SUMMARY ANALYSIS

This bill allows members of the Special Risk Class, or their employers, to upgrade service previously earned in the Regular Class for attendance at a certified training academy or other certified training facility, between July 1, 1978, and June 30, 1984, which was approved by the employer for certification as a law enforcement officer or correctional officer.

The bill makes legislative findings and declares an important state interest.

This bill does not appear to create, modify, or eliminate rulemaking authority.

This bill does not appear to impact state or local government revenues. The bill will have a fiscal impact on state and local government expenditures because it results in net additional unfunded liabilities of $1.7 million to the Florida Retirement System. Although this cost is not sufficient to cause an increase in employer contribution rates for the Special Risk Class of the Florida Retirement System, it still may not satisfy the constitutional requirement to fund benefit increases for public retirement or pension systems.

The bill has an effective date of July 1, 2006.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

Provide limited government – This bill allows certain members of the Special Risk Class to upgrade specified prior academy or training service.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Background on the Florida Retirement System

Chapter 121, Florida Statutes, is the Florida Retirement System Act and it governs the Florida Retirement System (FRS). The FRS is administered by the secretary of the Department of Management Services through the Division of Retirement.¹

The FRS is the primary retirement plan for employees of state and county government agencies, district school boards, and community colleges and universities.² The FRS also has participating employees of 151 cities and 186 independent special districts who have elected to join the system.³

The FRS offers a defined benefit plan that provides retirement, disability, and death benefits for nearly 600,000 active members and over 270,000 retirees, surviving beneficiaries, and Deferred Retirement Option Program participants.⁴ Members of the FRS belong to one of five membership classes:

Regular Class ⁵	570,888 members	88.00%
Special Risk Class ⁶	68,466 members	10.59%
Special Risk Administrative Support Class ⁷	80 members	0.01%
Senior Management Service Class ⁸	6,823 members	1.10%
Elected Officers Class ⁹	2,122 members	0.30%

Each class is separately funded through an employer contribution of a percentage of the gross compensation of the member based on the costs attributable to members of that class and as provided in chapter 121, Florida Statutes.¹⁰

The Special Risk Class and its Expansion

The Special Risk Class of the FRS was created to recognize that certain employees, because of the nature of the work they perform,¹¹ may need to retire at an earlier age with less service than other types of employees.¹² As such, members of the Special Risk Class can retire at age 55 or with 25 years of creditable service.¹³ Members of the Special Risk Class who participate in the defined benefit program also earn a higher normal retirement benefit of three percent of the member's average final compensation.¹⁴ These increased benefits are funded through higher employer contribution rates: 17.37 percent of gross compensation, effective July 1, 2005, and 21.91 percent, effective July 1, 2006.¹⁵

The only employees originally in the Special Risk Class, under the current statute, were law enforcement officers, correctional officers, and firefighters.¹⁶ Starting in 1999, however, the Legislature started dramatically expanding the Special Risk Class:

1999	Emergency Medical Technicians and Paramedics ¹⁷
2000	Community-Based Correctional Probation Officers ¹⁸
	Twenty-four types of employees of correctional or forensic facilities or institutions ¹⁹
2001	Youth Custody Officers ²⁰
2005	Employees of a law enforcement agency or a medical examiner's office who are employed in a forensic discipline ²¹

Another legislative trend has followed the dramatic expansion of the Special Risk Class: allowing members who have previous service in another class of the Florida Retirement System, usually the Regular Class, to purchase additional retirement credit to upgrade the previous service to Special Risk Class service. In 2001, the Legislature permitted emergency medical technicians and paramedics to purchase credit for upgraded service.²² In 2002, the Legislature allowed members whose responsibilities included fire prevention or fire fighting training to purchase credit for upgraded service.²³

Upgraded Service for Law Enforcement and Correctional Officers

This bill permits Special Risk Class members, or their employers, to upgrade the following creditable service previously earned in the Regular Class to Special Risk Class service:

Attendance at a certified training academy or other certified training facility, between July 1, 1978, and June 30, 1984, which was approved by the employer for certification as a law enforcement officer or correctional officer.

The bill allows this academy/training service to be upgraded to the same percentage of the member's average final compensation as provided for by the normal retirement benefit for Special Risk Class members.²⁴ The bill requires the contributions for upgrading this academy/training service to be equal to the difference in the contributions paid and the Special Risk Class contribution rate as a percentage of gross salary in effect for the period being claimed, plus interest thereon at the rate of 6.5 percent per year, compounded annually until the date of payment.

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1: Amends section 121.0515, Florida Statutes, to permit the upgrade of certain prior service.

Section 2: Provides a statement of important state interest.

Section 3: Sets an effective date of July 1, 2006.

II. FISCAL ANALYSIS & ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT

A. FISCAL IMPACT ON STATE GOVERNMENT:

1. Revenues:

Members and employers are expected to pay $1.1 million of the costs of this upgraded service.²⁵

2. Expenditures:

As discussed further below, the cost paid by the affected members or their employers is not expected to be sufficient to cover the costs for this benefits enhancement.²⁶ As such, there may be a fiscal impact on state government expenditures through increased contribution rates for all state employers with Special Risk Class members.

B. FISCAL IMPACT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS:

1. Revenues:

This bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on local government revenues.

2. Expenditures:

As discussed further below, the cost paid by the affected members or their employers is not expected to be sufficient to cover the costs for this benefits enhancement.²⁷ As such, there may be a fiscal impact on local government expenditures through increased contribution rates for all state employers with Special Risk Class members.

C. DIRECT ECONOMIC IMPACT ON PRIVATE SECTOR:

This bill does not appear to have a direct economic impact on the private sector.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

The Department of Management Services noted the following fiscal impact for the bill:

The member purchase price for the academy training service credit upgrade to be provided by the bill does not account for the entire cost of this retroactive increase in accrual values. Based on a 2005 actuarial special study dated April 5, 2005, by Milliman Inc., Consulting Actuaries, the cost was not sufficient to cause a 0.01 percent increase in the employer contribution rates and the bill does not provide for the realization of $1.742 million in surplus actuarial assets or appropriate the funds into the FRS Trust Fund needed to offset the cost of this improvement as a one-time payment. Otherwise, the cost of this improvement will be funded through future Special Risk Class rate increases. To the extent that the number of members who actually purchase this service credit upgrade varies from the assumptions of the special study, those changes will be reflected in future valuations that determine the required contribution rate for the Special Risk Class.

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

This bill does not appear to reduce the percentage of a state tax shared with counties or municipalities. This bill does not appear to reduce the authority that municipalities have to raise revenue.

This bill is expected, however, to require counties or municipalities to spend funds or to take an action requiring the expenditure of funds. The mandates provision appears to apply to this bill because it requires counties or municipalities to spend funds or to take an action requiring the expenditure of funds: however, both an exemption and an exception apply. The anticipated additional unfunded liabilities are $1.7 million, and the insignificant fiscal exemption applies. The bill also contains a statement of important state interest and the provisions of the bill apply to all persons similarly situated. State government, school boards, and all local governments, not just counties and municipalities, are required to pay the increased contribution rates. Thus, the similarly situated exception also applies. Accordingly, the bill does not require a two-thirds vote of the membership of each house.²⁸

2. Other:

Article X, Section 14

Article X, section 14 of the Florida Constitution provides that a governmental unit responsible for any retirement or pension system supported wholly or partially by public pension funds may not, after January 1, 1977, provide any increase in benefits to members or beneficiaries unless concurrent provisions for funding the increase in benefits are made on a sound actuarial basis.²⁹

Although the net additional unfunded liabilities of $1.7 million are not sufficient to cause an increase in employer contribution rates for the Special Risk Class, this bill may not satisfy the constitutional requirement to fund benefit increases for public retirement or pension systems.

²⁸ Section 18 of article VII of the Florida Constitution provides that counties and municipalities may not be bound by a general law requiring a county or municipality to spend funds or take an action requiring the expenditure of funds unless it fulfills an important state interest and one of five criteria is met: (1) funds have been appropriated that have been estimated at the time of enactment to be sufficient to fund such expenditure; (2) the legislature authorizes or has authorized a county or municipality to enact a funding source not available for such county or municipality on February 1, 1989, that can be used to generate the amount of funds estimated to be sufficient to fund such expenditure by a simple majority vote of the governing body of such county or municipality; (3) the law requiring such expenditure is approved by two-thirds of the membership in each house of the legislature; (4) the expenditure is required to comply with a law that applies to all persons similarly situated, including the state and local governments; or (5) the law is either required to comply with a federal requirement or required for eligibility for a federal entitlement, which federal requirement specifically contemplates actions by counties or municipalities for compliance.

²⁹ Part VII of chapter 112, Florida Statutes, the "Florida Protection of Public Employee Retirement Benefits Act," was adopted by the Legislature to implement the provisions of article X, section 14 of the Florida Constitution. This law establishes minimum standards for operating and funding public employee retirement systems and plans. This part is applicable to all units of state, county, special district and municipal governments participating in or operating a retirement system for public employees which is funded in whole or in part by public funds.

B. RULE-MAKING AUTHORITY:

This bill does not appear to create, modify, or eliminate rulemaking authority.

C. DRAFTING ISSUES OR OTHER COMMENTS:

Other Comments: Burden of the Benefit

All employers who participate in the Florida Retirement System and who have Special Risk employees will be funding the benefit increase for qualifying past service, or any future shortfalls from these changes, even if their employees are not eligible for these benefits and even if they or their employees do not take advantage of these benefits.

IV. AMENDMENTS/COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE & COMBINED BILL CHANGES

On April 5, 2006, the Governmental Operations Committee adopted a "strike-everything" amendment and reported the bill favorably with committee substitute. The amendment removed provisions that expanded the accrual and qualifying service used to determine retirement credit for past service, but continued to permit certain members of the Special Risk Class to upgrade specified prior academy or training service.
