House Resolution

A resolution recognizing the College of Journalism and Communications of the University of Florida and designating March 30 and 31, 2000, as Celebration 2000 Days in Alachua County.

WHEREAS, during the year 2000, the College of Journalism and Communications of the University of Florida will observe both the 75th anniversary of a formal curriculum in journalism and communications and the 50th anniversary of the arrival at the university of Rae O. Weimer to found the School of Journalism and Communications, serving as the school's first director, and

WHEREAS, the university's College of Journalism and Communications has consistently been ranked by academics and professional publications and organizations among the top 10 in the nation in its field, and

WHEREAS, there have been more than 18,000 graduates from the program since its inception and, in the years since enrollment and degree awards have been measured, the College of Journalism and Communications of the University of Florida is reported in a recent year to have had the third largest undergraduate enrollment among all such colleges in the nation and to have granted more undergraduate degrees in the field than has any other college, NOW, THEREFORE,

Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the State of Florida:

1 That the House of Representatives designates March 30
2 and 31, 2000, as Celebration 2000 Days in Alachua County and 3 joins with the students, faculty, and staff of the University
4 of Florida and the citizens of the county in honoring the 5 College of Journalism and Communications and extending 6 heartiest congratulations on the occasion of the observance of 7 two very significant anniversaries in the history of the 8 college.
