I. Summary:

Chapter 985, F.S., addresses Florida's juvenile justice system. Some judges, prosecutors, defense attorneys, and agency personnel have complained that the current organization of the chapter is difficult to utilize in practice.

This bill reorganizes ch. 985, F.S., to provide a chronological presentation of the delinquency proceeding from the introduction of the child into the system to the case outcome. It divides the Chapter into 13 parts. The reorganization divides larger sections into smaller parts, with more meaningful section and subheading names.

The bill is designed to be strictly a technical rewrite of ch. 985, F.S., with no substantive changes to current law.

This bill substantially amends chapter 985, Florida Statutes.

II. Present Situation:

Chapter 985, F.S., addresses Florida's juvenile justice system. Some judges, prosecutors, defense attorneys, and agency personnel have complained that the current organization of the chapter is difficult to utilize in practice. For example, even though the chapter contains s. 985.201, F.S., entitled "Jurisdiction," wherein all matters related to juvenile jurisdiction presumably would be contained, numerous other sections in the chapter also contain provisions relating to jurisdiction. See e.g. ss. 985.23, 985.231, 985.31, and 985.313, F.S.

To address this problem, in 2003, the Delinquency Subcommittee of the Steering Committee of the Families and Children in the court prepared a proposed reorganization of ch. 985, F.S. The subcommittee was comprised of representatives from the judiciary, the state attorney's office, the public defender's office, and the Department of Juvenile Justice. This bill represents the two-year product from that effort.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

This bill is technical in nature, and is designed to make the juvenile delinquency statutes more "user-friendly" for all the stakeholders involved: state attorneys, public defenders, children, parents, judges, employees of the Department of Juvenile Justice, and private providers of services. It is also designed to clarify areas of inconsistency or confusion. The major changes include:

Chronological Presentation. The bill reorganizes ch. 985, F.S., to provide a chronological presentation of the delinquency proceeding from the introduction of the child into the system to the case outcome. It divides the chapter into the following thirteen parts:

1. General Provisions
2. Records and Information
3. Custody and Intake; Intervention and Diversion
4. Examinations and Evaluations
5. Detention
6. Petition, Arraignment and Adjudication
7. Disposition; Post-Disposition
8. Authority of Court Over Parent or Guardian
9. Appeal
10. Transfer to Adult Court
11. Department of Juvenile Justice
12. Miscellaneous Crimes
13. Interstate Compact on Juveniles

Reorganization. The bill divides larger sections into smaller parts, with more meaningful section and subheading names and reorganizes headings and section titles of ch. 985, F.S.

Section 1. Reorganizes heading titles of ch. 985, F.S.

Section 2. Amends s. 985.01, F.S., to change section title.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The department reports that the bill's renumbering and the reorganization of ch. 985, F.S., will require republication of department forms, policies, manuals, and contracts that contain references to current ch. 985, F.S., sections. The DJJ anticipates that printing and labor costs for such republication will be less than $5,000. It is also expected that Florida's court system may incur minimal costs for republication. Representatives from the Office of the State Court Administrator have indicated that such costs can be absorbed by existing resources.
