III. SUBSTANTIVE RESEARCH:

A. PRESENT SITUATION:

Section 212.031(1)(a), Florida Statutes, provides that it is the legislative intent that every person is exercising a taxable privilege who engages in the business of renting, leasing, letting, or granting a license for the use of any real property unless the property is specifically exempted from this provision.

Section 212.031(1)(c), Florida Statute, provides that for the exercise of the privilege, a tax is levied in the amount of 6 percent of and on the total rent or license fee charged for the real property by the person charging or collecting the rental or license fee.

The total rent or license fee charged for the real property includes payments for the granting of a privilege to use or occupy real property for any purpose and includes base rent, percentage rents, or similar charges. The charges are to be included in the total rent or license fee subject to tax under this section.

Section 212.031(2)(a), Florida Statutes, provides that the tenant or person actually occupying, using, or entitled to the use of the property from which the rental or license fee is subject to taxation must pay the tax to his or her immediate landlord or other person granting the right to occupy or use the real property.

Presently, there is no exemption for property used as a travel center/truck stop facility from the state sales tax on the rental or lease of, or grant of a license to use, real property.
