COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/CS/SB 1632 is an omnibus special district bill that reorganizes, renumbers and makes numerous technical and conforming changes to special district provisions in ch. 189, F.S. The bill outlines a process by which the Joint Legislative Auditing Committee (JLAC) and the Department of Economic Opportunity (DEO) may enforce reporting and other requirements when special districts fall out of compliance with their obligations or become inactive. After notifying the DEO, relevant legislators and the local general-purpose government, and after a public hearing, the JLAC may request that the DEO file a petition for enforcement with the Circuit Court of Leon County. Additionally, the bill:

- Requires special districts to maintain a website that offers the public specified information;
- Requires special districts to give the website address to the DEO for publication on its website;
- Amends the definition of agency in the Code of Ethics to specifically include special districts;
- Redefines the term special district in s. 189.403, F.S.;
- Removes provisions concerning a special district's application to amend its charter;
- Amends the circumstances under which the DEO may declare a special district inactive;
- Requires the DEO to notify the chair of the county legislative delegation and the Legislative Auditing Committee;
- Prohibits inactive districts from collecting taxes, fees, and assessments;

- Changes the required education for new special district members;
- Revises the provisions concerning the failure to file certain reports;
- Requires administrative fees to be placed into the Operating Trust Fund (see Section VI); and
- Requires public hearings concerning certain noncompliance.

The bill provides that any downtown development authority that was established before the effective date of the 1968 constitution and has its millage approved by a municipality is an independent special taxing district. The governing body of the municipality is authorized to levy an additional ad valorem tax on all real and personal property in the downtown district to finance the operations of the downtown development authority. The ad valorem tax levied for the authority is in addition to regular ad valorem taxes; however, the combined levy may not exceed the maximum levy provided by the constitution.

The fiscal impact of the bill on the DEO, the JLAC, and local governments is indeterminate, but expected to be minimal. See Section V.

II. Present Situation:

Special Districts

Special districts are local units of special purpose government, within limited geographical areas, which are used to manage, own, operate, maintain, and finance basic capital infrastructure, facilities, and services. Special districts have existed in Florida since 1845 when the Legislature authorized five commissioners to drain the "Alachua Savannah" also known as Paynes Prairie. The project was financed by special assessments made on landowners based on the number of acres owned and the benefit derived. Since that time, special districts have been used by local governments to provide a broad range of government services. All special districts must comply with the requirements of the Uniform Special District Accountability Act of 1989 which was enacted by the Legislature to reform and consolidate laws relating to special districts. Chapter 189, F.S., applies to the formation, governance, administration, supervision, merger and dissolution of special districts unless otherwise expressly provided in law.[1] The Act includes an extensive statement of legislative intent emphasizing improved accountability to state and local governments, better communication and coordination in monitoring required reporting of special districts, and improved uniformity in special district elections and non-ad valorem assessments. The statement also specifies the elements required in the charter of each new district.[2]

Special districts serve a limited purpose, function as an administrative unit separate and apart from the county or city in which they may be located, and are often referred to as a local unit of special purpose. Special districts may be created by general law (an act of the Legislature), by special act (a law enacted by the Legislature at the request of a local government and affecting only that local government), by local ordinance, or by rule of the Governor and Cabinet.

The Special District Information Program (SDIP) within the Department of Economic Opportunity (DEO) serves as the clearinghouse for special district information, and maintains a list of special districts categorized by function which can include community development districts (575), community redevelopment districts (213), downtown development districts (14), drainage and water control districts (86), economic development districts (11), fire control and rescue districts (65), mosquito control districts (18), and soil and water conservation districts (62).[3] There are a total of 1,634 special districts in Florida. There are two types of special districts, dependent and independent. There are 1,008 independent special districts and 644 dependent special districts.

Each special district must file with the SDIP the ordinance or document creating the district, amendments to the creation document, and a written statement referencing the basis for the district's dependent or independent status. The SDIP enforces compliance with financial reporting requirements and currently collects an annual special district fee of $175 to cover administrative costs of the SDIP.[4]

Dependent Special Districts

A dependent special district meets at least one of the following criteria:

- The special district governing body members are the same as the governing body members of the county or city that created the district;
- The special district governing board members are appointed by the governing body of the county or city that created the district;
- During the terms of membership, the governing board members of the special district are subject to removal at will by the governing body of the county or city that created the district;
- The special district budget must be approved by an affirmative vote of the governing body of the county or city that created the district; or
- The special district budget can be vetoed by the governing body of the county or city that created the district.

The ordinance creating a dependent special district must provide the following:

- A statement referencing the district's dependent status, including a statement that explains why the special district is the best way to provide the service being provided;
- The purpose, powers, functions, authority, and duties of the district;
- District boundaries;
- The membership, organization, compensation, and administrative duties of the special district governing board;
- Applicable financial disclosure, noticing, and reporting requirements;
- The method by which the special district will be financed; and
- A declaration that the creation of the special district is consistent with the approved local government comprehensive plan.

[3] Information relating to special districts and their functions can be found in the SDIP online publication "Florida Special District Handbook Online" which can be found at http://www.floridaspecialdistricts.org/handbook/.
[4] Section 189.427, F.S., requires the DEO to establish a schedule of fees to pay one-half of the costs incurred by the department in administering the Act. The fee may not exceed $175 per district per year.

Independent Special Districts

An independent special district does not have any of the characteristics of a dependent district, may encompass more than one county unless the district lies wholly within the boundaries of one city, and generally is created by an act of the Legislature. However, counties and cities may create community development districts of less than 1,000 acres,[5] public hospital districts,[6] county children's services districts,[7] and county health and mental health care districts.[8] Two or more counties may create regional jail districts,[9] and any combination of counties or cities, or both, may create regional water supply authorities.[10] Regional transportation authorities may be created by any combination of contiguous counties, cities, or other political subdivisions.[11] Finally, the Governor and the Cabinet, sitting as the Florida Land and Water Adjudicatory Commission, have the authority to create community development districts.[12]

With the exception of a community development district, the charter creating an independent special district must contain the following information:

- The purpose of the special district;
- The powers, functions and duties of the special district relating to ad valorem taxes, bonds and other revenue-raising abilities, budget preparation and approval, liens and lien foreclosures, and the use of tax deeds and certificates for non-ad valorem assessments and contractual agreements;
- Method for establishing the district and amending the district charter;
- The membership, organization, compensation, and administrative duties of the governing board and its members;
- Applicable financial disclosure, noticing, and reporting requirements;
- Procedures and requirements for bond issues, if the special district will issue bonds;
- Election procedures and requirements;
- Method for financing the district;
- Authorized millage rate, and methods for collecting non-ad valorem assessments, fees, or service charges;
- Planning requirements; and
- District boundaries.

Downtown Development Authorities

Florida currently has 14 downtown development authorities (DDAs).[13] A downtown development authority (DDA) is formed for the purpose of preventing deterioration of property values within a municipal area.[14] Most current DDAs were created pursuant to special laws; however, the process to create a DDA has changed since their use began in 1965.

The first DDAs were authorized by chapter 65-1090, L.O.F. A municipality with a population in excess of 250,000 could create a DDA by municipal ordinance after a public hearing.[15] The governing body of the municipality was authorized to levy an additional ad valorem tax on property within the DDA, not exceeding 0.5 mill.[16]

In 1971, the Legislature – citing the fact that the Florida Constitution and general laws of Florida granted municipalities and counties home rule powers – repealed hundreds of general laws passed between 1921 and 1970, which had been identified as general laws of local application.[17] The 1965 general law authorizing municipal creation of DDAs was part of this repeal. The 1971 law provided that the provisions of the repealed laws became local ordinances on the effective date of the 1971 law.[18]

In 1977, the Legislature – citing the fact that the principle of "home rule" in local government is eroded when a special law is used to create a local governmental agency – repealed several special laws creating local governmental entities.[19] At least one DDA was affected by this repeal, the City of Clearwater's Downtown Development Board.[20] Like the 1971 repeal, this 1977 repeal converted the provisions of the repealed laws to municipal ordinances.[21]

After 1977, other DDAs were created by special law and still operate under that authority.[22]

The current DDAs appear to be operating under three distinct authorizations: 1) under local ordinance, but originally created under chapter 65-1090, L.O.F.; 2) under local ordinance, but originally created by a special law; and 3) under special law.

Due to the changes that have been made to the laws authorizing the creation of DDAs, the authority of a municipality to levy additional ad valorem taxes for the operation of a DDA created under the authority of chapter 65-1090, L.O.F., has been called into question.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

General Statutory Structure (Section 1)

The bill changes the subject of ch. 189, F.S., from "Special Districts: General Provisions" to "Special Districts," and divides the chapter into the following named parts:

- Part I - "General Provisions"
- Part II - "Dependent Special Districts"
- Part III - "Independent Special Districts"
- Part IV - "Elections"
- Part V - "Finance"
- Part VI - "Oversight and Accountability"
- Part VII - "Merger and Dissolution"
- Part VIII - "Comprehensive Planning"

Joint Legislative Auditing Committee (Section 2)

Current Situation

The Joint Legislative Auditing Committee (JLAC) has the authority to enforce provisions against local governmental entities when they fail to submit financial reports required by law. All counties, municipalities and special districts are required to complete an annual financial report (AFR) for each fiscal year. Counties, municipalities and independent special districts are required to submit the AFR to the Department of Financial Services (DFS). Any dependent special district that is a component unit[23] of the county or the municipality to which it is dependent is required to provide that entity the financial information necessary to comply with the AFR reporting requirements. It is then the county's or the municipality's responsibility to include the financial information of the dependent special district in its AFR. A dependent special district that is not determined to be a component unit of the county or the municipality to which it is dependent is required to file the AFR with the DFS.

In addition, all counties, municipalities and special districts that meet a certain threshold for revenues or expenditures/expenses are also required to have an annual financial audit (audit) of their accounts and records conducted by an independent certified public accountant (CPA). Audits are required to be submitted to both the DFS and the Auditor General. Each year, these offices provide the JLAC with a list of all entities that have failed to comply with these financial reporting requirements. The JLAC may choose to take action pursuant to s. 11.40(2), F.S., against noncompliant entities. For counties and municipalities, the JLAC may direct the DFS and the Department of Revenue (DOR) to withhold any funds due to the entity that are not pledged for bond debt service satisfaction until they have complied with the law. For special districts, the JLAC may direct the Department of Economic Opportunity (DEO or department) to begin legal proceedings against the special district to compel compliance or declare the special district inactive pursuant to the provisions of s. 189.4044, F.S., if applicable.

[23] "Component unit" as defined by Generally Accepted Accounting Principles. See Governmental Accounting Standards Board (GASB) Statement No. 14, The Financial Reporting Entity (Issued 6/91).

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 2 amends s. 11.40, F.S., to provide additional notification responsibilities for the JLAC when a special district fails to comply with the financial reporting requirements. If a district was created by special act, the JLAC must notify the DEO, the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the standing committees of the Senate and the House of Representatives charged with special district oversight, and legislators representing the geographical jurisdiction of the special district. If the district was created by local ordinance, the JLAC must notify the local general-purpose government and the DEO. If the district was created by any other manner than special act or local ordinance, the JLAC must notify the local general-purpose government and the DEO. Upon receipt, the DEO must proceed pursuant to s. 189.062, F.S., (special procedures for inactive districts) or 189.067 F.S., (failure of district to disclose financial reports).

If the special district remains noncompliant, the JLAC may request that the DEO file a petition for enforcement with the Circuit Court of Leon County.[24]

Code of Ethics for Public Officers and Public Employees (Section 3)

Current Situation

The term "agency" means: any state, regional, county, local, or municipal government entity of this state, whether executive, judicial, or legislative; any department, division, bureau, commission, authority, or political subdivision of this state therein; or any public school, community college, or state university.[25]

This definition of "agency" would encompass a special district.

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill specifically adds "any special district as defined in s.189.012, F.S." to the definition of "agency."

Governor's Suspension Power (Section 4)

Current Situation

Pursuant to Article IV, s. 7, of the State Constitution, the Governor may suspend any state officer not subject to impeachment, any officer of the militia not in active service of the United States, or any county officer for misfeasance, malfeasance, neglect of duty, public drunkenness, incompetence, permanent inability to perform public duties, or commission of a felony. If the Governor suspends one of these officers, the decision to remove or reinstate the officer is made by the Senate.[26]

[24] See Section 43 of the bill.
[25] Section 112.312(2), F.S., provides definitions as used in Part III of ch. 112, F.S. (Code of Ethics for Public Officers and Employees) and for purposes of the provisions of section 8, Article II of the Florida Constitution, unless the context otherwise requires.
[26] Article IV, s. 7(b), Fla. Const.

Pursuant to Article IV, s. 7(c), of the State Constitution, the Governor may suspend any elected municipal officer indicted for a crime. Additionally, the Legislature provided the Governor the authority to suspend any elected or appointed municipal official for misfeasance, malfeasance, neglect of duty, public drunkenness, incompetence, permanent inability to perform public duties, arrested for a felony or for a misdemeanor related to the duties of office or is indicted or informed against for the commission of a federal felony or misdemeanor or state felony or misdemeanor.[27] This jurisdiction is concurrent in the Governor and in the statutory or charter authority.[28] In the event that a municipal officer is convicted, the Governor is required to remove him or her from office.[29]

Currently, the law contemplates the following types of special districts:
- An independent special district that is created by special act,
- An independent special district created by county/municipal charter or ordinance,
- An independent special district created by agreement between counties,
- An independent special district created by agreement between a county and a municipality,
- A county/municipal dependent district created by charter, or
- A county/municipal dependent special district created by ordinance.

Members of special districts may be considered to be county officers, municipal officers, or neither county nor municipal officers. If a Governor were to suspend a member of a special district board that exercises powers and duties that are county-related, the Senate would likely have jurisdiction over the executive order of suspension pursuant to Art. IV, s. 7, Fla. Const. If the Governor were to suspend a member of a special district that exercises powers and duties that are municipal in nature, then the Senate would not have jurisdiction. The Governor could take any action consistent with ss. 112.50-112.52, F.S. It is unclear what would happen in the event that a special district board member whose board is created by interlocal agreement between multiple counties or municipal-county agreement was suspended.

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill provides that the Governor may suspend board members of special districts exercising state or county jurisdiction subject to removal or reinstatement by the Senate as provided in Art. IV, s. 7(a), of the State Constitution. Alternatively, the bill provides that the Governor may suspend and remove board members of special districts exercising powers other than state or county powers as provided in s. 112.51, F.S.

Children's Services Independent Special Districts (Section 5)

Current Situation

The governing body of a children's services independent special district is typically composed of 10 members, and serves to promote juvenile welfare. A county, as defined in s. 125.011(1), F.S., may instead have a governing body composed of 33 members, one of whom is a member of the state Legislature who represents residents of the county. The member of the Legislature is selected to serve on the governing body of the children's services district by the chair of the local legislative delegation.

[27] Section 112.51, F.S.
[28] Section 112.50, F.S.
[29] Section 112.51(5), F.S.

Any children's services district may be dissolved by a special act of the Legislature, or by ordinance of the county governing body. A county ordinance dissolving the independent special district is conditioned upon the approval of the electorate. The question of retention or dissolution of the district must be presented to the electorate in a general election no later than 12 years after initial authorization, although a shorter period for reauthorization may be specified.[30]

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill removes the selection criteria for the member of the state Legislature serving on the governing body of the children's special district of a county defined in s. 125.011(1), F.S. In the absence of any direction, it is unclear how this member would be selected.

Statement of Legislative Intent (Sections 7-9)

Current Situation

Section 189.402, F.S., contains the statements of legislative intent concerning creation and purpose of special districts. In its current form, it contains statements of legislative intent relating to both dependent and independent special districts.

Effect of Proposed Changes

The general statements of legislative intent applicable to both types of districts in ss. 189.402(1), 189.402(6), and 189.402(7), F.S., are transferred to s. 189.011, F.S., which is located in "Part I - General Provisions." The bill moves from s. 189.402(6), F.S., to s. 189.011(2), F.S., the Legislative findings that special districts serve a necessary and useful public purpose and the intent that the public trust be secured by requiring independent special districts to register and provide certain financial reports.

Additionally, the current statements of legislative intent concerning improvement of communication and uniformity in s. 189.402(2), F.S., are moved and renumbered to s. 189.06, F.S., located in "Part VI - Oversight and Accountability."

The statements of legislative intent concerning independent special districts in s. 189.402(3), (4), (5), and (8) are moved to s. 189.03, F.S., in "Part III - Independent Special Districts," and substantively revised. The revisions include deleting references to managing and financing capital infrastructure, facilities and services.

Special District Definition (Section 10)

Current Situation

Under s. 189.403, F.S., "special district" means:

> a local unit of special purpose, as opposed to general-purpose, government within a limited boundary, created by general law, special act, local > ordinance, or by rule of the Governor and Cabinet. The special purpose or purposes of special districts are implemented by specialized functions and related prescribed powers. For the purpose of s. 196.199(1), F.S., special districts shall be treated as municipalities. The term does not include a school district, a community college district, a special improvement district created pursuant to s. 285.17, F.S., a municipal service taxing or benefit unit as specified in s. 125.01, F.S., or a board which provides electrical service and which is a political subdivision of a municipality or is part of a municipality.

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 10 transfers, renumbers, and amends s. 189.403, F.S., to redefine the term "special district" as:

> a unit of local government created for a special purpose, as opposed to a general purpose, which has jurisdiction to operate within a limited geographic boundary and is created by general law, special act, local ordinance, or by rule of the Governor and Cabinet. The term does not include a school district, a community college district, a special improvement district created pursuant to s. 285.17, F.S., a municipal service taxing or benefit unit as specified in s. 125.01, F.S., or a board which provides electrical service and which is a political subdivision of a municipality or is part of a municipality.

Creation, Dissolution, Reporting Requirements of Special Districts (Section 12)

Current Situation

Section 189.4031, F.S., requires all special districts to follow creation, dissolution, and reporting requirements set forth in Chapter 189 of the Florida Statutes. It also requires certain information concerning powers and duties of the district, methods for establishing and amending the charter, certain information concerning ad valorem taxing and fees, planning requirements, and geographical boundaries to be contained in the charter of an independent special district. Because the only charter available for a community development district is that provided in ss. 190.006-190.041, F.S., an exception is created for community development districts.

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill moves the provision that all special districts must follow creation, dissolution and reporting requirements to s. 189.013, F.S., which is located in "Part I - General Provisions." The remaining provisions are moved to s. 189.0311, F.S., which is located in "Part III - Independent Special Districts."

Official List of Special Districts (Section 13)

Current Situation

Section 189.4035, F.S., requires the DEO to compile and maintain an official list of special districts which must be posted on the department's website. That provision also states that if a special district was created by a local general-purpose government or a state agency, any proposed charter amendments must be approved as a matter of right. If the special district was created by the Legislature, the district must seek legislative amendment to its charter during the next legislative session or it will become a dependent special district.

Effect of Proposed Changes

In addition to moving s. 189.4035, F.S., to s. 189.061, F.S., located in "Part VI - Oversight and Accountability," the bill makes the following changes:

- Requires the DEO to post a link to the special district's website, which is required to contain certain information pursuant to newly created s. 189.069, F.S.;
- Deletes the requirement that charter amendment requests made by a local general-purpose government or state agency be approved as a matter of right; and
- Deletes the requirements that special districts created by the Legislature seek an amendment at the next legislative session and that failure to do so will result in conversion to a dependent special district.

Merger and Dissolution of Special Districts (Sections 18-23)

Current Situation

Section 189.4042, F.S., governs the merger and dissolution of special districts. That section provides definitions, procedures for merger or dissolution of a dependent special district, dissolution of an independent special district, legislative dissolution of special districts created by special acts of the Legislature, dissolution of inactive independent special districts, legislative or voluntary merger of independent special districts, the merger by referendum process, and involuntary merger of independent special districts.

Effect of Proposed Changes

The following provisions of s. 189.4042, F.S., are relocated to "Part VII - Merger and Dissolution:"

- Definitions in s. 189.4042(1), F.S., are moved to s. 189.07, F.S.;
- Merger or dissolution of dependent special districts provisions in s. 189.4042(2), F.S., are moved to s. 189.071, F.S.;
- Dissolution of independent special districts provisions in s. 189.4042(3), F.S., are moved to s. 189.072, F.S.;
- Legislative merger of independent special districts provisions are moved from s. 189.4042(4), F.S., to s. 189.073, F.S.;
- The provisions for voluntary merger of independent special districts in s. 189.4042(5), F.S., are moved to s. 189.074, F.S.;
- The provisions relating to involuntary merger of independent special districts in s. 189.4042(6), F.S., are moved to s. 189.075, F.S.; and

- The provisions relating to community development districts is moved from s. 189.4042(7), F.S., to s. 189.0761, F.S.

Special Procedures for Inactive Districts (Section 24)

Current Situation

Section 189.4044, F.S., requires the DEO to declare a special district inactive and provides the circumstances under which it must do so. That section provides for repayment of an inactive district's debt and that the remainder of any assets or property escheat to the county or municipality wherein the district is located. If the department declares a district inactive, that statute specifies who the department must notify.

In the case of a district created by special act of the Legislature, the DEO must send a notice of declaration of inactive status to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the Senate.

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill moves s. 189.4044, F.S., to s. 189.062, F.S., located in "Part VI - Oversight and Accountability." The bill requires the DEO to send additional notices of declaration of a special district's inactive status to the standing committees of the Senate and the House of Representatives charged with special district oversight, and the JLAC. Currently, the law authorizes the department to declare a district inactive when "following an inquiry from the department, the registered agent of the district or the chair of the governing body of the appropriate unit of local general-purpose government notifies the department in writing that the district has not had a governing body or a sufficient number of governing body members to constitute a quorum for 2 or more years." The bill removes the condition precedent that the department must ask whether there has been a board or a quorum for the past two years.

The bill also allows a special district that declares itself inactive by unanimously adopted resolution to be dissolved without a referendum.

The bill prevents a special district declared inactive from collecting taxes, fees, or assessments, unless the declaration is withdrawn or revoked by the department or invalidated in proceedings initiated by the special district. The governing body of the special district may initiate such proceedings by filing a petition for administrative hearing, or filing an action for declaratory and injunctive relief in the circuit court where the majority of the geographic area of the district is located.

The DEO may also file a petition to enforce the prohibitions on the district from collecting taxes, fees, or assessments. Such a petition for enforcement would be filed with the circuit court in and for Leon County. The petition may request declaratory, injunctive, or other equitable relief, including appointment of a receiver. The prevailing party shall be awarded litigation costs and reasonable attorney fees.

Governing Body Elections (Sections 27 and 28)

Current Situation

Section 189.405, F.S., requires elections of board members of dependent special districts be conducted by the supervisor of elections of the county where the district is located. That section also provides that elections of board members of independent special districts located entirely within one county may be conducted by the supervisor of elections of that county. Alternatively, if such a district conducts its own elections it must report the results to the supervisor of elections. The statute also provides an election process for multicounty special districts. It also allows the department to provide education for newly elected or appointed board members concerning the Code of Ethics, public records and open meetings laws, public finance, and parliamentary procedure. Education may be provided by means of videotapes, live seminars, workshops, conferences, teleconferences, computer-based training, multimedia presentations, or other available instructional methods. Finally, the law does not apply to community development districts or water management districts.

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill moves these provisions, with the exception of the education of newly elected or appointed officials, to newly created s. 189.04, F.S., located in "Part IV - Elections." The education programs provisions are moved to newly created s. 189.063, F.S., located in "Part VI - Oversight and Accountability." However, the bill deletes the references to the specific means of providing training.

Special District Information Program (Section 33)

Current Situation

The Special District Information Program (SDIP) is created in s. 189.412, F.S., to:

- Maintain a database of special district non-compliance reports;
- Maintain a master list of special districts for the DEO website;
- Publish and update the "Florida Special District Handbook;"
- Secure and maintain access to special district information collected by all state agencies, when feasible;
- Facilitate coordination and communication among state agencies regarding special districts;
- Conduct studies relevant to special districts;
- Provide assistance to comply with the requirements of law, including assistance with an annual conference presented by the Florida Association of Special Districts; and
- Provide assistance to local general-purpose governments and certain state agencies in collecting delinquent reports or information, help special districts comply with reporting requirements, declare special districts inactive when appropriate, and initiate enforcement actions when directed to by the JLAC.

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill renames the Special District Information Program as the "Special District Accountability Program" and moves the program to s. 189.064, F.S., in "Part VI - Oversight and Accountability." It requires electronic publication of special district noncompliance status reports. The bill requires the program to maintain the official list of special districts. Additionally, the bill requires that the program provide technical advisory assistance to special districts which may be performed by the DEO or a qualified third-party vendor pursuant to a contract entered into in accordance with applicable bidding requirements.

Failure to File Reports or Information (Sections 41 and 43)

Current Situation

If a special district fails to file the required reports or information, the person authorized to receive and read the reports or information or the local general-purpose government must notify the district's registered agent.[31] The district can request, and be granted, a 30 day extension of time in which to file the required report or information. If the governing body of the local general-purpose government or governments determines that the failure was unjustified, it may notify the department. The department must then provide the district 60 days to comply and follow subsequent remedial procedures in s. 189.421, F.S., if warranted.

If a dependent special district fails to file required reports or information, the local governing authority on which the district is dependent may take whatever steps it deems necessary to enforce the district's accountability, including withholding funds, removing governing board members at will, vetoing the special district's budget, conducting the oversight review process set forth in s. 189.428, F.S., or amending, merging, or dissolving the special district in accordance with the provisions contained in the ordinance that created the dependent special district.

If a special district fails to file a notice of bond issuance with the appropriate state agency, the agency is required to notify the DEO. The department must notify the district of the requirements and encourage the special district to take steps to assure that noncompliance will not recur.

If a special district fails to file actuarial reports or statements of actuarial impact with the appropriate state agency, that agency must notify the department and the department may begin the remedial measures in s. 189.421(1), F.S.

Finally, if a special district fails to file annual financial reports or annual financial audits, the appropriate state agency or office must, and the Joint Legislative Auditing Committee may, notify the department and the department must proceed pursuant to s. 189.421, F.S.

Section 189.421, F.S., provides that if the department has been notified of a special district's failure to file a required report or information, it must provide a letter to the district notifying the district that it has 60 days to comply and offer assistance to the district in complying. If a district is unable to make the 60 day deadline, the district must notify the department why it cannot comply and the steps it is taking to prevent a recurrence. The district must also notify the department when it will file the report. The department must forward the letter to the appropriate entity. The law provides a mechanism for filing a suit seeking a writ of certiorari.

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill moves s. 189.419, F.S., to s. 189.066, F.S., located in "Part VI - Oversight and Accountability." The bill requires the governing body of the local general-purpose government to notify the DEO if they determine that a special district has an unjustified failure to file reports or information, required under s. 189.08, 189.014, 189.015, or 189.016(9), F.S.

The bill also provides that if a special district created by special act of the Legislature fails to file annual financial reports or annual financial audits, the JLAC must notify the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the standing committees of the Senate and the House of Representatives charged with special district oversight. If a special district created by ordinance fails to file annual financial reports or annual financial audits, the JLAC must provide written notification to the DEO and chair or equivalent of the local general-purpose government that created the district.

The bill moves s. 189.421, F.S., to s. 189.067, F.S., located in "Part VI - Oversight and Accountability." The bill provides remedies for noncompliance with reporting requirements. To enforce compliance, the DEO may file a petition with the circuit court in and for Leon County requesting declaratory, injunctive, any equitable relief, or any remedy provided by law.

Grants and Donations Trust Fund (Section 47)

Current Situation

Section 189.427, F.S., requires the DEO to establish, by rule, a schedule of fees to pay one-half of the costs incurred by the department to administer the special districts act. The fee may not exceed $175 per district each year. The fees must be deposited in the department's Grants and Donations Trust Fund. Any fee rule must consider factors including the special district's dependent or independent status and the district's reported revenues for the most recent fiscal year. That section also authorizes the DEO to assess fines of not more than $25, with an aggregate total not to exceed $50, as penalties against special districts that fail to remit required fees. The section provides legislative intent that general revenue funds will be provided to the DEO to pay one-half of the costs to administer the special districts act.

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill moves s. 189.427, F.S., to s. 189.018, F.S., located in "Part I - General Provisions." The bill also renames the trust fund as the "Operating Trust Fund." See Section VI.

Oversight Review Process (Sections 48, 51 and 52)

Current Situation

Section 189.428, F.S., contains several statements of legislative intent. It specifies the order in which special districts may be subject to oversight review and criteria for evaluating the district's performance. Special districts being reviewed may provide written questions, concerns, preliminary reports, draft reports, or final reports relating to the district. The final report shall form the basis of a charter modification or dissolution. That section provides the process for legislative dissolution. Deepwater ports and airport authorities are exempt under certain circumstances. Finally, special districts organized to operate licensed health systems and facilities are exempt.

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill moves s. 189.428, F.S., to s. 189.068, F.S., located in "Part VI - Oversight and Accountability." The bill also creates s. 189.034, F.S., located in "Part III - Independent Special Districts." The bill requires the JLAC to oversee special districts created by special act of the Legislature when a special district fails to file required reports or information under ss.11.45(7), 218.32, 218.39, and 218.503(3), F.S. The JLAC would perform the following:

- Provide written notice of district's noncompliance to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the standing committees of the Senate and the House of Representatives charged with special district oversight, and legislators representing the geographical jurisdiction of the special district.
- Convene a public hearing on the issue of noncompliance, as well as general oversight of the district, at the discretion of the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the Senate.
- Obtain specified information from a special district in preparation for a public hearing, as follows:
  - The district's annual financial report for the previous fiscal year;
  - The district's audit report for the previous fiscal year;
  - An annual report containing:
    - The district's mission;
    - Funding sources;
    - Major activities, programs, and initiatives it undertook in the most recently completed fiscal year and the benchmarks or criteria used by the governing body to determine success or failure;
    - Challenges or obstacles faced by the district in fulfilling its mission and responsibilities;
    - Ways in which the district believes it could better fulfill its mission and related responsibilities and a description of the actions it intends to take during the ensuing fiscal year;
    - Proposed changes to its special act and the justifications for such changes;
    - Any reasons for the district's noncompliance;
    - Whether the district is currently in compliance and plans to correct any recurring issues of noncompliance; and
    - Efforts to promote transparency, including maintenance of the district's website in accordance with new s. 189.069, F.S.

The bill also creates a new provision concerning oversight of special districts created by local ordinance in s. 189.035, F.S., located in "Part III - Independent Special Districts." This new provision requires the JLAC or its designee to provide written notice of failure to file annual financial reports or annual financial audits to the chair or equivalent of the local general-purpose government. The chair may convene a public hearing on the non-compliance within 6 months after receiving such notice. The local general-purpose government is authorized to request:

- The district's annual financial report for the previous fiscal year;
- The district's audit report for the previous fiscal year;
- An annual report containing:
  - The district's purpose;
  - Funding sources;
  - Major activities, programs, and initiatives it undertook in the most recently completed fiscal year and the benchmarks or criteria used by the governing body to determine success or failure;
  - Challenges or obstacles faced by the district in fulfilling its purpose and responsibilities;
  - Ways in which the district believes it could better fulfill its purpose and a description of the actions it intends to take during the ensuing fiscal year;
  - Proposed changes to the ordinance that established it and the justifications for such changes;

  - Whether the district is currently in compliance;
  - Plans to correct any recurring issues of noncompliance; and
  - Efforts to promote transparency, including maintenance of the district's website in accordance with new s. 189.069, F.S.

The local general-purpose government must report findings of any public hearing to the DEO and the JLAC within 6 months after completing the hearing.

Property Tax Exemption (Section 53)

Current Situation

The definition of special district in s. 189.403(1), F.S., in pertinent part, provides, "For the purpose of s. 196.199(1), special districts shall be treated as municipalities." Section 196.199(1), F.S., provides that municipalities are exempt from ad valorem taxes in the same manner that municipalities are exempt from taxes.

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill creates new s. 189.055, F.S., located in "Part V - Finance." The new statute incorporates the language quoted above to maintain property tax exempt status for special districts.

Web-based Public Access (Section 54)

Current Situation

There are currently no statutory requirements relating to special districts' websites.

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill creates new s. 189.069, F.S., in "Part VI - Oversight and Accountability." Beginning October 1, 2015, or by the end of the first fiscal year after creation of a special district, all special districts would be required to annually update and maintain their official websites and submit their official website address to the DEO. Independent special districts must maintain a separate internet website, while dependent special districts would be allowed to use the website of the general-purpose government that created them to provide the required information. The following information must be posted on the special district's website:

- The full legal name of the special district;
- The public purpose of the special district;
- The name, address, email address, and, if applicable the term and appointing authority for each member of the governing body of the special district;
- The fiscal year of the special district;
- The full text of the special district's charter, the date the special district was established, the entity that established the special district, and the statute or statutes under which the special district operates, if different from the statute or statutes under which the special district was established;[32]
- The mailing address, e-mail address, telephone number, and Internet website uniform resource locator of the special district;
- A description of the boundaries or service area of, and the services provided by, the special district;
- A listing of all taxes, fees, assessments, or charges imposed and collected by the special district, including the rates or amounts charged for the fiscal year and the statutory authority for the levy of the tax, fee, or charge;
- The primary contact information for the special district for the purpose of communication from the DEO;
- The code of ethics that applies to the special district, and whether the special district has adopted additional ethics provisions;
- The budget of the special district; and amendments; and
- The final, complete audit report for the most recent completed fiscal year.

Downtown Development Authorities (Section 55)

The bill amends s. 200.065(5), F.S., to provide that any downtown development authority that was established before the effective date of the 1968 constitution and has its millage approved by a municipality is an independent special taxing district. The governing body of the municipality is authorized to levy an additional ad valorem tax on all real and personal property in the downtown district to finance the operations of the downtown development authority. The ad valorem tax levied for the authority is in addition to regular ad valorem taxes; however, the combined levy may not exceed the maximum levy provided by the constitution.

[32] Community development districts may use chapter 190, as the uniform charter, but must include information relating to any grant of special powers.

Effective Date (Section 90)

The bill provides an effective date of July 1, 2014.

Other Provisions

Created in 2000, the Community Improvement Authority Act was intended to facilitate improvement of port areas.[33] The purpose of the Act is to prescribe a uniform procedure for establishing independent authorities for the purpose of planning, financing, constructing, renovating, developing, operating, and maintaining facilities and other attractions, including professional sports facilities and other related amenities and infrastructure within highly populated counties of the state and within counties contiguous therewith.[34] Section 50 of the bill repeals Community Improvement Authority Act by repealing the following: ss. 189.430, 189.431, 189.432, 189.433, 189.434, 189.435, 189.436, 189.437, 189.438, 189.439, 189.440, 189.441, 189.442, 189.443, and 189.444, F.S.

Numerous sections of the bill make only technical, conforming, or renumbering changes to the statutes. Those sections of the bill are: 6, 11, 14-17, 25, 26, 29-32, 34-40, 42, 44-46, 49, 50, 56-89.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. Other Constitutional Issues:

Article III, s. 11(a)(21) of the Florida Constitution states that there shall be no special law or general law of local application[35] pertaining to "any subject when prohibited by general law passed by a three-fifths vote of the membership of each house. Such law may be amended or repealed by like vote." Prohibited subject matters include s. 189.404(2), F.S., pertaining to independent special districts; and s. 190.049, F.S., pertaining to the creation of independent special districts having the powers enumerated in two or more of the paragraphs of s. 190.012, F.S. V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

None.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The fiscal impact of CS/CS/CS/SB 1632 is indeterminate, but anticipated to be minimal. Currently, the Department of Economic Opportunity's website links to a special district's website when a URL is provided. There will be minimal administrative costs associated with collecting all URLs for special districts and establishing links. The DEO indicates that these costs can be absorbed within existing resources. The bill contemplates the possibility of hearings and notices which would be conducted by local governments, the JLAC, or the DEO. The costs associated with such hearings and notices are indeterminate, but anticipated to be minimal.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

The Committee on Appropriations (Galvano) recommended the following:

Senate Amendment (with title amendment)

Between lines 2665 and 2666
insert:

Section 55. Subsection (5) of section 200.065, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

200.065 Method of fixing millage.—

(5) In each fiscal year:

(a) The maximum millage rate that a county, municipality, special district dependent to a county or municipality, municipal service taxing unit, or independent special district may levy is a rolled-back rate based on the amount of taxes which would have been levied in the prior year if the maximum millage rate had been applied, adjusted for change in per capita Florida personal income, unless a higher rate was adopted, in which case the maximum is the adopted rate. The maximum millage rate applicable to a county authorized to levy a county public hospital surtax under s. 212.055 and which did so in fiscal year 2007 shall exclude the revenues required to be contributed to the county public general hospital in the current fiscal year for the purposes of making the maximum millage rate calculation, but shall be added back to the maximum millage rate allowed after the roll back has been applied, the total of which shall be considered the maximum millage rate for such a county for purposes of this subsection. The revenue required to be contributed to the county public general hospital for the upcoming fiscal year shall be calculated as 11.873 percent times the millage rate levied for countywide purposes in fiscal year 2007 times 95 percent of the preliminary tax roll for the upcoming fiscal year. A higher rate may be adopted only under the following conditions:

1. A rate of not more than 110 percent of the rolled-back rate based on the previous year’s maximum millage rate, adjusted for change in per capita Florida personal income, may be adopted if approved by a two-thirds vote of the membership of the governing body of the county, municipality, or independent district; or

2. A rate in excess of 110 percent may be adopted if approved by a unanimous vote of the membership of the governing body of the county, municipality, or independent district or by a three-fourths vote of the membership of the governing body if the governing body has nine or more members, or if the rate is approved by a referendum.

(b) The millage rate of a county or municipality, municipal service taxing unit of that county, and any special district dependent to that county or municipality may exceed the maximum millage rate calculated pursuant to this subsection if the total county ad valorem taxes levied or total municipal ad valorem taxes levied do not exceed the maximum total county ad valorem taxes levied or maximum total municipal ad valorem taxes levied respectively. Voted millage and taxes levied by a municipality or independent special district that has levied ad valorem taxes for less than 5 years are not subject to this limitation. The millage rate of a county authorized to levy a county public hospital surtax under s. 212.055 may exceed the maximum millage rate calculated pursuant to this subsection to the extent necessary to account for the revenues required to be contributed to the county public hospital. Total taxes levied may exceed the maximum calculated pursuant to subsection (6) as a result of an increase in taxable value above that certified in subsection (1) if such increase is less than the percentage amounts contained in subsection (6) or if the administrative adjustment cannot be made because the value adjustment board is still in session at the time the tax roll is extended; otherwise, millage rates subject to this subsection, s. 200.185, or s. 200.186 may be reduced so that total taxes levied do not exceed the maximum.

Any unit of government operating under a home rule charter adopted pursuant to ss. 10, 11, and 24, Art. VIII of the State Constitution of 1885, as preserved by s. 6(e), Art. VIII of the State Constitution of 1968, which is granted the authority in the State Constitution to exercise all the powers conferred now or hereafter by general law upon municipalities and which exercises such powers in the unincorporated area shall be recognized as a municipality under this subsection. For a downtown development authority established before the effective date of the 1968 State Constitution which has a millage that must be approved by a municipality, the governing body of that municipality shall be considered the governing body of the downtown development authority for purposes of this subsection. Any such downtown development authority is an independent special taxing district, and the governing body of the municipality is authorized to levy an additional ad valorem tax on all real and personal property in the downtown district for the purpose of financing the operation of the authority. The levy of the ad valorem tax shall be in addition to regular ad valorem taxes and special assessments for improvements imposed by the governing body of the municipality; however, the combined levy may not exceed the maximum provided by the State Constitution.

If the special district remains in noncompliance after the process set forth in s. 189.035(2), or if a public hearing has not been held within 6 months, the Legislative Auditing Committee may request the department to proceed pursuant to s. 189.067(3).

3. Any manner other than a special act or local ordinance, notify the Department of Economic Opportunity that the special district has failed to comply with the law. Upon receipt of notification, the department shall proceed pursuant to s. 189.062 or s. 189.067(3).

Section 3. Subsection (2) of section 112.312, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

112.312 Definitions.—As used in this part and for purposes of the provisions of s. 8, Art. II of the State Constitution, unless the context otherwise requires:

(2) "Agency" means any state, regional, county, local, or municipal government entity of this state, whether executive, judicial, or legislative; any department, division, bureau, commission, authority, or political subdivision of this state therein; ~~or~~ any public school, community college, or state university; or any special district as defined in s. 189.012.

Section 4. Section 112.511, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

112.511 Members of special district governing bodies; suspension; removal from office.—

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

(1) A member of the governing body of a special district, as defined in s. 189.012, who exercises the powers and duties of a state or a county officer, is subject to the Governor's power under s. 7(a), Art. IV of the State Constitution to suspend such officers.

(2) A member of the governing body of a special district, as defined in s. 189.012, who exercises powers and duties other than that of a state or county officer, is subject to the suspension and removal procedures under s. 112.51.

Section 5. Subsections (1), (4), and (6) of section 125.901, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

125.901 Children's services; independent special district; council; powers, duties, and functions; public records exemption.—

(1) Each county may by ordinance create an independent special district, as defined in ss. 189.012 ~~189.403(3)~~ and 200.001(8)(e), to provide funding for children's services throughout the county in accordance with this section. The boundaries of such district shall be coterminous with the boundaries of the county. The county governing body shall obtain approval, by a majority vote of those electors voting on the question, to annually levy ad valorem taxes which shall not exceed the maximum millage rate authorized by this section. Any district created pursuant to the provisions of this subsection shall be required to levy and fix millage subject to the provisions of s. 200.065. Once such millage is approved by the electorate, the district shall not be required to seek approval of the electorate in future years to levy the previously approved millage.

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

(a) The governing body ~~board~~ of the district shall be a council on children's services, which may also be known as a juvenile welfare board or similar name as established in the ordinance by the county governing body. Such council shall consist of 10 members, including: the superintendent of schools; a local school board member; the district administrator from the appropriate district of the Department of Children and Family Services, or his or her designee who is a member of the Senior Management Service or of the Selected Exempt Service; one member of the county governing body; and the judge assigned to juvenile cases who shall sit as a voting member of the board, except that said judge shall not vote or participate in the setting of ad valorem taxes under this section. If there is more than one judge assigned to juvenile cases in a county, the chief judge shall designate one of said juvenile judges to serve on the board. The remaining five members shall be appointed by the Governor, and shall, to the extent possible, represent the demographic diversity of the population of the county. After soliciting recommendations from the public, the county governing body shall submit to the Governor the names of at least three persons for each vacancy occurring among the five members appointed by the Governor, and the Governor shall appoint members to the council from the candidates nominated by the county governing body. The Governor shall make a selection within a 45-day period or request a new list of candidates. All members appointed by the Governor shall have been residents of the county for the previous 24-month period. Such members shall be appointed for 4-year terms, except that the length of the terms of the initial appointees shall be adjusted to stagger the terms. The Governor may remove a member for cause or upon the written petition of the county governing body. If any of the members of the council required to be appointed by the Governor under the provisions of this subsection shall resign, die, or be removed from office, the vacancy thereby created shall, as soon as practicable, be filled by appointment by the Governor, using the same method as the original appointment, and such appointment to fill a vacancy shall be for the unexpired term of the person who resigns, dies, or is removed from office.

(b) However, any county as defined in s. 125.011(1) may instead have a governing body ~~board~~ consisting of 33 members, including: the superintendent of schools; two representatives of public postsecondary education institutions located in the county; the county manager or the equivalent county officer; the district administrator from the appropriate district of the Department of Children and Family Services, or the administrator's designee who is a member of the Senior Management Service or the Selected Exempt Service; the director of the county health department or the director's designee; the state attorney for the county or the state attorney's designee; the chief judge assigned to juvenile cases, or another juvenile judge who is the chief judge's designee and who shall sit as a voting member of the board, except that the judge may not vote or participate in setting ad valorem taxes under this section; an individual who is selected by the board of the local United Way or its equivalent; a member of a locally recognized faith-based coalition, selected by that coalition; a member of the local chamber of commerce, selected by that chamber or, if more than one chamber exists within the county, a person selected by a coalition of the local chambers; a member of the early learning coalition, selected by that coalition; a representative of a labor organization or union active in the county; a member of a local alliance or coalition engaged in cross-system planning for health and social service delivery in the county, selected by that alliance or coalition; a member of the local Parent-Teachers Association/Parent-Teacher-Student Association, selected by that association; a youth representative selected by the local school system's student government; a local school board member appointed by the chair of the school board; the mayor of the county or the mayor's designee; one member of the county governing body, appointed by the chair of that body; a member of the state Legislature who represents residents of the county~~, selected by the chair of the local legislative delegation~~; an elected official representing the residents of a municipality in the county, selected by the county municipal league; and 4 members-at-large, appointed to the council by the majority of sitting council members. The remaining 7 members shall be appointed by the Governor in accordance with procedures set forth in paragraph (a), except that the Governor may remove a member for cause or upon the written petition of the council. Appointments by the Governor must, to the extent reasonably possible, represent the geographic and demographic diversity of the population of the county. Members who are appointed to the council by reason of their position are not subject to the length of terms and limits on consecutive terms as provided in this section. The remaining appointed members of the governing body ~~board~~ shall be appointed to serve 2-year terms, except that those members appointed by the Governor shall be appointed to serve 4-year terms, and the youth representative and the legislative delegate shall be appointed to serve 1-year terms. A member may be reappointed; however, a member may not serve for more than three consecutive terms. A member is eligible to be appointed again after a 2-year hiatus from the council.

(c) This subsection does not prohibit a county from exercising such power as is provided by general or special law to provide children's services or to create a special district to provide such services.

(4)(a) Any district created pursuant to this section may be dissolved by a special act of the Legislature, or the county governing body may by ordinance dissolve the district subject to the approval of the electorate.

(b)1.a. Notwithstanding paragraph (a), the governing body of the county shall submit the question of retention or dissolution of a district with voter-approved taxing authority to the electorate in the general election according to the following schedule:

(I) For a district in existence on July 1, 2010, and serving a county with a population of 400,000 or fewer persons as of that date.....2014.

(II) For a district in existence on July 1, 2010, and serving a county with a population of more than 400,000 but fewer than 2 million persons as of that date.....2016.

(III) For a district in existence on July 1, 2010, and serving a county with a population of 2 million or more persons as of that date.....2020.

b. A referendum by the electorate on or after July 1, 2010, creating a new district with taxing authority may specify that the district is not subject to reauthorization or may specify the number of years for which the initial authorization shall remain effective. If the referendum does not prescribe terms of reauthorization, the governing body of the county shall submit the question of retention or dissolution of the district to the electorate in the general election 12 years after the initial authorization.

2. The governing body ~~board~~ of the district may specify, and submit to the governing body of the county no later than 9 months before the scheduled election, that the district is not subsequently subject to reauthorization or may specify the number of years for which a reauthorization under this paragraph shall remain effective. If the governing body ~~board~~ of the district makes such specification and submission, the governing body of the county shall include that information in the question submitted to the electorate. If the governing body ~~board~~ of the district does not specify and submit such information, the governing body of the county shall resubmit the question of reauthorization to the electorate every 12 years after the year prescribed in subparagraph 1. The governing body ~~board~~ of the district may recommend to the governing body of the county language for the question submitted to the electorate.

3. This paragraph does not limit ~~Nothing in this paragraph limits~~ the authority to dissolve a district as provided under paragraph (a).

4. This paragraph does not preclude ~~Nothing in this paragraph precludes~~ the governing body ~~board~~ of a district from requesting that the governing body of the county submit the question of retention or dissolution of a district with voter-approved taxing authority to the electorate at a date earlier than the year prescribed in subparagraph 1. If the governing body of the county accepts the request and submits the question to the electorate, the governing body satisfies the requirement of that subparagraph.

If any district is dissolved pursuant to this subsection, each county must first obligate itself to assume the debts, liabilities, contracts, and outstanding obligations of the district within the total millage available to the county governing body for all county and municipal purposes as provided for under s. 9, Art. VII of the State Constitution. Any district may also be dissolved pursuant to part VII of chapter 189 ~~s. 189.4042~~.

(6) Any district created pursuant to the provisions of this section shall comply with all other statutory requirements of general application which relate to the filing of any financial reports or compliance reports required under part III of chapter 218, or any other report or documentation required by law, including the requirements of ss. 189.08, 189.015, and 189.016 ~~189.415, 189.417, and 189.418~~.

Section 6. Section 189.401, Florida Statutes, is transferred, renumbered as section 189.01, Florida Statutes, and amended to read:

189.01 ~~189.401~~ Short title.—This chapter may be cited as the "Uniform Special District Accountability Act ~~of 1989~~."

Section 7. Subsections (1), (6), and (7) of section 189.402, Florida Statutes, are transferred and renumbered as subsections (1), (2), and (3), respectively, of section 189.011, Florida Statutes, and present subsection (6) of that section is amended, to read:

189.011 ~~189.402~~ Statement of legislative purpose and intent.—

(2)~~(6)~~ The Legislature finds that special districts serve a necessary and useful function by providing services to residents and property in the state. The Legislature finds further that special districts operate to serve a public purpose and that this is best secured by certain minimum standards of accountability designed to inform the public and appropriate general-purpose local governments of the status and activities of special districts. It is the intent of the Legislature that this public trust be secured by requiring each independent special district in the state to register and report its financial and other activities. The Legislature further finds that failure of an independent special district to comply with the minimum disclosure requirements set forth in this chapter may result in action against officers of such district body ~~board~~.

Section 8. Subsection (2) of section 189.402, Florida Statutes, is transferred, renumbered as section 189.06, Florida Statutes, and amended to read:

189.06 ~~189.402~~ Legislative intent; centralized location ~~Statement of legislative purpose and intent~~.—

~~(2)~~ It is the intent of the Legislature through the adoption of this chapter to have one centralized location for all legislation governing special districts and to:

(1)~~(a)~~ Improve the enforcement of statutes currently in place that help ensure the accountability of special districts to state and local governments.

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

(2)~~(b)~~ Improve communication and coordination between state agencies with respect to required special district reporting and state monitoring.

(3)~~(c)~~ Improve communication and coordination between special districts and other local entities with respect to ad valorem taxation, non-ad valorem assessment collection, special district elections, and local government comprehensive planning.

(4)~~(d)~~ Move toward greater uniformity in special district elections and non-ad valorem assessment collection procedures at the local level without hampering the efficiency and effectiveness of the current procedures.

(5)~~(e)~~ Clarify special district definitions and creation methods in order to ensure consistent application of those definitions and creation methods across all levels of government.

(6)~~(f)~~ Specify in general law the essential components of any new type of special district.

(7)~~(g)~~ Specify in general law the essential components of a charter for a new special district.

(8)~~(h)~~ Encourage the creation of municipal service taxing units and municipal service benefit units for providing municipal services in unincorporated areas of each county.

Section 9. Subsections (3), (4), (5), and (8) of section 189.402, Florida Statutes, are transferred, renumbered as subsections (1), (2), (3), and (4), respectively, of section 189.03, Florida Statutes, and amended to read:

(1) ~~(3)~~ The Legislature finds that:

(a) There is a need for uniform, focused, and fair procedures in state law to provide a reasonable alternative for the establishment, powers, operation, and duration of independent special districts ~~to manage and finance basic capital infrastructure, facilities, and services; and that, based upon a proper and fair determination of applicable facts, an independent special district can constitute a timely, efficient, effective, responsive, and economic way to deliver these basic services, thereby providing a means of solving the state's planning, management, and financing needs for delivery of capital infrastructure, facilities, and services in order to provide for projected growth without overburdening other governments and their taxpayers~~.

(b) It is in the public interest that any independent special district created pursuant to state law not outlive its usefulness and that the operation of such a district and the exercise by the district of its powers be consistent with applicable due process, disclosure, accountability, ethics, and government-in-the-sunshine requirements which apply both to governmental entities and to their elected and appointed officials.

~~(c) It is in the public interest that long-range planning, management, and financing and long-term maintenance, upkeep, and operation of basic services by independent special districts be uniform.~~

(2) ~~(4)~~ It is the policy of this state:

(a) That independent special districts may be used ~~are a~~

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

~~legitimate alternative method available for use~~ by the private and public sectors, as authorized by state law, to manage, own, operate, construct, and finance basic capital infrastructure, facilities, and services.

(b) That the exercise by any independent special district of its powers~~, as set forth by uniform general law~~ comply with all applicable ~~governmental comprehensive planning~~ laws, rules, and regulations.

(3) ~~(5)~~ It is the legislative intent ~~and purpose, based upon, and consistent with, its findings of fact and declarations of policy,~~ to authorize a uniform procedure by general law to create an independent special district, ~~as an alternative method to manage and finance basic capital infrastructure, facilities, and services. It is further the legislative intent~~ and ~~purpose~~ to provide by general law for the uniform operation, exercise of power, and procedure for termination of any such independent special district.

(4) ~~(8)~~ The Legislature finds and declares that:

(a) Growth and development issues transcend the boundaries and responsibilities of individual units of government, and often no single unit of government can plan or implement policies to deal with these issues without affecting other units of government.

(b) The provision of capital infrastructure, facilities, and services for the preservation and enhancement of the quality of life of the people of this state may require the creation of multicounty and multijurisdictional districts.

reordered, and amended, to read:

189.012 ~~189.403~~ Definitions.—As used in this chapter, the term:

(6)~~(1)~~ "Special district" means a ~~local~~ unit of local government created for a ~~of~~ special purpose, as opposed to a general purpose ~~general-purpose~~, which has jurisdiction to operate ~~government~~ within a limited geographic boundary and is~~,~~ created by general law, special act, local ordinance, or by rule of the Governor and Cabinet. ~~The special purpose or purposes of special districts are implemented by specialized functions and related prescribed powers. For the purpose of s. 196.199(1), special districts shall be treated as municipalities.~~ The term does not include a school district, a community college district, a special improvement district created pursuant to s. 285.17, a municipal service taxing or benefit unit as specified in s. 125.01, or a board which provides electrical service and which is a political subdivision of a municipality or is part of a municipality.

(2) "Dependent special district" means a special district that meets at least one of the following criteria:

(a) The membership of its governing body is identical to that of the governing body of a single county or a single municipality.

(b) All members of its governing body are appointed by the governing body of a single county or a single municipality.

(c) During their unexpired terms, members of the special district's governing body are subject to removal at will by the governing body of a single county or a single municipality.

(3) "Independent special district" means a special district that is not a dependent special district as defined in subsection (2). A district that includes more than one county is an independent special district unless the district lies wholly within the boundaries of a single municipality.

(1)~~(4)~~ "Department" means the Department of Economic Opportunity.

(4)~~(5)~~ "Local governing authority" means the governing body of a unit of local general-purpose government. However, if the special district is a political subdivision of a municipality, "local governing authority" means the municipality.

Recognizing that the exclusive charter for a community development district is the statutory charter contained in ss. 190.006-190.041, community development districts established after July 1, 1980, pursuant to the provisions of chapter 190 shall be deemed in compliance with this requirement.

All special districts on ~~in~~ the list shall be sorted by county. (5) The official list of special districts shall be available on the department's website and must include a link to the website of each special district that provides web-based access to the public of the information and documentation required under s. 189.069.

(6) ~~Preparation of~~ The official list of special districts or the determination of status does not constitute final agency action pursuant to chapter 120. If the status of a special district on the official list is inconsistent with the status submitted by the district, the district may request the department to issue a declaratory statement setting forth the requirements necessary to resolve the inconsistency. established the district for an amendment to its charter correcting the specified defects in its original charter. This amendment shall be for the sole purpose of resolving inconsistencies between a district charter and the status of a district as it appears on the official list. ~~Such application shall occur as follows:~~

~~(a) In the event a special district was created by a local general-purpose government or state agency and applies for an amendment to its charter to confirm its independence, said application shall be granted as a matter of right. If application by an independent district is not made within 6 months of rendition of a declaratory statement, the district shall be deemed dependent and become a political subdivision of the governing body which originally established it by operation of law.~~

~~(b) If the Legislature created a special district, the district shall request, by resolution, an amendment to its charter by the Legislature. Failure to apply to the Legislature for an amendment to its charter during the next regular legislative session following rendition of a declaratory statement or failure of the Legislature to pass a special act shall render the district dependent.~~

(c)~~3.~~ During the transition period, each component independent special district of the merged independent district must continue to file all information and reports required under this chapter as subunits until the Legislature formally approves the unified charter pursuant to a special act.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 1634 modifies several activities under the jurisdiction of the Department of Economic Opportunity (DEO). The bill establishes requirements for the operation of all loan programs administered by the DEO to increase accountability and performance.

The bill clarifies that the Auditor General's annual audit of Triumph Gulf Coast, Inc., and the Recovery Fund is a performance audit. The audit by the retained independent certified public account is to be performed annually. The bill provides term limits for the initial appointments to the board of directors of Triumph Gulf Coast, Inc., and provides that those term limits begin after the Legislature appropriates funds to the Recovery Fund, and provides for term limits for the initial appointments.

The bill revises the Florida Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Act to streamline application procedures and competitive grant scoring criteria, provide rulemaking authority to the DEO, and streamline public hearing requirements.

The bill requires Space Florida to consult with the Florida Tourism Industry Marketing Corporation rather than Enterprise Florida, Inc., in developing a space marketing plan. The requirement that Space Florida develop a proposal to establish a Center for Excellence for Aerospace is repealed, and is instead made permissive. Space Florida is required to provide support to universities in Florida that are members of the Federal Aviation Administration's Center of Excellence for Commercial Space Transportation.

The bill increases the amount of funds the Florida Defense Support Task Force may spend annually on staffing and administrative expenses.

The bill repeals the requirement for reemployment assistance claimants to complete an initial skills review and requires the DEO to develop a voluntary online assessment to identify an individual's skills, abilities, and career aptitude. The DEO, through the regional workforce boards and CareerSource Centers, must offer services and training to individuals that are consistent with the results of the online assessment.

The bill implements changes to the Short Time Compensation program to conform to federal law, including requiring an employer to describe how its plan will be implemented, requiring an employer to treat the fringe benefits of participants the same as if he or she was not a participant, and prohibiting the DEO from denying benefits due to an individual's participation in certain training programs.

The bill extends the ability of employers to make quarterly contributions to the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund, rather than a single, annual payment. This provision was scheduled to sunset in 2014.

The bill requires the DEO to provide an alternate method for filing a reemployment assistance claim, such as by telephone, when it determines that the claims filing system is unavailable for individuals to use to file claims. The DEO must also provide public notice of such unavailability.

The bill rebrands "rural areas of critical economic concern" as "rural areas of opportunity."

The fiscal impact of the bill on the DEO is expected to be minimal and will be absorbed within existing resources. The Auditor General could incur additional indeterminate staffing costs. The bill could have a positive indeterminate fiscal impact on the private sector. See Section V.

II. Present Situation:

Economic Development Programs Evaluation

In 2013, the Legislature created the Economic Development Programs Evaluation to require the Office of Economic and Demographic Research (EDR) and the Office of Program Policy Analysis and Government Accountability (OPPAGA) to jointly evaluate economic development programs in a three year cycle.[1] Based on the findings, a report to the Governor and the Legislature is generated that details, among other things, economic benefits (return on investment) and the effectiveness and value for Florida taxpayers. The report must also provide recommendations based on the evaluation.

Section 288.0001, F.S., provides a schedule for reviewing economic development programs on a three-year cycle. The first report was presented by January 1, 2014, and included a detailed analysis of the following:

- Capital Investment Tax Credits
- Qualified Target Industry Tax Refunds
- Brownfield Redevelopment Bonus Refunds
- High-Impact Business Performance Grants
- Quick Action Closing Fund
- Innovation Incentive Program
- Enterprise Zone Program Incentives

The programs listed above will be reviewed again by January 1, 2017.

By January 1, 2015, and every 3 years thereafter, EDR and the OPPAGA will prepare a detailed analysis of the following:

- Entertainment Industry Financial Incentive Program
- Entertainment Industry Sales Tax Exemption Program
- VISIT Florida, and all related programs
- Florida Sports Foundation, and all related programs

By January 1, 2016, and every three years thereafter, EDR and OPPAGA will prepare a detailed analysis of the following:

- Qualified Defense Contractor and Space Flight Business Tax Refunds
- Semiconductor, Defense, or Space Technology Sales Tax Exemptions
- Military Base Protection Program
- Manufacturing and Spaceport Investment Incentive Program
- Quick Response Training Program
- Incumbent Worker Training Program
- International Trade and Business Development Programs

Loan Programs Administered by the Department of Economic Opportunity

The Department of Economic Opportunity (DEO) administers the following loan programs under ch. 288, F.S.:

- Rural Development Revolving Loan Program;
- Economic Gardening Business Loan Pilot Program; and
- Black Business Loan Program.

Rural Community Development Revolving Loan Program

The Rural Community Development Revolving Loan Program[2] provides long-term loans, loan guarantees, and loan loss reserves to units of local governments or economic development organizations substantially underwritten by a unit of local government. Applicants must be within a county with a population of 75,000 or fewer; a county with a population of 125,000 or fewer that is contiguous to a county with a population of 75,000 or fewer, including those residing in incorporated areas and those residing in unincorporated areas of the county; or within a rural area of critical economic concern.[3]

Requests for loans must be made by application to the DEO and are made pursuant to agreements specifying the terms and conditions agreed to between the applicant and the DEO. All repayments of principal and interest must be returned to the loan fund and made available for loans to other applicants. However, upon approval by the DEO and in a rural area of critical economic concern, repayments of principal and interest may be retained by the applicant if such repayments are dedicated and matched to fund regionally-based economic development organizations representing the rural area of critical economic concern.[4]

The DEO is directed to manage the fund and establish loan practices that include procedures for establishing loan interest rates, uses of funding, application procedures, and application review procedures. The DEO is granted the authority for the final approval for any loan under the program.[5]

Economic Gardening Business Loan Pilot Program

The Economic Gardening Business Loan Pilot Program[6] provides low-interest, short-term loans to second-stage, high growth businesses. For eligibility in the loan program, a business must:[7]

- Be a for-profit, privately-held, investment-grade business that employs between 10 and 50 persons;
- Have maintained its principal place of business in Florida for at least the last two years;
- Generate between $1 million and $25 million in annual revenue;
- Be eligible for the Qualified Targeted Industry tax refund program pursuant to s. 288.106, F.S.;[8] and
- Have experienced steady growth in its gross revenues and employment in at least three of the preceding five years.

[8] The qualified targeted industries are clean technology, life sciences, information technology, aviation/aerospace, homeland security/defense, and financial/professional services.

The maximum amount of the loan available for receipt under the pilot program is $250,000. The proceeds of the loan may be used for working capital purchases, employee training, or salaries for newly created jobs in the state. The loan period is four years.[9]

The DEO is authorized to designate one or more qualified entities to serve as loan administrators for the program. A loan administrator must be a Florida not-for-profit corporation that has its principal place of business in this state, and have at least five years of verifiable experience of lending to businesses in this state. [10]

The DEO, upon selection of a loan administrator, must enter into a grant agreement with the administrator to issue the available loans to eligible applicants. The grant agreement must specify the aggregate amount of the loans authorized for award by the loan administrator. The term of the grant agreement must be at least 4 years, except that the DEO may terminate the agreement earlier if the loan administrator fails to meet minimum performance standards set by the DEO. The grant agreement may be amended by mutual consent of both parties.[11]

A loan administrator is entitled to receive a loan origination fee, payable at closing, of 1 percent of each loan issued by the loan administrator and a servicing fee of 0.625 percent per annum of the loan's outstanding principal balance, payable monthly. During the first 12 months of the loan, the servicing fee must be paid from the disbursement from the Economic Development Trust Fund, and thereafter the loan administrator must collect the servicing fee from the payments made by the borrower, charging the fee against repayments of principal.[12]

The loan administrator, after collecting the servicing fee, must remit the borrower's collected interest, principal payments, and charges for late payments to the DEO on a quarterly basis. If the borrower defaults on the loan, the loan administrator must initiate collection efforts to seek repayment of the loan. Upon collecting payments for a defaulted loan, the loan administrator, must remit the payments to the DEO; but, to the extent authorized in the grant agreement, may deduct the costs of the administrator's collection efforts. The DEO must deposit all funds received under this provision into the General Revenue Fund.[13]

The loan administrator is required to submit quarterly reports to the DEO, which must include the information required in the grant agreement, including the number of full-time equivalent jobs created as a result of the loans, the amount of wages paid to employees in the newly created jobs, and the locations and types of economic activity undertaken by the borrowers.[14]

The DEO contracted with the Black Business Investment Fund to administer the pilot program in 2009, and received an initial appropriation of $8.5 million.[15] No additional funds have been appropriated to the program.

Black Business Loan Program

Under the Black Business Loan Program,[17] the DEO annually certifies entities to provide loans, loan guarantees, or investments to black business enterprises that cannot obtain capital through conventional lending institutions but could otherwise compete successfully in the private sector.[18]

The program is subject to annual legislative appropriation. If the Black Business Loan Program is appropriated any funding in a fiscal year, the DEO must distribute an equal amount of the appropriation to each eligible entity, calculated as the total annual appropriation divided by the total number of eligible entities certified on or before July 31 of that fiscal year.[19]

An entity submitting an initial application for certification must demonstrate that it has:[20]

- A board of directors that includes citizens of the state experienced in the development of black business enterprises.
- A business plan that allows the recipient to operate in a manner consistent with the law and the DEO's rules for the program.
- The technical skills to analyze and evaluate applications by black business enterprises for loans, loan guarantees, or investments.
- Established viable partnerships with public and private funding sources, economic development agencies, and workforce development and job referral networks.
- The ability to provide a private match equal to 20 percent of the amount of funds provided by the DEO.

An eligible entity must be a corporation registered in this state. Existing certified entities must annually submit to the DEO a financial audit performed by an independent certified public accountant for the most recently completed fiscal year. The audit must not reveal any material weaknesses or instances of material noncompliance.[21]

Both existing and new entities must agree to maintain the books and records relating to funds received by the DEO according to generally accepted accounting principles and in accordance with the requirements of the Single Audit Act.[22] The entities must also agree to make those books and records available to the DEO for inspection upon reasonable notice.[23]

Each eligible entity must meet the requirements of the loan program, the terms of the contract between the entity and the DEO, and any other applicable state or federal laws. An entity may not receive funds unless the entity meets annual certification requirements.[24]

For Fiscal Year 2013-14, there are 6 certified entities and the amount appropriated was $2.225 million.[25]

Triumph Gulf Coast, Inc.

In 2013, the Legislature created Triumph Gulf Coast, Inc., a nonprofit corporation administratively housed within the DEO, to administer and invest 75 percent of all funds recovered by the Attorney General for economic damages to the state resulting from the Deepwater Horizon oil spill.[26] Triumph Gulf Coast, Inc., is governed by a 5-member board of directors, with each member serving a term of 4 years.[27] The initial appointments to the board of directors have been made.[28]

Florida Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Program

The Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program is a federally funded housing and community development program that targets assistance to low and moderate income populations. Administered by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), the program provides annual grants on a formula basis to units of local government and states. The Federal CDBG regulations set forth eligible activities and the three national objectives that each activity must meet.[29] Every CDBG-funded activity must meet one of the following three national program objectives:

- Benefiting low-and moderate-income persons,
- Preventing or eliminating slums or blight, or
- Meeting urgent needs (other community development needs having a particular urgency because existing conditions pose a serious and immediate threat to the health or welfare of the community and other financial resources are not available to meet such needs).

As recipients of CDBG funds, grantees are charged with ensuring that these requirements are met. States are given "maximum feasible deference" in the administration of the program.[30]

Eligible program activities include housing rehabilitation and preservation, special economic development activities, and water and sewer facilities construction.

Local governments in urban areas apply for and receive funds directly from HUD.[31] Rural or smaller area governments also receive grants but these funds are first funneled through the state. In Florida, this competitive rural distribution mechanism is known as the Florida Small Cities Community Block Grant Program (Small Cities CDBG), which is administered by the DEO. The Small Cities CDBG program grants assistance to non-entitlement communities within the state (i.e., cities with fewer than 50,000 residents and counties with fewer than 200,000 residents). The state annually develops funding priorities and criteria for selecting projects.[32]

Established in 1983, the intent of Florida's Small Cities CDBG program, outlined in s. 290.0411, F.S., is consistent with the federal CDBG legislation. The primary purposes of the program include community development and project planning activities to maintain viable communities, revitalize existing communities, expand economic development and employment opportunities, and improve housing conditions and expand housing opportunities, providing direct benefit to persons of low or moderate income.
Communities in the state with populations below the entitlement thresholds must compete for funding by submitting applications through the Small Cities CDBG programs. There are 246 communities eligible to participate in the program for the Federal Fiscal Year 2013 funding cycle.[33] The DEO annually develops funding priorities and criteria for selecting Small Cities CDBG projects subject to statutory provisions and applicable rules.[34]

While federal regulations "give maximum feasible deference to the state's interpretation of the statutory requirements" of CDBG, Florida's Small Cities CDBG is bound by the national objectives and eligible activities of the federal act.[35]

Small Cities CDBG HUD Allocation

HUD determines the amount of the Small Cities CDBG funding allocation using a formula comprised of several measures of community need, including the extent of poverty, population, housing overcrowding, age of housing, and population growth lag in relationship to other restrictive requirements, but may not contradict or be inconsistent with the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974.

[31] Id. This is referred to as the "Entitlement Program" and to be eligible an entity must be a city in a metropolitan area with a population of 50,000 or more, a principal city of a metropolitan area, or an urban county with a population of at least 200,000.

[32] 24 C.F.R. Part 91 requires states to submit a consolidated plan 45 days before the start of its program year. The plan must include the objectives and outcomes identified in the plan, as well as an evaluation of past performance. The plan must also include a housing and homeless needs assessment, housing market analysis, a strategic plan for addressing identified needs and how the allocation of funds will resolve needs across income categories, an action plan, certain certifications, and a plan for monitoring the activities carried out under the program.

[34] Small Cities CDBG is administered in accordance with ss. 290.0401-290.048, F.S., ch. 73C-23, F.A.C., (formerly 9B-43), and 24 C.F.R. 570, Subpart I.

states.[36] Each year since 1983, Florida has received between $18 and $35 million from HUD for the program.[37] Florida's Federal Fiscal Year 2013 allocation is $22,887,374.[38]

Categories of Funding

Section 290.044, F.S., specifies certain grant program categories for the Small Cities CDBG and allows the DEO to define the broad community objectives served by each category. Major grant categories and the DEO's defined objectives are:[39]

- Commercial Revitalization – The objective of this category is to revitalize commercial areas that are showing signs of decline by addressing problems causing deterioration or decline. Activities that achieve this objective include installing or reconstructing necessary public improvements, and repairing and rehabilitating building facades.
- Economic Development – Economic development objectives include promoting investment of private capital, retaining local economic enterprises, and providing long-term jobs with growth potential primarily for very low-, low-, and moderate-income persons. Activities that achieve this objective include acquiring, constructing, or rehabilitating commercial and industrial buildings, and activities designed to provide job training and job placement. Eligible local governments may apply up to three times in any annual funding cycle for an Economic Development grant. Applicants may have up to two open Economic Development grants.[40]
- Housing Rehabilitation – The objective of this category is to improve housing conditions and expand housing opportunities for very low-, low- and moderate-income persons. Activities that achieve this objective include rehabilitating housing or publicly owned or acquired properties, and weatherization and energy-efficiency improvements.
- Neighborhood Revitalization – The objective of this category is to revitalize declining neighborhoods and improve infrastructure. Activities that may achieve this objective may involve street paving, construction, or rehabilitation of neighborhood facilities that provide health, social, or recreational services.

Beyond the major funding categories, s. 290.044, F.S., also permits the DEO to annually set aside a portion of Small Cities CDBG funding for use in emergencies or natural disasters that have been declared by executive order. Funds not allocated under the emergency-related set-aside by the last quarter of the state Fiscal Year are distributed to unfunded applications from the other categories.

[40] Rule 73C-23.0041(6)(f), F.A.C., stipulates that an economic development project must meet a national objective through the creation or retention of jobs, of which 51 percent must be jobs for persons from low to moderate-income households and must provide a public benefit by creating or retaining a number of full time equivalent jobs that divided into the subgrant amount results in a cost per job of under $35,000.

Local governments applying for Small Cities CDBG funds must consider national and state goals and objectives when developing applications for funding. Applications may reflect more than one activity, but each eligible activity must meet at least one of the three national objectives (i.e., benefit low- and moderate-income persons, eliminate slum or blight, or meet an urgent need).

Grant Selection Criteria and Process

Upon receipt of an application, an initial review is conducted by the DEO to determine if threshold criteria have been met. This review is used as a screening method to ensure compliance with minimum application requirements. Specific criteria established by s. 290.0475, F.S., govern whether the DEO may reject an application without regard to scoring. These criteria are:

- The application is not received by the specified deadline date;
- The proposed project activities fail to meet one of the three national objectives;
- The proposed activities are not eligible;
- The proposed activities are not in compliance with the adopted local comprehensive plan;
- The applicant has an open Housing, Neighborhood or Commercial Revitalization CDBG;
- The local government is not in compliance with citizen participation requirements; or
- Information provided in the application that affects eligibility or scoring is misrepresented.

Section 290.046(3), F.S., establishes grant application ranking components and their respective score weighting:

- Community need (25 percent) measures the extent of poverty in the community and the condition of physical structures. Each application, regardless of program category is scored on the same community need criteria.[41]
- Project impact (65 percent) measures the direct benefit received by persons of low and moderate income, the extent to which the problem identified is addressed by the proposed activities, and the extent to which resources other than the funds being applied for are being used to carry out the proposed activities. Project impact criteria are unique to each program category.[42]
- Equal opportunity employment and housing performance (10 percent) measures outstanding efforts in this area.

While the Small Cities CDBG Program does not require local governments to provide matching funds, the competitive scoring criteria do favor applications that leverage other funds. Local government general revenue, as well as other loan and grant funds, may be counted as leveraged funds.

The DEO may not award a grant until it has determined, based upon a site visit, that a project or activities are eligible, in accordance with the description contained in the application.[43]

[41] Rule 73C-23.0041(10)(b)4., F.A.C., specifies three factors to determine community need: 1) the number of low and moderate income persons, 2) the number of persons below poverty level, and 3) the number of year-round housing units with 1.01 or more persons per room.
[42] Section 290.046(3)(d), F.S., further provides that the criteria used to measure the direct benefit to persons of low income and persons of moderate income shall represent no less than 42 percent of the points assigned to the program impact factor.
[43] Section 290.046(2)(d), F.S.

Local Government Citizen Participation Requirements

Section 290.046, F.S., and federal regulations, set out the requirements local governments must follow to obtain citizen input for Small Cities CDBGs. Local governments submitting a CDBG application must comply with citizen participation requirements as provided in the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, and the DEO's rules. To ensure compliance, these provisions are incorporated in grant applications, the scoring system and award agreements.[44] Prior to submitting an application for funding, a local government must:

- Publicize information concerning the amount of funds available to the local government and the range of activities that may be undertaken.
- Hold at least one public hearing to obtain citizens' views on community development needs.
- Publish a notice concerning the proposed application advising citizens of the application's location and notifying them that it is available for inspection and comment.
- Publicly state its plans to assist displaced persons should displacement occur.
- Hold at least one public hearing on the proposed application prior to its submission to the state.
- If appropriate, modify the proposed application to respond to citizens' comments.[45]

In addition, a Citizen's Advisory Task Force must be established to provide input throughout the project process.[46] At least three of the task force members are required to be residents of the jurisdiction where the proposed project or activities are to be implemented. No task force members may be elected officials and only one may be an employee of the local government.[47] Failure to meet these or any other citizen participation requirements will result in the rejection of an application pursuant to s. 290.0475(6), F.S.

DEO Recommendation on Small Cities CDBG: January 2012

Chapter 2011-142 L.O.F., directed the DEO to provide recommendations for further reorganization and streamlining that improve the effectiveness and operation of economic development and workforce programs. In January of 2012, the DEO released the "Report on Further Streamlining & Reorganization of Florida's Economic Development & Workforce Functions."[48] As one of its recommendations, the DEO suggested revisions to the Florida Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Act set forth in ch. 290, F.S.

The DEO's explanation for this recommendation included the following:

> The Florida Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Act currently contains a number of provisions that restrict the program's ability to be flexible, agile or foster DEO's economic development emphasis. Revisions to the Act would allow DEO greater latitude to craft the program toward a more effective economic development outcome and would remove burdensome and unnecessary requirements beyond those required in the Code of Federal Regulations.

The desired outcome is to remove unnecessary regulation and competitive CDBG grant scoring criteria from statute and to put more of the framework of the CDBG grant scoring criteria in rule so that DEO has more agility and flexibility to work with our stakeholders to put more of an economic development focus on the Small Cities CDBG program and streamline the process for the other grant categories as well.

Space Florida

Space Florida[49] was created as an independent special district to "foster the growth and development of a sustainable and world-leading aerospace industry in this state." Space Florida is required to promote aerospace business development by facilitating business financing, spaceport operations, research and development, workforce development, and innovative education programs.

Space Florida's duties, among other things, include developing a business plan to stimulate the growth and development of the aerospace industry, creating a marketing campaign to help attract, develop, and retain aerospace research and technology, as well as other related activities. It is also charged with developing a space tourism marketing plan in consultation with Enterprise Florida, Inc.[50]

FAA Center of Excellence for Commercial Space Transportation

In 2010, the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) established the Air Transportation Center of Excellence for Commercial Space Transportation (Center of Excellence for CST). The Center of Excellence for CST is a partnership of academia, industry, and government, developed for the purpose of creating a world-class consortium that will address current and future challenges for commercial space transportation. There are nine member universities representing the entire commercial space transportation industry that bring in over 50 other government, industry and academic organizations as research partners.[51] Florida's representation in the Center of Excellence for CST is significant in that 4 of the 9 university members are Florida universities – Florida Institute of Technology, Florida State University, University of Central Florida, and University of Florida.[52]

[49] Space Florida was created by ch. 2006-60, L.O.F., and codified in part II, ch. 331, F.S.

Background on Reemployment Assistance

According to the U.S. Department of Labor (USDOL), the Federal-State Unemployment Insurance Program provides unemployment benefits to eligible workers who are unemployed through no fault of their own (as determined under state law) and who meet the requirements of state law.[53] Individual states collect payroll taxes on a quarterly basis, which are used to pay benefits, while the Internal Revenue Service collects an annual federal payroll tax under the Federal Unemployment Tax Act (FUTA).[54] FUTA collections go to the states for costs related to the administration of state unemployment insurance and job service programs. In addition, the FUTA pays one-half the cost of extended unemployment benefits (during periods of high unemployment) and provides a fund from which states may borrow, if necessary, to pay benefits.[55]

States are permitted to set benefit eligibility requirements, the amount and duration of benefits, and the state tax structure, as long as state law does not conflict with the FUTA or the Social Security Act requirements. Florida's unemployment insurance program was created by the Legislature in 1937.[56] The program was rebranded as the "reemployment assistance program" in 2012.[57] The DEO is responsible for administering Florida's reemployment assistance (RA) laws, primarily through its Division for Workforce Services. The DEO contracts with the Florida Department of Revenue (DOR) to provide unemployment tax collection services.[58]

A qualified claimant may receive RA benefits equal to 25 percent of wages, not to exceed $6,325 in a benefit year.[59] Benefits range from a minimum of $32 per week to a maximum weekly benefit amount of $275 for up to 23 weeks, depending on the claimant's length of prior employment and wages earned, and the unemployment rate.[60]

To receive RA benefits, a claimant must meet certain monetary and non-monetary eligibility requirements. Key eligibility requirements involve a claimant's earnings during a certain period of time, the manner in which the claimant became unemployed, and the claimant's efforts to find new employment.

[60] Section 443.111(3), F.S. A benefit week begins on Sunday and ends on Saturday. If the average unemployment rate for the 3 months in the most recent third calendar year quarter is at or below 5 percent, then the maximum number of weeks of benefits available is 12; for each 0.5 percent that the unemployment rate is above 5 percent, an additional week of benefits becomes available up to 23 weeks at an unemployment rate of 10.5 percent.

Initial Skills Review

Florida requires claimants to participate in an initial skills review (ISR) in order to be eligible to receive RA benefits.[61] The initial skills review must be completed within 14 days of filing of a benefits claim; if it is not completed during that time, benefits may be denied. The initial skills review is an online training program that is approved by the DEO and is designed to measure an individual's mastery level of workplace skills.[62] The program takes approximately 30-45 minutes to complete. The administrator or operator of the online education or training program is required to report to the DEO that an individual has taken the initial skills test for benefit eligibility purposes, and to the regional workforce board or CareerSource Center, the results of the initial skills review for purposes of reemployment services. The regional workforce board is required to develop a plan to use the initial skills review to refer individuals to training and employment opportunities.[63]

An individual may take the initial skills review at the assessment center or online at any location with Internet access. The assessment measures general skills necessary for most jobs in three areas: locating information, reading, and applied math. All the questions are based on workplace scenarios. After taking the initial skills review, an individual may take additional course material to try to improve his or her skills.[64] In Fiscal Year 2012-13, 424,886 individuals completed the initial skills review, and 61,676 individuals were denied for failure to timely complete the initial skills review.[65]

In 2012, the USDOL Civil Rights Center issued an initial determination as a result of a discrimination complaint filed by the Miami Workers Center that found that the initial skills review might violate federal disability law in one of two ways.[66] It opined that the initial skills review, as implemented, had the tendency to screen out persons with disabilities from fully and equally enjoying the benefits of the RA program. Specifically, it was noted that the website required use of certain technology that could not easily be made accessible to persons with disabilities and no alternative method for completing the initial skills assessment was offered. Second, it found that the DEO did not effectively communicate to applicants that exemptions to the ISR were available to those with disabilities.

The DEO objected to the findings and there has been no resolution to date.

Installment Plans

In Florida, RA benefits are financed solely through taxes paid by employers on the first $8,000 of each employee's wages.[67] The calculation for determining each employer's tax rate is statutorily set, and takes into consideration an employer's unemployment "experience" (as former employees collect RA benefits, these benefits are charged to the employer), the balance of the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund, and other factors.

Since 2010, state law has allowed employers to elect to make quarterly contributions to the UC Trust Fund, instead of making a single, annual contribution.[68] Employers electing to pay quarterly are assessed an annual administrative fee of $5. This fee is deposited into the DOR's Operating Trust Fund. This option is currently set to expire in 2014.[69]

Short Time Compensation Program

Short Time Compensation[70] (STC) is a voluntary program that allows employers to retain trained employees during a slow down or disruption to regular business activity by reducing the hours of work for an entire group of affected employees rather than laying off some while continuing others in full-time employment. An employer wishing to participate in the STC program must submit a signed, written short time compensation plan to the DEO for approval.[71] The DEO must approve the plan if:

- The plan applies to and identifies each specific unit affected;
- The individuals in the affected unit are identified by name and social security number;
- The normal weekly hours of work for individuals in the affected unit are reduced by at least 10 percent but not more than 40 percent;
- The plan includes a certified statement by the employer that the aggregate reduction in work hours is in lieu of temporary layoffs that would affect at least 10 percent of the employees in the affected unit and that would have resulted in an equivalent reduction in work hours;
- The plan applies to at least 10 percent of the employees in the affected unit;
- The plan has written approval of all collective bargaining groups covering individuals in the affected unit;
- The plan does not serve to subsidize seasonal employees during the off-season or subsidize employers who traditionally use part-time employees; and
- The plan certifies the manner in which the employer will treat fringe benefits[72] of the individuals in the affected unit if the hours of the individuals are reduced to less than their normal weekly hours.

[67] Nonprofit employers may choose to finance compensation through either the contributory method or the reimbursement method. A reimbursing employer is one who must pay the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund on a dollar-for-dollar basis for the benefits paid to its former employees. The employer is otherwise not required to make payments to the trust fund. See s. 443.1312, F.S. State and local governments are reimbursing employers. Most employers are contributory employers. In January 2015, the "wage base" will be reduced to $7,000. See s. 443.1217(2)(a), F.S.

[71] Section 443.1116(2), F.S.
[72] Fringe benefits include, but are not limited to, health insurance, retirement benefits under defined benefit pension plans, paid vacation and holidays, and sick leave.

To be eligible to receive benefits under an approved STC plan, an employee must:

- Be employed as a member of an affected unit in an approved plan;
- Be able to work and available to work additional hours or full-time with the short-time employer; and
- Have had work hours reduced by at least 10 percent but no more than 40 percent, with a corresponding reduction in wages.

In 2012, the Middle Class Tax Relief and Job Creation Act of 2012, passed by the U.S. Congress, made several changes to the STC program.[73] States are not required to enact an STC program, but must conform to the new law in order to continue to offer an STC program.[74]

Rural Areas of Critical Economic Concern

The Rural Economic Development Initiative (REDI), housed within the DEO, is a multi-agency endeavor that coordinates the efforts of state and regional agencies to address the problems that affect the fiscal, economic, and community viability of Florida's economically distressed rural communities.[75] The REDI works with local governments, community-based organizations, and private organizations that have an interest in the growth and development of these communities to find ways to balance environmental and growth management issues with local needs and economic development.

A rural area of critical economic concern (RACEC) is a community, or a region composed of rural communities, designated by the Governor, that has been adversely affected by an extraordinary economic event, severe or chronic distress, a natural disaster, or that presents a unique economic development opportunity of regional impact.[76]

Upon a recommendation from the REDI, the Governor may designate up to three RACEC areas. This designation allows these areas to receive priority assignments for the REDI, and allows the Governor, acting through the REDI, to waive criteria, requirements, or similar provisions of any economic development incentive. Currently, there are three designated RACEC areas consisting of the following counties and communities:

- Northwest RACEC - Calhoun, Franklin, Gadsden, Gulf, Holmes, Jackson, Liberty, Wakulla, and Washington counties, and the City of Freeport in Walton County.
- South Central RACEC – DeSoto, Glades, Hardee, Hendry, Highlands, and Okeechobee counties, and the Cities of Pahokee, Belle Glade, and South Bay (Palm Beach County), and Immokalee (Collier County).
- North Central RACEC – Baker, Bradford, Columbia, Dixie, Gilchrist, Hamilton, Jefferson, Lafayette, Levy, Madison, Putnam, Suwannee, Taylor, and Union counties.[77]

In 2012, Enterprise Florida, Inc., commissioned a study to help develop an economic development strategic plan for rural Florida.[78] The study found that:

- Florida has a fragmented framework for addressing rural economic development;
- Although rural Florida is perceived to be distressed and an "an area of critical economic concern," it has greater assets than its potential competition in other southeastern states; and
- The name "Rural Areas of Critical Economic Concern," may be counterproductive when seeking positive attention from economic development interests. One of the strategic recommendations is to change the RACEC name.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 amends s. 163.3202, F.S., to correct a cross-reference that inadvertently left newly-created cities out of the requirement to update their land development regulations.

Section 2 amends s. 288.0001, F.S., to require the Office of Economic and Demographic Research and the Office of Program Policy Analysis and Government Accountability to include the New Markets Development Program established under ss. 288.991-288.9922, F.S., as part of the Economic Development Programs Evaluation that will be conducted by January 1, 2017.

Loan Programs

Section 3 amends s. 288.005, F.S., to provide definitions for loan administrator and loan program. The bill defines "loan administrator" as a statutorily eligible recipient of state funds authorized by the Department of Economic Opportunity (DEO) to make loans under a loan program. "Loan program" is defined as a program established under ch. 288, F.S., that provides appropriated funds to an eligible entity to further a specific state purpose for a limited time with a requirement that the funds be returned to the state. The term loan program also includes "loan fund" or "loan pilot program."

Section 4 creates s. 288.006, F.S., which outlines the procedure and requirements for operating all loan programs under ch. 288, F.S.

The bill provides that state funds appropriated for loan programs may only be used by an eligible recipient or loan administrator and these funds may only be used to carry out the specific state purpose of the loan program, subject to any compensation due to a loan administrator. The DEO may award state funds directly to an eligible recipient or to a loan administrator. All state funds, including any accrued interest, remain state funds unless statutory requirements of the loan program state otherwise.

Upon termination of a loan program, all appropriated funds will revert to the General Revenue Fund, minus any outstanding administrative expenses due. Upon termination of a contract between the DEO and an eligible recipient or loan administrator, any remaining funds will revert to the fund from which the appropriation was made. The DEO will become the successor entity for any outstanding loans and is directed to pay the former loan administrator for any allowable administrative expenses due to the loan administrator. However, this does not apply when the contract is terminated for fraud or a finding that the recipient or loan administrator was not meeting the terms of the program. The former loan administrator or recipient must execute all appropriate instruments to reconcile any remaining accounts associated with the terminated loan program or contract.

An eligible recipient or loan administrator must avoid any potential conflicts of interest regarding the use of loan program funds. Loan administrators, as well as their board members, employees, agents, or any immediate family members thereof, are not allowed to have a financial interest in an entity that is an eligible recipient of the loan program. "Immediate family" includes a parent, spouse, child, sibling, grandparent, or grandchild related by blood or marriage. The bill prohibits loans from being awarded to a person or entity if there is a conflict of interest between the parties involved.

To determine eligibility as a recipient or as a loan administrator for a loan program, an applicant must submit an application to the DEO. The DEO must evaluate the applicant's business practices, financial stability, past performance in other state programs, and ability to meet the statutory requirements of the loan program. An applicant's eligibility may be conditionally granted or denied if the DEO determines that the entity is not compliant with any law, rule, or program requirement.

Revolving loans or new negotiable instruments using appropriated state funds that have been repaid to a loan administrator may be entered into when a loan program's statutory structure permits. However, all revolving loans or new negotiable instruments made by a loan administrator remain subject to the loan program requirements and compensation to a recipient or administrator is prohibited from exceeding the provisions that are permitted under ch. 288, F.S.

The bill authorizes the Auditor General to perform audits to verify that loan funds are expended by eligible recipients and loan administrators as required for each loan program. If the Auditor General determines that the funds are not expended as required, DEO must be notified so that it may pursue recovery of the funds. However, this authority will not prevent DEO from pursuing recovery of program funds to protect the funds or as permitted by law. DEO is authorized to adopt rules to implement the provisions of the bill.

Triumph Gulf Coast, Inc.

Section 5 amends s. 288.8013, F.S., to clarify that the audit of Triumph Gulf Coast, Inc., required to be conducted by the Auditor General is a performance audit.

Section 6 amends s. 288.8014, F.S., to provide that the terms of the initial board of directors for Triumph Gulf Coast, Inc., begin upon a legislative appropriation of funds to the Recovery Fund. The bill also provides that the initial appointments to the board of directors by the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives will be for a term of 5 years to achieve staggered terms. The remaining initial appointments will each serve a 4-year term. The bill provides that the certified public accountant that Triumph Gulf Coast, Inc., retains must annually audit its financial records.

Florida Defense Support Task

Section 7 amends s. 288.987, F.S., to increase the amount of funds that the Florida Defense Support Task Force may spend on staffing and administrative expenses of the task force, from $200,000 to $250,000 annually.

Florida Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Program

Section 8 amends s. 290.0411, F.S., to reflect that the legislative intent and purpose of the Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Program Act also includes economic need as one of the factors to make a Florida community eligible to participate in the program and economic development programs as an activity for such communities to undertake.

Section 9 amends s. 290.044, F.S., to provide the DEO rule-making authority to establish guidelines to distribute the Small Cities Community Development Block Grant (Small Cities CDBG) Program funds through a competitive selection process. Applicants will compete against each other in four grant program categories: housing rehabilitation, economic development, neighborhood revitalization, and commercial revitalization. The amendment deletes one program category: project planning and design. The DEO is directed to define broad community development objectives for the distribution of Community Development Block Grant funds that are consistent with the national objectives, as established by federal law.

Section 10 amends s. 290.046, F.S., to substantially revise the application procedures for the Florida Small Cities CDBG Program. Eligible local governments may only submit one application for a noneconomic development project during an application cycle. An eligible local government may apply for an economic development grant up to three times each annual funding cycle but may only receive one such grant per annual funding cycle. A local government is permitted to have more than one open economic development grant.

A grant may not be awarded until the DEO has completed a site visit to verify the information contained in the award application.

The DEO must rank each application received based on criteria established by rule. The rankings must incorporate a procedure intended to reduce or eliminate any population-related bias that places exceptionally small communities at a competitive disadvantage. The bill repeals some specific criteria and procedures for scoring applications that currently exist in statute.

Project funding must be determined by the rankings established in each application cycle. If, at the conclusion of a funding cycle, economic development funding remains, those funds will be awarded to eligible projects on a first-come, first-served basis until funding for this category is fully obligated.

The application's program impact score, equal employment opportunity and fair housing score, and the communitywide needs score may take into consideration scoring factors that include: unemployment, poverty levels, benefits to low- and moderate-income residents, use of minority-owned or woman-owned businesses in previous grants, health and safety issues, and the condition of physical structures.

The bill makes the requirement that a local government establish a Citizen's Advisory Task Force permissive. Local government citizen participation requirements are also substantially revised. An applicant must make information about the amount of funds available for various activities and the range of activities that may be undertaken available to the public. An applicant is also required to hold a minimum of two public meetings to solicit public input before submitting the final application. The applicant must conduct an initial hearing to solicit public input about community needs, to inform the public about funding opportunities to address those needs, and to discuss activities that may be undertaken. Prior to the second public hearing, the local government must publish a summary of the proposed application to give citizens the opportunity to review the contents of the application. A second public hearing must be held to obtain public comment about the proposed application and make appropriate modifications.

Section 11 amends s. 290.047, F.S., to provide that the maximum amount of block grant funds that may be spent on administrative costs under the economic development program category is $120,000.[79] The maximum amount of block grant funds that may be spent on engineering and architectural costs for any grant must be in accordance with a method adopted by the DEO by rule.

Section 12 amends s. 290.0475, F.S., to update references to statutes and department rules.

Section 13 repeals s. 290.048(5), F.S., which grants the DEO the power to adopt and enforce requirements concerning an applicant's written description of a service area and required the inclusion of maps illustrating the proposed service area. This repeal is related to the substantial revisions to the application process.

Space Florida

Section 14 amends s. 331.3051, F.S., to require Space Florida to consult with the Florida Tourism Industry Marketing Corporation (VISIT Florida) in developing a space tourism marketing plan, and allows Space Florida and VISIT Florida to enter into a mutually beneficial agreement to implement the plan. VISIT Florida replaces Enterprise Florida, Inc., as Space Florida's partner in developing a space tourism marketing plan.

The bill repeals the requirement that Space Florida develop a proposal to establish a Center of Excellence for Aerospace and instead makes this task permissive. The bill also requires Space Florida to provide support to universities in Florida that are members of the FAA's Center of Excellence for Commercial Space Transportation.

[79] Under current law, the maximum Small Cities CDBG administration costs are capped at 15 percent for housing grants and 8 percent for all other program category grants. A schedule of maximum percentages used for engineering costs is adopted by the DEO consistent with the schedule used by the U.S. Farmers Home Administration or another comparable schedule. See s. 290.047, F.S.

Reemployment Assistance

Initial Skills Review

Section 15 repeals s. 443.036(26), F.S., which provides a definition for "initial skills review."

Section 16 amends s. 443.091, F.S., to repeal the requirement that applicants for reemployment assistance must complete an initial skills review to receive benefits. The bill directs the DEO to offer a voluntary online assessment that will identify an individual's skills, abilities, and career aptitude. The assessment must be made available to any person seeking services from a regional workforce board or CareerSource Center. The results of the online assessment must be made available to the claimant, the regional workforce board, and the CareerSource Center. The individual must be informed of and encouraged to participate in services, including career counseling, provision of skill match and job market information, skills upgrade, and other training opportunities offered at no cost to the individual through the CareerSource Center delivery service.

Aggregate data on the assessment outcomes may also be made available to Workforce Florida, Inc., also known as CareerSource Florida, and Enterprise Florida, Inc., for use in developing policies related to education and training programs to ensure that businesses in this state have access to a skilled and competent workforce.

The bill authorizes the DEO to competitively procure an online assessment system that will work seamlessly with the CONNECT system.[80]

Short Time Compensation (STC)

Section 17 amends s. 443.1116, F.S., to bring Florida in conformity with federal law. As a part of its STC plan, the employer must certify that if fringe benefits are provided to an employee whose workweek is reduced under the program, the employer will continue to provide the fringe benefits while the employee is participating in the STC program under the same terms and conditions as if the employee were not a participant or to the same extent as other employees not participating in the STC program.

The STC plan must also describe the manner in which it will be implemented, including the provision of notice and an estimate of layoffs that would have occurred in the absence of the ability to participate in the STC program. The employer's written plan and its implementation must be consistent with the employer's obligations under applicable state and federal law.

The bill prohibits the DEO from denying STC benefits to an individual who is otherwise eligible due to her or his participation in employer-sponsored training or a training program under the Workforce Investment Act to improve job skills when the training is approved by the DEO. The bill defines "employer-sponsored training" as training sponsored by an employer to improve the skills of the employer's workers.

[80] The CONNECT system is DEO's Reemployment Assistance Claims and Benefits Information System.

Installment Plans

Section 18 amends s. 443.141, F.S., to make the reemployment assistance contribution installment plans a permanent option. Employers will continue to have the option of making quarterly contributions to the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund for an annual administrative fee of $5.

Filing Claims

Section 19 amends s. 443.151, F.S., to require the DEO to provide an alternate method of filing claims for reemployment assistance when it determines that the online claim system (CONNECT) is unavailable for the filing of claims. The DEO must provide public notice of the system's unavailability.

Sections 41 and 42 amend ss. 215.425 and 443.1216, F.S., to update statutory citations to conform to changes made by this bill.

Rural Areas of Critical Economic Concern

Sections 20 through 40 amend ss. 125.271, 163.3177, 163.3187, 163.3246, 211.3103, 212.098, 218.67, 288.018, 288.065, 288.0655, 288.0656, 288.1088, 288.1089, 290.0055, 339.2819, 339.63, 373.4595, 380.06, 380.0651, 985.686, and 1011.76, F.S., to replace the phrase rural area of "critical economic concern" with rural area of "opportunity."

Section 43 provides an effective date of July 1, 2014.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

Continuing the installment plan option for reemployment assistance (RA) contributions may have an indeterminate negative impact on the balance of the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund that could increase RA contribution rates assessed against employers.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The availability of the Short Time Compensation program allows employers to avoid layoffs while retaining skilled employees.

For those employers that may experience difficulty in remitting an annual lump sum payment of RA contributions, continuing the installment plan option will provide an alternative means of payment and possibly reduce the risk of delinquency.

The rebranding of "rural areas of critical economic concern" to "rural areas of opportunity" may have a positive economic effect on these communities.

C. Government Sector Impact:

DEO anticipates that any administrative costs resulting from the bill will be absorbed through current resources.[81]

The Auditor General could incur additional indeterminate staffing costs if the Auditor General exercises the new authority to audit DEO loan programs when necessary.[82]

The bill provides that the Florida Defense Support Task Force may spend up to $250,000 on staffing and administrative expenses, which raises the current statutory limit by $50,000.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

The bill authorizes the DEO to adopt rules relating to the general operation of loan programs and the Small Cities CDBG program.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 125.271, 163.3177, 163.3187, 163.3202, 163.3246, 211.3103, 212.098, 215.425, 218.67, 288.0001, 288.005, 288.06, 288.018, 288.065, 288.0655, 288.0656, 288.1088, 288.1089, 288.8013, 288.8014, 288.987, 290.0055, 290.0411, 290.044, 290.046, 290.047, 290.0475, 290.048, 331.3051, 339.2819, 339.63, 373.4595, 380.06, 380.0651, 443.091, 443.1116, 443.1216, 443.141, 443.151, 985.686, and 1011.76.

This bill creates section 288.006 of the Florida Statutes.

[81] DEO Agency Analysis. SB 1634. March 14, 2014. (On file with the Senate Military and Veterans Affairs, Space, and Domestic Security Committee.)
[82] Florida Auditor General Analysis. SB 1634. March 12, 2014. (On file with the Senate Military and Veterans Affairs, Space, and Domestic Security Committee.)

This bill repeals section 443.036(26) of the Florida Statutes.

Between lines 1745 and 1746

Section 39. (1) Any building permit, and any permit issued by the Department of Environmental Protection or by a water management district pursuant to part IV of chapter 373, Florida Statutes, which has an expiration date from January 1, 2014, through January 1, 2016, is extended and renewed for a period of 2 years after its previously scheduled date of expiration. This extension includes any local government-issued development order or building permit including certificates of levels of service. This section does not prohibit conversion from the construction phase to the operation phase upon completion of construction. This extension is in addition to any existing permit extension. Extensions granted pursuant to this section; s. 14 of chapter 2009-96, Laws of Florida, as reauthorized by s. 47 of chapter 2010-147, Laws of Florida; s. 46 of chapter 2010-147, Laws of Florida; s. 73 or s. 79 of chapter 2011-139, Laws of Florida; or s. 24 of chapter 2012-205, Laws of Florida, may not exceed 4 years in total. Further, specific development order extensions granted pursuant to s. 380.06(19)(c)2., Florida Statutes, may not be further extended by this section.

(2) The commencement and completion dates for any required mitigation associated with a phased construction project are extended so that mitigation takes place in the same timeframe relative to the phase as originally permitted.

(3) The holder of a valid permit or other authorization that is eligible for the 2-year extension must notify the authorizing agency in writing by December 31, 2014, identifying the specific authorization for which the holder intends to use the extension and the anticipated timeframe for acting on the authorization.

(4) The extension provided in subsection (1) does not apply to:

(a) A permit or other authorization under any programmatic or regional general permit issued by the Army Corps of Engineers.

(b) A permit or other authorization held by an owner or operator determined to be in significant noncompliance with the conditions of the permit or authorization as established through the issuance of a warning letter or notice of violation, the initiation of formal enforcement, or other equivalent action by the authorizing agency.

(c) A permit or other authorization, if granted an extension that would delay or prevent compliance with a court order.

(5) Permits extended under this section shall continue to be governed by the rules in effect at the time the permit was issued unless it is demonstrated that the rules in effect at the time the permit was issued would create an immediate threat to public safety or health. This provision applies to any modification of the plans, terms, and conditions of the permit which lessens the environmental impact, except that any such modification does not extend the time limit beyond 2 additional years.

(6) This section does not impair the authority of a county or municipality to require the owner of a property who has notified the county or municipality of the owner's intent to receive the extension of time granted pursuant to this section to maintain and secure the property in a safe and sanitary condition in compliance with applicable laws and ordinances.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Subsection (1) of section 163.3202, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

163.3202 Land development regulations.—

Section 3. Subsections (5) and (6) are added to section 288.005, Florida Statutes, to read:

288.005 Definitions.—As used in this chapter, the term:

(5) "Loan administrator" means an entity statutorily eligible to receive state funds and authorized by the department to make loans under a loan program.

(6) "Loan program" means a program established in this chapter to provide appropriated funds to an eligible entity to further a specific state purpose for a limited period of time and with a requirement that such appropriated funds be repaid to the state. The term includes a "loan fund" or "loan pilot program" administered by the department under this chapter.

Section 4. Section 288.006, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

288.006 General operation of loan programs.—

(1) The Legislature intends to promote the goals of accountability and proper stewardship by recipients of loan program funds. This section applies to all loan programs established under this chapter.

(2) State funds appropriated for a loan program may be used only by an eligible recipient or loan administrator, and the use of such funds is restricted to the specific state purpose of the loan program, subject to any compensation due to a loan administrator as provided under this chapter. State funds may be awarded directly by the department to an eligible recipient or awarded by the department to a loan administrator. All state funds, including any interest earned, remain state funds unless otherwise stated in the statutory requirements of the loan program.

(3)(a) Upon termination of a loan program by the Legislature or by statute, all appropriated funds shall revert to the General Revenue Fund. The department shall pay the entity for any allowable administrative expenses due to the loan administrator as provided under this chapter, unless otherwise required by law.

(b) Upon termination of a contract between the department and an eligible recipient or loan administrator, all remaining appropriated funds shall revert to the fund from which the appropriation was made. The department shall become the successor entity for any outstanding loans. Except in the case of the termination of a contract for fraud or a finding that the loan administrator was not meeting the terms of the program, the department shall pay the entity for any allowable administrative expenses due to the loan administrator as provided under this chapter.

(c) The eligible recipient or loan administrator to which this subsection applies shall execute all appropriate instruments to reconcile any remaining accounts associated with a terminated loan program or contract. The entity shall execute all appropriate instruments to ensure that the department is authorized to collect all receivables for outstanding loans, including, but not limited to, assignments of promissory notes and mortgages.

(4) An eligible recipient or loan administrator must avoid any potential conflict of interest regarding the use of appropriated funds for a loan program. An eligible recipient or loan administrator or a board member, employee, or agent thereof, or an immediate family member of a board member, employee, or agent, may not have a financial interest in an entity that is awarded a loan under a loan program. A loan may not be made to a person or entity if a conflict of interest exists between the parties involved. As used in this subsection, the term "immediate family" means a parent, spouse, child, sibling, grandparent, or grandchild related by blood or marriage.

(7) The Auditor General may conduct audits as provided in s. 11.45 to verify that the appropriations under each loan program are expended by the eligible recipient or loan administrator as required for each program. If the Auditor General determines that the appropriations are not expended as required, the Auditor General shall notify the department, which may pursue recovery of the funds. This section does not prevent the department from pursuing recovery of the appropriated loan program funds when necessary to protect the funds or when authorized by law.

(8) The department may adopt rules under ss. 120.536(1) and 120.54 as necessary to carry out this section.

1. For each week of unemployment claimed, each report must, at a minimum, include the name, address, and telephone number of each prospective employer contacted, or the date the claimant reported to a one-stop career center, pursuant to paragraph (d).

2. The department must offer an online assessment that serves to identify an individual's skills, abilities, and career aptitude. The online assessment shall be made available to any person seeking services from a regional workforce board or a one-stop career center ~~The administrator or operator of the initial skills review shall notify the department when the~~

b.~~3.~~ Individuals ~~Any individual who falls below the minimal proficiency score prescribed by the department in subparagraph 2. on the initial skills review~~ shall be informed of and offered services through the one-stop delivery system, including career counseling, provision of skill match and job market information, and skills upgrade and other training opportunities, and shall

(b) The department may not deny short-time compensation benefits to an individual who is otherwise eligible for these benefits for any week by reason of the application of any provision of this chapter relating to availability for work, active search for work, or refusal to apply for or accept work from other than the short-time compensation employer of that individual.

(c) The department may not deny short-time compensation benefits to an individual who is otherwise eligible for these benefits for any week because such individual is participating in an employer-sponsored training or a training under the Workforce Investment Act to improve job skills when the training is approved by the department.

(d)~~(c)~~ Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, an individual is deemed unemployed in any week for which compensation is payable to her or him, as an employee in an affected unit, for less than her or his normal weekly hours of work in accordance with an approved short-time compensation plan in effect for the week.

There are a number of rural agricultural industrial centers in the state that process, produce, or aid in the production or distribution of a variety of agriculturally based products, including, but not limited to, fruits, vegetables, timber, and other crops, and juices, paper, and building materials. Rural agricultural industrial centers have a significant amount of existing associated infrastructure that is used for processing, producing, or distributing agricultural products.

2. Such rural agricultural industrial centers are often located within or near communities in which the economy is largely dependent upon agriculture and agriculturally based products. The centers significantly enhance the economy of such communities. However, these agriculturally based communities are often socioeconomically challenged and designated as rural areas of opportunity ~~critical economic concern~~. If such rural agricultural industrial centers are lost and not replaced with other job-creating enterprises, the agriculturally based communities will lose a substantial amount of their economies.

3. The state has a compelling interest in preserving the viability of agriculture and protecting rural agricultural communities and the state from the economic upheaval that would result from short-term or long-term adverse changes in the agricultural economy. To protect these communities and promote viable agriculture for the long term, it is essential to encourage and permit diversification of existing rural agricultural industrial centers by providing for jobs that are not solely dependent upon, but are compatible with and complement, existing agricultural industrial operations and to encourage the creation and expansion of industries that use agricultural products in innovative ways. However, the expansion and diversification of these existing centers must be accomplished in a manner that does not promote urban sprawl into surrounding agricultural and rural areas.

(b) As used in this subsection, the term "rural agricultural industrial center" means a developed parcel of land in an unincorporated area on which there exists an operating agricultural industrial facility or facilities that employ at least 200 full-time employees in the aggregate and process and prepare for transport a farm product, as defined in s. 163.3162, or any biomass material that could be used, directly or indirectly, for the production of fuel, renewable energy, bioenergy, or alternative fuel as defined by law. The center may also include land contiguous to the facility site which is not used for the cultivation of crops, but on which other existing activities essential to the operation of such facility or facilities are located or conducted. The parcel of land must be located within, or within 10 miles of, a rural area of opportunity ~~critical economic concern~~.

(e) ~~Nothing in~~ This subsection does not ~~shall be construed to~~ confer the status of rural area of opportunity ~~critical economic concern~~, or any of the rights or benefits derived from such status, on any land area not otherwise designated as such pursuant to s. 288.0656(7).

Section 18. Subsection (3) of section 163.3187, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

163.3187 Process for adoption of small-scale comprehensive plan amendment.—

(3) If the small scale development amendment involves a site within a rural area of opportunity ~~critical economic concern~~ as defined under s. 288.0656(2)(d) for the duration of such designation, the 10-acre limit listed in subsection (1) shall be increased by 100 percent to 20 acres. The local government approving the small scale plan amendment shall certify to the Office of Tourism, Trade, and Economic Development that the plan amendment furthers the economic objectives set forth in the executive order issued under s. 288.0656(7), and the property subject to the plan amendment shall undergo public review to ensure that all concurrency requirements and federal, state, and local environmental permit requirements are met.

Section 19. Subsection (10) of section 163.3246, Florida

Statutes, is amended to read:

163.3246 Local government comprehensive planning certification program.—

(10) Notwithstanding subsections (2), (4), (5), (6), and (7), any municipality designated as a rural area of opportunity ~~critical economic concern~~ pursuant to s. 288.0656 which is located within a county eligible to levy the Small County Surtax under s. 212.055(3) shall be considered certified during the effectiveness of the designation of rural area of opportunity ~~critical economic concern~~. The state land planning agency shall provide a written notice of certification to the local government of the certified area, which shall be considered final agency action subject to challenge under s. 120.569. The notice of certification shall include the following components:

(a) The boundary of the certification area.

(b) A requirement that the local government submit ~~either~~ an annual or biennial monitoring report to the state land planning agency according to the schedule provided in the written notice. The monitoring report shall, at a minimum, include the number of amendments to the comprehensive plan adopted by the local government, the number of plan amendments challenged by an affected person, and the disposition of those challenges.

Section 20. Paragraph (a) of subsection (6) of section 211.3103, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

211.3103 Levy of tax on severance of phosphate rock; rate, basis, and distribution of tax.—

2. To the credit of the General Revenue Fund of the state, 35.7 percent.

3. For payment to counties in proportion to the number of tons of phosphate rock produced from a phosphate rock matrix located within such political boundary, 12.8 percent. The department shall distribute this portion of the proceeds annually based on production information reported by the producers on the annual returns for the taxable year. Any such proceeds received by a county shall be used only for phosphate-related expenses.

The department shall distribute this portion of the proceeds annually based on production information reported by the producers on the annual returns for the taxable year. Payments under this subparagraph shall be made to the counties unless the Legislature by special act creates a local authority to promote and direct the economic development of the county. If such authority exists, payments shall be made to that authority.

5. To the credit of the Nonmandatory Land Reclamation Trust Fund, 6.2 percent.

6. To the credit of the Phosphate Research Trust Fund in the Division of Universities of the Department of Education, 6.2 percent.

Section 23. Subsection (1) of section 288.018, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

288.018 Regional Rural Development Grants Program.—

(1) The department shall establish a matching grant program to provide funding to regionally based economic development organizations representing rural counties and communities for the purpose of building the professional capacity of their organizations. Such matching grants may also be used by an economic development organization to provide technical assistance to businesses within the rural counties and communities that it serves. The department is authorized to approve, on an annual basis, grants to such regionally based economic development organizations. The maximum amount an organization may receive in any year will be $35,000, or $100,000 in a rural area of opportunity ~~critical economic concern~~ recommended by the Rural Economic Development Initiative and designated by the Governor, and must be matched each year by an equivalent amount of nonstate resources.

(3) LAKE OKEECHOBEE WATERSHED PROTECTION PROGRAM.—A protection program for Lake Okeechobee that achieves phosphorus load reductions for Lake Okeechobee shall be immediately implemented as specified in this subsection. The program shall address the reduction of phosphorus loading to the lake from both internal and external sources. Phosphorus load reductions shall be achieved through a phased program of implementation. Initial implementation actions shall be technology-based, based upon a consideration of both the availability of appropriate technology and the cost of such technology, and shall include phosphorus reduction measures at both the source and the regional level. The initial phase of phosphorus load reductions shall be based upon the district's Technical Publication 81-2 and the district's WOD program, with subsequent phases of phosphorus load reductions based upon the total maximum daily loads established in accordance with s. 403.067. In the development and administration of the Lake Okeechobee Watershed Protection Program, the coordinating agencies shall maximize opportunities provided by federal cost-sharing programs and opportunities for partnerships with the private sector.

(c) Lake Okeechobee Watershed Phosphorus Control Program.—

The Lake Okeechobee Watershed Phosphorus Control Program is designed to be a multifaceted approach to reducing phosphorus loads by improving the management of phosphorus sources within the Lake Okeechobee watershed through implementation of regulations and best management practices, development and implementation of improved best management practices, improvement and restoration of the hydrologic function of natural and managed systems, and utilization of alternative technologies for nutrient reduction. The coordinating agencies shall facilitate the application of federal programs that offer opportunities for water quality treatment, including preservation, restoration, or creation of wetlands on agricultural lands.

1. Agricultural nonpoint source best management practices, developed in accordance with s. 403.067 and designed to achieve the objectives of the Lake Okeechobee Watershed Protection Program, shall be implemented on an expedited basis. The coordinating agencies shall develop an interagency agreement pursuant to ss. 373.046 and 373.406(5) that assures the development of best management practices that complement existing regulatory programs and specifies how those best management practices are implemented and verified. The interagency agreement shall address measures to be taken by the coordinating agencies during any best management practice reevaluation performed pursuant to sub-subparagraph d. The department shall use best professional judgment in making the initial determination of best management practice effectiveness.

a. As provided in s. 403.067(7)(c), the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, in consultation with the

The rule shall include thresholds for requiring conservation and nutrient management plans and criteria for the contents of such plans. Development of agricultural nonpoint source best management practices shall initially focus on those priority basins listed in subparagraph (b)1. The Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, in consultation with the department, the district, and affected parties, shall conduct an ongoing program for improvement of existing and development of new interim measures or best management practices for the purpose of adoption of such practices by rule. The Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services shall work with the University of Florida's Institute of Food and Agriculture Sciences to review and, where appropriate, develop revised nutrient application rates for all agricultural soil amendments in the watershed.

b. Where agricultural nonpoint source best management practices or interim measures have been adopted by rule of the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, the owner or operator of an agricultural nonpoint source addressed by such rule shall either implement interim measures or best management practices or demonstrate compliance with the district's WOD program by conducting monitoring prescribed by the department or the district. Owners or operators of agricultural nonpoint sources who implement interim measures or best management practices adopted by rule of the Department of Agriculture and CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

Consumer Services shall be subject to the provisions of s. 403.067(7). The Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, in cooperation with the department and the district, shall provide technical and financial assistance for implementation of agricultural best management practices, subject to the availability of funds.

c. The district or department shall conduct monitoring at representative sites to verify the effectiveness of agricultural nonpoint source best management practices.

d. Where water quality problems are detected for agricultural nonpoint sources despite the appropriate implementation of adopted best management practices, the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, in consultation with the other coordinating agencies and affected parties, shall institute a reevaluation of the best management practices and make appropriate changes to the rule adopting best management practices.

2. Nonagricultural nonpoint source best management practices, developed in accordance with s. 403.067 and designed to achieve the objectives of the Lake Okeechobee Watershed Protection Program, shall be implemented on an expedited basis. The department and the district shall develop an interagency agreement pursuant to ss. 373.046 and 373.406(5) that assures the development of best management practices that complement existing regulatory programs and specifies how those best management practices are implemented and verified. The interagency agreement shall address measures to be taken by the department and the district during any best management practice reevaluation performed pursuant to sub-subparagraph d.

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

a. The department and the district are directed to work with the University of Florida's Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences to develop appropriate nutrient application rates for all nonagricultural soil amendments in the watershed. As provided in s. 403.067(7)(c), the department, in consultation with the district and affected parties, shall develop interim measures, best management practices, or other measures necessary for Lake Okeechobee watershed total maximum daily load reduction. Development of nonagricultural nonpoint source best management practices shall initially focus on those priority basins listed in subparagraph (b)1. The department, the district, and affected parties shall conduct an ongoing program for improvement of existing and development of new interim measures or best management practices. The district shall adopt technology-based standards under the district's WOD program for nonagricultural nonpoint sources of phosphorus. Nothing in this sub-subparagraph shall affect the authority of the department or the district to adopt basin-specific criteria under this part to prevent harm to the water resources of the district.

b. Where nonagricultural nonpoint source best management practices or interim measures have been developed by the department and adopted by the district, the owner or operator of a nonagricultural nonpoint source shall implement interim measures or best management practices and be subject to the provisions of s. 403.067(7). The department and district shall provide technical and financial assistance for implementation of nonagricultural nonpoint source best management practices, subject to the availability of funds.

c. The district or the department shall conduct monitoring at representative sites to verify the effectiveness of nonagricultural nonpoint source best management practices.

d. Where water quality problems are detected for nonagricultural nonpoint sources despite the appropriate implementation of adopted best management practices, the department and the district shall institute a reevaluation of the best management practices.

3. The provisions of subparagraphs 1. and 2. may ~~shall~~ not preclude the department or the district from requiring compliance with water quality standards or with current best management practices requirements set forth in any applicable regulatory program authorized by law for the purpose of protecting water quality. Additionally, subparagraphs 1. and 2. are applicable only to the extent that they do not conflict with any rules adopted ~~promulgated~~ by the department that are necessary to maintain a federally delegated or approved program.

4. Projects that reduce the phosphorus load originating from domestic wastewater systems within the Lake Okeechobee watershed shall be given funding priority in the department's revolving loan program under s. 403.1835. The department shall coordinate and provide assistance to those local governments seeking financial assistance for such priority projects.

5. Projects that make use of private lands, or lands held in trust for Indian tribes, to reduce nutrient loadings or concentrations within a basin by one or more of the following methods: restoring the natural hydrology of the basin, restoring wildlife habitat or impacted wetlands, reducing peak flows after storm events, increasing aquifer recharge, or protecting range and timberland from conversion to development, are eligible for grants available under this section from the coordinating agencies. For projects of otherwise equal priority, special funding priority will be given to those projects that make best use of the methods outlined above that involve public-private partnerships or that obtain federal match money. Preference ranking above the special funding priority will be given to projects located in a rural area of opportunity ~~critical economic concern~~ designated by the Governor. Grant applications may be submitted by any person or tribal entity, and eligible projects may include, but are not limited to, the purchase of conservation and flowage easements, hydrologic restoration of wetlands, creating treatment wetlands, development of a management plan for natural resources, and financial support to implement a management plan.

6.a. The department shall require all entities disposing of domestic wastewater residuals within the Lake Okeechobee watershed and the remaining areas of Okeechobee, Glades, and Hendry Counties to develop and submit to the department an agricultural use plan that limits applications based upon phosphorus loading. By July 1, 2005, phosphorus concentrations originating from these application sites may ~~shall~~ not exceed the limits established in the district's WOD program. After December 31, 2007, the department may not authorize the disposal of domestic wastewater residuals within the Lake Okeechobee watershed unless the applicant can affirmatively demonstrate that the phosphorus in the residuals will not add to phosphorus loadings in Lake Okeechobee or its tributaries. This demonstration shall be based on achieving a net balance between phosphorus imports relative to exports on the permitted application site. Exports shall include only phosphorus removed from the Lake Okeechobee watershed through products generated on the permitted application site. This prohibition does not apply to Class AA residuals that are marketed and distributed as fertilizer products in accordance with department rule.

b. Private and government-owned utilities within Monroe, Miami-Dade, Broward, Palm Beach, Martin, St. Lucie, Indian River, Okeechobee, Highlands, Hendry, and Glades Counties that dispose of wastewater residual sludge from utility operations and septic removal by land spreading in the Lake Okeechobee watershed may use a line item on local sewer rates to cover wastewater residual treatment and disposal if such disposal and treatment is done by approved alternative treatment methodology at a facility located within the areas designated by the Governor as rural areas of opportunity ~~critical economic concern~~ pursuant to s. 288.0656. This additional line item is an environmental protection disposal fee above the present sewer rate and may ~~shall~~ not be considered a part of the present sewer rate to customers, notwithstanding provisions to the contrary in chapter 367. The fee shall be established by the county commission or its designated assignee in the county in which the alternative method treatment facility is located. The fee shall be calculated to be no higher than that necessary to recover the facility's prudent cost of providing the service. Upon request by an affected county commission, the Florida Public Service Commission will provide assistance in establishing the fee. Further, for utilities and utility authorities that use the additional line item environmental protection disposal fee, such fee may ~~shall~~ not be considered a rate increase under the rules of the Public Service Commission and shall be exempt from such rules. Utilities using the provisions of this section may immediately include in their sewer invoicing the new environmental protection disposal fee. Proceeds from this environmental protection disposal fee shall be used for treatment and disposal of wastewater residuals, including any treatment technology that helps reduce the volume of residuals that require final disposal, but such proceeds may ~~shall~~ not be used for transportation or shipment costs for disposal or any costs relating to the land application of residuals in the Lake Okeechobee watershed.

c. No less frequently than once every 3 years, the Florida Public Service Commission or the county commission through the services of an independent auditor shall perform a financial audit of all facilities receiving compensation from an environmental protection disposal fee. The Florida Public Service Commission or the county commission through the services of an independent auditor shall also perform an audit of the methodology used in establishing the environmental protection disposal fee. The Florida Public Service Commission or the county commission shall, within 120 days after completion of an audit, file the audit report with the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives and shall provide copies to the county commissions of the counties set forth in sub-subparagraph b. The books and records of any facilities receiving compensation from an environmental protection disposal fee shall be open to the Florida Public Service Commission and the Auditor General for review upon request.

7. The Department of Health shall require all entities disposing of septage within the Lake Okeechobee watershed to develop and submit to that agency an agricultural use plan that limits applications based upon phosphorus loading. By July 1, 2005, phosphorus concentrations originating from these application sites may ~~shall~~ not exceed the limits established in the district's WOD program.

8. The Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services shall initiate rulemaking requiring entities within the Lake Okeechobee watershed which land-apply animal manure to develop resource management system level conservation plans, according to United States Department of Agriculture criteria, which limit such application. Such rules may include criteria and thresholds for the requirement to develop a conservation or nutrient management plan, requirements for plan approval, and recordkeeping requirements.

9. The district, the department, or the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, as appropriate, shall implement those alternative nutrient reduction technologies determined to be feasible pursuant to subparagraph (d)6.

Section 33. Paragraph (e) of subsection (2) and paragraph (b) of subsection (26) of section 380.06, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

380.06 Developments of regional impact.—

(2) STATEWIDE GUIDELINES AND STANDARDS.—

(e) With respect to residential, hotel, motel, office, and retail developments, the applicable guidelines and standards shall be increased by 50 percent in urban central business districts and regional activity centers of jurisdictions whose local comprehensive plans are in compliance with part II of chapter 163. With respect to multiuse developments, the applicable individual use guidelines and standards for residential, hotel, motel, office, and retail developments and multiuse guidelines and standards shall be increased by 100 percent in urban central business districts and regional activity centers of jurisdictions whose local comprehensive plans are in compliance with part II of chapter 163, if one land use of the multiuse development is residential and amounts to not less than 35 percent of the jurisdiction's applicable residential threshold. With respect to resort or convention hotel developments, the applicable guidelines and standards shall be increased by 150 percent in urban central business districts and regional activity centers of jurisdictions whose local comprehensive plans are in compliance with part II of chapter 163 and where the increase is specifically for a proposed resort or convention hotel located in a county with a population greater than 500,000 and the local government specifically designates that the proposed resort or convention hotel development will serve an existing convention center of more than 250,000 gross square feet built before ~~prior to~~ July 1, 1992. The applicable guidelines and standards shall be increased by 150 percent for development in any area designated by the Governor as a rural area of opportunity ~~critical economic concern~~ pursuant to s. 288.0656 during the effectiveness of the designation.

(26) ABANDONMENT OF DEVELOPMENTS OF REGIONAL IMPACT.—

(b) Upon receipt of written confirmation from the state land planning agency that any required mitigation applicable to completed development has occurred, an industrial development of regional impact located within the coastal high-hazard area of a rural area of opportunity ~~county of economic concern~~ which was approved before ~~prior to~~ the adoption of the local government's comprehensive plan required under s. 163.3167 and which plan's future land use map and zoning designates the land use for the development of regional impact as commercial may be unilaterally abandoned without the need to proceed through the process described in paragraph (a) if the developer or owner provides a notice of abandonment to the local government and records such notice with the applicable clerk of court. Abandonment shall be deemed to have occurred upon the recording of the notice. All development following abandonment shall be fully consistent with the current comprehensive plan and applicable zoning.

Section 34. Paragraph (g) of subsection (3) of section 380.0651, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

380.0651 Statewide guidelines and standards.—

(g) Residential development.—A ~~No~~ rule may not be adopted concerning residential developments which treats a residential development in one county as being located in a less populated adjacent county unless more than 25 percent of the development is located within 2 ~~or less~~ miles or less of the less populated adjacent county. The residential thresholds of adjacent counties with less population and a lower threshold may ~~shall~~ not be controlling on any development wholly located within areas designated as rural areas of opportunity ~~critical economic concern~~.

Section 35. Paragraph (b) of subsection (2) of section 985.686, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

985.686 Shared county and state responsibility for juvenile detention.—

(2) As used in this section, the term:

(b) "Fiscally constrained county" means a county within a rural area of opportunity ~~critical economic concern~~ as designated by the Governor pursuant to s. 288.0656 or each county for which the value of a mill will raise no more than $5 million in revenue, based on the certified school taxable value certified pursuant to s. 1011.62(4)(a)1.a., from the previous July 1.

Section 36. Subsection (2) of section 1011.76, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

1011.76 Small School District Stabilization Program.—

(2) In order to participate in this program, a school district must be located in a rural area of opportunity ~~critical economic concern~~ designated by the Executive Office of the Governor, and the district school board must submit a resolution to the Department of Economic Opportunity requesting participation in the program. A rural area of opportunity ~~critical economic concern~~ must be a rural community, or a region composed of such, that has been adversely affected by an extraordinary economic event or a natural disaster or that presents a unique economic development concern or opportunity of regional impact. The resolution must be accompanied by ~~with~~ documentation of the economic conditions in the community and~~,~~ provide information indicating the negative impact of these conditions on the school district's financial stability, and the school district must participate in a best financial management practices review to determine potential efficiencies that could be implemented to reduce program costs in the district.

1. A requirement that severance pay provided may not exceed an amount greater than 20 weeks of compensation.

2. A prohibition of provision of severance pay when the officer, agent, employee, or contractor has been fired for misconduct, as defined in s. 443.036(29) ~~s. 443.036(30)~~, by the unit of government.

Section 38. Paragraph (f) of subsection (13) of section 443.1216, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations

BILL:	PCS/SB 1666 (616958)
INTRODUCER:	Appropriations Committee (Recommended by Appropriations Subcommittee on Health and Human Services); Children, Families, and Elder Affairs Committee; and Senator Sobel
SUBJECT:	Child Abuse and Child Welfare Services
DATE:	April 9, 2014 REVISED:

	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR	REFERENCE	ACTION
	Sanford	Hendon		CF SPB 7072 as introduced
1.	Brown	Pigott	AHS	Fav/CS
2.	Brown	Kynoch	AP	Pre-meeting

I. Summary:

PCS/SB 1666 makes numerous changes to statutes designed to protect children from abuse and neglect. The bill seeks to improve the quality of child abuse investigations conducted by the Department of Children and Families (DCF) and certain sheriff's offices. The bill increases child welfare expertise in the DCF, improves child abuse investigator qualifications, and creates a consortium of schools of social work to advise the state on child welfare policy.

The bill directs the DCF to conduct immediate investigations of deaths and other significant incidents involving children who have been known to the child protection and child welfare system. The purpose of the investigations is to identify root causes and to rapidly determine the need to change policies and practices related to child protection and child welfare.

The bill provides a definition of "medical neglect" and requires improvements in the care of medically complex children and the investigation of child abuse cases involving such children.

The bill creates a new part V of ch. 409, F.S., to be entitled "Community-Based Child Welfare." In this new part, current law relating to community-based care is reorganized, obsolete provisions are removed, and some provisions are clarified.

The bill has fiscal impacts that are anticipated to be addressed in the General Appropriations Act.

II. Present Situation:

Child Abuse, Neglect, and Death

Child abuse and child neglect, known collectively as child maltreatment, have been identified as serious social issues in the United States. Most recent studies show that the most common child maltreatment is neglect, which accounts for about 78 percent of the cases. Other common maltreatments are physical abuse (approximately 17 percent of cases) and sexual abuse (approximately 9 percent of cases). Victims less than one year old have the highest rate of victimization.

Many factors are associated with child maltreatment, including poverty, substance abuse, domestic violence, and mental illness.[1] The presence of an adult male unrelated to the child in the household has also been identified as a major risk factor for child maltreatment.

Child maltreatment is one of the nation's most serious problems.[2] In federal fiscal year 2011, the most recent year for which national data is available,[3] an estimated 3.4 million reports of abuse were received by child protection agencies.[4] After investigation, the number of unduplicated child victims nationally was estimated to be 681,000. Florida reported 208,437 calls to the national child abuse hotline, of which 55,770 resulted in substantiated allegations of abuse.[5]

In addition to the human cost of child abuse and neglect, there is a significant fiscal impact to state government. The DCF has made a conservative estimate of $72,709 annually per child to provide child welfare, hospitalization, special education, and juvenile justice services to care for an abused or neglected child.[6] Just the cost of child and adult protective investigations in Florida (of which the great majority are child investigations) was reported to be $312,493,471 in Fiscal Year 2012-2013.

The most serious result of child maltreatment is the death of the child. Nationally, 1,545 child fatalities resulting from child abuse or neglect were identified for federal fiscal year 2011.[7] Florida reported 133 child fatalities for that year resulting from child abuse or neglect.[8] In some instances the family was not previously known to the DCF, and in others the child was previously known. For cases in which the family was previously or currently known to the DCF, understanding the reasons that the previous or current intervention was not effective in avoiding the death is of critical importance.

Child Protection and Child Welfare Services in Florida

Florida's system for providing services to children alleged to have been abused, neglected, or abandoned is complex, involving the DCF, six sheriff's offices, the Office of the Attorney General, one state attorney's office, the Department of Health, 17 eligible lead community-based providers (lead agencies),[9] and innumerable lead agency subcontractors.

A child protective investigation begins with a report by any person to the Florida Abuse Hotline. The state is required to maintain a non-stop ability and capacity for receiving reports of maltreatments. The reports are sent out to child protective investigators (CPIs) across the state to investigate.

CPIs are most commonly DCF employees, but in six counties, the local sheriff performs the investigative function.[10] The DCF child protective services are delivered through six regional offices, using 1,300 investigators and 300 supervisors. The sheriff's offices employ 387 CPIs and 70 supervisors.

Court hearings are required whenever a child is removed from his or her home. The attorneys in these cases are either DCF employees or employees of the Attorney General's Office under contract to DCF or, in one case, a state attorney's office.

The lead agencies and their subcontractors are the primary providers of services to children and families in the child welfare system. There are currently 17 lead agencies with contracts covering all 20 judicial circuits. The lead agencies and their subcontractors employ case managers and supervisors to oversee the provision of services to children in the child welfare system. Many of the services are not directly provided by the lead agencies or the case management subcontractors, but by providers of substance abuse services or mental health services, or other specialized community-based providers.

There is variation across the state in deciding the point at which the lead agency assumes responsibility for the case management of a child welfare case, with varying degrees of cooperation and overlap between CPIs and lead agencies. In addition, special problems arise when multiple areas of the state are involved in either the investigation or the placement of children.

Child Welfare Workforce

History

The college degrees most tailored to and associated with child welfare are the bachelor's and master's degrees in social work. During the first half of the 20th century, the federal government, in cooperation with universities and local agencies, established a child welfare system staffed by individuals with professional social work educations. Child welfare came to be viewed as a prestigious specialty within the social work profession.[11]

[9] The term "eligible lead community-based provider" is defined as a single agency with which the DCF is required to contract for the provision of child protective services in a community that is no smaller than a county. See s. 409.1671(1)(e), F.S. These entities are commonly known as community-based care lead agencies or "lead agencies."

[10] As authorized under s. 39.3065, F.S., and the General Appropriations Act, sheriffs in Broward, Hillsborough, Manatee, Pasco, Pinellas and Seminole counties investigate child abuse and neglect reported to the abuse hotline rather than the DCF.

In the 1990's, an increased recognition of child abuse led to enactment of state child abuse and neglect reporting laws and toll-free numbers to report abuse. This resulted in a large increase of child abuse reports, and resources for the preparation and support of additional staff needed to respond to the reports became inadequate. States moved quickly to hire additional employees to investigate abuse. One way to expand the workforce was to reduce staff qualifications. In response to having a varied workforce without similar expertise and training, agencies began to structure child welfare work to reduce its complexity and make it possible for people with fewer qualifications to adequately perform required tasks.[12]

Current Qualifications

The current qualifications for child protective investigators are not specified in statute or rule, but the DCF's internal hiring practices require that new protective investigators have a bachelor's degree in any field and at least one year of child welfare related experience, or a master's degree in any field. Preference is given to candidates with a human services related degree. The DCF is not involved in the hiring practices or standards established by the sheriff's offices.[13]

The current qualifications for child welfare case managers operating in the community-based care system are established by rule and are a bachelor's degree in social work or related field.[14] Since employment decisions for child welfare case managers are made by individual lead agencies, and since the DCF does not collect data on their practices, the extent to which this rule is actually observed by the lead agencies is not clear. The DCF has authority to exempt employees from the rule and often does so.

In addition to these qualifications, the 2012 Legislature required that both child protective investigators and child welfare case managers obtain child welfare certification from a third-party credentialing entity.[15] This certification requires the individual to demonstrate core competency in any child welfare practice area. A "core competency" is defined in statute to be the minimum knowledge, skills, and abilities necessary to carry out child welfare work responsibilities.[16]

Social Workers in Child Welfare

The DCF has records on the post-secondary degrees for 1,214 of the state's CPIs.[17] These data do not include information on the degrees of the investigators in the six county sheriff's offices. Approximately 10 percent of the DCF's CPIs have a social work degree, either bachelor's or master's. See Table 1 below:

Table 1. Degrees of DCF Child Protective Investigators

Degree Major	Number	Percent of Workforce
Other	388	32.0%
Criminal Justice	361	29.7%
Other Health and Human Service	350	28.8%

Total	1,214	100%

There were 4,728 students enrolled statewide in programs leading to a bachelor's or master's degree in social work in the fall of 2012.[18] (See Table 2.) There were 1,684 graduates from the state's 14 schools of social work in 2011-2012.[19] The bachelor's level program in social work requires a structured internship with approximately 512 hours of supervision by a master's level social worker and 50 hours of coursework. In contrast, a psychology or a criminology major requires no internship and 36 hours of coursework, and a sociology major requires no internship and 30 hours of coursework.[20]

In 2014, the Office of Program Policy Analysis and Government Accountability (OPPAGA) reviewed child welfare systems in Florida and 16 other states with large child populations.[22] Among the issues studied by OPPAGA were the qualifications required by states in hiring child protection workers. The results are as follows:

[21] According to the Board of Governors, the University of North Florida's BSW program was approved for fall of 2013.

In addition, Kansas requires a social work degree.[23]

The impact of child welfare workers with a social work degree has been examined by researchers. Education is the variable that child welfare workforce researchers have explored most often in relation to performance.[24] Much of the research on the effect of education has focused on agency/university partnership programs that have been established over the past decade using federal funding provided under Title IV-E of the Social Security Act. While there is variation among these programs, they generally aim to increase educational opportunities for agency staff to add to the pool of potential child welfare employees and enhance the relevance of curricula in schools of social work. Research to examine their effects found that students score significantly higher on measures of job-related competencies than non-students. Graduates of the specialized child welfare program in New York State, for example, had higher levels of skills, confidence, and sensitivity to clients.[25]

[23] Informal communication, Florida State University School of Social Work (March 3, 2014) (on file with the Senate Committee on Children, Families, and Elder Affairs).

[24] Id. Several studies have found evidence that social work education, at either the bachelors of social work (BSW) or masters of social work (MSW) level, positively correlates with performance. A study conducted in Maryland public child welfare agencies found an MSW to be the best predictor of overall performance as measured by supervisory ratings and employee reports of work related competencies. A national study that measured competencies related to 32 job-related duties found that both MSW and BSW staff were better prepared for child welfare work than their colleagues without social work education. Research conducted with staff in Kentucky's public child welfare agency also revealed that staff with social work degrees scored significantly better on state merit examinations, received somewhat higher ratings from their supervisors, and had higher levels of work commitment than other staff. A Nevada study showed that caseworkers who had a social work degree were significantly more likely to create a permanent plan for children in their caseloads within three years than their colleagues without social work education.

Agency Structure and Stability

Since 1998 the DCF has had eight secretaries. In July 2013, the agency secretary resigned[26] and an interim secretary was named who has agreed to remain through the 2014 Legislative Session.[27] With each new secretary typically comes a somewhat new vision and a new strategic plan that includes substantial changes to both the structure of the DCF and staff assignments, all of which may result in some degree of disruption to the functioning of the department. Frequent changes to federal and state laws and to rules and operating procedures, combined with these leadership changes, have made long-term stability at the DCF difficult to achieve.

Currently, the structure of the DCF is provided in law, which requires the appointment of a secretary, a deputy secretary, and an assistant secretary for substance abuse and mental health. The law also provides that DCF offices may be consolidated, restructured, or rearranged by the secretary, in consultation with the Executive Office of the Governor, and that the secretary may appoint additional managers and administrators as he or she determines are necessary for the effective management of the department.[28]

Child Welfare Workforce Issues

A number of commissions and task forces have been established over the past 25 years, often after deaths of children from child abuse or neglect. The commissions and task forces have often found that child protective and child welfare staff did not follow procedures or lacked the training and ability to perform their duties. The commissions and task forces have recommended ways to improve the qualifications of child welfare staff. Some of the findings are as follows:

- The Study Commission on Child Welfare was established by the Florida Legislature in November 1989 after several children died while in state care. [29] At that time, CPIs reported that prior to employment, they worked most frequently in social service/welfare, law enforcement, and in education positions (54 percent). The rest previously held positions as sales personnel, law clerks, real estate agents, and members of the U.S. military.[30] The commission recommended that the state should recruit CPIs with bachelor's degrees in social work, child development, or guidance and counseling.[31]

- On April 25, 2002, the DCF revealed that a child in its care, five-year-old Rilya Wilson, had disappeared 15 months earlier from her custodial home and had not been seen since. In response, Gov. Jeb Bush appointed a four-member Governor's Blue-Ribbon Panel on Child Protection.[32] The panel recommended that DCF compare the performance and longevity of child welfare staff who had degrees in social work or other behavioral sciences to staff who had other degrees.[33]
- In a 2013 Florida case involving a two-year-old child who died from physical abuse, the Child Welfare League of America (CWLA) was commissioned to study the death and make recommendations. The family included two adult women, five adult men, and 10 children, including the victim. These people had varying connections and living arrangements throughout the child's life, and the family had been reported to the child abuse hotline 16 times between 2005 and 2013. The CWLA report stated the family had experienced substance abuse, domestic violence, a "chronic lack of even marginal parental nurturing," developmental delays in several of the children in the home, referrals for services that were not followed through, lack of managerial review, and "many years of systemic failure." In the words of the report, "(c)hanging a checklist or hiring additional staff cannot solve these pervasive problems."[34]

One of the problems highlighted by the various commissions and panels is the turnover of child protective investigator workforce. Experience among child abuse investigators suffers with significant employee turnover. The annual turnover rate of department CPIs has been 32 percent, 19 percent, and 22 percent over the last three years. The negative impact of turnover is well known – increased training costs ($6.2 million each year) and inexperienced workers.

Child welfare workers with degrees in social work are not immune from turnover. During the period from 2004-2013, Florida State University (FSU) placed and supervised a total of 293 interns in child welfare settings in the northwest region of Florida. While many of the interns were hired for positions with the DCF, retention was difficult, with few staying more than a few years. As a result, FSU began surveying students leaving employment within the field to determine the reasons for leaving. The top five reasons were:

- Poor overall management/administration by upper-level management;
- Lack of professional support from supervisors;
- Lack of respect and lack of feeling valued by supervisors and upper-level management;
- Lack of focus on teamwork, with employees often feeling like they were pitted against each other by upper-level management and supervisors; and
- No support for professional development or advancement.[35]

While respondents indicated that caseloads were indeed high at some points and that salaries could be better, neither of these issues were cited as primary reasons for leaving.[36]

As part of its review of child welfare systems, OPPAGA conducted a series of focus groups with both child protective service investigators and child welfare case managers. They found a variety of problems in the working conditions of CPIs and case managers.[37] These problems included:

- A lack of mentoring and management support across the state:
  Some case managers noted that high turnover rates among workers resulted in supervisors carrying caseloads themselves, leaving little time for supervision or mentoring. In addition, most case managers reported that supervisors' primarily focused on meeting DCF performance measures rather than encouraging quality work or mentoring new case managers.
- Administrative tasks that detract from time spent with families and children:
  Investigators estimated that they spend 60 percent to 80 percent of their time on the administrative requirements associated with each case rather than with families. Investigators stated they could not complete required case-related tasks in the standard 40-hour work week and that they routinely work nights and weekends.
- Concern about the sometimes volatile work environment:
  Both investigators and case managers reported that they are required to go into unsafe neighborhoods and dangerous, violent homes, but they do not feel that the DCF is concerned for their safety. While investigators can request law enforcement agencies to have officers accompany them, they reported that law enforcement agencies are sometimes not responsive to their requests or that it takes hours for officers to arrive.
- Outdated technology:
  CPIs and case managers reported that their electronic equipment has not kept up with prevailing technology. For example, they reported they are issued laptop computers that are not enabled for wireless Internet connection and that DCF-issued mobile phones often have poor or no reception, depending on the investigator's location. As a result, staff must use personal phones at their own expense.

According to the U.S. Administration on Children and Families, a supportive organizational culture is a key ingredient in building a stable and effective child welfare workforce. Core elements of organizational culture include agency leadership, workforce management, supervision, and support. Organizational culture and employee relations significantly influence an agency's ability to recruit and retain staff as well as make long-lasting workforce changes.

Efforts to Improve Child Protection

Florida has taken many actions to improve the quality of child abuse investigators over the years. Most recently, the Legislature has made significant investments in child protection and child welfare:

[37] OPPAGA, *ibid. (*Mar. 6, 2014)

- In the 2010 Session, the Legislature required child abuse investigators and child welfare case workers to be certified.[38] The certification is outsourced and includes testing in child welfare and agreement to a set of ethics.
- In the 2011 Session, the Legislature provided $11 million to the DCF to redesign the central abuse hotline.
- In the 2012 Session, the Legislature made several improvements to the child protection system by:
  - Appropriating $10.8 million to provide additional permanent and temporary child abuse investigators.
  - Appropriating $7.9 million to improve the state's child welfare information system (Florida Safe Families Network, or FSFN).
  - Providing funding to raise CPI salaries by $4,300 per CPI per year.
- In the 2013 Session, the Legislature provided $4 million for CPI redesign (including sheriff's offices) and $1.8 million for FSFN.

University Partnerships with Child Welfare

Section 1004.61, F.S., currently directs the DCF to form partnerships with the schools of social work of state universities in order to encourage the development of graduates trained to work in child protection. The University of South Florida for example, coordinates child welfare training in the state.

The federal government provides both policy and financial resources to states for child welfare services under Title IV of the Social Security Act. One use of such funds is the education and training of child welfare workers. Some states use these funds to create partnerships between their child welfare agencies and colleges of social work at state universities. The universities provide the expertise in child welfare research, policy, and practices. They also develop and conduct on-the-job training to child welfare workers. The child welfare agency, in turn, advises the universities on the content of the training and education in the university so graduates are better prepared for child welfare work.

Care of Medically Complex Children

Current law requires that children in this state be provided with the following:
- Protections from abuse, abandonment, neglect, and exploitation;
- A permanent and stable home;
- A safe and nurturing environment, which will preserve a sense of personal dignity and integrity;
- Adequate nutrition, shelter, and clothing;
- Effective treatment to address physical, social, and emotional needs, regardless of geographical location;
- Equal opportunity and access to quality and effective education, which will meet the individual needs of each child, and to recreation and other community resources to develop individual abilities;
- Access to preventive services; and

[38] Chapter 2011-163, Laws of Florida

- An independent, trained advocate, when intervention is necessary, and a skilled guardian or caregiver in a safe environment when alternative placement is necessary.[39]

Special provisions for medically complex children are not currently provided in statute.

Section 39.01(43), F.S., provides a definition of "necessary medical treatment" as care that is necessary within a reasonable degree of medical certainty to prevent the deterioration of a child's condition or to alleviate immediate pain of a child. Additionally, s. 39.01(44), F.S., sets out the circumstances for neglect of a child. The statute specifically provides that certain circumstances may not be considered neglect if caused primarily by financial inability unless actual services for relief have been offered and rejected by a parent. Also, a parent or legal custodian legitimately practicing religious beliefs in accordance with a recognized church or specific religious organization who does not provide specific medical treatment for a child, may not, for that reason alone, be considered a negligent parent or legal guardian. However, ch. 39, F.S., does not include a definition of "medical neglect" or special provisions related to the investigation of allegations of abuse, neglect, or abandonment when children with serious medical conditions are the reported victims.

Suspected child abuse, neglect, or abandonment may be reported to the DCF child abuse hotline regarding children with significant medical issues, as with any other children. Child Protection Teams, operated by the Department of Health (DOH), provide medical expertise to the DCF if there are medical issues associated with child abuse or neglect. However, the current law does not require the teams to coordinate their findings with physicians who have special knowledge of the medical condition of the child who is alleged to be the victim of abuse or neglect. Without the information possessed by those familiar with a particular disease or disability processes, parents can be found to be neglectful or abusive even when observed problems are related to insufficient services or a natural change in medical conditions.

In order to maintain these children in a safe environment that is the least restrictive, families with children who have medical issues need access to various medical and social services. These services are sometimes most readily available to the child in placements outside of the home. It is the current policy of the state, supported by federal and state law, that the parent or legal guardian decides what is best for the child. The state respects the parent or legal guardian's decision made in consultation with medical professionals. Many children with complex medical needs live safely in their homes with supportive services through the Florida Medicaid program.

Florida Medicaid has a comprehensive medical service package to accommodate families that choose to care for their medically complex child at home. Medical services are made available in the home, including private duty nursing, personal care assistance, home health aide services, and occupational, physical, and speech therapy when medically necessary, in unlimited amounts or durations for children in the Medicaid program.

monthly by the AHCA in an effort to return the children to their birth parents or place them in foster homes run by parents with specialized medical training.

The state is currently a party to a lawsuit related to the placement of medically complex children in settings such as nursing homes. The U.S. Department of Justice joined the lawsuit that alleges that the state violated the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA).[40] The AHCA has worked with the families of over 200 children in nursing homes under the Medicaid program to ensure they are aware of in-home health services and have been offered those services. In addition, the DCF and the Agency for Persons with Disabilities (APD) have worked with the families of medically complex children served by APD to ensure the least restrictive placement.

Statewide Medicaid Managed Care

Part IV of ch. 409, F.S., was created in 2011 by ch. 2011-134, L.O.F., and governs the Statewide Medicaid Managed Care program (SMMC). The program, authorized by two federal Medicaid waivers, is designed for the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) to issue invitations to negotiate[41] and competitively procure contracts with managed care plans in 11 regions of the state to provide comprehensive Medicaid coverage for most of the state's enrollees in the Medicaid program. SMMC has two components: managed medical assistance (MMA) and long-term care managed care (LTCMC).

The LTCMC component began enrolling Medicaid recipients in August 2013 and is scheduled to complete its statewide roll-out in March 2014.[42] The MMA component is scheduled to begin enrolling Medicaid recipients in May 2014 and finish its roll-out in August 2014.[43]

Provider Service Networks in SMMC

Types of managed care plans that are eligible for SMMC include health insurers, exclusive provider organizations, health maintenance organizations, provider service networks (PSNs), and federally-authorized accountable care organizations, among other entities.[44]

A PSN is defined as a type of managed care plan of which a controlling interest is owned by a health care provider, or group of affiliated providers, or a public agency or entity that delivers health services. For the purpose of this definition, "health care provider" includes Florida-licensed health care professionals or licensed health care facilities, federally qualified health care centers, and home health care agencies.[45]

The AHCA is required to procure a specified number of managed care plans per region or a number of plans that range between a minimum and maximum specified for each region. At least two plans per region must be procured, and at least one plan per region must be a PSN, if a PSN submits a responsive bid during the procurement. If no PSN submits a responsive bid for a region, the AHCA is required to procure no more than one less than the maximum number of plans for that region during the initial procurement and, within 12 months after the initial invitation to negotiate, attempt once again to procure a PSN for that region.[46]

Siblings

Current law includes legislative intent that when siblings are placed in out-of-home care, the DCF must make every possible effort to place them together. If they are permanently placed, the DCF must attempt to place them in the same adoptive home, and if placement together is not possible, the DCF must attempt to keep them in contact with each other.[47] The term "sibling" is not defined and there is no provision at specific points in the child welfare system, such as at removal or at judicial review, to ensure that the DCF is attending to issues relating to siblings.

Relative Caregiver Program

The Florida Legislature established the Relative Caregiver Program in 1998.[48] This program offers monthly cash assistance and Medicaid for a child under the age of 18 who is placed by a dependency court with a relative after the child is removed from his or her home as a result of abuse, neglect, or abandonment. The monthly payment provides financial help for a relative who would not be able to afford to care for the child without assistance. The amount of the payment varies depending on the child's age and circumstances. Medicaid pays for the child's health care. The child may also be eligible for subsidized child care.

Only persons who are within the fifth degree of relationship by blood or marriage to the parent or stepparent of a dependent child or a half-brother or half-sister of a dependent child and who are caring full-time for the child, are eligible for the Program.

Under the Relative Caregiver Program, the child may be in temporary custody of the relative under the protective supervision of the DCF, may be placed under guardianship, [49] or may be placed permanently with the relative.[50] Either of the last two options is considered a permanency placement for the child. Continued supervision of the placement by the DCF is required under the permanent placement option, but not under the guardianship option.

Funding for the Relative Caregiver Program is through Florida's share of the block grant for Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF), in accordance with Title IV-A of the Social Security Act (SSA). The SSA lists the purposes of the TANF program in Title IV-A, section 401. This section specifically states that one of the purposes is to "provide assistance to needy families so that children may be cared for in their own homes or in the homes of relatives."

[46] See s. 409.974(1), F.S.

[49] Section 39.6221, F.S.
[50] Section 39.6231, F.S.

The DCF currently places children with nonrelatives under court-ordered supervision, but has not been able to pay the nonrelatives due to restrictions on the TANF funding source. These children are placed in the nonrelative homes after studies by the DCF. The only current difference between relative and nonrelative placements is that relatives receive payments to offset the cost of caring for the children and nonrelatives do not. As of December 31, 2012, there were 1,552 children in the care of nonrelatives under DCF supervision. The estimated monthly Relative Caregiver cost per child is $257.09 for an average annual total of $3,087 per child.[51]

Public Disclosure of Child Deaths

There is currently no mechanism by which child deaths that have been reported to the DCF's child abuse hotline are made public. Arkansas has a database by which such deaths are reported, along with basic facts related to the case. This information is made available through the Arkansas social services website.[52]

Child Abuse Death Review Committee

The State Child Abuse Death Review Committee (CADR) was established in Florida in 1999 by statute.[53] Case reviews began in 2000 and were expanded in 2004 to include all verified child abuse deaths. Current law establishes the CADR and local child abuse death review committees within the Department of Health (DOH).[54] The CADR is composed of 18 members, including experts from the medical, law enforcement, social services, and advocacy professions.[55]

Members convene every other month to review facts and circumstances of the deaths of children whose deaths have been investigated by the DCF and closed with a "verified" finding of child abuse or neglect. The purpose of the child death review is to help prevent child deaths as a result of abuse or neglect by:[56]

- Developing a community-based approach to address child abuse deaths and contributing factors;
- Achieving a greater understanding of the causes and contributing factors of deaths resulting from child abuse or neglect;
- Identifying gaps, deficiencies, or problems in service delivery to children and families by public and private agencies that may be related to child abuse deaths; and
- Developing and implementing data-driven recommendations for reducing child abuse and neglect deaths.

The CADR is required to submit an annual statistical report to the governor and the Legislature by December 31 containing recommendations to reduce preventable child deaths.[57]

Local child abuse death review committees also conduct reviews of the verified deaths of children in their respective communities to develop prevention campaigns and prepare recommendations for improving local practices in child protection and support services to families. There are 23 local committees that provide coverage for Florida's 67 counties.[58]

During 2011, 2,241 children under the age of 18 died in Florida. Of those deaths, 474 were reported to the Florida Abuse Hotline and 130 deaths were verified by the DCF as being related to child abuse or neglect. The CADR received 126 cases for review during the period of January through November 2012. The CADR is statutorily limited to the review of "verified" child death reports.[59]

Statutory Provisions Relating to Community-Based Care Lead Agencies

The transition from government-delivered to outsourced child welfare sources began in earnest in Florida in 1996, when the Legislature directed the DCF to contract with established community-based organizations to establish pilot projects for the provision of foster care and related services.[60] In 1998, the Legislature required the DCF to privatize the provision of all foster care and related services statewide. The transition was completed in Fiscal Year 2004-2005. Currently, there are 19 community-based care lead agencies (lead agencies) providing child welfare services statewide.

From the beginning of the outsourcing of child welfare services, s. 409.1671, F.S., has been the primary statute providing legislative direction for the process. Consequently, the statute contains many provisions that are obsolete, some which are current, and some which need clarification. For example, there is no provision in statute currently describing the duties of the DCF in an outsourced child welfare system.

In addition, currently there is not a statutory requirement that the lead agencies be incorporated under Florida law. Also, the duty to provide community input for lead agencies is buried in the other duties ascribed to DCF Community Alliances, which are at present located in the DCF organizational statute, ch. 20.19, F.S.

Unlawful Desertion of a Child

Adoption is a legal process, but the process is not always properly carried-out, which can put children in danger. Beginning on September 9, 2013, Reuters New Service published a five-part series, entitled "The Child Exchange," which exposed how American parents were using Internet message boards to find new families for children they regretted adopting – a practice that has been called "private re-homing." Reuters spent 18 months investigating eight message boards where participants advertised unwanted children and examined two dozen cases in which adopted children were re-homed.[61] The investigative series found:

- An advertisement for re-homing appeared, on average, at least once per week;
- The average range for children being advertised for re-homing is 6 to 14 years of age;
- Re-homing is accomplished through basic power of attorney documents which allow the new guardians of the child to enroll the child in school or secure government benefits;
- At least 70 percent of the children offered for re-homing on one Yahoo message board had been adopted from foreign countries;
- Only 29 states have laws that govern how children can be advertised for adoption;[62] and
- The Interstate Compact for the Placement of Children, which is meant to be a safeguard against the improper placement of children across state lines, is often not enforced by law enforcement.[63]

Florida law currently contains no criminal provisions specifically relating to re-homing.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 amends s. 20.19, F.S., to direct the secretary of the Department of Children and Families (DCF) to appoint an assistant secretary for child welfare to spearhead the DCF's efforts to carry out its duties and responsibilities for child protection and child welfare, and specifies the qualifications for a person appointed to that position. This section also provides new membership criteria for the DCF community alliances and adds the new duty of providing independent and community-focused assessment of child protection and child welfare services and the local system of community-based care.

Section 2 amends s. 39.001, F.S., to:

- Provide that the safety of children is the paramount concern of the chapter;
- Require that partnerships for child protection should include the courts, law enforcement agencies and service providers, as well as the DCF, other agencies, and local communities;
- Emphasize the importance of siblings remaining in contact with one another;
- Preserve and strengthen families caring for medically complex children; and
- Make specific provisions relating to medically complex children.

Section 3 amends s. 39.01, F.S., to provide definitions for "impending danger," "medical neglect," "present danger," "safety plan," and "sibling" and to remove obsolete provisions.

Section 4 amends s. 39.013, F.S., to require that the DCF be represented by legal counsel in every dependency proceeding and to give direction to DCF lawyers.

Section 5 amends s. 39.201, F.S., to require that all incidents of juvenile sexual abuse involving a child who is in the custody of or under the supervision of the DCF to be reported to the child abuse hotline and to require the DCF to inform the court at the next hearing or in its next report to the court about the facts and results of such investigations of child sexual abuse.

Section 6 creates s. 39.2015, F.S., to establish a critical incident rapid response team within the DCF, to outline its duties and composition, and to require cooperative agreements with other entities and organizations to facilitate the work of the team. This section also requires that the reports of the team be published on the DCF website. The DCF secretary is required to develop guidelines and training for the teams, directing them to conduct a root-cause analysis for each incident. In addition, the secretary is directed to appoint an advisory committee to conduct an independent review of the reports of the critical incident rapid response teams and submit a report to the secretary, who is required to provide the report to the governor, the president of the Senate, and the speaker of the House of Representatives.

Section 7 creates s. 39.2022, F.S., to require the DCF to report on its website basic facts about all deaths of children reported to the DCF child abuse hotline and describes the information to be posted on the website.

Section 8 amends s. 39.301, F.S., to provide direction to investigators about the use of safety plans during the investigation of allegations of child abuse, neglect, or abandonment.

Section 9 amends s. 39.303, F.S., to require that child protection teams evaluating a report of medical neglect and assessing the health care needs of a medically complex child consult with a physician who has experience in treating children with the same condition.

Section 10 creates s. 39.3068, F.S., to describe special procedures to be followed when investigating a report of medical neglect.

Section 11 amends s. 39.307, F.S., to describe procedures for the DCF to follow after receiving a report to the child abuse hotline alleging that a child is involved in child sexual abuse or inappropriate sexual behavior.

Section 12 amends s. 39.402, F.S, to provide that the DCF must, as part of the information presented to the dependency court at a shelter hearing, describe its reasonable efforts to keep siblings together after removal, unless the court finds that placement together is not in the best interest of the children. Reasonable efforts to keep sibling together must include short-term placement in a group home with the ability to accommodate sibling groups if such a placement is available. This section also requires that, if siblings cannot be placed together, the DCF must provide a recommendation for frequent visitation or other ongoing interaction among the siblings unless this interaction would be contrary to a sibling's safety or well-being. If visitation among siblings is ordered but will not commence within 72 hours after the shelter hearing, the DCF must provide justification to the court for the delay.

Section 13 amends s. 39.501, F.S., to add noncompliance with a safety plan as information to be included in a petition for dependency.

Section 14 amends s. 39.504, F.S., to add compliance with a safety plan to the actions which may be ordered by the court in issuing an injunction to protect a child.

Section 15 amends s. 39.5085, F.S., to add nonrelative caregivers to those who qualify for the DCF relative caregiver program. These placements are already used by the DCF, but with this change, nonrelatives may be reimbursed for the cost of caring for the child.

Section 16 amends s. 39.604, F.S., (the Rilya Wilson Act) to change the beginning age when a child under court-ordered supervision or in the custody of the DCF must be enrolled in child care from age three to birth. Enrollment in such a program is made a part of the child's safety plan. The requirement extends until the child is enrolled in school.

Section 17 amends s. 39.701, F.S., to require the DCF to report to the court at the time of judicial review hearings the frequency, kind, and duration of contacts among siblings during placement, as well as any efforts undertaken to reunite separated siblings if doing so is in the best interest of the children.

Section 18 amends s. 39.802, F.S, to remove a requirement that petitions for termination of parental rights be signed by an employee of the DCF.

Section 19 amends s. 63.212, F.S, to clarify provisions relating to the advertisement of minors available for adoption.

Section 20 amends s. 383.402, F.S., to direct the child abuse death review committees of the Department of Health to review all deaths of children reported to the DCF child abuse hotline, not just deaths verified as caused by abuse or neglect. This section also changes the due date of the annual report of the statewide committee from December 31 to October 1 of each year.
Section 21 amends s. 402.40, F.S., to require that third-party credentialing entities maintain an advisory committee and specifies the membership of such committees. The bill also provides that the DCF may approve certifications involving specializations in serving specific populations or in skills relevant to child protection.

Section 22 creates s. 402.402, F.S., to require that on an annual and statewide basis, 80 percent of all child protective investigators and child protective investigation supervisors hired on or after July 1, 2014, by the DCF, must have a bachelor's degree or master's degree in social work from an accredited school of social work. The bill exempts all personnel employed before July 1, 2014, from this requirement. The bill allows the DCF to hire persons with bachelor's degrees or master's degrees in other human services-related fields if no viable candidates are available with social work degrees. However, such employees are required to complete certification requirements and at least six credit hours of college level coursework related to the child protection field within three years of employment. Child protective investigators and child protective investigation supervisors hired by a sheriff's office must have a bachelor's degree and, within three years of hire, complete at least six credit hours of college level casework with direct application to the child protection field. This section requires specialized training for child protective investigators and supervisors and specifies the content and deadline for such training. This section also describes training required for attorneys hired after July 1, 2014, to represent the DCF in child welfare cases.

Section 23 creates s. 402.403, F.S., to establish a child protection and child welfare personnel tuition exemption program and sets out the qualifications for obtaining the exemption. The program is for high-performing child protection and child welfare personnel who do not have a master's degree in social work or a certificate in an area related to child welfare.

Section 24 creates s. 402.404, F.S., to establish a student loan forgiveness program for child protection and child welfare staff and sets out the qualifications for obtaining the loan forgiveness. Approximately half of all graduates from the state university system have a student loan debt.[64] The bill allows the DCF or a lead agency to pay up to $3,000 per year towards the student loan debt as an incentive for degreed social workers to become child protection or child welfare personnel. The DCF is directed to prioritize the use of funds appropriated for this purpose to regions with high average caseloads and low workforce retention rates.

Section 25 amends s. 409.165, F.S., to direct the DCF to work with relevant state and local agencies to develop medical foster homes for medically complex children and to provide such services as may be necessary to maintain such children in the least restrictive and most nurturing environment consistent with their needs. The bill also provides that funds for the care of such children can be spent for care in their own homes or the homes of relatives if the children can be safely served and the cost is equal to or less than the cost of out-of-home placement.

Section 26 amends s. 409.967, F.S., to specify the components of managed care plans serving children in the care and custody of DCF and to require that providers of such plans make information available to DCF for inclusion in the state's child welfare data system. It directs the DCF and the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) to use the information provided to determine the plan's compliance with standards for access to medical, dental, and behavioral health services, the use of psychotropic medications, and follow-up on all medically necessary services recommended as a result of early and periodic screening diagnosis and treatment.

Section 27 amends s. 409.972, F.S., to exempt Medicaid recipients residing in a group home facility licensed under chapter 393 from mandatory managed care enrollment.

Section 28 directs the Division of Law Revision and Information to create part V of ch. 409, F.S., to be entitled "Community-Based Child Welfare."

Section 29 moves and revises provisions from s. 409.1671, F.S., to create s. 409.986, F.S. The new section provides legislative findings, intent, goals, and definitions related to community-based care.

Section 30 moves and revises provisions from s. 409.1671, F.S., to create s. 409.987, F.S. The new section clarifies the requirements for the DCF to procure community-based care lead agencies. The procurement must be conducted through a competitive process required by ch. 287, F.S. The bill sets the requirements for an entity to compete for the award of a contract as a lead agency. The bill requires that the procurement be done in consultation with local community alliances. The bill also requires that upon award and execution of a contract between the DCF and a lead agency, the parties must enter into a letter of engagement that the DCF will provide legal representation of the lead agency or its subcontractors for the preparation and presentation of dependency court proceedings without charge to the lead agency or subcontractor.

Section 31 moves and revises provisions from s. 409.1671, F.S., and 409.1675, F.S., to create s. 409.988, F.S. The new section outlines the duties of the lead agencies and to authorize subcontracting for the provision of child welfare services.

Section 32 moves and revises provisions from s. 409.1671, F.S., and 409.16745, F.S., to create s. 409.990, F.S. The new section describes funding for lead agencies.

Section 33 moves provisions from 409.16713, F.S., to create s. 409.991, F.S. The new section remains unchanged and describes the allocation of funds for lead agencies.

Section 34 moves and revises provisions from s. 409.1671, F.S., to create s. 409.992, F.S. The new section provides for lead agency expenditures, requiring that these expenditures be governed by financial guidelines developed by the DCF and must comply with applicable state and federal law as well as good business practices. The auditor general is authorized to provide technical assistance in the development of the guidelines.

Section 35 moves and revises provisions from s. 409.1671, F.S., to create s. 409.993, F.S., to describe lead agency and subcontractor liability. The contents of this section are currently found in s. 409.1671(1)(h)-(l), F.S.

Section 36 transfers and renumbers the current s. 409.1675, F.S., to create s. 409.994, F.S., describing lead agencies and receivership.

Section 37 creates s. 409.996, F.S., to describe the duties of the DCF in contracting for community-based child welfare services.

Section 38 creates s. 409.997, F.S., to establish a child welfare results-oriented accountability system. The section requires that the DCF maintain a comprehensive accountability system that monitors the use of resources, the quality and amount of services provided, and the child and family outcomes through data analysis, research review, evaluation, and quality improvement. The DCF is given direction for establishing such a system and is required to report the result of the accountability system at least quarterly on its website as well as annually to the governor, the president of the Senate, and the speaker of the House of Representatives.

Section 39 creates s. 409.998, F.S., to add duties relating to community-based care to community alliances established in s. 20.19, F.S.

Section 40creates s. 827.10, F.S., to establish the criminal offense of unlawful desertion of a child and provides definitions and penalties. This will provide a tool for prosecutors to stop the unlawful adoptions practice referred to as “re-homing.”

Section 41 amends s. 985.04, F.S., to correct a reference.

Section 42 creates s. 1004.615, F.S., to establish the Florida Institute for Child Welfare (FICW) and to set forth the purpose, duties, and responsibilities of the institute. The FICW is defined as a consortium of the state's public and private university schools of social work. The FICW is charged to advise the state on child welfare policy, improve the curriculum for social work degree programs, and develop on-the-job training for child protective investigators and child welfare case managers. The bill requires the FICW to provide a report annually by October 1 to the governor, the president of the Senate, and the speaker of the House of Representatives to describe its activities in the preceding fiscal year, present significant research findings and results of other programs, and make specific recommendations for improving child protection and child welfare services.

Section 43 amends s. 1009.25, F.S., to add child protection and child welfare personnel who meet specified criteria to the list of persons exempted from payment of tuition and fees at a state college or state university under certain circumstances.

Section 44 repeals s. 402.401, F.S., which contains provisions relating to student loan forgiveness. The bill makes this statute obsolete.

Section 45 repeals s. 409.1671, F.S., which this bill makes obsolete.

Section 46 repeals s. 409.16715, F.S., whose provisions are modified and included in this bill.

Section 47 repeals s. 409.16745, F.S., whose provisions are modified and included in this bill.

Section 48 repeals s. 1004.61, F.S., which contains the current-law provisions relating to partnerships between the DCF and state schools of social work. The bill makes this statute obsolete.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

Private schools of social work may see an increased enrollment of students as a result of CS/SB 1666.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill has fiscal impacts that are anticipated to be addressed in the General Appropriations Act, which could include the following:

The annual cost of an additional assistant secretary and an executive assistant in the DCF will be approximately $260,000.

The bill calls for the creation of critical incident rapid response teams to review certain child abuse deaths. The team members may be reimbursed for expenses and salaries. It is unknown how many cases each year would be investigated by the teams so the cost of these new investigations is unknown.

The bill requires the posting on the DCF website of information relating to child deaths reported to the DCF hotline. The information is currently collected and maintained in the Florida Safe Families Network (FSFN). The costs to post this information on the DCF website would be insignificant.

The bill allows for the payment to nonrelatives willing to assume custody and care of a dependent child. Based on the number of children currently in this placement, the DCF estimates that the cost could be up to $4.8 million each year.

The bill expands the cases reviewed by the State Child Abuse Death Review Committee. The reviews cost $714 each and the costs are paid from the expense budget of the Department of Health. Based on these current costs and an estimated additional 346 cases to be reviewed under the bill, the increased costs could be $247,143 each year.

The requirement in the bill that 80 percent of new Child Protective Investigators (CPIs) and supervisors hold a social work degree should have little or no fiscal impact. The cost of the tuition exemption program to the state university system cannot be determined until the number of persons taking advantage of the program is known.

There will be costs associated with the loan forgiveness program. The costs will be limited by the amount of funding appropriated by the Legislature. Using the current number of department CPIs (1,522) and an average turnover rate of 24 percent, then an additional 365 CPIs would be hired each year. If all of these new hires are social workers and receive the loan repayment amount of $3,000, then the annual cost estimate could range as high as $1,095,000.

The establishment of the Institute for Child Welfare would have associated costs depending on the structure or the institute. Similar consortiums of Florida universities can cost between $500,000 and $2 million, according to the Florida Board of Governors.

Section 31. Section 409.988, Florida Statutes, is created to read:
409.988 Lead agency duties; general provisions.—
(1) DUTIES.—A lead agency:
(a) Shall serve all children referred as a result of a report of abuse, neglect, or abandonment to the department's central abuse hotline, including, but not limited to, children who are the subject of verified reports and children who are not the subject of verified reports but who are at moderate to extremely high risk of abuse, neglect, or abandonment, as determined using the department's risk assessment instrument, regardless of the level of funding allocated to the lead agency by the state if all related funding is transferred. The lead agency may also serve children who have not been the subject of reports of abuse, neglect, or abandonment, but who are at risk of abuse, neglect, or abandonment, to prevent their entry into the child protection and child welfare system.

(b) Shall provide accurate and timely information necessary for oversight by the department pursuant to the child welfare results-oriented accountability system required by s. 409.997.

(c) Shall follow the financial guidelines developed by the department and provide for a regular independent auditing of its financial activities. Such financial information shall be provided to the community alliance established under s. 409.998.

(d) Shall post on its website the current budget for the lead agency, including the salaries, bonuses, and other compensation paid, by position, for the agency's chief executive officer, chief financial officer, chief operating officer, or their equivalents.

(e) Shall prepare all judicial reviews, case plans, and other reports necessary for court hearings for dependent children, except those related to the investigation of a referral from the department's child abuse hotline, and shall submit these documents timely to the department's attorneys for review, any necessary revision, and filing with the court. The lead agency shall make the necessary staff available to department attorneys for preparation for dependency proceedings, and shall provide testimony and other evidence required for dependency court proceedings in coordination with the department's attorneys. This duty does not include the preparation of legal pleadings or other legal documents, which remain the responsibility of the department.

(f) Shall ensure that all individuals providing care for dependent children receive appropriate training and meet the minimum employment standards established by the department.

(g) Shall maintain eligibility to receive all available federal child welfare funds.

(h) Shall maintain written agreements with Healthy Families Florida lead entities in its service area pursuant to s. 409.153 to promote cooperative planning for the provision of prevention and intervention services.

(i) Shall comply with federal and state statutory requirements and agency rules in the provision of contractual services.

(j) May subcontract for the provision of services required by the contract with the lead agency and the department; however, the subcontracts must specify how the provider will contribute to the lead agency meeting the performance standards established pursuant to the child welfare results-oriented accountability system required by s. 409.997. The lead agency shall directly provide no more than 35 percent of all child welfare services provided.

(k) Shall post on its website by the 15th day of each month at a minimum the information contained in subparagraphs 1.-4.

for the preceding calendar month regarding its case management services. The following information shall be reported by each individual subcontracted case management provider, by the lead agency, if the lead agency provides case management services, and in total for all case management services subcontracted or directly provided by the lead agency:

1. The average caseload of case managers, including only filled positions;

2. The turnover rate for case managers and case management supervisors for the previous 12 months;

3. The percentage of required home visits completed; and

4. Performance on outcome measures required pursuant to s. 409.997 for the previous 12 months.

(2) LICENSURE.—

(a) A lead agency must be licensed as a child-caring or child-placing agency by the department under this chapter.

(b) Each foster home, therapeutic foster home, emergency shelter, or other placement facility operated by the lead agency must be licensed by the department under chapter 402 or this chapter.

(c) Substitute care providers who are licensed under s. 409.175 and who have contracted with a lead agency are also authorized to provide registered or licensed family day care under s. 402.313 if such care is consistent with federal law and if the home has met the requirements of s. 402.313.

(d) In order to eliminate or reduce the number of duplicate inspections by various program offices, the department shall coordinate inspections required for licensure of agencies under this subsection.

(e) The department may adopt rules to administer this subsection.

(3) SERVICES.—A lead agency must serve dependent children through services that are supported by research or are best child welfare practices. The agency may also provide innovative services, including, but not limited to, family-centered, cognitive-behavioral, trauma-informed interventions designed to mitigate out-of-home placements.

(4) LEAD AGENCY ACTING AS GUARDIAN.—

(a) If a lead agency or other provider has accepted case management responsibilities for a child who is sheltered or found to be dependent and who is assigned to the care of the lead agency or other provider, the agency or provider may act as the child's guardian for the purpose of registering the child in school if a parent or guardian of the child is unavailable and his or her whereabouts cannot reasonably be ascertained.

(b) The lead agency or other provider may also seek emergency medical attention for the child, but only if a parent or guardian of the child is unavailable, the parent or guardian's whereabouts cannot reasonably be ascertained, and a court order for such emergency medical services cannot be obtained because of the severity of the emergency or because it is after normal working hours.

(c) A lead agency or other provider may not consent to sterilization, abortion, or termination of life support.

(d) If a child's parents' rights have been terminated, the lead agency shall act as guardian of the child in all circumstances.

Section 32. Section 409.990, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

409.990 Funding for lead agencies.—A contract established between the department and a lead agency must be funded by a grant of general revenue, other applicable state funds, or applicable federal funding sources.

(1) The method of payment for a fixed-price contract with a lead agency must provide for a 2-month advance payment at the beginning of each fiscal year and equal monthly payments thereafter.

(2) Notwithstanding s. 215.425, all documented federal funds earned for the current fiscal year by the department and lead agencies which exceed the amount appropriated by the Legislature shall be distributed to all entities that contributed to the excess earnings based on a schedule and methodology developed by the department and approved by the Executive Office of the Governor.

(a) Distribution shall be pro rata, based on total earnings, and shall be made only to those entities that contributed to excess earnings.

(b) Excess earnings of lead agencies shall be used only in the service district in which they were earned.

(c) Additional state funds appropriated by the Legislature for lead agencies or made available pursuant to the budgetary amendment process described in s. 216.177 shall be transferred to the lead agencies.

(d) The department shall amend a lead agency's contract to permit expenditure of the funds.

(3) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, the amount of the annual contract for a lead agency may be increased by excess federal funds earned in accordance with s. 216.181(11).

(4) Each contract with a lead agency shall provide for the payment by the department to the lead agency of a reasonable administrative cost in addition to funding for the provision of services.

(5) A lead agency may carry forward documented unexpended state funds from one fiscal year to the next; however, the cumulative amount carried forward may not exceed 8 percent of the total contract. Any unexpended state funds in excess of that percentage must be returned to the department.

(a) The funds carried forward may not be used in any way that would create increased recurring future obligations, and such funds may not be used for any type of program or service that is not currently authorized by the existing contract with the department.

(b) Expenditures of funds carried forward must be separately reported to the department.

(c) Any unexpended funds that remain at the end of the contract period shall be returned to the department.

(d) Funds carried forward may be retained through any contract renewals and any new procurements as long as the same lead agency is retained by the department.

(6) It is the intent of the Legislature to improve services and local participation in community-based care initiatives by fostering community support and providing enhanced prevention and in-home services, thereby reducing the risk otherwise faced by lead agencies. A community partnership matching grant program is established and shall be operated by the department to encourage local participation in community-based care for children in the child welfare system. A children's services council or another local entity that makes a financial commitment to a community-based care lead agency may be eligible for a matching grant. The total amount of the local contribution may be matched on a one-to-one basis up to a maximum annual amount of $500,000 per lead agency. Awarded matching grant funds may be used for any prevention or in-home services that can be reasonably expected to reduce the number of children entering the child welfare system. Funding available for the matching grant program is subject to legislative appropriation of nonrecurring funds provided for this purpose.

(7)(a) The department, in consultation with the Florida Coalition for Children, Inc., shall develop and implement a community-based care risk pool initiative to mitigate the financial risk to eligible lead agencies. This initiative must include:

1. A risk pool application and protocol developed by the department which outlines submission criteria, including, but not limited to, financial and program management, descriptive data requirements, and timeframes for submission of applications. Requests for funding from risk pool applicants must be based on relevant and verifiable service trends and changes that have occurred during the current fiscal year. The application must confirm that expenditure of approved risk pool funds by the lead agency will be completed within the current fiscal year.

2. A risk pool peer review committee, appointed by the secretary and consisting of department staff and representatives from at least three nonapplicant lead agencies, which reviews and assesses all risk pool applications. Upon completion of each application review, the peer review committee shall report its findings and recommendations to the secretary, providing, at a minimum, the following information:

a. Justification for the specific funding amount required by the risk pool applicant based on the current year's service trend data, including validation that the applicant's financial need was caused by circumstances beyond the control of the lead agency management;

b. Verification that the proposed use of risk pool funds meets at least one of the purposes specified in paragraph (c); and

c. Evidence of technical assistance provided in an effort to avoid the need to access the risk pool and recommendations for technical assistance to the lead agency to ensure that risk pool funds are expended effectively and that the agency's need for future risk pool funding is diminished.

(b) Upon approval by the secretary of a risk pool application, the department may request funds from the risk pool in accordance with s. 216.181(6)(a).

(c) The purposes for which the community-based care risk pool shall be used include:

1. Significant changes in the number or composition of clients eligible to receive services.

2. Significant changes in the services that are eligible for reimbursement.

3. Continuity of care in the event of failure, discontinuance of service, or financial misconduct by a lead agency.

4. Significant changes in the mix of available funds.

(d) The department may also request in its annual legislative budget request, and the Governor may recommend, that the funding necessary to effect paragraph (c) be appropriated to the department. In addition, the department may request the allocation of funds from the community-based care risk pool in accordance with s. 216.181(6)(a). Funds from the pool may be used to match available federal dollars.

1. Such funds shall constitute partial security for contract performance by lead agencies and shall be used to offset the need for a performance bond.

2. The department may separately require a bond to mitigate the financial consequences of potential acts of malfeasance or misfeasance or criminal violations by the service provider.

Section 33. Section 409.16713, Florida Statutes, is transferred, renumbered as section 409.991, Florida Statutes, and paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of that section is amended to read:

409.991 ~~409.16713~~ Allocation of funds for community-based care lead agencies.—

(1) As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Core services funding" means all funds allocated to community-based care lead agencies operating under contract with the department pursuant to s. 409.987 ~~s. 409.1671~~, with the following exceptions:

1. Funds appropriated for independent living;

2. Funds appropriated for maintenance adoption subsidies;

3. Funds allocated by the department for protective investigations training;

4. Nonrecurring funds;

5. Designated mental health wrap-around services funds; and

6. Funds for special projects for a designated community-based care lead agency.

Section 34. Section 409.992, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

409.992 Lead agency expenditures.—

(1) The procurement of commodities or contractual services by lead agencies shall be governed by the financial guidelines developed by the department and must comply with applicable state and federal law and follow good business practices. Pursuant to s. 11.45, the Auditor General may provide technical advice in the development of the financial guidelines.

(2) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, a community-based care lead agency may make expenditures for staff cellular telephone allowances, contracts requiring deferred payments and maintenance agreements, security deposits for office leases, related agency professional membership dues other than personal professional membership dues, promotional materials, and grant writing services. Expenditures for food and refreshments, other than those provided to clients in the care of the agency or to foster parents, adoptive parents, and caseworkers during training sessions, are not allowable.

(3) A lead community-based care agency and its subcontractors are exempt from state travel policies as provided in s. 112.061(3)(a) for their travel expenses incurred in order to comply with the requirements of this section.

Section 35. Section 409.993, Florida Statutes, is created

to read:

409.993 Lead agencies and subcontractor liability.—

(1) FINDINGS.—

(a) The Legislature finds that the state has traditionally provided foster care services to children who are the responsibility of the state. As such, foster children have not had the right to recover for injuries beyond the limitations specified in s. 768.28. The Legislature has determined that foster care and related services should be outsourced pursuant to this section and that the provision of such services is of paramount importance to the state. The purpose of such outsourcing is to increase the level of safety, security, and stability of children who are or become the responsibility of the state. One of the components necessary to secure a safe and stable environment for such children is the requirement that private providers maintain liability insurance. As such, insurance needs to be available and remain available to nongovernmental foster care and related services providers without the resources of such providers being significantly reduced by the cost of maintaining such insurance.

(b) The Legislature further finds that, by requiring the following minimum levels of insurance, children in outsourced foster care and related services will gain increased protection and rights of recovery in the event of injury than currently provided in s. 768.28.

(2) LEAD AGENCY LIABILITY.—

(a) Other than an entity to which s. 768.28 applies, an eligible community-based care lead agency, or its employees or officers, except as otherwise provided in paragraph (b), shall,

as a part of its contract, obtain general liability insurance coverage sufficient to pay any successful tort action up to the liability caps established in this subsection. In a tort action brought against such an eligible community-based care lead agency or employee, net economic damages shall be limited to $2 million per liability claim and $200,000 per automobile claim, including, but not limited to, past and future medical expenses, wage loss, and loss of earning capacity, offset by any collateral source payment paid or payable. In any tort action brought against such an eligible community-based care lead agency, noneconomic damages shall be limited to $400,000 per claim. A claims bill may be brought on behalf of a claimant pursuant to s. 768.28 for any amount exceeding the limits specified in this paragraph. Any offset of collateral source payments made as of the date of the settlement or judgment shall be in accordance with s. 768.76. The community-based care lead agency is not liable in tort for the acts or omissions of its subcontractors or the officers, agents, or employees of its subcontractors.

(b) The liability of an eligible community-based care lead agency described in this section shall be exclusive and in place of all other liability of such lead agency. The same immunities from liability enjoyed by such lead agencies shall extend to each employee of the lead agency if he or she is acting in furtherance of the lead agency's business, including the transportation of clients served, as described in this subsection, in privately owned vehicles. Such immunities are not applicable to a lead agency or an employee who acts in a culpably negligent manner or with willful and wanton disregard or unprovoked physical aggression if such acts result in injury or death or such acts proximately cause such injury or death. Such immunities are not applicable to employees of the same lead agency when each is operating in the furtherance of the agency's business, but they are assigned primarily to unrelated work within private or public employment. The same immunity provisions enjoyed by a lead agency also apply to any sole proprietor, partner, corporate officer or director, supervisor, or other person who, in the course and scope of his or her duties, acts in a managerial or policymaking capacity and the conduct that caused the alleged injury arose within the course and scope of those managerial or policymaking duties. As used in this subsection and subsection (3), the term "culpably negligent manner" means reckless indifference or grossly careless disregard of human life.

(3) SUBCONTRACTOR LIABILITY.—

(a) A subcontractor of an eligible community-based care lead agency that is a direct provider of foster care and related services to children and families, and its employees or officers, except as otherwise provided in paragraph (b), must, as a part of its contract, obtain general liability insurance coverage sufficient to pay any successful tort action up to the liability caps established in this subsection. In a tort action brought against such subcontractor or employee, net economic damages shall be limited to $2 million per liability claim and $200,000 per automobile claim, including, but not limited to, past and future medical expenses, wage loss, and loss of earning capacity, offset by any collateral source payment paid or payable. In a tort action brought against such subcontractor, noneconomic damages shall be limited to $400,000 per claim. A claims bill may be brought on behalf of a claimant pursuant to s. 768.28 for any amount exceeding the limits specified in this paragraph. Any offset of collateral source payments made as of the date of the settlement or judgment shall be in accordance with s. 768.76.

(b) The liability of a subcontractor of an eligible community-based care lead agency that is a direct provider of foster care and related services as described in this section is exclusive and in place of all other liability of such provider. The same immunities from liability enjoyed by such subcontractor provider extend to each employee of the subcontractor when such employee is acting in furtherance of the subcontractor's business, including the transportation of clients served, as described in this subsection, in privately owned vehicles. Such immunities are not applicable to a subcontractor or an employee who acts in a culpably negligent manner or with willful and wanton disregard or unprovoked physical aggression if such acts result in injury or death or if such acts proximately cause such injury or death. Such immunities are not applicable to employees of the same subcontractor who are operating in the furtherance of the subcontractor's business but are assigned primarily to unrelated works within private or public employment. The same immunity provisions enjoyed by a subcontractor also apply to any sole proprietor, partner, corporate officer or director, supervisor, or other person who, in the course and scope of his or her duties, acts in a managerial or policymaking capacity and the conduct that caused the alleged injury arose within the course and scope of those managerial or policymaking duties.

(4) LIMITATIONS ON DAMAGES.—The Legislature is cognizant of the increasing costs of goods and services each year and recognizes that fixing a set amount of compensation has the effect of a reduction in compensation each year. Accordingly, the conditional limitations on damages in this section shall be increased at the rate of 5 percent each year, prorated from July 1, 2014, to the date at which damages subject to such limitations are awarded by final judgment or settlement.

Section 36. Section 409.1675, Florida Statutes, is transferred, renumbered as section 409.994, Florida Statutes, and amended to read:

409.994 ~~409.1675 Lead~~ Community-based care lead agencies ~~providers~~; receivership.—

(1) The Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ may petition a court of competent jurisdiction for the appointment of a receiver for a ~~lead~~ community-based care lead agency ~~provider~~ established pursuant to s. 409.987 if ~~s. 409.1671 when~~ any of the following conditions exist:

(a) The lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ is operating without a license as a child-placing agency.

(b) The lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ has given less than 120 days' notice of its intent to cease operations, and arrangements have not been made for another lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ or for the department to continue the uninterrupted provision of services.

(c) The department determines that conditions exist in the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ which present an imminent danger to the health, safety, or welfare of the dependent children under that agency's ~~provider's~~ care or supervision.

Whenever possible, the department shall make a reasonable effort to facilitate the continued operation of the program.

(d) The lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ cannot meet its current financial obligations to its employees, contractors, or foster parents. Issuance of bad checks or the existence of delinquent obligations for payment of salaries, utilities, or invoices for essential services or commodities shall constitute prima facie evidence that the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ lacks the financial ability to meet its financial obligations.

(2)(a) The petition for receivership shall take precedence over other court business unless the court determines that some other pending proceeding, having statutory precedence, has priority.

(b) A hearing shall be conducted within 5 days after the filing of the petition, at which time interested parties shall have the opportunity to present evidence as to whether a receiver should be appointed. The department shall give reasonable notice of the hearing on the petition to the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~.

(c) The court shall grant the petition upon finding that one or more of the conditions in subsection (1) exists and the continued existence of the condition or conditions jeopardizes the health, safety, or welfare of dependent children. A receiver may be appointed ex parte when the court determines that one or more of the conditions in subsection (1) exists. After such finding, the court may appoint any person, including an employee of the department who is qualified by education, training, or experience to carry out the duties of the receiver pursuant to this section, except that the court may ~~shall~~ not appoint any member of the governing board or any officer of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~. The receiver may be selected from a list of persons qualified to act as receivers which is developed by the department and presented to the court with each petition of receivership.

(d) A receiver may be appointed for up to 90 days, and the department may petition the court for additional 30-day extensions. Sixty days after appointment of a receiver and every 30 days thereafter until the receivership is terminated, the department shall submit to the court an assessment of the lead agency's ~~community-based provider's~~ ability to ensure the health, safety, and welfare of the dependent children under its supervision.

(3) The receiver shall take such steps as are reasonably necessary to ensure the continued health, safety, and welfare of the dependent children under the supervision of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ and shall exercise those powers and perform those duties set out by the court, including, but not limited to:

(a) Taking such action as is reasonably necessary to protect or conserve the assets or property of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~. The receiver may use the assets and property and any proceeds from any transfer thereof only in the performance of the powers and duties provided ~~set forth~~ in this section and by order of the court.

(b) Using the assets of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ in the provision of care and services to dependent children.

(c) Entering into contracts and hiring agents and employees to carry out the powers and duties of the receiver under this section.

(d) Having full power to direct, manage, hire, and discharge employees of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~. The receiver shall hire and pay new employees at the rate of compensation, including benefits, approved by the court.

(e) Honoring all leases, mortgages, and contractual obligations of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~, but only to the extent of payments that become due during the period of the receivership.

(4)(a) The receiver shall deposit funds received in a separate account and shall use this account for all disbursements.

(b) A payment to the receiver of any sum owing to the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ shall discharge any obligation to the provider to the extent of the payment.

(5) A receiver may petition the court for temporary relief from obligations entered into by the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ if the rent, price, or rate of interest required to be paid under the agreement was substantially in excess of a reasonable rent, price, or rate of interest at the time the contract was entered into, or if any material provision of the agreement was unreasonable when compared to contracts negotiated under similar conditions. Any relief in this form provided by the court shall be limited to the life of the receivership, unless otherwise determined by the court.

(6) The court shall set the compensation of the receiver, which shall be considered a necessary expense of a receivership and may grant to the receiver such other authority necessary to ensure the health, safety, and welfare of the children served.

(7) A receiver may be held liable in a personal capacity only for the receiver's own gross negligence, intentional acts, or breaches of fiduciary duty. This section may ~~shall~~ not be interpreted to be a waiver of sovereign immunity should the department be appointed receiver.

(8) If the receiver is not the department, the court may require a receiver to post a bond to ensure the faithful performance of these duties.

(9) The court may terminate a receivership when:

(a) The court determines that the receivership is no longer necessary because the conditions that gave rise to the receivership no longer exist; or

(b) The department has entered into a contract with a new lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ pursuant to s. 409.987 ~~s. 409.1671~~, and that contractor is ready and able to assume the duties of the previous lead agency ~~provider~~.

(10) Within 30 days after the termination, unless this time period is extended by the court, the receiver shall give the court a complete accounting of all property of which the receiver has taken possession, of all funds collected and disbursed, and of the expenses of the receivership.

(11) ~~Nothing in~~ This section does not ~~shall be construed to~~ relieve any employee of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ placed in receivership of any civil or criminal liability incurred, or any duty imposed by law, by reason of acts or omissions of the employee before ~~prior to~~ the appointment of a receiver, and~~; nor shall anything contained in~~ this section does not ~~be construed to~~ suspend during the receivership any obligation of the employee for payment of taxes or other operating or maintenance expenses of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ or for the payment of mortgages or liens. The lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ shall retain the right to sell or mortgage any facility under receivership, subject to the prior approval of the court that ordered the receivership.

Section 37. Section 409.996, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

409.996 Duties of the Department of Children and Families.—The department shall contract for the delivery, administration, or management of care for children in the child protection and child welfare system. (d) Specify the procedures to be used by the parties to resolve differences in interpreting the contract or to resolve disputes as to the adequacy of the parties' compliance with their respective obligations under the contract.

(2) The department must adopt written policies and procedures for monitoring the contract for delivery of services by lead agencies which must be posted on the department's website. These policies and procedures must, at a minimum, address the evaluation of fiscal accountability and program operations, including provider achievement of performance standards, provider monitoring of subcontractors, and timely followup of corrective actions for significant monitoring findings related to providers and subcontractors. These policies and procedures must also include provisions for reducing the duplication of the department's program monitoring activities both internally and with other agencies, to the extent possible. The department's written procedures must ensure that the written findings, conclusions, and recommendations from monitoring the contract for services of lead agencies are communicated to the director of the provider agency and the community alliance as expeditiously as possible.

(3) The department shall receive federal and state funds as appropriated for the operation of the child welfare system and shall transmit these funds to the lead agencies as agreed to in the contract. The department retains responsibility for the appropriate spending of these funds. The department shall monitor lead agencies to assess compliance with the financial guidelines established pursuant to s. 409.992 and other applicable state and federal laws.

(14) The department shall work with the Agency for Health Care Administration to provide each Medicaid-eligible child with early and periodic screening, diagnosis, and treatment, including 72-hour screening, periodic child health checkups, and prescribed followup for ordered services, including, but not limited to, medical, dental, and vision care.

(15) The department shall assist lead agencies in developing an array of services in compliance with the Title IV-E waiver and shall monitor the provision of such services.

(16) The department shall provide a mechanism to allow lead

(17) The department shall directly or through contract provide attorneys to prepare and present cases in dependency court and shall ensure that the court is provided with adequate information for informed decisionmaking in dependency cases, including a fact sheet for each case which lists the names and contact information for any child protective investigator, child protective investigation supervisor, case manager, and case manager supervisor, and the regional department official responsible for the lead agency contract. For the Sixth Judicial Circuit, the department shall contract with the state attorney for the provision of these services.

(18) The department, in consultation with lead agencies, shall establish a quality assurance program for contracted services to dependent children. The quality assurance program shall be based on standards established by federal and state law and national accrediting organizations.

(a) The department must evaluate each lead agency under contract at least annually. These evaluations shall cover the programmatic, operational, and fiscal operations of the lead agency and must be consistent with the child welfare results-oriented accountability system required by s. 409.997. The department must consult with dependency judges in the circuit or circuits served by the lead agency on the performance of the lead agency.

(b) The department and each lead agency shall monitor out-of-home placements, including the extent to which sibling groups are placed together or provisions to provide visitation and other contacts if siblings are separated. The data shall identify reasons for sibling separation. Information related to sibling placement shall be incorporated into the results-oriented accountability system required pursuant to s. 409.997 and in the evaluation of the outcome specified in s. 409.986(2)(e). The department's attorneys shall coordinate lead agency or subcontractor staff to ensure that dependency cases are presented appropriately to the court.

39.001 Purposes and intent; personnel standards and screening.—

(1) PURPOSES OF CHAPTER.—The purposes of this chapter are:

(b) To recognize that most families desire to be competent caregivers and providers for their children and that children achieve their greatest potential when families are able to support and nurture the growth and development of their children. Therefore, the Legislature finds that policies and procedures that provide for prevention and intervention through the department's child protection system should be based on the following principles:

1. The health and safety of the children served shall be of paramount concern.

2. The prevention and intervention should engage families in constructive, supportive, and nonadversarial relationships.

3. The prevention and intervention should intrude as little as possible into the life of the family, be focused on clearly defined objectives, and take the most parsimonious path to remedy a family's problems, keeping the safety of the child or children as the paramount concern.

4. The prevention and intervention should be based upon outcome evaluation results that demonstrate success in protecting children and supporting families.

(c) To provide a child protection system that reflects a partnership between the department, other agencies, the courts, law enforcement agencies, service providers, and local communities.

(g) To ensure that the parent or legal custodian from whose custody the child has been taken assists the department to the fullest extent possible in locating relatives suitable to serve as caregivers for the child and provides all medical and educational information, or consent for access thereto, needed to help the child.

(k) To make every possible effort, if ~~when~~ two or more children who are in the care or under the supervision of the department are siblings, to place the siblings in the same home; and in the event of permanent placement of the siblings, to place them in the same adoptive home or, if the siblings are separated while under the care or supervision of the department or in a permanent placement, to keep them in contact with each other.

(o) To preserve and strengthen families who are caring for medically complex children.

(p) To provide protective investigations that are conducted by trained persons in a complete and fair manner, that are promptly concluded, and that consider the purposes of this subsection and the general protections provided by law relating to child welfare.

(3) GENERAL PROTECTIONS FOR CHILDREN.—It is a purpose of the Legislature that the children of this state be provided with the following protections:

(f) Access to sufficient supports and services for medically complex children to allow them to remain in the least restrictive and most nurturing environment, which includes sufficient services in an amount and scope comparable to those services the child would receive in out-of-home care placement.

(4) SERVICES FOR MEDICALLY COMPLEX CHILDREN.—The department shall maintain a program of family-centered services and supports for medically complex children. The purpose of the program is to prevent abuse and neglect of medically complex children while enhancing the capacity of families to provide for their children's needs. Program services must include outreach, early intervention, and the provision of other supports and services to meet the child's needs. The department shall collaborate with all relevant state and local agencies to provide needed services.

(9) ~~(8)~~ OFFICE OF ADOPTION AND CHILD PROTECTION.—

(c) The office is authorized and directed to:

1. Oversee the preparation and implementation of the state plan established under subsection (10) ~~(9)~~ and revise and update the state plan as necessary.

2. Provide for or make available continuing professional education and training in the prevention of child abuse and neglect.

3. Work to secure funding in the form of appropriations, gifts, and grants from the state, the Federal Government, and other public and private sources in order to ensure that sufficient funds are available for the promotion of adoption, support of adoptive families, and child abuse prevention efforts.

4. Make recommendations pertaining to agreements or contracts for the establishment and development of:

a. Programs and services for the promotion of adoption, support of adoptive families, and prevention of child abuse and neglect.

b. Training programs for the prevention of child abuse and neglect.

c. Multidisciplinary and discipline-specific training programs for professionals with responsibilities affecting children, young adults, and families.

d. Efforts to promote adoption.

e. Postadoptive services to support adoptive families.

5. Monitor, evaluate, and review the development and quality of local and statewide services and programs for the promotion of adoption, support of adoptive families, and prevention of child abuse and neglect and shall publish and distribute an annual report of its findings on or before January 1 of each year to the Governor, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the President of the Senate, the head of each state agency affected by the report, and the appropriate substantive committees of the Legislature. The report shall include:

a. A summary of the activities of the office.

b. A summary of the adoption data collected and reported to the federal Adoption and Foster Care Analysis and Reporting System (AFCARS) and the federal Administration for Children and Families.

c. A summary of the child abuse prevention data collected and reported to the National Child Abuse and Neglect Data System (NCANDS) and the federal Administration for Children and Families.

(11)~~(10)~~ FUNDING AND SUBSEQUENT PLANS.—

(b) The office and the other agencies and organizations listed in paragraph (10)(a) ~~(9)(a)~~ shall readdress the state plan and make necessary revisions every 5 years, at a minimum. Such revisions shall be submitted to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the Senate no later than June 30 of each year divisible by 5. At least biennially, the office shall review the state plan and make any necessary revisions based on changing needs and program evaluation results. An annual progress report shall be submitted to update the state plan in the years between the 5-year intervals. In order to avoid duplication of effort, these required plans may be made a part of or merged with other plans required by either the state or Federal Government, so long as the portions of the other state or Federal Government plan that constitute the state plan for the promotion of adoption, support of adoptive families, and prevention of child abuse, abandonment, and neglect are clearly identified as such and are provided to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the Senate as required under this section ~~above~~.

Section 3. Present subsections (59) through (65) of section 39.01, Florida Statutes, are redesignated as subsections (60) through (66), respectively, present subsections (67) through (69) are redesignated as subsections (68) through (70), respectively, present subsections (70) through (76) are redesignated as subsections (72) through (78), respectively, new subsections (31), (41), (59), (67), and (71) are added to that section, and subsections (7), (14), (18), (22), (26), and (27) and present subsections (28) through (41), (59), and (65) of that section are amended, to read:

39.01 Definitions.—When used in this chapter, unless the context otherwise requires:

(a)~~1.~~ "Coercion" means the exploitation of authority or the use of bribes, threats of force, or intimidation to gain cooperation or compliance.

(b) ~~2.~~ "Equality" means two participants operating with the same level of power in a relationship, neither being controlled nor coerced by the other.

(c) ~~3.~~ "Consent" means an agreement, including all of the following:

5. ~~e.~~ Voluntary decision.

6. ~~f.~~ Mental competence.

Juvenile sexual ~~offender~~ behavior ranges from noncontact sexual behavior such as making obscene phone calls, exhibitionism, voyeurism, and the showing or taking of lewd photographs to varying degrees of direct sexual contact, such as frottage, fondling, digital penetration, rape, fellatio, sodomy, and various other sexually aggressive acts.

(14) "Child who has exhibited inappropriate sexual behavior" means a child ~~who is 12 years of age or younger and~~ who has been found by the department or the court to have committed an inappropriate sexual act.

(18) "Comprehensive assessment" or "assessment" means the gathering of information for the evaluation of a child's and caregiver's physical, psychiatric, psychological, or mental health; developmental delays or challenges; and~~,~~ educational, vocational, and social condition and family environment as they relate to the child's and caregiver's need for rehabilitative and treatment services, including substance abuse treatment services, mental health services, developmental services, literacy services, medical services, family services, and other specialized services, as appropriate.

(22) "Diligent efforts by a parent" means a course of conduct which results in a meaningful change in the behavior of a parent that reduces ~~reduction in~~ risk to the child in the child's home to the extent that ~~would allow~~ the child may ~~to~~ be safely placed permanently back in the home as set forth in the case plan.

~~(26) "District" means any one of the 15 service districts of the department established pursuant to s. 20.19.~~

~~(27) "District administrator" means the chief operating officer of each service district of the department as defined in s. 20.19(5) and, where appropriate, includes any district administrator whose service district falls within the boundaries of a judicial circuit.~~

(26) ~~(28)~~ "Expedited termination of parental rights" means proceedings wherein a case plan with the goal of reunification is not being offered.

(27) ~~(29)~~ "False report" means a report of abuse, neglect, or abandonment of a child to the central abuse hotline, which report is maliciously made for the purpose of:

(a) Harassing, embarrassing, or harming another person;

(b) Personal financial gain for the reporting person;

(c) Acquiring custody of a child; or

(d) Personal benefit for the reporting person in any other private dispute involving a child.

The term "false report" does not include a report of abuse, neglect, or abandonment of a child made in good faith to the central abuse hotline.

(28) ~~(30)~~ "Family" means a collective body of persons, consisting of a child and a parent, legal custodian, or adult relative, in which:

(a) The persons reside in the same house or living unit; or

(b) The parent, legal custodian, or adult relative has a legal responsibility by blood, marriage, or court order to support or care for the child.

(29) ~~(31)~~ "Foster care" means care provided a child in a foster family or boarding home, group home, agency boarding home, child care institution, or any combination thereof.

(30) ~~(32)~~ "Harm" to a child's health or welfare can occur when any person:

(a) Inflicts or allows to be inflicted upon the child physical, mental, or emotional injury. In determining whether harm has occurred, the following factors must be considered in evaluating any physical, mental, or emotional injury to a child: the age of the child; any prior history of injuries to the child; the location of the injury on the body of the child; the multiplicity of the injury; and the type of trauma inflicted. Such injury includes, but is not limited to:

1. Willful acts that produce the following specific injuries:

a. Sprains, dislocations, or cartilage damage.

b. Bone or skull fractures.

c. Brain or spinal cord damage.

d. Intracranial hemorrhage or injury to other internal organs.

e. Asphyxiation, suffocation, or drowning.

f. Injury resulting from the use of a deadly weapon.

g. Burns or scalding.

h. Cuts, lacerations, punctures, or bites.

i. Permanent or temporary disfigurement.

j. Permanent or temporary loss or impairment of a body part or function.

As used in this subparagraph, the term "willful" refers to the intent to perform an action, not to the intent to achieve a result or to cause an injury.

2. Purposely giving a child poison, alcohol, drugs, or other substances that substantially affect the child's behavior, motor coordination, or judgment or that result in sickness or internal injury. For the purposes of this subparagraph, the term "drugs" means prescription drugs not prescribed for the child or not administered as prescribed, and controlled substances as outlined in Schedule I or Schedule II of s. 893.03.

3. Leaving a child without adult supervision or arrangement appropriate for the child's age or mental or physical condition, so that the child is unable to care for the child's own needs or another's basic needs or is unable to exercise good judgment in responding to any kind of physical or emotional crisis.

4. Inappropriate or excessively harsh disciplinary action that is likely to result in physical injury, mental injury as defined in this section, or emotional injury. The significance of any injury must be evaluated in light of the following factors: the age of the child; any prior history of injuries to the child; the location of the injury on the body of the child; the multiplicity of the injury; and the type of trauma inflicted. Corporal discipline may be considered excessive or abusive when it results in any of the following or other similar injuries:

a. Sprains, dislocations, or cartilage damage.

b. Bone or skull fractures.

c. Brain or spinal cord damage.

d. Intracranial hemorrhage or injury to other internal organs.

e. Asphyxiation, suffocation, or drowning.

f. Injury resulting from the use of a deadly weapon.

g. Burns or scalding.

616958

576-03666-14

827.

(d) Exploits a child, or allows a child to be exploited, as provided in s. 450.151.

(e) Abandons the child. Within the context of the definition of "harm," the term "abandoned the child" or "abandonment of the child" means a situation in which the parent or legal custodian of a child or, in the absence of a parent or legal custodian, the caregiver, while being able, has made no significant contribution to the child's care and maintenance or has failed to establish or maintain a substantial and positive relationship with the child, or both. For purposes of this paragraph, "establish or maintain a substantial and positive relationship" includes, but is not limited to, frequent and regular contact with the child through frequent and regular visitation or frequent and regular communication to or with the child, and the exercise of parental rights and responsibilities. Marginal efforts and incidental or token visits or communications are not sufficient to establish or maintain a substantial and positive relationship with a child. The term "abandoned" does not include a surrendered newborn infant as described in s. 383.50, a child in need of services as defined in chapter 984, or a family in need of services as defined in chapter 984. The incarceration, repeated incarceration, or extended incarceration of a parent, legal custodian, or caregiver responsible for a child's welfare may support a finding of abandonment.

(f) Neglects the child. Within the context of the definition of "harm," the term "neglects the child" means that the parent or other person responsible for the child's welfare fails to supply the child with adequate food, clothing, shelter, or health care, although financially able to do so or although offered financial or other means to do so. However, a parent or legal custodian who, by reason of the legitimate practice of religious beliefs, does not provide specified medical treatment for a child may not be considered abusive or neglectful for that reason alone, but such an exception does not:

1. Eliminate the requirement that such a case be reported to the department;

2. Prevent the department from investigating such a case; or

3. Preclude a court from ordering, when the health of the child requires it, the provision of medical services by a physician, as defined in this section, or treatment by a duly accredited practitioner who relies solely on spiritual means for healing in accordance with the tenets and practices of a well-recognized church or religious organization.

(g) Exposes a child to a controlled substance or alcohol. Exposure to a controlled substance or alcohol is established by:

1. A test, administered at birth, which indicated that the child's blood, urine, or meconium contained any amount of alcohol or a controlled substance or metabolites of such substances, the presence of which was not the result of medical treatment administered to the mother or the newborn infant; or

2. Evidence of extensive, abusive, and chronic use of a controlled substance or alcohol by a parent when the child is demonstrably adversely affected by such usage.

As used in this paragraph, the term "controlled substance" means prescription drugs not prescribed for the parent or not administered as prescribed and controlled substances as outlined in Schedule I or Schedule II of s. 893.03.

(h) Uses mechanical devices, unreasonable restraints, or extended periods of isolation to control a child.

(i) Engages in violent behavior that demonstrates a wanton disregard for the presence of a child and could reasonably result in serious injury to the child.

(j) Negligently fails to protect a child in his or her care from inflicted physical, mental, or sexual injury caused by the acts of another.

(k) Has allowed a child's sibling to die as a result of abuse, abandonment, or neglect.

(l) Makes the child unavailable for the purpose of impeding or avoiding a protective investigation unless the court determines that the parent, legal custodian, or caregiver was fleeing from a situation involving domestic violence.

(31) "Impending danger" means a situation in which family behaviors, attitudes, motives, emotions, or situations pose a threat that may not be currently active but that can be anticipated to become active and to have severe effects on a child at any time.

(32) ~~(33)~~ "Institutional child abuse or neglect" means situations of known or suspected child abuse or neglect in which the person allegedly perpetrating the child abuse or neglect is an employee of a private school, public or private day care center, residential home, institution, facility, or agency or any other person at such institution responsible for the child's care as defined in subsection (47).

(33)~~(34)~~ "Judge" means the circuit judge exercising jurisdiction pursuant to this chapter.

(34)~~(35)~~ "Legal custody" means a legal status created by a court which vests in a custodian of the person or guardian, whether an agency or an individual, the right to have physical custody of the child and the right and duty to protect, nurture, guide, and discipline the child and to provide him or her with food, shelter, education, and ordinary medical, dental, psychiatric, and psychological care.

(35)~~(36)~~ "Licensed child-caring agency" means a person, society, association, or agency licensed by the department to care for, receive, and board children.

(36)~~(37)~~ "Licensed child-placing agency" means a person, society, association, or institution licensed by the department to care for, receive, or board children and to place children in a licensed child-caring institution or a foster or adoptive home.

(37)~~(38)~~ "Licensed health care professional" means a physician licensed under chapter 458, an osteopathic physician licensed under chapter 459, a nurse licensed under part I of chapter 464, a physician assistant licensed under chapter 458 or chapter 459, or a dentist licensed under chapter 466.

(38)~~(39)~~ "Likely to injure oneself" means that, as evidenced by violent or other actively self-destructive behavior, it is more likely than not that within a 24-hour period the child will attempt to commit suicide or inflict serious bodily harm on himself or herself.

(39)~~(40)~~ "Likely to injure others" means that it is more likely than not that within a 24-hour period the child will inflict serious and unjustified bodily harm on another person.

(40)~~(41)~~ "Mediation" means a process whereby a neutral third person called a mediator acts to encourage and facilitate the resolution of a dispute between two or more parties. It is an informal and nonadversarial process with the objective of helping the disputing parties reach a mutually acceptable and voluntary agreement. The role of the mediator includes, but is not limited to, assisting the parties in identifying issues, fostering joint problem solving, and exploring settlement alternatives.

(41) "Medical neglect" means the failure to provide or the failure to allow needed care as recommended by a health care practitioner for a physical injury, illness, medical condition, or impairment, or the failure to seek timely and appropriate medical care for a serious health problem that a reasonable person would have recognized as requiring professional medical attention. Medical neglect does not occur if the parent or legal guardian of the child has made reasonable attempts to obtain necessary health care services or the immediate health condition giving rise to the allegation of neglect is a known and expected complication of the child's diagnosis or treatment and:

(a) The recommended care offers limited net benefit to the child and the morbidity or other side effects of the treatment may be considered to be greater than the anticipated benefit; or

(b) The parent or legal guardian received conflicting medical recommendations for treatment from multiple practitioners and did not follow all recommendations.

(59) "Present danger" means a significant and clearly observable family condition that is occurring at the current moment and is already endangering or threatening to endanger the child. Present danger threats are conspicuous and require that an immediate protective action be taken to ensure the child's safety.

(60)~~(59)~~ "Preventive services" means social services and other supportive and rehabilitative services provided to the parent or legal custodian of the child and to the child for the purpose of averting the removal of the child from the home or disruption of a family which will or could result in the placement of a child in foster care. Social services and other supportive and rehabilitative services shall promote the child's developmental needs and need for physical, mental, and emotional health and a safe, stable, living environment;~~,~~ shall promote family autonomy;~~,~~ and shall strengthen family life, whenever possible.

(66)~~(65)~~ "Reunification services" means social services and other supportive and rehabilitative services provided to the parent of the child, to the child, and, where appropriate, to the relative placement, nonrelative placement, or foster parents of the child, for the purpose of enabling a child who has been placed in out-of-home care to safely return to his or her parent at the earliest possible time. The health and safety of the child shall be the paramount goal of social services and other supportive and rehabilitative services. Section 6. Section 39.2015, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

39.2015 Critical incident rapid response team.—

(1) The department shall conduct an immediate investigation of certain incidents involving children using critical incident rapid response teams as provided in subsection (2). The purpose of such investigation is to identify root causes and rapidly determine the need to change policies and practices related to child protection and child welfare.

(2) An immediate onsite investigation conducted by a critical incident rapid response team is required for all child deaths reported to the department if the child or another child in his or her family was the subject of a verified report of suspected abuse or neglect during the previous 12 months. The secretary may direct an immediate investigation for other cases involving serious injury to a child.

(3) Each investigation shall be conducted by a team of at least five professionals with expertise in child protection, child welfare, and organizational management. The team may consist of employees of the department, community-based care lead agencies, and other provider organizations; faculty from the institute consisting of public and private universities offering degrees in social work established pursuant to s. 1004.615; or any other person with the required expertise. The majority of the team must reside in judicial circuits outside the location of the incident. The secretary shall appoint a team leader for each group assigned to an investigation.

(4) An investigation shall be initiated as soon as possible, but not later than 2 business days after the case is reported to the department. A preliminary report on each case shall be provided to the secretary no later than 30 days after the investigation begins.

(5) Each member of the team is authorized to access all information in the case file.

(6) All employees of the department or other state agencies and all personnel from contracted provider organizations must

However, records or information of contracted provider organizations made confidential or privileged by state or federal law may be shared among team members but not outside the team.

(7) The secretary shall develop cooperative agreements with other entities and organizations as necessary to facilitate the work of the team.

(8) The members of the team may be reimbursed by the department for per diem, mileage, and other reasonable expenses as provided in s. 112.061. The department may also reimburse the team member's employer for the associated salary and benefits during the time the team member is fulfilling the duties required under this section.

(9) Upon completion of the investigation, the department shall make the team's final report available on its website.

(10) The secretary, in conjunction with the institute established pursuant to s. 1004.615, shall develop guidelines for investigations conducted by critical incident rapid response teams and provide training to team members. Such guidelines must direct the teams in the conduct of a root-cause analysis that identifies, classifies, and attributes responsibility for both direct and latent causes for the death or other incident, including organizational factors, preconditions, and specific acts or omissions resulting from either error or a violation of procedures.

(11) The secretary shall appoint an advisory committee made up of experts in child protection and child welfare to conduct an independent review of investigative reports from the critical incident rapid response teams and make recommendations to improve policies and practices related to child protection and child welfare services. By October 1 of each year, the advisory committee shall submit a report to the secretary that includes findings and recommendations. The secretary shall submit the report to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

(a) The initials, age, race, and gender of the child.

(b) The date of the child's death.

(c) Any allegations of the cause of death or the preliminary cause of death, and the verified cause of death, if known.

(d) The county and placement of the child at the time of the incident leading to the child's death, if applicable.

(e) The name of the community-based care lead agency, case management agency, or out-of-home licensing agency involved with the child, family, or licensed caregiver, if applicable.

(f) The relationship of the person adjudicated guilty of any criminal offense related to the child's death.

(g) Whether the child has been the subject of any prior verified reports to the department's central abuse hotline.

Section 8. Subsections (9) and (14) of section 39.301, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

39.301 Initiation of protective investigations.—

(9)(a) For each report received from the central abuse hotline and accepted for investigation, the department or the sheriff providing child protective investigative services under s. 39.3065, shall perform the following child protective investigation activities to determine child safety:

1. Conduct a review of all relevant, available information specific to the child and family and alleged maltreatment; family child welfare history; local, state, and federal criminal records checks; and requests for law enforcement assistance provided by the abuse hotline. Based on a review of available information, including the allegations in the current report, a determination shall be made as to whether immediate consultation should occur with law enforcement, the child protection team, a domestic violence shelter or advocate, or a substance abuse or mental health professional. Such consultations should include discussion as to whether a joint response is necessary and feasible. A determination shall be made as to whether the person making the report should be contacted before the face-to-face interviews with the child and family members.

2. Conduct face-to-face interviews with the child; other siblings, if any; and the parents, legal custodians, or caregivers.

3. Assess the child's residence, including a determination of the composition of the family and household, including the name, address, date of birth, social security number, sex, and race of each child named in the report; any siblings or other children in the same household or in the care of the same adults; the parents, legal custodians, or caregivers; and any other adults in the same household.

4. Determine whether there is any indication that any child in the family or household has been abused, abandoned, or neglected; the nature and extent of present or prior injuries, abuse, or neglect, and any evidence thereof; and a determination as to the person or persons apparently responsible for the abuse, abandonment, or neglect, including the name, address, date of birth, social security number, sex, and race of each such person.

5. Complete assessment of immediate child safety for each child based on available records, interviews, and observations with all persons named in subparagraph 2. and appropriate collateral contacts, which may include other professionals. The department's child protection investigators are hereby designated a criminal justice agency for the purpose of accessing criminal justice information to be used for enforcing this state's laws concerning the crimes of child abuse, abandonment, and neglect. This information shall be used solely for purposes supporting the detection, apprehension, prosecution, pretrial release, posttrial release, or rehabilitation of criminal offenders or persons accused of the crimes of child abuse, abandonment, or neglect and may not be further disseminated or used for any other purpose.

6. Document the present and impending dangers to each child based on the identification of inadequate protective capacity through utilization of a standardized safety assessment instrument. If present or impending danger is identified, the child protective investigator must implement a safety plan or take the child into custody. If present danger is identified and the child is not removed, the child protective investigator shall create and implement a safety plan before leaving the home or the location where there is present danger. If impending danger is identified, the child protective investigator shall create and implement a safety plan as soon as necessary to protect the safety of the child. The child protective investigator may modify the safety plan if he or she identifies additional impending danger.

a. If the child protective investigator implements a safety plan, the plan must be specific, sufficient, feasible, and sustainable in response to the realities of the present or impending danger. A safety plan may be an in-home plan or an out-of-home plan, or a combination of both. A safety plan may not rely solely on promissory commitments by the parent, caregiver, or legal custodian who is currently not able to protect the child or on services that are not available or will not result in the safety of the child. A safety plan may not be implemented if for any reason the parents, guardian, or legal custodian lacks the capacity or ability to comply with the plan. If the department is not able to develop a plan that is specific, sufficient, feasible, and sustainable, the department shall file a shelter petition. A child protective investigator shall implement separate safety plans for the perpetrator of domestic violence and the parent who is a victim of domestic violence as defined in s. 741.28. If the perpetrator of domestic violence is not the parent, guardian, or legal custodian of the child, the child protective investigator shall seek issuance of an injunction authorized by s. 39.504 to implement a safety plan for the perpetrator and impose any other conditions to protect the child. The safety plan for the parent who is a victim of domestic violence may not be shared with the perpetrator. If any party to a safety plan fails to comply with the safety plan resulting in the child being unsafe, the department shall file a shelter petition.

b. The child protective investigator shall collaborate with the community-based care lead agency in the development of the safety plan as necessary to ensure that the safety plan is specific, sufficient, feasible, and sustainable. The child protective investigator shall identify services necessary for the successful implementation of the safety plan. The child protective investigator and the community-based care lead agency shall mobilize service resources to assist all parties in complying with the safety plan. The community-based care lead agency shall prioritize safety plan services to families who have multiple risk factors, including, but not limited to, two or more of the following:

(I) The parent or legal custodian is of young age;

(II) The parent or legal custodian, or an adult currently living in or frequently visiting the home, has a history of substance abuse, mental illness, or domestic violence;

(III) The parent or legal custodian, or an adult currently living in or frequently visiting the home, has been previously found to have physically or sexually abused a child;

(IV) The parent or legal custodian or an adult currently living in or frequently visiting the home has been the subject of multiple allegations by reputable reports of abuse or neglect;

(V) The child is physically or developmentally disabled; or

(VI) The child is 3 years of age or younger.

c. The child protective investigator shall monitor the implementation of the plan to ensure the child's safety until the case is transferred to the lead agency at which time the lead agency shall monitor the implementation.

~~(b) Upon completion of the immediate safety assessment, the department shall determine the additional activities necessary to assess impending dangers, if any, and close the investigation.~~

(b) ~~(c)~~ For each report received from the central abuse hotline, the department or the sheriff providing child protective investigative services under s. 39.3065, shall determine the protective, treatment, and ameliorative services necessary to safeguard and ensure the child's safety and well-being and development, and cause the delivery of those services through the early intervention of the department or its agent. As applicable, child protective investigators must inform parents and caregivers how and when to use the injunction process under s. 741.30 to remove a perpetrator of domestic violence from the home as an intervention to protect the child.

1. If the department or the sheriff providing child protective investigative services determines that the interests of the child and the public will be best served by providing the child care or other treatment voluntarily accepted by the child and the parents or legal custodians, the parent or legal custodian and child may be referred for such care, case management, or other community resources.

2. If the department or the sheriff providing child protective investigative services determines that the child is in need of protection and supervision, the department may file a petition for dependency.

3. If a petition for dependency is not being filed by the department, the person or agency originating the report shall be advised of the right to file a petition pursuant to this part.

4. At the close of an investigation, the department or the sheriff providing child protective services shall provide to the person who is alleged to have caused the abuse, neglect, or abandonment and the parent or legal custodian a summary of findings from the investigation and provide information about their right to access confidential reports in accordance with s. 39.202.

(14)(a) If the department or its agent determines that a child requires immediate or long-term protection through~~:~~

~~1.~~ medical or other health care~~;~~ or

~~2.~~ homemaker care, day care, protective supervision, or other services to stabilize the home environment, including intensive family preservation services through the Intensive Crisis Counseling Program, such services shall first be offered for voluntary acceptance unless:

1. There are high-risk factors that may impact the ability of the parents or legal custodians to exercise judgment. Such factors may include the parents' or legal custodians' young age or history of substance abuse, mental illness, or domestic violence; or

2. There is a high likelihood of lack of compliance with voluntary services, and such noncompliance would result in the child being unsafe.

(b) The parents or legal custodians shall be informed of the right to refuse services, as well as the responsibility of the department to protect the child regardless of the acceptance or refusal of services. If the services are refused, a collateral contact shall include a relative, if the protective investigator has knowledge of and the ability to contact a relative. If the services are refused and the department deems that the child's need for protection ~~so~~ requires services, the department shall take the child into protective custody or petition the court as provided in this chapter. At any time after the commencement of a protective investigation, a relative may submit in writing to the protective investigator or case manager a request to receive notification of all proceedings and hearings in accordance with s. 39.502. The request shall include the relative's name, address, and phone number and the relative's relationship to the child. The protective investigator or case manager shall forward such request to the attorney for the department. The failure to provide notice to either a relative who requests it pursuant to this subsection or to a relative who is providing out-of-home care for a child may not result in any previous action of the court at any stage or proceeding in dependency or termination of parental rights under any part of this chapter being set aside, reversed, modified, or in any way changed absent a finding by the court that a change is required in the child's best interests.

(c) The department, in consultation with the judiciary, shall adopt by rule:

1. Criteria that are factors requiring that the department take the child into custody, petition the court as provided in this chapter, or, if the child is not taken into custody or a petition is not filed with the court, conduct an administrative review. Such factors must include, but are not limited to, noncompliance with a safety plan or the case plan developed by the department, and the family under this chapter, and prior abuse reports with findings that involve the child, the child's sibling, or the child's caregiver.

2. Requirements that if after an administrative review the department determines not to take the child into custody or petition the court, the department shall document the reason for its decision in writing and include it in the investigative file. For all cases that were accepted by the local law enforcement agency for criminal investigation pursuant to subsection (2), the department must include in the file written documentation that the administrative review included input from law enforcement. In addition, for all cases that must be referred to child protection teams pursuant to s. 39.303(2) and (3), the file must include written documentation that the administrative review included the results of the team's evaluation. ~~Factors that must be included in the development of the rule include noncompliance with the case plan developed by the department, or its agent, and the family under this chapter and prior abuse reports with findings that involve the child or~~

Section 9. Section 39.303, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

Such teams may be composed of appropriate representatives of school districts and appropriate health, mental health, social service, legal service, and law enforcement agencies. ~~The Legislature finds that optimal coordination of child protection teams and sexual abuse treatment programs requires collaboration between~~ The Department of Health and the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services. The two departments~~ shall maintain an interagency agreement that establishes protocols for oversight and operations of child protection teams and sexual abuse treatment programs. The State Surgeon General and the Deputy Secretary for Children's Medical Services, in consultation with the Secretary of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~, shall maintain the responsibility for the screening, employment, and, if necessary, the termination of child protection team medical directors, at headquarters and in the 15 districts. Child protection team medical directors shall be responsible for oversight of the teams in the districts.

(1) The Department of Health shall use ~~utilize~~ and convene the teams to supplement the assessment and protective supervision activities of the family safety and preservation program of the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~. ~~Nothing in~~ This section does not ~~shall be construed to~~ remove or reduce the duty and responsibility of any person to report pursuant to this chapter all suspected or actual cases of child abuse, abandonment, or neglect or sexual abuse of a child. The role of the teams shall be to support activities of the program and to provide services deemed by the teams to be necessary and appropriate to abused, abandoned, and neglected children upon referral. The specialized diagnostic assessment, evaluation, coordination, consultation, and other supportive services that a child protection team shall be capable of providing include, but are not limited to, the following:

(a) Medical diagnosis and evaluation services, including provision or interpretation of X rays and laboratory tests, and related services, as needed, and documentation of related findings ~~relative thereto~~.

(b) Telephone consultation services in emergencies and in other situations.

In every such child protection team case staffing, consultation, or staff activity involving a child, a family safety and preservation program representative shall attend and participate.

(g) Case service coordination and assistance, including the location of services available from other public and private agencies in the community.

All medical personnel participating on a child protection team must successfully complete the required child protection team training curriculum as set forth in protocols determined by the Deputy Secretary for Children's Medical Services and the Statewide Medical Director for Child Protection. A child protection team that is evaluating a report of medical neglect and assessing the health care needs of a medically complex child shall consult with a physician who has experience in treating children with the same condition.

(2) The child abuse, abandonment, and neglect reports that must be referred by the department to child protection teams of the Department of Health for an assessment and other appropriate available support services as set forth in subsection (1) must include cases involving:

emotional or other abuse, abandonment, or neglect is suspected.

(3) All abuse and neglect cases transmitted for investigation to a district by the hotline must be simultaneously transmitted to the Department of Health child protection team for review. For the purpose of determining whether face-to-face medical evaluation by a child protection team is necessary, all cases transmitted to the child protection team which meet the criteria in subsection (2) must be timely reviewed by:

(a) A physician licensed under chapter 458 or chapter 459 who holds board certification in pediatrics and is a member of a child protection team;

(b) A physician licensed under chapter 458 or chapter 459 who holds board certification in a specialty other than pediatrics, who may complete the review only when working under the direction of a physician licensed under chapter 458 or chapter 459 who holds board certification in pediatrics and is a member of a child protection team;

459 who holds certification in pediatrics and is a member of a child protection team.

(4) A face-to-face medical evaluation by a child protection team is not necessary when:

(b) The child protective investigator, with supervisory approval, has determined, after conducting a child safety assessment, that there are no indications of injuries as described in paragraphs (2)(a)-(h) as reported; or

(c) The child protection team board-certified pediatrician, as authorized in subsection (3), determines that a medical evaluation is not required.

Notwithstanding paragraphs (a), (b), and (c), a child protection team pediatrician, as authorized in subsection (3), may determine that a face-to-face medical evaluation is necessary.

(5) In all instances in which a child protection team is providing certain services to abused, abandoned, or neglected children, other offices and units of the Department of Health, and offices and units of the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~, shall avoid duplicating the provision of those services.

39.3068 Reports of medical neglect.—

(1) Upon receiving a report alleging medical neglect, the department or sheriff's office shall assign the case to a child protective investigator who has specialized training in addressing medical neglect or working with medically complex children, if such investigator is available. If a child protective investigator with specialized training is not available, the child protective investigator shall consult with department staff with such expertise.

(2) The child protective investigator who has interacted with the child and the child's family shall promptly contact and provide information to the child protection team. The child protection team shall assist the child protective investigator in identifying immediate responses to address the medical needs of the child with the priority of maintaining the child in the home if the parents will be able to meet the needs of the child with additional services. The child protective investigator and the child protection team must use a family-centered approach to assess the capacity of the family to meet those needs. A family-centered approach is intended to increase independence on the part of the family, accessibility to programs and services within the community, and collaboration between families and their service providers. The ethnic, cultural, economic, racial, social, and religious diversity of families must be respected and considered in the development and provision of services.

(3) The child shall be evaluated by the child protection team as soon as practicable. After receipt of the report from the child protection team, the department shall convene a case staffing which shall be attended, at a minimum, by the child protective investigator; department legal staff; and representatives from the child protection team that evaluated the child, Children's Medical Services, the Agency for Health Care Administration, the community-based care lead agency, and any providers of services to the child. However, the Agency for Health Care Administration is not required to attend the staffing if the child is not Medicaid-eligible. The staffing shall consider, at a minimum, available services, given the family's eligibility for services; services that are effective in addressing conditions leading to medical neglect allegations; and services that would enable the child to safely remain at home. Any services that are available and effective, shall be provided.

Section 11. Section 39.307, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.307 Reports of child-on-child sexual abuse.—

(1) Upon receiving a report alleging juvenile sexual abuse or inappropriate sexual behavior as defined in s. 39.01~~(7)~~, the department shall assist the family, child, and caregiver in receiving appropriate services to address the allegations of the report.

(a) The department shall ensure that information describing the child's history of child sexual abuse is included in the child's electronic record. This record must also include information describing the services the child has received as a result of his or her involvement with child sexual abuse.

(b) Placement decisions for a child who has been involved with child sexual abuse must include consideration of the needs of the child and any other children in the placement.

(c) The department shall monitor the occurrence of child sexual abuse and the provision of services to children involved in child sexual abuse, juvenile sexual abuse, or who have displayed inappropriate sexual behavior.

(2) The department, contracted sheriff's office providing protective investigation services, or contracted case management personnel responsible for providing services, at a minimum, shall adhere to the following procedures:

(a) The purpose of the response to a report alleging juvenile sexual abuse behavior or inappropriate sexual behavior shall be explained to the caregiver.

1. The purpose of the response shall be explained in a manner consistent with legislative purpose and intent provided in this chapter.

2. The name and office telephone number of the person responding shall be provided to the caregiver of the alleged abuser ~~juvenile sexual offender~~ or child who has exhibited inappropriate sexual behavior and the victim's caregiver.

(c) The assessment of risk and the perceived treatment needs of the alleged abuser ~~juvenile sexual offender~~ or child who has exhibited inappropriate sexual behavior, the victim, and respective caregivers shall be conducted by the district staff, the child protection team of the Department of Health, and other providers under contract with the department to provide services to the caregiver of the alleged offender, the victim, and the victim's caregiver.

(d) The assessment shall be conducted in a manner that is sensitive to the social, economic, and cultural environment of the family.

(e) If necessary, the child protection team of the Department of Health shall conduct a physical examination of the victim, which is sufficient to meet forensic requirements.

(f) Based on the information obtained from the alleged abuser ~~juvenile sexual offender~~ or child who has exhibited inappropriate sexual behavior, his or her caregiver, the victim, and the victim's caregiver, an assessment of service and treatment needs must be completed and, if needed, a case plan developed within 30 days.

(g) The department shall classify the outcome of the report as follows:

1. Report closed. Services were not offered because the department determined that there was no basis for intervention.

2. Services accepted by alleged abuser ~~juvenile sexual offender~~. Services were offered to the alleged abuser ~~juvenile sexual offender~~ or child who has exhibited inappropriate sexual behavior and accepted by the caregiver.

3. Report closed. Services were offered to the alleged abuser ~~juvenile sexual offender~~ or child who has exhibited inappropriate sexual behavior, but were rejected by the caregiver.

4. Notification to law enforcement. The risk to the victim's safety and well-being cannot be reduced by the provision of services or the caregiver rejected services, and notification of the alleged delinquent act or violation of law to the appropriate law enforcement agency was initiated.

5. Services accepted by victim. Services were offered to the victim and accepted by the caregiver.

6. Report closed. Services were offered to the victim but were rejected by the caregiver.

(3) If services have been accepted by the alleged abuser ~~juvenile sexual offender~~ or child who has exhibited inappropriate sexual behavior, the victim, and respective caregivers, the department shall designate a case manager and develop a specific case plan.

(a) Upon receipt of the plan, the caregiver shall indicate its acceptance of the plan in writing.

(b) The case manager shall periodically review the progress toward achieving the objectives of the plan in order to:

39.402 Placement in a shelter.—

(8)

(h) The order for placement of a child in shelter care must identify the parties present at the hearing and must contain written findings:

1. That placement in shelter care is necessary based on the criteria in subsections (1) and (2).

2. That placement in shelter care is in the best interest of the child.

3. That continuation of the child in the home is contrary to the welfare of the child because the home situation presents a substantial and immediate danger to the child's physical, mental, or emotional health or safety which cannot be mitigated by the provision of preventive services.

4. That based upon the allegations of the petition for placement in shelter care, there is probable cause to believe that the child is dependent or that the court needs additional time, which may not exceed 72 hours, in which to obtain and review documents pertaining to the family in order to appropriately determine the risk to the child.

5. That the department has made reasonable efforts to prevent or eliminate the need for removal of the child from the home. A finding of reasonable effort by the department to prevent or eliminate the need for removal may be made and the department is deemed to have made reasonable efforts to prevent or eliminate the need for removal if:

a. The first contact of the department with the family occurs during an emergency;

b. The appraisal of the home situation by the department indicates that the home situation presents a substantial and immediate danger to the child's physical, mental, or emotional health or safety which cannot be mitigated by the provision of preventive services;

c. The child cannot safely remain at home, either because there are no preventive services that can ensure the health and safety of the child or because, even with appropriate and available services being provided, the health and safety of the child cannot be ensured; or

d. The parent or legal custodian is alleged to have committed any of the acts listed as grounds for expedited termination of parental rights in s. 39.806(1)(f)-(i).

6. That the department has made reasonable efforts to keep siblings together if they are removed and placed in out-of-home care unless such placement is not in the best interest of each child. Reasonable efforts shall include short-term placement in a group home with the ability to accommodate sibling groups if such a placement is available. The department shall report to the court its efforts to place siblings together unless the court finds that such placement is not in the best interest of a child or his or her sibling.

7.~~6.~~ That the court notified the parents, relatives that are providing out-of-home care for the child, or legal custodians of the time, date, and location of the next dependency hearing and of the importance of the active participation of the parents, relatives that are providing out-of-home care for the child, or legal custodians in all proceedings and hearings.

8.~~7.~~ That the court notified the parents or legal custodians of their right to counsel to represent them at the shelter hearing and at each subsequent hearing or proceeding, and the right of the parents to appointed counsel, pursuant to the procedures set forth in s. 39.013.

9.~~8.~~ That the court notified relatives who are providing out-of-home care for a child as a result of the shelter petition being granted that they have the right to attend all subsequent hearings, to submit reports to the court, and to speak to the court regarding the child, if they so desire.

(9)(a) At any shelter hearing, the department shall provide to the court a recommendation for scheduled contact between the child and parents, if appropriate. The court shall determine visitation rights absent a clear and convincing showing that visitation is not in the best interest of the child. Any order for visitation or other contact must conform to ~~the provisions of~~ s. 39.0139. If visitation is ordered but will not commence within 72 hours of the shelter hearing, the department shall provide justification to the court.

(b) If siblings who are removed from the home cannot be placed together, the department shall provide to the court a recommendation for frequent visitation or other ongoing interaction between the siblings unless this interaction would be contrary to a sibling's safety or well-being. If visitation among siblings is ordered but will not commence within 72 hours after the shelter hearing, the department shall provide justification to the court for the delay.

Section 13. Paragraph (d) of subsection (3) of section 39.501, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

3. A parent or legal custodian has rejected the voluntary services offered by the department;

4. A parent or legal custodian named in the petition has not fully complied with a safety plan; or

5.~~4.~~ The department has determined that voluntary services are not appropriate for the parent or legal custodian and the reasons for such determination.

If the department is the petitioner, it shall provide all safety assessments and safety plans involving the parent or legal custodian to the court.

Section 14. Paragraph (a) of subsection (4) of section 39.504, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.504 Injunction pending disposition of petition; penalty.—

primary purpose of the injunction must be to protect and promote the best interests of the child, taking the preservation of the child's immediate family into consideration.

(a) The injunction applies to the alleged or actual offender in a case of child abuse or acts of domestic violence. The conditions of the injunction shall be determined by the court, which may include ordering the alleged or actual offender to:

1. Refrain from further abuse or acts of domestic violence.

2. Participate in a specialized treatment program.

3. Limit contact or communication with the child victim, other children in the home, or any other child.

4. Refrain from contacting the child at home, school, work, or wherever the child may be found.

5. Have limited or supervised visitation with the child.

6. Vacate the home in which the child resides.

7. Comply with the terms of a safety plan implemented in the injunction pursuant to s. 39.301.

Section 15. Section 39.5085, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.5085 Relative Caregiver Program.—

(1) It is the intent of the Legislature in enacting this section to:

(a) Provide for the establishment of procedures and protocols that serve to advance the continued safety of children by acknowledging the valued resource uniquely available through grandparents, ~~and~~ relatives of children, and specified nonrelatives of children pursuant to subparagraph (2)(a)3.

(b) Recognize family relationships in which a grandparent or other relative is the head of a household that includes a child otherwise at risk of foster care placement.

(c) Enhance family preservation and stability by recognizing that most children in such placements with grandparents and other relatives do not need intensive supervision of the placement by the courts or by the department.

(d) Recognize that permanency in the best interests of the child can be achieved through a variety of permanency options, including permanent guardianship under s. 39.6221 if the guardian is a relative, by permanent placement with a fit and willing relative under s. 39.6231, by a relative, guardianship under chapter 744, or adoption, by providing additional placement options and incentives that will achieve permanency and stability for many children who are otherwise at risk of foster care placement because of abuse, abandonment, or neglect, but who may successfully be able to be placed by the dependency court in the care of such relatives.

(e) Reserve the limited casework and supervisory resources of the courts and the department for those cases in which children do not have the option for safe, stable care within the family.

(f) Recognize that a child may have a close relationship with a person who is not a blood relative or a relative by marriage and that such person should be eligible for financial assistance under this section if he or she is able and willing to care for the child and provide a safe, stable home environment.

(2)(a) The Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ shall establish and operate the Relative Caregiver

Program pursuant to eligibility guidelines established in this section as further implemented by rule of the department. The Relative Caregiver Program shall, within the limits of available funding, provide financial assistance to:

1. Relatives who are within the fifth degree by blood or marriage to the parent or stepparent of a child and who are caring full-time for that dependent child in the role of substitute parent as a result of a court's determination of child abuse, neglect, or abandonment and subsequent placement with the relative under this chapter.

2. Relatives who are within the fifth degree by blood or marriage to the parent or stepparent of a child and who are caring full-time for that dependent child, and a dependent half-brother or half-sister of that dependent child, in the role of substitute parent as a result of a court's determination of child abuse, neglect, or abandonment and subsequent placement with the relative under this chapter.

3. Nonrelatives who are willing to assume custody and care of a dependent child and a dependent half-brother or half-sister of that dependent child in the role of substitute parent as a result of a court's determination of child abuse, neglect, or abandonment and subsequent placement with the nonrelative caregiver under this chapter. The court must find that a proposed placement under this subparagraph is in the best interest of the child.

The placement may be court-ordered temporary legal custody to the relative or nonrelative under protective supervision of the department pursuant to s. 39.521(1)(b)3., or court-ordered placement in the home of a relative or nonrelative as a permanency option under s. 39.6221 or s. 39.6231 or under former s. 39.622 if the placement was made before July 1, 2006. The Relative Caregiver Program shall offer financial assistance to caregivers ~~who are relatives and~~ who would be unable to serve in that capacity without the ~~relative~~ caregiver payment because of financial burden, thus exposing the child to the trauma of placement in a shelter or in foster care.

(b) Caregivers ~~who are relatives and~~ who receive assistance under this section must be capable, as determined by a home study, of providing a physically safe environment and a stable, supportive home for the children under their care~~,~~ and must assure that the children's well-being is met, including, but not limited to, the provision of immunizations, education, and mental health services as needed.

(c) Relatives or nonrelatives who qualify for and participate in the Relative Caregiver Program are not required to meet foster care licensing requirements under s. 409.175.

(d) Relatives or nonrelatives who are caring for children placed with them by the court pursuant to this chapter shall receive a special monthly ~~relative~~ caregiver benefit established by rule of the department. The amount of the special benefit payment shall be based on the child's age within a payment schedule established by rule of the department and subject to availability of funding. The statewide average monthly rate for children judicially placed with relatives or nonrelatives who are not licensed as foster homes may not exceed 82 percent of the statewide average foster care rate, and ~~nor may~~ the cost of providing the assistance described in this section to any

~~relative~~ caregiver may not exceed the cost of providing out-of-home care in emergency shelter or foster care.

(e) Children receiving cash benefits under this section are not eligible to simultaneously receive WAGES cash benefits under chapter 414.

(f) Within available funding, the Relative Caregiver Program shall provide ~~relative~~ caregivers with family support and preservation services, flexible funds in accordance with s. 409.165, school readiness, and other available services in order to support the child's safety, growth, and healthy development. Children living with ~~relative~~ caregivers who are receiving assistance under this section shall be eligible for Medicaid coverage.

(g) The department may use appropriate available state, federal, and private funds to operate the Relative Caregiver Program. The department may develop liaison functions to be available to relatives or nonrelatives who care for children pursuant to this chapter to ensure placement stability in extended family settings.

Section 16. Subsections (3) and (4) of section 39.604, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

(b)1. If a child covered by this section is absent from the program on a day when he or she is supposed to be present, the person with whom the child resides must report the absence to the program by the end of the business day. If the person with

The program shall report any unexcused absence or seven consecutive excused absences of a child who is enrolled in the program and covered by this act to the local designated staff of the Family Safety Program Office of the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ or the community-based lead agency by the end of the business day following the unexcused absence or seventh consecutive excused absence.

2. The department or community-based lead agency shall conduct a site visit to the residence of the child upon receiving a report of two consecutive unexcused absences or seven consecutive excused absences.

3. If the site visit results in a determination that the child is missing, the department or community-based lead agency shall report the child as missing to a law enforcement agency and proceed with the necessary actions to locate the child pursuant to procedures for locating missing children.

4. If the site visit results in a determination that the child is not missing, the parent or caregiver shall be notified that failure to ensure that the child attends the licensed early education or child care program is a violation of the safety plan or the case plan. If more than two site visits are conducted pursuant to this subsection, staff shall initiate action to notify the court of the parent or caregiver's noncompliance with the case plan.

Section 17. Paragraph (c) of subsection (2) and paragraph (a) of subsection (3) of section 39.701, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

(d) Developing information presented by investigators and case managers to support decisionmaking in the best interest of children; and

(e) The experiences and techniques of case managers and investigators, including shadowing an experienced child protective investigator and an experienced case manager for at

All payments are contingent upon continued proof of employment and shall be made directly to the holder of the loan.

(5) A student who receives a tuition exemption pursuant to s. 402.403 is not eligible to participate in the Child Protective Investigator and Supervisor Student Loan Forgiveness Program.

(6) The department shall prioritize funds appropriated for this purpose to regions with high average caseloads and low workforce retention rates.

Section 25. Section 409.165, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

(2) Funds appropriated for the alternate care of children as described in this section may be used to meet the needs of children in their own homes or those of relatives if the children can be safely served in such settings ~~their own homes, or the homes of relatives,~~ and the expenditure of funds in such manner is equal to or less than the cost of out-of-home placement ~~calculated by the department to be an eventual cost savings over placement of children~~.

(3) ~~(2)~~ The department shall ~~may~~ cooperate with all child service institutions or agencies within the state which meet the department's standards in order to maintain a comprehensive, coordinated, and inclusive system for promoting and protecting the well-being of children, consistent with the goals established in s. 409.986 ~~rules for proper care and supervision prescribed by the department for the well-being of children~~.

another home, or the home of the child. Expenditure of funds appropriated for out-of-home care can be used to meet the needs of a child in the child's own home or the home of a relative if the child can be safely served in the child's own home or that of a relative if placement can be avoided by the expenditure of such funds, and if the expenditure of such funds in this manner is equal to or less than the cost of out-of-home placement ~~calculated by the department to be a potential cost savings~~.

Section 26. Paragraph (c) of subsection (2) of section 409.967, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

409.967 Managed care plan accountability.—

(2) The agency shall establish such contract requirements as are necessary for the operation of the statewide managed care program. In addition to any other provisions the agency may deem necessary, the contract must require:

(c) Access.—

1. The agency shall establish specific standards for the number, type, and regional distribution of providers in managed care plan networks to ensure access to care for both adults and children. Each plan must maintain a regionwide network of providers in sufficient numbers to meet the access standards for specific medical services for all recipients enrolled in the plan. The exclusive use of mail-order pharmacies may not be sufficient to meet network access standards. Consistent with the standards established by the agency, provider networks may include providers located outside the region. A plan may contract with a new hospital facility before the date the hospital becomes operational if the hospital has commenced construction, will be licensed and operational by January 1,

2013, and a final order has issued in any civil or administrative challenge. Each plan shall establish and maintain an accurate and complete electronic database of contracted providers, including information about licensure or registration, locations and hours of operation, specialty credentials and other certifications, specific performance indicators, and such other information as the agency deems necessary. The database must be available online to both the agency and the public and have the capability to compare the availability of providers to network adequacy standards and to accept and display feedback from each provider's patients. Each plan shall submit quarterly reports to the agency identifying the number of enrollees assigned to each primary care provider.

2. Each managed care plan must publish any prescribed drug formulary or preferred drug list on the plan's website in a manner that is accessible to and searchable by enrollees and providers. The plan must update the list within 24 hours after making a change. Each plan must ensure that the prior authorization process for prescribed drugs is readily accessible to health care providers, including posting appropriate contact information on its website and providing timely responses to providers. For Medicaid recipients diagnosed with hemophilia who have been prescribed anti-hemophilic-factor replacement products, the agency shall provide for those products and hemophilia overlay services through the agency's hemophilia disease management program.

3. Managed care plans, and their fiscal agents or intermediaries, must accept prior authorization requests for any service electronically.

4. Managed care plans serving children in the care and custody of the Department of Children and Families must maintain complete medical, dental, and behavioral health information and provide such information to the department for inclusion in the state's child welfare data system. Using such documentation, the agency and the department shall determine the plan's compliance with standards for access to medical, dental, and behavioral health services; the use of psychotropic medications; and followup on all medically necessary services recommended as a result of early and periodic screening, diagnosis, and treatment.

Section 27. Paragraph (f) is added to subsection (2) of section 409.972, Florida Statutes, to read:

409.972 Mandatory and voluntary enrollment.—

(2) The following Medicaid-eligible persons are exempt from mandatory managed care enrollment required by s. 409.965, and may voluntarily choose to participate in the managed medical assistance program:

(f) Medicaid recipients residing in a group home facility licensed under chapter 393.

Section 28. The Division of Law Revision and Information is directed to create part V of chapter 409, Florida Statutes, consisting of ss. 409.986-409.998, to be entitled "Community-based child welfare."

Section 29. Section 409.986, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

409.986 Legislative findings and intent; child protection and child welfare outcomes; definitions.—

(1) LEGISLATIVE FINDINGS AND INTENT.—

(a) It is the intent of the Legislature that the Department of Children and Families provide child protection and child welfare services to children through contracting with community-based care lead agencies. It is the further intent of the Legislature that communities have responsibility for and participate in ensuring safety, permanence, and well-being for all children in the state.

(b) The Legislature finds that when private entities assume responsibility for the care of children in the child protection and child welfare system, comprehensive oversight of the programmatic, administrative, and fiscal operation of those entities is essential. The Legislature further finds that the appropriate care of children is ultimately the responsibility of the state and that outsourcing such care does not relieve the state of its responsibility to ensure that appropriate care is provided.

(2) CHILD PROTECTION AND CHILD WELFARE OUTCOMES.—It is the goal of the department to protect the best interest of children by achieving the following outcomes in conjunction with the community-based care lead agency, community-based subcontractors, and the community alliance:

(a) Children are first and foremost protected from abuse and neglect.

(b) Children are safely maintained in their homes, if possible and appropriate.

(c) Services are provided to protect children and prevent their removal from their home.

(d) Children have permanency and stability in their living arrangements.

(e) Family relationships and connections are preserved for children.

(f) Families have enhanced capacity to provide for their children's needs.

(g) Children receive appropriate services to meet their educational needs.

(h) Children receive adequate services to meet their physical and mental health needs.

(i) Children develop the capacity for independent living and competence as an adult.

(3) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this part, except as otherwise provided, the term:

(a) "Care" means services of any kind which are designed to facilitate a child remaining safely in his or her own home, returning safely to his or her own home if he or she is removed from the home, or obtaining an alternative permanent home if he or she cannot remain at home or be returned home. The term includes, but is not be limited to, prevention, diversion, and related services.

(b) "Child" or "children" has the same meaning as provided in s. 39.01.

(c) "Community alliance" or "alliance" means the group of stakeholders, community leaders, client representatives, and funders of human services established pursuant to s. 20.19(5) to provide a focal point for community participation and oversight of community-based services.

(d) "Community-based care lead agency" or "lead agency" means a single entity with which the department has a contract for the provision of care for children in the child protection and child welfare system in a community that is no smaller than a county and no larger than two contiguous judicial circuits. The secretary of the department may authorize more than one eligible lead agency within a single county if doing so will result in more effective delivery of services to children.

(e) "Related services" includes, but is not limited to, family preservation, independent living, emergency shelter, residential group care, foster care, therapeutic foster care, intensive residential treatment, foster care supervision, case management, coordination of mental health services, postplacement supervision, permanent foster care, and family reunification.

Section 30. Section 409.987, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

409.987 Lead agency procurement.—

(1) Community-based care lead agencies shall be procured by the department through a competitive process as required under chapter 287.

(2) The department shall produce a schedule for the procurement of community-based care lead agencies and provide the schedule to the community alliances established pursuant to s. 409.998 and post the schedule on the department's website.

(3) Notwithstanding s. 287.057, the department shall use 5-year contracts with lead agencies.

(4) In order to serve as a lead agency, an entity must:

(a) Be organized as a Florida corporation or a governmental entity.

(b) Be governed by a board of directors or a board committee composed of board members. The membership of the board of directors or board committee must be described in the bylaws or articles of incorporation of each lead agency, which must provide that at least 75 percent of the membership of the board of directors or board committee must consist of persons residing in this state, and at least 51 percent of the state residents on the board of directors must reside within the service area of the lead agency. However, for procurements of lead agency contracts initiated on or after July 1, 2014:

1. At least 75 percent of the membership of the board of directors must consist of persons residing in this state, and at least 51 percent of the membership of the board of directors must consist of persons residing within the service area of the lead agency. If a board committee governs the lead agency, 100 percent of its membership must consist of persons residing within the service area of the lead agency.

2. The powers of the board of directors or board committee include, are not limited to, approving the lead agency's budget and setting the lead agency's operational policy and procedures. A board of directors must additionally have the power to hire the lead agency's executive director, unless a board committee governs the lead agency, in which case the board committee must have the power to confirm the selection of the lead agency's executive director.

(c) Demonstrate financial responsibility through an organized plan for regular fiscal audits and the posting of a performance bond.

(5) The department's procurement team procuring any lead agencies' contracts must include individuals from the community alliance in the area to be served under the contract. All meetings at which vendors make presentations to or negotiate with the procurement team shall be held in the area to be served by the contract.

(6) Upon award and execution of a contract between the department and a lead agency, the parties shall enter into a letter of engagement that the department will provide legal representation to the lead agency or its subcontractors for the preparation and presentation of dependency court proceedings. The department may not charge the lead agency for such legal representation.

Section 31. Section 409.988, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

409.988 Lead agency duties; general provisions.—

(1) DUTIES.—A lead agency:

(a) Shall serve all children referred as a result of a report of abuse, neglect, or abandonment to the department's central abuse hotline, including, but not limited to, children who are the subject of verified reports and children who are not the subject of verified reports but who are at moderate to extremely high risk of abuse, neglect, or abandonment, as determined using the department's risk assessment instrument, regardless of the level of funding allocated to the lead agency by the state if all related funding is transferred. The lead agency may also serve children who have not been the subject of reports of abuse, neglect, or abandonment, but who are at risk of abuse, neglect, or abandonment, to prevent their entry into the child protection and child welfare system.

(b) Shall provide accurate and timely information necessary for oversight by the department pursuant to the child welfare results-oriented accountability system required by s. 409.997.

(c) Shall follow the financial guidelines developed by the department and provide for a regular independent auditing of its financial activities. Such financial information shall be provided to the community alliance established under s. 409.998.

(d) Shall post on its website the current budget for the lead agency, including the salaries, bonuses, and other compensation paid, by position, for the agency's chief executive officer, chief financial officer, chief operating officer, or their equivalents.

(e) Shall prepare all judicial reviews, case plans, and other reports necessary for court hearings for dependent children, except those related to the investigation of a referral from the department's child abuse hotline, and shall submit these documents timely to the department's attorneys for review, any necessary revision, and filing with the court. The lead agency shall make the necessary staff available to department attorneys for preparation for dependency proceedings, and shall provide testimony and other evidence required for dependency court proceedings in coordination with the department's attorneys. This duty does not include the preparation of legal pleadings or other legal documents, which remain the responsibility of the department.

(f) Shall ensure that all individuals providing care for dependent children receive appropriate training and meet the minimum employment standards established by the department.

(g) Shall maintain eligibility to receive all available federal child welfare funds.

(h) Shall maintain written agreements with Healthy Families

Florida lead entities in its service area pursuant to s. 409.153 to promote cooperative planning for the provision of prevention and intervention services.

(i) Shall comply with federal and state statutory requirements and agency rules in the provision of contractual services.

(j) May subcontract for the provision of services required by the contract with the lead agency and the department; however, the subcontracts must specify how the provider will contribute to the lead agency meeting the performance standards established pursuant to the child welfare results-oriented accountability system required by s. 409.997. The lead agency shall directly provide no more than 35 percent of all child welfare services provided.

(k) Shall post on its website by the 15th day of each month at a minimum the information contained in subparagraphs 1.-4. for the preceding calendar month regarding its case management services. The following information shall be reported by each individual subcontracted case management provider, by the lead agency, if the lead agency provides case management services, and in total for all case management services subcontracted or directly provided by the lead agency:

1. The average caseload of case managers, including only filled positions;

2. The turnover rate for case managers and case management supervisors for the previous 12 months;

3. The percentage of required home visits completed; and

4. Performance on outcome measures required pursuant to s. 409.997 for the previous 12 months.

(2) LICENSURE.—

(a) A lead agency must be licensed as a child-caring or child-placing agency by the department under this chapter.

(b) Each foster home, therapeutic foster home, emergency shelter, or other placement facility operated by the lead agency must be licensed by the department under chapter 402 or this chapter.

(c) Substitute care providers who are licensed under s. 409.175 and who have contracted with a lead agency are also authorized to provide registered or licensed family day care under s. 402.313 if such care is consistent with federal law and if the home has met the requirements of s. 402.313.

(d) In order to eliminate or reduce the number of duplicate inspections by various program offices, the department shall coordinate inspections required for licensure of agencies under this subsection.

(e) The department may adopt rules to administer this subsection.

(3) SERVICES.—A lead agency must serve dependent children through services that are supported by research or are best child welfare practices. The agency may also provide innovative services, including, but not limited to, family-centered, cognitive-behavioral, trauma-informed interventions designed to mitigate out-of-home placements.

(4) LEAD AGENCY ACTING AS GUARDIAN.—

(a) If a lead agency or other provider has accepted case management responsibilities for a child who is sheltered or found to be dependent and who is assigned to the care of the lead agency or other provider, the agency or provider may act as the child's guardian for the purpose of registering the child in school if a parent or guardian of the child is unavailable and his or her whereabouts cannot reasonably be ascertained.

(b) The lead agency or other provider may also seek emergency medical attention for the child, but only if a parent or guardian of the child is unavailable, the parent or guardian's whereabouts cannot reasonably be ascertained, and a court order for such emergency medical services cannot be obtained because of the severity of the emergency or because it is after normal working hours.

(c) A lead agency or other provider may not consent to sterilization, abortion, or termination of life support.

(d) If a child's parents' rights have been terminated, the lead agency shall act as guardian of the child in all circumstances.

Section 32. Section 409.990, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

409.990 Funding for lead agencies.—A contract established between the department and a lead agency must be funded by a grant of general revenue, other applicable state funds, or applicable federal funding sources.

(1) The method of payment for a fixed-price contract with a lead agency must provide for a 2-month advance payment at the beginning of each fiscal year and equal monthly payments thereafter.

(2) Notwithstanding s. 215.425, all documented federal funds earned for the current fiscal year by the department and lead agencies which exceed the amount appropriated by the Legislature shall be distributed to all entities that contributed to the excess earnings based on a schedule and methodology developed by the department and approved by the Executive Office of the Governor.

(a) Distribution shall be pro rata, based on total earnings, and shall be made only to those entities that contributed to excess earnings.

(b) Excess earnings of lead agencies shall be used only in the service district in which they were earned.

(c) Additional state funds appropriated by the Legislature for lead agencies or made available pursuant to the budgetary amendment process described in s. 216.177 shall be transferred to the lead agencies.

(d) The department shall amend a lead agency's contract to permit expenditure of the funds.

(3) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, the amount of the annual contract for a lead agency may be increased by excess federal funds earned in accordance with s. 216.181(11).

(4) Each contract with a lead agency shall provide for the payment by the department to the lead agency of a reasonable administrative cost in addition to funding for the provision of services.

(5) A lead agency may carry forward documented unexpended state funds from one fiscal year to the next; however, the cumulative amount carried forward may not exceed 8 percent of the total contract. Any unexpended state funds in excess of that percentage must be returned to the department.

(a) The funds carried forward may not be used in any way that would create increased recurring future obligations, and such funds may not be used for any type of program or service that is not currently authorized by the existing contract with the department.

(b) Expenditures of funds carried forward must be separately reported to the department.

(c) Any unexpended funds that remain at the end of the contract period shall be returned to the department.

(d) Funds carried forward may be retained through any contract renewals and any new procurements as long as the same lead agency is retained by the department.

(6) It is the intent of the Legislature to improve services and local participation in community-based care initiatives by fostering community support and providing enhanced prevention and in-home services, thereby reducing the risk otherwise faced by lead agencies. A community partnership matching grant program is established and shall be operated by the department to encourage local participation in community-based care for children in the child welfare system. A children's services council or another local entity that makes a financial commitment to a community-based care lead agency may be eligible for a matching grant. The total amount of the local contribution may be matched on a one-to-one basis up to a maximum annual amount of $500,000 per lead agency. Awarded matching grant funds may be used for any prevention or in-home services that can be reasonably expected to reduce the number of children entering the child welfare system. Funding available for the matching grant program is subject to legislative appropriation of nonrecurring funds provided for this purpose.

(7)(a) The department, in consultation with the Florida

Coalition for Children, Inc., shall develop and implement a community-based care risk pool initiative to mitigate the financial risk to eligible lead agencies. This initiative must include:

1. A risk pool application and protocol developed by the department which outlines submission criteria, including, but not limited to, financial and program management, descriptive data requirements, and timeframes for submission of applications. Requests for funding from risk pool applicants must be based on relevant and verifiable service trends and changes that have occurred during the current fiscal year. The application must confirm that expenditure of approved risk pool funds by the lead agency will be completed within the current fiscal year.

2. A risk pool peer review committee, appointed by the secretary and consisting of department staff and representatives from at least three nonapplicant lead agencies, which reviews and assesses all risk pool applications. Upon completion of each application review, the peer review committee shall report its findings and recommendations to the secretary, providing, at a minimum, the following information:

a. Justification for the specific funding amount required by the risk pool applicant based on the current year's service trend data, including validation that the applicant's financial need was caused by circumstances beyond the control of the lead agency management;

b. Verification that the proposed use of risk pool funds meets at least one of the purposes specified in paragraph (c); and

c. Evidence of technical assistance provided in an effort to avoid the need to access the risk pool and recommendations for technical assistance to the lead agency to ensure that risk pool funds are expended effectively and that the agency's need for future risk pool funding is diminished.

(b) Upon approval by the secretary of a risk pool application, the department may request funds from the risk pool in accordance with s. 216.181(6)(a).

(c) The purposes for which the community-based care risk pool shall be used include:

1. Significant changes in the number or composition of clients eligible to receive services.

2. Significant changes in the services that are eligible for reimbursement.

3. Continuity of care in the event of failure, discontinuance of service, or financial misconduct by a lead agency.

4. Significant changes in the mix of available funds.

(d) The department may also request in its annual legislative budget request, and the Governor may recommend, that the funding necessary to effect paragraph (c) be appropriated to the department. In addition, the department may request the allocation of funds from the community-based care risk pool in accordance with s. 216.181(6)(a). Funds from the pool may be used to match available federal dollars.

1. Such funds shall constitute partial security for contract performance by lead agencies and shall be used to offset the need for a performance bond.

2. The department may separately require a bond to mitigate the financial consequences of potential acts of malfeasance or misfeasance or criminal violations by the service provider.

Section 33. Section 409.16713, Florida Statutes, is transferred, renumbered as section 409.991, Florida Statutes, and paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of that section is amended to read:

409.991 ~~409.16713~~ Allocation of funds for community-based care lead agencies.—

(1) As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Core services funding" means all funds allocated to community-based care lead agencies operating under contract with the department pursuant to s. 409.987 ~~s. 409.1671~~, with the following exceptions:

1. Funds appropriated for independent living;

2. Funds appropriated for maintenance adoption subsidies;

3. Funds allocated by the department for protective investigations training;

4. Nonrecurring funds;

5. Designated mental health wrap-around services funds; and

6. Funds for special projects for a designated community-based care lead agency.

Section 34. Section 409.992, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

409.992 Lead agency expenditures.—

(1) The procurement of commodities or contractual services by lead agencies shall be governed by the financial guidelines developed by the department and must comply with applicable state and federal law and follow good business practices. Pursuant to s. 11.45, the Auditor General may provide technical advice in the development of the financial guidelines.

616958

(2) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, a community-based care lead agency may make expenditures for staff cellular telephone allowances, contracts requiring deferred payments and maintenance agreements, security deposits for office leases, related agency professional membership dues other than personal professional membership dues, promotional materials, and grant writing services. Expenditures for food and refreshments, other than those provided to clients in the care of the agency or to foster parents, adoptive parents, and caseworkers during training sessions, are not allowable.

(3) A lead community-based care agency and its subcontractors are exempt from state travel policies as provided in s. 112.061(3)(a) for their travel expenses incurred in order to comply with the requirements of this section.

Section 35. Section 409.993, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

409.993 Lead agencies and subcontractor liability.—

(1) FINDINGS.—

(a) The Legislature finds that the state has traditionally provided foster care services to children who are the responsibility of the state. As such, foster children have not had the right to recover for injuries beyond the limitations specified in s. 768.28. The Legislature has determined that foster care and related services should be outsourced pursuant to this section and that the provision of such services is of paramount importance to the state. The purpose of such outsourcing is to increase the level of safety, security, and stability of children who are or become the responsibility of the state. One of the components necessary to secure a safe and stable environment for such children is the requirement that private providers maintain liability insurance. As such, insurance needs to be available and remain available to nongovernmental foster care and related services providers without the resources of such providers being significantly reduced by the cost of maintaining such insurance.

(b) The Legislature further finds that, by requiring the following minimum levels of insurance, children in outsourced foster care and related services will gain increased protection and rights of recovery in the event of injury than currently provided in s. 768.28.

(2) LEAD AGENCY LIABILITY.—

specified in this paragraph. Any offset of collateral source payments made as of the date of the settlement or judgment shall be in accordance with s. 768.76. The community-based care lead agency is not liable in tort for the acts or omissions of its subcontractors or the officers, agents, or employees of its subcontractors.

(b) The liability of an eligible community-based care lead agency described in this section shall be exclusive and in place of all other liability of such lead agency. The same immunities from liability enjoyed by such lead agencies shall extend to each employee of the lead agency if he or she is acting in furtherance of the lead agency's business, including the transportation of clients served, as described in this subsection, in privately owned vehicles. Such immunities are not applicable to a lead agency or an employee who acts in a culpably negligent manner or with willful and wanton disregard or unprovoked physical aggression if such acts result in injury or death or such acts proximately cause such injury or death. Such immunities are not applicable to employees of the same lead agency when each is operating in the furtherance of the agency's business, but they are assigned primarily to unrelated work within private or public employment. The same immunity provisions enjoyed by a lead agency also apply to any sole proprietor, partner, corporate officer or director, supervisor, or other person who, in the course and scope of his or her duties, acts in a managerial or policymaking capacity and the conduct that caused the alleged injury arose within the course and scope of those managerial or policymaking duties. As used in this subsection and subsection (3), the term "culpably negligent manner" means reckless indifference or grossly careless disregard of human life.

(3) SUBCONTRACTOR LIABILITY.—

(a) A subcontractor of an eligible community-based care lead agency that is a direct provider of foster care and related services to children and families, and its employees or officers, except as otherwise provided in paragraph (b), must, as a part of its contract, obtain general liability insurance coverage sufficient to pay any successful tort action up to the liability caps established in this subsection. In a tort action brought against such subcontractor or employee, net economic damages shall be limited to $2 million per liability claim and $200,000 per automobile claim, including, but not limited to, past and future medical expenses, wage loss, and loss of earning capacity, offset by any collateral source payment paid or payable. In a tort action brought against such subcontractor, noneconomic damages shall be limited to $400,000 per claim. A claims bill may be brought on behalf of a claimant pursuant to s. 768.28 for any amount exceeding the limits specified in this paragraph. Any offset of collateral source payments made as of the date of the settlement or judgment shall be in accordance with s. 768.76.

(b) The liability of a subcontractor of an eligible community-based care lead agency that is a direct provider of foster care and related services as described in this section is exclusive and in place of all other liability of such provider. The same immunities from liability enjoyed by such subcontractor provider extend to each employee of the subcontractor when such employee is acting in furtherance of the subcontractor's business, including the transportation of clients served, as described in this subsection, in privately owned vehicles. Such immunities are not applicable to a subcontractor or an employee who acts in a culpably negligent manner or with willful and wanton disregard or unprovoked physical aggression if such acts result in injury or death or if such acts proximately cause such injury or death. Such immunities are not applicable to employees of the same subcontractor who are operating in the furtherance of the subcontractor's business but are assigned primarily to unrelated works within private or public employment. The same immunity provisions enjoyed by a subcontractor also apply to any sole proprietor, partner, corporate officer or director, supervisor, or other person who, in the course and scope of his or her duties, acts in a managerial or policymaking capacity and the conduct that caused the alleged injury arose within the course and scope of those managerial or policymaking duties.

(4) LIMITATIONS ON DAMAGES.—The Legislature is cognizant of the increasing costs of goods and services each year and recognizes that fixing a set amount of compensation has the effect of a reduction in compensation each year. Accordingly, the conditional limitations on damages in this section shall be increased at the rate of 5 percent each year, prorated from July 1, 2014, to the date at which damages subject to such limitations are awarded by final judgment or settlement.

Section 36. Section 409.1675, Florida Statutes, is transferred, renumbered as section 409.994, Florida Statutes, and amended to read:

409.994 ~~409.1675~~ ~~Lead~~ Community-based care lead agencies ~~providers~~; receivership.—

(1) The Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ may petition a court of competent jurisdiction for the appointment of a receiver for a ~~lead~~ community-based care lead agency ~~provider~~ established pursuant to s. 409.987 if ~~s. 409.1671 when~~ any of the following conditions exist:

(a) The lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ is operating without a license as a child-placing agency.

(b) The lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ has given less than 120 days' notice of its intent to cease operations, and arrangements have not been made for another lead agency ~~community based provider~~ or for the department to continue the uninterrupted provision of services.

(c) The department determines that conditions exist in the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ which present an imminent danger to the health, safety, or welfare of the dependent children under that agency's ~~provider's~~ care or supervision. Whenever possible, the department shall make a reasonable effort to facilitate the continued operation of the program.

(d) The lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ cannot meet its current financial obligations to its employees, contractors, or foster parents. Issuance of bad checks or the existence of delinquent obligations for payment of salaries, utilities, or invoices for essential services or commodities shall constitute prima facie evidence that the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ lacks the financial ability to meet its financial obligations.

(2)(a) The petition for receivership shall take precedence over other court business unless the court determines that some other pending proceeding, having statutory precedence, has priority.

(b) A hearing shall be conducted within 5 days after the filing of the petition, at which time interested parties shall have the opportunity to present evidence as to whether a receiver should be appointed. The department shall give reasonable notice of the hearing on the petition to the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~.

(c) The court shall grant the petition upon finding that one or more of the conditions in subsection (1) exists and the continued existence of the condition or conditions jeopardizes the health, safety, or welfare of dependent children. A receiver may be appointed ex parte when the court determines that one or more of the conditions in subsection (1) exists. After such finding, the court may appoint any person, including an employee of the department who is qualified by education, training, or experience to carry out the duties of the receiver pursuant to this section, except that the court may ~~shall~~ not appoint any member of the governing board or any officer of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~. The receiver may be selected from a list of persons qualified to act as receivers which is developed by the department and presented to the court with each petition of receivership.

(d) A receiver may be appointed for up to 90 days, and the department may petition the court for additional 30-day extensions. Sixty days after appointment of a receiver and every 30 days thereafter until the receivership is terminated, the department shall submit to the court an assessment of the lead agency's ~~community-based provider's~~ ability to ensure the health, safety, and welfare of the dependent children under its supervision.

(3) The receiver shall take such steps as are reasonably necessary to ensure the continued health, safety, and welfare of the dependent children under the supervision of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ and shall exercise those powers and perform those duties set out by the court, including, but not limited to:

(a) Taking such action as is reasonably necessary to protect or conserve the assets or property of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~. The receiver may use the assets and property and any proceeds from any transfer thereof only in the performance of the powers and duties provided ~~set forth~~ in this section and by order of the court.

(b) Using the assets of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ in the provision of care and services to dependent children.

(c) Entering into contracts and hiring agents and employees to carry out the powers and duties of the receiver under this section.

(d) Having full power to direct, manage, hire, and discharge employees of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~. The receiver shall hire and pay new employees at the rate of compensation, including benefits, approved by the court.

(e) Honoring all leases, mortgages, and contractual obligations of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~, but only to the extent of payments that become due during the period of the receivership.

(4)(a) The receiver shall deposit funds received in a separate account and shall use this account for all disbursements.

(b) A payment to the receiver of any sum owing to the lead agency ~~community based provider~~ shall discharge any obligation to the provider to the extent of the payment.

(5) A receiver may petition the court for temporary relief from obligations entered into by the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ if the rent, price, or rate of interest required to be paid under the agreement was substantially in excess of a reasonable rent, price, or rate of interest at the time the contract was entered into, or if any material provision of the agreement was unreasonable when compared to contracts negotiated under similar conditions. Any relief in this form provided by the court shall be limited to the life of the receivership, unless otherwise determined by the court.

(6) The court shall set the compensation of the receiver, which shall be considered a necessary expense of a receivership and may grant to the receiver such other authority necessary to ensure the health, safety, and welfare of the children served.

(7) A receiver may be held liable in a personal capacity only for the receiver's own gross negligence, intentional acts, or breaches of fiduciary duty. This section may ~~shall~~ not be interpreted to be a waiver of sovereign immunity should the department be appointed receiver.

(8) If the receiver is not the department, the court may require a receiver to post a bond to ensure the faithful performance of these duties.

(9) The court may terminate a receivership when:

(a) The court determines that the receivership is no longer necessary because the conditions that gave rise to the receivership no longer exist; or

(b) The department has entered into a contract with a new lead agency ~~community based provider~~ pursuant to s. 409.987 ~~s. 409.1671~~, and that contractor is ready and able to assume the duties of the previous lead agency ~~provider~~.

(10) Within 30 days after the termination, unless this time period is extended by the court, the receiver shall give the court a complete accounting of all property of which the receiver has taken possession, of all funds collected and disbursed, and of the expenses of the receivership.

(11) ~~Nothing in~~ This section does not ~~shall be construed to~~ relieve any employee of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ placed in receivership of any civil or criminal liability incurred, or any duty imposed by law, by reason of acts or omissions of the employee before ~~prior to~~ the appointment of a receiver, and~~; nor shall anything contained in~~ this section does not ~~be construed to~~ suspend during the receivership any obligation of the employee for payment of taxes or other operating or maintenance expenses of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ or for the payment of mortgages or liens. The lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ shall retain the right to sell or mortgage any facility under receivership, subject to the prior approval of the court that ordered the receivership.

These policies and procedures must also include provisions for reducing the duplication of the department's program monitoring activities both internally and with other agencies, to the extent possible. The department's written procedures must ensure that the written findings, conclusions, and recommendations from monitoring the contract for services of lead agencies are communicated to the director of the provider agency and the community alliance as expeditiously as possible.

The department's attorneys shall coordinate lead agency or subcontractor staff to ensure that dependency cases are presented appropriately to the court, giving deference to the information developed by the case manager and direction to the case manager if more information is needed.

(20) The department, in consultation with lead agencies, shall develop a dispute resolution process so that disagreements between legal staff, investigators, and case management staff can be resolved in the best interest of the child in question before court appearances regarding that child.

Section 38. Section 409.997, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

409.997 Child welfare results-oriented accountability system.—

(1) The department and its contract providers, including lead agencies, community-based care providers, and other community partners participating in the state's child protection and child welfare system, share the responsibility for achieving the outcome goals specified in s. 409.986(2).

(2) In order to assess the achievement of the outcome goals specified in s. 409.986(2), the department shall maintain a comprehensive, results-oriented accountability system that monitors the use of resources, the quality and amount of services provided, and child and family outcomes through data analysis, research review, evaluation, and quality improvement. The system shall provide information about individual entities' performance as well as the performance of groups of entities working together as an integrated system of care on a local, regional, and statewide basis. In maintaining the accountability system, the department shall:

(a) Identify valid and reliable outcome measures for each of the goals specified in this subsection. The outcome data set must consist of a limited number of understandable measures using available data to quantify outcomes as children move through the system of care. Such measures may aggregate multiple variables that affect the overall achievement of the outcome goals. Valid and reliable measures must be based on adequate sample sizes, be gathered over suitable time periods, and reflect authentic rather than spurious results, and may not be susceptible to manipulation.

(b) Implement a monitoring system to track the identified outcome measures on a statewide, regional, and provider-specific basis. The monitoring system must identify trends and chart progress toward achievement of the goals specified s. 409.986(2). The requirements of the monitoring system may be incorporated into the quality assurance program required under s. 409.996(18).

(c) Develop and maintain an analytical system that builds on the outcomes monitoring system to assess the statistical validity of observed associations between child welfare interventions and the measured outcomes. The analysis must use quantitative methods to adjust for variations in demographic or other conditions. The analysis must include longitudinal studies to evaluate longer-term outcomes such as continued safety, family permanence, and transition to self-sufficiency. The analysis may also include qualitative research methods to provide insight into statistical patterns.

(d) Develop and maintain a program of research review to identify interventions that are supported by evidence as causally linked to improved outcomes.

(e) Support an ongoing process of evaluation to determine the efficacy and effectiveness of various interventions. Efficacy evaluation is intended to determine the validity of a causal relationship between an intervention and an outcome. Effectiveness evaluation is intended to determine the extent to which the results can be generalized.

(f) Develop and maintain an inclusive, interactive, and evidence-supported program of quality improvement which promotes individual skill building as well as organizational learning.

(g) Develop and implement a method for making the results of the accountability system transparent for all parties involved in the child welfare system as well as policymakers and the public. The presentation of the results shall provide a comprehensible, visual report card for the state and each community-based care region, indicating the current status relative to each goal and trends in that status over time. The presentation shall identify and report outcome measures that assess the performance of the department, the community-based care lead agency, and the lead agency's subcontractors working together as an integrated system of care.

(3) The department shall establish a technical advisory panel consisting of representatives from the Florida Institute for Child Welfare established in s. 1004.615, lead agencies, community-based care providers, other contract providers, community alliances, and family representatives. The President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall each appoint a member to serve as a legislative liaison to the panel. The technical advisory panel shall advise the department on meeting the requirements of this section.

(4) The accountability system may not rank or compare performance among community-based care regions unless adequate and specific adjustments are adopted that account for the diversity in regions' demographics, resources, and other relevant characteristics.

(5) The results of the accountability system must provide the basis for performance incentives if funds for such payments are made available through the General Appropriations Act.

(6) At least quarterly, the department shall make the results of the accountability system available to the public through publication on its website. The website must allow for custom searches of the performance data.

(7) By October 1 of each year, the department shall submit a report on the statewide and individual community-based care lead agency results for child protection and child welfare systems. The department shall use the accountability system and consult with the community alliance and the chief judge or judges in the community-based care service area to prepare the report. The report shall be submitted to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Section 39. Section 409.998, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

(1) Conduct a needs assessment and establish community priorities for child protection and child welfare services.

(2) Review the performance of the department, the sheriff's office, if the office provides child protective services, and the lead agency individually and as an integrated system of care, and advise the department, the sheriff's office, if applicable, and the lead agency regarding concerns and suggested areas of improvement.

(3) Recommend a competitive procurement for the lead agency if programmatic or financial performance is poor. The community alliance shall make recommendations on the development of the procurement document for such competitive procurement and may suggest specific requirements relating to local needs and services.

(4) Recommend a contract extension for the lead agency if programmatic and financial performance is superior.

(5) In partnership with the Florida Institute for Child Welfare established in s. 1004.615, develop recommendations and submit such recommendations to the department and the community-based care lead agency to improve child protection and child welfare policies and practices.

Section 44. Section 402.401, Florida Statutes, is repealed.

Section 45. Section 409.1671, Florida Statutes, is repealed.

Section 46. Section 409.16715, Florida Statutes, is repealed.

Section 47. Section 409.16745, Florida Statutes, is repealed.

Section 48. Section 1004.61, Florida Statutes, is repealed.

Section 49. Paragraph (g) of subsection (1) of section 39.201, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.201 Mandatory reports of child abuse, abandonment, or neglect; mandatory reports of death; central abuse hotline.—

(1)

(g) Nothing in this chapter or in the contracting with community-based care providers for foster care and related services as specified in s. 409.987 ~~s. 409.1671~~ shall be construed to remove or reduce the duty and responsibility of any person, including any employee of the community-based care provider, to report a suspected or actual case of child abuse, abandonment, or neglect or the sexual abuse of a child to the department's central abuse hotline.

Section 50. Subsection (1) of section 39.302, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.302 Protective investigations of institutional child abuse, abandonment, or neglect.—

(1) The department shall conduct a child protective investigation of each report of institutional child abuse, abandonment, or neglect. Upon receipt of a report that alleges that an employee or agent of the department, or any other entity or person covered by s. 39.01(32) ~~s. 39.01(33)~~ or (47), acting in an official capacity, has committed an act of child abuse, abandonment, or neglect, the department shall initiate a child protective investigation within the timeframe established under s. 39.201(5) and notify the appropriate state attorney, law enforcement agency, and licensing agency, which shall immediately conduct a joint investigation, unless independent investigations are more feasible. When conducting investigations or having face-to-face interviews with the child, investigation visits shall be unannounced unless it is determined by the department or its agent that unannounced visits threaten the safety of the child. If a facility is exempt from licensing, the department shall inform the owner or operator of the facility of the report. Each agency conducting a joint investigation is entitled to full access to the information gathered by the department in the course of the investigation. A protective investigation must include an interview with the child's parent or legal guardian. The department shall make a full written report to the state attorney within 3 working days after making the oral report. A criminal investigation shall be coordinated, whenever possible, with the child protective investigation of the department. Any interested person who has information regarding the offenses described in this subsection may forward a statement to the state attorney as to whether prosecution is warranted and appropriate. Within 15 days after the completion of the investigation, the state attorney shall report the findings to the department and shall include in the report a determination of whether or not prosecution is justified and appropriate in view of the circumstances of the specific case.

Section 51. Subsection (1) of section 39.524, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.524 Safe-harbor placement.—

(1) Except as provided in s. 39.407 or s. 985.801, a dependent child 6 years of age or older who has been found to be a victim of sexual exploitation as defined in s. 39.01(68)(g) ~~s. 39.01(67)(g)~~ must be assessed for placement in a safe house as provided in s. 409.1678. The assessment shall be conducted by the department or its agent and shall incorporate and address current and historical information from any law enforcement reports; psychological testing or evaluation that has occurred; current and historical information from the guardian ad litem, if one has been assigned; current and historical information from any current therapist, teacher, or other professional who has knowledge of the child and has worked with the child; and any other information concerning the availability and suitability of safe-house placement. If such placement is determined to be appropriate as a result of this assessment, the child may be placed in a safe house, if one is available. As used in this section, the term "available" as it relates to a placement means a placement that is located within the circuit or otherwise reasonably accessible.

Section 52. Subsection (6) of section 316.613, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

316.613 Child restraint requirements.—

(6) The child restraint requirements imposed by this section do not apply to a chauffeur-driven taxi, limousine, sedan, van, bus, motor coach, or other passenger vehicle if the operator and the motor vehicle are hired and used for the transportation of persons for compensation. It is the obligation and responsibility of the parent, guardian, or other person responsible for a child's welfare~~,~~ as defined in s. 39.01~~(47),~~ to comply with the requirements of this section.

Section 53. Subsections (1), (3), and (5) of section 409.1676, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

409.1676 Comprehensive residential group care services to children who have extraordinary needs.—

(1) It is the intent of the Legislature to provide comprehensive residential group care services, including residential care, case management, and other services, to children in the child protection system who have extraordinary needs. These services are to be provided in a residential group care setting by a not-for-profit corporation or a local government entity under a contract with the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ or by a lead agency as described in s. 409.987 ~~s. 409.1671~~. These contracts should be designed to provide an identified number of children with access to a full array of services for a fixed price. Further, it is the intent of the Legislature that the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ and the Department of Juvenile Justice establish an interagency agreement by December 1, 2002, which describes respective agency responsibilities for referral, placement, service provision, and service coordination for dependent and delinquent youth who are referred to these residential group care facilities. The agreement must require interagency collaboration in the development of terms, conditions, and performance outcomes for residential group care contracts serving the youth referred who have been adjudicated both dependent and delinquent.

(3) The department, in accordance with a specific appropriation for this program, shall contract with a not-for-profit corporation, a local government entity, or the lead agency that has been established in accordance with s. 409.987 ~~s. 409.1671~~ for the performance of residential group care services described in this section. A lead agency that is currently providing residential care may provide this service directly with the approval of the local community alliance. The department or a lead agency may contract for more than one site in a county if that is determined to be the most effective way to achieve the goals set forth in this section.

(5) The department may transfer all casework responsibilities for children served under this program to the entity that provides this service, including case management and development and implementation of a case plan in accordance with current standards for child protection services. When the department establishes this program in a community that has a lead agency as described in s. 409.987 ~~s. 409.1671~~, the casework responsibilities must be transferred to the lead agency.

Section 54. Subsection (2) of section 409.1677, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

409.1677 Model comprehensive residential services programs.—

(2) The department shall establish a model comprehensive residential services program in Manatee and Miami-Dade Counties through a contract with the designated lead agency established in accordance with s. 409.987 ~~s. 409.1671~~ or with a private entity capable of providing residential group care and home-based care and experienced in the delivery of a range of services to foster children, if no lead agency exists. These model programs are to serve that portion of eligible children within each county which is specified in the contract, based on funds appropriated, to include a full array of services for a fixed price. The private entity or lead agency is responsible for all programmatic functions necessary to carry out the intent of this section.

Section 55. Paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of section 409.1678, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

409.1678 Safe harbor for children who are victims of sexual exploitation.—

(1) As used in this section, the term:

(d) "Sexually exploited child" means a dependent child who has suffered sexual exploitation as defined in s. 39.01(68)(g) ~~s. 39.01(67)(g)~~ and is ineligible for relief and benefits under the federal Trafficking Victims Protection Act, 22 U.S.C. ss. 7101 et seq.

Section 56. Subsection (24) of section 409.906, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

409.906 Optional Medicaid services.—Subject to specific appropriations, the agency may make payments for services which are optional to the state under Title XIX of the Social Security Act and are furnished by Medicaid providers to recipients who are determined to be eligible on the dates on which the services were provided. Any optional service that is provided shall be provided only when medically necessary and in accordance with state and federal law. Optional services rendered by providers in mobile units to Medicaid recipients may be restricted or prohibited by the agency. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent or limit the agency from adjusting fees, reimbursement rates, lengths of stay, number of visits, or number of services, or making any other adjustments necessary to comply with the availability of moneys and any limitations or directions provided for in the General Appropriations Act or chapter 216. If necessary to safeguard the state's systems of providing services to elderly and disabled persons and subject to the notice and review provisions of s. 216.177, the Governor may direct the Agency for Health Care Administration to amend the Medicaid state plan to delete the optional Medicaid service known as "Intermediate Care Facilities for the Developmentally Disabled." Optional services may include:

(24) CHILD-WELFARE-TARGETED CASE MANAGEMENT.—The Agency for Health Care Administration, in consultation with the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~, may establish a targeted case-management project in those counties identified by the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ and for all counties with a community-based child welfare project, as authorized under s. 409.987 ~~s. 409.1671,~~ which have been specifically approved by the department. The covered group of individuals who are eligible to receive targeted case management include children who are eligible for Medicaid; who are between the ages of birth through 21; and who are under protective supervision or postplacement supervision, under foster-care supervision, or in shelter care or foster care. The number of individuals who are eligible to receive targeted case management is limited to the number for whom the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ has matching funds to cover the costs. The general revenue funds required to match the funds for services provided by the community-based child welfare projects are limited to funds available for services described under s. 409.990 ~~s. 409.1671~~. The Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ may transfer the general revenue matching funds as billed by the Agency for Health Care Administration.

Section 57. Paragraph (b) of subsection (4) of section 409.912, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

409.912 Cost-effective purchasing of health care.—The agency shall purchase goods and services for Medicaid recipients in the most cost-effective manner consistent with the delivery of quality medical care. To ensure that medical services are effectively utilized, the agency may, in any case, require a confirmation or second physician's opinion of the correct diagnosis for purposes of authorizing future services under the Medicaid program. This section does not restrict access to emergency services or poststabilization care services as defined in 42 C.F.R. part 438.114. Such confirmation or second opinion shall be rendered in a manner approved by the agency. The agency shall maximize the use of prepaid per capita and prepaid aggregate fixed-sum basis services when appropriate and other alternative service delivery and reimbursement methodologies, including competitive bidding pursuant to s. 287.057, designed to facilitate the cost-effective purchase of a case-managed continuum of care. The agency shall also require providers to minimize the exposure of recipients to the need for acute inpatient, custodial, and other institutional care and the inappropriate or unnecessary use of high-cost services. The agency shall contract with a vendor to monitor and evaluate the clinical practice patterns of providers in order to identify trends that are outside the normal practice patterns of a provider's professional peers or the national guidelines of a provider's professional association. The vendor must be able to provide information and counseling to a provider whose practice patterns are outside the norms, in consultation with the agency, to improve patient care and reduce inappropriate utilization. The agency may mandate prior authorization, drug therapy management, or disease management participation for certain populations of Medicaid beneficiaries, certain drug classes, or particular drugs to prevent fraud, abuse, overuse, and possible dangerous drug interactions. The Pharmaceutical and Therapeutics Committee shall make recommendations to the agency on drugs for which prior authorization is required. The agency shall inform the Pharmaceutical and Therapeutics Committee of its decisions regarding drugs subject to prior authorization. The agency is authorized to limit the entities it contracts with or enrolls as Medicaid providers by developing a provider network through provider credentialing. The agency may competitively bid single-source-provider contracts if procurement of goods or services results in demonstrated cost savings to the state without limiting access to care. The agency may limit its network based on the assessment of beneficiary access to care, provider availability, provider quality standards, time and distance standards for access to care, the cultural competence of the provider network, demographic characteristics of Medicaid beneficiaries, practice and provider-to-beneficiary standards, appointment wait times, beneficiary use of services, provider turnover, provider profiling, provider licensure history, previous program integrity investigations and findings, peer review, provider Medicaid policy and billing compliance records, clinical and medical record audits, and other factors. Providers are not entitled to enrollment in the Medicaid provider network. The agency shall determine instances in which allowing Medicaid beneficiaries to purchase durable medical equipment and other goods is less expensive to the Medicaid program than long-term rental of the equipment or goods. The agency may establish rules to facilitate purchases in lieu of long-term rentals in order to protect against fraud and abuse in the Medicaid program as defined in s. 409.913. The agency may seek federal waivers necessary to administer these policies.

(4) The agency may contract with:

(b) An entity that is providing comprehensive behavioral health care services to certain Medicaid recipients through a capitated, prepaid arrangement pursuant to the federal waiver provided for by s. 409.905(5). Such entity must be licensed under chapter 624, chapter 636, or chapter 641, or authorized under paragraph (c) or paragraph (d), and must possess the clinical systems and operational competence to manage risk and provide comprehensive behavioral health care to Medicaid recipients. As used in this paragraph, the term "comprehensive behavioral health care services" means covered mental health and substance abuse treatment services that are available to Medicaid recipients. The secretary of the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ shall approve provisions of procurements related to children in the department's care or custody before enrolling such children in a prepaid behavioral health plan. Any contract awarded under this paragraph must be competitively procured. In developing the behavioral health care prepaid plan procurement document, the agency shall ensure that the procurement document requires the contractor to develop and implement a plan to ensure compliance with s. 394.4574 related to services provided to residents of licensed assisted living facilities that hold a limited mental health license. Except as provided in subparagraph 5., and except in counties where the Medicaid managed care pilot program is authorized pursuant to s. 409.91211, the agency shall seek federal approval to contract with a single entity meeting these requirements to provide comprehensive behavioral health care services to all Medicaid recipients not enrolled in a Medicaid managed care plan authorized under s. 409.91211, a provider service network authorized under paragraph (d), or a Medicaid health maintenance organization in an AHCA area. In an AHCA area where the Medicaid managed care pilot program is authorized pursuant to s. 409.91211 in one or more counties, the agency may procure a contract with a single entity to serve the remaining counties as an AHCA area or the remaining counties may be included with an adjacent AHCA area and are subject to this paragraph. Each entity must offer a sufficient choice of providers in its network to ensure recipient access to care and the opportunity to select a provider with whom they are satisfied. The network shall include all public mental health hospitals. To ensure unimpaired access to behavioral health care services by Medicaid recipients, all contracts issued pursuant to this paragraph must require 80 percent of the capitation paid to the managed care plan, including health maintenance organizations and capitated provider service networks, to be expended for the provision of behavioral health care services. If the managed care plan expends less than 80 percent of the capitation paid for the provision of behavioral health care services, the difference shall be returned to the agency. The agency shall provide the plan with a certification letter indicating the amount of capitation paid during each calendar year for behavioral health care services pursuant to this section. The agency may reimburse for substance abuse treatment services on a fee-for-service basis until the agency finds that adequate funds are available for capitated, prepaid arrangements.

1. The agency shall modify the contracts with the entities providing comprehensive inpatient and outpatient mental health care services to Medicaid recipients in Hillsborough, Highlands, Hardee, Manatee, and Polk Counties, to include substance abuse treatment services.

2. Except as provided in subparagraph 5., the agency and the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ shall contract with managed care entities in each AHCA area except area 6 or arrange to provide comprehensive inpatient and outpatient mental health and substance abuse services through capitated prepaid arrangements to all Medicaid recipients who are eligible to participate in such plans under federal law and regulation. In AHCA areas where eligible individuals number less than 150,000, the agency shall contract with a single managed care plan to provide comprehensive behavioral health services to all recipients who are not enrolled in a Medicaid health maintenance organization, a provider service network authorized under paragraph (d), or a Medicaid capitated managed care plan authorized under s. 409.91211. The agency may contract with more than one comprehensive behavioral health provider to provide care to recipients who are not enrolled in a Medicaid capitated managed care plan authorized under s. 409.91211, a provider service network authorized under paragraph (d), or a Medicaid health maintenance organization in AHCA areas where the eligible population exceeds 150,000. In an AHCA area where the Medicaid managed care pilot program is authorized pursuant to s. 409.91211 in one or more counties, the agency may procure a contract with a single entity to serve the remaining counties as an AHCA area or the remaining counties may be included with an adjacent AHCA area and shall be subject to this paragraph. Contracts for comprehensive behavioral health providers awarded pursuant to this section shall be competitively procured. Both for-profit and not-for-profit corporations are eligible to compete. Managed care plans contracting with the agency under subsection (3) or paragraph (d) shall provide and receive payment for the same comprehensive behavioral health benefits as provided in AHCA rules, including handbooks incorporated by reference. In AHCA area 11, the agency shall contract with at least two comprehensive behavioral health care providers to provide behavioral health care to recipients in that area who are enrolled in, or assigned to, the MediPass program. One of the behavioral health care contracts must be with the existing provider service network pilot project, as described in paragraph (d), for the purpose of demonstrating the cost-effectiveness of the provision of quality mental health services through a public hospital-operated managed care model. Payment shall be at an agreed-upon capitated rate to ensure cost savings. Of the recipients in area 11 who are assigned to MediPass under s. 409.9122(2)(k), a minimum of 50,000 of those MediPass-enrolled recipients shall be assigned to the existing provider service network in area 11 for their behavioral care.

3. Children residing in a statewide inpatient psychiatric program, or in a Department of Juvenile Justice or a Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ residential program approved as a Medicaid behavioral health overlay services provider may not be included in a behavioral health care prepaid health plan or any other Medicaid managed care plan pursuant to this paragraph.

4. Traditional community mental health providers under contract with the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ pursuant to part IV of chapter 394, child welfare providers under contract with the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ in areas 1 and 6, and inpatient mental health providers licensed pursuant to chapter 395 must be offered an opportunity to accept or decline a contract to participate in any provider network for prepaid behavioral health services.

5. All Medicaid-eligible children, except children in area 1 and children in Highlands County, Hardee County, Polk County, or Manatee County of area 6, which ~~that~~ are open for child welfare services in the statewide automated child welfare information system, shall receive their behavioral health care services through a specialty prepaid plan operated by community-based lead agencies through a single agency or formal agreements among several agencies. The agency shall work with the specialty plan to develop clinically effective, evidence-based alternatives as a downward substitution for the statewide inpatient psychiatric program and similar residential care and institutional services. The specialty prepaid plan must result in savings to the state comparable to savings achieved in other Medicaid managed care and prepaid programs. Such plan must provide mechanisms to maximize state and local revenues. The specialty prepaid plan shall be developed by the agency and the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~. The agency may seek federal waivers to implement this initiative. Medicaid-eligible children whose cases are open for child welfare services in the statewide automated child welfare information system and who reside in AHCA area 10 shall be enrolled in a capitated provider service network or other capitated managed care plan, which, in coordination with available community-based care providers specified in s. 409.987 ~~s. 409.1671~~, shall provide sufficient medical, developmental, and behavioral health services to meet the needs of these children.

Effective July 1, 2012, in order to ensure continuity of care, the agency is authorized to extend or modify current contracts based on current service areas or on a regional basis, as determined appropriate by the agency, with comprehensive behavioral health care providers as described in this paragraph during the period prior to its expiration. This paragraph expires October 1, 2014.

Section 58. Paragraph (dd) of subsection (3) of section 409.91211, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

409.91211 Medicaid managed care pilot program.—

(3) The agency shall have the following powers, duties, and responsibilities with respect to the pilot program:

(dd) To implement service delivery mechanisms within a specialty plan in area 10 to provide behavioral health care services to Medicaid-eligible children whose cases are open for child welfare services in the HomeSafeNet system. These services must be coordinated with community-based care providers as specified in s. 409.986 ~~s. 409.1671~~, where available, and be sufficient to meet the developmental, behavioral, and emotional needs of these children. Children in area 10 who have an open case in the HomeSafeNet system shall be enrolled into the specialty plan. These service delivery mechanisms must be implemented no later than July 1, 2011, in AHCA area 10 in order for the children in AHCA area 10 to remain exempt from the statewide plan under s. 409.912(4)(b)5. An administrative fee may be paid to the specialty plan for the coordination of services based on the receipt of the state share of that fee being provided through intergovernmental transfers.

Section 59. Paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of section 420.628, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

420.628 Affordable housing for children and young adults leaving foster care; legislative findings and intent.—

(1)

(d) The Legislature intends that the Florida Housing Finance Corporation, agencies within the State Housing Initiative Partnership Program, local housing finance agencies, public housing authorities, and their agents, and other providers of affordable housing coordinate with the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~, their agents, and community-based care providers who provide services under s. 409.986 ~~s. 409.1671~~ to develop and implement strategies and procedures designed to make affordable housing available whenever and wherever possible to young adults who leave the child welfare system.

Section 60. Subsection (5) of section 960.065, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

960.065 Eligibility for awards.—

(5) A person is not ineligible for an award pursuant to paragraph (2)(a), paragraph (2)(b), or paragraph (2)(c) if that person is a victim of sexual exploitation of a child as defined in s. 39.01(68)(g) ~~s. 39.01(67)(g)~~.

Section 61. This act shall take effect July 1, 2014.

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations

BILL:	CS/SB 1666
INTRODUCER:	Appropriations Committee (Recommended by Appropriations Subcommittee on Health and Human Services); Children, Families, and Elder Affairs Committee; and Senators Sobel and Gibson
SUBJECT:	Child Abuse and Child Welfare Services
DATE:	April 24, 2014 REVISED:

	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR	REFERENCE	ACTION
	Sanford	Hendon		CF SPB 7072 as introduced
1.	Brown/Sanford	Pigott	AHS	Fav/CS
2.	Brown/Sanford	Kynoch	AP	Fav/CS

I. Summary:

CS/SB 1666 makes numerous changes to statutes designed to protect children from abuse and neglect. The bill seeks to improve the quality of child abuse investigations conducted by the Department of Children and Families (DCF) and certain sheriff's offices. The bill increases child welfare expertise in the DCF, improves child abuse investigator qualifications, and creates a consortium of schools of social work to advise the state on child welfare policy.

The bill directs the DCF to conduct immediate investigations of deaths and other significant incidents involving children who have been known to the child protection and child welfare system. The purpose of the investigations is to identify root causes and to rapidly determine the need to change policies and practices related to child protection and child welfare.

The bill provides a definition of "medical neglect" and requires improvements in the care of medically complex children and the investigation of child abuse cases involving such children.

The bill creates a new part V of ch. 409, F.S., to be entitled "Community-Based Child Welfare." In this new part, current law relating to community-based care is reorganized, obsolete provisions are removed, and some provisions are clarified.

The bill has a fiscal impact that is anticipated to be addressed in the General Appropriations Act.

II. Present Situation:

Child Abuse, Neglect, and Death

Child abuse and child neglect, known collectively as child maltreatment, have been identified as serious social issues in the United States. Most recent studies show that the most common child maltreatment is neglect, which accounts for about 78 percent of the cases. Other common maltreatments are physical abuse (approximately 17 percent of cases) and sexual abuse (approximately 9 percent of cases). Victims less than one year old have the highest rate of victimization.

Many factors are associated with child maltreatment, including poverty, substance abuse, domestic violence, and mental illness.[1] The presence of an adult male unrelated to the child in the household has also been identified as a major risk factor for child maltreatment.

Child maltreatment is one of the nation's most serious problems.[2] In federal fiscal year 2011, the most recent year for which national data is available,[3] an estimated 3.4 million reports of abuse were received by child protection agencies.[4] After investigation, the number of unduplicated child victims nationally was estimated to be 681,000. Florida reported 208,437 calls to the national child abuse hotline, of which 55,770 resulted in substantiated allegations of abuse.[5]

In addition to the human cost of child abuse and neglect, there is a significant fiscal impact to state government. The DCF has made a conservative estimate of $72,709 annually per child to provide child welfare, hospitalization, special education, and juvenile justice services to care for an abused or neglected child.[6] Just the cost of child and adult protective investigations in Florida (of which the great majority are child investigations) was reported to be $312,493,471 in Fiscal Year 2012-2013.

The most serious result of child maltreatment is the death of the child. Nationally, 1,545 child fatalities resulting from child abuse or neglect were identified for federal fiscal year 2011.[7] Florida reported 133 child fatalities for that year resulting from child abuse or neglect.[8] In some instances the family was not previously known to the DCF, and in others the child was previously known. For cases in which the family was previously or currently known to the DCF, understanding the reasons that the previous or current intervention was not effective in avoiding the death is of critical importance.

Child Protection and Child Welfare Services in Florida

Florida's system for providing services to children alleged to have been abused, neglected, or abandoned is complex, involving the DCF, six sheriff's offices, the Office of the Attorney General, one state attorney's office, the Department of Health, 17 eligible lead community-based providers (lead agencies),[9] and innumerable lead agency subcontractors.

A child protective investigation begins with a report by any person to the Florida Abuse Hotline. The state is required to maintain a non-stop ability and capacity for receiving reports of maltreatments. The reports are sent out to child protective investigators (CPIs) across the state to investigate.

CPIs are most commonly DCF employees, but in six counties, the local sheriff performs the investigative function.[10] The DCF child protective services are delivered through six regional offices, using 1,300 investigators and 300 supervisors. The sheriff's offices employ 387 CPIs and 70 supervisors.

Court hearings are required whenever a child is removed from his or her home. The attorneys in these cases are either DCF employees or employees of the Attorney General's Office under contract to DCF or, in one case, a state attorney's office.

The lead agencies and their subcontractors are the primary providers of services to children and families in the child welfare system. There are currently 17 lead agencies with contracts covering all 20 judicial circuits. The lead agencies and their subcontractors employ case managers and supervisors to oversee the provision of services to children in the child welfare system. Many of the services are not directly provided by the lead agencies or the case management subcontractors, but by providers of substance abuse services or mental health services, or other specialized community-based providers.

There is variation across the state in deciding the point at which the lead agency assumes responsibility for the case management of a child welfare case, with varying degrees of cooperation and overlap between CPIs and lead agencies. In addition, special problems arise when multiple areas of the state are involved in either the investigation or the placement of children.

Child Welfare Workforce

History

The college degrees most tailored to and associated with child welfare are the bachelor's and master's degrees in social work. During the first half of the 20th century, the federal government, in cooperation with universities and local agencies, established a child welfare system staffed by individuals with professional social work educations. Child welfare came to be viewed as a prestigious specialty within the social work profession.[11]

[9] The term "eligible lead community-based provider" is defined as a single agency with which the DCF is required to contract for the provision of child protective services in a community that is no smaller than a county. See s. 409.1671(1)(e), F.S. These entities are commonly known as community-based care lead agencies or "lead agencies."

[10] As authorized under s. 39.3065, F.S., and the General Appropriations Act, sheriffs in Broward, Hillsborough, Manatee, Pasco, Pinellas and Seminole counties investigate child abuse and neglect reported to the abuse hotline rather than the DCF.

In the 1990's, an increased recognition of child abuse led to enactment of state child abuse and neglect reporting laws and toll-free numbers to report abuse. This resulted in a large increase of child abuse reports, and resources for the preparation and support of additional staff needed to respond to the reports became inadequate. States moved quickly to hire additional employees to investigate abuse. One way to expand the workforce was to reduce staff qualifications. In response to having a varied workforce without similar expertise and training, agencies began to structure child welfare work to reduce its complexity and make it possible for people with fewer qualifications to adequately perform required tasks.[12]

Current Qualifications

The current qualifications for child protective investigators are not specified in statute or rule, but the DCF's internal hiring practices require that new protective investigators have a bachelor's degree in any field and at least one year of child welfare related experience, or a master's degree in any field. Preference is given to candidates with a human services related degree. The DCF is not involved in the hiring practices or standards established by the sheriff's offices.[13]

The current qualifications for child welfare case managers operating in the community-based care system are established by rule and are a bachelor's degree in social work or related field.[14] Since employment decisions for child welfare case managers are made by individual lead agencies, and since the DCF does not collect data on their practices, the extent to which this rule is actually observed by the lead agencies is not clear. The DCF has authority to exempt employees from the rule and often does so.

In addition to these qualifications, the 2012 Legislature required that both child protective investigators and child welfare case managers obtain child welfare certification from a third-party credentialing entity.[15] This certification requires the individual to demonstrate core competency in any child welfare practice area. A "core competency" is defined in statute to be the minimum knowledge, skills, and abilities necessary to carry out child welfare work responsibilities.[16]

Social Workers in Child Welfare

The DCF has records on the post-secondary degrees for 1,214 of the state's CPIs.[17] These data do not include information on the degrees of the investigators in the six county sheriff's offices. Approximately 10 percent of the DCF's CPIs have a social work degree, either bachelor's or master's. See Table 1 below:

Table 1. Degrees of DCF Child Protective Investigators

There were 4,728 students enrolled statewide in programs leading to a bachelor's or master's degree in social work in the fall of 2012.[18] (See Table 2.) There were 1,684 graduates from the state's 14 schools of social work in 2011-2012.[19] The bachelor's level program in social work requires a structured internship with approximately 512 hours of supervision by a master's level social worker and 50 hours of coursework. In contrast, a psychology or a criminology major requires no internship and 36 hours of coursework, and a sociology major requires no internship and 30 hours of coursework.[20]

In 2014, the Office of Program Policy Analysis and Government Accountability (OPPAGA) reviewed child welfare systems in Florida and 16 other states with large child populations.[22] Among the issues studied by OPPAGA were the qualifications required by states in hiring child protection workers. The results are as follows:

In addition, Kansas requires a social work degree.[23]

The impact of child welfare workers with a social work degree has been examined by researchers. Education is the variable that child welfare workforce researchers have explored most often in relation to performance.[24] Much of the research on the effect of education has focused on agency/university partnership programs that have been established over the past decade using federal funding provided under Title IV-E of the Social Security Act. While there is variation among these programs, they generally aim to increase educational opportunities for agency staff to add to the pool of potential child welfare employees and enhance the relevance of curricula in schools of social work. Research to examine their effects found that students score significantly higher on measures of job-related competencies than non-students. Graduates of the specialized child welfare program in New York State, for example, had higher levels of skills, confidence, and sensitivity to clients.[25]

[23] Informal communication, Florida State University School of Social Work (March 3, 2014) (on file with the Senate Committee on Children, Families, and Elder Affairs).

[24] Id. Several studies have found evidence that social work education, at either the bachelors of social work (BSW) or masters of social work (MSW) level, positively correlates with performance. A study conducted in Maryland public child welfare agencies found an MSW to be the best predictor of overall performance as measured by supervisory ratings and employee reports of work related competencies. A national study that measured competencies related to 32 job-related duties found that both MSW and BSW staff were better prepared for child welfare work than their colleagues without social work education. Research conducted with staff in Kentucky's public child welfare agency also revealed that staff with social work degrees scored significantly better on state merit examinations, received somewhat higher ratings from their supervisors, and had higher levels of work commitment than other staff. A Nevada study showed that caseworkers who had a social work degree were significantly more likely to create a permanent plan for children in their caseloads within three years than their colleagues without social work education.

Issues Identified in Child Abuse Deaths

Agency Structure and Stability

Since 1998 the DCF has had eight secretaries. In July 2013, the agency secretary resigned[26] and an interim secretary was named who has agreed to remain through the 2014 Legislative Session.[27] With each new secretary typically comes a somewhat new vision and a new strategic plan that includes substantial changes to both the structure of the DCF and staff assignments, all of which may result in some degree of disruption to the functioning of the department. Frequent changes to federal and state laws and to rules and operating procedures, combined with these leadership changes, have made long-term stability at the DCF difficult to achieve.

Currently, the structure of the DCF is provided in law, which requires the appointment of a secretary, a deputy secretary, and an assistant secretary for substance abuse and mental health. The law also provides that DCF offices may be consolidated, restructured, or rearranged by the secretary, in consultation with the Executive Office of the Governor, and that the secretary may appoint additional managers and administrators as he or she determines are necessary for the effective management of the department.[28]

Child Welfare Workforce Issues

A number of commissions and task forces have been established over the past 25 years, often after deaths of children from child abuse or neglect. The commissions and task forces have often found that child protective and child welfare staff did not follow procedures or lacked the training and ability to perform their duties. The commissions and task forces have recommended ways to improve the qualifications of child welfare staff. Some of the findings are as follows:

- The Study Commission on Child Welfare was established by the Florida Legislature in November 1989 after several children died while in state care. [29] At that time, CPIs reported that prior to employment, they worked most frequently in social service/welfare, law enforcement, and in education positions (54 percent). The rest previously held positions as sales personnel, law clerks, real estate agents, and members of the U.S. military.[30] The

Although the evidence related to educational qualifications is not unequivocal, it provides support for social work education as the best preparation for practice in child welfare. These findings tend to be most consistent with regard to graduates of specialized education programs offering enhanced child welfare content and internships in child welfare settings.

commission recommended that the state should recruit CPIs with bachelor's degrees in social work, child development, or guidance and counseling.[31]

- On April 25, 2002, the DCF revealed that a child in its care, five-year-old Rilya Wilson, had disappeared 15 months earlier from her custodial home and had not been seen since. In response, Gov. Jeb Bush appointed a four-member Governor's Blue-Ribbon Panel on Child Protection.[32] The panel recommended that DCF compare the performance and longevity of child welfare staff who had degrees in social work or other behavioral sciences to staff who had other degrees.[33]
- In a 2013 Florida case involving a two-year-old child who died from physical abuse, the Child Welfare League of America (CWLA) was commissioned to study the death and make recommendations. The family included two adult women, five adult men, and 10 children, including the victim. These people had varying connections and living arrangements throughout the child's life, and the family had been reported to the child abuse hotline 16 times between 2005 and 2013. The CWLA report stated the family had experienced substance abuse, domestic violence, a "chronic lack of even marginal parental nurturing," developmental delays in several of the children in the home, referrals for services that were not followed through, lack of managerial review, and "many years of systemic failure." In the words of the report, "(c)hanging a checklist or hiring additional staff cannot solve these pervasive problems."[34]

One of the problems highlighted by the various commissions and panels is the turnover of child protective investigator workforce. Experience among child abuse investigators suffers with significant employee turnover. The annual turnover rate of department CPIs has been 32 percent, 19 percent, and 22 percent over the last three years. The negative impact of turnover is well known – increased training costs ($6.2 million each year) and inexperienced workers.

Child welfare workers with degrees in social work are not immune from turnover. During the period from 2004-2013, Florida State University (FSU) placed and supervised a total of 293 interns in child welfare settings in the northwest region of Florida. While many of the interns were hired for positions with the DCF, retention was difficult, with few staying more than a few years. As a result, FSU began surveying students leaving employment within the field to determine the reasons for leaving. The top five reasons were:

- Poor overall management/administration by upper-level management;
- Lack of professional support from supervisors;
- Lack of respect and lack of feeling valued by supervisors and upper-level management;
- Lack of focus on teamwork, with employees often feeling like they were pitted against each other by upper-level management and supervisors; and
- No support for professional development or advancement.[35]

While respondents indicated that caseloads were indeed high at some points and that salaries could be better, neither of these issues were cited as primary reasons for leaving.[36]

As part of its review of child welfare systems, OPPAGA conducted a series of focus groups with both child protective service investigators and child welfare case managers. They found a variety of problems in the working conditions of CPIs and case managers.[37] These problems included:

- A lack of mentoring and management support across the state:
  Some case managers noted that high turnover rates among workers resulted in supervisors carrying caseloads themselves, leaving little time for supervision or mentoring. In addition, most case managers reported that supervisors' primarily focused on meeting DCF performance measures rather than encouraging quality work or mentoring new case managers.
- Administrative tasks that detract from time spent with families and children:
  Investigators estimated that they spend 60 percent to 80 percent of their time on the administrative requirements associated with each case rather than with families. Investigators stated they could not complete required case-related tasks in the standard 40-hour work week and that they routinely work nights and weekends.
- Concern about the sometimes volatile work environment:
  Both investigators and case managers reported that they are required to go into unsafe neighborhoods and dangerous, violent homes, but they do not feel that the DCF is concerned for their safety. While investigators can request law enforcement agencies to have officers accompany them, they reported that law enforcement agencies are sometimes not responsive to their requests or that it takes hours for officers to arrive.
- Outdated technology:
  CPIs and case managers reported that their electronic equipment has not kept up with prevailing technology. For example, they reported they are issued laptop computers that are not enabled for wireless Internet connection and that DCF-issued mobile phones often have poor or no reception, depending on the investigator's location. As a result, staff must use personal phones at their own expense.

According to the U.S. Administration on Children and Families, a supportive organizational culture is a key ingredient in building a stable and effective child welfare workforce. Core elements of organizational culture include agency leadership, workforce management, supervision, and support. Organizational culture and employee relations significantly influence an agency's ability to recruit and retain staff as well as make long-lasting workforce changes.

Efforts to Improve Child Protection

Florida has taken many actions to improve the quality of child abuse investigators over the years. Most recently, the Legislature has made significant investments in child protection and child welfare:

[36] Id.
[37] OPPAGA, *ibid. (*Mar. 6, 2014)

- In the 2010 Session, the Legislature required child abuse investigators and child welfare case workers to be certified.[38] The certification is outsourced and includes testing in child welfare and agreement to a set of ethics.
- In the 2011 Session, the Legislature provided $11 million to the DCF to redesign the central abuse hotline.
- In the 2012 Session, the Legislature made several improvements to the child protection system by:
  - Appropriating $10.8 million to provide additional permanent and temporary child abuse investigators.
  - Appropriating $7.9 million to improve the state's child welfare information system (Florida Safe Families Network, or FSFN).
  - Providing funding to raise CPI salaries by $4,300 per CPI per year.
- In the 2013 Session, the Legislature provided $4 million for CPI redesign (including sheriff's offices) and $1.8 million for FSFN.

University Partnerships with Child Welfare

Section 1004.61, F.S., currently directs the DCF to form partnerships with the schools of social work of state universities in order to encourage the development of graduates trained to work in child protection. The University of South Florida for example, coordinates child welfare training in the state.

The federal government provides both policy and financial resources to states for child welfare services under Title IV of the Social Security Act. One use of such funds is the education and training of child welfare workers. Some states use these funds to create partnerships between their child welfare agencies and colleges of social work at state universities. The universities provide the expertise in child welfare research, policy, and practices. They also develop and conduct on-the-job training to child welfare workers. The child welfare agency, in turn, advises the universities on the content of the training and education in the university so graduates are better prepared for child welfare work.

Care of Medically Complex Children

Current law requires that children in this state be provided with the following:
- Protections from abuse, abandonment, neglect, and exploitation;
- A permanent and stable home;
- A safe and nurturing environment, which will preserve a sense of personal dignity and integrity;
- Adequate nutrition, shelter, and clothing;
- Effective treatment to address physical, social, and emotional needs, regardless of geographical location;
- Equal opportunity and access to quality and effective education, which will meet the individual needs of each child, and to recreation and other community resources to develop individual abilities;
- Access to preventive services; and

[38] Chapter 2011-163, Laws of Florida

- An independent, trained advocate, when intervention is necessary, and a skilled guardian or caregiver in a safe environment when alternative placement is necessary.[39]

Special provisions for medically complex children are not currently provided in statute.

Section 39.01(43), F.S., provides a definition of "necessary medical treatment" as care that is necessary within a reasonable degree of medical certainty to prevent the deterioration of a child's condition or to alleviate immediate pain of a child. Additionally, s. 39.01(44), F.S., sets out the circumstances for neglect of a child. The statute specifically provides that certain circumstances may not be considered neglect if caused primarily by financial inability unless actual services for relief have been offered and rejected by a parent. Also, a parent or legal custodian legitimately practicing religious beliefs in accordance with a recognized church or specific religious organization who does not provide specific medical treatment for a child, may not, for that reason alone, be considered a negligent parent or legal guardian. However, ch. 39, F.S., does not include a definition of "medical neglect" or special provisions related to the investigation of allegations of abuse, neglect, or abandonment when children with serious medical conditions are the reported victims.

Suspected child abuse, neglect, or abandonment may be reported to the DCF child abuse hotline regarding children with significant medical issues, as with any other children. Child Protection Teams, operated by the Department of Health (DOH), provide medical expertise to the DCF if there are medical issues associated with child abuse or neglect. However, the current law does not require the teams to coordinate their findings with physicians who have special knowledge of the medical condition of the child who is alleged to be the victim of abuse or neglect. Without the information possessed by those familiar with a particular disease or disability processes, parents can be found to be neglectful or abusive even when observed problems are related to insufficient services or a natural change in medical conditions.

In order to maintain these children in a safe environment that is the least restrictive, families with children who have medical issues need access to various medical and social services. These services are sometimes most readily available to the child in placements outside of the home. It is the current policy of the state, supported by federal and state law, that the parent or legal guardian decides what is best for the child. The state respects the parent or legal guardian's decision made in consultation with medical professionals. Many children with complex medical needs live safely in their homes with supportive services through the Florida Medicaid program.

Florida Medicaid has a comprehensive medical service package to accommodate families that choose to care for their medically complex child at home. Medical services are made available in the home, including private duty nursing, personal care assistance, home health aide services, and occupational, physical, and speech therapy when medically necessary, in unlimited amounts or durations for children in the Medicaid program.

The DCF requires foster care caseworkers to obtain high-level approval before placing any dependent child in a nursing home. Foster children already placed in nursing homes are reviewed monthly by the AHCA in an effort to return the children to their birth parents or place them in foster homes run by parents with specialized medical training.

The state is currently a party to a lawsuit related to the placement of medically complex children in settings such as nursing homes. The U.S. Department of Justice joined the lawsuit that alleges that the state violated the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA).[40] The AHCA has worked with the families of over 200 children in nursing homes under the Medicaid program to ensure they are aware of in-home health services and have been offered those services. In addition, the DCF and the Agency for Persons with Disabilities (APD) have worked with the families of medically complex children served by APD to ensure the least restrictive placement.

Statewide Medicaid Managed Care

Part IV of ch. 409, F.S., was created in 2011 by ch. 2011-134, L.O.F., and governs the Statewide Medicaid Managed Care program (SMMC). The program, authorized by two federal Medicaid waivers, is designed for the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) to issue invitations to negotiate[41] and competitively procure contracts with managed care plans in 11 regions of the state to provide comprehensive Medicaid coverage for most of the state's enrollees in the Medicaid program. SMMC has two components: managed medical assistance (MMA) and long-term care managed care (LTCMC).

The LTCMC component began enrolling Medicaid recipients in August 2013 and is scheduled to complete its statewide roll-out in March 2014.[42] The MMA component is scheduled to begin enrolling Medicaid recipients in May 2014 and finish its roll-out in August 2014.[43]

Provider Service Networks in SMMC

Types of managed care plans that are eligible for SMMC include health insurers, exclusive provider organizations, health maintenance organizations, provider service networks (PSNs), and federally-authorized accountable care organizations, among other entities.[44]

A PSN is defined as a type of managed care plan of which a controlling interest is owned by a health care provider, or group of affiliated providers, or a public agency or entity that delivers health services. For the purpose of this definition, "health care provider" includes Florida-licensed health care professionals or licensed health care facilities, federally qualified health care centers, and home health care agencies.[45]

The AHCA is required to procure a specified number of managed care plans per region or a number of plans that range between a minimum and maximum specified for each region. At least two plans per region must be procured, and at least one plan per region must be a PSN, if a PSN submits a responsive bid during the procurement. If no PSN submits a responsive bid for a region, the AHCA is required to procure no more than one less than the maximum number of plans for that region during the initial procurement and, within 12 months after the initial invitation to negotiate, attempt once again to procure a PSN for that region.[46]

Siblings

Current law includes legislative intent that when siblings are placed in out-of-home care, the DCF must make every possible effort to place them together. If they are permanently placed, the DCF must attempt to place them in the same adoptive home, and if placement together is not possible, the DCF must attempt to keep them in contact with each other.[47] The term "sibling" is not defined and there is no provision at specific points in the child welfare system, such as at removal or at judicial review, to ensure that the DCF is attending to issues relating to siblings.

Relative Caregiver Program

The Florida Legislature established the Relative Caregiver Program in 1998.[48] This program offers monthly cash assistance and Medicaid for a child under the age of 18 who is placed by a dependency court with a relative after the child is removed from his or her home as a result of abuse, neglect, or abandonment. The monthly payment provides financial help for a relative who would not be able to afford to care for the child without assistance. The amount of the payment varies depending on the child's age and circumstances. Medicaid pays for the child's health care. The child may also be eligible for subsidized child care.

Only persons who are within the fifth degree of relationship by blood or marriage to the parent or stepparent of a dependent child or a half-brother or half-sister of a dependent child and who are caring full-time for the child, are eligible for the Program.

Under the Relative Caregiver Program, the child may be in temporary custody of the relative under the protective supervision of the DCF, may be placed under guardianship, [49] or may be placed permanently with the relative.[50] Either of the last two options is considered a permanency placement for the child. Continued supervision of the placement by the DCF is required under the permanent placement option, but not under the guardianship option.

Funding for the Relative Caregiver Program is through Florida's share of the block grant for Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF), in accordance with Title IV-A of the Social Security Act (SSA). The SSA lists the purposes of the TANF program in Title IV-A, section 401. This section specifically states that one of the purposes is to "provide assistance to needy families so that children may be cared for in their own homes or in the homes of relatives."

[46] See s. 409.974(1), F.S.
[47] Section 39.001(1)(k), F.S.
[48] Chapter 98-403, s. 70, Laws of Florida.
[49] Section 39.6221, F.S.
[50] Section 39.6231, F.S.

The DCF currently places children with nonrelatives under court-ordered supervision, but has not been able to pay the nonrelatives due to restrictions on the TANF funding source. These children are placed in the nonrelative homes after studies by the DCF. The only current difference between relative and nonrelative placements is that relatives receive payments to offset the cost of caring for the children and nonrelatives do not. As of December 31, 2012, there were 1,552 children in the care of nonrelatives under DCF supervision. The estimated monthly Relative Caregiver cost per child is $257.09 for an average annual total of $3,087 per child.[51]

Public Disclosure of Child Deaths

There is currently no mechanism by which child deaths that have been reported to the DCF's child abuse hotline are made public. Arkansas has a database by which such deaths are reported, along with basic facts related to the case. This information is made available through the Arkansas social services website.[52]

Child Abuse Death Review Committee

The State Child Abuse Death Review Committee (CADR) was established in Florida in 1999 by statute.[53] Case reviews began in 2000 and were expanded in 2004 to include all verified child abuse deaths. Current law establishes the CADR and local child abuse death review committees within the Department of Health (DOH).[54] The CADR is composed of 18 members, including experts from the medical, law enforcement, social services, and advocacy professions.[55]

Members convene every other month to review facts and circumstances of the deaths of children whose deaths have been investigated by the DCF and closed with a "verified" finding of child abuse or neglect. The purpose of the child death review is to help prevent child deaths as a result of abuse or neglect by:[56]

- Developing a community-based approach to address child abuse deaths and contributing factors;
- Achieving a greater understanding of the causes and contributing factors of deaths resulting from child abuse or neglect;
- Identifying gaps, deficiencies, or problems in service delivery to children and families by public and private agencies that may be related to child abuse deaths; and
- Developing and implementing data-driven recommendations for reducing child abuse and neglect deaths.

The CADR is required to submit an annual statistical report to the governor and the Legislature by December 31 containing recommendations to reduce preventable child deaths.[57]

Local child abuse death review committees also conduct reviews of the verified deaths of children in their respective communities to develop prevention campaigns and prepare recommendations for improving local practices in child protection and support services to families. There are 23 local committees that provide coverage for Florida's 67 counties.[58]

During 2011, 2,241 children under the age of 18 died in Florida. Of those deaths, 474 were reported to the Florida Abuse Hotline and 130 deaths were verified by the DCF as being related to child abuse or neglect. The CADR received 126 cases for review during the period of January through November 2012. The CADR is statutorily limited to the review of "verified" child death reports.[59]

Statutory Provisions Relating to Community-Based Care Lead Agencies

The transition from government-delivered to outsourced child welfare sources began in earnest in Florida in 1996, when the Legislature directed the DCF to contract with established community-based organizations to establish pilot projects for the provision of foster care and related services.[60] In 1998, the Legislature required the DCF to privatize the provision of all foster care and related services statewide. The transition was completed in Fiscal Year 2004-2005. Currently, there are 19 community-based care lead agencies (lead agencies) providing child welfare services statewide.

From the beginning of the outsourcing of child welfare services, s. 409.1671, F.S., has been the primary statute providing legislative direction for the process. Consequently, the statute contains many provisions that are obsolete, some which are current, and some which need clarification. For example, there is no provision in statute currently describing the duties of the DCF in an outsourced child welfare system.

In addition, currently there is not a statutory requirement that the lead agencies be incorporated under Florida law. Also, the duty to provide community input for lead agencies is buried in the other duties ascribed to DCF Community Alliances, which are at present located in the DCF organizational statute, ch. 20.19, F.S.

Unlawful Desertion of a Child

Adoption is a legal process, but the process is not always properly carried-out, which can put children in danger. Beginning on September 9, 2013, Reuters New Service published a five-part series, entitled "The Child Exchange," which exposed how American parents were using Internet message boards to find new families for children they regretted adopting – a practice that has been called "private re-homing." Reuters spent 18 months investigating eight message boards where participants advertised unwanted children and examined two dozen cases in which adopted children were re-homed.[61] The investigative series found:

- An advertisement for re-homing appeared, on average, at least once per week;
- The average range for children being advertised for re-homing is 6 to 14 years of age;
- Re-homing is accomplished through basic power of attorney documents which allow the new guardians of the child to enroll the child in school or secure government benefits;
- At least 70 percent of the children offered for re-homing on one Yahoo message board had been adopted from foreign countries;
- Only 29 states have laws that govern how children can be advertised for adoption;[62] and
- The Interstate Compact for the Placement of Children, which is meant to be a safeguard against the improper placement of children across state lines, is often not enforced by law enforcement.[63]

Florida law currently contains no criminal provisions specifically relating to re-homing.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 amends s. 20.19, F.S., to direct the secretary of the Department of Children and Families (DCF) to appoint an assistant secretary for child welfare to spearhead the DCF's efforts to carry out its duties and responsibilities for child protection and child welfare, and specifies the qualifications for a person appointed to that position.

Section 2 amends s. 39.001, F.S., to:

- Provide that the safety of children is the paramount concern of the chapter;
- Emphasize the importance of siblings remaining in contact with one another;
- Preserve and strengthen families caring for medically complex children; and
- Make specific provisions relating to medically complex children.

Section 3 amends s. 39.01, F.S., to provide definitions for "impending danger," "medical neglect," "present danger," "safety plan," and "sibling" and to remove obsolete provisions.

Section 4 amends s. 39.013, F.S., to require that the DCF be represented by legal counsel in every dependency proceeding and to give direction to DCF lawyers.

Section 5 amends s. 39.201, F.S., to require that all incidents of juvenile sexual abuse involving a child who is in the custody of or under the supervision of the DCF to be reported to the child abuse hotline and to require the DCF to inform the court at the next hearing or in its next report to the court about the facts and results of such investigations of child sexual abuse.

Section 6 creates s. 39.2015, F.S., effective January 1, 2015, to establish a critical incident rapid response team within the DCF, to outline its duties and composition, and to require cooperative agreements with other entities and organizations to facilitate the work of the team. This section also requires that the reports of the team be published on the DCF website. The DCF secretary is required to develop guidelines and training for the teams, directing them to conduct a root-cause analysis for each incident. In addition, the secretary is directed to appoint an advisory committee to conduct an independent review of the reports of the critical incident rapid response teams and submit a report to the secretary, who is required to provide the report to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Section 7 creates s. 39.2022, F.S., to require the DCF to report on its website basic facts about all deaths of children reported to the DCF child abuse hotline and describes the information to be posted on the website.

Section 8 amends s. 39.301, F.S., to provide direction to investigators about the use of safety plans during the investigation of allegations of child abuse, neglect, or abandonment. The bill requires the investigator to work with the community-based care lead agency (lead agency) to implement the safety plan.

Section 9 amends s. 39.303, F.S., to require that child protection teams evaluating a report of medical neglect and assessing the health care needs of a medically complex child consult with a physician who has experience in treating children with the same condition.

Section 10 creates s. 39.3068, F.S., to describe special procedures to be followed by child protective investigators and child protection teams when investigating a report of medical neglect.

Section 11 amends s. 39.307, F.S., to describe procedures for the DCF to follow after receiving a report to the child abuse hotline alleging that a child is involved in child sexual abuse or inappropriate sexual behavior. The department must maintain certain records and consider the report in placement decisions for the dependent child.

Section 12 amends s. 39.402, F.S, to provide that the DCF must, as part of the information presented to the dependency court at a shelter hearing, describe its reasonable efforts to keep siblings together after removal, unless the court finds that placement together is not in the best interest of the children. Reasonable efforts to keep sibling together must include short-term placement in a group home with the ability to accommodate sibling groups if such a placement is available. This section also requires that, if siblings cannot be placed together, the DCF must provide a recommendation for frequent visitation or other ongoing interaction among the siblings unless this interaction would be contrary to a sibling's safety or well-being.

Section 13 amends s. 39.501, F.S., to add noncompliance with a safety plan as information to be included in a petition for dependency.

Section 14 amends s. 39.504, F.S., to add compliance with a safety plan to the actions which may be ordered by the court in issuing an injunction to protect a child.

Section 15 amends s. 39.5085, F.S., to add nonrelative caregivers to those who qualify for the DCF relative caregiver program. These placements are already approved by the court and used by the DCF, but the bill will allow nonrelatives to be reimbursed for the cost of caring for the child.

Section 16 amends s. 39.604, F.S., (the Rilya Wilson Act) to change the beginning age when a child under court-ordered supervision or in the custody of the DCF must be enrolled in child care from age three to birth. Enrollment in such a program is made a part of the child's safety plan. The requirement extends until the child is enrolled in school.

Section 17 amends s. 39.701, F.S., to require the DCF to report to the court at the time of judicial review hearings the frequency, kind, and duration of contacts among siblings during placement, as well as any efforts undertaken to reunite separated siblings if doing so is in the best interest of the children. It also adds the requirement that the court, at the time of the special judicial review hearing already required following the child's 17th birthday, to issue an order removing certain disabilities of non-age for the child if the court finds that removal of these disabilities is in the child's best interest.

Section 18 amends s. 39.802, F.S, to remove a requirement that petitions for termination of parental rights be signed by an employee of the DCF. The Florida Rules of Juvenile Procedure require that pleadings in dependency cases be signed by attorneys. In several parts of the state, legal services are provided by contracted attorneys through the Attorney General's Office or the Office of the State Attorney. The current requirement causes inefficiencies in preparing the petitions, as the attorneys must seek out a department employee to sign petitions which have been prepared by the attorneys. In parts of the state where attorneys employed by the DCF prepare the petitions, the attorneys sign the petitions.

Section 19 amends s. 39.806, F.S., to add additional grounds for filing a termination of parental rights petition. The first is that the child has been in care for 12 of the last 22 months and the parents have not substantially complied with the case plan, unless the failure results from financial inability or the failure of the DCF to make reasonable efforts to reunify. The second assumes a legal nexus between a conviction for serious crimes such as murder and the potential harm to a child in the family. The bill also clarifies that proof of a nexus between egregious conduct and the potential harm to a child's sibling is not required. Additionally, proof of a nexus between the murder, manslaughter, aiding or abetting the murder, or conspiracy or solicitation to murder the other parent or another child, or a felony battery to a child and the potential harm to a child or another child is not required. Finally, the conviction of a parent of an offense that requires the parent to register as a sexual predator is added as a grounds for termination of parental rights of a child.

Section 20 amends s. 63.212, F.S, to clarify provisions relating to the advertisement of minors available for adoption.

Section 21 amends s. 383.402, F.S., to direct the child abuse death review committees of the Department of Health to review all deaths of children reported to the DCF child abuse hotline, not just deaths verified as caused by abuse or neglect. It changes the requirement for a board certified pediatrician on the statewide team to a requirement that the Statewide Medical Director for Child Protection be a member. This section also changes the due date of the annual report of the statewide committee from December 31 to October 1 of each year. It requires that the statewide team make available training on the dynamics and impact of domestic violence, substance abuse, or mental health disorders when there is a co-occurrence of these disorders with child abuse, and specifies the providers for this training.

Section 22 amends s. 402.40, F.S., to require that third-party credentialing entities maintain an advisory committee and specifies the membership of such committees. The bill also provides that the DCF may approve certifications involving specializations in serving specific populations or in skills relevant to child protection.

Section 23 creates s. 402.402, F.S., to define "child protection and child welfare personnel" to include child protective investigators and child protective investigation supervisors employed by the department and case managers and case manager supervisors employed by a community-based lead agency or a subcontractor of a community-based lead agency. It also defines "human services-related field" as psychology, sociology, counseling, special education, human development, child development, family development, marriage and family therapy, and nursing. It establishes a goal that, by July 1, 2019, at least half of all child protective investigators and child protective supervisors employed by the department have bachelor's or master's degrees in social work. It requires that the department, in collaboration with lead agencies, subcontracted provider organizations, the Florida Institute for Child Welfare, and other partners in the child welfare system, develop a protocol for screening candidates for child protective positions which reflects the preferences set forth in the section. It provides that the preferences serve only as guidance in hiring and do not limit the department's discretion to select the best available candidates. It requires the department to report by October 1 of each year on the educational qualifications, turnover, and working conditions of the child protective investigators and supervisors. This report is to be provided to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

This section also describes training required for attorneys hired after July 1, 2014, to represent the DCF in child welfare cases.

Section 24 creates s. 402.403, F.S., to establish a child protection and child welfare personnel tuition exemption program and sets out the qualifications for obtaining the exemption. The program is for high-performing child protection and child welfare personnel who do not have a master's degree in social work or a certificate in an area related to child welfare. The bill requires that all child protection and child welfare personnel who participate in the tuition exemption program established under this section must remain employed by the department, a state agency, or a contracted provider for 5 years after completion of a graduate level social work program. It mandates that if employment ends before the 5-year period, the benefit must be repaid according to a pro rata calculation based on the number of years of service.

Section 25 creates s. 402.404, F.S., to establish a student loan forgiveness program for child protection and child welfare staff and sets out the qualifications for obtaining the loan forgiveness. Approximately half of all graduates from the state university system have a student loan debt.[64] The bill allows the DCF or a lead agency to pay up to $3,000 per year towards the student loan debt as an incentive for degreed social workers to become child protection or child welfare personnel. The bill requires that all child protection and child welfare personnel who participate in the tuition exemption program established under this section must remain employed by the department, a state agency, or a contracted provider for 5 years after completion of a graduate level social work program. It mandates that if employment ends before the 5-year period, the benefit must be repaid according to a pro rata calculation based on the number of years of service. The DCF is directed to prioritize the use of funds appropriated for this purpose to regions with high average caseloads and low workforce retention rates.

Section 26 amends s. 409.165, F.S., to direct the DCF to work with relevant state and local agencies to develop medical foster homes for medically complex children and to provide such services as may be necessary to maintain such children in the least restrictive and most nurturing environment consistent with their needs. The bill also provides that funds for the care of such *-children can be spent for care in their own homes or the homes of relatives if the children can be safely served and the cost is equal to or less than the cost of out-of-home placement.

Section 27 amends s. 409.967, F.S., to require managed care plans serving children in the care and custody of DCF to make information available to DCF for inclusion in the state's child welfare data system. It directs the DCF and the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) to use the information provided to determine the plan's compliance with standards for access to medical, dental, and behavioral health services, the use of psychotropic medications, and follow-up on all medically necessary services recommended as a result of early and periodic screening diagnosis and treatment.

Section 28 amends s. 409.972, F.S., to exempt Medicaid recipients residing in a group home facility licensed under chapter 393, relating to developmental disabilities, from mandatory managed care enrollment.

Section 29 directs the Division of Law Revision and Information to create part V of ch. 409, F.S., to be entitled "Community-Based Child Welfare."

Section 30 moves and revises provisions from s. 409.1671, F.S., to create s. 409.986, F.S. The new section provides legislative findings, intent, outcomes, and definitions related to the care of children through community-based care.

Section 31 moves and revises provisions from s. 409.1671, F.S., to create s. 409.987, F.S. The new section clarifies the requirements for the DCF to procure community-based care lead agencies. The procurement must be conducted through a competitive process required by ch. 287, F.S. The bill sets the requirements for an entity to compete for the award of a contract as a lead agency. The bill requires that the procurement be done in consultation with local community alliances.

Section 32 moves and revises provisions from s. 409.1671, F.S., and 409.1675, F.S., to create s. 409.988, F.S. The new section outlines the duties of the lead agencies and to authorize subcontracting for the provision of child welfare services.

Section 33 moves and revises provisions from s. 409.1671, F.S., and 409.16745, F.S., to create s. 409.990, F.S. The new section describes general funding provisions for lead agencies.

Section 34 moves provisions from 409.16713, F.S., to create s. 409.991, F.S. The new section remains unchanged and describes the allocation of funds for lead agencies.

Section 35 moves and revises provisions from s. 409.1671, F.S., to create s. 409.992, F.S. The new section provides for lead agency expenditures, requiring that these expenditures be governed by financial guidelines developed by the DCF and must comply with applicable state and federal law as well as good business practices. The auditor general is authorized to provide technical assistance in the development of the guidelines.

Section 36 moves and clarifies provisions from s. 409.1671, F.S., to create s. 409.993, F.S., to describe lead agency and subcontractor liability. The contents of this section are currently found in s. 409.1671(1)(h)-(l), F.S.

Section 37 transfers and renumbers the current s. 409.1675, F.S., to create s. 409.994, F.S., describing lead agencies and receivership.

Section 38 creates s. 409.996, F.S., to describe the duties of the DCF in contracting for community-based child welfare services.

Section 39 creates s. 409.997, F.S., effective January 1, 2015, to direct the DCF to maintain a comprehensive results-oriented accountability system. The section requires that the DCF outsource the e accountability system that monitors the use of resources, the quality and amount of services provided, and the child and family outcomes through data analysis, research review, evaluation, and quality improvement. The DCF is directed to report to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives by February 1, 2015, the results of its efforts to procure and implement the system. Additionally, the DCF is required to report the results of the accountability system at least quarterly on its website as well as annually by October 1 to the Governor, the President t of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives. In preparing the annual report, the department is directed to consult with the community alliance and the chief judge or judges in the community-based care service area.

Section 40 creates s. 827.10, F.S., to establish the criminal offense of unlawful desertion of a child and provides definitions and penalties. This will provide a tool for prosecutors to stop the unlawful adoptions practice referred to as "re-homing."

Section 41 amends s. 985.04, F.S., to correct a term relative to juvenile sexual abuse.

Section 42 creates s. 1004.615, F.S., to establish the Florida Institute for Child Welfare (FICW) and to set forth the purpose, duties, and responsibilities of the institute. The FICW is defined as a consortium of the state's public and private university schools of social work. The FICW is charged to advise the state on child welfare policy, improve the curriculum for social work degree programs, and develop on-the-job training for child protective investigators and child welfare case managers. The bill requires the FICW to provide a report annually by October 1 to the governor, the president of the Senate, and the speaker of the House of Representatives to describe its activities in the preceding fiscal year, present significant research findings and results of other programs, and make specific recommendations for improving child protection and child welfare services.

Section 43 amends s. 1009.25, F.S., to add child protection and child welfare personnel who meet specified criteria to the list of persons exempted from payment of tuition and fees at a state college or state university under certain circumstances.

Section 44 repeals s. 402.401, F.S., which contains provisions relating to student loan forgiveness. The bill makes this statute obsolete.

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

Private schools of social work may see an increased enrollment of students as a result of CS/SB 1666.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill has fiscal impacts that are anticipated to be addressed in the General Appropriations Act, which could include the following:

The annual cost of an additional assistant secretary and an executive assistant in the DCF will be approximately $260,000.

The bill calls for the creation of critical incident rapid response teams to review certain child abuse deaths. The team members may be reimbursed for expenses and salaries. It is unknown how many cases each year would be investigated by the teams so the cost of these new investigations is unknown.

The bill requires the posting on the DCF website of information relating to child deaths reported to the DCF hotline. The information is currently collected and maintained in the Florida Safe Families Network (FSFN). The costs to post this information on the DCF website would be insignificant.

The bill allows for the payment to nonrelatives willing to assume custody and care of a dependent child. Based on the number of children currently in this placement, the DCF estimates that the cost could be up to $4.8 million each year.

The bill expands the cases reviewed by the State Child Abuse Death Review Committee. The reviews cost $714 each and the costs are paid from the expense budget of the Department of Health. Based on these current costs and an estimated additional 346 cases to be reviewed under the bill, the increased costs could be $247,143 each year.

The requirement in the bill that the department pursue a goal of having 50 percent of its child protective investigators and supervisors hold a social work degree by July 1, 2019, should have little or no fiscal impact. The cost of the tuition exemption program to the state university system cannot be determined until the number of persons taking advantage of the program is known.

There will be costs associated with the loan forgiveness program. The costs will be limited by the amount of funding appropriated by the Legislature. Using the current number of department CPIs (1,522) and an average turnover rate of 24 percent, then an additional 365 CPIs would be hired each year. If all of these new hires are social workers and receive the loan repayment amount of $3,000, then the annual cost estimate could range as high as $1,095,000.

The establishment of the Institute for Child Welfare would have associated costs depending on the structure or the institute. Similar consortiums of Florida universities can cost between $500,000 and $2 million, according to the Florida Board of Governors.

39.001 Purposes and intent; personnel standards and screening.—

(1) PURPOSES OF CHAPTER.—The purposes of this chapter are:

(b) To recognize that most families desire to be competent caregivers and providers for their children and that children achieve their greatest potential when families are able to support and nurture the growth and development of their children. Therefore, the Legislature finds that policies and procedures that provide for prevention and intervention through the department's child protection system should be based on the following principles:

1. The health and safety of the children served shall be of paramount concern.

2. The prevention and intervention should engage families in constructive, supportive, and nonadversarial relationships.

3. The prevention and intervention should intrude as little as possible into the life of the family, be focused on clearly defined objectives, and keep the safety of the child or children as the paramount concern ~~take the most parsimonious path to remedy a family's problems~~.

4. The prevention and intervention should be based upon outcome evaluation results that demonstrate success in protecting children and supporting families.

(c) To provide a child protection system that reflects a partnership between the department, other agencies, the courts, law enforcement agencies, service providers, and local communities.

(g) To ensure that the parent or legal custodian from whose custody the child has been taken assists the department to the fullest extent possible in locating relatives suitable to serve as caregivers for the child and provides all medical and educational information, or consent for access thereto, needed to help the child.

(k) To make every possible effort, if ~~when~~ two or more children who are in the care or under the supervision of the department are siblings, to place the siblings in the same home; and in the event of permanent placement of the siblings, to place them in the same adoptive home or, if the siblings are separated while under the care or supervision of the department or in a permanent placement, to keep them in contact with each other.

(o) To preserve and strengthen families who are caring for medically complex children.

(p) To provide protective investigations that are conducted by trained persons in a complete and fair manner, that are promptly concluded, and that consider the purposes of this subsection and the general protections provided by law relating to child welfare.

(3) GENERAL PROTECTIONS FOR CHILDREN.—It is a purpose of the Legislature that the children of this state be provided with the following protections:

(f) Access to sufficient supports and services for medically complex children to allow them to remain in the least restrictive and most nurturing environment, which includes services in an amount and scope comparable to those services the child would receive in out-of-home care placement.

(4) SERVICES FOR MEDICALLY COMPLEX CHILDREN.—The department shall maintain a program of family-centered services and supports for medically complex children. The purpose of the program is to prevent abuse and neglect of medically complex children while enhancing the capacity of families to provide for their children's needs. Program services must include outreach, early intervention, and the provision of other supports and services to meet the child's needs. The department shall collaborate with all relevant state and local agencies to provide needed services.

(9) ~~(8)~~ OFFICE OF ADOPTION AND CHILD PROTECTION.—

(c) The office is authorized and directed to:

1. Oversee the preparation and implementation of the state plan established under subsection (10) ~~(9)~~ and revise and update the state plan as necessary.

2. Provide for or make available continuing professional education and training in the prevention of child abuse and neglect.

An annual progress report shall be submitted to update the state plan in the years between the 5-year intervals. In order to avoid duplication of effort, these required plans may

Section 3. Present subsections (59) through (65) of section 39.01, Florida Statutes, are redesignated as subsections (60) through (66), respectively, present subsections (67) through (69) are redesignated as subsections (68) through (70), respectively, present subsections (70) through (76) are redesignated as subsections (72) through (78), respectively, new subsections (31), (41), (59), (67), and (71) are added to that section, and subsections (7), (14), (18), (22), (26), and (27) and present subsections (28) through (41), (59), and (65) of that section are amended, to read:

39.01 Definitions.—When used in this chapter, unless the context otherwise requires:

(7) ~~"Alleged juvenile sexual offender" means:~~

~~(a) A child 12 years of age or younger who is alleged to have committed a violation of chapter 794, chapter 796, chapter 800, s. 827.071, or s. 847.0133; or~~

~~(b) A child who is alleged to have committed any violation of law or delinquent act involving juvenile sexual abuse.~~

"Juvenile sexual abuse" means any sexual behavior which occurs without consent, without equality, or as a result of coercion. For purposes of this subsection ~~paragraph~~, the following definitions apply:

(a)~~1.~~ "Coercion" means the exploitation of authority or the use of bribes, threats of force, or intimidation to gain cooperation or compliance.

(b)~~2.~~ "Equality" means two participants operating with the same level of power in a relationship, neither being controlled nor coerced by the other.

(c)~~3.~~ "Consent" means an agreement, including all of the following:

1.~~a.~~ Understanding what is proposed based on age, maturity, developmental level, functioning, and experience.

2.~~b.~~ Knowledge of societal standards for what is being proposed.

3.~~c.~~ Awareness of potential consequences and alternatives.

4.~~d.~~ Assumption that agreement or disagreement will be accepted equally.

5.~~e.~~ Voluntary decision.

6.~~f.~~ Mental competence.

Juvenile sexual ~~offender~~ behavior ranges from noncontact sexual behavior such as making obscene phone calls, exhibitionism, voyeurism, and the showing or taking of lewd photographs to varying degrees of direct sexual contact, such as frottage, fondling, digital penetration, rape, fellatio, sodomy, and various other sexually aggressive acts.

(14) "Child who has exhibited inappropriate sexual behavior" means a child ~~who is 12 years of age or younger and~~ who has been found by the department or the court to have committed an inappropriate sexual act.

(18) "Comprehensive assessment" or "assessment" means the gathering of information for the evaluation of a child's and caregiver's physical, psychiatric, psychological, or mental health; developmental delays or challenges; and~~,~~ educational, vocational, and social condition and family environment as they relate to the child's and caregiver's need for rehabilitative and treatment services, including substance abuse treatment services, mental health services, developmental services, literacy services, medical services, family services, and other specialized services, as appropriate.

(22) "Diligent efforts by a parent" means a course of conduct which results in a meaningful change in the behavior of a parent that reduces ~~reduction in~~ risk to the child in the child's home to the extent that ~~would allow~~ the child may ~~to~~ be safely placed permanently back in the home as set forth in the case plan.

~~(26) "District" means any one of the 15 service districts of the department established pursuant to s. 20.19.~~

~~(27) "District administrator" means the chief operating officer of each service district of the department as defined in s. 20.19(5) and, where appropriate, includes any district administrator whose service district falls within the boundaries of a judicial circuit.~~

(26)~~(28)~~ "Expedited termination of parental rights" means proceedings wherein a case plan with the goal of reunification is not being offered.

(27)~~(29)~~ "False report" means a report of abuse, neglect, or abandonment of a child to the central abuse hotline, which report is maliciously made for the purpose of:

(a) Harassing, embarrassing, or harming another person;

(b) Personal financial gain for the reporting person;

(c) Acquiring custody of a child; or

(d) Personal benefit for the reporting person in any other private dispute involving a child.

The term "false report" does not include a report of abuse, neglect, or abandonment of a child made in good faith to the central abuse hotline.

(28) ~~(30)~~ "Family" means a collective body of persons, consisting of a child and a parent, legal custodian, or adult relative, in which:

(a) The persons reside in the same house or living unit; or

(b) The parent, legal custodian, or adult relative has a legal responsibility by blood, marriage, or court order to support or care for the child.

(29) ~~(31)~~ "Foster care" means care provided a child in a foster family or boarding home, group home, agency boarding home, child care institution, or any combination thereof.

(30) ~~(32)~~ "Harm" to a child's health or welfare can occur when any person:

(a) Inflicts or allows to be inflicted upon the child physical, mental, or emotional injury. In determining whether harm has occurred, the following factors must be considered in evaluating any physical, mental, or emotional injury to a child: the age of the child; any prior history of injuries to the child; the location of the injury on the body of the child; the multiplicity of the injury; and the type of trauma inflicted. Such injury includes, but is not limited to:

1. Willful acts that produce the following specific injuries:

a. Sprains, dislocations, or cartilage damage.

b. Bone or skull fractures.

c. Brain or spinal cord damage.

d. Intracranial hemorrhage or injury to other internal organs.

e. Asphyxiation, suffocation, or drowning.

f. Injury resulting from the use of a deadly weapon.

g. Burns or scalding.

h. Cuts, lacerations, punctures, or bites.

i. Permanent or temporary disfigurement.

j. Permanent or temporary loss or impairment of a body part or function.

As used in this subparagraph, the term "willful" refers to the intent to perform an action, not to the intent to achieve a result or to cause an injury.

2. Purposely giving a child poison, alcohol, drugs, or other substances that substantially affect the child's behavior, motor coordination, or judgment or that result in sickness or internal injury. For the purposes of this subparagraph, the term "drugs" means prescription drugs not prescribed for the child or not administered as prescribed, and controlled substances as outlined in Schedule I or Schedule II of s. 893.03.

3. Leaving a child without adult supervision or arrangement appropriate for the child's age or mental or physical condition, so that the child is unable to care for the child's own needs or another's basic needs or is unable to exercise good judgment in responding to any kind of physical or emotional crisis.

4. Inappropriate or excessively harsh disciplinary action that is likely to result in physical injury, mental injury as defined in this section, or emotional injury. The significance of any injury must be evaluated in light of the following factors: the age of the child; any prior history of injuries to the child; the location of the injury on the body of the child; the multiplicity of the injury; and the type of trauma inflicted. Corporal discipline may be considered excessive or abusive when it results in any of the following or other similar injuries:

a. Sprains, dislocations, or cartilage damage.

b. Bone or skull fractures.

c. Brain or spinal cord damage.

d. Intracranial hemorrhage or injury to other internal organs.

e. Asphyxiation, suffocation, or drowning.

f. Injury resulting from the use of a deadly weapon.

g. Burns or scalding.

h. Cuts, lacerations, punctures, or bites.

i. Permanent or temporary disfigurement.

j. Permanent or temporary loss or impairment of a body part or function.

k. Significant bruises or welts.

(b) Commits, or allows to be committed, sexual battery, as defined in chapter 794, or lewd or lascivious acts, as defined in chapter 800, against the child.

(c) Allows, encourages, or forces the sexual exploitation of a child, which includes allowing, encouraging, or forcing a child to:

1. Solicit for or engage in prostitution; or

2. Engage in a sexual performance, as defined by chapter 827.

(d) Exploits a child, or allows a child to be exploited, as provided in s. 450.151.

(e) Abandons the child. Within the context of the definition of "harm," the term "abandoned the child" or "abandonment of the child" means a situation in which the parent or legal custodian of a child or, in the absence of a parent or legal custodian, the caregiver, while being able, has made no significant contribution to the child's care and maintenance or has failed to establish or maintain a substantial and positive relationship with the child, or both. For purposes of this paragraph, "establish or maintain a substantial and positive relationship" includes, but is not limited to, frequent and regular contact with the child through frequent and regular visitation or frequent and regular communication to or with the child, and the exercise of parental rights and responsibilities. Marginal efforts and incidental or token visits or communications are not sufficient to establish or maintain a substantial and positive relationship with a child. The term "abandoned" does not include a surrendered newborn infant as described in s. 383.50, a child in need of services as defined in chapter 984, or a family in need of services as defined in chapter 984. The incarceration, repeated incarceration, or extended incarceration of a parent, legal custodian, or caregiver responsible for a child's welfare may support a finding of abandonment.

(f) Neglects the child. Within the context of the definition of "harm," the term "neglects the child" means that the parent or other person responsible for the child's welfare fails to supply the child with adequate food, clothing, shelter, or health care, although financially able to do so or although offered financial or other means to do so. However, a parent or legal custodian who, by reason of the legitimate practice of religious beliefs, does not provide specified medical treatment for a child may not be considered abusive or neglectful for that reason alone, but such an exception does not:

1. Eliminate the requirement that such a case be reported to the department;

2. Prevent the department from investigating such a case; or

3. Preclude a court from ordering, when the health of the child requires it, the provision of medical services by a physician, as defined in this section, or treatment by a duly accredited practitioner who relies solely on spiritual means for healing in accordance with the tenets and practices of a well-recognized church or religious organization.

(g) Exposes a child to a controlled substance or alcohol. Exposure to a controlled substance or alcohol is established by:

1. A test, administered at birth, which indicated that the child's blood, urine, or meconium contained any amount of alcohol or a controlled substance or metabolites of such substances, the presence of which was not the result of medical treatment administered to the mother or the newborn infant; or

2. Evidence of extensive, abusive, and chronic use of a controlled substance or alcohol by a parent when the child is demonstrably adversely affected by such usage.

As used in this paragraph, the term "controlled substance" means prescription drugs not prescribed for the parent or not administered as prescribed and controlled substances as outlined in Schedule I or Schedule II of s. 893.03.

(h) Uses mechanical devices, unreasonable restraints, or extended periods of isolation to control a child.

(i) Engages in violent behavior that demonstrates a wanton disregard for the presence of a child and could reasonably result in serious injury to the child.

(j) Negligently fails to protect a child in his or her care from inflicted physical, mental, or sexual injury caused by the acts of another.

(k) Has allowed a child's sibling to die as a result of abuse, abandonment, or neglect.

(l) Makes the child unavailable for the purpose of impeding or avoiding a protective investigation unless the court determines that the parent, legal custodian, or caregiver was fleeing from a situation involving domestic violence.

(31) "Impending danger" means a situation in which family behaviors, attitudes, motives, emotions, or situations pose a threat that may not be currently active but that can be anticipated to become active and to have severe effects on a child at any time.

(32) ~~(33)~~ "Institutional child abuse or neglect" means situations of known or suspected child abuse or neglect in which the person allegedly perpetrating the child abuse or neglect is an employee of a private school, public or private day care center, residential home, institution, facility, or agency or any other person at such institution responsible for the child's care as defined in subsection (47).

(33) ~~(34)~~ "Judge" means the circuit judge exercising jurisdiction pursuant to this chapter.

(34) ~~(35)~~ "Legal custody" means a legal status created by a court which vests in a custodian of the person or guardian, whether an agency or an individual, the right to have physical custody of the child and the right and duty to protect, nurture, guide, and discipline the child and to provide him or her with food, shelter, education, and ordinary medical, dental, psychiatric, and psychological care.

(35) ~~(36)~~ "Licensed child-caring agency" means a person, society, association, or agency licensed by the department to care for, receive, and board children.

(36) ~~(37)~~ "Licensed child-placing agency" means a person, society, association, or institution licensed by the department to care for, receive, or board children and to place children in a licensed child-caring institution or a foster or adoptive home.

(37) ~~(38)~~ "Licensed health care professional" means a physician licensed under chapter 458, an osteopathic physician licensed under chapter 459, a nurse licensed under part I of chapter 464, a physician assistant licensed under chapter 458 or chapter 459, or a dentist licensed under chapter 466.

(38) ~~(39)~~ "Likely to injure oneself" means that, as evidenced by violent or other actively self-destructive behavior, it is more likely than not that within a 24-hour period the child will attempt to commit suicide or inflict serious bodily harm on himself or herself.

(39)~~(40)~~ "Likely to injure others" means that it is more likely than not that within a 24-hour period the child will inflict serious and unjustified bodily harm on another person.

(40)~~(41)~~ "Mediation" means a process whereby a neutral third person called a mediator acts to encourage and facilitate the resolution of a dispute between two or more parties. It is an informal and nonadversarial process with the objective of helping the disputing parties reach a mutually acceptable and voluntary agreement. The role of the mediator includes, but is not limited to, assisting the parties in identifying issues, fostering joint problem solving, and exploring settlement alternatives.

(41) "Medical neglect" means the failure to provide or the failure to allow needed care as recommended by a health care practitioner for a physical injury, illness, medical condition, or impairment, or the failure to seek timely and appropriate medical care for a serious health problem that a reasonable person would have recognized as requiring professional medical attention. Medical neglect does not occur if the parent or legal guardian of the child has made reasonable attempts to obtain necessary health care services or the immediate health condition giving rise to the allegation of neglect is a known and expected complication of the child's diagnosis or treatment and:

(a) The recommended care offers limited net benefit to the child and the morbidity or other side effects of the treatment may be considered to be greater than the anticipated benefit; or

(b) The parent or legal guardian received conflicting medical recommendations for treatment from multiple practitioners and did not follow all recommendations.

(59) "Present danger" means a significant and clearly observable family condition that is occurring at the current moment and is already endangering or threatening to endanger the child. Present danger threats are conspicuous and require that an immediate protective action be taken to ensure the child's safety.

(60) ~~(59)~~ "Preventive services" means social services and other supportive and rehabilitative services provided to the parent or legal custodian of the child and to the child for the purpose of averting the removal of the child from the home or disruption of a family which will or could result in the placement of a child in foster care. Social services and other supportive and rehabilitative services shall promote the child's developmental needs and need for physical, mental, and emotional health and a safe, stable, living environment; ~~,~~ shall promote family autonomy; ~~,~~ and shall strengthen family life, whenever possible.

(66) ~~(65)~~ "Reunification services" means social services and other supportive and rehabilitative services provided to the parent of the child, to the child, and, where appropriate, to the relative placement, nonrelative placement, or foster parents of the child, for the purpose of enabling a child who has been placed in out-of-home care to safely return to his or her parent at the earliest possible time. The health and safety of the child shall be the paramount goal of social services and other supportive and rehabilitative services. The services shall promote the child's need for physical, developmental, mental, and emotional health and a safe, stable, living environment; ~~,~~ shall promote family autonomy;~~,~~ and shall strengthen family life, whenever possible.

(67) "Safety plan" means a plan created to control present or impending danger using the least intrusive means appropriate to protect a child when a parent, caregiver, or legal custodian is unavailable, unwilling, or unable to do so.

(71) "Sibling" means:

(a) A child who shares a birth parent or legal parent with one or more other children; or

(b) A child who has lived together in a family with one or more other children whom he or she identifies as siblings.

Section 4. Subsection (12) is added to section 39.013, Florida Statutes, to read:

39.013 Procedures and jurisdiction; right to counsel.—

(12) The department shall be represented by counsel in each dependency proceeding. Through its attorneys, the department shall make recommendations to the court on issues before the court and may support its recommendations through testimony and other evidence by its own employees, employees of sheriff's offices providing child protection services, employees of its contractors, employees of its contractor's subcontractors, or from any other relevant source.

Section 5. Paragraph (c) of subsection (2) of section 39.201, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.201 Mandatory reports of child abuse, abandonment, or neglect; mandatory reports of death; central abuse hotline.—

(c) Reports involving ~~a known or suspected~~ juvenile sexual abuse ~~offender~~ or a child who has exhibited inappropriate sexual behavior shall be made and received by the department. An alleged incident of juvenile sexual abuse involving a child who is in the custody of or protective supervision of the department shall be reported to the department's central abuse hotline.

1. ~~The department shall determine the age of the alleged offender, if known.~~

~~2. If the alleged offender is 12 years of age or younger,~~ The central abuse hotline shall immediately electronically transfer the report or call to the county sheriff's office. The department shall conduct an assessment and assist the family in receiving appropriate services pursuant to s. 39.307, and send a written report of the allegation to the appropriate county sheriff's office within 48 hours after the initial report is made to the central abuse hotline.

(8) The members of the team may be reimbursed by the department for per diem, mileage, and other reasonable expenses as provided in s. 112.061. (11) The secretary shall appoint an advisory committee made up of experts in child protection and child welfare, including the Statewide Medical Director for Child Protection under the Department of Health, to conduct an independent review of investigative reports from the critical incident rapid response teams and make recommendations to improve policies and practices related to child protection and child welfare services. 39.301 Initiation of protective investigations.—

(9)(a) For each report received from the central abuse hotline and accepted for investigation, the department or the sheriff providing child protective investigative services under s. 39.3065, shall perform the following child protective investigation activities to determine child safety:

1. Conduct a review of all relevant, available information specific to the child and family and alleged maltreatment; family child welfare history; local, state, and federal criminal records checks; and requests for law enforcement assistance provided by the abuse hotline. Based on a review of available information, including the allegations in the current report, a determination shall be made as to whether immediate consultation should occur with law enforcement, the child protection team, a domestic violence shelter or advocate, or a substance abuse or mental health professional. Such consultations should include discussion as to whether a joint response is necessary and feasible. A determination shall be made as to whether the person making the report should be contacted before the face-to-face interviews with the child and family members.

2. Conduct face-to-face interviews with the child; other siblings, if any; and the parents, legal custodians, or caregivers.

3. Assess the child's residence, including a determination of the composition of the family and household, including the name, address, date of birth, social security number, sex, and race of each child named in the report; any siblings or other children in the same household or in the care of the same adults; the parents, legal custodians, or caregivers; and any other adults in the same household.

4. Determine whether there is any indication that any child in the family or household has been abused, abandoned, or neglected; the nature and extent of present or prior injuries, abuse, or neglect, and any evidence thereof; and a determination as to the person or persons apparently responsible for the abuse, abandonment, or neglect, including the name, address, date of birth, social security number, sex, and race of each such person.

5. Complete assessment of immediate child safety for each child based on available records, interviews, and observations with all persons named in subparagraph 2. and appropriate collateral contacts, which may include other professionals. The department's child protection investigators are hereby designated a criminal justice agency for the purpose of accessing criminal justice information to be used for enforcing this state's laws concerning the crimes of child abuse, abandonment, and neglect. This information shall be used solely for purposes supporting the detection, apprehension, prosecution, pretrial release, posttrial release, or rehabilitation of criminal offenders or persons accused of the crimes of child abuse, abandonment, or neglect and may not be further disseminated or used for any other purpose.

6. Document the present and impending dangers to each child based on the identification of inadequate protective capacity through utilization of a standardized safety assessment instrument. If present or impending danger is identified, the child protective investigator must implement a safety plan or take the child into custody. If present danger is identified and the child is not removed, the child protective investigator shall create and implement a safety plan before leaving the home or the location where there is present danger. If impending danger is identified, the child protective investigator shall create and implement a safety plan as soon as necessary to protect the safety of the child. The child protective investigator may modify the safety plan if he or she identifies additional impending danger.

a. If the child protective investigator implements a safety plan, the plan must be specific, sufficient, feasible, and sustainable in response to the realities of the present or impending danger. A safety plan may be an in-home plan or an out-of-home plan, or a combination of both. A safety plan may not rely solely on promissory commitments by the parent, caregiver, or legal custodian who is currently not able to protect the child or on services that are not available or will not result in the safety of the child. A safety plan may not be implemented if for any reason the parents, guardian, or legal 765 custodian lacks the capacity or ability to comply with the plan.

766 If the department is not able to develop a plan that is 767 specific, sufficient, feasible, and sustainable, the department 768 shall file a shelter petition. A child protective investigator 769 shall implement separate safety plans for the perpetrator of 770 domestic violence and the parent who is a victim of domestic 771 violence as defined in s. 741.28. If the perpetrator of domestic 772 violence is not the parent, guardian, or legal custodian of the 773 child, the child protective investigator shall seek issuance of 774 an injunction authorized by s. 39.504 to implement a safety plan 775 for the perpetrator and impose any other conditions to protect 776 the child. The safety plan for the parent who is a victim of 777 domestic violence may not be shared with the perpetrator. If any 778 party to a safety plan fails to comply with the safety plan
779 resulting in the child being unsafe, the department shall file a 780 shelter petition.
781 b. The child protective investigator shall collaborate with 782 the community-based care lead agency in the development of the 783 safety plan as necessary to ensure that the safety plan is 784 specific, sufficient, feasible, and sustainable. The child 785 protective investigator shall identify services necessary for 786 the successful implementation of the safety plan. The child
787 protective investigator and the community-based care lead agency 788 shall mobilize service resources to assist all parties in 789 complying with the safety plan. The community-based care lead 790 agency shall prioritize safety plan services to families who 791 have multiple risk factors, including, but not limited to, two 792 or more of the following:
793 (I) The parent or legal custodian is of young age;

(II) The parent or legal custodian, or an adult currently living in or frequently visiting the home, has a history of substance abuse, mental illness, or domestic violence;

(III) The parent or legal custodian, or an adult currently living in or frequently visiting the home, has been previously found to have physically or sexually abused a child;

(IV) The parent or legal custodian or an adult currently living in or frequently visiting the home has been the subject of multiple allegations by reputable reports of abuse or neglect;

(V) The child is physically or developmentally disabled; or

(VI) The child is 3 years of age or younger.

c. The child protective investigator shall monitor the implementation of the plan to ensure the child's safety until the case is transferred to the lead agency at which time the lead agency shall monitor the implementation.

~~(b) Upon completion of the immediate safety assessment, the department shall determine the additional activities necessary to assess impending dangers, if any, and close the investigation.~~

(b) ~~(c)~~ For each report received from the central abuse hotline, the department or the sheriff providing child protective investigative services under s. 39.3065, shall determine the protective, treatment, and ameliorative services necessary to safeguard and ensure the child's safety and well-being and development, and cause the delivery of those services through the early intervention of the department or its agent. As applicable, child protective investigators must inform parents and caregivers how and when to use the injunction process under s. 741.30 to remove a perpetrator of domestic violence from the home as an intervention to protect the child.

1. If the department or the sheriff providing child protective investigative services determines that the interests of the child and the public will be best served by providing the child care or other treatment voluntarily accepted by the child and the parents or legal custodians, the parent or legal custodian and child may be referred for such care, case management, or other community resources.

2. If the department or the sheriff providing child protective investigative services determines that the child is in need of protection and supervision, the department may file a petition for dependency.

3. If a petition for dependency is not being filed by the department, the person or agency originating the report shall be advised of the right to file a petition pursuant to this part.

4. At the close of an investigation, the department or the sheriff providing child protective services shall provide to the person who is alleged to have caused the abuse, neglect, or abandonment and the parent or legal custodian a summary of findings from the investigation and provide information about their right to access confidential reports in accordance with s. 39.202.

(14)(a) If the department or its agent determines that a child requires immediate or long-term protection through~~:~~

~~1.~~ medical or other health care~~;~~ or

~~2.~~ homemaker care, day care, protective supervision, or other services to stabilize the home environment, including intensive family preservation services through the Intensive

Crisis Counseling Program, such services shall first be offered for voluntary acceptance unless:

1. There are high-risk factors that may impact the ability of the parents or legal custodians to exercise judgment. Such factors may include the parents' or legal custodians' young age or history of substance abuse, mental illness, or domestic violence; or

2. There is a high likelihood of lack of compliance with voluntary services, and such noncompliance would result in the child being unsafe.

(b) The parents or legal custodians shall be informed of the right to refuse services, as well as the responsibility of the department to protect the child regardless of the acceptance or refusal of services. If the services are refused, a collateral contact shall include a relative, if the protective investigator has knowledge of and the ability to contact a relative. If the services are refused and the department deems that the child's need for protection ~~so~~ requires services, the department shall take the child into protective custody or petition the court as provided in this chapter. At any time after the commencement of a protective investigation, a relative may submit in writing to the protective investigator or case manager a request to receive notification of all proceedings and hearings in accordance with s. 39.502. The request shall include the relative's name, address, and phone number and the relative's relationship to the child. The protective investigator or case manager shall forward such request to the attorney for the department. The failure to provide notice to either a relative who requests it pursuant to this subsection or to a relative who is providing out-of-home care for a child may not result in any previous action of the court at any stage or proceeding in dependency or termination of parental rights under any part of this chapter being set aside, reversed, modified, or in any way changed absent a finding by the court that a change is required in the child's best interests.

(c) The department, in consultation with the judiciary, shall adopt by rule:

1. Criteria that are factors requiring that the department take the child into custody, petition the court as provided in this chapter, or, if the child is not taken into custody or a petition is not filed with the court, conduct an administrative review. Such factors must include, but are not limited to, noncompliance with a safety plan or the case plan developed by the department, and the family under this chapter, and prior abuse reports with findings that involve the child, the child's sibling, or the child's caregiver.

2. Requirements that if after an administrative review the department determines not to take the child into custody or petition the court, the department shall document the reason for its decision in writing and include it in the investigative file. For all cases that were accepted by the local law enforcement agency for criminal investigation pursuant to subsection (2), the department must include in the file written documentation that the administrative review included input from law enforcement. In addition, for all cases that must be referred to child protection teams pursuant to s. 39.303(2) and (3), the file must include written documentation that the administrative review included the results of the team's evaluation. ~~Factors that must be included in the development of the rule include noncompliance with the case plan developed by the department, or its agent, and the family under this chapter and prior abuse reports with findings that involve the child or caregiver.~~

Section 9. Section 39.303, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.303 Child protection teams; services; eligible cases.—The Children's Medical Services Program in the Department of Health shall develop, maintain, and coordinate the services of one or more multidisciplinary child protection teams in each of the service districts of the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~. Such teams may be composed of appropriate representatives of school districts and appropriate health, mental health, social service, legal service, and law enforcement agencies. ~~The Legislature finds that optimal coordination of child protection teams and sexual abuse treatment programs requires collaboration between~~ The Department of Health and the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services. The two departments~~ shall maintain an interagency agreement that establishes protocols for oversight and operations of child protection teams and sexual abuse treatment programs. The State Surgeon General and the Deputy Secretary for Children's Medical Services, in consultation with the Secretary of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~, shall maintain the responsibility for the screening, employment, and, if necessary, the termination of child protection team medical directors, at headquarters and in the 15 districts. Child protection team medical directors shall be responsible for oversight of the teams in the districts.

(1) The Department of Health shall use ~~utilize~~ and convene the teams to supplement the assessment and protective supervision activities of the family safety and preservation program of the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~. ~~Nothing in~~ This section does not ~~shall be construed to~~ remove or reduce the duty and responsibility of any person to report pursuant to this chapter all suspected or actual cases of child abuse, abandonment, or neglect or sexual abuse of a child. The role of the teams shall be to support activities of the program and to provide services deemed by the teams to be necessary and appropriate to abused, abandoned, and neglected children upon referral. The specialized diagnostic assessment, evaluation, coordination, consultation, and other supportive services that a child protection team shall be capable of providing include, but are not limited to, the following:

(a) Medical diagnosis and evaluation services, including provision or interpretation of X rays and laboratory tests, and related services, as needed, and documentation of related findings ~~relative thereto~~.

(b) Telephone consultation services in emergencies and in other situations.

(c) Medical evaluation related to abuse, abandonment, or neglect, as defined by policy or rule of the Department of Health.

(d) Such psychological and psychiatric diagnosis and evaluation services for the child or the child's parent or parents, legal custodian or custodians, or other caregivers, or any other individual involved in a child abuse, abandonment, or neglect case, as the team may determine to be needed.

(e) Expert medical, psychological, and related professional testimony in court cases.

(f) Case staffings to develop treatment plans for children whose cases have been referred to the team. A child protection team may provide consultation with respect to a child who is alleged or is shown to be abused, abandoned, or neglected, which consultation shall be provided at the request of a representative of the family safety and preservation program or at the request of any other professional involved with a child or the child's parent or parents, legal custodian or custodians, or other caregivers. In every such child protection team case staffing, consultation, or staff activity involving a child, a family safety and preservation program representative shall attend and participate.

(g) Case service coordination and assistance, including the location of services available from other public and private agencies in the community.

(h) Such training services for program and other employees of the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~, employees of the Department of Health, and other medical professionals as is deemed appropriate to enable them to develop and maintain their professional skills and abilities in handling child abuse, abandonment, and neglect cases.

(i) Educational and community awareness campaigns on child abuse, abandonment, and neglect in an effort to enable citizens more successfully to prevent, identify, and treat child abuse, abandonment, and neglect in the community.

(j) Child protection team assessments that include, as appropriate, medical evaluations, medical consultations, family psychosocial interviews, specialized clinical interviews, or forensic interviews.

All medical personnel participating on a child protection team must successfully complete the required child protection team training curriculum as set forth in protocols determined by the Deputy Secretary for Children's Medical Services and the Statewide Medical Director for Child Protection. A child protection team that is evaluating a report of medical neglect and assessing the health care needs of a medically complex child shall consult with a physician who has experience in treating children with the same condition.

(2) The child abuse, abandonment, and neglect reports that must be referred by the department to child protection teams of the Department of Health for an assessment and other appropriate available support services as set forth in subsection (1) must include cases involving:

(a) Injuries to the head, bruises to the neck or head, burns, or fractures in a child of any age.

(b) Bruises anywhere on a child 5 years of age or under.

(c) Any report alleging sexual abuse of a child.

(d) Any sexually transmitted disease in a prepubescent child.

facility, or have been injured and later died, as a result of suspected abuse, abandonment, or neglect, when any sibling or other child remains in the home.

(h) Symptoms of serious emotional problems in a child when emotional or other abuse, abandonment, or neglect is suspected.

(3) All abuse and neglect cases transmitted for investigation to a district by the hotline must be simultaneously transmitted to the Department of Health child protection team for review. For the purpose of determining whether face-to-face medical evaluation by a child protection team is necessary, all cases transmitted to the child protection team which meet the criteria in subsection (2) must be timely reviewed by:

(a) A physician licensed under chapter 458 or chapter 459 who holds board certification in pediatrics and is a member of a child protection team;

(b) A physician licensed under chapter 458 or chapter 459 who holds board certification in a specialty other than pediatrics, who may complete the review only when working under the direction of a physician licensed under chapter 458 or chapter 459 who holds board certification in pediatrics and is a member of a child protection team;

(c) An advanced registered nurse practitioner licensed under chapter 464 who has a specialty ~~speciality~~ in pediatrics or family medicine and is a member of a child protection team;

(d) A physician assistant licensed under chapter 458 or chapter 459, who may complete the review only when working under the supervision of a physician licensed under chapter 458 or chapter 459 who holds board certification in pediatrics and is a member of a child protection team; or

(e) A registered nurse licensed under chapter 464, who may complete the review only when working under the direct supervision of a physician licensed under chapter 458 or chapter 459 who holds certification in pediatrics and is a member of a child protection team.

(4) A face-to-face medical evaluation by a child protection team is not necessary when:

(a) The child was examined for the alleged abuse or neglect by a physician who is not a member of the child protection team, and a consultation between the child protection team board-certified pediatrician, advanced registered nurse practitioner, physician assistant working under the supervision of a child protection team board-certified pediatrician, or registered nurse working under the direct supervision of a child protection team board-certified pediatrician, and the examining physician concludes that a further medical evaluation is unnecessary;

(b) The child protective investigator, with supervisory approval, has determined, after conducting a child safety assessment, that there are no indications of injuries as described in paragraphs (2)(a)-(h) as reported; or

(c) The child protection team board-certified pediatrician, as authorized in subsection (3), determines that a medical evaluation is not required.

Notwithstanding paragraphs (a), (b), and (c), a child protection team pediatrician, as authorized in subsection (3), may determine that a face-to-face medical evaluation is necessary.

(5) In all instances in which a child protection team is providing certain services to abused, abandoned, or neglected children, other offices and units of the Department of Health, and offices and units of the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~, shall avoid duplicating the provision of those services.

(6) The Department of Health child protection team quality assurance program and the Family Safety Program Office of the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services' Family Safety Program Office quality assurance program~~ shall collaborate to ensure referrals and responses to child abuse, abandonment, and neglect reports are appropriate. Each quality assurance program shall include a review of records in which there are no findings of abuse, abandonment, or neglect, and the findings of these reviews shall be included in each department's quality assurance reports.

Section 10. Section 39.3068, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

39.3068 Reports of medical neglect.—

(1) Upon receiving a report alleging medical neglect, the department or sheriff's office shall assign the case to a child protective investigator who has specialized training in addressing medical neglect or working with medically complex children, if such investigator is available. If a child protective investigator with specialized training is not available, the child protective investigator shall consult with department staff with such expertise.

(2) The child protective investigator who has interacted with the child and the child's family shall promptly contact and provide information to the child protection team. The child protection team shall assist the child protective investigator in identifying immediate responses to address the medical needs of the child with the priority of maintaining the child in the home if the parents will be able to meet the needs of the child with additional services. The child protective investigator and the child protection team must use a family-centered approach to assess the capacity of the family to meet those needs. A family-centered approach is intended to increase independence on the part of the family, accessibility to programs and services within the community, and collaboration between families and their service providers. The ethnic, cultural, economic, racial, social, and religious diversity of families must be respected and considered in the development and provision of services.

(3) The child shall be evaluated by the child protection team as soon as practicable. After receipt of the report from the child protection team, the department shall convene a case staffing which shall be attended, at a minimum, by the child protective investigator; department legal staff; and representatives from the child protection team that evaluated the child, Children's Medical Services, the Agency for Health Care Administration, the community-based care lead agency, and any providers of services to the child. However, the Agency for Health Care Administration is not required to attend the staffing if the child is not Medicaid-eligible. The staffing shall consider, at a minimum, available services, given the family's eligibility for services; services that are effective in addressing conditions leading to medical neglect allegations; and services that would enable the child to safely remain at home. Any services that are available and effective, shall be

Section 11. Section 39.307, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.307 Reports of child-on-child sexual abuse.—

(1) Upon receiving a report alleging juvenile sexual abuse or inappropriate sexual behavior as defined in s. 39.01~~(7)~~, the department shall assist the family, child, and caregiver in receiving appropriate services to address the allegations of the report.

(a) The department shall ensure that information describing the child's history of child sexual abuse is included in the child's electronic record. This record must also include information describing the services the child has received as a result of his or her involvement with child sexual abuse.

(b) Placement decisions for a child who has been involved with child sexual abuse must include consideration of the needs of the child and any other children in the placement.

(c) The department shall monitor the occurrence of child sexual abuse and the provision of services to children involved in child sexual abuse, juvenile sexual abuse, or who have displayed inappropriate sexual behavior.

(2) The department, contracted sheriff's office providing protective investigation services, or contracted case management personnel responsible for providing services, at a minimum, shall adhere to the following procedures:

(a) The purpose of the response to a report alleging juvenile sexual abuse behavior or inappropriate sexual behavior shall be explained to the caregiver.

1. The purpose of the response shall be explained in a manner consistent with legislative purpose and intent provided in this chapter.

2. The name and office telephone number of the person responding shall be provided to the caregiver of the alleged abuser ~~juvenile sexual offender~~ or child who has exhibited inappropriate sexual behavior and the victim's caregiver.

3. The possible consequences of the department's response, including outcomes and services, shall be explained to the caregiver of the alleged abuser ~~juvenile sexual offender~~ or child who has exhibited inappropriate sexual behavior and the victim's caregiver.

(b) The caregiver of the alleged abuser ~~juvenile sexual offender~~ or child who has exhibited inappropriate sexual behavior and the victim's caregiver shall be involved to the fullest extent possible in determining the nature of the sexual behavior concerns and the nature of any problem or risk to other children.

(c) The assessment of risk and the perceived treatment needs of the alleged abuser ~~juvenile sexual offender~~ or child who has exhibited inappropriate sexual behavior, the victim, and respective caregivers shall be conducted by the district staff, the child protection team of the Department of Health, and other providers under contract with the department to provide services to the caregiver of the alleged offender, the victim, and the victim's caregiver.

(d) The assessment shall be conducted in a manner that is sensitive to the social, economic, and cultural environment of the family.

(e) If necessary, the child protection team of the Department of Health shall conduct a physical examination of the victim, which is sufficient to meet forensic requirements.

(f) Based on the information obtained from the alleged abuser ~~juvenile sexual offender~~ or child who has exhibited inappropriate sexual behavior, his or her caregiver, the victim, and the victim's caregiver, an assessment of service and treatment needs must be completed and, if needed, a case plan developed within 30 days.

(g) The department shall classify the outcome of the report as follows:

1. Report closed. Services were not offered because the department determined that there was no basis for intervention.

2. Services accepted by alleged abuser ~~juvenile sexual offender~~. Services were offered to the alleged abuser ~~juvenile sexual offender~~ or child who has exhibited inappropriate sexual behavior and accepted by the caregiver.

3. Report closed. Services were offered to the alleged abuser ~~juvenile sexual offender~~ or child who has exhibited inappropriate sexual behavior, but were rejected by the caregiver.

4. Notification to law enforcement. The risk to the victim's safety and well-being cannot be reduced by the provision of services or the caregiver rejected services, and notification of the alleged delinquent act or violation of law to the appropriate law enforcement agency was initiated.

5. Services accepted by victim. Services were offered to the victim and accepted by the caregiver.

6. Report closed. Services were offered to the victim but were rejected by the caregiver.

(3) If services have been accepted by the alleged abuser ~~juvenile sexual offender~~ or child who has exhibited inappropriate sexual behavior, the victim, and respective caregivers, the department shall designate a case manager and develop a specific case plan.

(a) Upon receipt of the plan, the caregiver shall indicate its acceptance of the plan in writing.

(b) The case manager shall periodically review the progress toward achieving the objectives of the plan in order to:

1. Make adjustments to the plan or take additional action as provided in this part; or

2. Terminate the case if indicated by successful or substantial achievement of the objectives of the plan.

(4) Services provided to the alleged abuser ~~juvenile sexual offender~~ or child who has exhibited inappropriate sexual behavior, the victim, and respective caregivers or family must be voluntary and of necessary duration.

(5) If the family or caregiver of the alleged abuser ~~juvenile sexual offender~~ or child who has exhibited inappropriate sexual behavior fails to adequately participate or allow for the adequate participation of the child in the services or treatment delineated in the case plan, the case manager may recommend that the department:

(a) Close the case;

(b) Refer the case to mediation or arbitration, if available; or

(c) Notify the appropriate law enforcement agency of failure to comply.

(6) At any time, as a result of additional information, findings of facts, or changing conditions, the department may pursue a child protective investigation as provided in this chapter.

(7) The department may adopt ~~is authorized to develop~~ rules ~~and other policy directives necessary~~ to administer ~~implement the provisions of~~ this section.

Section 12. Paragraph (h) of subsection (8) and subsection (9) of section 39.402, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

39.402 Placement in a shelter.—

(8)

(h) The order for placement of a child in shelter care must identify the parties present at the hearing and must contain written findings:

1. That placement in shelter care is necessary based on the criteria in subsections (1) and (2).

2. That placement in shelter care is in the best interest of the child.

3. That continuation of the child in the home is contrary to the welfare of the child because the home situation presents a substantial and immediate danger to the child's physical, mental, or emotional health or safety which cannot be mitigated by the provision of preventive services.

4. That based upon the allegations of the petition for placement in shelter care, there is probable cause to believe that the child is dependent or that the court needs additional time, which may not exceed 72 hours, in which to obtain and review documents pertaining to the family in order to appropriately determine the risk to the child.

5. That the department has made reasonable efforts to prevent or eliminate the need for removal of the child from the home. A finding of reasonable effort by the department to prevent or eliminate the need for removal may be made and the department is deemed to have made reasonable efforts to prevent or eliminate the need for removal if:

a. The first contact of the department with the family occurs during an emergency;

b. The appraisal of the home situation by the department indicates that the home situation presents a substantial and immediate danger to the child's physical, mental, or emotional health or safety which cannot be mitigated by the provision of preventive services;

c. The child cannot safely remain at home, either because there are no preventive services that can ensure the health and safety of the child or because, even with appropriate and available services being provided, the health and safety of the child cannot be ensured; or

d. The parent or legal custodian is alleged to have committed any of the acts listed as grounds for expedited termination of parental rights in s. 39.806(1)(f)-(i).

6. That the department has made reasonable efforts to keep siblings together if they are removed and placed in out-of-home care unless such placement is not in the best interest of each child. Reasonable efforts shall include short-term placement in a group home with the ability to accommodate sibling groups if such a placement is available. The department shall report to the court its efforts to place siblings together unless the court finds that such placement is not in the best interest of a child or his or her sibling.

7.~~6.~~ That the court notified the parents, relatives that are providing out-of-home care for the child, or legal custodians of the time, date, and location of the next dependency hearing and of the importance of the active participation of the parents, relatives that are providing out-of-home care for the child, or legal custodians in all proceedings and hearings.

8.~~7.~~ That the court notified the parents or legal custodians of their right to counsel to represent them at the shelter hearing and at each subsequent hearing or proceeding, and the right of the parents to appointed counsel, pursuant to the procedures set forth in s. 39.013.

9.~~8.~~ That the court notified relatives who are providing out-of-home care for a child as a result of the shelter petition being granted that they have the right to attend all subsequent hearings, to submit reports to the court, and to speak to the court regarding the child, if they so desire.

(9)(a) At any shelter hearing, the department shall provide to the court a recommendation for scheduled contact between the child and parents, if appropriate. The court shall determine visitation rights absent a clear and convincing showing that visitation is not in the best interest of the child. Any order for visitation or other contact must conform to ~~the provisions of~~ s. 39.0139. If visitation is ordered but will not commence within 72 hours of the shelter hearing, the department shall provide justification to the court.

(b) If siblings who are removed from the home cannot be placed together, the department shall provide to the court a recommendation for frequent visitation or other ongoing interaction between the siblings unless this interaction would be contrary to a sibling's safety or well-being. If visitation among siblings is ordered but will not commence within 72 hours after the shelter hearing, the department shall provide justification to the court for the delay.

Section 13. Paragraph (d) of subsection (3) of section 39.501, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.501 Petition for dependency.—

(d) The petitioner must state in the petition, if known, whether:

1. A parent or legal custodian named in the petition has previously unsuccessfully participated in voluntary services offered by the department;

2. A parent or legal custodian named in the petition has participated in mediation and whether a mediation agreement exists;

3. A parent or legal custodian has rejected the voluntary services offered by the department;

4. A parent or legal custodian named in the petition has not fully complied with a safety plan; or

5.~~4.~~ The department has determined that voluntary services are not appropriate for the parent or legal custodian and the reasons for such determination.

If the department is the petitioner, it shall provide all safety plans as defined in s. 39.01 involving the parent or legal custodian to the court.

Section 14. Paragraph (a) of subsection (4) of section

39.504, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.504 Injunction pending disposition of petition; penalty.—

(4) If an injunction is issued under this section, the primary purpose of the injunction must be to protect and promote the best interests of the child, taking the preservation of the child's immediate family into consideration.

(a) The injunction applies to the alleged or actual offender in a case of child abuse or acts of domestic violence. The conditions of the injunction shall be determined by the court, which may include ordering the alleged or actual offender to:

2. Participate in a specialized treatment program.

3. Limit contact or communication with the child victim, other children in the home, or any other child.

Section 15. Section 39.5085, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.5085 Relative Caregiver Program.—

(1) It is the intent of the Legislature in enacting this section to:

(a) Provide for the establishment of procedures and protocols that serve to advance the continued safety of children by acknowledging the valued resource uniquely available through grandparents, ~~and~~ relatives of children, and specified nonrelatives of children pursuant to subparagraph (2)(a)3.

(b) Recognize family relationships in which a grandparent or other relative is the head of a household that includes a child otherwise at risk of foster care placement.

(c) Enhance family preservation and stability by recognizing that most children in such placements with grandparents and other relatives do not need intensive supervision of the placement by the courts or by the department.

(d) Recognize that permanency in the best interests of the child can be achieved through a variety of permanency options, including permanent guardianship under s. 39.6221 if the guardian is a relative, by permanent placement with a fit and willing relative under s. 39.6231, by a relative, guardianship under chapter 744, or adoption, by providing additional placement options and incentives that will achieve permanency and stability for many children who are otherwise at risk of foster care placement because of abuse, abandonment, or neglect, but who may successfully be able to be placed by the dependency court in the care of such relatives.

(e) Reserve the limited casework and supervisory resources of the courts and the department for those cases in which children do not have the option for safe, stable care within the family.

(f) Recognize that a child may have a close relationship with a person who is not a blood relative or a relative by marriage and that such person should be eligible for financial assistance under this section if he or she is able and willing to care for the child and provide a safe, stable home environment.

(2)(a) The Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ shall establish and operate the Relative Caregiver Program pursuant to eligibility guidelines established in this section as further implemented by rule of the department. The Relative Caregiver Program shall, within the limits of available funding, provide financial assistance to:

1. Relatives who are within the fifth degree by blood or marriage to the parent or stepparent of a child and who are caring full-time for that dependent child in the role of substitute parent as a result of a court's determination of child abuse, neglect, or abandonment and subsequent placement with the relative under this chapter.

2. Relatives who are within the fifth degree by blood or marriage to the parent or stepparent of a child and who are caring full-time for that dependent child, and a dependent half-brother or half-sister of that dependent child, in the role of substitute parent as a result of a court's determination of child abuse, neglect, or abandonment and subsequent placement with the relative under this chapter.

3. Nonrelatives who are willing to assume custody and care of a dependent child in the role of substitute parent as a result of a court's determination of child abuse, neglect, or abandonment and subsequent placement with the nonrelative caregiver under this chapter. The court must find that a proposed placement under this subparagraph is in the best interest of the child.

The placement may be court-ordered temporary legal custody to the relative or nonrelative under protective supervision of the department pursuant to s. 39.521(1)(b)3., or court-ordered placement in the home of a relative or nonrelative as a permanency option under s. 39.6221 or s. 39.6231 or under former s. 39.622 if the placement was made before July 1, 2006. The Relative Caregiver Program shall offer financial assistance to caregivers ~~who are relatives and~~ who would be unable to serve in that capacity without the ~~relative~~ caregiver payment because of financial burden, thus exposing the child to the trauma of placement in a shelter or in foster care.

(b) Caregivers ~~who are relatives and~~ who receive assistance under this section must be capable, as determined by a home study, of providing a physically safe environment and a stable, supportive home for the children under their care~~,~~ and must assure that the children's well-being is met, including, but not limited to, the provision of immunizations, education, and mental health services as needed.

(c) Relatives or nonrelatives who qualify for and participate in the Relative Caregiver Program are not required to meet foster care licensing requirements under s. 409.175.

(d) Relatives or nonrelatives who are caring for children placed with them by the court pursuant to this chapter shall receive a special monthly ~~relative~~ caregiver benefit established by rule of the department. The amount of the special benefit payment shall be based on the child's age within a payment schedule established by rule of the department and subject to availability of funding. The statewide average monthly rate for children judicially placed with relatives or nonrelatives who are not licensed as foster homes may not exceed 82 percent of the statewide average foster care rate, and ~~nor may~~ the cost of providing the assistance described in this section to any ~~relative~~ caregiver may not exceed the cost of providing out-of-home care in emergency shelter or foster care.

(e) Children receiving cash benefits under this section are not eligible to simultaneously receive WAGES cash benefits under chapter 414.

(f) Within available funding, the Relative Caregiver Program shall provide ~~relative~~ caregivers with family support and preservation services, flexible funds in accordance with s. 409.165, school readiness, and other available services in order to support the child's safety, growth, and healthy development. Children living with ~~relative~~ caregivers who are receiving assistance under this section shall be eligible for Medicaid coverage.

(g) The department may use appropriate available state, federal, and private funds to operate the Relative Caregiver Program. The department may develop liaison functions to be available to relatives or nonrelatives who care for children pursuant to this chapter to ensure placement stability in extended family settings.

4. If the site visit results in a determination that the child is not missing, the parent or caregiver shall be notified that failure to ensure that the child attends the licensed early education or child care program is a violation of the safety plan or the case plan. If more than two site visits are conducted pursuant to this subsection, staff shall initiate action to notify the court of the parent or caregiver's noncompliance with the case plan.

Section 17. Paragraph (c) of subsection (2) and paragraph (a) of subsection (3) of section 39.701, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

These reports and evidence may be received by the court in its effort to determine the action to be taken with regard to the child and may be relied upon to the extent of their probative value, even though not competent in an adjudicatory hearing. In its deliberations, the court and any citizen review panel shall seek to determine:

1. If the parent was advised of the right to receive assistance from any person or social service agency in the preparation of the case plan.

a. The placement of the child takes into account the appropriateness of the current educational setting and the proximity to the school in which the child is enrolled at the time of placement.

b. The community-based care agency has coordinated with appropriate local educational agencies to ensure that the child remains in the school in which the child is enrolled at the time of placement.

The court ~~s. 743.045 and~~ shall continue to hold timely judicial review hearings. If necessary, the court may review the status of the child more frequently during the year before the child's 18th birthday. At each review hearing held under this subsection, in addition to any information or report provided to the court by the foster parent, legal custodian, or guardian ad litem, the child shall be given the opportunity to address the court with any information relevant to the child's best interest, particularly in relation to independent living transition services. (2) The form of the petition is governed by the Florida Rules of Juvenile Procedure. The petition must be in writing and signed by the petitioner ~~or, if the department is the petitioner, by an employee of the department,~~ under oath stating the petitioner's good faith in filing the petition.

Section 19. Paragraphs (e), (f), and (h) of subsection (1) of section 39.806, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

39.806 Grounds for termination of parental rights.—

(1) Grounds for the termination of parental rights may be established under any of the following circumstances:

(e) When a child has been adjudicated dependent, a case plan has been filed with the court, and:

1. The child continues to be abused, neglected, or abandoned by the parent or parents. The failure of the parent or parents to substantially comply with the case plan for a period of 12 months after an adjudication of the child as a dependent child or the child's placement into shelter care, whichever occurs first, constitutes evidence of continuing abuse, neglect, or abandonment unless the failure to substantially comply with the case plan was due to the parent's lack of financial resources or to the failure of the department to make reasonable efforts to reunify the parent and child. The 12-month period begins to run only after the child's placement into shelter care or the entry of a disposition order placing the custody of the child with the department or a person other than the parent and the court's approval of a case plan having the goal of reunification with the parent, whichever occurs first; or

2. The parent or parents have materially breached the case plan. Time is of the essence for permanency of children in the dependency system. In order to prove the parent or parents have materially breached the case plan, the court must find by clear and convincing evidence that the parent or parents are unlikely or unable to substantially comply with the case plan before time to comply with the case plan expires.

3. The child has been in care for any 12 of the last 22 months and the parents have not substantially complied with the case plan so as to permit reunification under s. 39.522(2) unless the failure to substantially comply with the case plan was due to the parent's lack of financial resources or to the failure of the department to make reasonable efforts to reunify the parent and child.

(f) The parent or parents engaged in egregious conduct or had the opportunity and capability to prevent and knowingly failed to prevent egregious conduct that threatens the life, safety, or physical, mental, or emotional health of the child or the child's sibling. Proof of a nexus between egregious conduct to a child and the potential harm to the child's sibling is not required.

1. As used in this subsection, the term "sibling" means another child who resides with or is cared for by the parent or parents regardless of whether the child is related legally or by consanguinity.

2. As used in this subsection, the term "egregious conduct" means abuse, abandonment, neglect, or any other conduct that is deplorable, flagrant, or outrageous by a normal standard of conduct. Egregious conduct may include an act or omission that occurred only once but was of such intensity, magnitude, or severity as to endanger the life of the child.

(h) The parent or parents have committed the murder, manslaughter, aiding or abetting the murder, or conspiracy or solicitation to murder the other parent or another child, or a felony battery that resulted in serious bodily injury to the child or to another child. Proof of a nexus between the murder, manslaughter, aiding or abetting the murder, or conspiracy or solicitation to murder the other parent or another child, or a felony battery to a child and the potential harm to a child or another child is not required.

(1) There is established within the department the Child Protection and Child Welfare Personnel Student Loan Forgiveness Program. The purpose of the program is to increase employment and retention of high-performing individuals who have either a bachelor's degree or a master's degree in social work and work in child protection or child welfare for the department, a community-based care lead agency, or a community-based care subcontractor by making payments toward loans received by students from federal or state programs or commercial lending institutions for the support of prior postsecondary study in accredited social work programs.

(2) To be eligible for the program, a candidate must:

(a) Be employed by the department as a child protective investigator or a child protective investigation supervisor or be employed by a community-based care lead agency or subcontractor as a case manager or case manager supervisor;

(b) Be determined by the department or his or her employer to have a high level of performance based on his or her personal evaluation; and

(c) Have graduated from an accredited social work program with either a bachelor's degree or a master's degree in social work.

(3) Only loans to pay the costs of tuition, books, fees, and living expenses shall be covered.

(4) The department or lead agency may make loan payments of up to $3,000 each year for up to 4 years on behalf of selected graduates of an accredited social work program from the funds appropriated for this purpose. All payments are contingent upon continued proof of employment and shall be made directly to the holder of the loan.

(5) A student who receives a tuition exemption pursuant to s. 402.403 is not eligible to participate in the Child Protection and Child Welfare Personnel Student Loan Forgiveness Program.

(6) All child protection and child welfare personnel who participate in the student loan forgiveness program established under this section must remain employed by the department, a state agency, or a contracted provider for 5 years after completion of a graduate level social work program. If employment ends before the 5-year period, the benefit shall be repaid according to a pro rata calculation based on the number of years of service.

(7) The department shall prioritize funds appropriated for this purpose to regions with high average caseloads and low workforce retention rates.

Section 26. Section 409.165, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

409.165 Alternate care for children.—

(1) Within funds appropriated, the department shall establish and supervise a program of emergency shelters, runaway shelters, foster homes, group homes, agency-operated group treatment homes, nonpsychiatric residential group care facilities, psychiatric residential treatment facilities, and other appropriate facilities to provide shelter and care for dependent children who must be placed away from their families. The department, in accordance with outcome ~~established~~ goals established in s. 409.986, shall contract for the provision of such shelter and care by counties, municipalities, nonprofit corporations, and other entities capable of providing needed services if:

(a) The services ~~so~~ provided comply with all department standards, policies, and procedures ~~are available~~;

(b) The services can be ~~so~~ provided at a reasonable cost ~~are more cost-effective than those provided by the department~~; and

(c) Unless otherwise provided by law, such providers of shelter and care are licensed by the department.

~~It is the legislative intent that the~~

(2) Funds appropriated for the alternate care of children as described in this section may be used to meet the needs of children in their own homes or those of relatives if the children can be safely served in such settings ~~their own homes, or the homes of relatives,~~ and the expenditure of funds in such manner is equal to or less than the cost of out-of-home placement ~~calculated by the department to be an eventual cost savings over placement of children~~.

(3) ~~(2)~~ The department shall ~~may~~ cooperate with all child service institutions or agencies within the state which meet the department's standards in order to maintain a comprehensive, coordinated, and inclusive system for promoting and protecting the well-being of children, consistent with the goals established in s. 409.986 ~~rules for proper care and supervision prescribed by the department for the well-being of children~~.

(a) The department shall work with the Department of Health in the development, use, and monitoring of medical foster homes for medically complex children.

(b) The department shall collaborate with all relevant state and local agencies to provide such supports and services as may be necessary to maintain medically complex children in the least restrictive and most nurturing environment.

(4) ~~(3)~~ With the written consent of parents, custodians, or guardians, or in accordance with those provisions in chapter 39 that relate to dependent children, the department, under rules properly adopted, may place a child:

(a) With a relative;

(b) With an adult nonrelative approved by the court for long-term custody;

(c) With a person who is considering the adoption of a child in the manner provided for by law;

(d) When limited, except as provided in paragraph (b), to temporary emergency situations, with a responsible adult approved by the court;

(e) With a person or family approved by the department to serve as a medical foster home;

(f) ~~(e)~~ With a person or agency licensed by the department in accordance with s. 409.175; or

(g) ~~(f)~~ In a subsidized independent living situation, subject to the provisions of s. 409.1451(4)(c), under such conditions as are determined to be for the best interests or the welfare of the child. Any child placed in an institution or in a family home by the department or its agency may be removed by the department or its agency, and such other disposition may be made as is for the best interest of the child, including transfer of the child to another institution, another home, or the home of the child. Expenditure of funds appropriated for out-of-home care can be used to meet the needs of a child in the child's own home or the home of a relative if the child can be safely served in the child's own home or that of a relative if placement can be avoided by the expenditure of such funds, and if the expenditure of such funds in this manner is equal to or less than the cost of out-of-home placement ~~calculated by the department to be a potential cost savings~~.

Section 27. Paragraph (c) of subsection (2) of section 409.967, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

409.967 Managed care plan accountability.—

(2) The agency shall establish such contract requirements as are necessary for the operation of the statewide managed care program. In addition to any other provisions the agency may deem necessary, the contract must require:

(c) Access.—

1. The agency shall establish specific standards for the number, type, and regional distribution of providers in managed care plan networks to ensure access to care for both adults and children. Each plan must maintain a regionwide network of providers in sufficient numbers to meet the access standards for specific medical services for all recipients enrolled in the plan. The exclusive use of mail-order pharmacies may not be sufficient to meet network access standards. Consistent with the standards established by the agency, provider networks may include providers located outside the region. A plan may contract with a new hospital facility before the date the hospital becomes operational if the hospital has commenced construction, will be licensed and operational by January 1, 2013, and a final order has issued in any civil or administrative challenge. Each plan shall establish and maintain an accurate and complete electronic database of contracted providers, including information about licensure or registration, locations and hours of operation, specialty credentials and other certifications, specific performance indicators, and such other information as the agency deems necessary. The database must be available online to both the agency and the public and have the capability to compare the availability of providers to network adequacy standards and to accept and display feedback from each provider's patients. Each plan shall submit quarterly reports to the agency identifying the number of enrollees assigned to each primary care provider.

2. Each managed care plan must publish any prescribed drug formulary or preferred drug list on the plan's website in a manner that is accessible to and searchable by enrollees and providers. The plan must update the list within 24 hours after making a change. Each plan must ensure that the prior authorization process for prescribed drugs is readily accessible to health care providers, including posting appropriate contact information on its website and providing timely responses to providers. For Medicaid recipients diagnosed with hemophilia who have been prescribed anti-hemophilic-factor replacement products, the agency shall provide for those products and hemophilia overlay services through the agency's hemophilia disease management program.

3. Managed care plans, and their fiscal agents or intermediaries, must accept prior authorization requests for any service electronically.

4. Managed care plans serving children in the care and custody of the Department of Children and Families or serving parents of such children must maintain complete medical, dental, and behavioral health information and provide such information to the department for inclusion in the state's child welfare data system. Using such documentation, the agency and the department shall determine the plan's compliance with standards for access to medical, dental, and behavioral health services; the use of psychotropic medications; and followup on all medically necessary services recommended as a result of early and periodic screening, diagnosis, and treatment.

Section 28. Paragraph (f) is added to subsection (2) of section 409.972, Florida Statutes, to read:

409.972 Mandatory and voluntary enrollment.—

(2) The following Medicaid-eligible persons are exempt from mandatory managed care enrollment required by s. 409.965, and may voluntarily choose to participate in the managed medical assistance program:

(f) Medicaid recipients residing in a group home facility licensed under chapter 393.

Section 29. The Division of Law Revision and Information is directed to create part V of chapter 409, Florida Statutes, consisting of ss. 409.986-409.997, to be entitled "Community-based child welfare."

Section 30. Section 409.986, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

409.986 Legislative findings and intent; child protection and child welfare outcomes; definitions.—

(1) LEGISLATIVE FINDINGS AND INTENT.—

(a) It is the intent of the Legislature that the Department of Children and Families provide child protection and child welfare services to children through contracting with community-based care lead agencies. Counties that provide children and family services with at least 40 licensed residential group care beds by July 1, 2003, and that provide at least $2 million annually in county general revenue funds to supplement foster and family care services shall continue to contract directly with the state. It is the further intent of the Legislature that communities have responsibility for and participate in ensuring safety, permanence, and well-being for all children in the state.

(b) The Legislature finds that when private entities assume responsibility for the care of children in the child protection and child welfare system, comprehensive oversight of the programmatic, administrative, and fiscal operation of those entities is essential. The Legislature further finds that the appropriate care of children is ultimately the responsibility of the state and that outsourcing such care does not relieve the state of its responsibility to ensure that appropriate care is provided.

(2) CHILD PROTECTION AND CHILD WELFARE OUTCOMES.—It is the goal of the department to protect the best interest of children by achieving the following outcomes in conjunction with the community-based care lead agency, community-based subcontractors, and the community alliance:

(a) Children are first and foremost protected from abuse and neglect.

(b) Children are safely maintained in their homes, if possible and appropriate.

(c) Services are provided to protect children and prevent their removal from their home.

(d) Children have permanency and stability in their living arrangements.

(e) Family relationships and connections are preserved for children.

(f) Families have enhanced capacity to provide for their children's needs.

(g) Children receive appropriate services to meet their educational needs.

(h) Children receive services to meet their physical and mental health needs.

(i) Children develop the capacity for independent living and competence as an adult.

(3) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this part, except as otherwise provided, the term:

(a) "Care" means services of any kind which are designed to facilitate a child remaining safely in his or her own home, returning safely to his or her own home if he or she is removed from the home, or obtaining an alternative permanent home if he or she cannot remain at home or be returned home. The term includes, but is not be limited to, prevention, diversion, and related services.

(b) "Child" or "children" has the same meaning as provided in s. 39.01.

(c) "Community alliance" or "alliance" means the group of stakeholders, community leaders, client representatives, and funders of human services established pursuant to s. 20.19(5) to provide a focal point for community participation and oversight of community-based services.

(d) "Community-based care lead agency" or "lead agency" means a single entity with which the department has a contract for the provision of care for children in the child protection and child welfare system in a community that is no smaller than a county and no larger than two contiguous judicial circuits. The secretary of the department may authorize more than one eligible lead agency within a single county if doing so will result in more effective delivery of services to children.

(e) "Related services" includes, but is not limited to, family preservation, independent living, emergency shelter, residential group care, foster care, therapeutic foster care, intensive residential treatment, foster care supervision, case management, coordination of mental health services, postplacement supervision, permanent foster care, and family reunification.

Section 31. Section 409.987, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

409.987 Lead agency procurement.—

(1) Community-based care lead agencies shall be procured by the department through a competitive process as required under chapter 287.

(2) The department shall produce a schedule for the procurement of community-based care lead agencies and provide the schedule to the community alliances established pursuant to s. 20.19(5) and post the schedule on the department's website.

(3) Notwithstanding s. 287.057, the department shall use 5-year contracts with lead agencies.

(4) In order to serve as a lead agency, an entity must:

(a) Be organized as a Florida corporation or a governmental entity.

(b) Be governed by a board of directors or a board committee composed of board members. The membership of the board of directors or board committee must be described in the bylaws or articles of incorporation of each lead agency, which must provide that at least 75 percent of the membership of the board of directors or board committee must consist of persons residing in this state, and at least 51 percent of the state residents on the board of directors must reside within the service area of the lead agency. However, for procurements of lead agency contracts initiated on or after July 1, 2014:

1. At least 75 percent of the membership of the board of directors must consist of persons residing in this state, and at least 51 percent of the membership of the board of directors must consist of persons residing within the service area of the lead agency. If a board committee governs the lead agency, 100 percent of its membership must consist of persons residing within the service area of the lead agency.

2. The powers of the board of directors or board committee include, are not limited to, approving the lead agency's budget and setting the lead agency's operational policy and procedures. A board of directors must additionally have the power to hire the lead agency's executive director, unless a board committee governs the lead agency, in which case the board committee must have the power to confirm the selection of the lead agency's executive director.

(c) Demonstrate financial responsibility through an organized plan for regular fiscal audits and the posting of a performance bond.

(5) The department's procurement team procuring any lead agencies' contracts must include individuals from the community alliance in the area to be served under the contract. All meetings at which vendors make presentations to or negotiate with the procurement team shall be held in the area to be served by the contract.

Section 32. Section 409.988, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

409.988 Lead agency duties; general provisions.—

(1) DUTIES.—A lead agency:

(a) Shall serve all children referred as a result of a report of abuse, neglect, or abandonment to the department's central abuse hotline, including, but not limited to, children who are the subject of verified reports and children who are not the subject of verified reports but who are at moderate to extremely high risk of abuse, neglect, or abandonment, as determined using the department's risk assessment instrument, regardless of the level of funding allocated to the lead agency by the state if all related funding is transferred. The lead agency may also serve children who have not been the subject of reports of abuse, neglect, or abandonment, but who are at risk of abuse, neglect, or abandonment, to prevent their entry into the child protection and child welfare system.

(b) Shall provide accurate and timely information necessary for oversight by the department pursuant to the child welfare results-oriented accountability system required by s. 409.997.

(c) Shall follow the financial guidelines developed by the department and provide for a regular independent auditing of its financial activities. Such financial information shall be provided to the community alliance established under s. 20.19(5).

(d) Shall post on its website the current budget for the lead agency, including the Internal Revenue Service Form 990 for the agency's chief executive officer, chief financial officer, and chief operating officer, or their equivalents.

(e) Shall prepare all judicial reviews, case plans, and other reports necessary for court hearings for dependent children, except those related to the investigation of a referral from the department's child abuse hotline, and shall submit these documents timely to the department's attorneys for review, any necessary revision, and filing with the court. The lead agency shall make the necessary staff available to department attorneys for preparation for dependency proceedings, and shall provide testimony and other evidence required for dependency court proceedings in coordination with the department's attorneys. This duty does not include the preparation of legal pleadings or other legal documents, which remain the responsibility of the department.

(f) Shall ensure that all individuals providing care for dependent children receive appropriate training and meet the minimum employment standards established by the department.

(g) Shall maintain eligibility to receive all available federal child welfare funds.

(h) Shall maintain written agreements with Healthy Families Florida lead entities in its service area pursuant to s. 409.153 to promote cooperative planning for the provision of prevention and intervention services.

(i) Shall comply with federal and state statutory requirements and agency rules in the provision of contractual services.

(j) May subcontract for the provision of services required by the contract with the lead agency and the department; however, the subcontracts must specify how the provider will contribute to the lead agency meeting the performance standards established pursuant to the child welfare results-oriented accountability system required by s. 409.997. The lead agency shall directly provide no more than 35 percent of all child welfare services provided.

(k) Shall post on its website by the 15th day of each month at a minimum the information contained in subparagraphs 1.-4.

for the preceding calendar month regarding its case management services. The following information shall be reported by each individual subcontracted case management provider, by the lead agency, if the lead agency provides case management services, and in total for all case management services subcontracted or directly provided by the lead agency:

1. The average caseload of case managers, including only filled positions;

2. The turnover rate for case managers and case management supervisors for the previous 12 months;

3. The percentage of required home visits completed; and

4. Performance on outcome measures required pursuant to s. 409.997 for the previous 12 months.

(2) LICENSURE.—

(a) A lead agency must be licensed as a child-caring or child-placing agency by the department under this chapter.

(b) Each foster home, therapeutic foster home, emergency shelter, or other placement facility operated by the lead agency must be licensed by the department under chapter 402 or this chapter.

(c) Substitute care providers who are licensed under s. 409.175 and who have contracted with a lead agency are also authorized to provide registered or licensed family day care under s. 402.313 if such care is consistent with federal law and if the home has met the requirements of s. 402.313.

(d) In order to eliminate or reduce the number of duplicate inspections by various program offices, the department shall coordinate inspections required for licensure of agencies under this subsection.

(e) The department may adopt rules to administer this subsection.

(3) SERVICES.—A lead agency must serve dependent children through services that are supported by research or are best child welfare practices. The agency may also provide innovative services, including, but not limited to, family-centered, cognitive-behavioral, trauma-informed interventions designed to mitigate out-of-home placements.

(4) LEAD AGENCY ACTING AS GUARDIAN.—

(a) If a lead agency or other provider has accepted case management responsibilities for a child who is sheltered or found to be dependent and who is assigned to the care of the lead agency or other provider, the agency or provider may act as the child's guardian for the purpose of registering the child in school if a parent or guardian of the child is unavailable and his or her whereabouts cannot reasonably be ascertained.

(b) The lead agency or other provider may also seek emergency medical attention for the child, but only if a parent or guardian of the child is unavailable, the parent or guardian's whereabouts cannot reasonably be ascertained, and a court order for such emergency medical services cannot be obtained because of the severity of the emergency or because it is after normal working hours.

(c) A lead agency or other provider may not consent to sterilization, abortion, or termination of life support.

(d) If a child's parents' rights have been terminated, the lead agency shall act as guardian of the child in all circumstances.

Section 33. Section 409.990, Florida Statutes, is created

to read:

409.990 Funding for lead agencies.—A contract established between the department and a lead agency must be funded by a grant of general revenue, other applicable state funds, or applicable federal funding sources.

(1) The method of payment for a fixed-price contract with a lead agency must provide for a 2-month advance payment at the beginning of each fiscal year and equal monthly payments thereafter.

(2) Notwithstanding s. 215.425, all documented federal funds earned for the current fiscal year by the department and lead agencies which exceed the amount appropriated by the Legislature shall be distributed to all entities that contributed to the excess earnings based on a schedule and methodology developed by the department and approved by the Executive Office of the Governor.

(a) Distribution shall be pro rata, based on total earnings, and shall be made only to those entities that contributed to excess earnings.

(b) Excess earnings of lead agencies shall be used only in the service district in which they were earned.

(c) Additional state funds appropriated by the Legislature for lead agencies or made available pursuant to the budgetary amendment process described in s. 216.177 shall be transferred to the lead agencies.

(d) The department shall amend a lead agency's contract to permit expenditure of the funds.

(3) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, the amount of the annual contract for a lead agency may be increased by excess federal funds earned in accordance with s. 216.181(11).

(4) Each contract with a lead agency shall provide for the payment by the department to the lead agency of a reasonable administrative cost in addition to funding for the provision of services.

(5) A lead agency may carry forward documented unexpended state funds from one fiscal year to the next; however, the cumulative amount carried forward may not exceed 8 percent of the total contract. Any unexpended state funds in excess of that percentage must be returned to the department.

(a) The funds carried forward may not be used in any way that would create increased recurring future obligations, and such funds may not be used for any type of program or service that is not currently authorized by the existing contract with the department.

(b) Expenditures of funds carried forward must be separately reported to the department.

(c) Any unexpended funds that remain at the end of the contract period shall be returned to the department.

(d) Funds carried forward may be retained through any contract renewals and any new procurements as long as the same lead agency is retained by the department.

(6) It is the intent of the Legislature to improve services and local participation in community-based care initiatives by fostering community support and providing enhanced prevention and in-home services, thereby reducing the risk otherwise faced by lead agencies. A community partnership matching grant program is established and shall be operated by the department to encourage local participation in community-based care for children in the child welfare system. A children's services council or another local entity that makes a financial commitment to a community-based care lead agency may be eligible for a matching grant. The total amount of the local contribution may be matched on a one-to-one basis up to a maximum annual amount of $500,000 per lead agency. Awarded matching grant funds may be used for any prevention or in-home services that can be reasonably expected to reduce the number of children entering the child welfare system. Funding available for the matching grant program is subject to legislative appropriation of nonrecurring funds provided for this purpose.

(7)(a) The department, in consultation with the Florida Coalition for Children, Inc., shall develop and implement a community-based care risk pool initiative to mitigate the financial risk to eligible lead agencies. This initiative must include:

1. A risk pool application and protocol developed by the department which outlines submission criteria, including, but not limited to, financial and program management, descriptive data requirements, and timeframes for submission of applications. Requests for funding from risk pool applicants must be based on relevant and verifiable service trends and changes that have occurred during the current fiscal year. The application must confirm that expenditure of approved risk pool funds by the lead agency will be completed within the current fiscal year.

2. A risk pool peer review committee, appointed by the secretary and consisting of department staff and representatives from at least three nonapplicant lead agencies, which reviews and assesses all risk pool applications. Upon completion of each application review, the peer review committee shall report its findings and recommendations to the secretary, providing, at a minimum, the following information:

a. Justification for the specific funding amount required by the risk pool applicant based on the current year's service trend data, including validation that the applicant's financial need was caused by circumstances beyond the control of the lead agency management;

b. Verification that the proposed use of risk pool funds meets at least one of the purposes specified in paragraph (c); and

c. Evidence of technical assistance provided in an effort to avoid the need to access the risk pool and recommendations for technical assistance to the lead agency to ensure that risk pool funds are expended effectively and that the agency's need for future risk pool funding is diminished.

(b) Upon approval by the secretary of a risk pool application, the department may request funds from the risk pool in accordance with s. 216.181(6)(a).

(c) The purposes for which the community-based care risk pool shall be used include:

1. Significant changes in the number or composition of clients eligible to receive services.

2. Significant changes in the services that are eligible for reimbursement.

3. Continuity of care in the event of failure, discontinuance of service, or financial misconduct by a lead agency.

4. Significant changes in the mix of available funds.

(d) The department may also request in its annual legislative budget request, and the Governor may recommend, that the funding necessary to effect paragraph (c) be appropriated to the department. In addition, the department may request the allocation of funds from the community-based care risk pool in accordance with s. 216.181(6)(a). Funds from the pool may be used to match available federal dollars.

1. Such funds shall constitute partial security for contract performance by lead agencies and shall be used to offset the need for a performance bond.

2. The department may separately require a bond to mitigate the financial consequences of potential acts of malfeasance or misfeasance or criminal violations by the service provider.

Section 34. Section 409.16713, Florida Statutes, is transferred and renumbered as section 409.991, Florida Statutes, and paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of that section is amended, to read:

409.991 ~~409.16713~~ Allocation of funds for community-based care lead agencies.—

(1) As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Core services funding" means all funds allocated to community-based care lead agencies operating under contract with the department pursuant to s. 409.987 ~~s. 409.1671~~, with the following exceptions:

1. Funds appropriated for independent living;

2. Funds appropriated for maintenance adoption subsidies;

3. Funds allocated by the department for protective

investigations training;

4. Nonrecurring funds;

5. Designated mental health wrap-around services funds; and

6. Funds for special projects for a designated community-based care lead agency.

Section 35. Section 409.992, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

409.992 Lead agency expenditures.—

(1) The procurement of commodities or contractual services by lead agencies shall be governed by the financial guidelines developed by the department and must comply with applicable state and federal law and follow good business practices. Pursuant to s. 11.45, the Auditor General may provide technical advice in the development of the financial guidelines.

(2) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, a community-based care lead agency may make expenditures for staff cellular telephone allowances, contracts requiring deferred payments and maintenance agreements, security deposits for office leases, related agency professional membership dues other than personal professional membership dues, promotional materials, and grant writing services. Expenditures for food and refreshments, other than those provided to clients in the care of the agency or to foster parents, adoptive parents, and caseworkers during training sessions, are not allowable.

(3) A lead community-based care agency and its subcontractors are exempt from state travel policies as provided in s. 112.061(3)(a) for their travel expenses incurred in order to comply with the requirements of this section.

Section 36. Section 409.993, Florida Statutes, is created

to read:

409.993 Lead agencies and subcontractor liability.—

(1) FINDINGS.—

(a) The Legislature finds that the state has traditionally provided foster care services to children who are the responsibility of the state. As such, foster children have not had the right to recover for injuries beyond the limitations specified in s. 768.28. The Legislature has determined that foster care and related services should be outsourced pursuant to this section and that the provision of such services is of paramount importance to the state. The purpose of such outsourcing is to increase the level of safety, security, and stability of children who are or become the responsibility of the state. One of the components necessary to secure a safe and stable environment for such children is the requirement that private providers maintain liability insurance. As such, insurance needs to be available and remain available to nongovernmental foster care and related services providers without the resources of such providers being significantly reduced by the cost of maintaining such insurance.

(b) The Legislature further finds that, by requiring the following minimum levels of insurance, children in outsourced foster care and related services will gain increased protection and rights of recovery in the event of injury than currently provided in s. 768.28.

(2) LEAD AGENCY LIABILITY.—

(a) Other than an entity to which s. 768.28 applies, an eligible community-based care lead agency, or its employees or officers, except as otherwise provided in paragraph (b), shall,

as a part of its contract, obtain a minimum of $1 million per occurrence with a policy period aggregate limit of $3 million in general liability insurance coverage. The lead agency must also require that staff who transport client children and families in their personal automobiles in order to carry out their job responsibilities obtain minimum bodily injury liability insurance in the amount of $100,000 per person per any one automobile accident, and subject to such limits for each person, $300,000 for all damages resulting from any one automobile accident, on their personal automobiles. In lieu of personal motor vehicle insurance, the lead agency's casualty, liability, or motor vehicle insurance carrier may provide nonowned automobile liability coverage. This insurance provides liability insurance for an automobile that the lead agency uses in connection with the lead agency's business but does not own, lease, rent, or borrow. This coverage includes an automobile owned by an employee of the lead agency or a member of the employee's household but only while the automobile is used in connection with the lead agency's business. The nonowned automobile coverage for the lead agency applies as excess coverage over any other collectible insurance. The personal automobile policy for the employee of the lead agency shall be primary insurance, and the nonowned automobile coverage of the lead agency acts as excess insurance to the primary insurance. The lead agency shall provide a minimum limit of $1 million in nonowned automobile coverage. In a tort action brought against such a lead agency or employee, net economic damages shall be limited to $2 million per liability claim and $200,000 per automobile claim, including, but not limited to, past and future medical expenses, wage loss, and loss of earning capacity, offset by any collateral source payment paid or payable. In any tort action brought against a lead agency, noneconomic damages shall be limited to $400,000 per claim. A claims bill may be brought on behalf of a claimant pursuant to s. 768.28 for any amount exceeding the limits specified in this paragraph. Any offset of collateral source payments made as of the date of the settlement or judgment shall be in accordance with s. 768.76. The lead agency is not liable in tort for the acts or omissions of its subcontractors or the officers, agents, or employees of its subcontractors.

(b) The liability of a lead agency described in this section shall be exclusive and in place of all other liability of such lead agency. The same immunities from liability enjoyed by such lead agencies shall extend to each employee of the lead agency if he or she is acting in furtherance of the lead agency's business, including the transportation of clients served, as described in this subsection, in privately owned vehicles. Such immunities are not applicable to a lead agency or an employee who acts in a culpably negligent manner or with willful and wanton disregard or unprovoked physical aggression if such acts result in injury or death or such acts proximately cause such injury or death. Such immunities are not applicable to employees of the same lead agency when each is operating in the furtherance of the agency's business, but they are assigned primarily to unrelated work within private or public employment. The same immunity provisions enjoyed by a lead agency also apply to any sole proprietor, partner, corporate officer or director, supervisor, or other person who, in the course and scope of his or her duties, acts in a managerial or policymaking capacity and the conduct that caused the alleged injury arose within the course and scope of those managerial or policymaking duties. As used in this subsection and subsection (3), the term "culpably negligent manner" means reckless indifference or grossly careless disregard of human life.

(3) SUBCONTRACTOR LIABILITY.—

(a) A subcontractor of an eligible community-based care lead agency that is a direct provider of foster care and related services to children and families, and its employees or officers, except as otherwise provided in paragraph (b), must, as a part of its contract, obtain a minimum of $1 million per occurrence with a policy period aggregate limit of $3 million in general liability insurance coverage. The subcontractor of a lead agency must also require that staff who transport client children and families in their personal automobiles in order to carry out their job responsibilities obtain minimum bodily injury liability insurance in the amount of $100,000 per person in any one automobile accident, and subject to such limits for each person, $300,000 for all damages resulting from any one automobile accident, on their personal automobiles. In lieu of personal motor vehicle insurance, the subcontractor's casualty, liability, or motor vehicle insurance carrier may provide nonowned automobile liability coverage. This insurance provides liability insurance for automobiles that the subcontractor uses in connection with the subcontractor's business but does not own, lease, rent, or borrow. This coverage includes automobiles owned by the employees of the subcontractor or a member of the employee's household but only while the automobiles are used in connection with the subcontractor's business. The nonowned automobile coverage for the subcontractor applies as excess coverage over any other collectible insurance. The personal automobile policy for the employee of the subcontractor shall be primary insurance, and the nonowned automobile coverage of the subcontractor acts as excess insurance to the primary insurance. The subcontractor shall provide a minimum limit of $1 million in nonowned automobile coverage. In a tort action brought against such subcontractor or employee, net economic damages shall be limited to $2 million per liability claim and $200,000 per automobile claim, including, but not limited to, past and future medical expenses, wage loss, and loss of earning capacity, offset by any collateral source payment paid or payable. In a tort action brought against such subcontractor, noneconomic damages shall be limited to $400,000 per claim. A claims bill may be brought on behalf of a claimant pursuant to s. 768.28 for any amount exceeding the limits specified in this paragraph. Any offset of collateral source payments made as of the date of the settlement or judgment shall be in accordance with s. 768.76.

(b) The liability of a subcontractor of a lead agency that is a direct provider of foster care and related services as described in this section is exclusive and in place of all other liability of such provider. The same immunities from liability enjoyed by such subcontractor provider extend to each employee of the subcontractor when such employee is acting in furtherance of the subcontractor's business, including the transportation of clients served, as described in this subsection, in privately owned vehicles. Such immunities are not applicable to a subcontractor or an employee who acts in a culpably negligent manner or with willful and wanton disregard or unprovoked physical aggression if such acts result in injury or death or if such acts proximately cause such injury or death. Such immunities are not applicable to employees of the same subcontractor who are operating in the furtherance of the subcontractor's business but are assigned primarily to unrelated works within private or public employment. The same immunity provisions enjoyed by a subcontractor also apply to any sole proprietor, partner, corporate officer or director, supervisor, or other person who, in the course and scope of his or her duties, acts in a managerial or policymaking capacity and the conduct that caused the alleged injury arose within the course and scope of those managerial or policymaking duties.

(4) LIMITATIONS ON DAMAGES.—The Legislature is cognizant of the increasing costs of goods and services each year and recognizes that fixing a set amount of compensation has the effect of a reduction in compensation each year. Accordingly, the conditional limitations on damages in this section shall be increased at the rate of 5 percent each year, prorated from July 1, 2014, to the date at which damages subject to such limitations are awarded by final judgment or settlement.

Section 37. Section 409.1675, Florida Statutes, is transferred, renumbered as section 409.994, Florida Statutes, and amended to read:

409.994 ~~409.1675~~ ~~Lead~~ Community-based care lead agencies ~~providers~~; receivership.—

(1) The Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ may petition a court of competent jurisdiction for the appointment of a receiver for a ~~lead~~ community-based care lead agency ~~provider~~ established pursuant to s. 409.987 if ~~s. 409.1671 when~~ any of the following conditions exist:

(a) The lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ is operating without a license as a child-placing agency.

(b) The lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ has given less than 120 days' notice of its intent to cease operations, and arrangements have not been made for another lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ or for the department to continue the uninterrupted provision of services.

(c) The department determines that conditions exist in the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ which present an imminent danger to the health, safety, or welfare of the dependent children under that agency's ~~provider's~~ care or supervision. Whenever possible, the department shall make a reasonable effort to facilitate the continued operation of the program.

(d) The lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ cannot meet its current financial obligations to its employees, contractors, or foster parents. Issuance of bad checks or the existence of delinquent obligations for payment of salaries, utilities, or invoices for essential services or commodities shall constitute prima facie evidence that the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ lacks the financial ability to meet its financial obligations.

(2)(a) The petition for receivership shall take precedence over other court business unless the court determines that some other pending proceeding, having statutory precedence, has priority.

(b) A hearing shall be conducted within 5 days after the filing of the petition, at which time interested parties shall have the opportunity to present evidence as to whether a receiver should be appointed. The department shall give reasonable notice of the hearing on the petition to the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~.

(c) The court shall grant the petition upon finding that one or more of the conditions in subsection (1) exists and the continued existence of the condition or conditions jeopardizes the health, safety, or welfare of dependent children. A receiver may be appointed ex parte when the court determines that one or more of the conditions in subsection (1) exists. After such finding, the court may appoint any person, including an employee of the department who is qualified by education, training, or experience to carry out the duties of the receiver pursuant to this section, except that the court may ~~shall~~ not appoint any member of the governing board or any officer of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~. The receiver may be selected from a list of persons qualified to act as receivers which is developed by the department and presented to the court with each petition of receivership.

(d) A receiver may be appointed for up to 90 days, and the department may petition the court for additional 30-day extensions. Sixty days after appointment of a receiver and every 30 days thereafter until the receivership is terminated, the department shall submit to the court an assessment of the lead agency's ~~community-based provider's~~ ability to ensure the health, safety, and welfare of the dependent children under its supervision.

(3) The receiver shall take such steps as are reasonably necessary to ensure the continued health, safety, and welfare of the dependent children under the supervision of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ and shall exercise those powers and perform those duties set out by the court, including, but not limited to:

(a) Taking such action as is reasonably necessary to protect or conserve the assets or property of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~. The receiver may use the assets and property and any proceeds from any transfer thereof only in the performance of the powers and duties provided ~~set forth~~ in this section and by order of the court.

(b) Using the assets of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ in the provision of care and services to dependent children.

(c) Entering into contracts and hiring agents and employees to carry out the powers and duties of the receiver under this section.

(d) Having full power to direct, manage, hire, and discharge employees of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~. The receiver shall hire and pay new employees at the rate of compensation, including benefits, approved by the court.

(e) Honoring all leases, mortgages, and contractual obligations of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~, but only to the extent of payments that become due during the period of the receivership.

(4)(a) The receiver shall deposit funds received in a separate account and shall use this account for all disbursements.

(b) A payment to the receiver of any sum owing to the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ shall discharge any obligation to the provider to the extent of the payment.

(5) A receiver may petition the court for temporary relief from obligations entered into by the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ if the rent, price, or rate of interest required to be paid under the agreement was substantially in excess of a reasonable rent, price, or rate of interest at the time the contract was entered into, or if any material provision of the agreement was unreasonable when compared to contracts negotiated under similar conditions. Any relief in this form provided by the court shall be limited to the life of the receivership, unless otherwise determined by the court.

(6) The court shall set the compensation of the receiver, which shall be considered a necessary expense of a receivership and may grant to the receiver such other authority necessary to ensure the health, safety, and welfare of the children served.

(7) A receiver may be held liable in a personal capacity only for the receiver's own gross negligence, intentional acts, or breaches of fiduciary duty. This section may ~~shall~~ not be interpreted to be a waiver of sovereign immunity should the department be appointed receiver.

(8) If the receiver is not the department, the court may require a receiver to post a bond to ensure the faithful performance of these duties.

(9) The court may terminate a receivership when:

(a) The court determines that the receivership is no longer necessary because the conditions that gave rise to the receivership no longer exist; or

(b) The department has entered into a contract with a new lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ pursuant to s. 409.987 ~~s.~~

~~409.1671~~, and that contractor is ready and able to assume the duties of the previous lead agency ~~provider~~.

(10) Within 30 days after the termination, unless this time period is extended by the court, the receiver shall give the court a complete accounting of all property of which the receiver has taken possession, of all funds collected and disbursed, and of the expenses of the receiversship.

(11) ~~Nothing in~~ This section does not ~~shall be construed to~~ relieve any employee of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ placed in receivership of any civil or criminal liability incurred, or any duty imposed by law, by reason of acts or omissions of the employee before ~~prior to~~ the appointment of a receiver, and~~; nor shall anything contained in~~ this section does not ~~be construed to~~ suspend during the receivership any obligation of the employee for payment of taxes or other operating or maintenance expenses of the lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ or for the payment of mortgages or liens. The lead agency ~~community-based provider~~ shall retain the right to sell or mortgage any facility under receivership, subject to the prior approval of the court that ordered the receivership.

Section 38. Section 409.996, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

(d) Specify the procedures to be used by the parties to resolve differences in interpreting the contract or to resolve disputes as to the adequacy of the parties' compliance with their respective obligations under the contract.

(2) The department must adopt written policies and procedures for monitoring the contract for delivery of services by lead agencies which must be posted on the department's website. These policies and procedures must, at a minimum, address the evaluation of fiscal accountability and program operations, including provider achievement of performance standards, provider monitoring of subcontractors, and timely followup of corrective actions for significant monitoring findings related to providers and subcontractors. These policies and procedures must also include provisions for reducing the duplication of the department's program monitoring activities both internally and with other agencies, to the extent possible. The department's written procedures must ensure that the written findings, conclusions, and recommendations from monitoring the contract for services of lead agencies are communicated to the director of the provider agency and the community alliance as expeditiously as possible.

(3) The department shall receive federal and state funds as appropriated for the operation of the child welfare system, transmit these funds to the lead agencies as agreed to in the contract, and provide information on its website of the distribution of the federal funds. The department retains responsibility for the appropriate spending of these funds. The department shall monitor lead agencies to assess compliance with the financial guidelines established pursuant to s. 409.992 and other applicable state and federal laws.

(4) The department shall provide technical assistance and consultation to lead agencies in the provision of care to children in the child protection and child welfare system.

(5) The department retains the responsibility for the review, approval or denial, and issuances of all foster home licenses.

(6) The department shall process all applications submitted by lead agencies for the Interstate Compact on the Placement of Children and the Interstate Compact on Adoption and Medical Assistance.

(7) The department shall assist lead agencies with access to and coordination with other service programs within the department.

(8) The department shall determine Medicaid eligibility for all referred children and shall coordinate services with the Agency for Health Care Administration.

(9) The department shall develop, in cooperation with the lead agencies, a third-party credentialing entity approved pursuant to s. 402.40(3), and the Florida Institute for Child Welfare established pursuant to s. 1004.615, a standardized competency-based curriculum for certification training for child protection staff.

(10) The department shall maintain the statewide adoptions website and provide information and training to the lead agencies relating to the website.

(11) The department shall provide training and assistance to lead agencies regarding the responsibility of lead agencies relating to children receiving supplemental security income, social security, railroad retirement, or veterans' benefits.

(15) The department shall assist lead agencies in developing an array of services in compliance with the Title IV-E waiver and shall monitor the provision of such services.

(16) The department shall provide a mechanism to allow lead agencies to request a waiver of department policies and procedures that create inefficiencies or inhibit the performance of the lead agency's duties.

(17) The department shall directly or through contract provide attorneys to prepare and present cases in dependency court and shall ensure that the court is provided with adequate information for informed decisionmaking in dependency cases, including a face sheet for each case which lists the names and contact information for any child protective investigator, child protective investigation supervisor, case manager, and case manager supervisor, and the regional department official responsible for the lead agency contract. The department shall provide to the court the case information and recommendations provided by the lead agency or subcontractor. For the Sixth Judicial Circuit, the department shall contract with the state attorney for the provision of these services.

(18) The department, in consultation with lead agencies, shall establish a quality assurance program for contracted services to dependent children. The quality assurance program shall be based on standards established by federal and state law and national accrediting organizations.

(a) The department must evaluate each lead agency under contract at least annually. These evaluations shall cover the programmatic, operational, and fiscal operations of the lead agency and must be consistent with the child welfare results-oriented accountability system required by s. 409.997. The department must consult with dependency judges in the circuit or circuits served by the lead agency on the performance of the lead agency.

(b) The department and each lead agency shall monitor out-of-home placements, including the extent to which sibling groups are placed together or provisions to provide visitation and other contacts if siblings are separated. The data shall identify reasons for sibling separation. (c) The department shall, to the extent possible, use independent financial audits provided by the lead agency to eliminate or reduce the ongoing contract and administrative reviews conducted by the department. If the department determines that such independent financial audits are inadequate, other audits, as necessary, may be conducted by the department. This paragraph does not abrogate the requirements of s. 215.97.

(d) The department may suggest additional items to be included in such independent financial audits to meet the department's needs.

(e) The department may outsource programmatic, administrative, or fiscal monitoring oversight of lead agencies.

(f) A lead agency must assure that all subcontractors are subject to the same quality assurance activities as the lead agency.

(19) The department and its attorneys have the responsibility to ensure that the court is fully informed about issues before it, to make recommendations to the court, and to present competent evidence, including testimony by the department's employees, contractors, and subcontractors, as well as other individuals, to support all recommendations made to the court. The department's attorneys shall coordinate lead agency or subcontractor staff to ensure that dependency cases are presented appropriately to the court, giving deference to the information developed by the case manager and direction to the case manager if more information is needed.

(20) The department, in consultation with lead agencies, shall develop a dispute resolution process so that disagreements between legal staff, investigators, and case management staff can be resolved in the best interest of the child in question before court appearances regarding that child.

(21) The department shall periodically, and before procuring a lead agency, solicit comments and recommendations from the community alliance established in s. 20.19(5), any other community groups, or public hearings. The recommendations must include, but are not limited to:

Section 39. Effective January 1, 2015, section 409.997, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

409.997 Child welfare results-oriented accountability system.—

(1) The department, the community-based care lead agencies, and the lead agencies' subcontractors share the responsibility for achieving the outcome goals specified in s. 409.986(2).

(2) In order to assess the achievement of the outcome goals specified in s. 409.986(2), the department shall maintain a comprehensive, results-oriented accountability system that monitors the use of resources, the quality and amount of services provided, and child and family outcomes through data analysis, research review, evaluation, and quality improvement. The system shall provide information about individual entities' performance as well as the performance of groups of entities working together as an integrated system of care on a local, regional, and statewide basis. The department shall issue a request for information for the accountability system to identify system development and implementation approaches, technical and operational solutions, timeframes for implementation, pricing and costs, and implementation considerations; assess respondents' experience in providing similar systems and interest in providing the accountability system; and generate any other information determined by the department to be useful in establishing the system. The department shall provide a report to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives by February 1, 2015, summarizing the responses and providing the department's recommendations regarding procurement and implementation of the system. In maintaining the accountability system, the department shall:

(a) Identify valid and reliable outcome measures for each of the goals specified in this subsection. The outcome data set must consist of a limited number of understandable measures using available data to quantify outcomes as children move through the system of care. Such measures may aggregate multiple variables that affect the overall achievement of the outcome goals. Valid and reliable measures must be based on adequate sample sizes, be gathered over suitable time periods, and reflect authentic rather than spurious results, and may not be susceptible to manipulation.

(b) Implement a monitoring system to track the identified outcome measures on a statewide, regional, and provider-specific basis. The monitoring system must identify trends and chart progress toward achievement of the goals specified s. 409.986(2). The requirements of the monitoring system may be incorporated into the quality assurance program required under s. 409.996(18). The monitoring system shall track the placement of siblings in the child welfare system, including the extent to which siblings are placed together and, if the siblings are not placed together, the efforts to maintain the relationship between siblings through face-to-face visitation and written and electronic contact.

(c) Develop and maintain an analytical system that builds on the outcomes monitoring system to assess the statistical validity of observed associations between child welfare interventions and the measured outcomes. The analysis must use quantitative methods to adjust for variations in demographic or other conditions. The analysis must include longitudinal studies to evaluate longer-term outcomes such as continued safety, family permanence, and transition to self-sufficiency. The analysis may also include qualitative research methods to provide insight into statistical patterns.

(d) Develop and maintain a program of research review to identify interventions that are supported by evidence as causally linked to improved outcomes.

(e) Support an ongoing process of evaluation to determine the efficacy and effectiveness of various interventions. Efficacy evaluation is intended to determine the validity of a causal relationship between an intervention and an outcome. Effectiveness evaluation is intended to determine the extent to which the results can be generalized.

(f) Develop and maintain an inclusive, interactive, and evidence-supported program of quality improvement which promotes individual skill building as well as organizational learning.

(g) Develop and implement a method for making the results of the accountability system transparent for all parties involved in the child welfare system as well as policymakers and the public. The presentation of the results shall provide a comprehensible, visual report card for the state and each community-based care region, indicating the current status relative to each goal and trends in that status over time. The presentation shall identify and report outcome measures that assess the performance of the department, the community-based care lead agency, and the lead agency's subcontractors working together as an integrated system of care.

(3) The department shall establish a technical advisory panel consisting of representatives from the Florida Institute for Child Welfare established in s. 1004.615, lead agencies, community-based care providers, other contract providers, community alliances, and family representatives. The President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall each appoint a member to serve as a legislative liaison to the panel. The technical advisory panel shall advise the department on meeting the requirements of this section.

(4) The accountability system may not rank or compare performance among community-based care regions unless adequate and specific adjustments are adopted that account for the diversity in regions' demographics, resources, and other relevant characteristics.

(5) The results of the accountability system must provide the basis for performance incentives if funds for such payments are made available through the General Appropriations Act.

(6) At least quarterly, the department shall make the results of the accountability system available to the public through publication on its website. The website must allow for custom searches of the performance data.

(7) By October 1 of each year, the department shall submit a report on the statewide and individual community-based care lead agency results for child protection and child welfare systems. The department shall use the accountability system and consult with the community alliance and the chief judge or judges in the community-based care service area to prepare the report. The report shall be submitted to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

(g) Nothing in this chapter or in the contracting with community-based care providers for foster care and related services as specified in s. 409.987 ~~s. 409.1671~~ shall be construed to remove or reduce the duty and responsibility of any person, including any employee of the community-based care provider, to report a suspected or actual case of child abuse, abandonment, or neglect or the sexual abuse of a child to the department's central abuse hotline.

Section 50. Subsection (1) of section 39.302, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.302 Protective investigations of institutional child abuse, abandonment, or neglect.—

(1) The department shall conduct a child protective investigation of each report of institutional child abuse, abandonment, or neglect. Upon receipt of a report that alleges that an employee or agent of the department, or any other entity or person covered by s. 39.01(32) ~~s. 39.01(33)~~ or (47), acting in an official capacity, has committed an act of child abuse, abandonment, or neglect, the department shall initiate a child protective investigation within the timeframe established under s. 39.201(5) and notify the appropriate state attorney, law enforcement agency, and licensing agency, which shall immediately conduct a joint investigation, unless independent investigations are more feasible. When conducting investigations or having face-to-face interviews with the child, investigation visits shall be unannounced unless it is determined by the department or its agent that unannounced visits threaten the safety of the child. If a facility is exempt from licensing, the department shall inform the owner or operator of the facility of the report. Each agency conducting a joint investigation is entitled to full access to the information gathered by the department in the course of the investigation. A protective investigation must include an interview with the child's parent or legal guardian. The department shall make a full written report to the state attorney within 3 working days after making the oral report. A criminal investigation shall be coordinated, whenever possible, with the child protective investigation of the department. Any interested person who has information regarding the offenses described in this subsection may forward a statement to the state attorney as to whether prosecution is warranted and appropriate. Within 15 days after the completion of the investigation, the state attorney shall report the findings to the department and shall include in the report a determination of whether or not prosecution is justified and appropriate in view of the circumstances of the specific case.

Section 51. Subsection (1) of section 39.524, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.524 Safe-harbor placement.—

(1) Except as provided in s. 39.407 or s. 985.801, a dependent child 6 years of age or older who has been found to be a victim of sexual exploitation as defined in s. 39.01(68)(g) ~~s. 39.01(67)(g)~~ must be assessed for placement in a safe house as provided in s. 409.1678. The assessment shall be conducted by the department or its agent and shall incorporate and address current and historical information from any law enforcement reports; psychological testing or evaluation that has occurred; current and historical information from the guardian ad litem, if one has been assigned; current and historical information from any current therapist, teacher, or other professional who has knowledge of the child and has worked with the child; and any other information concerning the availability and suitability of safe-house placement. If such placement is determined to be appropriate as a result of this assessment, the child may be placed in a safe house, if one is available. As used in this section, the term "available" as it relates to a placement means a placement that is located within the circuit or otherwise reasonably accessible.

Section 52. Subsection (6) of section 316.613, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

316.613 Child restraint requirements.—

(6) The child restraint requirements imposed by this section do not apply to a chauffeur-driven taxi, limousine, sedan, van, bus, motor coach, or other passenger vehicle if the operator and the motor vehicle are hired and used for the transportation of persons for compensation. It is the obligation and responsibility of the parent, guardian, or other person responsible for a child's welfare~~,~~ as defined in s. 39.01~~(47),~~ to comply with the requirements of this section.

Section 53. Subsections (1), (3), and (5) of section 409.1676, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

409.1676 Comprehensive residential group care services to children who have extraordinary needs.—

(1) It is the intent of the Legislature to provide comprehensive residential group care services, including residential care, case management, and other services, to children in the child protection system who have extraordinary needs. These services are to be provided in a residential group care setting by a not-for-profit corporation or a local government entity under a contract with the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ or by a lead agency as described in s. 409.987 ~~s. 409.1671~~. These contracts should be designed to provide an identified number of children with access to a full array of services for a fixed price. Further, it is the intent of the Legislature that the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ and the Department of Juvenile Justice establish an interagency agreement by December 1, 2002, which describes respective agency responsibilities for referral, placement, service provision, and service coordination for dependent and delinquent youth who are referred to these residential group care facilities. The agreement must require interagency collaboration in the development of terms, conditions, and performance outcomes for residential group care contracts serving the youth referred who have been adjudicated both dependent and delinquent.

(3) The department, in accordance with a specific appropriation for this program, shall contract with a not-for-profit corporation, a local government entity, or the lead agency that has been established in accordance with s. 409.987 ~~s. 409.1671~~ for the performance of residential group care services described in this section. A lead agency that is currently providing residential care may provide this service directly with the approval of the local community alliance. The department or a lead agency may contract for more than one site in a county if that is determined to be the most effective way to achieve the goals set forth in this section.

(5) The department may transfer all casework responsibilities for children served under this program to the entity that provides this service, including case management and development and implementation of a case plan in accordance with current standards for child protection services. When the department establishes this program in a community that has a lead agency as described in s. 409.987 ~~s. 409.1671~~, the casework responsibilities must be transferred to the lead agency.

Section 54. Subsection (2) of section 409.1677, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

409.1677 Model comprehensive residential services programs.—

(2) The department shall establish a model comprehensive residential services program in Manatee and Miami-Dade Counties through a contract with the designated lead agency established in accordance with s. 409.987 ~~s. 409.1671~~ or with a private entity capable of providing residential group care and home-based care and experienced in the delivery of a range of services to foster children, if no lead agency exists. These model programs are to serve that portion of eligible children within each county which is specified in the contract, based on funds appropriated, to include a full array of services for a fixed price. The private entity or lead agency is responsible for all programmatic functions necessary to carry out the intent of this section.

Section 55. Paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of section 409.1678, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

409.1678 Safe harbor for children who are victims of sexual exploitation.—

(1) As used in this section, the term:

(d) "Sexually exploited child" means a dependent child who has suffered sexual exploitation as defined in s. 39.01(68)(g) ~~s. 39.01(67)(g)~~ and is ineligible for relief and benefits under the federal Trafficking Victims Protection Act, 22 U.S.C. ss. 7101 et seq.

Section 56. Subsection (24) of section 409.906, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

409.906 Optional Medicaid services.—Subject to specific appropriations, the agency may make payments for services which are optional to the state under Title XIX of the Social Security Act and are furnished by Medicaid providers to recipients who are determined to be eligible on the dates on which the services were provided. Any optional service that is provided shall be provided only when medically necessary and in accordance with state and federal law. Optional services rendered by providers in mobile units to Medicaid recipients may be restricted or prohibited by the agency. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent or limit the agency from adjusting fees, reimbursement rates, lengths of stay, number of visits, or number of services, or making any other adjustments necessary to comply with the availability of moneys and any limitations or directions provided for in the General Appropriations Act or chapter 216. If necessary to safeguard the state's systems of providing services to elderly and disabled persons and subject to the notice and review provisions of s. 216.177, the Governor may direct the Agency for Health Care Administration to amend the Medicaid state plan to delete the optional Medicaid service known as "Intermediate Care Facilities for the Developmentally Disabled." Optional services may include:

(24) CHILD-WELFARE-TARGETED CASE MANAGEMENT.—The Agency for Health Care Administration, in consultation with the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~, may establish a targeted case-management project in those counties identified by the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ and for all counties with a community-based child welfare project, as authorized under s. 409.987 ~~s. 409.1671,~~ which have been specifically approved by the department. The covered group of individuals who are eligible to receive targeted case management include children who are eligible for Medicaid; who are between the ages of birth through 21; and who are under protective supervision or postplacement supervision, under foster-care supervision, or in shelter care or foster care. The number of individuals who are eligible to receive targeted case management is limited to the number for whom the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ has matching funds to cover the costs. The general revenue funds required to match the funds for services provided by the community-based child welfare projects are limited to funds available for services described under s. 409.990 ~~s. 409.1671~~. The Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ may transfer the general revenue matching funds as billed by the Agency for Health Care Administration.

Section 57. Paragraph (b) of subsection (4) of section 409.912, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

409.912 Cost-effective purchasing of health care.—The agency shall purchase goods and services for Medicaid recipients in the most cost-effective manner consistent with the delivery of quality medical care. To ensure that medical services are effectively utilized, the agency may, in any case, require a confirmation or second physician's opinion of the correct diagnosis for purposes of authorizing future services under the Medicaid program. This section does not restrict access to emergency services or poststabilization care services as defined in 42 C.F.R. part 438.114. Such confirmation or second opinion shall be rendered in a manner approved by the agency. The agency shall maximize the use of prepaid per capita and prepaid aggregate fixed-sum basis services when appropriate and other alternative service delivery and reimbursement methodologies, including competitive bidding pursuant to s. 287.057, designed to facilitate the cost-effective purchase of a case-managed continuum of care. The agency shall also require providers to minimize the exposure of recipients to the need for acute inpatient, custodial, and other institutional care and the inappropriate or unnecessary use of high-cost services. The agency shall contract with a vendor to monitor and evaluate the clinical practice patterns of providers in order to identify trends that are outside the normal practice patterns of a provider's professional peers or the national guidelines of a provider's professional association. The vendor must be able to provide information and counseling to a provider whose practice patterns are outside the norms, in consultation with the agency, to improve patient care and reduce inappropriate utilization. The agency may mandate prior authorization, drug therapy management, or disease management participation for certain populations of Medicaid beneficiaries, certain drug classes, or particular drugs to prevent fraud, abuse, overuse, and possible dangerous drug interactions. The Pharmaceutical and Therapeutics Committee shall make recommendations to the agency on drugs for which prior authorization is required. The agency shall inform the Pharmaceutical and Therapeutics Committee of its decisions regarding drugs subject to prior authorization. The agency is authorized to limit the entities it contracts with or enrolls as Medicaid providers by developing a provider network through provider credentialing. The agency may competitively bid single-source-provider contracts if procurement of goods or services results in demonstrated cost savings to the state without limiting access to care. The agency may limit its network based on the assessment of beneficiary access to care, provider availability, provider quality standards, time and distance standards for access to care, the cultural competence of the provider network, demographic characteristics of Medicaid beneficiaries, practice and provider-to-beneficiary standards, appointment wait times, beneficiary use of services, provider turnover, provider profiling, provider licensure history, previous program integrity investigations and findings, peer review, provider Medicaid policy and billing compliance records, clinical and medical record audits, and other factors. Providers are not entitled to enrollment in the Medicaid provider network. The agency shall determine instances in which allowing Medicaid beneficiaries to purchase durable medical equipment and other goods is less expensive to the Medicaid program than long-term rental of the equipment or goods. The agency may establish rules to facilitate purchases in lieu of long-term rentals in order to protect against fraud and abuse in the Medicaid program as defined in s. 409.913. The agency may seek federal waivers necessary to administer these policies.

(4) The agency may contract with:

(b) An entity that is providing comprehensive behavioral health care services to certain Medicaid recipients through a capitated, prepaid arrangement pursuant to the federal waiver provided for by s. 409.905(5). Such entity must be licensed under chapter 624, chapter 636, or chapter 641, or authorized under paragraph (c) or paragraph (d), and must possess the clinical systems and operational competence to manage risk and provide comprehensive behavioral health care to Medicaid recipients. As used in this paragraph, the term "comprehensive behavioral health care services" means covered mental health and substance abuse treatment services that are available to Medicaid recipients. The secretary of the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ shall approve provisions of procurements related to children in the department's care or custody before enrolling such children in a prepaid behavioral health plan. Any contract awarded under this paragraph must be competitively procured. In developing the behavioral health care prepaid plan procurement document, the agency shall ensure that the procurement document requires the contractor to develop and implement a plan to ensure compliance with s. 394.4574 related to services provided to residents of licensed assisted living facilities that hold a limited mental health license. Except as provided in subparagraph 5., and except in counties where the Medicaid managed care pilot program is authorized pursuant to s. 409.91211, the agency shall seek federal approval to contract with a single entity meeting these requirements to provide comprehensive behavioral health care services to all Medicaid recipients not enrolled in a Medicaid managed care plan authorized under s. 409.91211, a provider service network authorized under paragraph (d), or a Medicaid health maintenance organization in an AHCA area. In an AHCA area where the Medicaid managed care pilot program is authorized pursuant to s. 409.91211 in one or more counties, the agency may procure a contract with a single entity to serve the remaining counties as an AHCA area or the remaining counties may be included with an adjacent AHCA area and are subject to this paragraph. Each entity must offer a sufficient choice of providers in its network to ensure recipient access to care and the opportunity to select a provider with whom they are satisfied. The network shall include all public mental health hospitals. To ensure unimpaired access to behavioral health care services by Medicaid recipients, all contracts issued pursuant to this paragraph must require 80 percent of the capitation paid to the managed care plan, including health maintenance organizations and capitated provider service networks, to be expended for the provision of behavioral health care services. If the managed care plan expends less than 80 percent of the capitation paid for the provision of behavioral health care services, the difference shall be returned to the agency. The agency shall provide the plan with a certification letter indicating the amount of capitation paid during each calendar year for behavioral health care services pursuant to this section. The agency may reimburse for substance abuse treatment services on a fee-for-service basis until the agency finds that adequate funds are available for capitated, prepaid arrangements.

1. The agency shall modify the contracts with the entities providing comprehensive inpatient and outpatient mental health care services to Medicaid recipients in Hillsborough, Highlands, Hardee, Manatee, and Polk Counties, to include substance abuse treatment services.

2. Except as provided in subparagraph 5., the agency and the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ shall contract with managed care entities in each AHCA area except area 6 or arrange to provide comprehensive inpatient and outpatient mental health and substance abuse services through capitated prepaid arrangements to all Medicaid recipients who are eligible to participate in such plans under federal law and regulation. In AHCA areas where eligible individuals number less than 150,000, the agency shall contract with a single managed care plan to provide comprehensive behavioral health services to all recipients who are not enrolled in a Medicaid health maintenance organization, a provider service network authorized under paragraph (d), or a Medicaid capitated managed care plan authorized under s. 409.91211. The agency may contract with more than one comprehensive behavioral health provider to provide care to recipients who are not enrolled in a Medicaid capitated managed care plan authorized under s. 409.91211, a provider service network authorized under paragraph (d), or a Medicaid health maintenance organization in AHCA areas where the eligible population exceeds 150,000. In an AHCA area where the Medicaid managed care pilot program is authorized pursuant to s. 409.91211 in one or more counties, the agency may procure a contract with a single entity to serve the remaining counties as an AHCA area or the remaining counties may be included with an adjacent AHCA area and shall be subject to this paragraph. Contracts for comprehensive behavioral health providers awarded pursuant to this section shall be competitively procured. Both for-profit and not-for-profit corporations are eligible to compete. Managed care plans contracting with the agency under subsection (3) or paragraph (d) shall provide and receive payment for the same comprehensive behavioral health benefits as provided in AHCA rules, including handbooks incorporated by reference. In AHCA area 11, the agency shall contract with at least two comprehensive behavioral health care providers to provide behavioral health care to recipients in that area who are enrolled in, or assigned to, the MediPass program. One of the behavioral health care contracts must be with the existing provider service network pilot project, as described in paragraph (d), for the purpose of demonstrating the cost-effectiveness of the provision of quality mental health services through a public hospital-operated managed care model. Payment shall be at an agreed-upon capitated rate to ensure cost savings. Of the recipients in area 11 who are assigned to MediPass under s. 409.9122(2)(k), a minimum of 50,000 of those MediPass-enrolled recipients shall be assigned to the existing provider service network in area 11 for their behavioral care.

3. Children residing in a statewide inpatient psychiatric program, or in a Department of Juvenile Justice or a Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ residential program approved as a Medicaid behavioral health overlay services provider may not be included in a behavioral health care prepaid health plan or any other Medicaid managed care plan pursuant to this paragraph.

4. Traditional community mental health providers under contract with the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ pursuant to part IV of chapter 394, child welfare providers under contract with the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~ in areas 1 and 6, and inpatient mental health providers licensed pursuant to chapter 395 must be offered an opportunity to accept or decline a contract to participate in any provider network for prepaid behavioral health services.

5. All Medicaid-eligible children, except children in area 1 and children in Highlands County, Hardee County, Polk County, or Manatee County of area 6, which ~~that~~ are open for child welfare services in the statewide automated child welfare information system, shall receive their behavioral health care services through a specialty prepaid plan operated by community-based lead agencies through a single agency or formal agreements among several agencies. The agency shall work with the specialty plan to develop clinically effective, evidence-based alternatives as a downward substitution for the statewide inpatient psychiatric program and similar residential care and institutional services. The specialty prepaid plan must result in savings to the state comparable to savings achieved in other Medicaid managed care and prepaid programs. Such plan must provide mechanisms to maximize state and local revenues. The specialty prepaid plan shall be developed by the agency and the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~. The agency may seek federal waivers to implement this initiative. Medicaid-eligible children whose cases are open for child welfare services in the statewide automated child welfare information system and who reside in AHCA area 10 shall be enrolled in a capitated provider service network or other capitated managed care plan, which, in coordination with available community-based care providers specified in s. 409.987 ~~s. 409.1671~~, shall provide sufficient medical, developmental, and behavioral health services to meet the needs of these children.

Effective July 1, 2012, in order to ensure continuity of care, the agency is authorized to extend or modify current contracts based on current service areas or on a regional basis, as determined appropriate by the agency, with comprehensive behavioral health care providers as described in this paragraph during the period prior to its expiration. This paragraph expires October 1, 2014.

Section 58. Paragraph (dd) of subsection (3) of section 409.91211, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

409.91211 Medicaid managed care pilot program.—

(3) The agency shall have the following powers, duties, and responsibilities with respect to the pilot program:

(dd) To implement service delivery mechanisms within a specialty plan in area 10 to provide behavioral health care services to Medicaid-eligible children whose cases are open for child welfare services in the HomeSafeNet system. These services must be coordinated with community-based care providers as specified in s. 409.986 ~~s. 409.1671~~, where available, and be sufficient to meet the developmental, behavioral, and emotional needs of these children. Children in area 10 who have an open case in the HomeSafeNet system shall be enrolled into the specialty plan. These service delivery mechanisms must be implemented no later than July 1, 2011, in AHCA area 10 in order for the children in AHCA area 10 to remain exempt from the statewide plan under s. 409.912(4)(b)5. An administrative fee may be paid to the specialty plan for the coordination of services based on the receipt of the state share of that fee being provided through intergovernmental transfers.

Section 59. Paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of section 420.628, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

420.628 Affordable housing for children and young adults leaving foster care; legislative findings and intent.—

(1)

(d) The Legislature intends that the Florida Housing Finance Corporation, agencies within the State Housing Initiative Partnership Program, local housing finance agencies, public housing authorities, and their agents, and other providers of affordable housing coordinate with the Department of Children and Families ~~Family Services~~, their agents, and community-based care providers who provide services under s. 409.986 ~~s. 409.1671~~ to develop and implement strategies and procedures designed to make affordable housing available whenever and wherever possible to young adults who leave the child welfare system.

Section 60. Subsection (5) of section 960.065, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

960.065 Eligibility for awards.—

(5) A person is not ineligible for an award pursuant to paragraph (2)(a), paragraph (2)(b), or paragraph (2)(c) if that person is a victim of sexual exploitation of a child as defined in s. 39.01(68)(g) ~~s. 39.01(67)(g)~~.

Section 61. Except as otherwise expressly provided in this act, this act shall take effect July 1, 2014.

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations

BILL:	SB 1674
INTRODUCER:	Environmental Preservation and Conservation Committee
SUBJECT:	Ratification of Rules of the Department of Environmental Protection
DATE:	April 23, 2014 REVISED:

	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR	REFERENCE	ACTION
	Gudeman	Uchino		EP SPB 7084 as introduced
1.	Howard	Kynoch	AP	Favorable

I. Summary:

SB 1674 ratifies Rules 62-772.300 and 62-772.400, Florida Administrative Code, relating to competitive bidding and contractor qualifications for the Petroleum Restoration Program. The new rules provide the procedures for the procurement of contractual services for cleanup of petroleum contaminated sites and amends the procedures for establishing the priority scoring system for petroleum contaminated sites. The rules were adopted on December 27, 2013, as required by the 2013 Legislature.

The bill becomes effective upon becoming law and the rule ratification has no fiscal impact to the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP).

II. Present Situation:

Petroleum Restoration Program

The Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) Division of Waste Management regulates underground and aboveground storage tank systems. In 1983, Florida became one of the first states to pass legislation and adopt rules to regulate underground and aboveground storage tanks.[1] Leaking storage tanks pose a significant threat to groundwater quality. Florida relies on groundwater for about 92 percent of its drinking water needs.[2]

In 1986, the Legislature passed the State Underground Petroleum Environmental Response Act (SUPER Act) to address the problem of pollution from leaking underground petroleum storage systems. The SUPER Act authorized the DEP to establish criteria for the prioritization, assessment, cleanup, and reimbursement for cleanup of contaminated sites. The SUPER Act also created the Inland Protection Trust Fund (IPTF), which is funded by a tax on petroleum products imported or produced in Florida. The SUPER Act established the Early Detection Incentive

[1] See ch. 83-310, Laws of Fla.

Program (EDI), which provided site owners with the option of conducting the cleanup themselves, and then receive reimbursement from the IPTF, or have the state conduct the cleanup in priority order.[3]

The Legislature created the Petroleum Liability and Insurance Restoration Program (PLIRP) in 1988 to allow eligible petroleum facilities to purchase $1 million in pollution liability protection from a state contracted insurer. The PLIRP also provided $1 million worth of site restoration coverage through reimbursement or state-funded cleanup.[4]

In 1990, the Legislature established the Abandoned Tank Restoration Program (ATRP). The ATRP was created to address the contamination at facilities that had out-of-service or abandoned tanks as of March 1990. The ATRP originally had a one-year application period, but the deadline is now waived indefinitely for owners who are unable to pay for the closure of abandoned tanks.[5]

The Legislature began to phase out the state's role in the cleanup process in 1992 by shifting the cleanup sites to the reimbursement program,[6] which was funded by increasing the excise tax on petroleum and petroleum products.[7] The reimbursement program proved costly, and within a few years the reimbursement amount exceeded the administrative capacity of the DEP and the financial resources of the IPTF. By 1996, over 18,000 petroleum sites had been identified as contaminated and the program had accumulated $551.5 million in outstanding reimbursement claims.[8]

In 1995, the Legislature passed a temporary measure to address the large backlog of reimbursement applications and unpaid claims and required a review of the petroleum underground storage tanks program. The measure only funded the remediation of sites that had received prior notice from the DEP.[9]

The Petroleum Preapproval Program (program) was implemented by the Legislature in 1996. The program required state-funded cleanup of sites to be done on a preapproved basis, in priority order, and within the current fiscal year's budget. The program also required the DEP to use risk-based corrective action principles in the cleanup criteria rule. The Petroleum Cleanup Participation Program (PCPP) was created for sites that had missed the opportunity for state funding assistance but had reported contamination before 1995. Responsible parties were required to cost share in the cleanup and prepare a limited scope assessment at their expense. The Preapproved Advanced Cleanup (PAC) program was created to allow sites to bypass the priority ranking list and receive funding in order to facilitate a public works project or property transaction. The PAC program requires applicants to cost share in the cleanup and to prepare limited scope assessments at their expense.[10]

In 1999, the Legislature amended the Petroleum Preapproval Program to allow the DEP to fund certain source removal activities. The bill addressed new petroleum discharges that occurred at a site with existing contamination and were reported after December 31, 1998. The bill allowed a responsible party to enter into a Site Rehabilitation Agreement with the DEP and share in the cost and coordination of the cleanup, provided that the responsible party submit an application and a Limited Contamination Assessment Report to the DEP.[11]

The Legislature substantially amended the Petroleum Preapproval Program in 2005 to require:

- All of Florida's underground petroleum storage tanks be upgraded prior to January 1, 2010;
- The DEP to establish a process to uniformly encumber funds appropriated for the underground storage tank program throughout a fiscal year;
- The DEP to establish priorities based on a scoring system;
- Funding for limited interim soil-source removals for sites that become inaccessible for future remediation due to road infrastructure and right-of-way restrictions resulting from pending Department of Transportation projects;
- Funding for limited interim soil-source removals associated with the underground petroleum storage system upgrade that are conducted in advance of the site's priority ranking for cleanup;
- Limited funding to ten sites per fiscal year per owner for source removal associated with the underground petroleum storage system upgrade;
- Limited funding per facility and for activities that may be funded;
- Limited funding of $1 million per fiscal year for Department of Transportation projects, and $10 million per fiscal year for underground petroleum storage system upgrade projects;
- Repeal of funding provisions as of June 30, 2008;
- Availability of the Preapproved Advanced Cleanup Participation Program for discharges of petroleum that are eligible for restoration funding under the Petroleum Cleanup Participation Program for the state's cost share of site rehabilitation; and
- Extension of the Inland Protection Financing Corporation from 2011 to 2025, requiring the corporation to issue notes and bonds and to pay for large-scale cleanups such as ports, airports, and terminal facilities that are eligible for state funding.[12]

In 2013, the Legislature amended s. 376.30711, F.S., to require all task assignments, work orders, and contracts for providers under the preapproval program be procured through competitive bidding pursuant to ss. 287.056, 287.057, and 287.059, F.S.[13] Pursuant to s. 376.30711, F.S., the DEP is authorized to use competitive bid procedures or negotiated contracts for preapproving all costs and procedures for site-specific rehabilitation projects, but has not done so on a permanent basis.

The Legislature also required the DEP to adopt rules to implement ss. 376.3071, 376.30711, and 376.30713, F.S., by December 31, 2013, otherwise funding for the program would be terminated.

[13] Chapter 2013-41, s. 29, Laws of Fla.

On May 30, 2013, the DEP published a Notice of Rule Development in the Florida Administrative Register to create Rule 62-772, F.A.C., and amend Rule 62-771, F.A.C. The new rules provide the procedures for the procurement of contractual services for cleanup of petroleum contaminated sites and amend the procedures for establishing the priority scoring system for petroleum contaminated sites. The rules were adopted on December 27, 2013.

Legislative Ratification of Agency Rules

Pursuant to s. 120.541, F.S., a rule that meets any of three thresholds must be ratified by the Legislature to become effective. The thresholds are:

- If the rule is likely to have an adverse impact on economic growth, private sector job creation or employment, or private sector investment in excess of $1 million in the aggregate within five years after implementation of the rule;
- If the rule is likely to have an adverse impact on business competitiveness, including the ability of persons doing business in the state to compete with persons doing business in other states or domestic markets, productivity, or innovation in excess of $1 million in the aggregate within five years after implementation of the rule; or
- If the rule is likely to increase regulatory costs, including any transactional costs, in excess of $1 million in the aggregate within five years after implementation of the rule.[14]

The DEP prepared a Statement of Estimated Regulatory (SERC) for Rules 62-772.300 and 62-772.400, F.A.C., and determined the rules triggered a statutory threshold requiring ratification. The SERC for Rule 62-772.300, F.A.C., estimates the cost for contractors to maintain business licensure, safety compliance, workers compensation insurance, comprehensive automobile insurance, and general and professional liability insurance is approximately $15.4 million per year. The cost estimate provided in the SERC is based on 225 contractors. As of March 2014, the number of agency term contractors is 70, decreasing the cost associated with Rule 62-772.300, F.A.C., to approximately $4.8 million per year.[15]

The SERC for Rule 62-772.400, F.A.C., estimates the cost incurred by contractors to assemble and submit bids, responses, replies, and quotes to the DEP as part of the competitive procurement procedures and a one percent transaction fee for MyFloridaMarketPlace, to be approximately $41 million per year.[16] The cost requirements outlined by the DEP are already incurred by contractors in order to conduct business according to ss. 376.3071, 376.30711, and 376.30713, F.S.; however, the existing requirements are being restated in rule, requiring ratification by the Legislature.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 ratifies Rules 62-772.300 and 62-772.400, F.A.C., pursuant to s. 120.541(3), F.S. The bill specifies that upon becoming law, the enactment and the effective dates of the bill are to be

Section 2 provides the act takes effect upon becoming law.

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations

BILL:	CS/SB 1702
INTRODUCER:	Appropriations Committee and Education Committee
SUBJECT:	Education
DATE:	April 24, 2014
REVISED:

	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR	REFERENCE	ACTION
1.	Letarte	Klebacha		ED SPB 7114 as Introduced
2.	Elwell	Kynoch	AP	Fav/CS

I. Summary:

CS/SB 1702 increases the health and safety standards and personnel requirements for Voluntary Prekindergarten Programs Education (VPK) program providers and School Readiness program providers.

Specifically, the bill:

- Requires licensure or, if the provider is a licensed-exempt faith-based provider or nonpublic school, substantial compliance with specified child care licensing standards and submission to inspections by the Department of Children and Families (DCF);
- Requires DCF to adopt rules to define and enforce substantial compliance with minimum standards;
- Requires providers of child care and VPK instructional services to conspicuously post on the premises and on a provider's website, if one exists, Class I violation citations that result in disciplinary action;
- Denies initial eligibility for programs to certain providers that had a Class I violation 12 months before seeking eligibility;
- Requires the Office of Early Learning (OEL) to develop a review process before denying initial eligibility of a provider to deliver a program;
- Requires certain personnel to be at least 18 years of age and hold a high school diploma by January 1, 2016;
- Provides requirements for certain employees to be trained in first aid and cardiopulmonary resuscitation;
- Requires personnel to be trained in developmentally appropriate practices aligned to the age and needs of children served by the personnel;
- Requires the OEL to develop online training regarding School Readiness performance standards and provider personnel to complete the training;
- Provides failure to report child abuse as a disqualifying offense for child care employment;

- Prohibits an operator of a program, who has been disciplined for serious licensing violations, from transferring ownership of a program to relatives;
- Authorizes Early Learning Coalitions (ELCs) to allow private providers to accept applications and determine child eligibility for the VPK program; and
- Expands the DCF's authority to conduct abbreviated inspections to include family day care homes and large family child care homes.

The bill requires the Division of Law Revision and Information to change the term "family day care home" to "family child care home," and the term "family day care" to "family child care."

The bill includes an appropriation of $1.2 million in recurring funds and $11,319 in nonrecurring funds form the Federal Grants Trust Fund, as well as $70,800 in recurring funds from the Operations and Maintenance Trust Fund for the DCF to implement the regulatory provisions of this act.

The bill takes effect on July 1, 2014.

II. Present Situation:

The Office of Early Learning

The Office of Early Learning (OEL), which is within the Office of Independent Education and Parental Choice and accountable to the Commissioner of Education, administers the Voluntary Prekindergarten Education Program (VPK) and the School Readiness program at the state level.[1] The Florida Department of Children and Families (DCF) Office of Child Care Regulation regulates child care providers who have early learning programs because the DCF is the agency responsible for the state's child care provider licensing program.[2]

Voluntary Prekindergarten Education Program

The VPK program is available to each child residing in the state who is four years old on or before September 1 of the school year, and the program remains available to the child until the child is eligible for admission to public school kindergarten or is admitted to kindergarten, whichever occurs sooner.[3] Parents may choose either a school-year or summer program offered by a public school or private prekindergarten provider, or a specialized instructional services program for a child with disabilities who is eligible for such a program.[4] A parent enrolling a

[3] Section 1002.53, F.S.
[4] Section 1002.53(3), F.S. To be eligible for a specialized instructional services program, a child must be evaluated and determined to be eligible, have a current individual educational plan developed by the local school board, and be eligible under s. 1002.66, F.S., for the program. Section 1002.53(3)(d), F.S.

child in the VPK program must complete and submit an application to the early learning coalition (ELC),[5] not the individual program provider, which oversees the program.[6] The VPK program may be offered by either a private prekindergarten provider or a public school. Local oversight of individual VPK program providers is split with ELCs providing administration over programs delivered by private prekindergarten providers and school districts administering public school VPK programs.[7] Each district school board determines which district schools will offer the school-year and summer VPK programs and such schools must register with the ELC.[8]

A private prekindergarten VPK provider must register with the ELC and be a:

- Licensed child care facility;
- Licensed family day care home (FDCH);
- Licensed large family child care home (LFCCH);
- Nonpublic school; or
- License-exempt faith-based child care provider.[9]

In addition, a private prekindergarten provider must:

- Be accredited by an accrediting association that is a member of either the National Council for Private School Accreditation, or the Florida Association of Academic Nonpublic Schools, or be accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, the Western Association of Colleges and Schools, the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, the Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools, or the New England Association of Colleges and Schools; and have written accreditation standards that meet the state's licensing requirements and require at least one onsite visit before accreditation is granted;[10]
- Hold a current Gold Seal Quality Care designation;[11] or
- Be licensed and demonstrate that the ELC has verified that the provider meets the VPK program's statutory requirements.[12]

[5] An "early learning coalition" or "coalition" is described in s. 1002.83, F.S. and s. 1002.51(4), F.S. Throughout the 67 counties, there are to be 31 or fewer early learning coalitions to provide access to enhancement services at the local level. Each coalition must consist of 15-30 members and have members who meet specific requirements described in statute. See 1002.83, F.S.

DCF's standards are based upon those of the National Association for the Education of Young Children, National Association of Family Child Care, and National Early Childhood Program Accreditation Commission. Section 402.281(1)-(3), F.S.

[12] Section 1002.55(3)(b)3., F.S.

School Readiness Program

The School Readiness program provides subsidized child care services and early childhood education for children of low-income families, children in protective services who are at risk of abuse, neglect, or abandonment, and children with disabilities.[13] The School Readiness program is a state-federal partnership between the OEL and the Office of Child Care of the United States Department of Health and Human Services.[14] The School Readiness program receives funding from a mixture of state and federal sources, including the federal Child Care and Development Fund (CCDF) block grant, the federal Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) block grant, and general revenue and other state funds.[15] The program is administered by ELCs.[16]

To deliver the School Readiness program, a provider must be:
- A licensed child care facility;
- A licensed or registered family day care home (FDCH);
- A licensed large family child care home (LFCCH);
- A public school or nonpublic school;
- A license-exempt faith-based child care provider;
- A before-school or after-school program; or
- An informal child care provider authorized in the state's CCDF plan.[17]

The present situation for the relevant provisions of the bill is discussed in the Effect of Proposed Changes Section of this bill analysis.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill increases the health and safety standards and personnel requirements for Voluntary Prekindergarten Education Program (VPK) and School Readiness programs.

Requirements of the Office of Early Learning

Powers and Duties of the Office of Early Learning

Present Situation: The Office of Early Learning (OEL) is required to: independently exercise powers, duties, and functions prescribed by law; adopt rules for the establishment and operation of VPK and School Readiness programs; administer the VPK and School Readiness programs, and the operational requirements of the child care resource and referral network, at the state level; and minimize administrative staff to those needed to administer the duties of the office.[18]

Effect of the Bill: The bill adds additional requirements to the duties of the Office of Early Learning. The additional duties are to: hire a general counsel who reports directly to the executive director of the office; hire an inspector general who reports directly to the executive director of the office and to the Chief Inspector General; and by July 1, 2016, develop and implement best practices for providing parental notification in parent's native language to a parent whose native language is not English.

The Standardized Voluntary Prekindergarten Contract

Present Situation: Through adopted rules, the OEL is required to have a standard, statewide provider contract for VPK programs that includes provisions for provider probation, termination for cause, and emergency termination for actions that pose an immediate and serious danger to children. The contract must also include due process procedures and provide that during the pendency of an appeal, a provider may not continue to offer services.[19]

Effect of the Bill: The bill, in addition to the requirements that currently exist, requires the standard statewide contract to include provisions that:

- Mandate each private VPK provider and each school readiness provider to conspicuously post on the premises, and on the Internet website, if available, each citation for a Class I violation in an area visible to parents. The posting must use simple language to describe each violation with specificity and include a copy of the citation, as well as contact information for the DCF or the local licensing agency. Such posting must occur within 24 hours of receipt of the Class I violation citation. Additionally, the provider must post each inspection report on the premises until the next report is available; and
- Specify that child care personnel employed by the provider who are responsible for supervising children in care must be trained in appropriate practices, through DCF courses, aligned to the age and needs of children the employee oversees within 30 days of being assigned to children for which the personnel has not previously completed the training.

Additionally, the bill creates a new requirement for the OEL to develop and implement an online training course on the performance standards for School Readiness program provider personnel and the bill requires personnel to complete the online training course.

Provider, Instructor, and Child Care Personnel Qualifications

Background Screening

Present Situation: Personnel at child care facilities must meet a minimum standard of having good moral character as determined by the requirement of level 2 employment screening under chapter 435, Florida Statutes.[20]

[18] Section 1001.213, F.S.
[19] Section 1002.75, F.S. (regarding VPK programs); section 1002.82(2)(m), F.S. (regarding School Readiness programs).
[20] Section 402.305(2), F.S.

Effect of the Bill: The bill adds that in addition to list of offenses in s. 435.04, F.S. pertaining to level 2 screening, child care personnel undergoing background screening must not have an arrest awaiting final disposition for, may not have been found guilty of, or entered a plea of nolo contendre or guilty to, and may not have been adjudicated delinquent and have a record that has been sealed or expunged for an offense specified in s. 39.205, F.S., which relate to penalties associated with the absence of reporting of child abuse, abandonment, or neglect.

The bill applies the background screening requirement and language of s. 402.305(2)(a), F.S., as amended by the bill and described above, to apply to each VPK instructor employed by a private VPK provider delivering the summer VPK program. As noted above, the bill amends the statute to add more prohibited offenses that are not included in current law and current law does not address those offenses because the statute specifically refers to s. 435.04, F.S., without referencing s. 39.205, F.S.[21]

Instructor Credentials

Present Situation: A private VPK instructor must minimally hold a child development associate credential issued by the National Credentialing Program of the Council for Professional Recognition or a credential deemed equivalent by the DCF.[22]

Currently, s. 1002.55, F.S., does not explicitly state requirements for VPK instructors relating to first aid and infant and child cardiopulmonary resuscitation, nor does the statute address a minimum age or high school diploma requirement for employment.

Effect of the Bill: The bill retains the current options that satisfy the minimum credential requirement for school-year VPK instructors, requires each summer VPK class to have at least one instructor with a baccalaureate degree or higher, and provides new credentials, which would also satisfy the requirement. The additional credentials added to the list include, among other options, associate and baccalaureate degrees in child-oriented focus areas and associate and baccalaureate degrees in unrelated areas with additional hours of experience in teaching or child care services. This provision expands the type of credential that is acceptable.

The bill requires at least 50 percent of a private VPK provider's instructors at each location and at least 50 percent of child care personnel at each School Readiness program location to be trained in first aid and child cardiopulmonary resuscitation through documentation of course completion, unless the instructor or personnel is not responsible for supervising children in care, by January 1, 2015. Additionally, instructors and personnel hired on or after January 1, 2015 must complete the training within 60 days of employment.

The bill also adds that, as of January 1, 2016, private VPK providers must employ child care personnel who have a high school diploma, or its equivalent, and are at least 18 years old, unless the personnel are not responsible for supervising children in care or are under direct supervision and are not included in the personnel-to-child ratio.
Transfer of Ownership

[21] See section 1002.61(5), F.S.
[22] Section 1002.55(3)(c), F.S.

Present Situation: One week before the transfer of ownership of a child care facility, the transferor must notify the parent or caretaker of each child of the transfer and the DCF must establish rules relating to the methods by which such notice will occur and the minimum standards for implementing the notification and transfer.[23]

Effect of the Bill: The bill prohibits the transfer of child care facility or a large family child care home to a relative of the operator if the license of the operator has been suspended or revoked by the DCF, the operator received notice from the DCF that reasonable cause existed to suspend or revoke the operator's license, or the operator has been placed on the United States Department of Agriculture National Disqualified List. The new provision provides a definition of "relative," which includes immediate family members, grandparents, uncles, aunts, nephews, nieces, fathers-in-law, mothers-in-law, step-parents, step-siblings, and half-siblings.

Course Requirements for Operators and Substitute Operators of Family Day Care Homes and Large Family Child Care Homes

Present Situation: Operators of family day care homes must complete an approved 30-clock-hour introductory course in child care and demonstrate successful completion through passage of a competency examination before caring for children.[24]

Operators of large family child care homes must complete an approved 40-clock-hour introductory course in group child care and demonstrate successful completion through passage of a competency examination.[25]

Effect of the Bill: The bill adds that substitute operators who work 40 hours or more per month, on average, must also meet the 30-clock-hour requirement that is currently in law for operators. Additionally, the bill states specific topics that must be included in the course, which are:

- State and local rules and regulations governing child care;
- Health, safety, and nutrition;
- Identifying and reporting child abuse and neglect;
- Child development;
- Observation of developmental behaviors; and
- Specialized areas including numeracy, early literacy and language development of children from birth to five years of age.

The bill adds requirements to the 40-clock-hour introductory course that an operator of a large family child care home must complete. In addition to the existing requirement that the course be about group child care, the course must include numeracy, early literacy, and language development of children from birth to five years of age.

The bill requires that substitute operators who work fewer than 40 hours per month, on average, must complete DCF's 6-clock-hour Family Child Care Home Rules and Regulations training. The bill provides that a substitute who has completed the 3-clock-hour Fundamentals of Child Care training established by DCF rules or the 30-clock-hour training is not required to complete the 6-clock-hour Family Child Care Home Rules and Regulations training.

The bill requires operators and substitute operators to complete training in first aid and infant and child cardiopulmonary resuscitation and for operators to annually complete 1 continuing education unit of approved training regarding child care and administrative skills or 10 clock hours of equivalent training.

Health and Safety

Substantial Compliance with Licensing Standards

Present Situation: Licensing requirements, except for the requirements regarding screening of child care personnel, do not currently apply to a faith-based facility or educational programs accredited by an organization which publishes and requires compliance with its standards for health, safety, and sanitation.[26]

Effect of the Bill: The bill requires child care facilities that are exempt from licensure requirements pursuant to s. 402.316, F.S., or are nonpublic school providers to substantially comply with the adopted minimum standards for child care facilities pursuant to s.402.305, F.S., and such facilities must allow the DCF or the local licensing agency access to monitor and enforce compliance.

The bill revises the definition of "substantial compliance" to refer to portions of existing licensing standards in s. 402.305, F.S., and states that standards must address, and are limited to, supervision, transportation, access, health-related requirements, food and nutrition, personnel screening, records, and enforcement of these standards. The DCF is required to adopt rules to define and enforce substantial compliance and the rules must be submitted to OEL for approval or disapproval.

The bill adds that the DCF must establish a fee for inspection and compliance activities and the amount may not exceed the fee established for child care licensure under s. 402.315, F.S. The bill also provides penalties for the misrepresentation and misuse of certain information. The effect of this provision and the bill is that all programs will either be licensed or must be substantially compliant with existing licensing standards.

Inspections

Present Situation: A licensed child care facility must allow the DCF to inspect facilities and personnel at reasonable times during regular business hours to ensure statutory compliance. An application for a license or the advertisement to the public for the provision of child care allows the DCF to enter or inspect a facility.[27]

[26] Section 402.316(1), F.S.
[27] Section 402.311, F.S.

The DCF and local governmental agencies that license child care facilities must develop a plan to eliminate duplicative and unnecessary inspections of child care facilities and conduct abbreviated inspections for child care facilities that have no Class I or Class II deficiencies.

Effect of the Bill: The bill extends the DCF's ability to inspect the facilities and personnel of licensed child care facilities to include programs regulated by the department. Additionally, the bill amends the law to add that an application for authorization to operate a child care program that must substantially comply with child care standards under chapter 402 of the Florida Statutes, or renewal of such a license or authorization, also constitutes permission for the DCF to enter and inspect the premises.

The bill adds licensed family day care homes and licensed large family child care homes without a Class I or Class II violation to the facilities eligible for abbreviated inspections by the DCF and the local licensing agency. The bill also requires the DCF to adopt rules establishing criteria and procedures for abbreviated inspections and inspection schedules for announced and unannounced inspections.

Eligibility of a Private Provider to Deliver the Voluntary Prekindergarten Program

Present Situation: A private provider delivering the VPK program must meet one of the following: be accredited by a particular accrediting body,[28] hold a Gold Seal Quality Care designation, or be licensed under particular statutes.[29] School Readiness facilities are also required to provide basic health and safety of its premises.[30]

Effect of the Bill: The bill adds an additional option for a private VPK provider's required status and states that the private VPK provider may be a child development center located on a military installation that is certified by the United States Department of Defense.

The bill also adds that each private VPK provider must provide basic health and safety on its premises and in its facilities. The bill provides standards that satisfy the requirement for specific VPK and School Readiness programs as follows:

- For a public school, compliance with ss.1003.22 (school-entry health examinations and immunizations) and 1013.12 (casualty, safety, sanitation, firesafety standards and inspection of property), F.S., is sufficient;
- For a nonpublic school, compliance with s.402.3025(2)(d), F.S., (requiring substantial compliance with statutory licensing standards);
- For a child care facility, a licensed family day care home, or a large family child care home, compliance with ss. 402.305 (licensing standards), 402.313 (licensing of family day care homes requirements), or 402.3131 (licensing of large family child care homes requirements), F.S., satisfy this requirement.

[28] Section 1002.55(3)(b)1., F.S. A private VPK provider must be accredited by: "an accrediting association that is a member of the National Council for Private School Accreditation, or the Florida Association of Academic Nonpublic Schools, or be accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, or Western Association of Colleges and Schools, or North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, or Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools, or New England Association of Colleges and Schools; and have written accreditation standards that meet or exceed the state's licensing requirements under s. 402.305, s. 402.313, or s. 402.3131 and require at least one onsite visit to the provider or school before accreditation is granted." Id.

- For a facility exempt from licensure, compliance with s.402.316(4), F.S., (which is created by this bill) satisfies this requirement. The language creating 402.316(4), F.S., requires substantial compliance with statutory licensing standards and requirements of ss. 402.305-402.3057, F.S.

In effect, this provision ensures that all providers are licensed or substantially compliant with existing statutory licensing standards.

Display of License or Registration by Family Day Care Homes

Present Situation: Each licensed or registered family day care home is not required to display its license or registration.[31]

Effect of the Bill: The bill specifically requires each licensed or registered family day care home to conspicuously display its license or registration in an area viewable by all parents during hours of operation.

The bill also creates specific requirements for the DCF to verify certain information upon receipt of registration from a family day care home. The DCF must verify that the home is in compliance with the background screening requirements, and that the operator and the designated substitute have completed 30-clock-hour training courses (demonstrated through passage of a competency examination and required continuing education units or clock hours).

Rulemaking Authority

Present Situation: The DCF does not have rulemaking authority with regard to defining and enforcing substantial compliance with minimum standards for child care facilities for programs operating under s. 1002.55, F.S. (private school-year VPK programs), s. 1002.61, F.S. (public school and private VPK summer programs), and s. 1002.88, F.S. (School Readiness programs).[32]

Effect of the Bill: The bill requires the DCF to adopt rules to define and enforce the substantial compliance with minimum standards for child care facilities operating programs under the aforementioned statutes.

Eligibility to Deliver the Voluntary Prekindergarten Program or School Readiness Program

Present Situation: Denial of initial eligibility based upon a Class I violation within 12 months of seeking eligibility to deliver a VPK or School Readiness program is not currently in law.[33]

Effect of the Bill: The bill denies initial eligibility to a private VPK provider or a School Readiness provider seeking eligibility to deliver the VPK or School Readiness program if the provider has been cited for a Class I violation in the 12 months before seeking such eligibility and the OEL determines that denial of initial eligibility is appropriate after reviewing the violation and the provider's licensure history. In effect, the provision inhibits the growth of a provider's program if the provider has received a citation for the most severe grouping of violations within the past year.

The bill requires the OEL to develop a procedure to allow a provider to appeal a denial of initial eligibility.

Participant-Related Provisions

Voluntary Prekindergarten Eligibility and Enrollment

Present Situation: Each parent enrolling a child in the VPK program must complete and submit an application to the ELC.[34]

Effect of the Bill: The bill adds language to allow application submission to a private VPK provider if the provider is authorized by the ELC to determine student eligibility for enrollment in the VPK program, which is a new authorization of authority to private VPK programs. The bill also specifies the actions a provider must take upon receipt of an application, requires retention of the original application and certified birth certificate of the child for five years, and provides that the ELC may audit applications in its service area to determine whether children enrolled and reported for funding by the provider met the eligibility criteria. This provision provides a check on the newly authorized ability of some private VPK providers to accept applications, and determine eligibility and enrollment directly.

School Readiness Eligibility

Present Situation: For the purposes of establishing eligibility for the School Readiness program, the terms "at-risk child," "family income," and "working family" are defined in statute.[35]

Effect of the Bill: The bill amends the definition of an "at-risk child" to provide that a designated lead agency on the homeless assistance continuum of care established under ss. 420.622-420.624, F.S., must determine whether a child is in the custody of a parent who is considered homeless – as opposed to current law which requires the DCF to make the determination.

The bill adds to the list of types of income that are not included in the definition of "family income." The new language provides that the following is not considered family income:

- Income earned by a teen parent residing in the same residence as a separate family unit; and
- Selected items from the state's Child Care and Development Fund Plan, including documented child support and alimony payments paid out of the home.

The bill expands the definition of a "working family" to include a single-parent family in which the parent with whom the child resides is exempt from work requirements due to age or disability.

Provider-Related Provisions

Reviser's Bill for the 2015 Regular Session

Present Situation: The terms "family day care home" and "family day care" are currently used in statute.

Effect of the Bill: The bill directs the Division of Law Revision and Information to prepare a reviser's bill for the 2015 regular session that will change the term "family day care home" to "family child care home" and the term "family day care" to "family child care" throughout the Florida Statutes.

Zoning, Utility Rates, and Residential Property Insurance Coverage

Present Situation: Under current law, only the operation of a residence as a family day care home licensed by the DCF is a valid residential use for local zoning regulation purposes.[36]

Effect of the Bill: The bill adds large family child care homes to the existing law so that the operation of a residence as a family day care home or as a large family child care home is a valid residential use for local zoning regulation purposes.

Additionally, the bill provides that, despite any other state or local law or ordinance, any licensed large family child care home may not be charged commercial utility rates and must be charged the rates accorded to a residential home.

Present Situation: Insurers may not cancel, deny, or refuse to renew residential property insurance solely because child care services are provided on the premises.[37]

Effect of the Bill: The bill adds large family child care homes to this provision, which currently only includes family day care homes, and prevents residential property insurance from being canceled, denied, or nonrenewed solely because child care services are provided on the premises.

Applicability of Requirements to Nonpublic Schools

Present Situation: Requirements under s. 402.3025, F.S., apply to nonpublic programs for children at least three years of age, but under five years of age, that are not licensed under ss. 402.301-402.319, F.S.[38]

Effect of the Bill: The bill removes the specific age range in current law of three to five years of age and states that the provision is applicable to nonpublic schools delivering school-year and summer VPK programs, and school readiness programs.

[37] Section 627.70161, F.S.
[38] Section 402.3025(2)(c), F.S.

Voluntary Prekindergarten and School Readiness Funding and Attendance Reporting

Present Situation: Each parent enrolling a child in the VPK program must comply with the attendance policy of the private VPK provider or public school board. Each provider must supply a child's parent with a copy of the attendance policy.[39]

For a School Readiness program, if a child is absent for five consecutive days without notification from the parent of such an absence, the provider is required to report the absence to the ELC.[40]

Effect of the Bill: The bill, in addition to the requirements that a parent comply with the VPK provider's attendance policy and that the provider give the policy to each child's parent, adds that each private VPK provider, public school, and School Readiness program provider must supply each child's parent with information regarding child development, parent engagement expectations, a daily schedule, and, procedures for contacting a parent if a child has been absent for two consecutive days without a known reason.

The bill amends the requirements of the attendance reporting requirement for School Readiness program to add an additional responsibility of the provider to contact the parent of a child who has been absent for two consecutive days to determine the reason for the absence. This requirement is in addition to the provider being required to contact the ELC if a child is absent for five consecutive days.

School Readiness Program Eligibility Requirements

Present Situation: The eligibility of each child for the School Readiness program must be determined annually, and a child who is no longer eligible may not continue to receive services.[41]

Effect of the Bill: The bill adds additional language stating that if a child is no longer eligible for the program, the ELC must immediately notify the child's parent and the provider that funding will end two weeks after the date on which the child's ineligibility was determined or when the current School Readiness authorization expires, whichever is sooner.

School Readiness Investigations of Fraud or Overpayment

Present Situation: The ELC may not contract with a School Readiness or VPK program provider who is on the United States Department of Agriculture National Disqualified List.[42]

Effect of the Bill: The bill adds that an ELC also may not contract with an individual on the United States Department of Agriculture National Disqualified List.

The bill takes effect on July 1, 2014.

B. Private Sector Impact:

According to the Department of Children and Families (DCF), there are more than 800 provider settings that are currently not licensed by the DCF and would have to pay the inspection fee associated with becoming substantially compliant or licensed, depending on the program, in addition to any fines assessed.[43] The DCF indicates that the inspection fee for substantial compliance would be minimal because it cannot exceed the fee for licensure, which is a maximum of $100.[44]

C. Government Sector Impact:

The DCF states that the bill would require monitoring of more than 800 additional provider settings for substantial compliance with health and safety standards.[45] The DCF indicates that the collection of inspection fees would not be enough to cover the cost of the additional workload.[46] Revenue from the inspection fees is estimated to be $54,340.[47]

The total funds required for Fiscal Year 2014-2015 for the Office of Child Care Regulation and Background Screening and the Office of the General Counsel would be $1,301,694 for 18 additional full-time equivalent positions; the recurring cost is $1,233,780.[48]

Statutes, is amended to read:

402.302 Definitions.—As used in this chapter, the term:

(17) "Substantial compliance" means, for purposes of programs operating under s. 1002.55, s. 1002.61, or s. 1002.88, ~~that level of~~ adherence to adopted standards which is sufficient to safeguard the health, safety, and well-being of all children under care. The standards must address requirements found in s. 402.305 and are limited to supervision, transportation, access, health-related requirements, food and nutrition, personnel screening, records, and enforcement of these standards. The standards must not limit or exclude the curriculum provided by a faith-based provider or nonpublic school. The department must adopt rules to define and enforce substantial compliance with minimum standards for child care facilities for programs operating under s. 1002.55, s. 1002.61, or s. 1002.88 that are regulated, but not licensed, by the department. Such rules shall be submitted to the Office of Early Learning for approval or disapproval. ~~Substantial compliance is greater than minimal adherence but not to the level of absolute adherence. Where a violation or variation is identified as the type which impacts, or can be reasonably expected within 90 days to impact, the health, safety, or well-being of a child, there is no substantial compliance.~~

~~(c) The department and the nonpublic school accrediting agencies are encouraged to develop agreements to facilitate the enforcement of the minimum child care standards as they relate to the schools which the agencies accredit.~~

Section 6. Paragraphs (a) and (d) of subsection (2), paragraph (b) of subsection (9), and subsections (10) and (18) of section 402.305, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

sealed or expunged for an offense specified in s. 39.205.

(d) Minimum training requirements for child care personnel.

1. Such minimum standards for training shall ensure that all child care personnel take an approved 40-clock-hour introductory course in child care, which course covers at least the following topic areas:

a. State and local rules and regulations which govern child care.

b. Health, safety, and nutrition.

c. Identifying and reporting child abuse and neglect.

d. Child development, including typical and atypical language, cognitive, motor, social, and self-help skills development.

e. Observation of developmental behaviors, including using a checklist or other similar observation tools and techniques to determine the child's developmental age level.

f. Specialized areas, including computer technology for professional and classroom use and numeracy, early literacy, and language development of children from birth to 5 years of age, as determined by the department, for owner-operators and child care personnel of a child care facility.

g. Developmental disabilities, including autism spectrum disorder and Down syndrome, and early identification, use of available state and local resources, classroom integration, and positive behavioral supports for children with developmental disabilities.

Within 90 days after employment, child care personnel shall begin training to meet the training requirements pursuant to this paragraph. Child care personnel shall successfully complete such training within 1 year after the date on which the training began, as evidenced by passage of a competency examination. Successful completion of the 40-clock-hour introductory course shall articulate into community college credit in early childhood education, pursuant to ss. 1007.24 and 1007.25. Exemption from all or a portion of the required training shall be granted to child care personnel based upon educational credentials or passage of competency examinations. Child care personnel possessing a 2-year degree or higher that includes 6 college credit hours in early childhood development or child growth and development, or a child development associate credential or an equivalent state-approved child development associate credential, or a child development associate waiver certificate shall be automatically exempted from the training requirements in sub-subparagraphs b., d., and e.

2. The introductory course in child care shall stress, to the extent possible, an interdisciplinary approach to the study of children.

3. The introductory course shall cover recognition and prevention of shaken baby syndrome; prevention of sudden infant death syndrome; recognition and care of infants and toddlers with developmental disabilities, including autism spectrum disorder and Down syndrome; and early childhood brain development within the topic areas identified in this paragraph.

4. On an annual basis in order to further their child care skills and, if appropriate, administrative skills, child care personnel who have fulfilled the requirements for the child care training shall be required to take an additional 1 continuing education unit of approved inservice training, or 10 clock hours of equivalent training, as determined by the department.

5. Child care personnel shall be required to complete 0.5 continuing education unit of approved training or 5 clock hours of equivalent training, as determined by the department, in numeracy, early literacy, and language development of children from birth to 5 years of age one time. The year that this training is completed, it shall fulfill the 0.5 continuing education unit or 5 clock hours of the annual training required in subparagraph 4.

6. Procedures for ensuring the training of qualified child care professionals to provide training of child care personnel, including onsite training, shall be included in the minimum standards. It is recommended that the state community child care coordination agencies (central agencies) be contracted by the department to coordinate such training when possible. Other district educational resources, such as community colleges and career programs, can be designated in such areas where central agencies may not exist or are determined not to have the capability to meet the coordination requirements set forth by the department.

7. Training requirements do ~~shall~~ not apply to certain occasional or part-time support staff, including, but not limited to, swimming instructors, piano teachers, dance instructors, and gymnastics instructors.

8. The department shall evaluate or contract for an evaluation for the general purpose of determining the status of and means to improve staff training requirements and testing procedures. The evaluation shall be conducted every 2 years. The

(b) Covered by a rider or endorsement for business coverage attached to a policy.

(4) DENIAL, CANCELLATION, REFUSAL TO RENEW PROHIBITED.—An insurer may not deny, cancel, or refuse to renew a policy for residential property insurance solely on the basis that the

(b) Covered by a rider or endorsement for business coverage attached to a policy.

Upon reevaluation, a child may not continue to receive child care and development ~~school readiness~~ program services if he or she has ceased to be eligible under this section. A notice of disenrollment must be sent to the parent and child care and development ~~school readiness~~ program provider at least 2 weeks before disenrollment or the expiration of the current child care authorization, whichever occurs first, to provide adequate time for the parent to arrange alternative care for the child. However, an at-risk child receiving services from the Child Welfare Program Office of the Department of Children and Families may not be disenrolled from the program without the written approval of the Child Welfare Program Office ~~of the Department of Children and Families~~ or the community-based lead agency.

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

BILL:	HB 5601
INTRODUCER:	House Appropriations Subcommittee on Finance and Tax and Rep. Workman
SUBJECT:	Economic Development
DATE:	April 25, 2014
REVISED:

	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR	REFERENCE	ACTION
1.	Diez-Arguelles	Kynoch	AP	Fav/1 Amendment

I. Summary:

The Senate Appropriations Committee considered HB 5601 on April 10 and 22, 2014. The Committee adopted a "delete-all" amendment and a number of amendments to the delete-all amendment. The amendments have been engrossed into one amendment. The amendment:

- Reduces the state Communications Services Tax rate by 0.52 percentage point.
- Creates a 3-day "back to school" sales tax holiday.
- Allows a motorsports complex to apply for a sales tax distribution of up to $2 million.
- Changes the tax treatment of mobile phone prepaid calling plans.
- Allows a local government to repeal or reduce local business taxes without having to establish an equity study commission.
- Allows sales tax dealers to receive credits or refunds of 25% of sales taxes paid on purchases made with uncollectable private-label credit card accounts.
- Revises the calculation of the premium tax imposed on bail bond premiums so that the tax rate is applied only to the amount of the premium received by the insurance company, excluding amounts retained by the bail bondsman.
- Creates a revolving loan fund program for television productions filmed in the state. The amendment does not appropriate any moneys to the fund.
- Creates a 12-day sales tax holiday for hurricane supplies.
- Reduces the Sales Tax rate on electricity purchases by 2.65 percentage points, from 7% to 4.35% and creates an additional Gross Receipts Tax rate on electricity purchases of 2.6%, thereby increasing the combined Gross Receipts tax rate on these purchases from 2.5% to 5.1%. The effect of these changes is to provide a small tax reduction to purchasers of electricity and deposit additional revenues in the Public Education Capital Outlay Trust Fund to be used for construction and maintenance of educational facilities.

The amendment has a significant, negative fiscal impact on state and local government revenues. See the table in Section IX. B. for the fiscal impact of the amendment.

The mandates constitutional provision may apply to the amendment, requiring a two-thirds vote of the membership of each house for passage.

Additional information regarding the amendment is set forth in Section IX. B. of this analysis.

The rest of this analysis is of HB 5601, as passed by the House of Representatives.
HB 5601 makes the following changes:

- Creates four temporary "tax holiday" periods where sales of certain goods will be exempt from the sales tax – a "back to school" holiday, a hurricane supplies holiday, a physical fitness admissions holiday and an energy efficient products holiday.
- Creates a temporary sales tax exemption for cement mixing drums.
- Creates a permanent sales tax exemption for child restraint systems and booster seats for use in motor vehicles.
- Creates a permanent sales tax exemption for bicycle helmets marketed for use by youth.
- Increases the corporate income tax exemption from the first $50,000 of income to the first $75,000 of income.
- Expands the amount of credits available under the New Markets Tax Credit program from $178.8 million to $227.55 million.
- Delays the repeal of the Community Contributions Tax Credit program.
- Creates a $20 million revolving loan program to encourage the production of television programs in Florida.
- Amends the statutory definition of "prepaid calling arrangement" to provide that certain prepaid mobile communications services are subject to state and local sales taxes instead of state and local communications services taxes.
- Reduces the sales tax rate for electricity purchases.
- Decreases the sales tax rate on sales of electricity from seven to four percent and increases the gross receipts tax rate on electrical power or energy delivered to a non-exempt retail consumer from two and one-half to five and one-half percent.
- Transfers $100 million in recurring state sales tax revenue, currently deposited in the General Revenue Fund, to the State Transportation Trust Fund.

The bill has a significant, negative fiscal impact on state and local government revenues. See the table in Section V.A. for the fiscal impact of the bill.

The mandates constitutional provision may apply to this bill, requiring a two-thirds vote of the membership of each house for passage. See Section IV.A. of the analysis.

II. Present Situation:

The present situation for each issue in the bill is discussed below in Section III, Effect of Proposed Changes.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Prepaid Calling Arrangements – Sections 1, 2, 4, and 5

Present situation: The communication services tax (CST) is applied to the sales price of each communications service which originates and terminates in this state, or originates or terminates in this state and is charged to a service address in this state.[1] However, the definition of the term "sales price" expressly excludes the "sale or recharge of a prepaid calling arrangement," so CST is not collected on the sale of a prepaid calling arrangement. [2]

The term "prepaid calling arrangement" is defined to mean "the separately stated retail sale by advance payment of communications services that consist exclusively of telephone calls originated by using an access number, authorization code, or other means that may be manually, electronically, or otherwise entered and that are sold in predetermined units or dollars of which the number declines with use in a known amount."[3]

Chapter 212, F.S., provides for the application of the sales tax to the sale of tangible personal property and some services. The sales tax rate of 6 percent is applicable to charges for prepaid calling arrangements.[4] The term "prepaid calling arrangement" as defined in ch. 212, F.S., means "the separately stated retail sale by advance payment of communications services that consist exclusively of telephone calls originated by using an access number, authorization code, or other means that may be manually, electronically, or otherwise entered and that are sold in predetermined units or dollars whose number declines with use in a known amount."[5] The definition of "prepaid calling arrangement" in ch. 202, F.S. is virtually identical to the definition in ch. 212, F.S.

When the definition of prepaid calling arrangement was placed in the statute[6], prepaid calling arrangements typically consisted of prepaid calling cards purchased in advance and limited to telephone calls. However, since then the telecommunications industry has developed to offer more prepaid plans compatible with the texting, data, video, and other capabilities of today's modern smartphones. This has led to increased utilization of prepaid mobile services. As markets and technology have evolved, the statutory definition has become increasingly incompatible and inconsistent with industry practice and the ability to collect communication services taxes.

As technology evolved, most communications service providers and other prepaid phone retailers continued to apply the sales tax to all prepaid mobile phone plans, even though the plans did not meet the strict definition of a "prepaid calling arrangement." This practice continues today for all prepaid plans.

Proposed change: The bill amends subsection 202.11(9), F.S., to revise the definition of the term "prepaid calling arrangement." For other than mobile communications services, the term includes a right to use communications services "for which a separately stated price must be paid in advance, which is sold at retail in predetermined units that decline in number with use on a predetermined basis, and which consists exclusively of telephone calls originated by using an access number, authorization code, or other means that may be manually, electronically, or otherwise entered."

For mobile communications services, the term includes "a right to use mobile communications services that must be paid for in advance and is sold at retail in predetermined units that expire or decline in number on a predetermined basis if:

1. The purchaser's right to use mobile communications services terminates upon all purchased units expiring or being exhausted unless the purchaser pays for additional units;
2. The purchaser is not required to purchase additional units; and
3. Any right of the purchaser to use units to obtain communications services other than mobile communications services is limited to services that are provided to or through the same handset or other electronic device that is used by the purchaser to access mobile communications services."

Predetermined units may be quantified as amounts of usage, time, money, or a combination of these or other means of measurement.

The bill expands the definition of "prepaid calling arrangement" to include prepaid communication services other than those that consist exclusively of telephone calls. The changes recognize that under current industry practices prepaid services may include services other than telephone calls, such as text messaging, web access, and email.

In addition, the bill provides that the purchaser of prepaid units may use the units to purchase other communication services other than mobile communication services if the other services are provided to or through the same handset or other electronic device the purchaser uses to access mobile communication services. This provision may result in communication services currently subject to CST tax rates being subject to only sales tax in the future if they are sold as part of a prepaid calling arrangement.

These changes are remedial in nature and apply retroactively, but do not create the right to a refund or credit of any tax paid.

Electrical Energy or Power Provided to a Retail Customer – Sections 3, 6, and 7

Present situation: The sale of electric power or energy by an electric utility is subject to the state sales tax at the rate of 7 percent,[7] subject to numerous exemptions. The exemptions include sales for use in residential households, sales for certain agricultural purposes, sales for use in operating manufacturing machinery and equipment in a fixed location, and sales in enterprise zones. The distribution for sales and use tax receipts is governed by s. 212.20, F.S., with roughly 89% of the proceeds being deposited in the General Revenue Fund, and most of the remainder shared with counties and municipalities.

[7] Section 212.05(1)(e)1.c., F.S.

Chapter 203 imposes, at the rate of two and one-half percent, a tax on gross receipts from the sale, delivery, or transportation of natural gas, manufactured gas, or electricity to a retail consumer in Florida. All revenue received pursuant to this tax is deposited in the Public Education Capital Outlay and Debt Service ("PECO") Trust Fund. The use of such funds is limited to paying the principal and interest on bonds to finance capital projects for institutions of higher learning, community colleges, vocational technical schools, or public schools; the cost of any public educational facility capital project; and the cost of maintenance and repairs.

Proposed change: The bill decreases the sales tax rate on sales of electricity from seven to four percent and increases the gross receipts tax rate on electrical power or energy delivered to a non-exempt retail consumer from two and one-half to five and one-half percent. The new gross receipts tax additional rate will incorporate the existing exemptions from the sales tax in order to make this change revenue neutral to both the state and to taxpayers. These changes will result in an increase in the amount of revenue deposited in the PECO Trust Fund.

Cement Mixers – Section 6

Present situation: Chapter 212, F.S., levies a six percent state sales and use tax on most items of tangible personal property. Also, local governments are authorized to levy several types of local discretionary sales surtaxes pursuant to s. 212.055, F.S. Rates currently range from one-half percent to one and one-half percent. The surtax does not apply to any sales amount about $5,000 on any item of tangible personal property.[8] Section 212.08, F.S., provides a variety of exemptions from these taxes.

In 2013, the legislature passed an exemption for machinery and equipment used at a fixed location within Florida to manufacture, process, compound, or produce tangible goods for sale. This sales tax exemption is available for three years, from April 30, 2014 until April 30, 2017.[9]

Proposed change: The bill adds cement mixer drums that are affixed to mixer trucks, as well as the parts and labor necessary to affix the drums to mixer trucks, to the sales tax exemption for manufacturing machinery and equipment that will sunset on April 20, 2017.

Motor Vehicle Child Restraints – Section 6

Proposed change: The bill adds a permanent exemption from the sales tax for child restraint systems and booster seats used in motor vehicles.

Youth Bicycle Helmets – Section 6

Proposed change: The bill adds a permanent exemption from the sales tax for bicycle helmets marketed for use by youth.

[8] Section 212.054(2)(b)1., F.S.

State Transportation Trust Fund Distribution – Sections 8 and 16

Present situation: The State Transportation Trust Fund (STTF) is currently funded by a variety of tax sources, including portions of the revenue received from the tax on motor and aviation fuels imposed by ch. 206, F.S., motor vehicle fees imposed by ch. 320, F.S., the rental car surcharge imposed by s. 212.0606, F.S., and the documentary stamp tax imposed by ch. 201, F.S. The funds deposited in the trust fund are used for transportation purposes, as provided by law.[10]

Proposed change: The bill will transfer $100 million annually from sales and use tax revenue that would otherwise be deposited into the General Revenue Fund to the STTF. Newly created s. 339.0803, F.S., directs that, of those funds, $85 million will be used annually for transportation projects that connect major markets within this state or between this state and other states, and which increase Florida's viability in national and global markets. The remaining $15 million will be used annually for regionally-significant transportation projects that provide connectivity to and through rural areas. To be eligible for the regional funding, projects must be production ready in the five-year work program. State funds can be used to provide up to 75 percent of project costs. Preference will be given to projects identified as regionally significant, according to current law, and that have an increased level of non-state match.

Corporate Income Tax Exemption – Sections 9, 10, 12, and 13

Present situation: Florida levies an income tax of five and one-half percent on corporations,[11] banks, and savings associations.[12]

Florida's corporate income tax is imposed on a taxpayer's "net income." Net income is calculated by starting with the taxpayer's federal taxable income, making certain statutory adjustments, apportioning income attributable to Florida, and applying the statutory exemption.[13] Currently, the statutory exemption is $50,000.[14]

Proposed change: The bill increases the statutory exemption from $50,000 to $75,000.

Community Contribution Tax Credits – Sections 11 and 17

Present situation: The Community Contribution Tax Credit Program provides a 50 percent tax credit or refund for eligible donations made by Florida businesses to community development projects and housing projects for low-income persons sponsored by organizations that have been approved by the Department of Economic Opportunity to participate in the program.

The total amount of tax credits which may be granted for the Community Contribution Tax Credit Program is $10.5 million annually for projects that provide homeownership opportunities

[10] Section 206.46(1), F.S.
[11] "Corporation" is defined in s. 220.03(1)(e), F.S. Tax is imposed by s. 220.11, F.S. Only some Florida businesses are considered corporations subject to the Florida corporate income tax. Sole proprietorships, limited liability companies, and S corporations are not subject to the tax, except under limited circumstances. See s. 220.03(1)(e), F.S.
[12] "Bank" and "savings association" are defined in s. 220.62, F.S., and tax is imposed by s. 220.63, F.S.

for low-income and very-low-income households and $3.5 million for all other projects.[15] During Fiscal Year 2012-2013, 345 tax credit applications in 36 local governments were approved by the DEO.[16]

A business that makes a donation to an eligible sponsor must apply for a tax credit during the first 10 business days of the fiscal year after the donation is made. Each business is eligible to receive credits of up to a maximum of $200,000 per tax year.

Businesses may take the credit against corporate income tax pursuant to s. 220.183, F.S., insurance premium tax pursuant to s. 624.5105, F.S., or as a refund on sales tax collected pursuant to s. 212.08(5)(p), F.S. If requests for tax credits within the first 10 business days of a fiscal year exceed the tax credit allocation, tax credit applications will be approved on a pro rata basis. If they do not exceed that allocation, they will be approved on a first-come, first-served basis.

The Community Contribution Tax Credit Program expires on June 30, 2015.

Proposed change: The bill delays the expiration date of the program by one year from June 30, 2015 to June 30, 2016.

Qualified Television Loan Fund – Sections 14 and 22

Present situation: Florida does not provide a loan program for television program production.

Proposed change:

The Fund. The bill creates the Qualified Television Loan Fund (QTV fund) – a $20 million revolving loan fund – within the Department of Economic Opportunity (DEO). The QTV fund will make loans to companies that produce television shows in Florida. As the loans are repaid, the principal and interest will be returned to the fund and loaned to additional production companies.

The Fund Administrator. The DEO will contract with a private organization (fund administrator) to administer the QTV fund. The fund administrator will be selected based on the following qualifications:

- A track record of managing private sector equity or debt funds in the entertainment industry;
- Having a partnership with a qualified lending partner capable of providing at least two and one-half times the capital amount in the QTV fund; and
- Experience managing economic development or job creation-related funds.

The DEO will give preference to applicants headquartered in Florida.

Additional Capital. The fund administrator must partner with a qualified lending partner, who will invest its own capital along with funds from the QTV fund in qualifying projects. The fund administrator may also partner with other companies who provide equity financing, mezzanine financing, or other types of financing. Capital provided by private entities, including the qualified lending partner, must be kept in separate accounts, and such entities are responsible for paying their own management fees.

The Loans. The QTV fund and the qualified lending partner will make joint loans to production companies in order to fund production or improve the credit profile of the production's structured financial transactions. Loans from the QTV fund may not exceed 30 percent of the total production funding cost for the project and may not have a term exceeding 36 months, unless the fund administrator approves a longer period. The loan issued by the qualified lending partner will have a senior position to the loan issued by the QTV fund. Loans from private capital may not be made at more favorable terms and conditions than loans from the QTV fund.

All loans made by the QTV fund must be secured. The security may consist of domestic and international broadcaster license agreements, tax credits, or other revenues. Additionally, if the production cost per episode exceeds $1 million, the project must be bonded and secured by an industry-approved completion guarantor. With the exception of appropriated funds, the credit of the state may not be pledged. The state is not liable or obligated in any way for claims against the QTV fund or against the qualified lending partner.

The fund administrator is required to evaluate loan applications based on:
- Eligible collateral;
- The project's creditworthiness;
- The producer's track record;
- The possibility that the project will encourage economic benefits; and
- The extent to which the loan will attract private debt or equity investment.

Qualifying Productions. The production company is required to have an agreement with a major network for broadcasting on a major network, cable or streaming channel. If the production content is a series, at least 13 episodes must be ordered, unless a lesser number is approved by the fund administrator. The production must spend at least 80 percent of the production budget in Florida, unless the fund administrator approves a lesser percentage.

Reporting. Each year by February 28, the fund administrator is required to submit audited financial statements to the DEO, along with a fund annual report. The annual report must detail, for each loan:
- The name of the television program;
- The counties in which production occurred;
- The number of jobs created or retained because of the production;
- The loan amounts (including private loans made in association with the QTV loan);
- The loan repayment status;
- Details on any past due loans;
- Details on any loans in default;
- A description of assets securing the loans; and
- Any other information required by the department.

Management Fee. The fund administrator will be paid a fee equal to five percent of the assets under management for the first five years, and three percent of the assets under management every year thereafter until the end of the contract. After the first year, the fee may not exceed the investment proceeds earned from the fund's completed loans. Additionally, the fund administrator may receive 20 percent of the fund's net income on an annual basis. This amount may not be paid from the fund's principal.

Expiration. The program is repealed on December 31, 2024, and all funds remaining in the QTV fund at that point revert to the General Revenue Fund.

Appropriation. The bill appropriates $20 million in nonrecurring general revenue to the DEO to fund the Qualified Television Loan Fund program.

New Markets Tax Credit Program – Section 15

Present situation: Florida created the New Markets Development Program in 2009[17] to encourage capital investment in rural and low-income communities.[18] Under the program, the state grants tax credits in return for investments in low-income community businesses.[19] The Florida program is based on a similar federal program, created in 2000.[20]

The program involves two "investments": a taxpayer interested in tax credits makes a "qualified investment"[21] (a cash payment) to a qualified community development entity (CDE) in return for the tax credits. The CDE then makes a "qualified low-income community investment"[22] (either a cash loan or an equity investment) to a qualifying low-income community business.[23]

Prior to either investment taking place, the CDE applies to the DEO for a determination of whether its qualified low-income community investment qualifies under the program.[24] Upon approval, the DEO awards a tax credit equal to 39 percent of the CDE's qualifying low-income community investment.

The tax credits may not be claimed for two years. After the second year, the taxpayer may claim the credits over the next five years.[25]

When the program was created in 2009, the total tax credits that could be issued were limited to $97.5 million.[26] The limit was increased to $163.8 million (a $66.3 million increase) in 2012[27] and to $178.8 million (a $15 million increase) in 2013[28].

Proposed change: The bill increases the total amount of tax credits available from $178.8 million to $227.55 million (a $50 million increase).

Energy Star and WaterSense Sales Tax Holiday – Sections 18 and 22

Present situation: In 2006, the Legislature approved a sales tax holiday for energy-efficient products priced under $1,500 and that met or exceeded the requirements of the federal ENERGY STAR program[29]. The holiday ran from October 5 through October 11, 2006. The following items were exempted:

- Refrigerators.
- Dishwashers.
- Clothes washers.
- Air conditioners.
- Ceiling fans.
- Light bulbs.
- Dehumidifiers.
- Thermostats.

Proposed change: The bill provides that no sales tax will be collected on the first $1,500 of the sales price for a new ENERGY STAR product or WaterSense product[30] during the period beginning on September 19, 2014, and ending on September 21, 2014.

ENERGY STAR products eligible for this holiday are:

- Room air conditioners.
- Air purifiers.
- Ceiling fans.
- Clothes washers.
- Clothes dryers.
- Dehumidifiers.
- Dishwashers.
- Freezers.
- Refrigerators.
- Water heaters.
- Swimming pool pumps.
- Light bulbs.

WaterSense products eligible for this holiday are:
- Bathroom sink faucets.
- Faucet accessories.
- High-efficiency toilets and urinals.
- Showerheads.
- Weather or sensor-based irrigation controllers.

A person is limited to a single purchase for each specific type of item listed above with a sales price over $500 during the holiday, and a second purchase of the same type of product will be subject to tax on the entire price.

The bill contains a nonrecurring appropriations from the General Revenue Fund to the Department of Revenue of $43,941 to implement the Energy Efficient Appliances Sales Tax Holiday.

Physical Fitness Admissions Tax Holiday – Section 19

Present situation: Section 212.04, F.S., establishes a six percent state sales and use tax on admissions.

Proposed change: The bill provides that the sales and use tax levied on admissions will not be collected during the period beginning September 1, 2014, and ending September 8, 2014, on the sale of athletic, exercise, and physical fitness facility memberships. To participate in the holiday, a facility must be registered as a health studio with the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services under ss. 501.012 through 501.019, F.S.

Back-to-School Sales Tax Holiday – Sections 20 and 22

Present situation: The Legislature has approved back-to-school sales tax holidays in eight of the past ten years. The length of the exemption period has varied from three to 10 days. The type and value of exempt items has also varied. The holiday is typically offered just prior to the start of a new school year.

Proposed change: The bill provides for a three-day sales tax holiday beginning August 1, 2014, and ending August 3, 2013. During the holiday, the following items that cost $100 or less are exempt from the state sales tax and county discretionary sales surtaxes:
- Clothing (defined as an "article of wearing apparel intended to be worn on or about the human body," but excluding watches, watchbands, jewelry, umbrellas, and handkerchiefs);
- Footwear (excluding skis, swim fins, roller blades, and skates);
- Wallets; and
- Bags (including handbags, backpacks, fanny packs, and diaper bags, but excluding briefcases, suitcases, and other garment bags).

The bill also exempts "school supplies" that cost $15 or less per item. Also exempt will be the first $750 of the sales price for personal computers and related accessories purchased for noncommercial home or personal use, including tablets, laptops, monitors, input devices, and non-recreational software. Cell phones, furniture and devices or software intended primarily for recreational use are not exempt.

The bill contains a nonrecurring appropriation from the General Revenue Fund to the Department of Revenue of $223,048 to implement the Back to School Sales Tax Holiday (this appropriation occurs during the 2013-14 fiscal year and carries forward into 2014-15).

Hurricane Preparedness Sales Tax Holiday – Sections 21 and 22

Present situation: The Legislature has approved sales tax holidays for hurricane preparedness in the past. In 2005, 2006, and 2007 the state established 12-day periods where items below certain thresholds were exempt from tax. The type and value of exempt items has also varied. In 2005 and 2007, the hurricane preparedness holidays ran from June 1 through June 12, and in 2006 the holiday was from May 21 through June 1.

Proposed change: The bill proposes a sales tax exemption for the following items for the period beginning on June 1, 2014, and ending on June 12, 2014:

- A portable self-powered light source selling for $20 or less.
- A portable self-powered radio, two-way radio, or weather band radio selling for $50 or less.
- A tarpaulin or other flexible waterproof sheeting selling for $50 or less.
- A self-contained first-aid kit selling for $30 or less.
- A ground anchor system or tie-down kit selling for $50 or less.
- A gas or diesel fuel tank selling for $25 or less.
- A package of AA-cell, C-cell, D-cell, 6-volt, or 9-volt batteries, excluding automobile and boat batteries, selling for $30 or less.
- A nonelectric food storage cooler selling for $30 or less.
- A portable generator selling for $750 or less.
- Reusable ice selling for $10 or less.

The bill contains a nonrecurring appropriation from the General Revenue Fund to the Department of Revenue of $280,912 to implement the Hurricane Preparedness Sales Tax Holiday (this appropriation occurs during the 2013-2014 fiscal year and carries forward into the 2014-2015 fiscal year).

Effective Date – Section 23

The bill has an effective date of July 1, 2104, except as otherwise expressly provided.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

Subsection (b) of s. 18, Art. VII of the Florida Constitution provides that except upon approval of each house of the Legislature by two-thirds vote of the membership, the Legislature may not enact, amend or repeal any general law if the anticipated effect of doing so would be to reduce the authority that municipalities or counties have to raise revenue in the aggregate, as such authority existed on February 1, 1989.

This mandates provision may apply because the bill provides numerous sales tax exemptions that will reduce municipalities' and counties' local option sales tax collections, thereby reducing their revenue-raising authority. In addition, the bill redefines the types of services to which local Communication Services tax rates apply, thereby potentially reducing the authority of municipalities to raise revenue.

Subsection (c) of s. 18, Art. VII of the Florida Constitution provides that except upon approval of each house of the Legislature by two-thirds vote of the membership, the Legislature may not enact, amend, or repeal any general law if the anticipated effect of doing so would be to reduce the percentage of a state tax shared with counties and municipalities as an aggregate on February 1, 1989.

This mandates provision may apply to the reduction in the sales tax rate for electricity, since counties and municipalities receive a share of sales tax revenue through distributions to the Local Government Half-Cent Sales Tax Clearing Trust Fund, the County Revenue Sharing Trust Fund, and the Municipal Revenue Sharing Trust Fund.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

*Estimates reflect minimums. See paragraph below for further potential impacts.

 The appropriations for the Hurricane Preparedness and Back-to-School Holidays are for FY 2013-2014, with carry over into 2014-2015.

In addition to the fiscal impact shown on the table above for the Prepaid Calling Definition issue, a loss of up to $600 million in audit recoveries may occur if the Department of Revenue were to successfully enforce the strict definition of "prepaid calling arrangement," with a potential loss of up to $200 million annually on a going-forward basis. These amounts reflect the estimate of what Communications Services Tax (CST) tax collections would have been in the past and would be in the future if CST tax, instead of sales tax, were collected on prepaid calling arrangements. However, because current industry practice is to collect sales tax on prepaid mobile communications services, and the timing of any successful Department of Revenue action is unknown, it is uncertain if and when these losses would be realized.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The bill provides a number of tax exemptions that will benefit the purchasers of the exempt items.

Increasing the corporate income tax exemption from $50,000 to $75,000 will reduce corporate income taxes on all taxpayers that currently pay the tax; it is estimated to eliminate all corporate income tax liability for approximately 2,100 taxpayers.

C. Government Sector Impact:

Impacts to state government that are not tax-related are also included in the table in Section V.A.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

VIII. Statutes Affected:

The bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 202.11, 203.01, 212.05, 212.08, 212.12, 212.20, 220.14, 220.183, 220.63, 288.9914, and 624.5105.

The bill creates the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 288.127 and 339.0803.

The bill creates undesignated sections of Florida law.

B. Amendments:

Barcode 965938 by Appropriations on April 22, 2014:
The Senate Appropriations Committee adopted a "delete-all" all amendment to HB 5601. The amendment addresses the following issues.

Communications Services Tax (CST) Rate Reduction

Chapter 202, F.S., provides for the tax on communication services, including telecommunications, cable, direct-to-home satellite, and related services. The CST includes a state tax rate of 6.65 percent and a state gross receipts tax rate of 2.52 percent for a combined rate of 9.17 percent.[31] In addition, local governments may impose a local tax rate of up to 7.12 percent.[32]

Direct-to-home satellite service is taxed at a rate of 10.8 percent and is also subject to the 2.37 percent gross receipts tax. The local tax does not apply to these services. However, the state tax on direct-to-home satellite is higher than the state tax on other communication services, for a total tax rate of 13.17 percent. The amount of tax collected from the additional tax is distributed to local governments.

A portion of the state taxes collected – including taxes collected on direct-to-home satellite service – are deposited into the General Revenue Fund and a portion is distributed to local governments.[33] Gross Receipts Tax collections are deposited into the Public Education Capital Outlay and Debt Service Trust Fund and are used for the capital funding of public schools, community colleges, and universities.

The amendment reduces the state CST rate by 0.52 percentage point, reducing the general rate from 6.65 percent to 6.13 percent and the rate on direct-to-home satellite from 10.8 percent to 10.28 percent. The amendment makes conforming changes to other portions of the statutes, including changes to distribution formulas to ensure that local governments continue to receive the same amount of distributions that they receive under current law.

The tax rate changes first apply to taxable transactions included on bills for communications services that are dated on or after January 1, 2005.

Motorsports Entertainment Complex

Sections 212.20, 288.1162, 288.11621 and 288.11631, F.S., currently authorize distributions of sales tax revenues to certain professional sports facilities and for Major League Baseball spring training facilities. Also, s. 288.1171, F.S., provides the procedure by which a motorsport entertainment complex may be certified to receive up to $2 million from a local government.

The amendment allows the Department of Economic Opportunity to certify one motorsports entertainment complex to receive annual distributions of up to $2 million from state sales tax revenues for up to 30 years. The amendment provides the criteria that must be met prior to receiving the certification.

[31] See ss. 202.12(1)(a) and 203.01(1)(b), F.S. The gross receipts tax is 2.37 percent, plus an additional 0.15 percent for certain services.

Private Label Credit Cards (Bad Debt)

Chapter 212, F.S., contains the state's statutory provisions authorizing the levy and collection of Florida's sales and use tax, as well as the requirements for dealers to collect and remit sales tax. Florida imposes a 6 percent tax on tangible personal property sold, used, consumed, distributed, stored for use or consumption, rented, or leased in Florida. The full amount of sales tax is due at the time a transaction occurs, even if the transaction is a credit sale, installment sale, or a sale made on any kind of deferred payment plan.

A dealer who has remitted sales tax may take a credit or obtain a refund for any tax paid on the unpaid balance due on worthless accounts. The dealer must take the credit or obtain a refund within 12 months following the month in which the bad debt has been charged off by the dealer for federal income tax purposes. If any amount of the worthless account is subsequently paid, the dealer is required to remit the appropriate tax to the Department of Revenue. The dealer that paid the tax and charged off the account is the only person allowed to take the credit or claim the refund. In the case of private-label credit cards, the lender that issued the credit card may not take the credit or claim the refund for any amounts subsequently charged off by the lender, since the lender is not the "dealer."

The amendment amends s. 212.17, F.S., to create another method for a dealer to take a credit or obtain a refund for taxes remitted for a charged-off debt related to a consumer account with a private-label credit card. The amendment allows a dealer to take a credit or obtain a refund on taxes remitted on the unpaid balance of a worthless or "uncollectible" private-label credit card account. The amendment sets forth the criteria for calculating the amount of the credit or refund and limits the amount of the credit or refund to 25 percent of the amount of taxes paid on a worthless account.

Bail Bond Premiums

Under s. 624.4094(1), F.S., the direct written premium retained by a bail bond insurer may not be less than 6.5 percent of the total payment for the bail bond; licensed bail bond agents or licensed managing general agents retain up to 93.5 percent of the premium. Section 624.4094(5), F.S., provides that the reporting and payment of insurance premium taxes and related excise taxes under ss. 624.509, 624.5091, and 624.5092, F.S., is calculated using gross bail bond premiums and that insurance premium tax and related excise taxes are calculated using gross bail bond premiums.

Section 624.509, F.S., requires insurers to pay a premium tax on premiums received during the preceding calendar year. The tax is 1.75 percent of the gross amount of premium.

The amendment changes the calculation of the premium tax imposed on bail bond premiums so that the tax rate is applied only to the amount of the premium received by the insurance company, excluding amounts retained by the bail bond agent.

Local Business Taxes

Chapter 205, Florida Statutes, authorizes counties and municipalities to levy a business tax for the privilege of engaging in or managing any business, profession, or occupation within their jurisdictions. Section 205.0535 (2), F.S., requires that a municipality or county establish an equity study commission before revising its business taxes.

The amendment allows a county or municipality to repeal a local business tax or establish new rates that decrease the taxes and do not result in an increase of local business taxes for a taxpayer without having to establish an equity study commission.

Back to School Sales Tax Holiday

The amendment creates a state and local sales tax exemption for a 3-day period from August 1 through August 3, 2014, for the purchases of clothing costing $75 or less per item, school supplies costing $15 or less per item, and personal computers and related accessories costing $750 or less.

The amendment appropriates $223,048 from the General Revenue Fund to the Department of Revenue to implement the this provision and notify sales and use tax dealers prior to the beginning of the sales tax holiday.

Hurricane Preparedness Holiday

The amendment provides an exemption from state and local sales tax for specified items related to hurricane preparedness during a period of 12 consecutive days beginning on June 1, 2014. The timing of this period coincides with the start of hurricane season. The exempted items are:

- A portable, self-powered light source selling for $20 or less.
- A portable, self-powered radio, two-way radio, or weather band radio selling for $50 or less.
- A tarpaulin or other flexible waterproof sheeting selling for $50 or less.
- A self-contained first-aid kit selling for $30 or less.
- A ground anchor system or tie-down kit selling for $50 or less.
- A gas or diesel fuel tank selling for $25 or less.
- A package of AA-cell, C-cell, D-cell, 6-volt, or 9-volt batteries, excluding automobile and boat batteries, selling for $30 or less.
- A nonelectric food storage cooler selling for $30 or less.
- A portable generator that is used to provide light or communications or preserve food in the event of a power outage selling for $750 or less.

The amendment also authorizes the Department of Revenue to adopt rules to implement this provision.

The amendment appropriates $280,912 from the General Revenue Fund to the Department of Revenue for purposes of administering the provisions of the amendment.

Prepaid Calling Arrangements

The communication services tax (CST) is applied to the sales price of each communications service which originates and terminates in this state, or originates or terminates in this state and is charged to a service address in this state.[34] However, the definition of the term "sales price" expressly excludes the "sale or recharge of a prepaid calling arrangement," so CST is not collected on the sale of a prepaid calling arrangement. [35]

The term "prepaid calling arrangement" is defined to mean "the separately stated retail sale by advance payment of communications services that consist exclusively of telephone calls originated by using an access number, authorization code, or other means that may be manually, electronically, or otherwise entered and that are sold in predetermined units or dollars of which the number declines with use in a known amount."[36]

Chapter 212, F.S., provides for the application of the sales tax to the sale of tangible personal property and some services. The sales tax rate of 6 percent is applicable to charges for prepaid calling arrangements.[37] The term "prepaid calling arrangement" as defined in ch. 212, F.S., means "the separately stated retail sale by advance payment of communications services that consist exclusively of telephone calls originated by using an access number, authorization code, or other means that may be manually, electronically, or otherwise entered and that are sold in predetermined units or dollars whose number declines with use in a known amount."[38] The definition of "prepaid calling arrangement" in ch. 202, F.S. is virtually identical to the definition in ch. 212, F.S.

The amendment amends subsection 202.11(9), F.S., to revise the definition of the term "prepaid calling arrangement." For other than mobile communications services, the term includes a right to use communications services "for which a separately stated price must be paid in advance, which is sold at retail in predetermined units that decline in number with use on a predetermined basis, and which consists exclusively of telephone calls originated by using an access number, authorization code, or other means that may be manually, electronically, or otherwise entered."

For mobile communications services, the term includes "a right to use mobile communications services that must be paid for in advance and is sold at retail in predetermined units that expire or decline in number on a predetermined basis if:

1. The purchaser's right to use mobile communications services terminates upon all purchased units expiring or being exhausted unless the purchaser pays for additional units;
2. The purchaser is not required to purchase additional units; and

[36] Section 202.11(9), F.S.
[37] Section 212.05(1)(e)1., F.S.
[38] Id.

3. Any right of the purchaser to use units to obtain communications services other than mobile communications services is limited to services that are provided to or through the same handset or other electronic device that is used by the purchaser to access mobile communications services."

The amendment expands the definition of "prepaid calling arrangement" to include prepaid communication services other than those that consist exclusively of telephone calls. The changes recognize that under current industry practices prepaid services may include services other than telephone calls, such as text messaging, web access, and email.

Commercial Electricity: Transfer of Sales Tax to Gross Receipts Tax

The sale of electric power or energy by an electric utility is subject to the state sales tax at the rate of 7 percent.[39]

Chapter 203, F.S., imposes, at the rate of 2.5 percent, a tax on gross receipts from the sale, delivery, or transportation of natural gas, manufactured gas, or electricity to a retail consumer in Florida. All revenue received pursuant to this tax is deposited in the Public Education Capital Outlay and Debt Service ("PECO") Trust Fund. The use of such funds is limited to paying the principal and interest on bonds to finance capital projects for institutions of higher learning, community colleges, vocational technical schools, or public schools; the cost of any public educational facility capital project; or the cost of maintenance and repairs.

The amendment decreases the sales tax rate on sales of electricity from 7.0 percent to 4.35 percent and creates an additional gross receipts tax rate on electrical power or energy delivered to a non-exempt retail consumer of 2.6 percent, thereby raising the combined gross receipts tax rate to 5.1 percent. The new gross receipts tax additional rate will incorporate the existing exemptions from the sales tax.

The effect of the amendment is to provide a small tax reduction to commercial purchasers of electricity (a tax rate reduction of 0.05 percentage point). Also, the amendment reduces revenues that are deposited in the General Revenue Fund and increases deposits to the Public Education Capital Outlay Fund (PECO). Funds deposited in the PECO trust fund are used to fund construction and maintenance of educational facilities.

Qualified Television Loan Fund

The amendment establishes a revolving loan fund to be used for loans to television productions filmed in Florida. The amendment does not appropriate any moneys to the fund.

Mandates

Subsection (b) of s. 18, Art. VII of the Florida Constitution provides that except upon approval of each house of the Legislature by two-thirds vote of the membership, the Legislature may not enact, amend or repeal any general law if the anticipated effect of doing so would be to reduce the authority that municipalities or counties have to raise revenue in the aggregate, as such authority existed on February 1, 1989.

The mandates provision may apply because the amendment provides numerous sales tax exemptions that will reduce municipalities' and counties' local option sales tax collections, thereby reducing their revenue-raising authority. In addition, the amendment redefines the types of services to which local Communication Services tax rates apply, thereby potentially reducing the authority of municipalities to raise revenue.

(6) Distribution of all proceeds under this chapter and s. 202.18(1)(b) and (2)(b) shall be as follows:

2. After the distribution under subparagraph 1., 8.814 percent of the amount remitted by a sales tax dealer located within a participating county pursuant to s. 218.61 shall be transferred into the Local Government Half-cent Sales Tax Clearing Trust Fund. Beginning July 1, 2003, the amount to be transferred shall be reduced by 0.1 percent, and the department shall distribute this amount to the Public Employees Relations Commission Trust Fund less $5,000 each month, which shall be added to the amount calculated in subparagraph 3. and distributed accordingly.

If a local or special law required that any moneys accruing to a county in fiscal year 1999-2000 under the then-existing provisions of s. 550.135 be paid directly to the district school board, special district, or a municipal government, such payment must continue until the local or special law is amended or repealed. The state covenants with holders of bonds or other instruments of indebtedness issued by local governments, special districts, or district school boards before July 1, 2000, that it is not the intent of this subparagraph to adversely affect the rights of those holders or relieve local governments, special districts, or district school boards of the duty to meet their obligations as a result of previous pledges or assignments or trusts entered into which obligated funds received from the distribution to county governments under then-existing s. 550.135. This distribution specifically is in lieu of funds distributed under s. 550.135 before July 1, 2000.

c. Beginning 30 days after notice by the Department of Economic Opportunity to the Department of Revenue that an applicant has been certified as the professional golf hall of fame pursuant to s. 288.1168 and is open to the public, $166,667 shall be distributed monthly, for up to 300 months, to the applicant.

This distribution is subject to reduction pursuant to s. 288.1169. A lump sum payment of $999,996 shall be made~~,~~ after certification and before July 1, 2000.

288.11631. A certified applicant identified in this sub-subparagraph may not receive more in distributions than expended by the applicant for the public purposes provided in s. 288.11631(3).

7. All other proceeds must remain in the General Revenue Fund.

Section 6. Effective July 1, 2014, subsection (2) of section 288.1171, Florida Statutes, is amended, present subsections (4) through (7) of that section are redesignated as subsections (5) through (8), respectively, and amended, and a new subsection (4) is added to that section, to read:

3. Tax due under this paragraph shall be administered, paid, and reported in the same manner as the tax due under paragraph (c).

4. The amount of tax due under this paragraph shall be reduced by the amount of any like tax lawfully imposed on and paid by the person from whom the retail consumer purchased the electricity, whether imposed by and paid to this state, another state, a territory of the United States, or the District of Columbia. This reduction in tax shall be available to the retail consumer as a refund made pursuant to s. 215.26 and does not inure to the benefit of the person who receives payment for the delivery of the electricity. 2. The index price is the Florida price per 1,000 cubic feet for retail consumers in the previous calendar year as published in the United States Energy Information Administration Natural Gas Monthly and announced by the Department of Revenue on June 1 of each year to be effective for the 12-month period beginning July 1 of that year. The methods of demonstrating proof of payment and the amount of such refund shall be made according to rules of the Department of Revenue.

(f) Any person who imports into this state electricity, natural gas, or manufactured gas, or severs natural gas, for that person’s own use or consumption as a substitute for purchasing utility, transportation, or delivery services taxable under subparagraph (a)1. ~~this chapter~~ and who cannot demonstrate payment of the tax imposed by this chapter must register with the Department of Revenue and pay into the State Treasury each month an amount equal to the cost price, as defined in s. 212.02, of such electricity, natural gas, or manufactured gas times the rate set forth in subparagraph (b)1. ~~paragraph (b)~~, reduced by the amount of any like tax lawfully imposed on and paid by the person from whom the electricity, natural gas, or manufactured gas was purchased or any person who provided delivery service or transportation service in connection with the electricity, natural gas, or manufactured gas. ~~For purposes~~

As used in ~~For purposes of~~ this paragraph, the term "nontaxable electricity" means electricity produced by cogeneration or by small power producers which is not subject to tax under paragraph (g). Taxes paid pursuant to paragraph (g) may be credited against taxes due under this paragraph. Electricity generated as part of an industrial manufacturing process that ~~which~~ manufactures products from phosphate rock, raw wood fiber, paper, citrus, or any agricultural product is ~~shall~~ not ~~be~~ subject to the tax imposed by this paragraph. The term "industrial manufacturing process" means the entire process conducted at the location where the process takes place.

(i) Any person other than a cogenerator or small power producer described in paragraph (h) who produces for his or her own use electrical energy that ~~which~~ is a substitute for electrical energy produced by an electric utility as defined in s. 366.02 is subject to the tax imposed by subparagraph (a)1. ~~this section~~. ~~either~~ for resale or for use as fuel in the generation of electricity; or if ~~provided~~ the person deriving gross receipts from such sale demonstrates that a sale, transportation, or delivery for resale in fact occurred and complies with the following requirements: A sale, transportation, or delivery for resale must be in strict compliance with the rules ~~and regulations~~ of the Department of Revenue; and any sale subject to the tax imposed by this section which is not in strict compliance with the rules ~~and regulations~~ of the Department of Revenue shall be subject to the tax at the appropriate rate imposed on utilities under subparagraph (1)(b)1. ~~by paragraph (b)~~ on the person making the sale. Possession by a seller of natural or manufactured gas or by any person providing transportation or delivery of natural or manufactured gas of a written certification by the purchaser, certifying the purchaser's entitlement to the exclusion permitted by this paragraph, relieves the seller or person providing transportation or delivery from the responsibility of remitting tax on the nontaxable amounts, and the department shall look solely to the purchaser for recovery of such tax if the department determines that the purchaser was not entitled to the exclusion. The certification must include an acknowledgment by the purchaser that it will be liable for tax pursuant to paragraph (1)(f) if the requirements for exclusion are not met.

2. The sale or delivery of electricity to a public or private utility, including a municipal corporation or rural electric cooperative association, for resale, or as part of an electrical interchange agreement or contract between such utilities for the purpose of transferring more economically generated power;

(4) The tax imposed pursuant to subparagraph (1)(a)1. ~~this chapter~~ relating to the provision of ~~any~~ utility services at the option of the person supplying the taxable services may be separately stated as Florida gross receipts tax on the total amount of any bill, invoice, or other tangible evidence of the provision of such taxable services and may be added as a component part of the total charge. For a utility, the decision to separately state any increase in the rate of tax imposed by this chapter which is effective after December 31, 1989, and the ability to recover the increased charge from the customer is ~~shall~~ not ~~be~~ subject to regulatory approval.

Section 6. Section 288.127, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

288.127 Qualified Television Loan Fund (QTV Fund).—

(1) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Fund administrator" means a private sector

organization under contract with the department to manage and administer the QTV Fund.

(b) "Major broadcaster" means broadcasting organizations that include, but are not limited to, television broadcasting networks, cable television, direct broadcast satellite, telecommunications companies, and internet streaming or other digital media platforms.

(c) "Private investment capital" means capital from private, nongovernmental funding sources that will be coinvested with the QTV Fund in segregated accounts.

(d) "Qualified lending partner" means a financial institution, as defined in s. 655.005, selected by a fund administrator with demonstrated capability in providing financing to television production and specialized expertise in intellectual property, tax credit programs, customary broadcast license agreements, advertising inventories, and ancillary revenue sources, with a combined portfolio in film, television, and entertainment media of at least $500 million.

(e) "Qualified television content" means series, mini-series, or made-for-TV content produced by a qualified production company that has in place a distribution contract with a major broadcaster, under a customary broadcast license agreement. The term does not include a production that contains content that is obscene, as defined in s. 847.001.

(2) PURPOSE.—The purpose of the QTV Fund is to create a public-private partnership in the form of a revolving loan fund to administer a loan program for television production. The QTV Fund shall be privately managed under state oversight to incentivize the use of this state as a site for producing qualified television content and to develop and sustain the workforce and infrastructure for television content production.

(3) CREATION.—The Qualified Television Loan Fund is created within the department. The QTV Fund shall be a public fund that is privately managed by the fund administrator under contract entered into with the department. The department shall disburse the funds appropriated for this program to the fund administrator to invest in the QTV Fund during the existence of the program pursuant to this section and the contract entered into between the fund administrator and the department. State funds in the QTV Fund may be used only to enter into loan agreements and to pay any administrative costs or other authorized fees under this section.

(a) The QTV Fund shall be a revolving loan fund that shall invest and reinvest the principal and interest of the fund in accordance with s. 617.2104, in such a manner as to not subject the funds to state or federal taxes and to be consistent with the investment policy statement adopted by the fund administrator. As the production companies repay the principal and interest for the QTV Fund, the state funds shall be returned, less any QTV Fund expenses, to the account to be lent to subsequent borrowers.

(b) Funds from the QTV Fund shall be disbursed by the fund administrator through a lending vehicle to make short-term loans pursuant to this section.

(4) FUND ADMINISTRATOR.—

(a) The department shall contract with a fund administrator by September 1, 2014, and award the contract in accordance with the competitive bidding requirements in s. 287.057.

316994

(b) The department shall select as fund administrator a private sector entity that demonstrates the ability to implement the program under this section and that meets the requirements set forth in this section. Preference shall be given to applicants that are headquartered in this state. Additional consideration may be given to applicants with experience in the management of economic development or job creation-related funds. The qualifications for the fund administrator must include, but are not limited to, the following:

1. A demonstrated track record of managing private sector equity or debt funds in the entertainment and media industries.

2. The ability to demonstrate through a partnership agreement that a qualified lending partner is in place, with the capability of providing leverage of a minimum of 2.5 times the capital amount of the QTV Fund, for financing the production cost of qualified television content in the form of senior debt.

(c) For overseeing and administering the QTV Fund, the fund administrator shall be reimbursed for the portion of costs the fund administrator incurrs in establishing and operating the Fund related to the state’s investment, which shall be paid from state funds in the QTV Fund. Any additional private investment capital in the segregated accounts is responsible for its own management fees. The fund administrator shall be entitled to a reasonable profit, but such distribution may not be made from any principal funds from the original appropriation.

(d) The fund administrator shall provide services defined under this section for the duration of the QTV Fund term unless removed for cause. Cause shall be further defined under the contract with the fund administrator and must include, but is not limited to, the engagement in fraud or other criminal acts by board members, incapacity, unfitness, neglect of duty, official incompetence and irresponsibility, misfeasance, malfeasance, nonfeasance, or lack of performance.

(5) FUND ADMINISTRATOR POWERS AND DUTIES.—

(a) Authority to contract.—The fund administrator may enter into agreements with qualified lending partners for concurrent lending through the QTV Fund. A loan made by the qualified lending partner must be accounted for separately from the state funds or any other private investment capital. Such loan shall be made as senior debt. The fund administrator may raise private investment capital for mezzanine equity and other equity or raise junior capital for concurrent lending through the QTV Fund. However, loans from private investment capital may not be made at more favorable terms and conditions than the terms and conditions of the state funds in the QTV Fund. The state appropriation must be maintained in a separate account from any private investment capital and administered in a separate legal investment entity or entities. Private investment capital and loans shall be segregated from each other, and funds may not be commingled.

(b) General duties.—The fund administrator:

1. Shall prudently manage the funds in the QTV Fund as a revolving loan fund.

2. Shall contract with one or more qualified lending partners.

3. Shall provide improvement of the credit profile of a structured financial transaction for qualified production companies that produce qualified television content meeting the criteria in subsection (7).

4. May raise additional private investment capital to be held in separate accounts, in addition to the leverage provided by the qualified lending partner.

5. Shall administer the QTV Fund in accordance with this part.

6. Shall agree to maintain the recipient's books and records relating to funds received from the department according to generally accepted accounting principles and in accordance with the requirements of s. 215.97(7) and to make those books and records available to the department for inspection upon reasonable notice. The books and records must be maintained with detailed records showing the use of proceeds from loans to fund qualified television content.

7. Shall maintain its registered office in this state throughout the duration of the contract.

(c) Financial reporting.—The fund administrator shall submit to the department by February 28 each year audited financial statements for the preceding tax year which are audited by an independent certified public accountant after the end of each year in which the fund administrator is under contract with the department. In addition to providing an independent opinion on the annual financial statements, such audit provides a basis to verify the segregation of state funds from those of any private investment capital.

(d) Program reporting.—The fund administrator shall submit an annual report to the department by February 28 after the end of each year in which the fund administrator is under contract with the department. The report must include information on the loans made in the preceding calendar year and must include, but need not be limited to, the following:

1. The name of the qualified television content.

2. The names of the counties in which the production occurred.

3. The number of jobs created and retained as a result of the production.

4. The loan amounts, including the amount of private investment capital and funds provided by a qualified lending partner.

5. The loan repayment status for each loan.

6. The number, and amounts, of any loans with payments past due.

7. The number, and amounts, of any loans in default.

8. A description of the assets securing the loans.

9. Other information and documentation required by the department.

(e) Plan of accountability.—The fund administrator shall submit an annual plan of accountability of economic development, including a report detailing the job creation resulting from the QTV Fund loans made during the current year and cumulatively since the inception of the program. The fund administrator shall also provide any additional information requested by the department pertaining to economic development and job creation in the state.

(f) Conflict-of-interest statement.—The fund administrator shall provide a conflict-of-interest statement from its governing board certifying that no board member, director, employee, agent, immediate family member thereof, or other person connected to or affiliated with the fund administrator is receiving or will receive any type of compensation or remuneration from a production company that has received or will receive funds from the loan program or from a qualified lending partner. The department may waive this requirement for good cause shown.

(6) LOAN STRUCTURE.—

(a) The QTV Fund may make loans to production companies to fund production costs or provide improvement of the credit profile of a structured financial transaction for qualified television content that meets the criteria requirements of subsection (7). To make a loan, the fund administrator shall take into consideration the types of eligible collateral, the credit worthiness of the project, the producer's track record, the possibility that the project will encourage, enhance, or create economic benefits, and the extent to which assistance would foster innovative public-private partnerships and attract private debt or equity investment.

(b) The QTV Fund loan package shall be secured by contractual and predictable sources of repayment such as domestic and international broadcaster license agreements and other ancillary revenues that are derived from media content rights. Unsecured loans may not be made.

(c) The loans shall be made on the basis of a second lien or primary security rights on the media assets listed in paragraph (b).

(d) The QTV Fund shall provide funding only in conjunction with senior loans provided by a qualified lending partner. Loans from the QTV Fund may be subordinated to senior debt from the qualified lending partner and may not exceed 30 percent of the total production funding cost of any particular project.

(e) The production company's repayment of any loan shall be in accordance with the broadcast license agreement and the delivery of qualified television content to the major broadcaster and shall be within 60 days after such delivery.

(f) Loans made by the QTV Fund may not exceed 36 months in duration, except for extenuating circumstances for which the fund administrator may grant an extension upon making written findings to the department specifying the conditions requiring the extension.

(g) The fund administrator or a board member, employee, or agent thereof, or an immediate family member of a board member, employee, or agent, may not have a financial interest in an entity that is awarded a loan under a loan program and may not benefit directly or indirectly from the making of such a loan. A loan may not be made to a person if it violates this paragraph. As used in this section, the term "immediate family" means a parent, child, or spouse, or any other relative by blood, marriage, or adoption, of a board member, employee, or agent of the loan administrator.

(h) With the exception of funds appropriated to the department for the loan program, the credit of the state may not be pledged. The state is not liable or obligated in any way for claims against the QTV Fund or against the fund administrator, the qualified lending partner, or the department.

(7) QUALIFIED TELEVISION CONTENT CRITERIA.—The fund administrator must consider at a minimum the following criteria for evaluating the qualifying television content:

(a) The content is intended for broadcast by a major broadcaster on a major network, cable, or streaming channel.

(b) The content is produced in this state, or a minimum of 80 percent of the production budget must be spent in this state. This requirement may be amended by the fund administrator upon notice to the department. Such notice must include a specific justification for the change and must be transmitted to the department in writing. The department has 10 business days to object to the change. The Committee on Appropriations (Bean) recommended the following:

Senate Amendment to Amendment (477076) (with title amendment)

Between lines 315 and 316
insert:

Section 7. Section 288.127, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

288.127 Qualified television loan fund.—

(1) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Fund administrator" means a private sector

organization under contract with the department to manage and administer the QTV Fund.

(b) "Major broadcaster" means broadcasting organizations that include, but are not limited to, television broadcasting networks, cable television, direct broadcast satellite, telecommunications companies, and internet streaming or other digital media platforms.

(c) "Private investment capital" means capital from private, nongovernmental funding sources that will be coinvested with the QTV Fund in segregated accounts.

(d) "Qualified lending partner" means a financial institution, as defined in s. 655.005, selected by a fund administrator that has demonstrated capability in providing financing to television production and specialized expertise in intellectual property, tax credit programs, customary broadcast license agreements, advertising inventories, and ancillary revenue sources, and a combined portfolio in film, television, and entertainment media of at least $500 million.

(e) "Qualified television content" means series, mini-series, or made-for-TV content produced by a qualified production company that has in place a distribution contract with a major broadcaster, under a customary broadcast license agreement. The term does not include a production that contains content that is obscene, as defined in s. 847.001.

(f) "QTV Fund" means the qualified television loan fund.

(2) PURPOSE.—The purpose of the QTV Fund is to create a public-private partnership in the form of a revolving loan fund to administer a loan program for television production. The QTV Fund shall be privately managed under state oversight to incentivize the use of this state as a site for producing qualified television content and to develop and sustain the workforce and infrastructure for television content production.

(3) CREATION.—The qualified television loan fund is created within the department. The QTV Fund shall be a public fund that is privately managed by the fund administrator under contract with the department. The department shall disburse the funds appropriated for this program to the fund administrator to invest in the QTV Fund during the existence of the program pursuant to this section and the contract between the fund administrator and the department. State funds in the QTV Fund may be used only to enter into loan agreements and to pay any administrative costs or other authorized fees under this section.

(a) The QTV Fund shall be a revolving loan fund that invests and reinvests the principal and interest of the fund in accordance with s. 617.2104 in a manner so as to not subject the funds to state or federal taxes and to be consistent with the investment policy statement adopted by the fund administrator. As production companies repay the principal and interest to the QTV Fund, state funds, less any QTV Fund expenses, shall be returned to the account to be lent to subsequent borrowers.

(b) Funds from the QTV Fund shall be disbursed by the fund administrator through a lending vehicle to make short-term loans pursuant to this section.

(4) FUND ADMINISTRATOR.—

(a) The department shall contract with a fund administrator by September 1, 2014, and award the contract in accordance with the competitive bidding requirements in s. 287.057.

938816

(b) The department shall select as fund administrator a private sector entity that demonstrates the ability to implement the program under this section and that meets the requirements set forth in this section. Preference shall be given to applicants that are headquartered in this state. Additional consideration may be given to applicants that have experience in the management of economic development or job creation-related funds. The qualifications for the fund administrator must include, but are not limited to:

1. A demonstrated track record of managing private sector equity or debt funds in the entertainment and media industries.

2. The ability to demonstrate through a partnership agreement that a qualified lending partner is in place, which has the capability of providing leverage of a minimum of 2.5 times the capital amount of the QTV Fund, for financing the production cost of qualified television content in the form of senior debt.

(c) For overseeing and administering the QTV Fund, the fund administrator shall be reimbursed for the costs the fund administrator incurs in establishing and operating the fund related to the state’s investment, which shall be paid from state funds in the QTV Fund. Any additional private investment capital in the segregated accounts is responsible for its own management fees. The fund administrator is entitled to a reasonable profit, but such distribution may not be made from the principal funds from the original appropriation.

(d) The fund administrator shall provide services defined under this section for the duration of the QTV Fund term unless removed for cause. Cause shall be further defined under the contract with the fund administrator and must include, but is not limited to, the engagement in fraud or other criminal acts by board members, incapacity, unfitness, neglect of duty, official incompetence and irresponsibility, misfeasance, malfeasance, nonfeasance, or lack of performance.

(5) FUND ADMINISTRATOR POWERS AND DUTIES.—

(a) Authority to contract.—The fund administrator may enter into agreements with qualified lending partners for concurrent lending through the QTV Fund. A loan made by the qualified lending partner must be accounted for separately from the state funds or other private investment capital. Such loan shall be made as senior debt. The fund administrator may raise private investment capital for mezzanine equity and other equity or raise junior capital for concurrent lending through the QTV Fund. However, loans from private investment capital may not be made at more favorable terms and conditions than the terms and conditions of the state funds in the QTV Fund. The state appropriation must be maintained in a separate account from private investment capital and administered in a separate legal investment entity or entities. Private investment capital and loans shall be segregated from each other, and funds may not be commingled.

(b) General duties.—The fund administrator:

1. Shall prudently manage the funds in the QTV Fund as a revolving loan fund.

2. Shall contract with one or more qualified lending partners.

3. Shall provide improvement of the credit profile of a structured financial transaction for qualified production companies that produce qualified television content meeting the criteria in subsection (7).

4. May raise additional private investment capital to be held in separate accounts, in addition to the leverage provided by the qualified lending partner.

5. Shall administer the QTV Fund in accordance with this part.

6. Shall agree to maintain the recipient's books and records relating to funds received from the department according to generally accepted accounting principles and in accordance with s. 215.97(7) and to make those books and records available to the department for inspection upon reasonable notice. The books and records must be maintained with detailed records showing the use of proceeds from loans to fund qualified television content.

7. Shall maintain its registered office in this state throughout the duration of the contract.

(c) Financial reporting.—The fund administrator shall annually submit to the department by February 28 audited financial statements for the preceding tax year which are audited by an independent certified public accountant after the end of each year in which the fund administrator is under contract with the department. In addition to providing an independent opinion on the annual financial statements, such audit provides a basis for verifying the segregation of state funds from those of any private investment capital.

(d) Program reporting.—The fund administrator shall submit a report to the department by February 28 after the end of each year in which the fund administrator is under contract with the department. The report must include information on the loans made in the preceding calendar year, including:

1. The name of the qualified television content.

2. The names of the counties in which the production occurred.

3. The number of jobs created and retained as a result of the production.

4. The loan amounts, including the amount of private investment capital and funds provided by a qualified lending partner.

5. The loan repayment status for each loan.

6. The number and amounts of any loans with payments past due.

7. The number and amounts of any loans in default.

8. A description of the assets securing the loans.

9. Other information and documentation required by the department.

(e) Plan of accountability.—The fund administrator shall submit an annual plan of accountability of economic development, including a report detailing the job creation resulting from the QTV Fund loans made during the current year and cumulatively since the inception of the program. The fund administrator shall also provide any additional information requested by the department pertaining to economic development and job creation in the state.

(f) Conflict-of-interest statement.—The fund administrator shall provide a conflict-of-interest statement from its governing board certifying that no board member, director, employee, agent, immediate family member thereof, or other person connected to or affiliated with the fund administrator is receiving or will receive any type of compensation or remuneration from a production company that has received or will receive funds from the loan program or from a qualified lending partner. The department may waive this requirement for good cause shown.

(6) LOAN STRUCTURE.—

(a) The QTV Fund may make loans to production companies to fund production costs or provide improvement of the credit profile of a structured financial transaction for qualified television content that meets the criteria requirements of subsection (7). To make a loan, the fund administrator shall consider the types of eligible collateral, the credit worthiness of the project, the producer's track record, the possibility that the project will encourage, enhance, or create economic benefits, and the extent to which assistance would foster innovative public-private partnerships and attract private debt or equity investment.

(b) The QTV Fund loan package shall be secured by contractual and predictable sources of repayment such as domestic and international broadcaster license agreements and other ancillary revenues that are derived from media content rights. Unsecured loans may not be made.

(c) The loans shall be made on the basis of a second lien or primary security rights on the media assets listed in paragraph (b).

(d) The QTV Fund shall provide funding only in conjunction with senior loans provided by a qualified lending partner. Loans from the fund may be subordinated to senior debt from the qualified lending partner and may not exceed 30 percent of the total production funding cost of any particular project.

(e) The production company's repayment of a loan shall be in accordance with the broadcast license agreement and the delivery of qualified television content to the major broadcaster and shall be within 60 days after such delivery.

(f) Loans made by the QTV Fund may not exceed 36 months in duration, except for extenuating circumstances for which the fund administrator may grant an extension upon making written findings to the department specifying the conditions requiring the extension.

(g) The fund administrator or a board member, employee, or agent thereof, or an immediate family member of a board member, employee, or agent, may not have a financial interest in an entity that is awarded a loan under a loan program and may not benefit directly or indirectly from the making of such loan. A loan may not be made to a person if it violates this paragraph. As used in this section, the term "immediate family" means a parent, child, or spouse, or other relative by blood, marriage, or adoption, of a board member, employee, or agent of the loan administrator.

(h) Except for funds appropriated to the department for the loan program, the credit of the state may not be pledged. The state is not liable or obligated in any way for claims against the QTV Fund or against the fund administrator, the qualified lending partner, or the department.

(7) QUALIFIED TELEVISION CONTENT CRITERIA.—The fund administrator must, at a minimum, consider the following criteria for evaluating the qualifying television content:

(a) The content is intended for broadcast by a major broadcaster on a major network, cable, or streaming channel.

(b) The content is produced in this state, or a minimum of 80 percent of the production budget must be spent in this state. This requirement may be amended by the fund administrator upon notice to the department. Such notice must include a specific justification for the change and must be transmitted to the department in writing. The department has 10 business days to object to the change. If the department does not object within 10 business days, the change is deemed acceptable by the department, and the fund administrator may grant the amendment.

(c) If the content is a series, there is a programming order for at least 13 episodes. This requirement may be amended by the fund administrator upon notice to the department. Such notice must include a specific justification for the change and must be transmitted to the department in writing. The department has 10 business days to object to the change. If the department does not object within 10 business days, the change is deemed acceptable by the department, and the fund administrator may grant the amendment.

(d) The producer must have a contract in place with a major broadcaster to acquire content programming under a customary broadcast license agreement and the contract must cover at least 60 percent of the budget.

(e) The producer must retain a foreign sales agent and must be able to provide the fund administrator with the foreign sales agent’s official estimates of foreign and ancillary sales.

(f) The project must be bonded and secured by an industry-approved completion guarantor if the production cost per episode exceeds $1 million. This requirement may be waived if the loan applicant provides the fund administrator with evidence of adequate structure to protect the state's funds.

(8) AUDITOR GENERAL AUDIT.—The Auditor General may conduct operational audits, as defined in s. 11.45, of the QTV Fund and fund administrator. The scope of audit must include, but is not limited to, internal controls evaluations, internal audit functions, reporting and performance requirements for the use of the funds, and compliance with state and federal law. The fund administrator shall provide to the Auditor General any detail or supplemental data required.

(9) RULEMAKING AUTHORITY.—The department may adopt rules to administer this section.

(10) EXPIRATION.—This section expires December 31, 2024, at which point all funds remaining in the QTV Fund revert to the General Revenue Fund.

(11) EMERGENCY RULES.—

(a) The executive director of the department is authorized, and all conditions are deemed met, to adopt emergency rules pursuant to ss. 120.536(1) and 120.54(4) for the purpose of implementing this section.

(b) Notwithstanding any other law, the emergency rules adopted pursuant to paragraph (a) remain in effect for 6 months after adoption and may be renewed during the pendency of procedures to adopt permanent rules addressing the subject of the emergency rules.

(c) This subsection expires October 1, 2015.

Section 10. Paragraph (b) of subsection (2) of section 288.0001, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

938816

Senate Amendment to Amendment (477076) (with title amendment)

Between lines 369 and 370
insert:

Section 9. Section 288.127, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

288.127 Qualified Television Loan Fund (QTV Fund).—

(1) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Fund administrator" means a private sector

organization under contract with the department to manage and administer the QTV Fund.

(b) "Major broadcaster" means broadcasting organizations that include, but are not limited to, television broadcasting networks, cable television, direct broadcast satellite, telecommunications companies, and internet streaming or other digital media platforms.

(c) "Private investment capital" means capital from private, nongovernmental funding sources that will be coinvested with the QTV Fund in segregated accounts.

(d) "Qualified lending partner" means a financial institution, as defined in s. 655.005, selected by a fund administrator with demonstrated capability in providing financing to television production and specialized expertise in intellectual property, tax credit programs, customary broadcast license agreements, advertising inventories, and ancillary revenue sources, with a combined portfolio in film, television, and entertainment media of at least $500 million.

(e) "Qualified television content" means series, mini-series, or made-for-TV content produced by a qualified production company that has in place a distribution contract with a major broadcaster, under a customary broadcast license agreement. The term does not include a production that contains content that is obscene, as defined in s. 847.001.

(2) PURPOSE.—The purpose of the QTV Fund is to create a public-private partnership in the form of a revolving loan fund to administer a loan program for television production. The QTV Fund shall be privately managed under state oversight to incentivize the use of this state as a site for producing qualified television content and to develop and sustain the workforce and infrastructure for television content production.

(3) CREATION.—The Qualified Television Loan Fund is created within the department. The QTV Fund shall be a public fund that is privately managed by the fund administrator under contract entered into with the department. The department shall disburse the funds appropriated for this program to the fund administrator to invest in the QTV Fund during the existence of the program pursuant to this section and the contract entered into between the fund administrator and the department. State funds in the QTV Fund may be used only to enter into loan agreements and to pay any administrative costs or other authorized fees under this section.

(a) The QTV Fund shall be a revolving loan fund that shall invest and reinvest the principal and interest of the fund in accordance with s. 617.2104, in such a manner as to not subject the funds to state or federal taxes and to be consistent with the investment policy statement adopted by the fund administrator. As the production companies repay the principal and interest for the QTV Fund, the state funds shall be returned, less any QTV Fund expenses, to the account to be lent to subsequent borrowers.

(b) Funds from the QTV Fund shall be disbursed by the fund administrator through a lending vehicle to make short-term loans pursuant to this section.

(4) FUND ADMINISTRATOR.—

(a) The department shall contract with a fund administrator by September 1, 2014, and award the contract in accordance with the competitive bidding requirements in s. 287.057.

811482

(b) The department shall select as fund administrator a private sector entity that demonstrates the ability to implement the program under this section and that meets the requirements set forth in this section. Preference shall be given to applicants that are headquartered in this state. Additional consideration may be given to applicants with experience in the management of economic development or job creation-related funds. The qualifications for the fund administrator must include, but are not limited to, the following:

1. A demonstrated track record of managing private sector equity or debt funds in the entertainment and media industries.

2. The ability to demonstrate through a partnership agreement that a qualified lending partner is in place, with the capability of providing leverage of a minimum of 2.5 times the capital amount of the QTV Fund, for financing the production cost of qualified television content in the form of senior debt.

(c) For overseeing and administering the QTV Fund, the fund administrator shall be reimbursed for the portion of costs the fund administrator incurrs in establishing and operating the Fund related to the state’s investment, which shall be paid from state funds in the QTV Fund. Any additional private investment capital in the segregated accounts is responsible for its own management fees. The fund administrator shall be entitled to a reasonable profit, but such distribution may not be made from any principal funds from the original appropriation.

(d) The fund administrator shall provide services defined under this section for the duration of the QTV Fund term unless removed for cause. Cause shall be further defined under the contract with the fund administrator and must include, but is not limited to, the engagement in fraud or other criminal acts by board members, incapacity, unfitness, neglect of duty, official incompetence and irresponsibility, misfeasance, malfeasance, nonfeasance, or lack of performance.

(5) FUND ADMINISTRATOR POWERS AND DUTIES.—

(a) Authority to contract.—The fund administrator may enter into agreements with qualified lending partners for concurrent lending through the QTV Fund. A loan made by the qualified lending partner must be accounted for separately from the state funds or any other private investment capital. Such loan shall be made as senior debt. The fund administrator may raise private investment capital for mezzanine equity and other equity or raise junior capital for concurrent lending through the QTV Fund. However, loans from private investment capital may not be made at more favorable terms and conditions than the terms and conditions of the state funds in the QTV Fund. The state appropriation must be maintained in a separate account from any private investment capital and administered in a separate legal investment entity or entities. Private investment capital and loans shall be segregated from each other, and funds may not be commingled.

(b) General duties.—The fund administrator:

1. Shall prudently manage the funds in the QTV Fund as a revolving loan fund.

2. Shall contract with one or more qualified lending partners.

3. Shall provide improvement of the credit profile of a structured financial transaction for qualified production companies that produce qualified television content meeting the criteria in subsection (7).

4. May raise additional private investment capital to be held in separate accounts, in addition to the leverage provided by the qualified lending partner.

5. Shall administer the QTV Fund in accordance with this part.

6. Shall agree to maintain the recipient's books and records relating to funds received from the department according to generally accepted accounting principles and in accordance with the requirements of s. 215.97(7) and to make those books and records available to the department for inspection upon reasonable notice. The books and records must be maintained with detailed records showing the use of proceeds from loans to fund qualified television content.

7. Shall maintain its registered office in this state throughout the duration of the contract.

(c) Financial reporting.—The fund administrator shall submit to the department by February 28 each year audited financial statements for the preceding tax year which are audited by an independent certified public accountant after the end of each year in which the fund administrator is under contract with the department. In addition to providing an independent opinion on the annual financial statements, such audit provides a basis to verify the segregation of state funds from those of any private investment capital.

(d) Program reporting.—The fund administrator shall submit an annual report to the department by February 28 after the end of each year in which the fund administrator is under contract with the department. The report must include information on the loans made in the preceding calendar year and must include, but need not be limited to, the following:

1. The name of the qualified television content.

2. The names of the counties in which the production occurred.

3. The number of jobs created and retained as a result of the production.

4. The loan amounts, including the amount of private investment capital and funds provided by a qualified lending partner.

5. The loan repayment status for each loan.

6. The number, and amounts, of any loans with payments past due.

7. The number, and amounts, of any loans in default.

8. A description of the assets securing the loans.

9. Other information and documentation required by the department.

(e) Plan of accountability.—The fund administrator shall submit an annual plan of accountability of economic development, including a report detailing the job creation resulting from the QTV Fund loans made during the current year and cumulatively since the inception of the program. The fund administrator shall also provide any additional information requested by the department pertaining to economic development and job creation in the state.

(f) Conflict-of-interest statement.—The fund administrator shall provide a conflict-of-interest statement from its governing board certifying that no board member, director, employee, agent, immediate family member thereof, or other person connected to or affiliated with the fund administrator is receiving or will receive any type of compensation or remuneration from a production company that has received or will receive funds from the loan program or from a qualified lending partner. The department may waive this requirement for good cause shown.

(6) LOAN STRUCTURE.—

(a) The QTV Fund may make loans to production companies to fund production costs or provide improvement of the credit profile of a structured financial transaction for qualified television content that meets the criteria requirements of subsection (7). To make a loan, the fund administrator shall take into consideration the types of eligible collateral, the credit worthiness of the project, the producer's track record, the possibility that the project will encourage, enhance, or create economic benefits, and the extent to which assistance would foster innovative public-private partnerships and attract private debt or equity investment.

(b) The QTV Fund loan package shall be secured by contractual and predictable sources of repayment such as domestic and international broadcaster license agreements and other ancillary revenues that are derived from media content rights. Unsecured loans may not be made.

(c) The loans shall be made on the basis of a second lien or primary security rights on the media assets listed in paragraph (b).

(d) The QTV Fund shall provide funding only in conjunction with senior loans provided by a qualified lending partner. Loans from the QTV Fund may be subordinated to senior debt from the qualified lending partner and may not exceed 30 percent of the total production funding cost of any particular project.

(e) The production company's repayment of any loan shall be in accordance with the broadcast license agreement and the delivery of qualified television content to the major broadcaster and shall be within 60 days after such delivery.

(f) Loans made by the QTV Fund may not exceed 36 months in duration, except for extenuating circumstances for which the fund administrator may grant an extension upon making written findings to the department specifying the conditions requiring the extension.

(g) The fund administrator or a board member, employee, or agent thereof, or an immediate family member of a board member, employee, or agent, may not have a financial interest in an entity that is awarded a loan under a loan program and may not benefit directly or indirectly from the making of such a loan. A loan may not be made to a person if it violates this paragraph. As used in this section, the term "immediate family" means a parent, child, or spouse, or any other relative by blood, marriage, or adoption, of a board member, employee, or agent of the loan administrator.

(h) With the exception of funds appropriated to the department for the loan program, the credit of the state may not be pledged. The state is not liable or obligated in any way for claims against the QTV Fund or against the fund administrator, the qualified lending partner, or the department.

(7) QUALIFIED TELEVISION CONTENT CRITERIA.—The fund administrator must consider at a minimum the following criteria for evaluating the qualifying television content:

(a) The content is intended for broadcast by a major broadcaster on a major network, cable, or streaming channel.

(b) The content is produced in this state, or a minimum of 80 percent of the production budget must be spent in this state. This requirement may be amended by the fund administrator upon notice to the department. Such notice must include a specific justification for the change and must be transmitted to the department in writing. The department has 10 business days to object to the change. If the department does not object to the change within 10 business days, the change is deemed acceptable by the department, and the fund administrator may grant the amendment to the requirement in this paragraph.

(c) If the content is a series, there is a programming order for at least 13 episodes. This requirement may be amended by the fund administrator upon notice to the department. Such notice must include a specific justification for the change and must be transmitted to the department in writing. The department has 10 business days to object to the change. If the department does not object to the change within 10 business days, the change is deemed acceptable by the department, and the fund administrator may grant the amendment to the requirement in this paragraph.

(d) The producer must have a contract in place with a major broadcaster to acquire content programming under a customary broadcast license agreement and the contract must cover at least 60 percent of the budget.

(e) The producer must retain a foreign sales agent and must be able to provide the fund administrator with the foreign sales agent’s official estimates of foreign and ancillary sales.

(f) The project must be bonded and secured by an industry-approved completion guarantor if the production cost per episode exceeds $1 million. This requirement may be waived if the loan applicant provides the fund administrator with evidence of adequate structure to protect the state's funds.

(8) AUDITOR GENERAL AUDIT.—The Auditor General is authorized to conduct operational audits, as defined in s. 11.45, of the QTV Fund and fund administrator. The scope of audit must include, but is not limited to, internal controls evaluations, internal audit functions, reporting and performance requirements for the use of the funds, and compliance with state and federal law. The fund administrator shall provide to the Auditor General any detail or supplemental data required.

(9) RULEMAKING AUTHORITY.—The department may adopt rules to administer this section.

(10) EXPIRATION.—This section expires December 31, 2024, at which point all funds remaining in the QTV Fund shall revert to the General Revenue Fund.

(11) EMERGENCY RULES.—

(a) The executive director of the department is authorized, and all conditions are deemed met, to adopt emergency rules pursuant to ss. 120.536(1) and 120.54(4) for the purpose of implementing this section.

(b) Notwithstanding any other law, the emergency rules adopted pursuant to paragraph (a) remain in effect for 6 months after adoption and may be renewed during the pendency of procedures to adopt permanent rules addressing the subject of the emergency rules.

The tax shall be applied to the cost price, as defined in s. 212.02, of such electricity ~~as provided in s. 212.02(4)~~ and shall be paid each month, beginning with the month in which total production exceeds the production of nontaxable electricity for the 12-month period ending June 30, 1990. As used in ~~For purposes of~~ this paragraph, the term "nontaxable electricity" means electricity produced by cogeneration or by small power producers which is not subject to tax under paragraph (g). The certification must include an acknowledgment by the purchaser that it will be liable for tax pursuant to paragraph (1)(f) if the requirements for exclusion are not met.

(e) "Qualified television content" means series, mini-series, or made-for-TV content produced by a qualified production company that has in place a distribution contract with a major broadcaster, under a customary broadcast license agreement. The term does not include a production that contains content that is obscene, as defined in s. 847.001.

(f) "QTV Fund" means the qualified television loan fund.

(2) PURPOSE.—The purpose of the QTV Fund is to create a public-private partnership in the form of a revolving loan fund to administer a loan program for television production. The QTV Fund shall be privately managed under state oversight to incentivize the use of this state as a site for producing qualified television content and to develop and sustain the workforce and infrastructure for television content production.

(3) CREATION.—The qualified television loan fund is created within the department. The QTV Fund shall be a public fund that is privately managed by the fund administrator under contract with the department. The department shall disburse the funds appropriated for this program to the fund administrator to invest in the QTV Fund during the existence of the program pursuant to this section and the contract between the fund administrator and the department. State funds in the QTV Fund may be used only to enter into loan agreements and to pay any administrative costs or other authorized fees under this section.

(a) The QTV Fund shall be a revolving loan fund that invests and reinvests the principal and interest of the fund in accordance with s. 617.2104 in a manner so as to not subject the funds to state or federal taxes and to be consistent with the investment policy statement adopted by the fund administrator. As production companies repay the principal and interest to the QTV Fund, state funds, less any QTV Fund expenses, shall be returned to the account to be lent to subsequent borrowers.

(b) Funds from the QTV Fund shall be disbursed by the fund administrator through a lending vehicle to make short-term loans pursuant to this section.

Preference shall be given to applicants that are headquartered in this state. Additional consideration may be given to applicants that have experience in the management of economic development or job creation-related funds. The qualifications for the fund administrator must include, but are not limited to:

(c) For overseeing and administering the QTV Fund, the fund administrator shall be reimbursed for the costs the fund administrator incurs in establishing and operating the fund related to the state's investment, which shall be paid from state funds in the QTV Fund. Any additional private investment capital in the segregated accounts is responsible for its own management fees. The fund administrator is entitled to a reasonable profit, but such distribution may not be made from the principal funds from the original appropriation.

raise junior capital for concurrent lending through the QTV Fund. However, loans from private investment capital may not be made at more favorable terms and conditions than the terms and conditions of the state funds in the QTV Fund. The state appropriation must be maintained in a separate account from private investment capital and administered in a separate legal investment entity or entities. Private investment capital and loans shall be segregated from each other, and funds may not be commingled.

The department may waive this requirement for good cause shown.

(6) LOAN STRUCTURE.—

(a) The QTV Fund may make loans to production companies to fund production costs or provide improvement of the credit profile of a structured financial transaction for qualified television content that meets the criteria requirements of subsection (7). To make a loan, the fund administrator shall consider the types of eligible collateral, the credit worthiness of the project, the producer's track record, the possibility that the project will encourage, enhance, or create economic benefits, and the extent to which assistance would foster innovative public-private partnerships and attract private debt or equity investment.

Delete lines 136 - 301
and insert:
Section 3. Effective January 1, 2015, subsections (5) through (9) of section 203.01, Florida Statutes, are renumbered as subsections (6) through (10), respectively, paragraph (b) of subsection (1), paragraph (d) of subsection (3), and present subsections (4) and (8) are amended, and a new subsection (4) is added to that section, to read:

158978

203.01 Tax on gross receipts for utility and communications services.—

(1)

(b)1. The rate applied to utility services shall be 2.5 percent.

2. The rate applied to communications services shall be 2.37 percent.

3. There shall be an additional rate of 0.15 percent applied to communication services subject to the tax levied pursuant to s. 202.12(1)(a), (c), and (d). The exemption provided in s. 202.125(1) applies to the tax levied pursuant to this subparagraph.

4. There shall be an additional rate of 3 percent applied to the gross receipts for electrical power or energy delivered to a retail consumer in this state. Notwithstanding s. 203.0111, any increase in the gross receipts tax provided in this subparagraph applies to charges for electrical power or energy on any bill dated on or after the date upon which the increase takes effect.

(3) The tax imposed by subsection (1) does not apply to:

(d) The sale or transportation ~~to, or use~~ of~~,~~ natural gas or manufactured gas to, or the use of natural gas or manufactured gas by, a person eligible for an exemption under s. 212.08(7)(ff)2. for use as an energy source or a raw material. Possession by a seller of natural or manufactured gas or by any person providing transportation or delivery of natural or manufactured gas of a written certification by the purchaser, certifying the purchaser's entitlement to the exclusion permitted by this paragraph, relieves the seller or person providing transportation or delivery from the responsibility of remitting tax on the nontaxable amounts, and the department shall look solely to the purchaser for recovery of such tax if the department determines that the purchaser was not entitled to the exclusion. The certification must include an acknowledgment by the purchaser that it will be liable for tax pursuant to paragraph (1)(f) if the requirements for exclusion are not met.

(4) The additional rate imposed by subparagraph (1)(b)4. does not apply to:

(a) The sale of electrical power or energy to a person eligible for an exemption under s. 212.08(7)(ff) for use in operating machinery and equipment at a fixed location in this state;

(b) The sale or transportation of electrical power or energy to, or the use of electrical power or energy by, a person eligible for an exemption under s. 212.08(5)(e) for certain agricultural purposes;

(c) The sale or transportation of electrical power or energy to, or the use of electrical power or energy by, a person eligible for an exemption under s. 212.08(7)(j) for use as a household fuel;

(d) The sale or transportation of electrical power or energy to, or the use of electrical power or energy by, a person eligible for an exemption under s. 212.08(15)(a) for use in an enterprise zone;

(e) The sale or transportation of electrical power or energy to, or the use of electrical power or energy by, a person who holds a valid Consumer’s Certificate of Exemption issued by the Department of Revenue;

158978

(f) The sale or transportation of electrical power or energy to, or the use of electrical power or energy by, foreign diplomats and consular personnel who hold a tax exemption card issued by the United States Department of State; or

(g) The sale or transportation of electrical power or energy to, or the use of electrical power or energy by, the Federal Government or any federal department, commission, agency, or other instrumentality thereof.

(5) ~~(4)~~ The taxes ~~tax~~ imposed pursuant to this chapter relating to the provision of any utility services at the option of the person supplying the taxable services may be separately stated as Florida gross receipts taxes ~~tax~~ on the total amount of any bill, invoice, or other tangible evidence of the provision of such taxable services and may be added as a component part of the total charge. Whenever a provider of taxable services elects to separately state such taxes ~~tax~~ as a component of the charge for the provision of such taxable services, every person, including all governmental units, shall remit the taxes ~~tax~~ to the person who provides such taxable services as a part of the total bill, and the taxes are ~~tax is~~ a component part of the debt of the purchaser to the person who provides such taxable services until paid and, if unpaid, are ~~is~~ recoverable at law in the same manner as any other part of the charge for such taxable services. If a utility provider elects to separately state the additional rate imposed by subparagraph (1)(b)4. on any bill, invoice, or other tangible evidence of the provision of such taxable service, the additional tax shall not be included as part of the taxable base on which the gross receipts tax is calculated. For a utility, the decision to separately state any increase in the rate of tax imposed by this chapter which is effective after December 31, 1989, and the ability to recover the increased charge from the customer shall not be subject to regulatory approval.

(9) ~~(8)~~ Notwithstanding ~~the provisions of~~ subsection (5) ~~(4)~~ and s. 212.07(2), sums that were charged or billed as taxes under this section and chapter 212 and that were remitted to the state in full as taxes shall not be subject to refund by the state or by the utility or other person that remitted the sums, when the amount remitted was not in excess of the amount of tax imposed by chapter 212 and this section.

Section 4. Effective January 1, 2015, paragraph (e) of subsection (1) of section 212.05, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

212.05 Sales, storage, use tax.—It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that every person is exercising a taxable privilege who engages in the business of selling tangible personal property at retail in this state, including the business of making mail order sales, or who rents or furnishes any of the things or services taxable under this chapter, or who stores for use or consumption in this state any item or article of tangible personal property as defined herein and who leases or rents such property within the state.

(1) For the exercise of such privilege, a tax is levied on each taxable transaction or incident, which tax is due and payable as follows:

(e)1. At the rate of 6 percent on charges for:

a. Prepaid calling arrangements. The tax on charges for prepaid calling arrangements shall be collected at the time of sale and remitted by the selling dealer.

(I) "Prepaid calling arrangement" has the same meaning as provided in s. 202.11 ~~means the separately stated retail sale by advance payment of communications services that consist exclusively of telephone calls originated by using an access number, authorization code, or other means that may be manually, electronically, or otherwise entered and that are sold in predetermined units or dollars whose number declines with use in a known amount~~.

(II) If the sale or recharge of the prepaid calling arrangement does not take place at the dealer's place of business, it shall be deemed to have taken ~~take~~ place at the customer's shipping address or, if no item is shipped, at the customer's address or the location associated with the customer's mobile telephone number.

(III) The sale or recharge of a prepaid calling arrangement shall be treated as a sale of tangible personal property for purposes of this chapter, whether or not a tangible item evidencing such arrangement is furnished to the purchaser, and such sale within this state subjects the selling dealer to the jurisdiction of this state for purposes of this subsection.

(IV) No additional tax under this chapter or chapter 202 is due or payable if a purchaser of a prepaid calling arrangement, who has paid tax under this chapter on the sale or recharge of such arrangement, applies one or more units of the prepaid calling arrangement to obtain communications services as described in s. 202.11(9)(b)3., other services that are not communications services, or products.

b. The installation of telecommunication and telegraphic equipment.

c. Electrical power or energy, except that the tax rate for charges for electrical power or energy is 4 ~~7~~ percent.

2. The provisions of s. 212.17(3)~~,~~ regarding credit for tax paid on charges subsequently found to be worthless are~~, shall be~~ equally applicable to any tax paid under ~~the provisions of~~ this section on charges for prepaid calling arrangements, telecommunication or telegraph services, or electric power subsequently found to be uncollectible. The term ~~word~~ "charges" under ~~in~~ this paragraph does not include any excise or similar tax levied by the Federal Government, any political subdivision of this ~~the~~ state, or any municipality upon the purchase, sale, or recharge of prepaid calling arrangements or upon the purchase or sale of telecommunication, television system program, or telegraph service or electric power, which tax is collected by the seller from the purchaser.

Section 5. The Department of Revenue may delay the effective date of the tax rate changes in ss. 203.01 and 212.05, Florida Statutes, made by this act for up to 60 days for a taxpayer that is unable to comply despite good faith efforts or due to circumstances beyond the taxpayer's reasonable control. Grounds for approving such delay include that the taxpayer requires additional time to program computer systems to accommodate the tax changes or that complying with this requirement would cause the taxpayer an extraordinary financial hardship.

If any accounts so charged off for which a credit or refund has been obtained are subsequently, ~~thereafter~~ in whole or in part, paid to the dealer, the amount so paid shall be included in the first return filed after such collection and the tax paid accordingly.

(4) With respect to the payment of taxes on purchases made through a private-label credit card program:

(d) A dealer may use one of the following methods to determine the amount of the credit or refund:

1. An apportionment method to substantiate the amount of tax imposed under this chapter which is included in the bad debt to which the credit or refund applies. The method must use the dealer’s Florida and non-Florida sales, the dealer’s taxable and nontaxable sales, and the amount of tax the dealer remitted to this state; or

Section 14. Effective upon becoming law, section 288.127, Florida Statutes, is created to read:
288.127 Qualified Television Loan Fund (QTV Fund).—
(1) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section, the term:
(a) "Fund administrator" means a private sector organization under contract with the department to manage and administer the QTV Fund.

306866

(b) "Major broadcaster" means broadcasting organizations that include, but are not limited to, television broadcasting networks, cable television, direct broadcast satellite, telecommunications companies, and internet streaming or other digital media platforms.

(c) "Private investment capital" means capital from private, nongovernmental funding sources that will be coinvested with the QTV Fund in segregated accounts.

(d) "Qualified lending partner" means a financial institution, as defined in s. 655.005, selected by a fund administrator with demonstrated capability in providing financing to television production and specialized expertise in intellectual property, tax credit programs, customary broadcast license agreements, advertising inventories, and ancillary revenue sources, with a combined portfolio in film, television, and entertainment media of at least $500 million.

(e) "Qualified television content" means series, mini-series, or made-for-TV content produced by a qualified production company that has in place a distribution contract with a major broadcaster, under a customary broadcast license agreement. The term does not include a production that contains content that is obscene, as defined in s. 847.001.

(2) PURPOSE.—The purpose of the QTV Fund is to create a public-private partnership in the form of a revolving loan fund to administer a loan program for television production. The QTV Fund shall be privately managed under state oversight to incentivize the use of this state as a site for producing qualified television content and to develop and sustain the workforce and infrastructure for television content production.

(3) CREATION.—The Qualified Television Loan Fund is created within the department. The QTV Fund shall be a public fund that is privately managed by the fund administrator under contract entered into with the department. The department shall disburse the funds appropriated for this program to the fund administrator to invest in the QTV Fund during the existence of the program pursuant to this section and the contract entered into between the fund administrator and the department. State funds in the QTV Fund may be used only to enter into loan agreements and to pay any administrative costs or other authorized fees under this section.

(a) The QTV Fund shall be a revolving loan fund that shall invest and reinvest the principal and interest of the fund in accordance with s. 617.2104, in such a manner as to not subject the funds to state or federal taxes and to be consistent with the investment policy statement adopted by the fund administrator. As the production companies repay the principal and interest for the QTV Fund, the state funds shall be returned, less any QTV Fund expenses, to the account to be lent to subsequent borrowers.

(b) Funds from the QTV Fund shall be disbursed by the fund administrator through a lending vehicle to make short-term loans pursuant to this section.

(4) FUND ADMINISTRATOR.—

(a) The department shall contract with a fund administrator by September 1, 2014, and award the contract in accordance with the competitive bidding requirements in s. 287.057.

(b) The department shall select as fund administrator a private sector entity that demonstrates the ability to implement the program under this section and that meets the requirements set forth in this section. Preference shall be given to applicants that are headquartered in this state. Additional consideration may be given to applicants with experience in the management of economic development or job creation-related funds. The qualifications for the fund administrator must include, but are not limited to, the following:

1. A demonstrated track record of managing private sector equity or debt funds in the entertainment and media industries.

2. The ability to demonstrate through a partnership agreement that a qualified lending partner is in place, with the capability of providing leverage of a minimum of 2.5 times the capital amount of the QTV Fund, for financing the production cost of qualified television content in the form of senior debt.

(c) For overseeing and administering the QTV Fund, the fund administrator shall be reimbursed for the portion of costs the fund administrator incurrs in establishing and operating the Fund related to the state's investment, which shall be paid from state funds in the QTV Fund. Any additional private investment capital in the segregated accounts is responsible for its own management fees. The fund administrator shall be entitled to a reasonable profit, but such distribution may not be made from any principal funds from the original appropriation.

(d) The fund administrator shall provide services defined under this section for the duration of the QTV Fund term unless removed for cause. Cause shall be further defined under the contract with the fund administrator and must include, but is not limited to, the engagement in fraud or other criminal acts by board members, incapacity, unfitness, neglect of duty, official incompetence and irresponsibility, misfeasance, malfeasance, nonfeasance, or lack of performance.

(5) FUND ADMINISTRATOR POWERS AND DUTIES.—

(a) Authority to contract.—The fund administrator may enter into agreements with qualified lending partners for concurrent lending through the QTV Fund. A loan made by the qualified lending partner must be accounted for separately from the state funds or any other private investment capital. Such loan shall be made as senior debt. The fund administrator may raise private investment capital for mezzanine equity and other equity or raise junior capital for concurrent lending through the QTV Fund. However, loans from private investment capital may not be made at more favorable terms and conditions than the terms and conditions of the state funds in the QTV Fund. The state appropriation must be maintained in a separate account from any private investment capital and administered in a separate legal investment entity or entities. Private investment capital and loans shall be segregated from each other, and funds may not be commingled.

(b) General duties.—The fund administrator:

1. Shall prudently manage the funds in the QTV Fund as a revolving loan fund.

2. Shall contract with one or more qualified lending partners.

3. Shall provide improvement of the credit profile of a structured financial transaction for qualified production companies that produce qualified television content meeting the criteria in subsection (7).

306866

4. May raise additional private investment capital to be held in separate accounts, in addition to the leverage provided by the qualified lending partner.

5. Shall administer the QTV Fund in accordance with this part.

6. Shall agree to maintain the recipient's books and records relating to funds received from the department according to generally accepted accounting principles and in accordance with the requirements of s. 215.97(7) and to make those books and records available to the department for inspection upon reasonable notice. The books and records must be maintained with detailed records showing the use of proceeds from loans to fund qualified television content.

7. Shall maintain its registered office in this state throughout the duration of the contract.

(c) Financial reporting.—The fund administrator shall submit to the department by February 28 each year audited financial statements for the preceding tax year which are audited by an independent certified public accountant after the end of each year in which the fund administrator is under contract with the department. In addition to providing an independent opinion on the annual financial statements, such audit provides a basis to verify the segregation of state funds from those of any private investment capital.

(d) Program reporting.—The fund administrator shall submit an annual report to the department by February 28 after the end of each year in which the fund administrator is under contract with the department. The report must include information on the loans made in the preceding calendar year and must include, but need not be limited to, the following:

1. The name of the qualified television content.

2. The names of the counties in which the production occurred.

3. The number of jobs created and retained as a result of the production.

4. The loan amounts, including the amount of private investment capital and funds provided by a qualified lending partner.

5. The loan repayment status for each loan.

6. The number, and amounts, of any loans with payments past due.

7. The number, and amounts, of any loans in default.

8. A description of the assets securing the loans.

9. Other information and documentation required by the department.

(e) Plan of accountability.—The fund administrator shall submit an annual plan of accountability of economic development, including a report detailing the job creation resulting from the QTV Fund loans made during the current year and cumulatively since the inception of the program. The fund administrator shall also provide any additional information requested by the department pertaining to economic development and job creation in the state.

(f) Conflict-of-interest statement.—The fund administrator shall provide a conflict-of-interest statement from its governing board certifying that no board member, director, employee, agent, immediate family member thereof, or other person connected to or affiliated with the fund administrator is receiving or will receive any type of compensation or remuneration from a production company that has received or will receive funds from the loan program or from a qualified lending partner. The department may waive this requirement for good cause shown.

(6) LOAN STRUCTURE.—

(a) The QTV Fund may make loans to production companies to fund production costs or provide improvement of the credit profile of a structured financial transaction for qualified television content that meets the criteria requirements of subsection (7). To make a loan, the fund administrator shall take into consideration the types of eligible collateral, the credit worthiness of the project, the producer's track record, the possibility that the project will encourage, enhance, or create economic benefits, and the extent to which assistance would foster innovative public-private partnerships and attract private debt or equity investment.

(b) The QTV Fund loan package shall be secured by contractual and predictable sources of repayment such as domestic and international broadcaster license agreements and other ancillary revenues that are derived from media content rights. Unsecured loans may not be made.

(c) The loans shall be made on the basis of a second lien or primary security rights on the media assets listed in paragraph (b).

(d) The QTV Fund shall provide funding only in conjunction with senior loans provided by a qualified lending partner. Loans from the QTV Fund may be subordinated to senior debt from the qualified lending partner and may not exceed 30 percent of the total production funding cost of any particular project.

(e) The production company's repayment of any loan shall be in accordance with the broadcast license agreement and the delivery of qualified television content to the major broadcaster and shall be within 60 days after such delivery.

(f) Loans made by the QTV Fund may not exceed 36 months in duration, except for extenuating circumstances for which the fund administrator may grant an extension upon making written findings to the department specifying the conditions requiring the extension.

(g) The fund administrator or a board member, employee, or agent thereof, or an immediate family member of a board member, employee, or agent, may not have a financial interest in an entity that is awarded a loan under a loan program and may not benefit directly or indirectly from the making of such a loan. A loan may not be made to a person if it violates this paragraph. As used in this section, the term "immediate family" means a parent, child, or spouse, or any other relative by blood, marriage, or adoption, of a board member, employee, or agent of the loan administrator.

(h) With the exception of funds appropriated to the department for the loan program, the credit of the state may not be pledged. The state is not liable or obligated in any way for claims against the QTV Fund or against the fund administrator, the qualified lending partner, or the department.

(7) QUALIFIED TELEVISION CONTENT CRITERIA.—The fund administrator must consider at a minimum the following criteria for evaluating the qualifying television content:

(a) The content is intended for broadcast by a major broadcaster on a major network, cable, or streaming channel.

(b) The content is produced in this state, or a minimum of 80 percent of the production budget must be spent in this state. This requirement may be amended by the fund administrator upon notice to the department. Such notice must include a specific justification for the change and must be transmitted to the department in writing. The department has 10 business days to object to the change. If the department does not object to the change within 10 business days, the change is deemed acceptable by the department, and the fund administrator may grant the amendment to the requirement in this paragraph.

(c) If the content is a series, there is a programming order for at least 13 episodes. This requirement may be amended by the fund administrator upon notice to the department. Such notice must include a specific justification for the change and must be transmitted to the department in writing. The department has 10 business days to object to the change. If the department does not object to the change within 10 business days, the change is deemed acceptable by the department, and the fund administrator may grant the amendment to the requirement in this paragraph.

(d) The producer must have a contract in place with a major broadcaster to acquire content programming under a customary broadcast license agreement and the contract must cover at least 60 percent of the budget.

(e) The producer must retain a foreign sales agent and must be able to provide the fund administrator with the foreign sales agent’s official estimates of foreign and ancillary sales.

(f) The project must be bonded and secured by an industry-approved completion guarantor if the production cost per episode exceeds $1 million. This requirement may be waived if the loan applicant provides the fund administrator with evidence of adequate structure to protect the state's funds.

(8) AUDITOR GENERAL AUDIT.—The Auditor General is authorized to conduct operational audits, as defined in s. 11.45, of the QTV Fund and fund administrator. The scope of audit must include, but is not limited to, internal controls evaluations, internal audit functions, reporting and performance requirements for the use of the funds, and compliance with state and federal law. The fund administrator shall provide to the Auditor General any detail or supplemental data required.

(9) RULEMAKING AUTHORITY.—The department may adopt rules to administer this section.

(10) EXPIRATION.—This section expires December 31, 2024, at which point all funds remaining in the QTV Fund shall revert to the General Revenue Fund.

(11) EMERGENCY RULES.—

(a) The executive director of the department is authorized, and all conditions are deemed met, to adopt emergency rules pursuant to ss. 120.536(1) and 120.54(4) for the purpose of implementing this section.

(b) Notwithstanding any other law, the emergency rules adopted pursuant to paragraph (a) remain in effect for 6 months after adoption and may be renewed during the pendency of procedures to adopt permanent rules addressing the subject of the emergency rules.

(c) This subsection expires October 1, 2015.

Section 15. Effective upon becoming law, paragraph (b) of subsection (2) of section 288.0001, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

306866

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Subsection (9) of section 202.11, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

202.11 Definitions.—As used in this chapter, the term:

(9) "Prepaid calling arrangement" means: ~~the separately stated retail sale by advance payment of~~

(a) A right to use communications services, other than mobile communications services, for which a separately stated

price must be paid in advance, which is sold at retail in predetermined units that decline in number with use on a predetermined basis, and which ~~that~~ consist exclusively of telephone calls originated by using an access number, authorization code, or other means that may be manually, electronically, or otherwise entered; or ~~and that are sold in predetermined units or dollars of which the number declines with use in a known amount.~~

(b) A right to use mobile communications services that must be paid for in advance and is sold at retail in predetermined units that expire or decline in number on a predetermined basis if:

1. The purchaser's right to use mobile communications services terminates upon all purchased units expiring or being exhausted unless the purchaser pays for additional units;

2. The purchaser is not required to purchase additional units; and

3. Any right of the purchaser to use units to obtain communications services other than mobile communications services is limited to services that are provided to or through the same handset or other electronic device that is used by the purchaser to access mobile communications services.

Predetermined units described in this subsection may be quantified as amounts of usage, time, money, or a combination of these or other means of measurement.

Section 2. The amendments made by this act to s. 202.11, Florida Statutes, are intended to be remedial in nature and apply retroactively, but do not provide a basis for an assessment of any tax not paid or create a right to a refund or credit of any tax paid before the effective date of this act.

Section 3. Subsections (5) through (9) of section 203.01, Florida Statutes, are renumbered as subsections (6) through (10), respectively, paragraph (b) of subsection (1), paragraph (d) of subsection (3), and present subsections (4) and (8) are amended, and a new subsection (4) is added to that section, to read:

203.01 Tax on gross receipts for utility and communications services.—

(1)

(b)1. The rate applied to utility services shall be 2.5 percent.

2. The rate applied to communications services shall be 2.37 percent.

3. There shall be an additional rate of 0.15 percent applied to communication services subject to the tax levied pursuant to s. 202.12(1)(a), (c), and (d). The exemption provided in s. 202.125(1) applies to the tax levied pursuant to this subparagraph.

4. There shall be an additional rate of 3 percent applied to the gross receipts for electrical power or energy delivered to a retail consumer in this state. Notwithstanding s. 203.0111, any increase in the gross receipts tax provided by this subparagraph applies to charges for electrical power or energy on any bill dated on or after the date upon which the increase takes effect.

(3) The tax imposed by subsection (1) does not apply to:

(d) The sale or transportation ~~to, or use~~ of~~,~~ natural gas or manufactured gas to, or the use of natural gas or manufactured gas by, a person eligible for an exemption under s. 212.08(7)(ff)2. for use as an energy source or a raw material. Possession by a seller of natural or manufactured gas or by any person providing transportation or delivery of natural or manufactured gas of a written certification by the purchaser, certifying the purchaser's entitlement to the exclusion permitted by this paragraph, relieves the seller or person providing transportation or delivery from the responsibility of remitting tax on the nontaxable amounts, and the department shall look solely to the purchaser for recovery of such tax if the department determines that the purchaser was not entitled to the exclusion. The certification must include an acknowledgment by the purchaser that it will be liable for tax pursuant to paragraph (1)(f) if the requirements for exclusion are not met.

(4) The additional rate imposed by subparagraph (1)(b)4. does not apply to:

(a) The sale of electrical power or energy to a person eligible for an exemption under s. 212.08(7)(ff) for use in operating machinery and equipment at a fixed location in this relating to the provision of any utility services at the option of the person supplying the taxable services may be separately stated as Florida gross receipts taxes ~~tax~~ on the total amount of any bill, invoice, or other tangible evidence of the provision of such taxable services and may be added as a component part of the total charge. Whenever a provider of taxable services elects to separately state such taxes ~~tax~~ as a component of the charge for the provision of such taxable services, every person, including all governmental units, shall remit the taxes ~~tax~~ to the person who provides such taxable services as a part of the total bill, and the taxes are ~~tax is~~ a component part of the debt of the purchaser to the person who provides such taxable services until paid and, if unpaid, are ~~is~~ recoverable at law in the same manner as any other part of the charge for such taxable services. If a utility provider elects to separately state the additional rate imposed by subparagraph (1)(b)4. on any bill, invoice, or other tangible evidence of the provision of such taxable service, the additional tax shall not be included as part of the taxable base on which the gross receipts tax is calculated. For a utility, the decision to separately state any increase in the rate of tax imposed by this chapter which is effective after December 31, 1989, and the ability to recover the increased charge from the customer shall not be subject to regulatory approval.

(9)~~(8)~~ Notwithstanding ~~the provisions of~~ subsection (5)~~(4)~~ and s. 212.07(2), sums that were charged or billed as taxes under this section and chapter 212 and that were remitted to the state in full as taxes shall not be subject to refund by the state or by the utility or other person that remitted the sums, when the amount remitted was not in excess of the amount of tax imposed by chapter 212 and this section.

Section 4. Paragraph (e) of subsection (1) of section 212.05, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

212.05 Sales, storage, use tax.—It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that every person is exercising a taxable privilege who engages in the business of selling tangible personal property at retail in this state, including the business of making mail order sales, or who rents or furnishes any of the things or services taxable under this chapter, or who stores for use or consumption in this state any item or article of tangible personal property as defined herein and who leases or rents such property within the state.

(1) For the exercise of such privilege, a tax is levied on each taxable transaction or incident, which tax is due and payable as follows:

(e)1. At the rate of 6 percent on charges for:

a. Prepaid calling arrangements. The tax on charges for prepaid calling arrangements shall be collected at the time of sale and remitted by the selling dealer.

(I) "Prepaid calling arrangement" has the same meaning as provided in s. 202.11 ~~means the separately stated retail sale by advance payment of communications services that consist~~

~~exclusively of telephone calls originated by using an access number, authorization code, or other means that may be manually, electronically, or otherwise entered and that are sold in predetermined units or dollars whose number declines with use in a known amount~~.

(II) If the sale or recharge of the prepaid calling arrangement does not take place at the dealer's place of business, it shall be deemed to have taken ~~take~~ place at the customer's shipping address or, if no item is shipped, at the customer's address or the location associated with the customer's mobile telephone number.

(III) The sale or recharge of a prepaid calling arrangement shall be treated as a sale of tangible personal property for purposes of this chapter, whether or not a tangible item evidencing such arrangement is furnished to the purchaser, and such sale within this state subjects the selling dealer to the jurisdiction of this state for purposes of this subsection.

(IV) No additional tax under this chapter or chapter 202 is due or payable if a purchaser of a prepaid calling arrangement, who has paid tax under this chapter on the sale or recharge of such arrangement, applies one or more units of the prepaid calling arrangement to obtain communications services as described in s. 202.11(9)(b)3., other services that are not communications services, or products.

b. The installation of telecommunication and telegraphic equipment.

c. Electrical power or energy, except that the tax rate for charges for electrical power or energy is 4 ~~7~~ percent.

2. The provisions of s. 212.17(3)~~,~~ regarding credit for tax paid on charges subsequently found to be worthless are~~,~~ ~~shall be~~ equally applicable to any tax paid under ~~the provisions of~~ this section on charges for prepaid calling arrangements, telecommunication or telegraph services, or electric power subsequently found to be uncollectible. The term ~~word~~ "charges" under ~~in~~ this paragraph does not include any excise or similar tax levied by the Federal Government, any political subdivision of this ~~the~~ state, or any municipality upon the purchase, sale, or recharge of prepaid calling arrangements or upon the purchase or sale of telecommunication, television system program, or telegraph service or electric power, which tax is collected by the seller from the purchaser.

Section 5. The amendments made by this act to s. 212.05(1)(e)1.a., Florida Statutes, are intended to be remedial in nature and apply retroactively, but do not provide a basis for an assessment of any tax not paid or create a right to a refund or credit of any tax paid before the effective date of this act.

Section 6. Paragraph (p) of subsection (5) and paragraph (j) of subsection (7) of section 212.08, Florida Statutes, are amended, paragraph (kkk) of subsection (7), as created by chapter 2013-39, Laws of Florida, is amended, and paragraphs (lll) and (mmm) are added to subsection (7) of that section, to read:

212.08 Sales, rental, use, consumption, distribution, and storage tax; specified exemptions.—The sale at retail, the rental, the use, the consumption, the distribution, and the storage to be used or consumed in this state of the following are hereby specifically exempt from the tax imposed by this chapter.

(5) EXEMPTIONS; ACCOUNT OF USE.—

(p) Community contribution tax credit for donations.—

1. Authorization.—Persons who are registered with the department under s. 212.18 to collect or remit sales or use tax and who make donations to eligible sponsors are eligible for tax credits against their state sales and use tax liabilities as provided in this paragraph:

a. The credit shall be computed as 50 percent of the person's approved annual community contribution.

b. The credit shall be granted as a refund against state sales and use taxes reported on returns and remitted in the 12 months preceding the date of application to the department for the credit as required in sub-subparagraph 3.c. If the annual credit is not fully used through such refund because of insufficient tax payments during the applicable 12-month period, the unused amount may be included in an application for a refund made pursuant to sub-subparagraph 3.c. in subsequent years against the total tax payments made for such year. Carryover credits may be applied for a 3-year period without regard to any time limitation that would otherwise apply under s. 215.26.

c. A person may not receive more than $200,000 in annual tax credits for all approved community contributions made in any one year.

d. All proposals for the granting of the tax credit require the prior approval of the Department of Economic Opportunity.

e. The total amount of tax credits which may be granted for all programs approved under this paragraph, s. 220.183, and s. 624.5105 is $10.5 million annually for projects that provide homeownership opportunities for low-income or very-low-income households as defined in s. 420.9071(19) and (28) and $3.5 million annually for all other projects.

f. A person who is eligible to receive the credit provided for in this paragraph, s. 220.183, or s. 624.5105 may receive the credit only under the one section of the person's choice.

2. Eligibility requirements.—

a. A community contribution by a person must be in the following form:

(I) Cash or other liquid assets;

(II) Real property;

(III) Goods or inventory; or

(IV) Other physical resources as identified by the Department of Economic Opportunity.

b. All community contributions must be reserved exclusively for use in a project. As used in this subsubparagraph, the term "project" means any activity undertaken by an eligible sponsor which is designed to construct, improve, or substantially rehabilitate housing that is affordable to low-income or very-low-income households as defined in s. 420.9071(19) and (28); designed to provide commercial, industrial, or public resources and facilities; or designed to improve entrepreneurial and job-development opportunities for low-income persons. A project may be the investment necessary to increase access to high-speed broadband capability in rural communities with enterprise zones, including projects that result in improvements to communications assets that are owned by a business. A project may include the provision of museum educational programs and materials that are directly related to any project approved between January 1, 1996, and December 31, 1999, and located in an enterprise zone designated pursuant to s. 290.0065. This paragraph does not preclude projects that propose to construct or rehabilitate housing for low-income or very-low-income households on scattered sites. With respect to housing, contributions may be used to pay the following eligible low-income and very-low-income housing-related activities:

(I) Project development impact and management fees for low-income or very-low-income housing projects;

(II) Down payment and closing costs for eligible persons, as defined in s. 420.9071(19) and (28);

Contributions for lien removal must be received from a nonrelated third party.

c. The project must be undertaken by an "eligible sponsor," which includes:

(I) A community action program;

(II) A nonprofit community-based development organization whose mission is the provision of housing for low-income or very-low-income households or increasing entrepreneurial and job-development opportunities for low-income persons;

(XI) Units of local government;

(XII) Units of state government; or

(XIII) Any other agency that the Department of Economic Opportunity designates by rule.

In no event may a contributing person have a financial interest in the eligible sponsor.

d. Such notice must include a specific justification for the change and must be transmitted to the department in writing. The department has 10 business days to object to the change. If the department does not object to the change within 10 business days, the change is deemed acceptable by the department, and the fund administrator may grant the amendment to the requirement in this paragraph.
