BILL ANALYSIS & ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT

BILL #: HB 73

RELATING TO: Admissions to Collegiate Tournament Games and Baseball All-Star Games

SPONSOR(S): Representative Bradley

STATUTE(S) AFFECTED: Section 212.04, Florida Statutes

COMPANION BILL(S): SB 118 (S)

ORIGINATING COMMITTEE(S)/COMMITTEE(S) OF REFERENCE:

- (1) TOURISM
- (2) FINANCE AND TAXATION
- (3)
- (4)
- (5)

I. SUMMARY:

This bill provides an exemption from sales tax on admissions to any semifinal or championship game of a national collegiate tournament and on admissions to a Major League Baseball all-star game.

The bill is estimated to reduce General Revenue Fund receipts by ($0.2) million in FY 1998-99, and local government receipts by an insignificant negative amount in the same fiscal year. The bill is estimated to have an insignificant negative impact on Solid Waste Management Trust Fund receipts, also in FY 1998-99. The Revenue Estimating Conference has not provided an estimate for the 2000 Baseball All-Star Game or the 2000 Women's Final Four Basketball Tournament. However, in 1996, the estimated General Revenue loss due to the tax exemption for FY 1998-99 was ($0.25) million. Projected negative impacts on local government receipts and the Solid Waste Management Trust Fund were insignificant.

The Florida Sports Foundation estimates a positive fiscal impact to the local economies holding these sporting events of approximately $100 million in direct revenues and $40 million in indirect revenues for the 1999 NCAA Men's Final Four Basketball Tournament, and $80 million in direct revenues and $20 million in indirect revenues for the 2000 Major League Baseball all-star game.

II. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS:

A. PRESENT SITUATION:

Section 212.04(1), F.S., provides for a tax levy of 6 percent on the sales price of admissions. Section 212.04(2)(a), F.S., provides exemptions to this tax levy for a variety of athletic events sponsored by certain schools and state facilities. In addition, the statute grants a tax exemption on admissions to the National Football League championship game (Super Bowl). Admissions to athletic events sponsored by universities within the State University System are taxed, with the proceeds on the tax retained and used by each institution to support women's athletics.

Generally, tournament organizers set the price of admission and print admission tickets. The price printed on the tickets is the actual amount paid by the attendees. Consequently, any sales tax due on such ticket sales is borne by either the tournament organizer or the host organization or facility.

The Tampa Bay area has been selected as the site for the 1999 NCAA Men's Final Four Basketball Tournament. This event features two national semifinal games and the national championship game, all of which will be played at the Thunderdome in St. Petersburg. The Florida Sports Foundation estimates that, unless a Florida collegiate team makes it to the Final Four, most of the 70,000 attendees will be out-of-state visitors who will spend 4 days and approximately $140 million in Florida. The city of Orlando is currently bidding to host the Women's Final Four Basketball Tournament in 2000.

The Major League Baseball all-star game will be played in Pro Player Stadium (formerly Joe Robbie Stadium) in 2000. This event will last 4 days and have approximately 45,000 attendees. The Florida Sports Foundation estimates that most of the attendees will be visitors from outside of Florida and that the event will bring about $100 million to the State.

Tournament or all-star game organizers or hosts will benefit by the amount of sales tax saved on the tickets sold.

In the bid to secure the 2000 Women's Final Four basketball games for Florida, the game organizers could better compete with those in states where there is no sales tax on admissions.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

The Revenue Estimating Conference has not provided an estimate for the 2000 Baseball All-Star Game or the 2000 Women's Final Four Basketball Tournament. However, in 1996, the estimated General Revenue loss due to the tax exemption for FY 1998-99 was ($0.25) million. IV. CONSEQUENCES OF ARTICLE VII, SECTION 18 OF THE FLORIDA CONSTITUTION:

A. APPLICABILITY OF THE MANDATES PROVISION:

This bill does not require counties or municipalities to expend funds.

B. REDUCTION OF REVENUE RAISING AUTHORITY:

Although the bill will reduce the authority of municipalities and counties to raise revenues, the impact is expected to be insignificant and, therefore, the bill is exempt from the provisions of Article VII, Section 18(b), Florida Constitution.

C. REDUCTION OF STATE TAX SHARED WITH COUNTIES AND MUNICIPALITIES:

While the bill will reduce the amount of the Local Government Half Cent Sales Tax shared with municipalities and counties, it does not reduce the percentage of a state tax shared with municipalities and counties. Therefore, Article VII, Section 18(b), Florida Constitution does not apply.
