B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Present Situation

Section 253.782, F.S., creates the Cross Florida Greenway within the former Cross-Florida Barge Canal lands located within the Ocklawaha River Valley. Section 253.7829, F.S., requires the former Canal Authority to develop a management plan for the newly created Cross-Florida Greenway, and to submit that plan to the Governor, Cabinet and Legislature for approval by a certain time. The plan requires, inter alia, a statement relating to the final disposition of the canal works at the Rodman Reservoir. A plan was submitted which included four alternatives for the disposition of the Rodman Reservoir: (1) total retention of the reservoir; (2) total restoration of the Ocklawaha River; (3) partial retention of the reservoir; and (4) partial restoration of the river. In 1992, the Governor and Cabinet approved the management plan and selected the partial restoration option. During the 1993 Legislative Session, the Legislature adopted the management plan (see s. 48, 93-213, Laws of Florida) and directed additional study on the four alternatives for Rodman Reservoir and presentation of recommendations to the Governor and Cabinet, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the Senate. In 1995, the study was completed, and DEP informed the Governor and Cabinet that its recommendation of partial restoration had not changed. The Governor and Cabinet took no action to select another alternative, and the Governor directed DEP to proceed with partial restoration.

In 2000, Governor Bush renewed DEP's charge to proceed with partial restoration. Applications for necessary state and federal permits have been filed and remain pending before the St. Johns River Water Management District, the United States Forest Service and the United States Army Corps of Engineers. In January of this year, the required environmental impact statement (EIS) was completed as part of the U.S. Forest Service permitting process.

Rodman Reservoir is currently managed as part of the Cross Florida Greenway State Recreation and Conservation Area, by the DEP's Office of Greenways & Trails. Rodman Reservoir is managed as a multiple use area (s. 258.7825, F.S.). A comprehensive greenway management plan has been prepared by the University of Florida to help guide future management of Rodman Reservoir and the greenway.

Most of the significant ownerships within the easement area in Putnam County have already been acquired by the State. Most of the easement areas in Marion County, including those associated with Eureka Dam, have not been mapped or appraised. The remaining easement ownerships, however, are relatively small in size and number.

Effect of proposed changes

HM1669 requests the United States Congress to convey National Forest System lands underlying the George Kirkpatrick Dam on the Ocklawaha River in Palatka, Florida to the State of Florida.
