I. SUBSTANTIVE INFORMATION

A. EFFECT OF CHANGES:

Metal Theft

Throughout the industrialized world, stealing valuable metal has become a serious concern for police, businesses, public utilities, railroad companies, and the community at large.<sup>1</sup> While efforts to combat metal theft have occurred for several decades, reports of dramatic increases in scrap metal theft are occurring throughout the United States.<sup>2</sup> The stolen metals are usually sold to secondary metal recyclers at scrap yards.<sup>3</sup>

Florida has responded to this problem by enacting a variety of laws that regulate secondary metal recyclers and that specifically criminalize theft of copper and other nonferrous metals.<sup>4</sup>

Secondary Metals Recyclers

Secondary metals recyclers<sup>5</sup> are currently regulated under ch. 538, F.S. This chapter contains a variety of provisions that require secondary metals recyclers to engage in certain acts or prohibit secondary metals recyclers from engaging in certain acts. Chapter 538, F.S., also imposes criminal penalties on secondary metals recyclers who do not comply with the chapter's provisions. For example, s. 538.23(1)(a), F.S., makes it a first degree misdemeanor<sup>6</sup> for a secondary metals recycler to knowingly and intentionally:

- Engage in a pattern of failing to keep records as required by s. 538.19, F.S.;
- Fail to allow a law enforcement officer to inspect a recycler's records and purchased regulated metals property as required by s. 538.20, F.S.;
- Fail, pursuant to a request from law enforcement, to hold regulated metals property as required by s. 538.21, F.S.;
- Enter into any cash transaction in excess of $1,000 for the purchase of regulated metals property; or
- Purchase regulated metals property from a seller where the metals were not transported in a motor vehicle.

A secondary metals recycler who commits a third or subsequent violation of s. 538.23(1)(a), F.S., commits a third degree felony.<sup>7,8</sup>

<sup>5</sup> Section 538.18(8), F.S., defines the term "secondary metals recycler" as a person who:

- (a) Is engaged, from a fixed location or otherwise, in the business of gathering or obtaining ferrous or nonferrous metals that have served their original economic purpose or is in the business of performing the manufacturing process by which ferrous metals or nonferrous metals are converted into raw material products consisting of prepared grades and having an existing or potential economic value; or
- (b) Has facilities for performing the manufacturing process by which ferrous metals or nonferrous metals are converted into raw material products consisting of prepared grades and having an existing or potential economic value, other than by the exclusive use of hand tools, by methods including, without limitation, processing, sorting, cutting, classifying, cleaning, baling, wrapping, shredding, shearing, or changing the physical form or chemical content thereof.

<sup>6</sup> A first degree misdemeanor is punishable by up to one year in county jail and a maximum $1,000 fine. Sections 775.082 and 775.083, F.S.

<sup>7</sup> A third degree felony is punishable by up to five years imprisonment and a $5,000 fine. Sections 775.082 and 775.083, F.S.

Theft of Copper or Other Nonferrous Metals

In addition to enacting legislation to regulate secondary metals recyclers, Florida has responded to the growing problem of metal theft by enacting s. 812.145, F.S. This statute makes it a first degree felony<sup>10</sup> for a person to knowingly and intentionally take copper or other nonferrous metals from a utility or communications services provider if the theft:

- Damages the facilities of a utility or communications services provider;
- Interrupts or interferes with utility service or communications services; or
- Interferes with the ability of a utility service or communications services provider to provide service.<sup>11</sup>

Effect of the Bill

The bill amends s. 812.145, F.S., to provide that a person who knowingly and intentionally removes copper or other nonferrous metals from an electrical substation without authorization of the utility commits a first degree felony.

The bill defines an “electrical substation” as a facility that takes electricity from the transmission grid and converts it to a lower voltage so it can be distributed to customers in the local area on the local distribution grid through one or more distribution lines less than 69 kilovolts in size.
