I. Summary:

SPB 7014 updates Florida’s corporate Income Tax Code by adopting the Internal Revenue Code as in effect on January 1, 2015.

The Tax Increase Prevention Act of 2014 grants extraordinary deductions for capital asset expensing and depreciation. Similar to past treatment, the bill requires Florida taxpayers to spread the benefit of these deductions over a seven year period.

The bill authorizes the Department of Revenue to adopt emergency rules to implement the bill.

The Revenue Estimating Conference has estimated that the bill will have an indeterminate impact on revenues deposited in the General Revenue Fund.

II. Present Situation:

Florida imposes a 5.5 percent tax on the taxable income of corporations and financial institutions doing business in Florida. The determination of taxable income for Florida tax purposes begins with the taxable income determined for federal income tax purposes. This means that a corporation paying taxes in Florida receives the same treatment in Florida as is allowed in determining its federal taxable income.

Florida maintains its relationship with the federal Internal Revenue Code by each year adopting the federal Internal Revenue Code as it exists on January 1 of the year. By doing this, Florida adopts any changes that were made in the previous year to the determination of federal taxable income.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

General Update

The bill updates the Florida Corporate Income Tax Code to reflect changes in the federal Internal Revenue Code enacted by Congress. The bill takes effect upon becoming a law and operates retroactively to January 1, 2015.

Additions Due to Bonus Depreciation and Increased Expensing

President Obama signed into law the Tax Increase Prevention Act of 2014<sup>1</sup> on December 19, 2014. The act contained several significant amendments to the Internal Revenue Code, two of which affect Florida's corporate tax receipts.

The Internal Revenue Code allows a taxpayer to deduct the cost of capital assets by deducting a portion of the cost over the useful life of the property (depreciation).<sup>2</sup> Additionally, the Internal Revenue Code allows a taxpayer to treat a certain amount of the cost of capital assets as a business expense that can be taken entirely in the year of purchase (expensing).<sup>3</sup> Until recently, the amount that could be expensed was limited to $25,000.

Similar to other federal legislation during the past several years,<sup>4</sup> the Tax Increase Prevention Act of 2014 grants an additional depreciation deduction (bonus depreciation) and increases the expensing limitation. The Tax Prevention Act of 2014 grants a first-year bonus depreciation amount of 50 percent of the cost of the property placed in service during 2014 and increases the expensing limitation to $500,000 for taxable years beginning in 2014.

The Revenue Estimating Conference has estimated that the adoption of the Internal Revenue Code, including the bonus depreciation and increased expensing limitation provisions, would result in a reduction of $180 million in corporate tax receipts in Fiscal Year 2015-2016 and increased tax receipts in subsequent years.

In order to mitigate the Fiscal Year 2015-2016 fiscal impact of the increased federal deductions on Florida, the bill requires taxpayers to spread the effect of these increased deductions over seven taxable years. The bill accomplishes this by requiring taxpayers to "add-back" the bonus depreciation deduction and the amount of the increased expensing deduction above $128,000. The taxpayer is then permitted to subtract from income one-seventh (1/7) of these deductions for the current taxable year and the following six
