I. Summary:

The bill authorizes the appropriate board, or the Department of Health (DOH) when there is no board, to issue a temporary professional license, which is valid for 12 months after issuance and is not renewable, to the spouse of an active duty member of the Armed Forces of the United States. To be eligible for licensure, the spouse must submit to the DOH a completed application, application fee, proof of marriage to an active duty service member, proof of a valid license in another state or other jurisdiction, proof that the applicant's spouse is an active duty service member assigned to a duty station in Florida, and proof that the applicant is eligible to take the respective licensure examination in Florida.

The bill also requires an applicant for a temporary license to submit a complete set of fingerprints to the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE) to undergo a statewide criminal history check and national criminal history check, which is to be conducted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The DOH or the appropriate board must review the results of the criminal history check when granting and denying a temporary license.

The bill requires the applicant to pay the cost of fingerprint processing for criminal history checks and requires the applicant to pay an application fee, which may not exceed the DOH's cost of issuing a license.

The bill provides circumstances in which an applicant would be deemed ineligible to obtain a temporary license and also authorizes the DOH or the appropriate board to revoke a temporary license upon discovering a temporary license holder has violated the profession's governing practice act.

The bill also provides for the naming of temporary certificates issued for practice in areas of critical need.

The DOH or boards within the DOH may incur costs associated with implementing the bill, which should be off-set by the application fees received for temporary licensure.

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 456.024, 458.315, and 459.0076, F.S.

II. Present Situation:

Background

The United States currently has 1.4 million people serving in the armed forces, over 23 million veterans living in the U.S., and over 200 military installations in 46 states, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico. In addition, there are more than 400,000 National Guard members throughout the 50 states, the District of Columbia, and commonwealths and territories. The military operations of the United States touch every state in some manner.¹

In Florida, there are 22 military bases, over 58,000 active duty military personnel, and over 37,000 Reserve and National Guard personnel.² There are approximately 37,000 military spouses that currently live in Florida.³

Military families often face frequent moves and these moves can add unique financial pressures, as spouses may have to leave their employment due to a military transfer and the families may face a reduction in income.

While the majority of programs and benefits for soldiers and veterans are administered by the federal government, states and state legislatures are playing an increasingly larger role in military issues. With many active duty military members and National Guard and Reservists, and their families, facing multiple deployments, state policymakers are creating benefits and programs designed to assist both the military personnel and their families.⁴

In Florida, in 2009, the Legislature enacted HB 7123, which became ch. 2009-155, Laws of Florida. The Florida Council on Military Base and Mission Support (council) was created with the enactment of this law. The council was created to:

- Support and strengthen all DoD missions and bases located in Florida;
- Know the capabilities of Florida's military installations in order to support future military growth opportunities;
- Support community efforts relating to mission support of a military base by acting as a liaison between the local communities and the Legislature; and
- Enhance Florida's defense economy.⁵

In 2010, the Legislature enacted HB 713, which became ch. 2010-106, Laws of Florida. This law authorizes the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR) to issue a temporary professional license, which is valid for 6 months after issuance and is not renewable, to the spouse of an active duty member of the Armed Forces of the United States if the spouse applies to the DBPR for the temporary license. The applicant for a temporary license must submit to the DBPR proof of marriage to the military member, proof that he or she holds an active license in another state or jurisdiction, and proof that the military member is assigned to a duty station in Florida. The applicant must also be subject to a criminal history check and is responsible for the cost of the fingerprinting process. The applicant must also pay an application fee.

In Florida, military spouses also enjoy benefits related to education and unemployment compensation.⁶ Through federal funding under the Wagner-Peyser Act, the Agency for Workforce Innovation provides services to military spouses and dependents through the Military Family Employment Advocacy Program. The program delivers employment assistance services, including interviewing, assessment, counseling, job search and placement assistance, labor market information, and resume assistance through Military Family Employment Advocates co-located within selected One-Stop Career Centers. Persons eligible for assistance through this program include spouses and dependents of active-duty military personnel, Florida National Guard members, and military reservists.⁷

The Department of Health

Section 20.43, F.S., creates the DOH. The DOH is responsible for the state's public health system, which is designed to promote, protect, and improve the health of all people in the state. The mission of the state's public health system is to foster the conditions in which people can be healthy, by assessing state and community health needs and priorities through data collection, epidemiologic studies, and community participation; by developing comprehensive public health policies and objectives aimed at improving the health status of people in the state; and by ensuring essential health care and an environment which enhances the health of the individual

Temporary Licensure by the Department of Health

There are several examples of laws that authorize individuals in Florida to obtain temporary permits or licenses from the DOH, typically only if certain conditions are met.

Advanced Registered Nurse Practitioners

⁸ Section 381.001, F.S.

Under s. 464.012(1)(b), F.S., the Board of Nursing is authorized to provide by rule for provisional state certification of graduate nurse anesthetists and nurse midwives for a period of time determined to be appropriate for preparing for and passing the national certification exam.

Clinical Laboratory Personnel

Under s. 483.813, F.S., the DOH may grant a temporary license to any candidate it deems properly qualified, for a period not to exceed 1 year.

Dentistry

Under s. 466.025, F.S., the DOH has authority to issue temporary certificates to graduates of accredited dental schools, which are approved by the Board of Dentistry, to practice in state and county government facilities, working under the general supervision of licensed dentists in the state or county facility. The certificate is only valid for such a time as the dentist remains employed by a state or county government facility.

Dietetics/Nutritionists

Under s. 468.511, F.S., the Board of Medicine may issue a temporary permit to an applicant seeking to practice dietetics and nutrition if the applicant files an application, pays a temporary permit fee, submits proof of completion of the required education requirement and is supervised by a licensed dietitian or nutritionist. The temporary permit expires 1 year from the date of issuance, but one extension may be granted for good cause shown.

Electrolysis

Under s. 478.46, F.S., the DOH is authorized to issue a temporary permit to practice electrolysis if an applicant qualifies for licensure. The temporary permit is valid until the next Board of Medicine meeting at which license applications are to be considered or if the applicant qualifies for licensure but has not taken an exam, the permit is valid until notification of the results of the examination.

Nursing Home Administrators

Under s. 468.1705, F.S., the DOH may issue a one-time temporary license to an applicant who has filed an application for license by endorsement, has paid a fee to take an exam, has filed an application and paid an application fee, has an active license in another state, and has worked as a fully licensed nursing home administrator for 2 years within the 5-year period immediately preceding the application for the temporary license.

Occupational Therapy

Under s. 468.209, F.S., an applicant who qualifies for licensure by endorsement may be issued a temporary permit. Also, an applicant who has not passed an examination, but meets all of the other licensure requirements may be issued a temporary permit by the Board of Occupational Therapy Practice which is valid until the notification of the results of the examination. A person may not practice under the temporary permit unless he or she practices under the supervision of a licensed occupational therapist.

Physician Assistants

Under s. 458.347, F.S., The DOH may grant temporary licensure to an applicant who meets licensure requirements. The temporary license expires 30 days after receipt and notice of scores to the licenseholder from the first available examination following licensure by the DOH. The applicant may be granted one extension of the temporary license.

Radiologic Technologists

Under s. 468.307, F.S., the DOH may issue a temporary certificate to an applicant who has completed an educational program and is awaiting examination for a certificate. However, the applicant must meet all other certification requirements specified in law.

Rear Admiral LeRoy Collins, Jr.

Rear Admiral LeRoy Collins, Jr., died July 29, 2010, in Tampa, Florida, at the age of 75. He was a native of Tallahassee and the son of former Florida Governor LeRoy Collins. He graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1956, embarking upon a 34-year military career and retiring as a two-star Rear Admiral in 1990.⁹

Admiral Collins also became a prominent businessman and civic leader in Florida. He was instrumental in the growth of electronic payment systems in the United States, starting with the introduction of credit cards in Florida and the Southeast. As the founder and president of the Armed Forces Financial Network, Admiral Collins pioneered the deployment of ATMs and point-of-sale devices in U.S. military installations worldwide, including major U.S. aircraft carriers. He also held several other positions, including founding president of Financial Transaction Systems, Inc. and a senior executive of Telecredit Service Center, Inc.¹⁰

Rather than retiring, Admiral Collins mounted an unsuccessful campaign for the U.S. Senate in 2006. He was then appointed by Governor Charlie Crist as the executive director of the Florida Department of Veterans' Affairs, where he directed the state agency responsible for all of Florida's 1.8 million veterans. Continuing his support of the military community, Admiral Collins also founded the Florida Veterans Foundation, Inc.¹¹

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

This bill amends s. 456.024, F.S., to authorize the appropriate board, or the DOH when there is no board, to issue a temporary professional license, which is valid for 12 months after issuance and is not renewable, to the spouse of an active duty member of the Armed Forces of the United States. To be eligible for licensure, the spouse must submit to the DOH:

- A completed application upon a form prepared and furnished by the DOH in accordance with the board's rules;
- An application fee;
- Proof of marriage to an active duty service member;
- Proof of a valid license to practice the profession in another state, the District of Columbia, a possession or territory of the United States, and is not the subject of any disciplinary proceeding in any jurisdiction in which the applicant holds a license to practice a profession regulated under ch. 456, F.S.;

- Proof that the applicant's spouse is an active duty service member assigned to a duty station in Florida; and
- Proof that the applicant is eligible to take the respective licensure examination as required in Florida.

The bill also requires an applicant for a temporary license to submit a complete set of fingerprints to the FDLE to undergo a statewide criminal history check. The FDLE is required to forward the fingerprints to the Federal Bureau of Investigation for a national criminal history check to be conducted. The DOH or the appropriate board must review the results of the criminal history check when granting and denying a temporary license.

The bill requires the applicant to pay the cost of fingerprint processing for criminal history checks and requires the applicant to pay an application fee, which may not exceed the DOH's cost of issuing a license.

The bill provides that an applicant who has met any of the following conditions is ineligible to obtain a temporary license:

- Has been convicted of or pled nolo contendere to any felony or misdemeanor related to the practice of a health care profession;
- Has had a health care provider license revoked or suspended;
- Has been reported to the National Practitioner Data Bank; or
- Has previously failed the Florida examination required to receive a license to practice the profession for which the applicant is seeking a license.

In addition, the DOH or the appropriate board may revoke a temporary license upon discovering a temporary license holder has violated the profession's governing practice act.

The bill requires an applicant who is issued a temporary license to practice as a dentist must practice under the indirect supervision of a dentist license pursuant to ch. 466, F.S.

The bill provides for the naming of temporary certificates for practice in areas of critical need under ss. 458.315 and 459.0076, F.S., to name such certificates, "Rear Admiral LeRoy Collins, Jr., Temporary Certificate for Practice in Areas of Critical Need."

The bill provides that it shall take effect July 1, 2011.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

Although military spouses may incur costs associated with applying for a temporary license, they may be able to find employment more quickly after transferring to Florida should they be issued a temporary license.

C. Government Sector Impact:

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

The term “Armed Forces” is not defined in the bill or in ch. 456, F.S. The term “Armed Forces” is defined under s. 250.01(4), F.S., to mean the United States Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard, but does not include Reservists or National Guardsmen. It may be appropriate to either define the term “Armed Forces” or cross-reference s. 250.01(4), F.S.
