338 from s. 24(a), Article I of the State Constitution:

339 1. The home addresses, telephone numbers, dates of birth,

341 enforcement personnel, including correctional and correctional 342 probation officers; personnel of the Department of Children and

356 633.408, Florida Statutes; the home addresses, telephone 357 numbers, photographs, dates of birth, and places of employment 358 of the spouses and children of such firefighters; and the names 359 and locations of schools and day care facilities attended by the 360 children of such firefighters; and

361 3. The home addresses, dates of birth, and telephone
362 numbers of current or former justices of the Supreme Court, 363 district court of appeal judges, circuit court judges, and 364 county court judges; the home addresses, telephone numbers, 365 dates of birth, and places of employment of the spouses and 366 children of current or former justices and judges; and the names 367 and locations of schools and day care facilities attended by the 368 children of current or former justices and judges.

369 (b) The Legislature finds that it is a public necessity to 370 exempt this information from s. 24(a), Article I of the State 371 Constitution in order to prevent disclosure of information that 372 can be used to identify or locate these governmental personnel
373 and their spouses and children. These governmental personnel
374 perform duties that can adversely affect the rights of members 375 of the public. Adversely affected people and their families or 376 friends may place blame on these governmental personnel for 377 arrests, investigations, or judicial intervention. Governmental 378 personnel may also be threatened or harmed by victims who 379 believe governmental personnel did not adequately perform their 380 duties. Such governmental personnel are subject to threats and 381 violence on and off duty, and these threats persist after such 382 personnel leave work. The threat of danger and revenge extend to 383 the spouses and children of these governmental personnel.

384 (c) Furthermore, the combination of personal 385 identification and location information can be used as a tool to 386 perpetuate fraud against these governmental personnel and to 387 acquire sensitive personal, financial, medical, and familial 388 information, the release of which could cause great financial 389 harm to these individuals and their families. Identity theft can 390 also harm these governmental personnel and their families' 391 reputations. It is in the public interest to protect fully these 392 governmental employees and their families and to ensure that 393 their identifying and location information is exempt from public 394 disclosure when it is held by an entity in the executive, 395 legislative, or judicial branch of government.

396 (2) (a) The Legislature finds that it is a public necessity
397 to exempt the names of the children and spouses of the following 398 governmental personnel from s. 119.07(1), Florida Statutes, and 399 s. 24(a), Article I of the State Constitution:

400 1. Firefighters certified in compliance with s. 633.408,

401 Florida Statutes;

402 2. Current or former justices of the Supreme Court,
403 district court of appeal judges, circuit court judges, and 404 county court judges; and 405 3. General magistrates, special magistrates, judges of 406 compensation claims, administrative law judges of the Division

407 of Administrative Hearings, and child support enforcement
408 hearing officers.

409 (b) Such personnel are often required to interact with 410 members of the public who are in difficult circumstances. These 411 personnel and their families are subject to threats by members 412 of the public who may seek revenge against them. Allowing public 413 access to the names of children and spouses of such personnel 414 will make the children and spouses of these personnel easy to 415 find and expose them to threats or acts of revenge. Threats or 416 acts of revenge against the children and spouses of such 417 personnel could compromise the governmental personnel's ability 418 to perform their duties without fear of retaliation.

419 (3) (a) The Legislature finds that it is a public necessity
420 to make the following information exempt from s. 119.07(1), 421 Florida Statutes, and s. 24(a), Article I of the State
422 Constitution, regardless of whether such individuals made 423 reasonable efforts to protect such information from being 424 public:

425 1. The home addresses, dates of birth, and telephone

426 numbers of general magistrates, special magistrates, judges of 427 compensation claims, administrative law judges of the Division
428 of Administrative Hearings, and child support enforcement
429 hearing officers; the names, home addresses, telephone numbers, 430 dates of birth, and places of employment of the spouses and 431 children of general magistrates, special magistrates, judges of 432 compensation claims, administrative law judges of the Division
433 of Administrative Hearings, and child support enforcement
434 hearing officers; and the names and locations of schools and day 435 care facilities attended by the children of general magistrates, 436 special magistrates, judges of compensation claims, 437 administrative law judges of the Division of Administrative 438 Hearings, and child support enforcement hearing officers.

439 2. The home addresses, telephone numbers, places of 440 employment, dates of birth, and photographs of current or former 441 guardians ad litem, as defined in s. 39.820, Florida Statutes;
442 the names, home addresses, telephone numbers, dates of birth, 443 and places of employment of the spouses and children of such 444 persons; and the names and locations of schools and day care 445 facilities attended by the children of such persons.

446 3. The home addresses, telephone numbers, dates of birth,
447 and photographs of current or former investigators or inspectors 448 of the Department of Business and Professional Regulation; the 449 names, home addresses, telephone numbers, dates of birth, and 450 places of employment of the spouses and children of current or

451 former investigators and inspectors; and the names and locations 452 of schools and day care facilities attended by the children of 453 current or former investigators and inspectors.

454 4. The home addresses, telephone numbers, and dates of 455 birth of county tax collectors; the names, home addresses, 456 telephone numbers, dates of birth, and places of employment of 457 the spouses and children of such tax collectors; and the names
458 and locations of schools and day care facilities attended by the 459 children of such tax collectors.

460 5. The home addresses, telephone numbers, dates of birth,
461 and photographs of current or former personnel of the Department
462 of Health whose duties include, or result in, the determination 463 or adjudication of eligibility for social security disability
464 benefits, the investigation or prosecution of complaints filed 465 against health care practitioners, or the inspection of health 466 care practitioners or health care facilities licensed by the 467 Department of Health; the names, home addresses, telephone 468 numbers, dates of birth, and places of employment of the spouses 469 and children of such personnel; and the names and locations of 470 schools and day care facilities attended by the children of such 471 personnel.

472 6. The home addresses, telephone numbers, dates of birth,
473 and photographs of current or former impaired practitioner 474 consultants who are retained by an agency or current or former 475 employees of an impaired practitioner consultant whose duties

476 result in a determination of a person's skill and safety to 477 practice a licensed profession; the names, home addresses,
478 telephone numbers, dates of birth, and places of employment of 479 the spouses and children of such consultants or their employees; 480 and the names and locations of schools and day care facilities 481 attended by the children of such consultants or employees.

482 7. The home addresses, telephone numbers, dates of birth, 483 and photographs of current or former emergency medical 484 technicians or paramedics certified under chapter 401; the 485 names, home addresses, telephone numbers, dates of birth, and 486 places of employment of the spouses and children of such 487 emergency medical technicians or paramedics; and the names and 488 locations of schools and day care facilities attended by the 489 children of such emergency medical technicians or paramedics.

490 8. The home addresses, telephone numbers, dates of birth, 491 and photographs of current or former personnel employed in an 492 agency's office of inspector general or internal audit
493 department whose duties include auditing or investigating waste, 494 fraud, abuse, theft, exploitation, or other activities that 495 could lead to criminal prosecution or administrative discipline;
496 the names, home addresses, telephone numbers, dates of birth, 497 and places of employment of spouses and children of such 498 personnel; and the names and locations of schools and day care 499 facilities attended by the children of such personnel.

500 (b) The Legislature finds that exempting identifying and

501 location information from public disclosure requirements 502 protects such personnel and their spouses and children from 503 danger of physical and emotional harm from disgruntled criminal 504 defendants, litigants, licensees, taxpayers, and other members 505 of the public. Such personnel may be subject to threats or acts 506 of revenge because of the duties they perform. The spouses and 507 children of such personnel are also endangered by people who may 508 seek to intimidate or harm such personnel. In addition, 509 criminals could use identification and location information for 510 identity theft that can cause financial harm to these personnel 511 and their spouses and children. The harm that might result from 512 the release of exempt information outweighs any public benefit 513 that could be derived from disclosure. For these reasons, the 514 exemptions should be applied without requiring such personnel 515 prove that they have not made their information public.

516 (c) In addition, requiring these personnel prove that they 517 made reasonable efforts to protect their identification and 518 location information is an added burden on these individuals as 519 well as on agencies receiving a public records request. The 520 extent to which these individuals must protect their information 521 from public accessibility is unclear. It is also unclear how 522 much proof an agency needs in order to grant the exemption. The 523 burden on an agency to verify whether these individuals have 524 protected from public disclosure their identifying and location 525 information adversely impacts the effective and efficient

526 administration of government in establishing who is eligible for 527 an exemption. Relatively few public record exemptions require an 528 individual to prove that he or she made reasonable efforts to 529 protect his or her information from being available to the 530 public. Such inconsistencies among public record exemptions
531 reduce accuracy and efficiency when redacting exempt information 532 when a public records request for agency personnel information 533 is made. It is not in the public interest for the public to 534 receive inaccurately redacted information.

535 (4) (a) The Legislature finds that it is a public necessity
536 that the dates of birth of the following people be made exempt 537 from s. 119.07(1), Florida Statutes, and s. 24(a), Article I of 538 the State Constitution:

539 1. Current or former investigators or inspectors of the 540 Department of Business and Professional Regulation and their 541 spouses and children; and 542 2. County tax collectors and their spouses and children.

543 (b) Dates of birth can be used as a tool to perpetuate 544 fraud against an individual and to acquire sensitive personal, 545 financial, medical, and familial information, the release of 546 which could cause great financial harm to an individual and his 547 or her family. Identity theft can also be used to harm their 548 reputations and good name.

549 (5) The Legislature finds that the amendments to s.
550 119.071(4) (d), Florida Statutes, made by this act are necessary

551 to bring greater uniformity among public record exemptions for 552 agency personnel information because exempted information
553 currently varies from exemption to exemption. Inconsistencies
554 between public record exemptions for agency personnel 555 information result in increased inaccuracy and inefficiency when 556 information must be redacted in response to a public record 557 request. Unnecessary complexity increases the likelihood that 558 public record custodians may inaccurately redact information in 559 a record. As a result, the public could receive an improperly 560 redacted record that contains information that is not exempt or 561 have access to exempt information that should have been 562 redacted. It is not in the interest of the public to receive 563 inaccurately redacted information, or to unnecessarily pay fees 564 for staff time associated with redacting extraneous information.
565 In addition, the accidental release of personal identifying and 566 location information can endanger personnel or otherwise negate 567 the purpose of the exemption.

568 Section 3. This act shall take effect October 1, 2017.
