The Authority was created to provide public transit services in the Pinellas County area. The Authority has an annual total operating budget of $48.3 million. Its ad valorem millage rate is 0.6377 mill, and its millage cap is 0.75 mill.

The Authority is the public transit provider in Pinellas County, operating 180 buses and trolleys that serve 43 routes. In addition, two express buses travel between Pinellas County and Tampa, and the Suncoast Beach Trolley connects the Gulf Beaches from Clearwater Beach to Pass-a-Grille. During fiscal year 2004-05 the Authority transported 10,481,997 passengers.¹

The Authority has 11 members, comprised of:

- One member who is not an elected official appointed by the St. Petersburg City Council.

Terms are three years, and an Authority member may not serve more than three consecutive terms.

Effect of Proposed Changes

HB 931 adds four members to the Authority to include one additional member appointed by the City Council of the City of St. Petersburg from its membership, and three additional members appointed by the Pinellas County Commission from its membership.

The bill provides that the new member appointed by the City Council of the City of St. Petersburg will serve an initial three year term, and the three additional members appointed by the Pinellas County Commission will serve staggered one-year, two-year, and three-year terms.

Bill supporters say they want to add additional members, particularly the three Pinellas County commissioners, so that the county will have a fairer representation on the Authority and provide greater impact on the Authority's decisions.
