 12 legislative review and repeal of the exemption under 13 the Open Government Sunset Review Act; providing a 14 finding of public necessity; providing an effective

40 that the research could not practicably be conducted without the 41 information;

42 (b) Sign a confidentiality agreement with the Florida

54 Section 2. The Legislature finds that it is a public
55 necessity that personal identifying information pertaining to a

59 confidential and exempt from public-records requirements. Brain
60 tumors are a leading cause of death, and there is a significant 61 need to discover cures and develop treatment modalities for 62 brain tumors, which can be facilitated by a registry and 63 repository of specimens from persons diagnosed with brain
64 tumors. The disclosure of such information could hinder the 65 availability of specimens for research. Matters of personal 66 health are traditionally private and confidential concerns
67 between the patient and the health care provider. The private 68 and confidential nature of personal health matters pervades both 69 the public and private health care sectors. For these reasons, 70 the donor's expectation of and right to privacy in all matters
71 regarding his or her personal health necessitates this 72 exemption. The Legislature further finds that it is a public 73 necessity to protect a patient's medical diagnosis and 74 information because the release of such information could be 75 defamatory to the patient or could cause unwarranted damage to 76 the name or reputation of the patient.

77 Section 3. This act shall take effect July 1, 2011.
