I. SUMMARY:

This bill clarifies the independent special districts' codification provisions in chapters 189 and 191, F.S., by providing that any codification or restatement of an independent special district's existing statutory language shall not be construed as a grant of additional authority. In addition, the codification shall not be construed as superseding the authority of any governmental entity. However, the bill provides that specific exceptions to law which are merely being recodified continue to apply.

B. PRESENT SITUATION:

Codification is the process of bringing up-to-date a special act. Special acts are not codified and, after the Legislature passes the initial enabling act, special acts continuously amend or alter previously enacted special acts. To ascertain the current status of any special act, it is necessary to research all amendments or changes made to the act since its inception or original passage by the Legislature. Codification of special district charters is important because it allows readers to go to one special act to determine the current charter of a district, instead of two, ten, twenty, or sometimes more special acts.

Codification of special districts' charters was authorized by the 1997 Legislature when it amended chapter 189, Florida Statutes. The 1997 Legislature amended chapter 189, Florida Statutes, to provide for codification of all special districts' charters either by December 1, 2001, or when any act relating to such district is introduced to the Legislature, whichever occurs first. In addition, section 189.429, Florida Statutes, requires that no changes be made to a district's charter as it exists on October 1, 1997, in the codifying legislation and that all prior Legislative acts relating to the district be repealed.

The 1998 Legislature further amended section 189.429, Florida Statutes, by (i) extending the deadline to codify to December 1, 2004, (ii) allowing for the adoption of the codification schedule provided for in an October 3, 1997 memorandum issued by the Chair of the Committee on Community Affairs, (iii) removing the prohibition of substantive amendments in a district's codification bill, and (iv) removing the requirement that a codified charter must be submitted prior to the introduction of any act relating to the charter or prior to the scheduled deadline.

Section 191.015, Florida Statutes, provided for codification of fire control districts charters either by December 1, 2001, or when any act relating to such district is introduced to the Legislature, whichever occurs first. In addition, section 189.429, Florida Statutes, was created by the 1997 Legislature which required that no changes be made to a special districts charter as it exists on October 1, 1997, in the codifying legislation and that all prior Legislative acts relating to the district be repealed.

The 1998 Legislature further amended section 191.015, Florida Statutes, by (i) extending the deadline to codify to December 1, 2004, (ii) allowing for the adoption of the codification schedule provided for in an October 3, 1997 memorandum issued by the Chair of the Committee on Community Affairs, and (iii) removing the requirement that a codified charter must be submitted prior to the introduction of any act relating to the charter or prior to the scheduled deadline. In addition, section 189.429 was amended by removing the prohibition of substantive amendments in a districts codification bill.

In 1998, the Environmental Protection Commission in Hillsborough County unsuccessfully attempted to codify its charter. The District is scheduled to codify in 2002. In 1999, there were two unsuccessful codifications. Mid-Bay Bridge Authority's codification bill passed the Legislature, but was vetoed by the Governor. The Authority was scheduled to codify its charter in 1999. The South Walton Fire District's codification bill died on the House calendar on April 30, 1999. The District is schedule to codify its charter in 2004.

According to the Schedule of Submissions of Special District Charters and information relating to charters previously codified, there are 94 special districts that should have been codified during the 1999 session but which were not. There are 56 special districts that are scheduled for codification during the 2000 Legislative Session.

C. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

This proposed committee bill clarifies the independent special districts' codification provisions in chapters 189 and 191, F.S., by providing that any codification or restatement of an independent special district's existing statutory language shall not be construed as a grant of additional authority. In addition, the codification shall not be construed as superseding the authority of any governmental entity. This change is necessary as many of the codification bills are being delayed due to concerns about the granting of additional authority or superseding other governmental entities authority, even though the bills are restating existing authority. However, the bill provides that specific exceptions to law which are merely being recodified continue to apply.

D. SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS:

Section 1. Amends section 189.429, F.S, by providing that any codification or restatement of an independent special district's existing statutory language shall not be construed as a grant of additional authority or superseding the authority of any governmental entity; and provides that specific exceptions to law which are merely being recodified continue to apply.

Section 2. Amends section 191.015, F.S, by providing that any codification or restatement of an independent fire control district's existing statutory language shall not be construed as a grant of additional authority or superseding the authority of any governmental entity; and provides that specific exceptions to law which are merely being recodified continue to apply.

Section 3. Provides an effective date of upon becoming a law.
