FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Present Situation

Adoption in Florida

The Florida Adoption Act (Act), ch. 63, F.S., applies to all adoptions, whether private or from the child welfare system, involving the following entities:<sup>1</sup>

- Department of Children and Families (DCF);
- Child-placing agencies licensed by DCF under s. 63.202, F.S.;
- Child-caring agencies registered under s. 409.176, F.S.;
- An attorney licensed to practice in Florida; or
- A child-placing agency licensed in another state which is qualified by DCF to place children in Florida.

The Legislature's intent is to provide stable and permanent homes for adoptive children in a prompt manner, to prevent the disruption of adoptive placements, and to hold parents accountable for meeting the needs of children.<sup>2</sup> It is also the intent of the Legislature that in every adoption, the child's best interest should govern the court's determination in placement, with the court making specific findings as to those best interests.<sup>3</sup> The Legislature also intends to protect and promote the well-being of the persons being adopted.<sup>4</sup> Safeguards are established to ensure that the minor is legally free for adoption, that the required persons consent to the adoption, or that the parent-child relationship is terminated by judgment of the court.<sup>5</sup>

The Act also provides the process and regulation of adoption in this state. Such regulation includes, among other things, who may adopt, the rights and responsibilities of involved parties, proceedings for terminating parental rights, required notifications, licensure of adoption agencies, and confidentiality of adoption records.

Confidentiality of Adoption Records

All documents and records related to an adoption, including the original birth certificate, are confidential.<sup>6</sup> Prior to an adoption becoming final, the adoptive parents must be provided with non-identifying information, including the family medical history and social history of the adoptee and the parents, when available. Upon reaching the age of majority, an adoptee may also request such non-identifying information.<sup>7</sup> However, the name and identity of a birth parent, an adoptive parent, or an adoptee may not be disclosed unless:<sup>8</sup>

- The birth parent authorizes in writing the release of his or her name;
- The adoptee, if age 18 or older, authorizes in writing the release of his or her name; or if under age 18, written consent to disclose the adoptee's name is obtained from the adoptive parent;
- The adoptive parent authorizes in writing the release of his or her name; or

Effect of Proposed Changes

- An adoptee, who is 18 or older, may authorize, in writing, the disclosure of his or her name or identity;<sup>9</sup> or
- An adoptive parent may authorize, in writing, the disclosure of his or her name or identity.

Therefore, one party to an adoption may obtain adoption records with the name and identity of the other parties redacted, unless one or both of those parties also provide written consent for the disclosure of such information.
