1 individual's benefit year. Wages used in a base period to 2 establish a monetarily eligible benefit year may not be 3 applied to establish monetary eligibility in any succeeding
 4 benefit year. If information regarding wages for the calendar
 5 quarter or quarters immediately preceding the benefit year has 6 not been input into the division's mainframe database from the 7 regular quarterly reports of wage information or is otherwise 8 unavailable, the division shall request such information from 9 the employer. An employer must provide the requested wage 10 information within 10 days after receiving a request from the 11 division. An employer who fails to provide the requested wage
 12 information within the required time is subject to the penalty
 13 for delinquent reports in s. 443.141(1)(b).

14 (c) For monetary determinations based upon the 15 alternative base period under paragraph (b), if the division
 16 is unable to access the wage information through its mainframe 17 database, the division may base the determination of 18 eligibility for benefits on an affidavit submitted by the 19 individual with respect to wages for those calendar quarters.
 20 The individual must furnish payroll information, if available, 21 in support of the affidavit. A determination of benefits based 22 upon an alternative base period shall be adjusted when the 23 quarterly report of wage information from the employer is 24 received, if that information causes a change in the 25 determination.
