I. SUMMARY:

The Florida Health Services Corps was established by the Legislature in 1992 to encourage qualified medical professionals to practice in under served locations where there are shortages of health care personnel. In exchange for service in a public health care program or in a medically under served area, the program offers scholarships and loan repayment assistance to students training to be medical doctors, osteopaths, chiropractors, podiatrists, dentists, physician assistants or nurses.

If enacted into law, this bill would add psychologists to the list of professions who are eligible to participate in the Florida Health Services Corps.

This legislation has no impact on state or local governments since the Florida Health Services Corps is currently unfunded.

II. SUBSTANTIVE RESEARCH:

A. PRESENT SITUATION:

Even though Florida has a surplus of most types of physicians and other health care providers, these health professionals congregate their practices in urban and suburban middle to upper class areas. Thus, many inner city and rural areas experience a shortage of health care practitioners.

In an effort to make health care providers more readily available in these medically under served areas, in 1992 the Legislature enacted s. 381.0302, F.S., the Florida Health Services Corps. This program offers scholarships to allopathic, osteopathic, chiropractic, podiatric, dental, physician assistant, and nursing students, and loan repayment assistance and travel and relocation expenses to allopathic and osteopathic residents and physicians, chiropractors, podiatrists, nurse practitioners, dentists, and physician assistants, in return for service in a public health care program or in a medically under served area. In addition, the program offers membership on a voluntary basis to physicians and other health care personnel who provide uncompensated care.

Corps members are supervised by the State Health Officer, or his or her physician designee, for the purpose of practice guidelines, continuing education, and other matters pertaining to professional conduct.

A student who receives a Florida Health Services Corps scholarship must accept an assignment in a public health care program or work in a specific community located in a medically under served area upon completion of primary care training. The department determines all assignments. If a practitioner is assigned to a medically under served area, the practitioner must treat Medicaid patients and other patients with low incomes.

In selecting students to participate in the scholarship program, the department gives priority to students who indicate a desire to practice a primary care specialty in a medically under served area after their obligation is completed and who indicate an intent to practice medical specialties for which the department has a need.

Scholarship assistance consists of reimbursement for tuition and other educational costs such as books, supplies, equipment, transportation, and monthly living expense stipends. The department is required to pay the same amount for living expense stipends as is paid by the National Health Services Corps. Each monthly living expense is for a 12-month period beginning with the first month of each school year in which the student is a participant. The department may reimburse a participant for books, supplies, and equipment based on average costs incurred by participants for these items. The department has authority to prescribe, by rule, eligible expenses for reimbursement and allowable amounts.

For an allopathic or osteopathic medical student, enrollment in the corps may begin in the second year of medical school or in any year thereafter. For a nursing student or other student, enrollment may occur in any year.

For a student who receives scholarship assistance, participation in the corps after completion of training is 1 year for each school year of scholarship assistance, up to a maximum of 3 years. The period of obligated service begins when the participant is assigned by the department to a public health program or to a medically under served area.

The department may provide loan repayment assistance and travel and relocation reimbursement to allopathic and osteopathic medical residents with primary care specialties during their last 2 years of residency training or upon completion of residency training, and to physician assistants and nurse practitioners with primary care specialties, in return for an agreement to serve a minimum of 2 years in the Florida Health Services Corps. During the period of service, the maximum amount of annual financial payments may not be greater than the annual total of loan repayment assistance and tax subsidies authorized by the National Health Services Corps loan repayment program.

The financial penalty for noncompliance with participation requirements for persons who have received financial payments under the program is determined in the same manner as in the National Health Services Corps scholarship program. In addition, noncompliance with participation requirements will also result in ineligibility for professional licensure or renewal of licensure under chapter 458, chapter 459, chapter 460, chapter 464, chapter 465, or chapter 466, F.S. For a participant who is unable to participate for reasons of disability, the penalty is the actual amount of financial assistance provided to the participant. Financial penalties are deposited in the Florida Health Services Corps Trust Fund and used to provide additional scholarship and financial assistance.

Membership in the corps may be extended to any licensed physician or other health care practitioner who provides uncompensated care to medically indigent persons referred by the department. Participation in the corps is voluntary and subject to the supervision of the department for the purpose of practice guidelines, continuing education, and other matters pertaining to professional conduct.

Corps members are required to enroll in Medicaid and accept all patients referred by the department pursuant to an agreement with the department. A Florida Health Services Corps member is an agent of the state under s. 768.28(9), F.S., while providing uncompensated services to medically indigent persons who are referred by the department.

Currently, no funds are available for the Florida Health Services Corps and the program is not functional.
