455.5641 Telehealth; findings and intent; licensure.--1 2 (1) The Legislature finds that there is a great and recognizable potential for harm if persons without the 3 4 appropriate level of education, training, experience, 5 supervision, and competence are allowed to provide health care 6 services to the people of this state. The potential for harm 7 could arise through substandard care or fraud, or both. The 8 Legislature further finds that there is a compelling state 9 interest in protecting the health, safety, and welfare of the public from incompetent, impaired, or unscrupulous 10 practitioners and that no less restrictive means are available 11 12 to effectively protect the public than through licensure in 13 this state. Therefore, it is the intent of the Legislature that the use of untested, ineffective, and potentially harmful 14 health care services be prohibited and that the delivery of 15 16 all health care services to the people of this state be regulated through the licensure of health care practitioners. 17 (2) The Legislature finds that the methods for 18 19 delivering health care services to the people of this state 20 are rapidly changing due to advances in technology and telecommunications. However, the Legislature finds that the 21 22 compelling state interest in protecting the public health, safety, and welfare exists regardless of the method of 23 24 communication or the method of delivery of services. Therefore, it is the intent of the Legislature that all health 25 26 care practitioners providing health care services to the 27 people of this state should be regulated in a similar manner 28 regardless of the method of communication or the method of 29 delivery of services. 30 (3) Persons who wish to provide health care services to patients located in this state must apply to the 31 2

appropriate regulatory board, or the department when there is 1 2 no board, for a Florida telehealth license and subsequently for renewal of such license. The requirements for an initial 3 telehealth license and subsequent renewal of such license 4 5 shall be identical to the requirements for full licensure as 6 set forth in the appropriate practice act in this state for 7 the applicable profession, including requirements such as 8 profiling, credentialing, informed consent, and financial 9 responsibility and malpractice insurance. Telehealth licensees must comply with all Florida laws and rules regulating the 10 11 practice of that profession. 12 (4) All telehealth communications, including, but not 13 limited to, Internet web sites, advertisements, e-mail, and 14 other offers to provide health care services to the people of this state, must clearly identify the practitioner's Florida 15 16 license number and must include a disclaimer which clearly 17 states that only Florida-licensed health care practitioners may provide health care services directly to persons located 18 19 in this state. The disclaimer must also include the 20 department's mailing and Internet addresses. It is the 21 responsibility of the health care practitioner to ensure the 22 confidentiality of electronic medical records as required by the laws of this state. 23 24 (5) The provision of telehealth services to patients 25 in this state without holding an active Florida license to 26 practice that profession may be prosecuted as unlicensed 27 activity in accordance with this chapter. In addition, any act 28 performed through telehealth communication that would 29 constitute a criminal violation if performed physically in this state may be prosecuted under Florida law as if the crime 30 were physically carried out in this state. 31

(6) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the 1 2 contrary, persons holding a valid, active license to practice 3 in another jurisdiction may provide consultative services to a Florida licensee without being licensed in this state so long 4 5 as the out-of-state practitioner does not exercise primary 6 authority for the care or diagnosis of the Florida patient. 7 (7) Only practitioners licensed in this state or 8 otherwise authorized to practice in this state may order, from 9 a person located outside this state, electronic communications diagnostic-imaging or treatment services for a person located 10 11 in this state.
