Under the provisions of s. 119.07(7)(a) and (b), F.S., 1996 Supp., the records of the Department of Children and Family Services pertaining to the investigation of abuse, neglect, abandonment, or exploitation of a child, a disabled adult, or an elderly person are confidential. Upon receipt of a petition, the court may open the records for public inspection if good cause exists. The court, in making its determination, must balance public interest against the best interest of the affected child or the child's siblings; the disabled adult; or the elderly person; as well as the privacy rights of other persons identified in the reports.

Section 119.07(7)(b)1. and 2., F.S., 1996 Supp., states that in cases in which the death of a child, a disabled adult, or an elderly person occurs from abuse, neglect, abandonment, or exploitation, a presumption exists that the best interests of the child, disabled adult, or elderly person are served by full public disclosure of the circumstances of the investigation of the death and any other investigation concerning the child, disabled adult, or elderly person.

Section 415.107(1)(b), and s. 415.51(1)(b), F.S., state that, except for the information that identifies individuals, all records involving the death of a child, a disabled adult, or an elderly person that is determined to be the result of abuse, abandonment, or neglect are released to the public within 10 days after the completion of the investigation.

VI. AMENDMENTS OR COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE CHANGES:

An amendment was adopted in Committee on 4/17/97 leaving the records involving the death of a child, a disabled adult, or an elderly person as the result of abuse, neglect, abandonment, or exploitation, open to the public. The amendment remove provisions from the original bill that allowed any person who opposes the release of the investigative records to petition the court to keep the records closed and provisions allowing the court to order that records remain confidential when a compelling interest was demonstrated for protecting the records.
