COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/CS/SB 498 modifies various areas of law relating to the authority of the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services (department). These modifications include:

- Allowing private investigative agency managers to manage multiple agencies or branches;
- Making substantial changes to regulations of surveyors and mappers;
- Clarifying fingerprint retention policies for specific partners and corporate officers of ch. 493, F.S., licensees;
- Removing inconsistent language regarding the terms of renewals for licensure under ch. 493, F.S.;
- Permitting the Florida Department of Law Enforcement to share mental health and substance abuse data from its Mental Competency database with the department for the purposes of determining eligibility of Class "G" and "K" applicants and licensees;
- Requiring ch. 493, F.S., licensees to reveal if they have been arrested to their employer within three days of the arrest, and granting the department authority to discipline licensees who fail to do so;
- Mandating that statewide firearm licensees complete training for each type of firearm carried in the course of his or her licensed duties;
- Creating a temporary suspension process for Class "G" or "K" licensees who are arrested for or formally charged with a firearms-related crime; and for ch. 493, F.S., licensees who are arrested for or formally charged with a forcible felony;

- Updating the Florida Do Not Call Program to make subscriptions indefinite, rather than for five years;
- Creating consistent penalties against intrastate household movers for failure to maintain motor vehicle and liability insurance;
- Exempting company gyms from registration as a health studio with the department;
- Removing taximeters and transportation measuring systems from the definition of a weight and measure, thereby reducing the department's regulatory authority over taximeters;
- Updating the surveyor and mapper intern qualifications to be based on the number of relevant semester hours completed.
- Deleting fees for the registration of a livestock mark or brand, and increasing the term of registration for such marks or brands from five to 10 years;
- Repealing a requirement that individuals re-mark or rebrand recently purchased cattle;
- Providing an exemption from registration for agricultural dealers who pay for their purchases with a credit card;
- Allowing the department to grant concealed weapon or firearm licenses to persons who have been granted relief from firearms disabilities;
- Reducing the concealed weapon or firearm license and renewal fees by five dollars; and
- Making technical changes and deleting outdated language.

The bill revises and eliminates certain licensing and renewal fees resulting in a significant revenue reduction in the General Inspection Trust Fund and the Division of Licensing Trust Fund within the department. However, the trust funds can sustain the revenue reductions associated with the elimination of the licensing and renewal fees. The department anticipates a reduction in expenditures associated with agriculture product dealers' licensure that will offset a portion of the revenue reductions in the General Inspection Trust Fund. See Section V.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2017.

II. Present Situation:

The Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services (department) has numerous and varied responsibilities, including safeguarding the public from unsafe or defective products and deceptive business practices, protecting the environment, supporting Florida's agricultural economy, and administering the state's firearms licensing scheme. These varied responsibilities are spread among the department's 12 divisions and six offices.[1]

The present situation relative to each section of the bill is discussed in the Effect of Proposed Changes section of this bill analysis. Generally, there will be a heading or subheading, a discussion of the present situation, then a discussion of the effect of the proposed changes.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Agriculture Education and Promotion Facility Grant

An agriculture education and promotion facility is an exhibition hall, arena, civic center, exposition center, or other capital project or facility that can be used for agricultural education, exhibitions, civic, and other events.[2] In 2002, the Legislature gave the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services (department) authority to evaluate applications for grants for the construction or renovation of these facilities.[3] These grants are subject to appropriation provided in the General Appropriations Act specifically for these facilities.[4]

Section 1 amends s. 288.1175, F.S., to require that applications for an agriculture education and promotion facility grant be postmarked, or electronically submitted by October 1 of each year. Current law is less precise, merely stating that the application must be "submitted" by October 1.

Division of Agricultural Environmental Services

The Division of Agricultural Environmental Services (AES) supports state and federal regulatory programs regarding pesticide registration, testing, and regulation, and other related environmental and consumer protection issues.[5] The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA) labeling requirements for pesticides and devices[6] and its Worker Protection Standard[7] provide a minimum standard on which the (AES) must base certain regulations.[8] Accordingly, the department maintains rules on these topics.[9]

Section 9 amends s. 487.2041, F.S., to delete an outdated reference to the department's adoption of rules ". . . during the 1995-1996 fiscal year . . ." to reflect the EPA's labeling requirement for pesticides and devices, and worker protection standard. This change does not alter the department's duties or authority.

Division of Licensing

The Division of Licensing (DOL), within the department, is responsible for protecting the public from unethical business practices by persons providing private security, private investigative, and recovery services. The DOL seeks to accomplish this through licensure and regulation of these industries.[10] Additionally, the DOL administers this state's concealed weapons and firearms licensing scheme.[11]

The DOL is responsible for investigating and issuing licenses to conduct private security, private investigative, and recovery services pursuant to ch. 493, F.S. The DOL also issues concealed weapon or firearm licenses pursuant to s. 790.06, F.S. As of February 28, 2017, there were 1,910,038 holders of DOL-issued licenses. Of these, 1,733,487 were concealed weapons and firearms licensees.[12]

Licensure and Discipline of Private Investigators, Security Officers, Recovery Agents, and Related Licenses

Section 10 amends s. 493.6101, F.S., to authorize a licensed manager of a private investigative agency—a Class "M" licensee—to manage up to three offices within a 150-mile radius of the location listed on the agency's Class "A" license. However, these offices must consist of the location listed on the agency's Class "A" license and up to two branch offices, or these offices must consist of no more than three branch offices. Current law implies that a Class "M" licensee is limited to oversight of only one investigative agency or branch office at a time.[13]

Currently, the department requires applicants for licensure under ch. 493, F.S., to submit a full set of fingerprints, a fingerprint-processing fee, and a fingerprint retention fee with their initial application.[14] With this information, the department conducts an initial background check through the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) and the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE). The department also retains the applicants' fingerprints in the statewide-automated biometric identification system[15] and in the national retained print arrest notification program for ongoing updates on arrests of its licensees.[16] The department may discipline a licensee based on his or her plea to, or conviction of, certain crimes.[17]

All licenses granted under ch. 493, F.S., are subject to renewal. Although a corporate officer or partner of, for example, a private investigative agency, is required to file a complete initial application for his or her agency's licensure, the corporate officer or partner is not granted a license as a result of his or her application. Instead, it is the agency that is granted the license. Therefore, though each corporate officer and partner are required to apply for an application for their company's licensure, they do not obtain individual licenses.[18]

[18] To be clear, an officer or partner could also apply for an individual license.

Section 11 amends s. 493.6105, F.S., to clarify that partners and corporate officers who do not also possess a ch. 493, F.S., license subject to renewal[19] are exempt from participation in the fingerprint retention requirements imposed on ch. 493, F.S., licensees.

Notifications

Section 13 amends s. 493.6108(5), F.S., to require that ch. 493, F.S., licensees notify their employer within three calendar days if they are arrested for any offense.

Section 17 amends s. 493.6118, F.S., to allow the department to take administrative action against its ch. 493, F.S., licensees for their failure to notify their employer within three calendar days if they are arrested for any offense.

Section 14 amends s. 493.6112, F.S., deleting a requirement that security officer and recovery agent schools licensed under ch. 493, F.S., notify the department of any hiring, termination, withdrawal, removal, replacement, or addition of the school's partners, officers, or employees. These schools are currently required to provide the department with information on their instructors, school facilities, and curricula elsewhere in statute.[20]

This section also clarifies that ch. 493, F.S., agency licensees are required to notify the department of a change in their employment rolls within 15 calendar days by a form submitted electronically to the department. Section 493.6112, F.S., currently requires that licensees notify the department "immediately" of such changes. According to the department, this requirement proves vague in practice and results in varying compliance.[21]

Mental Health History

The department has a duty to investigate whether any ch. 493, F.S., applicant has been adjudicated incompetent under ch. 744, F.S.,[22] or has been committed to a mental institution under the Florida Mental Health Act, ch. 394, F.S.[23, 24] The department may deny an application for licensure based on an applicant's:[25]

- Adjudication of incapacitation, unless the applicant's capacity has been judicially restored;
- Placement in a treatment facility for the mentally ill under ch. 394, F.S., or similar law in another state, unless the applicant's competency has been judicially restored;

[19] Section 493.6113, F.S., subjects all licenses granted under ch. 493, F.S., to renewal. Although a corporate officer or partner of—for example, a private investigative agency—is required to file a complete initial application, the corporate officer or partner is not granted a license as a result of his or her application (but his or her agency is). Therefore, corporate officers and partners are not required to renew a license that does not exist under ch. 493, F.S.

[24] A commitment to an institution under ch. 394, F.S., may be voluntary or involuntary based on mental illness. A voluntary commitment requires the patient's consent, and an involuntary commitment requires a finding that the patient is likely to suffer harm to himself or herself, or that he or she poses a real and present threat of substantial harm to his or her well-being, or the well-being of others. Sections 394.462-.463, F.S.

- Diagnosis of an incapacitating mental illness, unless a Florida-licensed psychologist or psychiatrist certifies that the applicant does not currently suffer from mental illness;
- Chronic and habitual use of alcoholic beverages to the extent that his or her normal faculties are impaired;
- Commitment to a treatment facility for substance abuse;
- Being subject to a finding by a court that she or he is an habitual offender of disorderly intoxication;
- Convictions of driving under the influence, within the three-year period immediately preceding the application, unless the applicant can prove that she or he is not currently impaired and has successfully completed a rehabilitation course; or
- Having been found guilty of a controlled substance-related crime, unless the applicant establishes that she or he is not currently abusing any controlled substance and has successfully completed a rehabilitation course.

The department must further investigate the general mental history and current mental and emotional fitness, including drug or alcohol abuse, of any Statewide Firearms License (Class "G") or Firearms Instructor (Class "K") licensee.[26] The department may deny an application for licensure to a Class "G" or "K" applicant based on a history of mental illness or drug or alcohol abuse.

These investigations into mental health and substance abuse are largely limited to an inquiry by the department on the application for licensure; records of commitment under ch. 394, F.S., are confidential and exempt unless the applicant authorizes the release of the documentation.[27]

Currently, the department can access FDLE and clerks of courts records of individuals who are or were committed under chs. 394, 397, or 744, F.S., for the purpose of reviewing the fitness of applicants for concealed weapons licenses under ch. 790, F.S.[28] The FDLE maintains the Mental Competency Database (MECOM), which lists the names and related data of persons who are prohibited from purchasing a firearm based on adjudication of mental defectiveness (total mental incapacity) or commitment to mental institutions because of mental illness or substance abuse.[29] An individual may be removed from MECOM if he or she receives a relief from firearm disabilities under s. 790.065(2)(a)4.d., F.S.

Section 13 amends s. 493.6018, F.S., to authorize the FDLE authority to share data from the MECOM database with the department for the limited purpose of determining eligibility of Class "G" and "K" applicants and licensees.

Actions Against Licensees

Section 16 amends s. 493.6115, F.S., to require the department to review mental health and substance abuse data provided by the FDLE as part of its case-by-case determination whether a temporary Class "G" applicant is prohibited from licensure.

The department may pursue disciplinary administrative action against a current ch. 493, F.S., licensee based on a finding that he or she committed any of the acts prohibited in s. 493.6118, F.S., including:

- Being found guilty of, or entering a plea of guilty or nolo contendere to, or being convicted of a crime that directly relates to the business for which the license is held;
- Failure to maintain required commercial general liability coverage;
- Commission of an act of violence, or use of force on any person except in the lawful protection of one's self or another from physical harm;
- Failure to cooperate with a department investigation; or
- Violation of any other provision of ch. 493, F.S.

Administrative disciplinary action is reviewable under ss. 120.569 and 120.57, F.S. These types of administrative hearings generally permit the licensee to dispute the allegations made against him or her. An impartial hearing officer then makes findings of fact and findings of law, which result in a final determination of whether the department's case against the licensee is supported by clear and convincing evidence.

The department may also pursue an emergency suspension order under s. 120.60(6), F.S., if the department finds that the licensee poses a serious danger to the public health, safety, or welfare.[30] The emergency suspension order allows the department to require the licensee to cease and desist from continuing to act under his or her license, but the department is obligated to "promptly" institute a formal suspension or revocation proceeding pursuant to ss. 120.569 and 120.57, F.S. The cease and desist language of the emergency suspension order remains in effect until a final order reviewing the allegations against the licensee has been issued pursuant to the hearing under either ss. 120.569 or 120.57, F.S.

Section 17 amends s. 493.6118, F.S., to require the department to temporarily suspend a Class "G" or "K" licensee who is arrested for or formally charged with a firearms-related crime that would disqualify him or her from licensure. This section also grants the department authority to temporarily suspend any ch. 493, F.S., licensee who has been arrested for or formally charged with a forcible felony.[31]

The proposed temporary suspension would grant the licensee a right to hearing under ch. 120, F.S., but the scope of that hearing would be limited only to a determination of whether the licensee has been arrested for or charged with a disqualifying crime. Once a licensee is ultimately cleared of the allegations made in his or her underlying criminal case, the department is required to lift the temporary suspension. However, when the criminal case results in a disqualifying disposition, the temporary suspension will remain in effect and the department is required to bring an administrative case under ch. 120, F.S., against the licensee to attempt to revoke his or her license.

Training and Certification for Ch. 493, F.S., Licensees

Applicants for licensure as a firearms instructor (Class "K") must undergo training and receive certification from either:

- The National Rifle Association (NRA) Private Security Firearm Instructor Certificate Program;[32] or
- A federal law enforcement agency's firearms instructor certificate program, e.g., through the U.S. Department of Homeland Security's Federal Law Enforcement Training Center (FLETC).[33]

The NRA's firearm instructor certificate expires after three years, unless the instructor successfully completes recertification with the NRA, which requires proof of 24 hours of continuing education.[34] The FLETC firearm instructor certificate does not expire, but the instructor may be required to obtain recertification by the agency (such as a local police department or sheriff's office) that sponsored the original certification of the trainee by FLETC.[35]

Section 11 amends s. 493.6105(6)(a), F.S., to make minor modifications to the application requirements for a firearms instructor (Class "K") license. Current law requires Class "K" applicants to submit one of a list of three certificates demonstrating competency as a firearms instructor. The bill requires two of these to be "valid" and to have been issued within three years of the submission of the application.

Sections 19 and 21 amend ss. 493.6203 and 493.6303, F.S., respectively, to delete out-of-date references and the requirement that private investigator interns and security officer licensees receive training in two parts. According to the department, the requirement that training be provided in two parts is cumbersome to both training schools and trainees.[36] The bill specifies that a re-applicant for a security officer license, whose license has been expired for one year or more, is considered an initial applicant and must submit proof of 40 hours of professional training.

Currently, s. 493.6113(3)(b), F.S., requires a Class "G"[37] statewide firearms licensee to annually complete four hours of firearms recertification training.[38] The licensee must submit proof of his or her annual recertification training to the department. If the licensee fails to provide documentation of the training by the end of the first year of the license's two-year term, the license is automatically suspended until the licensee provides proof of the training. If the licensee fails to provide such documentation by the end of his or her license's term, the department may not renew the license until the applicant completes the initial licensing requirements, including at least 28 hours of range and classroom training.[39]

Class "G" licensees are currently permitted to carry up to two of the following types of firearms during the course of their licensed duties: a .38 caliber revolver, a .380 caliber or 9 millimeter semiautomatic pistol; a .357 caliber revolver with .38 caliber ammunition; a .40 caliber handgun; or a .45 ACP handgun.[40] Security officer licensees who also have a Class "G" license may only carry their firearm in a concealed manner if they are performing limited, special assignment duties or are performing bodyguard services.[41]

Section 15 amends s. 493.6113, F.S., to require statewide firearm licensees, Class "G" licensees,[42] to perform and successfully complete training for each type and caliber of firearm that they will carry in the course of their duties.

Section 16 updates an outdated cross-reference in s. 493.6115, F.S., to clarify under what circumstances security officer licensees who also have a Class "G" license may carry their authorized firearm in a concealed manner.

Under current law, recovery agents and interns (also known as Class "E" or "EE" licensees, or repossession service agents) are required to meet the basic licensure requirements in ch. 493, F.S., and complete a minimum of 40 hours of professional training at an accredited recovery agent school.[43]

Section 24 amends s. 493.6403, F.S., to require these licensees to submit proof of successful completion of the professional training, and submit proof thereof to the department. This section also deletes an outdated reference in s. 493.6403, F.S.

Concealed Weapon or Firearm Licenses

Section 39 amends s. 790.06, F.S., to allow the department to grant a concealed weapon license to applicants who have been committed for a mental health issue or abuse of a controlled substance; or adjudicated incapacitated, but have subsequently been granted relief from firearms disabilities pursuant to s. 790.065(2)(a)4.d., F.S., or similar law. This brings the department's practices into line with the FDLE's regulations on the sale of guns.[44]

This section also implements a five dollar fee reduction for concealed weapon or firearm license and renewal fees.[45]

Technical Changes

Section 22 makes technical changes to s. 493.6304(1), F.S.

Sections 12, 18, 20, and 23 amend ss. 493.6107, 493.6202, 493.6302, and 493.6402, respectively, to delete erroneous references to "biennial" license fees in ch. 493, F.S. License renewals occur on either biennial or triennial cycles, depending on the type of license.[46] These amendments remedy inconsistencies within the chapter and between the chapter and related rules.

Division of Consumer Services

The department's Division of Consumer Services (DCS) regulates certain businesses, including commercial weight-loss practices, telephone solicitation, pawnshops, health studios, sellers of travel, and telemarketing. The DCS also functions as a clearinghouse for consumer complaints.

Board of Professional Surveyors and Mappers

The department's Board of Professional Surveyors and Mappers (board) is tasked with regulating professional surveyors and mappers, as well as businesses that offer surveying and mapping services.[47] The board's regulatory duties include:[48]

- Adopting rules detailing the review and approval of courses of study in surveying and mapping;
- Determining the moral character of applicants for licensure;
- Instituting by rule the criteria and course content for continuing education courses;
- Approving and disciplining providers of continuing education;
- Holding probable cause panel hearings to determine whether to move forward with disciplinary proceedings against a licensee; and
- Issuing final orders in disciplinary cases.

The practice of surveying and mapping, generally, is the determination of the facts of size, shape, topography, tidal datum planes, legal or geodetic location or relation, and orientation of improved or unimproved real property through the direct measurement or from certifiable measurement through photogrammetric procedures.[49]

Surveyors and mappers must meet the following qualifications to be licensed by the department:[50]

- Be of good moral character;
- Pass a licensure examination; and
- Meet specific education and experience requirements.

Section 2 amends s. 472.003, F.S., to exempt subcontractors of registered surveyors and mappers or their businesses from registration under ch. 472, F.S. The subcontractor must be subordinate to, and under the direct control and personal supervision of a registered surveyor and mapper in order to qualify for this exemption.

Section 3 amends definitions in s. 472.005, F.S., to clarify that the practice of surveying and mapping includes the determination of the volume of bodies of water, and of the orientation of personal property attached to any improved or unimproved real property.

Section 4 amends s. 472.013, F.S., to broaden the prerequisite course of education for surveyor and mapper licensees to include a bachelor's degree in surveying and mapping or any similarly titled program. This section permits applicants for licensure as a surveyor and mapper intern to qualify by completing two years of college education in surveying, mapping, mathematics, photogrammetry, forestry, civil engineering, or land law and the physical sciences, in addition to accruing at least two years in work as a subordinate to a registered surveyor and mapper. This section also deletes certain requirements of the board relating to examination prerequisites.
Section 5 amends s. 472.015, F.S., to clarify the qualifications for a license by endorsement related to an applicant meeting certain criteria at the time of application and to delete outdated language related to photogrammetry.

Section 6 amends s. 472.018, F.S., to grant the board the power to establish the criteria for continuing education providers, and other continuing education requirements, including the method of delivery and the carryover of not more than 12 hours for each license renewal cycle.

Section 7 amends s. 472.025, F.S., to require registered surveyors and mappers to receive and use a seal approved by the board, but deletes the requirement that the seal be an impression-type metal seal.

Surveyors and mappers are required to submit to the department a copy of each elevation certificate that she or he completes.[51]

Section 8 amends s. 472.0366, F.S., to clarify that a surveyor and mapper may submit a copy of an elevation certificate to the department, and the copy need not be signed and sealed. However, the surveyor and mapper must maintain the original signed and sealed copy in his or her own records.

Do Not Call List

The department administers the Florida Do Not Call Program, which prohibits unsolicited phone calls to consumers by telephone solicitors. A consumer must request to be placed on the department's directory of those who do not wish to be contacted, and such request lasts for five years.[52] The consumer can re-subscribe every five years. Under s. 501.059(5), F.S., a telephone solicitor is also prohibited from calling a consumer who has previously communicated to the solicitor that he or she does not wish to receive a telephone call that is:

- Made by or on behalf of the seller whose goods or services are offered; or
- Made on behalf of a charity for which a charitable contribution is solicited.

Section 26 amends s. 501.059, F.S., deleting the five-year subscription duration from the Do Not Call Program, thereby making each a lifetime subscription. However, subscribers may request to be removed from the program at any time.

Health Studios

The Health Studio Act, ss. 501.012-501.019, F.S., regulates health studios that enter into contracts for health studio services with consumers. "Health studios" includes, among other things, a gym that offers its members the use of weight-training and cardiovascular equipment. The act requires studios to:

- Register with the department;
- Include specific provisions in every contract with a consumer, such as the consumer's total payment obligations, and cancellation provisions;
- Provide a security bond, generally ranging from $10,000 to $25,000, depending on the value of outstanding contracts with the studio; and
- Refrain from prohibited practices, such as committing an intentional fraud.

The following health studios or health-related businesses are exempt from registration with the department:[53]

- Nonprofit organizations that have tax-exempt status with the Internal Revenue Service;
- Gymnastics schools that engage in instruction and training only;
- Golf, tennis, or racquetball clubs that do not offer physical exercise equipment;
- Country clubs that primarily provide social or recreational amenities to its members; and
- Personal trainers who do not have an established place of business and who do not accept payment for their services more than 30 days in advance.

The department can seek an injunction or civil penalties for any violation of the act, and violations are generally misdemeanors. The department may also institute administrative prosecution of a health studio in violation of ss. 501.015 or 501.016, F.S.

Section 25 amends s. 501.013, F.S., to exempt from registration as a health studio with the department any program or facility offered by an organization for the exclusive use of its employees and their family members, such as a gym within a corporate headquarters.

Intrastate Household Movers

Chapter 507, F.S., governs the loading, transportation, shipment, unloading, and affiliated storage of household goods as part of intrastate household moves. The chapter applies to any mover engaged in intrastate transportation or shipment of household goods that originate and terminate in the state.[54]

Section 507.04, F.S., requires movers to maintain liability and motor vehicle insurance. A mover who operates more than two vehicles is required to maintain liability insurance of at least $10,000 per shipment and not less than 60 cents per pound, per article.[55] Movers who operate fewer than two vehicles are required only to carry either a performance bond or a $25,000 certificate of deposit in lieu of liability insurance.[56] A mover who fails to maintain the required liability insurance is subject to:

- Immediate suspension of the license by the department;
- Immediate injunction prohibiting the mover from operating in the state; and
- Civil liability for any injuries that arise.[57]

However, under current law, the department has no similar penalties available in the case of a mover who fails to maintain motor vehicle insurance. The department must wait until the mover files for renewal of his or her license with the department to be able to take any action.[58] The department cites this difference in penalty scheme as a procedural burden for the department and a possible danger to consumers, who may develop an incorrect impression that a mover who lacks motor vehicle insurance is in good standing with the department.[59]

Section 27 amends s. 507.04, F.S., to grant the department the same penalty scheme for a mover's failure to maintain both liability and motor vehicle insurance. This will make the department's procedures more consistent.

Bureau of Standards

The department's Bureau of Standards is generally responsible for the inspection of weights and measures devices or instruments in Florida. This includes, but is not limited to, the prescription of the appropriate unit of weight or measurement to be used, testing of weights and measuring instruments used by any city or county, and inspection of retail scales that are used to determine the weight, measurement or total count of commodities offered for sale, such as fruit and vegetables at a grocery store. For the purpose of consumer protection, the Bureau of Standards is also empowered under s. 531.42, F.S., to enforce the proper use of weights and measuring instruments or devices and the advertisement of the correct weight or measurement on a good for sale.

A taximeter is a device that automatically calculates and indicates the charge for the hire of a vehicle, such as a taxi.[60]

Sections 28, 29, and 30 amend ss. 531.37, 531.61, and 531.63, F.S., respectively, to delete the department's authority to regulate taximeters, and remove related language. The bill also expressly frees the department from regulating "transportation measurement systems," which may include what are effectively taximeters linked to servers that may be in other states. These transportation measurement systems may be used by services like Uber.

Division of Animal Industry

The department's Division of Animal Industry (DAI) safeguards animal and public health, and maintains market access for Florida's animals and animal products by surveilling the movement of animals into and throughout the state, and monitoring any animal disease that may arise.[61] One estimate concludes that approximately 1.5 million cattle are currently raised in Florida.[62] These cattle must have official identification unless the cattle are:

- Moving directly to slaughter or through one approved livestock market and then directly to slaughter;
- Moving to an approved tagging site; or
- Being moved from one premises to another while remaining under common ownership as part of normal farm operations.[63]

Federal law provides identification requirements for cattle transported across interstate lines.[64]

Section 31 amends s. 534.021, F.S., to replace the requirement that an application for livestock mark or brand registration be accompanied by a "facsimile" of the brand or mark, with a requirement that the application include a "detailed drawing" of the brand or mark.

Section 32 amends s. 534.041, F.S., to extend the term of a livestock mark or brand registration from five to 10 years, and deletes the five dollar registration renewal fee.

Section 33 repeals s. 534.061, F.S., which requires a person who purchases cattle to re-mark or rebrand the cattle within 10 days. The department states that the DAI does not currently regulate such transfers.[65]

Division of Fruit and Vegetables

The Division of Fruit and Vegetables (DFV) inspects and certifies all state and federal marketing orders—the program that collectivizes agriculture producers for the purpose of marketing and selling their products.[66] As part of the marketing order program, the department enters into contracts to promote the agriculture producers' products; these contracts are not subject to the competitive bidding process under s. 287.057, F.S. However, in each instance that the DFV enters into a contract without competitive bidding, the director of the DFV must file a report to justify the contract process with the department's internal auditor.[67]

The Division of Marketing and Development supervised the marketing order process, until a recent reorganization of the division's duties.[68]

Section 35 amends s. 573.118, F.S., to require the director of the Division of Fruit and Vegetables, rather than the Division of Marketing and Development, to file each report justifying a contract or agreement entered into without competitive bidding in the marketing order process.

Florida Forest Service

The Florida Forest Service (FFS) is dedicated to management of state forests and Florida's forest resources.[69] The FFS constructs structures on forest land to support its duties thereon, including wildfire, educational, camping and recreational, and law enforcement facilities. Currently, s. 590.02, F.S., grants the FFS exclusive authority to enforce the Florida Building Code relating to the wildfire and law enforcement structures built by the FFS.

Section 36 amends s. 590.02, F.S., to require the department to enforce the Florida Building Code as it relates to all FFS facilities, in addition to the FFS's law enforcement and wildfire facilities.

Division of Aquaculture

Pursuant to ch. 597, F.S., the Division of Aquaculture coordinates and assists with the development of aquaculture in Florida, and regulates aquafarms to protect and conserve Florida's aquatic organisms.[70]

The department issues certificates of registration under s. 597.004, F.S., to aquaculture producers who must agree to submit to the department's best management practices.[71] These certificates permit the aquaculture producer to sell all aquaculture products except those otherwise prohibited by law, and those for which the origin of the product is unknown.[72]

Section 37 amends s. 597.004, F.S., to clarify that dealers licensed pursuant to part VII of ch. 379, F.S., ("Nonrecreational Licenses") including downline sellers of aquaculture products, such as wholesale and retail saltwater products dealers and freshwater fish dealers (excepting the initial aquaculture producer sellers), are not required to be certified aquaculture producers under s. 597.004, F.S. According to the department, the Florida Fish and Wildlife Commission requested this clarification.[73]

Office of Agricultural Law Enforcement

The Division of Agricultural Law Enforcement (ALE) is the law enforcement arm of the department. As part of its duties, ALE operates 23 agricultural inspection stations; investigates crimes involving agriculture, as well as unfair and deceptive trade practices; and partners with federal, state, and local law enforcement agencies to coordinate the Domestic Marijuana Eradication Task Force.[74]

A dealer in agricultural products is any person, partnership, corporation, or other business entity that is engaged in the purchase, receipt, or solicitation of agricultural products from the initial producer, for the purpose of resale or processing for sale.[75] The ALE regulates these dealers in order to protect sellers of agricultural products (farmers). The Legislature created this duty because the recovery of agricultural products from a dealer who is ultimately unable to pay the producer for his or her products is impractical because of the quick decay or consumption of agricultural products.[76]

Section s. 640.16, F.S., exempts certain dealers from registration as a dealer, if the dealer:
- Pays for the products in cash at the time of the purchase;
- Is a bonded licensee under the federal Packers and Stockyards Act; or
- Purchases less than $1,000 of agricultural products during a one-month period.

Section 38 amends s. 640.16, F.S., to provide an additional exemption from registration for those dealers who pay for the products with a credit card at the time of the agricultural purchase.

Department Authority to Inspect Raw Food Facilities

Section 34 amends s. 570.07, F.S., to require the department to perform food safety inspection services where raw agricultural commodities are grown, produced, harvested, held, packed, or repacked.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

Private investigator, or Class "M," licensees under ch. 493, F.S., may be able to take on additional employment to supplement their income since they may act as a manager at multiple private investigative agencies or branches.

Those who register a livestock brand or mark will see a reduction in associated fees. Agricultural dealers who pay for their purchases with a credit card are no longer required to pay a registration fee.

The licensure and renewal fees for concealed weapons and firearms licensees issued pursuant to s. 790.06, F.S., are reduced by five dollars.

Those who operate taximeters will no longer incur registration fees and related regulations under the bill.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill has a negative impact on revenues in the General Inspection Trust Fund and the Division of Licensing Trust Fund within the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services (department) beginning in Fiscal Year 2017-2018.[77] Additionally, both trust funds combined will have a corresponding recurring reduction in the service charges sent to the General Revenue Fund of approximately $103,112.

[77] Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, SB 498 Agency Analysis (Feb. 8, 2017) (on file with the Senate Committee on Judiciary).

The department estimates a loss of $388,051 due to the elimination of the livestock brand registration renewal fee, the exemption for licensure of agriculture products dealers and the elimination of taximeter permit fees. However, the department anticipates a decrease in expenditures of $250,944 that will partially offset the revenue reduction associated with the elimination of the costs relating to these programs.

General Inspection Trust Fund Revenue Reductions

	FY 2017-18	FY 2018-19	FY 2019-20
Taximeter Fee Reduction	(129,500)	(129,500)	(129,500)
Livestock Brand Registration Fees	(7,647)	(7,647)	(7,647)
Agriculture Dealer Licenses Exemption	(250,944)	(240,959)	(240,959)
Total Revenue Reduction	(388,051)	(378,106)	(378,106)
8% Surcharge to GR Reduction	(31,044)	(30,248)	(30,248)

The department estimates a revenue reduction of $1,801,692 in the Division of Licensing Trust Fund beginning in Fiscal Year 2017-2018 due to the fee reduction of five dollars relating to concealed weapon license applications and renewals, and the elimination of multiple licenses required for private investigative agency managers. The department has assessed the balance of the trust fund for the concealed weapons program and found that the program can sustain the license fee reduction.

The department shall, upon its satisfaction that the application meets the requirements of this chapter, record the mark or brand for exclusive statewide use by the applicant. If an application is made to record a mark or brand previously recorded, the department shall determine whether the county in which the mark or brand will be used is near enough to another county in which the previously recorded mark or brand is used to cause confusion or to aid theft or dishonesty, and if so, the department must decline to admit to record the mark or brand. If a conflict arises between the owner of any recorded mark or brand and another claiming the right to record the same mark or brand, the department must give preference to the present owner. exclusive ownership and use of the mark or brand for another 10-year ~~5-year~~ period ending at midnight on the last day of the month 10 ~~5~~ years from the date of renewal. Failure to make application for renewal within the month of expiration of a registration will cause the department to send a second notice to the registered owner by mail at her or his last known address. Failure of the registered owner to make application for renewal within 30 days after receipt of the second notice will cause the owner's mark or brand to be placed on an inactive list for a period of 12 months, after which it will be canceled and become subject to registration by another person.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 512 amends section 550.2415, Florida Statutes, to provide that a positive test result for anabolic steroids[1] in a racing greyhound based on samples taken from the greyhound before or after a race is a violation of law. Currently, s. 550.2415, F.S., prohibits racing of an animal that has been impermissibly medicated or determined to have a prohibited substance present in urine or other samples taken from the animal before or immediately after a race. Under current law, testosterone, an anabolic steroid, is permitted to be used for the control of the reproductive cycle in female greyhounds.

The bill has an indeterminate fiscal impact on state revenues and expenditures. See Section V. Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill provides an effective date of July 1, 2017.

II. Present Situation:

The racing of an animal (horse or greyhound) that has been impermissibly medicated or determined to have a prohibited substance present, is a violation of s. 550.2415, F.S. However, the Division of Pari-mutuel Wagering (division) of the Department of Business and Professional

Regulation (DBPR) may adopt rules specifying acceptable levels of naturally occurring substances in untreated animals, acceptable levels of environmental contaminants, and trace levels of substances in test samples.[2]

Classification of a substance in a sample as permissible or impermissible may be dependent upon whether:

- The substance is administered within or outside the allowed time frame before a race is scheduled to begin;
- The racing animal is approved for administration of the substance, or is qualified by gender to receive it;
- The level of the substance exceeds acceptable levels set by administrative rule; and
- The method of administration of the substance is prohibited.[3]

Certain medications may be administered to racing greyhounds in certain dosages under limited conditions, including the administration of:

- Testosterone or testosterone-like substances, when used for the control of estrus in female racing greyhounds, is permitted, subject to certain conditions;[4] and
- Sulfa drugs (antibiotics)[5] under certain conditions.[6]

Certain medications at certain urinary concentrations are not reportable by the state laboratory as violations.[7]

All prescription medication, regardless of method of administration, shall be safeguarded under lock and key when not being actively administered.[8]

Each racetrack permitholder must maintain a detention enclosure for securing urine, blood, or other samples from racing animals.[9] The trainer of record for each animal is responsible for the condition of the animals he or she enters to race[10] and for securing all prescribed medications, over-the-counter medicines, and natural or synthetic medicinal compounds.[11]

Samples of blood, urine, saliva, or any other bodily fluid may be collected from a race animal immediately before and immediately after it has raced.[12] If racing officials find, through reasonably reliable evidence, that substances other than permissible substances have been administered, or otherwise permissible substances have been administered during prohibited periods before the time of a race, evidence of illegal or impermissible substances may be confiscated and the racing animal may be prohibited from racing in the race (scratched).[13]

The winner of every race is sent to the detention enclosure for examination by an authorized representative of the division and the taking of samples to monitor and detect both permissible and impermissible substances.[14] Any other animals that participated in the race may be designated for examination and testing by the stewards, judges, racetrack veterinarian, or a division representative.[15]

All samples are collected by staff of the Office of Operations of the division and sent to the University of Florida College of Medicine Racing Laboratory (state laboratory) for analysis.[16] Blood specimens must be collected from racing animals by veterinarians employed by the division or any licensed veterinarian hired or retained by the division, and the collection must be witnessed by the animal's trainer, owner, or designee.[17]

The division, in its 85th Annual Report, noted that during Fiscal Year 2015-2016, the state laboratory processed 76,219 samples and performed 313,600 analyses:[18]

Sample Type	Horse Urine/Blood	Greyhound Urine	Investigative
Samples Received	16,945	58,274	2

division.[20] A prosecution by the division against a licensee for a violation must begin within ninety days after the violation.[21]

The division must notify the owner or trainer, the stewards, and the appropriate horsemen's association of all drug test results.[22] At the request of either the affected owner or trainer, the division must send the sample to an independent laboratory for analysis.

If the positive result found by the state laboratory is not confirmed by the analysis made by the independent laboratory, no further administrative or disciplinary action may be pursued by the division.[23] If the positive result is confirmed, or if the volume of the secondary sample is insufficient to do so, then administrative action may proceed.[24] There must be a good faith attempt by the division to obtain a sufficient quantity of fluid specimens to allow both a primary test to be made by the state laboratory and a secondary test to be made by an independent laboratory.[25]

The mere presence of a prohibited substance in a racing animal is evidence of the violation.[26] The fine for violations may be up to $10,000 or the race winnings (purse or sweepstakes amount), whichever is greater.[27] Prosecutions must be started within 90 days of the race date.

The penalty schedule for violations incorporates the Uniform Classification Guidelines for Foreign Substances, Version 8.0, revised December 2014 (Uniform Classification Guidelines), by ARCI.[28] Pursuant to Florida Administrative Code Rule 61D-6.012, relating to penalty guidelines for drug violations in greyhounds, penalties are imposed when the division finds certain substances have been identified by the state laboratory in a urine sample or blood sample collected from a greyhound participating in a pari-mutuel event. These substances include any drug or medication (unapproved drugs or medications) that:

- Is not approved for veterinary use in the United States by the Food and Drug Administration;
- Cannot be detected by the state laboratory in a urine or blood sample unless the medication was administered within 24 hours of the race; or
- Is detected in urine or blood concentrations that indicate a dosage level that would constitute a threat to the health and safety of the greyhound.[29]

A first violation may result in a fine between $1,000 and $2,500, and a license suspension up to one year or a license revocation. Any subsequent violation may result in a fine between $2,500 and $5,000 and a license revocation.[30]

Penalties for the presence of other medications or drugs, other than unapproved drugs or medications described above, are based upon the classification of the medication or drug found in the Uniform Classification Guidelines.[31]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill amends s. 550.2415, F.S., to include that a positive test result for anabolic steroids[32] in a racing greyhound before or after a race is a violation of the prohibition. Anabolic steroids (testosterone) are drugs whose uses include the control of the reproductive cycle in female greyhounds.[33]

The administration of testosterone or testosterone-like substances, for the control of estrus in female racing greyhounds, is permitted by rule of the division, subject to certain conditions.[34] Under the bill, no such use of those substances will be permitted.

The bill maintains existing procedures for determining violations. Any affected licensee will have the same due process rights, including the opportunity for a hearing, which law currently affords for alleged violations under s. 550.2415, F.S.

The bill provides an effective date of July 1, 2017.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The bill will have an indeterminate impact on greyhound tracks and the owners and trainers of greyhounds. The impact will depend on the frequency that anabolic steroids are found to be present in greyhounds engaged in racing in Florida as a result of testing of samples taken from greyhounds before or immediately after a race.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill may increase revenues to the Pari-Mutuel Wagering Trust Fund to the extent that violations occur and associated fines are imposed as a result of a greyhounds testing positive for the presence of anabolic steroids.[35]

The DBPR may incur additional costs for the necessary testing. The division contracts with the University of Florida, College of Medicine Racing Laboratory (state laboratory) to provide testing services. The current appropriation for that testing is $2,266,000.[36] The state laboratory has indicated to the division that its testing procedures must be amended to include detection of anabolic steroids, it must purchase a liquid chromatography-mass spectrometer to test approximately 40,000 greyhound racing samples annually (a cost of approximately $300,000 - $350,000), and it may need to amend the existing contract to cover that cost.[37]

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

The testing of samples from male greyhounds may also result in positive tests if levels of naturally occurring testosterone are not considered and addressed.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends section 550.2415 of the Florida Statutes.

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to steroid use in racing greyhounds; amending s. 550.2415, F.S.; providing that a positive test result for anabolic steroids in certain samples taken from a greyhound violates the prohibition on the racing of animals that are impermissibly medicated or determined to have a prohibited substance present; providing an effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section 550.2415, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

550.2415 Racing of animals under certain conditions prohibited; penalties; exceptions.—

(1)(a) The racing of an animal that has been impermissibly medicated or determined to have a prohibited substance present is prohibited. It is a violation of this section for a person to impermissibly medicate an animal or for an animal to have a prohibited substance present resulting in a positive test for such medications or substances based on samples taken from the animal before or immediately after the racing of that animal. It is a violation of this section for a greyhound to have anabolic steroids present resulting in a positive test for such steroids based on samples taken from the greyhound before or immediately after the racing of that greyhound. Test results and the identities of the animals being tested and of their trainers and owners of record are confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and from s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution for 10 days after testing of all samples collected on a particular day has been completed and any positive test results derived from such samples have been reported to the director of the division or administrative action has been commenced.

Section 2. This act shall take effect July 1, 2017.

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations

BILL:	PCS/CS/SB 876 (926878)

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/CS/SB 876 revises multiple statutory provisions relating to treatment programs for impaired health care providers. Primarily, it clarifies in law the roles and responsibilities of the parties involved in the program, including the Department of Health (DOH), consultant, evaluator, treatment provider, and impaired practitioner. The bill removes the current authority granted to the DOH to specify by rule the manner in which consultants must work with the DOH in intervening, evaluating, treating, monitoring, providing continuing care, or expelling a professional from the program. This will now be governed by a contract between the DOH and each consultant. The bill defines certain terms relating to impaired practitioner programs, and provides that a licensee may report an impaired practitioner to a consultant who operates an impaired practitioner program, rather than to the DOH, under certain circumstances.

The bill authorizes the DOH to issue or renew a license for an individual convicted of, or entered a plea of guilty or nolo contendere to, a disqualifying offense before July 1, 2009, when the licensure disqualification law was enacted. The bill authorizes the DOH to issue or renew the license of an individual convicted of, or enters a plea of guilty or nolo contendere to, a disqualifying felony if the applicant successfully completes a pretrial diversion program and the plea has been withdrawn or the charges have been dismissed.

The bill requires a licensed midwife or health care provider to report any adverse incident resulting from an attempted or completed planned birth performed at a birthing center or otherwise off the premises of a hospital, to the DOH within 15 days.

The bill has no impact on state revenues or expenditures.

The bill takes effect upon becoming a law.

II. Present Situation:

Treatment Programs for Impaired Practitioners

Section 456.076, F.S., provides resources to assist licensees[1] in health care professions[2] who are impaired as a result of the misuse or abuse of alcohol or drugs, or as a result of any mental or physical condition, which could affect the licensees' ability to practice with skill and safety.[3] For professions that do not have impaired practitioner programs provided for them in their practice acts, the DOH designates approved impaired practitioner programs.

The DOH is required to retain one or more impaired practitioner consultants licensed under the jurisdiction of the Division of Medical Quality Assurance (MQA) within the DOH and who is a licensed physician or nurse; or an entity that employs a medical director who is a licensed physician, or an executive director who is a licensed nurse.

There are currently two department-approved treatment consultants for the impaired practitioner programs in Florida: the Professionals Resource Network (PRN) and the Intervention Project for Nurses (IPN).[4]

The PRN provides evaluations, treatment referrals, and monitoring for all health professions, except nursing and certified nursing assistants.[5,6] The IPN provides these services to nurses and certified nursing assistants.[7] These consultants initiate interventions, recommend evaluations, and refer impaired licensees to treatment programs or treatment providers approved by the DOH, and monitor the progress of impaired licensees. The PRN and IPN do not provide medical services. They act as liaisons between the DOH and approved treatment programs and providers. The DOH is not responsible for paying for the care provided by approved treatment providers or a consultant.

[1] Licensee is defined in s. 456.001(6), F.S., to include any permit, registration, certificate, or license, including a provisional license, issued by the DOH.
[2] Profession is defined in s. 456.001(7), F.S., to include any activity, occupation, profession, or vocation regulated by the DOH in the Division of MQA. See also s. 20.43(1)(g), F.S.
[3] The provisions of s. 456.076, F.S., also apply to veterinarians under s. 474.221, F.S., and radiological personnel under s. 468.315, F.S.

A medical school, nursing program, or other health professional school may also contract with the PRN or IPN to provide services to an enrolled student if the student is allegedly impaired as a result of the misuse or abuse of alcohol or drugs, or both, or due to a mental or physical condition.[8]

The IPN and PRN, if requested, also serve as consultants to the DOH in cases that come before the practice boards or the DOH, including credentialing and monitoring of applicants, and assisting in the development of plans for licensee practice in a structured environment. They must also be available to testify in administrative hearings and other legal proceedings on behalf of the DOH.

Whenever a consultant, licensee, or approved treatment provider makes a disclosure of confidential information regarding a licensee to the DOH pursuant to law, that individual is not subject to civil liability for such disclosure or its consequences. If the contract with the consultant contains specified provisions, the consultant, the consultant's officers and employees, and those acting at the direction of the consultant are considered agents of the DOH for purposes of s. 768.28, F.S., relating to sovereign immunity.

The Department of Financial Services is required to defend the consultant, its officers and employees, and those acting at the direction of the consultant for the limited purpose of an emergency intervention when the consultant is unable to perform the intervention, from any legal action brought as a result of the consultant's duties under the DOH contract.[9]

When the DOH receives a legally sufficient[10] complaint alleging that a licensee is impaired, and no other complaint against the licensee exists, the reporting of such information does not constitute grounds for discipline if certain conditions are met.[11] Those conditions include findings by the appropriate board's probable cause panel,[12] or the DOH, if there is no board, that the licensee:

- Acknowledged the impairment problem;
- Enrolled in an appropriate, approved treatment program;
- Voluntarily withdrew from practice, or limited the scope of his or her practice, until he or she successfully completed the treatment program; and
- Released his or her medical records to the consultant.

If the DOH has not received a legally sufficient complaint, other than impairment, and the licensee agrees to withdraw from practice until such time as the consultant determines the

[12] A probable cause panel is a panel designated by rule of each regulatory board that reviews investigative information related to a complaint to determine whether probable cause exists that a health care practitioner violated statutes governing the practice of the licensee's profession. licensee has satisfactorily completed an evaluation and approved treatment program, if appropriate, neither the probable cause panel nor the DOH will become involved in the case.[13]

If an impaired licensee fails to complete, or satisfactorily progress in, a treatment program, the consultant must follow specific procedures set forth in the contract with the DOH, up to and including, sending notification to the DOH of the dismissal of a licensee from the program and for the DOH to initiate disciplinary action.[14] When a licensee is dismissed from a treatment program, the consultant provides an evaluation of the licensee's impairment condition to the DOH. The evaluation is used by the DOH to determine if the licensee poses an immediate and serious danger to the public for the purpose of issuing an emergency order restricting or suspending his or her license to practice.

A licensee is required to report to the appropriate board or the DOH, if there is no board, any person who the licensee knows is in violation of ch. 456, F.S., the chapter regulating the alleged violator, or the rules of the department or the board.[15] This requirement also includes any person unable to practice with reasonable skill and safety to patients due to the misuse or abuse of alcohol or drugs, or as a result of any mental or physical condition.

Section 401.411, F.S., sets forth disciplinary guidelines for the DOH to take action against emergency medical technicians (EMTs), paramedics and emergency medical services (EMS) personnel. The guidelines include a penalty for failure to report any person known to be in violation of s. 401.411, F.S.[16] The guidelines also include a penalty for practicing as an EMT, paramedic, or EMS personnel without reasonable skill and without regard for the safety of the public because of illness, drunkenness, or the use of drugs, narcotics, chemicals, or any other substance, or as a result of any mental or physical condition.[17]

Disqualification from Licensure

In 2009, a law was enacted that prohibited the DOH from issuing or renewing the license of an individual who was convicted of, or entered a plea of nolo contendere to, regardless of adjudication of certain felonies related to Medicaid, Medicare, fraud, or controlled substances.[18] In 2012, the law was amended to create a tiered system of exclusions based on the severity of the crime and the amount of time elapsed between the crime and the application for licensure and provided an exception.[19]

Current law prohibits a board or the DOH, if there is no board, from allowing a person to sit for an examination or issue a license, certificate, or registration, if the applicant has been convicted of a felony under ch. 409, F.S., relating to social and economic programs, including Medicaid; ch. 817, F.S., relating to fraud; or ch. 893, F.S., relating to controlled substances; or a similar felony offense committed in another jurisdiction unless the individual successfully completed a drug court program for the felony and the plea was withdrawn or the charges were dismissed. A board or the DOH, if there is no board, may allow an applicant to sit for an examination or issue a license, certificate, or registration if the sentence or any related period of probation for a conviction ended:

- More than 15 years before the date of application for felonies of the first or second degree;
- More than 10 years before the date of application for felonies of the third degree, except for those under s. 893.13(6)(a), F.S.;[20] or
- More than 5 years before the date of application for felonies of the third degree under s. 893.13(6)(a), F.S.

These exclusions also apply to an applicant who:

- Has been convicted of, or entered a plea of guilty or no contest to, regardless of adjudication, a felony under 21 U.S.C. ss. 801-970 or 42 U.S.C. ss. 1395-1396, unless the sentence and any subsequent period of probation for such convictions or plea ended more than 15 years before the date of application; or
- Is listed on the United States Department of Health and Human Services Office of Inspector General's List of Excluded Individuals and Entities.

Additionally, a board or the DOH is prohibited from renewing a license, certification, or registration if the applicant or candidate falls under the same restrictions established for initial licensure, certification, or registration. The same exceptions to the restrictions on initial licensure, certification, or registration apply for renewal applications; however, the renewal applicant or candidate must show that he or she is currently enrolled in a drug court program, rather than showing successful completion, as required of initial applicants. This disqualification from licensure – for felony convictions or pleas of guilty or no contest of the specified violations – did not apply until 2016 to applicants for initial licensure or certification, who were enrolled in a recognized training or education program as of July 1, 2009, and who applied for initial licensure after July 1, 2012. In 2016, this exception to the disqualification was repealed because individuals who were denied renewal based on one of the offenses, regardless of the date it was committed, were able to reapply and obtain new licenses based on the exemption.

Midwifery in Florida

The practice of midwifery in Florida provides expectant mothers and their families the freedom to choose the manner, cost, and setting for giving birth. The DOH regulates the practice of midwifery to ensure the proper care of mothers and their infants throughout the prenatal, intrapartum, and postpartum periods of pregnancy, labor, and delivery.[21] Accordingly, individuals wishing to practice midwifery in this state must be licensed by the DOH.[22]

[20] Section 893.13(6)(a), F.S., makes it unlawful for a person to be in actual or constructive possession of a controlled substance unless such controlled substance was lawfully obtained from a practitioner or pursuant to a valid prescription, or order, of a practitioner while acting the course of his or her professional practice; or to be in actual or constructive possession of a controlled substance except as otherwise authorized under ch. 893, F.S. Any person who violates this provision commits a felony in the third degree.

A midwife's scope of practice includes providing care for only those mothers who are expected to have a normal pregnancy, labor, and delivery. A midwife may provide collaborative prenatal and postpartum care to pregnant women not at low risk in their pregnancy, labor, and delivery, within a written protocol from a physician[23] who maintains supervision of the midwife for directing the specific course of medical treatment. [24] Midwives are required to keep records of each patient served for at least five years. A midwife must submit a completed birth certificate for each birth attended to the registrar of vital statistics within five days following birth; and report all maternal deaths, newborn deaths, and stillbirths to the medical examiner immediately.[25] There is currently no requirement for midwives or other health professionals to report adverse incidents that occur within the midwives' scope of practice to the DOH.

Mandatory Reporting of Adverse Incidents

Under current law, certain professions, organizations, and facilities licensed or certified by the DOH and the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) are required to report adverse incidents to the DOH or AHCA[26] within a specified period.[27]

The term "adverse incident" is defined according to the specific statute or rule governing the particular profession, organization, or facility,28 but generally means an event in which the professional, organization, or facility personnel could exercise control, rather than as a result of the condition of the patient or resident for which such intervention occurred, and which results in death or serious injury29 to the patient or resident.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 amends s. 456.076(1), F.S., to define the terms: "impaired practitioner," "impairment," "inability to progress," "material noncompliance," and "practitioner." Defining these terms provides clarification to the DOH for contractual purposes and in legal proceedings.

This section deletes the provisions authorizing the DOH to adopt, by rule, the manner in which consultants work with the DOH in interventions, in evaluating and treating professionals, in providing and monitoring continued care of impaired professionals, and in expelling professionals from the program.

This section requires that, if the DOH elects to retain one or more consultants to operate its impaired practitioner program, the terms and conditions of the impaired practitioner programs must be specified by the contract between the DOH and consultant, which must contain the following agreements:[30]

- Accept referrals;
- Arrange for evaluation and treatment of impaired practitioners when the consultant deems it necessary;
- Monitor the impaired practitioner's recovery process until monitoring is no longer needed or the practitioner is terminated for material non-compliance[31] or an inability to progress,[32] and
- Not directly evaluate, treat, or otherwise provide patient care to a practitioner in the program.

This section requires the consultant to execute a participant contract with an impaired practitioner that addresses, among other things, the terms of the monitoring. The consultant may modify the terms of the monitoring if the consultant concludes that extended, additional, or amended terms are needed to protect the health, safety, and welfare of the public.

This section provides that when the DOH receives a legally sufficient complaint alleging that a practitioner has an impairment, and no complaint exists other than impairment, the DOH must refer the practitioner to the consultant, along with all information in the DOH's possession relating to the impairment. The impairment does not constitute grounds for discipline pursuant to s. 456.072, F.S., or the applicable practice act, if the practitioner:

- Has acknowledged the impairment;
- Becomes a participant in an impaired practitioner program and successfully completes a participant contract;
- Has voluntarily withdrawn from practice, or has limited the scope of his or her practice, if required by the consultant;
- Has provided to the consultant, or has authorized the consultant to obtain, all records and information relating to the impairment from any source and all other medical records of the practitioner requested by the consultant; and
- Has authorized the consultant, in the event of the practitioner's termination from the impaired practitioner program, to report the termination to the DOH and provide the department with copies of all information in the consultant's possession relating to the practitioner.[33]

This section provides an exception to the mandatory referral of practitioners by the DOH to the consultant for EMTs, paramedics, and EMS personnel certified by the DOH and employed by a governmental entity if the practitioner is under a referral to an employee assistance program offered by his or her employer through the governmental entity.[34] If the practitioner fails to

[31] The bill defines "material noncompliance" to mean an act or omission by a participant in violation of his or her participant contract as determined by the department or consultant.
[32] "Inability to progress" means a determination by a consultant based on a participant's response to treatment and prognosis that the participant is unable to safely practice despite compliance with the treatment requirement and his or her participant contract.
[34] Section 70.001(3)(c), F.S., defines "governmental entity" as an agency of the state, a regional or a local government created by the State Constitution or by general or special act, any county or municipality, or any other entity that complete the employee assistance program or is terminated by his or her employer, the employer is required to immediately notify the DOH, which must then refer the practitioner to the consultant pursuant to the terms of the impaired practitioner program and contract.

Under current law, probable cause panels reviewing complaints against a licensee may work directly with a consultant to determine if an impairment played a role in the complaint against a licensee, and what, if any, disciplinary action needs to be taken. This section requires the consultant to assist the DOH and licensure boards in matters involving impaired practitioners, including a determination of whether a practitioner is in fact impaired, rather than this process taking place before probable cause panels.

The mandatory requirement that the practitioner release all records and information relating to the impairment from any source, and all other medical records of the practitioner requested by the consultant, may be broader than the release requirement under current law.[35] Current law requires the practitioner to authorize the release of all records of evaluations, diagnoses and treatment of the licensee, including records of treatment for emotional or mental conditions, to the consultant.

This section modifies when a consultant must report an impaired practitioner in a treatment program to the DOH. Unless authorized by the participant, the consultant may not provide information to the DOH relating to a self-referring participant if the consultant has no knowledge of a pending DOH investigation, complaint, or disciplinary action against the participant, and if the participant is in compliance with the terms of the impaired practitioner program and contract.[36]

When a referral or participant is terminated from the impaired practitioner program for a material noncompliance with a participant contract, an inability to progress, or any other reason than completion, the consultant is required to disclose all information in the consultant's possession relating to the practitioner to the DOH. Such disclosure constitutes a complaint that the DOH will then investigate. Whenever the consultant concludes that impairment affects a practitioner's practice and constitutes an immediate, serious danger to the public health, safety, or welfare, the independently exercises governmental authority. The term does not include the United States or any of its agencies, or an agency of the state, a regional or a local government created by the State Constitution or by general or special act, any county or municipality, or any other entity that independently exercises governmental authority, when exercising the powers of the United States or any of its agencies through a formal delegation of federal authority.

[35] For example, in 2016, the Legislature enacted Senate Bill 964 authorizing, among other things, an impaired practitioner consultant indirect access to the Florida Prescription Drug Monitoring Program (PDMP) for the purpose of reviewing the database information of an impaired practitioner program participant or a referral who has separately agreed in writing to the consultant's access to and review of such information. See ss. 893.055(7)(c)5 and 893.0551(3)(h), F.S. This potentially creates a coercive method of requiring the practitioner to give up his or her PDMP records to the consultant, and by extension, to the DOH for disciplinary action. In order to attempt to avoid discipline for the practitioner, the bill requires the practitioner to release any information that relates to the practitioner's impairment, and any other records the consultant requests. The PDMP records would be medical records related to the impairment that the consultant would request the practitioner to release. Were the practitioner then to be terminated from the impaired practitioner program for any reason, the consultant would be required to turn those records over to the DOH. The DOH does not have authority to access these PDMP records, either directly or indirectly.

consultant is required to immediately communicate such conclusion to the DOH and provide all information in the consultant's possession relating to the practitioner to the DOH.[37]

A consultant may request of an approved evaluator, treatment program, or treatment provider, with the authorization of the practitioner when required by law, all information in its possession regarding a referral or participant. Failure to provide such information to the consultant is grounds for withdrawal of approval by the DOH of such evaluator, treatment program, or treatment provider.[38]

The confidential or exempt information obtained by the consultant retains its confidential or exempt status.[39] However, the bill does not provide any protection for the information once sent to the DOH, or obtained by an evaluator or treatment provider, from a public records request.

This section protects the consultant, or a director, officer, employee, or agent of a consultant, from financial liability or any other cause of action for damages related to making a disclosure, or for any action or omission, against a license, registration, or certification.[40] Under current law a consultant, the consultant's officers and employees, and those acting at the direction of the consultant are considered agents of the DOH, and have sovereign immunity while acting within the course and scope of their contract.[41] The bill extends that protection to include directors, officers, employees or agents of a consultant.[42] The provisions of s. 766.101, F.S., apply to any consultant and the consultant's directors, officers, employees, or agents in regards to providing information relating to a participant to a medical review committee if the participant authorizes such disclosure.[43]

This section directs the Department of Financial Services to defend the consultant, consultant's directors, officers, employees and agents against any claim, suit, action, or proceeding for injunction, affirmative, or declaratory relief, as the result of any action or omission relating to the impaired practitioner program.[44]

This section provides that, if another state agency retains a consultant under contract with the DOH, the provisions of the contract between the DOH and the consultant applies to the consultant's operation of an impaired practitioner program for that agency.

A consultant may disclose to a referral or participant, or to the legal representative of the referral or participant, the documents, records, or other information from the consultant's file, including information received by the consultant from other sources, and information on the terms required for the referral's or participant's monitoring contract, the referral's or participant's progress or inability to progress, the referral's or participant's discharge or termination, information supporting the conclusion of material noncompliance, or any other information required by law.

If a consultant discloses information to the DOH in accordance with this program, a referral or participant, or his or her legal representative, may obtain a complete copy of the consultant's file from the consultant or the DOH.[45]

Section 2 amends s. 401.411(1)(l), F.S., to authorize emergency medical personnel that become aware of an individual in their profession that is impaired due to illness, the use of alcohol or drugs, or as a result of a mental or physical condition, to report the individual to the consultant rather than the DOH, as required under current law, without facing disciplinary action.

Section 4 amends s. 456.0635(2)-(3), F.S., to exempt individuals convicted of, or entered a plea of guilty or nolo contendere to, disqualifying offenses prior to July 1, 2009, from being disqualified for licensure, preventing retroactive applicability. This section also authorizes the DOH to allow an individual to sit for an examination or issue or renew a license, certificate, or registration for a person who is convicted of, or enters a plea of guilty or nolo contendere, to a disqualifying felony if the applicant successfully completes a pretrial diversion program and provides proof that the plea has been withdrawn or the charges have been dismissed.

Sections 5 through 13, 15 through 18, 20, and 21 amend s. 456.072, F.S., and various statutes,[46] to authorize a practitioner to report another impaired professional to a consultant, rather than the DOH or applicable regulatory board, without facing disciplinary action.

Section 22 requires a licensed midwife or health care provider to report any adverse incident resulting from an attempted or completed planned birth performed at a birthing center or otherwise off the premises of a hospital, to the DOH within 15 days. This section requires the DOH to adopt rules establishing guidelines for reporting adverse incidents, which shall at a minimum include:

- Intrapartum and postpartum[47] maternal deaths;
- Transfers of maternal or infant patients to a hospital intensive care unit (ICU) under certain conditions;[48]
- Maternal patients who experience hemorrhagic shock or require a blood transfusion;[49] and
- Fetal or infant deaths, including stillbirths,[50] associated with obstetrical deliveries.

Section 23 provides for the bill to take effect upon becoming a law.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

The bill protects the confidential or exempt information obtained by the consultant from a public records request; but the bill does not protect any of the information sent to the DOH, or obtained by an evaluator or treatment provider, from a public records request.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. Other Constitutional Issues:

The bill's definitions of, "inability to progress," and "material noncompliance," may create due process issues as conclusive presumptions.[51]

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

None.

C. Government Sector Impact:

Due to the expansion of individuals who are afforded a defense by the Department of Financial Services for claims, actions, suits, or proceedings, there may be an insignificant indeterminate negative fiscal impact on the Risk Management Trust Fund.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 456.076, 401.411, 455.227, 456.0635, 456.072, 457.109, 458.331, 459.015, 460.413, 461.013, 462.14, 463.016, 464.018, 464.204, 465.016, 466.028, 467.203, 468.217, 468.3101, 474.221, and 483.825.

CS by Health Policy on March 14, 2017:
The CS:

(m) "Treatment provider" means a department- or consultant-approved state-licensed or nationally certified individual who provides treatment to an impaired practitioner based on the practitioner's individual diagnosis and a treatment plan approved by the consultant ~~For professions that do not have impaired practitioner programs provided for in their practice acts, the department shall, by rule, designate approved impaired practitioner programs under this section. The department may adopt rules setting forth appropriate criteria for approval of treatment providers. The rules may specify the manner in which the consultant, retained as set forth in subsection (2), works with the department in intervention, requirements for evaluating and treating a professional, requirements for continued care of impaired professionals by approved treatment providers, continued monitoring by the consultant of the care provided by approved treatment providers regarding the professionals under their care, and requirements related to the consultant's expulsion of professionals from the program~~.

(2)~~(a)~~ The department may ~~shall~~ retain one or more ~~impaired practitioner~~ consultants to operate its impaired practitioner program. Each consultant ~~who are each licensees under the jurisdiction of the Division of Medical Quality Assurance within the department and who~~ must be:

(a)~~1.~~ A practitioner ~~or recovered practitioner~~ licensed under chapter 458, chapter 459, or part I of chapter 464; or

(b)~~2.~~ An entity that employs:

1.~~a.~~ A medical director who is ~~must be a practitioner or recovered practitioner~~ licensed under chapter 458 or chapter 459; or

2.~~b.~~ An executive director who is ~~must be a registered nurse or a recovered registered nurse~~ licensed under part I of chapter 464.

(3) The terms and conditions of the impaired practitioner program must be established by the department by contract with a consultant for the protection of the health, safety, and welfare of the public and must provide, at a minimum, that the consultant:

(a) Accepts referrals;

(b) Arranges for the evaluation and treatment of impaired practitioners by a treatment provider, when the consultant deems the evaluation and treatment necessary;

(c) Monitors the recovery progress and status of impaired practitioners to ensure that such practitioners are able to practice their profession with skill and safety. Such monitoring must continue until the consultant or department concludes that monitoring by the consultant is no longer required for the protection of the public or until the practitioner's participation in the program is terminated for material noncompliance or inability to progress; and

(d) Does not directly evaluate, treat, or otherwise provide patient care to a practitioner in the operation of the impaired practitioner program.

(4) The department shall specify, in its contract with each consultant, the types of licenses, registrations, or certifications of the practitioners to be served by that consultant.

(5) A consultant shall enter into a participant contract with an impaired practitioner and shall establish the terms of monitoring and shall include the terms in a participant contract. In establishing the terms of monitoring, the consultant may consider the recommendations of one or more approved evaluators, treatment programs, or treatment providers. A consultant may modify the terms of monitoring if the consultant concludes, through the course of monitoring, that extended, additional, or amended terms of monitoring are required for the protection of the health, safety, and welfare of the public.

(6) ~~(b)~~ A ~~An entity retained as an impaired practitioner~~ consultant ~~under this section which employs a medical director or an executive director~~ is not required to be licensed as a substance abuse provider or mental health treatment provider under chapter 394, chapter 395, or chapter 397 for purposes of providing services under this program.

(7) ~~(c) 1.~~ Each ~~The~~ consultant shall assist the department and licensure boards on matters of impaired practitioners, including the determination of ~~probable cause panel and the department in carrying out the responsibilities of this section. This includes working with department investigators to determine~~ whether a practitioner is, in fact, impaired, as specified in the consultant's contract with the department.

~~2. The consultant may contract with a school or program to provide services to a student enrolled for the purpose of preparing for licensure as a health care practitioner as defined in this chapter or as a veterinarian under chapter 474 if the student is allegedly impaired as a result of the misuse or abuse of alcohol or drugs, or both, or due to a mental or physical condition. The department is not responsible for paying for the care provided by approved treatment providers or a consultant.~~

~~(d) A medical school accredited by the Liaison Committee on Medical Education or the Commission on Osteopathic College~~

~~Accreditation, or another school providing for the education of students enrolled in preparation for licensure as a health care practitioner as defined in this chapter or a veterinarian under chapter 474 which is governed by accreditation standards requiring notice and the provision of due process procedures to students, is not liable in any civil action for referring a student to the consultant retained by the department or for disciplinary actions that adversely affect the status of a student when the disciplinary actions are instituted in reasonable reliance on the recommendations, reports, or conclusions provided by such consultant, if the school, in referring the student or taking disciplinary action, adheres to the due process procedures adopted by the applicable accreditation entities and if the school committed no intentional fraud in carrying out the provisions of this section.~~

(8) ~~(3)~~ Before issuing an approval of, or intent to deny, an application for licensure, each board and profession within the Division of Medical Quality Assurance may delegate to its chair or other designee its authority to determine~~, before certifying or declining to certify an application for licensure to the department,~~ that an applicant for licensure under its jurisdiction may have an impairment ~~be impaired as a result of the misuse or abuse of alcohol or drugs, or both, or due to a mental or physical condition that could affect the applicant's ability to practice with skill and safety~~. Upon such determination, the chair or other designee may refer the applicant to the consultant to facilitate ~~for~~ an evaluation before the board issues an approval of, ~~certifies~~ or intent to deny, ~~declines to certify~~ his or her application ~~to the department~~. If the applicant agrees to be evaluated ~~by the consultant~~, the department's deadline for approving or denying the application pursuant to s. 120.60(1) is tolled until the evaluation is completed and the result of the evaluation and recommendation ~~by the consultant~~ is communicated to the board by the consultant. If the applicant declines to be evaluated ~~by the consultant~~, the board shall issue an approval of, or intent to deny, ~~certify or decline to certify~~ the applicant's application ~~to the department~~ notwithstanding the lack of an evaluation and recommendation by the consultant.

(9)(a) ~~(4)(a)~~ Except as provided in paragraph (b), when ~~Whenever~~ the department receives a ~~written or oral~~ legally sufficient complaint alleging that a practitioner has an impairment ~~licensee under the jurisdiction of the Division of Medical Quality Assurance within the department is impaired as a result of the misuse or abuse of alcohol or drugs, or both, or due to a mental or physical condition which could affect the licensee's ability to practice with skill and safety,~~ and no complaint exists against the practitioner ~~licensee~~ other than impairment ~~exists~~, the department shall refer the practitioner to the consultant, along with all information in the department's possession relating to the impairment. The impairment does ~~reporting of such information shall~~ not constitute grounds for discipline pursuant to s. 456.072 or ~~the corresponding grounds for discipline within~~ the applicable practice act if ~~the probable cause panel of the appropriate board, or the department when there is no board, finds~~:

1. The practitioner ~~licensee~~ has acknowledged the impairment; ~~problem.~~

2. The practitioner becomes a participant ~~licensee has voluntarily enrolled~~ in an impaired practitioner program and successfully completes a participant contract under terms established by the consultant; ~~appropriate, approved treatment program.~~

3. The practitioner ~~licensee~~ has voluntarily withdrawn from practice or has limited the scope of his or her practice if ~~as~~ required by the consultant;~~, in each case, until such time as the panel, or the department when there is no board, is satisfied the licensee has successfully completed an approved treatment program.~~

4. The practitioner ~~licensee~~ has provided to the consultant, or has authorized the consultant to obtain, all records and information relating to the impairment from any source and all other medical records of the practitioner requested by the consultant; and ~~executed releases for medical records, authorizing the release of all records of evaluations, diagnoses, and treatment of the licensee, including records of treatment for emotional or mental conditions, to the consultant. The consultant shall make no copies or reports of records that do not regard the issue of the licensee's impairment and his or her participation in a treatment program.~~

5. The practitioner has authorized the consultant, in the event of the practitioner's termination from the impaired practitioner program, to report the termination to the department and provide the department with copies of all information in the consultant's possession relating to the practitioner.

(b) For practitioners who are employed by governmental entities and who are also certified by the department pursuant to part III of chapter 401, the department may not refer the practitioner to the consultant if the practitioner is under a referral by the practitioner's employer to an employee assistance program through the governmental entity. If the practitioner fails to satisfactorily complete the employee assistance program or if his or her employment is terminated, his or her employer must immediately notify the department, which shall then refer the practitioner to the consultant as required in paragraph (a). For purposes of this paragraph, the term "governmental entity" has the same meaning as provided in s. 70.001(3)(c).

(o) Failing to report to the department a person or other licensee who the licensee knows is in violation of this chapter or the rules of the department or board adopted hereunder. However, a person or other licensee who the licensee knows is unable to perform or report on clinical laboratory examinations with reasonable skill and safety to patients by reason of illness or use of alcohol, drugs, narcotics, chemicals, or any other type of material, or as a result of a mental or physical condition, may be reported to a consultant operating an impaired practitioner program as described in s. 456.076 rather than to the department.

Section 22. Section 456.0495, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

456.0495 Reporting adverse incidents occurring in out-of-hospital births.—

(1) A midwife licensed under chapter 467 or health care provider, as applicable, shall report any adverse incident, as defined by department rule, occurring as a result of an attempted or completed, planned birthing center or out-of-hospital birth, along with a medical summary of events, to the department within 15 days after the adverse incident occurs.

(2) The department shall adopt rules establishing guidelines for reporting adverse incidents, including, but not limited to:

(a) Maternal deaths that occur during delivery or within 42 days after delivery.

(b) Transfers of maternal patients to a hospital intensive care unit.

(c) Maternal patients who experience hemorrhagic shock or who require a transfusion of more than 4 units of blood or blood products.

(d) Fetal or infant deaths, including stillbirths, associated with obstetrical deliveries.

(e) Transfers of infants to a neonatal intensive care unit due to a traumatic physical or neurological birth injury, including any degree of a brachial plexus injury.

(f) Transfers of infants to a neonatal intensive care unit within the first 72 hours after birth if the infant remains in such unit for more than 72 hours.

Section 23. This act shall take effect upon becoming a law.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 876 revises multiple statutory provisions relating to treatment programs for impaired health care providers. Primarily, it clarifies in law the roles and responsibilities of the parties involved in the program, including the Department of Health (DOH), consultant, evaluator, treatment provider, and impaired practitioner. The bill removes the current authority granted to the DOH to specify by rule the manner in which consultants must work with the DOH in intervening, evaluating, treating, monitoring, providing continuing care, or expelling a professional from the program. This will now be governed by a contract between the DOH and each consultant. The bill defines certain terms relating to impaired practitioner programs, and provides that a licensee may report an impaired practitioner to a consultant who operates an impaired practitioner program, rather than to the DOH, under certain circumstances.

The bill authorizes the DOH to issue or renew a license for an individual convicted of, or entered a plea of guilty or nolo contendere to, a disqualifying offense before July 1, 2009, when the licensure disqualification law was enacted. The bill authorizes the DOH to issue or renew the license of an individual convicted of, or enters a plea of guilty or nolo contendere to, a disqualifying felony if the applicant successfully completes a pretrial diversion program and the plea has been withdrawn or the charges have been dismissed.

The bill requires a licensed midwife or health care provider to report any adverse incident resulting from an attempted or completed planned birth performed at a birthing center or otherwise off the premises of a hospital, to the DOH within 15 days.

The bill has no impact on state revenues or expenditures.

The bill takes effect upon becoming a law.

II. Present Situation:

Treatment Programs for Impaired Practitioners

Section 456.076, F.S., provides resources to assist licensees[1] in health care professions[2] who are impaired as a result of the misuse or abuse of alcohol or drugs, or as a result of any mental or physical condition, which could affect the licensees' ability to practice with skill and safety.[3] For professions that do not have impaired practitioner programs provided for them in their practice acts, the DOH designates approved impaired practitioner programs.

The DOH is required to retain one or more impaired practitioner consultants licensed under the jurisdiction of the Division of Medical Quality Assurance (MQA) within the DOH and who is a licensed physician or nurse; or an entity that employs a medical director who is a licensed physician, or an executive director who is a licensed nurse.

There are currently two department-approved treatment consultants for the impaired practitioner programs in Florida: the Professionals Resource Network (PRN) and the Intervention Project for Nurses (IPN).[4]

The PRN provides evaluations, treatment referrals, and monitoring for all health professions, except nursing and certified nursing assistants.[5,6] The IPN provides these services to nurses and certified nursing assistants.[7] These consultants initiate interventions, recommend evaluations, and refer impaired licensees to treatment programs or treatment providers approved by the DOH, and monitor the progress of impaired licensees. The PRN and IPN do not provide medical services. They act as liaisons between the DOH and approved treatment programs and providers. The DOH is not responsible for paying for the care provided by approved treatment providers or a consultant.

A medical school, nursing program, or other health professional school may also contract with the PRN or IPN to provide services to an enrolled student if the student is allegedly impaired as a result of the misuse or abuse of alcohol or drugs, or both, or due to a mental or physical condition.[8]

The IPN and PRN, if requested, also serve as consultants to the DOH in cases that come before the practice boards or the DOH, including credentialing and monitoring of applicants, and assisting in the development of plans for licensee practice in a structured environment. They must also be available to testify in administrative hearings and other legal proceedings on behalf of the DOH.

Whenever a consultant, licensee, or approved treatment provider makes a disclosure of confidential information regarding a licensee to the DOH pursuant to law, that individual is not subject to civil liability for such disclosure or its consequences. If the contract with the consultant contains specified provisions, the consultant, the consultant's officers and employees, and those acting at the direction of the consultant are considered agents of the DOH for purposes of s. 768.28, F.S., relating to sovereign immunity.

The Department of Financial Services is required to defend the consultant, its officers and employees, and those acting at the direction of the consultant for the limited purpose of an emergency intervention when the consultant is unable to perform the intervention, from any legal action brought as a result of the consultant's duties under the DOH contract.[9]

When the DOH receives a legally sufficient[10] complaint alleging that a licensee is impaired, and no other complaint against the licensee exists, the reporting of such information does not constitute grounds for discipline if certain conditions are met.[11] Those conditions include findings by the appropriate board's probable cause panel,[12] or the DOH, if there is no board, that the licensee:

- Acknowledged the impairment problem;
- Enrolled in an appropriate, approved treatment program;
- Voluntarily withdrew from practice, or limited the scope of his or her practice, until he or she successfully completed the treatment program; and
- Released his or her medical records to the consultant.

If the DOH has not received a legally sufficient complaint, other than impairment, and the licensee agrees to withdraw from practice until such time as the consultant determines the

[12] A probable cause panel is a panel designated by rule of each regulatory board that reviews investigative information related to a complaint to determine whether probable cause exists that a health care practitioner violated statutes governing the practice of the licensee's profession. If probable cause exists, the probable cause panel will direct DOH to file a formal complaint against the licensee. See s. 456.073(4), F.S.

licensee has satisfactorily completed an evaluation and approved treatment program, if appropriate, neither the probable cause panel nor the DOH will become involved in the case.[13]

If an impaired licensee fails to complete, or satisfactorily progress in, a treatment program, the consultant must follow specific procedures set forth in the contract with the DOH, up to and including, sending notification to the DOH of the dismissal of a licensee from the program and for the DOH to initiate disciplinary action.[14] When a licensee is dismissed from a treatment program, the consultant provides an evaluation of the licensee's impairment condition to the DOH. The evaluation is used by the DOH to determine if the licensee poses an immediate and serious danger to the public for the purpose of issuing an emergency order restricting or suspending his or her license to practice.

A licensee is required to report to the appropriate board or the DOH, if there is no board, any person who the licensee knows is in violation of ch. 456, F.S., the chapter regulating the alleged violator, or the rules of the department or the board.[15] This requirement also includes any person unable to practice with reasonable skill and safety to patients due to the misuse or abuse of alcohol or drugs, or as a result of any mental or physical condition.

Section 401.411, F.S., sets forth disciplinary guidelines for the DOH to take action against emergency medical technicians (EMTs), paramedics, and emergency medical services (EMS) personnel. The guidelines include a penalty for failure to report any person known to be in violation of s. 401.411, F.S.[16] The guidelines also include a penalty for practicing as an EMT, paramedic, or EMS personnel without reasonable skill and without regard for the safety of the public because of illness, drunkenness, or the use of drugs, narcotics, chemicals, or any other substance, or as a result of any mental or physical condition.[17]

Disqualification from Licensure

In 2009, a law was enacted that prohibited the DOH from issuing or renewing the license of an individual who was convicted of, or entered a plea of nolo contendere to, regardless of adjudication of certain felonies related to Medicaid, Medicare, fraud, or controlled substances.[18] In 2012, the law was amended to create a tiered system of exclusions based on the severity of the crime and the amount of time elapsed between the crime and the application for licensure and provided an exception.[19]

Current law prohibits a board or the DOH, if there is no board, from allowing a person to sit for an examination or issue a license, certificate, or registration, if the applicant has been convicted of a felony under ch. 409, F.S., relating to social and economic programs, including Medicaid; ch. 817, F.S., relating to fraud; or ch. 893, F.S., relating to controlled substances; or a similar felony offense committed in another jurisdiction unless the individual successfully completed a drug court program for the felony and the plea was withdrawn or the charges were dismissed. A board or the DOH, if there is no board, may allow an applicant to sit for an examination or issue a license, certificate, or registration if the sentence or any related period of probation for a conviction ended:

- More than 15 years before the date of application for felonies of the first or second degree;
- More than 10 years before the date of application for felonies of the third degree, except for those under s. 893.13(6)(a), F.S.;[20] or
- More than 5 years before the date of application for felonies of the third degree under s. 893.13(6)(a), F.S.

These exclusions also apply to an applicant who:

- Has been convicted of, or entered a plea of guilty or no contest to, regardless of adjudication, a felony under 21 U.S.C. ss. 801-970 or 42 U.S.C. ss. 1395-1396, unless the sentence and any subsequent period of probation for such convictions or plea ended more than 15 years before the date of application; or
- Is listed on the United States Department of Health and Human Services Office of Inspector General's List of Excluded Individuals and Entities.

Additionally, a board or the DOH is prohibited from renewing a license, certification, or registration if the applicant or candidate falls under the same restrictions established for initial licensure, certification, or registration. The same exceptions to the restrictions on initial licensure, certification, or registration apply for renewal applications; however, the renewal applicant or candidate must show that he or she is currently enrolled in a drug court program, rather than showing successful completion, as required of initial applicants. This disqualification from licensure – for felony convictions or pleas of guilty or no contest of the specified violations – did not apply until 2016 to applicants for initial licensure or certification, who were enrolled in a recognized training or education program as of July 1, 2009, and who applied for initial licensure after July 1, 2012. In 2016, this exception to the disqualification was repealed because individuals who were denied renewal based on one of the offenses, regardless of the date it was committed, were able to reapply and obtain new licenses based on the exemption.

Midwifery in Florida

The practice of midwifery in Florida provides expectant mothers and their families the freedom to choose the manner, cost, and setting for giving birth. The DOH regulates the practice of midwifery to ensure the proper care of mothers and their infants throughout the prenatal, intrapartum, and postpartum periods of pregnancy, labor, and delivery.[21] Accordingly, individuals wishing to practice midwifery in this state must be licensed by the DOH.[22]

[20] Section 893.13(6)(a), F.S., makes it unlawful for a person to be in actual or constructive possession of a controlled substance unless such controlled substance was lawfully obtained from a practitioner or pursuant to a valid prescription, or order, of a practitioner while acting the course of his or her professional practice; or to be in actual or constructive possession of a controlled substance except as otherwise authorized under ch. 893, F.S. Any person who violates this provision commits a felony in the third degree.

A midwife's scope of practice includes providing care for only those mothers who are expected to have a normal pregnancy, labor, and delivery. A midwife may provide collaborative prenatal and postpartum care to pregnant women not at low risk in their pregnancy, labor, and delivery, within a written protocol from a physician[23] who maintains supervision of the midwife for directing the specific course of medical treatment. [24] Midwives are required to keep records of each patient served for at least five years. A midwife must submit a completed birth certificate for each birth attended to the registrar of vital statistics within five days following birth; and report all maternal deaths, newborn deaths, and stillbirths to the medical examiner immediately.[25] There is currently no requirement for midwives or other health professionals to report adverse incidents that occur within the midwives' scope of practice to the DOH.

Mandatory Reporting of Adverse Incidents

Under current law, certain professions, organizations, and facilities licensed or certified by the DOH and the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) are required to report adverse incidents to the DOH or AHCA[26] within a specified period.[27]

The term "adverse incident" is defined according to the specific statute or rule governing the particular profession, organization, or facility,[28] but generally means an event in which the professional, organization, or facility personnel could exercise control, rather than as a result of the condition of the patient or resident for which such intervention occurred, and which results in death or serious injury[29] to the patient or resident.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 amends s. 456.076(1), F.S., to define the terms: "impaired practitioner," "impairment," "inability to progress," "material noncompliance," and "practitioner." Defining these terms provides clarification to the DOH for contractual purposes and in legal proceedings.

This section deletes the provisions authorizing the DOH to adopt, by rule, the manner in which consultants work with the DOH in interventions, in evaluating and treating professionals, in providing and monitoring continued care of impaired professionals, and in expelling professionals from the program.

[27] Id. All of these professions, organizations, and facilities – with the exception of dentists and dental hygienists, health maintenance organizations (HMOs), and prepaid health clinics – are required to report an adverse incident to DOH or AHCA within 15 days. HMOs and prepaid health clinics are required to report the adverse incident to the AHCA within 3 working days after its first occurrence, and must submit a more detailed report within 10 days after the first report. Pursuant to Rule 64B5-14.006, F.A.C., dentists and dental hygienists are required to report the adverse occurrence that occurs in the dentist's outpatient facility within 48 hours, and must submit a more detailed report within 30 days, of its first occurrence.
[29] Depending on the profession, organization, or facility, serious injury includes brain or spinal damage; permanent disfigurement; limitation of neurological, physical, or sensory function; or a fracture or dislocation of bones or joints.

This section requires that, if the DOH elects to retain one or more consultants to operate its impaired practitioner program, the terms and conditions of the impaired practitioner programs must be specified by the contract between the DOH and consultant, which must contain the following agreements:[30]

- Accept referrals;
- Arrange for evaluation and treatment of impaired practitioners when the consultant deems it necessary;
- Monitor the impaired practitioner's recovery process until monitoring is no longer needed or the practitioner is terminated for material non-compliance[31] or an inability to progress,[32] and
- Not directly evaluate, treat, or otherwise provide patient care to a practitioner in the program.

This section requires the consultant to execute a participant contract with an impaired practitioner that addresses, among other things, the terms of the monitoring. The consultant may modify the terms of the monitoring if the consultant concludes that extended, additional, or amended terms are needed to protect the health, safety, and welfare of the public.

This section provides that when the DOH receives a legally sufficient complaint alleging that a practitioner has an impairment, and no complaint exists other than impairment, the DOH must refer the practitioner to the consultant, along with all information in the DOH's possession relating to the impairment. The impairment does not constitute grounds for discipline pursuant to s. 456.072, F.S., or the applicable practice act, if the practitioner:

- Has acknowledged the impairment;
- Becomes a participant in an impaired practitioner program and successfully completes a participant contract;
- Has voluntarily withdrawn from practice, or has limited the scope of his or her practice, if required by the consultant;
- Has provided to the consultant, or has authorized the consultant to obtain, all records and information relating to the impairment from any source and all other medical records of the practitioner requested by the consultant; and
- Has authorized the consultant, in the event of the practitioner's termination from the impaired practitioner program, to report the termination to the DOH and provide the department with copies of all information in the consultant's possession relating to the practitioner.[33]

This section provides an exception to the mandatory referral of practitioners by the DOH to the consultant for EMTs, paramedics, and EMS personnel certified by the DOH and employed by a governmental entity if the practitioner is under a referral to an employee assistance program offered by his or her employer through the governmental entity.[34] If the practitioner fails to

[31] The bill defines "material noncompliance" to mean an act or omission by a participant in violation of his or her participant contract as determined by the department or consultant.
[32] "Inability to progress" means a determination by a consultant based on a participant's response to treatment and prognosis that the participant is unable to safely practice despite compliance with the treatment requirement and his or her participant contract.
[34] Section 70.001(3)(c), F.S., defines "governmental entity" as an agency of the state, a regional or a local government created by the State Constitution or by general or special act, any county or municipality, or any other entity that complete the employee assistance program or is terminated by his or her employer, the employer is required to immediately notify the DOH, which must then refer the practitioner to the consultant pursuant to the terms of the impaired practitioner program and contract.

Under current law, probable cause panels reviewing complaints against a licensee may work directly with a consultant to determine if an impairment played a role in the complaint against a licensee, and what, if any, disciplinary action needs to be taken. This section requires the consultant to assist the DOH and licensure boards in matters involving impaired practitioners, including a determination of whether a practitioner is in fact impaired, rather than this process taking place before probable cause panels.

The mandatory requirement that the practitioner release all records and information relating to the impairment from any source, and all other medical records of the practitioner requested by the consultant, may be broader than the release requirement under current law.[35] Current law requires the practitioner to authorize the release of all records of evaluations, diagnoses and treatment of the licensee, including records of treatment for emotional or mental conditions, to the consultant.

This section modifies when a consultant must report an impaired practitioner in a treatment program to the DOH. Unless authorized by the participant, the consultant may not provide information to the DOH relating to a self-referring participant if the consultant has no knowledge of a pending DOH investigation, complaint, or disciplinary action against the participant, and if the participant is in compliance with the terms of the impaired practitioner program and contract.[36]

When a referral or participant is terminated from the impaired practitioner program for a material noncompliance with a participant contract, an inability to progress, or any other reason than completion, the consultant is required to disclose all information in the consultant's possession relating to the practitioner to the DOH. Such disclosure constitutes a complaint that the DOH will then investigate. Whenever the consultant concludes that impairment affects a practitioner's practice and constitutes an immediate, serious danger to the public health, safety, or welfare, the independently exercises governmental authority. The term does not include the United States or any of its agencies, or an agency of the state, a regional or a local government created by the State Constitution or by general or special act, any county or municipality, or any other entity that independently exercises governmental authority, when exercising the powers of the United States or any of its agencies through a formal delegation of federal authority.

[35] For example, in 2016, the Legislature enacted Senate Bill 964 authorizing, among other things, an impaired practitioner consultant indirect access to the Florida Prescription Drug Monitoring Program (PDMP) for the purpose of reviewing the database information of an impaired practitioner program participant or a referral who has separately agreed in writing to the consultant's access to and review of such information. See ss. 893.055(7)(c)5 and 893.0551(3)(h), F.S. This potentially creates a coercive method of requiring the practitioner to give up his or her PDMP records to the consultant, and by extension, to the DOH for disciplinary action. In order to attempt to avoid discipline for the practitioner, the bill requires the practitioner to release any information that relates to the practitioner's impairment, and any other records the consultant requests. The PDMP records would be medical records related to the impairment that the consultant would request the practitioner to release. Were the practitioner then to be terminated from the impaired practitioner program for any reason, the consultant would be required to turn those records over to the DOH. The DOH does not have authority to access these PDMP records, either directly or indirectly.

[36] See s. 465.076(9)(b), F.S., of the bill

consultant is required to immediately communicate such conclusion to the DOH and provide all information in the consultant's possession relating to the practitioner to the DOH.[37]

A consultant may request of an approved evaluator, treatment program, or treatment provider, with the authorization of the practitioner when required by law, all information in its possession regarding a referral or participant. Failure to provide such information to the consultant is grounds for withdrawal of approval by the DOH of such evaluator, treatment program, or treatment provider.[38]

The confidential or exempt information obtained by the consultant retains its confidential or exempt status.[39] However, the bill does not provide any protection for the information once sent to the DOH, or obtained by an evaluator or treatment provider, from a public records request.

This section protects the consultant, or a director, officer, employee, or agent of a consultant, from financial liability or any other cause of action for damages related to making a disclosure, or for any action or omission, against a license, registration, or certification.[40] Under current law a consultant, the consultant's officers and employees, and those acting at the direction of the consultant are considered agents of the DOH, and have sovereign immunity while acting within the course and scope of their contract.[41] The bill extends that protection to include directors, officers, employees or agents of a consultant.[42] The provisions of s. 766.101, F.S., apply to any consultant and the consultant's directors, officers, employees, or agents in regards to providing information relating to a participant to a medical review committee if the participant authorizes such disclosure.[43]

This section directs the Department of Financial Services to defend the consultant, consultant's directors, officers, employees and agents against any claim, suit, action, or proceeding for injunction, affirmative, or declaratory relief, as the result of any action or omission relating to the impaired practitioner program.[44]

This section provides that, if another state agency retains a consultant under contract with the DOH, the provisions of the contract between the DOH and the consultant applies to the consultant's operation of an impaired practitioner program for that agency.

A consultant may disclose to a referral or participant, or to the legal representative of the referral or participant, the documents, records, or other information from the consultant's file, including information received by the consultant from other sources, and information on the terms required for the referral's or participant's monitoring contract, the referral's or participant's progress or inability to progress, the referral's or participant's discharge or termination, information supporting the conclusion of material noncompliance, or any other information required by law.

If a consultant discloses information to the DOH in accordance with this program, a referral or participant, or his or her legal representative, may obtain a complete copy of the consultant's file from the consultant or the DOH.[45]

Section 2 amends s. 401.411(1)(l), F.S., to authorize emergency medical personnel that become aware of an individual in their profession that is impaired due to illness, the use of alcohol or drugs, or as a result of a mental or physical condition, to report the individual to the consultant rather than the DOH, as required under current law, without facing disciplinary action.

Section 4 amends s. 456.0635(2)-(3), F.S., to exempt individuals convicted of, or entered a plea of guilty or nolo contendere to, disqualifying offenses prior to July 1, 2009, from being disqualified for licensure, preventing retroactive applicability. This section also authorizes the DOH to allow an individual to sit for an examination or issue or renew a license, certificate, or registration for a person who is convicted of, or enters a plea of guilty or nolo contendere, to a disqualifying felony if the applicant successfully completes a pretrial diversion program and provides proof that the plea has been withdrawn or the charges have been dismissed.

Sections 5 through 13, 15 through 18, 20, and 21 amend s. 456.072, F.S., and various statutes,[46] to authorize a practitioner to report another impaired professional to a consultant, rather than the DOH or applicable regulatory board, without facing disciplinary action.

Section 22 requires a licensed midwife or health care provider to report any adverse incident resulting from an attempted or completed planned birth performed at a birthing center or otherwise off the premises of a hospital, to the DOH within 15 days. This section requires the DOH to adopt rules establishing guidelines for reporting adverse incidents, which shall at a minimum include:

- Intrapartum and postpartum[47] maternal deaths;
- Transfers of maternal or infant patients to a hospital intensive care unit (ICU) under certain conditions;[48]
- Maternal patients who experience hemorrhagic shock or require a blood transfusion;[49] and
- Fetal or infant deaths, including stillbirths,[50] associated with obstetrical deliveries.

Section 23 provides for the bill to take effect upon becoming a law.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

The bill protects the confidential or exempt information obtained by the consultant from a public records request; but the bill does not protect any of the information sent to the DOH, or obtained by an evaluator or treatment provider, from a public records request.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. Other Constitutional Issues:

The bill's definitions of, "inability to progress," and "material noncompliance," may create due process issues as conclusive presumptions.[51]

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

None.

C. Government Sector Impact:

Due to the expansion of individuals who are afforded a defense by the Department of Financial Services for claims, actions, suits, or proceedings, there may be an insignificant indeterminate negative fiscal impact on the Risk Management Trust Fund.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

[51] A "conclusive presumption" is one in which proof of a basic fact renders the existence of the presumed fact conclusive and irrevocable regardless of any evidence to the contrary. Black's Law Dictionary, 6th Ed., 1992.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 456.076, 401.411, 455.227, 456.0635, 456.072, 457.109, 458.331, 459.015, 460.413, 461.013, 462.14, 463.016, 464.018, 464.204, 465.016, 466.028, 467.203, 468.217, 468.3101, 474.221, and 483.825.

consultant ~~under this section which employs a medical director or an executive director~~ is not required to be licensed as a substance abuse provider or mental health treatment provider under chapter 394, chapter 395, or chapter 397 for purposes of providing services under this program.

(7) ~~(c) 1.~~ Each ~~The~~ consultant shall assist the department and licensure boards on matters of impaired practitioners, including the determination of ~~probable cause panel and the department in carrying out the responsibilities of this section. (8) ~~(3)~~ Before issuing an approval of, or intent to deny, an application for licensure, each board and profession within the Division of Medical Quality Assurance may delegate to its chair or other designee its authority to determine~~, before certifying or declining to certify an application for licensure to the department,~~ that an applicant for licensure under its jurisdiction may have an impairment ~~be impaired as a result of the misuse or abuse of alcohol or drugs, or both, or due to a mental or physical condition that could affect the applicant's ability to practice with skill and safety~~. The impairment does ~~reporting of such information shall~~ not constitute grounds for discipline pursuant to s. 456.072 or ~~the corresponding grounds for discipline within~~ the applicable practice act if ~~the probable cause panel of the appropriate board, or the department when there is no board, finds~~:

1. The practitioner ~~licensee~~ has acknowledged the impairment; ~~problem.~~

2. The practitioner becomes a participant ~~licensee has voluntarily enrolled~~ in an impaired practitioner program and successfully completes a participant contract under terms established by the consultant; ~~appropriate, approved treatment program.~~

3. The practitioner ~~licensee~~ has voluntarily withdrawn from practice or has limited the scope of his or her practice if ~~as~~ required by the consultant;~~, in each case, until such time as the panel, or the department when there is no board, is satisfied the licensee has successfully completed an approved treatment program.~~

The practitioner ~~licensee~~ has provided to the consultant, or has authorized the consultant to obtain, all records and information relating to the impairment from any source and all other medical records of the practitioner requested by the consultant; and ~~executed releases for medical records, authorizing the release of all records of evaluations, diagnoses, and treatment of the licensee, including records of treatment for emotional or mental conditions, to the consultant. The consultant shall make no copies or reports of records that do not regard the issue of the licensee's impairment and his or her participation in a treatment program.~~

5. The practitioner has authorized the consultant, in the event of the practitioner's termination from the impaired practitioner program, to report the termination to the department and provide the department with copies of all information in the consultant's possession relating to the practitioner.

(b) To encourage practitioners who are or may be impaired to voluntarily self-refer to a consultant, the consultant may not provide information to the department relating to a self-referring participant if the consultant has no knowledge of a pending department investigation, complaint, or disciplinary action against the participant and if the participant is in compliance and making progress with the terms of the impaired practitioner program and contract, unless authorized by the participant ~~If, however, the department has not received a legally sufficient complaint and the licensee agrees to withdraw from practice until such time as the consultant determines the licensee has satisfactorily completed an approved treatment program or evaluation, the probable cause panel, or the department when there is no board, shall not become involved in the licensee's case~~.

~~(c) Inquiries related to impairment treatment programs designed to provide information to the licensee and others and which do not indicate that the licensee presents a danger to the public shall not constitute a complaint within the meaning of s. 456.073 and shall be exempt from the provisions of this subsection.~~

~~(d) Whenever the department receives a legally sufficient complaint alleging that a licensee is impaired as described in paragraph (a) and no complaint against the licensee other than impairment exists, the department shall forward all information in its possession regarding the impaired licensee to the consultant. For the purposes of this section, a suspension from hospital staff privileges due to the impairment does not constitute a complaint.~~

~~(e) The probable cause panel, or the department when there is no board, shall work directly with the consultant, and all information concerning a practitioner obtained from the consultant by the panel, or the department when there is no board, shall remain confidential and exempt from the provisions of s. 119.07(1), subject to the provisions of subsections (6) and (7).~~

~~(f) A finding of probable cause shall not be made as long as the panel, or the department when there is no board, is satisfied, based upon information it receives from the consultant and the department, that the licensee is progressing satisfactorily in an approved impaired practitioner program and no other complaint against the licensee exists.~~

(10)~~(5)~~ In any disciplinary action for a violation other than impairment in which a practitioner ~~licensee~~ establishes the violation for which the practitioner ~~licensee~~ is being prosecuted was due to or connected with impairment and further establishes the practitioner ~~licensee~~ is satisfactorily progressing through or has successfully completed an impaired practitioner program ~~approved treatment program~~ pursuant to this section, such information may be considered by the board, or the department when there is no board, as a mitigating factor in determining the appropriate penalty. This subsection does not limit mitigating factors the board may consider.

(11)(a)~~(6)(a)~~ Upon request by the consultant, and with the authorization of the practitioner when required by law, an approved evaluator, treatment program, or treatment provider shall~~, upon request,~~ disclose to the consultant all information in its possession regarding a referral or participant ~~the issue of a licensee's impairment and participation in the treatment program. All information obtained by the consultant and department pursuant to this section is confidential and exempt from the provisions of s. 119.07(1), subject to the provisions of this subsection and subsection (7)~~. Failure to provide such information to the consultant is grounds for withdrawal of approval of such evaluator, treatment program, or treatment provider.

(b) When a referral or participant is terminated from the impaired practitioner program for material noncompliance with a participant contract, inability to progress, or any other reason than completion, the consultant shall disclose ~~If in the opinion of the consultant, after consultation with the treatment provider, an impaired licensee has not progressed satisfactorily in a treatment program,~~ all information ~~regarding the issue of a licensee's impairment and participation in a treatment program~~ in the consultant's possession relating to the practitioner ~~shall be disclosed~~ to the department. Such disclosure shall constitute a complaint pursuant to the general provisions of s. 456.073. In addition, whenever the consultant concludes that impairment affects a practitioner's ~~licensee's~~ practice and constitutes an immediate, serious danger to the public health, safety, or welfare, the consultant shall immediately communicate such ~~that~~ conclusion ~~shall be communicated~~ to the department and disclose all information in the consultant's possession relating to the practitioner to the department ~~State Surgeon General~~.

(12) All information obtained by the consultant pursuant to this section is confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution.

(13)~~(7)~~ A consultant, or a director, officer, employee, or agent of a consultant, may not be held liable financially or may not have a cause of action for damages brought against him or her for making a disclosure pursuant to this section, for any other action or omission relating to the impaired practitioner program, or for the consequences of such disclosure or action or omission, including, without limitation, action by the department against a license, registration, or certification ~~licensee, or approved treatment provider who makes a disclosure pursuant to this section is not subject to civil liability for such disclosure or its consequences~~.

(14) The provisions of s. 766.101 apply to any consultant and the consultant's directors, officers, employees, or agents in regards to providing information relating to a participant to a medical review committee if the participant authorizes such disclosure ~~officer, employee, or agent of the department or the board and to any officer, employee, or agent of any entity with which the department has contracted pursuant to this section~~.

(15)(a) ~~(8)(a)~~ A consultant retained pursuant to this section and ~~subsection (2),~~ a consultant's directors, officers, ~~and~~ employees, or agents ~~and those acting at the direction of the consultant for the limited purpose of an emergency intervention on behalf of a licensee or student as described in subsection (2) when the consultant is unable to perform such intervention~~ shall be considered agents of the department for purposes of s. 768.28 while acting within the scope of the consultant's duties under the contract with the department ~~if the contract complies with the requirements of this section~~. ~~The contract must require that:~~

~~1. The consultant indemnify the state for any liabilities incurred up to the limits set out in chapter 768.~~

~~2. The consultant establish a quality assurance program to monitor services delivered under the contract.~~

~~8. All performance measures and standards be subject to verification and approval by the department.~~

~~9. The department be entitled to terminate the contract with the consultant for noncompliance with the contract.~~

(b) In accordance with s. 284.385, the Department of Financial Services shall defend any claim, suit, action, or proceeding, including a claim, suit, action, or proceeding for injunctive, affirmative, or declaratory relief, against the consultant, or the consultant's directors, officers, ~~or~~ employees, and agents brought as the result of any action or omission relating to the impaired practitioner program ~~or those acting at the direction of the consultant for the limited purpose of an emergency intervention on behalf of a licensee or student as described in subsection (2) when the consultant is unable to perform such intervention, which claim, suit, action, or proceeding is brought as a result of an act or omission by any of the consultant's officers and employees and those acting under the direction of the consultant for the limited purpose of an emergency intervention on behalf of the licensee or student~~

~~when the consultant is unable to perform such intervention, if the act or omission arises out of and is in the scope of the consultant's duties under its contract with the department~~.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/SB 1398 creates a voluntary certification process for experts who advise places of public accommodation regarding compliance with the federal Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA).

Certified experts may inspect places of public accommodation to determine if barriers to access are present in the facility within the meaning of the ADA and the applicable regulations. Under the bill, the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR) must establish requirements to qualify experts for certification. An owner of a place of public accommodation may request an inspection by a DBPR-certified expert but is not required to use a DBPR-certified expert for such inspection.

The certified expert must provide the owner with a certification that the place of accommodation conforms to the ADA requirements. This certification is valid for three years after the date of issuance. If a place of public accommodation does not conform to ADA requirements, the bill provides a process for the owner to voluntarily submit a remediation plan to the DBPR. The remediation plan is valid for 10 years after submission. The DBPR is required to develop and maintain on its public website an electronic registry of certifications and remediation plans.

The bill requires the courts of this state to consider remediation plans filed with the DBPR to determine whether an ADA claim was filed in good faith and to evaluate the appropriateness of any award of attorney's fees.

The bill appropriates the sums of $5,000 in recurring funds and $155,000 in nonrecurring funds from the Professional Regulation Trust Fund for Fiscal Year 2017-2018 to the DBPR for new costs necessary to carry out the provisions of the bill. See Section V. Fiscal Impact Statement.

The effective date of the bill is July 1, 2017.

II. Present Situation:

The Americans with Disabilities Act

In 1990, the United States Congress (Congress) enacted the ADA. The purpose of the ADA is to prevent discrimination against individuals with disabilities in all areas of life, including jobs, schools, transportation, and all private and public areas that are open to the general public.[1]

An individual is considered disabled for the purposes of the ADA if the individual has:
- A physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities including but not limited to:
  - Caring for oneself, performing manual tasks, seeing, hearing, eating, sleeping, walking, standing, lifting, bending, speaking, breathing, learning, reading, concentrating, thinking, communicating, and working.
- A record of such impairment; or
- Being regarded as having such an impairment.[2]

The ADA consists of five titles:
- I-Employment;
- II-Public Entities;
- III-Public Accommodation;
- IV-Telecommunications; and
- V-Miscellaneous Provisions

Places of Public Accommodation

Title III of the ADA prohibits places of public accommodation (public places) from discriminating against individuals with disabilities. Places of public accommodation include:
- Most places of lodging such as an inn, motel, or hotel;
- Restaurants, bars, and other establishments serving food or drink;
- Movie theatres, stadiums, concert halls, and other places of entertainment;
- Sales or rental establishments, such as bakeries, grocery stores, clothing stores, etc.;
- Service establishments, such as banks, barber shops, beauty shops, gas stations, office of an accountant or lawyer, pharmacy, insurance offices, hospitals, etc.;
- A terminal, depot, or other station used for specified public transportation;
- A museum, library, gallery, or other place of public display or collection;
- A park, zoo, amusement park, or other place of recreation;

In order to prohibit discrimination in public places, the United States Department of Justice (DOJ) publishes standards for minimum requirements for newly designed, constructed, or altered public places. The standards ensure public places are readily accessible and usable by individuals with disabilities. The current standards are the 2010 ADA Standards for Accessible Design.[4]

Accessibility Requirements in Florida

The Florida Building Code (building code) is established by part IV of ch. 553, F.S., also known as the "Florida Building Codes Act." The purpose and intent of the Florida Building Codes Act is to provide a mechanism for the uniform adoption, updating, amendment, interpretation, and enforcement of a single, unified state building code.[5]

In 1993, the Legislature enacted the Florida Americans with Disabilities Accessibility Implementation Act (Florida ADA) to incorporate the accessibility requirements of the ADA.[6] The intent of the Florida ADA is to ensure the state's construction standards and codes receive and maintain certification by the DOJ as equivalent to federal standards for accessibility of buildings, structures, and facilities.[7] Enforcement of the Florida ADA is the responsibility of local governments and code enforcement agencies.[8] Federal ADA regulations are incorporated into the Florida Accessibility Code for Building Construction (Florida's ADA code), as adopted by the Florida Building Commission.[9] Florida's ADA code is also incorporated into the building code.[10]

Compliance with the building code creates a presumption of compliance with Title III of the ADA.[11] However, the building code only applies to new construction, new alteration, buildings where the original construction or any former renovation or alteration was in violation of the permit, or buildings being converted from residential to non-residential or mixed use. building code does not apply to existing buildings that may not be in compliance with the ADA.[12]

Title III ADA lawsuits

If an individual with a disability who believes a public place is in violation of Title III of the ADA, the individual may:

- File a complaint with the Disability Rights Section of the DOJ, and the DOJ may enter into mediation with the public place to resolve any complaints.
- File suit in court against the public place for a violation of Title III of the ADA, or
- File suit as a plaintiff against the public place in court.[13]

Title III of the ADA does not require a plaintiff to give notice to the public place before filing suit.[14]

A public place is considered to be discriminating against an individual with a disability if the public place fails to make reasonable modifications under the Standards for Accessible Design, unless the modifications would fundamentally alter the nature of the public place.[15]

In order for a plaintiff to prevail against a defendant in such lawsuit, the plaintiff must prove three elements:

- The plaintiff is considered disabled under the ADA;
- The defendant owns, leases, or operates a place of public accommodation; and
- The defendant discriminated against the plaintiff. [16]

If a plaintiff prevails in a Title III ADA claim, the plaintiff is entitled to injunctive relief, but is not entitled to damages for past discriminations.[17] However, the ADA grants a court discretion to award attorney's fees to the prevailing party.[18] The U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Florida has previously indicated that a prevailing plaintiff in an ADA claim is "ordinarily awarded attorney's fees in all but special circumstances."[19] However, a prevailing defendant is not entitled to attorney's fees unless the court finds that the plaintiff's claim was brought or litigated in bad faith, i.e., the claim was frivolous, groundless, unreasonable, or the claim became frivolous, groundless, or unreasonable.[20]

Since 2013, the number of Title III ADA suits filed in federal court has risen by 138 percent. In 2016, Florida ranked second in the nation with 1,663 Title III ADA lawsuits; there were 816

such lawsuits in 2013.[21] Some of the increase is attributed to serial plaintiffs who file multiple lawsuits, also known as "ADA testers." One Florida resident is reported to have filed more than 1,000 separate ADA lawsuits against Florida businesses, which is approximately 20 percent of all of the ADA compliance lawsuits filed in Florida since 2012.[22]

Although the Florida ADA does not provide a cause of action for violations, federal ADA compliance lawsuits may be filed in either federal or state courts; state courts have concurrent jurisdiction over ADA claims.[23]

California's Attempt to Curb Title III ADA Claims

In 2003, California, in which over 2,400 Title III ADA lawsuits with filed in 2016,[24] created the voluntary Certified Access Specialist program (CASp) to meet the public's need for qualified individuals to inspect buildings and sites for compliance with accessibility standards including those in the ADA. If a California business chooses to hire a CASp-certified person to assess ADA compliance, the CASp will issue a report listing any improvements that need to be made in order to become compliant with federal and state accessibility laws, or state that the business meets applicable standards.[25] Participation in the CASp may offer the property owner "qualified defendant" status in a construction-related accessibility lawsuit if the owner received an inspection of the existing facility, received a report from a CASp, and has a compliance schedule in place before a construction-related accessibility claim is filed. Benefits for a "qualified defendant" include reduced statutory damages.[26]

Florida Department of Business & Professional Regulation

Section 20.165, F.S., establishes the organizational structure of the DBPR, which has 12 divisions:

- Administration;
- Alcoholic Beverages and Tobacco;
- Certified Public Accounting;
- Drugs, Devices, and Cosmetics;
- Florida Condominiums, Timeshares, and Mobile Homes;

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Experts

The bill creates s. 553.5141, F.S., to provide a voluntary certification process for experts who advise places of public accommodation regarding compliance with the ADA. Certified experts may inspect places of public accommodation to determine if barriers to access are present in the facility within the meaning of the ADA and the applicable regulations.

[27] See s. 20.165(4)(b), F.S. Florida Real Estate Appraisal Board, created under part II of ch. 475, F.S., and Florida Real Estate Commission, created under part I of ch. 475, F.S.
[28] See s. 20.165(4)(c), F.S., which establishes the Board of Accountancy, created under ch. 473, F.S.

Under the bill, the DBPR must establish requirements for experts to qualify for certification. The bill provides that the experts must have sufficient experience, knowledge, or training to advise places of public accommodation regarding the ADA compliance guidelines applicable to places of public accommodation. The bill does not provide a certification fee.

Owners of Places of Public Accommodation

An owner of a place of public accommodation may request an inspection of a facility by a DBPR-certified expert, but is not required to use a DBPR-certified expert.

If a place of public accommodation conforms to ADA requirements, the certified expert must provide the owner with a certification of conformity, which is valid for three years after the date of issuance. If a place of public accommodation does not conform to ADA requirements, the owner may submit a remediation plan to the DBPR with:

- The date of inspection.
- The name of the certified expert or other person who performed the inspection.
- The specific remedial measures that the place of public accommodation will undertake.
- The anticipated dates each remedial measure will be initiated and completed.

A remediation plan submitted to the DBPR is valid for 10 years after its submission.

The bill requires the DBPR to develop and maintain on its public website an electronic registry of certifications of conformity and remediation plans. In addition, the DBPR is required to adopt rules to administer the certification program.

Court Consideration of Remediation Plans

The bill requires the courts of this state to consider remediation plans filed with the DBPR to determine whether an ADA claim was filed in good faith and to evaluate the appropriateness of any award of attorney's fees.

Appropriation

The bill appropriates $160,000 ($155,000 in nonrecurring and $5,000 in recurring funds) from the Professional Regulation Trust Fund to the DBPR for the 2017-2018 fiscal year to implement the provisions of this act.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The bill does not specify fees for certification as an expert or registration of remediation plans.

Since certificates of conformity are only valid for three years, owners of public places may have to pay for inspections every three years in order to prove they are compliant with the Title III of the ADA.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The computer application used by the Florida Building Commission (commission) is called the Building Code Information System (BCIS). The DBPR anticipates the electronic registry created by the bill will be housed in the BCIS. There will need to be modifications to BCIS to house the electronic registry and register licensed experts. The DBPR also anticipates additional software licensing and maintenance costs for the administration of the new expert certification.[30] The bill appropriates the sums of $5,000 in recurring funds and $155,000 in nonrecurring funds from the Professional Regulation Trust Fund for Fiscal Year 2017-2018 to the DBPR for new costs necessary to carry out the provisions of the bill.

According to the DBPR, there will be a moderate workload impact associated with the implementation of the new certification program; however, based on an estimated certification population of approximately 350 to 500 certifications there is no sustained full-time equivalent (FTE) position impact.[31]

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

According to the DBPR, a Sunrise Act analysis per s. 11.62, F.S., has not been completed to determine if it is necessary to regulate this activity to protect the public health, safety or welfare.[32]

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill creates section 553.5141 of the Florida Statutes.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 1398 creates a voluntary process to certify places of public accommodation as conforming to the requirements of the federal Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) after inspection by a qualified expert.

The bill defines a qualified expert as licensed engineers, general contractors, building contractors, building code administrators, building inspectors, plans examiners, interior designers, architects, and landscape architects. Qualified experts also include any person who has had a remediation plan related to a claim under the ADA accepted by a federal court in a settlement agreement or court proceeding, or who has been qualified as an expert in the ADA by a federal court.

An owner of a place of public accommodation who has had the place of public accommodation inspected by a qualified expert may submit certification of conformity with the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR) which indicates that the place of public accommodation conforms to the ADA.

If the place of public accommodation does not conform to the ADA requirements, the owner of the place of public accommodation may submit to the DBPR a remediation plan, which includes a reasonable amount of time, not to exceed 10 years, for completion of the remediation plan.

The bill requires the courts of this state to consider remediation plans filed with the DBPR to determine whether an ADA claim was filed in good faith and to evaluate the appropriateness of any award of attorney's fees.

The bill appropriates the sums of $5,000 in recurring funds and $155,000 in nonrecurring funds from the Professional Regulation Trust Fund for Fiscal Year 2017-2018 to the DBPR for new costs necessary to carry out the provisions of the bill. See Section V. Fiscal Impact Statement.

The effective date of the bill is July 1, 2017.

II. Present Situation:

The Americans with Disabilities Act

In 1990, the United States Congress (Congress) enacted the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). The purpose of the ADA is to prevent discrimination against individuals with disabilities in all areas of life, including jobs, schools, transportation, and all private and public areas that are open to the general public.[1]

An individual is considered disabled for the purposes of the ADA if the individual has:
- A physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities including but not limited to:
  - Caring for oneself, performing manual tasks, seeing, hearing, eating, sleeping, walking, standing, lifting, bending, speaking, breathing, learning, reading, concentrating, thinking, communicating, and working.
- A record of such impairment; or
- Being regarded as having such an impairment.[2]

The ADA consists of five titles:
- I-Employment;
- II-Public Entities;
- III-Public Accommodation;
- IV-Telecommunications; and
- V-Miscellaneous Provisions

Places of Public Accommodation

Title III of the ADA prohibits places of public accommodation (public places) from discriminating against individuals with disabilities. Places of public accommodation include:
- Most places of lodging such as an inn, motel, or hotel;
- Restaurants, bars, and other establishments serving food or drink;
- Movie theatres, stadiums, concert halls, and other places of entertainment;
- Sales or rental establishments, such as bakeries, grocery stores, clothing stores, etc.;

- Service establishments, such as banks, barber shops, beauty shops, gas stations, office of an accountant or lawyer, pharmacy, insurance offices, hospitals, etc.;
- A terminal, depot, or other station used for specified public transportation;
- A museum, library, gallery, or other place of public display or collection;
- A park, zoo, amusement park, or other place of recreation;
- Places of education, such as a nursery, elementary, secondary, undergraduate, or postgraduate private school, etc.;
- A day care center, senior citizen center, homeless shelter, food bank, adoption agency, or other social service center establishment; and
- A gymnasium, health spa, bowling alley, golf course, or other place of exercise or recreation.[3]

In order to prohibit discrimination in public places, the United States Department of Justice (DOJ) publishes standards for minimum requirements for newly designed, constructed, or altered public places. The standards ensure public places are readily accessible and usable by individuals with disabilities. The current standards are the 2010 ADA Standards for Accessible Design.[4]

Accessibility Requirements in Florida

The Florida Building Code (building code) is established by part IV of ch. 553, F.S., also known as the "Florida Building Codes Act." The purpose and intent of the Florida Building Codes Act is to provide a mechanism for the uniform adoption, updating, amendment, interpretation, and enforcement of a single, unified state building code.[5]

In 1993, the Legislature enacted the Florida Americans with Disabilities Accessibility Implementation Act (Florida ADA) to incorporate the accessibility requirements of the ADA.[6] The intent of the Florida ADA is to ensure the state's construction standards and codes receive and maintain certification by the DOJ as equivalent to federal standards for accessibility of buildings, structures, and facilities.[7] Enforcement of the Florida ADA is the responsibility of local governments and code enforcement agencies.[8] Federal ADA regulations are incorporated into the Florida Accessibility Code for Building Construction (Florida's ADA code), as adopted by the Florida Building Commission.[9] Florida's ADA code is also incorporated into the building code.[10]

Compliance with the building code creates a presumption of compliance with Title III of the ADA.[11] However, the building code only applies to new construction, new alteration, buildings where the original construction or any former renovation or alteration was in violation of the permit, or buildings being converted from residential to non-residential or mixed use. The building code does not apply to existing buildings that may not be in compliance with the ADA.[12]

Title III ADA lawsuits

If an individual with a disability who believes a public place is in violation of Title III of the ADA, the individual may:

- File a complaint with the Disability Rights Section of the DOJ, and the DOJ may enter into mediation with the public place to resolve any complaints.
- File suit in court against the public place for a violation of Title III of the ADA, or
- File suit as a plaintiff against the public place in court.[13]

Title III of the ADA does not require a plaintiff to give notice to the public place before filing suit.[14]

A public place is considered to be discriminating against an individual with a disability if the public place fails to make reasonable modifications under the Standards for Accessible Design, unless the modifications would fundamentally alter the nature of the public place.[15]

In order for a plaintiff to prevail against a defendant in such lawsuit, the plaintiff must prove three elements:

- The plaintiff is considered disabled under the ADA;
- The defendant owns, leases, or operates a place of public accommodation; and
- The defendant discriminated against the plaintiff. [16]

If a plaintiff prevails in a Title III ADA claim, the plaintiff is entitled to injunctive relief, but is not entitled to damages for past discriminations.[17] However, the ADA grants a court discretion to award attorney's fees to the prevailing party.[18] The U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Florida has previously indicated that a prevailing plaintiff in an ADA claim is "ordinarily awarded attorney's fees in all but special circumstances."[19] However, a prevailing defendant is not entitled to attorney's fees unless the court finds that the plaintiff's claim was brought or litigated in bad faith, i.e., the claim was frivolous, groundless, unreasonable, or the claim became frivolous, groundless, or unreasonable.[20]

Since 2013, the number of Title III ADA suits filed in federal court has risen by 138 percent. In 2016, Florida ranked second in the nation with 1,663 Title III ADA lawsuits; there were 816 such lawsuits in 2013.[21] Some of the increase is attributed to serial plaintiffs who file multiple lawsuits, also known as "ADA testers." One Florida resident is reported to have filed more than 1,000 separate ADA lawsuits against Florida businesses, which is approximately 20 percent of all of the ADA compliance lawsuits filed in Florida since 2012.[22]

Although the Florida ADA does not provide a cause of action for violations, federal ADA compliance lawsuits may be filed in either federal or state courts; state courts have concurrent jurisdiction over ADA claims.[23]

California's Attempt to Curb Title III ADA Claims

In 2003, California, in which over 2,400 Title III ADA lawsuits with filed in 2016,[24] created the voluntary Certified Access Specialist program (CASp) to meet the public's need for qualified individuals to inspect buildings and sites for compliance with accessibility standards including those in the ADA. If a California business chooses to hire a CASp-certified person to assess ADA compliance, the CASp will issue a report listing any improvements that need to be made in order to become compliant with federal and state accessibility laws, or state that the business meets applicable standards.[25] Participation in the CASp may offer the property owner "qualified defendant" status in a construction-related accessibility lawsuit if the owner received an inspection of the existing facility, received a report from a CASp, and has a compliance schedule in place before a construction-related accessibility claim is filed. Benefits for a "qualified defendant" include reduced statutory damages.[26]

Florida Department of Business & Professional Regulation

Section 20.165, F.S., establishes the organizational structure of the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR), which has 12 divisions:

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Certification of Places of Public Accommodation

The bill creates s. 553.5141, F.S., to provide a voluntary process to certify places of public accommodation as conforming to the requirements of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) after inspection by a qualified expert.

The bill defines a qualified expert as:
- An engineer licensed pursuant to ch. 471, F.S.;
- A certified general contractor licensed pursuant to ch. 489, F.S.;
- A certified building contractor licensed pursuant to ch. 489 F.S.;
- A building code administrator licensed pursuant to ch. 468, F.S.;
- A building inspector licensed pursuant to ch. 468, F.S.;
- A plans examiner licensed pursuant to ch. 468, F.S.;
- An interior designer licensed pursuant to ch. 481, F.S.;
- An architect licensed pursuant to ch. 481, F.S.;
- A landscape architect licensed pursuant to ch. 481, F.S.; or
- Any person who has had a remediation plan related to a claim under the ADA accepted by a federal court in a settlement agreement or court proceeding, or who has been qualified as an expert in the ADA by a federal court.

Owners of Places of Public Accommodation

An owner of a place of public accommodation who has had it inspected by a qualified expert may submit certification of conformity with the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR) that indicates the place of public accommodation conforms to the ADA. The certification is valid for three years after issuance.

The certification of conformity filed with the DBPR must include:
- The date of inspection.
- The name of the qualified expert or other person who performed the inspection.
- Proof of the inspector's qualification as an expert, including a license number or a sworn statement indicating that the person has at least one order by a federal court accepting an ADA remediation plan of the qualified expert in a settlement or by order of the court.
- A written statement by the qualified expert attesting that the information contained in the remediation plan is accurate.

If the place of public accommodation does not conform to the ADA requirements, the owner of the place of public accommodation may submit with the DBPR a remediation plan, which includes a reasonable amount of time, not to exceed 10 years, for completion of the remediation plan. The remediation plan filed with the DBPR must include:
- The date of the inspection.
- The name of the qualified expert or other person who performed the inspection.
- The specific remedial measures that the place of public accommodation has agreed to undertake.

- The anticipated dates each remedial measure will be initiated and completed.
- Proof of the inspector's qualification as an expert, including a license number or a sworn statement indicating that the person has at least one order by a federal court accepting an ADA remediation plan of the qualified expert in a settlement or by order of the court.
- A written statement by the qualified expert attesting that the information contained in the remediation plan is accurate.

The DBPR must develop and maintain a publically accessible website that provides an electronic registry of certifications of conformity and remediation plans.

Court Consideration of Remediation Plans

The bill requires the courts of this state to consider remediation plans filed with the DBPR to determine whether an ADA claim was filed in good faith and to evaluate the appropriateness of any award of attorney's fees.

Appropriation

The bill appropriates $160,000 ($155,000 in nonrecurring and $5,000 in recurring funds) from the Professional Regulation Trust Fund to the DBPR for the 2017-2018 fiscal year to implement the provisions of this act.

Effective Date

The effective date of the bill is July 1, 2017.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The bill does not specify fees for registration of remediation plans.

Since certificates of conformity are only valid for three years, owners of public places may have to pay for inspections every three years in order to prove they are compliant with the Title III of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA).

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill appropriates the sums of $5,000 in recurring funds and $155,000 in nonrecurring funds from the Professional Regulation Trust Fund for Fiscal Year 2017-2018 to the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR) for new costs necessary to carry out the provisions of the bill. However, the appropriation included costs of approximately $70,000 to create a system to register licensed experts, which is no longer required in the bill.[30] The computer application used by the Florida Building Commission (commission) is called the Building Code Information System (BCIS). The DBPR anticipates the electronic registry created by the bill will be housed in the BCIS. There will need to be modifications to BCIS to house the electronic registry.[31]

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill creates section 553.5141 of the Florida Statutes.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS by Appropriations on April 25, 2017:
The committee substitute:

- Removes the provision in the bill for certification of Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) experts.
- Defines the term "qualified expert."
- Requires that the certification of conformity with the ADA and the plan of remediation filed with the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR) must include proof of the qualifications of the expert who conducted the inspection and a statement that the information in the certification of conformity or the remediation plan is complete and accurate.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/CS/SB 150 addresses scheduling for controlled substances and punishment for controlled substance offenses. Specifically, the bill:

- Provides that a person 18 years of age or older commits felony murder if he or she unlawfully distributes any specified controlled substance, including a specified fentanyl-related substance, and the distribution is proven to be the proximate cause of death of the user;
- Includes in Schedule I a class of fentanyl derivatives and five substances that were originally developed for legitimate research but that have now emerged in the illicit drug market;
- Punishes unlawful possession of 10 grams or more of certain Schedule II substances, including certain fentanyl-related substances;
- Adds codeine, an isomer of hydrocodone, to a current provision punishing trafficking in hydrocodone, and adds additional phenethylamines and phencyclidines to current provisions punishing trafficking in phencyclidine and phenethylamine;
- Punishes trafficking in fentanyl, synthetic cannabinoids, and n-benzyl phenethylamines, through imposing mandatory minimum terms of imprisonment and mandatory fines;
- Authorizes certain crime laboratory personnel to possess, store, and administer emergency opioid antagonists used to treat opioid overdoses; and
- Provides that cross-references throughout the Florida Statutes to the Florida Comprehensive Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act (chapter 893, Florida Statutes), or any portion thereof, include all subsequent amendments to the act.

The Criminal Justice Impact Conference (CJIC) has not yet reviewed the bill; however, the bill is substantively identical to CS/HB 477, which the CJIC estimates will have a "positive indeterminate" prison bed impact (an unquantifiable increase in prison beds). See Section V. Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill takes effect October 1, 2017.

II. Present Situation:

Florida's Controlled Substance Schedules

Section 893.03, F.S., classifies controlled substances into five categories, known as schedules. These schedules regulate the manufacture, distribution, preparation, and dispensing of the substances listed in the statute. The most important factors in determining which schedule may apply to a substance are the "potential for abuse"[1] of the substance and whether there is a currently accepted medical use for the substance.[2] The controlled substance schedules are as follows:

- Schedule I substances (s. 893.03(1), F.S.) have a high potential for abuse and have no currently accepted medical use in the United States. This schedule includes cannabis and heroin.
- Schedule II substances (s. 893.03(2), F.S.) have a high potential for abuse and have a currently accepted but severely restricted medical use in the United States. This schedule includes cocaine, codeine, and fentanyl.
- Schedule III substances (s. 893.03(3), F.S.) have a potential for abuse less than the substances contained in Schedules I and II and have a currently accepted medical use in the United States. This schedule includes stimulants and anabolic steroids.
- Schedule IV substances (s. 893.03(4), F.S.) have a low potential for abuse relative to the substances in Schedule III and have a currently accepted medical use in the United States. This schedule includes benzodiazepines and barbiturates.
- Schedule V substances (s. 893.03(5), F.S.) have a low potential for abuse relative to the substances in Schedule IV and have a currently accepted medical use in the United States. This schedule includes mixtures that contain small quantities of opiates and codeine.

Punishment of Prohibited Drug Acts

Section 893.13, F.S., in part, punishes unlawful possession, sale, purchase, manufacture, and delivery of a controlled substance. The penalty for violating s. 893.13, F.S., depends on the act committed, the substance and quantity of the substance involved, and the location in which the violation occurred. For example, selling a controlled substance listed in s. 893.03(1)(c), F.S.,

[1] Pursuant to s. 893.035(3)(a), F.S., "potential for abuse" means a substance has properties as a central nervous system stimulant or depressant or a hallucinogen that create a substantial likelihood of the substance being: (1) used in amounts that create a hazard to the user's health or the safety of the community; (2) diverted from legal channels and distributed through illegal channels; or (3) taken on the user's own initiative rather than on the basis of professional medical advice.

which includes many synthetic controlled substances, is a third degree felony.[3] However, if that substance is sold within 1,000 feet of a child care facility or secondary school, the violation is a second-degree felony.[4]

Drug trafficking, punished in s. 893.135, F.S., consists of knowingly selling, purchasing, manufacturing, delivering, or bringing into this state, or knowingly being in actual or constructive possession of, certain controlled substances in a statutorily-specified quantity. The statute only applies to a limited number of controlled substances. The quantity of the substance must meet a specified weight threshold. Most drug trafficking offenses are first degree felonies[5] and are subject to a mandatory minimum term and a mandatory fine, which is determined by the weight range applicable to the quantity of the substance involved in the trafficking.

Fentanyl and Related Drugs

Fentanyl is a Schedule II controlled substance.[6] Some fentanyl analogs[7] or derivatives[8], such as alfentanil,[9] carfentanil,[10] and sufentanil[11] are also Schedule II controlled substances.[12] It is a second degree felony to possess alfentanil, carfentanil, or fentanyl with the intent to sell, Currently sufentanil, approximately 10-20 times less potent (500 to 1000 times the efficacy of morphine per weight) than carfentanil, is the maximum strength fentanyl analog for use in humans." Id.

manufacture, or deliver them, or to unlawfully sell, manufacture, or deliver any of these substances.[13]

The National Institute on Drug Abuse provides that "Fentanyl is a powerful synthetic opioid analgesic that is similar to morphine but is 50 to 100 times more potent."[14] When prescribed by a physician, fentanyl is typically used to treat patients with severe pain or to manage pain after surgery and is administered via injection, transdermal patch, or in lozenges.[15] Although prescription fentanyl can be misused, most overdoses and related deaths have been linked to illicitly-manufactured fentanyl, including fentanyl analogs.[16] Illicitly-manufactured fentanyl is produced in clandestine laboratories and may be sold as a powder, spiked on blotter paper, mixed with heroin, or sold as tablets made to look like other, less potent opioids.[17] Fentanyl and its analogs may be mixed into other drugs and sold without the customer's knowledge of the presence of fentanyl.[18]

According to a recent report by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, during 2013–2014, fentanyl submissions[19] increased 494 percent in Florida (from 33 to 196), concurrent with a 115 percent increase in fentanyl deaths in Florida (from 185 to 397).[20] Fentanyl analogs were specifically implicated in 49 drug overdose deaths in Florida between January and June 2015.[21] According to the 2015 Annual Report (dated September 2016) of the Florida Medical Examiners, there were 911 deaths in which fentanyl was present (206) or deemed the cause of death (705).[22] Further, 99 of the deaths associated with fentanyl were ones in which the deceased had only that drug in their system, while the rest were in combination with another drug.[23]

Illicit Use of Compounds Developed for Forensic and Research Applications

Compounds are often developed for legitimate forensic and research applications. However, some of these compounds later emerge in the illicit drug market. The following substances are examples of those substances:

- W-15, 4-chloro-N- [1- (2-phenylethyl) -2-piperidinylidene] -benzenesulfonamide.
- W-18, 4-chloro-N- [1-[2-(4-nitrophenyl) ethyl] -2-piperidinylidene] -benzenesulfonamide.
- AH-7921, 3, 4-dichloro-N- [[(1-dimethylamino) cyclohexyl]methyl] -benzamide.
- U47700, trans-3, 4-dichloro-N- [2-(dimethylamino) cyclohexyl] -N-methyl-benzamide.
- MT-45,1-cyclohexyl-4- (1,2-diphenylethyl) -piperazine, dihydrochloride.

W-15 and W-18 are "two of a series of drugs with analgesic properties of unknown origin synthesized in Canada in 1981."[24] AH-7921 is an experimental opioid agonist[25] developed and patented by the former pharmaceutical company Allen & Hanburys.[26] U-47700 "is an opioid analgesic drug developed by the pharmaceutical company Upjohn in the 1970s and is structurally related to AH-7921[.]"[27] "MT-45 is a piperazine derivate originally synthesized by a pharmaceutical company in the 1970s."[28]

U-47700 is currently a Schedule I controlled substance pursuant to emergency rule[29] of the Florida Attorney General's Office.[30]

Emergency Treatment for Suspected Opioid Overdose

In addition to being deadly to drug users, fentanyl-related drugs pose a dangerous threat to first responders and law enforcement officers, because a lethal dose can be accidentally inhaled or absorbed through the skin.[31] The U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration has warned laboratory personnel to take measures to protect themselves from accidental exposure and to immediately administer Naloxone, a drug used to treat opioid overdoses, in the event of exposure.[32]

Section 381.887, F.S., authorizes certain emergency responders[33] to possess, store, and administer emergency opioid antagonists as clinically indicated. Crime laboratory personnel are not referenced in the statute.

Synthetic Cannabinoids, Cathinones, and Phenethylamines

Section 893.03(1)(c), F.S., lists numerous substances described as "hallucinogenic substances." Many of them appear to be synthetic cannabinoids, cathinone derivatives, and phenethylamines. "Synthetic [c]annabinoids are chemicals that act as cannabinoid receptor agonists. Chemically they are not similar to cannabinoids but … they are cannabinoid-like in their activity."[34]

Cathinone is a Schedule I controlled substance.[35] The "molecular architecture" of cathinone "can be altered to produce a series of different compounds which are closely structurally related to cathinone. Together these are known as the 'cathinones' or 'cathinone derivatives.'"[36]

"Phenethylamines" is a broad category of "psychoactive substances."[37] Probably the most well-known phenethylamine is 3,4-Methylenedioxymethamphetamine (MDMA), which is often referred to by the street name "Ecstasy." Phenethylamines include "the '2C' series of hallucinogenic phenethylamines" (referring to "the chemical structure consisting of two carbon atoms between the phenyl and amine moieties").[38] A new group of 2C compounds, referred to as the "N-methoxybenzyl-substituted phenethylamines (NBOMe)" have emerged on the illicit drug market.[39] These compounds were "[i]nitially synthesized for research purposes," and "are thought to be more potent than some of the conventional hallucinogens."[40]

death of a drug user, the distributer commits murder in the first degree, a capital felony.[41] The controlled substances currently included in this subparagraph are:

- A substance controlled under s. 893.03(1), F.S.;
- Cocaine;
- Opium or any synthetic or natural salt, compound, derivative, or preparation of opium; and
- Methadone.

Under s. 782.04(1)(a)3., F.S., a defendant does not need to intend an act of homicide, have knowledge of a drug overdose, or be present when it occurs. In order to be guilty of this offense, the defendant need only intend to unlawfully distribute one of the prohibited drugs that results in a death caused by the drug.[42]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill, which takes effect October 1, 2017, addresses scheduling for controlled substances and punishment for controlled substance offenses. A full description of the provisions of the bill is provided below.

Emergency Treatment for Suspected Opioid Overdose (Section 1)

Section 1 amends s. 381.887, F.S., authorize certain crime laboratory personnel to possess, store, and administer emergency opioid antagonists as clinically indicated. These crime laboratory personnel include, but are not limited to:

- Analysts;
- Evidence intake personnel; and
- Their supervisors.

Crime laboratory personnel will be authorized to administer the medication without a prescription, allowing them to respond in the event of accidental exposure in the course of their job performance.

Felony Murder by Drug Distribution (Section 2)

Section 2 amends s. 782.04(1)(a)3., F.S., to add four substances to the offense of felony murder by drug distribution. As a result of this change, a person 18 years of age or older commits felony murder if he or she unlawfully distributes any of the following substances and the distribution of the substance is proven to be the proximate cause of the death of the user of the substance:

- Alfentanil;
- Carfentanil;
- Fentanyl;
- Sufentanil; or

[41] A capital felony is generally punishable by life imprisonment or a death sentence as provided in s. 921.141, F.S. "First-degree murder by drug distribution has been a recognized offense since 1972. See ch. 76-141, § 1, Laws of Fla.; ch. 72-724, § 3, Laws of Fla." *Pena v. [42] Pena v. State, 829 So. 2d at 294.

- A controlled substance analog, as described in s. 893.0356, F.S.,[43] of any described substance (or a substance currently listed this subparagraph),[44] and mixtures containing any of those substances.

Cross-References to the Florida Comprehensive Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act (Section 3)

Section 3 creates s. 893.015, F.S., to specify that the purpose of ch. 893, F.S., is to comprehensively address drug abuse prevention and control in this state, and, as such, unless expressly provided otherwise, a specific reference to ch. 893, F.S., or any section thereof incorporates all subsequent amendments to ch. 893, F.S., or any section thereof.[45]

Scheduling of Controlled Substances (Section 4)

Section 4 amends s. 893.03(1)(a), F.S., to add fentanyl derivatives to Schedule I, including:
- A general class by chemical structure (a 4-anilidopiperidine structure or "core") and a description of chemical substitutions that can be made to the structure to remain an illicit member of the structure family;[46]
- Twenty-three substances specifically identified as fentanyl derivatives; and
- An exclusion for alfentanil, carfentanil, fentanyl, and sufentanil so as to not alter their current placement in Schedule II.

Section 4 amends s. 893.03(1)(c), F.S., to add five new substances to Schedule I. These substances, which have emerged in the illicit drug market, were originally developed for forensic and research applications:
- W-15, 4-chloro-N- [1- (2-phenylethyl) -2-piperidinylidene] -benzenesulfonamide;
- W-18, 4-chloro-N- [1- [2-(4-nitrophenyl) ethyl] -2-piperidinylidene] -benzenesulfonamide;
- AH-7921, 3, 4-dichloro-N-[[1-(dimethylamino) cyclohexyl] methyl] -benzamide;
- U47700, trans-3, 4-dichloro-N- [2-(dimethylamino) cyclohexyl] -N-methyl-benzamide; and
- MT-45, 1-cyclohexyl-4- (1, 2-diphenylethyl) -piperazine, dihydrochloride.

[43] A "controlled substance analog" is a substance which, due to its chemical structure and potential for abuse, if the substance: (1) is substantially similar to that of a Schedule I or Schedule II controlled substance; and (2) has a stimulant, depressant, or hallucinogenic effect on the central nervous system or is represented or intended to have a stimulant, depressant, or hallucinogenic effect on the central nervous system substantially similar to or greater than that of a controlled substance listed in Schedule I or Schedule II. Section 893.0356(2)(a), F.S.

[44] Those substances are: a substance controlled under s. 893.03(1)(c), F.S.; cocaine; opium or any synthetic or natural salt, compound, or derivative, or preparation of opium; and methadone.

Preface to the official 2016 Florida Statutes, p. viii (case citations omitted). "In contrast, as a general rule, a cross-reference to a specific statute incorporates only the language of the referenced statute as it existed at that time, unaffected by any subsequent amendments to or repeal of the incorporated statute." Id. To avoid the necessity of reenacting specific references to sections within certain chapters of law, the Legislature has codified provisions that allow for all specific references to sections of law within certain chapters to automatically incorporate all subsequent amendments. Such chapters of law include ch. 435, F.S. ("Employment Screening") and ch. 938, F.S. ("Court Costs."). See ss. 435.01 and 938.31, F.S.

Unlawful Drug Acts Involving Certain Schedule II Controlled Substances (Section 5)

Section 5 amends s. 893.13(6)(c), F.S., which currently provides that it is a first degree felony to possess more than 10 grams of certain Schedule I controlled substances, to include certain Schedule II substances (substances listed in s. 893.03(2)(b), F.S., which include fentanyl and fentanyl derivatives).

Trafficking in Codeine (Section 6)

Section 6 amends s. 893.135(1)(c)2., F.S., which currently punishes "trafficking in hydrocodone," to add a specific scheduling reference for hydrocodone and to:

- Add codeine,[47] a Schedule II substance[48] and an isomer[49] of hydrocodone,[50] to the controlled substances punishable under this subparagraph; and
- Remove "derivative, isomer, or salt of an isomer" related to hydrocodone from those punishable under this subparagraph.[51]

By adding codeine to the trafficking in hydrocodone provision, codeine becomes subject to current penalties for trafficking in hydrocodone. Currently, trafficking in 14 grams or more of hydrocodone is generally a first degree felony and is subject to the following mandatory minimum terms of imprisonment and mandatory fines:

- A 3-year mandatory minimum term of imprisonment and a mandatory fine of $50,000, if the quantity involved is 14 grams or more, but less than 28 grams;
- A 7-year mandatory minimum term of imprisonment and a mandatory fine of $100,000, if the quantity involved is 28 grams or more, but less than 50 grams;
- A 15-year mandatory minimum term of imprisonment and a mandatory fine of $500,000, if the quantity involved is 50 grams or more, but less than 200 grams; and
- A 25-year mandatory minimum term of imprisonment and a mandatory fine of $750,000, if the quantity involved is 200 grams or more, but less than 30 kilograms.[52]

Further, trafficking in 30 kilograms or more of hydrocodone is "trafficking in illegal drugs," a first degree felony punishable by life imprisonment.[53] However, a person commits the capital

- The court determines that, in addition to committing the act:
  - The person intentionally killed an individual or counseled, commanded, induced, procured, or caused the intentional killing of an individual and such killing was the result; or
  - The person's conduct in committing that act led to a natural, though not inevitable, lethal result.[55]
- A person knowingly brings into Florida 60 kilograms or more of hydrocodone (or any another specified substance), knowing that the probable result of such importation would be the death of any person.[56]

Trafficking in Oxycodone (Section 6)

Section 6 amends s. 893.135(1)(c)3., F.S., which currently punishes "trafficking in oxycodone," to add a specific scheduling reference for oxycodone and to remove the words "derivative, isomer, or salt of an isomer," which currently appear in this subparagraph, because there have not been any drugs identified as a derivative, isomer, or salt of an isomer of oxycodone.[57]

Trafficking in Fentanyl (Section 6)

Section 6 creates s. 893.135(1)(c)4., F.S., which punishes "trafficking in fentanyl." Trafficking in fentanyl, a first degree felony, is knowingly selling, purchasing, manufacturing, delivering, or bringing into the state, or knowingly being in actual or constructive possession of, 4 grams or more of:

- Alfentanil;
- Carfentanil;
- Fentanyl;
- Sufentanil;
- A fentanyl derivative as described in s. 893.03(1)(a)62., F.S. (added by Section 1 of the bill);
- A controlled substance analog, as described in s. 893.0356, F.S., of any described substance; or
- A mixture containing any described substance.

This offense includes mandatory minimum terms of imprisonment and mandatory fines, which are based on the quantity involved in the trafficking:

- A 3-year mandatory minimum term of imprisonment and a mandatory fine of $50,000, if the quantity involved is 4 grams or more, but less than 14 grams;
- A 15-year mandatory minimum term of imprisonment and a mandatory fine of $100,000, if the quantity involved is 14 grams or more, but less than 28 grams; and

- A 25-year mandatory minimum term of imprisonment and a mandatory fine of $500,000, if the quantity involved is 28 grams or more.

Trafficking in Phencyclidine (Section 6)

Section 6 amends s. 893.135(1)(d), F.S., which currently punishes "trafficking in phencyclidine," to add a specific scheduling reference for phencyclidine and to add the following substances to those currently punishable under this paragraph:

- A substance identified as a "substituted phenylcyclohexylamine" in s. 893.03(1)(c)195., F.S.;[58]
- Five analogs of phencyclidine described in s. 893(1)(c)13., 32., 38., 103., and 146., F.S.; and
- A mixture containing any described substance.

By adding these substances to the trafficking in phencyclidine provision, these substances become subject to current penalties for trafficking in phencyclidine. Currently, trafficking in 28 grams or more of phencyclidine is generally a first degree felony and is subject to the following mandatory minimum terms of imprisonment and mandatory fines:

- A 3-year mandatory minimum term of imprisonment and a mandatory fine of $50,000, if the quantity involved is 28 grams or more, but less than 200 grams;
- A 7-year mandatory minimum term of imprisonment and a mandatory fine of $100,000, if the quantity involved is 200 grams or more, but less than 400 grams; and
- A 15-year mandatory minimum term of imprisonment and a mandatory fine of $250,000, if the quantity involved is 400 grams or more.[59]

Further, a person commits a capital felony, which is also punishable by a mandatory fine of $250,000, if the person knowingly brings into Florida 800 grams or more of phencyclidine, knowing that the probable result of such importation would be the death of any person.[60]

Trafficking in Phenethylamines (Section 6)

Section 6 amends s. 893.135(1)(k), F.S., which currently punishes "trafficking in phenethylamines." This paragraph currently lists a number of phenethylamines described in s. 893.03(1)(c), F.S. The bill removes these listed substances and refers to them by their specific scheduling reference in s. 893.03(1)(c), F.S. The bill also adds the following substances:

- A substance described in s. 893.03(1)(c)21., 43.-45., 58., 72.-80., 81.-86., 90.-102., 104.-108., 110.-113., 143.-145., 148.-150., 160.–163., or 187.-189., F.S., which include phenethylamines and cathinones;
- A substituted cathinone described in s. 893.03(1)(c)191., F.S.;
- A substituted phenethylamine described in s. 893.03(1)(c)192., F.S.; and [58] Phenylcyclohexylamine is a relative of phencyclidine. The term "substituted" is a general term that means a portion of the chemical structure is removed and replaced with a different chemical structure. There are many permutations. The term "substituted phenylcyclohexylamine" can have many different substitutions but the base structure is that of phenylcyclohexylamine. - A mixture containing any described substance or containing the salts, isomers, esters, or ethers, and salts of isomers, esters, or ethers of any described substance.

By adding these substances to the trafficking in phenethylamines provision, these substances become subject to current penalties for trafficking in phenethylamines. Trafficking in 10 grams or more of any listed substance is generally a first degree felony and is subject to the following mandatory minimum terms of imprisonment and mandatory fines:

- A 3-year mandatory minimum term of imprisonment and a mandatory fine of $50,000, if the quantity involved is 10 grams or more, but less than 200 grams.
- A 7-year mandatory minimum term of imprisonment and a mandatory fine of $100,000, if the quantity involved is 200 grams or more, but less than 400 grams.
- A 15-year mandatory minimum term of imprisonment and a mandatory fine of $250,000, if the quantity involved is 400 grams or more.[61]

Further, a person commits a capital felony, which is also punishable by a mandatory fine of $250,000, if the person knowingly manufactures or brings into Florida 30 kilograms or more of any previously-described substance, knowing that the probable result of such manufacture or importation would be the death of any person.[62]

Trafficking in Synthetic Cannabinoids (Section 6)

Section 6 creates s. 893.135(1)(m), F.S., which punishes "trafficking in synthetic cannabinoids." Trafficking in synthetic cannabinoids, which is a first degree felony, is knowingly selling, purchasing, manufacturing, delivering, or bringing into Florida, or knowingly being in actual or constructive possession of, 280 grams or more of:

- A substance described in s. 893.03(1)(c)30., 46.-50., 114.-142., 151.-156., 166.-173., or 176.-186., F.S. (synthetic cannabinoids);
- A synthetic cannabinoid described in s. 893.03(1)(c)190., F.S.; or
- A mixture containing any described substance.

This offense includes mandatory minimum terms of imprisonment and mandatory fines, which are based on the quantity involved in the trafficking:

- A 3-year mandatory minimum term of imprisonment and a mandatory fine of $50,000, if the quantity involved is 280 grams or more, but less than 500 grams;
- A 7-year mandatory minimum term of imprisonment and a mandatory fine of $100,000, if the quantity involved is 500 grams or more, but less than 1 kilogram;
- A 15-year mandatory minimum term of imprisonment and a mandatory fine of $200,000, if the quantity involved is 1 kilogram or more, but less than 30 kilograms; and
- A 25-year mandatory minimum term of imprisonment and a mandatory fine of $750,000, if the quantity involved is 30 kilograms or more.

Trafficking in N-benzyl Phenethylamines (Section 6)

Section 6 creates s. 893.135(1)(n), F.S., which punishes "trafficking in n-benzyl phenethylamines." Trafficking in n-benzyl phenethylamines, which is a first degree felony, is knowingly selling, purchasing, manufacturing, delivering, or bringing into Florida, or knowingly being in actual or constructive possession of, 14 grams or more of:

- A substance described in s. 893.03(1)(c)164., 174., or 175., F.S. (n-benzyl phenethylamines);
- A n-benzyl phenethylamine compound, as described in s. 893.03(1)(c)193., F.S.; or
- A mixture containing any described substance.

This offense includes mandatory minimum terms of imprisonment and mandatory fines, which are based on the quantity involved in the trafficking:

- A 3-year mandatory minimum term of imprisonment and a mandatory fine of $50,000, if the quantity involved is 14 grams or more, but less than 100 grams;
- A 7-year mandatory minimum term of imprisonment and a mandatory fine of $100,000, if the quantity involved is 100 grams or more, but less than 200 grams; and
- A 15-year mandatory minimum term of imprisonment and a mandatory fine of $500,000, if the quantity involved is 200 grams or more.

Further, a person commits a capital felony, which is also punishable by a mandatory fine of $500,000, if the person knowingly manufactures or brings into Florida 400 grams or more of a n-benzyl phenethylamine compound, knowing that the probable result of such importation would be the death of any person.

Ranking Trafficking Offenses (Section 7)

Section 7 amends s. 921.0022, F.S., the offense severity ranking chart of the Criminal Punishment Code, to rank trafficking offenses that are created by the bill (described below).

The following trafficking offenses are ranked in Level 7:

- Trafficking in fentanyl (4 grams or more, but less than 14 grams);
- Trafficking in synthetic cannabinoids (280 grams or more, but less than 500 grams);
- Trafficking in synthetic cannabinoids (500 grams or more, but less than 1,000 grams); and
- Trafficking in n-benzyl phenethylamines, (14 grams or more, but less than 100 grams).

The following trafficking offenses are ranked in Level 8:

- Trafficking in fentanyl (14 grams or more, but less than 28 grams);
- Trafficking in synthetic cannabinoids (1,000 grams or more, but less than 30 kilograms); and
- Trafficking in n-benzyl phenethylamines (100 grams or more, but less than 200 grams).

The following trafficking offenses are ranked in Level 9:

- Trafficking in fentanyl (28 grams or more);
- Trafficking in synthetic cannabinoids (30 kilograms or more); and
- Trafficking in n-benzyl phenethylamines (200 grams or more).

The bill also makes technical corrections to language describing some current trafficking offenses ranked in the chart.

Sections 8 to 18 reenact, respectively, ss. 39.806, 63.089, 95.11, 775.082, 775.0823, 921.16, 948.06, 948.062, 985.265, 1012.315, and 1012.467, F.S., for the purpose of incorporating amendments made by the bill to various statutes.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The Criminal Justice Impact Conference (CJIC) has not reviewed the provisions of the bill involving felony murder by drug distribution (Section 2), controlled substances scheduling (Section 4), and controlled substance offenses (Sections 5 to 7). However, those provisions are identical to provisions in CS/HB 477, which the CJIC estimates will have a "positive indeterminate" prison bed impact (an unquantifiable increase in prison beds).[63]

[63] E-mail, dated March 28, 2017, to staff of the Senate Committee on Criminal Justice from staff of the Office of Economic and Demographic Research (on file with the Senate Committee on Criminal Justice and the Senate Committee on Judiciary).

One person was charged and sentenced to prison for drug-related first degree murder (sentence length of 24 months). In FY 2015-2016, one person was arrested for selling fentanyl, and two people received a conviction/adjudication withheld. DOC does not track the number of admissions to prison for fentanyl, so that population is not known. Per the FDLE, citing the Florida Medical Examiners' 2015 Annual Report,[64] there were 911 deaths in which fentanyl was present or deemed the cause of death. Further, 99 of the deaths associated with fentanyl only had that in their system, while the rest were in combination with another drug.

In FY 2015-2016, there were 44[65] offenders sentenced for trafficking in hydrocodone and oxycodone, and 34 were sentenced to prison (mean sentence length of 70.5 months and an incarceration rate of 77.3 percent). However, the changes in the bill should not affect these offenses.

In FY 2015-2016, there were 487 offenders sentenced for trafficking offenses similar to fentanyl (heroin included) between 4 and 14 grams. There were 363 sentenced to prison (mean sentence length of 62.1 months and an incarceration rate of 74.6 percent). There were 126 offenders sentenced for trafficking between 14 and 28 grams, and 102 of these offenders were sentenced to prison (mean sentence length of 94.6 months and an incarceration rate of 81.0 percent). There were 81 offenders sentenced for trafficking between 28 grams and 30 kilograms, and 64 of these offenders were sentenced to prison (mean sentence length of 144.5 months and an incarceration rate of 79.0 percent). No offenders were sentenced for trafficking more than 30 kilograms.

In FY 2015-2016, there were two offenders sentenced for trafficking in phencyclidine between 28 and 200 grams, and both offenders received a prison sentence (mean sentence length of 96.0 months and an incarceration rate of 100 percent). There was one offender sentenced for trafficking between 400 and 800 grams, but that person did not receive a prison sentence.

The only other current trafficking offenses that exist out of s. 893.03(1)(c), F.S., are MDMA and phenethylamines, both of them combined in the DOC's data. Per the DOC, in FY 2015-2016, there were 41 offenders sentenced for trafficking between 10 and 200 grams of these drugs. There were 26 sentenced to prison (mean sentence length of 45.6 months and an incarceration rate of 63.4 percent). There were two offenders sentenced for trafficking between 200 and 400 grams of these drugs, and none of those offenders were sentenced to prison. There was also one offender sentenced for trafficking in over 400 grams of these drugs in FY 2015-2016, and that offender was sentenced to prison

The EDR adjusts these numbers by the percentage of scoresheets received for the applicable fiscal year.

This bill creates section 893.015 of the Florida Statutes.

The bill reenacts sections 39.806, 63.089, 95.11, 775.082, 775.0823, 921.16, 948.06, 948.062, 985.265, 1012.315, and 1012.467, Florida Statutes, for the purpose of incorporating amendments made by the bill to various statutes.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS/CS/CS by Appropriations on April 25, 2017:
The committee substitute removes provisions from the bill that authorize departure from drug trafficking mandatory minimum sentencing, authorize mitigation of a Criminal Punishment Code sentence based on a defendant's substance abuse and amenability to treatment, require prison diversion for certain drug possession offenders and nonviolent offenders with substance abuse problems, and reenact statutes that cross-reference statutes amended by the removed provisions.

CS/CS by Judiciary on April 19, 2017:
The committee substitute corrects a technical deficiency by removing the date for which a provision on mitigating circumstances for nonviolent felony offenders will apply to conform to another change to the bill by a prior committee.

CS by Criminal Justice on April 3, 2017:
The committee substitute:

- Provides that a person 18 years of age or older commits felony murder if he or she unlawfully distributes any specified controlled substance, including a specified fentanyl-related substance, and the distribution is proven to be the proximate cause of the death of the user of the substance;

- Includes in Schedule I a class of fentanyl derivatives and five substances that were originally developed for legitimate research but that have now emerged in the illicit drug market;
- Punishes unlawful possession of 10 grams or more of certain Schedule II substances, including certain fentanyl-related substances;
- Adds codeine, an isomer of hydrocodone, to a current provision punishing trafficking in hydrocodone, and adds additional phenethylamines and phencyclidines to current provisions punishing trafficking in phencyclidine and phenethylamine;
- Revises the new offense of trafficking in fentanyl;
- Punishes trafficking in synthetic cannabinoids, and n-benzyl phenethylamines, including mandatory minimum terms of imprisonment and mandatory fines;
- Authorizes a court to depart from a mandatory minimum sentence for drug trafficking after evaluating the defendant's crime, history, character, and chances for successful rehabilitation, if the court finds compelling reasons on the record that the mandatory minimum sentence is not necessary to protect the public;
- Ranks new offenses for trafficking in fentanyl, synthetic cannabinoids, and n-benzyl phenethylamines in the Code offense severity ranking chart;
- Removes a new offense of committing a drug act in a dwelling;
- Removes the ranking of a LSD trafficking offense in the Code offense severity ranking chart;
- Authorizes certain crime laboratory personnel to possess, store, and administer emergency opioid antagonists used to treat opioid overdoses;
- Provides that cross-references throughout the Florida Statutes to the Florida Comprehensive Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act (ch. 893, F.S.), or any portion thereof, include all subsequent amendments to the act;
- Requires that certain offenders convicted of simple possession of a controlled substance receive a nonstate prison sanction unless such sentence could present a danger to the public;
- Restores a circumstance for mitigating (reducing) a sentence based on substance abuse or addiction and amenability to treatment; and
- Requires diversion through drug court, residential drug treatment, or drug offender probation for certain nonviolent felony offenders who are amenable to substance abuse treatment.

Section 8. For the purpose of incorporating the amendment made by this act to section 782.04, Florida Statutes, in a reference thereto, paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of section 39.806, Florida Statutes, is reenacted to read:

39.806 Grounds for termination of parental rights.—

(1) Grounds for the termination of parental rights may be established under any of the following circumstances:

(d) When the parent of a child is incarcerated and either:

1. The period of time for which the parent is expected to be incarcerated will constitute a significant portion of the child's minority. When determining whether the period of time is significant, the court shall consider the child's age and the child's need for a permanent and stable home. The period of time begins on the date that the parent enters into incarceration;

2. The incarcerated parent has been determined by the court to be a violent career criminal as defined in s. 775.084, a habitual violent felony offender as defined in s. 775.084, or a sexual predator as defined in s. 775.21; has been convicted of first degree or second degree murder in violation of s. 782.04 or a sexual battery that constitutes a capital, life, or first degree felony violation of s. 794.011; or has been convicted of an offense in another jurisdiction which is substantially similar to one of the offenses listed in this paragraph. As used in this section, the term "substantially similar offense" means any offense that is substantially similar in elements and penalties to one of those listed in this subparagraph, and that is in violation of a law of any other jurisdiction, whether that of another state, the District of Columbia, the United States or any possession or territory thereof, or any foreign jurisdiction; or

3. The court determines by clear and convincing evidence that continuing the parental relationship with the incarcerated parent would be harmful to the child and, for this reason, that termination of the parental rights of the incarcerated parent is in the best interest of the child. When determining harm, the court shall consider the following factors:

a. The age of the child.

b. The relationship between the child and the parent.

c. The nature of the parent's current and past provision for the child's developmental, cognitive, psychological, and physical needs.

d. The parent's history of criminal behavior, which may include the frequency of incarceration and the unavailability of the parent to the child due to incarceration.

e. Any other factor the court deems relevant.

Section 9. For the purpose of incorporating the amendment made by this act to section 782.04, Florida Statutes, in a reference thereto, paragraph (b) of subsection (4) of section 63.089, Florida Statutes, is reenacted to read:

63.089 Proceeding to terminate parental rights pending adoption; hearing; grounds; dismissal of petition; judgment.—

(4) FINDING OF ABANDONMENT.—A finding of abandonment resulting in a termination of parental rights must be based upon clear and convincing evidence that a parent or person having legal custody has abandoned the child in accordance with the definition contained in s. 63.032. A finding of abandonment may also be based upon emotional abuse or a refusal to provide reasonable financial support, when able, to a birth mother during her pregnancy or on whether the person alleged to have abandoned the child, while being able, failed to establish contact with the child or accept responsibility for the child's welfare.

(b) The child has been abandoned when the parent of a child is incarcerated on or after October 1, 2001, in a federal, state, or county correctional institution and:

1. The period of time for which the parent has been or is expected to be incarcerated will constitute a significant portion of the child's minority. In determining whether the period of time is significant, the court shall consider the child's age and the child's need for a permanent and stable home. The period of time begins on the date that the parent enters into incarceration;

2. The incarcerated parent has been determined by a court of competent jurisdiction to be a violent career criminal as defined in s. 775.084, a habitual violent felony offender as defined in s. 775.084, convicted of child abuse as defined in s. 827.03, or a sexual predator as defined in s. 775.21; has been convicted of first degree or second degree murder in violation of s. 782.04 or a sexual battery that constitutes a capital, life, or first degree felony violation of s. 794.011; or has been convicted of a substantially similar offense in another jurisdiction. As used in this section, the term "substantially similar offense" means any offense that is substantially similar in elements and penalties to one of those listed in this subparagraph, and that is in violation of a law of any other jurisdiction, whether that of another state, the District of Columbia, the United States or any possession or territory thereof, or any foreign jurisdiction; or

3. The court determines by clear and convincing evidence that continuing the parental relationship with the incarcerated parent would be harmful to the child and, for this reason, termination of the parental rights of the incarcerated parent is in the best interests of the child.

Section 10. For the purpose of incorporating the amendment made by this act to section 782.04, Florida Statutes, in a reference thereto, subsection (10) of section 95.11, Florida Statutes, is reenacted to read:

190. Synthetic Cannabinoids.—Unless specifically excepted or unless listed in another schedule or contained within a pharmaceutical product approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration, any material, compound, mixture, or preparation that contains any quantity of a synthetic cannabinoid found to be in any of the following chemical class descriptions, or homologues, nitrogen-heterocyclic analogs, isomers (including optical, positional, or geometric), esters, ethers, salts, and salts of homologues, nitrogen-heterocyclic analogs, isomers, esters, or ethers, whenever the existence of such homologues, nitrogen-heterocyclic analogs, isomers, esters, ethers, salts, and salts of isomers, esters, or ethers is possible within the specific chemical class or designation. Since nomenclature of these synthetically produced cannabinoids is not internationally standardized and may continually evolve, these structures or the compounds of these structures shall be included under this subparagraph, regardless of their specific numerical designation of atomic positions covered, if it can be determined through a recognized method of scientific testing or analysis that the substance contains properties that fit within one or more of the following categories:

39.806 Grounds for termination of parental rights.—

(1) Grounds for the termination of parental rights may be established under any of the following circumstances:

(d) When the parent of a child is incarcerated and either:

1. The period of time for which the parent is expected to be incarcerated will constitute a significant portion of the child’s minority. When determining whether the period of time is significant, the court shall consider the child’s age and the child’s need for a permanent and stable home. The period of time begins on the date that the parent enters into incarceration;

2. The incarcerated parent has been determined by the court to be a violent career criminal as defined in s. 775.084, a habitual violent felony offender as defined in s. 775.084, or a sexual predator as defined in s. 775.21; has been convicted of

first degree or second degree murder in violation of s. 782.04 or a sexual battery that constitutes a capital, life, or first degree felony violation of s. 794.011; or has been convicted of an offense in another jurisdiction which is substantially similar to one of the offenses listed in this paragraph. As used in this section, the term "substantially similar offense" means any offense that is substantially similar in elements and penalties to one of those listed in this subparagraph, and that is in violation of a law of any other jurisdiction, whether that of another state, the District of Columbia, the United States or any possession or territory thereof, or any foreign jurisdiction; or

3. The court determines by clear and convincing evidence that continuing the parental relationship with the incarcerated parent would be harmful to the child and, for this reason, that termination of the parental rights of the incarcerated parent is in the best interest of the child. When determining harm, the court shall consider the following factors:

a. The age of the child.

b. The relationship between the child and the parent.

c. The nature of the parent's current and past provision for the child's developmental, cognitive, psychological, and physical needs.

d. The parent's history of criminal behavior, which may include the frequency of incarceration and the unavailability of the parent to the child due to incarceration.

A finding of abandonment may also be based upon emotional abuse or a refusal to provide reasonable financial support, when able, to a birth mother during her pregnancy or on whether the person alleged to have abandoned the child, while being able, failed to establish contact with the child or accept responsibility for the child's welfare.

(b) The child has been abandoned when the parent of a child is incarcerated on or after October 1, 2001, in a federal, state, or county correctional institution and:

1. The period of time for which the parent has been or is expected to be incarcerated will constitute a significant portion of the child's minority. In determining whether the period of time is significant, the court shall consider the child's age and the child's need for a permanent and stable home. The period of time begins on the date that the parent enters into incarceration;

2. The incarcerated parent has been determined by a court of competent jurisdiction to be a violent career criminal as defined in s. 775.084, a habitual violent felony offender as defined in s. 775.084, convicted of child abuse as defined in s.

827.03, or a sexual predator as defined in s. 775.21; has been convicted of first degree or second degree murder in violation of s. 782.04 or a sexual battery that constitutes a capital, life, or first degree felony violation of s. 794.011; or has been convicted of a substantially similar offense in another jurisdiction. As used in this section, the term "substantially similar offense" means any offense that is substantially similar in elements and penalties to one of those listed in this subparagraph, and that is in violation of a law of any other jurisdiction, whether that of another state, the District of Columbia, the United States or any possession or territory thereof, or any foreign jurisdiction; or

3. The court determines by clear and convincing evidence that continuing the parental relationship with the incarcerated parent would be harmful to the child and, for this reason, termination of the parental rights of the incarcerated parent is in the best interests of the child.

(11) If a defendant is sentenced for a primary offense of possession of a controlled substance committed on or after October 1, 2017, and if the total sentence points pursuant to s. 921.0024 are 60 points or fewer, the court must sentence the offender to a nonstate prison sanction. However, if the court makes written findings that a nonstate prison sanction could present a danger to the public, the court may sentence the offender to a state correctional facility pursuant to this section. As used in this subsection, the term "possession of a controlled substance" means possession of a controlled substance in violation of s. 893.13, but does not include possession with intent to sell, manufacture, or deliver a controlled substance or possession of a controlled substance in violation of s. 893.135.

(1) A downward departure from the lowest permissible sentence, as calculated according to the total sentence points pursuant to s. 921.0024, is prohibited unless there are circumstances or factors that reasonably justify the downward departure. Mitigating factors to be considered include, but are not limited to, those listed in subsection (2). The imposition of a sentence below the lowest permissible sentence is subject to appellate review under chapter 924, but the extent of downward departure is not subject to appellate review.

(2) Mitigating circumstances under which a departure from the lowest permissible sentence is reasonably justified include, but are not limited to:

(a) The departure results from a legitimate, uncoerced plea bargain.

(b) The defendant was an accomplice to the offense and was a relatively minor participant in the criminal conduct.

(c) The capacity of the defendant to appreciate the criminal nature of the conduct or to conform that conduct to the requirements of law was substantially impaired.

(d) For an offense committed on or after October 1, 1998, but before October 1, 2017, the defendant requires specialized treatment for a mental disorder that is unrelated to substance abuse or addiction or for a physical disability, and the defendant is amenable to treatment.

(f) ~~(c)~~ The need for payment of restitution to the victim outweighs the need for a prison sentence.

(g) ~~(f)~~ The victim was an initiator, willing participant, aggressor, or provoker of the incident.

(h) ~~(g)~~ The defendant acted under extreme duress or under the domination of another person.

(i) ~~(h)~~ Before the identity of the defendant was determined, the victim was substantially compensated.

Except as provided in this paragraph, the defendant's substance abuse or addiction, including intoxication at the time of the offense, is not a mitigating factor for an offense committed on or after October 1, 1998, but before October 1, 2017, and does not, under any circumstance, justify a downward departure from the permissible sentencing range ~~For purposes of this paragraph, the term "nonviolent felony" has the same meaning as provided in s. 948.08(6)~~.

(o) ~~(n)~~ The defendant was making a good faith effort to obtain or provide medical assistance for an individual experiencing a drug-related overdose.

(3) As used in subsection (2), the term "nonviolent felony" has the same meaning as provided in s. 948.08 ~~Except as provided in paragraph (2)(m), the defendant's substance abuse or~~ ~~addiction, including intoxication at the time of the offense, is not a mitigating factor under subsection (2) and does not, under any circumstances, justify a downward departure from the permissible sentencing range~~.

Section 10. Subsection (7) of section 948.01, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

948.01 When court may place defendant on probation or into community control.—

(7)(a) Notwithstanding s. 921.0024 and effective for offenses committed on or after July 1, 2009, the sentencing court may place the defendant into a postadjudicatory treatment-based drug court program if the defendant's Criminal Punishment Code scoresheet total sentence points under s. 921.0024 are 60 points or fewer, the offense is a nonviolent felony, the defendant is amenable to substance abuse treatment, and the defendant otherwise qualifies under s. 397.334(3). (c)~~(b)~~ In order to be placed in a postadjudicatory treatment-based drug court program under paragraph (a) or paragraph (b), the defendant must be fully advised of the purpose of the program, and the defendant must agree to enter the program. The original sentencing court shall relinquish jurisdiction of the defendant's case to the postadjudicatory drug court program until the defendant is no longer active in the program, the case is returned to the sentencing court due to the defendant's termination from the program for failure to comply with the terms thereof, or the defendant's sentence is completed.

- Individuals who receive public assistance.
- Low-income individuals.

The bill is effective upon becoming a law.

The Revenue Estimating Conference estimates that the bill will reduce local business tax revenues by $23.2 million beginning in Fiscal Year 2017-2018, with a recurring reduction of $23.2 million.

This bill may be a mandate requiring a two-thirds vote of the membership of the Senate. See Section IV.A. of the analysis.

II. Present Situation:

Local Business Tax

The local business tax, authorized in ch. 205, F.S., means the fees charged and the method by which a local government authority grants the privilege of engaging in or managing any business, profession, or occupation within its jurisdiction.[1] Counties and municipalities may levy a business tax.[2]

Eligibility Requirements

County and municipal governments are eligible to levy, by appropriate resolution or ordinance, a business tax for the privilege of engaging in or managing any business, profession, or occupation within their jurisdictions. If adopted by ordinance prior to January 1, 1995, a county, as defined in s. 125.011(1), F.S., (i.e., Miami-Dade County) or any adjacent county (i.e., Broward, Collier, and Monroe counties) is authorized to levy and collect an additional business tax up to 50 percent of the appropriate business tax imposed under s. 205.033(1), F.S.[3]

Administrative Procedures

To levy a business tax, the governing body must first give at least 14 days of public notice between the first and last reading of the resolution or ordinance by publishing a notice in a newspaper of general circulation within its jurisdiction.[4] The public notice must contain the proposed classifications and rates applicable to the business tax.[5] A number of other conditions for levy are imposed on counties and municipalities.[6]

For purposes of ch. 205, F.S., the terms "business," "profession," and "occupation" do not include the customary religious, charitable, or educational activities of nonprofit religious, nonprofit charitable, and nonprofit educational institutions in the state.[7] These institutions are more particularly defined and limited in statute.[8] The term "receipt" means the document that is issued by the local governing authority which bears the words "Local Business Tax Receipt" and evidences that the person in whose name the document is issued has complied with the provisions of ch. 205, F.S., relating to the business tax.[9]

The governing body of a municipality that levies the tax may request that the county in which the municipality is located issue the municipal receipt and collect the tax.[10] The governing body of a county that levies the tax may request that municipalities within the county issue the county receipt and collect the tax.[11] However, before any local government issues any business receipts on behalf of another local government, appropriate agreements must be entered into by the affected local governments.[12] All business tax receipts are sold by the appropriate tax collector beginning July 1 of each year.[13] The taxes are due and payable on or before September 30 of each year, and the receipts expire on September 30 of the succeeding year.[14] In several situations, administrative penalties are also imposed.[15]

A county or municipality that has not adopted a business tax ordinance or resolution may adopt a business tax ordinance.[16] The tax rate structure and classifications in the adopted ordinance must be reasonable and based upon the rate structure and classifications prescribed in ordinances adopted by adjacent local governments that have implemented s. 205.0535, F.S.[17] If no adjacent local government has implemented s. 205.0535, F.S., or if the governing body of the county or municipality finds that the rate structures or classifications of adjacent local governments are unreasonable, then an alternative method is authorized. In such a case, the rate structure or classifications prescribed in the ordinance of the local government seeking to impose the tax may be based upon those prescribed in ordinances adopted by local governments that have implemented s. 205.0535, F.S., in counties or municipalities that have a comparable population.[18]

Prior to October 1, 2008, any municipality that adopted by ordinance a local business tax after October 1, 1995, could, by ordinance, reclassify businesses, professions, and occupations and establish new rate structures, provided certain conditions were met. If such conditions were met, counties and municipalities could, every other year thereafter, increase or decrease by ordinance the rates of business taxes by up to 5 percent. Any subsequent increase must be enacted by at least a majority plus one vote of the governing body.[19] A county or municipality is not prohibited from decreasing or repealing any authorized local business tax. The governing body may adopt an ordinance by majority vote that repeals a local business tax or establishes new rates that decrease local business taxes and do not result in an increase in local business taxes for a taxpayer without having to establish an equity study commission.[20]

Exemptions

State law exempts, or allows local governments to exempt, certain individuals from all or some portion of local business taxes.[21] Customary religious, charitable, or educational activities of nonprofit religious, nonprofit charitable, and nonprofit educational institutions are excluded from the definition of "business," "profession," and "occupation" and are thereby excluded from

Regulatory Provisions

State law also regulates the issuance of local business tax receipts to certain individuals or businesses.[31] Section 205.194, F.S., provides that any person applying for or renewing a local business tax receipt to practice any profession or engage in or manage any business or occupation regulated by the Department of Business and Professional Regulation, the Florida Supreme Court, or any other state regulatory agency, including any board or commission thereof, must exhibit an active state certificate, registration, or license, or proof of copy of the same, before such local receipt may be issued.

State law provides similar requirements for production of evidence of appropriate licensure prior to issuance of a local business tax receipt for pharmacies and pharmacists,[32] assisted living facilities,[33] pest control,[34] health studios,[35] sellers of travel,[36] telemarketing businesses,[37] and household moving services.[38] However, out-of-state businesses that are conducting operations within the state solely to perform disaster-related work or emergency-related work during a disaster-response period are not subject to registration, filing, or remittance requirements, including requirements for local business taxes.[39]

Distribution of Revenues

The revenues derived from the business tax imposed by county governments, exclusive of the costs of collection and credit given for municipal business taxes, are apportioned between the county's unincorporated area and the incorporated municipalities located within the county by a ratio derived by dividing their respective populations by the county's total population.[40] Within 15 days following the month of receipt, the apportioned revenues are sent to each governing authority; however, this provision does not apply to counties that have established a new rate structure pursuant to s. 205.0535, F.S.[41]

Authorized Uses of Revenues

The tax proceeds are considered general revenue for the county or municipality. Additionally, the county business tax proceeds may be used for overseeing and implementing a comprehensive economic development strategy through advertising, promotional activities, and other sales and marketing techniques.[42] The proceeds of the additional county business tax imposed pursuant to s. 205.033(6), F.S., are distributed by the county's governing body to a designated organization or agency for the purpose of implementing a comprehensive economic development strategy through advertising, promotional activities, and other sales and marketing techniques.[43]

Total Revenues Collected

According to a report published by the Office of Economic and Demographic Research (EDR), in Fiscal Year 2013-14, 33 counties collected a total of $27 million of local business tax revenue. In that same fiscal year, 292 municipalities collected a total of $143 million of local business tax revenue.[44]

Certain local governments receive a sizable amount of revenue from the local business tax. At least seven municipalities received over $7 million in revenue from the local business tax including:

- Panama City—$8.6 million;
- Panama City Beach—$10 million;
- Jacksonville—$7 million;
- Tampa—$10.2 million;
- Hialeah—$9.3 million;
- Miami—$7.6 million; and
- Orlando—$8.1 million.

Miami-Dade County received $11.6 million in revenue from the local business tax.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 creates s. 205.055, F.S., to provide an exemption from the local business tax and any subsequent fees for the following individuals and businesses that meet the listed criteria below on or after July 1, 2017:

- A veteran, the spouse of a veteran, or the surviving spouse of a veteran;
- The spouse of an active military servicemember who has relocated to the county or municipality pursuant to a permanent change of station order;
- An individual who is receiving public assistance, as that term is defined in s. 409.2554, F.S.;[45]
- An individual whose household income is less than 130 percent of the federal poverty level based on the current year's federal poverty guidelines; and
- A business whose controlling interest is owned by an exempt person.

In order to be entitled to the exemption, the individual must complete and sign, under penalty of perjury, a Request for Fee Exemption, furnished by the local governing authority, and must provide written documentation in support of his or her request.

Section 2 repeals s. 205.171, F.S., relating to exemptions from the local business tax for disabled veterans of any war or their unremarried spouses.

Section 3 provides that this act shall take effect on July 1, 2017.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

Subsection (b) of Art. VII, s. 18 of the Florida Constitution, provides that except upon the approval of each house of the Legislature by a two-thirds vote of the membership, the Legislature may not enact, amend, or repeal any general law if the anticipated effect of doing so would be to reduce the authority that municipalities or counties have to raise revenue in the aggregate, as such authority existed on February 1, 1989. However, the mandate requirements do not apply to laws having an insignificant impact, which for Fiscal Year 2016-2017 was $2 million or less.[46,47,48]

The mandates provision of Art. VII, s. 18 of the Florida Constitution, may apply because this bill reduces local government authority to raise revenue by exempting certain persons from the local business tax. This bill does not appear to qualify under any exemption or

This bill may be a mandate requiring a two-thirds vote of the membership of the Senate. See Section IV.A. of the analysis.

II. Present Situation:

Local Business Tax

The local business tax, authorized in ch. 205, F.S., means the fees charged and the method by which a local government authority grants the privilege of engaging in or managing any business, profession, or occupation within its jurisdiction.[1] Counties and municipalities may levy a business tax.[2]

Eligibility Requirements

County and municipal governments are eligible to levy, by appropriate resolution or ordinance, a business tax for the privilege of engaging in or managing any business, profession, or occupation within their jurisdictions. If adopted by ordinance prior to January 1, 1995, a county, as defined in s. 125.011(1), F.S., (i.e., Miami-Dade County) or any adjacent county (i.e., Broward, Collier, and Monroe counties) is authorized to levy and collect an additional business tax up to 50 percent of the appropriate business tax imposed under s. 205.033(1), F.S.[3]

Administrative Procedures

To levy a business tax, the governing body must first give at least 14 days of public notice between the first and last reading of the resolution or ordinance by publishing a notice in a newspaper of general circulation within its jurisdiction.[4] The public notice must contain the proposed classifications and rates applicable to the business tax.[5] A number of other conditions for levy are imposed on counties and municipalities.[6]

For purposes of ch. 205, F.S., the terms "business," "profession," and "occupation" do not include the customary religious, charitable, or educational activities of nonprofit religious, nonprofit charitable, and nonprofit educational institutions in the state.[7] These institutions are more particularly defined and limited in statute.[8] The term "receipt" means the document that is issued by the local governing authority which bears the words "Local Business Tax Receipt" and evidences that the person in whose name the document is issued has complied with the provisions of ch. 205, F.S., relating to the business tax.[9]

The governing body of a municipality that levies the tax may request that the county in which the municipality is located issue the municipal receipt and collect the tax.[10] The governing body of a county that levies the tax may request that municipalities within the county issue the county receipt and collect the tax.[11] However, before any local government issues any business receipts on behalf of another local government, appropriate agreements must be entered into by the affected local governments.[12] All business tax receipts are sold by the appropriate tax collector beginning July 1 of each year.[13] The taxes are due and payable on or before September 30 of each year, and the receipts expire on September 30 of the succeeding year.[14] In several situations, administrative penalties are also imposed.[15]

A county or municipality that has not adopted a business tax ordinance or resolution may adopt a business tax ordinance.[16] The tax rate structure and classifications in the adopted ordinance must be reasonable and based upon the rate structure and classifications prescribed in ordinances adopted by adjacent local governments that have implemented s. 205.0535, F.S.[17] If no adjacent local government has implemented s. 205.0535, F.S., or if the governing body of the county or municipality finds that the rate structures or classifications of adjacent local governments are unreasonable, then an alternative method is authorized. In such a case, the rate structure or classifications prescribed in the ordinance of the local government seeking to impose the tax may be based upon those prescribed in ordinances adopted by local governments that have implemented s. 205.0535, F.S., in counties or municipalities that have a comparable population.[18]

Prior to October 1, 2008, any municipality that adopted by ordinance a local business tax after October 1, 1995, could, by ordinance, reclassify businesses, professions, and occupations and establish new rate structures, provided certain conditions were met. If such conditions were met, counties and municipalities could, every other year thereafter, increase or decrease by ordinance the rates of business taxes by up to 5 percent. Any subsequent increase must be enacted by at least a majority plus one vote of the governing body.[19] A county or municipality is not prohibited from decreasing or repealing any authorized local business tax. The governing body may adopt an ordinance by majority vote that repeals a local business tax or establishes new rates that decrease local business taxes and do not result in an increase in local business taxes for a taxpayer without having to establish an equity study commission.[20]

Exemptions

State law exempts, or allows local governments to exempt, certain individuals from all or some portion of local business taxes.[21] Customary religious, charitable, or educational activities of nonprofit religious, nonprofit charitable, and nonprofit educational institutions are excluded from the definition of "business," "profession," and "occupation" and are thereby excluded from

Regulatory Provisions

State law also regulates the issuance of local business tax receipts to certain individuals or businesses.[31] Section 205.194, F.S., provides that any person applying for or renewing a local business tax receipt to practice any profession or engage in or manage any business or occupation regulated by the Department of Business and Professional Regulation, the Florida Supreme Court, or any other state regulatory agency, including any board or commission thereof, must exhibit an active state certificate, registration, or license, or proof of copy of the same, before such local receipt may be issued.

State law provides similar requirements for production of evidence of appropriate licensure prior to issuance of a local business tax receipt for pharmacies and pharmacists,[32] assisted living facilities,[33] pest control,[34] health studios,[35] sellers of travel,[36] telemarketing businesses,[37] and household moving services.[38] However, out-of-state businesses that are conducting operations within the state solely to perform disaster-related work or emergency-related work during a disaster-response period are not subject to registration, filing, or remittance requirements, including requirements for local business taxes.[39]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 creates s. 205.055, F.S., to provide an exemption from the local business tax and any subsequent fees for the following individuals who meet the listed criteria below on or after July 1, 2016:

- A veteran or the surviving spouse of a veteran of the United States Armed Forces;
- The spouse of an active military servicemember who has relocated to the county or municipality pursuant to a permanent change of station order;
- An individual who is receiving public assistance, as that term is defined in s. 409.2554, F.S.[45]; and
- An individual whose household income is less than 130 percent of the federal poverty level based on the current year's federal poverty guidelines.

In order to be entitled to the exemption, the individual must complete and sign, under penalty of perjury, a Request for Fee Exemption, furnished by the local governing authority, and must provide written documentation in support of his or her request.

Section 2 repeals s. 205.171, F.S., relating to exemptions from the local business tax for disabled veterans of any war or their unremarried spouses.

Section 3 provides that this act shall take effect upon becoming a law.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

Subsection (b) of Art. VII, s. 18 of the Florida Constitution, provides that except upon the approval of each house of the Legislature by a two-thirds vote of the membership, the Legislature may not enact, amend, or repeal any general law if the anticipated effect of doing so would be to reduce the authority that municipalities or counties have to raise revenue in the aggregate, as such authority existed on February 1, 1989. However, the mandate requirements do not apply to laws having an insignificant impact, which for Fiscal Year 2016-2017 was $2 million or less.[46,47,48]

The mandates provision of Art. VII, s. 18 of the Florida Constitution, may apply because this bill reduces local government authority to raise revenue by exempting certain persons from the local business tax. This bill does not appear to qualify under any exemption or [45] Section 409.2554(8), F.S., defines "public assistance" to mean money assistance paid on the basis of Title IV-E and Title XIX of the Social Security Act, temporary cash assistance, or food assistance benefits received on behalf of a child under 18 years of age who has an absent parent.

exception. Therefore, the bill may qualify as a mandate, requiring a two-thirds vote of the membership of each chamber of the Legislature.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

The Revenue Estimating Conference estimates that the bill will reduce local business tax revenues by $23.2 million beginning in Fiscal Year 2017-2018, assuming the bill language exempts spouses of veterans.

B. Private Sector Impact:

Veterans, spouses of veterans, certain spouses of active servicemembers, and low-income individuals will be exempt from the local business tax, if they complete and sign a Request for Fee Exemption.

C. Government Sector Impact:

None.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

The bill is not clear regarding the exemption for spouses of veterans. The bill exempts a "surviving spouse" of a veteran…. "Surviving spouse" is how Florida law typically describes the spouse of a veteran who has died.[49] If the sponsor's intent is to exempt the spouse of a living veteran, an amendment may be necessary.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations

BILL:	SB 524
INTRODUCER:	Senators Steube and Simpson
SUBJECT:	Sales and Use Tax on Investigation and Detective Services
DATE:	April 24, 2017
REVISED:

	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR	REFERENCE	ACTION
1.	Gross	Diez-Arguelles	AFT	Recommend: Favorable
2.	Gross	Hansen	AP	Favorable

I. Summary:

SB 524 expressly exempts from the sales and use tax those fingerprint services that are part of the application to obtain a concealed weapons and concealed firearms license.

The Revenue Estimating Conference estimates this bill will not have a fiscal impact on state or local government revenues.

Under current law, fingerprint services performed by a law enforcement agency, the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, or an approved tax collector to obtain a concealed weapons or concealed firearms license are not taxable transactions.[1]

The bill takes effect July 1, 2017.

II. Present Situation:

Florida Sales and Use Tax

Section 212.05(1)(i)1., F.S., levies a tax on detective, burglar, and other protection services. The law provides that these services are performed by industries classified under the 2007 North American Industry Classification System (NAICS) codes 561611, 561612, 561613, and 561621. A business establishment is classified under one NAICS code based on the establishment's primary economic activity. Fingerprint services are classified under code 561611 along with detective agencies, private investigation services, lie detection services, and other like services.[2]

Concealed weapon and concealed firearm applicants are required by s. 790.06(5), F.S., to submit a full set of fingerprints administered by a law enforcement agency, the Division of Licensing of the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, or an approved tax collector, along with other personal identifying information required by federal law to process fingerprints.

Section 790.062, F.S., provides military members and veterans of the United States Armed Forces additional options to obtain fingerprint services; either by military provost or other military unit charged with law enforcement duties.

In 1994, the Department of Revenue issued a Technical Assistance Advisement (TAA) in response to a taxpayer requesting guidance on whether criminal history background check services provided by the Florida Department of Law Enforcement and required by state law are subject to sales tax. The department's answer was no, basing its decision on the fact that the background check, and the associated fee or charge, was mandated by the state.[3]

Further, fingerprint services provided by a law enforcement officer who is performing approved duties in his capacity as a law enforcement officer are not subject to sales tax.[4]

The Revenue Estimating Conference's impact analysis for this bill states that, "where the fingerprinting is performed by staff in the Tax Collector's office or by staff of the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, the fee is not a part of the sales price as it is a required governmental fee.[5]

License and Fingerprint Processing Fees

The table below displays the license fees for new and renewal applications, fingerprint processing fees, and additional statutorily defined fees a law enforcement agency or an approved tax collector may require if they perform these services.

Section 790.06, F.S., requires an applicant for a license to carry a concealed weapon to submit a full set of fingerprints administered by a law enforcement agency, the Division of Licensing of the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services or an approved tax collector. If the applicant is a member or veteran of the United States Armed Forces, the fingerprinting may have been administered by a military provost or other military unit charged with law enforcement duties.[6]

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to the sales and use tax on investigation and detective services; amending ss. 212.05, 790.06, and 790.062, F.S.; providing that fingerprint services required for a license to carry a concealed weapon or firearm are not subject to the tax; providing an effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Paragraph (i) of subsection (1) of section 212.05, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

212.05 Sales, storage, use tax.—It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that every person is exercising a taxable privilege who engages in the business of selling tangible personal property at retail in this state, including the business of making mail order sales, or who rents or furnishes any of the things or services taxable under this chapter, or who stores for use or consumption in this state any item or article of tangible personal property as defined herein and who leases or rents such property within the state.

(1) For the exercise of such privilege, a tax is levied on each taxable transaction or incident, which tax is due and payable as follows:

(i)1. At the rate of 6 percent on charges for all:

a. Detective, burglar protection, and other protection services (NAICS National Numbers 561611, 561612, 561613, and 561621). Fingerprint services required under s. 790.06 or s. 790.062 are not subject to the tax. Any law enforcement officer, as defined in s. 943.10, who is performing approved duties as determined by his or her local law enforcement agency in his or her capacity as a law enforcement officer, and who is subject to the direct and immediate command of his or her law enforcement agency, and in the law enforcement officer's uniform as authorized by his or her law enforcement agency, is performing law enforcement and public safety services and is not performing detective, burglar protection, or other protective services, if the law enforcement officer is performing his or her approved duties in a geographical area in which the law enforcement officer has arrest jurisdiction. Such law enforcement and public safety services are not subject to tax irrespective of whether the duty is characterized as "extra duty," "off-duty," or "secondary employment," and irrespective of whether the officer is paid directly or through the officer's agency by an outside source. The term "law enforcement officer" includes full-time or part-time law enforcement officers, and any auxiliary law enforcement officer, when such auxiliary law enforcement officer is working under the direct supervision of a full-time or part-time law enforcement officer.

b. Nonresidential cleaning, excluding cleaning of the interiors of transportation equipment, and nonresidential building pest control services (NAICS National Numbers 561710 and 561720).

2. As used in this paragraph, "NAICS" means those classifications contained in the North American Industry Classification System, as published in 2007 by the Office of Management and Budget, Executive Office of the President.

3. Charges for detective, burglar protection, and other protection security services performed in this state but used outside this state are exempt from taxation. Charges for detective, burglar protection, and other protection security services performed outside this state and used in this state are subject to tax.

4. If a transaction involves both the sale or use of a service taxable under this paragraph and the sale or use of a service or any other item not taxable under this chapter, the consideration paid must be separately identified and stated with respect to the taxable and exempt portions of the transaction or the entire transaction shall be presumed taxable. The burden shall be on the seller of the service or the purchaser of the service, whichever applicable, to overcome this presumption by providing documentary evidence as to which portion of the transaction is exempt from tax. The department is authorized to adjust the amount of consideration identified as the taxable and exempt portions of the transaction; however, a determination that the taxable and exempt portions are inaccurately stated and that the adjustment is applicable must be supported by substantial competent evidence.

5. Each seller of services subject to sales tax pursuant to this paragraph shall maintain a monthly log showing each transaction for which sales tax was not collected because the services meet the requirements of subparagraph 3. for out-of-state use. The log must identify the purchaser's name, location and mailing address, and federal employer identification number, if a business, or the social security number, if an individual, the service sold, the price of the service, the date of sale, the reason for the exemption, and the sales invoice number. The monthly log shall be maintained pursuant to the same requirements and subject to the same penalties imposed for the keeping of similar records pursuant to this chapter.

Section 2. Paragraph (c) of subsection (5) of section 790.06, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

790.06 License to carry concealed weapon or firearm.—

(5) The applicant shall submit to the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services or an approved tax collector pursuant to s. 790.0625:

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 732 requires a physician assistant (PA) to complete a workforce survey as part of his or her biannual licensure renewal under chapter 458 or 459, Florida Statutes. The Department of Health (DOH) must report the data collected from the PA workforce surveys to the Board of Medicine and the Board of Osteopathic Medicine every two years.

The fiscal impact of the bill is indeterminate; however, any costs incurred by the DOH related to additional workload should be absorbed within existing resources.

The effective date of the bill is July 1, 2017.

II. Present Situation:

Physician Assistants

Chapter 458, F.S., sets forth the provisions for the regulation of the practice of allopathic medicine by the Board of Medicine (BOM). Chapter 459, F.S., sets forth the provisions for the regulation of the practice of osteopathic medicine by the Board of Osteopathic Medicine (BOOM). PAs are regulated by either the BOM or the BOOM, as applicable.

PAs are trained and required by statute to work under the supervision and control of allopathic physicians or osteopathic physicians.[1] The BOM and the BOOM have adopted rules that set out the general principles a supervising physician must use in developing the scope of practice of the PA under both direct[2] and indirect[3] supervision. These principles are required to recognize the diversity of both specialty and practice settings in which PAs are employed.[4]

PAs may perform services delegated by a supervising physician in accordance with the PA's education and training unless expressly prohibited under ch. 458, F.S., ch. 459, F.S., or by rules adopted under either chapter.[5] A supervising physician's decision to permit a PA to perform a task or procedure under direct or indirect supervision must be based on reasonable medical judgment regarding the probability of morbidity and mortality to the patient. The supervising physician must be certain that the PA is knowledgeable and skilled in performing the tasks and procedures assigned.[6] Each physician or group of physicians supervising a licensed PA must be qualified in the medical areas in which the PA is to practice and must be individually and collectively liable for the acts and omissions of the PA.[7]

Licensure of PAs is overseen jointly by the BOM and BOOM through the Council on Physician Assistants.-Licensure as a PA requires that the individual:

- Is at least 18 years of age;
- Has passed a proficiency examination with an acceptable score established by the National Commission on Certification of Physician Assistants (NCCPA);[8]
- Has completed the DOH application form, remitted an application fee, and included the following:
  - A certificate of completion of a BOM or BOOM approved PA program;
  - Acknowledgment of any prior felony convictions;
  - Acknowledgement of any revocations or denials of licensure in any state; and
  - A copy of PA training course descriptions and transcripts in pharmacotherapy, if prescribing privileges are desired.[9]

Renewal of a PA's license is biennial and contingent upon completion of a certain type and quantity of continuing medical education requirements. A PA with delegated prescribing authority must submit a signed affidavit that he or she has completed a minimum of ten continuing medical education hours in the specialty practice in which the PA has prescriptive privileges.[10]

Physician Workforce Surveys

There is currently no statutory requirement for the DOH to develop or administer, or for a PA to complete, a survey before he or she can renew a license. However, physicians licensed under the same chapters as PAs are required to complete a survey at licensure renewal.[11] The DOH may issue a nondisciplinary citation if the physician does not complete the survey at least 90 days after renewal. The citation must notify the physician that his or her license will not be renewed in any subsequent renewal period unless the survey is completed.[12]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

PA Workforce Survey as a Renewal Requirement

The bill requires a PA, as a condition of licensure renewal, to complete a workforce survey, which will be administered in the same manner as the physician's survey,[13] and must contain the following:[14]

- Licensee information, including, but not limited to:
  - Frequency and geographic location of practice within the state;
  - Practice setting;
  - Percentage of time spent in direct patient care;
  - Anticipated change to license or practice status; and
  - Areas of specialty or certification.
- Availability and trends relating to critically needed services, including, but not limited to:
  - Obstetric care and services, including incidents of deliveries;
  - Radiological services, particularly performance of mammograms and breast-imaging services;
  - Physician services for hospital emergency departments and trauma centers, including on-call hours; and
  - Other critically needed specialty areas as determined by the department.

The information submitted must include a statement that the information provided is true and accurate to the best of the PA's knowledge and the submission does not contain any knowingly false information.[15]

The bill requires the DOH to administer the PA survey in the same manner as the physician survey. Accordingly, the DOH must:

- Include in PA licensure renewals a notice that the PA survey must be completed prior to renewal of the license, and that the DOH may not renew the license until the survey is completed;

- Issue a nondisciplinary citation to PAs who do not complete the survey within 90 days after filing an application for renewal; and
- Include in the nondisciplinary citation notice that the PA's license will not be renewed unless the survey is completed.

Beginning July 1, 2018, and every two years thereafter, the DOH must report the survey data to the BOM and BOOM. The DOH has been granted rulemaking authority to implement the survey process.

The effective date of the bill is July 1, 2017.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/SB 360 requires the Florida Department of Education (DOE) to issue a competitive bid for a private vendor to conduct a comprehensive study of states with high-performing students in grades 6 through 8 in reading and mathematics, based on the states' performance on the National Assessment of Educational Progress. The DOE must submit a report on the findings of the study and make recommendations to improve middle school student performance to the Governor, the State Board of Education, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives by December 2017.

Specifically, the study must review, at a minimum:

- Academic expectations and instructional strategies.
- Attendance policies and student mobility issues.
- Teacher quality.
- Middle school administrator leadership and performance.
- Parental and community involvement.

The bill requires the DOE to issue a competitive solicitation for a contract with private vendors to conduct the study. However, neither the bill nor SB 2500, the Senate General Appropriations Act for Fiscal Year 2017-2018, appropriates funds for the study.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2017.

II. Present Situation:

Florida's student assessment program for public schools specifies school district and student participation in certain state and national assessments.[1]

Public School Student Assessment Program

The primary purpose of the student assessment program is to provide student academic achievement and learning gains data to students, parents, teachers, school administrators and district staff.[2] The program must be designed to:[3]

- Assess the achievement level and annual learning gains of each student in English Language Arts (ELA) and mathematics and achievement level in all other subjects assessed.
- Provide data for making decisions regarding school accountability, recognition, and improvement of operations and management.
- Identify the educational strengths and needs of students and the readiness of students to be promoted to the next grade level or to graduate from high school.
- Assess how well educational goals and curricular standards are met at the school, district, state, national, and international levels.
- Provide information to aid in the evaluation and development of educational programs and policies.
- Provide instructional personnel with information on student achievement of standards and benchmarks in order to improve instruction.

Statewide, Standardized Assessment Program

The Commissioner of Education (commissioner) is required to design and implement a statewide, standardized assessment program aligned to the core curricular content established in the Next Generation Sunshine State Standards.[4]

The statewide, standardized assessment program consists of:

- Statewide, standardized comprehensive assessments for:[5]
  - ELA;
  - Mathematics; and
  - Science.

[2] Section 1008.22(1), F.S. The data is to be used by districts to improve instruction; by students, parents, and teachers to guide learning objectives; by education researchers to assess national and international comparison data; and by the public to assess the cost benefit of the expenditure of taxpayer dollars. Id.
[4] Section 1008.22(3), F.S. The Next Generation Sunshine State Standards (NGSSS) establish the core content of the curricula to be taught in the state and specify the core content knowledge and skills that K-12 public school students are expected to acquire.
[5] Section 1008.22(3)(a), F.S. Federal law requires students to be tested in reading or language arts and mathematics in each of grades 3 through 8 and not less than once in grades 10 through12. With respect to science, students must be tested once during grades 3 through 5, grades 6 through 9, and grades 10 through 12. 20 U.S.C. s. 6311(b)(3). The Florida Department of Education posts the Statewide Assessment Schedule on its website. Florida Department of Education, Florida Statewide Assessment Program 2016-2017 Schedule, available at https://info.fldoe.org/docushare/dsweb/Get/Document-7514/dps-2015-175a.pdf.

- End-of-Course (EOC) assessments for:[6]
  - Civics;
  - United States History;
  - Algebra I;
  - Algebra II;[7]
  - Geometry; and
  - Biology I.

All statewide, standardized assessments and EOC assessments use scaled scores and achievement levels.[8] Achievement levels range from 1 through 5, with level 1 being the lowest achievement level, level 5 being the highest achievement level, and level 3 indicating satisfactory performance on an assessment.[9]

Trends in student performance on statewide, standardized reading, ELA, and mathematics assessments for the middle grades are indicated in the tables below. In the 2014-15 academic year, the Florida Standards Assessment (FSA) in ELA and Mathematics replaced the FCAT 2.0 assessments.

National and International Assessments

In addition to the administration of statewide, standardized assessments, Florida school districts are required to participate in the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP), or similar national or international assessments,[16] both for the national sample and for any state-by-state comparison programs, as directed by the commissioner.[17]

National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP)

The NAEP is the largest continuing, nationally representative assessment of students' knowledge and performance in a variety of subject areas, including but not limited to mathematics, reading, and writing.[18] The NAEP provides results on subject matter achievement for student populations, subgroups of student populations, and under certain circumstances, by selected large urban schools districts.[19] The NAEP in reading and mathematics is administered to a representative sample of students in grades 4 and 8 every two years.[20] The NAEP reports assessment results using three achievement levels:[21]

- Basic – A student achieving the Basic level demonstrates a partial mastery of prerequisite knowledge and skills that are fundamental for proficient work at each grade.
- Proficient – A student achieving the Proficient level demonstrates solid academic performance at the grade assessed.[22]
- Advanced – A student achieving the Advanced level demonstrates superior performance.

Participation in the NAEP provides a basis for comparing the knowledge and skills of Florida students with students in other states and with the nation as a whole.[23]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill requires the Florida Department of Education (DOE) to issue a competitive bid for a private vendor to conduct a comprehensive study of states with high-performing students in grades 6 through 8 in reading and mathematics, based on the states' performance on the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP). Specifically, the study must review, at a minimum:

- Academic expectation and instructional strategies, including:
  - Alignment of elementary and middle grades expectations with high school graduation requirements;
  - Research-based instructional practices in reading and mathematics, including those targeting low-performing and high-performing students;
  - The rigor of the curriculum and courses and the availability of accelerated courses;
  - The availability of student support services; and

  - The sequence of courses and the prerequisites required for advanced courses;
  - The availability of before- and after-school programs, and efforts to address the summer gap between school years, including related funding; and
  - The availability of other academic and noncore classes, and electives.
- Attendance policies and student mobility issues.
- Teacher quality, including:
  - Teacher certification and recertification requirements;
  - Teacher preparedness to teach rigorous courses;
  - Teacher preparation specific to teaching middle school students;
  - Teacher recruitment and vacancy issues;
  - Staff development requirements and the availability of effective training;
  - Teacher collaboration and planning at the school and district levels; and
  - Student performance data collection and dissemination.
- Middle school administrator leadership and performance; and
- Parental and community involvement.

The comprehensive study will involve a review of factors that may contribute to student success. The findings and recommendations may assist the state in considering policy options to improve instruction and student performance in Florida based on a review of best practices of states with high-performing middle grade students in reading and mathematics. The bill indicates:

- Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, and New Jersey as the top performing states in the percentage of student in grades 4 and 8 who score at or above proficiency on the NAEP reading assessment; and
- Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Jersey, and Washington as the top performing states in the percentage of student in grades 4 and 8 who score at or above proficiency on the NAEP mathematics assessment.

The bill requires the DOE to submit a report on the findings of the study, as well as recommendations to improve middle school student performance, to the Governor, State Board of Education, President of the Senate, and Speaker of the House of Representatives by December 2017. The bill provides for expiration of the provisions related to the comprehensive study of states after the submission of the final report.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2017.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 360 requires the Florida Department of Education (DOE) to issue a competitive bid for a private vendor to conduct a comprehensive study of states with high-performing students in grades 6 through 8 in reading and mathematics, based on the states' performance on the National Assessment of Educational Progress. The DOE must submit a report on the findings of the study and make recommendations to improve middle school student performance to the Governor, the State Board of Education, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives by December 2017.

Specifically, the study must review, at a minimum:

- Academic expectations and instructional strategies.
- Attendance policies and student mobility issues.
- Teacher quality.
- Middle school administrator leadership and performance.
- Parental and community involvement.

The bill appropriates $50,000 to the DOE to issue a competitive solicitation for a contract with private vendors to conduct the study.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2017.

II. Present Situation:

Florida's student assessment program for public schools specifies school district and student participation in certain state and national assessments.[1]

Public School Student Assessment Program

The primary purpose of the student assessment program is to provide student academic achievement and learning gains data to students, parents, teachers, school administrators and district staff.[2] The program must be designed to:[3]

- Assess the achievement level and annual learning gains of each student in English Language Arts (ELA) and mathematics and achievement level in all other subjects assessed.
- Provide data for making decisions regarding school accountability, recognition, and improvement of operations and management.
- Identify the educational strengths and needs of students and the readiness of students to be promoted to the next grade level or to graduate from high school.
- Assess how well educational goals and curricular standards are met at the school, district, state, national, and international levels.
- Provide information to aid in the evaluation and development of educational programs and policies.
- Provide instructional personnel with information on student achievement of standards and benchmarks in order to improve instruction.

Statewide, Standardized Assessment Program

The Commissioner of Education (commissioner) is required to design and implement a statewide, standardized assessment program aligned to the core curricular content established in the Next Generation Sunshine State Standards.[4]

The statewide, standardized assessment program consists of:

- Statewide, standardized comprehensive assessments for:[5]
  - ELA;
  - Mathematics; and
  - Science.

[2] Section 1008.22(1), F.S. The data is to be used by districts to improve instruction; by students, parents, and teachers to guide learning objectives; by education researchers to assess national and international comparison data; and by the public to assess the cost benefit of the expenditure of taxpayer dollars. Id.
[4] Section 1008.22(3), F.S. The Next Generation Sunshine State Standards (NGSSS) establish the core content of the curricula to be taught in the state and specify the core content knowledge and skills that K-12 public school students are expected to acquire.
[5] Section 1008.22(3)(a), F.S. Federal law requires students to be tested in reading or language arts and mathematics in each of grades 3 through 8 and not less than once in grades 10 through12. With respect to science, students must be tested once during grades 3 through 5, grades 6 through 9, and grades 10 through 12. 20 U.S.C. s. 6311(b)(3). The Florida Department of Education posts the Statewide Assessment Schedule on its website. Florida Department of Education, Florida Statewide Assessment Program 2016-2017 Schedule, available at https://info.fldoe.org/docushare/dsweb/Get/Document-7514/dps-2015-175a.pdf.

- End-of-Course (EOC) assessments for:[6]
  - Civics;
  - United States History;
  - Algebra I;
  - Algebra II;[7]
  - Geometry; and
  - Biology I.

All statewide, standardized assessments and EOC assessments use scaled scores and achievement levels.[8] Achievement levels range from 1 through 5, with level 1 being the lowest achievement level, level 5 being the highest achievement level, and level 3 indicating satisfactory performance on an assessment.[9]

Trends in student performance on statewide, standardized reading, ELA, and mathematics assessments for the middle grades are indicated in the tables below. In the 2014-15 academic year, the Florida Standards Assessment (FSA) in ELA and Mathematics replaced the FCAT 2.0 assessments.

National and International Assessments

In addition to the administration of statewide, standardized assessments, Florida school districts are required to participate in the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP), or similar national or international assessments,[16] both for the national sample and for any state-by-state comparison programs, as directed by the commissioner.[17]

National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP)

The NAEP is the largest continuing, nationally representative assessment of students' knowledge and performance in a variety of subject areas, including but not limited to mathematics, reading, and writing.[18] The NAEP provides results on subject matter achievement for student populations, subgroups of student populations, and under certain circumstances, by selected large urban schools districts.[19] The NAEP in reading and mathematics is administered to a representative

sample of students in grades 4 and 8 every two years.[20] The NAEP reports assessment results using three achievement levels:[21]

- Basic – A student achieving the Basic level demonstrates a partial mastery of prerequisite knowledge and skills that are fundamental for proficient work at each grade.
- Proficient – A student achieving the Proficient level demonstrates solid academic performance at the grade assessed.[22]
- Advanced – A student achieving the Advanced level demonstrates superior performance.

Participation in the NAEP provides a basis for comparing the knowledge and skills of Florida students with students in other states and with the nation as a whole.[23]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill requires the Florida Department of Education (DOE) to issue a competitive bid for a private vendor to conduct a comprehensive study of states with high-performing students in grades 6 through 8 in reading and mathematics, based on the states' performance on the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP). Specifically, the study must review, at a minimum:

- Academic expectation and instructional strategies, including:
  - Alignment of elementary and middle grades expectations with high school graduation requirements;
  - Research-based instructional practices in reading and mathematics, including those targeting low-performing and high-performing students;
  - The rigor of the curriculum and courses and the availability of accelerated courses;
  - The availability of student support services; and

  - The sequence of courses and the prerequisites required for advanced courses;
  - The availability of before- and after-school programs, and efforts to address the summer gap between school years, including related funding; and
  - The availability of other academic and noncore classes, and electives.
- Attendance policies and student mobility issues.
- Teacher quality, including:
  - Teacher certification and recertification requirements;
  - Teacher preparedness to teach rigorous courses;
  - Teacher preparation specific to teaching middle school students;
  - Teacher recruitment and vacancy issues;
  - Staff development requirements and the availability of effective training;
  - Teacher collaboration and planning at the school and district levels; and
  - Student performance data collection and dissemination.
- Middle school administrator leadership and performance; and
- Parental and community involvement.

The comprehensive study will involve a review of factors that may contribute to student success. The findings and recommendations may assist the state in considering policy options to improve instruction and student performance in Florida based on a review of best practices of states with high-performing middle grade students in reading and mathematics. The bill indicates:

- Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, and New Jersey as the top performing states in the percentage of student in grades 4 and 8 who score at or above proficiency on the NAEP reading assessment; and
- Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Jersey, and Washington as the top performing states in the percentage of student in grades 4 and 8 who score at or above proficiency on the NAEP mathematics assessment.

The bill requires the DOE to submit a report on the findings of the study, as well as recommendations to improve middle school student performance, to the Governor, State Board of Education, President of the Senate, and Speaker of the House of Representatives by December 2017. The bill appropriates $50,000 to the DOE to issue a competitive solicitation for a contract with private vendors to conduct the study and provides for expiration of the provisions related to the comprehensive study of states after the submission of the final report.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2017.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/SB 468 revises provisions related to the Voluntary Prekindergarten Education (VPK) program and duties of the Just Read! Florida Office (Just Read! Florida). Specifically, the bill:

- Requires the Just Read, Florida! to train Voluntary Prekindergarten through grade 3 teachers, reading coaches, and school principals on effective research-based instructional strategies.
- Requires the Office of Early Learning (OEL) to determine eligibility for enrollment and reenrollment in the school year VPK program.
- Requires each early learning coalition (ELC) to coordinate with the OEL to assign student identification numbers to each student who enrolls in the program.
- Clarifies that the Department of Education (DOE) must adopt a single statewide kindergarten readiness screening that is a direct assessment of early literacy and numeracy skills.
- Requires private prekindergarten providers and public schools in the VPK program to provide parents with the results of the pre- and post- assessment within 10 days after the administering the assessment.
  - Requires the results of the pre- and post- assessments to be reported at the aggregate level, distributed to the respective ELCs and school districts, and displayed on the OEL's website within 30 days after the administration of the assessment.
- Authorizes a child who is at risk of not attaining the performance standards specified in law to reenroll, at the request of the child's parent, in one of the school-year programs offered by a provider that has met the adopted minimum readiness rate provided in law for the subsequent year.

The bill allows, beginning in the 2018-2019 school year, a child who is at risk of not attaining the performance standards specified in law to reenroll, at the request of the child's parent, in one of the school-year VPK programs offered by a provider that has met the adopted minimum readiness rate for the subsequent year. The cost of authorizing VPK reenrollment for these children is indeterminate. The Office of Early Learning estimates programming changes necessary to allow a child to reenroll in VPK for an additional year will cost approximately $185,000.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2017.

II. Present Situation:

In 2004, the Legislature established the Voluntary Prekindergarten Education (VPK) Program, a voluntary, free prekindergarten program offered to eligible four-year-old children in the year before admission to kindergarten.[1]

Voluntary Prekindergarten Education Program

Florida's Office of Early Learning (OEL) governs the day-to-day operations of the VPK program.[2] The OEL oversees early learning coalitions (ELCs) regarding child enrollment, attendance reporting, and reimbursement of VPK program providers and monitors VPK program providers for compliance with program requirements.[3] The OEL administers the accountability requirements of the VPK program at the state level.[4] The Florida Department of Education (DOE) is responsible for adopting and requiring each school district to administer a statewide kindergarten readiness screening within the first 30 days of each school year.[5]

Local oversight of the VPK program is provided by the early learning coalitions (ELC) and school districts.[6] Each ELC is the single point of entry for VPK program registration and enrollment in the coalition's county or multi-county service area.[7] Each ELC must coordinate with each school district in the coalition's service area to develop procedures for enrolling children in public school VPK programs.[8] Local oversight of individual VPK programs is split, with the ELCs providing administration over programs delivered by the private prekindergarten providers and school districts administering the public school VPK programs.[9]

Child Eligibility and Enrollment

The OEL is responsible for determining eligibility criteria for VPK programs.[10] A child is eligible if he or she is four years of age on or before September 1 of the school year during which he or she is enrolling and until the school year during which the child is eligible for admission or is admitted to kindergarten, whichever occurs first.[11]

A child involved in a VPK program specified in law may withdraw from the VPK program for good cause[12] and reenroll, provided the child has not completed more than 70 percent of the authorized program hours or expended more than 70 percent of the authorized funds.[13] A child that has not substantially completed any VPK Program can withdraw from the program due to an extreme hardship beyond the child's or parent's control, reenroll in one of the summer programs and be reported as a full-time equivalent student in the summer program.[14]

VPK Program Accountability

The OEL is required to develop and adopt performance standards for students enrolled in a VPK program.[15] The performance standards must address the age-appropriate progress of students in the development of:[16]

- The capabilities, capacities, and skills required under Art. IX, s. 1(b), of the Florida Constitution;[17] and
- Emergent literacy skills, including oral communication, knowledge of print and letters, phonemic awareness, and vocabulary and comprehension development.

Florida law requires the DOE to adopt a statewide kindergarten screening (screening) that assesses the readiness of each student for kindergarten based upon the performance standards[18] adopted for the VPK program.[19] The screening must be administered to each kindergarten student in a school district within the first 30 school days of each school year.[20] Data from the screening is used to calculate the VPK provider kindergarten readiness rate.[21]

The OEL annually calculates each public school's or private provider's kindergarten readiness rate based on the percentage of students who have met all state readiness measures and student learning gains, as determined by the results of the pre- and post-assessments during at least two years.[22] Currently, the instrument is a developmental screening tool based on the Work Sampling

System (WSS).[23] A subset of WSS performance indicators is provided in five domains: Personal and Social Development; Language and Literacy; Mathematical Thinking; Scientific Thinking; and Physical Development, Health, and Safety.[24]
Additionally, each VPK program private prekindergarten provider and public school must administer an evidence-based pre- and post-assessment approved by the State Board of Education, which must be valid, reliable, developmentally appropriate, and designed to measure student progress on a variety of domains, including, but not limited to, early literacy and language.[25]

Just Read, Florida! Office

In 2006, the Legislature created the Just Read, Florida! Office (Office) within the DOE to oversee implementation of the statewide public school reading requirements.[26] The Office is required to, among other things:[27]

- Provide technical assistance to school districts in the development and implementation of district plans for use of the research-based reading allocation.[28]
- Review, evaluate, and provide technical assistance to school districts' implementation of the K-12 comprehensive reading plan.
- Work with the Florida Center for Reading Research[29] to provide information on research-based reading programs and effective reading in the content area strategies.
- Train kindergarten through grade 12 teachers and school principals on effective content-area-specific reading strategies.

Florida law requires DOE to monitor and track the implementation of each district's K-12 comprehensive reading plan and report its findings annually to the Legislature by February 1.[30]

Florida Center for Reading Research

In 2006, the Legislature created The Florida Center for Reading Research at Florida State University[31] to:

- Provide technical assistance and support to all school districts and schools in this state in the implementation of evidence-based literacy instruction, assessments, programs, and professional development
- Conduct applied research that will have an immediate impact on policy and practices related to literacy instruction and assessment in this state with an emphasis on struggling readers and reading in the content area strategies and methods for secondary teachers.
- Conduct basic research on reading, reading growth, reading assessment, and reading instruction, which will contribute to scientific knowledge about reading.
- Collaborate with the Just Read! Florida Office and school districts in the development of frameworks for comprehensive reading intervention courses for possible use in middle schools and secondary schools.
- Collaborate with the Just Read! Florida Office and school districts in the development of frameworks for professional development activities, using multiple delivery methods for teaching reading in the content area.
- Disseminate information about research-based practices related to literacy instruction, assessment, and programs for students in preschool through grade 12.
- Collect, manage, and report on assessment information from screening, progress monitoring, and outcome assessments through the Florida Progress Monitoring and Reporting Network. The network is a statewide resource that is operated to provide valid and timely reading assessment data for parents, teachers, principals, and district-level and state-level staff in the management of instruction at the individual, classroom, and school levels.[32]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill revises provisions related to the Voluntary Prekindergarten Education (VPK) program and duties of the Just Read! Florida Office (Just Read! Florida). Specifically, the bill:

- Requires the Just Read, Florida! to train Voluntary Prekindergarten through grade 3 teachers, reading coaches, and school principals on effective research-based instructional strategies.
- Requires the Office of Early Learning (OEL) to determine eligibility for enrollment and reenrollment in the school year VPK program.
- Requires each early learning coalition (ELC) to coordinate with the OEL to assign student identification numbers to each student who enrolls in the program.
- Clarifies that the Department of Education must adopt a single statewide kindergarten readiness screening that is a direct assessment of early literacy and numeracy skills.
- Requires private prekindergarten providers and public schools in the VPK program to provide parents with the results of the pre- and post- assessment within 10 days after the administering the assessment.
    - Requires the results of the pre- and post- assessments to be reported at the aggregate level, distributed to the respective ELCs and school districts, and displayed on the OEL's website within 30 days after the administration of the assessment.

- Authorizes a child who is at risk of not attaining the performance standards specified in law to reenroll, at the request of the child's parent, in one of the school-year programs offered by a provider that has met the adopted minimum readiness rate provided in law for the subsequent year.

Voluntary Prekindergarten Education Program (Sections 2 through 6)

Section 2 amends s. 1002.51, F.S., to define a "public school prekindergarten provider" to include a charter school authorized to provide a prekindergarten program in its charter that is eligible to deliver a prekindergarten program as specified in law.

Sections 4 and 5 amends ss. 1002.67 and 1002.69, F.S., respectively, to make several changes regarding VPK assessments. Section 3 requires that each public and private school in the VPK Education Program provide parents the results of the pre- and post-assessments, including any resources that might be helpful to their students, within 10 days after administration of the assessment. This section also requires the results be reported at the aggregate level, distributed to the respective ELC and districts and be available on the office's website 30 days after administering the assessment. These provisions may help parents provide instructional support at home to improve student performance outcomes and may result in greater transparency in identifying successful VPK programs.

Section 5 requires the statewide kindergarten screening to be a single instrument that emphasizes and directly assesses early literacy and numeracy skills. A single screening instrument may provide greater consistency across the state in assessing the kindergarten readiness rate and greater accountability for VPK programs.

Section 6 amends s. 1002.71, F.S., to authorize, beginning in the 2018-2019 school year, a child who is at risk of not attaining the performance standards specified in law to reenroll, at the request of the child's parent, in one of the school-year programs offered by a provider that has met the adopted minimum readiness rate provided in law for the subsequent year. Section 3 authorizes the OEL to determine the eligibility criteria for reenrollment in the school year VPK Education Program.

Additionally, section 3 amends s. 100253, F.S., to require each ELC to coordinate with the OEL to assign student identification numbers to each VPK student.

Just Read, Florida! Office (Sections 1 and 7)

Section 1 amends s. 1001.215, F.S., to require Just Read! Florida to train VPK through grade 3 teachers and reading coaches on effective research-based reading instructional strategies and interventions. This section also removes the requirement for Just Read! Florida to train grade K-3 teachers and school principals on effective content-area-specific reading strategies, and limits that requirement to grade 4-12 teachers and principals.

Section 1 requires Just Read! Florida to collaborate with the Office of Early Learning to develop the training. Contingent upon legislative appropriation, this training must be designed to be consistently delivered statewide in an appropriate format. This section also requires Just Read!

Florida to collaborate with the Florida Center for Reading Research to develop and provide access to sequenced curriculum programming, instructional practices and resources that help elementary schools use state-adopted instructional materials and content-rich to increase students' knowledge and reading skills.

Accordingly, the bill appears to be placing a greater emphasis on early reading instruction and intervention.

Section 7 amends s. 1011.62, F.S., to change the date the DOE must report its findings annually to the Legislature from February 1 to December 1, and clarifies that the report must include findings from the previous school year.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2017.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

According to the Florida Department of Education, early learning coalitions and private VPK program providers may incur additional costs associated with training program delivery, distribution of pre- and post- assessment reports to parents, and issuing or tracking unique student identifiers.[33] Associated costs are indeterminable at this time.[34]

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill allows a child who is at risk of not attaining the performance standards specified in law to reenroll, at the request of the child's parent, in one of the school-year VPK programs offered by a provider that has met the adopted minimum readiness rate provided in law for the subsequent year. The cost of authorizing VPK reenrollment for these children is indeterminate.

[33] Florida Department of Education, 2017 Agency Legislative Bill Analysis for SB 468 (March 17, 2017), at 7.

According to the Department of Education, approximately 20 percent of all VPK children are not ready for kindergarten; therefore, approximately 20 percent of the 157,000 VPK students, or 31,000 children, could potentially opt to retake the school-year program at a projected cost of $75.5 million (31,000 x $2,437). However, the actual number of parents who would choose this option is unknown, as it is unlikely that most parents would choose to reenroll their child in VPK rather than attending kindergarten. Current law allows a parent to postpone enrollment in a VPK program for one year if the parents feels the children is not ready. Only 374 children statewide utilized this option in the 2016-2017 fiscal year.[35]

According to the Office of Early Learning (OEL), the Family Portal, Provider Portal and the Coalitions Service Portal will need programming changes to allow a child to reenroll in VPK for an additional year. OEL estimates that it will take 9 information technology contractors to incorporate this change. This includes 3 developers, 2 database analyst/administrators, 2 business analyst and 2 quality assurance (testers). The total team effort will be 2,800 hours over a 2-month period at an estimated cost of $185,000.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 1001.215, 1002.51, 1002.53, 1002.67, 1002.69, 1002.71, and 1011.62.

1002.71 Funding; financial and attendance reporting.—

(4) Notwithstanding s. 1002.53(3) and subsection (2):

child's parent. The prekindergarten program may report the child for funding purposes as a full-time equivalent student in the school-year program for which he or she is enrolled.

A child may reenroll only once in a prekindergarten program under this section. A child who reenrolls in a prekindergarten program under this subsection may not subsequently withdraw from the program and reenroll, unless the child is granted a good cause exemption under this subsection. The Office of Early Learning shall establish criteria specifying whether a good cause exists for a child to withdraw from a program under paragraph (a), whether a child has substantially completed a program under paragraph (b), and whether an extreme hardship exists which is beyond the child's or parent's control under paragraph (b).

Section 7. Paragraph (d) of subsection (9) of section 1011.62, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

1011.62 Funds for operation of schools.—If the annual allocation from the Florida Education Finance Program to each district for operation of schools is not determined in the annual appropriations act or the substantive bill implementing the annual appropriations act, it shall be determined as follows:

(9) RESEARCH-BASED READING INSTRUCTION ALLOCATION.—

(d) Annually, by a date determined by the Department of Education but before May 1, school districts shall submit a K-12 comprehensive reading plan for the specific use of the research-based reading instruction allocation in the format prescribed by the department for review and approval by the Just Read,

Florida! Office created pursuant to s. 1001.215. The plan annually submitted by school districts shall be deemed approved unless the department rejects the plan on or before June 1. If a school district and the Just Read, Florida! Office cannot reach agreement on the contents of the plan, the school district may appeal to the State Board of Education for resolution. School districts shall be allowed reasonable flexibility in designing their plans and shall be encouraged to offer reading intervention through innovative methods, including career academies. The plan format shall be developed with input from school district personnel, including teachers and principals, and shall allow courses in core, career, and alternative programs that deliver intensive reading remediation through integrated curricula, provided that the teacher is deemed highly qualified to teach reading or is working toward that status. No later than July 1 annually, the department shall release the school district's allocation of appropriated funds to those districts having approved plans. A school district that spends 100 percent of this allocation on its approved plan shall be deemed to have been in compliance with the plan. The department may withhold funds upon a determination that reading instruction allocation funds are not being used to implement the approved plan. The department shall monitor and track the implementation of each district plan, including conducting site visits and collecting specific data on expenditures and reading improvement results. By December ~~February~~ 1 of each year, the department shall report its findings from the previous school year to the Legislature.

Section 8. This act shall take effect July 1, 2017.

The bill appropriates $10 million for the 2017-2018 Fiscal Year from the General Revenue Fund to the DOE for the development and training of VPK through grade 3 teachers, reading coaches and school principals on research-based reading instructional strategies and interventions.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2017.

II. Present Situation:

In 2004, the Legislature established the Voluntary Prekindergarten Education (VPK) Program, a voluntary, free prekindergarten program offered to eligible four-year-old children in the year before admission to kindergarten.[1]

Voluntary Prekindergarten Education Program

Florida's Office of Early Learning (OEL) governs the day-to-day operations of the VPK program.[2] The OEL oversees early learning coalitions (ELCs) regarding child enrollment, attendance reporting, and reimbursement of VPK program providers and monitors VPK program providers for compliance with program requirements.[3] The OEL administers the accountability requirements of the VPK program at the state level.[4] The Florida Department of Education (DOE) is responsible for adopting and requiring each school district to administer a statewide kindergarten readiness screening within the first 30 days of each school year.[5]

Local oversight of the VPK program is provided by the early learning coalitions (ELC) and school districts.[6] Each ELC is the single point of entry for VPK program registration and enrollment in the coalition's county or multi-county service area.[7] Each ELC must coordinate with each school district in the coalition's service area to develop procedures for enrolling children in public school VPK programs.[8] Local oversight of individual VPK programs is split, with the ELCs providing administration over programs delivered by the private prekindergarten providers and school districts administering the public school VPK programs.[9]

Child Eligibility and Enrollment

The OEL is responsible for determining eligibility criteria for VPK programs.[10] A child is eligible if he or she is four years of age on or before September 1 of the school year during which he or she is enrolling and until the school year during which the child is eligible for admission or is admitted to kindergarten, whichever occurs first.[11]

A child involved in a VPK program specified in law may withdraw from the VPK program for good cause[12] and reenroll, provided the child has not completed more than 70 percent of the authorized program hours or expended more than 70 percent of the authorized funds.[13] A child that has not substantially completed any VPK Program can withdraw from the program due to an extreme hardship beyond the child's or parent's control, reenroll in one of the summer programs and be reported as a full-time equivalent student in the summer program.[14]

VPK Program Accountability

The OEL is required to develop and adopt performance standards for students enrolled in a VPK program.[15] The performance standards must address the age-appropriate progress of students in the development of:[16]

- The capabilities, capacities, and skills required under Art. IX, s. 1(b), of the Florida Constitution;[17] and
- Emergent literacy skills, including oral communication, knowledge of print and letters, phonemic awareness, and vocabulary and comprehension development.

Florida law requires the DOE to adopt a statewide kindergarten screening (screening) that assesses the readiness of each student for kindergarten based upon the performance standards[18] adopted for the VPK program.[19] The screening must be administered to each kindergarten student in a school district within the first 30 school days of each school year.[20] Data from the screening is used to calculate the VPK provider kindergarten readiness rate.[21]

The OEL annually calculates each public school's or private provider's kindergarten readiness rate based on the percentage of students who have met all state readiness measures and student learning gains, as determined by the results of the pre- and post-assessments during at least two years.[22] Currently, the instrument is a developmental screening tool based on the Work Sampling System (WSS).[23] A subset of WSS performance indicators is provided in five domains: Personal and Social Development; Language and Literacy; Mathematical Thinking; Scientific Thinking; and Physical Development, Health, and Safety.[24]

Additionally, each VPK program private prekindergarten provider and public school must administer an evidence-based pre- and post-assessment approved by the State Board of Education, which must be valid, reliable, developmentally appropriate, and designed to measure student progress on a variety of domains, including, but not limited to, early literacy and language.[25]

Just Read, Florida! Office

In 2006, the Legislature created the Just Read, Florida! Office (Office) within the DOE to oversee implementation of the statewide public school reading requirements.[26] The Office is required to, among other things:[27]

- Provide technical assistance to school districts in the development and implementation of district plans for use of the research-based reading allocation.[28]
- Review, evaluate, and provide technical assistance to school districts' implementation of the K-12 comprehensive reading plan.
- Work with the Florida Center for Reading Research[29] to provide information on research-based reading programs and effective reading in the content area strategies.
- Train kindergarten through grade 12 teachers and school principals on effective content-area-specific reading strategies.

Florida law requires DOE to monitor and track the implementation of each district's K-12 comprehensive reading plan and report its findings annually to the Legislature by February 1.[30]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill revises provisions related to the Voluntary Prekindergarten Education (VPK) program and duties of the Just Read! Florida Office (Just Read! Florida). Specifically, the bill:

- Requires the Just Read, Florida! to train Voluntary Prekindergarten through grade 3 teachers, reading coaches, and school principals on effective research-based instructional strategies.
- Requires the Office of Early Learning (OEL) to determine eligibility for enrollment and reenrollment in the school year VPK program.

- Requires each early learning coalition (ELC) to coordinate with the OEL to assign student identification numbers to each student who enrolls in the program.
- Clarifies that the Department of Education must adopt a single statewide kindergarten readiness screening that is a direct assessment of early literacy and numeracy skills.
- Requires private prekindergarten providers and public schools in the VPK program to provide parents with the results of the pre- and post- assessment within 10 days after the administering the assessment.
    - Requires the results of the pre- and post- assessments to be reported at the aggregate level, distributed to the respective ELCs and school districts, and displayed on the OEL's website within 30 days after the administration of the assessment.
- Authorizes a child who is at risk of not attaining the performance standards specified in law to reenroll, at the request of the child's parent, in one of the school-year programs offered by a provider that has met the adopted minimum readiness rate provided in law for the subsequent year.
- Provides for an appropriation of $10 million dollars from the General Revenue Fund to the DOE for developing training for VPK through grade 3 teachers, reading coaches, and school principals.

Voluntary Prekindergarten Education Program (Sections 2 through 5)

Sections 3 and 4 amends ss. 1002.67 and 1002.69, F.S., respectively, to make several changes regarding VPK assessments. Section 3 requires that each public and private school in the VPK Education Program provide parents the results of the pre- and post-assessments, including any resources that might be helpful to their students, within 10 days after administration of the assessment. This section also requires the results be reported at the aggregate level, distributed to the respective ELC and districts and be available on the office's website 30 days after administering the assessment. These provisions may help parents provide instructional support at home to improve student performance outcomes and may result in greater transparency in identifying successful VPK programs.

Section 4 requires the statewide kindergarten screening to be a single instrument that emphasizes and directly assesses early literacy and numeracy skills. A single screening instrument may provide greater consistency across the state in assessing the kindergarten readiness rate and greater accountability for VPK programs.

Section 5 amends s. 1002.71, F.S., to authorize a child who is at risk of not attaining the performance standards specified in law to reenroll, at the request of the child's parent, in one of the school-year programs offered by a provider that has met the adopted minimum readiness rate provided in law for the subsequent year. Section 3 authorizes the OEL to determine the eligibility criteria for reenrollment in the school year VPK Education Program.

Additionally, section 2 amends s. 100253, F.S., to require each ELC to coordinate with the OEL to assign student identification numbers to each VPK student.

Just Read, Florida! Office (Sections 1, 6, and 7)

Section 1 amends s. 1001.215, F.S., to require Just Read! Florida to train VPK through grade 3 teachers and reading coaches on effective research-based reading instructional strategies and interventions. This section also removes the requirement for Just Read! Florida to train grade K-3 teachers and school principals on effective content-area-specific reading strategies, and limits that requirement to grade 4-12 teachers and principals.

Additionally, this section requires Just Read! Florida to collaborate with the Office of Early Learning to develop the training. Contingent upon legislative appropriation, this training must be designed to be consistently delivered statewide in an appropriate format.

Accordingly, the bill appears to be placing a greater emphasis on early reading instruction and intervention.

Section 6 amends s. 1011.62, F.S., to change the date the DOE must report its findings annually to the Legislature from February 1 to December 1, and clarifies that the report must include findings from the previous school year.

Section 7 appropriates $10 million from the General Revenue Fund to the DOE for the development and training of VPK through grade 3 teachers, reading coaches and school principals on research-based reading instructional strategies and interventions for the 2017-2018 fiscal year.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2017.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

According to the Florida Department of Education, early learning coalitions and private VPK program providers may incur additional costs associated with training program delivery, distribution of pre- and post- assessment reports to parents, and issuing or tracking unique student identifiers.[31] Associated costs are indeterminable at this time.[32]

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill appropriates $10 million from the General Revenue Fund to the DOE for the development and training of VPK through grade 3 teachers, reading coaches and school principals on research-based reading instructional strategies and interventions for the 2017-2018 fiscal year.

The bill also allows a child who is at risk of not attaining the performance standards specified in law to reenroll, at the request of the child's parent, in one of the school-year VPK programs offered by a provider that has met the adopted minimum readiness rate provided in law for the subsequent year. The cost of authorizing VPK reenrollment for these children is indeterminate.

According to the Department of Education, approximately 20 percent of all VPK children are not ready for kindergarten; therefore, approximately 20 percent of the 157,000 VPK students, or 31,000 children, could potentially opt to retake the school-year program at a projected cost of $75.5 million (31,000 x $2,437). However, the actual number of parents who would choose this option is unknown, as it is unlikely that most parents would choose to reenroll their child in VPK rather than attending kindergarten. Current law allows a parent to postpone enrollment in a VPK program for one year if the parents feels the children is not ready. Only 374 children statewide utilized this option in the 2016-2017 fiscal year.[33]

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 1001.215, 1002.53, 1002.67, 1002.69, 1002.71, and 1011.62.

Section 4. Subsections (1) and (2) and paragraphs (a), (e), and (f) of subsection (7) of section 1002.69, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

1002.69 Statewide kindergarten screening; kindergarten readiness rates; state-approved prekindergarten enrollment screening; good cause exemption.—

(1) The department shall adopt a single statewide kindergarten screening that assesses the readiness of each student for kindergarten based upon the performance standards adopted by the department under s. 1002.67(1) for the Voluntary Prekindergarten Education Program. The department shall require that each school district administer the statewide kindergarten screening to each kindergarten student in the school district within the first 30 school days of each school year. Nonpublic schools may administer the statewide kindergarten screening to each kindergarten student in a nonpublic school who was enrolled in the Voluntary Prekindergarten Education Program.

(2) The statewide kindergarten screening must ~~shall~~ provide objective data concerning each student's readiness for kindergarten and progress in attaining the performance standards adopted by the office under s. 1002.67(1), with an emphasis on early literacy and numeracy skills. The screening must be a direct assessment of these skills.

(7)(a) Notwithstanding s. 1002.67(5)(c)3. ~~s. 1002.67(4)(c)3.~~, the office, upon the request of a private prekindergarten provider or public school that remains on probation for 2 consecutive years or more and subsequently fails to meet the minimum rate adopted under subsection (6) and for good cause shown, may grant to the provider or school an exemption from being determined ineligible to deliver the Voluntary Prekindergarten Education Program and receive state funds for the program. Such exemption is valid for 1 year and, upon the request of the private prekindergarten provider or public school and for good cause shown, may be renewed.

(e) A private prekindergarten provider or public school granted a good cause exemption shall continue to implement its improvement plan and continue the corrective actions required under s. 1002.67(5)(c)1. ~~s. 1002.67(4)(c)1.~~, including the use of a curriculum approved by the office, until the provider or school meets the minimum rate adopted under subsection (6).

(f) If a good cause exemption is granted to a private prekindergarten provider who remains on probation for 2 consecutive years, the office shall notify the early learning coalition of the good cause exemption and direct that the coalition, notwithstanding s. 1002.67(5)(c)3. ~~s. 1002.67(4)(c)3.~~, not remove the provider from eligibility to deliver the Voluntary Prekindergarten Education Program or to receive state funds for the program, if the provider meets all other applicable requirements of this part.

Section 5. Paragraph (c) is added to subsection (4) of section 1002.71, Florida Statutes, to read:

1002.71 Funding; financial and attendance reporting.—

(4) Notwithstanding s. 1002.53(3) and subsection (2):

(c) A child who is at risk of not attaining the performance standards specified by s. 1002.67(1) may reenroll in one of the school-year programs, which is offered by a provider that has met the adopted minimum readiness rate provided under s. 1002.69(6), for the subsequent year at the request of the child's parent. The prekindergarten program may report the child for funding purposes as a full-time equivalent student in the school-year program for which he or she is enrolled.

A child may reenroll only once in a prekindergarten program under this section. A child who reenrolls in a prekindergarten program under this subsection may not subsequently withdraw from the program and reenroll, unless the child is granted a good cause exemption under this subsection. The Office of Early Learning shall establish criteria specifying whether a good cause exists for a child to withdraw from a program under paragraph (a), whether a child has substantially completed a program under paragraph (b), and whether an extreme hardship exists which is beyond the child's or parent's control under paragraph (b).

Section 6. Paragraph (d) of subsection (9) of section 1011.62, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

1011.62 Funds for operation of schools.—If the annual allocation from the Florida Education Finance Program to each district for operation of schools is not determined in the annual appropriations act or the substantive bill implementing the annual appropriations act, it shall be determined as follows:

(9) RESEARCH-BASED READING INSTRUCTION ALLOCATION.—

(d) Annually, by a date determined by the Department of Education but before May 1, school districts shall submit a K-12 comprehensive reading plan for the specific use of the research-based reading instruction allocation in the format prescribed by the department for review and approval by the Just Read, Florida! Office created pursuant to s. 1001.215. The plan annually submitted by school districts shall be deemed approved unless the department rejects the plan on or before June 1. If a school district and the Just Read, Florida! Office cannot reach agreement on the contents of the plan, the school district may appeal to the State Board of Education for resolution. School districts shall be allowed reasonable flexibility in designing their plans and shall be encouraged to offer reading intervention through innovative methods, including career academies. The plan format shall be developed with input from school district personnel, including teachers and principals, and shall allow courses in core, career, and alternative programs that deliver intensive reading remediation through integrated curricula, provided that the teacher is deemed highly qualified to teach reading or is working toward that status. No later than July 1 annually, the department shall release the school district's allocation of appropriated funds to those districts having approved plans. A school district that spends 100 percent of this allocation on its approved plan shall be deemed to have been in compliance with the plan. The department may withhold funds upon a determination that reading instruction allocation funds are not being used to implement the approved plan. The department shall monitor and track the implementation of each district plan, including conducting site visits and collecting specific data on expenditures and reading improvement results. By December ~~February~~ 1 of each year, the department shall report its findings from the previous school year to the Legislature.

Section 7. For the 2017-2018 fiscal year, the sum of $10 million from the General Revenue Fund is appropriated to the Department of Education for the development of training for Voluntary Prekindergarten through grade 3 teachers, reading coaches, and school principals on research-based reading instructional strategies and interventions.

Section 8. This act shall take effect July 1, 2017.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 780 expands the definition of qualifying adoptive employee to include full-time or part-time employees of charter schools and the Florida Virtual School (FLVS) for the purpose of extending to the employees of such schools the benefits that are currently available to qualifying adoptive employees of state agencies. The State Employee Adoption Benefit Program administered through the Department of Children and Families (DCF) allows qualifying employees who adopt a child from the child welfare system to receive a one-time benefit of $5,000, or $10,000 for the adoption of a child with special needs. The bill also provides that charter and FLVS employees who were employees of charter schools or FLVS on or after July 1, 2015 that adopted a child from DCF during that time may retroactively apply for the adoption benefit.

The State Employee Adoption Benefit Program has a $2.75 million recurring appropriation from the General Revenue Fund. The annual cost to expand participation in the program to charter school and FLVS employees is currently indeterminate. If funding is insufficient to absorb the increased number of participants, applicants may reapply for the adoption benefit payments the following year.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2017.

II. Present Situation:

In Florida, the Department of Children and Families (DCF) provides child welfare services.[1] Florida law requires that child welfare services, including adoption services, be delivered through community-based care (CBC) lead agencies contracted by DCF.[2] For example, CBCs provide pre- and post-adoption services and administer maintenance adoption subsidies that provide ongoing financial support for children adopted from the foster care system.

The State Employee Adoption Incentive Program

The State Employee Adoption Incentive Program (Program) was reenacted in July 1, 2015.[3] The original program, enacted in 2000,[4] was repealed in 2010.[5] The program was designed to increase the number of adoptions in Florida by offering an incentive to certain state employees and other applicants.[6] The program provides a lump-sum benefit payment for the adoption of a child within the child welfare system ($5,000), and a higher benefit amount for adoptions of children with special needs within the child welfare system ($10,000).[7]

The program is currently available to both full and part-time employees of a state agency who are paid from regular salary appropriations.[8] A "qualifying adoptive employee" includes individuals who are regular, and not temporary, employees of:[9]

- A branch, department, or agency of state government for which the Chief Financial Officer processes payroll requisitions;
- A state university or Florida College System institution as defined in law;
- A school district unit as defined in law;
- A water management district as defined in law;
- The Florida School for the Deaf and Blind (limited to instructional personnel as defined in law).

The receipt of a benefit payment through the program does not preclude the employee from receiving adoption assistance under any other state program.[10] The program's capacity is limited by the amount of funds appropriated for the program.[11] Payments under the program are based solely on the employment relationship between the employed individual and the employing state entity.

Charter Schools

Charter schools are nonsectarian, public schools that operate under a performance contract with a sponsor. The performance contract is known as a "charter."[12] One of the guiding principles of charter schools is to "meet high standards of student achievement while providing parents the flexibility to choose among diverse educational opportunities within the state's public school system."[13]

The Florida Virtual School

The Florida Virtual School (FLVS) was established for the development and delivery of online and distance learning education.[14] The mission of the FLVS is to provide students with technology-based educational opportunities to gain the knowledge and the skills necessary to succeed.[15] The FLVS is a fully accredited public school choice providing elementary, middle, and high school curriculum to Florida residents for free. All courses are provided online.[16]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

This bill expands the definition of qualifying adoptive employee to include a full-time or part-time employee of a charter school and the Florida Virtual School (FLVS) for the purpose of extending to the employees of such schools the benefits specified in law for qualifying adoptive employees of state agencies. Extending the state employee adoption benefit to additional employees may increase the number of children adopted from the foster care system in Florida.

The bill also provides that a qualifying adoptive employee of a charter school and the FLVS may retroactively apply for the adoption benefit under certain conditions. The employee may apply for retroactive benefits if he or she was employed by a charter school or the FLVS at the time of the adoption of a child from the child welfare system and if the adoption occurred on or after July 1, 2015. Authorizing retroactive adoption benefits may provide financial support to qualifying adoptive employees of charter schools and the FLVS who have adopted a child under these circumstances.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2017.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

Under the bill, private individuals who are employed by a charter school or the FLVS who adopt a child from the Department of Children and Families (DCF) and meet the guidelines of the State Employee Adoption Benefit program may receive $5,000 for a non-special needs child or $10,000 for a special needs child.[17]

C. Government Sector Impact:

DCF receives annual recurring funding of $2.75 million for the State Employee Adoption Benefit Program. Program award payments of $1,469,145 were made in Fiscal Year 2015-2016 to 139 applicants. Applications for benefits must be submitted to DCF during an "open enrollment' period (March 1 through April 30). Although the FY 2016-2017 open enrollment period is currently underway, the department reported that a total of 182 applications have been received as of April 12, 2017. A full accounting of the benefit payment information for FY 2016-2017 will not be available until open enrollment ends on April 30. Based on prior year expenditures, the applications received to date could total approximately $1.9 million.

The additional adoption benefits to expand participation to charter school and FLVS employees is indeterminate.

Adoption award payments are disbursed to qualified applicants on a first-come, first served basis. If sufficient funding is not available to pay an eligible applicant, the applicant may reapply for the adoption benefit the following year.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

Section 215.425, F.S., relates to the prohibition on extra compensation claims, bonuses, and severance pay for state employees. Subsection (1) stipulates that no extra compensation shall be made to any officer, agent, employee, or contractor after the service has been rendered or the contract made, nor shall any money be appropriated or paid on any claim the subject matter of which has not been provided for by preexisting laws, unless such compensation or claim is allowed by a law enacted by two-thirds of the members elected to each house of the Legislature. Given these statutory restrictions, the retroactive payment provisions of this bill may require a two-thirds vote of the Legislature in order to withstand a challenge under this statute.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends section 409.1664 of the Florida Statutes.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS by Education on March 21, 2017:
The committee substitute revises the definition of qualifying adoptive employee to include employees of charter schools and the Florida Virtual School (FLVS) for purposes of the State Employee Adoption Incentive Program. II. Present Situation:

Various statutes ensure government accountability of state and local governments. For example, the Auditor General conducts audits of accounts and records of state agencies, state universities, state colleges, district school boards, and others as directed by the Legislative Auditing Committee. The Auditor General conducts operational and performance audits on public records and information technology systems. The Auditor General also reviews all audit reports of local governmental entities, charter schools, and charter technical career centers. Other statutes require publishing of government budgets and other information online and require government entities to follow certain practices to promote efficiency and compliance within the entity.

Due to the disparate issues in the bill, the present situation for each section is discussed below in conjunction with the Effect of Proposed Changes.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Auditing

Present Situation

The position of Auditor General is established by Art. III, s. 2 of the State Constitution. The Auditor General is appointed to office to serve at the pleasure of the Legislature, by a majority vote of the members of the Legislative Auditing Committee, subject to confirmation by both houses of the Legislature.[1] The appointment of the Auditor General may be terminated at any time by a majority vote of both houses of the Legislature.[2] At the time of appointment, the Auditor General must have been certified under the Public Accountancy Law in Florida for a period of at least 10 years and may not have less than 10 years' experience in an accounting or auditing related field.[3]

The Auditor General must conduct audits, examinations, or reviews of government programs[4] as well as audit the accounts and records of state agencies, state universities, state colleges, district school boards, and others as directed by the Legislative Auditing Committee.[5] The Auditor General conducts operational and performance audits on public records and information technology systems and also reviews all audit reports of local governmental entities, charter schools, and charter technical career centers.[6]

Various provisions require the Auditor General to compile and submit reports. For example, the Auditor General must annually compile and transmit to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Legislative Auditing Committee a summary of significant findings and financial trends identified in audit reports.[7] The Auditor General also must compile and transmit to the President of the Senate, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and Legislative Auditing Committee an annual report by December 1. The report must include a 2-year work plan identifying the audit and other accountability activities to be undertaken and a list of statutory and fiscal changes recommended by the Auditor General.[8] In addition, the Auditor General must transmit recommendations at other times during the year when the information would be timely and useful to the Legislature.[9]

The annual report for the Auditor General for November 1, 2015, through October 31, 2016, contained the following recommendation:[10]

> The Legislature should consider amending applicable Florida Statutes to establish in law the responsibility of each State and local government for the establishment and maintenance of management systems and internal controls designed to prevent and detect fraud, waste, and abuse; promote and encourage compliance with applicable laws, rules, contracts, grant agreements, and best practices; support economical and efficient operations; ensure reliability of financial records and reports; and safeguard assets.

Section 11.45, F.S., defines the types of audits the Auditor General may conduct. That section requires certain state and local governmental audits to be conducted and specifies the frequency with which the audits must occur. The Auditor General also may conduct other audits he or she determines to be appropriate.

Following notification by the Auditor General, the Department of Financial Services (DFS), or the Division of Bond Finance of the State Board of Administration of the failure of a local governmental entity, district school board, charter school, or charter technical career center to comply with applicable auditing, financial reporting, bond issuance notification, or bond verification provisions or the failure to disclose a financial emergency or provide information required during a financial emergency,[11] the Legislative Auditing Committee may schedule a hearing to determine whether the entity should be subject to further state action. For purposes of s. 11.45, F.S., the term "local governmental entity" means a county agency, municipality, or special district as defined in s. 189.012, F.S.,[12] but does not include any housing authority established under ch. 421, F.S.

The Auditor General is also required to annually transmit, by July 15, to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and DFS a list of all school districts, charter schools, charter technical career centers, Florida College System institutions, state universities, and water management districts (WMDs) that have failed to comply with certain transparency requirements.

Effect of the Bill

Section 1 amends s. 11.40, F.S., to authorize the Governor or his or her designee, and the Commissioner of Education or his or her designee, to notify the Legislative Auditing Committee that a local governmental entity, district school board, charter school, or charter technical career center has failed to comply with applicable auditing, financial reporting, bond issuance notification, or bond verification provisions or failed to disclose a financial emergency or provide information required during a financial emergency.

Section 2 amends s. 11.45, F.S., to define the terms abuse, fraud, and waste. These terms are related to the internal controls various government agencies must establish and maintain to prevent and detect fraud, waste, and abuse.

This section expands the definition of "local governmental entity" to include tourist development council and county tourism promotion agency. With this expanded definition, the Auditor General is authorized to conduct audits or other engagements of tourist development councils and county tourism promotion agencies.

This section exempts WMDs from being subject to audits of local governmental entities conducted pursuant to s. 11.45(2)(j), F.S. With this change, the WMDs will be subject only to the [11] Section 11.45, F.S., governs certain audits to be conducted by the Auditor General. Section 218.32(1), F.S., requires annual financial reports from local governmental entities. Section 218.38, F.S., requires notice of bond issuance and contains verification requirements. Section 218.503(3), F.S., requires certain entities to disclose a financial emergency and provide certain information concerning a financial emergency.

[12] Section 189.012(6), F.S., defines a "special district" to mean a unit of local government created for a special purpose, as opposed to a general purpose, which has jurisdiction to operate within a limited geographic boundary and is created by general law, special act, local ordinance, or by rule of the Governor and Cabinet. The term does not include a school district, a community college district, a special improvement district created pursuant to s. 285.17, F.S., a municipal service taxing or benefit unit as specified in s. 125.01, F.S., or a board which provides electrical service and which is a political subdivision of a municipality or is part of a municipality.

periodic audits authorized by s. 11.45(2)(f), F.S.,[13] rather than audits requested by the Legislative Auditing Committee or when deemed necessary by the Auditor General.

This section expands the list of entities that must be included in the Auditor General report concerning entities that fail to comply with transparency requirements in s. 11.45, F.S., to include all local governmental entities rather than just the WMDs.

Florida Clerks of Court Operations Corporation

Present Situation

Currently, s. 28.35, F.S., requires the Florida Clerks of Court Operations Corporation (corporation) to develop and certify a uniform system of workload measures and applicable workload standards for court-related functions as developed by the corporation and clerk workload performance in meeting the workload performance standards. These workload measures and workload performance standards must be designed to facilitate an objective determination of the performance of each clerk in accordance with minimum standards for fiscal management, operational efficiency, and effective collection of fines, fees, service charges, and court costs. The corporation must develop the workload measures and workload performance standards in consultation with the Legislature. When the corporation finds a clerk has not met the workload performance standards, the corporation must identify the nature of each deficiency and any corrective action recommended and taken by the affected clerk of the court. The corporation must notify the Legislature of any clerk not meeting workload performance standards and provide a copy of any corrective action plans.

Effect of the Bill

Section 3 amends s. 28.35, F.S., to require the corporation to notify the Legislature of any clerk not meeting the workload performance standards and provide a copy of any corrective action plans within 45 days after the end of each quarter. For purposes of s. 28.35, F.S., the quarters end on the last day of March, June, September, and December of each year.

Public Employee Travel Expenses

Present Situation

Section 112.061, F.S., establishes the rates of per diem and subsistence allowance for travel by public officers and employees. When traveling to a convention or conference or to conduct bona fide state business, a traveler is authorized to receive $80 per diem. However, if actual expenses exceed $80, the traveler may receive $6 for breakfast, $11 for lunch, $19 for dinner, and the actual expenses for lodging at a single-occupancy rate.

The 2016-17 implementing bill created a limit on the amount of actual expenses for lodging that may be reimbursed under certain circumstances. The bill provided that when an employee of a state agency or the judicial branch is attending a meeting, conference, or convention organized or sponsored in whole or in part by a state agency or the judicial branch, the reimbursement for lodging expenses may not exceed $150 per day. However, an employee may expend his or her own funds for any lodging expenses in excess of the limit. This limit is in effect until July 1, 2017.

Section 112.061(2)(a), F.S., defines the term "agency or public agency" to mean any office, department, agency, division, subdivision, political subdivision, board, bureau, commission, authority, district, public body, body politic, county, city, town, village, municipality, or any other separate unit of government created pursuant to law.

Proviso in specific appropriation 1965A of ch. 2016-66, L.O.F., provided $1,800,000 in recurring General Revenue Funding to the Executive Office of the Governor (EOG) to acquire a statewide travel management system (system). EOG was required to undertake a competitive procurement for the system pursuant to s. 287.057, F.S. Additionally, $2,800,000 in nonrecurring General Revenue Funding was provided to executive branch state agencies and the judicial branch for the implementation of the system.

The system was required to be able to electronically: interface with the Florida Accounting Information Resource Subsystem (FLAIR) and the Personnel Information System; generate uniform travel authorization request and travel voucher forms pursuant to s. 112.061, F.S.; and receive approvals for travel. The system was also required to include search features that query travel information by specific criteria. Proviso also required EOG and the Legislature to have access to the system for purposes of generating reports on all travel completed by executive branch state agencies and the judicial branch.

Effect of the Bill

Section 5 amends s. 112.061, F.S., to limit the reimbursement of lodging expenses associated with the attendance at a meeting, conference, or convention organized or sponsored by a state agency or judicial branch. Such reimbursement cannot exceed $150 per day for executive and judicial branch employees. The section clarifies that a "meeting" does not include the travel activities associated with an audit, examination, or inspection or the travel activities relating to litigation or an emergency response.

The section also codifies the definitions and requirements pertaining to the statewide travel management system. By referring to "agency", this section will require all agencies, including local governments, to report public officer and employee travel information in the system.

Florida Single Audit Act

Present Situation

The Florida Single Audit Act, codified in s. 215.97, F.S., is designed to:

- Establish uniform state audit requirements for state financial assistance provided by state agencies to nonstate entities to carry out state projects;
- Promote sound financial management, including effective internal controls, with respect to state financial assistance administered by nonstate entities;
- Promote audit economy and efficiency by relying to the extent possible on already required audits of federal financial assistance provided to nonstate entities;

- Provide for identification of state financial assistance transactions in the state accounting records and recipient organization records;
- Promote improved coordination and cooperation within and between affected state agencies providing state financial assistance and nonstate entities receiving state assistance; and
- Ensure, to the maximum extent possible, that state agencies monitor, use, and follow-up on audits of state financial assistance provided to nonstate entities.

Pursuant to the Florida Single Audit Act, certain entities that meet the "audit threshold" requirements are subject to a state single audit or a project-specific audit. Currently, the "audit threshold" requires each nonstate entity that expends a total amount of state financial assistance equal to or in excess of $750,000 in any fiscal year of such nonstate entity to have a state single audit, or a project-specific audit, for such fiscal year. Every 2 years, the Auditor General, after consulting with the Executive Office of the Governor, DFS, and all state awarding agencies, is required to review the threshold amount for requiring audits and may adjust the threshold amount.[14]

Effect of the Bill

Section 10 amends s. 215.97, F.S., to change the requirement that the Auditor General review the threshold amount for requiring audits from every 2 years to "periodically;" however, the term "periodically" is not defined. This section also authorizes the Auditor General to recommend to the Legislature a statutory change to revise the threshold amount in its annual report.

Annual Financial Audit Reports

Present Situation

If, by the first day in any fiscal year, a local governmental entity, district school board, charter school, or charter technical career center has not been notified that a financial audit for that fiscal year will be performed by the Auditor General, an entity meeting certain requirements must have an annual financial audit of its accounts and records completed within 9 months after the end of its fiscal year by an independent certified public accountant.[15] Section 218.39, F.S., specifies the minimum required information for the independent audits and provides for discussion between the governing body and the independent certified public accountant regarding certain specified conditions. If corrective action is required and has not been taken, the Legislative Auditing Committee can request a statement explaining why the corrective action has not been taken and take certain steps to determine whether the entity should be subject to further state action.[16]

Effect of the Bill

Section 14 amends s. 218.39, F.S., to provide that if an audit report contains a recommendation that was included in the preceding financial audit report but remains unaddressed, the governing body of the audited entity, within 60 days after delivery of the audit report to the governing body, must indicate during a regularly scheduled public meeting whether it intends to take a corrective action, the corrective action to be taken, and when the corrective action will occur. If the governing body does not intend to take any corrective action, it must explain its decision at the public meeting.

Auditor Selection Procedures

Present Situation

Section 218.391, F.S., outlines the process that each local governmental entity, district school board, charter school, or charter technical career center must follow in selecting an auditor to conduct the annual financial audit of the entity required by s. 218.39, F.S. Each entity is required to establish an audit committee to assist the governing body in selecting the auditor. Each noncharter county's audit committee must consist of each of its officers elected pursuant to the State Constitution and one member of the board of county commissioners or its designee. The audit committees must publicly announce requests for proposals for the audit services. The law specifies the factors that must be considered in selecting the auditor and the procedures for negotiating for compensation.

Effect of the Bill

Section 15 amends s. 218.391, F.S., to require every county's audit committee to consist of each county officer elected pursuant to the State Constitution or the county charter, or their respective designees, and one member of the board of county commissioners or its designee. The section requires the audit committee for a municipality, special district, district school board, charter school, or charter technical career center to consist of at least three members, one of whom must be a member of the governing body of the entity. That member must serve as the audit committee's chair. An employee, chief executive officer, or chief financial officer of the county, municipality, special district, district school board, charter school, or charter technical career center may not serve as a member of an audit committee.

For each of the annual financial audits, certain information relating to the selection of the auditor and the contract for such services must be included in the management letter. If an entity fails to select an auditor in compliance with the new process, the Legislative Auditing Committee must determine whether the entity should be subject to state action pursuant to 11.40(2), F.S.

The Florida Virtual School

Present Situation

The Florida Virtual School was created to develop and deliver online and distance learning education.[17] The Commissioner of Education is charged with monitoring the Florida Virtual School. In pertinent part, the law requires the board of trustees to submit an annual report to the Governor, the Legislature, the Commissioner of Education, and the State Board of Education (SBE) that must address:

- The operations and accomplishments of the Florida Virtual School within the state and those occurring outside the state as Florida Virtual School Global;

[17] Section 1002.37(1)(a), F.S.

- The marketing and operational plan for the Florida Virtual School and Florida Virtual School Global, including recommendations regarding methods for improving the delivery of education through the Internet and other distance learning technology;
- The assets and liabilities of the Florida Virtual School and Florida Virtual School Global at the end of the fiscal year;
- A copy of an annual financial audit of the accounts and records of the Florida Virtual School and Florida Virtual School Global, conducted by an independent certified public accountant and performed in accordance with rules adopted by the Auditor General;
- Recommendations regarding the unit cost of providing services to students through the Florida Virtual School and Florida Virtual School Global; and
- Recommendations regarding an accountability mechanism to assess the effectiveness of the services provided by the Florida Virtual School and Florida Virtual School Global.[18]

The Auditor General must conduct an operational audit of the Florida Virtual School, including Florida Virtual School Global.[19] The scope of the audit must include, but is not limited to, the administration of responsibilities relating to personnel; procurement and contracting; revenue production; school funds, including internal funds; student enrollment records; franchise agreements; information technology utilization, assets, and security; performance measures and standards; and accountability. The law specifies that the final report on the audit must be submitted to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives no later than January 31, 2014.[20]

Effect of the Bill

Section 20 amends s. 1002.37, F.S., to require the Florida Virtual School to have an annual financial audit of its accounts and records conducted by an independent auditor who is a licensed certified public accountant. The independent auditor must conduct the audit in accordance with rules adopted by the Auditor General and must prepare an audit report in accordance with such rules. The audit report must include a written statement by the board of trustees describing corrective action to be taken in response to each of the independent auditor's recommendations. The independent auditor must submit the audit report to the board of trustees and the Auditor General no later than 9 months after the end of the preceding fiscal year.

This section also eliminates an obsolete requirement for the Auditor General to conduct an operational audit and submit a report to the presiding officers by January 31, 2014.

Local Governmental Entity Annual Financial Reports

Present Situation

Section 218.32, F.S., requires local governmental entities that are required to provide for an audit under s. 218.39, F.S., to submit an audit report and annual financial report to DFS within 45 days after completion of the audit report, but no later than 9 months after the end of the fiscal year. The annual financial report must be signed by the chair of the governing body and the chief financial officer of the local governmental entity. The law also specifies the information that must be included in the report.

In addition, DFS is required to file a verified report with the Governor, the Legislature, the Auditor General, and the Special District Accountability Program of the Department of Economic Opportunity showing the revenues, both locally derived and derived from intergovernmental transfers, and the expenditures of each local governmental entity, regional planning council, local government finance commission, and municipal power corporation that is required to submit an annual financial report.[21]

Effect of the Bill

Section 12 amends s. 218.32, F.S., to require an independent certified public accountant conducting an audit of a local governmental entity pursuant to s. 218.39, F.S., to determine, as part of the audit, whether the entity's annual financial report is in agreement with the entity's audited financial statements. If the audited financial statements are not in agreement with the annual financial report, the section requires the accountant to specify in the audit report the significant differences that exist between the audited financial statements and the annual financial report.

This section also authorizes DFS, in preparing the verified report, to request additional information from the local governmental entity. Any additional information requested must be provided to DFS within 45 days after the request. If the local governmental entity does not comply with the request, DFS must notify the Legislative Auditing Committee, which may take action pursuant to s. 11.40(2), F.S.

Required Audits of Certain Educational Institutions

Present Situation

School districts, Florida College System institutions, and other institutions and agencies under the supervision of the State Board of Education (SBE) and state universities under the supervision of the Board of Governors (BOG) are subject to the audit provisions of ss. 11.45 and 218.39, F.S. If an audit contains a significant finding, the district school board, the Florida College System institution board of trustees, or the university board of trustees is required to conduct an audit overview during a public meeting.[22]

Effect of the Bill

Section 22 amends s. 1010.30, F.S., to provide that if an audit report includes a recommendation that was included in the preceding financial audit report but remains unaddressed, the district school board, the Florida College System institution board of trustees, or the university board of trustees must indicate during a regularly scheduled public meeting whether it intends to take corrective action, the corrective action to be taken, and when the corrective action will occur within 60 days after the delivery of the audit report. If the district school board, Florida College

Internal Controls to Prevent and Detect Fraud, Waste, and Abuse

Present Situation

State Agencies and the Judicial Branch

Section 215.86, F.S., requires each state agency and the judicial branch as defined in s. 216.011, F.S., to establish and maintain management systems and controls that promote and encourage compliance; economic, efficient, and effective operations; reliability of records and reports; and safeguarding of assets. It requires accounting systems and procedures to be designed to fulfill the requirements of generally accepted accounting principles.

Local Governmental Entities

Section 218.33, F.S., requires each local governmental entity to begin its fiscal year on October 1 and end it on September 30. Section 218.33(2), F.S., requires each local governmental entity to follow uniform accounting practices and procedures as provided by rule of DFS to assure the use of proper accounting and fiscal management by such units. Such rules must include a uniform classification of accounts.

Charter Schools

Section 1002.33, F.S., authorizes charter schools as part of Florida's state program of education. In addition to creating charter schools, that section also imposes certain requirements on charter schools. In pertinent part, the law provides that the governing body of a charter school is responsible for:

- Ensuring that the charter school has retained a certified public accountant or auditor to perform its annual audit;
- Reviewing and approving the audit report;
- Establishing a corrective plan, if necessary;
- Monitoring a financial recovery plan to ensure compliance; and
- Participating in governance training approved by the Department of Education, which must include government in the sunshine, conflicts of interest, ethics, and financial responsibility.[23]

School Districts, Florida College System Institutions, and State Universities

Current law requires the financial records and accounts of each school district, Florida College System institution, and other institution or agency under the supervision of the SBE to be prepared and maintained as prescribed by law and rules of the SBE. The financial records and accounts of each state university under the supervision of the BOG must be prepared and maintained as prescribed by law and rules of the BOG. Rules of the SBE and rules of the BOG must incorporate the requirements of law and accounting principles generally accepted in the United States and must include a uniform classification of accounts. Each state university must annually file with the BOG financial statements prepared in conformity with these requirements.

The BOG's rules must prescribe the filing deadline for the financial statements. The required financial accounts and reports must include provisions that are unique to K-12 school districts, Florida College System institutions, and state universities.[24]

Justice Administrative Commission

The Justice Administrative Commission (Commission) is created in s. 43.16, F.S. As one of its duties, the Commission is charged with maintaining a central state office for administrative services and assistance on behalf of state attorneys and public defenders, the capital collateral regional counsel, the criminal conflict and civil regional counsel, and the Guardian Ad Litem Program.[25] Additionally, the Commission records and submits certain documents prepared by a state attorney, public defender, or criminal conflict and civil regional counsel or the Guardian Ad Litem Program, including necessary budgets, vouchers that represent valid claims for reimbursement by the state for authorized expenses, and other things incidental to the proper administrative operation of the office, such as revenue transmittals to the Chief Financial Officer and automated systems plans.[26]

Effect of the Bill

Sections 4, 9, 13, 19, and 21 amend ss. 43.16, 215.98, 218.33, 1002.33, and 1010.01, F.S., respectively, to require state agencies, the judicial branch, local governmental entities, charter schools, school districts, Florida College System institutions, state universities, the Commission, each state attorney, each public defender, the criminal conflict and civil regional counsel, the capital collateral regional counsel, and the Guardian Ad Litem Program to establish and maintain internal controls designed to:

- Prevent and detect fraud, waste, and abuse, as defined in s. 11.45(1), F.S.;
- Promote and encourage compliance with applicable laws, rules, contracts, grant agreements, and best practices;
- Support economical and efficient operations;
- Ensure reliability of financial records and reports; and
- Safeguard assets.

Section 18 amends s. 1001.42, F.S., to authorize a district school board to retain an internal auditor to determine:

- The adequacy of internal controls designed to prevent and detect fraud, waste, and abuse.
- Compliance with applicable laws, rules, contracts, grant agreements, district school board-approved policies, and best practices.
- The efficiency of operations.
- The reliability of financial records and reports.
- The safeguarding of assets.

Online Posting of Governmental Budgets

Counties and Municipalities

Present Situation

Counties[27] and municipalities[28] are required to post their tentative budgets on their websites 2 days prior to consideration of the budget at a public hearing. The final budget of a county or municipality must be posted on its website within 30 days after adoption. An amendment to a budget must be posted to the website within 5 days of adoption.[29] Current law does not specify how long these documents must remain available on the website.

Effect of the Bill

Sections 6, 7, and 8 amend ss. 129.03, 129.06, and 166.241, F.S., respectively, to require a tentative budget to remain on a county or municipality's website for at least 45 days. The sections also requires a final budget to remain on the entity's website for at least 2 years. Finally, the sections requires an adopted amendment to a budget to remain on the website for at least 2 years.

Water Management Districts

Present Situation

Chapter 373, F.S., governs Florida's water resource management and authorizes the creation of WMDs, which are given taxing authority. A WMD is defined as "any flood control, resource management, or water management district" operating under the authority of ch. 373, F.S.[30] There are five WMDs in Florida: Northwest Florida, Suwanee River, St. Johns River, Southwest Florida, and South Florida.[31] Section 373.536, F.S., governs the budget process for WMDs and requires a WMD's tentative budget to be posted on the WMD's website at least 2 days before budget hearings are conducted. The law requires a WMD's final adopted budget to be posted on the WMD's official website within 30 days after adoption.

Effect of the Bill

Section 17 amends s. 373.536, F.S., to require a WMD's tentative budget to remain on the WMD's website for at least 45 days and requires the final adopted budget to remain on the website for at least 2 years.

Transparency in Government Spending

Present Situation

The Transparency Florida Act (Act), codified in s. 215.985, F.S., requires the Governor, in consultation with the appropriations committees of the House and Senate, to maintain a central website providing access to all other websites required to be linked under the Act. It also requires certain budget information, certain contract information, and minimum functionality standards to be readily available online. In pertinent part, s. 215.985(11), F.S., requires each WMD to provide a monthly financial statement to its governing board and make the statement available for public access on its website.

Effect of the Bill

Section 11 amends s. 215.985, F.S., to require a WMD's monthly financial statement to be in the form and manner prescribed by DFS and requires each WMD to make the monthly financial statement available to the public on its website.

Reasonable Opportunity to be Heard at Public Meetings

Present Situation

Section 286.0114, F.S., requires, with certain exceptions, that members of the public be provided a reasonable opportunity to be heard before a board or commission. The law describes a general public comment process and allows entities to prescribe how public comment is made and create certain reasonable limitations.

Effect of the Bill

Section 16 amends s. 286.0114, F.S., to prohibit a board or commission from requiring a member of the public to provide an advance written copy of his or her testimony or comments as a precondition of being given the opportunity to be heard at a meeting.

Statement of Legislative Findings

Section 25 specifies that a proper and legitimate state purpose is served when internal controls are established to prevent and detect fraud, waste, and abuse and to safeguard and account for government funds and property.

Sections 23 and 24 amend ss. 218.503 and 1002.455, F.S., respectively, to correct cross-references.

Section 26 provides an effective date of July 1, 2017.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

Article VII, s. 18(a) of the Florida Constitution provides, in pertinent part, that no county or municipality shall be bound by any general law requiring such county or municipality to spend funds or to take an action requiring the expenditure of funds unless the legislature has determined that such law fulfills an important state interest and unless:

- The law requiring such expenditure is approved by two-thirds of the membership in each house of the legislature; or
- The expenditure is required to comply with a law that applies to all persons similarly situated, including the state and local governments.

Article VII, s. 18(d) of the Florida Constitution provides, in pertinent part, that laws having insignificant fiscal impact are exempt from the mandates requirements.

This bill requires county and municipal governments to establish and maintain specified internal controls, to post government budgets online, and to use the statewide travel management system. Section 25 of the bill specifies that the bill serves an important state interest. An exception may apply because the bill applies to similarly situated persons (municipalities, counties, water management districts, school districts, state agencies and other governmental entities).

In addition, the bill may be exempt from the mandates requirements if the costs incurred by the municipalities and counties to comply are less than $2 million (the threshold for "insignificant" fiscal impact).

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

None.

C. Government Sector Impact:

State agencies, the court system, court-related entities, local governments, district school boards, charter schools, and state colleges and universities may incur minimal costs associated with establishing and maintaining the specified internal controls. State and local governments may incur additional costs associated with using the statewide travel management system.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

The bill requires municipalities and counties to establish and maintain internal controls, post budget information to websites, and use the statewide travel management system. These requirements may mean that the constitutional mandate provisions are applicable. Section 25 attempts to address the mandates requirement by making a finding that the bill fulfills an important state interest. However, section 25 only mentions the requirements relating to establishing and maintaining the internal controls. This section should be clarified to ensure that the statement relates to all three issues relating to new responsibilities for municipalities and counties.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 11.40, 11.45, 28.35, 43.16, 112.061, 129.03, 129.06, 166.241, 215.86, 215.97, 215.985, 218.32, 218.33, 218.39, 218.391, 218.503, 286.0114, 373.536, 1001.42, 1002.33, 1002.37, 1002.455, 1010.01, and 1010.30.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:

(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 928 creates the "Heartland Headwaters Protection and Sustainability Act." The bill contains legislative findings and intent regarding the significance of, and protections for, water resources in the Green Swamp Area of central Florida.

The bill requires the Polk County Regional Water Cooperative (PRWC), in coordination with all of its member county and municipal governments, to prepare a comprehensive annual report on water resource projects identified for priority state funding within its members' jurisdictions. The report must include lists of projects, identified by the PRWC for priority state funding, ranked in several categories, and the source and amount of financial assistance to be provided by the PRWC, the member county or municipal governments, or other entity for each listed project. The bill requires the PRWC to submit its annual report beginning December 1, 2017 to the Governor, the Legislature, the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), and appropriate water management districts (WMDs). The bill also requires the PRWC to coordinate with appropriate WMDs on the inclusion in consolidated WMD annual reports of a status report on projects receiving priority state funding.

Finally, the bill clarifies the spending of a discretionary local government infrastructure surtax by authorizing a county or municipality that receives tax proceeds to transfer some part or all of the tax proceeds to a regional water supply authority whose purpose is to develop, recover, store, and supply water.

The bill has no impact on state or local government revenues or expenditures.

II. Present Situation:

The Floridan Aquifer

The Floridan Aquifer is one of the most productive aquifers in the world, underlying approximately 100,000 square miles in southern Alabama, southeastern Georgia, southern South Carolina, and all of Florida. It is a multiple-use aquifer system. Where it contains freshwater, it is the principal source of water supply for several large cities (e.g., Savannah and Brunswick in Georgia; Jacksonville, Tallahassee, Orlando, and St. Petersburg in Florida) and for hundreds of thousands in smaller communities and rural areas.[1]

Regional Water Supply Planning

In 1998, each of Florida's five water management districts (WMDs) prepared water supply assessments to determine the existing and future water needs of the state. The WMDs evaluated the adequacy of existing and potential sources to meet reasonable-beneficial needs and sustain natural systems for the following 20-year period. At that time, four of the five WMDs determined that sources were inadequate to meet future needs while sustaining the natural resources and were required to prepare a regional water supply plan (RWSP).[2]

By the end of 2015, the South Florida WMD, the St. Johns River WMD, and the Southwest Florida WMD had developed RWSPs for all regions within their districts and were working on their next 5-year updates. The Northwest Florida WMD currently has two RWSPs. Additionally, in areas where ground water basins (GWBs) are shared between WMDs, inter-district water supply planning efforts are developed, such as the Central Florida Water Initiative (CFWI) and the North Florida Regional Water supply Partnership involving the Suwannee River WMD and the St. Johns River WMD.[3]

Regional water supply planning must be conducted in an open public process, in coordination and cooperation with local governments, regional water supply authorities,[4] government-owned and privately owned water and wastewater utilities, multijurisdictional water supply entities, self-suppliers, reuse utilities, the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services (DACS), and other affected and interested parties.[5] It is based on a 20 year planning period and includes a water supply development component (e.g., further development of fresh ground water and surface water, demineralization of brackish ground water, desalination of seawater, reuse of reclaimed water, water conservation) and a water resource development component (e.g., increasing water storage capabilities through surface reservoirs, aquifer storage and recovery) that could meet the projected reasonable-beneficial needs.[6]

Heartland Water Supply Planning Region

The Heartland water supply planning region covers approximately 2,569 square miles and includes Hardee County and the portions of Polk and Highlands counties within the Southwest Florida WMD.[7] The remaining portions of Polk and Highlands counties are within the South Florida WMD and are in separate water supply planning regions, the Upper Kissimmee and Lower Kissimmee, respectively.[8]

The Central Florida Water Initiative

The Central Florida Water Initiative (CFWI) is a collaborative process involving the DEP, the St. Johns River WMD, the South Florida WMD, the Southwest Florida WMD, DACS, regional public water supply utilities, and other stakeholders to address the current and long-term water supply needs of central Florida without causing harm to the water resources and associated natural systems.[9] The CFWI area includes all of Orange, Osceola, Polk, and Seminole counties, and southern Lake County.[10] The area covers approximately 5,300 square miles and encompasses:

- The headwaters for seven river systems:
  - The Alafia, located in Polk County;[11]
  - The Hillsborough, located in the Green Swamp in southeast Pasco County;[12]
  - The Kissimmee;
  - The Ocklawaha, located in the Green Swamp near Lake Apopka, in Orange County;[13]
  - The Peace, located in the Green Swamp in northern Polk County;[14]
  - The St. Johns, located in Indian River and Brevard counties;[15]
  - The Withlacoochee, located in the Green Swamp in northwestern Polk and southern Sumter counties.[16]

- Four distinct ground water basins (GWBs). These GWBs meet in north-central Polk County, and in general this location represents an important area of recharge with ground water flow radiating out in all directions.[17]
- Approximately 1,200 square miles or 782,000 acres of wetlands.
- Approximately 475 square miles or 300,300 acres of open water bodies.
- Seven regional wetlands systems: the Green Swamp, Reedy Creek Swamp, Davenport Creek Swamp, Big Bend Swamp, Cat Island Swamp, Boggy Creek Swamp, and Shingle Creek Swamp.
- Sixteen first, second, and third magnitude springs.[18]

Areas that appear to be more susceptible to the effects of ground water withdrawals include the Wekiva Springs/River System, western Seminole County and western Orange County, southern Lake County, the Lake Wales Ridge, and the Southern Water Use Caution Area (SWUCA) in Polk County. The Southwest Florida WMD has already adopted rules for the SWUCA that are as restrictive, if not more restrictive, than those in the CFWI. Since portions of Polk County are in both areas, only the portion of Polk County that is outside the SWUCA is subject to the CFWI rules.[19]

The Southern Water Use Caution Area

The SWUCA was established in 1992, by the Southwest Florida WMD, in response to growing water demands from public supply, agriculture, mining, power generation and recreational uses and environmental concerns related to these ground water withdrawals.[20] It is an area of approximately 5,100 square miles in the Southern West-Central GWB that includes all of Desoto, Hardee, Manatee, and Sarasota counties and parts of Charlotte, Highlands, Hillsborough, and Polk counties.[21]

In 2006, the Southwest Florida WMD adopted the SWUCA Recovery Strategy[22] that has four main goals:

- Achieve minimum flows in the upper Peace River;
- Achieve minimum lake levels in lakes along the Lake Wales Ridge, which extends roughly 90 miles along the center of the state in Polk and Highlands counties;
- Achieve the saltwater intrusion minimum aquifer level; and

- Ensure water supply needs are met for existing and projected reasonable and beneficial uses.[23]

Ground water withdrawals have since stabilized in the SWUCA. Water supply needs for the region are being met through the planning period as a result of regional water supply planning and management efforts. However, depressed aquifer levels continue to cause saltwater intrusion into the Floridan Aquifer and contribute to reduced flows in the upper Peace River and lowered lake levels of some of the lakes in the upland areas of Polk and Highlands counties.[24] The Southwest Florida WMD has formed two separate stakeholder workgroups to assist in identifying additional options for achieving these goals.[25]

Consolidated Water Management District Annual Report

Each year, each WMD must prepare and submit to the DEP, the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives a consolidated WMD annual report on the management of water resources. Also, they must provide copies to all legislative committee chairs having substantive or fiscal jurisdiction over the WMDs and the governing board of each county in the WMD having jurisdiction or deriving any funds for operations of the WMD. Copies must also be available to the public, either in printed or electronic format.[26]

Among other requirements, the report must contain information on all projects related to water quality or water quantity as part of a five-year work program, including:

- A list of all specific projects identified to implement a basin management action plan or a recovery or prevention strategy;
- A priority ranking for each listed project for which state funding through the water resources development work program is requested, which must be made available to the public for comment at least 30 days before submission of the consolidated annual report;
- The estimated cost for each listed project;
- The estimated completion date for each listed project;
- The source and amount of financial assistance to be made available by the DEP, a WMD, or other entity for each listed project; and
- A quantitative estimate of each listed project's benefit to the watershed, water body, or water segment in which it is located.[27]

Regional Water Supply Authorities

Counties, municipalities, or special districts may enter into interlocal agreements to create a regional water supply authority (RWSA) for the purpose of developing, recovering, storing, and supplying water for county or municipal purposes that will give priority to reducing adverse environmental effects of excessive or improper withdrawals of water from concentrated areas. These agreements must be approved by the Secretary of the DEP to ensure that the agreement will be in the public interest and complies with the intent and purposes of the Florida Interlocal Cooperation Act.[28]

In approving such an agreement, the Secretary of the DEP must consider, but is not limited to, the following:

- Whether the geographic territory of the proposed authority is of sufficient size and character to reduce the environmental effects of improper or excessive withdrawals of water from concentrated areas.
- The maximization of economic development of the water resources within the territory of the proposed authority.
- The availability of a dependable and adequate water supply.
- The ability of any proposed authority to design, construct, operate, and maintain water supply facilities, in the locations and at the times necessary to ensure that an adequate water supply will be available within the authority.
- The effect or impact of any proposed authority on any municipality, county, or existing authority or authorities.[29]

Currently, there are four RWSAs: Tampa Bay Water (formerly known as the West Coast RWSA), Peace River/Manasota RWSA, Withlacoochee RWSA, and Walton/Okaloosa/Santa Rosa Regional Utility Authority.[30]

Polk County Regional Water Cooperative

In June 2016, Polk County and 16 municipalities within Polk County[31] entered into an interlocal agreement to create a RWSA known as the Polk County Regional Water Cooperative (PRWC).[32] The role of the PRWC is to proactively identify alternative water resources and projects that ensure the future sustainability of the regional water supply. The PRWC will specifically identify sustainable ground water sources, develop strategies that meet water demands, determine needed infrastructure, and establish consistent rules.[33]

The Green Swamp

The Green Swamp includes portions of Polk, Lake, Sumter, Hernando and Pasco counties. The region consists of 560,000 acres of wetlands, flatlands and low ridges bound by prominent sandy ridgelines that form the headwaters of the Withlacoochee,[34] the Ocklawaha,[35] the Hillsborough[36] and the Peace Rivers.[37] The Peace and Hillsborough Rivers are potable water sources for Tampa and Sarasota. The Ocklawaha, Withlacoochee and Hillsborough Rivers are designated Outstanding Florida Waters.[38]

The Green Swamp is elevated above outlying areas and the Floridan Aquifer rises very close to the land surface, which causes the region to function as the pressure head for the aquifer, helping maintain free-flowing springs, rivers, and abundant high quality drinking water. Accordingly, protecting the Green Swamp is vital to protecting the quality and quantity of Florida's water supply. In recognizing the statewide significance of this area's valuable hydrologic functions, second only to that of the Everglades, and the need to specifically regulate encroaching development that would imperil these functions, the state in 1979, designated 322,690 acres of the Green Swamp as an area of critical state concern.[39] The designated area is located in northern Polk and southern Lake counties.[40]

Areas of Critical State Concern

The Governor and Cabinet, sitting as the Administration Commission,[41] are authorized to designate certain areas within the state that contain resources of statewide significance as areas of critical state concern.[42] An area of critical state concern may only be designated for an area:

- Containing, or having a significant impact upon, environmental or natural resources of regional or statewide importance, including, state or federal parks, forests, wildlife refuges, wilderness areas, aquatic preserves, major rivers and estuaries, state environmentally endangered lands, Outstanding Florida Waters,[43] and aquifer recharge areas, where uncontrolled development would cause substantial deterioration of such resources;

- Having a significant impact upon, or being significantly impacted by, an existing or proposed major public facility or other area of major public investment including, highways, ports, airports, energy facilities, and water management projects.[44]

In addition to the Green Swamp Area, the Big Cypress Area,[45] the Florida Keys Area, the City of Key West Area,[46] and the Apalachicola Bay Area[47]are areas of critical state concern.

The Alafia River

The Alafia River consists of two major branches, the North Prong and the South Prong, which originate in western Polk County and converge in eastern Hillsborough County to form the river.[48] The Alafia River now contributes the largest outflow of any river to Tampa Bay. The Hillsborough River was Tampa Bay's biggest freshwater contributor, but a prolonged drought, coupled with Tampa's water needs, has placed heavy demands on the Hillsborough River and its watershed.[49]

The Kissimmee River

The Kissimmee River Basin covers approximately 2,940 square miles in Central Florida. The watershed is approximately 105 miles long, extending from Orlando southward to Lake Okeechobee, encompassing Orange, Osceola, Okeechobee, Highlands, and Polk Counties and a small portion of Lake County.[50] The basin is made up of more than two dozen lakes in the Kissimmee Chain of Lakes, their tributary streams and associated marshes and the Kissimmee River and floodplain, forming the headwaters of Lake Okeechobee and the Everglades.[51]

Historically, the Kissimmee Chain of Lakes and the Kissimmee River were an integrated system of headwater lakes connected by broad shallow wetlands and creeks. These systems were substantially altered by the construction of the Central and South Florida Flood Control Project in the 1960s. The river, which once meandered for 103 miles throughout Central Florida, with its floodplain reaching up to three miles wide, was reconfigured into a 56 mile long canal for flood control. Restoration efforts are underway for portions of the Kissimmee River.[52]

Local Government Infrastructure Surtax

A county may levy a discretionary sales surtax of 0.5 percent or one percent pursuant to ordinance enacted by a majority of the members of the county governing authority and approved by a majority of the electors of the county voting in a referendum on the surtax. If municipalities representing a majority of the county's population adopt uniform resolutions establishing the rate of the surtax and calling for a referendum on the surtax, the levy of the surtax must be placed on the ballot and will take effect if approved by a majority of the electors of the county voting in the referendum on the surtax. [53] Surtax proceeds and any accrued interest must be expended by the school district, within the county and municipalities within the county, or, in the case of a negotiated joint county agreement, within another county.[54]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill creates the "Heartland Headwaters Protection and Sustainability Act."

Section 2 creates s. 373.462, F.S., containing legislative findings and intent regarding the significance of, and protections for, water resources in the Green Swamp Area of central Florida, and providing legislative recognition of the following:

- By law in 1979, portions of Lake and Polk Counties were designated as the Green Swamp Area of Critical State Concern in acknowledgment of the regional and statewide importance of the area in maintaining the quality and quantity of Florida's water supply and water resources for the public and the environment; and
- The Southern Water Use Caution Area (SWUCA) Recovery Strategy dated March of 2006, and the Central Florida Water Initiative (CFWI) Guiding Document dated January 30, 2015, both recognized the fact that the surface water and ground water resources in the heartland counties of Hardee, Highlands, and Polk are integral to the health, public safety, and economic future of the Green Swamp Area and surrounding regions.

The section makes specific legislative findings that:

- The Green Swamp Area and the surrounding region are economically, environmentally, and socially defined by some of the most important and vulnerable water resources in the state;
- The Green Swamp Area, which encompasses approximately 560,000 acres, is located in a regionally significant high recharge area of the Floridan Aquifer system and helps protect coastal communities from saltwater intrusion;
- The Green Swamp Area's unique topography and geology receives no water inputs other than rainfall. The area is essential in maintaining the potentiometric head of the Floridan Aquifer system that directly influences the aquifer's productivity for water supply; and
- The headwaters of six major river systems are located in the Green Swamp Area or in Polk County.

The section makes additional legislative declarations that:

- There is an important state interest in partnering with regional water supply authorities (RWSA), local governments, and water management districts to protect the water resources of the headwaters of the Alafia, Hillsborough, Kissimmee, Ocklawaha, Peace, and Withlacoochee Rivers and surrounding areas; and

- Priority state funding consideration must be given to solutions to manage the water resources of these headwaters and the local Floridan Aquifer system in the most efficient, cost-effective, and environmentally beneficial way.

Section 3 creates s. 373.463, F.S., to require the Polk County Regional Water Cooperative (PRWC), in coordination with all of its member county and municipal governments, to prepare a comprehensive annual report on water resource projects identified for priority state funding within its members' jurisdictions. The report must include, at a minimum:
- Lists of projects, identified by the PRWC for priority state funding, in each of the following categories, which may list the same project in more than one category:
  - Drinking water supply;
  - Wastewater, including reuse;
  - Stormwater and flood control;
  - Environmental restoration; and
  - Conservation;
- A priority ranking within each category for each listed project that will be ready for implementation in the upcoming fiscal year;
- The estimated cost of each listed project;
- The estimated completion date of each listed project; and
- The source and amount of financial assistance to be provided by the PRWC, the member county or municipal governments, or other entity for each listed project.

This section requires the PRWC to submit its annual report beginning December 1, 2017, to the Governor, the Legislature, the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), and appropriate water management districts. The PRWC is required to coordinate with appropriate water management districts on the inclusion in consolidated water management district annual reports of a status report on projects receiving priority state funding.

Finally, section 4 amends s. 212.055, F.S., to authorize a city or county to transfer the revenues generated by the local government infrastructure surtax to a regional water supply authority to develop, recover, store, and supply water consistent with the purposes specified in s. 212.055(2)(d), F.S.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2017.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. This act may be cited as the "Heartland Headwaters Protection and Sustainability Act."

Section 2. Section 373.462, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

373.462 Legislative findings and intent.—

592-03009-17 2017928c1

(1) The Legislature recognizes that, in 1979, specified portions of Lake and Polk Counties were designated by law as an area of critical state concern, known as the Green Swamp Area, in acknowledgment of their regional and statewide importance in maintaining the quality and quantity of Florida's water supply and water resources for the public and the environment.

(2) The Legislature also recognizes that the entire Green Swamp Area, which encompasses approximately 560,000 acres, is located in a regionally significant high recharge area of the Floridan Aquifer system, and that it helps protect coastal communities from saltwater intrusion.

(3) The Legislature finds that the Green Swamp Area or Polk County make up the headwaters or portions of the headwaters of six major river systems in the state, the Alafia, Hillsborough, Kissimmee, Ocklawaha, Peace, and Withlacoochee Rivers. In addition, due to the area's unique topography and geology, it receives no water inputs other than rainfall. The area is essential in maintaining the potentiometric head of the Floridan Aquifer system, which directly influences the aquifer's productivity for water supply.

(4) The Legislature also finds that the Green Swamp Area and surrounding areas are economically, environmentally, and socially defined by some of the most important and vulnerable water resources in the state.

(5) The Legislature recognizes that the Central Florida Water Initiative Guiding Document, dated January 30, 2015, and the Southern Water Use Caution Area Recovery Strategy, dated March 2006, found that the surface water and groundwater resources in the heartland counties of Hardee, Highlands, and Polk are integral to the health, public safety, and economic future of those regions.

(6) The Legislature declares that there is an important state interest in partnering with regional water supply authorities, local governments, and water management districts in accordance with s. 373.705, to protect the water resources of the headwaters of the Alafia, Hillsborough, Kissimmee, Ocklawaha, Peace, and Withlacoochee Rivers and the areas that surround them. The Legislature further declares that priority state funding consideration must be given to funding solutions that manage the water resources of these headwaters and the local Floridan Aquifer system in the most efficient, cost-effective, and environmentally beneficial way.

Section 3. Section 373.463, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

373.463 Heartland headwaters annual reports.—

(1) The Polk Regional Water Cooperative, in coordination with all of its member county and municipal governments, shall prepare a comprehensive annual report on water resource projects identified for priority state funding within its members' jurisdictions. The report must include, at a minimum:

(a) A list of projects identified by the cooperative for priority state funding for each of the following categories. A project may be listed in more than one category:

1. Drinking water supply.

2. Wastewater, including reuse.

3. Stormwater and flood control.

4. Environmental restoration.

5. Conservation.

(b) A priority ranking for each listed project that will be ready to proceed in the upcoming fiscal year, identified by the categories specified in paragraph (a).

(c) The estimated cost of each listed project.

(d) The estimated completion date of each listed project.

(e) The source and amount of financial assistance to be provided by the cooperative, the member county or municipal governments, or other entities for each listed project.

(2) By December 1, 2017, and each year thereafter, the cooperative shall submit the comprehensive annual report to the Governor, the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the department, and the appropriate water management districts.

(3) The cooperative shall also annually coordinate with the appropriate water management district to submit a status report on projects receiving priority state funding for inclusion in the consolidated water management district annual report required by s. 373.036(7).

Section 4. Present paragraph (h) of subsection (2) of section 212.055, Florida Statutes, is redesignated as paragraph (i) of that subsection and amended, and a new paragraph (h) is added to that subsection, to read:

212.055 Discretionary sales surtaxes; legislative intent; authorization and use of proceeds.—It is the legislative intent that any authorization for imposition of a discretionary sales surtax shall be published in the Florida Statutes as a subsection of this section, irrespective of the duration of the levy. Each enactment shall specify the types of counties authorized to levy; the rate or rates which may be imposed; the maximum length of time the surtax may be imposed, if any; the procedure which must be followed to secure voter approval, if required; the purpose for which the proceeds may be expended; and such other requirements as the Legislature may provide. Taxable transactions and administrative procedures shall be as provided in s. 212.054.

(2) LOCAL GOVERNMENT INFRASTRUCTURE SURTAX.—

(h) A county or municipality that receives proceeds under the provisions of this subsection may transfer such proceeds to an entity created under s. 373.713 whose purpose is to develop, recover, store, and supply water. Such transferred proceeds must be used for the purposes specified in paragraph (d).

(i) ~~(h)~~ Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, a county may ~~shall~~ not levy local option sales surtaxes authorized in this subsection and subsections (3), (4), and (5) in excess of a combined rate of 1 percent.

Section 5. This act shall take effect July 1, 2017.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/SB 1320 amends various statutes relating to the administration of taxes. The bill contains recommendations made by the Department of Revenue (Department) and approved by the Cabinet, which are designed to reduce the burden on taxpayers.

The bill eliminates:

- The fees charged for sales and use tax registration; fuel and pollutants dealers licensing; perchloroethylene registration; dry cleaning tax registration; and fuel tax refunds;
- The requirement that circuit court judges report to the Department the names of decedents and estates in probate unless the Department is a creditor of the estate; and
- The requirement that vending machine operators post a notice stating that machines without a posted notice may be reported using a toll-free number and that someone reporting noncompliance may be eligible for a reward, and the $250 associated penalty for not posting the notice.

Additionally, the bill:

- Allows a tax collection service provider to waive a reemployment tax penalty imposed for failure to file certain quarterly reports electronically if the tax collection service provider finds a penalty to be inequitable;
- Extends due dates for annual filings and installment payments when the due date falls on a weekend or a holiday;

- Provides specific guidelines for the notification, adoption, and expiration of local ordinances imposing a tax on motor and diesel fuel prior to July 2002; and
- Repeals several obsolete provisions of chapter law that grant emergency rulemaking authority to the Department of Revenue.

The Revenue Estimating Conference estimates this bill will reduce General Revenue Fund receipts by $100,000 in Fiscal Year 2017-2018 and $200,000 annually thereafter.[1]

This act takes effect upon becoming a law, while most the fee eliminations and vending machine notice provisions proposed in the bill take effect January 1, 2018.

II. Present Situation:

The present situation for each issue is explained below in the Effect of Proposed Changes section.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Sections 1, 22, 23. Elimination of Reporting Requirements

Present Situation: Section 198.30, F.S., requires circuit court judges to report the names of decedents and other information on estates in probate to both the Department and the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA). In addition, personal representatives are required to provide certain information to the Department and AHCA pursuant to s. 733.2121(3), F.S. Due to estate and intangible tax law changes, the Department no longer needs the information circuit court judges provide and, in most circumstances, does not need the information supplied by personal representatives.[2]

Proposed Change: The bill amends s. 198.30, F.S., to eliminate the requirement to provide information to the Department. Therefore, this information will be provided only to the AHCA. Additionally, s. 733.2121, F.S., is amended to require a notice of creditors to be served on the Department only when the Department is a creditor of the estate.

Sections 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 9, 10, 11, and 24. Fuel and Pollutants License Fee Elimination

Present Situation: Florida law imposes a $30 license tax on persons applying for an annual fuel or pollutants license and a $5 annual fee to obtain a license as a natural gas fuel retailer.[3] The Department issues the taxpayer a receipt, which must be posted on display in public view. All money derived from the license taxes pursuant to ss. 206.02, 206.021, 206.022, and 206.404, F.S., must be paid into the State Treasury to the credit of the General Revenue Fund.[4]

Proposed Change: The bill eliminates the $30 annual license tax required for a fuel or pollutants license as well as the $5 annual fee to obtain a natural gas fuel license. Additionally, s. 206.405, F.S., the receipt for payment of the license tax, and s. 206.406, F.S., the disposition of license tax funds, are repealed. The bill amends s. 206.998, F.S., to conform to the repealed sections.

These sections are effective January 1, 2018.

Section 8. Fuel Tax Refund Fee Elimination

Present Situation: Florida law allows certain taxpayers to obtain quarterly refunds of a portion of the tax paid on fuel purchases.[5] These taxpayers must purchase the fuel for use in agriculture, commercial fishing, school buses, mass public transportation, or another authorized purpose.[6] The Department is required to deduct a $2 fee from each of these quarterly tax refunds, which is deposited into the General Revenue Fund.[7]

Proposed Change: The bill eliminates the $2 deduction from the quarterly fuel tax refunds made to these taxpayers.

This section is effective January 1, 2018.

Section 12. Elimination of Vending Machine Notice Requirement

Present Situation: Sales tax is due on the sale of food, beverages, and most items purchased through vending machines in Florida. Vending machine owners must display a notice on each vending machine which provides that machines without a posted notice may be reported using a toll-free number and that a person who reports noncompliance may be eligible for a reward. Florida law imposes a $250 penalty for each vending machine that does not display the notice.[8]

Proposed Change: The bill eliminates the required notice and associated penalty.

This section is effective January 1, 2018.

Sections 13 and 14. Sales and Use Tax Registration Fee Elimination

Present Situation: Florida law imposes a $5 fee on each business location that registers with the Department to collect, report, and remit sales and use tax. However, the $5 registration fee is waived if a business applies online through the Department's online registration process.[9] Section 212.0596, F.S., provides that DOR may establish procedures to provide for the waiver of registration fees from unregistered persons who make mail order purchases for which tax is required to be remitted.

Proposed Change: The bill eliminates the $5 application fee.

[7] Section 206.41(5)(c)2., F.S.
[9] Section 212.18

These sections are effective January 1, 2018.

Sections 15 and 16. Ninth-cent and Local Option Dates

Present Situation: Chapter 336, F.S., provides clear direction on the administration of rate changes for ninth-cent and local option fuel taxes imposed after July 1, 2002. For taxes imposed prior to July 2002, however, the statutes do not clearly identify adoption dates for ordinances or the length of time the adopted ordinance will remain in effect.

Proposed Change: The bill provides specific guidelines and clarification for the notification, adoption, and expiration of the ninth-cent fuel taxes imposed prior to July 2002. For those tax levies, any re-imposition would be required to be levied before July 1 to allow the Department time to make any necessary changes to distribution programs.

Section 17. Dry Cleaning Tax Registration Fee Elimination

Present Situation: Dry cleaning facilities are required to register with the Department and pay a $30 fee.[10] If a facility registers electronically, the Department waives the $30 fee as authorized by statute. The majority of these registrations are electronic and no fee is charged.[11]

Proposed Change: The bill eliminates the $30 registration fee for all registrations.

This section is effective on January 1, 2018.

Section 18. Perchloroethylene Registration Fee Elimination

Present Situation: Any person producing, importing, or selling perchloroethylene (perc) is required to register with the Department and pay a $30 fee.[12] Additionally, the person must also register for a pollutants license that requires a $30 license tax. The Department has allowed perc registrants to designate their perc registration on the pollutants registration and has not required a separate application and fee for a person dealing in perc.[13]

Present Change: The bill repeals the $30 perc registration fee.

Sections 19 and 20. Extension of Annual and Installment Due Dates

Present Situation: Due dates for reemployment tax installment payments and annual filings are provided for by statute and do not allow for additional time when the due dates fall on a Saturday, Sunday, or holiday. Quarterly filing due dates are provided for by rule and have provisions allowing later due dates when the date falls on a weekend or holiday.[14]

Proposed Change: The bill allows for annual filings and installment payments to be submitted the next day that is not a Saturday, Sunday, or holiday or any other day when the United States Postal Service is closed.

Section 21. Reemployment Tax Penalty Waiver

Present Situation: Florida law requires certain employers to file their Employers Quarterly Report electronically.[15] When employers fail to file electronically as required, current law imposes a penalty. The tax collection service provider (the department) has no flexibility to waive the penalty.

Proposed Change: The bill allows a tax collection service provider (the department) to waive the penalty imposed for a failure to file electronically if the tax collection service provider finds a penalty to be inequitable. Grounds for inequity include the death or serious illness of the person who prepares and files the report, destructions of the business records by fire or another casualty, or unscheduled and unavoidable computer downtime.

Section 25. Repeal of Obsolete Rulemaking authority

Present Situation: The Department of Revenue has the authority to adopt rules to enforce the laws it administers.[16] Section 125.54(4) provides emergency rulemaking authority to an agency if the agency finds that an immediate danger to the public health, safety, or welfare requires emergency action. Emergency rules adopted by an agency are temporary and not renewable, except when the agency has initiated rulemaking to adopt rules addressing the subject of the emergency rule.[17]

Legislation often contains an explicit recognition of the need for emergency rules without a mechanism to repeal such authority when the emergency rulemaking process becomes obsolete.

Proposed Change: The bill repeals several obsolete provisions of chapter law that grant emergency rulemaking authority to the Department of Revenue.

Section 26. Effective Date

The bill takes effect upon becoming a law, except as otherwise expressly provided.

All impositions shall be required to end on December 31 of a year. A decision to rescind the tax shall not take effect on any date other than December 31 and shall require a minimum of 60 days' notice to the department of such decision.

Section 16. Paragraphs (a) and (b) of subsection (1) and paragraph (a) of subsection (5) of section 336.025, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

336.025 County transportation system; levy of local option fuel tax on motor fuel and diesel fuel.—

(1)(a) In addition to other taxes allowed by law, there may be levied as provided in ss. 206.41(1)(e) and 206.87(1)(c) a 1-cent, 2-cent, 3-cent, 4-cent, 5-cent, or 6-cent local option fuel tax upon every gallon of motor fuel and diesel fuel sold in a county and taxed under the provisions of part I or part II of chapter 206.

1. All impositions and rate changes of the tax shall be levied before October 1 to be effective January 1 of the following year for a period not to exceed 30 years, and the applicable method of distribution shall be established pursuant to subsection (3) or subsection (4). However, levies of the tax which were in effect on July 1, 2002, and which expire on August 31 of any year may be reimposed at the current authorized rate if the imposition of the tax is levied before July 1 and is effective September 1 of the year of expiration. Upon expiration, the tax may be relevied provided that a redetermination of the method of distribution is made as provided in this section.

2. County and municipal governments shall utilize moneys received pursuant to this paragraph only for transportation expenditures.

3. Any tax levied pursuant to this paragraph may be extended on a majority vote of the governing body of the county. A redetermination of the method of distribution shall be established pursuant to subsection (3) or subsection (4), if, after July 1, 1986, the tax is extended or the tax rate changed, for the period of extension or for the additional tax.

1. All impositions and rate changes of the tax shall be levied before October 1, to be effective January 1 of the following year. However, levies of the tax which were in effect on July 1, 2002, and which expire on August 31 of any year may be reimposed at the current authorized rate if the imposition of the tax is levied before July 1 and is effective September 1 of the year of expiration.

2. The county may, prior to levy of the tax, establish by interlocal agreement with one or more municipalities located therein, representing a majority of the population of the incorporated area within the county, a distribution formula for dividing the entire proceeds of the tax among county government and all eligible municipalities within the county. If no interlocal agreement is adopted before the effective date of the tax, tax revenues shall be distributed pursuant to the provisions of subsection (4). If no interlocal agreement exists, a new interlocal agreement may be established prior to June 1 of any year pursuant to this subparagraph. However, any interlocal agreement agreed to under this subparagraph after the initial levy of the tax or change in the tax rate authorized in this section shall under no circumstances materially or adversely affect the rights of holders of outstanding bonds which are backed by taxes authorized by this paragraph, and the amounts distributed to the county government and each municipality shall not be reduced below the amount necessary for the payment of principal and interest and reserves for principal and interest as required under the covenants of any bond resolution outstanding on the date of establishment of the new interlocal agreement.

3. County and municipal governments shall use moneys received pursuant to this paragraph for transportation expenditures needed to meet the requirements of the capital improvements element of an adopted comprehensive plan or for expenditures needed to meet immediate local transportation problems and for other transportation-related expenditures that are critical for building comprehensive roadway networks by local governments. For purposes of this paragraph, expenditures for the construction of new roads, the reconstruction or resurfacing of existing paved roads, or the paving of existing graded roads shall be deemed to increase capacity and such projects shall be included in the capital improvements element of an adopted comprehensive plan. Expenditures for purposes of this paragraph shall not include routine maintenance of roads.

(5)(a) By October 1 of each year, the county shall notify the Department of Revenue of the rate of the taxes levied pursuant to paragraphs (1)(a) and (b), and of its decision to rescind or change the rate of a tax, if applicable, and shall provide the department with a certified copy of the interlocal agreement established under subparagraph (1)(b)2. or subparagraph (3)(a)1. with distribution proportions established by such agreement or pursuant to subsection (4), if applicable. A decision to rescind a tax may not take effect on any date other than December 31, regardless of when the tax was originally imposed, and requires a minimum of 60 days' notice to

Section 19. Subsection (1) of section 443.131, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

443.131 Contributions.—

(1) PAYMENT OF CONTRIBUTIONS.—Contributions accrue and are payable by each employer for each calendar quarter he or she is subject to this chapter for wages paid during each calendar quarter for employment. Contributions are due and payable by each employer to the tax collection service provider, in accordance with the rules adopted by the Department of Economic Opportunity or the state agency providing tax collection services. This subsection does not prohibit the tax collection service provider from allowing, at the request of the employer, employers of employees performing domestic services, as defined in s. 443.1216(6), to pay contributions or report wages at intervals other than quarterly when the nonquarterly payment or reporting assists the service provider and when nonquarterly payment and reporting is authorized under federal law. Employers of employees performing domestic services may report wages and pay contributions annually, with a due date of no later than January 31, unless that day is a Saturday, Sunday, or holiday, in which event the due date is the next day that is not a Saturday, Sunday, or holiday. For purposes of this subsection, the term "holiday" means a day designated under s. 110.117(1) and (2) and any other day when the offices of the United States Postal Service are closed ~~January 1 and a delinquency date of~~

An employer who fails to timely furnish any wage information required by the department or its tax collection service provider loses the privilege to participate in this program, effective the calendar quarter immediately after the calendar quarter the failure occurred. The employer may reapply for annual reporting when a complete calendar year elapses after the employer's disqualification if the employer timely furnished any requested wage information during the period in which annual reporting was denied. An employer may not deduct contributions, interests, penalties, fines, or fees required under this chapter from any part of the wages of his or her employees. A fractional part of a cent less than one-half cent shall be disregarded from the payment of contributions, but a fractional part of at least one-half cent shall be increased to 1 cent.

Section 20. Paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of section 443.141, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

443.141 Collection of contributions and reimbursements.—

(1) PAST DUE CONTRIBUTIONS AND REIMBURSEMENTS; DELINQUENT, ERRONEOUS, INCOMPLETE, OR INSUFFICIENT REPORTS.—

(d) Payments for contributions.—For an annual administrative fee not to exceed $5, a contributing employer may pay its quarterly contributions due for wages paid in the first three quarters of each year in equal installments if those contributions are paid as follows:

1. For contributions due for wages paid in the first quarter of each year, one-fourth of the contributions due must be paid on or before April 30, one-fourth must be paid on or before July 31, one-fourth must be paid on or before October 31, and one-fourth must be paid on or before December 31.

2. In addition to the payments specified in subparagraph 1., for contributions due for wages paid in the second quarter of each year, one-third of the contributions due must be paid on or before July 31, one-third must be paid on or before October 31, and one-third must be paid on or before December 31.

3. In addition to the payments specified in subparagraphs 1. and 2., for contributions due for wages paid in the third quarter of each year, one-half of the contributions due must be paid on or before October 31, and one-half must be paid on or before December 31.

4. If any of the due dates in this paragraph falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or holiday, the due date is the next day that is not a Saturday, Sunday, or holiday. For purposes of this paragraph, the term "holiday" means a day designated under s. 110.117(1) and (2) and any other day when the offices of the United States Postal Service are closed.

5.~~4.~~ The annual administrative fee assessed for electing to pay under the installment method shall be collected at the time the employer makes the first installment payment each year. The fee shall be segregated from the payment and deposited into the Operating Trust Fund of the Department of Revenue.

6.~~5.~~ Interest does not accrue on any contribution that becomes due for wages paid in the first three quarters of each year if the employer pays the contribution in accordance with subparagraphs 1.-5. ~~subparagraphs 1.-4.~~ Interest and fees continue to accrue on prior delinquent contributions and commence accruing on all contributions due for wages paid in the first three quarters of each year which are not paid in accordance with subparagraphs 1.-4. ~~subparagraphs 1.-3.~~ Penalties may be assessed in accordance with this chapter. The contributions due for wages paid in the fourth quarter are not affected by this paragraph and are due and payable in accordance with this chapter.

Section 21. Section 443.163, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

443.163 Electronic reporting and remitting of contributions and reimbursements.—

(1) An employer may file any report and remit any contributions or reimbursements required under this chapter by electronic means. The Department of Economic Opportunity or the state agency providing reemployment assistance tax collection services shall adopt rules prescribing the format and instructions necessary for electronically filing reports and remitting contributions and reimbursements to ensure a full collection of contributions and reimbursements due. The acceptable method of transfer, the method, form, and content of the electronic means, and the method, if any, by which the employer will be provided with an acknowledgment shall be prescribed by the department or its tax collection service provider. However, any employer who employed 10 or more employees in any quarter during the preceding state fiscal year must file the Employers Quarterly Reports ~~(UCT-6)~~ for the current calendar year and remit the contributions and reimbursements due by electronic means approved by the tax collection service provider. A person who prepared and reported for 100 or more employers in any quarter during the preceding state fiscal year must file the Employers Quarterly Reports ~~(UCT-6)~~ for each calendar quarter in the current calendar year, beginning with reports due for the second calendar quarter of 2003, by electronic means approved by the tax collection service provider.

(2)(a) An employer who is required by law to file an Employers Quarterly Report ~~(UCT-6)~~ by approved electronic means, but who files the report by a means other than approved electronic means, is liable for a penalty of $50 for that report and $1 for each employee. This penalty is in addition to any other penalty provided by this chapter. However, the penalty does not apply if the tax collection service provider waives the electronic filing requirement in advance. An employer who fails to remit contributions or reimbursements by approved electronic means as required by law is liable for a penalty of $50 for each remittance submitted by a means other than approved electronic means. This penalty is in addition to any other penalty provided by this chapter.

(b) A person who prepared and reported for 100 or more employers in any quarter during the preceding state fiscal year, but who fails to file an Employers Quarterly Report ~~(UCT-6)~~ for each calendar quarter in the current calendar year by approved electronic means, is liable for a penalty of $50 for that report and $1 for each employee. This penalty is in addition to any other penalty provided by this chapter. However, the penalty does not apply if the tax collection service provider waives the electronic filing requirement in advance.

(3) The tax collection service provider may waive the requirement to file an Employers Quarterly Report ~~(UCT-6)~~ by electronic means for employers that are unable to comply despite good faith efforts or due to circumstances beyond the employer's reasonable control.

(a) As prescribed by the Department of Economic Opportunity or its tax collection service provider, grounds for approving the waiver include, but are not limited to, circumstances in which the employer does not:

1. Currently file information or data electronically with any business or government agency; or

2. Have a compatible computer that meets or exceeds the standards prescribed by the department or its tax collection service provider.

(b) The tax collection service provider shall accept other reasons for requesting a waiver from the requirement to submit the Employers Quarterly Report ~~(UCT-6)~~ by electronic means, including, but not limited to:

1. That the employer needs additional time to program his or her computer;

2. That complying with this requirement causes the employer financial hardship; or

3. That complying with this requirement conflicts with the employer's business procedures.

(c) The department or the state agency providing reemployment assistance tax collection services may establish by rule the length of time a waiver is valid and may determine whether subsequent waivers will be authorized, based on this subsection.

(4) As used in this section, the term "electronic means" includes, but is not limited to, electronic data interchange; electronic funds transfer; and use of the Internet, telephone, or other technology specified by the Department of Economic Opportunity or its tax collection service provider.

(5) The tax collection service provider may waive the penalty imposed by this section if a written request for a waiver is filed which establishes that imposition would be inequitable. Examples of inequity include, but are not limited to, situations where the failure to electronically file was caused by one of the following factors:

(a) Death or serious illness of the person responsible for the preparation and filing of the report.

(b) Destruction of the business records by fire or other casualty.

(c) Unscheduled and unavoidable computer downtime.

Section 22. Paragraph (e) of subsection (3) of section 733.2121, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations

BILL:	SB 1320
INTRODUCER:	Senator Stargel
SUBJECT:	Tax Administration
DATE:	April 24, 2017
REVISED:

	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR	REFERENCE	ACTION
1.	Brown	Cibula	JU	Favorable
2.	Gross	Diez-Arguelles	AFT	Recommend: Fav/CS
3.	Gross	Hansen	AP	Pre-meeting

I. Summary:

SB 1320 amends various statutes relating to the administration of taxes. The bill contains recommendations made by the Department of Revenue (Department) and approved by the Cabinet which are designed to reduce the burden on taxpayers.

The bill eliminates:

- The fees charged for sales and use tax registration; fuel and pollutants dealers licensing; perchloroethylene registration; dry cleaning tax registration; and fuel tax refunds;
- The requirement that circuit court judges report to the Department the names of decedents and estates in probate unless the Department is a creditor of the estate; and
- The requirement that vending machine operators post a notice stating that machines without a posted notice may be reported using a toll-free number and that someone reporting noncompliance may be eligible for a reward, and the $250 associated penalty for not posting the notice.

Additionally, the bill:

- Allows a tax collection service provider to waive a reemployment tax penalty imposed for failure to file certain quarterly reports electronically if the tax collection service provider finds a penalty to be inequitable;
- Extends due dates for annual filings and installment payments when the due date falls on a weekend or a holiday; and
- Provides specific guidelines for the notification, adoption, and expiration of local ordinances imposing a tax on motor and diesel fuel prior to July 2002.

The Revenue Estimating Conference estimates this bill will reduce General Revenue Fund receipts by $100,000 in Fiscal Year 2017-2018 and $200,000 annually thereafter.[1]

This act takes effect upon becoming a law, while most the fee eliminations and vending machine notice provisions proposed in the bill take effect January 1, 2018.

II. Present Situation:

The present situation for each issue is explained below in the Effect of Proposed Changes section.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Sections 1, 22, 23. Elimination of Reporting Requirements

Present Situation: Section 198.30, F.S., requires circuit court judges to report the names of decedents and other information on estates in probate to both the Department and the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA). In addition, personal representatives are required to provide certain information to the Department and AHCA pursuant to s. 733.2121(3), F.S. Due to estate and intangible tax law changes, the Department no longer needs the information circuit court judges provide and, in most circumstances, does not need the information supplied by personal representatives.[2]

Proposed Change: The bill amends s. 198.30, F.S., to eliminate the requirement to provide information to the Department. Therefore, this information will be provided only to the AHCA. Additionally, s. 733.2121, F.S., is amended to require a notice of creditors to be served on the Department only when the Department is a creditor of the estate.

Sections 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 9, 10, 11, and 24. Fuel and Pollutants License Fee Elimination

Present Situation: Florida law imposes a $30 license tax on persons applying for an annual fuel or pollutants license and a $5 annual fee to obtain a license as a natural gas fuel retailer.[3] The Department issues the taxpayer a receipt, which must be posted on display in public view. All money derived from the license taxes pursuant to ss. 206.02, 206.021, 206.022, and 206.404, F.S., must be paid into the State Treasury to the credit of the General Revenue Fund.[4]

Proposed Change: The bill eliminates the $30 annual license tax required for a fuel or pollutants license as well as the $5 annual fee to obtain a natural gas fuel license. Additionally, s. 206.405, F.S., the receipt for payment of the license tax, and s. 206.406, F.S., the disposition of license tax funds, are repealed. The bill amends s. 206.998, F.S., to conform to the repealed sections.

These sections are effective January 1, 2018.

Section 8. Fuel Tax Refund Fee Elimination

Present Situation: Florida law allows certain taxpayers to obtain quarterly refunds of a portion of the tax paid on fuel purchases.[5] These taxpayers must purchase the fuel for use in agriculture, commercial fishing, school buses, mass public transportation, or another authorized purpose.[6] The Department is required to deduct a $2 fee from each of these quarterly tax refunds, which is deposited into the General Revenue Fund.[7]

Proposed Change: The bill eliminates the $2 deduction from the quarterly fuel tax refunds made to these taxpayers.

This section is effective January 1, 2018.

Section 12. Elimination of Vending Machine Notice Requirement

Present Situation: Sales tax is due on the sale of food, beverages, and most items purchased through vending machines in Florida. Vending machine owners must display a notice on each vending machine which provides that machines without a posted notice may be reported using a toll-free number and that a person who reports noncompliance may be eligible for a reward. Florida law imposes a $250 penalty for each vending machine that does not display the notice.[8]

Proposed Change: The bill eliminates the required notice and associated penalty.

This section is effective January 1, 2018.

Sections 13 and 14. Sales and Use Tax Registration Fee Elimination

Present Situation: Florida law imposes a $5 fee on each business location that registers with the Department to collect, report, and remit sales and use tax. However, the $5 registration fee is waived if a business applies online through the Department's online registration process.[9] Section 212.0596, F.S., provides that DOR may establish procedures to provide for the waiver of registration fees from unregistered persons who make mail order purchases for which tax is required to be remitted.

Proposed Change: The bill eliminates the $5 application fee.

These sections are effective January 1, 2018.

Sections 15 and 16. Ninth-cent and Local Option Dates

Present Situation: Chapter 336, F.S., provides clear direction on the administration of rate changes for ninth-cent and local option fuel taxes imposed after July 1, 2002. For taxes imposed prior to July 2002, however, the statutes do not clearly identify adoption dates for ordinances or the length of time the adopted ordinance will remain in effect.

Proposed Change: The bill provides specific guidelines and clarification for the notification, adoption, and expiration of the ninth-cent fuel taxes imposed prior to July 2002. For those tax levies, any re-imposition would be required to be levied before July 1 to allow the Department time to make any necessary changes to distribution programs.

Section 17. Dry Cleaning Tax Registration Fee Elimination

Present Situation: Dry cleaning facilities are required to register with the Department and pay a $30 fee.[10] If a facility registers electronically, the Department waives the $30 fee as authorized by statute. The majority of these registrations are electronic and no fee is charged.[11]

Proposed Change: The bill eliminates the $30 registration fee for all registrations.

This section is effective on January 1, 2018.

Section 18. Perchloroethylene Registration Fee Elimination

Present Situation: Any person producing, importing, or selling perchloroethylene (perc) is required to register with the Department and pay a $30 fee.[12] Additionally, the person must also register for a pollutants license that requires a $30 license tax. The Department has allowed perc registrants to designate their perc registration on the pollutants registration and has not required a separate application and fee for a person dealing in perc.[13]

Present Change: The bill repeals the $30 perc registration fee.

Sections 19 and 20. Extension of Annual and Installment Due Dates

Present Situation: Due dates for reemployment tax installment payments and annual filings are provided for by statute and do not allow for additional time when the due dates fall on a Saturday, Sunday, or holiday. Quarterly filing due dates are provided for by rule and have provisions allowing later due dates when the date falls on a weekend or holiday.[14]

Proposed Change: The bill allows for annual filings and installment payments to be submitted the next day that is not a Saturday, Sunday, or holiday or any other day when the United States Postal Service is closed.

Section 21. Reemployment Tax Penalty Waiver

Present Situation: Florida law requires certain employers to file their Employers Quarterly Report electronically.[15] When employers fail to file electronically as required, current law imposes a penalty. The tax collection service provider (the department) has no flexibility to waive the penalty.

Proposed Change: The bill allows a tax collection service provider (the department) to waive the penalty imposed for a failure to file electronically if the tax collection service provider finds a penalty to be inequitable. Grounds for inequity include the death or serious illness of the person who prepares and files the report, destructions of the business records by fire or another casualty, or unscheduled and unavoidable computer downtime.

Section 25. Effective Date

The bill takes effect upon becoming a law, except as otherwise expressly provided.

(7) The department may establish by rule procedures for collecting the use tax from unregistered persons who but for their mail order purchases would not be required to remit sales or use tax directly to the department. The procedures may provide for waiver of registration ~~and registration fees~~, provisions for irregular remittance of tax, elimination of the collection allowance, and nonapplication of local option surtaxes.

Section 14. Effective January 1, 2018, paragraphs (a) and (c) of subsection (3) of section 212.18, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

212.18 Administration of law; registration of dealers; rules.—

(3)(a) A person desiring to engage in or conduct business in this state as a dealer, or to lease, rent, or let or grant licenses in living quarters or sleeping or housekeeping accommodations in hotels, apartment houses, roominghouses, or tourist or trailer camps that are subject to tax under s. 212.03, or to lease, rent, or let or grant licenses in real property, and a person who sells or receives anything of value by way of admissions, must file with the department an application for a certificate of registration for each place of business. The application must include the names of the persons who have interests in such business and their residences, the address of the business, and other data reasonably required by the department. However, owners and operators of vending machines or newspaper rack machines are required to obtain only one certificate of registration for each county in which such machines are located. The department, by rule, may authorize a dealer that uses independent sellers to sell its merchandise to remit tax on the retail sales price charged to the ultimate consumer in lieu of having the independent seller register as a dealer and remit the tax. The department may appoint the county tax collector as the department’s agent to accept applications for registrations. The application must be submitted to the department before the person, firm, copartnership, or corporation may engage in such business~~, and it must be accompanied by a registration fee of $5~~. ~~However, a registration fee is not required to accompany an application to engage in or conduct business to make mail order sales. The department may waive the registration fee for applications submitted through the department's Internet registration process.~~

(c)1. A person who engages in acts requiring a certificate of registration under this subsection and who fails or refuses to register commits a misdemeanor of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083. Such acts are subject to injunctive proceedings as provided by law. A person who engages in acts requiring a certificate of registration and who fails or refuses to register is also subject to a $100 initial registration fee ~~in lieu of the $5 registration fee required by paragraph (a)~~. However, the department may waive the ~~increase in the~~ registration fee if it finds that the failure to register was due to reasonable cause and not to willful negligence, willful neglect, or fraud.

2.a. A person who willfully fails to register after the department provides notice of the duty to register as a dealer commits a felony of the third degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082, s. 775.083, or s. 775.084.

b. The department shall provide written notice of the duty to register to the person by personal service or by sending notice by registered mail to the person's last known address. The department may provide written notice by both methods described in this sub-subparagraph.

Section 15. Subsection (5) of section 336.021, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

336.021 County transportation system; levy of ninth-cent fuel tax on motor fuel and diesel fuel.—

(5) All impositions of the tax shall be levied before October 1 of each year to be effective January 1 of the following year. However, levies of the tax which were in effect on July 1, 2002, and which expire on August 31 of any year may be reimposed at the current authorized rate if the imposition of the tax is levied before July 1 and is ~~to be~~ effective September 1 of the year of expiration. All impositions shall be required to end on December 31 of a year. A decision to rescind the tax shall not take effect on any date other than December 31 and shall require a minimum of 60 days' notice to the department of such decision.

Section 16. Paragraphs (a) and (b) of subsection (1) and paragraph (a) of subsection (5) of section 336.025, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

336.025 County transportation system; levy of local option fuel tax on motor fuel and diesel fuel.—

(1)(a) In addition to other taxes allowed by law, there may be levied as provided in ss. 206.41(1)(e) and 206.87(1)(c) a 1-cent, 2-cent, 3-cent, 4-cent, 5-cent, or 6-cent local option fuel tax upon every gallon of motor fuel and diesel fuel sold in a county and taxed under the provisions of part I or part II of chapter 206.

1. All impositions and rate changes of the tax shall be levied before October 1 to be effective January 1 of the following year for a period not to exceed 30 years, and the applicable method of distribution shall be established pursuant to subsection (3) or subsection (4). However, levies of the tax which were in effect on July 1, 2002, and which expire on August 31 of any year may be reimposed at the current authorized rate if the imposition of the tax is levied before July 1 and is effective September 1 of the year of expiration. Upon expiration, the tax may be relevied provided that a redetermination of the method of distribution is made as provided in this section.

2. County and municipal governments shall utilize moneys received pursuant to this paragraph only for transportation expenditures.

3. Any tax levied pursuant to this paragraph may be extended on a majority vote of the governing body of the county. A redetermination of the method of distribution shall be established pursuant to subsection (3) or subsection (4), if, after July 1, 1986, the tax is extended or the tax rate changed, for the period of extension or for the additional tax.

(b) In addition to other taxes allowed by law, there may be levied as provided in s. 206.41(1)(e) a 1-cent, 2-cent, 3-cent, 4-cent, or 5-cent local option fuel tax upon every gallon of motor fuel sold in a county and taxed under the provisions of part I of chapter 206. The tax shall be levied by an ordinance adopted by a majority plus one vote of the membership of the governing body of the county or by referendum.

1. All impositions and rate changes of the tax shall be levied before October 1, to be effective January 1 of the following year. However, levies of the tax which were in effect on July 1, 2002, and which expire on August 31 of any year may be reimposed at the current authorized rate if the imposition of the tax is levied before July 1 and is effective September 1 of the year of expiration.

2. The county may, prior to levy of the tax, establish by interlocal agreement with one or more municipalities located therein, representing a majority of the population of the incorporated area within the county, a distribution formula for dividing the entire proceeds of the tax among county government and all eligible municipalities within the county. If no interlocal agreement is adopted before the effective date of the tax, tax revenues shall be distributed pursuant to the provisions of subsection (4). If no interlocal agreement exists, a new interlocal agreement may be established prior to June 1 of any year pursuant to this subparagraph. However, any interlocal agreement agreed to under this subparagraph after the initial levy of the tax or change in the tax rate authorized in this section shall under no circumstances materially or adversely affect the rights of holders of outstanding bonds which are backed by taxes authorized by this paragraph, and the amounts distributed to the county government and each municipality shall not be reduced below the amount necessary for the payment of principal and interest and reserves for principal and interest as required under the covenants of any bond resolution outstanding on the date of establishment of the new interlocal agreement.

3. County and municipal governments shall use moneys received pursuant to this paragraph for transportation expenditures needed to meet the requirements of the capital improvements element of an adopted comprehensive plan or for expenditures needed to meet immediate local transportation problems and for other transportation-related expenditures that are critical for building comprehensive roadway networks by local governments. For purposes of this paragraph, expenditures for the construction of new roads, the reconstruction or resurfacing of existing paved roads, or the paving of existing graded roads shall be deemed to increase capacity and such projects shall be included in the capital improvements element of an adopted comprehensive plan. Expenditures for purposes of this paragraph shall not include routine maintenance of roads.

(5)(a) By October 1 of each year, the county shall notify the Department of Revenue of the rate of the taxes levied pursuant to paragraphs (1)(a) and (b), and of its decision to rescind or change the rate of a tax, if applicable, and shall provide the department with a certified copy of the interlocal agreement established under subparagraph (1)(b)2. or subparagraph (3)(a)1. with distribution proportions established by such agreement or pursuant to subsection (4), if applicable. A decision to rescind a tax may not take effect on any date other than December 31, regardless of when the tax was originally imposed, and requires a minimum of 60 days' notice to the Department of Revenue of such decision.

Section 17. Effective January 1, 2018, subsection (2) of section 376.70, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

376.70 Tax on gross receipts of drycleaning facilities.—

(2) Each drycleaning facility or dry drop-off facility imposing a charge for the drycleaning or laundering of clothing or other fabrics is required to register with the Department of Revenue and become licensed for the purposes of this section.

The owner or operator of the facility shall register the facility with the Department of Revenue. Drycleaning facilities or dry drop-off facilities operating at more than one location are only required to have a single registration. ~~The fee for registration is $30. The owner or operator of the facility shall pay the registration fee to the Department of Revenue. The department may waive the registration fee for applications submitted through the department's Internet registration process.~~

Section 18. Subsection (2) of section 376.75, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

376.75 Tax on production or importation of perchloroethylene.—

(2) Any person producing in, importing into, or causing to be imported into, or selling in, this state perchloroethylene must register with the Department of Revenue and become licensed for the purposes of remitting the tax pursuant to, or providing information required by, this section. Such person must register as a seller of perchloroethylene, a user of perchloroethylene in drycleaning facilities, or a user of perchloroethylene for purposes other than drycleaning. Persons operating at more than one location are only required to have a single registration. ~~The fee for registration is $30.~~ Failure to timely register is a misdemeanor of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083.

Section 19. Subsection (1) of section 443.131, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

443.131 Contributions.—

(1) PAYMENT OF CONTRIBUTIONS.—Contributions accrue and are payable by each employer for each calendar quarter he or she is subject to this chapter for wages paid during each calendar quarter for employment. Contributions are due and payable by each employer to the tax collection service provider, in accordance with the rules adopted by the Department of Economic Opportunity or the state agency providing tax collection services. This subsection does not prohibit the tax collection service provider from allowing, at the request of the employer, employers of employees performing domestic services, as defined in s. 443.1216(6), to pay contributions or report wages at intervals other than quarterly when the nonquarterly payment or reporting assists the service provider and when nonquarterly payment and reporting is authorized under federal law. Employers of employees performing domestic services may report wages and pay contributions annually, with a due date of no later than January 31, unless that day is a Saturday, Sunday, or holiday, in which event the due date is the next day that is not a Saturday, Sunday, or holiday. For purposes of this subsection, the term "holiday" means a day designated under s. 110.117(1) and (2) and any other day when the offices of the United States Postal Service are closed ~~January 1 and a delinquency date of February 1~~. To qualify for this election, the employer must employ only employees performing domestic services, be eligible for a variation from the standard rate computed under subsection (3), apply to this program no later than December 1 of the preceding calendar year, and agree to provide the department or its tax collection service provider with any special reports that are requested, including copies of all federal employment tax forms. An employer who fails to timely furnish any wage information required by the department or its tax collection service provider loses the privilege to participate in this program, effective the calendar quarter immediately after the calendar quarter the failure occurred. The employer may reapply for annual reporting when a complete calendar year elapses after the employer's disqualification if the employer timely furnished any requested wage information during the period in which annual reporting was denied. An employer may not deduct contributions, interests, penalties, fines, or fees required under this chapter from any part of the wages of his or her employees. A fractional part of a cent less than one-half cent shall be disregarded from the payment of contributions, but a fractional part of at least one-half cent shall be increased to 1 cent.

Section 20. Paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of section 443.141, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

443.141 Collection of contributions and reimbursements.—

(1) PAST DUE CONTRIBUTIONS AND REIMBURSEMENTS; DELINQUENT, ERRONEOUS, INCOMPLETE, OR INSUFFICIENT REPORTS.—

(d) Payments for contributions.—For an annual administrative fee not to exceed $5, a contributing employer may pay its quarterly contributions due for wages paid in the first three quarters of each year in equal installments if those contributions are paid as follows:

1. For contributions due for wages paid in the first quarter of each year, one-fourth of the contributions due must be paid on or before April 30, one-fourth must be paid on or before July 31, one-fourth must be paid on or before October 31, and one-fourth must be paid on or before December 31.

2. In addition to the payments specified in subparagraph

1., for contributions due for wages paid in the second quarter of each year, one-third of the contributions due must be paid on or before July 31, one-third must be paid on or before October 31, and one-third must be paid on or before December 31.

3. In addition to the payments specified in subparagraphs 1. and 2., for contributions due for wages paid in the third quarter of each year, one-half of the contributions due must be paid on or before October 31, and one-half must be paid on or before December 31.

4. If any of the due dates in this paragraph falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or holiday, the due date is the next day that is not a Saturday, Sunday, or holiday. For purposes of this paragraph, the term "holiday" means a day designated under s. 110.117(1) and (2) and any other day when the offices of the United States Postal Service are closed.

5.~~4.~~ The annual administrative fee assessed for electing to pay under the installment method shall be collected at the time the employer makes the first installment payment each year. The fee shall be segregated from the payment and deposited into the Operating Trust Fund of the Department of Revenue.

6.~~5.~~ Interest does not accrue on any contribution that becomes due for wages paid in the first three quarters of each year if the employer pays the contribution in accordance with subparagraphs 1.-5. ~~subparagraphs 1.-4.~~ Interest and fees continue to accrue on prior delinquent contributions and commence accruing on all contributions due for wages paid in the first three quarters of each year which are not paid in accordance with subparagraphs 1.-4. ~~subparagraphs 1.-3.~~ Penalties may be assessed in accordance with this chapter. The contributions due for wages paid in the fourth quarter are not affected by this paragraph and are due and payable in accordance with this chapter.

Section 21. Section 443.163, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

443.163 Electronic reporting and remitting of contributions and reimbursements.—

(1) An employer may file any report and remit any contributions or reimbursements required under this chapter by electronic means. The Department of Economic Opportunity or the state agency providing reemployment assistance tax collection services shall adopt rules prescribing the format and instructions necessary for electronically filing reports and remitting contributions and reimbursements to ensure a full collection of contributions and reimbursements due. The acceptable method of transfer, the method, form, and content of the electronic means, and the method, if any, by which the employer will be provided with an acknowledgment shall be prescribed by the department or its tax collection service provider. However, any employer who employed 10 or more employees in any quarter during the preceding state fiscal year must file the Employers Quarterly Reports ~~(UCT-6)~~ for the current calendar year and remit the contributions and reimbursements due by electronic means approved by the tax collection service provider. A person who prepared and reported for 100 or more employers in any quarter during the preceding state fiscal year must file the Employers Quarterly Reports ~~(UCT-6)~~ for each calendar quarter in the current calendar year, beginning with reports due for the second calendar quarter of 2003, by electronic means approved by the tax collection service provider.

(2)(a) An employer who is required by law to file an Employers Quarterly Report ~~(UCT-6)~~ by approved electronic means, but who files the report by a means other than approved electronic means, is liable for a penalty of $50 for that report and $1 for each employee. This penalty is in addition to any other penalty provided by this chapter. However, the penalty does not apply if the tax collection service provider waives the electronic filing requirement in advance. An employer who fails to remit contributions or reimbursements by approved electronic means as required by law is liable for a penalty of $50 for each remittance submitted by a means other than approved electronic means. This penalty is in addition to any other penalty provided by this chapter.

(b) A person who prepared and reported for 100 or more employers in any quarter during the preceding state fiscal year, but who fails to file an Employers Quarterly Report ~~(UCT-6)~~ for each calendar quarter in the current calendar year by approved electronic means, is liable for a penalty of $50 for that report and $1 for each employee. This penalty is in addition to any other penalty provided by this chapter. However, the penalty does not apply if the tax collection service provider waives the electronic filing requirement in advance.

(3) The tax collection service provider may waive the requirement to file an Employers Quarterly Report ~~(UCT-6)~~ by electronic means for employers that are unable to comply despite good faith efforts or due to circumstances beyond the employer's reasonable control.

(a) As prescribed by the Department of Economic Opportunity or its tax collection service provider, grounds for approving the waiver include, but are not limited to, circumstances in which the employer does not:

1. Currently file information or data electronically with any business or government agency; or

2. Have a compatible computer that meets or exceeds the standards prescribed by the department or its tax collection service provider.

(b) The tax collection service provider shall accept other reasons for requesting a waiver from the requirement to submit the Employers Quarterly Report ~~(UCT-6)~~ by electronic means, including, but not limited to:

1. That the employer needs additional time to program his or her computer;

2. That complying with this requirement causes the employer financial hardship; or

3. That complying with this requirement conflicts with the employer's business procedures.

(c) The department or the state agency providing reemployment assistance tax collection services may establish by rule the length of time a waiver is valid and may determine whether subsequent waivers will be authorized, based on this subsection.

(4) As used in this section, the term "electronic means" includes, but is not limited to, electronic data interchange; electronic funds transfer; and use of the Internet, telephone, or other technology specified by the Department of Economic Opportunity or its tax collection service provider.

(5) The tax collection service provider may waive the penalty imposed by this section if a written request for a waiver is filed which establishes that imposition would be inequitable. Examples of inequity include, but are not limited to, situations where the failure to electronically file was caused by one of the following factors:

(a) Death or serious illness of the person responsible for the preparation and filing of the report.

(b) Destruction of the business records by fire or other casualty.

(c) Unscheduled and unavoidable computer downtime.

Section 22. Paragraph (e) of subsection (3) of section 733.2121, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

733.2121 Notice to creditors; filing of claims.—

(e) The personal representative may serve a notice to creditors on the Department of Revenue only when the Department of Revenue is determined to be a creditor under paragraph (a) ~~If the Department of Revenue has not previously been served with a copy of the notice to creditors, then service of the inventory on the Department of Revenue shall be the equivalent of service of a copy of the notice to creditors~~.

Section 23. For the purpose of incorporating the amendment made by this act to section 733.2121, Florida Statutes, in a reference thereto, section 733.701, Florida Statutes, is reenacted to read:

733.701 Notifying creditors.—Unless creditors' claims are otherwise barred by s. 733.710, every personal representative shall cause notice to creditors to be published and served under s. 733.2121.

Section 24. Effective January 1, 2018, section 206.998, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

206.998 Applicability of specified sections of parts I and II.—The provisions of ss. 206.01, 206.02, 206.025, 206.026, 206.027, 206.028, 206.03, 206.05, 206.055, 206.06, 206.07, 206.075, 206.09, 206.10, 206.11, 206.12, 206.13, 206.14, 206.15, 206.16, 206.17, 206.175, 206.18, 206.199, 206.20, 206.204, 206.205, 206.21, 206.215, 206.22, 206.23, 206.24, 206.25, 206.27, 206.28, ~~206.405, 206.406,~~ 206.41, 206.413, 206.43, 206.44, 206.48, 206.485, 206.49, 206.56, 206.59, 206.606, 206.608, and 206.61 of part I of this chapter and ss. 206.86, 206.872, 206.874, 206.8745, 206.88, 206.90, and 206.93 of part II of this chapter shall, as far as lawful or practicable, be applicable to the tax levied and imposed and to the collection thereof as if fully set out in this part. However, any provision of any such section does not apply if it conflicts with any provision of this part.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/SB 1710 designates the month of September as "American Founders' Month" and authorizes the Governor to issue a proclamation urging all civic, fraternal, and religious organizations and public and private educational institutions to recognize, observe, and celebrate the month. Specifically, the bill:

- Encourages all public schools to observe "American Founders' Month" with appropriate instruction and activities.
- Establishes civic literacy as a priority of Florida's K-20 education system.
- Requires the Just Read, Florida! Office to develop and provide access to sequenced, content-rich programming, instructional practices, and resources to increase students' core knowledge and literacy skills including student attainment of state standards for social studies, science, and the arts.
- Requires students initially entering a Florida College System institution or state university in 2018-2019 and thereafter, to demonstrate civic literacy through successful completion of a course or by achieving a passing score on an assessment adopted in rule by the State Board of Education or in regulation by the Board of Governors, as applicable.

The bill does not impact state revenues or expenditures.

The bill takes effect on July 1, 2017.

II. Present Situation:

Florida has established mechanisms to increase the civic awareness and engagement among students through civic-engagement skills in the curriculum standards for all subjects,[1] and specifically social studies;[2] a middle grades civics education course[3] and end-of-course assessment;[4] and the inclusion of such end-of-course assessment in the calculation of school grades.[5]

Priorities of the K-20 Education System

The mission of Florida's K-20 education system is to allow students to increase their proficiency by providing the opportunity to expand their knowledge and skills through rigorous and relevant learning opportunities.[6] As such, the priorities of Florida's K-20 education system include:[7]

- Demonstration that all students meet the expected academic standards consistently at all levels of their education.
- Learning and completion at all levels, so that all students demonstrate increased learning and completion at all levels, graduate from high school, and are prepared to enter postsecondary education without remediation.
- Alignment of standards and resources for every level of the K-20 education system.
- Improved educational leadership at all levels of K-20 education.
- Alignment of workforce education with skills required by the new global economy.
- Collaboration between parents, students, families, educational institutions, and communities as important to each individual student's success; the goals of Florida's K-20 education system are not guarantees that each individual student will succeed or that each individual school will perform at the level indicated in the goals.
- Comprehensive K-20 career and education planning to better prepare all students at every level for the transition from school to postsecondary education or work.

Patriotic Programs

District school boards are authorized to adopt rules that require patriotic programs in district schools that encourage respect for the United States government, the national anthem, and the flag.[8] The law also specifies procedures for the playing of the national anthem and recitation of the pledge of allegiance to the flag in public schools and at school-sponsored functions.[9] The

Postsecondary Requirements

Civics Instruction

Currently, there is not a state civics requirement for students attending a Florida public postsecondary institution.[12] Students in the Florida College System and State University System are offered opportunities to study civics through courses in their general education core curriculum, as well as in civics courses in specific programs of study.[13]

Florida law requires a student to complete at least one social science course as a part of the general education core degree requirement.[14] The courses available to complete this requirement are in:[15]

- American History;
- Anthropology;
- Macroeconomics;
- American Government;
- Psychology; and
- Sociology.

Of the social science courses taken in 2014-15, 45 percent were civics related.[16] Also, 17 percent of all university undergraduates, and 21 percent of all college students enrolled in college-credit courses took at least one civics-related course in 2014-2015.[17]

Degree Requirements

The following state-level requirements apply to students seeking an associate in arts or baccalaureate degree from a Florida public postsecondary institution:

- Completion of 36 semester hours of general education coursework in the areas of communication, humanities, mathematics, natural science, and social science.[18]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 creates s. 683.1455, F.S., to designate the month of September as "American Founders' Month" and authorize the Governor to issue a proclamation urging all civic, fraternal, and religious organizations and public and private educational institutions to recognize, observe, and celebrate the month. Specifically, this section:

- Encourages all public schools to observe "American Founders' Month" with appropriate instruction and activities.
- Establishes civic literacy as a priority of Florida's K-20 education system.
- Requires the Just Read, Florida! Office to develop and provide access to sequenced, content-rich programming, instructional practices, and resources to increase students' core knowledge and literacy skills including student attainment of state standards for social studies, science, and the arts.
- Requires students initially entering a Florida College System institution or state university in 2018-2019 and thereafter, to demonstrate civic literacy through successful completion of a course or by achieving a passing score on an assessment adopted in rule by the State Board of Education or in regulation by the Board of Governors, as applicable.

Priorities of the K-20 Education System (Section 2)

Section 2 amends s. 1000.03, F.S., to extend the scope of Florida's K-20 education system to establish civic literacy as a priority. Specifically, this section includes as a priority of Florida's K-20 education system that students "are prepared become civically engaged and knowledgeable adults who make positive contributions to their communities."

Patriotic Programs (Sections 1 and 4)

As a component of the required instruction relating to patriotic programs, section 4 amends s. 1003.44, F.S., to encourage all public schools in Florida to coordinate, at all grade levels, instruction related to our nation's Founding Fathers in "American Founders' Month." Also, section 1 encourages civic, fraternal, and religious organizations and public and private educational institutions to recognize and observe "American Founders' Month" through programs, meetings, services, or celebrations in which state, county, and local government officials are invited to participate.

Postsecondary Requirements (Sections 5, 6, and 7)

Section 5 amends s. 1007.25, F.S., to create an additional requirement for students in degree programs at Florida public postsecondary institutions. This section requires that, beginning with students initially entering a Florida College System institution or state university in 2018-2019 and thereafter, each student must demonstrate competency in civic literacy. Demonstration of competency may be through successful completion of a new civic literacy course or revised American History or American Government course, which includes civic literacy, or by achieving a passing score on an existing assessment adopted in State Board of Education (SBE) rule or Board of Governors (BOG) regulation. The chairs of the SBE and BOG must jointly appoint a faculty committee to:

- Develop a new course in civic literacy or revise an existing American History or American Government course, which includes civic literacy.
- Establish course competencies and identify outcomes that include, at a minimum:
  - An understanding of the basic principles of American democracy and how they are applied in our republican form of government.
  - An understanding of the United States Constitution.
  - Knowledge of the founding documents and how they have shaped the nature and functions of our institutions of self-governance.
  - An understanding of landmark Supreme Court cases and their impact on law and society.

Sections 6 and 7 amend ss. 943.22 and 1001.64, F.S., respectively, to correct cross references changed as a result of the modifications to s. 1007.25, F.S.

Just Read, Florida! (Section 3)

Section 3 amends s. 1001.215, F.S., to require the Just Read, Florida! Office to develop and provide access to sequenced, content-rich curriculum programming, instructional practices, and resources that help elementary schools use state-adopted instructional materials to increase students' core knowledge and literacy skills, including student attainment of the Next General Sunshine State Standards for social studies, science, and the arts.

specifically social studies;[2] a middle grades civics education course[3] and end-of-course assessment;[4] and the inclusion of such end-of-course assessment in the calculation of school grades.[5]

Priorities of the K-20 Education System

The mission of Florida's K-20 education system is to allow students to increase their proficiency by providing the opportunity to expand their knowledge and skills through rigorous and relevant learning opportunities.[6] As such, the priorities of Florida's K-20 education system include:[7]

- Demonstration that all students meet the expected academic standards consistently at all levels of their education.
- Learning and completion at all levels, so that all students demonstrate increased learning and completion at all levels, graduate from high school, and are prepared to enter postsecondary education without remediation.
- Alignment of standards and resources for every level of the K-20 education system.
- Improved educational leadership at all levels of K-20 education.
- Alignment of workforce education with skills required by the new global economy.
- Collaboration between parents, students, families, educational institutions, and communities as important to each individual student's success; the goals of Florida's K-20 education system are not guarantees that each individual student will succeed or that each individual school will perform at the level indicated in the goals.
- Comprehensive K-20 career and education planning to better prepare all students at every level for the transition from school to postsecondary education or work.

Patriotic Programs

District school boards are authorized to adopt rules that require patriotic programs in district schools that encourage respect for the United States government, the national anthem, and the flag.[8] The law also specifies procedures for the playing of the national anthem and recitation of the pledge of allegiance to the flag in public schools and at school-sponsored functions.[9] The pledge must be recited at the beginning of the day in each public school in the state.[10] Students must be excused from reciting the pledge if his or her parent submits a written request.[11]

Postsecondary Requirements

Civics Instruction

Currently, there is not a state civics requirement for students attending a Florida public postsecondary institution.[12] Students in the Florida College System and State University System are offered opportunities to study civics through courses in their general education core curriculum, as well as in civics courses in specific programs of study.[13]

Florida law requires a student to complete at least one social science course as a part of the general education core degree requirement.[14] The courses available to complete this requirement are in:[15]

- American History;
- Anthropology;
- Macroeconomics;
- American Government;
- Psychology; and
- Sociology.

Of the social science courses taken in 2014-15, 45 percent were civics related.[16] Also, 17 percent of all university undergraduates, and 21 percent of all college students enrolled in college-credit courses took at least one civics-related course in 2014-2015.[17]

Degree Requirements

The following state-level requirements apply to students seeking an associate in arts or baccalaureate degree from a Florida public postsecondary institution:

- Completion of 36 semester hours of general education coursework in the areas of communication, humanities, mathematics, natural science, and social science.[18]
- Beginning with students initially entering a Florida College System institution or state university in 2015-2016 and thereafter, complete at least one identified core course in each subject area as part of the general education course requirements.[19]

Just Read, Florida!

In 2001,[27] Governor Jeb Bush established Just Read, Florida! as a comprehensive and coordinated reading initiative intended to establish reading as a core value in this state. In 2006,[28] the Legislature created within the DOE the Just Read, Florida! Office. Among its duties, the Just Read, Florida! Office must:[29]

- Create multiple designations of effective reading instruction, with accompanying credentials, which encourage all teachers to integrate reading instruction into their content areas.
- Train K-12 teachers and school principals on effective content-area-specific reading strategies. For secondary teachers, emphasis must be on technical text.
- Provide parents with information and strategies for assisting their children in reading in the content area.
- Provide technical assistance to school districts in the development and implementation of the K-12 comprehensive reading plan.
- Work with the Florida Center for Reading Research to provide information on research-based reading programs and effective reading in the content area strategies.
- Periodically review the Sunshine State Standards for reading at all grade levels.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 creates s. 683.1455, F.S., to designate the month of September as "American Founders' Month" and authorize the Governor to issue a proclamation urging all civic, fraternal, and religious organizations and public and private educational institutions to recognize, observe, and celebrate the month. Specifically, this section:

- Encourages all public schools to observe "American Founders' Month" with appropriate instruction and activities.
- Establishes civic literacy as a priority of Florida's K-20 education system.
- Requires the Just Read, Florida! Office to develop and provide access to sequenced, content-rich programming, instructional practices, and resources to increase students' core knowledge and literacy skills including student attainment of state standards for social studies, science, and the arts.
- Requires students initially entering a Florida College System institution or state university in 2018-2019 and thereafter, to demonstrate civic literacy through successful completion of a civic literacy course or by achieving a passing score on an assessment adopted in rule by the State Board of Education or in regulation by the Board of Governors, as applicable.

Priorities of the K-20 Education System (Section 2)

Section 2 amends s. 1000.03, F.S., to extend the scope of Florida's K-20 education system to establish civic literacy as a priority. Specifically, this section includes as a priority of Florida's K-20 education system that students "are prepared become civically engaged and knowledgeable adults who make positive contributions to their communities."

Patriotic Programs (Sections 1 and 4)

As a component of the required instruction relating to patriotic programs, section 4 amends s. 1003.44, F.S., to encourage all public schools in Florida to coordinate, at all grade levels, instruction related to our nation's Founding Fathers in "American Founders' Month." Also, section 1 encourages civic, fraternal, and religious organizations and public and private educational institutions to recognize and observe "American Founders' Month" through programs, meetings, services, or celebrations in which state, county, and local government officials are invited to participate.

Postsecondary Requirements (Sections 5, 6, and 7)

Section 5 amends s. 1007.25, F.S., to create an additional requirement for students in degree programs at Florida public postsecondary institutions. This section requires that, beginning with students initially entering a Florida College System institution or state university in 2018-2019 and thereafter, each student must demonstrate competency in civic literacy. Demonstration of competency may be through successful completion of a civic literacy course or by achieving a passing score on an assessment adopted in State Board of Education (SBE) rule or Board of Governors (BOG) regulation. The chairs of the SBE and BOG must jointly appoint a faculty committee to:

- Develop a new course in civic literacy or revise an existing general education core course.
- Establish course competencies and identify outcomes that include, at a minimum:
  - An understanding of the basic principles of American democracy and how they are applied in our republican form of government.
  - An understanding of the United States Constitution.
  - Knowledge of the founding documents and how they have shaped the nature and functions of our institutions of self-governance.
  - An understanding of landmark Supreme Court cases and their impact on law and society.

Sections 6 and 7 amend ss. 943.22 and 1001.64, F.S., respectively, to correct cross references changed as a result of the modifications to s. 1007.25, F.S.

Just Read, Florida! (Section 3)

Section 3 amends s. 1001.215, F.S., to require the Just Read, Florida! Office to develop and provide access to sequenced, content-rich curriculum programming, instructional practices, and resources that help elementary schools use state-adopted instructional materials to increase students' core knowledge and literacy skills, including student attainment of the Next General Sunshine State Standards for social studies, science, and the arts.

HB 6501 – Representative Scott Plakon
Relief of J.D.S.

SPECIAL MASTER'S FINAL REPORT

THIS IS AN UNCONTESTED CLAIM FOR $950,000 PAYABLE TO THE AGED POOLED SPECIAL NEEDS TRUST ON BEHALF OF J.D.S., BASED ON A SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT BETWEEN PATTI R. JARRELL, AS PLENARY GUARDIAN OF J.D.S., AND THE STATE OF FLORIDA, AGENCY FOR PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES. THE CLAIM AROSE FROM THE NEGLIGENT SUPERVISION OF A GROUP HOME BY THE AGENCY.

FINDINGS OF FACT:

In 1980, J.D.S. was born with severe disabilities, including cerebral palsy, autism, and mental retardation. J.D.S. has a 31 IQ and has been nonverbal her entire life. J.D.S. was placed in the custody of the State of Florida, Department of Children and Families (DCF) and considered to be a "ward" of DCF. Due to her condition, J.D.S. was dependent upon DCF for the provision of her care, treatment, and daily needs.

At the age of 4, J.D.S., as a developmentally-disabled dependent ward of the State of Florida, was placed in the Strong Group Home. J.D.S. was totally dependent on the Strong Group Home to provide the care for her needs. She was incapable of performing even the most basic functions of life. The Strong Group Home was licensed by DCF to operate the group home, and the home was monitored through face to face visits on a monthly basis with the exception of a short interval when, due to budget cuts, visits occurred either every other month or quarterly. The Strong Group Home was also visited monthly by the Medicaid Waiver Support Coordinator who had the responsibility of ensuring J.D.S. was receiving her care plan services. Hester Strong was the administrator/owner of the Strong Group Home and was assisted by her husband, Phillip Strong. In addition to caring for 4 - 6 developmentally disabled persons, Ms. Strong cared for her elderly parents who also resided in the home.

Beginning in late 2001 and into 2002, J.D.S.'s behavior became more aggressive. She began to resist getting into a car which had not been an exhibited behavior in the past. And, although she was previously toilet trained, she began exhibiting regular incontinence. Ms. Strong did not report these changes in J.D.S.'s behaviors, and the DCF monitoring reports of the Strong Group Home did not contain any reference to them.

In December 2002, J.D.S. became pregnant while a resident in the Strong Group Home. J.D.S. was 5 months pregnant when her doctor discovered her pregnancy.

Upon the discovery of J.D.S.'s pregnancy, DCF revoked the Strong Group Home's license and J.D.S. was moved to another group home. J.D.S. gave birth to a baby girl on August 30, 2003. The newborn was immediately removed from J.D.S. and placed for adoption. Following the birth, the Florida Department of Law Enforcement took DNA samples from Phillip Strong and the newborn. The results of the DNA testing confirmed that Phillip Strong was the biological father of the infant.

DCF was responsible for the oversight of the Strong Group Home and providing care to J.D.S. when the events related to the claim bill occurred. However, in 2004, the responsibility to oversee group homes for the disabled was transferred to the Agency for Persons with Disabilities along with DCF's related liabilities.

Based on the foregoing, the State of Florida, Agency for Persons with Disabilities, stipulated to the entry of a judgment in the amount of $1,150,000. The Agency for Persons' with Disabilities paid $200,000 to the AGED Pooled Special Needs Trust on behalf of J.D.S., leaving $950,000, which is the amount sought through this claim bill.

CLAIMANT'S POSITION: The Agency for Persons with Disabilities is directly and vicariously liable for the rape and subsequent pregnancy of J.D.S. The claimant also alleges that the rape of J.D.S. was foreseeable by the agency. It should be noted that Mr. Strong was determined incompetent and never charged with the rape of J.D.S.

RESPONDENT'S POSITION: The Agency for Persons with Disabilities settled this claim before a jury trial and is neutral in this proceeding and will take no action adverse to the passage of a claim bill.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW: As provided in s. 768.28, F.S. (2002), sovereign immunity shields the State of Florida and its agencies against tort liability in excess of $200,000 per occurrence. The parties settled the case for $1.15 million, and the Agency for Persons with Disabilities paid $200,000 to the AGED Pooled Special Needs Trust on behalf of J.D.S. The claimant alleged APD is liable for the sexual molestation of J.D.S. under two separate legal precepts: vicarious liability and direct liability. The claimant alleged APD had a "non-delegable" duty to protect J.D.S. from harm and sexual assault. At all times material to this matter J.D.S. was a resident of the Strong Group Home.

APD is a governmental agency that licenses, monitors, and places clients in residential living facilities. APD does not undertake to provide direct services to any particular client. Instead, the Florida Legislature, in s. 393.066, F.S. (2002), has mandated that the day-to-day operational level duties of care and maintenance of a client are to be delegated by APD.

Duty

Whether there is a jury verdict or a settlement agreement, as there is in this case, every claim bill must be based on facts sufficient to meet the preponderance of evidence standard. DCF had a duty to protect and care for J.D.S. while she was in the care of the Strong Group Home. This duty included ensuring the administrator and staff of the Strong Group Home were properly trained to detect and prevent sexual abuse of the developmentally-disabled individuals placed in their care; adequate staffing was in place at all times and the staff met training requirements; the number of placements in the home did not exceed the limit established by DCF; and the home complied with the Bill of Rights of Persons with Developmental Disabilities as set forth under s. 393.13, F.S. (2002). Such Bill of Rights guarantees that developmentally disabled individuals have the right to be free from sexual abuse in a residential facility, the right to be free from harm, and the right to receive prompt and appropriate medical care and treatment.

The Strong Group Home administrator and staff did not meet the educational and training requirements set forth in Rule 65G-2.012, F.A.C., and s. 393.067, F.S. (2002). There was no evidence presented that the administrator met the educational requirements for licensing or that she or any staff member had received any training on how to detect, report, or prevent sexual abuse of the group home's residents and clients.

The Strong Group Home was licensed for and housed 4 - 6 developmentally disabled clients. Nevertheless, at one point while J.D.S. was in the home, DCF placed two foster children in the home. As a result of the placement of additional clients, not enough bedrooms were available and the dining room was converted into J.D.S.'s bedroom. The placement of her bed in the dining room area did not provide J.D.S. the privacy she was entitled to under the Bill of Rights of Persons with Developmental Disabilities set out in s. 393.13, F.S.

Additionally, the Strong Group Home had a duty to exercise reasonable care to protect J.D.S. from abuse and neglect, including sexual abuse; to exercise reasonable care to discover abuse and neglect, to provide J.D.S. with a reasonable, safe living environment that afforded her with privacy, and to exercise reasonable care to ensure she received prompt and appropriate medical care and treatment.

Breach

A preponderance of the evidence establishes that The Strong Group Home did not meet the educational and training requirements to be licensed as a group home initially by DCF and subsequently by APD. APD and the Strong Group Home as licensed by APD, breached their duty to properly care for and protect J.D.S. Further, APD and the Strong Group Home breached their duty to J.D.S. with respect to compliance with the rights and privileges afforded the developmentally disabled pursuant to the Bill of Rights of the Developmentally Disabled.

Causation
The failure of the Department of Children and Families and subsequently the Agency for Persons with Disabilities to ensure the staff of the Strong Group Home was properly trained, possessed the required levels of education and credentials likely led to the rape of J.D.S.

Damages
The claim bill awards $950,000 for the benefit of J.D.S. No evidence was presented or available indicating that the damages authorized by the settlement are excessive or inappropriate.

ATTORNEYS FEES: Section 768.28(8), F.S., provides that "[n]o attorney may charge, demand, receive, or collect, for services rendered, fees in excess of 25 percent of any judgment or settlement." The claimant's attorneys have agreed to limit their fees to 25 percent of any amount awarded in compliance with the statutes. Lobbyists' fees are included with the attorneys' fees.

RECOMMENDATIONS: For the reasons set forth above, I recommend that Senate Bill 28 be reported FAVORABLY.

Respectfully submitted,

Barbara M. Crosier
Senate Special Master

cc: Secretary of the Senate

CS by Judiciary:
The committee substitute, in conformity with a recent opinion of the Florida Supreme Court, does not include the limits on costs, lobbying fees, and other similar expenses, which were included in the original bill.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/CS/SB 844 provides an exception for cemeteries exempt under chapter 497, Florida Statutes, from the criminal penalties in section 872.02, Florida Statutes.

Currently, under section 872.02, Florida Statutes, it is a third degree felony to willfully and knowingly damage or remove a tomb, monument, or other specified structure and a second degree felony to willfully and knowingly disturb the contents of a grave or tomb. The penalties do not apply to certain persons, like cemeteries operating under chapter 497, Florida Statutes, (the Florida Funeral, Cemetery, and Consumer Services Act). However, there are cemeteries that are exempt from the regulation and licensing requirements of chapter 497, Florida Statutes, and these cemeteries are not exempt from the criminal penalties of section 872.02, Florida Statutes. If a person at such a cemetery were to disinter a dead human body at the request of a legally authorized person, he or she could be criminally charged under section 872.02, Florida Statutes.

The bill provides an exception for cemeteries exempt under chapter 497, Florida Statutes, from the criminal penalties in section 872.02, Florida Statutes. The bill also specifies the criteria that an exempt cemetery must meet to relocate the contents of a grave or tomb. If a legally authorized person refuses to sign a contract or objects to the relocation a public hearing must be held before the applicable city council or county commission.

The bill also clarifies elements of the offense of disturbing the contents of a grave or tomb.

The Criminal Justice Impact Conference met on March 2, 2017, and determined that the bill, as originally filed, will insignificantly increase state prison beds. The bill may have a negative fiscal impact on both privately owned exempt cemeteries and county and city owned exempt cemeteries. See Section V. Fiscal Impact Statement.

The bill is effective July 1, 2017.

II. Present Situation:

Cemeteries

A cemetery is a place dedicated to, used, or intended to be used for the permanent interment of human remains or cremated remains. A cemetery can be any combination of one or more of the following structures or places:

- Land or earth interment;
- Mausoleum, vault, or crypt interment; or
- Columbarium, ossuary, scattering garden, or other structure or place used or intended to be used for the interment or disposition of cremated remains.[1]

Chapter 497, F.S., the Florida Funeral, Cemetery, and Consumer Services Act, specifies that the Board of Funeral, Cemetery and Consumer Services (board) oversee the regulation and licensing of cemeteries. Section 497.260, F.S., exempts numerous types of cemeteries from these regulation and licensing requirements. Currently, there are 171 licensed cemeteries[2] and anywhere from 3500-5000 cemeteries exempt from licensing and regulation in Florida.[3]

Exempt cemeteries include:

- Religious institution cemeteries of less than 5 acres, which provide only single-level ground burial;
- County and municipal cemeteries;
- Community and nonprofit association cemeteries, which provide only single-level ground burial and do not sell burial spaces or burial merchandise;
- Cemeteries owned and operated or dedicated by a religious institution prior to June 23, 1976;
- Cemeteries beneficially owned and operated since July 1, 1915, by a fraternal organization or its corporate agent;
- A columbarium consisting of less than one-half acre, which is owned by and immediately contiguous to an existing religious institution facility and is subject to local government zoning;[4]

[4] The religious institution establishing such a columbarium must ensure that the columbarium is perpetually kept and maintained in a manner consistent with ch. 497, F.S. If the religious institution relocates, the religious institution must

- Family cemeteries of less than 2 acres, which do not sell burial spaces or burial merchandise;
- A mausoleum consisting of 2 acres or less, which is owned by and immediately contiguous to an existing religious institution facility and is subject to local government zoning;[5] and
- A columbarium consisting of 5 acres or less which is located on the main campus of a state university.[6]

Disinterment

Disinterment is the removal of a dead human body from earth interment or aboveground interment.[7] The board regulates the disinterment or transportation of human remains.[8] Funeral directors are also required to obtain written consent from a legally authorized person[9] or a court prior to the disinterment or reinterment of a dead human body.[10] A legally authorized person is defined as one of the following, listed in order of priority:

- The decedent, when written inter vivos authorizations and directions are provided by the decedent;
- The person designated by the decedent as authorized to direct disposition as listed on the decedent's United States Department of Defense Record of Emergency Data;
- The surviving spouse, unless the spouse has been arrested for committing an act of domestic violence against the deceased that resulted in or contributed to the death of the deceased;
- A son or daughter who is 18 years of age or older;
- A parent;
- A brother or sister who is 18 years of age or older;
- A grandchild who is 18 years of age or older;
- A grandparent; or
- Any person in the next degree of kinship.

The regulations for disinterment or reinterment or the requirement to obtain written consent prior do not apply to exempt cemeteries.

relocate all of the urns and remains placed in the columbarium, which were placed therein during its use by the religious institution. Section 497.260(1)(f), F.S.

[5] The religious institution establishing such a mausoleum must ensure that the mausoleum is kept and maintained in a manner consistent with ch. 497, F.S., and limit its availability to members of the religious institution. The religious institution establishing such a mausoleum must have been incorporated for at least 25 years and have sufficient funds in an endowment fund to cover the costs of construction of the mausoleum. Section 497.260(1)(h), F.S.

[6] Section 497.260(1), F.S. The university or university direct-support organization, which establishes the columbarium shall ensure that the columbarium is constructed and perpetually kept and maintained in a manner consistent with subsection (2) and ch. 497, F.S. Section 1000.21, F.S., defines a "state university" to include any branch campuses, centers, or other affiliates of the following institutions: The University of Florida, The Florida State University, The Florida Agricultural and Mechanical University, The University of South Florida, The Florida Atlantic University, The University of West Florida, The University of Central Florida, The University of North Florida, The Florida International University, The Florida Gulf Coast University, New College of Florida, The Florida Polytechnic University.

Offenses concerning graves

Section 872.02, F.S., provides criminal penalties for injuring or removing a tomb or monument or disturbing the contents of a grave or tomb. It is a third degree felony[11] for a person to willfully and knowingly destroy, mutilate, deface, injure, or remove any:

- Tomb, monument, gravestone, burial mound, earthen or shell monument containing human skeletal remains or associated burial artifacts, or other structure or thing placed or designed for a memorial of the dead;
- Fence, railing, curb, or other thing intended for the protection or ornamentation of any tomb, monument, gravestone, burial mound, earthen or shell monument containing human skeletal remains or associated burial artifacts, or other structure before mentioned; or
- Enclosure for the burial of the dead, or willfully destroy, mutilate, remove, cut, break, or injure any tree, shrub, or plant placed or being within any such enclosure.[12]

It is a second degree felony[13] if a person willfully and knowing disturbs the contents of a grave or tomb.

The above criminal penalties do not apply to:

- Any person acting under the direction or authority of the Division of Historical Resources of the Department of State;
- Cemeteries operating under ch. 497, F.S.; or
- Any person authorized by law to remove or disturb a tomb.

Cemeteries exempt under ch. 497, F.S., are not exempt from the criminal penalties of s. 872.02, F.S. If a person at an exempt cemetery were to disinter a dead human body at the request of a legally authorized person, he or she could be criminally charged.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill amends s. 872.02, F.S., to provide an exception for cemeteries exempt under ch. 497, F.S., from the newly imposed criminal penalties.

The bill specifies that it a third degree felony if a person willfully and knowingly destroys, mutilates, defaces, injures, or removes any tomb monument, gravestone, burial mound, earthen or shell monument containing human skeletal remains or associated burial artifacts, or other approved structure or approved thing placed or designed for a memorial of the dead.

The bill also provides that anyone preforming routine maintenance and upkeep is exempt from the penalties associated with willfully destroying, mutilating, removing, cutting, breaking, or injuring any tree, shrub, or plant placed or being within any enclosure for the burial of the dead.

[11] A third degree felony is punishable by up to five years imprisonment and a $5,000 fine. Sections 775.082, 775.083, and 775.084, F.S.
[13] A second degree felony is punishable by up to 15 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine. Sections 775.082 and 775.083, F.S.

The bill specifies that the second degree felony offense of disturbing the contents of a grave or tomb includes the conduct of excavation, exposure, movement, and removal of the contents of a grave or tomb.

The bill also allows a cemetery to remove or relocate the contents of a grave or tomb in response to a natural disaster.

An owner, officer, employee or agent of an exempt cemetery are exempt from the above stated criminal penalties and may relocate the contents of a grave or tomb after receiving a written and signed contract between the owner and a legally authorized person.

If a legally authorized person cannot be located after a reasonable search or if 75 years or more have elapsed since the date of entombment, interment, or inurnment, then public notice must be posted. A public notice must be published once a week for four consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation within the county in which the cemetery is located.

The public notice must contain the:
- Name of the cemetery;
- Name, address, and telephone number of the representative of the cemetery with whom written objections may be filed;
- Reason for the relocation of the contents of the grave or tomb;
- Names of the human remains to be relocated;
- Approximate date of the initial entombment, interment or inurnment;
- Proposed site of relocation; and
- Proposed date of relocation, which may not be less than 30 days after the last publication.

If a legally authorized person does not object within 30 days from the last date of publication of the public notice, the cemetery may proceed with the relocation.

If a legally authorized person refuses to sign a contract or objects to the relocation a public hearing must be held before the city council if the cemetery is in a municipality. If the cemetery is not in a municipality the hearing must be held before the appropriate county commission. The city council or county commission has sole authority to grant a request for relocation for the contents of such graves or tombs.

The bill is effective October 1, 2017.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

To the extent that the cities or counties have to hold and participate in hearings or post a public notice this will likely cost the cities and counties money. Article VII, s. 18(b) of the Florida Constitution, provides that except upon the approval of each house of the Legislature by a two-thirds vote of the membership, the Legislature may not enact, amend, or repeal any general law if the anticipated effect of doing so would be to reduce the authority that municipalities or counties have to raise revenue in the aggregate, as such authority existed on February 1, 1989. However, the mandates requirements do not apply to laws having an insignificant impact, which for Fiscal Year 2016-2017 was $2 million or less.[14, 15, 16]

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The bill may have a negative fiscal impact on privately owned exempt cemeteries. The bill requires exempt cemeteries to publicly notice the plan to relocate the contents of a grave or tomb. If the relocation is objected to, a hearing is required. The notice and hearing process could cause privately owned exempt cemeteries to incur costs.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The Criminal Justice Impact Conference met on March 2, 2017, and determined that the bill, as originally filed, will insignificantly increase state prison beds (an increase of 10 or fewer prison beds).

The bill may have a negative fiscal impact on county or city owned exempt cemeteries. The bill requires exempt cemeteries to publicly notice the plan to relocate the contents of a grave or tomb. If the relocation is objected to, a hearing is required. The notice and hearing process and holding the hearings could cause exempt cemeteries owned by cities or counties to incur costs.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

[15] An insignificant fiscal impact is the amount not greater than the average statewide population for the applicable fiscal year times $0.10. See Florida Senate Committee on Community Affairs, Interim Report 2012-115: Insignificant Impact, (Sept. 2011), available at http://www.flsenate.gov/PublishedContent/Session/2012/InterimReports/2012-115ca.pdf (last visited Feb. 13, 2017).

VII. Related Issues:

The bill does not include any criteria for the city councils or county commissions to use in the relocation disputes or any recourse for the councils or commissions to provide if they deny a relocation.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends section 872.02 of the Florida Statutes.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 844 provides an exception for cemeteries exempt under chapter 497, Florida Statutes, from the criminal penalties in section 872.02, Florida Statutes.

Currently, under section 872.02, Florida Statutes, it is a third degree felony to willfully and knowingly damage or remove a tomb, monument, or other specified structure and a second degree felony to willfully and knowingly disturb the contents of a grave or tomb. The penalties do not apply to certain persons, like cemeteries operating under chapter 497, Florida Statutes, (the Florida Funeral, Cemetery, and Consumer Services Act). However, there are cemeteries that are exempt from the regulation and licensing requirements of chapter 497, Florida Statutes, and these cemeteries are not exempt from the criminal penalties of section 872.02, Florida Statutes. Disinterment

Disinterment is the removal of a dead human body from earth interment or aboveground interment.[7] The board regulates the disinterment or transportation of human remains.[8] Funeral directors are also required to obtain written consent from a legally authorized person[9] or a court prior to the disinterment or reinterment of a dead human body.[10] A legally authorized person is defined as one of the following, listed in order of priority:

- The decedent, when written inter vivos authorizations and directions are provided by the decedent;
- The person designated by the decedent as authorized to direct disposition as listed on the decedent's United States Department of Defense Record of Emergency Data;
- The surviving spouse, unless the spouse has been arrested for committing an act of domestic violence against the deceased that resulted in or contributed to the death of the deceased;

- A parent;
- A brother or sister who is 18 years of age or older;
- A grandchild who is 18 years of age or older;

Offenses concerning graves

Section 872.02, F.S., provides criminal penalties for injuring or removing a tomb or monument or disturbing the contents of a grave or tomb. It is a third degree felony[11] for a person to willfully and knowingly destroy, mutilate, deface, injure, or remove any:

- Tomb, monument, gravestone, burial mound, earthen or shell monument containing human skeletal remains or associated burial artifacts, or other structure or thing placed or designed for a memorial of the dead;
- Fence, railing, curb, or other thing intended for the protection or ornamentation of any tomb, monument, gravestone, burial mound, earthen or shell monument containing human skeletal remains or associated burial artifacts, or other structure before mentioned; or
- Enclosure for the burial of the dead, or willfully destroy, mutilate, remove, cut, break, or injure any tree, shrub, or plant placed or being within any such enclosure.[12]

It is a second degree felony[13] if a person willfully and knowing disturbs the contents of a grave or tomb.

The above criminal penalties do not apply to:

- Any person acting under the direction or authority of the Division of Historical Resources of the Department of State;
- Cemeteries operating under ch. 497, F.S.; or
- Any person authorized by law to remove or disturb a tomb.

Cemeteries exempt under ch. 497, F.S., are not exempt from the criminal penalties of s. 872.02, F.S. If a person at an exempt cemetery were to disinter a dead human body at the request of a legally authorized person, he or she could be criminally charged.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill amends s. 872.02, F.S., to provide an exception for cemeteries exempt under ch. 497, F.S., from the newly imposed criminal penalties.

The bill specifies that it a third degree felony if a person willfully and knowingly destroys, mutilates, defaces, injures, or removes any tomb monument, gravestone, burial mound, earthen or shell monument containing human skeletal remains or associated burial artifacts, or other approved structure or approved thing placed or designed for a memorial of the dead.

The bill also provides that anyone preforming routine maintenance and upkeep is exempt from the penalties associated with willfully destroying, mutilating, removing, cutting, breaking, or injuring any tree, shrub, or plant placed or being within any enclosure for the burial of the dead.

[11] A third degree felony is punishable by up to five years imprisonment and a $5,000 fine. Sections 775.082, 775.083, and 775.084, F.S.
[13] A second degree felony is punishable by up to 15 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine. Sections 775.082 and 775.083, F.S.

The bill specifies that the second degree felony offense of disturbing the contents of a grave or tomb includes the conduct of excavation, exposure, movement, and removal of the contents of a grave or tomb.

The bill also allows a cemetery to remove or relocate the contents of a grave or tomb in response to a natural disaster.

An owner, officer, employee or agent of an exempt cemetery are exempt from the above stated criminal penalties and may relocate the contents of a grave or tomb after receiving a written and signed contract between the owner and a legally authorized person.

If a legally authorized person cannot be located after a reasonable search or if 75 years or more have elapsed since the date of entombment, interment, or inurnment, then public notice must be posted. A public notice must be published once a week for four consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation within the county in which the cemetery is located.

The public notice must contain the:
- Name of the cemetery;
- Name, address, and telephone number of the representative of the cemetery with whom written objections may be filed;
- Reason for the relocation of the contents of the grave or tomb;
- Names of the human remains to be relocated;
- Approximate date of the initial entombment, interment or inurnment;
- Proposed site of relocation; and
- Proposed date of relocation, which may not be less than 30 days after the last publication.

If a legally authorized person does not object within 30 days from the last date of publication of the public notice, the cemetery may proceed with the relocation.

If a legally authorized person refuses to sign a contract or objects to the relocation a public hearing must be held before the city council if the cemetery is in a municipality. If the cemetery is not in a municipality the hearing must be held before the appropriate county commission. The city council or county commission has sole authority to grant a request for relocation for the contents of such graves or tombs.

The bill is effective October 1, 2017.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

To the extent that the cities or counties have to hold and participate in hearings or post a public notice this will likely cost the cities and counties money. Article VII, s. 18(b) of the Florida Constitution, provides that except upon the approval of each house of the Legislature by a two-thirds vote of the membership, the Legislature may not enact, amend, or repeal any general law if the anticipated effect of doing so would be to reduce the authority that municipalities or counties have to raise revenue in the aggregate, as such authority existed on February 1, 1989. However, the mandates requirements do not apply to laws having an insignificant impact, which for Fiscal Year 2016-2017 was $2 million or less.[14, 15, 16]

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The bill may have a negative fiscal impact on privately owned exempt cemeteries. The bill requires exempt cemeteries to publicly notice the plan to relocate the contents of a grave or tomb. If the relocation is objected to, a hearing is required. The notice and hearing process could cause privately owned exempt cemeteries to incur costs.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The Criminal Justice Impact Conference met on March 2, 2017, and determined that the bill, as originally filed, will insignificantly increase state prison beds (an increase of 10 or fewer prison beds).

The bill may have a negative fiscal impact on county or city owned exempt cemeteries. The bill requires exempt cemeteries to publicly notice the plan to relocate the contents of a grave or tomb. If the relocation is objected to, a hearing is required. The notice and hearing process and holding the hearings could cause exempt cemeteries owned by cities or counties to incur costs.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

The bill does not include any criteria for the city councils or county commissions to use in the relocation disputes or any recourse for the councils or commissions to provide if they deny a relocation.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends section 872.02 of the Florida Statutes.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

SB 892 allows the court to impose a sentence as a youthful offender if a person committed a felony before they turned 21 years of age. Current law requires the person be under 21 at the time of sentencing.

The Criminal Justice Impact Conference (CJIC) has not determined the impact of the bill. However, the Criminal Justice Impact Conference (CJIC) has completed a preliminary estimate on the impact of the bill and has concluded that it will have no impact on state prison beds.

The bill is effective July 1, 2017.

II. Present Situation:

Florida provides an alternative sentencing scheme for certain youthful offenders convicted of a felony. A court may impose a sentence as a youthful offender in circuit court if the person:

- Was found guilty of, or plead nolo contendere or guilty to a felony that is not a capital or life felony;
- Is younger than 21 years of age at the time the sentence is imposed; and
- Has not previously been sentenced as a youthful offender.[1]

If a court chooses to sentence a person as a youthful offender, it must sentence the youthful offender to any combination of the following penalties:

- Place the youthful offender on probation or in a community control program for no more than 6 years. Under this sentencing option, the court can choose to withhold adjudication of guilt or impose adjudication of guilt.[2]
- Incarcerate the youthful offender for no more than a year. The incarceration must take place in a specified facility and is a condition of probation or community control.
- Incarcerate the youthful offender for a specified period followed by a term of probation or community control. If the incarceration is in specified Department of Corrections (DOC) facilities it cannot be for less than 1 year or longer than 4 years. The period of incarceration and probation or community control cannot exceed 6 years.
- Incarcerate the youthful offender for no more than 6 years.[3]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill allows the court to impose a sentence as a youthful offender if a person committed a felony before they turned 21 years of age. Current law requires the person be under 21 at the time of sentencing.

A larger group of people will now be eligible for a youthful offender sentence.

The bill reenacts ss. 950.04(5), 958.045(8)(a), and 985.565, F.S., to incorporate changes made by the bill.

The bill is effective July 1, 2017.

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

[3] Any of these sentencing combinations cannot exceed the maximum sentence for the offence for which the youthful offender was found guilty. If a youthful offender is sentenced to a period of incarceration, the court must adjudicate the youthful offender guilty. Section 958.04(2), F.S.

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to youthful offenders; amending s. 958.04, F.S.; revising the criteria allowing a court to sentence as a youthful offender a person who is found guilty of, or who pled nolo contendere or guilty to, committing a felony before the person turned 21 years of age; reenacting ss. 958.03(5), 958.045(8)(a), and 985.565(4)(c), F.S., relating to the definition of "youthful offender," the youthful offender basic training program, and classification as a youth offender, respectively, to incorporate the amendment made to s. 958.04, F.S., in references thereto; providing an effective date.

9-00516-17 2017892__

~~sentence is imposed~~; and

(c) Who has not previously been classified as a youthful offender under the provisions of this act; however, a person who has been found guilty of a capital or life felony may not be sentenced as a youthful offender under this act.

Section 2. For the purpose of incorporating the amendment made by this act to section 958.04, Florida Statutes, in a reference thereto, subsection (5) of section 958.03, Florida Statutes, is reenacted to read:

958.03 Definitions.—As used in this act:

(5) "Youthful offender" means any person who is sentenced as such by the court or is classified as such by the department pursuant to s. 958.04.

Section 3. For the purpose of incorporating the amendment made by this act to section 958.04, Florida Statutes, in a reference thereto, paragraph (a) of subsection (8) of section 958.045, Florida Statutes, is reenacted to read:

The department shall schedule a hearing within 30 days. Upon hearing, the court may revoke the previous adjudication, impose an adjudication of guilt, and impose any sentence which it may lawfully impose, giving credit for all time spent by the child in the department. The court may also classify the child as a youthful offender under s. 958.04, if appropriate. For purposes of this paragraph, a child may be found not suitable to a commitment program, community control program, or treatment program under paragraph (b) if the child commits a new violation of law while under juvenile sanctions, if the child commits any other violation of the conditions of juvenile sanctions, or if the child's actions are otherwise determined by the court to demonstrate a failure of juvenile sanctions.

It is the intent of the Legislature that the criteria and guidelines in this subsection are mandatory and that a determination of disposition under this subsection is subject to the right of the child to appellate review under s. 985.534.

I. Summary:

SB 894 creates procedures to help state prisoners serve out sentences for violations of probation or community control while in prison for other crimes.[1] If a prisoner has an unserved warrant for arrest issued by another county for a violation of probation, the bill allows the prisoner to petition for a status hearing, where a state attorney informs the circuit court whether the prisoner does in fact have an unserved warrant for the violation.

If the prisoner has an unserved warrant, the bill provides that the court must order the state attorney to submit an order to send the prisoner to the issuing county's jail. The order must then be sent from the court to the local county sheriff to execute the prisoner's transport to the county that issued the probation warrant.

The bill has an indeterminate impact on state and local expenditures but will likely reduce local costs associated with intercounty prisoner transportation.

The bill has an effective date of July 1, 2017.

II. Present Situation:

Sometimes a prisoner's arrest or imprisonment in one county also violates his probation in another county. The Department of Corrections estimates that, at any given time, approximately 20 state prisoners have unserved probation warrants.[2]

It is difficult for prisoners in this situation to serve their time for violating probation concurrently with their existing sentences, because their probation warrants have not been served. A state

[1] "Probation" should be read to mean "probation and/or community control" for the remainder of this analysis, as the two mechanisms are treated the same by the caselaw, the existing Florida Statutes, and this bill.

prisoner has no right to force a hearing on a probation violation.[3] Florida appellate courts have held that a probationer is only entitled to a hearing on a violation after he or she has been arrested and returned to the county alleging the violation.[4]

When a prisoner's arrest in one county violates his or her probation in another county, the latter county may file a detainer. A detainer instructs the holding county to either (a) hold the prisoner for the county filing the detainer, or (b) inform the county filing the detainer when the prisoner is about to be released.[5]

The Florida Supreme Court has ruled that a detainer generally does not result in accrual of time served for the probation violation because a detainer is not the same as an arrest warrant.[6] As a result, a prisoner can leave prison in one county, then be arrested for violating his or her probation in another county.

The Second District Court of Appeal has ruled that a trial court has no duty to conduct hearings on warrants for probation violations, especially when the defendant is not imprisoned in the same county as the court.[7]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Probation

The bill creates new procedures to be used by a prisoner who has an unserved warrant for arrest due to a probation violation. Such a prisoner may file a notice of an unserved warrant in the circuit court for the county that he or she claims issued the probation warrant.[8] The prisoner must notify the state attorney in the county that issued the warrant, and the state attorney must then schedule a "status hearing" regarding the prisoner within 90 days. The status hearing is attended only by the state attorney and the judge; the prisoner may not be transported to the hearing.

During the hearing, the state attorney informs the judge whether the prisoner has an unserved warrant for a probation violation. If there is such a warrant, the judge must order the state attorney to submit a transport order for the prisoner within 30 days. The transport order concerns the transportation of the prisoner from the holding county to the county that issued the probation warrant; the order is to be carried out by the sheriff of the county that issued the warrant.

The intent of the new procedures is to resolve unserved warrants prior to a prisoner's release, which obviates the need to transport the prisoner to the county that issued the warrant. In some cases, the state attorney may have no interest in acting on the warrant and this new process provides an opportunity for the state attorney to have the warrant dismissed. According to the Department of Corrections, the new procedures will permit the prisoners who have their warrants dismissed to participate in transitional and reintegration programs, which may improve offender post-release outcomes.[9]

Effective Date

The bill is effective July 1, 2017.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

This bill is not affect by the restrictions in the State Constitution which limit the Legislature's authority to impose mandates on counties and municipalities because the bill relates to criminal laws.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. Other Constitutional Issues:

There is no provision for the prisoner or his counsel to attend the status hearing. However, the bill does not close the hearing.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The bill may get prisoners back into the workforce more efficiently. Many transitional programs are not open to prisoners with open warrants, so resolving the warrants may help these prisoners re-integrate into society.[10]

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill's fiscal impact to the state and counties is indeterminate but will likely reduce state and local costs. The bill will decrease the number of unserved warrants thereby reducing the number of instances in which a county must hold and then transport an offender who has completed a prison sentence to another county to resolve a warrant. This will likely reduce a county's prisoner transportation costs.

While the bill's provision requiring status hearings will marginally increase the workloads of state courts and state attorneys, it is anticipated that there will be fewer unserved warrants for state attorneys to address when inmates complete their sentences.

I. Summary:

SB 1050 establishes a memory disorder clinic at Florida Hospital in Orange County.

This bill does not impact state revenues or expenditures

The bill is effective July 1, 2017.

II. Present Situation:

Alzheimer's Disease

Alzheimer's disease is a degenerative brain disease and the most common cause of dementia.[1] It accounts for 60 to 80 percent of dementia cases.[2] An estimated 5.5 million Americans are living with the disease in 2017, including 1 in 10 people aged 65 and older. For Florida, the number is estimated to be 520,000 for 2017 and it is projected to grow to 720,000 by 2025, a growth rate of 38.5 percent.[3]

Dementia is a syndrome of the disease and is actually a group of symptoms that has a number of causes that include difficulties with memory, language, problem-solving, and other cognitive skills that affect a person's ability to perform everyday activities.[4] In Alzheimer's patients, these difficulties occur because of brain abnormalities. The nerve cells or neurons that are involved with cognitive brain function have been damaged or destroyed causing a loss of connection among brain cells.[5] Eventually, those with Alzheimer's disease become bed bound and require around the clock care. The disease is fatal and there is currently no cure.

The brains of individuals with Alzheimer's show inflammation, dramatic shrinkage from cell loss, and widespread debris from dead and dying neurons.[6] Other changes associated with Alzheimer's and other dementias include:

- Memory loss that disrupts daily life;
- Challenges in planning or solving problems;
- Difficulty completing familiar tasks;
- Confusion with time or place;
- Trouble understanding visual images and spatial relationships;
- New problems with words in speaking or writing;
- Misplacing things and losing the ability to retrace steps;
- Decreased or poor judgement;
- Withdrawal from work or social activities; or
- Change in mood and personality.[7]

For those living with Alzheimer's, management of the disease can lead to an improved quality of life. Active management of the disease may include:

- Appropriate use of available treatment options;
- Effective management of coexisting conditions;
- Coordination of care among physicians, other health care providers and lay caregivers;
- Participation in activities that are meaningful and bring purpose to one's life; and
- Have opportunities to connect with others living with dementia; support groups and supportive services.[8]

Florida Alzheimer's Disease Initiatives

Florida's Alzheimer's Disease Initiative (ADI) was created by the 1985 Legislature to meet the changing needs of individuals with Alzheimer's and similar memory disorders and their families. The Florida Department of Elder Affairs (department) coordinates and develops policy in conjunction with a 10-member advisory committee appointed by the Governor for the initiative. The program includes four components:

- Supportive services which include counseling, consumable medical supplies, and respite caregiver relief;
- Memory Disorder Clinics that provide diagnosis, research, treatment, education, and referrals;
- Model day care programs to test new care alternatives; and
- A brain bank to support research.[9]

The ADI includes in-home, facility-based (usually at adult day care centers), emergency, and extended care (up to 30 days) for caregivers who serve patients with memory disorders.[10] During FY 2014-2015, 2,652 individuals received respite and support services, including case management, specialized medical equipment, services, and supplies, and caregiver counseling, support groups, and training.[11]

The 2016-2017 General Appropriations Act includes $22,139,517 from the General Revenue Fund for the ADI services.[12] The appropriated funds are allocated to each of the Area Agencies on Aging to fund providers of model day care and respite care programs based on each county's population age 75 and older and probable number of Alzheimer's cases. Additional Alzheimer disease services are administered through contracts with designated Memory Disorder Clinics and the Florida Brain Banks. Remaining funds are allocated to local funding initiatives based on legislative direction in the General Appropriations Act.[13]

Participants in the ADI program are assessed co-payments and other partial payment amounts based on their ability pay and in accordance with Rule 58C-1.007, F.A.C. The co-pay schedule is set on a sliding scale, not to exceed 3 percent of an individual's monthly income in 2016.[14] Provider agencies are responsible for the collection of fees for ADI services and report their collections annually to the department.[15]

Respite for Caregiver Relief

Respite care programs for caregivers are established in all 67 of Florida's counties.[16] Many Alzheimer's patients require around the clock care, especially in the late stages of the disease. Caregivers may also receive supportive services such as training and support groups, counseling, consumable medical supplies, and nutritional supplements.

Memory Disorder Clinics

There are 15 state-funded Memory Disorder Clinics in the state of Florida that provide comprehensive assessments, diagnostic services, and treatment to individuals who show signs of Alzheimer's disease and related memory disorders. The Memory Disorder Clinics are also required to conduct specific research in coordination with the department. The clinics are established at medical schools, teaching hospitals, and public and private, not-for-profit hospitals.[17] From July 1, 2015 through June 30, 2016, the Memory Disorder Clinics completed

9,810 medical memory evaluations, saw 4,745 new patients, with 16,569 office visits made by patients and their caregivers.[18] Over 7,000 family caregivers also received educational training from the clinics on how to care for a loved one with dementia during this same time period.[19] For the 2016-2017 state fiscal year, the clinics used $3,464,683 in state funding to serve almost 7,000 unduplicated clients.[20]

The law currently provides that memory disorder clinics funded as of June 30, 1995, shall not receive decreased funding due solely to subsequent additions of memory disorder clinics. As of June 30, 1995, the following clinics were included in the statute:
A memory disorder at each of the three medical schools in the state;
A memory disorder clinic at a major non-profit research-oriented teaching hospital, and may fund a memory disorder clinic at any of the other affiliated teaching hospitals;

- A memory disorder clinic at the Mayo clinic in Jacksonville;
- A memory disorder clinic at the West Florida Regional Medical Center;
- The Central Florida Memory Disorder Clinic at the Joint Center for Advanced Therapeutics and Biomedical Research at the Florida Institute of Technology and Holmes Regional Medical Center, Inc.; and
- A memory disorder clinic located at a public hospital that is operated by an independent special hospital taxing district that governs multiple hospitals and is located in a county with a population greater than 800,000.[21]

Florida Hospital in Central Florida opened a self-funded memory disorder program in 2012. The Florida Hospital Maturing Minds Clinic serves patients with Alzheimer's disease and related disorders in Orange, Seminole, and Osceola counties. It is estimated that 30,000 people with Alzheimer's disease live in these three counties.[22] The clinic conducts over 360 new patient memory loss evaluations each year and provides services and referrals to other local organizations.[23] The clinic does not plan to request state funding at this time, but will seek national and local grants and the state designation will assist the clinic in that process, according to local representatives.[24] functioning. Model day care programs have been established in Gainesville, Tampa, and Miami.[25]

Florida Brain Bank

The Florida Brain Bank was created in 1987, is administered by Mount Sinai Medical Center, and facilitated by an additional four regional centers. The Florida Brain Bank conducts research related to Alzheimer's disease and other degenerative disorders of the brain. Participants elect to "bank" their brain making the patient's brain tissue available to researchers upon the patient's death.[26] Upon the patient's death, a final pathology report would also be made available to the patient's family and physicians. Currently, the only way to get an accurate diagnosis of Alzheimer's disease or related dementia disorders is a brain autopsy at the time of death.[27] The Brain Bank's 2016-2017 State General Revenue appropriation was $117,535 and the bank registered 87 individuals and conducted 79 autopsies during that fiscal year.[28]

The Alzheimer's Disease Advisory Committee is statutorily created under s. 430.501(2), F.S., and includes 10 members appointed by the Governor. The members advise the department on legislative, programmatic, and administrative matters that relate to individuals with Alzheimer's disease and their caregivers. Members serve 4-year, staggered terms and select one of its own members to serve as chair of the committee for a 1 year term.[29]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 republishes and amends s. 430.502, F.S., relating to the establishment of the Alzheimer Disease Initiative program's memory disorder clinics and adds a memory disorder clinic at Florida Hospital in Orange County. The memory disorder clinics conduct research and training in a diagnostic and therapeutic setting for persons suffering from Alzheimer's disease and related memory disorders.

Current statute provides that any memory disorder clinic funded as of June 30, 1995, shall not receive decreased funding due solely to the subsequent additions of memory disorder clinics. The addition of Florida Hospital in Orange County makes 16 total memory disorder clinics created under the statute, of which at least seven have been added since June 30, 2015.

Section 2 reenacts s. 1004.445, F.S., relating to the Johnnie S. Byrd, Sr., Alzheimer Center and Research Institute, for the purpose of incorporating the amendment made to the underlying act, s. 430.502, F.S.

Section 3 provides an effective date of July 1, 2017.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Technical Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 1458 removes the scheduled repeal date for the Blind Services Foundation of Florida, Inc., which serves as a direct-support organization for the Division of Blind Services.

The bill has no impact on state revenues or expenditures.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2017.

II. Present Situation:

Citizen-Support Organizations and Direct-Support Organizations

Citizen-support organizations (CSOs) and direct-support organizations (DSOs) are statutorily created non-profit organizations[1] authorized to carry out specific tasks in support of public entities or public causes. The function and purpose of a CSO or DSO are prescribed by an enacting statute and a written contract with the agency the CSO or DSO supports. [2]

CSO and DSO Transparency and Reporting Requirements

In 2014, the Legislature created s. 20.058, F.S., establishing a comprehensive set of transparency and reporting requirements for CSOs and DSOs.[3] Specifically, the law requires each CSO and DSO to annually submit the following information to the appropriate agency by August 1:[4]

- The name, mailing address, telephone number, and website address of the organization;
- The statutory authority or executive order that created the organization;
- A brief description of the mission of, and results obtained by, the organization;
- A brief description of the organization's plans for the next three fiscal years;
- A copy of the organization's code of ethics; and
- A copy of the organization's most recent Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Form 990.[5]

Each agency receiving information from a CSO or DSO pursuant to law must make such information available to the public through the agency's website.[6] If the organization maintains a website, the agency's website must provide a link to the organization's website.[7] Any contract between an agency and a CSO or DSO must be contingent upon the CSO or DSO submitting and posting the required information to the agency as specified in law.[8] If a CSO or DSO fails to submit the required information to the agency for two consecutive years, the agency head must terminate any contract between the agency and the CSO or DSO.[9]

By August 15 of each year, the agency must report to the Governor, President of the Senate, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Office of Program Policy Analysis and Government Accountability the information submitted by each CSO or DSO along with the agency's recommendation and supporting rationale to continue, terminate, or modify the agency's association with the CSO or DSO.[10]

Any law creating, or authorizing the creation of a CSO or DSO must state that the authorization for the organization repeals on October 1 of the 5th year after enactment unless reviewed and reenacted by the Legislature. CSOs and DSOs in existence prior to July 1, 2014, must be reviewed by the Legislature by July 1, 2019.[11]

CSO and DSO Audit Requirements

Section 215.981, F.S., requires each CSO and DSO with annual expenditures in excess of $100,000 to provide for an annual financial audit of its accounts and records.[12] The audit must be conducted by an independent certified public accountant in accordance with rules adopted by the

Additionally, the expenditure threshold for an independent audit is $300,000 for a CSO or DSO for the Department of Environmental Protection and the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services.

Auditor General. The audit report must be submitted within nine months after the end of the fiscal year to the Auditor General and to the state agency the CSO or DSO supports.[13] Additionally, the Auditor General may, pursuant to his or her own authority, or at the direction of the Legislative Auditing Committee, conduct audits or other engagements of a CSO's or DSO's accounts and records.[14]

CSO and DSO Ethics Code Requirement

Section 112.3251, F.S., requires a CSO or DSO to adopt a code of ethics. The code of ethics must contain the specified standards of conduct and disclosures provided in ss. 112.313 and 112.3143(2), F.S.[15] A CSO or DSO may adopt additional or more stringent standards of conduct and disclosure requirements and must post its code of ethics on its website.[16]

The Division of Blind Services

The Division of Blind Services (DBS) is one of several divisions housed within the Department of Education (DOE).[17] The DBS must be designed for the purpose of ensuring the greatest possible efficiency and effectiveness of services to individuals who are blind.[18] It is the intent of the Legislature to establish a coordinated program of services which are available to such individuals throughout Florida.[19] The program must be designed to maximize employment opportunities for individuals who are blind and to increase their independence and self-sufficiency.[20]

Direct-Support Organization for the Division of Blind Services

In 2004, the Legislature authorized the DBS to organize and incorporate a direct-support organization for the benefit of blind persons by raising funds; requesting and receiving grants, gifts, and bequests of moneys; and making expenditures.[21]

The DBS has established the Blind Services Foundation of Florida, Inc. (Blind Services Foundation) as its direct-support organization. The Blind Services Foundation has eight board members who are self-appointed according to the established bylaws[22] and one ex-officio board member who also serves as the director of the DBS.[23]

The purposes and objectives of the Blind Services Foundation must be consistent with the priority issues and objectives of the DOE and must be in the best interests of the state.[24] Funds designated for the DSO must be used for the enhancement of programs and projects of the DBS.[25]

The DSO is scheduled to repeal on October 1, 2017. If repealed, the Blind Services Foundation will no longer exist statutorily, and the DBS will no longer have the statutory authority to organize and incorporate a direct-support organization.[26] Upon dissolution of the Blind Services Foundation, all Blind Services Foundation properties revert to the DBS.[27]

According to the DBS, repeal of the Blind Services Foundation may impact certain initiatives including, but not limited to, the following:

- Providing additional funding for children's services, education projects, public education and awareness, and the establishment of an endowment for blind students at Miami-Dade College.[28]
- Creating a series of informational and demonstrative sessions that highlight the capabilities of people who are blind.[29] This initiative gives personal accounts and demonstrates employment, personal, and socially geared technology that allows blind people to be included and functional in Florida.[30] This initiative has been presented to public schools, the Department of Education employees, a variety of colleges, and at other appropriate venues throughout the state.[31]

Additionally, twenty percent of the proceeds from the sale of the "Bikers Care" specialty motorcycle tag is distributed to the Blind Services Foundation.[32]

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/CS/SB 1552 establishes the Florida Best and Brightest Teacher and Principal Scholar Award Program (Award Program) to recognize the contributions of teachers and principals to student success and performance outcomes and provides criteria for the Award Program.

The bill also revises school improvement and accountability measures that apply to public schools, including charter schools, in order improve struggling and low-performing schools. Specifically, the bill:

- Requires school districts to develop a school improvement plan for each school in the district with a school grade of "D" or "F."
- Expands the grade levels, indicators, and interventions addressed in a school district's early warning system to support student academic performance and engagement.
- Specifies educational emergency conditions under which a school district may negotiate provisions of its contract with appropriate bargaining units, which must result in a memorandum of understanding regarding personnel decisions.
- Clarifies conditions and establishes definitions that apply to schools subject to differentiated accountability.
- Accelerates, by at least one school year, the timing and implementation of turnaround options specified in law.

- Revises the options and requirements applied to turnaround traditional public schools and turnaround charter schools.

Funding for the Florida Best and Brightest Teacher and Principal Scholar Award Program is contingent upon an appropriation in the General Appropriations Act. SB 2500, the Senate General Appropriations Act, does not provide an appropriation for the program.

The bill takes effect on July 1, 2017.

II. Present Situation:

The present situation for the relevant portions of the bill is discussed in the Effect of Proposed Changes section of the bill analysis.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Florida Best and Brightest Teacher and Principal Scholar Award Program (Section 6)

Present Situation

The Florida Best and Brightest Teacher Scholarship Program provides categorical funding for scholarships to be awarded to classroom teachers[1] who have demonstrated a high level of academic achievement.[2]

To be eligible for a scholarship, a classroom teacher must have:[3]

- Achieved a composite score at or above the 80th percentile on either the SAT or the ACT based on the National Percentile Ranks[4] in effect when the classroom teacher took the assessment.
- An evaluation of highly effective[5] in the school year immediately preceding the year in which the scholarship will be awarded, unless the classroom teacher is newly hired by the district school board and has not been evaluated.

[1] A classroom teacher is defined as a staff member assigned the professional activity of instructing students in courses in classroom situations, including basic instruction, exceptional student education, career education, and adult education, including substitute teachers. Includes classroom teachers in school districts, the Florida School for the Deaf and the Blind, and charter schools. Section 1012.731(7), F.S.
[4] Percentile ranks represent the percentage of students who score equal to or below the score the student obtained.
[5] Instructional personnel are assigned among four levels of performance, as "highly effective," "effective," "needs improvement" (or "developing" for instructional personnel in the first three years of employment), or "unsatisfactory." Section 1012.34(2)(e), F.S. All instructional personnel and school administrators employed by Florida's public school districts must undergo an annual performance evaluation based on sound educational principles and contemporary research in effective educational practices. Evaluations occur annually, except that newly hired classroom teachers are evaluated twice in their first year of teaching in a school district. Section 1012.34(3)(a), F.S. The evaluation criteria for instructional personnel include student performance, instructional practice, and professional and job responsibilities. Section 1012.34(3)(a)1., 2., and 4., F.S. School administrator evaluation criteria include instructional leadership. Section 1012.34(3)(a)3., F.S. Likewise, the evaluation criteria for school administrators include student performance and professional and job responsibilities.

The schedule for the scholarship award is:

- No later than November 1, an eligible classroom teacher must submit to the school district an official record of his or her SAT or ACT score demonstrating a score at or above the 80th percentile based on the National Percentile Ranks in effect when the teacher took the assessment.[6]
- Annually, by December 1, each school district must submit to the Department of Education (DOE) the number of eligible classroom teachers who qualify for the scholarship.
- Annually, by February 1, the DOE must disburse scholarship funds to each school district for each eligible classroom teacher to receive a scholarship as provided in the General Appropriations Act. A scholarship in the amount provided in the General Appropriations Act must be awarded to every eligible classroom teacher. If the number of eligible classroom teachers exceeds the total appropriation authorized in the General Appropriations Act, the department must prorate the per-teacher scholarship amount.[7]
- Annually, by April 1, each school district must award the scholarship to each eligible classroom teacher.

The current statute is scheduled to expire on July 1, 2017.[8]

For the 2016-2017 fiscal year, the Legislature appropriated $49 million for the Florida Best and Brightest Teacher Scholarship Program.[9] According to proviso in the 2016 General Appropriations Act, the scholarship award may be up to $10,000 to every eligible classroom teacher.[10]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 6 establishes the Florida Best and Brightest Teacher and Principal Scholar Award Program (Award Program) to recognize the contributions of teachers and principals to student success and performance outcomes. The bill provides eligibility criteria:

- For a full-time classroom teacher and a full-time school administrator to qualify for the Award Program scholarship; and
- For a newly hired full-time classroom teacher and full-time school administrator to qualify for a one-time hiring bonus.

Specifically, section 6 requires that to qualify for the Award Program a teacher or an administrator must:

- Be employed on an annual contract or probationary contract;

Section 1012.34(3)(a)1. and 4, F.S. Instructional leadership practices are also included in school administrator evaluations. Section 1012.34(3)(a)3., F.S.

[6] Once a classroom teacher is deemed eligible by the school district, the teacher remains eligible as long as he or she remains employed by the school district as a classroom teacher at the time of the award and receives an annual performance evaluation rating of highly effective. Section 1012.731(3)(b), F.S.

This would equate to a prorated award of $6,817 per eligible teacher.

- Participate in the school district's performance salary schedule;
- Meet one of the achievement requirements specified in the bill; and
- Meet one of the performance requirements specified in the bill, which include:
  - For existing teachers and administrators, a "highly effective" rating or commitment to working in a low-performing school for 3 years and a "highly effective" rating for 2 out of 3 years.
  - For newly hired teachers and administrators, graduation from or completion of a specified undergraduate program with a 3.0 grade point average, and commitment to working for three years in a Florida public school or critical teacher shortage area.

Eligibility Requirements and Awards for Existing Teachers and School Administrators

Section 6 provides that, to receive an Award Program scholarship, a full-time classroom teacher or full-time administrator must:

- Be employed on an annual contract or probationary contract[11] and participate in the school district's performance salary schedule.[12]
- Meet one of the following achievement requirements:
  - For a classroom teacher, a score at or above the 90th percentile on the Florida Teacher Certification Examination in a subject that he or she is teaching.
  - For a school administrator, a score at or above the 90th percentile on the Florida Educational Leadership Examination.
  - For a classroom teacher or school administrator, a composite score at or above the 80th percentile on either the SAT or the ACT based on the National Percentile Ranks in effect when the classroom teacher or school administrator took the assessment.
  - For a classroom teacher or school administrator, a composite score on the GRE, LSAT, GMAT, or MCAT at or above a score adopted by the State Board of Education (SBE).[13]
  - For a classroom teacher or school administrator, a cumulative undergraduate or graduate grade point average of at least 3.5 on a 4.0 scale, as verified on the teacher's or administrator's official final college transcript.

Eligibility Requirements and Awards for Newly Hired Teachers and School Administrators

Section 6 creates a separate eligibility category for newly hired classroom teachers and school administrators. A newly hired teacher and school administrator, who has not been evaluated, is not eligible for the Award Program scholarship but may receive a one-time hiring bonus of up to $10,000 if he or she:

- Is employed on an annual contract or probationary contract[15] and participates in the school district's performance salary schedule.[16]
- Meets one of the following achievement requirements:
  - For a classroom teacher, a score at or above the 90th percentile on the Florida Teacher Certification Examination in a subject that he or she is teaching.
  - For a school administrator, a score at or above the 90th percentile on the Florida Educational Leadership Examination.
  - For a classroom teacher or school administrator, a composite score at or above the 80th percentile on either the SAT or the ACT based on the National Percentile Ranks in effect when the classroom teacher or school administrator took the assessment.
  - For a classroom teacher or school administrator, a composite score on the GRE, LSAT, GMAT, or MCAT at or above a score adopted by the SBE.[17]
  - For a classroom teacher or school administrator, a cumulative undergraduate or graduate grade point average of at least 3.5 on a 4.0 scale, as verified on the teacher's or administrator's official final college transcript.
- Meets one of the following performance requirements:
  - Recipient of the Florida Prepaid Tuition Scholarship Program[18] who graduated with a minimum 3.0 grade point average and commit, pursuant to SBE rule, to working in a Florida public school for at least 3 years.
  - Completed the college reach-out program[19] and graduated with a minimum 3.0 grade point average, and commit, pursuant to SBE rule, to working in a Florida public school for at least 3 years.
  - Graduate from an approved Florida teacher preparation program[20] at a Florida college or university, with a minimum 3.0 grade point average, and commit, pursuant to SBE rule, to working in a critical teacher shortage area[21] at a Florida public school for at least 3 years.

In subsequent school years, a newly hired classroom teacher or school administrator may earn a scholarship award if he or she meets the eligibility requirements for an existing teacher or administrator and maintains his or her initial commitment.

Prioritization of Awards

Section 6 requires that a scholarship in the amount provided in the General Appropriations Act (GAA) be awarded to every eligible classroom teacher and administrator. If the number of eligible classroom teachers and school administrators exceeds the total appropriation authorized in the GAA, the bill requires the department to prorate the per-scholar scholarship award amount, except that prior to the distribution of funds, the following priorities apply:

- Classroom teachers and school administrators who commit, pursuant to SBE rule, to working in a low-performing school and meet the specified eligibility criteria, must receive an award equal to a full scholarship award amount.
- Newly hired classroom teachers and school administrators who commit, pursuant to SBE rule, to working in a Florida public school and specified eligibility criteria must receive a one-time hiring bonus of up to $10,000.

Award Program Implementation

Similar to the current Florida Best and Brightest Teacher Scholarship Program, section 6 establishes the following schedule:

- By November 1, an eligible classroom teacher or school administrator must submit an official record of his or her achievement of the specified eligibility criteria. After a classroom teacher or school administrator is deemed eligible by the school district, including a teacher deemed eligible for the Florida Best and Brightest Teacher Scholarship Program in fiscal years 2015-2016 and 2016-2017, such classroom teacher or school administrator remains eligible as long as he or she maintains employment by the school district and meets other specified requirements.
- Annually, by December 1, each school district must submit to the Department of Education (DOE) the number of classroom teachers or school administrators who qualify for the scholarship.
- Annually, by February 1, the DOE must distribute scholarship funds to each school district.
- Annually, by April 1, each school district must distribute the scholarship awards to eligible classroom teachers and school administrators.

Section 6 requires the SBE to expeditiously adopt rules to implement the Award Program.

Section 6 may assist with recruiting and retaining qualified classroom teachers and school administrators in Florida.

School Improvement and Education Accountability

The SBE is responsible for holding all school districts and public schools accountable for student performance[22] through a state system of school improvement and education accountability that assesses student performance by school, identifies schools that are not meeting accountability standards, and institutes appropriate measures for enforcing improvement.[23]

The state system of school improvement and education accountability must:[24]
- Provide for uniform accountability standards;
- Provide assistance of escalating intensity to schools not meeting accountability standards;
- Direct support to schools in order to improve and sustain performance;
- Focus on the performance of student subgroups; and
- Enhance student performance.

Early Warning Systems (Section 1)

Present Situation

Currently, schools that serve any of grades 6, 7, or 8 must implement an early warning system (EWS) to identify students who need additional support to improve academic performance.[25] The EWS must include the following early warning indicators:[26]
- Attendance below 90 percent.
- One or more suspensions.
- Course failure in English Language Arts or mathematics.
- A Level 1 score on the statewide, standardized assessment in English Language Arts or mathematics.
- Additional indicators deemed appropriate by the school district.

The schools' child study team or a school-based team must convene to determine appropriate intervention strategies when a student exhibits two or more early warning indicators.[27] The school must provide 10 days' written notice of the meeting to the student's parent and the notice must include the meeting's purpose, time and location, and provide the parent the opportunity to participate.[28]

Schools offering grades 6, 7, or 8 must include data and information in its school improvement plan regarding the schools early warning system. The information must include:[29]
- A list of the early warning indicators used;
- The number of students who have two or more early warning indicators;
- The number of students in each grade that exhibits each early warning indicator; and
- A description of all intervention strategies used to improve academic performance of students identified by the early warning system.

[29] Section 1001.42(18)(a)2., F.S.

The school must also describe in its school improvement plan the strategies used by the school to implement the instructional practices for middle grades emphasized by the district's professional development system.[30]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 1 expands the schools that must implement an EWS to schools that serve any students in grades 1 through 8 and clarifies that the EWS indicators include:

- A course failure in English Language Arts or math during any grading period; and
- A substantial reading deficiency for a student in grades 1 through 3.

This section requires the school's child study team to consult with the student's parent to determine appropriate intervention strategies for the student when a student exhibits two or more EWS indicators. The data and information relating to the student's EWS indicators must be used by the team to inform any intervention strategies provided to the student.[31]

Beginning in the 2018-2019 academic year, each school's EWS to include data on:

- The number of students identified by the EWS as exhibiting two or more EWS indicators,
- The number of students by grade level who exhibit each EWS indicator, and
- A description of all intervention strategies employed by the school to improve the academic performance of students identified by the EWS.

Section 1 may result in the identification of additional students in need of support, which may help such students receive the appropriate intervention to improve the academic performance of such students.

Differentiated Accountability (Section 4)

Present Situation

Current law holds school districts accountable for improving the academic performance of all students and for identifying and improving schools that fail to meet accountability standards.[32] The academic performance of all students has a significant effect on the state school system and SBE is required to equitably enforce the accountability requirements of the state school system and may impose state requirements on school districts in order to improve the academic performance of all districts, schools, and students.[33]

The DOE must annually identify each public school in need of intervention and support to improve student academic performance.[34] All schools earning a grade of "D" or "F" are schools in need of intervention and support.[35]

The SBE must adopt a differentiated matrix of intervention and support strategies for assisting public schools identified as in need of intervention.[36] The intervention and support strategies must address student performance and may include improvement planning, leadership quality improvement, educator quality improvement, professional development, curriculum alignment and pacing, and the use of continuous improvement and monitoring plans and processes.[37] In addition, the SBE may prescribe reporting requirements to review and monitor the progress of the schools.[38] The rule must define the intervention and support strategies for school improvement for schools earning a grade of "D" or "F" and the roles for the district and department.[39] The rule shall differentiate among schools earning consecutive grades of "D" or "F," or a combination thereof, and provide for more intense monitoring, intervention, and support strategies for these schools.[40]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 4 requires school districts to develop a school improvement plan for each school in the district with a school grade of "D" or "F."

This section clarifies conditions and establishes definitions that apply to schools subject to differentiated accountability. The bill requires the SBE rule regarding a differentiated matrix of intervention and support strategies for assisting public schools to define and clearly differentiate among:

- A "school-in-need", which means a school with a grade of "D," or which is in danger of earning a grade of "F," and which is in need of intervention and support.
- A "turnaround school", which means a school with a grade of "F" or two consecutive grades below a "C," and which is in need of intensive intervention and support, and which is implementing a district-managed turnaround or a different turnaround option.
- A "persistently low-performing school", which means a turnaround school that has been subject to a differentiated matrix of intensive intervention and support strategies for more than 3 consecutive years or a turnaround school that was closed within 2 years after submitting a notice of intent. The bill specifies that the SBE rule must define low-performing school to include, at a minimum, any school meeting the requirements of differentiated accountability.

Accordingly, the specified differentiation may assist schools in receiving appropriate supports and implementing relevant strategies to improve student performance outcomes.

Turnaround Options (Sections 3, 4 and 5)

Present Situation

The SBE must apply the most intense intervention and support strategies to schools earning an "F."[41] Within a year after receiving the first "F," the school district must implement a differentiated matrix of intervention and support strategies, select a turnaround option, and submit a plan for implementing the turnaround option to the DOE.[42] The plan must be approved by the SBE and once approved, the turnaround option must be implemented in the following school year.[43]

Turnaround options available to school districts in current law include:[44]

- Converting the school to a district-managed turnaround school;[45]
- Reassigning students to another school and monitor the progress of each reassigned student;
- Closing the school and reopening the school as one or more charter schools, each with a governing board that has a demonstrated record of effectiveness;
- Contracting with an outside entity that has a demonstrated record of effectiveness to operate the school; or
- Implementing a hybrid of the above turnaround options or other turnaround models that have a demonstrated record of effectiveness.

The Commissioner of Education is required to assign a community assessment team to each school district or governing board with a school that earned a grade of "F," or 2 consecutive grades of "D."[46] The team is directed to review certain school performance data and make recommendations to the school district, the governing board, or to the SBE, about how to address low performance causes in the school improvement plan.[47]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 4 modifies turnaround options available to school districts by adding new options and revising existing options, giving priority to the first three new options. Section 4 adds the following first three options:

- Implement an extended school day with at least 1 hour of additional learning time.
- Enter into a formal agreement with a nonprofit organization with tax exempt status under the Internal Revenue Code to implement an integrated student support service model that provides students and families with access to specified wrap-around services. Districts implementing this option may be eligible for additional funding as provided in the General Appropriations Act. The wrap-around services must include, but are not limited to:
  - Health services;
  - After-school programs;

  - Drug prevention programs;
  - College and career readiness; and
  - Food and clothing banks.
- Implement a principal autonomy program school under a performance based contract and in accordance with proposal elements, criteria, and timelines established by the SBE and specifically tailored for a turnaround school. A school district using this option for its turnaround school is eligible to participate in, and receive the benefits of, the principal autonomy program for only the turnaround school.

Section 4 also creates an option to contract as a conversion charter school and deletes the existing hybrid turnaround option. However, school districts are authorized to implement a combination of the specified turnaround options.

Section 5 modifies an existing requirement for the Commissioner of Education to assign a community assessment team to a low-performing school by specifying that such team must be assigned to each school district or governing board with a turnaround school. The team must include intervention and support strategies in the recommendations that the team makes to the school board or the governing board, as applicable, and to the SBE.

Accordingly, section 5 provides turnaround schools with additional options to implement turnaround strategies.

Section 3 conforms a cross reference in s. 1002.332, F.S., resulting from changes made to s. 1008.33, F.S.

Implementation Schedule (Section 4)

Present Situation

Currently, a school that earns a grade of "F," or 3 consecutive grades of "D," must have a planning year followed by 2 full school years to implement the initial turnaround. Implementation of the turnaround option is no longer required if the school improves by at least one letter grade during the planning year.[48]

A school earning a grade of "F" or 3 consecutive grades of "D" that improves its letter grade must continue to implement strategies identified in its school improvement plan pursuant to law. The department must annually review implementation of the school improvement plan for 3 years to monitor the school's continued improvement.[49]

If a school with an "F" or 3 consecutive grades of "D" does not improve by at least one letter grade after 2 full years of implementing the turnaround option, the school district must select a different option and submit another implementation plan to the department for state board approval. Implementation of the new plan must begin the school year following the implementation period of the existing turnaround option, unless the SBE determines that the school is likely to improve a letter grade if additional time is provided to implement the existing turnaround option.[50]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 4 accelerates, by at least one school year, the timing and implementation of specific turnaround options. Specifically, section 4 requires a turnaround school to immediately, during its first full year after receiving the designation:

- Implement required intensive intervention and support strategies.
- Provide to DOE the negotiated memorandum of understanding with the bargaining agent in educational emergency circumstances, described below.
- Provide to DOE, by September 1, a district-managed turnaround plan that has been submitted to the SBE for approval and must be implemented for the remainder of the current school year and continue for one additional school year.

The modified timeframe for implementation of turnaround options may assist struggling schools implement appropriate intervention strategies timely.

Educational Emergency (Section 1)

Present Situation

Florida law authorizes district school boards to declare an emergency in cases in which one or more schools in the district are failing or are in danger of failing and negotiate special provisions of its contract with the appropriate bargaining units to free these failing schools from contract restrictions that limit the school's ability to implement programs and strategies needed to improve student performance.[51]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 1 specifies educational emergency conditions under which a district school board may negotiate provisions of its contract with appropriate bargaining units that must result in a memorandum of understanding regarding personnel decisions. The district school board is authorized to negotiate in cases in which one or more schools in the district have a grade of "D" or "F." Section 1 also permits a district school board, beginning in the 2018-2019 academic year, to negotiate in cases in which one or more schools in the district are currently subject to, or in danger of being subject to, a differentiated matrix of intervention and support strategies as a turnaround school consistent with Florida law.

This may strengthen the authority and flexibility of school districts facing certain circumstances.

Charter School Requirements (Section 2)

Present Situation

Charter schools that earn a grade of "D" or "F" must develop a school improvement plan, which must be approved by the sponsor.[52] Corrective actions are required for charter schools earning three consecutive grades of "D," two consecutive grades of "D" followed by a grade of "F," or two nonconsecutive grades of "F" within a three-year period. Such a charter school may choose one of the following corrective actions: [53]

- Contract for educational services to be provided directly to students, instructional personnel, and school administrators;
- Contract with an outside entity with a track record of effectiveness to operate the school;
- Reorganize the school under a new director or principal who is authorized to hire new staff; or
- Voluntarily close the school.

The charter school must implement the corrective action in the school year following receipt of a third consecutive grade of "D," a grade of "F" following two consecutive grades of "D," or a second nonconsecutive grade of "F" within a 3-year period.[54] A corrective action is no longer required if the charter school improves by at least one letter grade. However, the school must continue to implement its school improvement plan.[55] If a charter school does not improve by at least one letter grade after two full school years of implementing a corrective action, the school must choose another action.[56]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 2 aligns charter school corrective action provisions with actions applied to traditional public schools. Specifically, this section:

- Defines a turnaround charter school as a charter school earning a grade of "F" or two consecutive grades below a "C."
- Requires each turnaround charter school to take corrective action.
- Requires a turnaround charter school to immediately implement it approved school improvement plan for the remainder of the current school year and continue implementing the plan for at least 1 full school year and select a corrective action specified in law, unless the sponsor waives the corrective action subject to condition as specified in law.[57]

[56] Section 1002.33(9)(n)2.c. and e., F.S. Implementation of the new corrective action must begin in the school year following the implementation period of the existing corrective action. The sponsor may waive corrective actions if it determines that the charter school is likely to improve its grade if additional time is given to implement the school improvement plan. The sponsor may also extend the implementation period for a corrective action based upon a similar standard. The sponsor may not waive or extend corrective actions if the charter school earns a second consecutive grade of "F" while in corrective action. Id. Unless an exception applies, such a charter school must be terminated by the sponsor. Section 1002.33(9)(n) 4, F.S.

This may streamline the application of differentiated accountability to turnaround schools and turnaround charter schools.

(n)1. The director and a representative of the governing board of a charter school that has earned a grade of "D" or is in danger of earning a grade of "F" pursuant to s. 1008.34 shall appear before the sponsor to present information concerning each contract component having noted deficiencies. The director and a representative of the governing board shall submit to the sponsor for approval a school improvement plan to raise student performance. Upon approval by the sponsor, the charter school shall begin implementation of the school improvement plan. The department shall offer technical assistance and training to the charter school and its governing board and establish guidelines for developing, submitting, and approving such plans.

2.a. If a charter school earns a grade of "F" or two ~~three~~ consecutive grades below a "C," ~~of "D," two consecutive grades~~

~~of "D" followed by a grade of "F," or two nonconsecutive grades of "F" within a 3-year period,~~ the turnaround charter school governing board must immediately implement its approved school improvement plan for the remainder of the school year and continue implementation for at least 1 school year, and shall choose one of the following corrective actions:

(I) Contract for educational services to be provided directly to students, instructional personnel, and school administrators, as prescribed in state board rule;

(II) Contract with an outside entity that has a demonstrated record of effectiveness to operate the school;

(III) Reorganize the school under a new director or principal who is authorized to hire new staff; or

(IV) Voluntarily close the charter school.

b. The turnaround charter school must implement the corrective action in the school year following receipt of a grade of "F" or a second ~~third~~ consecutive grade below a "C." ~~of "D," a grade of "F" following two consecutive grades of "D," or a second nonconsecutive grade of "F" within a 3-year period.~~

c. The sponsor may annually waive a corrective action if it determines that the turnaround charter school is likely to improve a letter grade if additional time is provided to implement the intervention and support strategies prescribed by the school improvement plan. Notwithstanding this sub-subparagraph, a charter school that earns a second consecutive grade of "F" is subject to subparagraph 3. ~~4.~~

d. A turnaround charter school is no longer required to implement a corrective action if it improves to a grade of "C" or higher ~~by at least one letter grade~~. However, the charter school must continue to implement strategies identified in the school improvement plan. The sponsor must annually review implementation of the school improvement plan to monitor the school's continued improvement pursuant to subparagraph 4. ~~5.~~

e. A turnaround charter school implementing a corrective action that does not improve to a grade of "C" or higher ~~by at least one letter grade~~ after 2 full school years of implementing the corrective action must select a different corrective action. Implementation of the new corrective action must begin in the school year following the implementation period of the existing corrective action, unless the sponsor determines that the charter school is likely to improve to a grade of "C" or higher ~~a letter grade~~ if additional time is provided to implement the existing corrective action. Notwithstanding this sub-subparagraph, a charter school that earns a second consecutive grade of "F" while implementing a corrective action is subject to subparagraph 3. ~~4.~~

~~3. A charter school with a grade of "D" or "F" that improves by at least one letter grade must continue to implement the strategies identified in the school improvement plan. The sponsor must annually review implementation of the school improvement plan to monitor the school's continued improvement pursuant to subparagraph 5.~~

3.~~4.~~ A charter school's charter contract is automatically terminated if the school earns two consecutive grades of "F" after all school grade appeals are final unless:

a. The charter school is established to turn around the performance of a district public school pursuant to s. 1008.33(4)(b)6. ~~s. 1008.33(4)(b)3.~~ Such charter schools shall be

The exception provided under this sub-subparagraph does not apply to a charter school in its fourth year of operation and thereafter; or

c. The state board grants the charter school a waiver of termination. The charter school must request the waiver within 15 days after the department's official release of school grades. The state board may waive termination if the charter school demonstrates that the Learning Gains of its students on statewide assessments are comparable to or better than the Learning Gains of similarly situated students enrolled in nearby district public schools. The waiver is valid for 1 year and may only be granted once. Charter schools that have been in operation for more than 5 years are not eligible for a waiver under this sub-subparagraph.

The sponsor shall notify the charter school's governing board, the charter school principal, and the department in writing when a charter contract is terminated under this subparagraph. The letter of termination must meet the requirements of paragraph (8)(c). A charter terminated under this subparagraph must follow the procedures for dissolution and reversion of public funds pursuant to paragraphs (8)(e)-(g) and (9)(o).

4.~~5.~~ The director and a representative of the governing board of a graded charter school that has implemented a school improvement plan under this paragraph shall appear before the sponsor at least once a year to present information regarding the progress of intervention and support strategies implemented by the school pursuant to the school improvement plan and corrective actions, if applicable. The sponsor shall communicate at the meeting, and in writing to the director, the services provided to the school to help the school address its deficiencies.

5.~~6.~~ Notwithstanding any provision of this paragraph except sub-subparagraphs 3.a.-c. ~~4.a.-c.~~, the sponsor may terminate the charter at any time pursuant to subsection (8).

a. If the entity assumed operation of a public school pursuant to s. 1008.33(4)(b)6. ~~s. 1008.33(4)(b)3.~~ with a school grade of "F," that school's grade may not be considered in determining high-performing charter school system status for a period of 3 years.

b. If the entity established a new charter school that served a student population the majority of which resided in a school zone served by a public school that earned a grade of "F" or three consecutive grades of "D" pursuant to s. 1008.34, that charter school's grade may not be considered in determining high-performing charter school system status if it attained and maintained a school grade that was higher than that of the public school serving that school zone within 3 years after establishment; and

3. Did not receive a financial audit that revealed one or more of the financial emergency conditions set forth in s. 218.503(1) for any charter school assumed or established by the entity in the most recent 3 fiscal years for which such audits are available.

Section 4. Subsections (3), (4), and (5) of section 1008.33, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

1008.33 Authority to enforce public school improvement.—

IX of the State Constitution, which prescribes the duty of the State Board of Education to supervise Florida's public school system, the state board shall equitably enforce the accountability requirements of the state school system and may impose state requirements on school districts in order to improve the academic performance of all districts, schools, and students based upon the provisions of the Florida K-20 Education Code, chapters 1000-1013; the federal ESEA and its implementing regulations; and the ESEA flexibility waiver approved for Florida by the United States Secretary of Education.

(b) ~~Beginning with the 2011-2012 school year,~~ The Department of Education shall annually identify each public school in need of intervention and support to improve student academic performance. All schools earning a grade of "D" or in danger of earning a grade of "F" pursuant to s. 1008.34 are considered schools in need of intervention and support.

(c) To assist in implementing paragraph (4)(a) and (b), the state board shall adopt by rule a differentiated matrix of intervention and support strategies for assisting traditional public schools identified under this section and rules for implementing s. 1002.33(9)(n), relating to charter schools. The intervention and support strategies must address student performance and include extended learning by at least 1 extra hour, and may include improvement planning, leadership quality improvement, educator quality improvement, professional development, curriculum alignment and pacing, and the use of continuous improvement and monitoring plans and processes. In addition, the state board may prescribe reporting requirements to review and monitor the progress of the schools. The rule must define the intervention and support strategies for school improvement for schools earning a grade of "D" or "F" and the roles for the district and department. 5.~~2.~~ Reassign students to another school and monitor the progress of each reassigned student.~~;~~

4. For a classroom teacher or school administrator, a composite score on the GRE, LSAT, GMAT, or MCAT at or above a score adopted by the State Board of Education; or

5. For a classroom teacher or school administrator, a cumulative undergraduate or graduate grade point average of at least 3.5 on a 4.0 scale, as verified on the teacher's or administrator's official final college transcript.

(b) Performance requirements.—The classroom teacher or school administrator:

1. Must have been evaluated as highly effective pursuant to s. 1012.34 in the school year immediately preceding the year in which the scholarship will be awarded;

2. If he or she works in a low-performing school or a school that was designated by the department as low-performing within the previous 2 years and commits, pursuant to State Board of Education rule, to working at the school for at least 3 years, must have been evaluated as highly effective pursuant to s. 1012.34 in the school year immediately preceding the first year in which the scholarship will be awarded and maintain a highly effective evaluation rating in at least two of every three annual performance evaluations, based on a rolling 3-year period; or

(4) IMPLEMENTATION.—In order to implement and administer the program, the following timelines and requirements apply:

(a) To demonstrate eligibility for an award, an eligible classroom teacher or school administrator, as applicable, must submit to the school district, no later than November 1, an official record of his or her achievement of the eligibility requirements specified in paragraph (3)(a). Once a classroom teacher or school administrator is deemed eligible by the school district, including teachers deemed eligible for the Florida Best and Brightest Teacher Scholarship Program in the 2015-2016 or 2016-2017 fiscal years pursuant to s. 25 of chapter 2016-62, Laws of Florida, the classroom teacher or school administrator remains eligible as long as he or she remains employed by the school district as a full-time classroom teacher or full-time school administrator at the time of the award and continues to meet the conditions specified under this section.

1. Classroom teachers and school administrators who commit, pursuant to State Board of Education rule, to work in a low-performing school and meet the performance requirements of subparagraph (3)(b)2., shall receive an award equal to a full scholarship award amount. Classroom teachers and school administrators who do not fulfill the commitment made pursuant to subparagraph (3)(b)2. may not receive this priority; and

2. Newly hired classroom teachers and school administrators who commit, pursuant to State Board of Education rule, to work in a Florida public school and meet the performance requirements under subparagraph (3)(b)3., shall receive a one-time hiring bonus of up to $10,000. Classroom teachers and school administrators who do not fulfill the commitment made pursuant to subparagraph (3)(b)3. may not receive this priority.

(b) Newly hired classroom teachers and newly hired school administrators who initially participate in the program pursuant to subparagraph (3)(b)3. may only receive the one-time hiring bonus under subparagraph (a)2. In subsequent school years, such classroom teachers and school administrators may earn a scholarship award pursuant to subparagraph (3)(b)1. or subparagraph (3)(b)2., if they also maintain their initial commitments.

(6) DEFINITION.—For purposes of this section, the term "school district" includes the Florida School for the Deaf and the Blind and charter school governing boards.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 1552 establishes the Florida Best and Brightest Teacher and Principal Scholar Award Program (Award Program) to recognize the contributions of teachers and principals to student success and performance outcomes and provides criteria for the Award Program.

The bill also revises school improvement and accountability measures that apply to public schools, including charter schools, in order improve struggling and low-performing schools. Specifically, the bill:

- Requires school districts to develop a school improvement plan for each school in the district with a school grade of "D" or "F."
- Expands the grade levels, indicators, and interventions addressed in a school district's early warning system to support student academic performance and engagement.
- Specifies educational emergency conditions under which a school district may negotiate provisions of its contract with appropriate bargaining units, which must result in a memorandum of understanding regarding personnel decisions.
- Clarifies conditions and establishes definitions that apply to schools subject to differentiated accountability.
- Accelerates, by at least one school year, the timing and implementation of turnaround options specified in law.

- Revises the options and requirements applied to turnaround traditional public schools and turnaround charter schools.

Funding for the Florida Best and Brightest Teacher and Principal Scholar Award Program is contingent upon an appropriation in the General Appropriations Act. SB 2500, the Senate General Appropriations Act, does not provide an appropriation for the program.

The bill takes effect on July 1, 2017.

II. Present Situation:

The present situation for the relevant portions of the bill is discussed in the Effect of Proposed Changes section of the bill analysis.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

To be eligible for a scholarship, a classroom teacher must have:[3]

- Achieved a composite score at or above the 80th percentile on either the SAT or the ACT based on the National Percentile Ranks[4] in effect when the classroom teacher took the assessment.

Includes classroom teachers in school districts, the Florida School for the Deaf and the Blind, and charter schools. Section 1012.731(7), F.S.

[4] Percentile ranks represent the percentage of students who score equal to or below the score the student obtained.
[5] Instructional personnel are assigned among four levels of performance, as "highly effective," "effective," "needs improvement" (or "developing" for instructional personnel in the first three years of employment), or "unsatisfactory." Section 1012.34(2)(e), F.S. All instructional personnel and school administrators employed by Florida's public school districts must undergo an annual performance evaluation based on sound educational principles and contemporary research in effective educational practices. Evaluations occur annually, except that newly hired classroom teachers are evaluated twice in their first year of teaching in a school district. Section 1012.34(3)(a), F.S. The evaluation criteria for instructional personnel include student performance, instructional practice, and professional and job responsibilities. Section 1012.34(3)(a)1., 2., and 4., F.S. - Annually, by December 1, each school district must submit to the Department of Education (DOE) the number of eligible classroom teachers who qualify for the scholarship.
- Annually, by February 1, the DOE must disburse scholarship funds to each school district for each eligible classroom teacher to receive a scholarship as provided in the General Appropriations Act. A scholarship in the amount provided in the General Appropriations Act must be awarded to every eligible classroom teacher. If the number of eligible classroom teachers exceeds the total appropriation authorized in the General Appropriations Act, the department must prorate the per-teacher scholarship amount.[7]
- Annually, by April 1, each school district must award the scholarship to each eligible classroom teacher.

The current statute is scheduled to expire on July 1, 2017.[8]

For the 2016-2017 fiscal year, the Legislature appropriated $49 million for the Florida Best and Brightest Teacher Scholarship Program.[9] According to proviso in the 2016 General Appropriations Act, the scholarship award may be up to $10,000 to every eligible classroom teacher.[10]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 6 establishes the Florida Best and Brightest Teacher and Principal Scholar Award Program (Award Program) to recognize the contributions of teachers and principals to student success and performance outcomes. The bill provides eligibility criteria:

- For a full-time classroom teacher and a full-time school administrator to qualify for the Award Program scholarship; and
- For a newly hired full-time classroom teacher and full-time school administrator to qualify for a one-time hiring bonus.

Specifically, section 6 requires that to qualify for the Award Program a teacher or an administrator must:

- Be employed on an annual contract or probationary contract;

Section 1012.34(3)(a)1. and 4, F.S. Instructional leadership practices are also included in school administrator evaluations. Section 1012.34(3)(a)3., F.S.

Eligibility Requirements and Awards for Existing Teachers and School Administrators

Section 6 provides that, to receive an Award Program scholarship, a full-time classroom teacher or full-time administrator must:

- Be employed on an annual contract or probationary contract[11] and participate in the school district's performance salary schedule.[12]
- Meet one of the following achievement requirements:
  - For a classroom teacher, a score at or above the 90th percentile on the Florida Teacher Certification Examination in a subject that he or she is teaching.
  - For a school administrator, a score at or above the 90th percentile on the Florida Educational Leadership Examination.

Eligibility Requirements and Awards for Newly Hired Teachers and School Administrators

Section 6 creates a separate eligibility category for newly hired classroom teachers and school administrators. A newly hired teacher and school administrator, who has not been evaluated, is not eligible for the Award Program scholarship but may receive a one-time hiring bonus of up to $10,000 if he or she:

- Is employed on an annual contract or probationary contract[15] and participates in the school district's performance salary schedule.[16]
- Meets one of the following achievement requirements:
  - For a classroom teacher, a score at or above the 90th percentile on the Florida Teacher Certification Examination in a subject that he or she is teaching.
  - For a school administrator, a score at or above the 90th percentile on the Florida Educational Leadership Examination.

  - For a classroom teacher or school administrator, a cumulative undergraduate or graduate grade point average of at least 3.5 on a 4.0 scale, as verified on the teacher's or administrator's official final college transcript.
- Meets one of the following performance requirements:
  - Recipient of the Florida Prepaid Tuition Scholarship Program[18] who graduated with a minimum 3.0 grade point average and commit, pursuant to SBE rule, to working in a Florida public school for at least 3 years.
  - Completed the college reach-out program[19] and graduated with a minimum 3.0 grade point average, and commit, pursuant to SBE rule, to working in a Florida public school for at least 3 years.
  - Graduate from an approved Florida teacher preparation program[20] at a Florida college or university, with a minimum 3.0 grade point average, and commit, pursuant to SBE rule, to working in a critical teacher shortage area[21] at a Florida public school for at least 3 years.

In subsequent school years, a newly hired classroom teacher or school administrator may earn a scholarship award if he or she meets the eligibility requirements for an existing teacher or administrator and maintains his or her initial commitment.

Prioritization of Awards

Section 6 requires that a scholarship in the amount provided in the General Appropriations Act (GAA) be awarded to every eligible classroom teacher and administrator. If the number of eligible classroom teachers and school administrators exceeds the total appropriation authorized in the GAA, the bill requires the department to prorate the per-scholar scholarship award amount, except that prior to the distribution of funds, the following priorities apply:

- Classroom teachers and school administrators who commit, pursuant to SBE rule, to working in a low-performing school and meet the specified eligibility criteria, must receive an award equal to a full scholarship award amount.
- Newly hired classroom teachers and school administrators who commit, pursuant to SBE rule, to working in a Florida public school and specified eligibility criteria must receive a one-time hiring bonus of up to $10,000.

Award Program Implementation

Similar to the current Florida Best and Brightest Teacher Scholarship Program, section 6 establishes the following schedule:

- By November 1, an eligible classroom teacher or school administrator must submit an official record of his or her achievement of the specified eligibility criteria. After a classroom teacher or school administrator is deemed eligible by the school district, including a teacher deemed eligible for the Florida Best and Brightest Teacher Scholarship Program in fiscal years 2015-2016 and 2016-2017, such classroom teacher or school administrator remains eligible as long as he or she maintains employment by the school district and meets other specified requirements.
- Annually, by December 1, each school district must submit to the Department of Education (DOE) the number of classroom teachers or school administrators who qualify for the scholarship.
- Annually, by February 1, the DOE must distribute scholarship funds to each school district.
- Annually, by April 1, each school district must distribute the scholarship awards to eligible classroom teachers and school administrators.

Section 6 requires the SBE to expeditiously adopt rules to implement the Award Program.

Section 6 may assist with recruiting and retaining qualified classroom teachers and school administrators in Florida.

School Improvement and Education Accountability

The SBE is responsible for holding all school districts and public schools accountable for student performance[22] through a state system of school improvement and education accountability that assesses student performance by school, identifies schools that are not meeting accountability standards, and institutes appropriate measures for enforcing improvement.[23]

The state system of school improvement and education accountability must:[24]
- Provide for uniform accountability standards;
- Provide assistance of escalating intensity to schools not meeting accountability standards;
- Direct support to schools in order to improve and sustain performance;
- Focus on the performance of student subgroups; and
- Enhance student performance.

Early Warning Systems (Section 1)

Present Situation

Currently, schools that serve any of grades 6, 7, or 8 must implement an early warning system (EWS) to identify students who need additional support to improve academic performance.[25] The EWS must include the following early warning indicators:[26]
- Attendance below 90 percent.
- One or more suspensions.
- Course failure in English Language Arts or mathematics.
- A Level 1 score on the statewide, standardized assessment in English Language Arts or mathematics.
- Additional indicators deemed appropriate by the school district.

The schools' child study team or a school-based team must convene to determine appropriate intervention strategies when a student exhibits two or more early warning indicators.[27] The school must provide 10 days' written notice of the meeting to the student's parent and the notice must include the meeting's purpose, time and location, and provide the parent the opportunity to participate.[28]

Schools offering grades 6, 7, or 8 must include data and information in its school improvement plan regarding the schools early warning system. The information must include:[29]
- A list of the early warning indicators used;
- The number of students who have two or more early warning indicators;
- The number of students in each grade that exhibits each early warning indicator; and

- A description of all intervention strategies used to improve academic performance of students identified by the early warning system.

The school must also describe in its school improvement plan the strategies used by the school to implement the instructional practices for middle grades emphasized by the district's professional development system.[30]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 1 expands the schools that must implement an EWS to schools that serve any students in grades 1 through 8 and clarifies that the EWS indicators include:
- A course failure in English Language Arts or math during any grading period; and
- A substantial reading deficiency for a student in grades 1 through 3.

This section requires the school's child study team to consult with the student's parent to determine appropriate intervention strategies for the student when a student exhibits two or more EWS indicators. The data and information relating to the student's EWS indicators must be used by the team to inform any intervention strategies provided to the student.[31]

Beginning in the 2018-2019 academic year, each school's EWS to include data on:
- The number of students identified by the EWS as exhibiting two or more EWS indicators,
- The number of students by grade level who exhibit each EWS indicator, and
- A description of all intervention strategies employed by the school to improve the academic performance of students identified by the EWS.

Section 1 may result in the identification of additional students in need of support, which may help such students receive the appropriate intervention to improve the academic performance of such students.

Differentiated Accountability (Section 4)

Present Situation

Current law holds school districts accountable for improving the academic performance of all students and for identifying and improving schools that fail to meet accountability standards.[32] The academic performance of all students has a significant effect on the state school system and SBE is required to equitably enforce the accountability requirements of the state school system and may impose state requirements on school districts in order to improve the academic performance of all districts, schools, and students.[33]

The DOE must annually identify each public school in need of intervention and support to improve student academic performance.[34] All schools earning a grade of "D" or "F" are schools in need of intervention and support.[35]

The SBE must adopt a differentiated matrix of intervention and support strategies for assisting public schools identified as in need of intervention.[36] The intervention and support strategies must address student performance and may include improvement planning, leadership quality improvement, educator quality improvement, professional development, curriculum alignment and pacing, and the use of continuous improvement and monitoring plans and processes.[37] In addition, the SBE may prescribe reporting requirements to review and monitor the progress of the schools.[38] The rule must define the intervention and support strategies for school improvement for schools earning a grade of "D" or "F" and the roles for the district and department.[39] The rule shall differentiate among schools earning consecutive grades of "D" or "F," or a combination thereof, and provide for more intense monitoring, intervention, and support strategies for these schools.[40]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 4 requires school districts to develop a school improvement plan for each school in the district with a school grade of "D" or "F."

This section clarifies conditions and establishes definitions that apply to schools subject to differentiated accountability. The bill requires the SBE rule regarding a differentiated matrix of intervention and support strategies for assisting public schools to define and clearly differentiate among:

- A "school-in-need", which means a school with a grade of "D," or which is in danger of earning a grade of "F," and which is in need of intervention and support.
- A "turnaround school", which means a school with a grade of "F" or two consecutive grades below a "C," and which is in need of intensive intervention and support, and which is implementing a district-managed turnaround or a different turnaround option.
- A "persistently low-performing school", which means a turnaround school that has been subject to a differentiated matrix of intensive intervention and support strategies for more than 3 consecutive years or a turnaround school that was closed within 2 years after submitting a notice of intent. The bill specifies that the SBE rule must define low-performing school to include, at a minimum, any school meeting the requirements of differentiated accountability.

Accordingly, the specified differentiation may assist schools in receiving appropriate supports and implementing relevant strategies to improve student performance outcomes.

Turnaround Options (Sections 3, 4 and 5)

Present Situation

The SBE must apply the most intense intervention and support strategies to schools earning an "F."[41] Within a year after receiving the first "F," the school district must implement a differentiated matrix of intervention and support strategies, select a turnaround option, and submit a plan for implementing the turnaround option to the DOE.[42] The plan must be approved by the SBE and once approved, the turnaround option must be implemented in the following school year.[43]

Turnaround options available to school districts in current law include:[44]

- Converting the school to a district-managed turnaround school;[45]
- Reassigning students to another school and monitor the progress of each reassigned student;
- Closing the school and reopening the school as one or more charter schools, each with a governing board that has a demonstrated record of effectiveness;
- Contracting with an outside entity that has a demonstrated record of effectiveness to operate the school; or
- Implementing a hybrid of the above turnaround options or other turnaround models that have a demonstrated record of effectiveness.

The Commissioner of Education is required to assign a community assessment team to each school district or governing board with a school that earned a grade of "F," or 2 consecutive grades of "D."[46] The team is directed to review certain school performance data and make recommendations to the school district, the governing board, or to the SBE, about how to address low performance causes in the school improvement plan.[47]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 4 modifies turnaround options available to school districts by adding new options and revising existing options, giving priority to the first three new options. Section 4 adds the following first three options:

- Implement an extended school day with at least 1 hour of additional learning time.
- Enter into a formal agreement with a nonprofit organization with tax exempt status under the Internal Revenue Code to implement an integrated student support service model that provides students and families with access to specified wrap-around services. Districts implementing this option may be eligible for additional funding as provided in the General Appropriations Act. The wrap-around services must include, but are not limited to:
  - Health services;
  - After-school programs;

  - Drug prevention programs;
  - College and career readiness; and
  - Food and clothing banks.
- Implement a principal autonomy program school under a performance based contract and in accordance with proposal elements, criteria, and timelines established by the SBE and specifically tailored for a turnaround school. A school district using this option for its turnaround school is eligible to participate in, and receive the benefits of, the principal autonomy program for only the turnaround school.

Section 4 also creates an option to contract as a conversion charter school and deletes the existing hybrid turnaround option. However, school districts are authorized to implement a combination of the specified turnaround options.

Section 5 modifies an existing requirement for the Commissioner of Education to assign a community assessment team to a low-performing school by specifying that such team must be assigned to each school district or governing board with a turnaround school. The team must include intervention and support strategies in the recommendations that the team makes to the school board or the governing board, as applicable, and to the SBE.

Accordingly, section 5 provides turnaround schools with additional options to implement turnaround strategies.

Section 3 conforms a cross reference in s. 1002.332, F.S., resulting from changes made to s. 1008.33, F.S.

Implementation Schedule (Section 4)

Present Situation

Currently, a school that earns a grade of "F," or 3 consecutive grades of "D," must have a planning year followed by 2 full school years to implement the initial turnaround. Implementation of the turnaround option is no longer required if the school improves by at least one letter grade during the planning year.[48]

A school earning a grade of "F" or 3 consecutive grades of "D" that improves its letter grade must continue to implement strategies identified in its school improvement plan pursuant to law. The department must annually review implementation of the school improvement plan for 3 years to monitor the school's continued improvement.[49]

If a school with an "F" or 3 consecutive grades of "D" does not improve by at least one letter grade after 2 full years of implementing the turnaround option, the school district must select a different option and submit another implementation plan to the department for state board approval. Implementation of the new plan must begin the school year following the implementation period of the existing turnaround option, unless the SBE determines that the school is likely to improve a letter grade if additional time is provided to implement the existing turnaround option.[50]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 4 accelerates, by at least one school year, the timing and implementation of specific turnaround options. Specifically, section 4 requires a turnaround school to immediately, during its first full year after receiving the designation:

- Implement required intensive intervention and support strategies.
- Provide to DOE the negotiated memorandum of understanding with the bargaining agent in educational emergency circumstances, described below.
- Provide to DOE, by September 1, a district-managed turnaround plan that has been submitted to the SBE for approval and must be implemented for the remainder of the current school year and continue for one additional school year.

The modified timeframe for implementation of turnaround options may assist struggling schools implement appropriate intervention strategies timely.

Educational Emergency (Section 1)

Present Situation

Florida law authorizes district school boards to declare an emergency in cases in which one or more schools in the district are failing or are in danger of failing and negotiate special provisions of its contract with the appropriate bargaining units to free these failing schools from contract restrictions that limit the school's ability to implement programs and strategies needed to improve student performance.[51]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 1 specifies educational emergency conditions under which a district school board may negotiate provisions of its contract with appropriate bargaining units that must result in a memorandum of understanding regarding personnel decisions. The district school board is authorized to negotiate in cases in which one or more schools in the district have a grade of "D" or "F." Section 1 also permits a district school board, beginning in the 2018-2019 academic year, to negotiate in cases in which one or more schools in the district are currently subject to, or in danger of being subject to, a differentiated matrix of intervention and support strategies as a turnaround school consistent with Florida law.

This may strengthen the authority and flexibility of school districts facing certain circumstances.

Charter School Requirements (Section 2)

Present Situation

Charter schools that earn a grade of "D" or "F" must develop a school improvement plan, which must be approved by the sponsor.[52] Corrective actions are required for charter schools earning three consecutive grades of "D," two consecutive grades of "D" followed by a grade of "F," or two nonconsecutive grades of "F" within a three-year period. Such a charter school may choose one of the following corrective actions: [53]

- Contract for educational services to be provided directly to students, instructional personnel, and school administrators;
- Contract with an outside entity with a track record of effectiveness to operate the school;
- Reorganize the school under a new director or principal who is authorized to hire new staff; or
- Voluntarily close the school.

The charter school must implement the corrective action in the school year following receipt of a third consecutive grade of "D," a grade of "F" following two consecutive grades of "D," or a second nonconsecutive grade of "F" within a 3-year period.[54] A corrective action is no longer required if the charter school improves by at least one letter grade. However, the school must continue to implement its school improvement plan.[55] If a charter school does not improve by at least one letter grade after two full school years of implementing a corrective action, the school must choose another action.[56]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 2 aligns charter school corrective action provisions with actions applied to traditional public schools. Specifically, this section:

- Defines a turnaround charter school as a charter school earning a grade of "F" or two consecutive grades below a "C."
- Requires each turnaround charter school to take corrective action.
- Requires a turnaround charter school to immediately implement it approved school improvement plan for the remainder of the current school year and continue implementing the plan for at least 1 full school year and select a corrective action specified in law, unless the sponsor waives the corrective action subject to condition as specified in law.[57]

[56] Section 1002.33(9)(n)2.c. and e., F.S. Implementation of the new corrective action must begin in the school year following the implementation period of the existing corrective action. The sponsor may waive corrective actions if it determines that the charter school is likely to improve its grade if additional time is given to implement the school improvement plan. The sponsor may also extend the implementation period for a corrective action based upon a similar standard. The sponsor may not waive or extend corrective actions if the charter school earns a second consecutive grade of "F" while in corrective action. Id. Unless an exception applies, such a charter school must be terminated by the sponsor. This may streamline the application of differentiated accountability to turnaround schools and turnaround charter schools.

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to the Florida Best and Brightest Teacher and Principal Scholar Award Program; creating s. 1012.732, F.S.; creating the Florida Best and Brightest Teacher and Principal Scholar Award Program to be administered by the Department of Education; providing the intent and purpose of the program; providing eligibility requirements for classroom teachers and school administrators to participate in the program; providing timelines and requirements for program implementation; providing funding priorities; defining the term "school district"; requiring the State Board of Education to adopt rules; providing an effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Section 1012.732, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

1012.732 The Florida Best and Brightest Teacher and Principal Scholar Award Program.—

(1) INTENT.—The Legislature recognizes that, second only to parents, teachers and principals play the most critical roles within schools in preparing students to achieve a high level of academic performance. The Legislature further recognizes that research has linked student successes and performance outcomes to the academic achievements and performance accomplishments of the teachers and principals who most closely affect their classroom and school learning environments. Therefore, it is the intent of the Legislature to designate teachers and principals who have achieved high academic standards during their own education as Florida's best and brightest teacher and principal scholars.

(2) PURPOSE.—There is created the Florida Best and Brightest Teacher and Principal Scholar Award Program, as a performance-based scholarship award program, to be administered by the Department of Education. The performance-based award shall provide categorical funding for scholarships to be awarded to full-time classroom teachers, as defined in s. 1012.01(2)(a), and full-time school administrators, as defined in s. 1012.01(3)(c), excluding substitute teachers or substitute school administrators, who have demonstrated a high level of academic achievement and performance.

(3) ELIGIBILITY.—To be eligible for a scholarship, a full-time classroom teacher or full-time school administrator must be employed on an annual contract or probationary contract pursuant to s. 1012.335, participate in the school district's performance salary schedule pursuant to s. 1012.22, and meet at least one of the achievement requirements under paragraph (a) and at least one of the performance requirements under paragraph (b).

(a) Achievement requirements.—

1. For a classroom teacher, a score at or above the 90th percentile on the Florida Teacher Certification Examination in a subject that he or she is teaching;

2. For a school administrator, a score at or above the 90th percentile on the Florida Educational Leadership Examination;

3. For a classroom teacher or school administrator, a composite score at or above the 80th percentile on either the

SAT or the ACT based on the National Percentile Ranks in effect when the classroom teacher or school administrator took the assessment;

4. For a classroom teacher or school administrator, a composite score on the GRE, LSAT, GMAT, or MCAT at or above a score adopted by the State Board of Education; or

5. For a classroom teacher or school administrator, a cumulative undergraduate or graduate grade point average of at least 3.5 on a 4.0 scale, as verified on the teacher's or administrator's official final college transcript.

(b) Performance requirements.—The classroom teacher or school administrator:

1. Must have been evaluated as highly effective pursuant to s. 1012.34 in the school year immediately preceding the year in which the scholarship will be awarded;

2. If he or she works in a low-performing school or a school that was designated by the department as low-performing within the previous 2 years and commits, pursuant to State Board of Education rule, to working at the school for at least 3 years, must have been evaluated as highly effective pursuant to s. 1012.34 in the school year immediately preceding the first year in which the scholarship will be awarded and maintain a highly effective evaluation rating in at least two of every three annual performance evaluations, based on a rolling 3-year period; or

3. Must be newly hired by the district school board, must not have been evaluated pursuant to s. 1012.34, and must have met at least one of the following conditions:

a. Be a recipient of the Florida Prepaid Tuition

Scholarship Program pursuant to s. 1009.984 who graduates with a minimum 3.0 grade point average and commit, pursuant to State Board of Education rule, to working in a Florida public school for at least 3 years;

b. Have completed the college reach-out program pursuant to s. 1007.34 and graduated with a minimum 3.0 grade point average, and commit, pursuant to State Board of Education rule, to working in a Florida public school for at least 3 years; or

(4) IMPLEMENTATION.—In order to implement and administer the program, the following timelines and requirements apply:

(a) To demonstrate eligibility for an award, an eligible classroom teacher or school administrator, as applicable, must submit to the school district, no later than November 1, an official record of his or her achievement of the eligibility requirements specified in paragraph (3)(a). Once a classroom teacher or school administrator is deemed eligible by the school district, including teachers deemed eligible for the Florida Best and Brightest Teacher Scholarship Program in the 2015-2016 or 2016-2017 fiscal years pursuant to s. 25 of chapter 2016-62, Laws of Florida, the classroom teacher or school administrator remains eligible as long as he or she remains employed by the school district as a full-time classroom teacher or full-time school administrator at the time of the award and continues to meet the conditions specified under this section.

(b) Annually, by December 1, each school district shall submit to the department the number of eligible classroom teachers and school administrators who qualify for the scholarship.

(c) Annually, by February 1, the department shall disburse scholarship funds to each school district for each eligible classroom teacher and school administrator to receive a scholarship as provided in the General Appropriations Act.

(d) Annually, by April 1, each school district shall award the scholarship to each eligible classroom teacher and school administrator.

(5) FUNDING.—A scholarship in the amount provided in the General Appropriations Act shall be awarded to every eligible classroom teacher and school administrator.

(a) If the number of eligible classroom teachers and school administrators exceeds the total appropriation authorized in the General Appropriations Act, the department shall prorate the per-scholar scholarship award amount, except that prior to the distribution of funds, the following priorities apply:

1. Classroom teachers and school administrators who commit, pursuant to State Board of Education rule, to work in a low-performing school and meet the performance requirements of subparagraph (3)(b)2., shall receive an award equal to a full scholarship award amount. Classroom teachers and school administrators who do not fulfill the commitment made pursuant to subparagraph (3)(b)2. may not receive this priority; and in a Florida public school and meet the performance requirements under subparagraph (3)(b)3., shall receive a one-time hiring bonus of up to $10,000. Classroom teachers and school administrators who do not fulfill the commitment made pursuant to subparagraph (3)(b)3. may not receive this priority.

2. Newly hired classroom teachers and school administrators who commit, pursuant to State Board of Education rule, to work

(b) Newly hired classroom teachers and newly hired school administrators who initially participate in the program pursuant to subparagraph (3)(b)3. may only receive the one-time hiring bonus under subparagraph (a)2. In subsequent school years, such classroom teachers and school administrators may earn a scholarship award pursuant to subparagraph (3)(b)1. or subparagraph (3)(b)2., if they also maintain their initial commitments.

(6) DEFINITION.—For purposes of this section, the term "school district" includes the Florida School for the Deaf and the Blind and charter school governing boards.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/CS/SB 766 addresses the unlawful practice of "skimming" (fraudulently obtaining private information from someone's payment card). Specifically, the bill:

- Modifies the offense of fraudulent use of a scanning device to also punish fraudulent use of a skimming device, and specifies that information unlawfully accessed includes information encoded on a computer chip or other storage mechanism of a payment card.
- Modifies the offense of fraudulent use of a reencoder to indicate that the reencoder places information encoded on the computer chip, magnetic strip or stripe, or other storage mechanism of a payment card onto a computer chip, magnetic strip or stripe, or other storage mechanism of a different card.
- Provides that it is a third degree felony to knowingly possess, sell, or deliver a skimming device, provides that this offense does not apply to specified officials, and provides that this offense is also subject to the Florida Contraband Forfeiture Act.

The Criminal Justice Impact Conference (CJIC) estimates the bill will have a "positive insignificant" prison bed impact (an increase of 10 or fewer prison beds). See Section V. Fiscal Impact.

The bill takes effect October 1, 2017.

II. Present Situation:

Skimming

The practice of "skimming" involves obtaining private information from someone's payment card used in an otherwise normal transaction, such as using an ATM.[1] A person engaging in this practice can obtain a victim's card number in different ways, including photocopying receipts, copying a PIN code, or using an electronic scanning device or reencoder to swipe and store a victim's payment card numbers or transfer the data or information to another card.[2] Skimming can occur at a restaurant or bar where the skimmer has possession of the victim's card out of his or her immediate view.[3] Similarly, skimming can also occur at gas stations when a third-party cardreading device is installed either outside or inside a fuel dispenser[4] or other card-swiping terminal.[5]

Florida Law on Unlawful Use of a Scanning Device or Reencoder

Section 817.625(2), F.S., provides that it a crime to use:

- A scanning device to access, read, obtain, memorize, or store, temporarily or permanently, information encoded on the magnetic strip or stripe of a payment card without the permission of the authorized user of the payment card and with the intent to defraud the authorized user, the issuer of the authorized user's payment card, or a merchant.
- A reencoder to place information encoded on the magnetic strip or stripe of a payment card onto the magnetic strip or stripe of a different card without the permission of the authorized user of the payment card from which the information is being reencoded and with the intent to defraud the authorized user, the issuer of the authorized user's payment card, or a merchant.

A first violation of s. 817.625(2), F.S., is a third degree felony;[6] a second or subsequent violation of this subsection is a second-degree felony.[7] A violation of s. 817.625(2), F.S., is also subject to the Florida Contraband Forfeiture Act (ss. 932.07 – 932.7062, F.S.).[8]

Section 817.625, F.S., provides the following definitions of relevant terms:

- "Scanning device" means a scanner, reader, or any other electronic device that is used to access, read, scan, obtain, memorize, or store, temporarily or permanently, information encoded on the magnetic strip or stripe of a payment card.
- "Reencoder" means an electronic device that places encoded information from the magnetic strip or stripe of a payment card onto the magnetic strip or stripe of a different payment card.
- "Payment card" means a credit card, charge card, debit card, or any other card that is issued to an authorized card user and that allows the user to obtain, purchase, or receive goods, services, money, or anything else of value from a merchant.
- "Merchant" means a person who receives from an authorized user of a payment card, or someone the person believes to be an authorized user, a payment card or information from a payment card, or what the person believes to be a payment card or information from a payment card, as the instrument for obtaining, purchasing, or receiving goods, services, money, or anything else of value from the person.[9]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 amends s. 817.625(2)(a)1., F.S., which currently punishes fraudulent use of a scanning device. The bill modifies this offense to also punish fraudulent use of a skimming device. It also specifies that information unlawfully accessed includes information encoded on a computer chip or other storage mechanism of a payment card.

Section 817.625(2)(a)2., F.S., which currently punishes fraudulent use of a reencoder, is modified to indicate that the reencoder places information encoded on a computer chip, magnetic strip or stripe, or other storage mechanism of a payment card onto a computer chip, magnetic strip or stripe, or other storage mechanism of a different card. The current offense does not mention the terms "computer chip" and "other storage mechanism."

As previously noted, a first violation of s. 817.625(2)(a)1., F.S., or s. 817.625(2)(a)2., F.S., is a third degree felony; a second or subsequent violation is a second degree felony. A violation is also subject to the Florida Contraband Forfeiture Act (ss. 932.07 – 932.7062, F.S.).

Section 817.625(2)(c), F.S., is created, which makes it a third degree felony to knowingly possess, sell, or deliver a skimming device. This paragraph does not apply to the following individuals while acting within the scope of their official duties:

- An employee, officer, or agent of:

[6] Section 817.625(2)(a), F.S. A third degree felony is punishable by up to 5 years in state prison, a fine of up to $5,000, or both. Sections 775.082 and 775.083, F.S. This offense is ranked as a Level 4 offense in s. 921.0022(3)(d), F.S., of the Criminal Punishment Code (Code) offense severity ranking chart.
[7] Section 817.625(2)(b), F.S. A second degree felony is punishable by up to 15 years in state prison, a fine of up to $10,000, or both. Sections 775.082 and 775.083, F.S. This offense is ranked as a Level 5 offense in s. 921.0022(3)(e), F.S.
[9] Section 817.625(a) – (d), F.S.

  - A law enforcement agency or criminal prosecuting authority for the state or the federal government;
  - The state courts system as defined in s. 25.382, F.S., or the federal court system; or
  - An executive branch agency in this state.
- A financial or retail security investigator employed by a merchant.

A person who commits a violation of paragraph (2)(c) is also subject to the Florida Contraband Forfeiture Act (ss. 932.07 – 932.7062, F.S.).

The bill makes the following changes regarding definitions of relevant terms:
- Expands the current definition of "scanning device" to include information encoded on a computer chip or other storage mechanism, or from another device that directly reads the information from a payment card.
- Expands the current definition of "reencoder" to include information encoded on a computer chip or other storage mechanism.
- Provides that the terms "scanning device" and "reencoder" do not include a skimming device.
- Defines "skimming device" as a self-contained device that:
  - Is designed to read and store in the device's internal memory information encoded on the computer chip, magnetic strip or stripe, or other storage mechanism of a payment card or from another device that directly reads the information from a payment card; and
  - Is incapable of processing the payment card information stored for the purpose of obtaining, purchasing, or receiving goods, services, money, or anything else of value from a merchant.

Section 2 amends s. 921.0022, F.S., the Criminal Punishment Code offense severity ranking chart, to rank the new skimming device offense (s. 817.625(2)(c), F.S.) in Level 4. The bill also makes technical conforming changes to the description of s. 817.625(2)(a), F.S., in the chart.

Section 3 provides that the bill takes effect October 1, 2017.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 766 addresses the unlawful practice of "skimming" (fraudulently obtaining private information from someone's payment card). Specifically, the bill:

- Modifies the offense of fraudulent use of a scanning device to also punish fraudulent use of a skimming device, and specifies that information unlawfully accessed includes information encoded on a computer chip or other storage mechanism of a payment card.
- Modifies the offense of fraudulent use of a reencoder to indicate that the reencoder places information encoded on the computer chip, magnetic strip or stripe, or other storage mechanism of a payment card onto a computer chip, magnetic strip or stripe, or other storage mechanism of a different card.
- Provides that it is a third degree felony to knowingly possess, sell, or deliver a skimming device, provides that this offense does not apply to specified officials, and provides that this offense is also subject to the Florida Contraband Forfeiture Act.

The Criminal Justice Impact Conference (CJIC) estimates the bill will have a "positive insignificant" prison bed impact (an increase of 10 or fewer prison beds). See Section V. Fiscal Impact.

The bill takes effect October 1, 2017.

II. Present Situation:

Skimming

The practice of "skimming" involves obtaining private information from someone's payment card used in an otherwise normal transaction, such as using an ATM.[1] A person engaging in this practice can obtain a victim's card number in different ways, including photocopying receipts, copying a PIN code, or using an electronic scanning device or reencoder to swipe and store a victim's payment card numbers or transfer the data or information to another card.[2] Skimming can occur at a restaurant or bar where the skimmer has possession of the victim's card out of his or her immediate view.[3] Similarly, skimming can also occur at gas stations when a third-party cardreading device is installed either outside or inside a fuel dispenser[4] or other card-swiping terminal.[5]

Florida Law on Unlawful Use of a Scanning Device or Reencoder

Section 817.625(2), F.S., provides that it a crime to use:

- A scanning device to access, read, obtain, memorize, or store, temporarily or permanently, information encoded on the magnetic strip or stripe of a payment card without the permission of the authorized user of the payment card and with the intent to defraud the authorized user, the issuer of the authorized user's payment card, or a merchant.
- A reencoder to place information encoded on the magnetic strip or stripe of a payment card onto the magnetic strip or stripe of a different card without the permission of the authorized user of the payment card from which the information is being reencoded and with the intent to defraud the authorized user, the issuer of the authorized user's payment card, or a merchant.

A first violation of s. 817.625(2), F.S., is a third degree felony;[6] a second or subsequent violation of this subsection is a second-degree felony.[7] A violation of s. 817.625(2), F.S., is also subject to the Florida Contraband Forfeiture Act (ss. 932.07 – 932.7062, F.S.).[8]

Section 817.625, F.S., provides the following definitions of relevant terms:

- "Scanning device" means a scanner, reader, or any other electronic device that is used to access, read, scan, obtain, memorize, or store, temporarily or permanently, information encoded on the magnetic strip or stripe of a payment card.
- "Reencoder" means an electronic device that places encoded information from the magnetic strip or stripe of a payment card onto the magnetic strip or stripe of a different payment card.
- "Payment card" means a credit card, charge card, debit card, or any other card that is issued to an authorized card user and that allows the user to obtain, purchase, or receive goods, services, money, or anything else of value from a merchant.
- "Merchant" means a person who receives from an authorized user of a payment card, or someone the person believes to be an authorized user, a payment card or information from a payment card, or what the person believes to be a payment card or information from a payment card, as the instrument for obtaining, purchasing, or receiving goods, services, money, or anything else of value from the person.[9]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 amends s. 817.625(2)(a)1., F.S., which currently punishes fraudulent use of a scanning device. The bill modifies this offense to also punish fraudulent use of a skimming device. It also specifies that information unlawfully accessed includes information encoded on a computer chip or other storage mechanism of a payment card.

Section 817.625(2)(a)2., F.S., which currently punishes fraudulent use of a reencoder, is modified to indicate that the reencoder places information encoded on a computer chip, magnetic strip or stripe, or other storage mechanism of a payment card onto a computer chip, magnetic strip or stripe, or other storage mechanism of a different card. The current offense does not mention the terms "computer chip" and "other storage mechanism."

As previously noted, a first violation of s. 817.625(2)(a)1., F.S., or s. 817.625(2)(a)2., F.S., is a third degree felony; a second or subsequent violation is a second degree felony. A violation is also subject to the Florida Contraband Forfeiture Act (ss. 932.07 – 932.7062, F.S.).

Section 817.625(2)(c), F.S., is created, which makes it a third degree felony to knowingly possess, sell, or deliver a skimming device. This paragraph does not apply to the following individuals while acting within the scope of their official duties:

- An employee, officer, or agent of:

[6] Section 817.625(2)(a), F.S. A third degree felony is punishable by up to 5 years in state prison, a fine of up to $5,000, or both. Sections 775.082 and 775.083, F.S. This offense is ranked as a Level 4 offense in s. 921.0022(3)(d), F.S., of the Criminal Punishment Code (Code) offense severity ranking chart.
[7] Section 817.625(2)(b), F.S. A second degree felony is punishable by up to 15 years in state prison, a fine of up to $10,000, or both. Sections 775.082 and 775.083, F.S. This offense is ranked as a Level 5 offense in s. 921.0022(3)(e), F.S.

  - A law enforcement agency or criminal prosecuting authority for the state or the federal government;
  - The state courts system as defined in s. 25.382, F.S., or the federal court system; or
  - An executive branch agency in this state.
- A financial or retail security investigator employed by a merchant.

A person who commits a violation of paragraph (2)(c) is also subject to the Florida Contraband Forfeiture Act (ss. 932.07 – 932.7062, F.S.).

The bill makes the following changes regarding definitions of relevant terms:
- Expands the current definition of "scanning device" to include information encoded on a computer chip or other storage mechanism, or from another device that directly reads the information from a payment card.
- Expands the current definition of "reencoder" to include information encoded on a computer chip or other storage mechanism.
- Provides that the terms "scanning device" and "reencoder" do not include a skimming device.
- Defines "skimming device" as a self-contained device that:
  - Is designed to read and store in the device's internal memory information encoded on the computer chip, magnetic strip or stripe, or other storage mechanism of a payment card or from another device that directly reads the information from a payment card; and
  - Is incapable of processing the payment card information stored for the purpose of obtaining, purchasing, or receiving goods, services, money, or anything else of value from a merchant.

Section 2 amends s. 921.0022, F.S., the Criminal Punishment Code offense severity ranking chart, to rank the new skimming device offense (s. 817.625(2)(c), F.S.) in Level 4. The bill also makes technical conforming changes to the description of s. 817.625(2)(a), F.S., in the chart.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/CS/SB 1104 adds pyrolysis facilities to those materials and facilities that are exempt from solid waste regulations if a majority of the recovered materials at a facility are demonstrated to be sold, used, or reused within one year. The bill specifies that the phrase "used or reused" includes, but is not limited to, the conversion by gasification or pyrolysis of post-use polymers into crude oil, fuels, feedstocks, or other raw materials or intermediate or final products.

The bill adds new definitions for the following terms related to the bill's addition of pyrolysis facilities to those materials and facilities that are eligible for exemption from solid waste regulations:

- Gasification to fuels, chemicals, and feedstocks;
- Post-use polymers;
- Pyrolysis; and
- Pyrolysis facility.

The bill also amends existing definitions of terms to add references based on the exemption from solid waste regulations for converting post-use polymers by gasification or pyrolysis to fuels, chemicals, and feedstocks.

Finally, the bill provides that a recovered materials dealer may process recovered materials at a pyrolysis facility to satisfy local government registration and reporting requirements for a recovered materials business.

This bill may have a positive fiscal impact on businesses, including governmental entities, operating recovered materials processing facilities that convert recovered materials by pyrolysis or gasification to fuels, chemicals, and feedstocks by exempting them from solid waste regulations.

Under the bill, the Department of Environmental Protection may incur costs relating to rulemaking to conform to the provisions of this legislation. These costs are expected to be insignificant and can be absorbed within current resources.

II. Present Situation:

Gasification

Gasification is a manufacturing process that converts material containing carbon—such as coal, petroleum coke, biomass, or waste—into synthesis gas (syngas) by creating a chemical reaction with the material at high temperatures, without combustion, with a controlled amount of oxygen and/or steam. Gasification may be used to produce electricity, chemicals, fuels, fertilizers, plastics, and other products. The U.S. Department of Energy believes gasification is a method to reduce our nation's dependence on foreign oil and provide a clean, carbon capture–ready source of energy.[1]

Recently, efforts have increased to utilize gasification to convert municipal solid waste (MSW) into energy rather than traditional incineration. Incineration uses MSW as a fuel to create heat and electricity by burning the MSW with high volumes of air to form carbon dioxide and heat. Waste-to-energy plants then use these hot gases to make steam used to generate electricity. During the process, toxins escape in the exhaust steam.[2]

The MSW is not a fuel in the gasification process, but rather is a feedstock[3] for a high temperature chemical conversion process. In the gasifier, MSW reacts with little or no oxygen, breaking down the feedstock into simple molecules and converting them into syngas. Instead of making just heat and electricity as is done with incineration, the syngas produced by gasification can be turned into commercial products such as transportation fuels, chemicals, and fertilizers. Further, the gasification process controls the release of toxins by inhibiting the formation of dioxins or furans by limiting oxygen in the chemical reaction. Lastly, the ash from gasification may be used to make cement, roofing shingles, asphalt filler, and material for sandblasting.[4]

Pyrolysis

Pyrolysis is the heating of a material, such as plastics, at high temperatures in the absence of oxygen. Sometimes this process includes the introduction of pressure or water. Without oxygen, the material does not combust, but rather the chemical compounds that make up the material thermally decompose into gases and oil. Pyrolysis oil may be used directly as fuel or further refined into diesel or jet fuel.[5]

Due to the increased demand for plastics and fuels and limited space in solid waste facilities, solid waste managers have increased efforts to employ pyrolysis on non-recycled plastics. Pyrolysis may be used to decrease the need to dispose plastics in landfills and create a renewable source of energy and fuels.[6] The fuel produced from the pyrolysis of plastics does not contain sulphur because the plastic feedstock does not contain sulphur.[7] Because pyrolysis does not incinerate the plastic waste, the emission of harmful compounds is reduced.[8]

Solid Waste Regulation

"Solid waste" is sludge unregulated under the federal Clean Water Act or Clean Air Act, sludge from a waste treatment works, water supply treatment plant, or air pollution control facility, or garbage, rubbish, refuse, special waste, or other discarded material, including solid, liquid, semisolid, or contained gaseous material resulting from domestic, industrial, commercial, mining, agricultural, or governmental operations.[9]

The Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) implements and enforces the state's solid waste management program.[10] The solid waste management program includes a waste tire management program,[11] administration of solid waste grant programs,[12] and the classification, construction, operation, maintenance, and closure of solid waste management facilities.[13]

[13] Section 403.703(35), F.S., defines a "solid waste management facility" as any solid waste disposal area, volume reduction plant, transfer station, materials recovery facility, or other facility, the purpose of which is resource recovery or the disposal, recycling, processing, or storage of solid waste. The term does not include recovered materials processing facilities that meet the requirements of s. 403.7046, F.S., except the portion of such facilities, if any, which is used for the management of solid waste.

Section 403.7045(1), F.S., exempts certain wastes and activities from regulation under the Resource Recovery and Management Act.[14] This includes exemption of recovered materials and recovered materials processing facilities from solid waste regulations if they meet certain criteria.[15]

"Recovered materials" are metal, paper, glass, plastic, textile, or rubber materials that have known recycling potential, can be feasibly recycled, and have been diverted and source separated or have been removed from the solid waste stream for sale, use, or reuse as raw materials, whether or not the materials require subsequent processing or separation from each other. The term does not include materials destined for any use that constitutes disposal. Recovered materials are not solid waste.[16] A "recovered materials processing facility" is a facility engaged solely in the storage, processing, resale, or reuse of recovered materials.[17] "Recycling" is any process that collects separates, or processes and reuses or returns solid waste, or materials that would otherwise become solid waste, to use in the form of raw materials or products.[18]

Recovered materials or recovered materials processing facilities do not have to meet the solid waste regulations if:

- A majority of the recovered materials at the facility are demonstrated to be sold, used, or reused within one year;
- The recovered materials handled by the facility or the byproducts of operations that process recovered materials are not discharged or deposited upon any land or water by the owner or operator of such facility so that such recovered materials enter the environment such that a threat of contamination in excess of the applicable DEP standards and criteria is caused;
- The recovered materials handled by the facility are not hazardous wastes;[19] and
- The facility is registered with the DEP.[20]

Solid waste regulations that apply to non-exempt recovered materials and recovered materials processing facilities include requirements:

- That a solid waste management facility obtain a permit to store, process, or dispose of solid waste;
- That a permit be obtained to construct, operate, maintain, modify, or close a solid waste management facility;
- For siting, that prohibit the storage or disposal of solid waste in certain areas;

[19] "Hazardous waste" is solid waste, or a combination of solid wastes, that, because of its quantity, concentration, or physical, chemical, or infectious characteristics, may cause, or significantly contribute to, an increase in mortality or an increase in serious irreversible or incapacitating reversible illness or may pose a substantial present or potential hazard to human health or the environment when improperly transported, disposed of, stored, treated, or otherwise managed. s. 403.703(13), F.S.

Any person in Florida who handles, purchases, receives, recovers, sells or is an end user of 600 tons or more of recovered materials must annually report to DEP, and to all counties from which it received materials, certain information for the preceding calendar year, unless such person is exempt. Section 403.7046, F.S., and Fla. Admin. Code R. 62-722.400(2).

- For burning, that place stringent controls on open burning of solid waste and prohibit controlled burning except in a permitted incinerator or at a facility authorized by a site certification order;
- That a solid waste management facility obtain a specific permit to dispose of hazardous waste;
- That prohibit the disposal of certain items in waste-to-energy facilities;[21]
- For leachate control systems; and
- For closure of a facility and providing financial assurance of closure cost coverage.[22]

Solid waste management facility construction and operation permit fees range from $500 to $10,000. Operation permits are valid for 5 years, but may be obtained for longer periods of time by paying a pro-rated fee amount for the number of years in the permit length beyond the five-year term.[23]

The DEP does not require solid waste combustors to obtain a solid waste permit if the facility operates under a current valid permit for a stationary source of air pollution, open burning, or electrical power plant and transmission line siting.[24] A "solid waste combustor" is an enclosed device that uses controlled combustion whose primary purpose is to thermally break down solid, liquid, or gaseous combustible solid wastes to an ash residue that contains little or no combustible material. A solid waste combustor includes any facility that uses incineration, gasification, or pyrolysis to break down solid waste.[25] "Combustion" is the treatment of solid waste in a device that uses heat as the primary means to change the chemical, physical, or biological character or composition of the waste. Combustion processes include incineration, gasification, and pyrolysis.[26]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 2 amends s. 403.7045, F.S., to exempt pyrolysis facilities from solid waste regulations if a majority of the recovered materials at a facility are demonstrated to be sold, used, or reused within one year.[27] This section specifies that the phrase "used or reused" includes, but is not limited to, the conversion by gasification or pyrolysis of post-use polymers into crude oil, fuels, feedstocks, or other raw materials or intermediate or final products.

Section 1 amends s. 403.703, F.S., to add new definitions for terms related to the bill's addition of pyrolysis facilities to those materials and facilities that are eligible for exemption from solid waste regulations, as follows:

- "Gasification" is defined as a process through which post-use polymers are heated and converted to synthesis gas in an oxygen-deficient atmosphere, and then converted to crude oil, fuels, or chemical feedstocks.

- "Post-use polymer" is defined as a plastic polymer that:[28]
  - Is derived from any domestic, commercial, or municipal activity;
  - Not recycled in commercial markets; and
  - May otherwise become waste if not converted to manufacture crude oil, fuels, or other raw materials or intermediate or final products using gasification or pyrolysis.

A post-use polymer may contain incidental contaminants or impurities such as paper labels or metal rings.

- "Pyrolysis" is defined as a process through which post-use polymers are heated in the absence of oxygen until melted and thermally decomposed, and then cooled, condensed, and converted to:
  - Crude oil, diesel, gasoline, home heating oil, or another fuel;
  - Feedstocks;
  - Diesel and gasoline blendstocks;
  - Chemicals, waxes, or lubricants; or
  - Other raw materials or intermediate or final products.
- "Pyrolysis facility" is defined as a facility that receives, separates, stores, and converts post-use polymers, using gasification or pyrolysis.
- A pyrolysis facility meeting the conditions of s. 403.7045(1)(e) (exemption from solid waste regulations) is not a solid waste management facility under the definition.

This section also modifies existing definitions of terms to add references based on the bill's addition of pyrolysis facilities to those materials and facilities that are eligible for exemption from solid waste regulations, as follows:

- "Recycling" is amended to also include any process by which solid waste, or materials that would otherwise become solid waste, are reused or returned to use in the form of intermediate or final products, and further defines raw materials or intermediate or final products as including, but not limited to:
  - Crude oil;
  - Fuels; and
  - Fuel substitutes; and
- "Solid waste management facility" is amended to exclude pyrolysis facilities that meet the requirements of s. 403.7046, F.S, except the portion of such facilities, if any, which is used for the management of solid waste, from the definition.

Section 3 amends s. 403.7046, F.S., to include a pyrolysis facility with a recovered materials processing facility as a facility where a recovered materials dealer may process recovered materials to satisfy local government registration and reporting requirements for a recovered materials business.

Owners or operators of facilities converting recovered materials by pyrolysis or gasification to fuels, chemicals, and feedstocks that are exempted from solid waste regulations under this bill may still be required to meet other regulatory requirements, such as:

- Registering recovered materials processing facilities with DEP;

[28] A polymer is a chemical compound or mixture of compounds formed by polymerization and consisting essentially of repeating structural units. See Merriam-Webster, Polymer, https://www.merriam-webster.com/dictionary/polymer, (last visited March 23, 2017).

- Obtaining a stationary source of air pollution permit;
- Obtaining an open burning permit; or
- Obtaining an electrical power plant and transmission line siting permit.

Lastly, sections 4 through 7 amend ss. 171.205(2), 316.003(28), 377.709(2)(f), and 487.048(1), F.S., respectively, to conform cross-references.

Section 8 provides an effective date of July 1, 2017.

Section 3. Subsection (1) of section 403.7046, Florida Statutes, and paragraph (b) of subsection (3) of that section, are amended to read:

403.7046 Regulation of recovered materials.—

(1) Any person who handles, purchases, receives, recovers, sells, or is an end user of recovered materials or post-use polymers shall annually certify to the department on forms provided by the department. The department may by rule exempt from this requirement generators of recovered materials or post-use polymers; persons who handle or sell recovered materials or post-use polymers as an activity which is incidental to the normal primary business activities of that person; or persons who handle, purchase, receive, recover, sell, or are end users of recovered materials or post-use polymers in small quantities as defined by the department. The department shall adopt rules for the certification of and reporting by such persons and shall establish criteria for revocation of such certification. Such rules shall be designed to elicit, at a minimum, the amount and types of recovered materials or post-use polymers handled by registrants, and the amount and disposal site, or name of person with whom such disposal was arranged, of any solid waste generated by such facility. By February 1 of each year, registrants shall report all required information to the department and to all counties from which it received materials. Such rules may provide for the department to conduct periodic inspections. The department may charge a fee of up to $50 for each registration, which shall be deposited into the Solid Waste Management Trust Fund for implementation of the program.

(3) Except as otherwise provided in this section or pursuant to a special act in effect on or before January 1, 1993, a local government may not require a commercial establishment that generates source-separated recovered materials to sell or otherwise convey its recovered materials to the local government or to a facility designated by the local government, nor may the local government restrict such a generator's right to sell or otherwise convey such recovered materials to any properly certified recovered materials dealer who has satisfied the requirements of this section. A local government may not enact any ordinance that prevents such a dealer from entering into a contract with a commercial establishment to purchase, collect, transport, process, or receive source-separated recovered materials.

(b)1. Before engaging in business within the jurisdiction of the local government, a recovered materials dealer or pyrolysis facility must provide the local government with a copy of the certification provided for in this section. In addition, the local government may establish a registration process whereby a recovered materials dealer or pyrolysis facility must register with the local government before engaging in business within the jurisdiction of the local government. Such registration process is limited to requiring the dealer or pyrolysis facility to register its name, including the owner or operator of the dealer or pyrolysis facility, and, if the dealer or pyrolysis facility is a business entity, its general or limited partners, its corporate officers and directors, its permanent place of business, evidence of its certification under this section, and a certification that the recovered materials or post-use polymers will be processed at a recovered materials processing facility or pyrolysis facility satisfying the requirements of this section. The local government may not use the information provided in the registration application to compete unfairly with the recovered materials dealer until 90 days after receipt of the application. All counties, and municipalities whose population exceeds 35,000 according to the population estimates determined pursuant to s. 186.901, may establish a reporting process that must be limited to the regulations, reporting format, and reporting frequency established by the department pursuant to this section, which must, at a minimum, include requiring the dealer or pyrolysis facility to identify the types and approximate amount of recovered materials or post-use polymers collected, recycled, or reused during the reporting period; the approximate percentage of recovered materials or post-use polymers reused, stored, or delivered to a recovered materials processing facility or pyrolysis facility or disposed of in a solid waste disposal facility; and the locations where any recovered materials or post-use polymers were disposed of as solid waste. The local government may charge the dealer or pyrolysis facility a registration fee commensurate with and no greater than the cost incurred by the local government in operating its registration program. Registration program costs are limited to those costs associated with the activities described in this subparagraph. Any reporting or registration process established by a local government with regard to recovered materials or post-use polymers is governed by this section and department rules adopted pursuant thereto.

2. Information reported under this subsection which, if disclosed, would reveal a trade secret, as defined in s. 812.081, is confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution. This subparagraph is subject to the Open Government Sunset Review Act in accordance with s. 119.15 and shall stand repealed on October 2, 2021, unless reviewed and saved from repeal through reenactment by the Legislature.

Section 4. Subsection (2) of section 171.205, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

171.205 Consent requirements for annexation of land under this part.—Notwithstanding part I, an interlocal service boundary agreement may provide a process for annexation consistent with this section or with part I.

(2) If the area to be annexed includes a privately owned solid waste disposal facility as defined in s. 403.703 ~~s. 403.703(33)~~ which receives municipal solid waste collected within the jurisdiction of multiple local governments, the annexing municipality must set forth in its plan the effects that the annexation of the solid waste disposal facility will have on the other local governments. The plan must also indicate that the owner of the affected solid waste disposal facility has been contacted in writing concerning the annexation, that an agreement between the annexing municipality and the solid waste disposal facility to govern the operations of the solid waste disposal facility if the annexation occurs has been approved, and that the owner of the solid waste disposal facility does not object to the proposed annexation.

Section 5. Subsection (28) of section 316.003, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

316.003 Definitions.—The following words and phrases, when used in this chapter, shall have the meanings respectively ascribed to them in this section, except where the context otherwise requires:

(28) HAZARDOUS MATERIAL.—Any substance or material which has been determined by the secretary of the United States Department of Transportation to be capable of imposing an unreasonable risk to health, safety, and property. This term includes hazardous waste as defined in s. 403.703 ~~s. 403.703(13)~~.

Section 6. Paragraph (f) of subsection (2) of section 377.709, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

377.709 Funding by electric utilities of local governmental solid waste facilities that generate electricity.—

(2) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section, the term:

(f) "Solid waste facility" means a facility owned or operated by, or on behalf of, a local government for the purpose of disposing of solid waste, as ~~that term is~~ defined in s. 403.703 ~~s. 403.703(32)~~, by any process that produces heat and incorporates, as a part of the facility, the means of converting heat to electrical energy in amounts greater than actually required for the operation of the facility.

445720

576-03824-17

Section 7. Subsection (1) of section 487.048, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

487.048 Dealer's license; records.—

(1) Each person holding or offering for sale, selling, or distributing restricted-use pesticides must obtain a dealer's license from the department. Application for the license shall be filed with the department by using a form prescribed by the department or by using the department's website. The license must be obtained before entering into business or transferring ownership of a business. The department may require examination or other proof of competency of individuals to whom licenses are issued or of individuals employed by persons to whom licenses are issued. Demonstration of continued competency may be required for license renewal, as set by rule. The license shall be renewed annually as provided by rule. An annual license fee not exceeding $250 shall be established by rule. However, a user of a restricted-use pesticide may distribute unopened containers of a properly labeled pesticide to another user who is legally entitled to use that restricted-use pesticide without obtaining a pesticide dealer license. The exclusive purpose of distribution of the restricted-use pesticide is to keep it from becoming a hazardous waste as defined in s. 403.703 ~~s. 403.703(13)~~.

Section 8. This act shall take effect July 1, 2017.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 1104 adds pyrolysis facilities to those materials and facilities that are exempt from solid waste regulations if a majority of the recovered materials at a facility are demonstrated to be sold, used, or reused within one year. The bill specifies that the phrase "used or reused" includes, but is not limited to, the conversion by gasification or pyrolysis of post-use polymers into crude oil, fuels, feedstocks, or other raw materials or intermediate or final products.

The bill adds new definitions for the following terms related to the bill's addition of pyrolysis facilities to those materials and facilities that are eligible for exemption from solid waste regulations:

- Gasification to fuels, chemicals, and feedstocks;
- Post-use polymers;
- Pyrolysis; and
- Pyrolysis facility.

The bill also amends existing definitions of terms to add references based on the exemption from solid waste regulations for converting post-use polymers by gasification or pyrolysis to fuels, chemicals, and feedstocks.

Finally, the bill provides that a recovered materials dealer may process recovered materials at a pyrolysis facility to satisfy local government registration and reporting requirements for a recovered materials business.

This bill may have a positive fiscal impact on businesses, including governmental entities, operating recovered materials processing facilities that convert recovered materials by pyrolysis or gasification to fuels, chemicals, and feedstocks by exempting them from solid waste regulations.

Under the bill, the Department of Environmental Protection may incur costs relating to rulemaking to conform to the provisions of this legislation. These costs are expected to be insignificant and can be absorbed within current resources.

II. Present Situation:

Gasification

Gasification is a manufacturing process that converts material containing carbon—such as coal, petroleum coke, biomass, or waste—into synthesis gas (syngas) by creating a chemical reaction with the material at high temperatures, without combustion, with a controlled amount of oxygen and/or steam. Gasification may be used to produce electricity, chemicals, fuels, fertilizers, plastics, and other products. The U.S. Department of Energy believes gasification is a method to reduce our nation's dependence on foreign oil and provide a clean, carbon capture–ready source of energy.[1]

Recently, efforts have increased to utilize gasification to convert municipal solid waste (MSW) into energy rather than traditional incineration. Incineration uses MSW as a fuel to create heat and electricity by burning the MSW with high volumes of air to form carbon dioxide and heat. Waste-to-energy plants then use these hot gases to make steam used to generate electricity. During the process, toxins escape in the exhaust steam.[2]

The MSW is not a fuel in the gasification process, but rather is a feedstock[3] for a high temperature chemical conversion process. In the gasifier, MSW reacts with little or no oxygen, breaking down the feedstock into simple molecules and converting them into syngas. Instead of making just heat and electricity as is done with incineration, the syngas produced by gasification can be turned into commercial products such as transportation fuels, chemicals, and fertilizers. Further, the gasification process controls the release of toxins by inhibiting the formation of dioxins or furans by limiting oxygen in the chemical reaction. Lastly, the ash from gasification may be used to make cement, roofing shingles, asphalt filler, and material for sandblasting.[4]

Pyrolysis

Pyrolysis is the heating of a material, such as plastics, at high temperatures in the absence of oxygen. Sometimes this process includes the introduction of pressure or water. Without oxygen, the material does not combust, but rather the chemical compounds that make up the material thermally decompose into gases and oil. Pyrolysis oil may be used directly as fuel or further refined into diesel or jet fuel.[5]

Due to the increased demand for plastics and fuels and limited space in solid waste facilities, solid waste managers have increased efforts to employ pyrolysis on non-recycled plastics. Pyrolysis may be used to decrease the need to dispose plastics in landfills and create a renewable source of energy and fuels.[6] The fuel produced from the pyrolysis of plastics does not contain sulphur because the plastic feedstock does not contain sulphur.[7] Because pyrolysis does not incinerate the plastic waste, the emission of harmful compounds is reduced.[8]

Solid Waste Regulation

"Solid waste" is sludge unregulated under the federal Clean Water Act or Clean Air Act, sludge from a waste treatment works, water supply treatment plant, or air pollution control facility, or garbage, rubbish, refuse, special waste, or other discarded material, including solid, liquid, semisolid, or contained gaseous material resulting from domestic, industrial, commercial, mining, agricultural, or governmental operations.[9]

The Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) implements and enforces the state's solid waste management program.[10] The solid waste management program includes a waste tire management program,[11] administration of solid waste grant programs,[12] and the classification, construction, operation, maintenance, and closure of solid waste management facilities.[13]

[13] Section 403.703(35), F.S., defines a "solid waste management facility" as any solid waste disposal area, volume reduction plant, transfer station, materials recovery facility, or other facility, the purpose of which is resource recovery or the disposal, recycling, processing, or storage of solid waste. The term does not include recovered materials processing facilities that meet the requirements of s. 403.7046, F.S., except the portion of such facilities, if any, which is used for the management of solid waste.

Section 403.7045(1), F.S., exempts certain wastes and activities from regulation under the Resource Recovery and Management Act.[14] This includes exemption of recovered materials and recovered materials processing facilities from solid waste regulations if they meet certain criteria.[15]

"Recovered materials" are metal, paper, glass, plastic, textile, or rubber materials that have known recycling potential, can be feasibly recycled, and have been diverted and source separated or have been removed from the solid waste stream for sale, use, or reuse as raw materials, whether or not the materials require subsequent processing or separation from each other. The term does not include materials destined for any use that constitutes disposal. Recovered materials are not solid waste.[16] A "recovered materials processing facility" is a facility engaged solely in the storage, processing, resale, or reuse of recovered materials.[17] "Recycling" is any process that collects separates, or processes and reuses or returns solid waste, or materials that would otherwise become solid waste, to use in the form of raw materials or products.[18]

Recovered materials or recovered materials processing facilities do not have to meet the solid waste regulations if:

- A majority of the recovered materials at the facility are demonstrated to be sold, used, or reused within one year;
- The recovered materials handled by the facility or the byproducts of operations that process recovered materials are not discharged or deposited upon any land or water by the owner or operator of such facility so that such recovered materials enter the environment such that a threat of contamination in excess of the applicable DEP standards and criteria is caused;
- The recovered materials handled by the facility are not hazardous wastes;[19] and
- The facility is registered with the DEP.[20]

Solid waste regulations that apply to non-exempt recovered materials and recovered materials processing facilities include requirements:

- That a solid waste management facility obtain a permit to store, process, or dispose of solid waste;
- That a permit be obtained to construct, operate, maintain, modify, or close a solid waste management facility;
- For siting, that prohibit the storage or disposal of solid waste in certain areas;

[19] "Hazardous waste" is solid waste, or a combination of solid wastes, that, because of its quantity, concentration, or physical, chemical, or infectious characteristics, may cause, or significantly contribute to, an increase in mortality or an increase in serious irreversible or incapacitating reversible illness or may pose a substantial present or potential hazard to human health or the environment when improperly transported, disposed of, stored, treated, or otherwise managed. s. 403.703(13), F.S.
[20] Section 403.7045(1)(e), F.S.; Fla. Admin. Code R. 62-701.220(2)(c). Any person in Florida who handles, purchases, receives, recovers, sells or is an end user of 600 tons or more of recovered materials must annually report to DEP, and to all counties from which it received materials, certain information for the preceding calendar year, unless such person is exempt. Section 403.7046, F.S., and Fla. Admin. Code R. 62-722.400(2).

- For burning, that place stringent controls on open burning of solid waste and prohibit controlled burning except in a permitted incinerator or at a facility authorized by a site certification order;
- That a solid waste management facility obtain a specific permit to dispose of hazardous waste;
- That prohibit the disposal of certain items in waste-to-energy facilities;[21]
- For leachate control systems; and
- For closure of a facility and providing financial assurance of closure cost coverage.[22]

Solid waste management facility construction and operation permit fees range from $500 to $10,000. Operation permits are valid for 5 years, but may be obtained for longer periods of time by paying a pro-rated fee amount for the number of years in the permit length beyond the five-year term.[23]

The DEP does not require solid waste combustors to obtain a solid waste permit if the facility operates under a current valid permit for a stationary source of air pollution, open burning, or electrical power plant and transmission line siting.[24] A "solid waste combustor" is an enclosed device that uses controlled combustion whose primary purpose is to thermally break down solid, liquid, or gaseous combustible solid wastes to an ash residue that contains little or no combustible material. A solid waste combustor includes any facility that uses incineration, gasification, or pyrolysis to break down solid waste.[25] "Combustion" is the treatment of solid waste in a device that uses heat as the primary means to change the chemical, physical, or biological character or composition of the waste. Combustion processes include incineration, gasification, and pyrolysis.[26]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 2 amends s. 403.7045, F.S., to exempt pyrolysis facilities from solid waste regulations if a majority of the recovered materials at a facility are demonstrated to be sold, used, or reused within one year.[27] This section specifies that the phrase "used or reused" includes, but is not limited to, the conversion by gasification or pyrolysis of post-use polymers into crude oil, fuels, feedstocks, or other raw materials or intermediate or final products.

Section 1 amends s. 403.703, F.S., to add new definitions for terms related to the bill's addition of pyrolysis facilities to those materials and facilities that are eligible for exemption from solid waste regulations, as follows:

- "Gasification" is defined as a process through which post-use polymers are heated and converted to synthesis gas in an oxygen-deficient atmosphere, and then converted to crude oil, fuels, or chemical feedstocks.

[27] Section 403.7045(1)(e)1., F.S.

- "Post-use polymer" is defined as a plastic polymer that:[28]
  - Is derived from any domestic, commercial, or municipal activity;
  - Not recycled in commercial markets; and
  - May otherwise become waste if not converted to manufacture crude oil, fuels, or other raw materials or intermediate or final products using gasification or pyrolysis.

A post-use polymer may contain incidental contaminants or impurities such as paper labels or metal rings.

- "Pyrolysis" is defined as a process through which post-use polymers are heated in the absence of oxygen until melted and thermally decomposed, and then cooled, condensed, and converted to:
  - Crude oil, diesel, gasoline, home heating oil, or another fuel;
  - Feedstocks;
  - Diesel and gasoline blendstocks;
  - Chemicals, waxes, or lubricants; or
  - Other raw materials or intermediate or final products.
- "Pyrolysis facility" is defined as a facility that receives, separates, stores, and converts post-use polymers, using gasification or pyrolysis.
- A pyrolysis facility meeting the conditions of s. 403.7045(1)(e) (exemption from solid waste regulations) is not a solid waste management facility under the definition.

This section also modifies existing definitions of terms to add references based on the bill's addition of pyrolysis facilities to those materials and facilities that are eligible for exemption from solid waste regulations, as follows:

- "Recycling" is amended to also include any process by which solid waste, or materials that would otherwise become solid waste, are reused or returned to use in the form of intermediate or final products, and further defines raw materials or intermediate or final products as including, but not limited to:
  - Crude oil;
  - Fuels; and
  - Fuel substitutes; and
- "Solid waste management facility" is amended to exclude pyrolysis facilities that meet the requirements of s. 403.7046, F.S, except the portion of such facilities, if any, which is used for the management of solid waste, from the definition.

Section 3 amends s. 403.7046, F.S., to include a pyrolysis facility with a recovered materials processing facility as a facility where a recovered materials dealer may process recovered materials to satisfy local government registration and reporting requirements for a recovered materials business.

Owners or operators of facilities converting recovered materials by pyrolysis or gasification to fuels, chemicals, and feedstocks that are exempted from solid waste regulations under this bill may still be required to meet other regulatory requirements, such as:

- Registering recovered materials processing facilities with DEP;

[28] A polymer is a chemical compound or mixture of compounds formed by polymerization and consisting essentially of repeating structural units. See Merriam-Webster, Polymer, https://www.merriam-webster.com/dictionary/polymer, (last visited March 23, 2017).

- Obtaining a stationary source of air pollution permit;
- Obtaining an open burning permit; or
- Obtaining an electrical power plant and transmission line siting permit.

Lastly, sections 4 through 7 amend ss. 171.205(2), 316.003(28), 377.709(2)(f), and 487.048(1), F.S., respectively, to conform cross-references.

Section 8 provides an effective date of July 1, 2017.

Sludge from an industrial waste treatment works that meets the exemption requirements of this paragraph is not solid waste as defined in s. 403.703 ~~403.703(32)~~.

Section 3. Paragraph (b) of subsection (3) of section 403.7046, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

403.7046 Regulation of recovered materials.—

(3) Except as otherwise provided in this section or pursuant to a special act in effect on or before January 1, 1993, a local government may not require a commercial establishment that generates source-separated recovered materials to sell or otherwise convey its recovered materials to the local government or to a facility designated by the local government, nor may the local government restrict such a generator's right to sell or otherwise convey such recovered materials to any properly certified recovered materials dealer who has satisfied the requirements of this section. A local government may not enact any ordinance that prevents such a dealer from entering into a contract with a commercial establishment to purchase, collect, transport, process, or receive source-separated recovered materials.

(b)1. Before engaging in business within the jurisdiction of the local government, a recovered materials dealer must provide the local government with a copy of the certification provided for in this section. In addition, the local government may establish a registration process whereby a recovered materials dealer must register with the local government before engaging in business within the jurisdiction of the local government. Such registration process is limited to requiring the dealer to register its name, including the owner or operator of the dealer, and, if the dealer is a business entity, its general or limited partners, its corporate officers and directors, its permanent place of business, evidence of its certification under this section, and a certification that the recovered materials will be processed at a recovered materials processing facility or pyrolysis facility satisfying the requirements of this section. The local government may not use the information provided in the registration application to compete unfairly with the recovered materials dealer until 90 days after receipt of the application. All counties, and municipalities whose population exceeds 35,000 according to the population estimates determined pursuant to s. 186.901, may establish a reporting process that must be limited to the regulations, reporting format, and reporting frequency established by the department pursuant to this section, which must, at a minimum, include requiring the dealer to identify the types and approximate amount of recovered materials collected, recycled, or reused during the reporting period; the approximate percentage of recovered materials reused, stored, or delivered to a recovered materials processing facility or pyrolysis facility or disposed of in a solid waste disposal facility; and the locations where any recovered materials were disposed of as solid waste. The local government may charge the dealer a registration fee commensurate with and no greater than the cost incurred by the local government in operating its registration program. Registration program costs are limited to those costs associated with the activities described in this subparagraph. Any reporting or registration process established by a local government with regard to recovered materials is governed by this section and department rules adopted pursuant thereto.

2. Information reported under this subsection which, if disclosed, would reveal a trade secret, as defined in s. 812.081, is confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution. This subparagraph is subject to the Open Government Sunset Review Act in accordance with s. 119.15 and shall stand repealed on October 2, 2021, unless reviewed and saved from repeal through reenactment by the Legislature.

Section 4. Subsection (2) of section 171.205, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

171.205 Consent requirements for annexation of land under this part.—Notwithstanding part I, an interlocal service boundary agreement may provide a process for annexation consistent with this section or with part I.

(2) If the area to be annexed includes a privately owned solid waste disposal facility as defined in s. 403.703 ~~403.703(33)~~ which receives municipal solid waste collected within the jurisdiction of multiple local governments, the annexing municipality must set forth in its plan the effects that the annexation of the solid waste disposal facility will have on the other local governments. The plan must also indicate that the owner of the affected solid waste disposal facility has been contacted in writing concerning the annexation, that an agreement between the annexing municipality and the solid waste disposal facility to govern the operations of the solid waste disposal facility if the annexation occurs has been approved, and that the owner of the solid waste disposal facility does not object to the proposed annexation.

Section 5. Subsection (28) of section 316.003, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

316.003 Definitions.—The following words and phrases, when used in this chapter, shall have the meanings respectively ascribed to them in this section, except where the context otherwise requires:

(28) HAZARDOUS MATERIAL.—Any substance or material which has been determined by the secretary of the United States Department of Transportation to be capable of imposing an unreasonable risk to health, safety, and property. This term includes hazardous waste as defined in s. 403.703 ~~403.703(13)~~.

Section 6. Paragraph (f) of subsection (2) of section 377.709, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

377.709 Funding by electric utilities of local governmental solid waste facilities that generate electricity.—

(2) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section, the term:

(f) "Solid waste facility" means a facility owned or operated by, or on behalf of, a local government for the purpose of disposing of solid waste, as ~~that term is~~ defined in s. 403.703 ~~403.703(32)~~, by any process that produces heat and incorporates, as a part of the facility, the means of converting heat to electrical energy in amounts greater than actually required for the operation of the facility.

Section 7. Subsection (1) of section 487.048, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

487.048 Dealer's license; records.—

(1) Each person holding or offering for sale, selling, or distributing restricted-use pesticides must obtain a dealer's license from the department. Application for the license shall be filed with the department by using a form prescribed by the department or by using the department's website. The license must be obtained before entering into business or transferring ownership of a business. The department may require examination or other proof of competency of individuals to whom licenses are issued or of individuals employed by persons to whom licenses are issued. Demonstration of continued competency may be required for license renewal, as set by rule. The license shall be renewed annually as provided by rule. An annual license fee not exceeding $250 shall be established by rule. However, a user of a restricted-use pesticide may distribute unopened containers of a properly labeled pesticide to another user who is legally entitled to use that restricted-use pesticide without obtaining a pesticide dealer license. The exclusive purpose of distribution of the restricted-use pesticide is to keep it from becoming a hazardous waste as defined in s. 403.703 ~~403.703(13)~~.

Section 8. This act shall take effect July 1, 2017.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 1372 authorizes certified electrical contractors and alarm system contractors (certified contractors) to:

- Act as prime contractors on a project when the majority of the contracted work is within the scope of the certified contractor's license; or
- Subcontract to other licensed contractors any contracted work on a project that is outside the scope of the certified contractor's license.

The bill is similar to Part I of ch. 489, F.S., which authorizes prime contracting and subcontracting by construction contractors.

The bill also changes the process by which revisions are made to the Florida Building Code.

Current law requires the Florida Building Commission (commission) to revise the Florida Building Code every three years to automatically adopt the most recent versions of the International Code Council I-Codes (I-Codes) and the International Energy Conservation Code (IECC) into the foundation of the Florida Building Code. Additionally, under current law, amendments and modifications to the Florida Building Code only remain in effect until the effective date of a new edition of the Florida Building Code.

Under the new process, the commission must use the I-Codes, the National Electric Code (NFPA), or other nationally adopted model codes and standards for updates to the Florida Building Code. The commission must adopt an updated Florida Building Code every three years through reviews of the I-Codes, all of which are copyrighted and published by the International Code Council, and the National Electrical Code, which is copyrighted and published by the National Fire Protection Association.

However, the commission must adopt any provision from the I-Codes, the National Electrical Code, or any other code necessary to maintain eligibility for federal funding from the National Flood Insurance Program, the Federal Emergency Management Agency, and the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development and maintain the efficiencies of the Florida Energy Efficiency Code for Building Construction. If amendments or modifications are made to the Florida Building Code, those amendments and modifications will be carried forward until the next edition of the Florida Building Code. The Florida Building Code updating process will remain on a three-year cycle.

In addition, the bill provides that a technical amendment to the Florida Building Code related to water conservation practices or design criteria adopted by a local government is not rendered void when the Florida Building Code is updated if the amendment is necessary to protect or provide for more efficient use of water resources as provided in s. 373.621, F.S. However, any such technical amendment carried forward into the next edition of the Florida Building Code is subject to review or modification.

The bill also requires the commission to adopt the Florida Building Code by a two-thirds vote of the members present. Furthermore, a technical advisory committee may favorably recommend a proposal to the commission with a two-thirds vote of the members present.

The bill has an insignificant fiscal impact to the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR), which can be handled with existing resources. See Section V. Fiscal Impact Statement.

II. Present Situation:

Construction Contracting

Chapter 489, F.S., dealing with construction contracting, provides for the regulation of contractors based on the type of contracting engaged in by the contractor. Part I of ch. 489, F.S., relating to construction contracting, addresses regulation of the construction industry.[1] Part II of ch. 489, F.S., deals with the licensing of electrical and alarm system contractors.[2]

The Construction Industry Licensing Board (CILB) within the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR) is responsible for licensing and regulating the construction industry in this state.[3] The CILB is divided into two divisions with separate jurisdictions:

[1] See ss. 489.101-489.146, F.S.
[2] See ss. 489.501-489.538, F.S. Part III, dealing with registration of septic tank contractors is not relevant to SB 1372; see ss. 489.551-489.558, F.S.
[3] See s. 489.107, F.S.

- Division I is comprised of the general contractor, building contractor, and residential contractor members of the CILB. Division I has jurisdiction over the regulation of general contractors, building contractors, and residential contractors.[4]
- Division II is comprised of the roofing contractor, sheet metal contractor, air-conditioning contractor, mechanical contractor, pool contractor, plumbing contractor, and underground utility and excavation contractor members of the CILB. Division II has jurisdiction over the regulation of roofing contractors, sheet metal contractors, class A, B, and C air-conditioning contractors, mechanical contractors, commercial pool/spa contractors, residential pool/spa contractors, swimming pool/spa servicing contractors, plumbing contractors, underground utility and excavation contractors, solar contractors, and pollutant storage systems contractors.[5]

A specialty contractor is one whose scope of work and responsibility is limited to a particular phase of construction as detailed in an administrative rule adopted by the CILB. Jurisdiction is dependent on the scope of work and whether Division I or Division II has jurisdiction over such work in accordance with the applicable administrative rule.[6]

The CILB is authorized to:
- Reprimand or place licensees on probation;
- Revoke, suspend, or deny the issuance or renewal of a certificate or registration;
- Require financial restitution to a consumer for financial harm directly related to a violation;
- Impose an administrative fine not to exceed $10,000 per violation;
- Require continuing education; or
- Assess costs associated with investigation and prosecution.[7]

Electrical and Alarm System Contracting

Part II of ch. 489, F.S., dealing with electrical and alarm system contracting, sets forth requirements for qualified persons to be licensed if they have sufficient technical expertise in the applicable trade and have been tested on technical and business matters.[8] The Electrical Contractors' Licensing Board (ECLB) in the DBPR implements part II of ch. 489, F.S.[9]
An alarm system is "any electrical device, signaling device, or combination of electrical devices used to signal or detect a burglary, fire, robbery, or medical emergency."[10] An alarm system includes home-automation equipment, thermostats, and video cameras.[11]

Electrical contractors and alarm system contractors are certified or registered under the ECLB. Certified contractors are those who can practice statewide and are licensed and regulated by the ECLB. Registered contractors are those licensed and regulated by a local jurisdiction and who may practice within that locality.[12]

Generally, an "electrical contractor" is a person who has the ability to work on electrical wiring, fixtures, appliances, apparatus, raceways, and conduits that generate, transmit, transform, or utilize electrical energy in any form.[13] The scope of an electrical contractor's license includes alarm system work. [14]

Generally, an "alarm system contractor" is a person who is able to lay out, fabricate, install, maintain, alter, repair, monitor, inspect, replace, or service alarm systems.[15] An "alarm system" is defined as "any electrical device, signaling device, or combination of electrical devices used to signal or detect a burglary, fire, robbery, or medical emergency."[16]

In order to become a certified electrical contractor or alarm system contractor, a person at least 18 years of age must submit an application to the DBPR and meet the following criteria:

- Be of good moral character;
- Pass the certification examination, achieving a passing grade as established by the ECLB rule; and
- Meet eligibility requirements according to one of the following criteria:
  - Three years of management experience or education equivalent thereto, not more than half of which may be an educational equivalent, within the last six years;
  - Four years of supervisory experience within the last eight years;
  - Six years of training, education, or supervisory experience within the last 12 years;
  - any combination of qualifications under the three previous options totaling six years within the last 12 years; or
  - Three years as a professional electrical engineer within the last 12 years.[17]

Electrical contractors and alarm system contractors are only permitted to perform contracting within their scope of practice. Contracting includes the attempted sale of contracting services and the negotiation or bid for a contract on these services.[18]

Electrical contractors are specifically permitted to contract for certain work outside the scope of licensure, limited to excavation, paving, related incidental work, and the work of specialty electrical contractors, provided the electrical contractor properly subcontracts all work outside the scope of her or his licensure.[19] There are no similar statutory provisions for alarm system contractors.

The DBPR may also issue geographically unlimited certificates of competency to an alarm system contractor (certificateholder).[20] The scope of certification is limited to specific alarm circuits and equipment.[21] No mandatory licensure requirement is created by the availability of a certification.[22]

Authority to Act as Prime Contractor or to Subcontract Work

Under s. 489.113(9)(a), F.S., no provision in part I of ch. 489, F.S., prevents any contractor from acting as a prime contractor[23] where the majority of the work to be performed under the contract is within the scope of his or her license or from subcontracting to other licensed contractors work that is part of the project. Currently, the ECLB and DBPR read Florida law regulating the CILB contractors and the ECLB contractors in conjunction with each other.[24] As such, authority granted to "contractors" to act as prime contractor has been interpreted to also apply to electrical contractors and alarm system contractors.[25]

The Florida Building Code and the Florida Building Commission

In 1974, Florida adopted a state minimum building code law requiring all local governments to adopt and enforce a building code that would ensure minimum standards for the public's health and safety. Four separate model codes were available that local governments could consider and adopt. In that system, the state's role was limited to adopting all or relevant parts of new editions of the four model codes. Local governments could amend and enforce their local codes, as they desired.[26]

In 1996, a study commission was appointed to review the system of local codes created by the 1974 law and to make recommendations for modernizing the entire system. The 1998 Legislature adopted the study commission's recommendations for a single state building code and an enhanced oversight role for the state in local code enforcement. The 2000 Legislature authorized implementation of the Florida Building Code, and that first edition replaced all local codes on March 1, 2002. In 2004, for the second edition of the Florida Building Code, the state adopted the International Code Council I-Codes (I-Codes).[27] All subsequent Florida Building Codes have been adopted utilizing the I-Codes as the base code. The most recent Florida Building Code is the fifth edition, which is referred to as the 2014 Florida Building Code. The 2014 Florida Building Code went into effect June 30, 2015.[28]

The commission was statutorily created to implement the Florida Building Code. The commission, which is housed within the DBPR, is a 27-member technical body responsible for the development, maintenance, and interpretation of the Florida Building Code. The commission also approves products for statewide acceptance. Members are appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate and include design professionals, contractors, and government experts in the various disciplines covered by the Florida Building Code.[29]
