I. SUMMARY:

This bill exempts certain positions from the City of Jacksonville's civil service system.

According to the Economic Impact Statement, this bill has no fiscal impact.

House Rule 92(a), provides that "if a committee determines that a local bill may be enacted into law under the authority of a local governing body, that committee shall not report the bill to the Clerk." The purposes of this local bill could be accomplished by authority of the Charter for the City of Jacksonville which provides for local amendment of the Charter without an act of the Legislature. The Charter also provides that it may be amended only by ordinance or by petition signed by qualified Duval County voters followed by public referendum; however, any change in the Charter made by ordinance that affects any rights of municipal employees cannot become effective without approval by referendum.

II. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS:

A. PRESENT SITUATION:

The 1992 Legislature enacted chapter 92-341, Laws of Florida, which readopted the entire Charter of the City of Jacksonville, as amended locally and by special acts. The Charter has been amended subsequently in 1993, 1994, 1995 and 1996.

The Charter contains the following directions to the Jacksonville City Council:

The City Council of the City of Jacksonville is directed to advise the Legislature of any home rule or referendum amendments or revisions to the Charter of the City of Jacksonville which are made and become effective subsequent to the effective date of this act. Such advice shall be in the form of a reviser's bill for such further legislative revision of the Legislature after such local charter amendments or revisions have occurred.

A policy adopted by the Florida House of Representatives requires certification from the local legislative delegation that the purposes of the bill cannot be accomplished at the local level. This bill contains the requisite certification, but the Charter for the City of Jacksonville provides for local amendment of the Charter without an act of the Legislature. The Charter also provides that it may be amended only by ordinance or by petition signed by qualified Duval County voters followed by public referendum; however, any change in the Charter made by ordinance that affects any rights of municipal employees cannot become effective without approval by referendum.
