13. Program Performance

a. What specific purpose or goal will be achieved by the funds requested?

The Phoenix Human Trafficking Recovery Program aims to stabilize survivors, prevent chronic homelessness, and reduce re-victimization. CH will meet the existing need by providing victim-centered crisis stabilization services and transitional housing assistance to help survivors locate & secure housing and obtain economic independence. The program will also assist victims to integrate into their community by coordinating other community services to best meet the victim's needs.

b. What activities and services will be provided to meet the intended purpose of these funds?

Residential Services: A Three-Phase Approach Phase 1: Crisis Stabilization services include crisis intervention, housing navigation, nutrition, advocacy, transportation, and counseling. Staff assist with medical appointments, court proceedings, and accessing resources like financial aid, housing, and employment. The average stay is 45 days, (max of 180 days) tailored to individual needs. Phase 2: Short-Term Assistance- Survivors transition to scattered-site housing, leasing market-rate apartments in their own names. CH provides rental subsidies paid directly to landlords and continues in-home support, including skill-building for safety planning, budgeting, and housekeeping. This model enables survivors to remain in the unit after financial assistance ends, avoiding relocation. Phase 3: Follow-Up Support- For up to 3 months, clients can reconnect with advocates for resources, advocacy, and stabilization planning to maintain housing stability.

c. What direct services will be provided to citizens by the appropriation project?

Support Services:
 Advocacy: Victim Advocates help survivors secure financial aid, victim's compensation, housing, employment, healthcare, and other essential resources while advocating for their rights and needs.
 Crisis Intervention: Staff provide in-person or phone support to develop safety plans and next steps during crises.
 Supportive Counseling: Confidential, non-judgmental counseling empowers survivors to make informed decisions.
 Case Management: Advocates use a strength-based approach to set and achieve goals, promote self-reliance, and reduce dependence on governmental programs, meeting clients at least twice monthly to evaluate progress and adjust plans.
 Transportation: Provided for medical, legal, employment, and other essential appointments when no other options are available.
 Information and Referrals: Advocates connect survivors to resources for unmet needs like childcare, education, housing, and employment to support self-sufficiency.

d. Who is the target population served by this project? How many individuals are expected to be served?

The Phoenix Program supports trafficking victims aged 18 and older, referred by the Miami-Dade State Attorney's Office, other SAOs, the U.S. Department of Homeland Security, and law enforcement. These individuals, often homeless or at risk of homelessness, are provided a safe space to access care, treatment, and services while preparing to serve as victim-witnesses in trials against traffickers. Serving approximately 30 individuals annually, the program operates as a statewide resource, accepting referrals from across Florida to maximize its impact and support survivors' recovery and stability.

e. What is the expected benefit or outcome of this project? What is the methodology by which this outcome will be measured?

Expected Outcomes: Safe, stable housing and independence. Improved self-esteem and reduced vulnerability to exploitation. Increased access to financial, employment, and educational resources. Long-term self-sufficiency through skill-building and resource connections. Measuring Outcomes: Housing Stability: Track the number of participants securing stable housing at program exit. Employment and Income: Measure the percentage of participants gaining employment, completing training, or securing benefits. Crisis Response: Document crisis interventions and the resolution of immediate safety concerns. Service Engagement: Monitor participation in counseling, skill-building, and case management sessions. Satisfaction Surveys: Collect feedback to assess the effectiveness of advocacy, support services, and overall program impact. Data will be collected through case management records, follow-up evaluations, and participant self-reports to ensure continuous program improvement and goal alignment.

f. What are the suggested penalties that the contracting agency may consider in addition to its standard penalties for failing to meet deliverables or performance measures provided for in the contract?

As outlined in the contract, corrective action plans may be required to address noncompliance, nonperformance, or unacceptable performance. If corrective actions are not implemented or progress is deemed unacceptable, penalties may be imposed. Penalty increments will be determined based on the severity of the noncompliance that necessitated the corrective action plan, unless the Department identifies extenuating circumstances that warrant an exception. This ensures accountability while allowing flexibility for unforeseen challenges.
