12 enforcement agencies, state attorneys, public defenders,
13 judicial entities, local representatives of the department, the 14 Department of Children and Family Services, and faith-based and 15 community-based organizations for the purpose of forwarding the 16 goals of the county or circuit plan. An interagency 17 collaboration agreement shall specify how the community's 18 entities will cooperate, collaborate, and share information in 19 order to achieve the goals of the juvenile justice prevention 20 and early intervention plan or the comprehensive plan for the 21 circuit. Juvenile justice circuit boards and county councils
22 shall use due diligence in notifying the community of board 23 vacancies through various community outreach outlets, such as 24 community newspapers, churches, and free public announcements.
