SUMMARY ANALYSIS

In 1978, the Florida Legislature enacted Chapter 78-81, L.O.F. This created a public records exemption for library registration records and circulation records. The only exception to the exemption was for judicial orders. Additionally, the act made it a second degree misdemeanor for any person to violate the act. In 1996, the Florida Legislature amended the public records exemption to include additional exceptions.

Current law only allows municipal or county law enforcement officials, judicial officials, or any business to have access to such patron's information for the purpose of collecting fines or recovering overdue books, documents, films, or other items or materials belonging to the library. Any confidential and exempt information regarding a library patron under the age of 16 may not be released. A public library may only release information relating to the parent or guardian of the patron.

The bill amends that public records exemption to allow the parent or guardian of a public library patron under 16 to have access to that patron's library records for the purpose of collecting fines or recovering overdue books, documents, films, or other items or materials belonging to the library. The bill does not allow access for any other reason.

The bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state or local governments.

This document does not reflect the intent or official position of the bill sponsor or House of Representatives.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

In 1978, the Florida Legislature enacted Chapter 78-81, L.O.F. (the act). The act created a public records exemption for library registration records and circulation records. The only exception to the exemption was for judicial orders. Additionally, the act made any violation a second degree misdemeanor. In 1996, the Florida Legislature amended the public records exemption to include additional exceptions. Currently, a municipal or county law enforcement official or a judicial official may have access to such records for the purpose of recovering overdue books, documents, films, or other items or materials owned or otherwise belonging to the library or for collecting fines on overdue books, documents, films, or other items or materials. Any confidential and exempt information regarding a library patron under the age of 16 may not be released. A public library may only release information relating to the parent or guardian of such patron.

House Bill 251 amends that public records exemption to allow the parent or guardian of a public library patron, under the age of 16, to have access to that patron's library records for the purpose of collecting fines or recovering overdue books, documents, films, or other items or materials belonging to the library. The bill does not allow a parent or guardian of the patron to have access to that patron's library records for any other reason than those previously listed. The bill does not grant a parent or guardian access to his or her child's library records for the purpose of monitoring or discovering what books the child checks out at the library.

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1. Amends s. 257.261, F.S., relating to library registration and circulation records, to revise provisions relating to confidentiality of such records for a library patron under age 16.

Section 2. Provides that the bill will take effect July 1, 2003.
