1 If such records include information that is otherwise publicly 2 available, this exemption does not limit that other access. 3 4 If a bid or a proposal is submitted by an agency or its 5 employees, then that submitted bid or proposal is governed by 6 existing public records law applicable to the receiving 7 agency. This exemption is no longer applicable once a 8 contract is awarded, a decision is made not to award such 9 contract, or the project is no longer under active consideration. This paragraph is subject to the Open 10 Government Sunset Review Act of 1995 in accordance with s. 11 12 119.15, and shall stand repealed on October 2, 2006, unless 13 reviewed and saved from repeal through reenactment by the 14 Legislature. 15 Section 2. The Legislature finds that the exemption created by s. 119.07(3)(dd), Florida Statutes, is a public 16 necessity because in order for an agency to receive and 17 provide services as cost-effectively and efficiently as 18 19 possible, and for its employees to compete fairly with private 20 entities, through competitive bids or otherwise, records created or acquired by an agency or its employees for the 21 purpose of contracting for such service as well as records 22 23 created or acquired by another agency for the purpose of delivering such service, including draft bids or draft 24 proposals and supporting documentation, must be exempt from 25 26 public disclosure. If such records were not exempt from public disclosure, private sector businesses could request this 27 28 information and then prepare a bid or proposal that would effectively eliminate the ability of an agency or its 29 employees to successfully compete. If this occurred, an 30 agency or its employees would probably not participate in the 31

bidding and proposal process, which would result in less competition, thereby negatively affecting the administration of government programs. The Legislature additionally finds that making the exempt records available for public inspection after the contract is awarded, a decision is made not to award the contract, or the project is no longer under active consideration allows sufficient public access. Section 3. This act shall take effect upon becoming a law.
