Session Week 7

April 14-18, 2025

THE SENATOR'S CORNER

It's been a busy week at the Capitol, with several sessions held on the floor. Amid the intensity, there were a few lighter moments, including a special visit from the Florida Gators men's basketball national championship trophy. As a Gator fan, it was great to celebrate the win with Coach Todd Golden.

At the same time, the week has been marked by tragedy. This past Thursday, a shooting at Florida State University left multiple people injured and claimed two lives. The FSU and Tallahassee community are still reeling from this heinous act. Please join me in praying for this community that has become a home away from home.

NEXT WEEK

Looking ahead, Week 8 marks the final week for committee meetings, and we anticipate the beginning of budget conferencing as both chambers work toward finalizing the state's spending plan. With the end of session approaching, the pace will undoubtedly pick up as key legislation moves forward and negotiations intensify. My team and I are expecting lots of late nights in this coming week as we continue to move towards the finish line.
