I. Summary:

SB 1354 returns the statutory felon declaration of voting eligibility on the uniform statewide voter registration application to its pre-2019 form. The bill and the pre-2019 declaration require those completing a voter registration application to affirm this statement:

“I affirm I have never been convicted of a felony or, if I have been, my rights relating to voting have been restored.”

This change is made to comply with a federal court ruling that invalidated the 2019 legislative changes to the declaration which were adopted to implement Constitutional Ballot Amendment 4 (2018) regarding the restoration of a felon’s voting rights.

The bill codifies and re-adopts the pre-2019 declaration, which the Florida Division of Elections and county supervisors of elections had resorted to using as a stop-gap measure following the federal court ruling.

The bill takes effect upon becoming law.

II. Present Situation:

Amendment 4 (2018) Ballot Measure

Until the 2018 election, Article VI, section 4 of the Florida Constitution disqualified a person convicted of a felony from voting or holding office until restoration of his or her civil rights.¹

¹ Article VI, s. 4, FLA. CONST. (2018)

In the 2018 General Election, Florida voters approved Amendment 4 with 64 percent of the vote, amending the Florida Constitution to provide voting rights restoration to specified voters. Specifically, the ballot language provided that “any disqualification arising from a felony conviction shall terminate and voting rights shall be restored upon completion of all terms of sentence including parole or probation.”² The provision excludes a “person convicted of murder or a felony sexual offense” from restoration of voting rights unless and until his or her civil rights are restored.³

Legislative Implementation

With regard to restoration of voting rights, Florida’s statewide voter registration form used to simply require an applicant to mark a checkbox affirming that he or she was not a convicted felon, or, if so, that he or she had his or her voting rights restored.⁴

In 2019, the Legislature adopted Amendment 4 implementing language. This included highly-detailed changes to the felon declaration of voter eligibility in the statewide voter registration application. The changes were designed to more closely track the language of the Amendment.⁵ Specifically, the 2019 bill provided that the statewide voter registration application must elicit:

- (t)1. Whether the applicant has never been convicted of a felony by including the statement “I affirm I have never been convicted of a felony.” and providing a box for the applicant to check to affirm the statement.
2. Whether the applicant has been convicted of a felony, and if convicted, has had his or her civil rights restored through executive clemency, by including the statement “If I have been convicted of a felony, I affirm my voting rights have been restored by the Board of Executive Clemency.” and providing a box for the applicant to check to affirm the statement.
3. Whether the applicant has been convicted of a felony and, if convicted, has had his or her voting rights restored pursuant to s. 4, Art. VI of the State Constitution, by including the statement “If I have been convicted of a felony, I affirm my voting rights have been restored pursuant to s. 4, Art. VI of the State Constitution upon the completion of all terms of my sentence, including parole or probation.” and providing a box for the applicant to check to affirm the statement.⁶

Judicial Action

In October 2019, Judge Robert Hinkle of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Florida invalidated the new statutory language. He stated that, not only was the language inartfully drawn but defective for failing to “reach felons whose rights have been restored in other states or through other methods, including executive pardons.”⁷ In analyzing the plaintiff’s due process claim, the Judge stated:

Prior to the adoption of SB 7066, Florida’s standard voter-registration form required an applicant to attest that the applicant had never been convicted of a felony or, if the applicant had been convicted of a felony, the right to vote had been restored. . . . This apparently worked without difficulty and, *if used now, would allow a felon who asserts a right to vote to submit an application and thus begin the process that, if there is disagreement, eventually leads to a hearing.*⁸

Subsequently, the Secretary of State represented to Judge Hinkle that Florida’s 67 county supervisors of elections had reverted to accepting the old voter registration felon voting declaration language,⁹ which currently appears on a registration form on the Department of State, Division of Elections’ website.¹⁰

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

SB 1354 reverts to the pre-2019 felon declaration of voting eligibility language on the voter registration application, specifically:

...Whether the applicant has been convicted of a felony, and if convicted, has had his or her voting rights restored by including the statement “I affirm I have never been convicted of a felony or, if I have been, my rights relating to voting have been restored.” and providing a box for the applicant to check to affirm the statement.

As such, the bill adopts the tacit suggestion of the federal district court and the current practice of the Division of Elections and county supervisors of elections in publishing and processing voter registration applications.

The bill also makes conforming changes, including the elimination of a public records exemption specifically created for the application form’s stricken felon voting attestation requirements.

The bill takes effect upon becoming a law.
