the status of each guardian's compliance with the statutory qualifications for guardianship.

4. The status of statutorily required annual registrations for the professional guardian as required by s. 744.2002(2) and the status of reports and submissions statutorily required under chapter 744.

5. The number of wards served by each guardian, by ward county of residence.

(b) The database must be searchable by, at a minimum, the name of the petitioner, ward, guardian, guardian advocate, and legal counsel for all parties; the demographic information of the ward; the guardian's location; the name of the judge and circuit in which the case is brought; and the number of wards served by each guardian, by ward county of residence. The database must have the ability to generate statewide and circuit-level statistical data to provide assistance to the courts.

(c) The database established under this subsection must be accessible only by members of the judiciary and their direct staff. The database must restrict access to that information needed to perform an individual court personnel's duties, but in no way restrict access by judges and magistrates.

(2) On or after July 1, 2023, the Florida Clerks of Court Operations Corporation shall also establish a publicly accessible webpage to facilitate improving transparency of guardianship cases to the public.

(a) The Florida Clerks of Court Operations Corporation must generate monthly reports of statewide, circuit-level, and county-level statistical data to provide assistance to the courts and the Department of Elderly Affairs, and transparency to the public and policymakers, regarding the state's guardianship system. Such data reports must include only aggregated and deidentified data and must be published on the webpage established under this subsection.

(b) The webpage established under this subsection must include a database that is accessible to and searchable by the public. The database must be searchable by the name of a professional guardian to view current data regarding the number of wards served by that guardian, the counties of residence of such wards, and whether the wards are under limited or plenary guardianships. Such search may not allow access to personal identifying information of wards.

(3) The Office of Public and Professional Guardians is directed to share professional guardian registration and disciplinary action data for the purposes of this section.

(4) In addition to the reports required under paragraph

208562

(2)(a), the Florida Clerks of Court Operations Corporation must also generate reports using information in the databases established under subsection (1) or subsection (2) at the request of the Legislature, the judiciary, or the Department of Elderly Affairs.

(5)(a) By January 1, 2023, the Florida Clerks of Court Operations Corporation must provide the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives with a proposed list of specific data elements for inclusion in a database established pursuant to subsection (1) for regular judicial use. Additionally, the Florida Clerks of Court Operations Corporation must provide a proposed list of relevant data elements that may be considered for inclusion, in addition to those enumerated in paragraph (2)(b), in a publicly accessible and searchable database to be used for providing enhanced transparency of the state's guardianship cases to the public. Any data elements recommended for inclusion in the publicly searchable database must be established in a manner that ensures confidentiality of ward information.

(b) To develop the proposed lists of data points, the Florida Clerks of Court Operations Corporation shall engage with stakeholders, including, but not limited to, judicial officers and magistrates who handle guardianship and probate matters; the Florida State Guardianship Association; the Elder Law Section of The Florida Bar; the Real Property, Probate, and Trust Law Section of The Florida Bar; and the Department of Elderly Affairs, to obtain feedback for use in the development of specific data elements for any databases established in accordance with this section. The Florida Clerks of Court

Operations Corporation must collaborate with the Office of the State Courts Administrator and the clerks of the court through the Florida Courts Technology Commission to implement the data elements and databases to achieve interoperability.

(6)(a) Beginning July 1, 2024, and annually thereafter through July 1, 2027, the Florida Clerks of Court Operations Corporation shall compile data maintained in the database that has been collected from the clerks of court and the Department of Elderly Affairs and submit such data to the Office of Program Policy Analysis and Government Accountability (OPPAGA).

(b) OPPAGA shall analyze the consolidated data compiled in accordance with paragraph (a) to evaluate trends in the use of guardianships in this state and conduct a comparative analysis of guardianship laws in other states. In conducting the analysis, OPPAGA shall consult with the Office of State Courts Administrator, the Clerks of Court Operations Corporation, the clerks of the court, and the Department of Elderly Affairs. OPPAGA shall submit a report containing findings and recommendations to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives by October 15, 2024, and annually thereafter through October 15, 2027.

(c) The data compiled and reported under paragraphs (a) and (b) must be produced in a statewide, circuit-level, and county-level statistical format. Such reports must include only aggregated and deidentified data. Further, the reports provided under paragraphs (a) and (b) may not contain personal identifying information of wards.

Section 2. Subsection (7) is added to section 744.2001, Florida Statutes, to read:

208562

744.2001 Office of Public and Professional Guardians.—There is created the Office of Public and Professional Guardians within the Department of Elderly Affairs.

(7) The Office of Public and Professional Guardians shall publish on its website a profile of each registered professional guardian. The profiles must be accessible and searchable by the public and must include, at a minimum, the guardian's name and business address, whether the guardian meets the education and bonding requirements under s. 744.2003, the number and type of substantiated complaints against the professional guardian, and any disciplinary actions taken by the Department of Elderly Affairs against the guardian. The Department of Elderly Affairs may adopt rules necessary to implement this subsection.

Section 3. For the 2022-2023 fiscal year, the sum of $2,400,000 in nonrecurring funds is appropriated from the General Revenue Fund to the Justice Administrative Commission for distribution to the Florida Clerks of Court Operations Corporation for the purpose of implementing this act.

Section 4. For the 2022-2023 fiscal year, the sums of $40,000 in recurring funds and $300,000 in nonrecurring funds are appropriated from the General Revenue Fund to the Department of Elderly Affairs for the purpose of implementing this act.

Section 5. This act shall take effect July 1, 2022.
