

II. Present Situation:

Settlements in Guardianship Cases

Litigation settlement agreements routinely include a provision that the terms will be held in confidence by all parties. Because an adult may settle a lawsuit without court approval, those confidentiality clauses are effective and enforceable.

However, a minor cannot settle a case valued in excess of $15,000 without court approval.¹ The court approval process requires a petition setting forth the terms of the settlement.² An order is eventually entered that also may contain the terms of settlement, or may refer to the petition.³ The petition and the order are part of a court file, and therefore, are a matter of public record and open for inspection under current law.

Public Records Requirements

The Florida Constitution specifies requirements for public access to government records. It provides every person the right to inspect or copy any public record made or received in connection with the official business of any public body, officer, or employee of the state, or of persons acting on their behalf.⁴ The records of the legislative, executive, and judicial branches are specifically included.⁵

In addition to the Florida Constitution, the Florida Statutes specify conditions under which public access must be provided to government records. The Public Records Act⁶ guarantees every person's right to inspect and copy any state or local government public record⁷ at any reasonable time, under reasonable conditions, and under supervision by the custodian of the public record.⁸

Only the Legislature may create an exemption to public records requirements.⁹ Such an exemption must be created by general law and must specifically state the public necessity

⁶ Chapter 119, F.S.

⁷ Section 119.011(12), F.S., defines "public records" to mean "all documents, papers, letters, maps, books, tapes, photographs, films, sound recordings, data processing software, or other material, regardless of the physical form, characteristics, or means of transmission, made or received pursuant to law or ordinance or in connection with the transaction of official business by any agency." Section 119.011(2), F.S., defines "agency" to mean as "any state, county, district, authority, or municipal officer, department, division, board, bureau, commission, or other separate unit of government created or established by law including, for the purposes of this chapter, the Commission on Ethics, the Public Service Commission, and the Office of Public Counsel, and any other public or private agency, person, partnership, corporation, or business entity acting on behalf of any public agency." The Public Records Act does not apply to legislative or judicial records see Locke v. Hawkes, 595 So. 2d 32 (Fla. 1992).

⁸ Section 119.07(1)(a), F.S.

⁹ FLA. CONST. art. I, s. 24(c). There is a difference between records the Legislature designates as exempt from public records requirements and those the Legislature designates confidential and exempt. A record classified as exempt from public disclosure may be disclosed under certain circumstances (see WFTV, Inc. v. The School Board of Seminole, 874 So. 2d 48 (Fla. 5th DCA 2004), review denied 892 So. 2d 1015 (Fla. 2004); City of Riviera Beach v. Barfield, 642 So. 2d 1135 (Fla. 4th DCA 2004); and Williams v. City of Minneola, 575 So. 2d 687 (Fla. 5th DCA 1991). If the Legislature designates a record as justifying the exemption.¹⁰ Further, the exemption must be no broader than necessary to accomplish the stated purpose of the law. A bill enacting an exemption may not contain other substantive provisions¹¹ and must pass by a two-thirds vote of the members present and voting in each house of the Legislature.¹²

Court Records

Florida courts have consistently held that the judiciary is not an “agency” for purposes of ch. 119, F.S.¹³ However, the Florida Supreme Court found that “both civil and criminal proceedings in Florida are public events” and that the court will “adhere to the well-established common law right of access to court proceedings and records.”¹⁴ There is a Florida constitutional guarantee of access to judicial records.¹⁵ The constitutional provision provides for public access to judicial records, except for those records expressly exempted by the State Constitution, Florida law in effect on July 1, 1993, court rules in effect on November 3, 1992, or by future acts of the legislature in accordance with the Constitution.¹⁶

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 of the bill amends s. 744.3701, F.S., to provide that any court record relating to the settlement of a ward's or minor's claim, including a petition for approval of a settlement on behalf of a ward or minor, a report of a guardian ad litem relating to a pending settlement, or an order approving a settlement on behalf of a ward or minor, is confidential and exempt from the provisions of s. 119.07(1), F.S., and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution and may not be disclosed except as specifically authorized.

Because the record is made confidential and exempt, it may not be disclosed except as provided in law. Current law allows the court, the clerk of court, the guardian and the guardian's attorney to review the guardianship court file. The bill amends s. 744.3701, F.S., to provide that record of a settlement may also be disclosed to the guardian ad litem (if any) related to the settlement, to the ward (the minor) if he or she is 14 years of age or older and has not been declared incompetent, and to the attorney for the ward. The record may also be disclosed as ordered by the court.

Section 2 of the bill provides a statement of public necessity as required by the State Constitution. The bill states that it is a public necessity to keep confidential and exempt from public disclosure information contained in a settlement record which could be used to identify a minor or ward. The information contained in these records is of a sensitive, personal nature and its disclosure could jeopardize the physical safety and financial security of the minor or ward. In confidential and exempt from public disclosure, such record may not be released, by the custodian of public records, to anyone other than the persons or entities specifically designated in the statutory exemption (see Attorney General Opinion 85-62, August 1, 1985).

¹⁰ FLA. CONST. art. I, s. 24(c)

¹¹ The bill, however, may contain multiple exemptions that relate to one subject.

¹⁵ FLA. CONST. art. I, s. 24(a)

¹⁶ FLA. CONST. art. I, ss. 24(c) and (d)

order to protect minors, wards, and others who could be at risk upon disclosure of a settlement, it is necessary to ensure that only those interested persons who are involved in settlement proceedings or the administration of the guardianship have access to reports and records.

Section 3 of the bill provides for an effective date of upon becoming law.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

Article I, s. 24(c) of the State Constitution requires a two-thirds vote of the members present and voting for final passage of a newly created or expanded public record or public meeting exemption. The bill expands a public record exemption related to guardianships; thus, it requires a two-thirds vote for final passage.

Article I, s. 24(c) of the State Constitution requires a public necessity statement for a newly created or expanded public record or public meeting exemption. The bill expands a public record exemption related to guardianships; thus, it includes a public necessity statement.

Article I, s. 24(c) of the State Constitution requires a newly created public record or public meeting exemption to be no broader than necessary to accomplish the stated purpose of the law. The bill creates a public record exemption related to guardianships. The exemption does not appear to be in conflict with the constitutional requirement that the exemption be no broader than necessary to accomplish its purpose.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

None.

C. Government Sector Impact:

An increase in judicial workload potentially may occur due to the new obligation on the court to determine whether good cause is shown to permit disclosure of court records relating to settlement of a claim on behalf of a minor or ward, and to determine whether disclosure and recording of such records is warranted in relation to a real property transaction, or for such other purposes as the court allows. The potential increase cannot be quantified at this time.¹⁷

The fiscal impact of this legislation cannot be accurately determined due to the unavailability of data needed to establish the increase in judicial workload resulting from the new obligation on the court to determine whether good cause is shown to permit disclosure of court records relating to settlement of a claim on behalf of a minor or ward, and to determine whether disclosure and recording of such records is warranted in relation to a real property transactions, or for such other purposes as the court allows.¹⁸

B. Amendments:

Barcode 137920 by Children, Families, and Elder Affairs on April 15, 2013:

The amendment removes language that conforms the bill to the Open Government Sunset Review Act since the Act does not apply to an exemption that applies solely to the State Courts System.

This Senate Bill Analysis does not reflect the intent or official position of the bill's introducer or the Florida Senate.
