I. SUMMARY:

The bill adds siblings to the individuals who may have continuing contact pending adoption with a child whose parents' rights have been terminated. Communication as well as contact is provided for in the bill and that communication or contact may include, but is not limited to, visits, letters and cards, or telephone calls.

The bill provides statutory authority for continuing communication or contact after an adoption is final. Communication or contact may include, but is not limited to, visits, letters, and cards, or telephone calls. Post-adoption contact may occur by court order in adoptions of foster children to allow post-adoption communication or contact among separated siblings who are not included in the adoption, if such communication or contact is found to be in the best interests of the children.

The bill also provides criteria to be considered by the court in determining the best interests of the child and for review of the appropriateness of the ongoing communication or contact if necessary. The continuing validity of the adoption is not contingent upon the post-adoption communication or contact nor shall the ability of the adoptive parents and child to relocate within or outside the State of Florida be impaired by the communication or contact.

The bill is predicted to have little or no financial impact.

II. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS:

A. PRESENT SITUATION:

Currently, s. 39.469(5), F.S. provides that if a court terminates parental rights, it may order that the parents or relatives of the parent whose rights are being terminated be allowed to maintain some contact with the child pending adoption if the best interests of the child are served by the continued contact. If the child is placed for adoption, the nature and frequency of the contact must be reviewed by the court at the time the child is adopted. The statutes do not further address continued contact between the adoptee and parents or relatives of parents whose parental rights are terminated after the adoption is final.

Chapter 63, Florida Statutes, contains no provision for continuing communication or contact between the child to be adopted and parents, siblings, other relatives or nonrelatives after the finalization of an adoption. Section 63.172(1)(b), F.S., provides that a "judgment of adoption terminates all legal relationships between the adopted person and the adopted person's relatives, including the birth parents ... so that the adopted person is a stranger to his or her former relatives for all purposes"

Continued contact with siblings is not addressed except in legislative intent in s. 39.45, F.S., which provides that, "When two or more children in foster care are siblings, every reasonable attempt shall be made to place them in the same foster home; in the event of permanent placement of the siblings, to place them in the same adoptive home; and, if the siblings are separated, to keep them in contact with each other".

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

The bill establishes statutory authority for continuing communication and contact after the finalization of an adoption by court order in adoptions of foster children. The child who is subject to adoption will be allowed to request continuing contact or communication among separated siblings when such contact is in the best interests of the children. In determining the best interests of the children the court shall consider:

- i) any previous orders of the court under s. 39.469(5), F.S.
- ii) recommendations of the department, foster parents if other than the adoptive parents, and the guardian ad litem.
- iii) statements of the prospective adoptive parents.
- iv) any other relevant or material information.

In this type of agreement the bill provides for the following:

- v) the court order shall state the nature and frequency for the communication or contact.
- vi) this order shall be made a part of the final adoption order.
- vii) the continuing validity of the adoption shall not be contingent upon ongoing communication or contact.

- viii)the ability of the adoptive parents and child to change residence within or outside the state shall not be impaired by the continuing contact agreement.
- ix)the adoptive parent may petition for review at any time if the adoptive parent believes that the best interests of the adopted child are being compromised.
- x)during the review process, the court may order mediation for the parties.

D. SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS:

Section 1. Amends s. 39.469(5), F.S., to include siblings of a child whose parent's rights have been terminated as persons the court may allow to have continuing communication or contact with the child during the period of time between the termination of parental rights and the adoptive placement. The section also specifies that communication or contact may include but is not limited to, visits, letters and cards, and telephone calls.

Section 2. Amends s. 63.022(2), F.S., to provide legislative intent for continuing communication or contact after an adoption is final by court order in adoptions of foster children to allow post-adoption communication or contact among separated siblings who are not included in the adoption, if such communication or contact is found to be in the best interests of the children.

Section 3. Creates s.63.0427, F.S., to give a foster child who is the subject of an adoption petition the right to request the court to order continuing communication or contact with the child's siblings who are not included in the adoption. The decision of the court shall be based on the best interests of the child and the court shall consider the following in making that determination:

- (1)any previous orders of the court under s. 39.469(5), F.S.
- (2)recommendations of the department, foster parents if other than the adoptive parents, and the guardian ad litem.
- (3)statements of the prospective adoptive parents.
- (4)any other relevant or material information.

Any order for continuing contact shall specify the nature and frequency of the contact, and shall be made a part of the final adoption order. Such an order shall not affect the continuing validity of the adoption nor impair the ability of the adoptive parents and child to change residence within or outside Florida.

The section also gives the adoptive parent the right to request a court review if the adoptive parent believes that the continuing contact or communication is compromising the best interests of the child. The court may amend the contact order, the department shall not be required to be a party to the review and the parties may be ordered to mediation.

Section 4. Provides for an effective date.
