SUMMARY ANALYSIS

Current law provides that the court may award costs in a declaratory judgment action. Another statute, applicable to all civil actions, provides that the prevailing party shall be awarded costs. The term "costs" does not include attorney's fees.

This bill repeals the specific statute relating to costs in a declaratory judgment action. Parties would still be awarded costs pursuant to the general statute.

This bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state and local governments.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Chapter 86, F.S., relates to declaratory judgment actions. Section 86.081, F.S., provides that the court may award costs in declaratory judgment actions as are equitable. Section 57.041(1), F.S., provides that "the party recovering judgment shall recover all his or her legal costs and charges which shall be included in the judgment." While s. 86.081, F.S., provides that the court may award costs as are equitable,<sup>1</sup> s. 57.041, F.S., makes an award of costs mandatory.<sup>2</sup> A court explained:

Under section 57.041, the recovery of costs is generally available to any "party recovering judgment." This general provision may be displaced by context-specific statutory costs provisions. For example, in declaratory judgment proceedings, section 86.081, Florida Statutes (2005), provides that "[t]he court may award costs as are equitable." And in dissolution cases, section 61.16, Florida Statutes (2005), provides that "a reasonable amount" may be awarded for the costs of a party "after considering the financial resources of both parties." Although the standard for the award of costs may - based on specific statutory provisions - vary from the general standard set forth in section 57.041, it is universally true that costs are at issue when a lawsuit is brought.<sup>3</sup>

This bill repeals s. 86.081, F.S. Recovery of costs would therefore be governed under the general provisions of s. 57.041, F.S.

B. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1 repeals s. 86.081, F.S., relating to costs in declaratory judgment actions.

Section 2 provides an effective date of July 1, 2011.
