SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The substance of HB 7075 passed the House on March 22, 2013, as SB 694.

The Division of Statutory Revision of the Office of the Legislative Services is required by statute to conduct a systematic and continuing study of the statutes and the laws of this state. The purpose of this study is to recommend to the Legislature changes that will remove inconsistencies, redundancies, and unnecessary repetition from the statutes and otherwise improve their clarity and facilitate their correct and proper interpretation. In carrying out this work, statutory revision recommends changes such as correcting grammatical and typographical errors and deleting obsolete, repealed, or superseded provisions. These recommendations are submitted to the Legislature in the form of technical, nonsubstantive reviser's bills.

HB 7075 deletes statutory provisions describing apportionment of the districts of the state Senate and House of Representatives that have been superseded by the adoption of SJR 1176 (2012) as amended by CS/SJR 2-B (2012).

The bill was approved by the Governor on April 10, 2013, ch. 2013-17, L.O.F., and will become effective July 2, 2013.

I. SUBSTANTIVE INFORMATION

A. EFFECT OF CHANGES:

HB 7075 deletes provisions of the Florida Statutes that codified the 2002 apportionment of the state Senate and House of Representatives. The provisions were superseded by the 2012 apportionment, adopted in SJR 1176 (2012) as amended by CS/SJR 2-B (2012). Pursuant to the directive in s. 10.001, Florida Statutes, the 2012 apportionment provisions have been codified in ss. 10.11-10.181.

Section 11.242(5)(i), Florida Statutes, requires the Division of Statutory Revision to place obsolete provisions in a reviser's bill for ratification of the repeals by the Legislature before the Division may delete them from the text of the Florida Statutes.

The effect of a reviser's bill is technical in nature only; the provisions of the bill do not change current substantive law.
