1 risk factors that could potentially make the offender more
2 likely to pose a danger to others:

- 3 1. Previous conviction for domestic violence;
- 4 2. History of substance abuse;
- 5 3. Unemployment or substantial financial difficulties;
- 6 4. Previous conviction for violence or sex acts 7 against children, particularly involving strangers; or
- 8 5. Any other risk factor identified by the department.

9 (2) To facilitate the information available to the 10 court at first appearance hearings and at all subsequent 11 hearings for these high-risk sex offenders, the department
12 shall, no later than March 1, 2006, post on FDLE's Criminal
13 Justice Intranet a cumulative chronology of the sex offender's
14 prior terms of state probation and community control,
15 including all substantive or technical violations of state
16 probation or community control. The sheriff's office in the 17 county where the arrested person is booked shall insure that 18 state and national criminal history information and all
19 criminal justice information available in the Florida Crime
20 Information Center and the National Crime Information Center,
21 is provided to the court at the time of the first appearance.
22 The courts shall assist the department's dissemination of 23 critical information by creating and maintaining an automated
24 system to provide the information as specified in this 25 subsection and by providing the necessary technology in the 26 courtroom to deliver the information.

27 (3) In monitoring the location of high-risk sex
28 offenders,
