BILL: SB 716

INTRODUCER: Senator Passidomo

SUBJECT: Real Estate Appraisers

DATE: March 14, 2017

REVISED: 3/14/17

I. Summary:

SB 716 revises Florida law to implement registration and supervision systems for appraisal management companies, to meet minimum requirements for such companies established by federal rule. An appraisal management company is an entity that serves as an intermediary and provides certain prescribed services to creditors.¹ Implementation of a registration system for appraisal management companies satisfying federal requirements will allow eligible persons and appraisal management companies licensed in Florida to continue to perform appraisal services for federally related transactions.

The bill:

- Requires, as part of the implementation of a federally-compliant registration system for appraisal management companies, that the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR) collect data and required fees, and transmit a roster no less than annually, listing the persons or companies that hold a valid state registration as an appraisal

Under 12 C.F.R. §34.211, an “appraisal management company” is a person, other than a department or division that does not provide appraisal management services to only one entity, that (i) provides appraisal management services to creditors or to secondary mortgage market participants, including affiliates; (ii) provides such services in connection with valuing consumer’s principal dwelling as security for a consumer credit transaction or incorporating such transactions into securitizations; (iii) within a given 12-month period, oversees an appraiser panel of 15 or more state-certified or state-licensed appraisers in a state or 25 or more state-certified or state-licensed appraisers in two or more states.

“Appraisal management services” include one or more of the following: (1) recruiting, selecting, and retaining appraisers; (2) contracting with state-certified or state-licensed appraisers; (3) managing the process of having an appraisal performed, including performing administrative services; and (4) reviewing and verifying the work of appraisers.

management company to a federal appraisal subcommittee, consisting of federal financial institution regulatory agencies.

- Revises the required information that must be disclosed in an application for registration of an appraisal management company, as to each person who, directly, or indirectly, owns or controls any interest in the appraisal management company, rather than as to each person who, directly, or indirectly, owns or controls 10 percent or more in the appraisal management company.
- Removes authority of the Florida Real Estate Appraisal Board (board) to disqualify certain persons with management responsibilities from registration, licensure, or certification as an appraiser, even if they have been denied registration, licensure, or certification as an appraiser, have been disbarred, or had a license revoked or suspended in Florida or elsewhere for conduct that would have warranted a similar result or been grounds for discipline.
- Removes the board's authority to qualify a person for licensure, who otherwise would be disqualified, if it appears to the board, because of lapse of time and subsequent good conduct and reputation, or other reason deemed sufficient, that the interest of the public is not likely to be endangered by the granting of registration.
- Allows the board to deny the renewal of the registration of an appraisal management company based on disciplinary action against the licensee, rather than limiting denial to the initial application for licensure.
- Authorizes the board to take disciplinary action against an appraisal management company for failure to pay an appraiser in accordance with the federal Truth in Lending Act.

Additionally, the bill allows distance learning courses for real estate practice coursework required for initial licensure as a real estate broker or sales associate, repeals duplicative postlicensure education requirements for trainee appraisers, and removes obsolete language.

SB 716 has no significant fiscal impact to state government; however, the DBPR indicates it will require additional non-operating budget authority to transfer certain fees to the federal Appraisal Subcommittee.

The bill takes effect October 1, 2017.

II. Present Situation:

The Florida Real Estate Commission (commission) within the Division of Real Estate in the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR) administers and enforces the laws governing real estate brokers and may adopt rules to implement the provisions of part I of ch. 475, F.S. The Florida Real Estate Appraisal Board (board) administers and enforces the laws governing real estate appraisers and may adopt rules to implement the provisions of part II of ch. 475, F.S.

The Appraisal Foundation is a private, non-profit educational organization formed to promote professionalism in the valuation industry.² The Appraisal Standards Board within the Appraisal Foundation establishes the standards of the profession, known as the Uniform Standards of Professional Appraisal Practice (USPAP).³ The USPAP, and the rules created by the commission and the board, govern real estate brokers, appraisers, and appraisal management companies in Florida.

Real Estate Brokerage Registration Requirements

Section 475.15, F.S., requires a partnership, limited liability partnership, limited liability company, or corporation that acts as a real estate broker to register with the commission and renew the licenses or registrations of its members, officers, and directors for each license period. For a limited partnership, only the general partners must be licensed brokers or registered brokerage corporations. The registration of a corporation, limited liability company, limited liability partnership, or partnership is canceled automatically during the period of time the entity does not have at least one real estate broker member who has an active license or registration.

Real Estate Broker Education Requirement Exemption

Section 475.17, F.S., sets forth the qualifications for practice for a real estate broker. In part, an applicant must complete a pre-licensing course.⁴ The commission may require licensees to meet postlicensure education requirements in order to maintain valid sales associate's or broker's licenses.⁵ The required education courses must be provided by an accredited college, university, or community college, by a career center, by a registered real estate school, or by a commission-approved sponsor.⁶ The schools or sponsors may provide the instruction through classroom courses, distance learning courses, or both. For a person who cannot attend the courses as offered, courses must be made available by correspondence or other suitable means.⁷ A person who has received a 4-year, or higher, degree in real estate from an accredited institution of higher education is exempt from pre-licensure education course requirements as well as postlicensure education requirements.⁸

Real Estate Brokers – Inactive License

Section 475.183, F.S., deals with the activation of licenses that are voluntarily or involuntarily inactive. Licenses that have been involuntarily inactive for more than two years automatically expire, and become null and void without any further action by the commission or the DBPR. The DBPR must provide notice to the licensee 90 days prior to expiration of a license. The commission adopted a $45 late fee for the late renewal of an involuntarily inactive license.⁹

³ The Uniform Standards of Professional Appraisal Practice (USPAP), was adopted by Congress in 1989, and is the generally recognized ethical and performance standards for the appraisal profession in the United States. Compliance with the USPAP is required for state-licensed and state-certified appraisers involved in federally-related real estate transactions. The Appraisal Subcommittee Fee

The Appraisal Subcommittee (ASC) was created in 1989,¹⁰ pursuant to Title XI of the Financial Institutions Reform, Recovery, and Enforcement Act of 1989 (FIRREA). The ASC is an independent agency, within the Federal Financial Institutions Examination Council, that oversees the states' appraisal regulatory programs including Florida's appraiser regulatory program.¹¹

The ASC maintains a database of state certified and licensed real estate appraisers called the National Registry.¹² State appraiser regulatory agencies submit appraiser information to the registry. An appraiser must be listed on the National Registry to be eligible to perform appraisals in connection with federally related transactions, including mortgage transactions. The ASC requires an annual $40 fee from certified or licensed appraisers to support the ASC National Registry.¹³ The state agency that oversees appraisers is required to collect the fee from appraisers and transmit it to the ASC annually. Real estate appraisers in Florida are regulated by the Florida Real Estate Appraisal Board within the Division of Real Estate in the DBPR.¹⁴

Real Estate Appraisers

A "certified general appraiser" is a person who is certified by the DBPR as qualified to issue appraisal reports for any type of real property.¹⁵

A "certified residential appraiser" is a person who is certified by the DBPR as qualified to issue appraisal reports for residential real property of one to four residential units, without regard to transaction value or complexity, or real property as may be authorized by federal regulation.¹⁶

A "licensed appraiser" is a person who is licensed by the DBPR as qualified to issue appraisal reports for residential real property of one to four residential units or on such real estate or real property as may be authorized by federal regulation.¹⁷

The ASC and the Appraisal Foundation have adopted standard designation for appraisers, including "state certified general appraiser" and "state certified appraiser." As of July 1, 2003, the DBPR may not issue licenses for the category of licensed appraiser.¹⁸ In 2013, the Legislature removed the term "licensed appraiser" from the definition of "supervisory appraiser," and the reference to "licensed" appraisers from the supervisory requirements for trainee real estate appraisers. These changes conformed Florida law to federally recognized standards that allow only a “certified” appraiser to act as a supervisor for a trainee appraiser.¹⁹ Under current law, only a certified appraiser may supervise a “registered trainee appraiser.”²⁰

Real Estate Appraisers – Retention of Records

Florida law and the USPAP have different record retention requirements. All registered, licensed, or certified appraisers and registered appraisal management companies must retain the following documents for five years:²¹

- Original or true copies of any contracts to engage the services of the appraiser or appraisal management company;
- Appraisal reports; and
- Supporting data assembled and formulated by the appraiser or company in preparing appraisal reports or engaging in appraisal management services.

These records must be available for inspection or copying by the DBPR. However, the DBPR may only inspect or copy the records of an appraisal management company in connection with a pending investigation or complaint. The DBPR is able to inspect any appraiser or appraisal office for the purposes of determining if any of the provisions of chs. 475 or 455, F.S., or any rule is being violated.²² However, the DBPR does not have the authority to inspect the offices of appraisal management companies.²³

The USPAP requires an appraiser to create a work file that must include:

- The name of the client and the identity, by name or type, of any other intended users;
- True copies²⁴ of any written reports, documented on any type of media;
- Summaries of all oral reports or testimony, or a transcript of testimony, including the appraiser’s signed and dated certification;
- All other data, information, and documentation necessary to support the appraiser’s opinions and calculations and to show compliance with USPAP, or reference to the location(s) of such other documentation; and
- A work file in support of a Restricted Appraisal Report must be sufficient for the appraiser to produce an Appraisal Report.

²⁰ Section 475.611(1)(r), F.S.

²¹ Section 475.629, F.S., requires documents to be retained for five years or the period required by the USPAP, whichever is longer. The USPAP also requires a 5-year retention period; however, USPAP is not a publicly available document, but a copy may be purchased.

²² Section 475.6295, F.S.

²⁴ A true copy is a replica of the report transmitted to the client. A photocopy or an electronic copy of the entire report transmitted to the client satisfies that requirement of a true copy.

Registered Trainee Appraiser

A “registered trainee appraiser” is a person who is registered with the DBPR as qualified to perform appraisal services only under the direct supervision of a certified appraiser.²⁵ A registered trainee appraiser may accept appraisal assignments only from his or her primary or secondary supervisory appraiser. Registrations are renewed biennially.²⁶

Section 475.6175, F.S., authorizes the board to prescribe postlicensure education requirements for a registered trainee appraiser. The continuing education must consist of one or more courses that total no more than the total educational hours required to qualify as a state certified residential appraiser. Florida Administrative Code Rule 61J1-4.009 requires a registered trainee appraiser to complete 30 hours of postlicensure education.

Real Estate Appraisers – Nonresident Licenses and Certifications

Florida requires out-of-state licensees to meet all of the requirements for appraiser licensure. However, s. 475.631, F.S., allows the board to enter into agreements with other states that have similar licensure requirements. These agreements allow Florida certified appraisers to become licensed in another state without having to meet all of that state’s requirements and vice versa.²⁷

Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act

Congress passed the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (Dodd-Frank Act) to “promote the financial stability of the United States by improving accountability and transparency in the financial system, to end ‘too big to fail,’ to protect the American taxpayer by ending bailouts, to protect consumers from abusive financial services practices, and for other purposes.”²⁸

The Dodd-Frank Act became effective on July 1, 2013,²⁹ amended the Financial Institutions Reform, Recovery, and Enforcement Act of 1989 (FIRREA), and requires states to have policies in place for issuing a reciprocal certification or license to an appraiser from another state when:

- The appraiser licensing and certification program of the other state complies with FIRREA,³⁰ and

If the board determines that other states do not offer comparable nonresident licensure or certification to Florida certified appraisers that Florida offers to those states, the board must require certified appraisers or licensees of that jurisdiction to meet the education, experience, and examination requirements of other nonresident licensure or certification. See s. 475.631(1), F.S.

³⁰ Written agreements between states are not required by FIRREA.

- The appraiser holds a valid certification from a state with requirements for certification or licensing that meet or exceed the certification and licensure standards established by the state where the individual seeks appraisal licensure (i.e., reciprocity).³¹

The minimum requirements for the registration and supervision of appraisal management companies are also mandated by the Dodd-Frank Act.³² The affected federal agencies³³ adopted a final rule on June 9, 2015. Under Dodd-Frank, states must require that appraisal management companies:

- Register with and be subject to supervision by the state agency that certifies and licenses appraisers in the state in which the appraiser operates.
- Verify that only state-certified or state-licensed appraisers are used for federally related transactions.
- Require that appraisals comply with the USPAP.
- Require that appraisals are conducted in accordance with statutory valuation independence standards pursuant to the Truth in Lending Act and its regulations.

An appraisal management company that is a subsidiary owned and controlled by an insured depository institution and regulated by a federal financial institutions regulatory agency is subject to all of those minimum requirements, except the requirement to register with the state.³⁴

Section 1124 of the Dodd-Frank Act does not compel a state to establish an appraisal management company registration and supervision program and no penalty is imposed on a state that does not establish an appraisal management company regulatory structure. However, if a state does not establish a regulatory structure for appraisal management companies by August 10, 2018 (i.e., 36 months after the effective date of the final rule), s. 1124 of the Dodd-Frank Act bars appraisal management companies from providing appraisal management services for federally related transactions, unless the appraisal management company is owned and controlled by a federally regulated financial institution.³⁵ However, appraisal management companies that are below the minimum statutory panel size threshold will continue to be eligible to provide appraisal management services for federally related transactions.³⁶

The minimum statutory panel threshold is an appraisal management company that oversees fewer than 15 state-licensed appraisers in a state or fewer than 25 appraisers in two or more states in a calendar year or 12-month period under state law.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 of the bill amends s. 475.451(6), F.S., to allow schools teaching real estate practice, to provide instruction in a classroom or by distance learning courses approved pursuant to s. 475.17(2), F.S., and to remove obsolete language authorizing video taped instruction. The bill also requires real estate practice coursework for initial licensure as a broker; such coursework is currently required for licensure as a sales associate.

Section 2 of the bill amends s. 475.611, F.S., to conform the terms “appraisal panel,”³⁷ “covered transaction,” “secondary mortgage market participant,” and “order file” to the final federal rule that establishes standards for appraisal management companies.³⁸

Section 3 of the bill repeals s. 475.6175, F.S., concerning postlicensure education requirements for trainee appraisers. Currently, s. 475.618, F.S., requires the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR) to renew a registration, license, or certification of an appraiser upon receipt of a renewal application, proper fee, and proof of the licensee having satisfactorily completed a continuing education course or courses required by the board. According to the DBPR, education required for initial licensure and continuing education coursework currently provided by real estate schools is duplicative of postlicensure education coursework.³⁹

Section 4 of the bill amends s. 475.621, F.S., to require that the DBPR collect data and required fees, and transmit a roster to the “appraisal subcommittee,” no less than annually, listing the persons or companies that hold a valid state registration as an appraisal management company. Under part II, ch. 475, F.S., the “appraisal subcommittee” is defined as the designees of the heads of the federal financial institutions regulatory agencies established by the Federal Financial Institutions Examination Council Act of 1978 (12 U.S.C. ss. 3301 et seq.), as amended.⁴⁰ The bill authorizes the DBPR to collect from appraisal management companies seeking to perform appraisal management services in covered transactions (i.e., consumer credit transactions secured by the consumer’s principal dwelling) an annual fee established by the board.

Section 5 of the bill amends s. 475.6235(2)(f)(5), F.S., to revise the required disclosure in an application for registration of an appraisal management company, as to each person who, directly, or indirectly, owns or controls any interest in the appraisal management company. Current law requires disclosure of such information only for each person who, directly, or indirectly, owns or controls 10 percent or more of an ownership interest in the appraisal management company.

The bill removes authority for the Florida Real Estate Appraisal Board (board) to disqualify a person from registration, licensure, or certification as an appraiser who possesses the authority, directly or indirectly, to direct the management or policies of an appraisal management company, through ownership, contract or otherwise, and who has:

³⁷ These definitions are nearly identical in the bill and in the final rule; however, in the definition of “appraiser panel” in the bill, the word “mortgage” is omitted from the phrase “secondary mortgage market” that is used in the final rule. See line 133 of the bill, and s. 323.9(e) of the final rule at <https://www.asc.gov/documents/othercorrespondence/final%20rule%20for%20minimum%20requirements%20for%20amcs.pdf> (last visited Mar. 10, 2017) at page 32679.

- Been denied registration, licensure, or certification as an appraiser or has been disbarred;
- Has had a registration, license, or certificate to practice or conduct any regulated profession, business, or vocation revoked or suspended by this or any other state, any nation, any possession or district of the United States, or any court or lawful agency thereof because of any conduct or practices that would have warranted a like result under part II of ch. 475, F.S.; or
- Has been guilty of conduct or practices in this state or elsewhere that would have been grounds for disciplining his or her registration, license, or certification under part II of ch. 475, F.S., had the person then been a registered trainee appraiser or a licensed or certified appraiser.

The bill also removes board authorization to qualify such a person for licensure, if it appears to the board, because of lapse of time and subsequent good conduct and reputation, or other reason deemed sufficient, that the interest of the public is not likely to be endangered by the granting of registration.

Additionally, the bill revises the types of entities to which s. 475.6235, F.S., does not apply by deleting reference to appraisal management companies controlled by a financial institution defined in s. 655.005, F.S., and substituting reference to “federally regulated appraisal management companies” (which are defined in new paragraph (q) of s. 475.611, F.S., created in this bill).

Section 6 of the bill amends s. 475.6245, F.S., to allow the board also to deny the renewal of the license of an appraisal management company based on disciplinary action against the licensee, rather than just allowing denial of the initial application for licensure. The board is also authorized to take disciplinary action against an appraisal management company for failure to pay an appraiser in accordance with the federal Truth in Lending Act.

Section 7 of the bill re-enacts s. 475.475.626(1)(b), F.S., on violations and penalties to incorporate the amendments made by the bill to s. 475.6245, F.S., regarding renewal registrations and compensation of appraisers.

Section 8 of the bill re-enacts s. 475.629, F.S., on retention of records to incorporate the amendments made by the bill to s 475.611, F.S., to include additional definitions.

Section 9 provides an effective date of October 1, 2017.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:A. Tax/Fee Issues:

SB 716, according to the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR), will not increase the fees payable to and retained by the state.⁴¹ The federal Appraisal Subcommittee (ASC) charges a fee for each person (panelist) who serves on an appraiser panel⁴² and performs services for the appraisal management company.⁴³

According to the DBPR, the fee charged by the ASC will range from $25 to $50 per panelist, and is a pass-through payment that the state must collect and transmit to the ASC.⁴⁴ The DBPR indicates a similar process is already in place for individual appraisers, including an annual charge of $40 to each appraiser.⁴⁵

The DBPR indicates that the number of persons required to submit a set of fingerprints will increase because the number of persons for whom information must be submitted for licensure of an appraisal management company is expanded by the bill.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The DBPR reports that the ASC charges a fee for each person (panelist) who serves on an appraiser panel, ranging from $25 to $50.⁴⁶

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill has no significant fiscal impact to state government; however, the DBPR indicates it will require additional non-operating budget authority to transfer certain fees to the ASC.⁴⁷

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

The Department of Professional Regulation (DBPR) notes that allowing the Florida Real Estate Appraisal Board (board) to discipline an appraisal management company for failure to pay an appraiser a customary and reasonable fee under the Truth in Lending Act requires a study or other objective determination of the customary and reasonable fee for appraisals in Florida, and that most states have accomplished that through a fee study.⁴⁸ The bill (lines 503-505) authorizes the board to discipline an appraisal management company that “has failed to compensate an appraiser in accordance with the federal Truth in Lending Act, 15 U.S.C. s. 1639e.”

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 475.451, 475.611, 475.621, 475.6235, and 475.6245.

This bill re-enacts the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 475.626 and 475.629.

This bill repeals section 475.6175 of the Florida Statutes.
