

by the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC) or pass a temporary certificate examination developed or approved by FWC.

The boater safety course may be taken in person at one of FWC's state offices at no charge. An applicant may also take the course online at a cost of up to $30. FWC lists the approved online courses on their website.¹ The United States Coast Guard also offers an FWC approved course for $35.

FWC may appoint liveries, marinas, or other agents to administer the boater safety course as long as the entities adhere to FWC's established guidelines. These private entities offer the course for approximately $30. However, these entities may not issue a boater safety card on the premises. These private entities must send a $2 exam fee to FWC in addition to providing proof that the applicant successfully passed the course. FWC also allows the private entities to charge and keep an additional $1 service fee.²

Once FWC has received documented proof that the applicant successfully completed the course then FWC will mail a boater safety identification card to the applicant. It currently takes FWC up to 10 days to mail a card to an applicant who has successfully completed the boating safety course and has provided all of the necessary identification documentation. Incomplete applications may take longer as FWC must contact the applicant and retrieve any missing information.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 amends s. 327.395(6), F.S., to allow the operation of a vessel without an FWC issued Boater Identification card, for up to 90 days, for a boater who can prove boater safety course completion and provide photo identification. In order to prove boater safety course completion, the boater must be able to provide a Boater Education Certificate that includes the student's first and last name, date of birth, and the date he or she passed the course examination.

Section 2 amends s. 327.54(2), F.S., to provide an exemption to allow liveries to accept boater education certificates that contain specific data, under specified conditions outlined in s. 327.395, F.S., as proof of successfully completing the Boater Education Course.

Section 3 provides an effective date of July 1, 2011.
