I. Summary:

SB 750 establishes the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) as the agency responsible for administering a program to fund dredging projects in specified counties, rather than the Florida Seaport Transportation and Economic Development (FSTED) Council, and sunsets the program on July 1, 2018.

This bill amends the following section of the Florida Statutes: 311.22.

II. Present Situation:

The Legislature in 2005 created in s. 311.22, F.S., an additional ports funding program to assist in financing certain dredging improvements at small ports in counties with a population of less than 300,000 persons based on the last official United States Census, but which were not eligible for existing FSTED funding. That section continues to authorize use of funds made available under the program for dredging or deepening of channels, turning basins, or harbors on a 25-percent local matching basis with any port authority¹ that meets environmental permitting and other specified criteria. There are at least seven entities meeting the definition of “port authority” in counties with less than 300,000 population: the Panama City Port Authority; the Citrus County Port Authority; the Port St. Joe Port Authority; the Hernando County Port Authority; the Ocean, Highway, and Port Authority (Nassau County); the Putnam County Port Authority; and the St. Lucie County Port Authority.

¹ Defined in s. 315.02(2), F.S., to mean any port authority in Florida created by or pursuant to the provisions of any general or special law or any district or board of county commissioners acting as a port authority under or pursuant to the provisions of any general or special law.

The program was initially funded with a $5 million appropriation to the State Transportation Trust Fund to provide a 50-percent state match. An additional $9.2 million and an additional $5 million, respectively, were provided in the 2006-2007 and 2007-2008 General Appropriations Acts to provide a 75-percent state match. No further funding has been provided to the program; however, should funding become available, the program may facilitate and foster economic development in and around small ports.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

SB 750 establishes FDOT, rather than FSTED, as the agency responsible for administering any additional funding for dredging projects in counties have a population of fewer than 300,000 according to the last official census and sunsets the program on July 1, 2018.
