IV. COMMENTS:

The bill eliminates the West Parkland Water Management District which has not functioned, performed any duties, or been responsible for any water management activities for over ten years. It appears as though this District never performed any of its duties. The District was created in order to serve an area titled "The Ranches" in the City of Parkland. Although the District was created, it was never organized because there was no need for it. A neighbor allowed residents in the Ranches to drain onto his property.

The bill abolishes an antiquated District and can be abolished without loss of any public service. Water management practices in the city are covered by a number of special districts and by the City of Parkland through special assessments.
