Section 1. Section 448.077, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

2526

448.077 Employer access to employee social media accounts prohibited.—

2728

(1) As used in this section, the term:

29

(a) "Electronic communications device" means a device that uses electronic signals to create, transmit, or receive information, including computers, telephones, personal digital assistants, and other similar devices.

- (b) "Retaliatory personnel action" has the same meaning as in s. 448.101.
- (c) "Social media account" means an interactive personal account or profile that an individual establishes and uses through an electronic application, service, or platform to generate or to store content, including, but not limited to, videos, still photographs, blogs, video blogs, instant messages, audio recordings, and e-mail.
 - (2) An employer may not do any of the following:
- (a) Request or require an employee or prospective employee to take an action that allows the employer to gain access to the employee's or prospective employee's social media account, including, but not limited to, requesting him or her to disclose the username, password, or other means of accessing his or her social media account if the social media account's contents are not available to the general public.
- (b) Take retaliatory personnel action against an employee as a result of the employee's refusal to allow the employer access to the employee's social media account.
- (c) Fail or refuse to hire a prospective employee as a result of the prospective employee's refusal to allow the employer access to the prospective employee's social media account.
- (3) An employee or prospective employee may bring a civil action against an employer who violates this section in a court located in the county in which the employee or prospective employee resides or where the alleged violation occurred. Such action must be brought within 2 years after the violation occurred. The employee or prospective employee may seek injunctive relief to restrain the employer from continuing to act in violation of this section and may recover damages in an amount equal to the actual damages arising from the violation or $500 per violation, whichever is greater. An employee or prospective employee who prevails is entitled to recover court costs and reasonable attorney fees.

- (4) This section does not prevent an employer from requesting or requiring an employee to disclose a username, password, or other means of accessing a social media account used primarily for the employer's business purposes.
- (5) This section does not prohibit or restrict an employer from complying with a duty to monitor or retain employee communications which is established under state or federal law or by a self-regulatory organization as defined in s. 3(a)(26) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and 15 U.S.C. s. 78c(a)(26), or from screening a prospective employee who completes an application for employment at a law enforcement or prosecutorial agency or an employee who is the subject of a conduct investigation performed by a law enforcement or prosecutorial agency.

Section 2. This act shall take effect October 1, 2015.
