COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 670 creates a 20 member Assisted and Independent Living Task Force (the task force) adjunct to the Agency for Persons with Disabilities. The objective of the task force is to develop and evaluate policy proposals that incentivize building contractors and developers to create space for assisted living facilities and independent living communities within mixed-use developments which may be used as low-cost, supportive, and affordable housing for individuals who are in need of such housing and who have an intellectual disability, autism, or a mental illness.

The task force is required to review the funding methodology for assisted living facilities and make recommendations for policy changes to the funding methodology for assisted living facilities that accept residents with mental illness or intellectual disabilities, including autism for consideration by the state agencies and submit a written stage one report to the Governor, the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, no later than November 1, 2019. The task force must submit a final report, which must include its findings, conclusions, and recommendations, by February 1, 2020, to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

The bill requires the Agency for Persons with Disabilities to use existing resources to administer and support the task force.

The bill provides for termination of the task force upon the submission of its final report.

The bill takes effect upon becoming a law.

II. Present Situation:

Task Force Requirements under section 20.03, Florida Statutes

Section 20.03(8), F.S., defines “task force” to mean an “advisory body created without specific statutory enactment for a time not to exceed 1 year or created by specific statutory enactment for a time not to exceed 3 years and appointed to study a specific problem and recommend a solution or policy alternative related to that problem.” This provision specifies that the existence of a task force terminates upon the completion of its assignment.

Agency for Persons with Disabilities

The Agency for Persons with Disabilities (APD) is responsible for providing services to persons with developmental disabilities in the state. A developmental disability is defined as a disorder or syndrome that is attributable to intellectual disability, cerebral palsy, autism, spina bifida, Down syndrome, Phelan-McDermid syndrome, or Prader-Willi syndrome; that manifests before the age of 18; and that constitutes a substantial handicap that can reasonably be expected to continue indefinitely.¹ APD’s overarching goal is to prevent or reduce the severity of the developmental disability and implement community-based services that will help individuals with developmental disabilities achieve their greatest potential for independent and productive living in the least restrictive means.²

Persons with developmental disabilities reside in various types of residential settings. Some individuals with developmental disabilities live with family, some live in their own homes, while others may live in community-based residential facilities.³ Pursuant to s. 393.067, F.S., APD licenses and regulates community-based residential facilities that serve and assist individuals with developmental disabilities; these include foster care facilities, group home facilities, and residential habilitation centers.⁴

Individuals who meet Medicaid eligibility requirements may choose to receive services in the community through the state’s Medicaid Home and Community-Based Services (HCBS) waiver for individuals with developmental disabilities administered by APD or in an intermediate care facility for the developmentally disabled (ICF/DD).⁵ While the majority of APD clients live in the community, a small number live in ICF/DDs. ICF/DDs are considered institutional placements and are licensed and certified by the Agency for Health Care Administration pursuant to part VIII of ch. 400, F.S.⁶

Section 393.063, F.S., identifies the various types of congregate living facilities available to APD clients based on individual needs and choices.⁷ Pursuant to s. 393.067, F.S., APD licenses foster care facilities, group home facilities, residential habilitation center facilities, and comprehensive transitional education programs.⁸

Assisted Living Facilities

An Assisted Living Facility (ALF) is a residential establishment, or part of a residential establishment, that provides housing, meals, and one or more personal services for a period exceeding 24 hours to one or more adults who are not relatives of the owner or administrator.⁹ A personal service is direct physical assistance with, or supervision of, the activities of daily living and the self-administration of medication.¹⁰ Activities of daily living include ambulation, bathing, dressing, eating, grooming, toileting, and other similar tasks.¹¹

An ALF must have a standard license issued by the AHCA under part I of ch. 429, F.S., and part II of ch. 408, F.S.¹² In addition to a standard license, an ALF may have one or more specialty licenses that allow the ALF to provide additional care. These specialty licenses include limited nursing services,¹³ limited mental health services,¹⁴ and extended congregate care services.¹⁵

Currently, there are 3,083 licensed ALF's in Florida.¹⁶

Independent Living

The term “independent living” is not defined in Florida Statutes. “Independent living” can refer to when an elderly person still has the physical and mental capacity to live independently but wants companionship or otherwise needs supportive services.¹⁷ It can also encompass a living arrangement for people with disabilities who need supportive services.

In 1988, the Legislature created the Florida Independent Living Council.¹⁸ The council is responsible for, among other things, jointly developing and submitting the state plan for independent living.¹⁹ The council works to ensure that persons with disabilities have an opportunity for input into the development of the State Plan for Independent living and works for systematic change in the areas that are the biggest barriers to people with disabilities participating fully in their communities.²⁰ The council describes the independent living philosophy as “promot[ing] consumer control of services, self-determination and equal access and participation in every aspect of community life, to the level that individual wishes.”²¹

Independent living communities are communities in which healthy individuals can live on their own but that do not offer assisted living or nursing services. Independent living communities can offer amenities such as transportation, security, yard maintenance, laundry service, group meals, and social and cultural activities.²² Currently, there are over 200 independent living communities in Florida.²³
